A. There was a memo that talked about sales figures of some kind.
Q. Do you recall who drafted the memo?
A. I do not.
Q. You don't recall whether it was a Morgan Stanley document or Arthur Andersen document?
A. I'd never seen it before and I didn't really look at it closely.
Q. Was it a multipage document?

A. No.
Q. Just one piece of paper?
A. That's correct.
Q. Any other documents?
A. Not that I recall.
Q. Did you read any testimony that's been given?
A. No.
Q. Did you have any testimony read to you?
A. No.
Q. Or described to you?
A. No.
Q. Other than meeting with Mr. Clare, did you discuss with anyone your potential deposition testimony in this case?
A. Yes.
Q. Who did you speak with?
A. My wife.
Q. Other than your wife, anyone else?
A. No.
Q. Do you --
A. I told my secretary I'd be here today.

Q. Sure.
Do you continue to have contact with Morgan Stanley employees?
A. Yes.
Q. Who are the people that you maintain contacts with?
A. Current employees, not really.
Q. Former employees?
A. Yes.
Q. What current Morgan Stanley employees have you seen in the last year?
A. I actually saw Ruth.
Q. When did you see Ms. Porat?
A. She and I bumped into each other a couple months ago.
Q. Where did you bump into her?
A. Bagel shop across the street from my apartment.
Q. Did you have a conversation with Ms. Porat?
A. Yes.
Q. What did you discuss?
A. How she was doing, how I was doing.
Q. There was no discussion about the Sunbeam engagement or this lawsuit?

A. No.
Q. Other than Ms. Porat, have you had any communications with current Morgan Stanley employees?
MR. CLARE: Within what time period?
MR. O'CONNOR: In the last year.
A. Yes.
Q. Who else?
A. Oh, current employees, no. No.
Q. Okay. How about former employees of Morgan Stanley within the last year?
A. Yes.
Q. Who have you spoken with?
A. I've spoken with Frank Pratt who is a friend of mine. I've spoken with most of the people from Morgan Stanley who now work at Deutsche Bank.
Q. Since you've left Morgan Stanley in 2001, have you had conversations with either current or former Morgan Stanley employees about the Sunbeam engagement?
A. No.
Q. Have you spoken to any current or

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018768

Page 22

former Morgan Stanley employee about this lawsuit?
A. No.
Q. Or their testimony in this lawsuit?
A. Asked and answered.
Q. Were you ever asked to look for Sunbeam documents?
A. Not to my knowledge.
Q. Do you have any documents in your possession that relate to the Sunbeam engagement?
A. No.
Q. When you left Morgan Stanley, what did you do with your documents?
A. I left them.
Q. Did you use email in 1997 and 1998?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Do you recall doing anything with your email at Morgan Stanley when you left in 2001?
A. No.
Q. In 1997 and 1998, were you aware of any document retention or destruction policies at Morgan Stanley?

Page 23

A. Yes.
Q. What do you recall of those policies?
A. I recall that there were procedures for retaining documents that we were required to follow.
Q. Did you follow those policies?
A. Yes, I did.
Q. Were you ever instructed to keep your files lean, do you recall that instruction?
MR. CLARE: Objection to form.
A. I don't recall that specifically.
Q. In connection with a convertible debenture offering, what documents did you retain typically?
MR. CLARE: I object to the form of the question.
A. I personally rarely retained any documents.
Q. I'm sorry, were you done?
A. Yes.
Q. Was that in accordance with the document retention or destruction policy at

Page 24

Morgan Stanley?
A. If there were documents I believe needed to be retained, I would typically send them to our legal department and ask them to retain what needed to be retained, get rid of what needed to be gotten rid of in -- consistent with our document reasons policy.
Q. Do you recall whether you retained any documents in connection with your work on the Sunbeam engagement?
A. I personally did not retain any documents.
Q. Did you send those documents to the legal department?
A. I or my team retained or sent documents to the legal department for their evaluation on whether they should be retained.
Q. Do you recall when you did that?
A. I do not.
Q. How about emails, did you send your emails to the legal department for determination of what needed to be deleted and what needed to be retained?

Page 25

A. No.
Q. What did you do with your emails?
A. I didn't do anything with them. I just assumed they would be saved.
Q. Did you ever print out email messages?
A. Yes, I did.
Q. What did you do with those documents?
A. Threw them away eventually.
Q. Was that in accordance with the document retention policy at Morgan Stanley?
A. Yes.
Q. What did the policy say in 1998 with respect to preserving emails?
MR. CLARE: Objection, no foundation. You can answer if you can.
A. I don't recall.
Q. Do you recall what Morgan Stanley's document retention policy was with respect to transaction documents such as convertible debenture offerings?
A. Not specifically.
Q. Were you given any retention policies in hard copy form?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018769

A. Not that I recall.
Q. Do you recall receiving any instructions regarding the preservation of documents in connection with debenture offerings?
A. Yes.
Q. You just can't recall what those policies were?
A. That's correct.
Q. When you left Morgan Stanley in 2001, who was the head of equity capital markets?
A. John Anda.
Q. Can you spell his last name, please?
A. A N D A.
Q. Prior to Mr. Anda, was there anyone that was in charge of equity capital markets?
A. I believe Richard Kaufman was co-head with John Anda.
Q. Do you recall how long those two served as co-heads of equity capital markets?
A. No.

Q. Were they co-heads of equity capital markets during the Sunbeam engagement?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Prior to Mr. Anda and Mr. Kaufman, do you recall anyone serving as head of equity capital markets?
A. Yes.
Q. Who was that?
A. Well, I mean, I know Scott Sipprelle served, but that was quite a while ago.
Q. You believe that was before the Sunbeam engagement?
A. I think so. And then there was one other person in between who served briefly, and I apologize, I can't remember his name.
Q. Anyone else you recall serving in that position?
A. Yes.
Q. Who is that?
A. Vikram Pandit.
Q. Do you recall when Mr. Pandit was head of equity capital markets?

A. In the early '90's.
Q. Sir, did you ever have conversations with Mr. Anda or Mr. Kaufman concerning the Sunbeam convertible debenture offering?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Mr. Harris, when was your first involvement on the Sunbeam engagement?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Do you have any general recollection when you first began working on the Sunbeam engagement?
A. Late '80's.
Q. When, what does it mean to you when I say the Sunbeam engagement?
A. That's a good question. I assume you're talking about the convertible bond offering.
Q. Okay. You don't recall that the convertible bond offering was made in March of 1998?
A. No.
Q. You believe it started in the late '80's?
A. Oh, I'm sorry. I misspoke. The late '90's. My apologies.

Q. No problem. So your best recollection is your first involvement on the Sunbeam engagement was in the late '90's?
A. That's correct.
Q. What do you recall being the first thing that you did on the Sunbeam engagement?
A. I prepared a term sheet for the terms I believed were appropriate for Sunbeam to raise capital in the convertible market.
Q. Who first approached you to prepare this term sheet?
A. I believe it was Bill Strong.
Q. What did Mr. Strong advise you or tell you in connection with this engagement?
A. He told me that they were making acquisition and they needed to fund it and he asked if they had access to the convertible market.
Q. And who is they, Sunbeam?
A. Yes, that's correct.
Q. What does it mean to have access to the convertible market?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018770

Page 30

A. To be able to offer, to be able to raise money in the convertible market.
Q. What are the requirements to raise money in the convertible market?
MR. CLARE: Objection to form.
A. To have a set of facts and circumstances and terms on the security the investors want to buy.
Q. Do you recall your response to Mr. Strong's inquiry?
A. Yes.
Q. And what was your response?
A. Yes.
Q. When did you provide Mr. Strong that response to his question whether Sunbeam had access to the convertible market?
A. Shortly after he requested it.
Q. That same day?
A. That's correct.
Q. What did you do to determine that Sunbeam had access to the convertible market?
A. I looked at -- I received an overview from Bill of why they wanted money. I looked at some of their technical characteristics such as trading volume, borrow available. I probably did some other stuff, but I can't recall.

Page 31

Q. Do you recall what you reviewed, Mr. Strong gave you concerning why they needed financing?
A. No. I believe he said they were making an acquisition.
Q. Did he show you any documents in connection with that?
A. No.
Q. You say you looked at Sunbeam borrow available.
What does that mean?
A. It means, it means investors willing to lend their stock to convertible investors.
Q. Did you look at any nonpublic information in considering whether Sunbeam had access to the convertible market?
A. No.
Q. You didn't have any conversations with Sunbeam management?

Page 32

A. Not at that time I didn't.
Q. Do you recall anything else Mr. Strong told you when he first approached you seeking financing for the Sunbeam acquisitions?
A. No, very simple.
Q. After you provided Mr. Strong with your answer that Sunbeam did have access to the convertible market, what did you do?
A. I had one of my colleagues prepare a term sheet and I went up to a conference room where Morgan Stanley team and Sunbeam team were sitting and I described how the product worked.
Q. Did you play any role in preparing this term sheet --
A. Yes.
Q. -- or did you have other people work on it?
A. Yes.
Q. Who did you meet with after you prepared the term sheet?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Was Mr. Strong in the room?

Page 33

A. Yes, and Mr. Kitts was in the room as well.
Q. Anyone else from Morgan Stanley?
A. I believe so.
Q. You don't recall their names?
A. I don't recall.
Q. You don't recall whether Ms. Porat was in the room?
A. I don't recall if she was or not.
Q. Who from Sunbeam attended this meeting?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Was Mr. Dunlap there?
A. I don't believe he was.
Q. Did you ever meet Mr. Dunlap?
A. Yes, I did.
Q. How about Russ Kersh, did you meet Russ Kersh?
A. I don't recall.
Q. You can't recall whether Mr. Kersh was at this initial meeting?
A. No, I can't.
Q. Was one of your roles, sir, to convince Sunbeam management to use Morgan Stanley as the sole underwriter of a convertible debenture?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018771

Page 34

MR. CLARE: Objection to form.
A. Yes.
Q. Did Mr. Strong tell you that he really wanted Morgan Stanley to act as the sole underwriter for this debenture offering?
A. No.
Q. That was understood, though, when you went to this meeting, right?
MR. CLARE: Object to form. And lack of foundation as to what others understood.
THE WITNESS: Sorry.
MR. CLARE: You can answer.
A. Could you repeat the question, please?
Q. Sure. When you went into this meeting with the term sheet that you prepared, you knew that one of your roles was to convince Sunbeam to use Morgan Stanley as the underwriter for a debenture offering, right?
A. That's correct.
Q. And Sunbeam, in fact, could have relied on another investment banking firm to underwrite this convertible debenture, correct?

Page 35

MR. CLARE: Objection, calls for speculation. You can answer if you can.
A. I think -- yes, it's possible.
Q. There wasn't anything that required Sunbeam to use Morgan Stanley for this debenture offering, right?
A. We were quite good at this type of offering. I would not have advised them to use somebody else.
Q. But they did have that option?
A. Yes, they did.
Q. Okay. Can you estimate what percentage of your total time was spent working on the Sunbeam engagement?
MR. CLARE: During what time period?
MR. O'CONNOR: His first recollection of working on Sunbeam through the completion of your work on the engagement.
A. I'd say half my time.
Q. After you attended this meeting with Sunbeam and Morgan Stanley representatives where you prepared the term sheet -- let me back up.

Page 36

What do you recall from that meeting?
A. I presented the term sheet, explained how it worked, and I believe people thanked me, and I left.
Q. Did you ask any questions of the Sunbeam personnel who attended the meeting?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Were there any discussions about Sunbeam's then existing business or financial condition?
A. No.
Q. Was the discussion limited to the information that was contained on the term sheet?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Mr. Harris, were you involved in any of the M&A work that was performed by Morgan Stanley on the Sunbeam engagement?
A. No.
Q. Other than the underwriting of the convertible debenture, did you have any other role on the Sunbeam engagement?

Page 37

A. No.
Q. After you attended the meeting and made your presentation with the proposed term sheet, what did you do on the Sunbeam engagement?
A. Waited for a response from the company and the team.
Q. When did that response come?
A. I believe it came later that same day.
Q. And what was the response?
A. That they were interested and they wanted to understand it in more detail.
Q. What did you do in response to their response to your presentation?
A. More evaluation of the circumstances; produced a few more pages in the term sheet; prepared to present it to a larger group if needed.
Q. What specifically did you do to conduct this additional evaluation?
A. I don't recall.
Q. You don't recall what documents you created?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018772

A. No.
Q. Sir, I'm showing you what's previously been marked as CPH Exhibit 9. It's a large document.
I'm going to actually ask you, my first question is whether you've seen this before?
A. I don't recall seeing this, no.
Q. This was not one of the documents that refreshed your recollection during the preparation with Mr. Clare?
A. I don't recall having seen this document.
Q. If you could, sir, flip to the page, it's the fifth page in. It bears a number CP 026290.
A. Maybe you could just point me to the right page?
Q. Sure.
A. All right.
Q. Mr. Harris, do you recall seeing that particular page at any point in time during the Sunbeam engagement?
A. I don't recall seeing this page.
Q. Okay. Were you aware, sir, that my client was advised that Sunbeam represents an attractive growth story and investment opportunity?

MR. CLARE: Objection, no foundation.
A. No.
Q. Were you aware, sir, that there were representations made that Sunbeam had undergone a profound transformation since the arrival of new management in July of 1996 --
MR. CLARE: Same objection.
A. No.
Q. Why does that make you smile, sir?
A. How would I possibly know that? I was just answering your question. I can't even imagine how I would possibly know that, but --
Q. None of that information was conveyed to you in connection with the debenture offering?
MR. CLARE: Wait a minute. You're asking him whether or not it was communicated to Mr. Harris that Morgan

Stanley made those representations to your client?
MR. O'CONNOR: That's correct.
MR. CLARE: Okay. You can answer that question.
A. I don't believe there's any -- there's any linkage that would get me that information. I just can't even imagine how that would possibly be relevant to anything I was working on, or why that would be communicated to me.
Q. And that's what I'm trying to find out, sir, what information you were working with when you prepared the debenture offering?
A. Fair enough.
Q. Okay. None of this information then was conveyed to you in connection with the underwriting?
A. I don't recognize this information.
Q. You did nothing, sir, to evaluate Mr. Dunlap's purported turnaround of the Sunbeam company in connection with the underwriting of the debentures?

MR. CLARE: Objection to form.
A. I did not personally do that.
Q. Did you have any conversations with anyone that conducted that inquiry?
A. Yes.
Q. Who did you then discuss that issue with?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Were you involved in preparing what's called a highly confident letter in connection with Sunbeam's financing of the acquisitions?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Did you ever prepare a highly confident letter?
A. I did not.
Q. Were you aware, sir, that a highly confident letter had been provided to Sunbeam?
A. I don't recall that.
Q. Sir, I'm handing you what's previously been marked as CPH Exhibit 74. Have you ever seen this document before, sir?
A. I don't recall seeing this

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018773

document.
Q. And you weren't aware that Morgan Stanley advised Sunbeam that it was highly confident that proposed credit facilities could be syndicated to the market --
MR. CLARE: Objection -- sorry, go ahead.
Q. -- when you were preparing the debenture offering?
MR. CLARE: Objection, lack of foundation.
A. I'm sorry, could you repeat the question?
Q. Sure. At the time that you were working on the convertible debenture offering, were you aware that Morgan Stanley had issued Sunbeam this letter indicating it was highly confident that the proposed credit facilities could be syndicated to the market?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Mr. Strong didn't advise you of this highly confident letter when he spoke to you about the debenture offering?
A. Again, I don't recall that.

Q. After you went back, sir, and conducted more analysis of a proposed debenture offering, what did you do with that information?
A. Just confirmed my original assessment that these guys could raise money in the convertible market.
Q. Did you tell anyone about your confirmation of that fact?
A. No. I had already told the team that the financing was doable, and if I had found out I didn't think it was doable, I would have told them that. But they already knew I thought the financing was doable.
Q. But when you left this initial meeting where you presented the proposed term sheet, they had some additional questions for you, is that correct?
A. They wanted me to present to a broader group and possibly to answer additional questions, yes, that's correct.
Q. Did you ever make a presentation to a broader group?
A. Yes.
Q. When was that?

A. I don't recall.
Q. Do you recall who you met with?
A. No.
Q. Were Morgan Stanley employees present?
A. I believe the further presentation was probably telephonic, so I don't recall who was actually on it.
Q. Was this a presentation to members of Sunbeam's board?
A. I don't believe so.
Q. Do you recall anyone who was participating on this call, conference call, if it was a conference call?
A. I don't.
Q. You don't remember anything about this second presentation that you made?
A. No.
Q. What was the result of that second presentation?
A. Ultimately, the company decided to do the financing.
Q. How was that information conveyed to you?
A. I don't recall.

Q. Do you recall when the company decided to go forward with a convertible debenture offering?
A. Shortly thereafter.
Q. Shortly after that second presentation?
A. That's correct.
Q. Do you recall any questions that were posed to you during that second presentation?
A. I do not.
Q. Do you recall anything that you did as a result of that second presentation?
A. I don't understand your question.
Q. Okay. After you had this second presentation on a potential debenture offering, was there anything that you did subsequent to that presentation as a result of the discussion that was had at that time?
A. No.
Q. What do you recall doing next after that meeting?
A. I think working on other business for different companies.
Q. Were you involved in preparing an offering memorandum for the debenture?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018774

Page 46

A. Yes.
Q. So that's something that you did after that meeting, is that correct?
A. I -- sometime after the meeting, I reviewed the offering memorandum, absolutely.
Q. Okay. Were you involved in drafting any sections of the offering memorandum?
A. No.
Q. Who was involved in drafting that offering memorandum?
A. John Tyree, Jill Woodworth.
Q. Is it fair to say, sir, that you were acting in sort of a supervisory role in connection with the drafting of that offering memorandum?
MR. CLARE: Objection to form.
A. I'd say an advisory role. If they had questions about the structure of the security, I would answer those questions.
Q. Well, you supervised Ms. Woodworth in 1998, correct?
A. I'm sorry?

Page 47

Q. You supervised Ms. Woodworth?
A. Yes, I did.
Q. Okay. Let me show you what's previously been marked as CPH Exhibit 10.
(Brief interruption.)
MR. CLARE: Let's go off the record.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: The time is now 22 minutes after 10 and we are off the record.
(Recess taken.)
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Time is 10:27 and we are back on the record.
BY MR. O'CONNOR:
Q. Sir, before we took a break, I handed you what was previously marked as CPH Exhibit 10.
Do you have that in front of you?
A. Yes.
Q. And is this the Sunbeam offering memorandum for the subordinated debentures?
A. It appears to be.
Q. Is this the document that you reviewed that was drafted by Mr. Tyree and Ms. Woodworth?

Page 48

A. It appears to be.
Q. As you flip through this document, sir, you don't recall yourself drafting any particular sections or provisions?
A. No.
Q. Typically, you do not draft the offering memorandum in a convertible debenture offering?
A. That's correct.
Q. You can set that aside for now.
Did you prepare any other documents or did you prepare any documents, other than this proposed term sheet you testified about, in connection with the debenture offering?
A. I don't recall.
Q. How about the selling memorandum?
A. I don't prepare that.
Q. Sir, I'm handing you what's previously been marked as CPH Exhibit No. 26.
A. Yes?
Q. Do you recall this document, sir?
A. No, I do not.

Page 49

Q. You did not prepare this document?
A. I did not.
Q. This was not a document you prepared in conjunction with any of the meetings that you've testified about today?
A. No.
Q. Who prepared this document?
MR. CLARE: Objection, no foundation.
A. I don't know.
Q. This isn't something that you would have used in connection with the debenture offering?
A. Not that I would have used.
Q. Have you ever seen a document like this before?
A. Yes.
Q. What is -- how is this document used?
MR. CLARE: You're asking this particular document which he said he's never seen before, or this type of document?
MR. O'CONNOR: This type of

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018775

document.
A. Typically, someone on an execution team will run through a document like this with a company to get organized for a transaction.
Q. Sir, if you could flip to page CP 22729?
A. 22729?
Q. The fourth page of the document. It's also CPH 1412964.
A. Yes.
Q. Sir, there's a column entitled, "Financing Market Overview"?
A. Yes.
Q. And there's a third bullet point which reads, "Convertible debt and equity"?
A. Yes.
Q. And under that bullet point, the very last entry is "Recent market volatility has increased convertible debt appeal"?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you provide that information to the execution team to put into this document?
A. This is a generic bullet point that would be part of our marketing materials that would be generically available -- which would be available to anybody who was having a discussion on a convertible.

Q. Did you prepare these generic marketing materials?
A. I don't believe I did.
Q. So this information was not provided to the execution team directly from you?
A. It was not provided directly from me, that's correct.
Q. And if you could flip to the next page, which is CPH 1412965?
A. Yes.
Q. And that middle column reads, "500 million zero coupon convertible debt"?
A. Yes.
Q. And the last bullet point, "Quick execution via Rule 144A"?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you provide that information to the execution team?
A. I told them that that was the case, yes.

Q. Okay. Why is there a quick execution of a convertible debt, convertible debenture offering?
MR. CLARE: Objection to form.
Q. Why is that relevant information for an execution team?
A. When you're using the 144A market, you need not register the sale of those securities with the SEC. Therefore, you're not subject to SEC review. Therefore, you can execute more quickly.
Q. Do you recall having any conversations on that issue in connection with the Sunbeam debenture offering?
A. Can you be more specific?
Q. Sure. Do you recall any conversations with anyone in conjunction with the convertible debenture offering on how quickly you can conduct the offering?
A. Absolutely.
Q. Okay. Who did you discuss that issue with?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Mr. Strong?

A. Yes.
Q. Members of the Sunbeam management?
A. Yes.
Q. Just above that, the third bullet point says, "Positive signaling to the market."
What does that mean?
A. Convertibles have a conversion price which represents a premium to the stock price at issue. And investors typically like when companies sell stock at a premium as opposed to selling it at market.
Q. That has nothing to do with the ability to quickly execute a debenture offering?
A. No, there's no connection between those two.
Q. Okay. When you had these conversations about the quick execution of a debenture offering, do you recall what was discussed in that context, other than your ability to quickly execute the debenture offering?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018776

A. I don't recall the specifics now.
Q. You don't recall anyone telling you that it was important to complete the debenture offering within a matter of a couple of weeks --
A. No.
Q. -- for example? Okay.
Did anyone ever express the desire to complete the debenture offering as quickly as possible?
A. No.
Q. Was there anything unique or unusual about the Sunbeam convertible debenture offering?
A. It was a fairly standard structure.
Q. So your answer is no?
A. No. I mean, yes, there was something unique. It was a different issuer than all the other issuers we had done before. I'm sure there were things that were unique about it, but there was nothing materially unique about it.
Q. If you could flip, sir, to page CPH 1412996, which is a document that appears to be a proposed agenda dated March 3rd, 1998.

Do you recall seeing a proposed agenda?
A. Nope.
Q. Under "Zero coupon convertible," there' is -- it contains a sub headline, "Accounting Matters."
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. And part B of Accounting Matters reads, "Comfort letter."
Do you see that?
A. Yes, I do.
Q. Is it standard practice, sir, to obtain a comfort letter in connection with a debenture offering?
A. Yes.
Q. And is it standard practice, sir, to obtain that comfort letter from the issuer's outside accountants prior to the pricing and closing of the debentures?
A. I believe it is.
Q. Did you have any role, sir, in preparing the timeline for completing all the necessary agenda items for the debenture offering?

A. I'm sorry, is that in an exhibit in here?
Q. I'm just asking in general.
Were you involved in preparing the timeline for a completion of the debenture offering?
A. Yes. Yes.
Q. If you could turn to page CPH 1413002.
A. 141?
Q. 3002.
A. I don't know if I have that page. Oh, they're not in order. Okay.
MR. CLARE: What's not in order?
THE WITNESS: Okay. 1412982 back here, they don't appear to be in order.
A. Okay. I'm on your page.
Q. Sir, did you provide this timeline, this summary financing table to the execution team?
A. I don't believe I personally provided it, no.
Q. And in fact, this shows, sir, that on March 23rd, the plan was to receive a comfort letter, and then below that, pricing of the convertible transaction.

That's the -- do you see that, sir?
A. Yes.
Q. And again, that's the standard practice for issuing debentures?
MR. CLARE: Objection to form.
What are you referring to when you say, that?
MR. O'CONNOR: The timing of the receipt to the comfort letter.
A. I can't say as to whether it's before pricing or closing.
Q. Well, I'm confused, sir. A moment ago you testified that it's standard practice to obtain a comfort letter from outside accountants in connection with pricing and closure of the debentures.
A. Let me clarify that then. I take my direction from -- I don't handle that aspect of it. And I know that there's a comfort letter in connection with transactions. And when exactly it comes, I don't know exactly.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018777

Page 58

Q. Okay. But for the Sunbeam debenture offering, the initial plan was to receive the comfort letter and price on March 23rd, is that correct?
A. I don't know.
Q. Other than --
A. I did not prepare this exhibit.
Q. Okay. If you could turn to CPH 1412974.
Do you see that page, sir?
A. Yes, I do.
Q. This the 144A zero coupon convertible checklist? There's a bullet point there that says, "Before Launch." The first bullet point below that is "Board Approval," and then the second is "Due diligence (Laser and targets may be able to piggyback on prior due diligence)."
Do you create this page, sir?
A. No, I did not.
Q. Okay. Do you recall any discussions about piggybacking due diligence for the Sunbeam debenture offering?
A. I've never seen this page before.

Page 59

Q. That wasn't my question.
Did you have any discussions, sir, about the issue of being able to piggyback on prior due diligence in connection with the debenture offering?
A. No.
Q. Have you ever heard that word before, piggybacking for due diligence?
A. It doesn't mean anything to me.
Q. Have you ever heard of that term before? Have you heard that term used in connection with due diligence?
A. Not that I recall. It's not a common -- it's not a standard term.
Q. Below that, sir, it says, "Draft Offering Memorandum." And then "Recent Developments" section, and "Required Financials." And the third line under Required Financials is "Comfort letter on financials and pro formas."
Do you see that?
A. Yes, I do.
Q. Do you know, sir, whether the receipt of the comfort letter in the Sunbeam debenture offering was an important item to complete on the convertible checklist?

Page 60

MR. CLARE: Objection to form.
A. This convertible checklist is not something I prepared and it's not -- so you're asking -- I'm not sure I understand the question.
Q. Okay.
A. I didn't prepare this checklist.
Q. I understand.
A. I had no involvement in that.
Q. My question, sir, was do you recall any discussions about the importance of receiving the comfort letter -- before launch?
A. In the context of this checklist, I do not.
Q. Okay. Outside of the context of this checklist.
A. Yes.
Q. Do you recall any conversations --
A. Yes.
Q. -- about the importance of receiving the comfort letter before pricing and before closing the debenture offering?

Page 61

A. Before pricing, I'm not sure. Again, I don't know exactly what time in the process the comfort letter comes.
Q. Okay. Well, let's make it a little more simple.
Do you recall any discussions about the importance of receiving the comfort letter from Sunbeam's auditors, period, in connection with the debenture offering?
A. Yes.
Q. What discussions did you have on that topic?
A. Just that it had to happen.
Q. Who did you have those conversations with?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Do you recall when you had discussions about the importance of receiving a comfort letter in connection with the debenture offering?
A. No, I don't.
Q. Do you recall any other conversations in connection with the comfort letter that was to be provided by Arthur

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018778

Andersen in connection with the debenture offering?
A. I don't recall who was supposed to provide the comfort letter, and no.
Q. You did not know at that point, sir, that Sunbeam's outside auditors was Arthur Andersen?
A. At that point I probably knew who their outside auditors were. I do not recall that today.
Q. Okay. You can set that aside.
Sir, did you attend the Sunbeam board meeting at which the board considered and voted on the acquisition of Coleman First Alert and Signature Brands?
A. No.
(Brief interruption.)
MR. CLARE: Do you want to go off the record?
THE WITNESS: Can I go off the record?
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Time is 10:43. We're going off the record.
(Recess taken.)
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Time is 10:47 and we are back on the record.

BY MR. O'CONNOR:
Q. Sir -- before the break, I believe I asked you whether you attended the Sunbeam board meeting at which the board considered and voted on the acquisition of Coleman First Alert and Signature Brands.
And your answer was no, you did not attend that meeting?
A. That's correct.
Q. You didn't participate by telephone or any other --
A. I don't believe I did.
Q. Do you know whether there was any discussion at that meeting about the convertible debenture offering that you were working on?
MR. CLARE: Objection, foundation.
A. I had no direct knowledge of that.
Q. No one came back to you and said that there was an issue or a discussion about the debenture offering?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Sir, I'm showing you what's previously been marked as CPH Exhibit 100. This is the "Sunbeam $500 Million Rule 144A Zero Coupon Convertible Subordinated Debt Offering," the selling memorandum.

Have you ever seen this document before, sir?
A. Yes, I have.
Q. And you testified earlier that you did not draft this document, is that correct?
A. I did not draft this document, that's correct.
Q. Who drafted this document?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Who typically is responsible for drafting a selling memorandum for a subordinated debt offering?
A. CSG.
Q. And that's client services group?
A. I believe.
Q. Okay. Do you know whether it was Mr. Tyree who was responsible for preparing this selling memorandum?
A. I don't know ultimately. Mr. Wright would be responsible for everything.

Whether he did it himself or not, I'm not sure.
Q. You testified earlier that Mr. Tyree and Ms. Woodworth were responsible for preparing the debenture offering memorandum, right?
A. Among other people, yes.
Q. Okay. Do you recall any other people involved in the drafting of the offering memorandum?
A. Mr. Wright would have been involved.
Q. Anyone else?
A. I'm not sure.
Q. Do you recall what other involvement Mr. Tyree had in connection with the debenture offering?
A. I mean, he's an execution person, I mean, a lot of involvement.
Q. What types of things did Mr. Tyree work on in connection with the debenture?
MR. CLARE: Objection, calls for speculation.
THE WITNESS: Okay.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018779

MR. CLARE: You can answer to your knowledge.
A. Oh, to my knowledge, I don't have direct knowledge of -- well, actually, I believe that he would have been the one to prepare the checklist.
Q. That's the checklist that we were looking at just a moment ago?
A. Yes.
Q. In --
A. He or Mr. Wright --
Q. Is that the checklist from CPH Exhibit 26 that we just looked at?
A. It was the exhibit we just looked at. I don't remember which exhibit it was.
Yes, that's the kind of thing he would have done.
Q. Do you recall anything else that Mr. Tyree worked on in connection with the debenture offering?
A. The offering memorandum.
Q. And besides the offering memorandum?
A. The selling memo.
Q. Anything else?

A. I don't recall.
Q. Do you recall reviewing this memorandum after it was prepared?
A. Yes.
Q. What was the purpose in reviewing the selling memo?
A. To make sure that structural aspects of the convertible are properly described.
Q. Any other reasons why you reviewed this document?
A. That's the primary one.
Q. Well, any other reasons?
A. If I saw something obviously wrong, I would have said something.
Q. Do you recall reviewing this selling memorandum and finding something wrong that had to be corrected?
A. The final memo, no. The final memo was, upon my review, consistent with what -- I did not find any mistakes in it.
Q. Okay. This particular memo is dated March 12th, 1998.
Does this appear to be the final selling memorandum?

A. I don't know.
Q. If you could, sir, please turn to page 4 of CPH Exhibit 100. This is a page entitled "Sunbeam Corp. Offering Structure and Timing."
Did you prepare this page, sir?
A. I did not personally prepare this page.
Q. Did you provide information for the preparation of this page?
A. Yes, I did.
Q. If you look down, sir, to near the bottom of the page, there's an expected timetable?
A. Yes.
Q. It's listed there. And on this document, the pricing and closing are listed for March 19th and March 24th.
Do you see that, sir?
A. Yes.
Q. That's a much earlier in time than the original timetable that we looked at a moment ago in --
A. I don't recall that.
MR. CLARE: I object to the form of the question.

THE WITNESS: Is that a question?
MR. CLARE: I was objecting to his prior question.
THE WITNESS: Okay.
Q. Why don't you also pull in front of you, sir, CPH Exhibit 26 and we'll take a look at that?
A. Which page?
Q. It would be page CPH 1413002.
A. Yes.
Q. The "Summary Financing Timetable."
My question for you, sir, is in the March 12th selling memorandum, the timing for the pricing and closing has been accelerated from the original timetable that appears on CPH 1413002, correct?
A. That appears to be the case, yes.
Q. Do you recall why it was that the pricing and closing of the debenture offering was accelerated after the creation of the original summary financing timetable that appears in CPH Exhibit 26?
A. No, I do not.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018780

Q. You don't recall any discussions about speeding up the process for the debenture offering in connection with the Sunbeam acquisition?
A. No.
Q. And just above, sir, if you look again on page -- Exhibit CPH 100, there's an entry on the offering structuring, structure and timing page. It says, "Gross spread." And then next to that is "3 percent."
What does that represent, sir?
A. 3 percent represents the gross spread.
Q. What is a gross spread?
A. Gross spread is the fee the underwriter gets for placing the securities.
Q. And who came up with the 3 percent figure for the gross spread on the Sunbeam debenture offering?
A. I did.
Q. How did you determine to set the gross spread at 3 percent?
A. By looking at other transactions, and based on my experience in the convertible market.

Q. Based on the other transactions that you reviewed, is 3 percent higher or lower?
A. It's consistent.
Q. Is it at the high end, the low end?
A. It's in the middle.
Q. In the middle.
Did you have any conversations with anyone concerning what gross spread to set for the Sunbeam debenture offering?
A. Yes.
Q. Who did you speak with on that issue?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Was Mr. Strong one of those individuals?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Sunbeam management, was it discussed with?
A. Certainly we discussed it with them. They had to accept it.
Q. If you could, sir, please turn to page 16 of the selling memorandum, CPH Exhibit 100, that's Morgan Stanley confidential 62876.

Sir, on this page entitled, "Sunbeam Corp. Key Selling Points," do you recall reviewing this page, sir?
A. I don't believe I reviewed this in detail, no.
Q. Why is that?
A. Because it wasn't my area of expertise.
Q. This document, sir, what's the purpose of this document?
A. This document is to provide information to the sales force so they understand holistically what's going on in connection with the transaction.
Q. And the reason for that, sir, is because the sales force is trying to sell the Sunbeam convertible debentures, correct?
A. That's part of it.
Q. Well, is it not part of your job, sir, to ensure the successful sale of the convertible debentures?
MR. CLARE: Objection to form.
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. So how is it then, sir, that this page is not important for you to review in connection with the sale of these convertible debentures?

A. Because of the nature of the convertible market. I mean, these are -- these are selling points with respect to the strength of the story. People buy convertibles because of fundamentals -- i.e., the story, and because of technicals.
And I was comfortable that these securities could be placed based on the technicals. And from what I had heard, not from reviewing this, but I understood that the fundamentals were consistent with our ability to sell. These were not, in my mind, the primary reasons why somebody would buy the security.
Q. Who told you that the fundamentals were consistent with the technical aspects of the debenture offering?
MR. CLARE: Objection, that misstates the prior testimony, I believe. You can answer.
A. Sure. Just based on discussions I had had during the development of this business, various people.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018781

Q. Do you recall any particular names?
A. It's just my impression based on all the discussions I had had around the transaction.
Q. Did Mr. Strong tell you that the key selling points that appear on 62876 were consistent with what you knew about the convertible market and the technical aspects of the debenture offering?
A. I never discussed this page with Mr. Strong.
Q. Did you ever discuss the information about Sunbeam's existing business and financial condition as being consistent with the technical aspects of the debenture offering?
A. I don't recall having that conversation with Mr. Strong.
Q. So then your testimony, sir, is that you were not responsible for ensuring that the information that appeared in the key selling points was accurate?
A. Not directly responsible.

Q. So you did have some responsibility for, in reviewing the selling memorandum, that the information that was being conveyed to the market by the people at Morgan Stanley selling the convertible debentures was accurate?
A. I'm sorry, could you repeat that question?
MR. O'CONNOR: Sure. Read it back, please?
(Whereupon, the requested portion of the record was read back by the reporter.)
A. Yes. The people who prepared this document, I was primarily trusting that they had conveyed the correct information. And I had no reason to suspect that they did not.
Q. What did you do, sir, to ensure that the information that's contained in Morgan Stanley 62876 was accurate?
A. I don't believe it was my primary responsibility to independently verify this information. And I did not.
Q. So if it wasn't your primary responsibility, you did not do anything to ensure that the information that was being conveyed to the market was accurate?

MR. CLARE: Objection, that misstates the testimony.
A. That misstates the testimony. No, if I saw something that I believed was inaccurate or if I had a reason to believe that something was inaccurate, then I would have taken action.
Q. You did nothing yourself to confirm that the statements contained under the key selling points were, in fact, accurate, is that correct?
A. I did not specifically review this page and confirm its accuracy.
Q. Who was responsible for confirming the accuracy of the information on this page?
A. I would say the CSG team.
Q. And that's Mr. Wright?
A. That's correct.
Q. And Mr. Tyree?
A. That's correct.
Q. Anyone else?
A. I would say that anybody on the team, if they reviewed it and saw something they thought was incorrect or had reason to suspect it was incorrect, would have been responsible for inquiring further, including myself.

Q. Did you have any discussions, sir, with anyone regarding what was being done to confirm the accuracy of the information contain in the key selling points?
A. Yes.
Q. What did you discuss?
A. I don't recall specifically.
Q. Do you recall when you had those discussions?
A. I don't recall specifically.
Q. Do you recall generally what was discussed or when it was discussed?
A. When it was discussed? Prior to pricing the transaction.
Q. So that would be prior to March 19th, 1998?
A. If that's the date the transaction was priced.
Q. Well, sir, if you could flip back to CPH Exhibit 10 which is the debenture offering memorandum?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018782

Page 78

MR. CLARE: It's this one.
THE WITNESS: This one.
Q. Sir, on the front page of this offering memorandum, it contains a price and a date.
Do you see that the date is March 19th, 1998, directly below Morgan Stanley Dean Witter?
A. Yes, the date is March 19th, 1998.
Q. Okay. And there's a pricing for the convertible debentures in this document?
A. I'm sure there is somewhere. I'm sorry, what is your question?
Q. Third paragraph from the bottom, reflects a price, "37.243 percent and accrued original issue discount."
Is that the pricing for these debentures?
A. That's correct.
Q. Okay. So the pricing as of March 19th, 1998 is reflected in this document, correct?

Page 79

A. In this document, Exhibit 10.
Q. Yes, sir.
A. I believe so.
Q. Okay. This document doesn't refresh your recollection that the debenture offering memorandum was completed on March 19th, 1998?
A. On or about, yes, absolutely it does.
Q. And does it refresh your recollection that the pricing of the debentures occurred on March 19th, 1998?
A. On or about March 19th, it does, absolutely.
Q. Why would it be "about," why not March 19th?
A. I don't know what date is put on the cover of the offering memorandum. Is it the pricing date? Is it the trade date? I'm pretty sure it's not the closing date. That's a little bit higher. But I mean, it could have been March 19th or March 18th.
Q. Well, as you flip through CPH Exhibit 10, does this appear to you to be the final offering memorandum for the debentures?

Page 80

A. This definitely does. I'm sorry, I don't know. If you tell me the date was March 19th, that sounds right to me.
Q. I'm just trying to help you, sir, put in perspective in the timeline of when you knew and when you had discussions.
A. I appreciate that.
Q. So your discussions about ensuring that the information contained in CPH Exhibit 100 in the key selling points occurred prior to March 19th, 1998, correct?
A. Prior to March 19th, 1998, okay.
Q. And who did you have those discussions with?
A. I'm sorry, could you repeat the question?
Q. With whom did you discuss the issue of confirming the accuracy of the information contained in the key selling points?
A. Various people.
Q. And who were those people?
A. Ruth Porat was certainly one of them. Bill Strong. Bill Wright. And perhaps others.

Page 81

Q. You don't recall anyone else specifically?
A. I don't recall specifically who was involved in those discussions.
Q. And generally, what was discussed on this issue?
A. On which issue?
Q. The issue of confirming the accuracy of the information contained in the key selling points?
A. I can't recall specifically.
Q. Was anyone given the task of confirming the accuracy of the information that was provided to the Morgan Stanley salespeople who were selling the convertible debentures?
A. That would have been the responsibility of the CSG team.
Q. Okay. And again, that was Mr. Wright?
A. Yes.
Q. And Mr. Tyree?
A. That's correct.
Q. Was Ms. Porat also responsible

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018783

Page 82

for that?
A. I think everybody on the team was responsible for making sure that if there was something they were aware of that was a problem, that they addressed it.
Q. Why was that important? Why was it important to ensure that the information that was being conveyed to the market was accurate?
A. I believe when we sell securities into the market, we make every effort to make sure that the information that the investors have is full and complete and contains no material misstatements or omissions. I think it's important that that be the case.
Q. And part of your role in preparing the debenture offering is to ensure that that is, in fact, the case, correct?
MR. CLARE: Objection, asked and answered now several times. You can answer again.
A. Yes. I would very much want that to be the case in any offering in which I was involved in.

Page 83

Q. Did you conduct any due diligence, Mr. Wright, in connection with the debenture offering?
MR. CLARE: This is Mr. Harris.
Q. I'm sorry, Mr. Harris.
A. I may have participated in one or more conference calls with respect to due diligence. I would not consider myself have been conducting due diligence, but rather participating or listening in on the call.
Q. Okay. Let's go through those calls.
What's the first conference call that you remember participating on in connection with due diligence?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Do you recall any of the conferences that you participated in in connection with the due diligence?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Do you recall anything that was discussed on those conference calls?
A. I can't recall.
Q. Do you recall when those

Page 84

conference calls occurred?
A. Before pricing.
Q. So before March 19th, 1998?
A. Yes, if that was the pricing date.
Q. Okay. Did you take any notes --
A. No.
Q. -- during these due diligence calls?
A. I did not.
Q. Why is that?
A. I'm not responsible for due diligence. I don't consider myself able to conduct aggressive due diligence. I do not specialize in this industry. Until I was asked to come up and present, I didn't know anything about this company. I wasn't involved in the acquisition.
And so as a result, the only function I could provide on that call or in any other context was if something to a layperson appeared to be incorrect, I might be able to spot it.
But the people who were charged with conducting due diligence understood the company in much greater detail than I did. It was their responsibility. And I assumed that they were doing that and I could only, I could only, as a layperson, determine if there was something that just completely didn't add up.

Page 85

Q. Do you recall ever speaking on any of these conference calls?
A. No.
Q. Do you recall anyone asking you any questions --
A. No.
Q. -- about any issue on these conference calls?
A. Not about due diligence, no.
Q. About the debenture offering?
A. A lot of questions were asked about the debenture offering. I don't recall on what calls. If people had technical questions, I answered them.
Q. None of those questions related to Sunbeam's existing business or financial condition?
A. Not that were asked of me, no.
Q. And you don't recall any

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018784

Page 86

conversations that occurred on these calls generally?
A. All I recall generally was statements that what we were presenting was accurate, insistence that everything was fine.
Specifically? I don't recall.
Q. Was there some question that the information that Morgan Stanley was conveying to the public was not accurate --
A. I believe --
Q. -- or complete?
A. -- due diligence is the process of confirming -- I believe part of due diligence is to confirm that everything you understand about the company is correct.
Q. Who was responsible, sir, for ensuring that the statements contained in the debenture offering memorandum, marked as CPH Exhibit No. 10, were accurate?
A. I believe, as I've stated before, anybody involved in the team was responsible, if they found something in the document they believed was incorrect, for highlighting that, questioning that, bringing that to everybody's attention.

Page 87

Q. Did you ever have any conversations with anyone concerning what they did to ensure that the information contained in the offering memorandum was accurate?
A. Yes.
Q. Who did you speak with?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Do you recall raising any issues with respect to the contents of the offering memorandum marked as CPH Exhibit 10?
A. I don't believe I did.
Q. Did you have any conversations with Mr. Tyree on the issue of the due diligence he was performing?
A. I don't recall.
Q. You don't recall any conversations with Mr. Tyree about the information he was learning about the company in connection with the debenture offering?
A. Not specific conversations, no.
Q. You never asked Mr. Tyree if he had conducted an accounting due diligence call?

Page 88

A. I'm quite certain -- as part of his process, I don't remember the specifics, but as part of his process, someone on his team confirmed to me and a larger group of people that due diligence had been conducted. And I'm sure they walked through what was done in due diligence. And I'm sure that there was nothing that had been presented to me that seemed untoward.
Q. And you don't recall who this person was that confirmed that due diligence --
A. I believe it was a number of people. I believe a number of people were doing different parts of due diligence.
Q. Who ultimately was responsible for ensuring that all of the due diligence was completed?
A. I believe that all aspects of the transaction need to be ultimately passed on by equity commitment committee which involves a group of people. So that would be the answer, equity commitment committee.
Q. So the equity, members of the equity commitment committee were responsible for ensuring that all necessary due diligence was conducted in the Sunbeam --

Page 89

A. They did not conduct it directly, but a transaction wouldn't proceed unless there was assurance to a senior group of people that it had been completed and it was complete and it was accurate and there were no misstatements or omissions.
Q. So there was no one individual at Morgan Stanley who was responsible for ensuring that everyone had done the necessary due diligence in the Sunbeam transaction?
A. Again, as I said before, CSG was charged with conducting due diligence. They would have to share with a broader group of people what they had done and the broader group of people would have to be comfortable with that for a transaction to proceed. And it wouldn't be just one person, no.
Q. So Mr. Wright, as head of CSG at that time, was not the person who was responsible for ensuring all due diligence had been completed?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 90

A. That was a responsibility of his, but -- yes, absolutely that's his responsibilities.
Q. Was it also his responsibility to ensure that statements contained in CPH Exhibit 10, the debenture offering memorandum, were accurate?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you ever go to Mr. Wright to confirm that they had conducted all the necessary due diligence to confirm the accuracy of the statements contained in CPH 10?
A. Mr. Wright came to me and others and made that assertion.
Q. Did you ever learn, sir, that Sunbeam was engaging in aggressive revenue recognition practices?
A. I'm sorry, please repeat the question.
Q. Did you ever learn that Sunbeam was engaging in aggressive revenue recognition practices?
MR. CLARE: I object to the form of the question.

Page 91

A. Yes, I'm not sure -- I'm not sure what you mean by aggressive. But no, I mean, if that's a bad thing. I don't understand what you mean by aggressive revenue recognition practices.
Q. Well, were you ever informed, sir, that Sunbeam was engaging in what's called bill and hold transactions?
A. That term is not familiar to me.
Q. Did you have any communications with Sunbeam's outside accountants, Arthur Andersen, in connection with the debenture offering?
A. No.
Q. Do you know if anyone did?
A. I believe they did.
Q. Who do you believe had conversations or communications with Arthur Andersen in connection with the debenture offering?
A. I don't know specifically.
Q. Did you have any communications with Davis Polk in connection with the debenture offering?
MR. CLARE: That's a yes or no question.

Page 92

A. Yes.
Q. Who did you speak with at Davis Polk?
A. I don't recall.
Q. When did you speak with attorneys at Davis Polk concerning the debenture offering?
A. From shortly after the time the company decided to proceed with the transaction through the closing.
Q. In any of those conversations with Davis Polk, who -- I'm sorry, strike that. I'm having a hard time getting the question out.
Who was present during those conversations that you had with Davis Polk attorneys?
A. There were a lot of conversations, so various people.
Q. Was Arthur Andersen present during any of those conversations?
A. I don't believe so.
Q. Anyone outside of Sunbeam or Morgan Stanley present during any of those conversations?
A. Not conversations I had.
Q. Did you have any communications with anyone from my client, Coleman Parent Holdings or MacAndrews & Forbes holdings?
A. Over what time period?
Q. The entire Sunbeam engagement?
A. During the time I was working on the project?
Q. Yes.
A. No.
Q. At any other time?
A. I mean, subsequent, you know, years later, I think I made presentations to various members of MacAndrews & Forbes.
Q. Was that while you were employed at Morgan Stanley?
A. That's correct.
Q. Do you recall when those conversations occurred?
A. I do not.
Q. Do you recall generally the subjects of those conversations?
A. I made a presentation to Avon about doing a convertible financing.

Page 93

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018786

MR. CLARE: Avon or Revlon?
THE WITNESS: Revlon, excuse me. Same thing. They did not do the deal.
Q. Sir, I'm handing you what was previously marked as CPH Exhibit 129.
A. I'm sorry, did you have questions about that?
Q. Did you have a chance to look at that?
A. I've glanced at it, yes.
Q. Do you recall this document, have you seen this before?
A. Yes. Yes, I have.
Q. When did you see this document?
A. I don't recall, but I would surmise by reading the date on it sometime on or before March 10th.
Q. Mr. Harris, you're listed as an author, one of the authors of this document. Did you prepare --
A. Am I listed as an author? Oh, okay. When you say from --
Q. Right. The memorandum says it's from several individuals, including yourself.

Do you see that?
A. Yes, I do.
Q. Okay. Did you prepare any portion of this document?
A. I did not directly prepare any portion of this document.
Q. When you say, "not directly," did you pass information along to people for inclusion in this document?
A. Yes, I did.
Q. What portion of this document did you assist in preparing?
A. Page 12.
Q. Is that it, just page 12?
A. Yes, I mean, probably, you know, some input on to background where it relates to the terms of the security.
Q. What's the purpose of this memorandum, sir?
A. Purpose of this memorandum is to provide information for a discussion by equity commitment committee of the proposed transaction.
Q. Beyond having a discussion, was this memorandum prepared in order to obtain approval from that committee to underwrite the zero coupon convertible debentures?

A. Yes.
Q. Do you know who the members of this committee were in March of 1998?
A. No, I don't.
Q. You don't remember any of the members of the committee?
A. On that specific date -- yes, I do. John Havens certainly would have been on it.
Q. I'm sorry, Havens, H A V E N S?
A. Yes.
Q. Anyone else?
A. Membership on the committee changed from time to time and I don't remember on that specific date.
Q. Okay. Well, the committee that's -- did the committee ultimately approve the underwriting of the zero coupon convertible debentures?
A. Yes, it did.
Q. Do you recall who participated in that decision to approve the underwriting?
A. Again, I don't recall who specifically was on the committee at that time.

Q. Other than Mr. Havens?
A. Other than Mr. Havens.
Q. Did you attend this meeting?
A. Yes, I did.
Q. What was your role at the meeting?
A. My role at this meeting was to explain the terms of the security and to comment on whether I believed it was salable or not.
Q. Do you recall what questions were asked of you during this meeting?
A. No, I do not.
Q. Do you recall what you advised the committee in connection with the -- your comments on whether the debentures were salable?
A. Yes. I told the committee I believed the debentures were salable.
Q. What were the reasons you gave the committee for your position?
A. Based on my experience in the market, as well as valuation models, valuation -- the result of valuation models. I'm not sure if any of that was included or not. Doesn't appear that it was, which is fine.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018787

Page 98

Q. Did you prepare any valuation models in connection with this --
A. My team prepared valuation models.
Q. Who was on your team?
A. Jill Woodworth, Soumya Prasad.
Q. Did any of those valuation models include information concerning Sunbeam's apparent turnaround under Mr. Dunlap?
A. No.
Q. What did those models contain?
A. Those models contained the terms of the security, the volatility of the company, and an assumed credit spread.
Q. What did you look at in terms of volatility in preparing these models?
A. I don't recall.
Q. What typically do you look at when you model volatility of a company?
A. Historical volatility, volatility of comparable companies, call-implied volatility.

Page 99

Q. In reviewing that, in reviewing the data in compiling these models, you took no consideration of Sunbeam's statements concerning its existing business condition?
A. No.
Q. Did you take into consideration any of Sunbeam's forward-looking statements about potential growth opportunities, earnings opportunities?
A. Absolutely not.
Q. Did anyone ask you about those issues during this meeting?
A. No.
Q. What's required, sir, in order to go forward with the underwriting of convertible debentures?
MR. CLARE: Object to the form of the question.
A. It's a very broad question.
Q. Well, let me try and ask you a better question.
You said that the purpose of this memo was to seek approval from the equity commitment committee to underwrite the zero coupon convertible debentures for the Sunbeam engagement, correct?

Page 100

A. Yes.
Q. Okay. Beyond that approval, is there anything necessary -- would any other committee or person at Morgan Stanley have to approve the underwriting of the debentures?
A. No.
Q. Do you recall the structure -- strike that, the process by which Morgan Stanley offered the debentures to the public?
A. Yes. Hold on a second.
MR. CLARE: Yes.
A. They didn't offer them to the public.
Q. To the people, the investors who purchased the debentures.
A. That's correct. They were all -- it was offered 144A, so it was not offered to the public.
Q. Who were they offered to?
A. They were certainly offered to qualified institutional buyers. I can't remember whether or not they were offered to accredited investors as well.

Page 101

Q. My question, sir, is how that process took place.
Can you describe for me, once the approval was received by committee, how those debentures were sold?
A. Sure. They were offered pursuant to 144A to qualified buyers. Qualified buyers received offering memoranda, were offered the opportunity to participate in a conference call with management. And the people in certain cities were also offered the opportunity to see a management presentation.
I can't recall whether or not there were one-on-ones, I believe there probably were, which is individual meetings between investors and the company.
There was a standard book-building process where people would indicate their interest in the security, how much size, price limitations, et cetera.
After completing that book-building process, the transaction was

UNCERTIFIED COPY

018788

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 102

priced and distributed.
Q. Did Morgan Stanley initially purchase the debentures and then resell them to the institutional investors and the others?
A. Technically, I believe they did, although it was a best efforts offering, so, you know, we only did that after we had committed demand.
Q. The debenture offering originally was in the amount of $500 million net to Sunbeam, is that correct?
A. That sounds, that sounds right.
Q. And then at some point, the debenture offering was increased to 750 million.
Do you recall that happening, sir?
A. Yes.
Q. When did that happen?
A. That happened on or about the date of pricing, probably in the afternoon of the date of pricing.
Q. Who decided to increase the debenture offering to 750 million?

Page 103

A. That was a joint decision. At Morgan Stanley, it would have been myself, as well as members of the sales and trading force, in consultation with all the senior officers involved in the transaction.
Once we decided that the transaction could be upsized, we offered that to the company and it was their choice whether to accept it or not and they accepted it.
Q. Was Ms. Porat involved in that decision?
A. Yes.
Q. Mr. Strong?
A. Yes.
Q. Anyone else specifically that you recall involved in the decision to increase --
A. Frank Pratt.
Q. Anyone else?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Do you recall the reasons why Morgan Stanley recommended to Sunbeam that they increase the debentures from 500 to 750 million?

Page 104

MR. CLARE: Objection, that misstates the testimony.
A. I'm sorry, could you repeat the question?
Q. Do you recall the reasons why Morgan Stanley recommended to Sunbeam -- well, let me ask the predicate.
Did Morgan Stanley recommend to Sunbeam that they increase the debenture offering from 500 to 750 million?
A. Yes.
Q. Why?
A. Because there was a lot of demand out there and, there was a lot of demand and we wanted to fill that demand.
Q. Any other reasons?
A. We thought the company would be interested.
Q. Why would the company be interested in increasing the debenture offering?
A. Originally, 500 was our estimate of a comfortable market size, but we informed them that the actual size might be larger. They liked the transaction quite a lot because it paid no cash interest. And the effective conversion price was significantly above their current stock price --

Page 105

(Discussion off the record.)
A. I'm sorry, I don't --
MR. CLARE: Were you done? Want to have it read back to you to make sure it's accurate?
THE WITNESS: Sure. Read it back, please.
(Whereupon, the requested portion of the record was read back by the reporter.)
A. Was significantly higher than the current market price. They liked the deal. They had a lot of financing to do. And subject to getting attractive terms, wanted to do more of it. It's not uncommon in the convertible market.
Q. Were there any discussions within Morgan Stanley about decreasing the size of the loan, the senior loan Morgan Stanley was providing to Sunbeam in connection with raising the debenture offering to 750 million?

018789

A. Yes.
Q. And what was discussed on that issue?
A. All I was aware of was that there was a certain dollar need, and if the convertible was increased, the loan would be decreased.
Q. Do you recall anything else about those discussions other than the size of the -- the amount of financing Sunbeam needed?
A. No. I knew about those discussions because I was told that particular aspect, but that's all I was involved in.
Q. You don't recall any discussions about reducing Morgan Stanley's risk on the senior loan by lowering that, in turn, by increasing the amount of the debenture offering?
A. That's -- no.
Q. Is that just implied in the conversation?
A. It goes without saying. I mean, you know, it goes without saying.

Q. Who was involved in the conversations that you had about decreasing the amount of the senior loan?
A. It was conveyed to me by one of the team members and I just don't know who that was.
MR. O'CONNOR: We need to change the videotape, so we'll go off the record.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Okay. The time is now 11:40. We have reached the end of tape number 1 and we are off the record.
(Recess taken.)
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: The time is now 11:45 and this is tape number 2 and we are back on the record.
BY MR. O'CONNOR:
Q. Mr. Harris, you referred earlier to the process by which Morgan Stanley sold the debentures and you referred to a book-building process.
Do you recall what price target Morgan Stanley had placed on the debentures prior to marketing the actual debentures?

A. I believe it's in this memo here. I don't recall specifically, but...
Q. If you look on the first page of CPH Exhibit 129, it's the one right in front of you?
A. Yes.
Q. The last paragraph, the first full sentence or the last full sentence of that paragraph where it reads, "The price talk will be 35.5 percent to 39.1 percent --"
A. Yes.
Q. "-- with a yield to maturity of 4-3/4 percent to 5-1/4 percent on a standard zero coupon structure"?
A. Yes.
Q. Would that be your effort to target a price for these debentures?
A. Yes.
Q. Is that what a "price talk" refers to?
A. Price talk refers to the yield range and the premium range.
Q. Who was responsible for taking down the feedback that Morgan Stanley was receiving from potential purchasers?

A. The convertible sales force.
Q. And is that what you referred to as the book-building process?
A. Yes.
Q. How was that information compiled?
A. I believe investors would talk to their salesperson and they would give an indication of size and price limit. And then those were aggregated.
Q. Was that information used in setting the final price of the debenture, the debentures?
A. Yes, it was.
Q. Any other factors taken into consideration in setting the price of the debentures?
A. Yes.
Q. And what were those factors?
A. There were a lot of factors. I can't recall all of them. They would include our judgment.
Q. Sunbeam's stock price?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018790

Page 110

A. No.
Q. That wasn't a factor in setting the price for the debentures?
A. No.
Q. Why not?
A. Well, because the price talk is coupon and a premium, and the premium is applied to the stock price, irrespective of where it is. Investors are more focused on the premium than they are on the stock price.
Q. So the last closing price for Sunbeam on the date of pricing, on March 19th, 1998, was not directly considered in setting the price of the debentures?
A. That's correct.
Q. Beyond the size and the price limit information you received from potential purchasers, was there any other information that you would consider significant in determining the pricing of the debentures?
A. Just qualitative feedback.
Q. And what do you mean by qualitative feedback?

Page 111

A. What they said about the deal. If they liked it; they didn't like it; they really liked it; they didn't like it a lot.
Q. What were the potential investors saying to Morgan Stanley in --
A. There was a spectrum of feedback, I mean, a range of things. Some people liked it; some people didn't like it.
Q. During the course of the equity commitment committee meeting, where they approved, discussed and approved the underwriting of the debentures, was there a discussion about the fee Morgan Stanley would receive in connection with this offering?
A. Yes.
Q. What was discussed in that respect?
A. What the fee was going to be.
Q. And what did you advise, did you advise the committee what the fee would be?
A. Yes.
Q. What did you advise them?
A. 3 percent, I believe, according to what's in these pages here.

Page 112

Q. Okay. If you flip quickly, sir, to Morgan Stanley, it's page 12 of the CPH Exhibit 129, the memo to the committee. There the gross spread is indicated in brackets as 2.5 to 3.0 percent.
Do you recall why in this document it has changed from the earlier document that we saw to now including a range of 2.5 to 3 percent?
A. No, I don't. And also let me say that when I said 3 percent before, I had seen that in one of these documents so I assumed that was the case. I don't remember specifically what the fee was here.
MR. CLARE: I also want to point out, when you referred to an earlier document, if you were referring to the selling memorandum, the selling memorandum is dated in time after the equity commitment committee memo that you're asking him about now, so --
A. Perhaps we had not come to a decision with the company on what the fee was going to be.
Q. I appreciate that clarification.

Page 113

A. I don't remember what the fee was.
Q. You don't remember the final fee --
A. I don't. You could probably find it in this document.
Q. I'll show you some documents that might help you with that.
A. Do you know what the final fee was?
Q. I know what I think it was.
A. What do you think it was?
Q. Let's see if we can refresh your recollection on that issue.
A. I'm prepared to take your word for it.
Q. Well, I would like your word for it, your testimony.
THE WITNESS: Here.
MR. CLARE: You're looking at the offering memorandum now.
THE WITNESS: Here we go, we have the offering memorandum right here.
Q. The fee appear in the offering memorandum?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018791

Page 114

A. Yes, it does, it appears to. No, I take that back -- I mean, it's probably in here somewhere, I'm pretty sure.
Q. Let me show you a document that's previously been marked as CPH Exhibit 146. I'll point you to what I believe to be Morgan Stanley's fee. It appears on page Morgan Stanley 80328, which is a page entitled, "Project Laser Fee Calculation."
And I apologize, I'm not sure --
A. I've never seen this before.
Q. Okay. I'm not sure if this was produced to us cut off, or if it was cut off in the photocopying, but in the first section of this fee calculation, there appears to be an entry for the zero coupon convertible financing fee.
Do you see that, sir, in the upper left-hand corner?
A. Yes. It says 3 percent of gross proceeds.
Q. And that number then, 3 percent of the gross proceeds of 750.04 million and change was $22-1/2 million?
A. Yes.

Page 115

Q. And then there's an entry here that says a .5 percent credit in the amount of 3.75 million?
A. Yes.
Q. Does that refresh your recollection with respect to how Morgan Stanley's fee was calculated for the debenture offering?
A. I don't recall that aspect of it.
Q. You don't recall why Sunbeam received 1/2 percent credit?
A. I don't recall specifically. I believe it's not uncommon for us to credit a portion of the fees against other fees that the company has paid essentially resulting in a lower gross spread.
Q. So when a company is receiving multiple services from Morgan Stanley, sometimes a credit would be given to them on a particular portion of, say, the financing?
A. Yes.
Q. So the total number that's reflected in this document, CPH Exhibit 146, for fees paid by Laser for the convertible debenture offering of $18,751,851, that does not refresh your recollection as to the fees Morgan Stanley received for the debenture offering?

Page 116

A. That appears to be the fees.
Q. Okay. You can set that aside.
MR. O'CONNOR: I'll ask the court reporter to mark as Exhibit CPH 286, a document bearing Bates labeled Morgan Stanley Confidential 95550 through 95551.
(CPH Exhibit 286, document bearing Bates Nos. Morgan Stanley Confidential 95550 and 95551, marked for identification, as of this date.)
Q. Take just a moment to look at that document, sir.
Sir, have you seen this document before?
A. I don't recall having seen this, although it is addressed to me, among other people.
Q. This is an email from Peter Albero to several recipients, including yourself, dated March 27, 1998?
A. Yes.

Page 117

Q. Do you recall what this issue was that was being discussed in this email?
A. I have no recollection of this, but -- I have no recollection of this.
Q. Does this appear to affect the amount of fees that Sunbeam paid to Morgan Stanley or the allocation of those fees within Morgan Stanley?
A. This addresses the allocation of those fees.
Q. You don't recall this being an issue at any point?
A. I don't recall this being an issue. I mean it's --
Q. Was there an issue of who would receive credit for the fees generated by Morgan Stanley in this engagement?
A. No.
Q. You don't recall anyone -- I'm sorry, were you finished?
A. I'm not sure I understand your question. This memo?
Q. No, I'm asking more generally.
Do you recall any issues at Morgan Stanley about who would be receiving fee credit, fee generation credit in connection with the Sunbeam engagement?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0018792

Page 118

A. No.
Q. Mr. Harris, did you attend the leveraged finance committee meeting that was held in connection with the Sunbeam engagement?
A. No.
Q. You had no participation whatsoever in the senior loan or the syndication of that loan?
A. No.
Q. Did you have any discussions with anyone concerning what was discussed at that meeting?
A. I don't recall.
Q. You don't recall anyone telling you the results of that meeting or any issues that came up in that meeting?
A. No.
Q. At any point, sir, did you receive any information on the status of Sunbeam's first quarter 1998 sales, net sales situation?
A. I don't recall.

Page 119

Q. Do you recall ever asking about information concerning the status of Sunbeam's earnings or sales in the first quarter of 1998?
A. Yes.
Q. When did you first ask about Sunbeam's earnings or sales in the first quarter of 1998?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Was it before the debenture offering was priced?
A. Yes.
Q. What specifically did you ask?
A. I don't recall.
Q. To whom was this inquiry addressed?
A. I don't recall specifically.
Q. Do you recall generally?
A. To whom it was requested?
Q. Correct.
A. I mean, it would have -- it may have been to John Tyree or to others. I didn't really -- I'm sure I asked somebody to get me the information, not to directly do it. I might have asked John, John, can you make sure somebody does this and that the information gets back to me.

Page 120

Q. Why did you want information about Sunbeam's first quarter earnings and sales, first quarter 1998 earnings and sales?
A. Because of the proximity of those earnings announcements and the execution of our transaction.
Q. Why were you concerned about the proximity of Sunbeam's sales and earnings to the debenture transaction?
MR. CLARE: Objection to form.
A. I mean, I wanted to make sure that when we offered these securities, all publicly available information was correct, not misleading and complete.
Q. Were you undertaking an effort to confirm that the nonpublic information in the hands of Morgan Stanley was consistent with the public information that was being provided by Morgan Stanley in connection with the Sunbeam engagement?
MR. CLARE: Objection to form.
A. It's a difficult question to answer because if we had some information that was material, it would have been disclosed and I would have insisted that it be disclosed.

Page 121

If it was not material, I would want to make sure that it didn't raise questions relative to material information that was outstanding, even if it weren't disclosed.
Q. Who would decide whether the information that you had acquired upon making your inquiry was material information?
A. I think that would be decided by a group of people, and people charged with conducting due diligence. And then it would be reported back to a more senior group to sanity test whether they had done everything appropriately, whether everything hung together.
Q. Okay. In that first level, who were the people who would have been involved in making that determination of materiality?
A. It would have included people including the CSG team.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018793

Q. So Mr. Wright and Mr. Tyree?
A. That's correct.
Q. Anyone else?
A. Anyone else who took an interest and wanted to delve deeper. Everybody on the team is required to get themselves comfortable that, you know, they are unaware of anything that should be investigated further, anybody can do it.
Q. After making your inquiry about Sunbeam's first quarter '98 sales and earnings, what did you learn?
A. That the results of the inquiry had confirmed that to the best of our ability to determine, what we were aware of was consistent with what was in the public market and what investors expected.
Q. What specifically did you learn after making that inquiry?
A. I don't recall.
Q. You don't recall whether you learned Sunbeam's actual sales in the first quarter of 1998 at the point at which you received the information?
A. I don't believe I was in a position to make judgments of interpreting that data. I believe the information that got back to me was the people who understood the business and were in a position to understand the data had completed their analysis and that the data confirmed what we believed.

Q. So you didn't ever receive any specific sales data for the first quarter of 1998?
A. I don't recall. I may have. I wouldn't have been in a good position to interpret it.
Q. But you don't recall receiving any actual numbers?
A. I don't recall whether I did or not.
Q. How about earnings estimates, do you recall receiving any specific information on Sunbeam's earnings for the first quarter of 1998?
A. I'm sure that that was reported to me at some point.
Q. At some point prior to the pricing of the debentures?

A. Yes.
Q. You don't recall -- specifically what earnings information you received?
A. Not specifically, no.
Q. Besides Sunbeam's first quarter 1998 sales and earnings, did you ask for any other information?
A. I don't believe I asked for any other information, other than confirmation that there were no material misstatements or omissions.
Q. Is it fair to say then that you took the word of the people that were reporting this information to you that there were no material omissions or misrepresentations?
A. To some degree, although I will say, at the time, they probably walked me through their logic and although I was not the best person to interpret it, I saw nothing wrong with their -- I saw nothing that I knew to be wrong with their logic.
Q. Do you recall seeing anything that concerned you, anything that concerned you about the information that you received after making your request?

A. I saw nothing that I believe contradicted what they were telling me.
Q. What were they telling you?
A. They were telling me -- I don't remember the specifics.
Q. Do you recall generally what they were telling you?
A. Generally, they were telling me that the company was going to perform at a level that was expected by the market, and therefore all required public disclosure had been made. And they walked through their explanation of how that worked.
I'm not an expert on the business, but there was nothing that, on the surface, I could clearly countervene. And if there had been, then we would have done more work or we would have done something else.
Q. And the information that you recall generally being conveyed to you concerning the market's expectations, that referred to first quarter 1998 sales and earnings?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018794

A. I believe so.
Q. Other than speaking with these individuals at Morgan Stanley, and again, you don't recall who you spoke with on this issue?
A. Don't recall specifically.
Q. Did you make any effort to speak to anyone at Morgan -- I'm sorry, strike that, at Sunbeam, anyone at Sunbeam, whether management or otherwise, concerning --
A. It was not my responsibility.
Q. Did you ask the people that were providing you this information whether they had spoken to Sunbeam, management or --
A. I believe they had.
Q. You believe they had, but you don't recall specifically --
A. I did not ask them that.
Q. Did you assume that they had done that work?
A. I believe they told me they had.
Q. You have no independent recollection though?
A. Of what?
Q. Of them telling you that they had spoken to people at Sunbeam?

A. I believe they told me that they had spoken to people at Sunbeam.
Q. Do you know today what Wall Street was expecting as far as Sunbeam's first quarter 1998 sales?
A. No, I do not.
Q. Did you have any conversations with Mr. Tyree or Mr. Strong or Ms. Porat concerning Sunbeam's first quarter 1998 sales?
A. I'm sorry, could you repeat the question?
Q. Did you have any conversations with Mr. Tyree, Mr. Strong, or Ms. Porat concerning Sunbeam's first quarter 1998 sales?
A. Yes.
Q. What did you discuss with them?
A. I believe that one or more of those people were involved in evaluating whether the report that was coming back that the performance was going to be in line with expectations. I believe one or more of those people were involved in -- listening to that report and making sure that there was nothing on the surface that they could disagree with, and you know, to see if there was anything else that they thought was appropriate to do to get more comfort around those numbers.

Q. Do you recall which of the individuals I mentioned, Tyree, Strong or Porat, that you had those conversations with?
A. Tyree, Porat.
Q. Mr. Strong?
A. Not that I recall.
Q. When did you have those conversations with Mr. Tyree or Ms. Porat?
A. Prior to pricing.
Q. Did Mr. -- other than Mr. Tyree and Ms. Porat, did you speak with anyone else at Morgan Stanley concerning their efforts to evaluate the information they were receiving from Sunbeam concerning first quarter 1998 sales?
A. Yes.
Q. Who else did you speak with?
A. I don't recall.

Q. When you had these conversations, where did they occur?
A. Morgan Stanley's offices.
Q. And other than conversations occurring prior to pricing, you can't pin down with any more specificity when those conversations occurred?
A. Within a couple days of pricing.
Q. Were all of these meetings in person?
A. No.
Q. How many meetings did you have in person with Mr. Tyree, Ms. Porat and the others concerning Sunbeam's first quarter 1998 sales?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Did you participate in telephone conferences on the same issue?
A. Yes.
Q. How many telephone conferences?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Do you recall receiving any documents reflecting Sunbeam's then-existing sales in the first quarter of 1998?
A. No, I did not.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018795

Page 130

Q. Let me show you a document that's been marked as CPH Exhibit 16.
Have you ever seen this document before?
A. Yes.
Q. When have you seen it?
A. This morning.
Q. Was this shown to you in preparation for your deposition testimony?
A. Yes, it was.
Q. Other than seeing this document this morning, have you seen this document before?
A. No.
Q. So the first time you've seen this document was this morning?
A. As I indicated, yes.
Q. Okay. Now, when I say, this document, I mean the document including the handwriting? Let me ask a better question.
Have you ever seen any form of this document?
A. No, I have not.
Q. At the top of the document, you'll see a fax line that says March 18th,

Page 131

1998.
Do you see that?
A. Yes, I do.
Q. And directly below that, it says, "Ruth fax."
Do you recall whether that was Ruth Porat's fax number at the time?
A. I've got to say, I don't.
Q. Okay. So in your meetings with Ms. Porat, Mr. Tyree and the others, they never provided you with this document?
A. No.
Q. Did they provide you with any of the information contained on this document?
A. I don't recall.
Q. You don't recall knowing that Wall Street estimated that Sunbeam's first quarter 1998 sales would be 285 to 295 million?
A. No.
Q. And you don't recall knowing that in January and February of 1998, as reflected in this document, Sunbeam's first quarter sales were only $101.6 million?
A. No.

Page 132

Q. You don't recall any discussions about the shortfall of Sunbeam's sales to Wall Street's estimates of 285 to $295 million?
A. Yes.
Q. You do recall those conversations?
A. Yes.
Q. What do you recall about the conversations regarding that shortfall?
A. That the conversation took place.
Q. You don't recall who said what?
A. No. I can't remember these numbers at all.
Q. Okay. Well, I'm not asking just about the specific numbers.
But on the issue of the shortfall, what do you recall remember --
MR. CLARE: Object.
Q. I'm sorry, what do you recall about those conversations?
A. I believe that there were discussions as to whether they would make the sales the market expected or not.
You're just talking about the

Page 133

conversation I had with Ruth or John or somebody else?
Q. I'm talking about any conversations that you've had with anyone within Morgan Stanley concerning the issue of Sunbeam's first quarter 1998 sales?
A. Yes, okay.
Q. And earlier, I believe you testified that you didn't have recollection of what was discussed, other than generally 1998 first quarter sales.
A. That's correct.
Q. Okay. Well, now, you've indicated to me that you recall a discussion taking place about the shortfall between Sunbeam's existing 1998 first quarter sales and Wall Street's estimates?
A. Perhaps I --
MR. CLARE: Objection to form.
A. Perhaps I misstated that. I mean, obviously the question that we were discussing is what the sales would be relative to Wall Street expectations. Whether there was a shortfall or not, that's your words, not mine.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018796

Q. Well, that's what I was asking you, sir. And let me reask it again.
Do you recall discussions about Sunbeam's shortfall from Wall Street's estimates, expectations for first quarter 1998 sales?
MR. CLARE: I object to the form of the question.
A. Now you're asking if after the earnings were reported, there was whether there was a discussion of that.
Q. That wasn't my question, sir. Let me try again.
I want to know everything that you know, that you can recall from the discussions you had with Mr. Tyree, Ms. Porat or anyone else within Morgan Stanley on the issue of Sunbeam's first quarter 1998 sales.
A. Just to be clear, there was no shortfall at the time we were talking because there was not report of their first quarter numbers.
Q. That you were aware of?
A. That's correct. I mean, I -- their numbers almost certainly weren't reported at that time, at least I was not aware of that.

Q. You're changing my question. I'm not talking about reported numbers. I'm talking about the information that Morgan Stanley had in its possession on first quarter 1998 sales when you had the discussions about Wall Street's expectations and those sales numbers.
A. And I'm telling you I'm not aware that Morgan Stanley, or anybody I know, had the first quarter sales numbers to be able to compare with Wall Street estimates.
Q. Perhaps the confusion is that I'm not asking you about Sunbeam's final first quarter 1998 sales. I'm asking you about the conversations you had prior to pricing, which would be before the close of first quarter 1998, that you had with people within Morgan Stanley on the issue of Sunbeam's current sales status in the first quarter of 1998.
MR. CLARE: Object to the form. And asked and answered. You can answer.

THE WITNESS: Okay.
A. I will say that these discussions were to determine whether we believed that the first quarter numbers would come out consistent with what people were expecting, and whether or not there would be a shortfall. There's the shortfall word. And the results of the discussion, as I've said a couple of different ways, is I was told by the people who were looking closely at this that they did not believe there would be a shortfall.
Q. So you were having conversations with people at Morgan Stanley about Sunbeam's shortfall in the first quarter of 1998, shortfall in sells, as compared to Wall Street expectations.
A. As to whether or not there would be a shortfall, yes. Yes, absolutely. I mean, what else would we be discussing about the numbers? We wanted to make sure that what was in the market was full, complete, no material omissions or misstatements. And yes, I mean, we were looking at the sales numbers. And we wanted to make sure that they were consistent with what the street expected.

Q. Did anyone advise you that Sunbeam had provided Morgan Stanley actual sales figures for the first quarter of 1998 through March 15th or 17th of 1998?
A. I know that we had received sales information through some date, and I'm not sure what date it was through.
Q. What do you recall learning from that information that you received?
A. I was told that when considering that information and the sales that were expected for the rest of the quarter, the numbers would be consistent with expectations.
Q. Who told you that?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Mr. Tyree, Ms. Porat or anyone else at Morgan Stanley didn't provide you with any specific numbers to allow you to come to an independent conclusion on whether Sunbeam was on track to meet Wall Street analysts' expectations for sales in the first quarter of 1998?

FOR A CERTIFIED COPY

018797

Page 138

A. Not that I recall.
Q. Did you ever ask for that specific information so you could come to your own determination whether Sunbeam was on track to meet Wall Street expectations in the first quarter of 1998?
A. As I stated before, they explained to me how they were getting to the conclusion they did, and I did not see fault with their logic. I, of all the people listed here, I'm not the one to be able to understand their business or project their business. I didn't see anything obviously wrong and didn't know enough about the business to ask any more questions.
Q. Did anyone express any level of concern to you about whether Sunbeam was on track to meet Wall Street expectations for the first quarter of 1998?
A. People had assured me that they would.
Q. That wasn't my question.
Did anyone express any level of concern about whether Sunbeam would actually meet Wall Street expectations on sales in the first quarter of 1998?

Page 139

A. That was the reason that we were doing the extra due diligence.
Q. So everyone had a concern?
MR. CLARE: Objection, it misstates the testimony.
A. No. I would say that -- I would characterize it differently by saying that -- the whole purpose of due diligence is to make sure the information you believe you know is indeed accurate.
And I would say that several people on the team wanted to make sure that we had done this thoroughly and properly. I'd say that's consistent with a lot of transactions I've worked on. And they didn't have an axe to grind one way or the other as to whether they'd make it or they missed it. But they wanted to know and I wanted to know.
Q. Let me ask my question a little differently.
Did anyone come to you and say, I don't think Sunbeam is going to make it?
A. No, nobody came to me and said that.

Page 140

Q. No one conveyed to you a concern that Sunbeam would not meet the first quarter 1998 sales as expected by Wall Street?
A. No one came to me and said I don't think these guys are going to make their numbers.
Q. So why was this extra due diligence being performed at this time?
A. Because we're very diligent.
Q. You don't know why this process started?
A. As I told you before, we were close, temporally, to the announcement of the earnings and on every deal -- let me say it differently.
It's prudent, given the proximity, to make sure you really know. And so they kicked the tires pretty hard on this.
I don't understand the business. I was not charged with understanding the business. I wanted to make sure that, you know, somebody who did understand the business had looked at this closely and it panned out.

Page 141

Q. Did anyone tell you that Sunbeam was guaranteeing that they would meet Wall Street estimates for the first quarter the 1998?
A. I don't think anybody used those words.
Q. Did anyone discuss how Sunbeam would fill orders in time to meet Wall Street's expectations in the first quarter of 1998?
A. I believe they did, but I can't recall the specifics.
Q. Do you recall generally what was discussed on that point?
A. No.
Q. How do you know that specific issue was discussed?
A. Because that's the level of detail to which I understand this, which is it's not my function to understand what the business is and so I don't know what their sales model is, et cetera.
But what I can do is I can

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018798

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 142

understand if you need to make your sales for the quarter, you know, how much have you sold so far and how much do you have to go and how are you going to do it.

And that's the level of understanding I could assimilate on this discussion. Beyond that, who we're selling to, I have absolutely no capacity to judge that or not.

Q. Did anyone express, during any of these meetings, their doubt whether Sunbeam could complete these projected sales --

A. No.

Q. -- in order to meet Wall Street's expectations in the first quarter of 1998?

A. No. My impression of the meetings was that people were convinced following their due diligence that the company would make their sales.

Q. Were you aware, sir, that as of March 18th, 1998, that Sunbeam would have needed to complete $195 million in sales in order to meet Wall Street's expectations in the first quarter of 1998?

A. Am I aware of that?

Page 143

Q. Were you aware of that during these discussions?

A. I don't recall.

Q. Do you recall any discussion about why Sunbeam was experiencing a sales shortfall in the first quarter of 1998?

MR. CLARE: Objection to form.

A. No.

Q. No, you don't recall that being discussed?

A. That's correct.

Q. You didn't ask that question?

A. No. I mean, again, I didn't ask. It wasn't my responsibility to ask these kind of questions.

Q. Mr. Harris, during any of these meetings in which you participated where there was discussion about Sunbeam's first quarter 1998 sales, was there also a discussion about the need to issue a press release?

A. I don't recall.

Q. You don't recall any discussions about whether Sunbeam needed to issue a press release in connection with the debenture offering that was about to occur?

Page 144

A. I don't recall.

Q. Do you recall that Sunbeam, in fact, issued a press release on March 19th, 1998, concerning its first quarter 1998 sales?

A. I believe that's the case.

Q. You did not participate in any discussions about the necessity to issue that press release?

A. I don't remember the specifics, but that sounds quite possible.

Q. So you do recall attending a meeting in which you discussed the necessity to issue a press release in the first quarter of 1998 relating to Sunbeam's sales situation?

A. Yes, I don't remember the specifics, but I mean that sounds vaguely familiar.

Q. Okay. Well, what do you recall about those conversations?

A. About those conversations specifically? I don't recall.

Q. You don't recall anything that was discussed in the context of --

Page 145

A. No, actually, I don't.

Q. -- a press release?

A. I don't.

Q. You didn't participate in drafting the March 19th, 1998 press release?

A. I don't believe I did.

Q. I'm handing you what's been marked as CPH Exhibit 14.

A. Okay.

Q. Have you had a chance to review that document?

A. I've skimmed it, yes.

Q. Do you recognize that document?

A. No.

Q. You don't recognize that to be the press release that Sunbeam issued on March 19th, 1998, concerning its first quarter 1998 sales?

A. It appears to be. I don't remember this.

Q. You weren't involved in drafting the particular language that appears in this document?

A. No.

018799

Q. You don't know how it came about that this document was created or issued?
A. I don't recall, no.
Q. Do you recall discussions, sir, that Sunbeam believed it was possible that net sales for the first quarter of 1998 may be lower than Wall Street analysts' expectations?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Do you recall any discussions at any time with anyone concerning whether net sales were expected to exceed 1997 first quarter net sales?
A. I can't recall that specifically now.
Q. Do you recall it generally?
A. Based on looking at this press release, it appears that at some point that discussion was had, yes, sure; generally, based on this press release. I mean, specific memories? No.
Q. All right. Well, my question is, do you recall those discussions occurring?
A. I recall --
Q. On your own independent recollection?

A. I recall that there were discussions as to whether or not they would meet the estimates for sales, maybe for earnings. The specifics? I don't recall at all. And as I read this press release, I realize I really don't recall.
I mean, I was very tangentially involved in this. This is not my area of responsibility.
Q. Okay. You can set that aside.
Do you recall reviewing a comfort letter that was prepared by Arthur Andersen and provided to Morgan Stanley in the first quarter of 1998?
A. I did not review such a comfort letter.
Q. Were you aware that one was issued?
A. I assumed one was issued.
Q. Why would you -- did you ever ask to see the comfort letter that was issued by Arthur --
A. Absolutely not.
Q. Why not?

A. Because that's not my area of responsibility.
Q. The information contained in the comfort letter was not relevant to the work you were performing in connection with the debenture offering.
A. I don't believe that's what I said.
Q. Well, I'm asking.
A. Okay. Well, why -- can you phrase that as a question?
Q. Sure. Is the information contained in the comfort letter that Andersen provided to Morgan Stanley relevant to the work you were performing on the debenture offering?
A. Yes.
Q. Then if it was relevant, why did you not review or ask for the comfort letter?
A. There are thousands of pages of documents that are produced in the context of a transaction. We assemble a fairly materially sized team so that we can break the responsibilities down so that we can actually perform them all.

That was not my responsibility, although there would have been somebody who would have done that and, as part of the equity commitment committee process, they would have had to assure the committee that a comfort letter would be provided.
Q. Sir, I'm handing you what's been marked as CPH Exhibit 17. This is the March 19th, 1998 comfort letter issued by Arthur Andersen to Morgan Stanley.
How many pages is contained in this document, sir?
MR. CLARE: Object to the form of the question. It's a waste of time as well.
A. I believe there are fewer than 10 pages in this document.
Q. There are seven pages in the March 19th, 1998 comfort letter, right?
A. Sorry, is that a question?
Q. Yes.
A. Seven pages? Let me reconfirm that. There are seven pages in this comfort letter.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018800

Page 150

Q. This is a very important document, is it not?
MR. CLARE: Objection to form. And argumentative.
A. Are you suggesting it's more important than these other documents you shared with me?
Q. I'm asking you if this is an important document --
MR. CLARE: And I object --
Q. -- as part of Morgan Stanley's underwriting of the debenture offering?
MR. CLARE: I object to the form of the question.
A. Yes, I believe it's an important document.
Q. So out of the thousands of documents you referred to earlier, this seven-page document is -- would it be fair to say, probably more important than many of those other thousands of pages of documents?
MR. CLARE: Objection to form.
A. There are some documents that are less important than this, yes. And there are some documents that are more important.

Page 151

Q. What documents are more important than this document?
A. From my perspective?
Q. Yes, sir.
A. The documents that I'm more involved with are -- I'm not a lawyer. I can't make that judgment. I'll take back that answer --
Q. Sir, I'm not asking you to render any legal opinion. You testified that there are documents that are more important than this March 19th, 1998 comfort letter. And I want to know the documents that are more important than this letter, in your --
MO MR. CLARE: I object, and I move to strike the preamble to the question. You misstated his testimony.
He stated that there are documents that are more important for his involvement. That's what he testified to. If you want to ask him about that, that's fine, go right ahead. I object to the question.
Q. That is my question.
A. Okay. I don't have direct

Page 152

responsibility for reviewing the comfort letter and so I have not reviewed a comfort letter in my current role in over a decade, although on almost every transaction I work with, it is assured to me that there is a valid comfort letter that has been reviewed by the appropriate people on the team.
Q. Let me try again.
What documents are more important in connection with your work on the debenture offering than the March 19th, 1998 comfort letter?
A. The documents that are more important to me are the ones that I'm more directly responsible for, which include things like the offering memorandum. Specifically, within the offering memorandum, the description of securities. I'm very concerned about that because that's one of my primary responsibilities, to structure the transaction correctly. That's why it's important to me.
Q. Any other documents you can think of?
A. Yes.

Page 153

Q. Go ahead.
A. I -- I don't understand the question. I'm sorry.
Q. It's a pretty simple question.
What other documents, other than the ones you've just identified, are more important in terms of your work on the debenture offering, than this document, CPH Exhibit 17?
A. I'm -- I'm troubled by the question because I don't understand what you mean by more important.
Q. Sir, it was your testimony.
A. Okay.
Q. What does it mean to you?
A. Okay.
Q. What's more important --
A. It means something -- perhaps what I should have said is, perhaps what I should have said is something that I'm more responsible for. So perhaps I misspoke.
Q. You were concerned, sir, in connection with the debenture offering about the status of Sunbeam's first quarter 1998 sales, correct?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018801

CONT #977

Page 154

MR. CLARE: Objection to form.
A. I wouldn't express it exactly like that.
Q. How would you express it?
A. I wanted to make sure the people on the team who are responsible for conducting due diligence had completed their due diligence completely, and that it was thorough. And that would include sales and other things, but I will not make a judgment on which are more important or less important.
Q. Okay. But my question was, you participated -- well, let me ask a new question.
You participated in meetings at which Morgan Stanley personnel discussed Wall Street expectations for Sunbeam's sales in the first quarter of 1998 and Sunbeam's sales in the first quarter of 1998, right? We went through that about 15 minutes ago.
A. Yes, I mean, I kept saying, not the full first quarter sales and you kept running over me, but I'm sorry, we did.
Q. I didn't intend or mean to run over you --

Page 155

A. Apology accepted.
Q. But you, in fact, were involved in conversations about the status, not the final first quarter 1998 sales, but the then-existing sales information in connection with the debenture offering, right?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. This document, CPH Exhibit 17, contains specific sales data for Sunbeam in the first quarter of 1998 through March 1st of 1998, does it not?
A. I don't know. I haven't seen this document before.
Q. If you turn to MS 379 -- just above paragraph 7 is paragraph C.
Can you read that to yourself?
A. Okay.
Q. That paragraph, sir, tells you that Sunbeam's net sales from December 29th, 1997 through March 1st, 1998, were 72 million as compared to 143.4 million for the corresponding period in the preceding year.
Would you agree with that?

Page 156

A. That's what it says, yes, absolutely.
Q. That information wasn't relevant to you in connection with the debenture offering?
A. I'm sorry, what's your question?
Q. Was that sales shortfall information that Sunbeam's first quarter 1998 sales through March 1st of 1998 were half of its net sales in the first quarter of 1997, was that information relevant to your work on the debenture offering?
A. Yes.
Q. Then why didn't you ask for and receive and review a copy of this seven-page document?
MR. CLARE: Objection, asked and answered. You can answer again.
THE WITNESS: Okay. Are you okay? Okay.
A. I'm not saying I never saw that information. I'm saying I didn't read this particular document.
Q. Well, let's back up. I asked you earlier whether you saw specific sales information on Sunbeam's first quarter 1998 sales.

Page 157

Are you saying now that you did have that information?
A. No, I'm not saying I did or I didn't. What I'm saying is that the team who was responsible for this laid out their logic behind why the information we were presenting was full and complete.
And at the time, I saw nothing, based on my limited understanding of the business, that I could say clearly countervened the argument they were making. I can't remember what specific data they provided, I can't remember what their logic was, but I do remember what the conclusion was.
Q. Did you review any documents in connection with your work on the debenture offering that you were not responsible for?
A. I reviewed documents in connection with the debenture offering that I was not primarily responsible for, yes.
Q. But you didn't look at this document?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018802

Page 158

A. I think that's been asked and answered.
Q. Okay.
A. Several times. Shall I answer again, just in case? No, I did not review this document.
Q. If you could flip back, sir, to CPH Exhibit 14. You can keep that open by the way. CPH Exhibit 17.
A. To that page --
Q. That's correct, MS 379?
A. And which one do you want me to look at?
Q. The press release, CPH 14.
A. Okay.
Q. Was there any discussion, sir, that you recall about including specific sales information into the March 19th, 1998 press release?
A. I don't recall.
Q. If you look at CPH Exhibit 14, in the middle of the first paragraph where it says, "The shortfall from analysts' estimates, if any, would be due to changes in inventory management and order patterns."

Page 159

Do you see that language?
A. Yes. Yes, I do.
Q. If you flip back a page to MS 378 in CPH 17, that document, back one page, at paragraph 6(b), and I'd ask you to take a moment to read that.
My question for you sir is --
A. I haven't quite finished.
Q. Okay. Take your time. Let me know when you're done.
A. Okay. I can't claim to understand that completely, but go ahead.
Q. Do you recall any discussions about the reason for Sunbeam's shortfall in the first quarter of 1998?
A. No.
Q. Do you recall any discussion about whether to include the reason that the company's early buy program accelerating sales into the fourth quarter of fiscal 1997, into the March 19th, 1998 press release?
A. I don't recall any of that.
Q. Do you recall knowing this information that appears in paragraph 6(b)?

Page 160

A. I don't recall any of this.
Q. And you don't recall reviewing any drafts of the March 19th, 1998 comfort letter, correct?
A. I'm quite confident that I did not.
Q. Sir, if you could turn back to CPH Exhibit 10 which is the debenture offering memo.
A. This one?
MR. CLARE: I'll put these in order for you.
THE WITNESS: Okay.
Q. And specifically, sir, if you could please flip to page 8.
Now, sir, you were primarily responsible for the debenture offering memo, isn't that correct?
MR. CLARE: Objection to form. Misstates the prior testimony.
A. That's correct, that does misstate the prior testimony. I was not.
Q. Well --
A. I was responsible for portions of it, and for putting, providing input for it.

Page 161

Q. Okay. And you reviewed this document --
MR. CLARE: Sorry, were you Don with your prior answer?
THE WITNESS: Yes, I am.
MR. CLARE: Okay, I'm sorry.
Q. And you reviewed this document in its final form, correct?
A. I reviewed portions of this document.
Q. In fact, this is one of the documents that you testified was more important than the March 19th, 1998 press release, correct?
A. Yes. Well, hold on a second. No, not versus the press release, versus the comfort letter.
Q. I'm sorry, the comfort letter.
A. You're trying to trick me.
Q. I'm not trying to trick you --
A. That was a good one. You almost caught me.
Q. I misspoke, sir --
A. When I -- misspeak, I get rebuked.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018803

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 162

Q. All right, sir, I'll ask the question again.
This offering memorandum, CPH Exhibit 10, is one of the documents that you listed as being more important than the March 19th, 1998 comfort letter?
MR. CLARE: That misstates the prior testimony. Objection.
Q. In connection with your work on the debenture offering.
MR. CLARE: Thank you.
A. I really am uncomfortable with that characterization of my prior testimony. I really wish there was a way to get around it, but each time you say it, you'll help me out and I'll try and remember that I have more involvement with this document than I do with the comfort letter. Perhaps that's the better way to express it.
Q. Sir, my question for you was that this document, CPH Exhibit 10, was one of the documents that you listed as being more important than the March 19th, 1998 comfort letter in connection with your work on the debenture offering, was that not your testimony?

Page 163

MR. CLARE: I object. Objection to form. Asked and answered. He's explained several times what his prior testimony was and what he meant by it.
If you want him to do it again, he can, but I really think it's getting repetitive and abusive. You can answer the question again.
THE WITNESS: I think it's getting repetitive and abusive. Do I have to answer it?
MR. CLARE: I'm not instructing you not to answer, but go ahead and answer again.
THE WITNESS: I'll answer it. If you don't instruct me not to answer it, I'll answer it again.
A. I'm sorry, what was the question? Although I've heard it several times.
Q. This document, CPH Exhibit 10, was one of the documents that you listed.
When I asked you specifically, tell me what documents are more important to you than the March 19th, 1998 comfort letter, you listed this document, the offering memorandum, correct? It's a simple --

Page 164

A. In connection with my work.
Q. Yes, it's a simple yes or no question.
A. Yes.
Q. Okay.
MR. CLARE: Actually -- well, you don't have to limit your answer to the way he wants it.
THE WITNESS: Whatever. Okay. I'm sorry.
Q. Sir, on page 8 -- let me take you back actually, to page 5 through 11.
This is the summary section of the offering memo, would you agree with that?
A. It appears to be.
Q. Okay. Did you review the summary section of this offering document?
A. I reviewed in detail pages 10 and 11, I believe. Yes, 10 and 11.
Q. Why was it important for you to review the contents on pages 10 and 11 of this document?

Page 165

A. Because my primary responsibility in the transaction is to make sure the deal is properly structured, legally, mechanically, and that there's a market for them. And so page 10 and 11, all the pages in here of this very important document to me in the context of my work, if there's a mistake in 10 and 11, it's going to take the most work for me to rectify that.
Q. And it's important that the information contained in this offering document is accurate, right?
A. Yes.
Q. Because this is the information that Morgan Stanley is providing to the public -- or not to the public, strike that, to the potential purchasers of the debentures, right?
A. It's one of the reasons.
Q. And it's very important that that information that you're conveying to potential investors is accurate?
A. I think I said yes.
Q. Because potential investors in 018804

the subordinated debentures rely on the information and the statements contained within the offering memo, correct?
MR. CLARE: Object, calls for speculation. You can answer.
A. Okay. Yes. If you say so.
Q. If you turn to page 8, sir, there's a section entitled, "Recent Announcement."
Would you take a second to read that, please?
A. Okay.
Q. This is the language that appears in the March 19th, 1998 press release, correct?
A. I believe so.
Q. Well, we can look at it.
A. Sure, I mean --
Q. If you would care to.
A. Why would you ask me that because, you know, you can look yourself.
Q. Well, we're getting there. I want to make sure that you have all the information you need to answer my question.
A. Okay, I mean -- yes, I mean, it appears to be.

Q. Okay. My question then for you, sir, is did you review this recent announcement section in connection with your review of this memorandum?
A. I probably did not read that directly, no.
Q. Why not?
A. Because I'm primarily responsible for making sure the deal is properly structured. And this doesn't deal with structure.
If I had read it and I had found something objectionable to it, I would have pointed it out, because every team member ought to do that, but my primary responsibility is to make sure the deal is it properly structured and that it can be sold in the market.
Q. Who at Morgan Stanley is responsible for ensuring the accuracy of the entire offering memorandum?
A. I believe the CSG team has primary responsibility for making sure that the accuracy of the entire document is correct.

Q. And that's Mr. Wright and Mr. Tyree?
A. That's correct.
Q. This recent announcement section does not contain the information Morgan Stanley had on Sunbeam's first quarter 1998 sales -- the information Morgan Stanley had in its possession through the March 19th, 1998 comfort letter on Sunbeam's first quarter 1998 sales as of that date, does it?
MR. CLARE: Objection, no foundation.
A. I don't know. I don't know. You've given me a document you claim is the comfort letter which I've never seen before. And you ask me if there's information in the comfort letter that's not here, and --
Q. Okay. Do you have any reason to believe that the March 19th, 1998 comfort letter I gave you is not, in fact, the comfort letter that Morgan Stanley received from Arthur Andersen?
A. No. No, I don't have reason to believe it's not.

Q. Let me ask the question a little differently for you.
Does the recent announcement section advise that Sunbeam's net sales from December 29th, 1997 to March 1st, 1998, were 72 million versus 143.4 million in the same time period in 1997?
A. You're asking me if it states that?
Q. In the recent announcements section.
A. I don't believe it does.
Q. Had you read the comfort letter that you have in your hand now, would you have advised that this offering memorandum contain that information on Sunbeam's first quarter 1998 sales?
MR. CLARE: Objection, incomplete hypothetical. You can answer.
A. Not necessarily.
Q. Why not?
A. I don't understand the business well enough to understand whether those couple of numbers you showed me in some document I saw for the first time today are material for inclusion in this section of a document. It's not my area of expertise. I don't know enough about the facts and circumstances. It's a very complicated judgment. That's why. Do you think it should be?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018805

Page 170

MR. CLARE: Just let him ask the questions.

THE WITNESS: Okay.

Q. Sir, had you read the March 19th, 1998 comfort letter and then reviewed this offering memorandum, would you have advised -- strike that.

Would you have raised a concern that that information in the comfort letter concerning first quarter 1998 sales should be in this offering memorandum?

A. Not necessarily.

Q. Why not?

A. If the person who understood the business and was charged with making that evaluation presented a persuasive argument for why that was not material, and other people who are more familiar with the business than me agreed with that, then I would defer to them on that point.

Page 171

Q. So you wouldn't have even raised the issue --

MR. CLARE: Objection.

Q. -- that that sales information contained in the comfort letter might be included in the offering memorandum?

A. Not necessarily.

Q. Well, as you sit here today, if you had read the March 19th, 1998 comfort letter and you had that net sales information, would you have pulled anyone aside at Morgan Stanley and said, should this be included in the offering memorandum?

MR. CLARE: Same objections as before.

A. It's not -- it's not the right question because, you know, I come here today not remembering anything about this transaction. How can I make a judgment on what's material and what's not just by reading one page of a document you gave me?

I would suggest that nobody could do that. So I can't necessarily do that.

Q. That wasn't my question. I

Page 172

didn't ask you if you would have felt that it was material.

My question to you, sir, was if you had receipt the March 19th, 1998 press release -- strike that, comfort letter, and knew that Sunbeam's sales were half of 1997's sales for the same period, would you have pulled anyone aside at Morgan Stanley and said, do you think that information should be included in the offering memorandum?

MR. CLARE: Objection, incomplete hypothetical.

A. I don't have the expertise to make that judgment. And if that happened, you know, the people with the expertise would have raised it. And if they didn't raise it, then I probably would have been -- I mean, if the experts don't raise it, the people who understand the business -- not necessarily.

Q. You testified earlier, sir, that had you come across any information in materials that were going to investors contained false or inaccurate information, your role as well as everyone's role at Morgan Stanley, would be to flag that issue to determine whether or not that information should be corrected, correct?

Page 173

A. Yes.

Q. Then my question for you, sir, is, had you looked at that comfort letter and knew the actual sales shortfall in the first quarter of 1998, would you have done that in connection with the drafting and review of the offering memorandum marked as CPH Exhibit 10?

A. I think your question -- if you're asking me if, if you're asking me if this were material information and it were brought to my attention, would I ask about it? I mean, it's -- quite, it's quite the hypothetical.

I mean, I think -- maybe this would answer your question. If I were aware of any information that was material and nonpublic that needed to be disclosed, I would encourage the team, more than encourage, I would expect the team would disclose it.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

908810

Page 174

By your question, it's -- it sounds like you're assuming that this is -- I don't know. I don't know the connection between your two questions. So I could just answer this question.

Yes, any material information that's nonpublic ought to be disclosed, yes. If that's your second question. I don't see a connection between your first question and your second question.

Q. In connection with the work that you performed on the debenture offering, do you consider a 50 percent sales shortfall over the prior period important information to you?

MR. CLARE: Objection to form.

MR. O'CONNOR: I'll withdraw it. I'll ask a better question.

Q. Was Sunbeam's sales shortfall, as reflected in the March 19th, 1998 comfort letter, information that you would have liked to have known prior to pricing of the debenture offering?

A. I mean, it wouldn't necessarily have affected the outcome.

Page 175

Q. You would have had no impact upon reading that information in the comfort letter, that wouldn't have affected anything you had done on the deal?

A. It wouldn't have had a necessary effect, no -- it wouldn't necessarily have affected the outcome, no.

Q. Had you obtained that information, would you have done anything differently?

MR. CLARE: Objection, incomplete hypothetical.

A. Yes, I mean, also I testified earlier I'm not sure whether I had that or not.

Q. Well, you testified that you, for sure, never read the comfort letter which contained that information.

A. For sure, I never read the comfort letter. That I remember. I remember that very clearly.

Q. Do you recall any discussions about whether to include the statements contained in the March 19th, 1998 press release into the offering memorandum at the recent announcement section?

A. I don't recall that specifically, no.

Q. Do you recall any discussion about whether the debenture offering should be delayed or cancelled because of information Morgan Stanley had obtained concerning Sunbeam's first quarter 1998 sales?

A. No.

Q. Did the March 19th, 1998 press release that's been marked as CPH Exhibit 14 have any impact on the pricing of the debentures?

A. No.

Q. I'm sorry, your answer?

A. No.

(Discussion off the record.)

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Time is now 1:05 and we are off the record.

(Recess taken.)

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: The time is 12 minutes after 1:00 and we are back on the record.

BY MR. O'CONNOR:

Page 177

Q. Circumstance I'm sorry if I've asked you this already, but whose responsibility was it to review the contents of the March 19th, 1998 comfort letter?

A. CSG.

Q. And again, that's Mr. Wright and Mr. Tyree?

A. That's correct.

Q. Who would be responsible for advising other members of the Morgan Stanley team about the content of that comfort letter?

A. CSG.

Q. The offering memo, previously marked as CPH Exhibit 10, who is responsible for signing off, if you will, on the offering memorandum on the final copy?

A. Various people; CSG would collect the final signoff. Different people would sign off on different parts of it. I would sign off on the structure.

Q. And by structure, are you referring to the two pages that you --

A. That and the description of debentures and anything on the front cover that related to the securities themselves.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018807

Q. Specifically, who are the people that would have signed off on the document, besides yourself, or portions thereof?
MR. CLARE: Objection, lack of foundation.
A. I don't, I don't know specifically. I mean, it's CSG's responsibility to make sure that any member of the team has signed off on anything that's relevant to them.
Q. Is there a particular process by which they do that, like signoff sheets, documents that are created?
A. Drafts are circulated and comments are collected.
Q. Does the equity commitment committee review the offering memorandum?
A. No, they do not.
Q. Sir, were you involved in the pricing of the offering memorandum?
A. The pricing of the offering memorandum?
Q. I'm sorry, the pricing of the debentures. Thank you.

A. Yes, I was.
Q. Who else was involved in that?
A. That would be members of the sales and trading group.
Q. Was Ms. Porat involved in pricing?
A. She was -- she was there, but most of the pricing was done by me and sales and trading folks.
Q. In proximity to the completion and printing of the offering memorandum, when did that pricing occur?
A. Before.
Q. How long before?
A. One to two days.
Q. Do you have any recollection that the pricing was completed on the same day as the completion of the offering memorandum and the printing at Global Financial Press?
A. It's unusual for it to be that fast, but it could be.
Q. You don't have any specific recollection whether that was indeed the case with these debentures, that they were priced and printed and the offering memorandum was printed on the same day?

A. I don't recall the exact chronology.
Q. That general chronology doesn't refresh your recollection?
A. No, I don't know whether it was the same day, the next day or the day after.
Q. Okay. Did anyone call you or contact you in any way, sir, during the final drafting and printing of the offering memorandum to raise any issues?
A. Not that I remember.
Q. You don't recall hearing that there was a dispute of differences between Morgan Stanley personnel, or a dispute concerning the contents of the offering memorandum between Morgan Stanley personnel and Arthur Andersen personnel?
A. I don't recall that, no.
Q. You don't recall hearing that Arthur Andersen specifically objected to including the language of the press release and the recent announcement section of the offering memorandum?
A. I don't recall that, no.

Q. Do you recall hearing that Sunbeam was extending the close of its quarter in the first quarter of 1998?
A. I don't recall that.
Q. Were you involved, sir, in the preparation of the road show for the debentures?
A. No.
Q. I'm handing you what was previously marked as CPH Exhibit 75. Take a moment to flip through that, sir.
A. This is what you're calling the road show presentation?
MR. CLARE: I don't think he's characterized it. I think he's just handed it to you and identified it as a Deposition Exhibit No. 75.
Q. My question to you, sir, will be, do you recognize any of these materials?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you prepare or assist in preparing any of these materials?
A. No.
Q. Did you travel for any of the road show presentations?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018808

A. No.
Q. Did you attend the road show presentation in New York on March 18th?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you recall anyone contacting you during or after that road show in New York to discuss first quarter 1998 sales?
A. Yes.
Q. What do you recall?
A. I recall that there were discussions on that and I believe it was sometime after the road show presentation.
Q. When did you first learn that the issue of first quarter 1998 sales had come up at the New York road show?
A. Well, I'm not saying it came up at the road show. I'm saying is there were discussions that took place after. I don't recall when it first came up.
Q. I'm sorry. Okay.
So you don't recall any discussions among Morgan Stanley personnel or Sunbeam personnel during or immediately following the road show concerning Sunbeam's first quarter 1998 sales?

A. I don't recall exactly when those took place now.
Q. You don't recall that Ms. Porat was contacted by someone to advise her of concerns about the status of first quarter 1998 sales?
A. I don't recall that now.
Q. She never conveyed that to you?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Who presented that day at the road show?
A. Al Dunlap did and I don't recall if there were others.
Q. You don't recall Mr. Kersh speaking at the road show in New York?
A. I don't remember that specifically now.
Q. Do you recall, at any point during the road show, where the subject of the March 19th, 1998 press release was raised?
MR. CLARE: Sorry, could you read back that question?
(Whereupon, the requested portion of the record was read back by the reporter.)

MR. O'CONNOR: I think I misspoke.
Q. Sir, at any point during the road show, was there any discussion or comment on the March 19th, 1998 press release that went out that day?
MR. CLARE: Okay. I'm going to renew my objection. The road show that he testified he attended was March 18th, and you're asking him about a press release that went out that day, so I'm confused about the timing. And that's the basis for my objection.
MR. O'CONNOR: I'm sorry. Thank you. I have my question confused.
Q. The New York road show was March 18th.
Was there any discussion about the need to issue a press release during the March 18th road show?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Do you recall any discussions about changes to the road show presentation on March 19th as a result of the issuance of the March 19th press release?

A. No.
Q. Did you ever hear that someone at Morgan -- strike that, someone at Sunbeam had addressed the issuance of the March 19th, 1998 press release at the Boston road show on March 19th?
A. No.
Q. That subject was never discussed?
A. I don't recall that.
Q. You don't recall any discussions concerning whether Sunbeam should downplay the information that was contained in the March 19th, 1998 press release?
A. No.
Q. Sir, what did Morgan Stanley do to track Sunbeam's first quarter 1998 sales between the issuance of the press release and the closing of the debentures?
MR. CLARE: Objection, no foundation.
A. I don't know.
Q. Were you participating in any due diligence or review or monitoring of Sunbeam's first quarter 1998 progress between the March 19th, 1998 press release and the closing of the debentures?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018809

Page 186

A. Not that I remember.
Q. I'm showing you what's been marked as CPH Exhibit 33.
Do you recall this document, sir?
A. No.
Q. You've never seen this before?
A. I don't recall this document.
Q. You were not involved in any "bring-down due diligence"?
A. Not that I recall.
Q. I'm going to show you what's been marked as CPH Exhibit 34.
Do you recognize this document?
A. No.
Q. Your name appears as one of the authors of this document.
A. Yes, it does. Yes, it appears to.
Q. Do you know why that is?
A. I find that people take liberties with my name -- sometimes when they shouldn't. Maybe that's not a direct answer. I think somebody put my name on it because they decided they wanted to put my name on it, but I don't recall being involved in this.

Page 187

Q. You can't think of any reason why they would put your name and Ruth Porat's name on Exhibit 34?
MR. CLARE: Objection, calls for speculation.
A. I don't -- perhaps they discussed it with me. You know, as I say, I have no recollection of any of this.
Q. Okay.
A. I'm pretty confident I didn't write this memo.
Q. If you look at the first bullet point on CPH Exhibit 33, which I handed to you previously. First bullet point on this bring-down list is "Top and bottom line outlook for first quarter, first half and the year."
Do you see that, sir?
A. Yes.
Q. And then on the list that contains your name as one of the authors, dated March 20th, which is the day after CPH Exhibit 33, that first bullet point has been changed.

Page 188

Do you see that?
A. Yes, that first bullet point does not, is not contained in the memo of March 20th.
Q. In fact, the inquiry in that first bullet point in the March 20th memo no longer lists the first half of Sunbeam's revenues and earnings, is that correct?
A. I don't see that list in the first bullet point in the March 20th memo, yes.
Q. Do you have any knowledge of why that particular inquiry was dropped between the March 19th, 1998 memo and the March 20th memo?
A. No.
Q. Do you recall any conversations whatsoever concerning whether to drop the inquiry into Sunbeam's second quarter of 1998 during the bring-down due diligence?
A. No.
Q. Sir, I'm handing you what's previously been marked as CPH Exhibit 112.
Have you ever seen that document before, sir?

Page 189

A. I've seen something similar to this.
Q. Sir, this is the March 25th, 1998 version of Arthur Andersen's comfort letter.
Did you review this document on or about March 25th, 1998?
A. Absolutely not.
Q. When you say you've seen something similar to this, to what are you referring?
A. I think there's something in this pile here that looks pretty similar to this.
Q. And that would be the March 19th, 1998 comfort letter that we went through in detail, correct?
A. That's correct. I have not looked through either of them in great detail, and today is the first time I've ever seen either of them.
Q. I'm showing you what's previously been marked as CPH Exhibit 36.
Sir, just to back up one step, were you aware that Arthur Andersen provided Morgan Stanley with an updated comfort letter on March 25, 1998?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018810

Page 190

A. No.
Q. Okay. Sir, have you had a chance to review CPH Exhibit 36?
A. Not in detail.
Q. Do you recognize this document or any of the information contained in the document?
A. I don't. I don't remember this press release, no.
Q. This is, in fact, an April 3rd, 1997 Sunbeam press release.
(Discussion off the record.)
Q. 1998.
A. It says 1997.
Q. Yes, it's wrong on the document. Do you recall, sir, that this press release was issued shortly after the closing of the debentures and the closing of Sunbeam's acquisition of my client's interests in the Coleman Company?
A. No.
Q. You don't recall any discussions within Morgan Stanley concerning the April 3rd press release, or the information contained in it?

Page 191

A. Not specifically.
Q. Generally?
A. Yes.
Q. What do you recall?
A. I don't think there was, you know, back and forth on what this meant and what investors would think and, you know, we need to be aware of it, because we sold some debentures -- we sold some convertibles and so we needed to make sure we were in communication with investors to monitor their concerns.
Q. So you were aware that a press release had been issued by Sunbeam shortly after the debenture --
A. At some point, I was aware that there had been a press release, yes.
Q. What was your reaction to the press release?
A. My reaction to it was, I was surprised and I was disappointed.
Q. Did you ever go back to anyone at Morgan Stanley, whether it was Ms. Porat or Mr. Tyree, and ask them what happened?

Page 192

A. Yes, I did.
Q. What did they say?
A. They said, at the time we sold the debentures, we believed that they were going to perform consistently with -- consistently with what was in the market. And if they didn't do that after the fact, that was inconsistent with all the due diligence they had done.
Q. Did you speak with anyone else about the information contained in the press release, or the press release itself?
A. Yes.
Q. Who did you speak with?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Did any of the debenture holders contact you after this press release was issued?
A. Contact me personally?
Q. Yes.
A. No.
Q. Contact Morgan Stanley?
A. Yes.
Q. Did anyone try to rescind their purchase of the debentures?

Page 193

A. No, not that I'm aware of.
Q. What was the nature of their contact with Morgan Stanley?
A. It was consistent with the feedback we get on every deal -- which is something negative comes out, they're unhappy. If something positive comes out, they're happy. So, they were unhappy.
Q. Did anyone, to your knowledge, investigate the reasons why Sunbeam did not meet its sales for first quarter of 1998, the expectations of Wall Street or -- let me withdraw that and ask a better question.
Was there any investigation done by Morgan Stanley to determine why Sunbeam fell short of, not only Wall Street's expectations for first quarter of 1998, but for Sunbeam's first quarter 1997?
A. I don't know.
Q. Did you ever ask anyone to conduct that investigation?
A. I personally did not.
Q. Are you aware of anyone that did?
A. As I said, I don't know.
Q. Do you know who at Morgan Stanley

01881

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

reviewed a draft of the March 19, 1998 press release?
A. No.
Q. Do you know who at Morgan Stanley was involved in discussions in drafting -- I'm sorry, discussions about whether or not to issue a press release?
A. I don't have specific memory of who that might have been.
Q. Do you have any memory?
A. I believe that Ruth was probably made aware of it. I believe I was probably made aware of it. I believe John Tyree was probably involved.
Q. When you say, Tyree was involved, is that as opposed to being aware of the press release?
A. I don't know. I don't know. I mean, I'm sure before the press release came out, people on the team were informed that it was going to come out.
Q. And why do you believe that?
A. Because whenever there's -- whenever there's a press release by the company -- well actually, let me say it differently.

The company issues a press release and their marketing securities or offering securities team needs to be aware of that, whether it's important or not.
Q. In connection with your role on the debenture offering, wouldn't it have been important for you to know whether Sunbeam was going to issue a press release before it went out?
A. Yes.
Q. And would it be important to you to know the contents of that press release before it went out?
A. Yes.
Q. But you don't recall reviewing that press release before it went out?
A. I do not. It could quite possibly be the case that they discussed it with me and I said, okay, that's fine.
Q. Do you have any recollection of that conversation occurring?
A. No specific recollections, no.
Q. Any general recollection?
A. Yes, that it occurred.

Q. So people did come to you and tell you that Sunbeam was going to issue a press release on March 19, 1998?
A. Yes, before the press release came out, I'm sure people discussed it with me.
Q. Did you review a draft of the press release before it went out?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Did someone read you the contents of the draft press release?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Isn't that something that you would want to know before the press release went out?
A. I would want to know what was in the press release, yes. Whether they had to read it to me specifically, or I had to review it specifically, not necessarily.
Q. So is it fair to say that despite having no recollection of having the contents read to you, you were, in fact, read the contents of that press release before it went out?
MR. CLARE: Objection to form.

Q. I mean, you --
A. Somebody probably -- if they didn't read me the contents of it, they went through all the major points that were going to be in there, yes. I would suspect, would infer that from the situation, although I don't have any specific recollection of it.
Q. Sir, you were promoted to managing director in December of 1999, is that correct?
A. That sounds about right.
Q. In 1998, was there a big push at Morgan Stanley to increase the number of convertible debenture offerings?
A. No more so than any other year.
Q. Was 1998 a much better year for issuing -- I'm sorry, strike that, for Morgan Stanley's underwriting of convertible securities than 1997?
A. I don't recall. Actually, if I had to guess, I'd say it probably was lower. Actually, strike that. I just don't recall.
MR. CLARE: Just one second.
(Pause in the proceedings.)
MR. O'CONNOR: No further

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018812 questions.

MR. CLARE: Okay. I don't have any questions for this witness. So we're done.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: The time is 1:37 and we have concluded the deposition. And we are off the record.
(Time noted: 1:37 p.m.)

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

STATE OF NEW YORK)
:ss
COUNTY OF NEW YORK)

I, W. BROOKS HARRIS, hereby certify that I have read the transcript of my testimony taken under oath in my deposition of October 26, 2004, that the transcript is a true, complete and correct record of my testimony, and that the answers on the record as given by me are true and correct.

_____
W. BROOKS HARRIS

Subscribed and sworn to before me this ___ day of _____, 2004.

_____

CERTIFICATE

STATE OF NEW YORK)
: ss.
COUNTY OF NEW YORK)

I, JOYCE G. ABELES, a Notary Public within and for the State of New York, do hereby certify:
That W. BROOKS HARRIS, the witness whose deposition is hereinbefore set forth, was duly sworn by me and that such deposition is a true record of the testimony given by the witness.
I further certify that I am not related to any of the parties to this action by blood or marriage, and that I am in no way interested in the outcome of this matter.
IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand this 28th day of October, 2004.

_____
JOYCE G. ABELES

----------INDEX----------

WITNESS	EXAMINATION BY	PAGE
W. BROOKS HARRIS	MR. O'CONNOR	05

----------INFORMATION REQUESTS----------
MOTIONS: Page 151, Line 15

----------EXHIBITS----------

CPH EXHIBITS	FOR ID.
CPH Exhibit 286, document bearing Bates Nos. Morgan Stanley Confidential 95550 and 95551, marked for identification....	116:11

EXHIBIT RETAINED BY COUNSEL

018813

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

 ERRATA SHEET ***

NAME OF CASE: Coleman vs. Morgan Stanley
DATE OF DEPOSITION: October 26, 2004
NAME OF WITNESS: W. BROOKS HARRIS

PAGE	LINE	FROM	TO

_____
W. BROOKS HARRIS

Subscribed and sworn to before me
this ____ day of _____, 2004.

_____
(Notary Public)
My Commission Expires: _____

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018814

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF THE FIFTEENTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT
IN AND FOR PALM BEACH COUNTY, FLORIDA

COLEMAN (PARENT) HOLDINGS INC.,
Plaintiff,

vs.

MORGAN STANLEY & CO. INC,

Defendant.

CASE NO.: 2003 CA 005045A1

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

EXPERT REPORT OF DOUGLAS R. EMERY

December 7, 2004

018816

I. OVERVIEW

A. Assignment

1. I have been retained by Counsel for Coleman (Parent) Holdings Inc. ("CPH") in connection with the above-referenced matter. I was asked to discuss the financial performance of Sunbeam Corporation ("Sunbeam") from a corporate finance perspective. In particular I was asked to focus on its financial performance from Q4 1996 through Q1 1998.

B. Qualifications

2. I am currently Bank of America Scholar, Professor of Finance, and Department Chair in the Department of Finance at the University of Miami. I was also recently elected to serve as Vice-President for the 2006 Financial Management Association International (FMA) annual program, and currently serve as the Chair of the Board of Trustees of the Eastern Finance Association. Previously, I have held positions at Binghamton University, The University of Missouri, Nanjing University, Washington University, Purdue University, The University of Kansas, and The University of Calgary.

3. I teach classes in corporate financial management. I have taught such classes at all levels, from introductory undergraduate classes through doctoral seminars, including a variety of advanced and case classes at both the graduate and undergraduate levels. Sunbeam and its performance during this period have been widely studied by academics, with numerous case studies and lectures covering Sunbeam's claimed turn-around and collapse. In fact, I have discussed Sunbeam and its performance during this period in particular and corporate ethics in general in class lectures at the University of Miami.

4. I earned a B.S. in physics from Baker University, and an M.B.A. and a Ph.D. in Business from The University of Kansas. I have co-authored five books including

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018817

Corporate Financial Management and Debt Management: A Practitioner's Guide. I have also published numerous articles regarding corporate finance and other finance topics. I have served, or currently serve, in various editorial capacities for numerous journals, including having served for more than six years as editor of Financial Management, the signature journal of the FMA.

5. A copy of my curriculum vitae is attached as Appendix A. In addition to my education and employment, it lists my publications, papers, and conferences in which I have participated. I have not testified in the past five years.

C. Scope of Analysis

6. I was asked to provide a discussion of Sunbeam's financial performance. In particular, I was asked to discuss Sunbeam's supposed "turn-around" under the leadership of Albert Dunlap, and its subsequent collapse and later bankruptcy after fraud was discovered in 1998. I have also been asked to explain how this fraud affected the value of the company and potential rationale for such fraud.

7. I understand that CPH alleges Morgan Stanley has engaged in various wrongful acts through its involvement in the sale of CPH's interest in The Coleman Company Inc. ("Coleman Company") to Sunbeam, including fraudulent misrepresentation, aiding and abetting, conspiracy and negligent misrepresentation.

8. In completing this assignment, I reviewed documents produced by the parties and conducted independent research. In addition, I have drawn upon my years of experience in corporate finance to assist me in reaching my conclusions. I have been assisted in this matter by Analysis Group, Inc. ("AG"). Staff at AG have gathered and analyzed information working under my direction. A complete list of documents relied upon is contained in Appendix B. In general, I reviewed the following types of materials:

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018818

- Legal filings;
- Analyst reports;
- SEC filings;
- Financial statements;
- Other financial documents such as offering memoranda; and,
- Press releases and news articles.

9. I am compensated at the rate of $515 per hour for time I incur on this assignment. Payment is not contingent on my findings nor on the outcome of this case. I reserve the right to update my report if new information becomes available.

D. Summary of Conclusions

10. Based on representations made to the public by Sunbeam, financial analysts and the general public viewed Sunbeam as a successful and improving company in 1997 and Q1 1998. This perception represented a substantial turn-around from 1996 when Sunbeam had shown a decline in sales and a large loss in profits. The claimed turn-around, however, was a fraud.

11. In April 1998, Sunbeam stated that it expected its Q1 1998 results to be below market expectations.[1] Notably, these results were even lower than those predicted by the company in a press release made two weeks before, dated March 19, 1998, which indicated that "…it is possible that its net sales for the first quarter of 1998 may be lower than [estimates]… but net sales are expected to exceed 1997 first quarter net sales…"[2] Surprisingly, despite the fact that the announcement date was only twelve days before the end of the quarter, the Q1 1998 sales fell below those of Q1 1997, contrary to Sunbeam's statement in the announcement, and earnings (which were not even mentioned in the warning) were negative. Upon the April 3 announcement of Q1 1998 results, the market price of Sunbeam shares

[1] See "Sunbeam Says 1st Qtr Sales Fell, Fires Executive," Bloomberg, April 3, 1998.
[2] 0016944-45, at 944.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0188119

lost almost 25 percent of its value, dropping from a share price of $45.56 to $34.38.[3]

12. In fact, the poor performance in Q1 1998 was only the first indication of (and not fully reflective of) numerous problems at Sunbeam. Sunbeam management subsequently issued a warning revealing that Sunbeam's financial statements from Q4 1996 though Q1 1998 were inaccurate.[4] As was later reported, Sunbeam's financials for this period contained numerous irregularities and fraud, resulting in an overstatement of revenues and profits for the period Q1 1997 through Q1 1998.[5]

13. Not only had Sunbeam's fraud inflated its earnings in 1997, but it also caused the expectation that its earnings would be higher in the future. As such, the value of Sunbeam was dramatically higher than it would have been without the fraud. This created the opportunity for Sunbeam management to either: 1) sell the company at an excess over its actual value, or 2) purchase valuable assets of other companies using the overvalued stock as currency.

II. BACKGROUND: SUNBEAM PRIOR TO Q3 1996

14. Founded in 1910 with the introduction of its first appliance—the electric iron[6]—Sunbeam became a leading manufacturer and marketer of durable consumer goods, including kitchen and health-related appliances, outdoor grills and furniture, and electric blankets.[7] Despite its diversified offerings, Sunbeam maintained strong brand recognition amongst consumers.[8] As of May 1995,

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018820

[3] See Bloomberg data.
[4] "Sunbeam Admits Improper Accounting Firm to Restate Results," The Miami Herald, August 7, 1998; "Sunbeam to Restate Financial Results," PR Newswire, October 20, 1998.
[5] See Sunbeam 10-K/A for fiscal year ended 12/28/97, filed 11/12/98.
[6] Sunbeam Corporate website, available at http://www.sunbeam.com/history.asp (visited November 17, 2004).
[7] CPH1257094 - CPH1257113. See also, Sunbeam Corporation Annual Report 1999.
[8] CPH1257094 - CPH1257113, CPH2008290 – CPH2008291.

Sunbeam was the market leader in 70% of its product categories.[9]

15. According to its original audited financial statements, Sunbeam's annual revenue declined from $1,044.2 million in 1994 to $984.2 million to 1996, with profits that began as high as $107.0 million in 1994 dropping steadily as well.[10] By the spring of 1996, Sunbeam needed to change its strategy. The stock price had declined from a high of approximately $25 per share in January 1995 to around $15 per share in May 1996.[11] Sales were relatively flat, and the company had failed to meet earnings expectations in nearly every quarter for the past two years.[12] Analysts believed that Sunbeam needed to refocus its product offerings and reduce its cost structure in order to improve growth and earnings.[13] In May 1996, Sunbeam CEO Mike Schipke was fired, opening the position for a new leader.

16. In July 1996, Albert Dunlap was hired as CEO, bringing with him the reputation of a company turn-around specialist.[14] Over the following months, Dunlap would devise and implement a strategy to supposedly improve Sunbeam's profitability by rationalizing its plants, warehouses, and headquarters, divesting certain unprofitable business units, including its furniture, time & temperature operations, and dramatically simplifying its product line by eliminating 87% of its stock-keeping units (SKUs).[15]

III. SUNBEAM Q3 1996 – Q1 1998: THE "TURN-AROUND"

17. Initial reaction to Mr. Dunlap's hiring and turn-around plan was positive. News

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018821

[9] CPH1257094 - CPH1257113.
[10] See Exhibit 1.
[11] See Exhibit 2. From a price of $24.88 on 1/3/95 to a price of $13.50 on 5/6/96. See Bloomberg data.
[12] See "Sunbeam in for a Pruning: New Chief Replaces Second in Command," HFN, July 29, 1996, "Sunbeam Chief to Osterize Plants, Workers," Tampa Tribune, November 9, 1996.
[13] See for example, CPH1125139-1125142.
[14] See for example "Are You Tough Enough to Handle Straight Talk from 'Rambo in Pinstripes'?; Cutting through the Bull with Al Dunlap," Palm Beach Post, October, 20, 1997. Prior experience includes Lily-Tulip, Consolidated Press, and most notably the turn-around of Scott Paper.
[15] CPH1125115 – CPH1125117.

articles and analyst reports both supported the belief that Sunbeam performance would improve over the following year, based on Dunlap's hiring and the new direction of the company. In fact, Sunbeam's stock price increased steadily from Dunlap's hiring through his announcement of the turn-around plan in November 1996 and continued to increase through late 1997. As Exhibit 3 shows, Sunbeam shares increased from $12.50 a share on July 18, 1996 to more than $45 by October 1997, approximately a 260 percent increase.

18. Notably, the stock price gained almost 50 percent alone on the announcement that Mr. Dunlap was named the CEO.[16] This large increase in price, preceding any actual turn-around or restructuring plan caused some to question the validity of the company valuation. Some analysts such as Constance Maneaty of Bear, Stearns & Co. reserved judgment awaiting the strategy to be unveiled.[17] Nevertheless, others such as Susan Gallagher, an analyst at NatWest Securities Corporation, recommended using any price weakness as an opportunity to aggressively purchase Sunbeam stock.[18]

19. When Sunbeam finally made its restructuring announcement, the reaction of the financial community was optimistic. Goldman Sachs analyst Elisabeth Fontenelli reported, "Yesterday's much anticipated restructuring announcement from new Sunbeam CEO Al Dunlap posed better-than-expected $225 million of annualized cost savings and a growth plan to double sales to $2 billion in the next three years. Restructuring cost savings are highly visible."[19] Based in part on this restructuring strategy, both Goldman Sachs and Merrill Lynch provided "buy" and "recommended" ratings for Sunbeam stock.[20] In Q4 1996, in conjunction with the implementation of the restructuring plan, Sunbeam recorded a pre-tax

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018822

[16] See Bloomberg data. See also "For a Struggling Sunbeam, Shock Therapy," The New York Times, August 11, 1996.
[17] See "For a Struggling Sunbeam, Shock Therapy," The New York Times, August 11, 1996. See also "New Chairman Mixing In," The Miami Herald, August 20, 1996, which says that developing a new strategic vision for Sunbeam won't be easy.
[18] See "For a Struggling Sunbeam, Shock Therapy," The New York Times, August 11, 1996.
[19] CPH1125115-117, at 115.
[20] CPH1125115-117. CPH1125110-111.

charge of approximately $337.6 million.[21]

20. By April 1997, after Q1 1997 results were released, Sunbeam and others were already touting the success of the turn-around. CEO Dunlap stated that "[t]he impressive growth in both revenue and earnings is proof that the revitalization of Sunbeam is working....The results for our ongoing operations are the beginning of the new Sunbeam. The turn-around is going strong. We are focused on building the business and I believe the best is yet to come."[22]

21. Achievements in the restructuring of Sunbeam as described by Dunlap included:

- Implementation of major advertising program for brand relevance
- Launch of new GrillMaster barbeque grill campaign and packaging
- 15 new license and distribution agreements
- 42 new international products
- New distribution channels including 10 factory outlet stores
- Reduction in new product development cycle (to six months) allowing 30 new products a year
- Reduction in employment headcount by 50%
- Reduction in number of factories from 26 to 8
- Reduction in number of warehouses from 61 to 18
- Sale of the furniture business and time & temperature product line; and
- Signing a deal to sell the Biddeford textile facility.[23]

22. Based on Sunbeam's public claims and reported results, analysts also believed the restructuring was succeeding. Scott Graham of CIBC Oppenheimer & Co. stated, "In sum, the revenue acceleration portion of this story is moving ahead quickly. The new products we witnessed, the company's upcoming new ad program and more focused branding strategies are all evidence to this end. And with most of the cost reduction actions behind the company, we expect Sunbeam's topline

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018823

[21] See Sunbeam 10-K for year ended December 29, 1996. The charge included $154.9 million in restructuring costs, $92.3 million in COGS for inventory write-downs, $42.5 million in SG&A for litigation reserves, and $47.9 million related to expected losses from the divestiture of the furniture business.

[22] "Sunbeam's First Quarter Sales Up 13%, Earnings per Share up 200% from Ongoing Operations," PR Newswire, April 23, 1997.

[23] "Sunbeam's First Quarter Sales Up 13%, Earnings per Share up 200% from Ongoing Operations," PR Newswire, April 23, 1997.

activities to continue at this fast pace..."[24] Bear, Stearns & Co. analyst Constance Maneaty also confirmed that "Sunbeam has largely completed an aggressive restructuring to rid the company of superfluous product lines and a heavy cost structure."[25] Accordingly, both provided "buy" recommendations for Sunbeam's stock.[26]

23. This positive outlook based on Sunbeam's represented performance continued throughout Q2 and Q3 1997, as the consensus of financial analysts were "buy" and "recommended" ratings for Sunbeam stock.[27] Goldman Sachs analyst Elisabeth Fontenelli opined that "[b]y year end Sunbeam will not only be a profitable and thriving entity, but its balance sheet should be net debt free..."[28] Constance Maneaty of Bear, Stearns & Co. also was optimistic as she was "comfortable with the second quarter results, pleased with the solid sales growth and optimistic that the operating changes at the plant level...will contribute to the earnings momentum we anticipate in 1998."[29]

24. In October, Sunbeam announced that sales increased 25 percent in the third quarter relative to the same quarter in the year prior, with sales to the top ten domestic customers up more than 30 percent.[30] Sunbeam was described as "[r]eaping the benefits of a massive restructuring engineered by Chairman Al Dunlap."[31] Sunbeam's announcement caused analysts to confirm the positive outlook, opining that "the performance of Sunbeam should continue to be impressive."[32]

25. Throughout Q4 1997 and Q1 1998, analysts generally remained upbeat about

[24] CPH1125112-114, at 112.
[25] CPH1125139-142, at 140.
[26] CPH1125112-114, CPH1125139-142, CPH1287455-469.
[27] See Exhibit 4.
[28] CPH1125122-123, at 123.
[29] CPH0472533-535, at 534-5.
[30] "Sunbeam's Shine: Sales Jump 25%," Palm Beach Post, October 23, 1997.
[31] "Sunbeam's Shine: Sales Jump 25%," Palm Beach Post, October 23, 1997.
[32] Analyst Constance Maneaty of Bear, Stearns & Co. "Sunbeam's Shine: Sales Jump 25%," Palm Beach Post, October 23, 1997.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018824

Sunbeam. Goldman Sachs, Prudential Securities, Merrill Lynch, and PaineWebber, among others, offered "buy," "strong buy," "accumulate" and "recommended" ratings.[33] Even analysts that had "hold" ratings for the stock, such as Justin Maurer of McDonald & Co., believed that there was "...actual substance behind the hype..."[34]

26. Despite the good outlook, Sunbeam's stock price decreased over the period of October 8, 1997 through December 15, 1997 from $48.25 to $38.56.[35] Andrew Shore of PaineWebber explained, "[n]umerous explanations for the [stock] gyrations have been given, including but not limited to (1) Al Dunlap is leaving; (2) Sunbeam is going to miss the fourth quarter [estimates] and (3) Sunbeam is going to make a bad acquisition. We believe all three of these scenarios are highly unlikely and the latest dip into the $39-$40 area presents a good buying opportunity."[36]

27. On the other hand, some analysts believed prices may have reached their high point. Some of the more negative recommendations at the time included Merrill Lynch's John Gibbons, who commented, "Currently, Sunbeam is trading at...the upper end of valuations in the consumer products universe. However, we continue to recommend the stock, believing Mr. Dunlap will do everything in his power to create additional shareholder value..."[37] Another analyst, William Steele of The Buckingham Research Group expressed concern over the stock price. His January 1998 "neutral" rating was accompanied by the language: "We contend a lower valuation is warranted due to a near-term uncertainty regarding the company's earnings outlook."[38] Nevertheless, Buckingham's target price of

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018825

[33] See Exhibit 4.
[34] CPH0306588-589, at 589.
[35] See Bloomberg data.
[36] CPH0466399-401, at 399.
[37] CPH1407315-318, at 316. Note, however, that over the following months from January to March 1998, Gibbons made three long-term "buy" recommendations. See Exhibit 4.
[38] CPH1279118-122, at 118.

$43 was in excess of the market price of $37.63.[39]

28. On March 2, 1998, Sunbeam announced its plan to acquire the Coleman Company and two other entities, Signature Brands and First Alert.[40] Analysts believed that these acquisitions would provide additional opportunities for Sunbeam to grow and enhance shareholder value. John Gibbons of Merrill Lynch stated on March 3, 1998, "We believe the three acquisitions make good strategic and economic sense. There appear to be solid distribution synergies and the product lines should fit in well with the existing Sunbeam and Oster platforms."[41] Likewise, Andrew Shore of PaineWebber believed that "[w]ith the acquisitions again giving Al Dunlap the opportunity to do what he does best, turn-around troubled companies, the stock may be poised to set new highs in the coming months."[42]

29. This positive outlook of the investment community continued through the end of Q1 1998, even withstanding the press release issued by Sunbeam on March 19.[43] That press release, dated March 19, 1998, indicated that "...it is possible that its net sales for the first quarter of 1998 may be lower than [estimates]... but net sales are expected to exceed 1997 first quarter net sales..."[44] After the release, the stock price experienced a 9 percent decrease from $50.06 to $45.38, but remained in the $45 range and did not decrease significantly until more earnings announcements were made in April.[45]

30. Nevertheless, analysts remained positive in regards to the March 19th press release. David Buck of Sands Brothers & Co, reiterated a "Strong Buy" rating highlighting long-term value creation opportunities.[46] Likewise, Scott Graham of CIBC Oppenheimer, "surmise[d] that a sales shortfall will would [sic] equate to a [39] See Exhibit 4. (CPH1279118-122) In fact, over this entire period Q4 1996 through Q1 1998, analyst targets exceed the actual stock price, as illustrated in Exhibit 5.

[40] 0000006-7.
[41] CPH1279605-606, at 605.
[42] CPH1028971-973, at 972.
[43] 0016944-45.
[44] 0016944-45.
[45] See Bloomberg data.
[46] CPH1393269.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018826

slight earnings shortfall... But management did emphasize that it is not saying that it would miss the quarter," and continued to reiterate a "Strong Buy" rating focusing on the long-term view of Sunbeam.[47]

31. Consistent with the public claims of Sunbeam, Sunbeam discussion materials prepared by Morgan Stanley[48] and Sunbeam's 1998 Long Range Strategic Plan[49] (which I understand were both given to CPH during the discussions regarding the sale of Coleman Company) emphasized the good outlook for Sunbeam with continued sales and profit growth over the upcoming years. Both documents highlight the objective of $2 billion in sales by 1999 with a 20% operating margin, and outline Sunbeam's strategy for achieving this growth, based in part on the successes of 1997.[50] These materials were consistent with the turn-around story proclaimed by Sunbeam (as discussed above).

32. In conclusion, from Dunlap's hiring in Q3 1996 through the acquisitions at the end of Q1 1998, Sunbeam claimed to be a well-positioned company. The restructuring appeared to have worked, with reported revenues improved and costs reduced. According to its financial statements, Sunbeam achieved annual revenue of $1,168.2 million in 1997 with profits in excess of $109 million, figures well in excess of those in 1996.[51] The stock price had increased from a low of approximately $13 per share in mid-1996 to almost $45 per share at the end of Q1 1998.[52] Sunbeam appeared to be a well-managed company with great prospects moving forward.

IV. SUNBEAM POST Q1 1998

33. The announced results for Q1 1998 clearly disappointed the market. Shares of Sunbeam fell 25 percent on April 3, the day Sunbeam announced that first quarter

[47] CPH1393472-78, at 472.
[48] CP026286-026370.
[49] CPH0254621-254640.
[50] See for example, CP026301 and CPH0254636.
[51] See Exhibit 6.
[52] See Exhibit 3. Price of $12.25 on 7/15/96, Price of $44.13 on 3/31/98.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018827

sales were about 5 percent below those in Q1 1997.[53] Sunbeam later revealed that profit had fallen from approximately $6.8 million to negative $44.6 million.[54]

34. Surprisingly, the revenue expectations that Sunbeam had announced only twelve days prior to the end of the quarter were substantially inaccurate. Not only did the Q1 1998 sales fall below those of Q1 1997 contrary to the expectations proclaimed in the March 19th announcement—but in addition, earnings showed a loss, and earnings were $50 million below Q1 1997—a possibility not even mentioned in the March 19th announcement.[55] Clearly, the March 19th release had been substantially inaccurate and insufficient.

35. Shortly thereafter, analysts downgraded their recommendations for Sunbeam stock. Andrew Shore at PaineWebber and Constance Maneaty of Bear, Stearns & Co. both downgraded Sunbeam from "buy" to "neutral,"[56] and Goldman Sachs' Elizabeth Fontenelli removed Sunbeam from the "recommend list" and reclassified it as "market perform."[57]

36. Although performance was not as expected, some analysts still expressed guarded hope for the future. Tom Burnett, an analyst for Merger Insight newsletter, indicated concern that Dunlap could build a company as well as he could downsize, implying a wait-and-see approach.[58] Andrew Shore of PaineWebber reduced Q1 1998 expectations, but still maintained hope that 1998 earnings would

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018828

[53] See Exhibit 6; "Sunbeam Says 1st Qtr Sales Fell, Fires Executive," Bloomberg, April 3, 1998.
[54] See Exhibit 6; Sunbeam 10-Q for Q1 1998, filed May 11, 1998. As the 10-Q revealed, the announced sales decline of 5 percent did not disclose the entire picture, as the sales figure was based on a quarter with additional days, included Coleman sales, and also included a large volume of "bill and hold" sales.
[55] With more than 85 percent of the quarter behind it, it is difficult to fathom how Sunbeam could have truly believed it would sell enough in the remainder of the quarter to achieve what it stated in its March 19 press release. See Exhibit 6 and 0016944-45.
[56] "Sunbeam Corp. Cut to 'Neutral' at PaineWebber," Bloomberg, April 3, 1998; "Sunbeam Cut to 'Neutral' at Bear Stearns," Bloomberg, April 6, 1998
[57] "Sunbeam Cut to 'Market Perform' at Goldman Sachs," Bloomberg, April 6, 1998.
[58] "Reality Pays a Tough Call on Sunbeam; Purchases Hurt Profits, Stock Price," Sun-Sentinel, April 12, 1998.

surpass those of 1997.[59] Others were less optimistic. Jeffery Middleswart of David W. Tice & Associates believed that the promised growth would be difficult in an industry that "is largely driven by replacement purchases and has been growing by less than 5 percent a year,"[60] concluding that "a lot of the [Sunbeam] goals laid out for 1998 are pretty unrealistic."[61]

37. The poor first quarter results, however, were soon followed by more bad news for Sunbeam. In late April, a lawsuit was filed against Sunbeam alleging securities law violations through an improper sales promotion in Q4 1997 that artificially boosted profits.[62] Other lawsuits soon surfaced accusing Sunbeam of issuing misleading statements and omitting key facts from disclosures.[63]

38. On May 11, Sunbeam released its Q1 1998 results revealing that profits for the quarter were negative $44.6 million. In addition, the Q1 1998 10-Q indicated methods by which Sunbeam increased its reported first quarter sales (including items not disclosed in the April announcement). For example, Sunbeam extended its quarter from March 29 to March 31, including $5 million in added sales from the two additional days in Q1 results.[64] Sunbeam also included $29 million in "bill and hold" sales in Q1 1998, despite the fact that these sales were expected to result in lost volume later in 1998.[65] Additionally, $14.8 million of reported sales were obtained by including Coleman sales.[66] Sunbeam also announced that it expected its second quarter barbeque grill sales to decline further relative to its low first quarter sales.[67]

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018829

[59] CPH1417337-42. FY 12/31/98 expected per share earnings reduced to $1.55-$1.60, compared with actual per share earnings of $1.41 for FY 1997.
[60] "A Warning by Sunbeam Stuns Wall St." The New York Times, April 4, 1998.
[61] "Reality Pays a Tough Call on Sunbeam; Purchases Hurt Profits, Stock Price," Sun-Sentinel, April 12, 1998.
[62] "Sunbeam Accused of Masking Sales with 4th-Qtr Grill Promotion," Bloomberg, April 23, 1998.
[63] See for example, "Notice of Filing of Class Action Against Sunbeam," Bloomberg, May 22, 1998; See also "Class Action Suit Filed Aginst Sunbeam Corp. and its Officers," Bloomberg, May 15, 1998.
[64] Sunbeam 10-Q for Q1 1998, filed May 15, 1998, at 5.
[65] Sunbeam 10-Q for Q1 1998, filed May 15, 1998, at 10.
[66] Sunbeam 10-Q for Q1 1998, filed May 15, 1998, at 10.
[67] "Sunbeam Expects Barbecue Grill Sales to Decline in 2nd Qtr," Bloomberg, May 15, 1998.

39. The market reaction was not positive. The stock price declined further, continuing its descent from $29-30 (in mid-April) to $22.94 by the end of May.[68] A June 6, 1998 article by Barron's described in detail Sunbeam's sales and earnings for 1997, describing them as "appear[ing] to be largely manufactured," and discussing many of the techniques Sunbeam used to artificially inflate its turn-around.[69] On June 13 Al Dunlap—the man responsible for "turning-around" Sunbeam— was fired.[70]

40. After Dunlap's termination, more bad news for Sunbeam surfaced. On June 25, Sunbeam announced that its auditor, Arthur Andersen LLP, would not consent to the inclusion of its opinion in an SEC registration statement.[71] This prompted Sunbeam to conduct an internal investigation, and by June 30, Sunbeam had revealed that it had hired Deloitte & Touche LLP to review the accuracy of its 1997 financial statements.[72]

41. The internal investigation found that the financial statements were inaccurate. In August, Sunbeam indicated that it would restate its audited financial statements for 1997, Q1 1998, and perhaps 1996.[73] A few months later, Sunbeam issued its restated financials showing lower sales and profits for 1997.[74] Delayed by the restatement of previous financials, it was not until December when Sunbeam was able to release its performance for Q2 1998 and Q3 1998, which showed a combined loss of more than $530 million.[75] By this point, Sunbeam stock was trading for about $6 a share.[76]

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018830

[68] See Bloomberg data.
[69] CPH 1351678-680, at 679.
[70] "Sunbeam's Shares Keep Falling, Below Price When Dunlap Arrived," Bloomberg, June 19, 1998; "Sunbeam to Review 1997 Statements and May Restate Results," Bloomberg, June 30, 1998.
[71] See Sunbeam 10-K/A for fiscal year ended 12/28/97, filed 11/12/98, at 3.
[72] "Sunbeam to Review 1997 Statements and May Restate Results," Bloomberg, June 30, 1998.
[73] "Sunbeam Admits Improper Accounting Firm to Restate Results," The Miami Herald, August 7, 1998; "Sunbeam to Restate Financial Results," Bloomberg, October 20, 1998.
[74] See "Sunbeam to Restate Financial Results," Bloomberg, October 20, 1998. See also Sunbeam 10-K/A for fiscal year ended 12/28/97, filed 11/12/98.
[75] "Sunbeam Loses $533 Million in 2nd, 3rd Quarters," Palm Beach Post, December 17, 1998.
[76] See Bloomberg data.

42. Thus, over the period from Sunbeam's announcement of Q1 1998 results to the end of the year, the stock dropped from a high of $45.56 in April to approximately $6 in December.[77] Mired by debt and the poor decisions from the Dunlap era, Sunbeam was unable to revitalize itself over the following years, and subsequently filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy in February 2001.[78]

V. THE FRAUD

43. As discussed, the poor performance in Q1 1998 was the first of many problems for Sunbeam in 1998. But it was a symptom of the larger problem at Sunbeam—that Sunbeam had fabricated its success story by inflating revenues and earnings through numerous fraudulent methods, including some that borrowed against later periods. Eventually, it became impossible for Sunbeam to borrow enough from future sales to continue the facade.

44. It is not unusual for managers to use certain kinds of techniques to do what they call "smooth" period-by-period net income and give an impression of uniform (or at least much less variable per-period) net income than is actually the case. In such cases, managers argue that the variability they are eliminating is not meaningful, and that the "smoothed" net income pattern better represents reality.

45. In Exhibit 8, I illustrate an example of the manipulation of earnings from a variable amount each quarter to a "smooth" pattern. In this example, the firm has earnings which vary from $50 in one quarter to $150 in the next, repeating this pattern. Using delayed and borrowed sales over the quarters, however, a manager can "smooth" the earnings to a steady $100 per quarter.

46. Unfortunately, there is a moral hazard with "smoothing" net income in that managers may be tempted to use such techniques to instead deliberately

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018831

[77] See Exhibit 7.
[78] See "Sunbeam Seeks Bankruptcy Protection; Hopes to Emerge Within Nine Months," Dow Jones Business News, February 6, 2001.

misrepresent their firm's performance over some period of time. Despite this possibility, it is not feasible to misrepresent a firm's performance indefinitely. This inability to sustain misrepresentation (through manipulation of accounting decisions and/or outright fraud) over a prolonged period of time is why I teach students to consider a firm's net income over an extended time period, such as four or five years. Over time, it grows increasingly difficult to continue to misrepresent the firm's performance.

47. Exhibit 9 illustrates an example of the manipulation of the same firm's earnings, but instead of smoothing to a uniform amount each quarter, it shows a dramatic increase during the second year. In this situation, the firm actually earns an average of $100 per quarter in each of the six quarters shown. However, using misstated reserves, delayed sales, and borrowed sales, the firm is able to misrepresent its earnings and instead report earnings in the four quarters of year 2 as $100, $200, $400, and $600.

48. The actual and reported earnings then can offer very different impressions about the value of this firm. If sales are reported early, and one does not understand that these sales are simply ones that are otherwise expected to occur in the future anyway, one might easily conclude incorrectly that the firm's sales rate had grown. On this basis, one might then also conclude that the value of the firm and its stock is much greater than it actually is. I discuss the impact of earnings on valuation in the next section.

49. Returning to Sunbeam's situation, as discussed in Sunbeam's restated 10-K/A for fiscal year 1997, Sunbeam's financials for the period Q4 1996 through Q1 1998 contained numerous irregularities and fraud, resulting in an overstatement of revenues and profits.[79]

50. As the restatement indicates, the fraud included creating improper reserves

[79] See Sunbeam 10-K/A for fiscal year ended 12/28/97, filed 11/12/98. See also "Sunbeam to Restate Financial Results," Bloomberg, October 20, 1998.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018832

whereby additional costs were added to the 1996 performance (making profits lower) that could be later used to enhance 1997 performance (making profits higher). Not only does this improve 1997, but it also creates the perception of a greater improvement from 1996, as the gap between 1996 and 1997 is larger due to the combination of the decrease in 1996 and increase in 1997.

51. Another fraud mentioned is improper revenue recognition, which increased sales in a given quarter by borrowing against the following quarter through various mechanisms. Also known as "channel stuffing," these mechanisms include price discounts, extended payment terms and other concessions, which facilitate the submission of early purchase orders by customers.[80] Through use of these methods, Sunbeam shifted sales to the current quarter by borrowing against future revenues without informing the market of the potential future impact.

52. The danger of using such techniques (besides the fact that they are illegal) is two-fold. First, as previously discussed, as the process continues, it becomes more and more difficult for the company to find additional revenue that it can anticipate or "borrow" from the future. The difficulty intensifies over time because not only must the company replace the "borrowed" revenue in the subsequent period, but the company must also find additional sources to continue the pattern of growth in revenues if the company is going to meet the expectations on which the investment community has based its value of the company's stock.

53. During this same time period, the other schemes such as the use of improper reserves eventually run out, and the company no longer can use these tools to boost earnings. Not surprisingly, it became increasingly difficult—and ultimately impossible—for Sunbeam to find such revenue sources.

54. The second important danger is that there are real and significant costs associated [80] One such method revealed in the 10-K/A is called "bill and hold sales" where products are sold to customers before they normally would have been purchased, enabling the company to bill the customer at the time of sale, and then hold the products for the customer (generally at no cost) until delivery is requested. See Sunbeam 10-K/A for fiscal year ended 12/28/97, filed 11/12/98.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018833

with the earnings manipulation techniques used by Sunbeam. Price discounts, used to induce cooperation from customers, do not create added sales on which additional profit is made. Instead, they are wasted costs, whose purpose is to simply rearrange the period in which the sales are recorded. Thus, certain costs connected with the earnings manipulation techniques used by Sunbeam reduced the profit on sales that would have occurred in the near future anyway.

55. Collectively, the fraud served to inflate the revenues and profits of Sunbeam from Q1 1997 through Q1 1998. In Exhibit 10, I show the reported and restated profit and loss statements over this period. As the exhibit shows, Sunbeam inflated its 1997 revenues by almost $100 million (approximately 8%), and overstated its profits by more than $70 million (approximately 65%).

56. In conclusion, Sunbeam's scheme to defraud investors by manipulating revenues and earnings gave the appearance of a dramatically successful turn-around for a once-struggling company. An added irony is that the costs of undertaking these schemes reduced whatever profit Sunbeam would have otherwise earned during these quarters. The result was that the repeated use of these fraudulent methods served to inflate analyst expectations for the company, enhancing the stock price of Sunbeam, until the fraud unraveled after Q1 1998.

VI. ASCRIBING MOTIVE TO THE FRAUD

57. Given that the fraud Sunbeam engaged in cannot be continued indefinitely (as techniques like "channel stuffing" will eventually catch up with the perpetrator), what rationale could Sunbeam have had for engaging in such fraud? In concept, there are at least two reasons why one might want to engage in this type of fraud. The first is where one hopes to fool a buyer and sell the company for an inflated price before outsiders figure out what the apparent results are based on, in which case the buyer is saddled with the problem.[81]

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018834

58. Another possible motive is where the perpetrators expect to obscure the manipulation in some way prior to being found out. One way in which one might hope to accomplish that is with the acquisition of another company. An acquisition may generate restructuring and other charges that would be large enough to hide the past earnings manipulation. But how would this benefit Sunbeam?

59. In order to better understand the motive, recall the impact of the fraudulent activities. As discussed above, Sunbeam's fraud served to inflate analyst expectations for the company, enhancing Sunbeam's current stock price, but also creating a situation where future sales would be impaired. Two questions follow: 1) how do inflated sales and profits in one year enhance the stock price, and 2) how would a sale or acquisition potentially hide the fraud?

60. The valuation of a firm's stock is a reflection of the market's estimate of the present value of the future value of the cash flows that the firm will generate. A simple example would be a firm that would only generate $100 in cash flow in the next year, and nothing after that. If the appropriate discount rate is 10 percent,[82] the present value of the firm's future cash flows is $90.91.[83] If there are 100 shares of stock for this firm, the per share price would be $0.91.[84]

61. This calculation becomes more complicated when multiple cash flows over the following years are assumed, but the same principle holds. If the same firm described above had the $100 cash flow annually, the present value would be

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018835

[81] This might be thought of as being analogous to someone who sells a used car knowing that it has mechanical problems. It is often impossible for the buyer to prove that the seller knew about the problems before the sale and sue for fraud.

[82] The method by which practitioners determine an appropriate risk-adjusted discount rate is outside the scope of this report. Generally, the degree of certainty of the future cash flow affects the discount rate. For simplicity I assume 10 percent is appropriate for all of the examples herein.

[83] Present Value = Cash Flow$_{(t)}$ / (1 + Discount Rate)$^{(t)}$. In this case, = $100 / (1.10) = $90.91.

[84] = $90.91 / 100.

$1,000 and the price per share would be $10.[85] Thus, the expectation of a stream of future cash flows can dramatically increase the value of the stock—in this example from less than $1 to $10 per share.

62. Continuing on, if we assume these cash flows were to grow each year by 5 percent (e.g., in year 1 the cash flow is $100, in year 2 it is $105, and in year 3 it is $110.25) the present value would double from $1,000 to $2,000 and the price per share would also double to $20.[86] Likewise, an even higher growth rate would increase the value even more. For example, an expected future growth rate of 8.33 percent per year would also make a six-fold increase in the price per share to $60.[87]

63. And, of course, a one-time increase in the cash flow stream would also increase both the value and the price per share. For example, an increase from $100 to $600 per year (with no expected future growth) would also make a six-fold increase in the price per share to $60.

64. As this example demonstrates, an increase in the expectation about the future cash flows from the firm can greatly change the underlying value of the stock. In this case, the value increased from less than $1 to $10 to $20 to $60. Thus, changing the perception of the value of the company, by increasing the expectation of the future cash flows and/or rate of growth of those cash flows, can have a tremendous impact on the valuation of the company and its stock. The market bases its expectations on many factors, among them, the current sales levels, recent rates of growth in sales and earnings, and the company's representations of future growth opportunities. Essentially, the value depends on the information the market has about the expected future cash flows.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018836

[85] For this type of cash flow (known as a perpetuity), the Present Value = Annual Cash Flow / Discount Rate. In this case = $100 / 0.10 = $1000.
[86] Present Value = Annual Cash Flow / (Discount Rate – Growth Rate). In this case = $100 / (0.10 – 0.05) = $2000.
[87] In this case = $100 / (0.10 – 0.083) = $6000.

65. In the case of Sunbeam, not only had Sunbeam's fraud inflated its earning in 1997, but it also caused the expectation that its earnings would be higher in the future. Effectively, Sunbeam manipulated the information the market relies upon to value the company. As such, the value of Sunbeam was higher than it would have been without the fraud. Using our example from above, if Sunbeam convinced the market that the growth would be 5 percent and not zero, the stock's value would double. If it convinced the market that the growth would be 8.33 percent, the stock's value would sextuple.

66. Given that Sunbeam possessed better information than the market as a whole (i.e., it was aware of its fraud and the market was not), Sunbeam was in a position to exploit its knowledge. This asymmetric information[88] created the possibility that Sunbeam management might be able to either: 1) sell the company at an excess over its actual value to an unsuspecting buyer, or 2) purchase valuable assets of other companies using the inflated stock as currency. Not only would this benefit Sunbeam by giving it more for its stock than the stock was actually worth, but it also would provide the opportunity for Sunbeam to potentially conceal its fraud through a sale or through restructuring charges related to an acquisition.

67. Interestingly, Sunbeam retained Morgan Stanley in mid-1997 to serve as its financial advisor in exploring strategic alternatives including a possible sale of the company.[89] As sale efforts were unsuccessful, Morgan Stanley also advised Sunbeam to consider acquiring other companies.[90] Sunbeam's management also advertised these intentions to the market. A December 1997 New York Times article indicated that Mr. Dunlap "recently put Sunbeam in play, saying the appliance maker was looking either to be acquired or to make a major acquisition

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0188837

[88] Asymmetric information is a situation where one party has information others do not have. See for example, Corporate Financial Management, 2nd edition, 2004, Emery, Finnerty, and Stowe, p. 436.
[89] Answer of Morgan Stanley & Co. Incorporated, p. 1. See also "Sunbeam on the Block?" HFN, October 27, 1997.
[90] Answer of Morgan Stanley & Co. Incorporated, p. 1.

of its own."[91] Thus, it appears that Sunbeam, aware of the limited time it had to exploit its asymmetric information, sought both types of opportunities to exploit it and potentially conceal its fraud. But how could the acquisitions hide the fraud?

68. Often after an acquisition, a company incurs costs to restructure the organization to better integrate the new entity. These costs can include various items such as writing off obsolete inventory or discontinuing unnecessary or unprofitable operations. Analysts often remove restructuring charges from their analysis to estimate sustainable earnings and assess ongoing profitability—two factors that can greatly impact the valuation of the company as discussed earlier. In fact, companies often report earnings with and without the restructuring charges.[92] By taking excess restructuring costs in an acquisition, Sunbeam could once again build up a reserve that it could later draw down to inflate future profitability.

69. Additionally, after an acquisition, companies often report financial results of the combined entity. Doing so can make it difficult—or even impossible—for analysts to disentangle the results and attribute them to the pre-acquisition companies. Therefore, such manipulation can potentially hide weakness in revenues and profits for either the purchaser or the acquired entity. In this case, Sunbeam could benefit if its borrowed sales could be concealed within the sales of the acquired companies.

70. In the end, Sunbeam used its stock to purchase the Coleman Company.[93] In doing so, Sunbeam was able to extract valuable assets in exchange for shares that at the time were worth more than six times the price for which they traded later in

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018838

[91] "Sunbeam Dances with Mr. D; Is Albert Dunlap Saving the Company or Setting a Sale?" The New York Times, December 23, 1997.

[92] For example, Sunbeam reported Q1 1998 results with and without one-time charges and restructuring charges. See "Sunbeam Reports 1st Quarter Results; Expects 1998 EPS in $1.00," Bloomberg, May 11, 1998. See also Sunbeam Q4 1997 earnings announcement detailing restructuring costs. See "Sunbeam Has 4th-Quarter Profit on Higher Sales, New Products," Bloomberg, January 28, 1998.

[93] See for example, "Sunbeam Acquires Three Publicly Traded Consumer Products: Coleman, Signature Brands and First Alert," Bloomberg, March 2, 1998.

the year.[94] Unfortunately for Sunbeam, the scheme was discovered before the restructuring charges and combined income statements from the acquisitions could conceal its fraud.

VII. CONCLUSIONS

71. Based on representations made to the public by Sunbeam, financial analysts and the general public viewed Sunbeam as a successful and improving company in 1997 and Q1 1998. This perception represented a substantial turn-around from 1996 when Sunbeam had shown a decline in sales and a large loss in profits. The claimed turn-around, however, was a fraud.

72. In April 1998, Sunbeam stated that it expected its Q1 1998 results to be below market expectations.[95] Notably, these results were even lower than those predicted by the company in a press release made two weeks before, dated March 19, 1998, which indicated that "...it is possible that its net sales for the first quarter of 1998 may be lower than [estimates]... but net sales are expected to exceed 1997 first quarter net sales..."[96] Surprisingly, despite the fact that the announcement date was only twelve days before the end of the quarter, the Q1 1998 sales fell below those of Q1 1997, contrary to Sunbeam's statement in the announcement, and earnings (which were not even mentioned in the warning) were negative. Upon the April 3 announcement of Q1 1998 results, the market price of Sunbeam shares lost almost 25 percent of its value, dropping from a share price of $45.56 to $34.38.[97]

73. In fact, the poor performance in Q1 1998 was only the first indication of (and not fully reflective of) numerous problems at Sunbeam. Sunbeam management subsequently issued a warning revealing that Sunbeam's financial statements

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018839

[94] See Bloomberg. Price of $45.63 on 3/2/98, Price of $6.63 on 10/1/98.
[95] See "Sunbeam Says 1st Qtr Sales Fell, Fires Executive," Bloomberg, April 3, 1998.
[96] 0016944-45, at 944.
[97] See Bloomberg data.

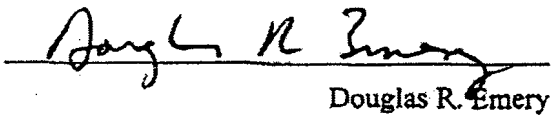
from Q4 1996 though Q1 1998 were inaccurate.[98] As was later reported, Sunbeam's financials for this period contained numerous irregularities and fraud, resulting in an overstatement of revenues and profits for the period Q1 1997 through Q1 1998.[99]

74. Not only had Sunbeam's fraud inflated its earnings in 1997, but it also caused the expectation that its earnings would be higher in the future. As such, the value of Sunbeam was dramatically higher than it would have been without the fraud. This created the opportunity for Sunbeam management to either: 1) sell the company at an excess over its actual value, or 2) purchase valuable assets of other companies using the overvalued stock as currency.

75. I reserve the right to amend or supplement my report as additional information becomes available. I may prepare charts, videos and other demonstrative exhibits in support of testimony I may be asked to give.

Submitted by:



Douglas R. Emery

Date: December 7, 2004

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

04881O

[98] "Sunbeam Admits Improper Accounting Firm to Restate Results," The Miami Herald, August 7, 1998; "Sunbeam to Restate Financial Results," PR Newswire, October 20, 1998.
[99] See Sunbeam 10-K/A for fiscal year ended 12/28/97, filed 11/12/98.

APPENDIX A

DOUGLAS R. EMERY

Department of Finance
University of Miami
Miami, Florida 33124-6552
Phone: (305) 284-4430; -4362
Fax: (305) 284-4800
demery@miami.edu

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

EDUCATION

1973 to 1976	THE UNIVERSITY OF KANSAS	Lawrence, Kansas
	Ph.D., Business, granted in May 1977.
1971 to 1973	THE UNIVERSITY OF KANSAS	Lawrence, Kansas
	M.B.A., granted in August 1973.
1967 to 1971	BAKER UNIVERSITY	Baldwin City, Kansas
	B.S., Physics, granted in May 1971.

EMPLOYMENT

1998 to Date	UNIVERSITY OF MIAMI	Miami, Florida
	Department Chair, Bank of America Scholar, and Professor of Finance, Department of Finance, School of Business Administration, hired with tenure.
1989 to 1998	BINGHAMTON UNIVERSITY	Binghamton, New York
	The Koffman Fellow and Leading Professor of Finance, School of Management, hired with tenure.
1980 to 1989	THE UNIVERSITY OF MISSOURI	Columbia, Missouri
	Professor (and Associate Professor) of Finance, Department of Finance, tenured August 1, 1984, promoted August 1988.
1988 to 1989	NANJING UNIVERSITY	Nanjing, People's Republic of China
	Visiting Professor of Finance, October 1988 to January 1989, International Business School.

November 1, 2004

1986 to 1987	WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY	St. Louis, Missouri

Visiting Associate Professor of Finance, August 1986 to January 1987, Graduate School of Business Administration.

1979 to 1980	PURDUE UNIVERSITY	West Lafayette, Indiana

Visiting Assistant Professor of Management, Krannert Graduate School of Management.

1976 to 1980	THE UNIVERSITY OF CALGARY	Calgary, Alberta, Canada

Associate Professor (and Assistant Professor), Faculty of Management, promoted August 1978, tenured July 1, 1979, on leave without pay 1979-80.

1978	THE UNIVERSITY OF KANSAS	Lawrence, Kansas

Visiting Assistant Professor, June-July, School of Business.

PROFESSIONAL INTERESTS

Financial management, theory and application of financial decision models, capital structure, capital investment, liabilities management.

BOOKS

Emery, Douglas R., John D. Finnerty, and John D. Stowe, CORPORATE FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT, Second Edition. Upper Saddle River, NJ: Prentice Hall, 2004, 899 pages.

Finnerty, John D. and Douglas R. Emery, DEBT MANAGEMENT: A PRACTITIONER'S GUIDE. Cambridge, MA: Harvard Business School Press, 2001, 430 pages.

Emery, Douglas R., John D. Finnerty, and John D. Stowe, PRINCIPLES OF FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT. Upper Saddle River, NJ: Prentice Hall, 1998, 783 pages.

Emery, Douglas R. and John D. Finnerty, CORPORATE FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT. Upper Saddle River, NJ: Prentice Hall, 1997, 999 pages.

Emery, Douglas R. and John D. Finnerty, PRINCIPLES OF FINANCE WITH CORPORATE APPLICATIONS. St. Paul: West Publishing Company, 1991, 898 pages.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

2481810

JOURNAL PUBLICATIONS

Finnety, John D. and Douglas R. Emery, "The Value of Corporate Control and the Comparable Company Method of Valuation," Financial Management, Vol. 33, No. 1 (Spring), 2004, 91-99.

Burch, Timothy R., Douglas R. Emery, and Michael E. Fuerst, "What Can Nine-Eleven Tell Us about Closed-end Fund Discounts and Investor Sentiment?" The Financial Review, Vol. 38, November 2003, 515-529.

Finnety, John D. and Douglas R. Emery, "Corporate Securities Innovation: An Update," Journal of Applied Finance, Vol. 12, No. 1, Spring 2002, 21-47.

Emery, Douglas R. and John D. Finnerty, "Using a PERCS-for-Common Exchange Offer to Reduce the Costs of a Dividend Cut," Journal of Applied Corporate Finance, Vol. 7, No. 4, Winter 1995, 77-89.

Iskandar-Datta, Mai E. and Douglas R. Emery, "The Role of Indenture Provisions in Determining Bond Ratings," Journal of Banking and Finance, Vol. 18, 1994, 93-111.

Emery, Douglas R., Mai E. Iskandar-Datta, and Jong-Chul Rhim, "Capital Structure Management as a Motivation for Calling Convertible Debt," Journal of Financial Research, Vol. XVII, No. 1, 1994, 91-104.

Patel, Ajay, Douglas R. Emery, and Yul W. Lee, "Firm Performance and Security Type in Seasoned Offerings: An Empirical Examination of Alternative Information-Signaling Models," Journal of Financial Research, Vol. XVI, No. 3, 1993, 181-192.

Emery, Douglas R. and John D. Finnerty, "A Review of Recent Research Concerning Corporate Debt Provisions," Financial Markets, Institutions & Instruments, Volume 1, Number 5, 1992, 23-39.

Reiter, Sara Ann and Douglas R. Emery, "Estimation Issues in Bond Rating Models," Advances in Quantitative Analysis in Finance and Accounting, Volume 1 - Part A -- Methodologies, JAI Press, edited by C. F. Lee, Spring 1991.

Emery, Douglas R. and Wilbur G. Lewellen, "Shareholder Gains From Callable Bond Refundings," Managerial and Decision Economics, Volume 11, 1990, 57-63.

Emery, Douglas R. and Adam K. Gehr, Jr. "Tax Options, Capital Structure, and Miller Equilibrium: A Numerical Illustration," Financial Management, Vol. 17, No. 2, Summer 1988, 30-40.

Emery, Douglas R., Wilbur G. Lewellen and David Mauer, "Tax Timing Options, Leverage, and the Choice of Corporate Form," Journal of Financial Research, Vol. XI, No. 2, Summer 1988, 99-110.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

DI 8813

Emery, Douglas R., J. Ronald Hoffmeister and Ronald W. Spahr, "The Case for Indexing a Bond's Call Price," Financial Management, Vol. 16, No. 3, Autumn 1987, 57-64.

Lewellen, Wilbur G. and Douglas R. Emery, "Corporate Debt Management and the Value of the Firm," Journal of Financial and Quantitative Analysis, Vol. 21, No. 4, December 1986, 415-426.

Lewellen, Wilbur G. and Douglas R. Emery, "Securityholder Cash Flows and the Valuation of Corporate Investment Projects," Managerial and Decision Economics, Vol. 6, No. 2, June 1985, 80-87.

Emery, Douglas R. and Wilbur G. Lewellen, "Refunding Non-Callable Debt," Journal of Financial and Quantitative Analysis, Vol. 19, No. 1, March 1984, 73-82.

Emery, Douglas R., F. Hutton Barron, and William F. Messier, Jr., "Conjoint Measurement and the Analysis of Noisey Data: A Comment," Journal of Accounting Research, Vol. 20, No. 2, Autumn 1982, Pt. 1, 450-458.

Lewellen, Wilbur G. and Douglas R. Emery, "On the Matter of Parity Among Financial Obligations," Journal of Finance, Vol. 36, No. 1, March 1981, 97-111.

Messier, William F., Jr. and Douglas R. Emery, "Some Cautionary Notes on the Use of Conjoint Measurement for Human Judgment Modeling," Decision Sciences, Vol. 11, No. 4, October 1980, 678-690.

Gaumnitz, Jack E. and Douglas R. Emery, "Asset Growth, Abandonment and the Replacement Decision of Like-for-Like Capital Assets," Journal of Financial and Quantitative Analysis, Vol. XV, No. 2, June 1980, 407-419.

Emery, Douglas R. and F. Hutton Barron, "Axiomatic and Numerical Conjoint Measurement: An Evaluation of Diagnostic Efficacy," Psychometrika, Vol. 44, No. 2, June 1979, 196-210.

Emery, Douglas R. "Comparing Methods: What is Unfair?" Organizational Behavior and Human Performance, Vol. 23, February 1979, 117-119.

Emery, Douglas R., Philip C. Parr, Per B. Mokkelbost, David Gandhi, and Anthony Saunders, "An Investigation of Real Investment Decision Making with the Options Pricing Model," Journal of Business Finance and Accounting, Vol. 5, No. 4, Winter 1978, 363-369.

Peters, Richard M. and Douglas R. Emery, "The Role of Negative Numbers in the Development of Double Entry Bookkeeping," Journal of Accounting Research, Vol. 16, No. 2, Autumn 1978, 424-426.

Emery, Douglas R. "A Monte Carlo Investigation of Scaling as an Alternative to Regression in the Bootstrapping Model," Organizational Behavior and Human Performance, Vol. 22, August 1978, 1-16.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Emery, Douglas R. "Overlapping Interest in Bond Refunding: A Reconsideration," Financial Management, Vol. 7, Summer 1978, 19-20.

Emery, Douglas R. "DULDST: A Numerical Conjoint Measurement Program Designed to Scale Data to a Dual-Distributive Model in Three Dimensions," Journal of Marketing Research, Vol. XIV, November 1977, 558-559.

Emery, Douglas R. "DIST: A Numerical Conjoint Measurement Program Designed to Scale Data to a Distributive Model in Three Dimensions," Journal of Marketing Research, Vol. XIV, August 1977, 413-414.

Emery, Douglas R. and Francis D. Tuggle, "On the Evaluation of Decisions," MSU Business Topics, Vol. 24, No. 2, Spring 1976, 42-48.

PAPERS IN REFEREED CONFERENCE PROCEEDINGS

Emery, Douglas R., Rashmi Thakkar, and Shane Moriarity, "A Comparative Study of the Materiality Judgments of Financial Statement Users and Auditors," Proceedings, 1982 Decision Sciences Institute National Meeting, Vol. 1, 5-7.

Emery, Douglas R., Francis D. Tuggle, and Andrew D. Luzi, "Subject Response Error in a Lexicographic Model," Proceedings, 1980 Decision Sciences Institute National Meeting, Vol. 2, 205-207.

Person, Henry B., F. Hutton Barron, and Douglas R. Emery, "Conjoint Measurement of Pooled Noisy Judgements of Multiattribute Alternatives," Proceedings, 1978 Decision Sciences Institute National Meeting, Vol. I, 300-302.

Bayer, M. B., Douglas R. Emery, and Y. Wand, "The Benefits and Costs of Habilitating the Developmentally Handicapped," Proceedings, 1978 Administrative Sciences Association of Canada National Meeting, 6-15.

Emery, Douglas R. "Conjoint Measurement of Sequential Elimination Models," Proceedings, 1977 Decision Sciences Institute National Meeting, 171-174.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018845

PROGRAM PARTICIPATION

Association Conferences

Decision Sciences Institute: 1996, 1994, 1992, 1989

Eastern Finance Association: 2003, 2002, 2001, 2000, 1997

Financial Management Association: 2004, 2003, 2002, 2001, 2000, 1997, 1995, 1994, 1993, 1992, 1990, 1989, 1988, 1987, 1986, 1985, 1984, 1983, 1981, 1980, 1979, 1978

KPMG Peat Marwick PhD Project: 1999, 1998, 1997

Midwest Finance Association: 1993, 1988, 1987, 1986, 1983

Southern Finance Association: 2003, 2002, 2001, 2000, 1999, 1989

Western Finance Association: 1983

TIMS-ORSA: 1978

Invited Conferences

KPMG Ph.D. Project, 1997, 1998, 1999
Optimal Security Design and Innovations in Financing, Rutgers University, April, 1993
Innovative Securities, Hofstra University, March 1991
Fixed Income Securities, Rutgers University Graduate School of Business, April 1991
Capital Budgeting, Rutgers University Graduate School of Business, May 1990
Bayesian Research Conference, University of Southern California, February 1977
Bayesian Research Conference, University of Southern California, February 1976

Invited Workshop Papers

Binghamton University
Claremont Graduate School
DePaul University
Kansas University
Kansas State University
Kent State University
Miami University
Michigan State University
New York University
Purdue University
Rutgers University
University of Calgary
University of Connecticut
University of Michigan
University of Mississippi
University of Missouri--Columbia University of New Orleans
University of North Carolina--Charlotte
Virginia Commonwealth University
Washington University
Wayne State University

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018846

PROFESSIONAL SERVICE

Editor (with John D. Finnerty) of Financial Management, 1993-1999

Vice President for Annual Program, Financial Management Association International, 2006

Board of Trustees Chair, Eastern Finance Association, 2004-2005

President, Eastern Finance Association, 2003-2004

President, Southern Finance Association, 2000-2001

Vice President–Annual Program, Southern Finance Association, 1999-2000

Advisory Editor of The Financial Review, 2004-date

Associate Editor of Decision Sciences, 1990-1999

Associate Editor of Financial Practice and Education, 1999-2000

Associate Editor of The Financial Review, 1998-2004

Associate Editor of FMA Online, 2001-date

Associate Editor of Journal of Applied Finance, 2001-date

Associate Editor of Journal of Financial Research, 2003-date

Director, Eastern Finance Association, 2000-2002

Northeast Regional Director, Financial Management Association, 1992-1994

Track Chair (Finance), Decision Sciences Institute, 1996

Annual Program Committee Member For:

Financial Management Association: 2004, 2003, 2002, 2001, 1993, 1992, 1990, 1988, 1987

Midwest Finance Association: 1989, 1988

Ad Hoc Referee For:

Accounting Review
Engineering Economist
Financial Practice and Education
Journal of Applied Finance
Journal of Economics and Business
Journal of Finance
Journal of Financial and Quantitative Analysis
Journal of Financial Research
Journal of Mathematical Psychology
Journal of Money, Credit and Banking
Journal of the Midwest Finance Assoc.
Management Science
Review of Financial Studies
The Financial Review

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018847

DISSERTATION COMMITTEES CHAIRED

Andrew J. Felo, "An Investigation of the Relationship Between Board Oversight of an Ethics Program and Firm Value," final defense: March, 1999.

Chang-Hwan Lee, "Do Nice Guys Finish Last? An Empirical Investigation of Reputation as a Determinant of Stockholder Returns," final defense: December, 1991.

Jong-Chul Rhim, "An Empirical Investigation of Managerial Incentive Problems Associated with Executive Bonus Plans," final defense: December, 1990.

Mai E. Iskandar, "The Role of Debt Issue Characteristics in Predicting Bond Ratings," final defense: July, 1986.

UNIVERSITY SERVICE

Administrative:

Chair, Dean Search Committee: 1992, 1993
Chair, Faculty Development Committee: 1993, 1994, 1995
Chair, Faculty Development Reacreditation Taskforce Committee: 1997, 1998
Chair, Finance Faculty: 1991, 1992, 1993, 1994, 1997, 1998
Chair, Research and Development Committee: 1985, 1986, 1987, 1988, 1990, 1991, 1992, 1993
Chair, Research Enhancement Committee (College): 1990, 1991
Chair, Senior Personnel Committee (College): 1990, 1991, 1992, 1993, 1994
Chair, Undergraduate Curriculum Committee (College): 1977
Dean's Advisory Committee: 1993, 1994, 1995, 1996, 1997, 1998
Faculty Senate Executive Committee, College-elected representative (University): 1987, 1988, 1991, 1992, 1993
Graduate Management Association Faculty Advisor: 1991, 1992, 1993, 1994

External Affairs:

Corporate Associates Program: Initiated with John Gardner to establish a mutually supportive partnership among corporations and the Binghamton University School of Management.

Major Committee Membership:

Administrative Review Procedures Committee, College-elected member (College): 1994, 1995
Building Committee: 1989, 1990, 1991, 1992
Business/Mathematics Liaison Committee (College): 1978, 1979, 1983
Calendar Committee, Presidential appointment (University): 1992
Curriculum Committee (College): 1997
Dean Search Committee, College-elected member: 1991, 1992, 1993
Doctoral Program Steering Committee (College): 1986, 1987, 1988, 1991, 1992, 1993, 1995, 1996, 1997
External Stakeholders Reacreditation Taskforce Committee: 1997, 1998
Facilities Committee (College): 1983, 1984, 1985
Faculty Awards Committee, College-elected member (College): 1990, 1991, 1992, 1993
Fiscal Affairs Committee (Faculty Senate Executive Committee): 1987, 1988
Graduate Faculty Senate, Department-elected representative (University): 1987, 1988, 1990, 1991, 1992, 1993
International Committee (College): 1989, 1990, 1991

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

01884

MBA Curriculum Coordinating Committee (College): 1994, 1995, 1996, 1997
MBA Curriculum Revision Committee (College): 1993, 1994
Membership Committee (Graduate Faculty Senate): 1987, 1988
Provost's General Education Planning Committee: 1992, 1993
Recruiting Committee (Department): 1980, 1981, 1982, 1986, 1987, 1996, 1997
Representative to the Faculty of Science, College-elected representative (College): 1976, 1977, 1978
Research and Developement Advisory Committee, Department-elected representative (College): 1982, 1983, 1984, 1985, 1986, 1987, 1988, 1989, 1990, 1991, 1992, 1993
Research Center Committee (College): 1985, 1986, 1987
Research Seminar Committee (Department): 1980, 1984, 1985
Undergraduate Curriculum Committee (College): 1976, 1977, 1978, 1979, 1982, 1983, 1995, 1996
University-Wide Promotion and Tenure Committee, College-elected member: 1990, 1991, 1992
Vice-Chancellor for Administrative Services Search Committee (University): 1987, 1988

PROFESSIONAL ASSOCIATION MEMBERSHIPS

American Finance Association
Decision Sciences Institute
Eastern Finance Association
Financial Management Association
Society for Research in Finance
Southern Finance Association
Southwestern Finance Association
Western Finance Association

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018849

APPENDIX B

DOCUMENTS RELIED UPON

Coleman (Parent) Holdings Inc. v. Morgan Stanley & Co., Inc., Complaint, May 8, 2003.
Coleman (Parent) Holdings Inc. v. Morgan Stanley & Co., Inc., Answer of Morgan Stanley & Co. Incorporated, June 23, 2003.
Morgan Stanley & Co., Inc. v. Arthur Andersen LLP, First Amended Complaint, August 6, 2004.

Sunbeam Corp Form 10-Q for the quarter ended June 30, 1996.
Sunbeam Corp Form 10-Q for the quarter ended September 29, 1996.
Sunbeam Corp Form 10-K for the year ended December 29, 1996.
Sunbeam Corp Form 10-Q for the quarter ended March 30, 1997.
Sunbeam Corp Form 10-Q/A for the quarter ended March 30, 1997.
Sunbeam Corp Form 10-Q for the quarter ended June 29, 1997.
Sunbeam Corp Form 10-Q for the quarter ended September 28, 1997.
Sunbeam Corp Form 10-K/405 for the year ended December 28, 1997.
Sunbeam Corp Form 10-K/A for the year ended December 28, 1997.
Sunbeam Corp Form 10-Q for the quarter ended March 31, 1998.
Sunbeam Corp Form 10-Q/A for the quarter ended March 31, 1998.
Sunbeam Corp Form S-4/A filed on December 6, 1999.
Sunbeam Corp Annual Report 1999.

"Sunbeam in for a Pruning: New Chief Replaces Second in Command," HFN, July 29, 1996.
"For a Struggling Sunbeam, Shock Therapy," The New York Times, August 11, 1996.
"New Chairman Mixing In," The Miami Herald, August 20, 1996.
"Chain Saw Al to the Rescue?" Forbes, August 26, 1996.
"Sunbeam Chief to Osterize Plants, Workers," Tampa Tribune, November 9, 1996.
"Sunbeam's First Quarter Sales Up 13%, Earnings per Share Up 200% from Ongoing Operations" PR Newswire, April 23, 1997.
"Are You Tough Enough to Handle Straight Talk from 'Rambo in Pinstripes'?" Palm Beach Post, October 20, 1997.
"Sunbeam's Shine: Sales Jump 25%," Palm Beach Post, October 23, 1997.
"Sunbeam: On the Block?" HFN, October 27, 1997.
"Sunbeam Dances With Mr. D," The New York Times, December 23, 1997.
"Sunbeam Has 4th-Quarter Profit on Higher Sales, New Products," Bloomberg, January 28, 1998.
"Sunbeam Acquires Three Publicly Traded Consumer Products; Coleman, Signature Brands and First Alert," Bloomberg, March 2, 1998.
"Sunbeam Says 1st-Qtr Sales Fell, Fires Executive," Bloomberg, April 3, 1998.
"Sunbeam Corp. Cut to 'Neutral' at PaineWebber," Bloomberg, April 3, 1998.
"A Warning By Sunbeam Stuns Wall St.," The New York Times, April 4, 1998.
"Sunbeam Corp. Cut to 'Market Perform' at Goldman Sachs," Bloomberg, April 6, 1998.
"Sunbeam Corp. Cut to 'Neutral' at Bear Stearns," Bloomberg, April 6, 1998.
"Reality Pays a Tough Call on Sunbeam; Purchases Hurt Profits, Stock Price" Sun-Sentinel, April 12, 1998.
"Sunbeam Accused of Masking Sales With 4th-Qtr Grill Promotion," Bloomberg, April 23, 1998.
"Sunbeam Reports 1st Quarter Results; Expects 1998 EPS in $1.00," Bloomberg, May 11, 1998.
"Sunbeam Expects Barbecue Grill Sales to Decline in 2nd Qtr," Bloomberg, May 15, 1998.
"Class Action Suit Filed Against Sunbeam Corp. and Its Officers," Bloomberg, May 15, 1998.
"Notice of Filing of Class Action Against Sunbeam Corporation," Bloomberg, May 22, 1998.
"Sunbeam's Shares Keep Falling, Below Price When Dunlap Arrived," Bloomberg, June 19, 1998.
"Sunbeam to Review 1997 Statements and May Restate Results," Bloomberg, June 30, 1998.
"Dunlap and Kersh Resign from Sunbeam Board of Directors," PR Newswire, August 6, 1998.
"Sunbeam Admits Improper Accounting Firm to Restate Results," The Miami Herald, August 7, 1998.
"Sunbeam to Restate Financial Results," Bloomberg, October 20, 1998.
"Sunbeam Loses $533 Million in 2nd, 3rd Quarters," Palm Beach Post, December 17, 1998.
"Sunbeam Seeks Bankruptcy Protection; Hopes to Emerge Within Nine Months," Dow Jones Business News, February 6, 2001.

Sunbeam Corporate website, available at http://www.sunbeam.com/history.asp (visited November 17, 2004).

Corporate Financial Management, 2nd Edition, 2004, Emery, Finnerty, and Stowe.

Bloomberg Stock Price Data.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018850

APPENDIX B

DOCUMENTS RELIED UPON

BEGIN BATES	END BATES
0000001	0000175
0007947	0008010
0008011	0008066
0016944	0016945
0022175	0022295
CP026286	CP026370
CPH0038719	CPH0038720
CPH0039454	CPH0039462
CPH0039469	CPH0039470
CPH0145513	CPH0145515
CPH0254621	CPH0254640
CPH0306588	CPH0306589
CPH0306590	CPH0306592
CPH0321942	CPH0321944
CPH0466399	CPH0466401
CPH0468314	CPH0468316
CPH0468332	CPH0468335
CPH0468336	CPH0468341
CPH0468384	CPH0468388
CPH0468421	CPH0468423
CPH0468623	CPH0468625
CPH0468652	CPH0468653
CPH0468703	CPH0468709
CPH0468711	CPH0468715
CPH0468716	CPH0468718
CPH0468719	CPH0468722
CPH0468723	CPH0468727
CPH0472533	CPH0472535
CPH0472536	CPH0472539
CPH0472540	CPH0472543
CPH0472544	CPH0472548
CPH0473148	CPH0473165
CPH0480418	CPH0480422
CPH0482038
CPH0482042
CPH0482046
CPH0484968	CPH0484969
CPH0588637	CPH0588638
CPH1022749	CPH1022750
CPH1028971	CPH1028973
CPH1029174	CPH1029175
CPH1039208
CPH1051135	CPH1051136
CPH1059632	CPH1059635
CPH1059641
CPH1125110	CPH1125112
CPH1125112	CPH1125114
CPH1125115	CPH1125117
CPH1125122	CPH1125123
CPH1125126
CPH1125139	CPH1125142
CPH1241513	CPH1241514
CPH1257094	CPH1257113
CPH1274390	CPH1274393
CPH1274414	CPH1274416
CPH1274417
CPH1278468	CPH1278471
CPH1278472	CPH1278475
CPH1278483	CPH1278484

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018851

APPENDIX B

DOCUMENTS RELIED UPON

BEGIN BATES	END BATES
CPH1278485	CPH1278486
CPH1278487	CPH1278490
CPH1278491	CPH1278494
CPH1278495	CPH1278496
CPH1279118	CPH1279122
CPH1279123	CPH1279126
CPH1279288	CPH1279289
CPH1279600	CPH1279604
CPH1279605	CPH1279606
CPH1287455	CPH1287469
CPH1287711	CPH1287718
CPH1325260	CPH1325270
CPH1327166	CPH1327167
CPH1327714	CPH1327721
CPH1327729	CPH1327738
CPH1327914	CPH1327921
CPH1328079	CPH1328084
CPH1328080	CPH1328083
CPH1328092	CPH1328102
CPH1328111	CPH1328116
CPH1328117	CPH1328122
CPH1351621	CPH1351624
CPH1351658	CPH1351661
CPH1351678	CPH1351680
CPH1351703	CPH1351712
CPH1351727	CPH1351731
CPH1352713	CPH1352717
CPH1392178	CPH1392181
CPH1393262	CPH1393263
CPH1393266	CPH1393268
CPH1393269
CPH1393465	CPH1393467
CPH1393468	CPH1393471
CPH1393472	CPH1393478
CPH1393479	CPH1393484
CPH1393485	CPH1393489
CPH1397650	CPH1397651
CPH1397652	CPH1397654
CPH1407297	CPH1407305
CPH1407315	CPH1407318
CPH1411173	CPH1411177
CPH1414949	CPH1414950
CPH1414951	CPH1414954
CPH1414957	CPH1414958
CPH1415376	CPH1415378
CPH1415380	CPH1415399
CPH1415426	CPH1415429
CPH1415510	CPH1415512
CPH1415513	CPH1415516
CPH1415517	CPH1415519
CPH1415520	CPH1415521
CPH1415540	CPH1415541
CPH1415724	CPH1415726
CPH1415775	CPH1415776
CPH1417337	CPH1417342
CPH1417343	CPH1417347
CPH1417348	CPH1417350
CPH1417358	CPH1417359
CPH1417360

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018852

APPENDIX B

DOCUMENTS RELIED UPON

BEGIN BATES	END BATES
CPH1417361	CPH1417363
CPH1417367	CPH1417369
CPH1417370
CPH1417371	CPH1417373
CPH1417941	CPH1417943
CPH1417972	CPH1417978
CPH1422130
CPH1424565	CPH1424567
CPH1424568	CPH1424570
CPH1424571	CPH1424574
CPH1424575	CPH1424577
CPH1424578	CPH1424580
CPH1424581	CPH1424583
CPH1424584	CPH1424587
CPH1424588	CPH1424591
CPH1424592	CPH1424594
CPH1424595	CPH1424598
CPH2008282	CPH2008289
CPH2008290	CPH2008291
CPH2008292	CPH2008303
CPH2008304	CPH2008310
CPH2008311	CPH2008315
CPH2008316	CPH2008318
MS02379	MS02381

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018853

EXHIBIT 1

SUNBEAM CORPORATION
CONSOLIDATED STATEMENTS OF INCOME
1994 - 1996

	FY 1994		FY 1995		FY 1996
	($)	(%)	($)	(%)	($)	(%)
Net Sales	1,044,247	100.0%	1,016,883	100.0%	984,236	100.0%
COGS	764,355	73.2%	809,130	79.6%	900,573	91.5%
Gross Profit	279,892	26.8%	207,753	20.4%	83,663	8.5%
Selling, General and Administrative	128,836	12.3%	137,508	13.5%	214,029	21.7%
Restructuring, Impairment and Other Costs					154,869	15.7%
Operating Income	151,056	14.5%	70,245	6.9%	(285,235)	-29.0%
Interest Expense	6,974	0.7%	9,437	0.9%	13,588	1.4%
Other (Income) Expense, Net	(712)	-0.1%	173	0.0%	3,738	0.4%
Current Income Taxes	33,227	3.2%	(2,105)	-0.2%	(28,062)	-2.9%
Deferred Income Taxes	26,283	2.5%	25,146	2.5%	(77,828)	-7.9%
Earnings (Loss) from Discontinued Operations, Net	21,727	2.1%	12,917	1.3%	(31,591)	-3.2%
Net Profit (Loss)	107,011	10.2%	50,511	5.0%	(228,262)	-23.2%

Notes & Sources:
Dollars in thousands.
1994 and 1995 data from Sunbeam Corp. 10-K for the year ended December 29, 1996.
1996 data from Sunbeam Corp. 10-K for the year ended December 28, 1997.
Excludes Sunbeam's furniture business, which was divested in 1997.
FY 1994 ended on January 1, 1995. FY 1995 ended on December 31, 1995. FY 1996 ended on December 29, 1996.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

EXHIBIT 2

SUNBEAM EQUITY PRICE
JANUARY 1, 1993 - JUNE 30, 1996

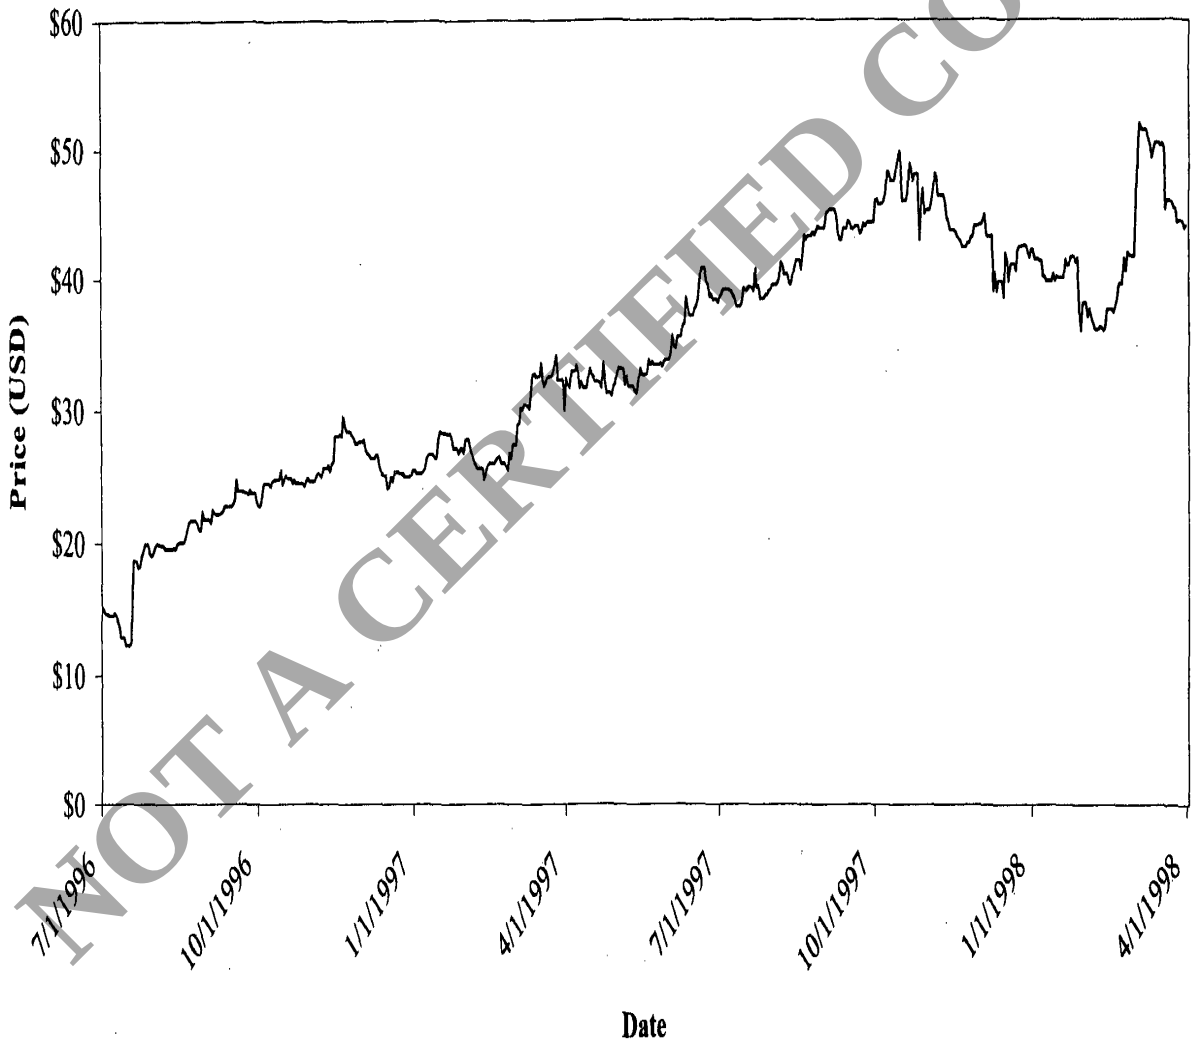
NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Notes & Sources:

Daily closing prices from Bloomberg.

EXHIBIT 3

SUNBEAM EQUITY PRICE
JULY 1, 1996 - MARCH 31, 1998



NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Notes & Sources:
Daily closing prices from Bloomberg

EXHIBIT 4

SUMMARY OF ANALYST REPORTS
Q4 1996 - Q1 1998

Date	Firm	Lead Analyst	Rating	Actual Price	Target Price			Bates Range
					Low	High	Midpoint
11/13/1996	Goldman Sachs	Elisabeth Fontenelli	Recommended	$ 25.38	$ 33.00	$ 35.00	$ 34.00	CPH1125115-117
11/14/1996	Merrill Lynch	Deepak Raj	Buy	$ 26.00	$ 30.00	$ 35.00	$ 32.50	CPH1125110-111
1/14/1997	CIBC Oppenheimer	Scott Graham	Buy	$ 26.50	$ 33.00	$ 34.00	$ 33.50	CPH1125112-114
3/12/1997	Bear, Stearns & Co.	Constance Maneaty	Buy	$ 30.88			$ 43.00	CPH1125139-142
3/24/1997	Bear, Stearns & Co.	Constance Maneaty	Buy	$ 32.50			$ 43.00	CPH1287455-469
4/23/1997	Goldman Sachs	Elisabeth Fontenelli	Recommended	$ 31.63			$ 40.00	CPH1051135-136
4/24/1997	Merrill Lynch	Deepak Raj	Buy	$ 33.50				CPH1125126
6/12/1997	Goldman Sachs	Elisabeth Fontenelli	Recommended	$ 38.50	$ 40.00	$ 41.00	$ 40.50	CPH1125122-123
7/24/1997	Bear, Stearns & Co.	Constance Maneaty	Buy	$ 39.38				CPH0472533-535
7/24/1997	Goldman Sachs	Elisabeth Fontenelli	Recommended	$ 39.31	$ 40.00	$ 41.00	$ 40.50	CPH0472536-539; CPH0472540-543; CPH0472544-548
7/28/1997	Donaldson, Lufkin & Jenrette	Mark Hassenberg	Buy	$ 38.44	Low to Mid $40's		$ 42.50	CPH2008316-318
10/7/1997	McDonald & Co.	Justin Maurer	Hold	$ 46.00				CPH0306588-589
10/8/1997	Prudential Securities	Susan Gallagher	Buy	$ 46.56			$ 55.00	CPH0306590-592
10/9/1997	CIBC Oppenheimer	Scott Graham	Buy	$ 48.25			$ 52.00	CPH1287711-718
10/22/1997	CIBC Oppenheimer	Scott Graham	Buy	$ 47.31	$ 58.00	$ 60.00	$ 59.00	CPH1407297-305
10/22/1997	The Buckingham Research Group	William Steele	Neutral	$ 48.38			$ 49.00	CPH2008311-315
10/24/1997	Merrill Lynch	John Gibbons; Deepak Raj	Buy	$ 47.81				CPH1407315-318; CPH2008304-310
10/29/1997	PaineWebber	Andrew Shore	Buy	$ 45.69			$ 56.00	CPH2008292-303
10/30/1997	Prudential Securities	Susan Gallagher	Buy	$ 46.94			$ 55.00	CPH0480418-422
11/3/1997	Goldman Sachs	Elisabeth Fontenelli	Recommended	$ 45.31				CPH2008282-289
12/4/1997	The Buckingham Research Group	William Steele	Neutral	$ 44.50			$ 49.00	CPH2008290-291; CPH0484968-969
12/4/1997	Bear, Stearns & Co.	Constance Maneaty	Buy	$ 44.94				CPH0321942-944
12/5/1997	CIBC Oppenheimer	Scott Graham	Strong Buy	$ 44.94			$ 60.00	CPH0482038, 042, 046
12/8/1997	The Buckingham Research Group	William Steele	Neutral	$ 43.19			$ 49.00	CPH1278472-475

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

LEGAL 010857

EXHIBIT 4

SUMMARY OF ANALYST REPORTS
Q4 1996 - Q1 1998

Date	Firm	Lead Analyst	Rating	Actual Price	Target Price Low	Target Price High	Target Price Midpoint	Bates Range
12/10/1997	Prudential Securities	Susan Gallagher	Buy	$ 39.00			$ 55.00	CPH1278495-496
12/15/1997	PaineWebber	Andrew Shore	Buy	$ 39.63	Mid $50's		$ 55.00	CPH0466399-401
1/28/1998	CIBC Oppenheimer	Scott Graham	Strong Buy	$ 37.75			$ 53.00	CPH1327729-738
1/29/1998	Bear, Stearns & Co.	Constance Maneaty	Buy	$ 37.63	Mid $50's		$ 55.00	CPH0468623-625
1/29/1998	Prudential Securities	Nicholas Heymann	Buy	$ 37.63			$ 55.00	CPH1328117-122; CPH1415724-726
1/29/1998	Merrill Lynch	John Gibbons	Buy	$ 37.63				CPH1279123-126; CPH1278468-471; CPH1278491-494
1/29/1998	The Buckingham Research Group	William Steele	Neutral	$ 37.63			$ 43.00	CPH1279118-122; CPH1278485-486
1/29/1998	PaineWebber	Andrew Shore	Buy	$ 37.63			$ 50.00	CPH1415426-429; CPH1278487-490
1/29/1998	Goldman Sachs	Elisabeth Fontenelli	Recommended	$ 37.63				CPH1059632-635
1/30/1998	The Buckingham Research Group	William Steele	Neutral	$ 36.00			$ 43.00	CPH0468421-423
1/30/1998	Goldman Sachs	Elisabeth Fontenelli	Recommended	$ 36.00			$ 49.00	CPH1278483-484; CPH1415775-776
1/30/1998	McDonald & Co.	Justin Maurer	Hold	$ 36.00				CPH0468652-653
2/2/1998	Prudential Securities	Nicholas Heymann	Buy	$ 38.13			$ 55.00	CPH1328111-116
2/6/1998	PaineWebber	Andrew Shore	Buy	$ 37.00	Mid $50's		$ 55.00	CPH1327714-721
2/7/1998	Standard & Poor's	NA	Accumulate	$ 36.13				CPH1411173-177
2/19/1998	CIBC Oppenheimer	Scott Graham	Strong Buy	$ 38.38			$ 53.00	CPH1328092-102
3/2/1998	Bear, Stearns & Co.	Constance Maneaty	Buy	$ 45.00	$ 60.00	$ 65.00	$ 62.50	CPH1415376-378
3/3/1998	Merrill Lynch	John Gibbons	Buy	$ 45.63			$ 54.00	CPH1279605-606
3/3/1998	PaineWebber	Andrew Shore	Buy	$ 45.63	$ 58.00	$ 60.00	$ 59.00	CPH1274390-393; CPH1028971-973
3/5/1998	CIBC Oppenheimer	Scott Graham	Strong Buy	$ 45.63			$ 57.00	CPH1393485-489; CPH1279600-604
3/5/1998	Merrill Lynch	John Gibbons	Buy	$ 52.00				CPH0038719-720

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

EXHIBIT 4

SUMMARY OF ANALYST REPORTS
Q4 1996 - Q1 1998

Date	Firm	Lead Analyst	Rating	Actual Price	Target Price			Bates Range
					Low	High	Midpoint
3/12/1998	Prudential Securities	Nicholas Heymann	Buy	$ 49.38			$ 70.00	CPH1393479-484; CPH1328079-084
3/12/1998	PaineWebber	Andrew Shore	Buy	$ 49.38			$ 60.00	CPH1415380-399
3/19/1998	PaineWebber	Andrew Shore	Buy	$ 50.06				CPH1029174-175; CPH1274414-416; CPH1393266-268
3/19/1998	Sands Brothers & Co., Ltd.	David Buck	Strong Buy	$ 50.06			$ 70.00	CPH1393269
3/19/1998	CIBC Oppenheimer	Scott Graham	Strong Buy	$ 46.31			$ 57.00	CPH1393472-478
3/19/1998	Bear, Stearns & Co.	Constance Maneaty	Buy	$ 45.00			$ 60.00	CPH1241513-514; CPH1022749-750
3/20/1998	Goldman Sachs	Elisabeth Fontenelli	Recommended	$ 45.38	$ 60.00	$ 65.00	$ 62.50	CPH1059641; CPH1393262-263; CPH1415540-541
3/21/1998	Standard & Poor's	NA	Hold	$ 46.00				CPH1397650-651
3/24/1998	The Buckingham Research Group	William Steele	Buy	$ 45.94			$ 64.00	CPH1039208

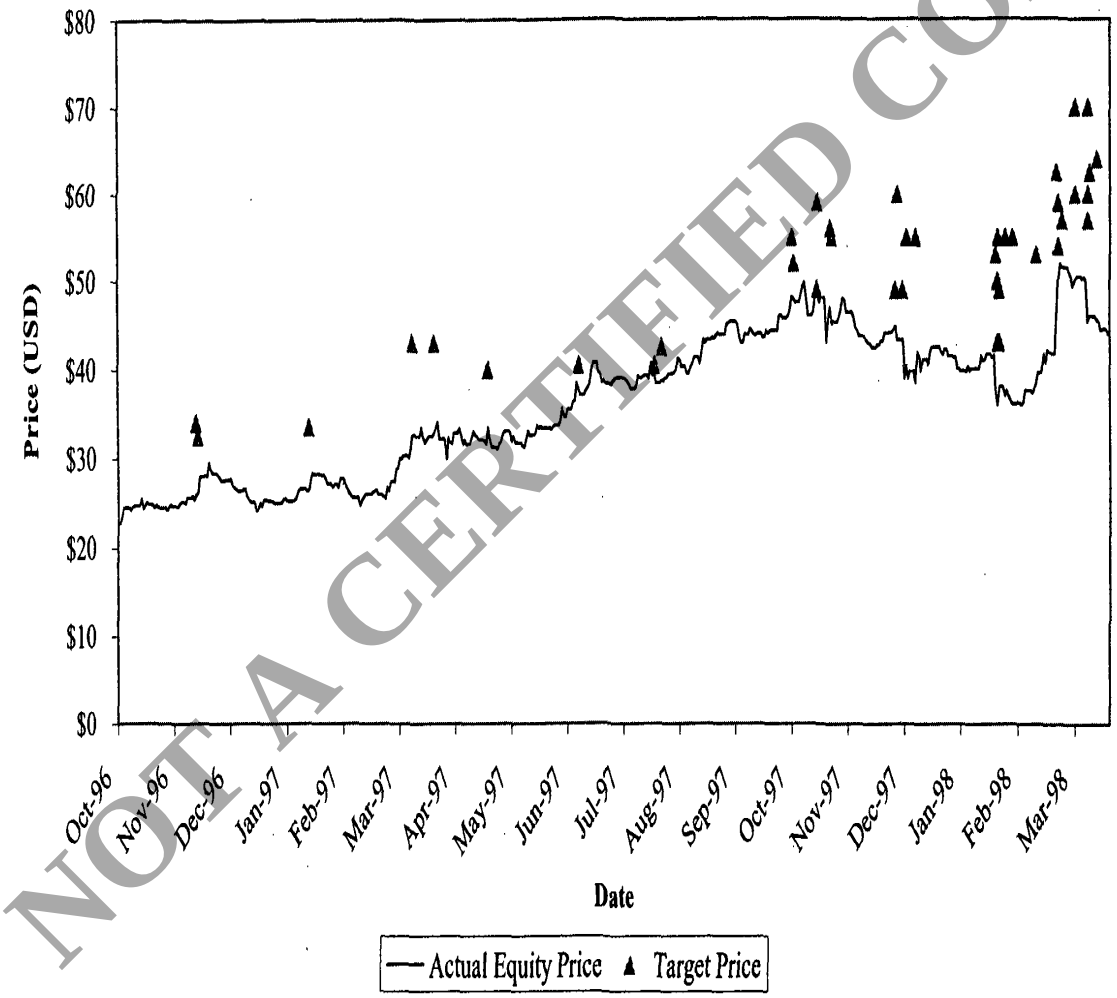
Notes & Sources:
Merrill Lynch ratings represent long-term recommendations. All corresponding near-term recommendations were "Accumulate."

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

658810

EXHIBIT 5

SUNBEAM ACTUAL EQUITY PRICE V. ANALYST TARGET PRICE FORECASTS
Q4 1996 - Q1 1998



NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Notes & Sources:

Daily closing prices from Bloomberg.

Mid-point target prices from Exhibit 4.

EXHIBIT 6

SUNBEAM CORPORATION
CONSOLIDATED STATEMENTS OF INCOME
AS ORIGINALLY REPORTED
Q1 1996 - Q1 1998

	Q1 1996		Q2 1996		Q3 1996		Q4 1996		FY 1996
	($)	(%)	($)	(%)	($)	(%)	($)	(%)	($)	(%)
Net Sales	229,707	100.0%	253,896	100.0%	231,770	100.0%	268,863	100.0%	984,236	100.0%
COGS	181,608	79.1%	206,685	81.4%	202,998	87.6%	309,282	115.0%	900,573	91.5%
Gross Profit	48,099	20.9%	47,211	18.6%	28,772	12.4%	(40,419)	-15.0%	83,663	8.5%
Selling, General and Administrative	32,585	14.2%	38,054	15.0%	49,441	21.3%	93,949	34.9%	214,029	21.7%
Restructuring, Impairment and Other Costs							154,869	57.6%	154,869	15.7%
Operating Income	15,514	6.8%	9,157	3.6%	(20,669)	-8.9%	(289,237)	-107.6%	(285,235)	-29.0%
Interest Expense	3,035	1.3%	3,410	1.3%	4,424	1.9%	2,719	1.0%	13,588	1.4%
Other (Income) Expense, Net	1,337	0.6%	917	0.4%			1,484	0.6%	3,738	0.4%
Current Income Taxes	2,396	1.0%	548	0.2%	(7,898)	-3.4%	(23,108)	-8.6%	(28,062)	-2.9%
Deferred Income Taxes	2,128	0.9%	1,520	0.6%	(1,425)	-0.6%	(80,051)	-29.8%	(77,828)	-7.9%
Extraordinary Charge from Early Retirement of Debt, Net
Earnings (Loss) from Discontinued Operations, Net	10,741	4.7%	4,443	1.7%	(2,318)	-1.0%	(44,457)	-16.5%	(31,591)	-3.2%
Net Profit (Loss)	17,359	7.6%	7,205	2.8%	(18,088)	-7.8%	(234,738)	-87.3%	(228,262)	-23.2%

	Q1 1997		Q2 1997		Q3 1997		Q4 1997		FY 1997
	($)	(%)	($)	(%)	($)	(%)	($)	(%)	($)	(%)
Net Sales	253,450	100.0%	287,609	100.0%	289,033	100.0%	338,090	100.0%	1,168,182	100.0%
COGS	185,669	73.3%	213,080	74.1%	200,242	69.3%	238,692	70.6%	837,683	71.7%
Gross Profit	67,781	26.7%	74,529	25.9%	88,791	30.7%	99,398	29.4%	330,499	28.3%
Selling, General and Administrative	33,008	13.0%	31,559	11.0%	33,863	11.7%	32,626	9.7%	131,056	11.2%
Restructuring, Impairment and Other Costs
Operating Income	34,743	13.7%	42,970	14.9%	54,928	19.0%	66,772	19.7%	199,443	17.1%
Interest Expense	1,993	0.8%	2,973	1.0%	1,503	0.5%	4,912	1.5%	11,381	1.0%
Other (Income) Expense, Net	113	0.0%	(483)	-0.2%			(848)	-0.3%	(1,218)	-0.1%
Current Income Taxes	(1,052)	-0.4%	(4,655)	-1.6%	17,136	5.9%	(3,060)	-0.9%	8,369	0.7%
Deferred Income Taxes	13,128	5.2%	18,901	6.6%	1,717	0.6%	24,037	7.1%	57,783	4.9%
Extraordinary Charge from Early Retirement of Debt, Net
Earnings (Loss) from Discontinued Operations, Net	(13,713)	-5.4%							(13,713)	-1.2%
Net Profit (Loss)	6,848	2.7%	26,234	9.1%	34,572	12.0%	41,761	12.4%	109,415	9.4%

	Q1 1998
	($)	(%)
Net Sales	244,296	100.0%
COGS	211,459	86.6%
Gross Profit	32,837	13.4%
Selling, General and Administrative	68,841	28.2%
Restructuring, Impairment and Other Costs
Operating Income	(36,004)	-14.7%
Interest Expense	5,072	2.1%
Other (Income) Expense, Net	2,367	1.0%
Current Income Taxes	327	0.1%
Deferred Income Taxes	(4,785)	-2.0%
Extraordinary Charge from Early Retirement of Debt, Net	(5,608)	-2.3%
Earnings (Loss) from Discontinued Operations, Net
Net Profit (Loss)	(44,593)	-18.3%

Notes & Sources:
Dollars in thousands.
Excludes Sunbeam's furniture business, which was divested in 1997.
1996 and 1997 data from Sunbeam Corp. 10-K/405 for the year ended December 28, 1997 and 10-Qs for the quarters ended March 30, 1997, June 29, 1997, and September 28, 1997.
Q4 1996 calculated as FY 1996 - sum of Q1 1996 through Q3 1996.
Q4 1997 calculated as FY 1997 - sum of Q1 1997 through Q3 1997.
1998 data from Sunbeam Corp. 10-Q for the quarter ended March 31, 1998.
Quarters in 1996 and 1997 based on 13 weeks. Quarters in 1998 based on calendar date.

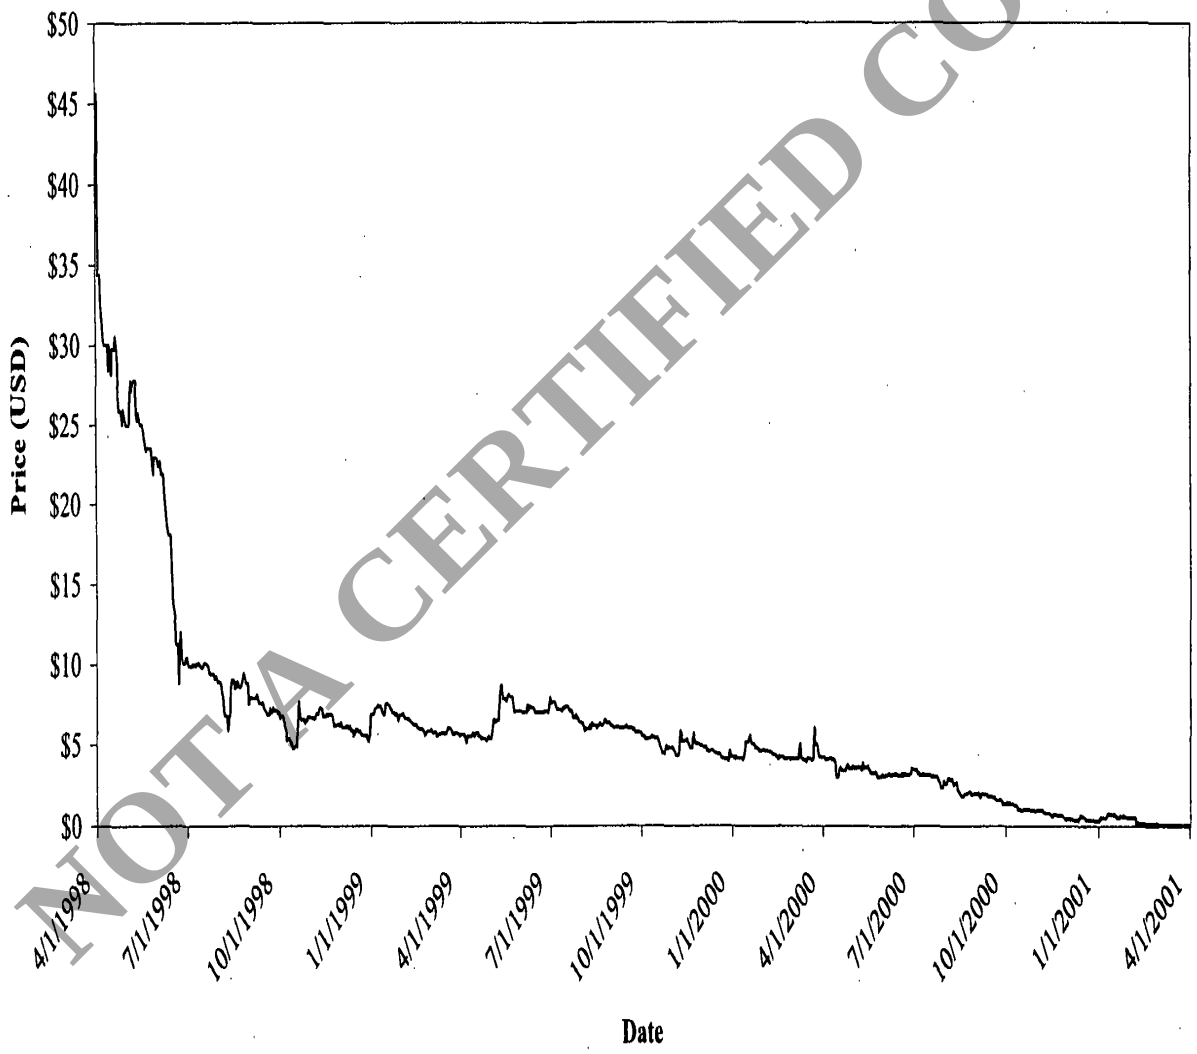
NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

019881

Confidential
Subject to Protective Order

EXHIBIT 7

SUNBEAM EQUITY PRICE
APRIL 1, 1998 - MARCH 31, 2001



NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Notes & Sources:
Daily closing prices from Bloomberg.

EXHIBIT 8

ILLUSTRATION OF EARNINGS MANIPULATION: SMOOTHING

	Year 1 Q4	Year 2 Q1	Year 2 Q2	Year 2 Q3	Year 2 Q4	Year 3 Q1
[1] Actual Earnings	$50	$150	$50	$150	$50	$150
[2] Delayed Sales		(50)
[3] Application of Sales			50
[4] Borrowed Sales	50				50
[5] Reversal of Borrowing				(50)		(50)
[6] Cumulative Owed Sales	50	50	50	0	50	0
[7] Earnings Overstatement (Reduction)	50	(50)	50	(50)	50	(50)
[8] Reported Earnings	$100	$100	$100	$100	$100	$100

Notes & Sources:

[6] = sum of [4] and [5] for all periods up to and including current.
[7] = sum of [2] through [5].
[8] = [1] + [7].

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

EXHIBIT 9

ILLUSTRATION OF EARNINGS MANIPULATION: MISREPRESENTATION

	Year 1 Q4	Year 2 Q1	Year 2 Q2	Year 2 Q3	Year 2 Q4	Year 3 Q1
[1] Actual Earnings	$50	$150	$50	$150	$50	$150
[2] Misstated Reserves	(600)
[3] Reversal of Unused Reserves			50	200	350
[4] Delayed Sales		(50)
[5] Application of Sales			50
[6] Borrowed Sales			50	50	200
[7] Reversal of Borrowing						(300)
[8] Cumulative Owed Sales			50	100	300	0
[9] Earnings Overstatement (Reduction)	(600)	(50)	150	250	550	(300)
[10] Reported Earnings	($550)	$100	$200	$400	$600	($150)

Notes & Sources:

[8] = sum of [6] and [7] for all periods up to and including current.

[9] = sum of [2] through [7].

[10] = [1] + [9].

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

EXHIBIT 10

SUNBEAM CORPORATION
CONSOLIDATED STATEMENTS OF INCOME
REPORTED V. RESTATED
1996 - Q1 1998

	REPORTED			RESTATED			DIFFERENCE
	FY 1996	FY 1997	Q1 1998	FY 1996	FY 1997	Q1 1998	FY 1996	FY 1997	Q1 1998
	($)	($)	($)	($)	($)	($)	($)	($)	($)
Net Sales	984,236	1,168,182	244,296	984,236	1,073,090	247,601	0	(95,092)	3,305
COGS	900,573	837,683	211,459	896,938	830,956	213,828	(3,635)	(6,727)	2,369
Gross Profit	83,663	330,499	32,837	87,298	242,134	33,773	3,635	(88,365)	936
Selling, General and Administrative	214,029	131,056	68,841	221,655	152,653	71,139	7,626	21,597	2,298
Restructuring, Impairment and Other Costs	154,869			110,122	(14,582)		(44,747)	(14,582)
Operating Income	(285,235)	199,443	(36,004)	(244,479)	104,063	(37,366)	40,756	(95,380)	(1,362)
Interest Expense	13,588	11,381	5,072	13,588	11,381	5,073	0	0	1
Other (Income) Expense, Net	3,738	(1,218)	2,367	3,738	12	3,165	0	1,230	798
Current Income Taxes	(28,062)	8,369	327	(22,419)	1,528	327	5,643	(6,841)	0
Deferred Income Taxes	(77,828)	57,783	(4,785)	(69,206)	38,824	(449)	8,622	(18,959)	4,336
Extraordinary Charge from Early Retirement of Debt, Net			(5,608)			(8,624)			(3,016)
Earnings (Loss) from Discontinued Operations, Net	(31,591)	(13,713)		(38,301)	(14,017)		(6,710)	(304)
Net Profit (Loss)	(228,262)	109,415	(44,593)	(208,481)	38,301	(54,106)	19,781	(71,114)	(9,513)

Notes & Sources:
Dollars in thousands.
Reported data from Exhibit 6.
1996 and 1997 restated data from Sunbeam Corp. 10-K/A filing for the year ended December 28, 1997.
Q1 1998 restated data from Sunbeam Corp. 10-Q/A for the quarter ended March 31, 1998.
Difference = Restated - Reported.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

598810

CONFIDENTIAL

Coleman (Parent) Holdings, Inc.

v.

Morgan Stanley & Company, Inc.

Expert Report of William N. Horton

LECG, LLC

December 7, 2004

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0188167

I. Qualifications

My name is William N. Horton. I am a Director of LECG, LLC. LECG is a global consulting firm that provides economic and financial analysis, expert testimony, litigation support, public policy analysis and strategic advisory services.

I hold a Bachelor of Arts degree in Economics from Davidson College and graduated from the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration with a Masters Degree of Business Administration.

I have over 22 years of experience as an investment banker with Goldman, Sachs & Company, Hambrecht & Quist, LLC, KPMG Baymark Capital, LLC, and Nesbitt Burns Securities, Inc.

During my 15 years with Goldman, Sachs & Company, I initiated, worked on and/or closed a significant number of public and private equity transactions, mergers and acquisitions, and strategic business relationships between U.S. and international firms. During my 5 years with Hambrecht & Quist, LLC, as a Principal and Managing Director, I worked extensively with venture-backed private and public companies in developing and implementing joint ventures, strategic financing and business relationships, in the placement of public and private equity securities, and mergers and acquisitions of such firms. During my 2 years with KPMG Baymark Capital, LLC and then Nesbitt Burns Securities, Inc., I was Managing Director at each firm, responsible for technology investment banking, including solicitation and execution of initial public offerings, follow-on equity offerings, private placements of debt and equity, and mergers and acquisitions.

Over the last 6 years, I have acted as consultant and financial advisor to technology companies in developing business plans and projections, raising both seed and venture equity financing, negotiating investment and securities purchase agreements, negotiating bridge loans, negotiating technology and licensing agreements, advising on mergers and acquisitions, and preparing companies for initial public offerings.

While continuing to take an active part in consulting with private high-technology firms, in the last three years I have also served as an expert witness on matters of business valuation, damages, due diligence, disclosure, business strategy, and business procedures, with a focus on equity financing, and mergers and acquisitions.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018868

During the course of my career, I have had extensive experience in conducting due diligence related to mergers and acquisitions, and equity and equity-related offerings, and in preparing disclosure documents related to such transactions.

During the course of my career, I have not published any articles or papers.

My resume is attached as Appendix 1.

My testifying experience at deposition and trial is attached as Appendix 2.

I am being compensated at the rate of $400/hour for my work as an expert. My fees are not contingent.

A list of Documents Reviewed and Relied Upon is attached as Appendix 3.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018869

II. Summary of Opinions

After examining the evidence in this case, I have arrived at the following principal opinions, the grounds and bases for which are set forth in this report, the exhibits and the materials that I relied upon:

1. Morgan Stanley & Co., Incorporated ("Morgan Stanley"), in its multiple roles as the investment banker and financial advisor to Sunbeam and as sole manager and underwriter of Sunbeam's convertible debenture offering, had to insure that the information and disclosure materials it used in making the solicitations that were part of these assignments presented a fair and accurate description of Sunbeam and its business.

2. The Coleman Company, Inc.'s and Coleman (Parent) Holdings Inc.'s (together "Coleman") reliance upon the disclosure materials provided by Morgan Stanley and Sunbeam, and on publicly available disclosures and filings by Sunbeam (the "Sunbeam Investment Story"), in making its decision to accept the offer by Sunbeam and proceed with the transaction, was reasonable and customary for a sophisticated investor because of Sunbeam's status as a public company, the structure of the transaction and Sunbeam's acceptance of an obligation to notify Coleman of any material adverse change in Sunbeam's business prior to the closing of the acquisition.

3. Upon receipt of Arthur Andersen LLP's ("Arthur Andersen") draft March 19 Comfort Letter on or about March 18, 1998, Morgan Stanley should have informed Coleman that the March 19 Comfort Letter disclosed a material adverse change in the business of Sunbeam and that the materials that it had provided to Coleman in their discussions concerning Sunbeam contained untrue statements of material facts concerning the Sunbeam Investment Story.

4. Upon receipt of Arthur Andersen's draft March 19 Comfort Letter, on or about March 18, 1998, Morgan Stanley should have withdrawn the proposed offering of $2,014,000,000 Sunbeam Zero Coupon Senior Subordinated Convertible Debentures because public announcements and filings by Sunbeam, the

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018870

Preliminary Offering Memorandum, and the Internal Sales Memorandum contain untrue statements of material facts concerning the Sunbeam Investment Story.

5. Sunbeam's March 19 Press Release, prepared at the insistence of Morgan Stanley and incorporated into the final Offering Memorandum for the sale of $2,014,000,000 Sunbeam Zero Coupon Senior Subordinated Convertible Debentures, for which Morgan Stanley was the sole manager and underwriter, failed to disclose a material change in Sunbeam's business and contained material misstatements of fact relating to the Sunbeam Investment Story.

In arriving at my opinions, I have reviewed and examined documents produced in discovery, deposition transcripts, published articles, publicly available financial data, research reports issued by Wall Street analysts, and certain spreadsheets and comparisons prepared at my direction. Set forth in Appendix 3 is a list of documents that I have reviewed and relied upon in the preparation of this report. I reserve the right to update my opinions as additional information becomes available and as I have the opportunity to review and consider it. In the remaining sections of the Report, I will document the information and analyses that have led me to these opinions.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018871

CONFIDENTIAL

III. Opinions

A. Morgan Stanley's Responsibilities as Sunbeam's Investment Banker

Based on my review of the case record, including the Morgan Stanley engagement letters, Morgan Stanley had multiple roles as investment banker and financial adviser to Sunbeam in 1997 and 1998.

- Morgan Stanley acted as Sunbeam's financial advisor and agent in connection with the potential sale of Sunbeam.
- Morgan Stanley acted as Sunbeam's financial advisor and agent in connection with any acquisitions, including the acquisitions of Coleman, Signature Brands USA, Inc. and First Alert, Inc.
- Morgan Stanley acted as financial advisor to Sunbeam in providing a fairness letter in connection with the acquisition of Coleman.
- Morgan Stanley acted as the sole manager and the underwriter of Sunbeam's offering of $2,014,000,000 Zero Coupon Senior Subordinated Convertible Debentures.
- Morgan Stanley acted as Sunbeam's financial advisor in the arrangement of additional bank financing for Sunbeam.
- Morgan Stanley had the right to advise Sunbeam on a variety of other transactions that Sunbeam might consider during the course of Morgan Stanley's engagement.

As is customary in the investment banking business, Morgan Stanley expected to earn both retainer fees and contingent fees upon successful completion of any of the above transactions.[1]

When retained as a company's merger and acquisition financial advisor, the usual and customary practice for an investment banking firm is to initially work with its client to develop offering materials that the investment banking firm then uses in its contacts with [1] CPH Deposition Exhibit 70; and CPH Exhibit 246.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018872

and solicitation of potential buyers or sellers. In the development of the offering materials, the investment banking firm has access to all publicly available documents and filings by the client as well as confidential internal long-term plans and projections, and conducts due diligence on its client. The due diligence is conducted by the investment banking firm in order to insure that the offering documents present a fair and accurate picture of its client's business, plans, and projections, among other things. The investment banking firm then contacts potential acquirers and/or sellers on behalf of the client. In connection with each of these contacts, it is usual and customary for the corporation or institution contacted by the investment banking firm to use the offering materials being provided by the investment banking firm in making its own decision to proceed with negotiations toward the proposed transaction. This is particularly true where a merger is being pursued in a short period of time and where the parties are currently competitors, or may, if the acquisition does not proceed, become competitors in the future. In addition, when the stock of the acquiring company is being used as currency in the transaction, it is usual and customary for the company being acquired to negotiate a provision in the merger agreements that allows them to not proceed with the transaction in the event of the occurrence of a material adverse change and/or an event or events that might have a material adverse effect on the business of the acquirer.

Investment bankers understand that, in their dealings and communications with other parties related to securities transactions, including potential investors in offerings with which the investment banking firm is connected, the investment banker is obligated to act and communicate in an honest manner. Investment bankers are familiar with the fact that their conduct in the preparation of documents related to securities offerings is governed by the securities laws, including the Securities Act of 1933 and Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, as well as laws governing fraud. In my experience, training programs at investment banking firms deal with these issues, and they are also dealt with in an investment banker's studies leading up to taking the Series 7 exam, an exam that all investment banking professionals dealing with the sale of securities have to pass. Investment bankers also understand that the public, including sophisticated investors and corporations, will be relying on the honesty and accuracy of their communications and disclosures. In addition, investment bankers who specialize in mergers and acquisitions understand that these obligations also extend into communications and disclosures made in connection with merger and acquisition transactions.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0188873

When an investment banking firm acts as sole manager and initial purchaser of a public offering of securities, for example, it is usual and customary for potential investors in such an offering, including sophisticated investors of Rule 144A offerings, to rely upon the accuracy and completeness of the information and disclosures in the offering documents and upon the obligation of the investment banking firm to have conducted due diligence in connection with the preparation of the offering documents.

B. Coleman Acted in a Reasonable and Customary Manner in Relying Upon Sunbeam's and Morgan Stanley's Public and Private Disclosures and Obligations to Notify Them of Any Material Adverse Change in Sunbeam's Business

Development of the Sunbeam Investment Story

Mr. Albert J. Dunlap was hired by Sunbeam in July 1996 as Chairman and Chief Executive Officer to, as he is quoted as saying, "...significantly restructure the Company...reducing the Company's cost structure, divesting non-core, low margin products and developing a solid strategy for future growth."[2] This strategy supposedly was implemented during the second half of 1996, and Sunbeam reported that it was substantially completed in the first quarter of 1997 as disclosed in Sunbeam's press release dated April 23, 1997 that states:

> "The impressive growth in both revenue and earnings is proof that the revitalization of Sunbeam is working...The substantially higher earnings in the quarter from ongoing operations were due to increased sales coupled with successful implementation of our restructuring efforts...The margins attained in the first quarter are the highest achieved by Sunbeam in two years. I believe we are well on our way to achieving our goal of 20% operating margins."

[2] Sunbeam Press Release, July 24, 1996.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018874

The stock market reaction to the development of the Sunbeam Investment Story was to bid up the price of Sunbeam from $12.24 on July 16, 1996, the day before the announcement of Mr. Dunlap being hired, to $25.50 on December 31, 1996, to $33.50, where it closed on April 23, 1997.[3]

The implementation of this strategy and the importance of growth in sales were critical elements of the Sunbeam Investment Story. For example, Prudential Securities, in initiating coverage of Sunbeam on June 23, 1997, stated:

> "At a minimum over the next 6-9 months, we believe further upside potential in the stock will be driven by significant and rapid improvement in operating performance and sales growth as a result of restructuring benefits and aggressive implementation of growth strategies..."[4]

The Sunbeam Investment Story was further enhanced with the announcement of second quarter results for 1997 on July 23, 1997.[5] For example, PaineWebber, in commenting on Sunbeam's announced results in its research report dated July 28, 1997, stated:

> "The biggest surprise of the quarter was a positive one, with sales up 13.3% on a reported basis (16.6% on a normalized basis, excluding divested time and temperature, decorative bedding and scale businesses)...the company averted any earnings disappointments by delivering better than expected sales growth."[6]

Market reaction to the further development and enhancement of the Sunbeam Investment Story and its dependence on sales growth continued to be positive with the stock price increasing from $33.50 on April 23, 1997 to $39.75 on July 23, 1997.[7]

Development of the Sunbeam Investment Story continued with the announcement of third quarter results for 1997 on October 22, 1997, where it was announced that sales had increased 28.3% on a comparable basis and earnings per share had increased by $0.58

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018875

[3] Sunbeam Stock Price History.
[4] Prudential Research Report dated June 23, 1997.
[5] Sunbeam Press Release dated July 23, 1997.
[6] PaineWebber Research Report dated July 28, 1997.
[7] Sunbeam Stock Price History.

from a loss of $0.19 per share to $0.39 per share.[8] Mr. Dunlap commented on the results in the press release:

> "I am very pleased that the rate of revenue growth has continued to accelerate, concurrent with a dramatic expansion of operating margins...In the past 15 months we have been able to turn around a great old company that had lost its way, reposition it for tremendous profitable growth and build a great management team that is focused on increasing shareholder value."[9]

Wall Street reacted positively to the reported results, as illustrated by an Oppenheimer & Co., Inc. research report dated October 22, 1997 that states:

> "Sunbeam reported 3Q97 EPS of $0.39 vs. a ($0.19) loss a year ago; this was $0.02 better than we expected. The company's 25% sales increase and margin growth were both slightly better than we had forecast."[10]

The stock market's reaction was again positive as Sunbeam's stock price increased further from July 23, 1997, when it closed at $39.75, to $48.375, where it closed on October 22, 1997.[11]

The development of the Sunbeam Investment Story, as described above, and its acceptance by the market and Wall Street analysts, was critically dependent upon Sunbeam driving increases in sales and operating margins. The reason for this is that increased sales and operating margins directly translate into increases in net income and earnings per share, which in turn drive Wall Street analysts and the market valuation of a stock.

Morgan Stanley Becomes Part of the Sunbeam Investment Story

Morgan Stanley became an integral part of the Sunbeam Investment Story when the firm was engaged by Sunbeam in September 1997 to pursue a sale of Sunbeam or pursue acquisitions by Sunbeam. Mr. Dunlap publicly announced this plan and touted the "turn around" on October 23, 1997:

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018876

[8] Sunbeam Press Release dated October 22, 1997.
[9] Ibid.
[10] CPH 1407297-1407305.
[11] Sunbeam Stock Price History.

> "Having successfully completed the turnaround of Sunbeam and being well on our way to dramatically growing the business, we feel that the timing now is right to look towards achieving the next level of value for our shareholders. As I have said on numerous occasions, we will pursue whatever course serves best to enhance shareholder value, including acquisitions, mergers or possibly a sale of the Company."[12]

Wall Street's reaction to Sunbeam's reported third quarter 1997 results, and the announcement of Morgan Stanley's retention, was positive. For example, in a research report published on October 29, 1997, PaineWebber highlighted the importance of the retention of Morgan Stanley to the future of Sunbeam as follows:

> "The real potential for another round of meteoric stock price appreciation comes if Sunbeam can make a strategic acquisition, using Sunbeam stock as the currency...Sunbeam shareholders may be getting two Dunlap turnarounds for the price of one. Now that would be a bright idea."[13]

Beginning in early October 1997 and continuing into 1998, Morgan Stanley made a number of contacts with potential acquirers of Sunbeam but failed to find a buyer. Morgan Stanley's failure was anticipated by Wall Street analysts. For example, Merrill Lynch, in a research report issued on October 24, 1997, commented:

> "Part of Al Dunlap's blueprint for fixing companies entails taking companies through quantum leaps. What this means is that after turning a business around, he typically sells it for a significant premium above current market value...We continue to think that this process is more likely to entail buying and restructuring another company using Sunbeam as his currency rather than selling Sunbeam outright."[14]

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018877

Morgan Stanley as Sunbeam's Investment Banker

Overview: Upon being retained by Sunbeam in September 1997, it would be normal and customary for Morgan Stanley to thoroughly get to know Sunbeam, its business and its [12] Sunbeam Press Release dated October 23, 1997.

[13] CPH 2008292-2008303.
[14] CPH 1407315-1407318.

prospects in the preparation of the offering materials for the Company. As described previously in this report, this would involve Morgan Stanley reviewing all publicly available materials as well as confidential internal long-term plans and projections and then conducting in-depth due diligence with Sunbeam in the preparation of the discussion materials that Morgan Stanley was going to use with potential acquirers and/or companies to be acquired. As part of the process of preparing the discussion or offering materials, it would also be usual and customary for Morgan Stanley to discuss with Sunbeam the risks and opportunities to its business and related to potential transactions, and then to review them independently from a broader industry and competitive perspective. Morgan Stanley needed to thoroughly understand Sunbeam, its business, prospects, risks and opportunities because, in making contacts on mergers and acquisitions, it potentially would be dealing with acquirers or companies to be acquired who might be competitors with Sunbeam and/or sophisticated companies with a thorough knowledge of Sunbeam's business. Morgan Stanley's access to both public and private confidential information put the firm in a unique position to be sensitive to the truth and accuracy of the Sunbeam Investment Story as it was being told by Sunbeam (and by Morgan Stanley in the discussion or offering materials that it had developed) and to take into consideration any information that they became aware of that called into question the Sunbeam Investment Story. When Morgan Stanley was named as sole manager and underwriter of the convertible debenture issue in March 1998, its due diligence on Sunbeam in preparation of the offering memorandum would normally and customarily include anything that it learned or became aware of during the course of all of its financial advisory work with Sunbeam since it was retained in September 1997.

Concerns About the Sunbeam Story: In the context of Morgan Stanley's financial advisory work as investment banker to Sunbeam, Morgan Stanley became aware of concerns about Sunbeam's performance and the Sunbeam Investment Story.

Fourth Quarter Results for 1997 Do Not Meet Expectations: For example, on January 28, 1998 Sunbeam publicly announced that its results for the full year 1997 did not meet expectations:

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018878

> "Sunbeam Corporation today announced record sales and earnings for its fourth quarter and full year 1997. Sales for the quarter were $338 million, reflecting a 30.6% increase over the prior year period on a comparable basis...Before the 1996 special charges taken by the Company to restructure and reposition Sunbeam, earnings per share (diluted) from continuing operations of $.47 were $.50 ahead of the loss of $0.03 reported the fourth quarter last year...On a year to date basis, revenue of $1.168 billion was 22.4% above 1996 on a comparable basis and earning per share (diluted) from continuing operations of $1.41 was $1.51 above the loss of $0.10 reported in 1996, excluding special charges."[15]

The stock market's reaction to this disclosure was reflected by changes in Sunbeam's stock price, as it dropped by more than 10% over the two days following the announcement, from $41.5625 where it closed on January 27, 1998, the day before the announcement, to $36.00 on January 29, 1998, the day after the announcement.[16]

The decline in the stock price only reflects part of the market reaction as Wall Street analysts commented further on the fourth quarter as not meeting expectations. For example, CIBC Oppenheimer published a research report on January 28, 1998 that stated:

> "Sunbeam reported 4Q97 EPS of $0.47 vs. a per-share loss of $0.03 a year ago. This was $0.05 short of our estimate and $0.03 lower than Street consensus. Sales increased 26% year-over-year; we had estimated a 34% increase...Clearly, management's optimism that it could pull out the quarter late in December were excessive."[17]

Despite Sunbeam having missed its guidance, CIBC Oppenheimer goes on in their report to emphasize the decline in price as creating a buying opportunity and recommending a "Strong Buy" on the stock. CIBC Oppenheimer's evaluation of Sunbeam was paralleled by PaineWebber in a research report issued on January 29, 1998 ("...we continue to believe Sunbeam is a good buy in the high-$30s...our 12-18 month price target is $50.") as well as by Merrill Lynch ("We continue to recommend

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018879

[15] CPH 0291847-0291849.
[16] Sunbeam Stock Price History.
[17] CPH 1327729-1327738.

Sunbeam") and Prudential Securities ("We are reiterating our Buy rating on Sunbeam Shares with a 12-month price target of $55...") in reports issued on the same day .

Fourth Quarter of 1997 Results: The failure of Sunbeam to achieve its guidance on financial results for the fourth quarter of 1997 also caused some analysts to examine the potential impact on first quarter of 1998. A research report published by PaineWebber on February 6, 1998 included the following comments:

> "With shares down over 12% in 1998, the market is skeptical about whether an encore performance is possible."[18]

The research report then goes on to focus on the key risks to Sunbeam as follows:

> "As expected, the grill sales led the way in the quarter, but this growth was substantially ahead of our expectations. We are not bothered by the 'grill blip' in the fourth quarter as long as the company hasn't stolen some first quarter 1998 upside to stretch to meet fourth quarter 1997 expectations. The stakes are high as Sunbeam enters the peak grill season, as the company has already begun to seed the channel in the fourth quarter, grill inventory is high (according to strategy)..."[19]

Despite these statements, PaineWebber reiterated its "Buy" rating on Sunbeam.

The positive Wall Street review of Sunbeam's prospects was also supported by Mr. Dunlap in his interview with Neil Cavuto of The Cavuto Business Report on January 28, 1998 where he comments to a question about Sunbeam missing Wall Street guidance: "We haven't missed anything." Then with respect to a question about the prospects for Sunbeam, Mr. Dunlap further states: "...I said today we were not uncomfortable with Street estimates next year of $2...which would be a 40 percent increase and sales growth of 25 percent. Now who else is doing that?"[20]

Wall Street analysts emphasized the upside in Sunbeam's stock price. For instance, Goldman Sachs states in a research report dated January 29, 1998 that:

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018880

[18] CPH 1415366-1415373.
[19] Ibid.
[20] CPH 1278476-1278479.

> "We continue to recommend purchase of SOC shares. On the record, we firmly believe that Sunbeam's targeted 25% growth and 20% operating margin are real and attainable and support outsized earnings growth through 1999."[21]

Bear Stearns also focused on the upside in Sunbeam's stock price in a research report published on January 29, 1998 where they continued to rate Sunbeam a "buy" and "attractive on a valuation basis" with a "12-month mid-$50s price target."

Wall Street's anticipation of potential acquisitions became reality with the announcement of the acquisitions on Sunbeam, Signature Brands and First Alert on March 2, 1998. Market reaction to the acquisition announcements was positive with Sunbeam's stock price trading up from $41.75 on February 27, the day before the announcement, to $49.875 on March 3, 1998.

Wall Street's reaction to the announcement was positive. For example, Merrill Lynch in a research report dated March 3, 1998 commented: "We applaud Sunbeam's proposed acquisitions...We reiterate our Accumulate/Buy ratings...Our new 12-month price objective is $54." In addition, CIBC Oppenheimer in a research report dated March 5, 1998 commented: "Once these acquisitions close, Sunbeam's earnings, position at retail, and long-term prospects will be enhanced, in our view. We are reiterating our Strong Buy rating." These positive comments continued after the filing of Sunbeam's 10-K on March 6, 1998. In a research report published by Prudential on March 6, 1998, the firm stated: "We are aggressively reiterating our Buy rating on Sunbeam shares with a 12-month price target of $70 or more..." Similarly, in a research report published by PaineWebber on March 12, 1998, the firm set a price target of $60 for Sunbeam's stock and commented: "With the acquisitions again giving Al Dunlap the opportunity to do what he does best, turnaround troubled companies, the stock may be poised to set new highs in the coming months."

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018881

The Sunbeam Investment Story Presented to Coleman by Morgan Stanley Failed to Disclose Any of the Points of Concern

It was the positive Sunbeam Investment Story, however, that was carried over by Morgan Stanley in its communications with Coleman. In February 1998, Sunbeam and Morgan

[21] Defendant's Exhibit 852. CPH 1059632-1059633

Stanley made a presentation to Coleman concerning Sunbeam's long-term strategic plan and Morgan Stanley's discussion materials presentation (the "Morgan Stanley Discussion Materials") for use in the negotiation of the proposed acquisition of Coleman by Sunbeam.[22]

In the Morgan Stanley Discussion Materials, the Investment Rationale section includes major points of the Sunbeam Investment Story:

> "Sunbeam represents an attractive growth story and investment opportunity.
>
> Sunbeam has undergone a profound transformation since the arrival of new management in July 1996.
>
> Tremendous intrinsic value in the Company."[23]

The Morgan Stanley Discussions Materials also highlight positive Wall Street analyst comments about Sunbeam and the Sunbeam Investment Story.

The Discussion Materials do not, however, reference, either directly or indirectly, Sunbeam's failure to meet the guidance it had given Wall Street for the fourth quarter of 1997. From the case record, there also does not appear to have been any disclosure of the audited financial statements of Sunbeam for fiscal 1997 of the early buy program that represented $50 million in sales in 1997, nor of the bill and hold sales booked in the fourth quarter of 1997 that are described in a footnote to the audited financial statements.[24] As described previously in this report, the Morgan Stanley Discussion materials emphasize the positive aspects of the Sunbeam Investment Story, including positive analyst comments, the strength of the turnaround in Sunbeam's business and the excellent prospects for Sunbeam in the future.

Since the disclosure of and/or discussion of these types of issues would be usual and customary in the negotiation of an acquisition for equity, the apparent failure of Sunbeam and/or Morgan Stanley to raise and discuss these issues with Coleman is both not customary and surprising for firms with the level of sophistication that they each had.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018882

[22] Depostion Exhibit CPH 9.
[23] Ibid.
[24] CPH 0012762-0012934.

The Sunbeam Investment Story Told to Potential Investors by Morgan Stanley

Despite the public and private concerns, the Sunbeam Investment Story told to the public also remained positive. Morgan Stanley, for example, provided its marketing and sales professionals with the Internal Selling Memorandum on March 12, 1998 for use in discussions and conversations with potential investors for the sale of the convertible debentures. In the Internal Selling Memorandum, Morgan Stanley puts a positive spin on Sunbeam's fourth quarter results in the section of the Selling Memorandum titled "Potential Investor Concerns," and explains the shortfall in the fourth quarter discussed above, as follows:

> "The Company recently reported fourth quarter earnings that were $0.03 below consensus expectations, resulting in a 9% share price decline on the day of the announcement. Is this indicative of a slowdown in double digit growth that Al Dunlap has declared is his ongoing goal?
>
> Responses: Business has shown significant improvement from the recent restructuring very quickly. Fourth quarter sales jumped 31%, excluding divestitures, from last year's numbers. Sales growth had, in fact, accelerated all year. Fourth quarter results were broad-based with all businesses, except for blankets, showing healthy gains. Operating margins hit an unprecedented 20%. EPS were $0.47 vs. $(0.03) in 4Q97. In short, the Sunbeam management team sets extremely high goals and, even when they fall slightly short, it is still a significant achievement."[25]

This talking point that Morgan Stanley distributed internally to its sales force in connection with the sale of Sunbeam's zero coupon convertible debentures clearly indicates that Morgan Stanley had red flagged this as a point of concern that had to be dealt with in talking with potential investors. In addition, Morgan Stanley's inclusion of this talking point highlights the sensitivity that Morgan Stanley would be reasonably expected to have to any information that might indicate that Sunbeam's sales were weaker than expected, information that became clear on March 18 with the delivery of the draft March 19 Comfort Letter.

[25] CPH Exhibit 100. As was described previously in this report, this explanation paralleled Wall Street's perspective.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018883

CONFIDENTIAL

C. It was Usual and Customary for Coleman, as a Sophisticated Investor, to Rely Upon Sunbeam and Morgan Stanley's Obligation to Disclose any Material Adverse Change in Sunbeam's Business Prior to Closing on the Merger

Although preliminary discussions between Coleman and Sunbeam took place in December 1997 and January 1998, negotiation of the acquisition of Coleman by Sunbeam took place during a very limited time period in February 1998.[26] This constraint on the time period necessarily forces the firms involved to place primary dependence on due diligence, on the publicly available information on each company, and on any disclosure materials provided by each side to the other, such as the Morgan Stanley Discussion Materials that were provided to Coleman. In addition, the case record also indicates that there were three days of formal due diligence, on February 22, 23, and 24, 1998, during which representatives of each company met. In my experience, this type of due diligence is typical in what is often referred to as fast track mergers and acquisitions, particularly where both parties are currently competitors or might become competitors in the future if the transaction does not go through. As a result of the time and competitive constraints on due diligence, it is usual and customary for each party and their representatives to rely upon the truth and accuracy of materials that they have received and any statements that may have been made by the other party or representatives of the other party. In addition, once definitive agreements are signed relating to an acquisition or merger transaction, it is usual and customary practice for deal-related due diligence to end and for both parties to move forward to a closing that is only dependent on normal regulatory clearances like Hart-Scott-Rodino or a material change in either party's business.

The acquisition of Coleman by Sunbeam was structured in mergers and acquisitions' terminology as a two-step transaction, with Sunbeam first acquiring Coleman (Parent) Holdings' equity interest in Coleman and then acquiring the publicly traded minority interest in Coleman. In addition, Sunbeam's acquisition of Coleman also involved Morgan Stanley arranging Sunbeam's approximately $1.7 billion of bank debt and [26]CPH Exhibit 169.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018884

Morgan Stanley directly raising approximately $2.0 billion of zero coupon convertible debt to fund the acquisition of Coleman, Signature Brands USA, Inc. and First Alert, Inc.[27] From any perspective and as a matter of practice, this structure made the acquisition of Coleman by Sunbeam dependent upon Morgan Stanley's acting as sole manager and the initial purchaser of the zero coupon convertible debt and Morgan Stanley's ability to sell those securities to sophisticated investors. In a Rule 144A offering, sophisticated investors rely upon the public disclosure by Sunbeam that is incorporated in the Offering Memorandum and upon Morgan Stanley's due diligence obligations as both financial advisor since September 1997 and sole manager of the offering.

As a matter of industry practice and custom, Coleman, as a sophisticated investor, would expect to benefit from these due diligence and disclosure obligations on the part of Morgan Stanley and Sunbeam in the sale of the Rule 144A zero coupon convertible debentures. These disclosure obligations, as is usual and customary, would necessarily and fundamentally include disclosure of any material adverse change in Sunbeam's business. Consequently, it was entirely reasonable and customary for Coleman to believe that disclosure of any material adverse change in Sunbeam's business prior to the actual acquisition would be made by Morgan Stanley and/or Sunbeam directly to Coleman. From an investment banking perspective, Coleman had the right to believe this for three reasons. First, Coleman was receiving equity in Sunbeam immediately after the closing on the Rule 144A offering and it would be usual and customary for them to receive a copy of the final Offering Memorandum as part of that transaction. Second, the definitive merger agreement requires Sunbeam to disclose to Coleman, as a condition to closing, any material adverse change in Sunbeam's business.[28] Third, since Morgan Stanley had solicited Coleman concerning a possible acquisition in December 1997, and had provided the Morgan Stanley Discussion Materials to Coleman in February 1998 for consideration in accepting Sunbeam's acquisition offer, it would be usual and customary for Morgan Stanley to contact Coleman directly if it were to become aware that the materials that it had provided to Coleman where materially incorrect or false and misleading. The [27] CPH Exhibit 100. The issue of zero coupon convertible debt was increased in size on March 19, 1998 from $1.7 billion in principal amount to $2.014 billion.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018857

[28] MS 93 and MS 117.

occurrence of a material adverse change in Sunbeam's business would be reasonably expected to trigger this obligation.

D. Morgan Stanley and Sunbeam Had the Usual and Customary Obligation Upon Receipt of the March 19 Comfort Letter to Disclose to Coleman a Material Adverse Change in Sunbeam's Business

On March 18, 1998, Arthur Andersen delivered a draft letter to Morgan Stanley concerning the financial results of Sunbeam through March 16, 1998 and delivered the signed March 19 comfort letter the following day (the "March 19 Comfort Letter").[29]

In the March 19 Comfort Letter, Arthur Andersen qualifies the letter based on Morgan Stanley's representations as follows:

> "a. You are knowledgeable with respect to the due diligence review process that would be performed if this placement of securities were being registered pursuant to the Securities Act of 1933 (the Act).
>
> b. In connection with the Offering Memorandum, the review process you have performed is substantially consistent with the due diligence review process that you would have performed if this placement of securities were being registered pursuant to the Act."[30]

In the March 19 Comfort Letter, Arthur Andersen disclosed that net sales for January 1998 were approximately $44 million lower than for the same period in 1997 ($28,984,000 versus $72,945,000) and that the net sales for the period for January and February 1998 were approximately $71.5 million lower than net sales for the same period in 1997 ($72,018,000 versus $143,499,000). The March 19 Comfort Letter then goes on to define the principal cause of the decline in net sales as follows:

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0188896

[29] CPH Deposition Exhibit 17. This letter is generally referred to in the investment banking industry as a "comfort letter." It is generally required by securities firms to be provided by a corporation's accountants immediately prior to pricing a security offering in order to insure that there has not been a material change in the financial statements or results of the company since the last financial statements were released publicly.

[30] Ibid.

"For the period from December 29, 1997 through March 16, 1998, consolidated net sales decreased as compared to the corresponding period of the preceding year primarily due to the Company's new early buy program for outdoor grills which accelerated outdoor grill sales into the fourth quarter of fiscal 1997."

The March 19 Comfort Letter also disclosed that long term debt increased by $105 million from $194.6 million on December 29, 1997 to $299.6 million on March 16, 1998, and that net income had declined by approximately $14.3 million (a loss of $9.5 million versus a net income of $4.8 million) for January and February 1998 as compared to January and February 1997.[31] [32] The increase in long term debt was troubling to near term prospects for Sunbeam's sales because it would indicate that inventories at Sunbeam's customers relating to the early buy and buy and hold programs were not being sold. Therefore, Sunbeam's customers were not paying Sunbeam for products bought under these programs, which in turn reduces Sunbeam's cash and requires additional debt financing.

Given the statement by Arthur Andersen that the March 19 Comfort Letter was being provided to Morgan Stanley as part of their due diligence process relating to the issuance of the Zero Coupon Convertible Senior Subordinated Debentures, these disclosures clearly represent a material adverse change in the business of Sunbeam from any business perspective, and certainly from an investment banking perspective. In addition to the magnitude of the deterioration from the previous year in Sunbeam's financial performance and financial position, the information disclosed contradicts the foundation of the Sunbeam Investment Story that Sunbeam was telling along with the Sunbeam

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

[31] CPH Exhibit 112. The bring down comfort letter provided by Arthur Andersen to Morgan Stanley on March 25, 1998 disclosed no improvement in the deterioration in Sunbeam's business since the March 19 Comfort Letter.

[32] CPH Exhibit 63, CPH 0287279. Although Morgan Stanley had some discussions with Sunbeam on March 18 concerning this disclosure and specifically the shortfall in sales, the information provided to Morgan Stanley further highlighted the sales shortfalls disclosed in the March 19 Comfort Letter. In the additional information provided to Morgan Stanley, actual sales through January and February totaled $72.0 million, international sales in March through March 15, 1998 totaled $6.9 million, and domestic net sales through March 17, 1998 totaled $22.7 million resulting in total sales of only $100.6 million before any consideration of open orders or forecasts.

Investment Story that Morgan Stanley was telling potential acquirers, companies being acquired (like Coleman), and potential investors.

Consequently, upon receipt of this due diligence information, Morgan Stanley had a usual and customary responsibility as an investment banker, financial advisor and agent of Sunbeam in the negotiation of the acquisition of Coleman, to insist upon and/or alternatively disclose to Coleman the material adverse change in Sunbeam's business because the firm needed to correct false and misleading statements that the firm had made to Coleman.

E. Morgan Stanley Had the Power and the Obligation to Cancel the Proposed Offering of the $2,014,000,000 Sunbeam Zero Coupon Senior Subordinated Convertible Debentures Upon Receipt of the March 19 Comfort Letter

On March 19, 1998, Morgan Stanley, as sole lead manager and underwriter of the $2,014,000,000 Sunbeam Zero Coupon Senior Subordinated Convertible Debentures, had the power to cancel or withdraw the Rule 144A offering before it was priced at the end of that day.[33] From an investment banking perspective, the effect of any such withdrawal or cancellation by the sole manager and underwriter of the offering would have been the postponement or termination of the acquisition of Coleman, particularly since the proceeds of the offering were being used to acquire Coleman.

The disclosure of the material adverse change in Sunbeam's business in Arthur Andersen's March 19 Comfort Letter would have led, in the ordinary course of the investment banking business, to the realization that the Sunbeam Investment Story, as it had been told, was false and misleading. Since Morgan Stanley had based its solicitation efforts on behalf of Sunbeam, its presentations to Coleman, and its sales and marketing efforts for the Zero Coupon Convertible Senior Subordinated Debentures on the Sunbeam Investment Story, the realization of the false and misleading aspects of it would normally and customarily have led to the withdrawal of the offering prior to pricing.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018888

[33] CPH Deposition Exhibit 10.

F. Sunbeam's Press Release of March 19, 1998, Included in the Offering Memorandum for the Sale of $2,014,000,000 Sunbeam Zero Coupon Senior Subordinated Convertible Debentures Was Materially Misleading and Contained Untrue Statements of Material Facts

On March 19, 1998, Sunbeam issued a press release regarding its expected financial results for the first quarter of 1998. The press release stated in part:

> "Sunbeam Corporation (NYSE: SOC) said today that it is possible that its net sales for the first quarter of 1998 may be lower than the range of Wall Street analysts' estimates of $285 million to $295 million, but net sales are expected to exceed 1997 first quarter net sales of $253.4 million. The Company stressed that sales of its products at retail remains very strong. The shortfall from analysts' estimates, if any, would be due to changes in inventory management and order patterns at certain of the Company's major retail customers..."[34]

The disclosure made in the press release was also included in the final Offering Memorandum for the sale by Sunbeam pursuant to Rule 144A, of $2,014,000,000 Zero Coupon Convertible Subordinated Debentures by Morgan Stanley as sole manager.[35]

The disclosure made in the March 19 press release failed to disclose accurately and clearly the information in the March 19 Comfort Letter as follows:

First, the March 19 Comfort Letter discloses that long term debt increased by $105 million from $194.6 million on December 29, 1997 to $299.6 million on March 16, 1998, and that net sales for January and February 1998 were approximately $71.5 million lower than net sales for the same period in 1997 ($72,018,000 versus $143,499,000) and net income had declined by approximately $14.3 million (a loss of $9.5 million versus a gain of $4.8 million) for the same periods. The March 19 Comfort Letter then goes on to define the principal cause of the decline in net sales as follows:

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018889

[34] Deposition Exhibit CPH 14, MS 0016944-16945.
[35] Deposition Exhibit CPH 10, CP 033169-033240.

"For the period from December 29, 1997 through March 16, 1998, consolidated net sales decreased as compared to the corresponding period of the preceding year primarily due to the Company's new early buy program for outdoor grills which accelerated outdoor grill sales into the fourth quarter of fiscal 1997."

Given this disclosure, and the amount of the increase in debt and the decreases in net sales and net income, it would be normal and customary for the sole manager and initial purchaser of an offering of securities of a company to insist that full disclosure of this information be made. The March 19 Press Release, however, made no mention of the decline in sales, the significant increase in debt, the losses that Sunbeam had incurred or the primary reasons behind them, as disclosed by Arthur Andersen. The failure of Sunbeam and Morgan Stanley to disclose this information made the press release and the Offering Memorandum materially misleading.

Second, the initial reference to the early buy program and the bill and hold transactions was made in Sunbeam's 10-K filing on March 6, 1998, and included in the Offering Memorandum. The information about these two programs apparently had not been formally disclosed to Wall Street prior to that date. With the further definitive information disclosed by Arthur Andersen in the March 19 Comfort Letter, the disclosure made by Sunbeam on March 19, 1998 in the press release and included in the Offering Circular for the Zero Coupon Convertible Senior Subordinated Debentures failed to disclose the significant deterioration in Sunbeam's business.

Third, the March 19 Press Release was materially misleading in its statement that sales of Sunbeam's products were strong at the retail level because, if they were strong, it would be reasonable to expect customers to reorder products as they were sold and inventories depleted. However, since the March 19 Comfort Letter clearly states that sales through the end of February 1998 by Sunbeam were $71.5 million below the comparable period of 1997 because of the early buy program, this statement is materially misleading. This information was further corroborated in the discussion that Morgan Stanley had with Sunbeam on March 18 that indicated that sales continued to be extremely weak and that

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018890

Sunbeam had no firm orders that would reasonably be expected to allow Sunbeam to achieve the guidance that it had given Wall Street.[36]

Fourth, the March 19 Press Release was also materially misleading in assigning blame for the prospective shortfall in sales relative to guidance that Sunbeam had given to Wall Street to "changes in inventory management and order patterns at certain of the Company's major retail customers." I reviewed the public disclosure of Sunbeam's competitors and its principal customers, to the extent possible, and could find no mention of any such changes that impacted competitors or were initiated by customers.[37] The disclosure of the impact of the early buy program on Sunbeam's sales in the March 19 Comfort Letter, along with the similar impact of the buy and hold transactions, are the only events that it is reasonable to believe had a substantive impact on Sunbeam's sales in January and February 1998 and on the increase in debt. Consequently, the disclosure of the reasons for the prospective shortfall was materially misleading.

Although Sunbeam's stock price declined by approximately 10% from $50.0625 on March 18 to $45.375 on March 19 when the March 19 Press Release was issued, Wall Street analyst reaction to the press release reflected any that the market was unaware of the significant deterioration in Sunbeam's business of which Morgan Stanley was aware. For instance, PaineWebber stated in a research report dated March 19, 1998:

> "We do not think this warning means that the 'new Sunbeam' story is over; in fact we would use any weakness as a buying opportunity."[38]

In addition, although PaineWebber noted the $50 million in the early buy program disclosed in Sunbeam's 10-K, they commented further that the program only robbed "a little of the first quarter's thunder."[39]

Similarly, Bear Stearns in a research report on March 19, 1998 commented:

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018891

[36] CPH 63.
[37] 10K's for fiscal 1997 and 10Q's for the first quarter of 1998 filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission for the following companies: Whirlpool, NACCO, Black and Decker, Wal-Mart, K-Mart, Price CostCo, Target, Home Depot, Sears, Service Merchandise, Lowe's, and J.C. Penney.
[38] Exhibit 533, CPH 1029174-1029175.
[39] Ibid.

"We think that yesterday's price drop of over 4 points was an over reaction and we reiterate our buy rating on the shares."[40]

The full breadth of the deterioration in Sunbeam's business in the first quarter of 1998 that Morgan Stanley was aware of on March 18 and the market's reaction to it did not begin to be reflected in the market until the April 3 Press Release was issued. The further market correction to the additional information about Sunbeam's business resulted in an approximately 25% drop in its stock price on April 2, 1998 from $45.5625 to $34.375, where it closed on April 3, 1998. The stock further declined approximately 10% during the next several days as the market further digested the announcement and the related Wall Street research analyst reports. For example, the collapse of the Sunbeam Investment Story from a Wall Street analyst perspective is described in some detail in a research report published by PaineWebber on April 3:

"Core Business in Trouble: The weakness in Q1 confirms our worst fears about the slowdown in Sunbeam's core business...The first quarter sales weakness is even more disturbing because it compares against a first quarter of 1997 that Sunbeam management a year-ago described as full of glitches...We are cutting our sales growth estimates for the core Sunbeam business (excluding the acquisitions) to 10% per year from around 20% due to the announced sales shortfall."[41]

Although some information about Sunbeam's sales shortfalls was disseminated to the public and Wall Street on April 3, the full breadth of the problems at Sunbeam and their impact on Sunbeam's stock price further unfolded after April 3.

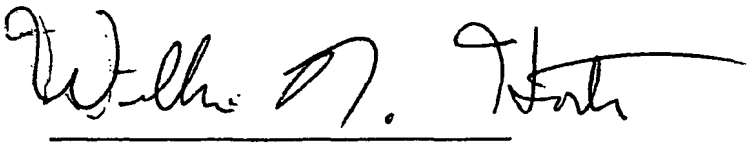
NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018892

[40] CPH 1241513-1241514.
[41] MS 220.

CONFIDENTIAL

Signed on December 7, 2004 at Emeryville, California.



William N. Horton,
Director
LECG LLC
2000 Powell Street, Suite 600
Emeryville, CA 94608

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018893

CONFIDENTIAL

Appendix 1

WILLIAM N. HORTON

LECG LLC
2000 Powell Street, Suite 600
Emeryville, CA 94608
Office Telephone: (510) 985-6740
Office Telefax: (510) 653-9898
E-Mail: whorton@lecg.com

3721 Waterford Lane
Walnut Creek, CA 94598
Residence Telephone: (925) 937-5160
Mobile: (510) 913-5640
E-Mail: wnhorton@pacbell.net

GENERAL BACKGROUND

Experienced executive and testifying expert who has focused on high technology for the last 15 years and has a unique combination of technology understanding and hands-on operating and investment banking experience. Background includes 23 years of investment banking experience, principally with Goldman, Sachs & Co. and Hambrecht & Quist, and 6 years of operating experience with a number of high-technology companies as a consultant, financial advisor, chief financial officer, secretary to the board and board director.

As an investment banker, developed broad experience across a wide range of industries and with a wide variety of transactions and advisory assignments in both the U.S. and international markets with a special expertise in the Far East. Over the last 15 years, extensively involved with high technology companies in advising them in developing business plans; valuing companies and their securities; raising funds in the venture capital, private placement and initial public offering markets; identifying and structuring a variety of business agreements with strategic partners (joint ventures; OEM supply, contract manufacturing; technology licensing; and joint development, among others); developing and implementing intellectual property strategies; and advising on mergers and acquisitions.

Specific expertise with high technology companies: Internet, software, semiconductors, semiconductor capital equipment, computers and peripherals, electronic components, consumer electronics and wireless services and devices. Experience with these companies includes high-level investment banking in finance, valuation, mergers & acquisitions and in structuring strategic business relationships as well as operational roles as chief financial officer with responsibilities for accounting, strategic business development and human resources. In addition, experience as executive officer responsible for the choice and implementation of full accounting, CRM and MRP software systems.

BUSINESS EXPERIENCE

2002-	LECG, LLC.	Emeryville, CA
	Testifying Expert
2001-	Elesys, Inc.	Sunnyvale, CA
	Member of and Secretary to the Board of Directors; and Consultant
1999-01	Tellus Technology, Inc.	Fremont, CA
	Consultant, VP Finance and Chief Financial Officer, and Secretary to the Board of Directors
1998-99	Planned Financial Solutions	Pleasanton, CA
	Managing Director
1997-98	Nesbitt Burns Securities, Inc.	San Francisco, CA
	Managing Director, North American Technology Investment Banking
1995-97	KPMG BayMark Capital LLC	San Francisco, CA
	Managing Director, Information, Communications & Entertainment
1990-95	Hambrecht & Quist Incorporated	San Francisco, CA
	Principal and Managing Director, Investment Banking-Japan & Korea (1991-1995)
1975-89	Goldman, Sachs & Co.	New York, NY
	Vice President, International Group, Global Finance Department (1983-1989)
	Vice President, Tokyo Representative Office (1979-1983)
	Associate, Corporate Finance Department (1975-1979)

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

CONFIDENTIAL

WILLIAM N. HORTON

EDUCATION

1975 MBA, Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration — Boston, MA
Graduated with Distinction. Course concentration in accounting, finance and international business.

1973 Southern Methodist University — Dallas, TX
Courses in COBOL/Fortran programming and investment management.

1970 BA, Economics, Davidson College — Davidson, NC
Course concentration in international politics and economics of less developed nations.

DEAL EXPERIENCE

Venture and Start-up Related:

Elesys, Inc.: business plan, accounting systems, marketing plans and strategic business financing.
Tellus Technology Inc.: business plan; $2.5 million bridge financing; $14 million venture capital financing; $20 million product supply agreement; and implementation of accounting and ERP system
FunTix, Inc.: business plan and $1 million start-up financing.
e-employee.com, Inc.: executive summary; $540,000 angel financing and $5 million venture financing.
VIVAGY, Inc.: financial advisory.
NetsWork, Inc.: $12 million of venture financing.
ECO Manufacturing Co., Inc.: financing documents and $15 million venture financing.
ITI Medical Technologies, Inc.: $5 million venture financing.
MC Power Corporation: $30 million venture financing.
US Digital: $10 million venture financing.
Communications Intelligence Corporation: strategic advisory and $10 million financing.
The Trylon Corporation: $10 million strategic business financing and initial public offering.
AutoImmune, Inc.:financial advisory re licensing and joint development of proprietary bio-technology.
Creative BioMolecules, Inc.: licensing and joint development of proprietary bio-technology.
Mercury Interactive Corporation: $5 million distribution agreement.
Ramtron International Corporation: $15 million intellectual property and technology licensing agreement.
Biocircuits, Inc.: financial advisory re strategic business alliances.
Alameda Instruments, Inc.: distribution agreement and sale of the company.
Union Carbide, Inc.: joint venture for commercialization of power plant flue gas scrubber technology.
Integral Peripherals, Inc.: manufacturing agreement, $5 million of equity investment and subsequent $20 million licensing, research & development and equity investment.
Read-Rite Corporation: $50 million manufacturing joint venture and $30 million of equity investment.
Paradigm Technology, Inc.: $25 million technology and intellectual property licensing agreement, research and development agreement, and equity investment; and subsequent $3.5 million equity investment.
U.S. Memory, Inc.: DRAM memory manufacturing venture in the U.S.

Mergers & Acquisitions

Commonwealth Oil & Refining Company
Diversey Corporation
Kearney & Trecker Corp.
Abbott Laboratories, Inc.
Orient Leasing Co., Ltd.
Unisys Corporation
Spectragraphics Corporation
Alaris, Inc.
Vivagy, Inc.
Spar Aerospace, Ltd.
Reveal Computer Products, Inc.
Tellus Technology, Inc.
Alameda Instruments, Inc.
Carver Corporation
ARA Services, Inc.
Chips and Technologies, Inc.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018895

16div-024258

CONFIDENTIAL

General Atomics Corporation
VLSI Technology, Inc.
PureSolutions, Inc.
EXL Consulting, Inc.
Mitsubishi Electric Co., Ltd.
Seattle Silicon Corp.

Structured and Project-Related Financing

U.S. Steel Corporation and Mitsubishi Corporation: $165 million project financing.
LTV Corporation, Sumitomo Metal Industries Co., Ltd and Mitsui & Co. (U.S.A.), Inc.: $185 million project financing.
Inland Steel Company and Nippon Steel K.K.: $481 million project financing of joint venture.
ANA Enterprises: structured, tax-advantaged special purpose entity auction preferred stock financing.
Fujitec America Inc.: structured, tax advantaged special purpose entity auction preferred stock financing.
NMB (USA) Inc.: structured, tax advantaged special purpose entity auction preferred stock financing.
Borg-Warner Corporation: $5 million, 5 year Yen/$ forward contract.
Southland Corporation: Yen-based sale and leaseback of U.S. 7-11 stores.
Orient Leasing Co., Ltd.: lease line of credit for financing subsidiary.
NEC Corporation: lease line of credit for financing subsidiary.
Evalca, Inc.: joint venture and project financing.
National Semiconductor: joint venture and project financing.

Initial Public Offerings

Flowers Industries, Inc.
Harte-Hanks Newspapers, Inc.
Orient Leasing Co., Ltd.
Exar Corporation
Shaklee (Japan) K.K.: subsidiary of Shaklee Corporation
Nippon Avionics K.K.: joint venture of Hughes Aircraft Company and NEC Corporation.
N.E. Chemcat, Inc.: joint venture of Engelhard Corporation and Sumitomo Metal Mining Co., Ltd.
Tellus Technology, Inc.
The Trylon Corporation

Private Placements

Communications Intelligence Corporation: $10 million equity financing.
Ideal Basic Industries: $80 million debt.
Mobil Corporation: $50 million debt.
Yamanouchi Pharmaceutical Co., Ltd.: $50 million convertible preferred stock.
Sony Corporation: $50 million convertible preferred stock.
Bristol Myers K.K.: Yen debt.
Sony Corporation of America: industrial development bonds.
Honda Motor Manufacturing Company: pollution control financing.
Suntory Limited: $10 million debt.
Mitsui & Co. (U.S.A.), Inc.: $40 million investment in Airborne Freight Company.

Public Offerings of Debt, including Commercial Paper

Indianapolis Water Company: $18 million.
Ford Motor Credit Company: over $1 billion in a series of offerings, including continuous offering of Medium Term Notes and Eurobonds.
Sears, Roebuck & Company: Samurai bond offering in Japan.
US JVC Corporation: commercial paper.
Sharp Corporation: commercial paper
Sumitomo Corporation of America: commercial paper.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018896

CONFIDENTIAL

Bridgestone Tire Co. of America: commercial paper.
Mitsui Co. (America), Inc.: commercial paper.
Kanematsu-Gosho (U.S.A.) Inc.: commercial paper.
Lucky-Goldstar (U.S.A.): commercial paper.
Samsung Electronics: commercial paper.

Financial Advisory

H.L. Hunt Estate: valuation.
KMart: stock exchange listing.
Motorola: stock exchange listing and general advisory.
Knight-Ridder Corporation: stock exchange listing.
Ameritech: stock exchange listing.
Hambrecht & Quist: acquisition valuation of investment in Japanese venture fund.
Ford Motor Company: valuation of securities.
Mitsui & Co., (U.S.A.), Inc.: valuation of transfers of equity in Alumax, Inc.
Marcam Corporation: creation of a multi-part strategic alliance.
NEC Corporation: consulting study of financing alternatives.
Orient Leasing Co., Ltd.: financing subsidiary.
Elesys, Inc.: strategic business.
Rohm Co., Ltd.: general advisory.

OTHER ACTIVITIES

1992 - 2000	The Seven Hills School VP, Board of Trustees	Walnut Creek, CA
1998- 2000	The Thacher School Co-head of Parents' Fund	Ojai, CA

MILITARY SERVICE

1970 - 1972	U.S. Army
	1st Lieutenant, Company Commander, 1st Air Cavalry Division	Vietnam
	2nd Lieutenant, Officer in Charge, Human Relations Basic Training Course	Fort Campbell, KY

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018897

CONFIDENTIAL

Appendix 2

William N. Horton

Expert Witness Experience

CASE	COURT	YEAR
Trial Testimony:
Hyundai Motor Company v. Bering Truck Corporation and BTC Resolution, LLC Bering Truck Corporation and BTC Resolution LLC v. Hyundai Motor Company	International Arbitration	2003
Equative, Inc. f/k/a Attilaweb.com v. Alta Communications, et. al Alta Communications, et al., v. Jeffrey A. Dracup	American Arbitration	2004
Deposition:
O'Keefe, et. al., v. Heaps, et. al. Haupt et. al., v. Heaps, et. al.	Fourth Judicial District Court, Utah County, State of Utah	2002
Monolithic System Technology, Inc. v. Synopsys, Inc., and Mountain Acquisition Sub, Inc.	Court of Chancery of the State of Delaware in and for New Castle	2004
Comdisco, Inc. v. Socialnet, Inc., et al.	Superior Court for the State of California, County of Santa Clara	2004

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018898

Appendix 3
Documents Reviewed and Relied Upon
Title	Page Number	Date	Bates#
CS First Boston: Sunbeam-Oster		5/8/95	CPH1257094-1257113
Goldman Sachs & Co.: Sunbeam Corporation		11/13/96	CPH1125115-1125117
Merrill Lynch: Sunbeam-Oster - Management Announces Major Restructuring		11/14/96	CPH1125110-1125114
Bear, Stearns & Co. Inc.: Sunbeam Corp. - Estimates Raised to $1.55 in 1997, and $2.25 in 1998, Rating Changed from Neutral to Buy		3/12/97	CPH1125139-1125142
Bear Stearns: Sunbeam Corp.		3/24/97	CPH1287455-1287469
Goldman Sachs & Co.: Sunbeam Corporation		4/23/97	CPH1051135-1051136
Goldman Sachs & Co.: Sunbeam Corporation		4/23/97	CPH0251579-0251580
Dean Witter Reynolds: Sunbeam Corporation		4/23/97	CPH0251575-0251578
Merrill Lynch: Sunbeam-Oster - Good Momentum as Q1 EPS Beat Expectations		4/24/97	CPH1125126-1125126
NatWest Securities: Sunbeam Corporation - Success of Growth Strategies Emerge: 1Q97 EPS Just Ahead of Expectations		4/24/97	CPH0251582-0251584
Merrill Lynch: Sunbeam Corp. Good Momentum as Q1 EPS Beat Expectations		4/24/97	CPH0251571-0251574
PaineWebber: Sunbeam - Dunlap might pull it off		4/28/97	CPH0251569-0251570
Donaldson, Lufkin & Jenrette - Sunbeam Corp. Next Step, The Orders		4/29/97	CPH0251581-0251581
Intentionally Left Blank			-
Goldman Sachs: Sunbeam Corporation		6/12/97	CPH1125122-1125123
Bear, Stearns & Co. Inc: Sunbeam - Q2 EPS of $0.30 Met Expectations on Surprisingly Strong Ongoing Sales Growth of 16% H2 EPS Fine Tuned - Year Remains at $1.57		7/24/97	CPH0472533-0472535
Goldman Sachs: Gulfstream Aerospace Corp.		7/24/97	CPH0472540-0472543
Goldman Sachs: AlliedSignal Inc.		7/24/97	CPH0472536-0472539
Goldman Sachs: Gulfstream Aerospace Corp.		7/24/97	CPH0472544-0472548
Donaldson, Lufkin & Jenrette: Sunbeam Corp. Strong Response to New Products		7/28/97	CPH2008316-2008318
McDonald & Co.: Sunbeam Corporation - Hattiesburg Plant Tour Provides Substance Behind the Headlines		10/7/97	CPH0306588-0306589
Bear Stearns: SOC: New Product Introductions on October 8		10/8/97	CPH0306574-0306575
Prudential Securities: Sunbeam Corporation		10/8/97	CPH0306590-0306592
Oppenheimer & Company, Inc.: SOC: Momentum Accelerates: 2 Key New Product Launches		10/8/97	CPH0306564-0306566
Oppenheimer & Co. Inc.: SOC: Revised: Momentum Accels. w/2 Key New Product Launches		10/9/97	CPH1287711-1287718
Oppenheimer & Co. Inc.: SOC: Revised: Momentum Accels. w/2 Key New Product Launches		10/9/97	CPH0306584-0306587
Goldman Sachs: Sunbeam Corporation		10/9/97	CPH0306583-0306583
Goldman Sachs: Sunbeam Corporation - New Products Lend Credibility to Growth Plan: Maintain RL		10/9/97	CPH0306567-0306568
PaineWebber: Sunbeam-Oster: Two New Products Unveiled - Part 1		10/9/97	CPH0306572-0306576
PaineWebber: Sunbeam-Oster: Two New Products Unveiled - Part 2		10/9/97	CPH0306569-0306571
Bear, Stearns & Co. Inc.: Sunbeam - Update From Analyst Meeting Raising 1998 EPS Estimate by $0.05 to $2.30		10/9/97	CPH0306576-0306578
Goldman Sachs		10/9/97	CPH0306579-0306582
The Buckingham Research Group: Sunbeam Corp.: Neutral - Income Statement Appears Strong; Balance Sheet a Question		10/22/97	CPH2008311-2008315

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Title	Page Number	Date	Bates#
Oppenheimer & Co., Inc.: Sunbeam Corporation - Household Durables		10/22/97	CPH1407297-1407305
Merrill Lynch: Sunbeam Corp - Strong Sales and Margin Gains Drive Q3 EPS		10/24/97	CPH1407315-1407318
Merrill Lynch: Analysis of Q3 EPS		10/24/97	CPH2008304-2008310
PaineWebber: Sunbeam - Beaming in on Phase III; upgrade to buy		10/29/97	CPH2008292-2008303
Prudential Securities: Sunbeam Corp.		10/30/97	CPH0480418-0480422
Goldman Sachs: Sunbeam Corporation - Sunbeam and the Seven Dwarfs: Why We Would Still Buy the Shares		11/3/97	CPH2008282-2008289
The Buckingham Research Group: Sunbeam Corp. - Sunbeam's Analyst Meeting At Neosho A Positive Surprise		12/4/97	CPH2008290-2008291
The Buckingham Research Group: Sunbeam Corp. - Sunbeam's Analyst Meeting At Neosho A Positive Surprise		12/4/97	CPH0484968-0484969
Bear, Stearns & Co., Inc.: Sunbeam - Update from Neosho Plant Tour		12/4/97	CPH0321942-0321944
CIBC Oppenheimer - SOC: Positive Analysts Mtg; Good News on Intl'l; Reit. Strong Buy, $60 Ta - Part 1 of 3		12/5/97	CPH0482038-0482038
CIBC Oppenheimer - SOC: Positive Analysts Mtg; Good News on Intl'l; Reit. Strong Buy, $60 Ta - Part 2 of 3		12/5/97	CPH0482042-0482042
CIBC Oppenheimer - SOC: Positive Analysts Mtg; Good News on Intl'l; Reit. Strong Buy, $60 Ta - Part 3 of 3		12/5/97	CPH0482046-0482046
Prudential Securities: SOC Shares Under Pressure; Reiterate Buy Rating		12/10/97	CPH1278495-1278496
PaineWebber: Sunbeam: Shares Weak; Story Still Strong		12/15/97	CPH0466399-0466401
CIBC Oppenheimer: Sunbeam Corporation - 4Q Comes Up Short; Reducing Estimates, but Maintain Strong Buy		1/28/98	CPH1327729-1327738
Goldman Sachs		1/29/98	CPH1059632-1059635
Merrill Lynch: SOC - Company Update		1/29/98	CPH1278468-1278494
PaineWebber: Sunbeam: Solid Close to 1997; Encore in 1998?		1/29/98	CPH1415426-1415429
The Buckingham Research Group: Sunbeam Corp.: Neutral - Fourth Quarter EPS In Line with Estimates; Neutral		1/29/98	CPH1279118-1279122
The Buckingham Research Group: Sunbeam Corp.: Neutral - Fourth Quarter EPS In Line with Estimates; Neutral		1/29/98	CPH1278485-1278486
Merrill Lynch: Sunbeam Corp. - Don Miss Consensus		1/29/98	CPH1279123-1279126
Prudential Securities: Sunbeam Corporation		1/29/98	CPH1415724-1415726
Prudential Securities: Sunbeam Corporation Company Update		1/29/98	CPH1328117-1328122
Goldman, Sachs & Co.: Sunbeam Corporation - Reiterate Buy; Selloff Overdone; Failure is Not an Option		1/30/98	CPH1415775-1415776
Prudential Securities: Sunbeam Corporation Company Update		2/2/98	CPH1328111-1328116
PaineWebber: Sunbeam - Did Al show his hand too soon?		2/6/98	CPH1415366-1415373
Standard & Poor's: Sunbeam Corp.		2/7/98	CPH1411173-1411177
CIBC Oppenheimer: Sunbeam Corporation		2/19/98	CPH1328092-1328102
Dun & Bradstreet Inc		2/20/98	CPH1394389-1394403
Bear, Stearns & Co., Inc. - Sunbeam - New Direction; Acquisitions; 1999 Estimates Raised to $3.00; Price Target Raised to $60-65		3/2/98	CPH1415376-1415378

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Title	Page Number	Date	Bates#
Merrill Lynch: Sunbeam Corp - Chairman Al Goes On A Buying Spree		3/3/98	CPH1279605-1279606
PaineWebber: Sunbeam: It Pays to be in Al's Camp		3/3/98	CPH1274390-1274393
PaineWebber: Sunbeam: It Pays to be in Al's Camp		3/3/98	CPH1028971-1028973
CIBC Oppenheimer: Sunbeam Corporation Post-Conference Call Conclusion: Very Positive		3/5/98	CPH1393485-1393489
CIBC Oppenheimer: Sunbeam Corporation Post-Conference Call Conclusion: Very Positive		3/5/98	CPH1279600-1279604
Merrill Lynch: Sunbeam Corp. - Chairman Al Goes On A Buying Spree		3/5/98	CPH0038719-0038720
Prudential Securities: Sunbeam Corp. Company Update - Sunbeam Begins Aggressive Plan To Consolidate Housewares Industry By Acquiring Coleman, Signature Brands, And First Alert		3/12/98	CPH1393479-1393484
Prudential Securities: Sunbeam Corp. Company Update - Sunbeam Begins Aggressive Plan To Consolidate Housewares Industry By Acquiring Coleman, Signature Brands, And First Alert		3/12/98	CPH1328079-1328084
PaineWebber: Sunbeam - Al's magical mystery tour		3/12/98	CPH1415380-1415399
CIBC Oppenheimer: Sunbeam Corporation - 1Q Sales May Fall Short, But for Reason We Can Live With; L-t View Unchanged		3/19/98	CPH1393472-1393478
Sand Brothers & Co., Ltd: Sunbeam Corporation - SOC Pre-Announces 1Q Sales Shortfall Due to Timing of Customer Buying; Focus on Bigger Picture, Namely Pending Acquisitions, Price Weakness Represents Buying Opportunity		3/19/98	CPH1393269-1393269
PaineWebber: Sunbeam: Grilled!!!		3/19/98	CPH1393266-1393268
PaineWebber: Sunbeam: Grilled!!!		3/19/98	CPH1274414-1274416
PaineWebber: Sunbeam: Grilled!!!		3/19/98	CPH1029174-1029175
Bear, Stearns, & Co. Inc. - Sunbeam		3/19/98	CPH1241513-1241514
PaineWebber: May & Speh and Sunbeam price new convertibles		3/20/98	CPH1393465-1393467
Goldman Sachs: Sunbeam Corporation		3/20/98	CPH1415540-1415541
Goldman Sachs: Sunbeam Corporation: Trimmed Q1:98E/1998E on Potential Q1 Sales Shortfall; RL		3/20/98	CPH1393262-1393263
Goldman Sachs: Sunbeam Corporation: Trimmed Q1:98E/1998E on Potential Q1 Sales Shortfall; RL		3/20/98	CPH1059641-1059641
Standard & Poor's: Sunbeam Corp.		3/20/98	CPH1397652-1397654
Standard & Poor's: Sunbeam Corp.		3/21/98	CPH1397650-1397651
The Buckingham Research Group: SOC		3/24/98	CPH1039208-1039208
CIBC Oppenheimer: SOC: Exec Departures, Poor Qtr: Our Thesis is in Question; Lowrg Rating to Hold		4/3/98	CPH1417371-1417373
Merrill Lynch: Convertible Week in Review		3/24/98	CPH1393468-1393471
PaineWebber: Sunbeam: Downgrade to Neutral from Buy		4/3/98	CPH1417370-1417370
PaineWebber: Sunbeam: Downgrade to Neutral from Buy		4/3/98	CPH1274417-1274417
PWR: Sunbeam: Downgrade to Neutral from Buy		4/3/98	CPH1417337-1417342
Buckingham Research Group: Sunbeam		4/6/98	CPH1424571-1424574
PaineWebber: Sunbeam: Downgrade to Neutral from Buy - Part 1		4/6/98	CPH1424581-1424583
PaineWebber: Sunbeam: Downgrade to Neutral from Buy - Part 2		4/6/98	CPH1424584-1424586
McDonald & Co.: SOC Reducing Rating to Buy Based Upon Short-Term Issues, Franchise Value Remains Intact		4/6/98	CPH1424578-1424580
Prudential Securities: SOC to Report Lower than Expected 1Q98 Sales and Earnings: Despite Extensive Near-Term Uncertainty, Significant Upside Potential Exists Over 12-18 Months		4/6/98	CPH1424568-1424570

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

CONFIDENTIAL

Title	Page Number	Date	Bates#
Buckingham Research Group: SOC: Downgrade to Neutral: Reducing Estimates: Earnings Visibility Low		4/6/98	CPH1424575-1424577
Intentionally Left Blank			-
Buckingham Research Group: Sunbeam Corporation: Downgrade to Neutral; Earnings Visibility Low		4/6/98	CPH1417343-1417347
McDonald & Co.: SOC: reducing Rating to Buy (2) Based Upon Short-Term Issues; Franchise Value Remains Intact		4/6/98	CPH1417348-1417350
McDonald & Co.: SOC Reducing Rating to Buy Based Upon Short-Term Issues, Franchise Value Remains Intact		4/6/98	CPH1417348-1417350
CIBC Oppenheimer: SOC: [redacted] Chg in Our Initial Concls.; Story to Tread Water - Part 1		4/6/98	CPH1424588-1424591
CIBC Oppenheimer: SOC: [redacted] Chg in Our Initial Concls.; Story to Tread Water - Part 2		4/6/98	CPH1424592-1424594
Bear Stearns: SOC: EPS Shortfall & Management Changes Cloud the Outlook		4/6/98	CPH1417367-1417369
Goldman Sachs: SOC: Removing Shares Fm Recommended List; Rate MP: Lowering Ests - Part 1 of 2		4/6/98	CPH1417361-1417363
Goldman Sachs: SOC: Removing Shares Fm Recommended List; Rate MP: Lowering Ests - Part 2 of 2		4/6/98	CPH1417358-1417360
Merrill Lynch: Sunbeam: Downgraded on Earnings Uncertainty & Mgmt Changes		4/6/98	CPH1424595-1424598
CIBC Oppenheimer: Sunbeam Corporation: Top Management Trying to Make the Sun Rise Again		4/22/98	CPH1351727-1351731
CIBC Oppenheimer: Sunbeam Corporation: Top Management Trying to Make the Sun Rise Again - Part 1 of 2		4/27/98	CPH0468703-0468709
PaineWebber: Sunbeam: Is This a Stable Organization? - Part 1 of 3		5/11/98	CPH1415510-1415512
PaineWebber: Sunbeam: Is This a Stable Organization? - Part 2 of 3		5/11/98	CPH1415513-1415516
PaineWebber: Sunbeam: Is This a Stable Organization? - Part 3 of 3		5/11/98	CPH1415517-1415519
Goldman Sachs: Sunbeam Corporation: Q1 Shows Operating Loss; EPS Guidance Below Ests; MP		5/11/98	CPH1415520-1415521
Sunbeam Corporation: Recovery Plan Execution Will Determine Pace of Shareholder Reacceptance; Look For Shares To Rebound To At Least Mid-$30s Over Next 6-12 Months		5/12/98	CPH1417972-1417978
PaineWebber: Sunbeam: Out with the New, In with the New, New - Part 1		5/12/98	CPH0468723-0468727
Merrill Lynch: Sunbeam-Oster: Lower Expectations At The "New, New" Sunbeam		5/12/98	CPH0468719-0468722
Bear Stearns: SOC: Cheap Stock but Dead Money Until New Management Can Execute New Strategy		5/12/98	CPH0468716-0468718
First Call: Earnings Estimates Summary for SOC Sunbeam Corporation		5/12/98	CPH0468711-0468715
Research Notes: Sunbeam Corporation		5/12/98	CPH1415031-1415033
Consumer Cyclical: Sunbeam Corporation Company Update		5/13/98	CPH1351703-1351712
CIBC Oppenheimer: Sunbeam Corporation - Dunlap Ouster Long-term Positive: Near-term Fundamentals Negative		7/15/98	CPH0039454-0039462
Merrill Lynch: Research Summaries		6/15/98	CPH0468314-0468316
Merrill Lynch: Sunbeam Corp - Dunlap Fired; Estimates Still Look High		6/16/98	CPH0039469-0039470
Merrill Lynch: Sunbeam: Estimates Still Too High		6/16/98	CPH0468332-0468335

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Title	Page Number	Date	Bates#
CIBC Oppenheimer: Dunlap Ousted by Bd.; L-T Positive: This Was the Only Way: N-T Fund - Part 2 of 2		6/16/98	CPH0468336-0468341
The Buckingham Research Group: Sunbeam Corporation - Al Dunlap Removed as Chairman and CEO		6/16/98	CPH0468384-0468388
Prudential Securities: Jerry Levin Appointed CEO of Sunbeam; While EPS Forecasts Will Drop Due to 2098 Inventory Adjustment, Adequate Liquidity Not an Issue; Buy Retained		6/17/98	CPH1417941-1417943
Prudential Securities: Sunbeam Corporation - Discussion With New CEO Friday Confirms SOC Possesses Ample Liquidity and 1997 Financials Accurate		6/19/98	CPH1351658-1351661
Bear Stearns & Co., Inc.: SOC: Fire Sale on Estimates (Part 1 of 2)		6/28/98	CPH1414951-1414954
Bear Stearns & Co., Inc.: SOC: Fire Sale on Estimates (Part 2 of 2)		6/28/98	CPH1414949-1414950
Bear Stearns & Co. Inc.: SOC: Changing of the Guard in the Midst of Earnings Uncertainty		6/29/98	CPH1414957-1414958
Merrill Lynch: Preview of Q2 Earnings		7/1/98	CPH1327914-1327921
Merrill Lynch: Sunbeam Corp. - Increasing Uncertainty: Changing Risk Rating		7/1/98	CPH1279288-1279289
CIBC Oppenheimer: Sunbeam Corporation - Internal Meetings Positive; Near-term Liquidity Looks OK, But Reducing Ests		7/7/98	CPH1325260-1325270
Sunbeam Corporation: SOC ITS 1997 & 1Q98 Financials; SOC's Tangible Negative Net Worth Continues to Rapidly Deteriorate; Is Chapter 11 Next? Rating Reduced to Sell		8/7/98	CPH1392178-1392181
Consumer Cyclical: Sunbeam Corp. Company Update - Announcement Leads Us To Conclude No Reasonable Prospect Remains For Upside In Near-Term; Risks Could Escalate Quickly; Rating On SOC Reduced to Sell		8/10/98	CPH1351621-1351624
Banc of America Securities: Sunbeam Corporation		6/28/99	CPH1352713-1352717
PaineWebber: Sunbeam: Blame it on the reign	pp. 4-15	5/28/98	-
Prudential: Sunbeam, Company Update	pp. 17-25	5/13/98	-
CIBC Oppenheimer: Sunbeam: New Plan Looks Good on Paper, But Begins to Even Lower Earnings Base	pp. 27-38	5/13/98	-
CIBC Oppenheimer: Sunbeam: Top Management Trying to Make the Sun Rise Again	pp. 40-44	4/22/98	-
Prudential: Sunbeam: Company Update	pp. 46-51	4/9/98	-
CIBC Oppenheimer: Sunbeam: Post-Conf Call: No Chg in Our Intial Conclusions: Story to Tread Water	pp. 53-58	4/6/98	-
CIBC Oppenheimer: Sunbeam: Executive Departure, Poor Qtr & Other Issues: Downgrade to Hold	pp. 60-65	4/3/98	-
CIBC Oppenheimer: Sunbeam: Executive Departure, Poor Qtr: Our Thesis Is in Question: Downgrade to Hold	pp. 67-68	4/3/98	-
PaineWebber: Sunbeam: Al's magical mystery tour.	pp. 70-89	3/12/98	-
Prudential: Sunbeam: Company Update	pp. 91-96	3/12/98	-
CIBC Oppenheimer: Sunbeam: Post Conference Call Conclusion: Very Positive	pp. 4-8	3/5/98	-
CIBC Oppenheimer: Sunbeam: Announces 3 Acquisitions; Dunlap Contract Extended; Very Positive	pp. 10-16	3/2/98	-
CIBC Oppenheimer: Sunbeam: Review and Preview: 4Q Relief, 1998 Very Positive; Transaction On Way	pp. 18-28	2/19/98	-
PaineWebber: Sunbeam: Did Al show his hand too soon?	pp. 30-37	2/6/98	-
Prudential: Sunbeam: Company Update	pp. 39-44	2/2/98	-
Prudential: Sunbeam: Company Update	pp. 46-51	1/29/98	-

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018903

CONFIDENTIAL

Title	Page Number	Date	Bates#
CIBC Oppenheimer: Sunbeam: 4Q Comes up Short; Reducing Estimates, but Maintain Strong Buy	pp. 53-62	1/28/98	-
Prudential: Sunbeam: Company Update	pp. 64-69	12/11/97	-
CBIC Oppenheimer: Sunbeam: Very Positive Conversation w/Dunlap; Believe Weakness is Opportunity	pp. 71-78	12/9/97	-
CBIC Oppenheimer: Sunbeam: Positive Meeting;; Good News on International; Reiterate Strong Buy	pp.80-90	12/5/97	-
Prudential: Sunbeam: Company Update	pp.92-96	10/30/97	-
PaineWebber: Sunbeam: Beaming in on Phase III; upgrade to buy	pp.98-109	10/29/97	-
Oppenheimer & Co.: Sunbeam: 3Q97 EPS Better than Expected; Raising Estimates; Target Now $58-60	pp.111-119	10/22/97	-
Oppenheimer & Co.: Sunbeam:. Momentum Accelerates with Two Key New Product Launches	pp.121-128	10/10/97	-
Oppenheimer & Co.: Sunbeam: Revised: Momentum Accelerates with Two Key New Product Launches	pp. 130-137	10/8/97	-
PainWebber: Sunbeam: Still Shining	pp. 3-20	7/28/97	-
PainWebber: Sunbeam: Upbeat meeting with management	pp. 22-29	7/8/97	-
Oppenheimer & Co.: Sunbeam: Meeting with Top Management Very Positive; Raising Estimates, Target	pp. 31-41	6/30/97	-
Oppenheimer & Co.: Sunbeam: Meeting with Top Management Very Positive; Raising Estimates, Target	pp. 43-47	6/24/97	-
Prudential: Sunbeam: Report Review	pp. 50-55	6/23/97	-
Bill Strong Evaluations		various	-
Corporate documents		various	-
Sunbeam Press Release: "Sunbeam Corporation Adds Internation Distributors and Launches New Line of International Products" (Exhibit 300)		1/7/96	CPH1039054-
Sunbeam Press Release: "Sunbeam's First Quarter Sales uU 13%, Earnings Per Share Up 200% From Ongoing Operations"		4/23/97	CPH0247489-0247494
Morgan Stanley Dean Witter: Global High Yield Investment Research "Coleman Co. Making Investors Happy Campers" (strong buy) (Exhibit CPH 272)		10/9/97	CPH0473148-0473164
Sunbeam Press Release: Sunbeam Announces Sales Up Nearly 30%, EPS of $0.39 Exceeds Consensus Expectations		10/22/97	CPH0306560-0306561
Sunbeam Press Release: Sunbeam Corporation Retains Morgan Stanley to Explore Alternatives		10/23/97	CPH0588637-0588638
Deposition Exhibits: re: Laser Corporation - Produced by Morgan Stanley		no date	CPH1426289-1426296
Sunbeam Press Release: Sunbeam Completes Record Year for Sales, Earnings & Global Expansion		1/28/98	CPH0461624-0461626
Sunbeam Corporation Discussion Matials - Prepared by Morgan Stanley (DX 9)		February 1998	CP026288-026370
Sunbeam Long Range Strategic Plan (MS182)		no date	CPH1412533-1412551
Net Sales table with Potential Orders (DX 16)		no date	SB0028858-
Letter from Arthur Andersen to Morgan Stanley re: Sunbeam Audited Consolidated Balance Sheets (DX 17)		3/19/98	MS00375-00381
Sunbeam Press Release: "Sunbeam States that First Quarter Revenues May Be Lower Than Street Estimates (DX 14)		3/19/98	0016944-0016945
Letter from Arthur Andersen to Morgan Stanley re: Offering Memorandum (Exhibit 112)		3/25/98	CPH0129613-0129616
Testimony of Albert Dunlap - Sunbeam - SEC		April 3 - 7, 2000	-
Testimony of Albert Dunlap - Alfred Dunlap, Russell Kersh & Sunbeam		July 12 - 13, 2000	-

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Title	Page Number	Date	Bates#
Testimony of Albert Dunlap - Alfred Dunlap & Sunbeam; Russell Kersh & Sunbeam		September 18 20, 2000	-
Testimony of Albert Dunlap - Camden Asset Management v. Sunbeam		May 14 - June 5, 2001	-
Deposition of Lawrence A. Bornstein - Sunbeam-SEC		10/14/99	-
Deposition of Paul Shapiro - Sunbeam-SEC		5/11/00	-
Deposition of Paul Shapiro - Camden Asset v. Sunbeam		7/10/01	-
Deposition of Scott M. Yales - Coleman v. Morgan Stanley		11/24/03	-
Deposition of Ruth Porat		2/6/01	-
Deposition of John Tyree - Coleman v. Morgan Stanley		9/15/03	-
Deposition (continued) of John Tyree - November 14, 2003		11/14/03	-
Deposition of William Strong - December 4, 2003		12/4/03	-
Deposition of Lawrence Alan Bornstein - January 15, 2004		1/15/04	-
Deposition of Robert Duffy - July 4, 2004		7/4/04	-
Deposition of Joseph P. Page - April 27, 2004		4/27/04	-
Deposition of Paul E. Shapiro - June 8, 2004		6/8/04	-
Order Instituting Public Administrative Proceedings		3/15/01	-
Materials to Stockholders from Coleman re: merger, Coleman, Sunbeam, litigation settlement etc.		various	-
Morgan Stanley Contact Log Documents		various	-
Morgan Stanley: Due Diligence Materials		various	-
Presentations		various	-
Sunbeam Board Terminates Al Dunlap as Chariman and CEO	pp. 1-3	6/15/98	-
Sunbeam Corporation Denounces False Accusations in Barron's Article	p.4	6/8/98	-
Michael Price Responds to Fortune Sunbeam Article	p. 6	5/26/98	-
Shareholder Represented by Berger & Montague P.C. Files Class Action Lawsuit Against Sunbeam - NYSE: SOC -; Albert Dunlap and Other Insiders for Securities Fraud	pp. 8-9	5/11/98	-
Sunbeam Reports 1st Quarter Results; Expects 1998 EPS in	pp. 12-19	5/11/98	-
Bear Stearns & Co. Inc, Equity Research		1/29/98	CPH0468623-8625
McDonald & Co., Research Report		1/30/98	CPH0468652-53
Stull, Stull & Brody Announce Class Periods for Class Action Complaints	p. 20	5/8/98	-
Shareholder Represented by Berger & Montague, P.C. Files Class Action Lawsuit Against Sunbeam -- NYSE:SOC; Albert Dunlap and Other Insiders for Securities Fraud	pp. 22-26	5/4/98	-
Stull, Stull & Brody Announce Class Periods for Class Action Complaints	p. 27	4/24/98	-
Abbey, Gardy & Squitieri Announces Suit Against Sunbeam	pp. 29-30	4/23/98	-
Sunbeam Corporation Responds to Notices of Law Suits	p. 31	4/23/98	-
Notice of Pendency of Class Action Filed Against Sunbeam Corporation	pp. 32-33	4/23/98	-
Sunbeam Corporation Announces New $2 Billion Credit Facility and Redemption of Coleman Worldwide Notes	pp. 34-38	4/3/98	-
Sunbeam Corporation Acquires Controlling Interest in the Coleman Company, Inc.	pp. 39-40	3/30/98	-

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018905

Title	Page Number	Date	Bates#
Sunbeam Corporation Announces Successful Private Placement of $750 Million of Convertible Debentures	pp. 41-42	3/25/98	-
Sunbeam States First Quarter Revenues May be Lower Than Street Estimates	pp. 43-44	3/19/98	-
CLN Hldgs Still Watch Neg: Signature Brands Watch Pos	p. 47	3/3/98	-
Sunbeam Acquires Three Publicly Traded Consumer Products Companies; Coleman, Signature Brands and First Alert; Al Dunlap Signs New Three Year Contract	pp. 49-53	3/2/98	-
Sunbeam Completes Record Year for Sales, Earnings & Global Expansion	pp. 54-57	1/28/98	-
Sunbeam Completes Record Year for Sales, Earnings & Global Expansion	pp. 58-60	1/28/98	-
Re-Opening of Outdoor Cooking Facility in Neosho, Missouri	pp. 61-62	11/11/97	-
Sunbeam's Al Dunlap Breaks News of Retaining Morgan Stanley to Explore Merger, Sale or Acquisition of Company on CNBC	pp. 63-64	10/23/97	-
Sunbeam Corporation Retains Morgan Stanley to Explore Alternatives	pp. 65-66	10/23/97	-
Sunbeam Announes Sales Up Nearly 30%, EPS of $0.39 Exceeds Consensus Expectations	pp. 67-70	10/22/97	-
Sunbeam Will Exceed New Products Goal for 1997	pp. 71-72	10/13/97	-
Sunbeam Announces 16.6% Ongoing Sales Growth EPS of $0.30 Climbs 900% Over Prior Year Period	pp. 73-78	7/23/97	-
Sunbeam is Back, New & Improved	pp. 79-80	7/11/97	-
Sunbeam Announces Quarterly Dividend	p. 81	4/16/97	-
Sunbeam Launches Integrated Marketing Campaign for Outdoor Grill Line	pp. 82-84	4/10/97	-
The Chainsaw Legacy		11/25/96	-
What Paper Firms' Merger Means		11/18/96	-
Management & Business Features - Al Dunlap - Another Conquest Over, Plenty More To Go		12/18/95	-
A Return Visit to Earlier Stories -- Keeping the Faith: Kimberly-Clark Knew What it Was Doing		12/16/95	-
What Paper Firms' Merger Means		8/6/95	-
Letter from Sunbeam to Arthur Andersen		3/16/98	CPH0129687-689
Great Scott Went Down the Toilet		7/21/95	-
Scott M. Yales Exhibits 46-55, 58-59, 63-66		various	-
Sunbeam Corporation Form 10-K for fiscal year ended Decemer 27, 1997		various	-
Sunbeam Monthly Financials (Daily Sales for 1997 & 1998 by month)		various	-
Wal-Mart Form 10K for fiscal 1997
Wal-Mart Form 10Q for first quarter of fiscal 1998
CostCo Wholesale Form 10K for fiscal 1997
CostCo Wholesale Form 10Q for the first quarter of fiscal 1998
Kmart Form 10K for fiscal 1997
Kmart Form 10Q for the first quarter of fiscal 1998
Target Form 10K for fiscal 1997
Target Form 10Q for the first quarter of fiscal 1998
Home Depot 10K for fiscal 1997
Home Depot Form 10Q for the first quarter of fiscal 1998
Sears Roebuck Form 10K for fiscal 1997
Sears Roebuck Form 10Q for the first quarter of fiscal 1998

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

01890

Title	Page Number	Date	Bates#
Service Merchandise Form 10K for fiscal 1997
Service Merchandise Form 10Q for the first quarter of fiscal 1998
Lowe's Form 10K for fiscal 1997
Lowe's Form 10Q for the first quarter of fiscal 1998
J.C. Penney Form 10K for fiscal 1997
J.C. Penney Form 10Q for the first quarter of fiscal 1998
Whirlpool Form 10K for fiscal 1997
Whirlpool Form 10Q for the first quarter of fiscal 1998
NACCO Industries Form 10K for fiscal 1997
NACCO Industries Form 10Q for the first quarter of fiscal 1998
Black and Decker Form 10K for fiscal 1997
Black and Decker Form 10Q for the first quarter of fiscal 1998

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018907

AGGRESSIVE TIME LINE FOR TRANSACTION

DECEMBER 15/16	Kersh, Fannin and Langerman meet with other side in New York to work on key issues and major terms
	Inform Morgan Stanley and get them working on fairness opinion
	They inform their bankers (presumably Mark) and do the same
	Inform Skadden, Arps of deal and meet with them to discuss letter of intent/term sheet (Note that one of us may have to use a different firm. Suggest possibly Sues firm or McDermott firm)
DECEMBER 18	Dunlap, Perelman and Price meet to handshake the deal.
DECEMBER 19 (Friday)	Skadden, Arps finalizes letter of intent/term sheet/sign by fax
DECEMBER 22 (Monday)	Issue joint press release or coordinate separate press releases, announcing agreement in principle to merge the two companies
DECEMBER 29 (Monday)	Sunbeam Board meeting in Delray Beach/Morgan here for fairness File Hart Scott materials
JANUARY 12 (Monday)	Mail proxy materials to shareholders They mail their proxy materials
JANUARY 29 (Thursday)	Our Shareholders meet in New York to approve transaction. Hart Scott clearance due
	Their shareholders meet to approve transaction
FEBRUARY 2 (Monday)	Begin work as new company
	Al buys lavish estate in Wichita, announces he is selling Boca place and moving there
	OR Company moves headquarters to Wichita, leaves Chairman and Secretary in Delray

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018909

SB 087859
Confidential Treatment
Under FOIA Requested

Sunbeam.

Legal Department

MEMORANDUM
GENERAL COUNSEL

PRIVILEGED AND CONFIDENTIAL/ATTORNEY-CLIENT COMMUNICATION

TO: Al Dunlap
Russ Kersh

FROM: David Fannin

DATE: December 8, 1997

RE: Perelman - Key Points

The merger/combination of these two companies is virtually ideal.

Complementary product lines -- Their outdoor consumer products and our outdoor cooking could be the powerhouse outdoor company in the world.

Customer base very compatible -- And Wal-Mart and others want to consolidate supplier base. More clout with retailers.

Many synergies are evident -- two public companies need separate finance, legal, accounting, MIS, insurance and other functions. Probably could save tens of millions with very little effort.

International emphasis of Sunbeam fits countries where Coleman is already big, such as Japan and Europe. Sunbeam is very successful in Latin America and could add distribution to Coleman products in that area of the world.

Marketplace is looking for both companies to DO something, and this will be very well received.

We, as well as the Michael Price organization, see tremendous boost in stock price of the combined entity. One plus one equals at least three and maybe four. Easily looking at a $60 to $65 stock in a hurry.

No better time than right now to get going. Start 1998 off with the new entity in place by early to mid first quarter. Evaluate existing management talent and attract new players to a much

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018911

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT UNDER
F.O.I.A. REQUESTED
CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

higher profile entity.

We are going to do something at Sunbeam. Have looked at possible sale of the Company, and that remains viable. However, this looks even better to us -- and to the Price organization -- as we see a potentially much more valuable company to use either as a platform for acquisitions or to sell within 12 to 18 months. Could build a consumer powerhouse.

Potential exit strategy (partial or complete) by means of secondary offering(s) in late 1998 or early 1999.

We are not wed to having to run the combined company. More than willing to do so, but also willing to step aside if that is what is in the best interests of all concerned.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018912

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT UNDER
F.O.I.A. REQUESTED

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

SB 351946
16div 024273
CPH0586587

KEY POINTS TO COME OUT OF MEETING

1. Basic understanding of deal structure (merge CLN into SOC) and the exchange ratio on the stock. Exchange to be agreed to as 2 CLN shares for each share of SOC received by CLN shareholders. CLN holders will undoubtedly benefit from this, as SOC stock will likely increase in value with the announcement that AL is staying for 3 years more and will build a powerhouse consumer products company through acquisitions.

2. Confirm that SOC will use Skadden, Arps. We have been using them for months in this transaction. CLN can use whoever else it wants.

3. Basic understanding of timing of key events. We want:

a) Skadden will prepare a definitive agreement on Friday, December 19 and get it to CLN's lawyers over the weekend. Each Board should meet on Monday, December 22 to approve the agreement. It will include a $50 million (or greater) breakup fee in each direction and a strong no-shop agreement in both directions.

b) WE MUST HAVE ACCESS TO THEIR BUSINESS PEOPLE OVER THE WEEKEND IN NEW YORK SO THAT MORGAN STANLEY CAN DISCUSS THE BUSINESS WITH THEM IN ORDER TO GIVE THE FAIRNESS OPINION. WE WILL MAKE OURSELVES AVAILABLE TO THEIR BANKERS OVER THE WEEKEND AS WELL.

c) The two Boards MUST meet and vote on Monday, the 22nd. Period. They may want to put it off until January. We must resist this. Morgan MUST meet with Coleman management this weekend in order to be able to give a fairness opinion to our Board on Monday, the 22nd.

d) Announce the deal after the market closes on the 22nd. [Dana Kennedy will get an exclusive interview early evening on the 22nd.]

e) Begin transition planning the week of January 5. Al, Russ and David will travel to Wichita to meet management below Levin, Page, etc. and find out weaknesses and strengths. We should also begin recruiting for a COO.

f) Subject to SEC clearance, we would like to have shareholder meetings by the end of January and implement the combination by February 1.

4. Understanding as to management structure. Ron needs to buy off on an 8-person Board with Price and Perelman each having one representative on the Board (with each of those Directors on the Executive Committee). By the way, when Price and Steinhardt had 70% of the Company, they had one representative each, with both of them on the Executive Committee. Also, Ron should be briefed on Al's new contract and to his

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT UNDER
F.O.I.A. REQUESTED

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

16div-024074 CP1046948

basic decision-making autonomy as Chairman and CEO.

5. Agreement that this is only the first of several strategic acquisitions and that the mechanism for building shareholder value will be to do acquisitions, rather than buy back shares, leverage up the company, etc. Those things could come later.

6. Basic agreement as to the nature of press statements to be made by each company, Al, Ron and Michael.

7. No changes in employment arrangements at Coleman (i.e. no new employment contracts, management incentive plans, etc.) and no renewals of existing contracts without Sunbeam's approval.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018915

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT UNDER
F.O.I.A. REQUESTED

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

16div0024275 OPP10466949

SUNBEAM CORPORATION

Table of Contents

SECTION I OVERVIEW OF THE COLEMAN COMPANY, INC.

SECTION II PRELIMINARY MERGER ANALYSIS

SECTION III SECOND STEPS

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 00024431

DEPOSITION EXHIBIT 222
Lee
6-16-99

L16810

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0000432

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

OVERVIEW OF THE COLEMAN COMPANY, INC.

816810

SUNBEAM CORPORATION

The Coleman Company, Inc. Transaction Rationale

Merits/Value

- Dominant positions in its categories; camping and outdoor equipment
  - Nearly 40% market share; next largest competitor has 10%
- Strong brand names: Coleman, Camping Gaz, Eastpak, Sierra Trail, Powermate (to be sold?)
  - Associated with quality, value and safety
  - Reinforced by high advertising effort
- Fragmented camping and outdoor industries
  - Opportunities for continued consolidation
- Favorable industry trends
  - Nature family-friendly activities in demand by baby-boomers
  - Consumers willing to pay more for convenience and comfort
  - Strong growth over the last 10 years; still not a mature market
- Distribution strength
  - Economies of scope; only camping equipment manufacturer that offers a broad spectrum of products
  - Broad set of distribution: Mass Marketers to Specialty
- Several opportunities to create value remain
  - Untapped strength of the Coleman brand
  - Industry has lacked innovation and advertising

Issues

- Restructuring program underway
  - Results just beginning to show
  - Poor current profitability
  - Remaining improvements uncertain
- Research earnings estimates already include $50MM of cost savings.
- Continuing problems in integrating past acquisitions
- Camping industry vulnerable to seasonality and poor weather
  - Unpredictability of earnings
  - Japan has been weakening
- High current leverage
- Inventory problems in Asia, particularly in Japan
- Still unclear whether the Company has the infrastructure to manage growth and profitability

616810

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0000243

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

SUNBEAM CORPORATION

The Coleman Company, Inc. Product Lines

Outdoor Recreation								Hardware
Lanterns & Stoves	Fuel	Coolers & Jugs	Recreational Soft Goods	Outdoor Furniture	Electric Lights	Spas	Camping Accessories	Generators	Air Compressors	Pressure Washers	Safety & Security Products
Brand Names
Coleman Camping Gaz Peak 1	Coleman Camping Gaz Peak 1	Coleman Camping Gaz	Coleman Peak 1 Eastpak Timberland	Coleman Sierra Trails	Coleman Powermate Job-Pro Camping Gaz	.....	Coleman	Coleman Powermate	Coleman Powermate	Coleman Powermate	Firex Code 1 Coleman Shelltra
Products
Single fuel-powered lanterns & stoves Dual fuel-powered lanterns & stoves Propane fueled lanterns & stoves Butane fueled lanterns & stoves	Propane cartridges Butane cartridges Propane camping fuel Butane camping fuel	Personal coolers Large coolers Beverage coolers Soft-sided coolers	Tents Sleeping bags Backpacks Daysacks Sports bags Duffel bags Rucksacks	Aluminum-frame folding furniture Steel-framed folding furniture	Hand held spotlights Flashlights Fluorescent lanterns Rechargeable lanterns Rechargeable flashlights	Spas	Cookware Utensils	Portable generators	Air-compressors	Pressure washers	Smoke alarms Carbon monoxide detectors Thermostats

026810

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 00034434

MORGAN STANLEY

SUNBEAM CORPORATION

The Coleman Company, Inc. Summary Descriptive Sheet

($MM, except per share amounts)

DESCRIPTION OF BUSINESS:

Leading manufacturer and marketer of consumer products for the outdoor recreation and household markets on a global basis. The Company's products have been sold domestically and internationally under the Coleman brand name since the 1920s.

The Company attributes its market position to the strength of the Coleman brand name, the breadth of products sold, product quality and innovation, marketing, distribution and manufacturing expertise.

RECENT EVENTS:

November 13, 1997 - The Company announced a small 3rd quarter profit, benefiting from recent restructuring efforts.

September 2, 1997 - The Company announced the appointment of Joseph P. Page to the position of CEO, succeeding Steven L. Kaplan who is leaving the Company.

August 7, 1997 - The Company reported 2Q earnings of $0.47 (excluding restructuring charges and extraordinary items) compared to $0.51 for the same period last year.

May 27, 1997 - The Company said it is moving its headquarters to Wichita Kansas, from Golden, Colorado in order to be closer its main manufacturing operation.

April 15 1997 - The Company announced that it will close three US and one international factory and its 7,000 person workforce by 10% and eliminate about 6-7 of its product line.

SELECTED INFORMATION:

Year of Incorp	Delaware
Headquarters	Boulder, CO
Stock Symbol	CLN
Listing	NYSE
Fiscal Year End	December 31

SEGMENT SALES BREAKDOWN:

Industry			Geographic
Outdoor Recreation	$899.5	69.6%	Domestic	$707.4	82.8%
Hardware	370.7	30.4%	Europe	148.78	11.8%
			RETW	219.1	18.0%
			Eliminations	(175.1)	-14.4%
Total	$1,270.2	100.0%	Total	$1,270.2	100.0%

SELECTED FINANCIAL INFORMATION:

	Fiscal Years Ended December 31,			9 Yr	LTM	Estimates (2)
	1994	1995	1996	CAGR	(9/30/97)	1997E	1998E
Revenues (1)	$795.6	$911.6	$1,270.2	23.4%	$1,455.8	$1,352.9	$1,267.8
% Change		14.6%	39.3%				-6.3%
EBITDA (1)	102.8	123.9	99.0	-1.9%	91.8	119.4	122.4
% Margin	12.9%	13.6%	7.8%		6.3%	11.3%	11.9%
EBIT (1)	80.1	101.8	62.6	-11.6%	52.1	99.4	101.4
% Margin	10.1%	11.2%	4.9%		3.6%	9.4%	9.9%
Net Income (1)	42.2	56.0	11.1	-48.3%	6.0	54.6	57.9
% Margin	5.3%	6.1%	0.9%		0.4%	5.2%	5.7%
Capital Expenditures	41.9	29.1	41.1	0.0%	52.7	60.0	60.0

SELECTED SHARE INFORMATION:

Stock Price (12/9/97)	$15 1/16
52 Week High	31 7/8 (11/3/97)
10 year High (1992)	36 1/2
Shares Outstanding (MM)	51.425
Dividend	$0.00
Dividend Payout	0.0%
Dividend Yield	0.0%

SELECTED VALUATION PARAMETERS:

	LTM	1997E		P/S	P/E
Adj Mkt Cap/Sales (3)	111.9%	101.9%	FY 1996	$0.21	32.1 x
Adj Mkt Cap/EBITDA (3)	21.7 x	19.5 x	LTM	0.18	16.4
Adj Mkt Cap/EBITDA (3)	18.2	9.5	1997E (5)	0.18	11.9
			1998E (5)	0.99	11.5
Market/Book (4)	1.1
			Proj 5 Yr Growth (5)	10%
Discount to LTM High	(19.9)%		1998E PE to Growth
Discount to 10-year High	(41.1)			0.9 x

OWNERSHIP:

Significant Shareholders (6):		DLJ Holdings (6):
Total Insider Holdings	41.3%	Ronald O. Perelman (14) Director	0.2%
		Ann W. Stewart (15) Director	0.0%
		Other	0.1%
Institutional Ownership	42.7%
Retail	0.1%
Total	100.0%	Total Insider Holdings	41.3%

CAPITALIZATION:

	Book Capitalization at 9/30/97		Market Capitalization at 12/9/97
	Amount	%	Amount	%
Short-Term Debt	$0.0	0.0%	$0.0	0.0%
Long-Term Debt	$121.6	44.9%	$121.6	10.4%
Preferred Stock	0.0	0.0%	0.0	0.0%
Shareholders Equity	149.0	55.1%	818.1	69.6%
Total Capitalization (7)	$270.6	100.0%	$1,299.1	100.0%
Cash and Cash Equivalents			$19.9
Adjusted Market Capitalization (3)			$1,279.2

SELECTED CREDIT STATISTICS:

EBIT/Net Interest	0.5 x
EBITDA/Net Interest	2.2
Total Debt/EBITDA	1.1
Senior Debt Ratings
- Moody's	NA
- S&P	NA

Notes:
(1) Sales, EBIT, EBITDA and Net Income are for continuing operations before any extraordinary or non-recurring items, and cumulative effect of accounting changes
(2) Estimates from CSFB research report dated December 10, 1997; Net income estimates from FY1 FS
(3) Adj Market Cap consists of market value of equity (including preferred stock) plus total debt less cash and cash equivalents
(4) Based on a closing market price of $15 1/16 per share on 12/9/97 and 51.4 MM shares outstanding on 9/30/97
(5) IBES/FS earnings growth rate 1998/97
(6) Based on information from proxy dated 9/8/97, institutional ownership from Bloomberg
(7) Total Capitalization excludes short-term debt

[illegible]

1 Only amounts in excess of

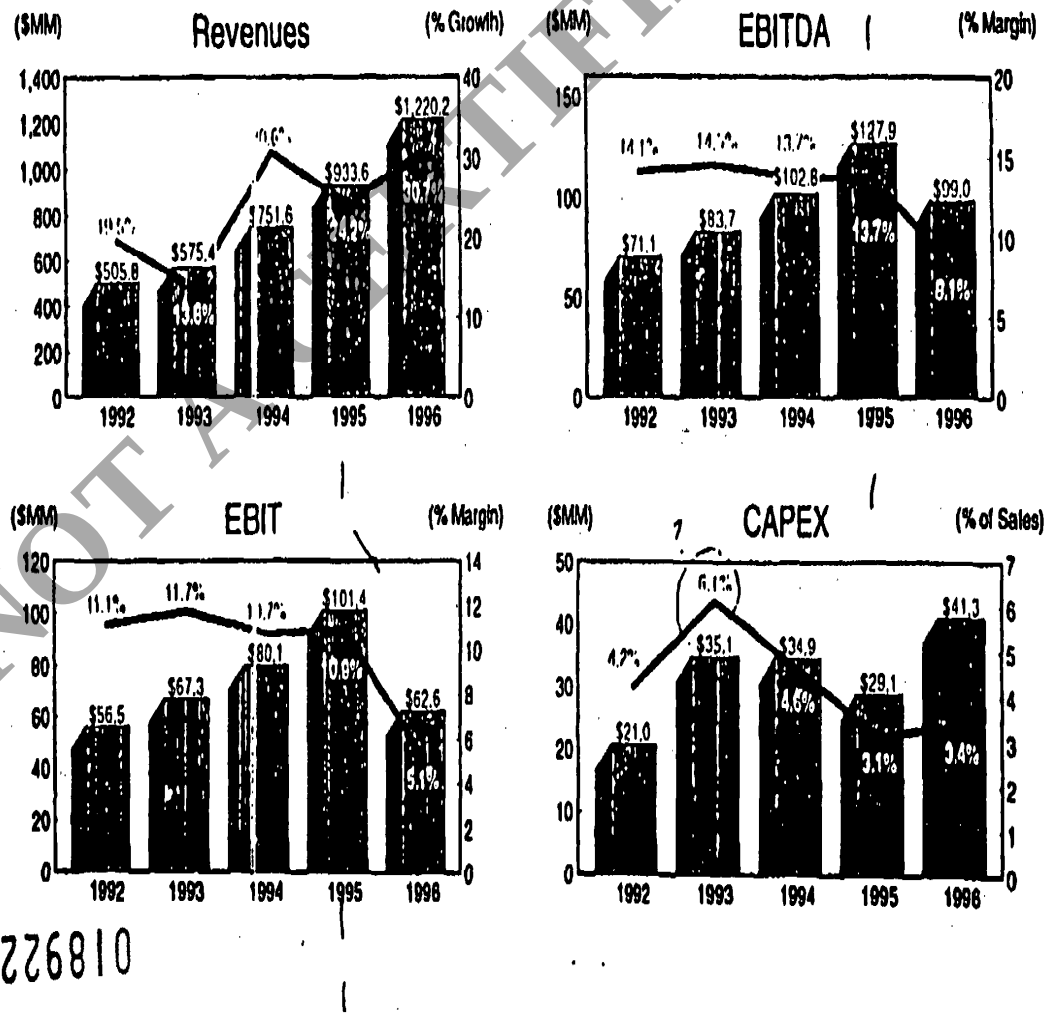
NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 00024280

SUNBEAM CORPORATION

The Coleman Company

Historical Financial Overview[1]



226810

Note: (1) Financials exclude all non-recurring items.

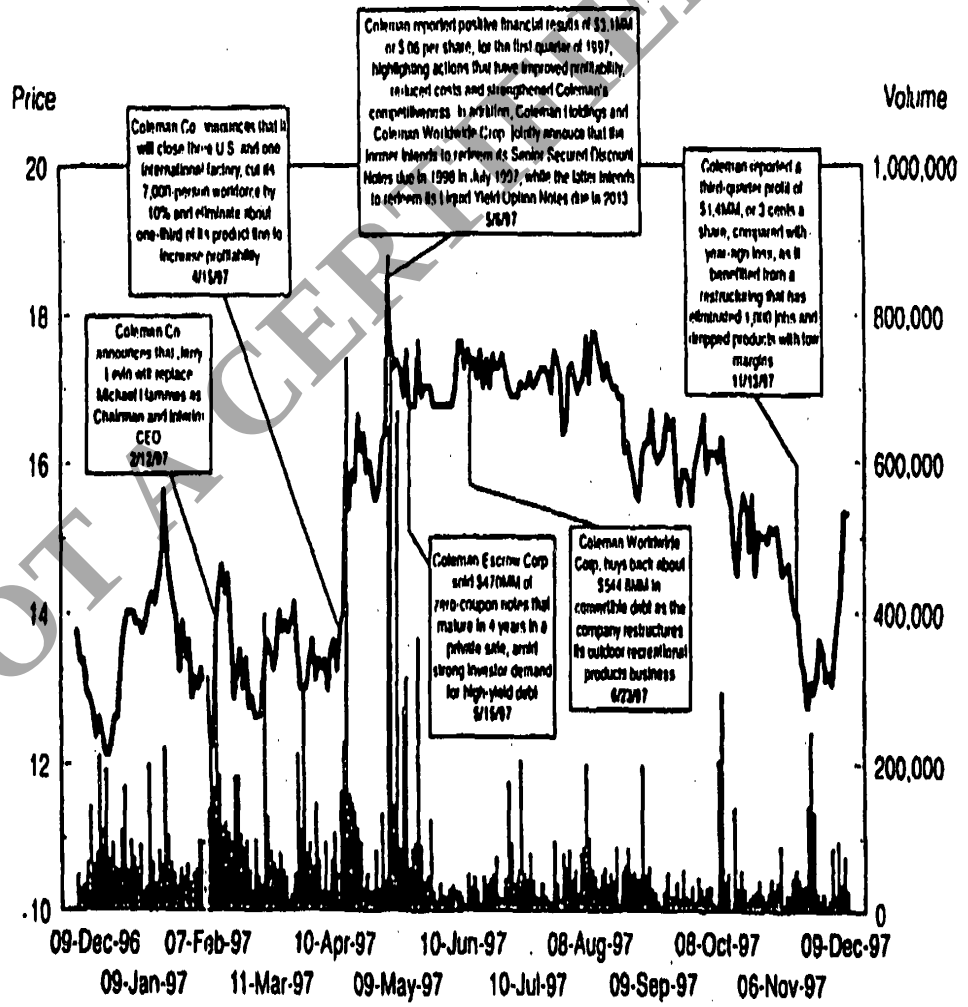
MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL COCG436

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

SUNBEAM CORPORATION

Coleman Co. - Annotated Share Price/Volume Analysis

December 9, 1996 - December 9, 1997



018923

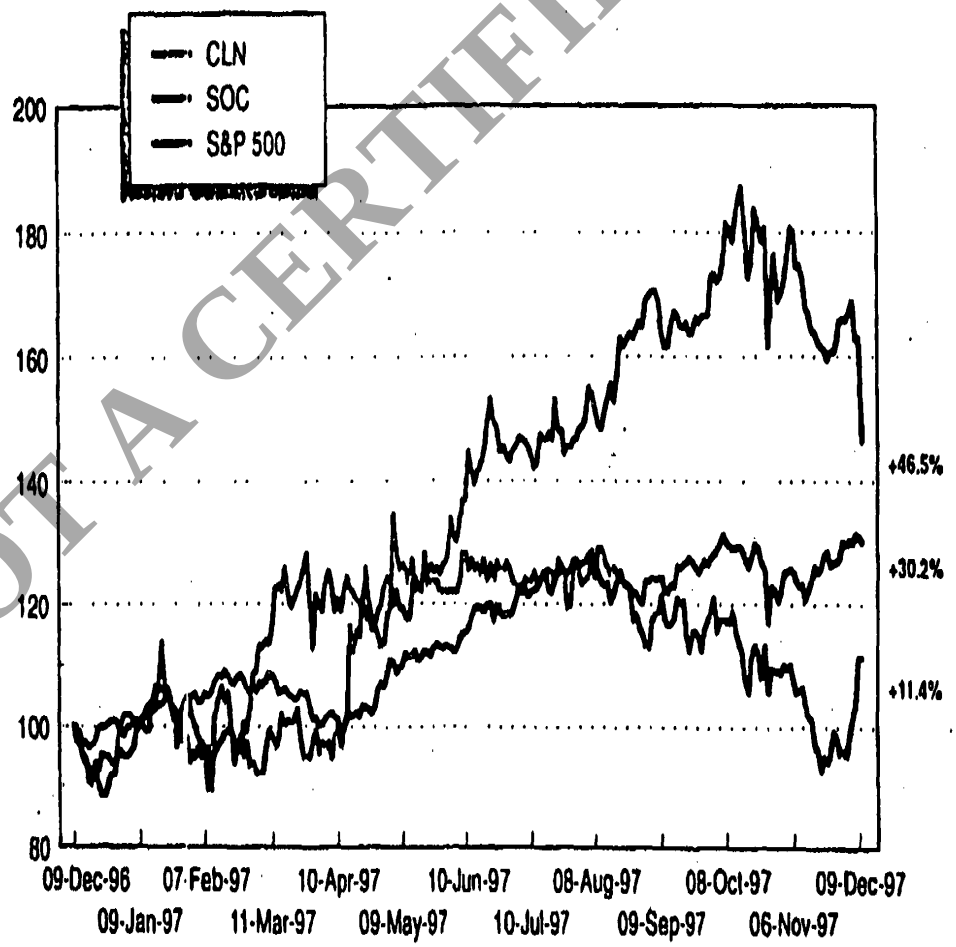
MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL CC002437

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

SUNBEAM CORPORATION

Coleman Co. - Indexed Share Price Analysis

December 9, 1996 - December 9, 1997



NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

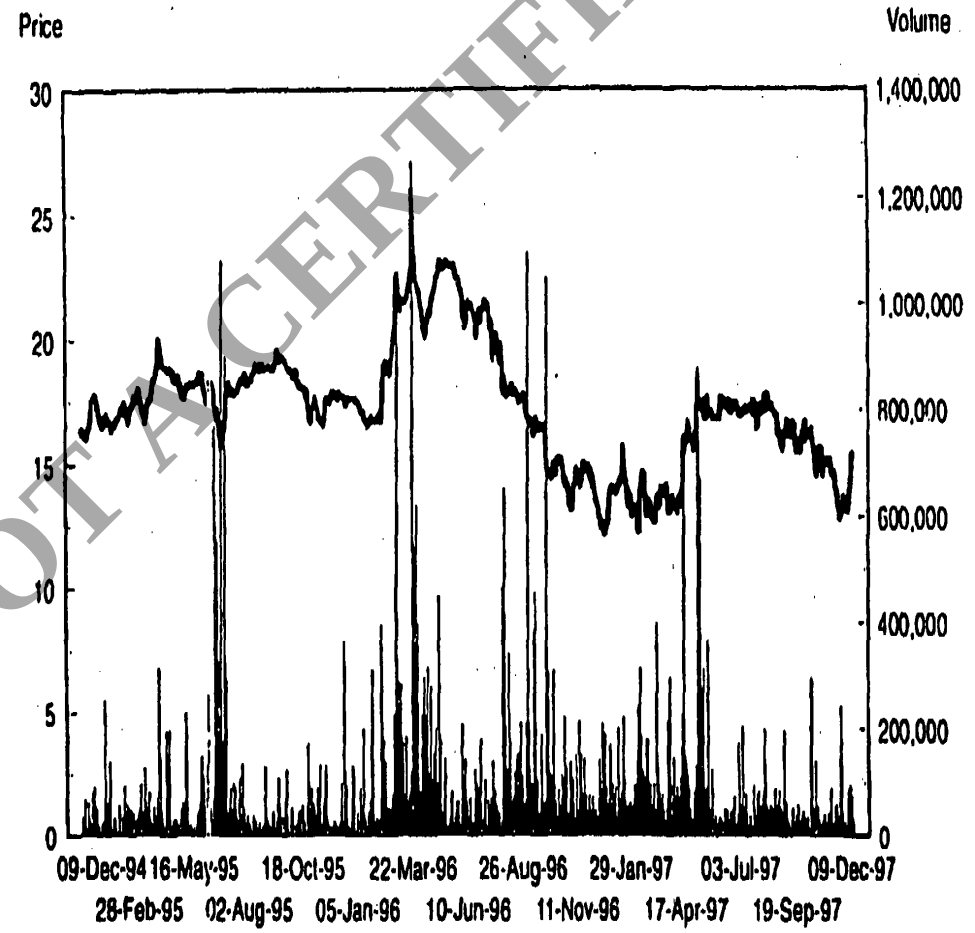
MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 00024388

126810

SUNBEAM CORPORATION

Coleman Co. - Share Price/Volume Analysis

December 9, 1994 to December 9, 1997



018925

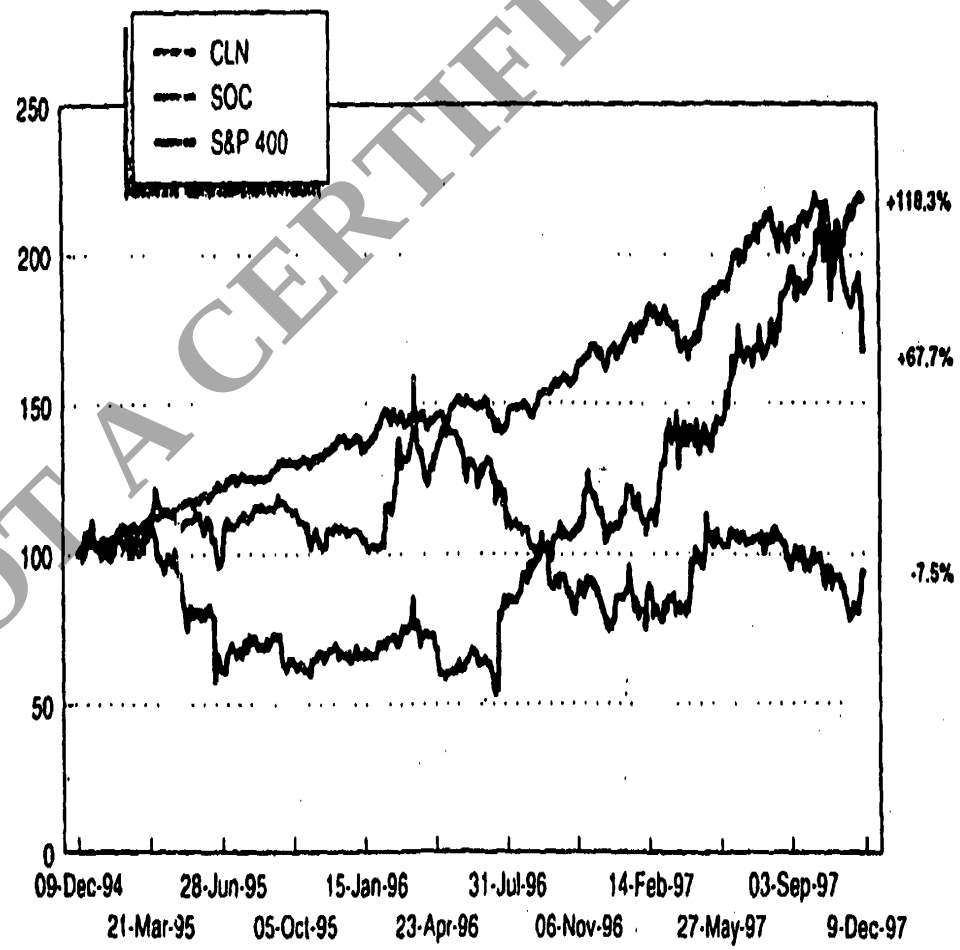
MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0002439

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

SUNBEAM CORPORATION

Coleman Co. - Indexed Share Price Analysis

December 9, 1994 - December 9, 1997



926810

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0003440

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

SUNBEAM CORPORATION

The Coleman Company: Summary of Recent Analyst Estimates

Date	Price	Firm/(Analyst)	Recomm.	Target Price	EPS 1997E	EPS 1998E	PE 1997E	PE 1998E	Long Term EPS Growth	1998 PE/Growth
11/18/97	$14.25	CS First Boston/ (L. Hyman / H. Jenssen)	Buy	$23 12 months	$0.90	$1.10	28.5 x	13.0 x	15.0%	.87
11/14/97	$14.00	Prudential Securities/ (S. Gallagher)	Buy	$21 - $23 12 months	0.48	1.15	29.2	12.2	26 - 28%	.86 - .92
11/13/97	$14.00	Oppenheimer/ (S. Eisenberg / L. Dupman)	Hold	NA	0.45	0.87	31.1	16.1	NA	NA
12/09/97	$15.31	I/B/E/S			$0.48	$0.99	31.9x	15.5	17.5%	.89
12/09/97	$15.31	First Call (Ten Brokers)			$0.48	1.01	31.9	15.2	16.7%	.91

- "The company's performance in the first half of 1998 will demonstrate to investors the untapped strength of the Coleman brand and the newly formed existence of an operating base that is exceptionally well-positioned for the growth of the Coleman franchise...Our investment hypothesis is based on the overall health of the camping industry, the opportunities associated with this health which are yet to be exploited, the enduring strength of the Coleman brand name and Mr. Levin's ability to bring operational discipline to a neglected infrastructure." (Morgan Stanley - 10/9/97)
- "After an earnings stumble in 1996, a new management team, lead by Mr. Jerry Levin, is refocusing the company on profitability while attempting to revitalize the industry through increased advertising and new product innovations." (Morgan Stanley - 10/9/97)
- "With the majority of the restructuring initiatives now behind the company, we have witnessed improved profitability. Yet, sales volumes of higher margin product and an extremely powerful new product pipeline will be necessary to sustain growth in 1998." (Oppenheimer - 11/13/97)
- "Signs of success from the company's restructuring and growth strategies emerged as Coleman experienced share gains in core domestic outdoor recreation sales and improved gross margins." (Prudential Securities - 11/14/97)
- "The restructuring is on or ahead of the plan: 1,000 jobs have been eliminated compared with a goal of 700; 25% of SKUs have been cut compared to an initial target of 33%, which management now believes it can exceed; and liquidity has increased by $100 million, already reaching the year-end objective. Moreover, anecdotal indications of retailers' response to the new lineup for 1998 have been quite favorable." (CS First Boston - 11/18/97)

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0006441

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

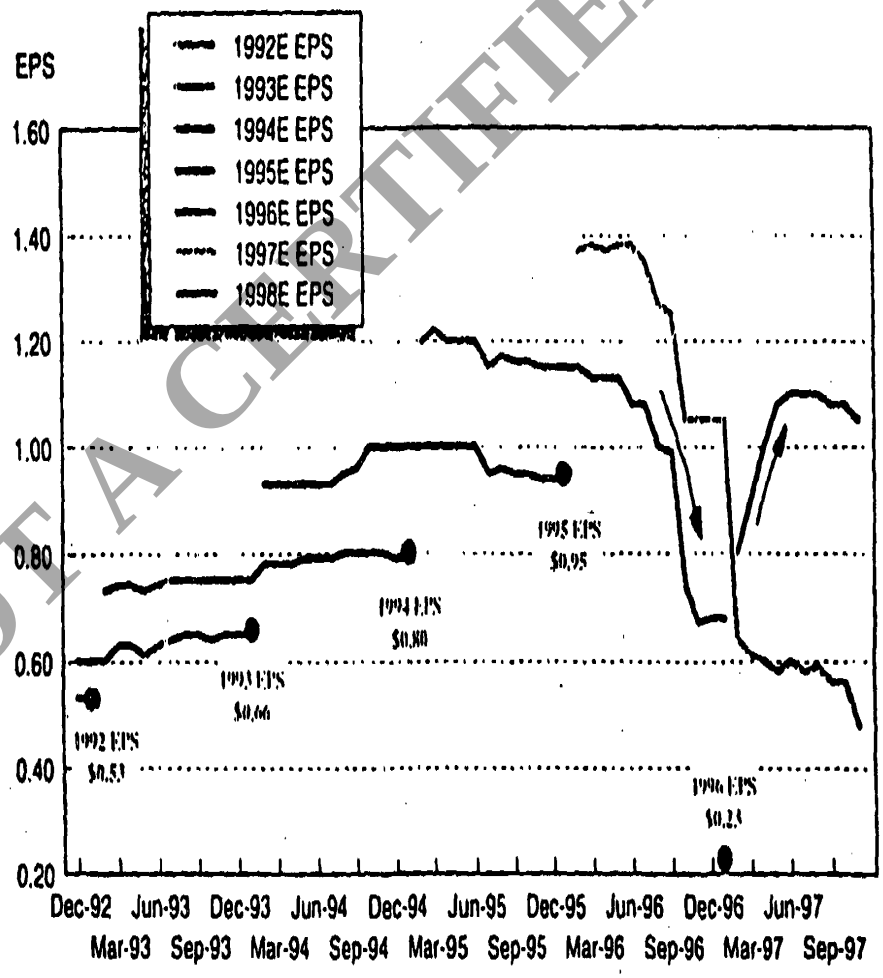
L26810

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL C0003442

SUNBEAM CORPORATION

The Coleman Company, Inc.

Earnings Estimate Progression



826810

Source: I/B/E/S monthly estimates

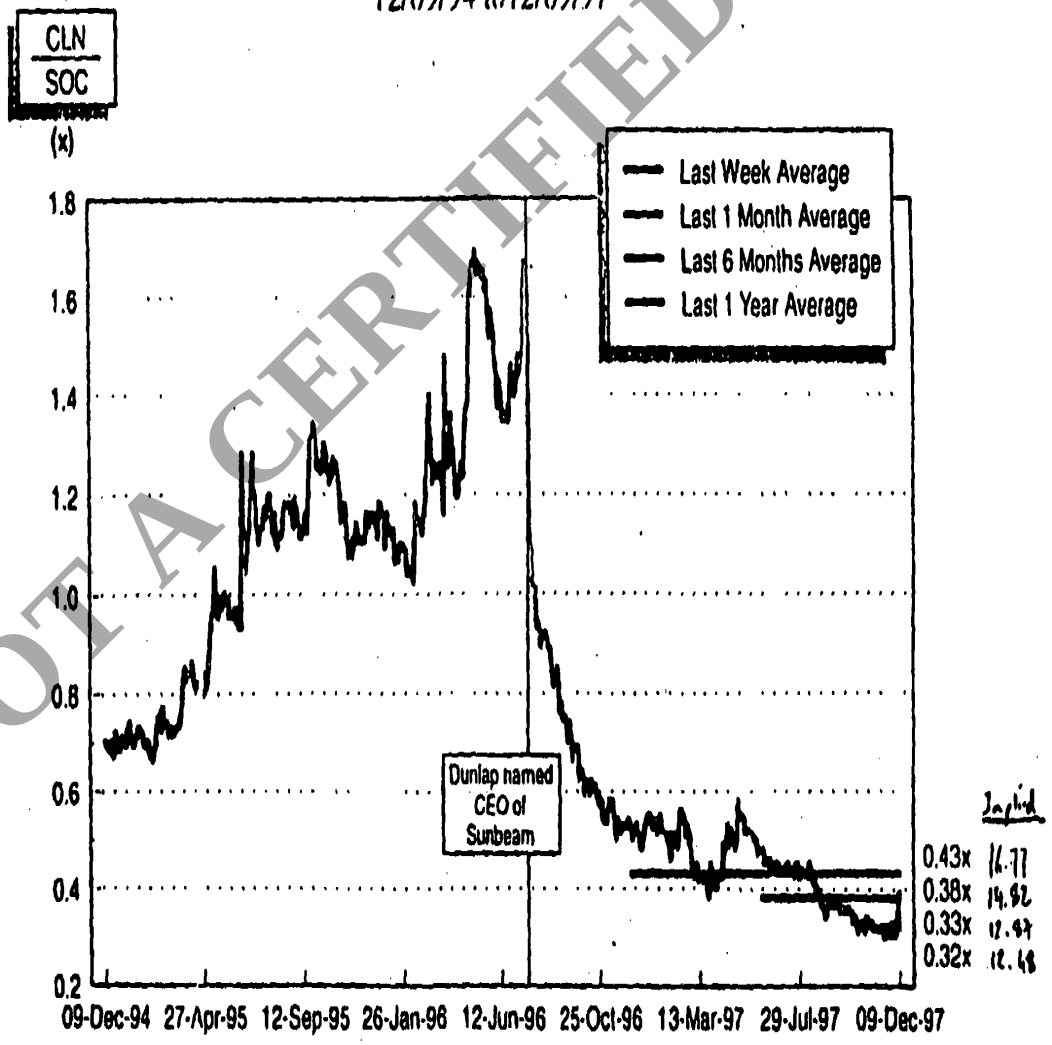
NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0000243

SUNBEAM CORPORATION

Coleman Co. - Historical Exchange Ratio Analysis

12/09/94 to 12/09/97



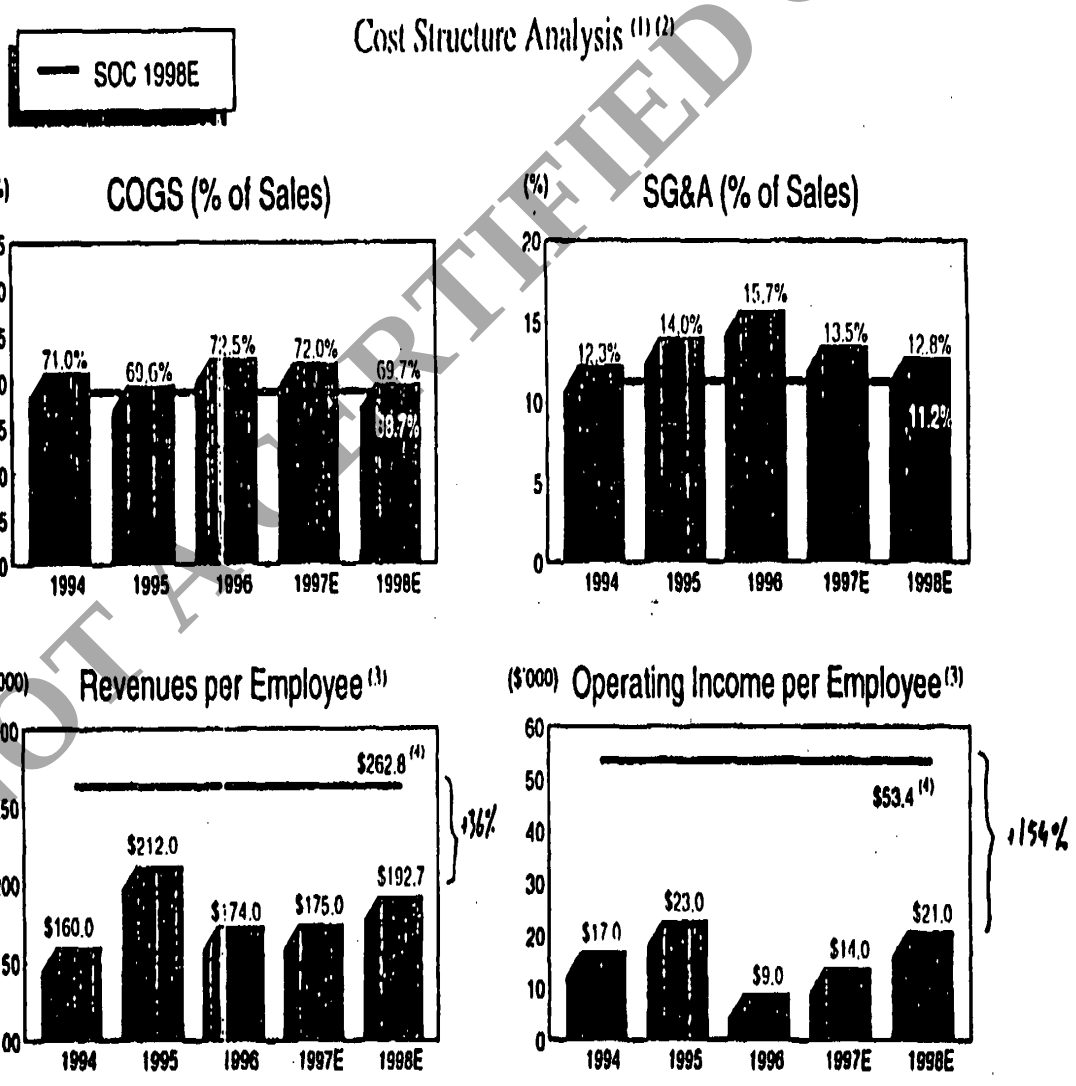
626810

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

SUNBEAM CORPORATION

The Coleman Company

Cost Structure Analysis [1] [2]



Notes: (1) Financials exclude all non-recurring items.

(2) CLN estimates based on CS First Boston research report dated 11/18/97. SOC estimates based on Oppenheimer research report dated 10/22/97.

(3) Number of Employees assumed to remain constant from 1996 onwards.

(4) SOC 1998E divided by 1996 number of employees.

MORGAN STANLEY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 00003444

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

16div-024289

THE COLEMAN COMPANY

Analysis of Institutional Shareholdings

Institutions [1]	Amount	%
Manning & Napier Advisors, Inc.	1,449,597	2.7%
General Motors Invt. Mgmt. Corp.	620,000	1.2%
California Public Employees Rtmnt.	527,600	1.0%
ARCO Investment Management Co.	500,000	0.9%
Fred Alger Management Inc.	462,000	0.9%
Keystone Investment Management Co.	380,000	0.7%
Luther King Capital Management	290,000	0.5%
STI Capital Management	279,940	0.5%
New Jersey Division of Investment	226,000	0.4%
Standard Pacific Capital LLC	216,794	0.4%
Barclays Global Investors, N.A.	211,566	0.4%
Long-Term Capital Portfolio, L.P.	209,000	0.4%
The Florida State Board of Admin.	180,000	0.3%
Kingdon Capital Management Corp.	140,000	0.3%
Total Institutional Holdings	5,692,497	10.7%

Insiders [2]	Amount	%
Ronald O. Perelman	44,067,520	82.8%
Other Insiders	322,594	0.4%
Total Insider Holdings	44,390,114	83.2%
Other Holdings	3,282,879	6.1%
Total Shares Outstanding [3]	53,424,856	100.0%

Notes:
(1) Based on Technimetrics ownership run dated 12/10/97
(2) Based on Proxy dated 3/31/97
(3) Based on common shares outstanding per 9/30/97 10Q

186810

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL COC0345

THE COLEMAN CORPORATION

Directors and Officers

Name (Age)	Appointed	Committee(s)	Positions with Company and Other	Shares (including options)[1]
Ronald O. Perelman (54)	1989	Executive	Chairman of the Board of Directors and Chief Executive Officer of Mafco Holdings Inc., MacAndrews & Forbes Holdings Inc. and various affiliates since 1980.	44,067,520
Donald G. Drapkin (48)	1989	Executive and Compensation	Director and Vice Chairman of Mafco Holdings Inc., MacAndrews & Forbes Holdings Inc. and various affiliates since 1987.	30,000
Lawrence M. Jones (65)	1989	Audit	Former Chairman and CEO from 1990 to 1993 and has been associated with the company for over 35 years.	40,512
Robert J. Lanigan (68)	1995	Compensation	Director since his appointment in 1995. He is also a director at The Dun & Bradstreet Corp., Sonat, Inc. Transocean Offshore, Inc., Chrysler Corp., Cognizant Corp., and Owens-Illinois, Inc.	12,000
Jerry W. Levin (52)	1989	Executive	Chairman of the Board of Directors and Chief Executive Officer of the Company since February 1997. He has been Chairman of the Board of Revlon since 1992.	15,000
Robert S. Miller (55)	1994	Compensation	Director since his appointment in 1994. He has been Vice-President, Treasurer and a director of Moore Mill & Lumber Co. since 1993.	2,000
John A. Moran (64)	1996	Audit	Member of the Board of Directors since 1996. He is currently the Chairman of Rutherford-Moran Oil Corp.	10,000
Bruce Slovin (61)	1993	Executive and Compensation	Director since his appointment in 1993. Has been President of Mafco Holdings Inc., MacAndrews & Forbes Holdings Inc. and various affiliates since 1980.	52,600
William H. Spoor (74)	1992	Audit	Member of the Board of Directors since 1992. He retired in 1985 as Chairman and CEO of Pillsbury.	2,000

Notes: (1) Based on the 3/31/97 proxy statement.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 00034446

018932

SUNBEAM CORPORATION

Market Statistics for Selected Comparable Companies

(Sums, except per share data)		LTM Price		Market Value		EPS[3]			P/E					Proj. 5 yr.
							Calendar			Calendar		CY98 PEG	CY99 PEG	EPS
Company	Price[1]	High	Low	Equity	Aggregate[2]	LTM	1998E	1999E	LTM	1998E	1999E	Growth	Growth	Growth[4]
Bell Sports Corp.	$8.38	$11.25	$4.88	$115.9	$157.4	$0.45	$0.52	$0.60	18.6 x	16.0 x	13.9 x	1.1 x	0.9 x	15.0 %
The North Face Inc.	22.75	28.13	13.50	256.1	293.1	0.89	1.17	1.52	25.6	19.4	15.0	0.6	0.5	30.0
Brunswick Corp.	30.06	37.00	23.13	2,992.7	4,672.5	2.11	2.45	2.79	14.2	12.3	10.8	0.9	0.8	14.0
K2 Inc.	29.31	32.94	23.44	484.7	680.5	1.52	1.95	2.28	19.3	15.0	12.8	0.9	0.8	17.0
					Median:				18.9 x	15.5 x	13.4 x	0.9 x	0.8 x	16.0 %
					Mean:				19.4	15.7	13.1	0.9	0.7	19.0
The Coleman Co., Inc.	$15.31	$19.13	$11.50	$817.7	$1,021.9	$0.04	$0.99	$1.16	N.M. x	15.5 x	13.2 x	0.9 x	0.8 x	17.5 %

IN LINE

Notes:

(1) Closing prices as of 12/9/97. Highs and lows represent the latest 52 week figures.

(2) Aggregate value equals market value of equity plus short term debt, long term debt, minority interests and any capital leases and underfunded pensions, as appropriate.

(3) IBES median EPS estimates as of 12/9/97 and calendarized to December 31st for 1998 and 1999.

(4) IBES median long term growth estimates as of 12/9/97.

018933

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0000247

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL C0024B

PRELIMINARY MERGER ANALYSIS

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016934

SUNBEAM CORPORATION

Articulating the Strategic Rationale

Combining the Comforts of Home and Health and Bringing them Outdoors

Similar Assets	Similar Challenges
• Global Brands	• Diluted Brand Image
• Strong Market Shares	• Neglected Infrastructure
• Similar Distribution Channels and Customers	• Lack of Packaged Goods Mentality
	• Significant Financial Underperformance
	• Historical Lack of Brand Advertising
	• Lack of Innovation in the Category

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0003449

016935

16div-024294

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL CCC03450

SUNBEAM CORPORATION

Coleman. - Summary Transaction Structure

100% Stock Purchase / No Synergies Assumed

	$16 Offer Price (4.5% Premium)	$18 Offer Price (17.6% Premium)	$20 Offer Price (30.6% Premium)
Accretion/ Dilution
Breakeven Analysis: 1998

Inc. Pre-Tax Synergies	$15MM	$30MM	$45MM
% of Target 1998E Sales	1.2%	2.4%	3.5%

Pro Forma LTM Credit Analysis:

Total Debt/Adj. Book Cap.	33.4%	31.7%	30.1%
EBIT/Gross Interest Exp.	3.5x	3.4x	3.4x
Op. Cash Flow/Total Debt	16.4%	16.4%	16.4%
Ron Perelman % Interest	16.9%	18.6%	20.2%

Note: (1) SOC stock issue price of $39.00 as of 12/8/97; CLN EPS estimates from I/B/E/S; SOC EPS estimates from Oppenheimer research dated 10/22/97.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0189936

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 000345

SUNBEAM CORPORATION

Coleman. - Summary Transaction Structure

100% Stock Purchase / 7.5% Synergies Fully Realized

	$16 Offer Price (4.5% Premium)	$18 Offer Price (17.6% Premium)	$20 Offer Price (30.6% Premium)
Accretion/ Dilution			Breakeven Analysis: 1998
Inc. Pre-Tax Synergies	$0MM	$0MM	$0MM
% of Target 1998E Sales	0.0%	0.0%	0.0%
Pro Forma LTM Credit Analysis:
Total Debt/Adj. Book Cap.	33.4%	31.7%	30.1%
EBIT/Gross Interest Exp.	5.5x	5.4x	5.3x
Op. Cash Flow/Total Debt	25.1%	25.1%	25.1%
Ron Perelman % Interest:	16.9%	18.6%	20.2%

Note: (1) SOC stock issue price of $39.00 as of 12/9/97; CLN EPS estimates from I/B/E/S; SOC EPS estimates from Oppenheimer research dated 10/22/97; Assumes synergies of 7.5% of estimated sales ($95.1 MM in 1998 and $105.0 MM thereafter).

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

PRELIMINARY DRAFT

SUNBEAM CORPORATION

Synergy and Price Analysis

($MM, except per share data)

SOC acquires CLN
With Synergies

100% Stock Purchase Analysis - Accretion / (Dilution)

	Impl. Exch. Rat.	Year	Synergies Assumed $0	$20	$40	$60	$80	$100	$95	$127
Synergies (% of 1998E Target Sales)			0.0%	1.6%	3.2%	4.7%	6.3%	7.9%	7.5%	10.0%
$16.00	0.41	1998	-3.9%	-1.3%	6.5%	11.7%	16.9%	22.1%	20.8%	29.0%
4.5%		1999	-3.5%	0.9%	5.2%	9.6%	13.9%	18.2%	19.3%	26.9%
17.00	0.44	1998	-5.8%	-0.7%	4.5%	9.6%	14.7%	19.9%	18.6%	26.7%
11.0%		1999	-5.2%	-0.9%	3.3%	7.6%	11.9%	16.2%	17.2%	24.7%
$18.00	0.46	1998	-7.6%	-2.5%	2.5%	7.6%	12.7%	17.7%	16.5%	24.5%
17.6%		1999	-7.0%	-2.7%	1.5%	5.7%	9.9%	14.2%	15.2%	22.6%
$19.00	0.49	1998	-9.4%	-4.4%	0.6%	5.6%	10.6%	15.6%	14.4%	22.3%
24.1%		1999	-8.6%	-4.5%	-0.3%	3.9%	8.0%	12.2%	13.2%	20.5%
$20.00	0.51	1998	-11.1%	-6.2%	-1.2%	3.7%	8.7%	13.6%	12.4%	20.2%
30.6%		1999	-10.3%	-6.2%	-2.0%	2.1%	6.2%	10.3%	11.3%	18.5%

Price
(Premium)

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0006452

016938

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0000345

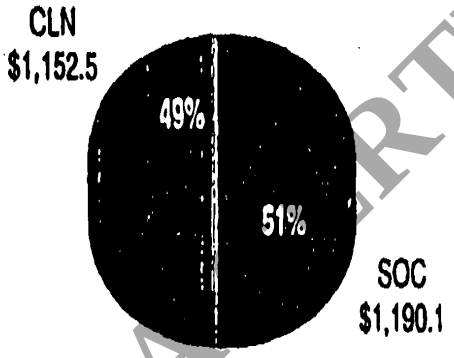
NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

SUNBEAM CORPORATION

CLN Market Cap:[2]	$818.0
SOC Market Cap:[2]	$3,333.0

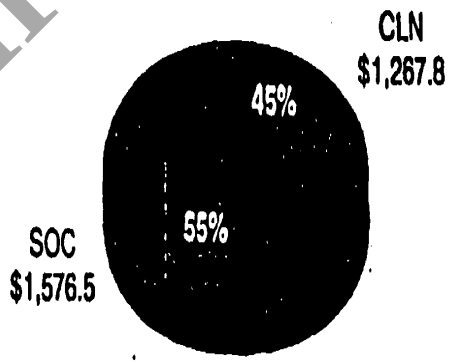
Pro Forma Performance
($MM, except per share data)

1997E Revenues [1]



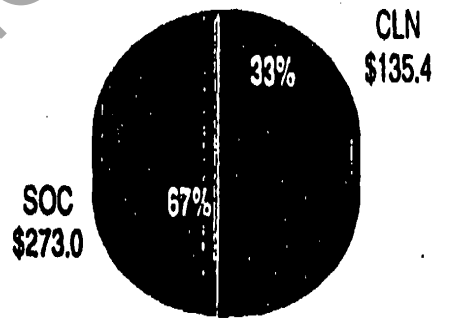
Total: $2,342.6MM

1998E Revenues [1]



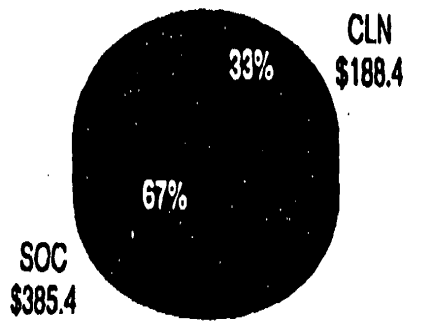
Total: $2,844.3

1997E EBITDA[1]



Total: $408.4MM

1998E EBITDA[1]



Total: $573.8MM

Notes: (1) CLN estimated revenue and EBITDA data are from CS First Boston research report dated 11/18/97. SOC estimated revenue and EBITDA data from Oppenheimer research dated 10/22/97.

(2) Market values as of 12/9/97.

SUNBEAM CORPORATION

Transaction Structure Analysis

($MM, except per share data)

SOC acquires CLN
Without Synergies

100% Stock

Offer Price Per Share:		$16.000	$16.500	$17.000	$17.500	$18.000	$18.500	$19.000	$19.500	$20.000
Premium to Market ($15.313)		4.5 %	7.8 %	11.0 %	14.3 %	17.6 %	20.8 %	24.1 %	27.3 %	30.6 %
Exchange Ratio		0.4103 x	0.4231 x	0.4359 x	0.4487 x	0.4615 x	0.4744 x	0.4872 x	0.5000 x	0.5128 x
1998E P/E Paid		16.2 x	16.7 x	17.2 x	17.7 x	18.2 x	18.7 x	19.2 x	19.7 x	20.2 x
Equity Value		$853.3	$883.5	$911.7	$939.9	$968.2	$996.4	$1,024.6	$1,052.8	$1,081.1
Aggregate Value		1,324.8	1,353.1	1,381.3	1,409.5	1,437.7	1,465.9	1,494.2	1,522.4	1,550.6
Earnings Accretion (Dilution)	SOC Statistic
CY1998E:	$2.22	(3.9)%	(4.9)%	(5.8)%	(6.7)%	(7.6)%	(8.5)%	(9.4)%	(10.2)%	(11.1)%
CY1999E:	2.66	(3.5)%	(4.3)%	(5.2)%	(6.1)%	(7.0)%	(7.8)%	(8.6)%	(9.5)%	(10.3)%
CY2000E:	3.20	(3.1)%	(4.0)%	(4.8)%	(5.7)%	(6.5)%	(7.3)%	(8.1)%	(8.9)%	(9.7)%
CY2001E:	3.81	(2.9)%	(3.7)%	(4.5)%	(5.3)%	(6.1)%	(6.9)%	(7.7)%	(8.4)%	(9.2)%
CY2002E:	4.60	(2.8)%	(3.6)%	(4.4)%	(5.2)%	(5.9)%	(6.7)%	(7.4)%	(8.1)%	(8.9)%
1998 - 2002 CAGR	20.0%	20.3 %	20.4 %	20.4 %	20.5 %	20.5 %	20.6 %	20.6 %	20.7 %	20.7 %
Pro Forma Indicated DPS
% Change to CLN Dividend		NA %	NA %	NA %	NA %	NA %	NA %	NA %	NA %	NA %
SOC Payout Ratio	1.8 %	1.9 %	1.9 %	1.9 %	1.9 %	1.9 %	2.0 %	2.0 %	2.0 %	2.0 %
Breakeven Analysis: 1998E
Incr. Pre-Tax Synergies		$15	$19	$23	$26	$30	$34	$37	$41	$45
% of Combined Sales		0.7 %	0.8 %	1.0 %	1.2 %	1.3 %	1.5 %	1.7 %	1.8 %	2.0 %
Breakeven P/E Multiple		18.3 x	18.5 x	18.6 x	18.8 x	19.0 x	19.2 x	19.4 x	19.6 x	19.8 x
Pro Forma Credit Analysis:
Total Debt / Adj. Bank Cap.	28.9 %	33.4 %	33.0 %	32.5 %	32.1 %	31.7 %	31.3 %	30.9 %	30.5 %	30.1 %
EBIT / Gross Interest Exp.	19.6 x	3.5 x	3.5 x	3.5 x	3.4 x	3.4 x	3.4 x	3.4 x	3.4 x	3.4 x
Op. Cash Flow / Total Debt	32.8 %	16.4 %	16.4 %	16.4 %	16.4 %	16.4 %	16.4 %	16.4 %	16.4 %	16.4 %
Primary Shares Issued (MM):	85.5	21.9	22.7	23.4	24.1	24.8	25.5	26.3	27.0	27.7
% Pre-existing		25.7 %	26.5 %	27.4 %	28.2 %	29.0 %	29.9 %	30.7 %	31.6 %	32.4 %
% Acquiree Interest		20.4 %	21.0 %	21.5 %	22.0 %	22.5 %	23.0 %	23.5 %	24.0 %	24.5 %
Pro Forma Cap. (MM)
Total Debt	$201	$680	$680	$680	$680	$680	$680	$680	$680	$680
Preferred Stock	$0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Common Equity	498	1,353	1,381	1,410	1,438	1,466	1,494	1,522	1,551	1,579
Adj. Bank Cap.	$698	$2,033	$2,061	$2,090	$2,118	$2,146	$2,174	$2,203	$2,231	$2,259
Accounting:
Goodwill Created		930.5	958.7	986.9	1,015.1	1,043.3	1,071.6	1,099.8	1,128.0	1,156.2
Method		Purchase	Purchase	Purchase	Purchase	Purchase	Purchase	Purchase	Purchase	Purchase

Assumptions: No Synergies; Issue Price Per Share: $19.00; 1998E P/E Issue Price: 17.6 x; Incr. Syn. % of Target Sales: N.M.%; LTM Target EBIT Margin: 4.5%; Holding Co. Debt Assumed: $0.0; Cost of Debt: 8.5%; Goodwill Amortized Over 40 Years; Goodwill Not Tax Deductible; CLN Primary Shares (000): 53425; CLN Options (000)*: 3018; * Ex. Price: $15.84

016810

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 000424

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

SUNBEAM CORPORATION

SOC acquires CLN
With Synergies

Transaction Structure Analysis
($MM, except per share data)

100% Stock

Offer Price Per Share:		$16.000	$16.500	$17.000	$17.500	$18.000	$18.500	$19.000	$19.500	$20.000
Premium to Market ($15.313)		4.5 %	7.8 %	11.0 %	14.3 %	17.6 %	20.8 %	24.1 %	27.3 %	30.6 %
Exchange Ratio		0.4103 x	0.4231 x	0.4359 x	0.4487 x	0.4615 x	0.4744 x	0.4872 x	0.5000 x	0.5128 x
1998E P/E Paid		16.2 x	16.7 x	17.2 x	17.7 x	18.2 x	18.7 x	19.2 x	19.7 x	20.2 x
Equity Value		$855.3	$883.5	$911.7	$939.9	$968.2	$996.4	$1,024.6	$1,052.8	$1,081.1
Aggregate Value		1,324.8	1,353.1	1,381.3	1,409.5	1,437.7	1,465.9	1,494.2	1,522.4	1,550.6
Earnings Accretion (Dilution)	SOC Statistic
CY1998E	$2.22	20.8 %	19.7 %	18.6 %	17.5 %	16.5 %	15.4 %	14.4 %	13.4 %	12.4 %
CY1999E	2.66	19.3 %	18.3 %	17.2 %	16.2 %	15.2 %	14.2 %	13.2 %	12.3 %	11.3 %
CY2000E	3.20	15.8 %	14.9 %	13.9 %	12.9 %	12.0 %	11.1 %	10.1 %	9.2 %	8.3 %
CY2001E	3.81	12.9 %	12.0 %	11.0 %	10.1 %	9.2 %	8.4 %	7.5 %	6.6 %	5.8 %
CY2002E	4.60	10.4 %	9.5 %	8.6 %	7.7 %	6.9 %	6.1 %	5.2 %	4.4 %	3.6 %
1998 - 2002 CAGR	20.0%	17.2 %	17.2 %	17.3 %	17.3 %	17.3 %	17.4 %	17.4 %	17.4 %	17.5 %
Pro Forma Indicated DPS
% Change to CLN Dividend		NA %	NA %	NA %	NA %	NA %	NA %	NA %	NA %	NA %
SOC Payout Ratio	1.8 %	1.5 %	1.5 %	1.5 %	1.5 %	1.5 %	1.6 %	1.6 %	1.6 %	1.6 %
Breakeven Analysis: 1998E
Incr. Pre-Tax Synergies		$0	$0	$0	$0	$0	$0	$0	$0	$0
% of Combined Sales		0.0 %	0.0 %	0.0 %	0.0 %	0.0 %	0.0 %	0.0 %	0.0 %	0.0 %
Breakeven P/E Multiple		14.5 x	14.7 x	14.8 x	14.9 x	15.1 x	15.2 x	15.4 x	15.5 x	15.6 x
Pro Forma Credit Analysis:
Total Debt / Adj. Bank Cap	28.7 %	33.4 %	33.0 %	32.5 %	32.1 %	31.7 %	31.3 %	30.9 %	30.5 %	30.1 %
EBIT / Gross Interest Exp.	19.6 x	5.5 x	5.4 x	5.4 x	5.4 x	5.4 x	5.4 x	5.4 x	5.4 x	5.3 x
Op. Cash Flow / Total Debt	32.8 %	25.1 %	25.1 %	25.1 %	25.1 %	25.1 %	25.1 %	25.1 %	25.1 %	25.1 %
Primary Shares Issued (MM):	85.5	21.9	22.7	23.4	24.1	24.8	25.5	26.3	27.0	27.7
% Pre-existing		25.7 %	26.5 %	27.4 %	28.2 %	29.0 %	29.9 %	30.7 %	31.6 %	32.4 %
% Acquiree Interest		20.4 %	21.0 %	21.5 %	22.0 %	22.5 %	23.0 %	23.5 %	24.0 %	24.5 %
Pro Forma Cap. (MM)
Total Debt	$201	$680	$680	$680	$680	$680	$680	$680	$680	$680
Preferred Stock	$0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Common Equity	498	1,353	1,381	1,410	1,438	1,466	1,494	1,522	1,551	1,579
Adj. Bank Cap.	$698	$2,033	$2,061	$2,090	$2,118	$2,146	$2,174	$2,203	$2,231	$2,259
Accounting:
Goodwill Created		930.5	958.7	986.9	1,015.1	1,043.3	1,071.6	1,099.8	1,128.0	1,156.2
Method		Purchase	Purchase	Purchase	Purchase	Purchase	Purchase	Purchase	Purchase	Purchase

Assumptions: Includes Synergies of $95.1MM; Incl. Syn. % of Target Sales: 7.5%; Cost of Debt: 8.5%; CLN Primary Shares (000): 53425
Issue Price Per Share: $39.00; CLN Target EBIT Margin: 4.5%; Goodwill Amortized Over 40 Years; CLN Options (000)*: 3018
1998E P/E Issue Price: 17.6 x; Holding Co. Debt Assumed: $0.0; Goodwill Not Tax Deductible; * Ex. Price: $15.84

176810

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0003435

SUNBEAM CORPORATION

SOC acquires CLN With Synergies

Transaction Structure Analysis
($MM, except per share data)

100% Stock

Offer Price Per Share:		$16.000	$16.500	$17.000	$17.500	$18.000	$18.500	$19.000	$19.500	$20.000
Premium to Market ($15.313)		4.5 %	7.8 %	11.0 %	14.3 %	17.6 %	20.8 %	24.1 %	27.3 %	30.6 %
Exchange Ratio		0.4103 x	0.4231 x	0.4359 x	0.4487 x	0.4615 x	0.4744 x	0.4872 x	0.5000 x	0.5128 x
1998E P/E Paid		16.2 x	16.7 x	17.2 x	17.7 x	18.2 x	18.7 x	19.2 x	19.7 x	20.2 x
Equity Value		$855.3	$883.5	$911.7	$939.9	$968.2	$996.4	$1,024.6	$1,052.8	$1,081.1
Aggregate Value		1,324.8	1,353.1	1,381.3	1,409.5	1,437.7	1,465.9	1,494.2	1,522.4	1,550.6
Earnings Accretion (Dilution)	SOC Statistic
CY1998E	$2.22	29.0 %	27.9 %	26.7 %	25.6 %	24.5 %	23.4 %	22.3 %	21.3 %	20.2 %
CY1999E	2.66	26.9 %	25.8 %	24.7 %	23.6 %	22.6 %	21.6 %	20.5 %	19.5 %	18.5 %
CY2000E	3.20	22.2 %	21.1 %	20.1 %	19.1 %	18.1 %	17.2 %	16.2 %	15.3 %	14.3 %
CY2001E	3.81	18.2 %	17.2 %	16.2 %	15.3 %	14.4 %	13.5 %	12.6 %	11.7 %	10.8 %
CY2002E	4.60	14.7 %	13.8 %	12.9 %	12.1 %	11.2 %	10.3 %	9.5 %	8.6 %	7.8 %
1998 - 2002 CAGR	20.0%	16.4 %	16.4 %	16.4 %	16.5 %	16.5 %	16.5 %	16.6 %	16.6 %	16.6 %
Pro Forma Indicated DPS
% Change to CLN Dividend		NA %	NA %	NA %	NA %	NA %	NA %	NA %	NA %	NA %
SOC Payout Ratio	18 %	1.4 %	1.4 %	1.4 %	1.4 %	1.4 %	1.5 %	1.5 %	1.5 %	1.5 %
Breakeven Analysis: 1998E
Incr. Pre-Tax Synergies		$0	$0	$0	$0	$0	$0	$0	$0	$0
% of Combined Sales		0.0 %	0.0 %	0.0 %	0.0 %	0.0 %	0.0 %	0.0 %	0.0 %	0.0 %
Breakeven P/E Multiple		13.6 x	13.7 x	13.9 x	14.0 x	14.1 x	14.2 x	14.4 x	14.5 x	14.6 x
Pro Forma Credit Analysis:
Total Debt / Adj. Book Cap.	28.7 %	33.4 %	33.0 %	32.5 %	32.1 %	31.7 %	31.3 %	30.9 %	30.5 %	30.1 %
EBIT / Gross Interest Exp.	19.6 x	6.1 x	6.1 x	6.1 x	6.1 x	6.1 x	6.0 x	6.0 x	6.0 x	6.0 x
Op. Cash Flow / Total Debt	32.8 %	28.0 %	28.0 %	28.0 %	28.0 %	28.0 %	28.0 %	28.0 %	28.0 %	28.0 %
Primary Shares Issued (MM):	85.5	21.9	22.7	23.4	24.1	24.8	25.5	26.3	27.0	27.7
% Pre-existing		25.7 %	26.5 %	27.4 %	28.2 %	29.0 %	29.9 %	30.7 %	31.6 %	32.4 %
% Acquiree Interest		20.4 %	21.0 %	21.5 %	22.0 %	22.5 %	23.0 %	23.5 %	24.0 %	24.5 %
Pro Forma Cap. ($MM)
Total Debt	$201	$680	$680	$680	$680	$680	$680	$680	$680	$680
Preferred Stock	$0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Common Equity	498	1,353	1,381	1,410	1,438	1,466	1,494	1,522	1,551	1,579
Adj. Book Cap.	$698	$2,033	$2,061	$2,090	$2,118	$2,146	$2,174	$2,203	$2,231	$2,259
Accounting:
Goodwill Created		930.5	958.7	986.9	1,015.1	1,043.3	1,071.6	1,099.8	1,128.0	1,156.2
Method		Purchase	Purchase	Purchase	Purchase	Purchase	Purchase	Purchase	Purchase	Purchase

Assumptions: Includes Synergies of $126 $MM; Incl. Syn. % of Target Sales: 10.0%; Cost of Debt: 8.5%; CLN Primary Shares (MM): 53425
Issue Price Per Share: $19.00; CLN Target EBIT Margin: 4.5%; Goodwill Amortized Over 40 Years; CLN Options (MM)*: 3018
1998E P/E Issue Price: 17.6 x; Building Co. Debt Assumed: $0.0; Goodwill Not Tax Deductible; * Ex Price: $15.84

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0000346

346810

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

SECOND STEPS

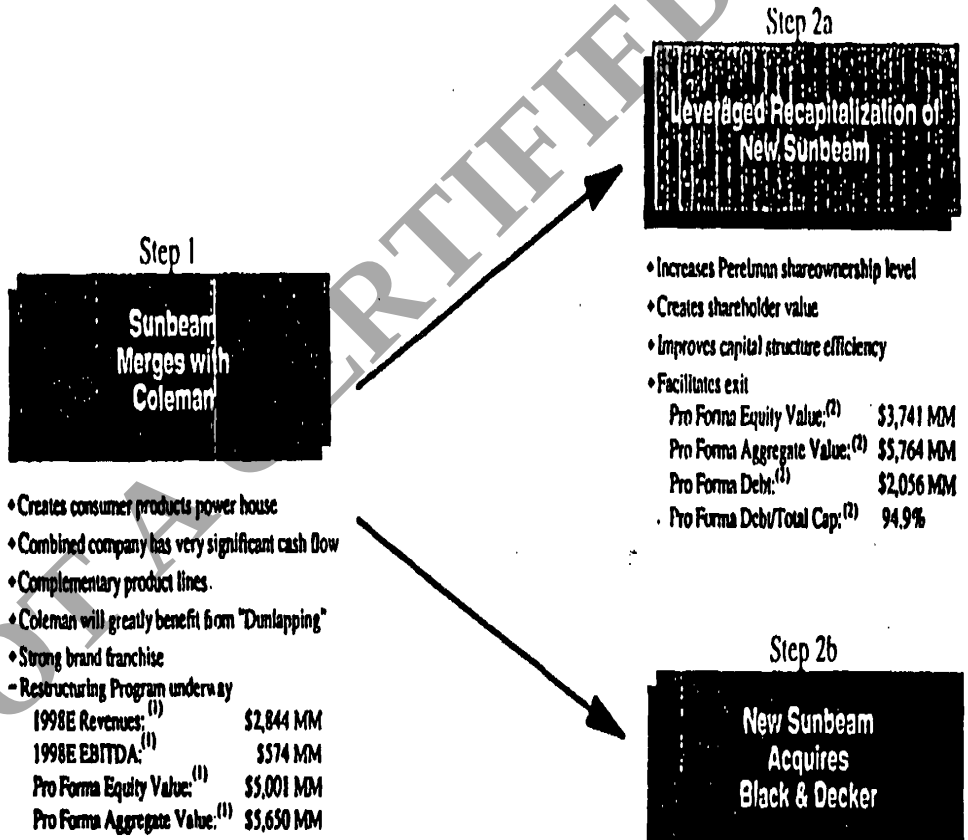
MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 00032457

016943

16div-024302

SUNBEAM CORPORATION

Pathways



- Creates consumer products power house
- Combined company has very significant cash flow
- Complementary product lines
- Coleman will greatly benefit from "Dunlapping"
- Strong brand franchise
- Restructuring Program underway

1998E Revenues:[1]	$2,844 MM
1998E EBITDA:[1]	$574 MM
Pro Forma Equity Value:[1]	$5,001 MM
Pro Forma Aggregate Value:[1]	$5,650 MM

- Increases Perelman shareownership level
- Creates shareholder value
- Improves capital structure efficiency
- Facilitates exit

Pro Forma Equity Value:[2]	$3,741 MM
Pro Forma Aggregate Value:[2]	$5,764 MM
Pro Forma Debt:[2]	$2,056 MM
Pro Forma Debt/Total Cap:[2]	94.9%

- Company will greatly benefit from "Dunlapping"
- Will create greatest shareholder value
- Unwilling seller may require hostile solution
- Coleman merger adds significant firepower

1998E Revenues:[3]	$7,987 MM
1998E EBITDA:[3]	$1,314 MM
Pro Forma Equity Value:[3]	$7,388 MM
Pro Forma Aggregate Value:[3]	$15,249 MM

Notes: (1) Assumes a 100% stock purchase at a 20% premium; synergies of 7.5% of target 1998 and 1999 sales and constant thereafter; Assumes that pro-forma entity traded at current SOC 1998E P/E of 17.6x.
(2) Assumes 25% of stock post CLN acquisition acquired at a 10% premium to market; Assumes that pro-forma entity traded at current SOC 1998E P/E of 17.6x.
(3) Assumes a 100% debt purchase at a 40% premium; synergies of 7.5% of target 1998 and 1999 sales and constant thereafter; Assumes that pro-forma entity traded at current SOC 1998E P/E of 17.6x.

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 000024376810
NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018945

SHAREHOLDER VALUE CREATION PROGRAM [1]

Sunbeam

($MM, except per share amounts)

Phase 1: Acquisition of Coleman - No Synergies

1998 Income Statement

	Sunbeam	Coleman	Pro Forma
Sales	$1,577	$1,268	$2,844
SG&A	177	259	436
% of Sales	11.2%	20.4%	15.3%
EBT	306	91	380
GW Amort.	0	10.0	27
Taxes	116	38	155
Earnings	$190	$53	$226
E.P.S.	? $2.22 (2.06)	$0.99	$2.04
Shares Outstanding	85.5MM	53.4MM	110.8MM
1998E P/E	17.6x	15.5x	-

Pro Forma Balance Sheet

Cash	$33
Goodwill	1,064
Other	1,853
Total Assets	$2,950
Short Term Debt	$1
Long Term Debt	681
Other	781
Shareholders Equity	1,487
Total Liab + Common Eq.	$2,950

- Purchase accounting
- 100% stock financed
- 20% premium

Current Situation

	Sunbeam	Coleman	Offer Price
Stock Price	$39.00	$15.31	$18.38
Market Value	$3,333	$818	$989
Agg. Value	$3,511	$1,289	$1,459

Phase 2: "Dunlapping" of Coleman

1998 Income Statement

Sunbeam/Coleman

	No Improvements	With Improvements [2]
Sales	$2,844	$2,844
SG&A	436	341
% of Sales	15.3%	12.0%
EBT	380	476
GW Amort.	27	27
Taxes	155	191
Earnings	$226	$285
E.P.S.	$2.04 →	$2.57
Shares Outstanding	110.8MM	110.8MM

P/E Assumption

	SOC Stand Alone	Blended	Worst Case
E.P.S.	$2.57	$2.57	$2.57
1998E P/E	17.6x	17.1x	15.0x
Stock Price	$45.12	$43.94	$38.53
Market Value	$5,001	$4,871	$4,270
Agg. Value	$5,650	$5,520	$4,919
Stock Price Change (%)	+16%	+13%	-1%
Market Value Created	$679	$549	-$52

Note: (2) Assumes CLN SG&A is cut by 7.3% of sales.

Phase 3: Acquisition of Black & Decker - No Synergies

1998 Income Statement

	New Sunbeam	Black & Decker	Pro Forma
Sales	$2,844	$5,142	$7,987
SG&A	341	1,340	1,680
% of Sales	12.0%	26.1%	21.0%
EBT	476	444	378
GW Amort.	27	64	139
Taxes	191	193	196
Earnings	$285	$251	$182
E.P.S.	$2.57	$2.65	$1.64
Shares Outstanding	110.8MM	94.8MM	110.8MM
1998E P/E	17.6x	14.7x	-

Pro Forma Balance Sheet

Cash	$220
Goodwill	7,674
Other	4,094
Total Assets	$11,988
Short Term Debt	$164
Long Term Debt	7,918
Other	2,417
Shareholders Equity	1,482
Total Liab + Common Eq.	$11,988

- Purchase accounting
- 100% debt financed
- 40% premium

Current Situation

	New Sunbeam [2]	Black & Decker	Offer Price
Stock Price	$45.12	$39.06	$54.69
Market Value	$5,001	$3,704	$5,358
Agg. Value	$5,650	$5,558	$7,212

Phase 4: "Dunlapping" of Black & Decker

1998 Income Statement

New Sunbeam/Black & Decker

	No Improvements	With Improvements [2]
Sales	$7,987	$7,987
SG&A	1,680	1,295
% of Sales	21.0%	16.2%
EBT	378	763
GW Amort.	139	139
Taxes	196	343
Earnings	$182	$420
E.P.S.	$1.64 →	$3.79
Shares Outstanding	110.8MM	110.8MM

P/E Assumption

	New SOC Stand Alone	Blended	Worst Case
E.P.S.	$3.79	$3.79	$3.79
1998E P/E	17.6x	16.0x	14.0x
Stock Price	$66.65	$60.70	$53.12
Market Value	$7,388	$6,728	$5,888
Agg. Value	$15,249	$14,590	$13,749
Stock Price Change (%)	+71%	+56%	+36%
Market Value Created	$3,066	$2,406	$1,366

Note: (2) Assumes B&DK SG&A is cut by 7.5% of sales.

Note: (1) SOC estimates from Oppenheimer research dated 10/22/97; CLN estimates from CSFB research dated 11/18/97 and Prudential research dated 11/14/97.

F18GI141285.0112-11-973:29A

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0003458

976810

SUNBEAM CORPORATION

Pro Forma Share Repurchase Analysis (Phase 3)

Post Acquisition of CLN at a 20.0% Premium (1)

Post Acquisition Statistics

Post Acquisition Shares Outstanding (MM	110.839
Implied Post Acquisition Share Price:	$45.12
1998E P/E Multiple:	17.6 x
1999E P/E Multiple:	14.8 x

Share Repurchase Assumptions

Repurchase Price:	$49.63
Premium to Market:	10.0%
Date of Repurchase:	06/30/98

	Percentage of Pro Forma Shares Repurchased
	0.0%	15.0%	25.0%	35.0%
Shares Repurchased (MM)	0.000	16.626	27.710	38.794
Income Statement Impact
1998E EPS	$2.57	$2.56	$2.56	$2.56
Accretion / (Dilution)	--	-0.2%	-0.3%	-0.4%
Impl. Stock Price	$45.12	$45.05	$45.00	$44.94
1999E EPS	$3.05	$3.13	$3.19	$3.28
Accretion / (Dilution)	--	2.5%	4.7%	7.7%
Impl. Stock Price	$45.12	$46.25	$47.26	$48.58
Balance Sheet Impact
Total Debt	$680.1	$1,506.0	$2,056.0	$2,606.0
Shareholder's Equity	1,487.1	660.0	110.0	(440.0)
Debt/Book Capitalization	31.4%	69.5%	94.9%	120.3%
Shareholder Impact
Financial Buyer Ownership	18.9%	22.2%	25.2%	29.1%

Note: (1) Assumes a 100% stock purchase at a 20% premium and synergies of 7.5% CLN projected 1998 and 1999 sales held constant thereafter.

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0000345

L76810 0189L7

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY

SUNB-024306

SUNBEAM CORPORATION

Pro Forma Pathway Feasibility

ACQUISITION #1

Acquisition of BDK & Restructuring
Income Statement
Revenues	$6,706.6
SG&A	1,131.9
Profit Before Taxes	609.2
Goodwill Amort.	138.6
Net Income	325.0

Valuation	SOC Stand-alone	Downside
Equity Value	$5,710.2	$4,940.7
Agg. Value	13,100.4	12,330.9
Assumed P/E	17.6x	15.2x

SOC Standalone
Income Statement
Revenues	$1,576.6
SG&A	176.6
Profit Before Taxes	306.0
Goodwill Amort.	--
Net Income	189.7
Valuation
Equity Value	$3,333.4
Agg. Value	3,511.2
Assumed P/E	17.6x

ACQUISITION #2

Acquisition of CLN & Restructuring
Income Statement
Revenues	$2,844.4
SG&A	340.7
Profit Before Taxes	475.5
Goodwill Amort.	26.6
Net Income	284.7

Valuation	SOC Stand-alone	Downside
Equity Value	$5,001.0	$4,327.0
Agg. Value	5,650.0	4,976.0
Assumed P/E	17.6x	15.2x

Acquisition of BDK & Restructuring
Income Statement
Revenues	$7,986.6
SG&A	1,294.8
Profit Before Taxes	763.2
Goodwill Amort.	138.6
Net Income	420.5

Valuation	SOC Stand-alone	Downside
Equity Value	$7,387.8	$4,331.6
Agg. Value	15,249.2	12,192.9
Assumed P/E	17.6x	10.3x

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL

816810

SUNBEAM CORPORATION

Pro Forma Pathway Feasibility

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL C0003461

676810

ACQUISITION #1

Acquisition of BDK & Restructuring
Income Statement
Revenues	$6,706.6
SG&A	1,131.9
Profit Before Taxes	609.2
Goodwill Amort.	138.6
Net Income	325.0

Valuation	SOC Stand-alone	Downside
Equity Value	$5,710.2	$4,940.7
Agg. Value	13,100.4	12,330.9
Assumed P/E	17.6x	15.2x

SOC Standalone
Income Statement
Revenues	$1,576.6
SG&A	176.6
Profit Before Taxes	306.0
Goodwill Amort.	-
Net Income	189.7
Valuation
Equity Value	$3,333.4
Agg. Value	3,511.2
Assumed P/E	17.6x

Acquisition of CLN & Restructuring
Income Statement
Revenues	$2,844.4
SG&A	340.7
Profit Before Taxes	475.5
Goodwill Amort.	26.6
Net Income	284.7

Valuation	SOC Stand-alone	Downside
Equity Value	$5,001.0	$4,327.0
Agg. Value	5,650.0	4,976.0
Assumed P/E	17.6x	15.2x

ACQUISITION #2

Acquisition of BDK & Restructuring
Income Statement
Revenues	$7,986.6
SG&A	1,294.8
Profit Before Taxes	763.2
Goodwill Amort.	138.6
Net Income	420.5

Valuation	SOC Stand-alone	Downside
Equity Value	$7,387.8	$4,331.6
Agg. Value	15,249.2	12,192.9
Assumed P/E	17.6x	10.3x

SUNBEAM CORPORATION

Pro Forma Pathway Feasibility

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0000462

ACQUISITION #1

Acquisition of BDK & Restructuring
Income Statement
Revenues	$6,706.6
SG&A	1,131.9
Profit Before Taxes	609.2
Goodwill Amort.	138.6
Net Income	325.0

Valuation	SOC Stand-alone	Downside
Equity Value	$5,710.2	$4,940.7
Agg. Value	13,100.4	12,330.9
Assumed P/E	17.6x	15.2x

SOC Standalone
Income Statement
Revenues	$1,576.6
SG&A	176.6
Profit Before Taxes	306.0
Goodwill Amort.	--
Net Income	189.7
Valuation
Equity Value	$3,333.4
Agg. Value	3,511.2
Assumed P/E	17.6x

Acquisition of CLN & Restructuring
Income Statement
Revenues	$2,844.4
SG&A	340.7
Profit Before Taxes	475.5
Goodwill Amort.	26.6
Net Income	284.7

Valuation	SOC Stand-alone	Downside
Equity Value	$5,001.0	$4,327.0
Agg. Value	9,650.0	4,976.0
Assumed P/E	17.6x	15.2x

ACQUISITION #2

Acquisition of BDK & Restructuring
Income Statement
Revenues	$7,986.6
SG&A	1,294.8
Profit Before Taxes	763.2
Goodwill Amort.	138.6
Net Income	420.5

Valuation	SOC Stand-alone	Downside
Equity Value	$7,387.8	$4,331.6
Agg. Value	15,249.2	12,192.9
Assumed P/E	17.6x	10.3x

096810

SUNBEAM CORPORATION

Pro Forma Pathway Feasibility

ACQUISITION #1

Acquisition of BDK & Restructuring
Income Statement
Revenues	$6,706.6
SG&A	1,131.9
Profit Before Taxes	609.2
Goodwill Amort.	138.6
Net Income	325.0

Valuation	SOC Stand-alone	Downside
Equity Value	$5,710.2	$4,940.7
Agg. Value	13,100.4	12,330.9
Assumed P/E	17.6x	15.2x

SOC Standalone
Income Statement
Revenues	$1,576.6
SG&A	176.6
Profit Before Taxes	306.0
Goodwill Amort.	-
Net Income	189.7
Valuation
Equity Value	$3,333.4
Agg. Value	3,511.2
Assumed P/E	17.6x

Acquisition of CLN & Restructuring
Income Statement
Revenues	$2,844.4
SG&A	340.7
Profit Before Taxes	475.5
Goodwill Amort.	26.6
Net Income	284.7

Valuation	SOC Stand-alone	Downside
Equity Value	$5,001.0	$4,327.0
Agg. Value	5,650.0	4,976.0
Assumed P/E	17.6x	15.2x

ACQUISITION #2

Acquisition of BDK & Restructuring
Income Statement
Revenues	$7,986.6
SG&A	1,294.8
Profit Before Taxes	763.2
Goodwill Amort.	138.6
Net Income	420.5

Valuation	SOC Stand-alone	Downside
Equity Value	$7,387.8	$4,331.6
Agg. Value	15,249.2	12,192.9
Assumed P/E	17.6x	10.3x

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0002463

196810

SUNBEAM CORPORATION

Pro Forma Pathway Feasibility

ACQUISITION #1

Acquisition of BDK & Restructuring
Income Statement
Revenues	$6,706.6
SG&A	1,131.9
Profit Before Taxes	609.2
Goodwill Amort.	138.6
Net Income	325.0

Valuation	SOC Stand-alone	Downside
Equity Value	$5,710.2	$4,940.7
Agg. Value	13,100.4	12,330.9
Assumed P/E	17.6x	15.2x

SOC Standalone
Income Statement
Revenues	$1,576.6
SG&A	176.6
Profit Before Taxes	306.0
Goodwill Amort.	--
Net Income	189.7
Valuation
Equity Value	$3,333.4
Agg. Value	3,511.2
Assumed P/E	17.6x

ACQUISITION #2

Acquisition of CLN & Restructuring
Income Statement
Revenues	$2,844.4
SG&A	340.7
Profit Before Taxes	475.5
Goodwill Amort.	26.6
Net Income	284.7

Valuation	SOC Stand-alone	Downside
Equity Value	$5,001.0	$4,327.0
Agg. Value	5,650.0	4,976.0
Assumed P/E	17.6x	15.2x

Acquisition of BDK & Restructuring
Income Statement
Revenues	$7,986.6
SG&A	1,294.8
Profit Before Taxes	763.2
Goodwill Amort.	138.6
Net Income	420.5

Valuation	SOC Stand-alone	Downside
Equity Value	$7,387.8	$4,331.6
Agg. Value	15,249.2	12,192.9
Assumed P/E	17.6x	10.3x

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL C0023454

016952

February 27, 1998

Board of Directors
Sunbeam Corporation
1615 South Congress Avenue
Suite 200
Delray Beach, FL 33445

Members of the Board:

We understand that CLN Holdings Inc. ("Holdings"), Sunbeam Corporation ("Buyer"), Laser Acquisition Corporation, a wholly owned subsidiary of Buyer ("LAC"), and Coleman (Parent) Holdings Inc. have entered into an Agreement and Plan of Merger, dated as of February 27, 1998 (the "Holdings Merger Agreement"). Pursuant to the Holdings Merger Agreement, LAC will merge with and into Holdings (the "Holdings Merger") and all of the issued and outstanding shares of common stock, par value $1.00 per share, of Holdings (the "Holdings Common Stock") will be converted into the right to receive $159,956,756 in cash and 14,099,749 shares of common stock, par value $.01 per share (the "Buyer Common Stock"), of Buyer (collectively, the "Holdings Consideration").

We also understand that Buyer, Camper Acquisition Corporation, a wholly owned subsidiary of Buyer ("CAC"), and The Coleman Company, Inc. ("the Company") have entered into an Agreement and Plan of Merger, dated as of February 27, 1998 ("the Company Merger Agreement"). Pursuant to the Company Merger Agreement, CAC will be merged with and into the Company (the "Company Merger" and, together with the Holdings Merger, the "Mergers") and each outstanding share of common stock, par value $.01 per share of The Coleman Company, Inc. (the "Company Common Stock"), will be converted into the right to receive (i) 0.5677 shares of Buyer Common Stock and (ii) $6.44 in cash. Upon consumption of the Holdings Merger and Company Merger, Buyer will indirectly beneficially own 100% of the outstanding shares of Company Common Stock.

You have asked for our opinion as to whether the Consideration to be paid by the Buyer pursuant to the Merger Agreement is fair from a financial point of view to the Buyer.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018954

CPH EXHIBIT 90
FOR IDENTIFICATION
PAMELA A. STITT
1-8 2004
WITNESS Chang, T.

For purposes of the opinion set forth herein, we have:

(i) reviewed certain publicly available financial statements and other information of the Company and the Buyer, respectively;

(ii) reviewed certain internal financial statements and other financial and operating data concerning the Company and the Buyer prepared by the managements of the Company and the Buyer, respectively;

(iii) reviewed certain internal financial statements and other financial data concerning Holdings prepared by management of Holdings;

(iv) reviewed certain financial projections prepared by the managements of the Company and the Buyer, respectively;

(v) discussed the past and current operations and financial condition and the prospects of the Company with senior executives of the Company;

(vi) reviewed with the management of the Buyer their estimates of the synergies and cost savings expected to be achieved from the Merger;

(vii) discussed the past and current operations and financial condition and the prospects of the Buyer with senior executives of the Buyer;

(viii) reviewed the pro forma impact of the Merger on the Buyer's earnings per share, cash flow, consolidated capitalization and financial ratios,

(ix) reviewed the reported prices and trading activity for the Company Common Stock and the Buyer Common Stock;

(x) compared the financial performance of the Company and the Buyer and the prices and trading activity of the Company Common Stock and the Buyer Common Stock with that of certain other comparable publicly-traded companies and their securities;

(xi) reviewed the financial terms, to the extent publicly available, of certain comparable acquisition transactions;

(xii) participated in discussions and negotiations among representatives of the Company and the Buyer and their financial and legal advisors;

(xiii) reviewed the Company Merger Agreement and Holdings Merger Agreement;

(xiv) reviewed evaluations prepared by Coopers & Lybrand of the potential synergy opportunities present in the Mergers; and

(xv) performed such other analyses as we have deemed appropriate.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018955

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

We have assumed and relied upon without independent verification the accuracy and completeness of the information reviewed by us for the purposes of this opinion. With respect to the financial projections including the estimates of synergies and cost savings expected to be achieved in the Mergers, we have assumed that they have been reasonably prepared on bases reflecting the best currently available estimates and judgments of the future financial performance of the Company. With respect to the potential operational improvements associated with the Mergers we have relied upon the evaluation of both Coopers & Lybrand and the Company. We have not made any independent valuation or appraisal of the assets or liabilities of the Company; however, we have reviewed the valuation of Coopers & Lybrand with respect to operational benefits expected to be achieved in the Mergers, and have relied without independent verification upon such valuations for purposes of this opinion Our opinion is necessarily based on economic, market and other conditions as in effect on, and the information made available to us as of the date hereof.

We have acted as financial advisor to the Board of Directors of the Buyer in connection with this transaction and will receive a fee for our services.

It is understood that this letter is for the information of the Board of Directors of the Buyer and may not be used for any other purpose without our prior written consent.

Based on the foregoing, we are of the opinion on the date hereof that the Consideration to be paid by the Buyer pursuant to the Merger Agreements is fair from a financial point of view to the Buyer.

Very truly yours,

MORGAN STANLEY & CO. INCORPORATED

By: _____
James B. Stynes
Managing Director

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018956

F21*113542\04-22 99:10 14 AVPG3

SKADDEN, ARPS, SLATE, MEAGHER & FLOM LLP

919 THIRD AVENUE
NEW YORK 10022-3897

TELEPHONE NO.: (212) 735-3000
FACSIMILE NO.: (212) 735-2000
DIRECT FACSIMILE NO.: (212) 735-3607

FACSIMILE TRANSMITTAL SHEET

PLEASE DELIVER THE FOLLOWING PAGE(S) TO:

NAME: John D. Tyree (CONFIDENTIAL)

FIRM: Morgan Stanley & Co. Incorporated

CITY: New York, NY DATE: Mar. 18, 1998

TELEPHONE NO.: (212) 761-7738

FACSIMILE NO.: (212) 761-0358

FROM: Todd E. Freed FLR/RM.: 46-68

REFERENCE NO.: 545100 DIRECT DIAL: (212) 735-3714

TOTAL NUMBER OF PAGES INCLUDING COVER(S): 3

THIS FACSIMILE IS INTENDED ONLY FOR USE OF THE ADDRESSEE(S) NAMED HEREIN AND MAY CONTAIN LEGALLY PRIVILEGED AND/OR CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION. IF YOU ARE NOT THE INTENDED RECIPIENT OF THIS FACSIMILE, YOU ARE HEREBY NOTIFIED THAT ANY DISSEMINATION, DISTRIBUTION OR COPYING OF THIS FACSIMILE IS STRICTLY PROHIBITED. IF YOU HAVE RECEIVED THIS FACSIMILE IN ERROR, PLEASE IMMEDIATELY NOTIFY US BY TELEPHONE AND RETURN THE ORIGINAL FACSIMILE TO US AT THE ADDRESS ABOVE VIA THE LOCAL POSTAL SERVICE. WE WILL REIMBURSE ANY COSTS YOU INCUR IN NOTIFYING US AND RETURNING THE FACSIMILE TO US.

MESSAGE: Please see the attached press release. UNDER NO CIRCUMSTANCES SHOULD THIS PRESS RELEASE BE DISSEMINATED PRIOR TO ITS SIGN OFF BY ALBERT J. DUNLAP AND/OR DAVID C. FANNIN.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

DEPOSITION EXHIBIT CPH 13

018958

MESSAGE CONFIRMATION

SESSION NO. = 163

03/18/98 23:42
ID=SKADDEN ARPS

DATE	TIME	S.R-TIME	DISTANT STATION ID	MODE	PAGES	RESULT
03/18	23:41	00'55"	212 761 0358	ECM-S	03	OK	0000

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018959

SKADDEN, ARPS, SLATE, MEAGHER & FLOM LLP
919 THIRD AVENUE
NEW YORK 10022-3897
TEL (212) 735-3000
FAX (212) 735-2000

April 28, 1998

VIA FACSIMILE TRANSMITTAL

Michael MacPhail, Esq.
Division of Enforcement
Securities and Exchange Commission
Central Regional Office
1801 California Street, Suite 4800
Denver, Colorado 80202

Re: Trading in the Securities of The Coleman Co., Inc., Signature Brands USA, Inc. and First Alert, Inc., File No. MD-1200

Dear Mr. MacPhail:

In response to your letter dated March 2, 1998 to Janet Kelley, Vice President, General Counsel and Assistant Secretary of Sunbeam Corporation ("Sunbeam"), and pursuant to our subsequent telephone conversations, I am enclosing a written chronology (the "Chronology") describing events leading up to the March 2, 1998 announcement of Sunbeam's acquisitions of The Coleman Co., Inc., Signature Brands USA, Inc. and First Alert, Inc. (the "Acquisitions"). Attached to the Chronology are schedules containing the names of the personnel of firms engaged by Sunbeam who worked on the Acquisitions, as well as the names of Sunbeam personnel not referred to in the Chronology who were aware of the Acquisitions. The Chronology is correct to the best of our knowledge. However, to the extent that it is based on information supplied by other firms, Sunbeam cannot vouch for the accuracy of the information supplied.

If you have any questions regarding the enclosed materials, please do not hesitate to telephone me.

PLAINTIFF'S EXHIBIT
CPH 379
12-10-04 LS

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

CONFIDENTIAL SASMF 17227

019861

2161
EXHIBIT
12-5-06 mp

Request for Confidential Treatment

Pursuant to Rule 83 of the Commission's Rules on Information and Requests, 17 C.F.R. § 200.83, Sunbeam requests that the documents submitted herewith be treated as confidential, that they not be disclosed to any person pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA") or otherwise, and that, with respect to any request for disclosure under the FOIA or otherwise, Sunbeam be provided with notice that disclosure has been requested and an opportunity to submit written objections to such disclosure before any disclosure is made.

Each page of the documents covered by this request has been stamped with the legend "CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT UNDER FOIA REQUESTED."

Notice of any request for disclosure should be sent to David C. Fannin, Esq., Executive Vice President, Chief Legal Officer and Secretary, Sunbeam Corp., 1615 South Congress Avenue, Delray Beach, Florida 33445 (tel. (561) 243-2100), and to the undersigned at the above address.

Please acknowledge receipt of this request for confidential treatment by signing the duplicate of this letter enclosed herewith in the space provided below, and returning the same to me in the enclosed stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Very truly yours,

Douglas M. Kraus

Enclosures

Request for confidentiality acknowledged

_____

cc: Freedom of Information Act Officer
Securities and Exchange Commission
450 Fifth Street, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20549

CONFIDENTIAL SASMF 17228

018962

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

STATEMENT OF CONFIDENTIALITY PURSUANT TO THE FREEDOM OF INFORMATION ACT

Pursuant to Rule 83 of the Commission's Rules on Information and Requests, 17 C.F.R. § 200.83, Sunbeam Corporation requests that the document submitted herewith be treated as confidential, that such document not be disclosed to any person pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA") or otherwise, and that, with respect to any request for disclosure under the FOIA or otherwise, no disclosure should be made without prior notice to Douglas M. Kraus, Esq., Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom LLP, 919 Third Avenue, New York, New York 10022 and David C. Fannin, Esq., Executive Vice President, Chief Legal Officer and Secretary, Sunbeam Corporation, 1615 South Congress Avenue, Suite 200, Delray Beach, Florida 33445 (561) 243-2100.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

CONFIDENTIAL SASMF 17229

018963

CHRONOLOGY

March-April, 1997	In or about late March or early April, 1997, senior management of Sunbeam Corporation ("Sunbeam") initially began to consider a possible sale of Sunbeam or the initiation of one or more major acquisitions.
April 22, 1997	Albert J. Dunlap, Chairman of the Board and Chief Executive Officer of Sunbeam, and Russell A. Kersh, Sunbeam's Chief Financial Officer, met at Sunbeam's headquarters in Delray Beach, Florida with Bruce Fiedorek, William H. Strong, James B. Stynes and Robert W. Kitts, Managing Directors of Morgan Stanley & Co., Incorporated ("Morgan Stanley"), to discuss the retention of Morgan Stanley as financial advisor to Sunbeam in connection with a possible sale of Sunbeam or a possible acquisition by Sunbeam of one or more other companies. The Coleman Company, Inc. ("Coleman") was identified as one of many companies that might be a potential buyer of Sunbeam or a potential acquisition candidate for Sunbeam.
April-September, 1997	During this period, Sunbeam, with the assistance of Morgan Stanley, reviewed and considered a variety of strategies. Various companies were identified as potential buyers of Sunbeam or potential acquisition candidates.
September 11, 1997	Morgan Stanley was formally retained by Sunbeam as financial advisor in connection with "the proposed sale or merger of Sunbeam to or with another corporation and/or the possible acquisition of one or more entities." (See

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT UNDER FOIA REQUESTED

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

019894

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

	Schedule A for a list of Morgan Stanley personnel who worked on this matter).
November 6, 1997	Morgan Stanley representatives Kitts, Managing Director William Reid and Vice President Alexandre J. Fuchs met with James Maher of MacAndrews & Forbes ("Mafco"), the majority owner of Coleman, at Mafco headquarters in New York City to discuss possible opportunities for Mafco. Sunbeam understands that, from time to time, Morgan Stanley advises Mafco on a variety of business and financial matters and among the potential transactions identified by Messrs. Reid and Fuchs was the possible acquisition of Sunbeam by Mafco.
December 11, 1997	Sunbeam representatives Kersh and David C. Fannin, Executive Vice President, Chief Legal Officer and Secretary, met with Messrs. Stynes, Kitts and Fuchs of Morgan Stanley at the Palace Hotel in New York City to discuss a possible business combination of Coleman and Sunbeam. The meeting included a background presentation on Coleman and a preliminary financial analysis by Morgan Stanley.
December 12, 1997	Messrs. Kersh and Fannin of Sunbeam and Peter Langerman, a director of Sunbeam and Senior Vice President and Chief Operating Officer of Franklin Mutual Advisors Incorporated ("Franklin"), Sunbeam's largest shareholder, met with Coleman's Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, Jerry W. Levin, Coleman's Executive Vice President and Chief Financial Officer, Joseph P. Page, and Coleman's Executive Vice President and General Counsel, Paul E. Shapiro, to discuss Coleman's business and potential synergies that could result from a business combination of Sunbeam and Coleman.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

December 15, 1997	Sunbeam contacted Blaine V. Fogg, Esq. of Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom LLP ("Skadden") regarding legal advice concerning a possible transaction with Coleman. (See Schedule B for a list of Skadden personnel who worked on this matter).
December 16, 1997	Messrs. Kersh and Fannin of Sunbeam conferred by telephone with Mr. Fogg, Richard L. Easton, Esq. and Allison L. Amorison, Esq. of Skadden for advice concerning a possible acquisition of Coleman.
December 18, 1997	Mr. Dunlap and Michael Price, President and Chief Executive Officer of Franklin, met with Coleman director and Mafco's Chairman, Chief Executive Officer and controlling stockholder, Ronald O. Perelman, in Florida, as well as with Mr. Howard Gittis, another Mafco executive. Mr. Dunlap indicated Sunbeam's interest in a possible transaction in which Sunbeam would purchase Coleman in a transaction valued in a range of $18 to $22 per share of Coleman stock. Mr. Perelman indicated that such a price range was too low and stated that he would not be prepared to support a potential transaction at such a price.
January 21 or 22, 1998	After consultation with Messrs. Kersh and Fannin, in an effort to revive a possible transaction, a Morgan Stanley representative contacted Mr. Perelman and indicated that Sunbeam would consider a possible transaction involving both cash and shares of Sunbeam stock

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT UNDER FOIA REQUESTED

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018966

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CPH1042293
16div-024322

	at a price higher than the prices discussed at the December 18 meeting with Mr. Dunlap. Mr. Perelman indicated his willingness to discuss such a potential transaction.
January 23, 1998	William Nesbitt of Mafco met with Morgan Stanley representatives Stynes, Gene K. Yoo, Associate, and Tyrone Chang, Analyst, at Mafco headquarters in New York City, to renew talks concerning a possible transaction with Coleman.
January 29, 1998	Messrs. Kersh and Fannin of Sunbeam and Messrs. Stynes, Fuchs and Chang of Morgan Stanley met with Coleman representatives Levin and Page, Mafco representatives Maher and Nesbitt and Gordon Rich of Credit Suisse First Boston ("CSFB"), Coleman's financial advisor, to discuss the potential synergies that might be associated with a business combination of Sunbeam and Coleman and to discuss a preliminary schedule for mutual due diligence.
Week of February 2, 1998	During this week, Morgan Stanley submitted to Mafco an outline of a proposed transaction structure which focused on Sunbeam's acquisition of Coleman.
February 3, 1998	Messrs. Kersh and Fannin of Sunbeam met with Phil Harlow of Arthur Andersen LLP, Sunbeam's auditors, at Sunbeam's headquarters in Delray Beach, Florida to discuss the financial impact on Sunbeam of a potential acquisition of Coleman.
February 4, 1998	Sunbeam and Coleman entered into a Confidentiality Agreement.

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT UNDER FOIA REQUESTED

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

February 6, 1998	Messrs. Stynes, Kitts, Fuchs and Chang of Morgan Stanley met with Messrs. Maher and Nesbitt of Mafco and Mr. Rich and Robert Duffy of CSFB at Mafco headquarters in New York City to discuss a possible acquisition of Coleman by Sunbeam, including a possible acquisition by Sunbeam of CLN Holdings Inc., the Mafco affiliate that indirectly owned Coleman stock. Substantial differences in price and valuation remained.
February 9, 1998	Mr. Kitts of Morgan Stanley contacted Anthony DiNovi, Managing Director of the Thomas H. Lee Co. of Boston, Mass. (the "THL Co."), who was also a Board member of First Alert, Inc. ("First Alert"), to express Sunbeam's interest in the acquisition of First Alert and Signature Brands USA, Inc. ("Signature"), both of which were controlled by THL Co. Sunbeam viewed such transactions as either alternatives to a Coleman transaction or possible "add ons" to a Coleman transaction.
February 10, 1998	Messrs. Kersh and Fannin of Sunbeam, Messrs. Fogg and William J. Weiss, Esq. of Skadden and Messrs. Stynes, Kitts, Fuchs and Webber of Morgan Stanley met at Morgan Stanley headquarters in New York City to discuss legal, structural and tax issues in connection with a potential Coleman transaction, as well as the possible acquisition by Sunbeam of First Alert and Signature.
February 11, 1998	Messrs. Kersh and Fannin of Sunbeam, Messrs. Stynes, Kitts and Josh Webber, Associate, of Morgan Stanley, met with Mr. DiNovi and Scott Schoen, Managing Director of THL Co., at THL Co. headquarters in Boston to discuss Sun-

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT UNDER FOIA REQUESTED

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018968

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

	beam's interest in a possible acquisition of First Alert and Signature.
February 12, 1998	After the announcement by First Alert of an adverse jury verdict awarding $16.9 million in a product liability case, Mr. DiNovi of THL Co. contacted Mr. Kitts of Morgan Stanley to explain the jury verdict and confirm Sunbeam's interest in light of the verdict.
February 13, 1998	Messrs. Stynes, Kitts and Fuchs of Morgan Stanley participated in a conference call to discuss the terms of a transaction with Coleman, including the structure and price with Mafco representative Maher.
February 16, 1998	Sunbeam and First Alert, Inc. entered into a Confidentiality Agreement.
February 17, 1998	Sunbeam contacted its insurance brokers, Sedgewick of Florida, Inc. ("Sedgewick of Florida"), regarding the performance of insurance due diligence in connection with First Alert's adverse jury verdict. (See Schedule C for a list of Sedgewick of Florida personnel who worked on this matter). Mr. Fannin of Sunbeam, Barbara Wrubel, Esq. of Skadden, Messrs. Stynes and Kitts of Morgan Stanley and Peter Cook of Sedgewick of Florida participaced in a conference call with Mr. DiNovi and B. Joseph Messner, President and Chief Executive Officer of First Alert, concerning First Alert's adverse jury verdict. Mr. Kitts of Morgan Stanley contacted the directors of Signature affiliated with THL Co. concerning due diligence.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT UNDER FOIA REQUESTED

018969

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CPH 1042296
16div-024325

	Sunbeam and Signature entered into a Confidentiality Agreement.
February 18, 1998	Mr. Fannin of Sunbeam conferred by telephone with Skadden attorneys Easton and Amorison concerning product liability issues and related transaction structuring issues in connection with the possible acquisition of First Alert. Sunbeam representatives met with First Alert's insurance advisors to discuss First Alert's cost and ability to obtain insurance with respect to the subject matter of the jury verdict.
February 19, 1998	Messrs. Kersh and Fannin of Sunbeam and Messrs. Kitts, Fuchs, Webber and Chang of Morgan Stanley participated in a conference call with Mafco representative Maher to discuss price and structural details of the Coleman transaction. Messrs. Kersh and Fannin of Sunbeam and Mr. Kitts of Morgan Stanley met with Mr. Messner of First Alert at Morgan Stanley headquarters in New York for information gathering and negotiation of a possible transaction with First Alert.
February 20, 1998	Representatives of Skadden began drafting definitive acquisition agreements for the Coleman transaction reflecting terms of the potential transaction discussed by representatives of Mafco and Sunbeam. Mr. Kitts of Morgan Stanley contacted Mr. DiNovi of First Alert to discuss in greater detail Sunbeam's interest in acquiring First Alert.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

	Robert J. Gluck, Vice President and Controller of Sunbeam, telephoned Mr. Harlow and Larry Bornstein of Arthur Andersen LLP ("Arthur Andersen") regarding the performance of financial due diligence in connection with the proposed acquisitions of Coleman, First Alert and Signature and to discuss a financial due diligence schedule. (See Schedule D for a list of Arthur Andersen personnel who worked on this matter).
	Sunbeam contacted Joseph R. Brendel, Esq. and Michael J. Kline, Esq. of Thorp Reed & Armstrong, Sunbeam's counsel for intellectual property and environmental issues, regarding intellectual property and environmental due diligence in connection with the Coleman transaction. (See Schedule E for a list of Thorp Reed & Armstrong personnel who worked on this matter).
	Mr. Kersh of Sunbeam and Messrs. Stynes and Kitts of Morgan Stanley met with Meeta Vyas, Chief Executive Officer and Vice Chairman of the Board of Directors of Signature, Louis P. Friedman, Managing Director, and Robert Mann, Vice President, of Donaldson, Lufkin & Jenrette Securities Corporation ("DLJ"), Signature's financial advisor, at DLJ headquarters in New York City to perform due diligence, gather information and engage in negotiations in connection with Sunbeam's acquisition of Signature.
February 21, 1998	Mr. Kersh telephoned Andrew Molenaar, a partner at Coopers & Lybrand LLP ("Coopers & Lybrand"), Sunbeams's management consulting firm, regarding the performance of operational due diligence at plant facilities of Coleman, First Alert and Signacure. Mr. Molenaar, Jong Lee, Manager, and Keith Polak, Senior Associate, of Coopers & Lybrand participated in a conference call with Messrs. Levin and Page of Coleman to discuss Coleman's business. (See Schedule F for a list of Coopers & Lybrand personnel who worked on this matter).

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

February 22, 1998	Conrad Bringsjord, Managing Director of Salomon Smith Barney, one of First Alert's financial advisors, met with Morgan Stanley representatives Kitts and Stynes to discuss Sunbeam's proposal to acquire all equity securities of First Alert at a price of $4.50 per share, payable one-half in cash and one-half in equity securities of Sunbeam.
February 23-24, 1998	Mr. Fannin, Richard Goudis, Sunbeam's Vice President of Investor Relations and Corporate Planning, Messrs. Stynes, Fuchs, Webber and Chang of Morgan Stanley and representatives of Arthur Andersen and Coopers & Lybrand met with Messrs. Levin and Page of Coleman, Mr. Nesbitt of Mafco and Messrs. Rich, Duffy and Steven Geller of CSFB at Mafco Headquarters in New York City to conduct due diligence and to arrange facility visits. Janet Kelley, Sunbeam's Vice President, General Counsel and Assistant Secretary, met with Mr. Shapiro and Steven R. Isko, Vice President-Legal, both of the Coleman legal group, to conduct due diligence. Due diligence meetings were also held at Morgan Stanley's offices in New York and Mafco's headquarters during which Messrs. Kersh, Fannin and Goudis met with Messrs. Levin, Page, Shapiro, Maher and Nesbitt, along with representatives of CSFB, to discuss Sunbeam's long term strategic plan and financial projections for fiscal years 1998 through 2000.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Mr. Brendel of Thorp Reed & Armstrong, met with Lorelie Borland, Esq. of Mafco at Mafco's offices at 625 Madison Avenue in New York City to review environmental issues in connection with the Coleman transaction. In the course of the Coleman due diligence, Mr. Brendel learned of the First Alert and Signature acquisitions and agreed to conduct environmental due diligence with regard to First Alert and Signature. Mr. Kline of Thorp Reed & Armstrong met with Steve Fasman, Esq. of Mafco to review intellectual property issues in connection with the Coleman transaction.

Mr. Gluck of Sunbeam and Messrs. Harlow and Bornstein of Arthur Andersen reviewed the 1996-97 audit work papers for Coleman at the offices of Coleman's auditors, Ernst & Young LLP, in Kansas City.

February 24, 1998

Messrs. Kersh and Fannin, along with representatives from Morgan Stanley, held conference calls with Mr. Maher to finalize the structure and negotiate the remaining terms of the transaction with Coleman.

Mr. Molenaar, Dick Oishi and Dave Winston, Managers of Coopers & Lybrand, performed operational due diligence at Coleman's facility in Wichita.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT UNDER FOIA REQUESTED

018973

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CPH 1042300
16div-024329

	Mr. Messner and First Alert's financial and legal advisors visited Sunbeam to conduct due diligence regarding the fairness of a potential transaction between Sunbeam and First Alert and to continue discussions concerning Sunbeam's proposal for the acquisition of First Alert. Sunbeam modified its offer for First Alert to $5.00 per share, one-half payable in cash and one-half payable in equity securities of Sunbeam. First Alert's financial advisors indicated that First Alert would consider an all-cash offer at a higher price.
	Sunbeam contacted its public relations firm, Hill & Knowlton, Inc. ("Hill & Knowlton"), regarding a special engagement in connection with the acquisitions. (See Schedule G for a list of Hill & Knowlton personnel who worked on this matter).
February 25, 1998	Sunbeam representatives Fannin, Fogg, Easton, Weiss and Amorison met with Messrs. Shapiro and Isko of Coleman, Adam O. Emmerich, Esq. and Steven A. Cohen, Esq., Coleman's legal advisors from Wachtell, Lipton, Rosen & Katz ("Wachtell"), at the New York offices of Skadden to review the status of the transactions, address organizational, legal, logistical and other issues and negotiate the final structure of the Coleman transaction.
	First Alert's Board of Directors met to discuss the Sunbeam proposal. Mr. Goudis met in the morning with Mr. Messner of First Alert in Aurora, Illinois to conduct due diligence.
	Mr. Oishi and Eric Mauch, Senior Associate of Coopers & Lybrand, performed operational due diligence at First Alert's facility in Chicago.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

	Janet Kelley of Sunbeam and Messrs. Brendel and Kline of Thorp Reed & Armstrong met in the morning in Cleveland with Steven Billick, Chief Financial Officer of Signature, and Rem Bellzinskas, Signature's Controller, and outside counsel for Signature to review environmental and intellectual property documents.
	Mr. Goudis and Ms. Kelley of Sunbeam met in the afternoon in Cleveland, Ohio with Steven Billick, Chief Financial Officer of Signature, as well as Signature's internal and outside counsel, to conduct business, legal and tax due diligence.
	Mr. Gluck of Sunbeam and Mr. Bornstein of Arthur Andersen conducted due diligence review on financial information, books and records and audit work papers at the offices of Signature's auditors, KPMG Peat Marwick L.L.P. ("KPMG Peat Marwick") in Cleveland.
February 25-27, 1998	Representatives from Morgan Stanley visited First Alert's facilities and engaged in discussions concerning possible synergies between Sunbeam and First Alert and the terms of the transaction. Legal, accounting and business due diligence was performed by Sunbeam representatives.
February 26, 1998	Messrs. Kersh and Fannin of Sunbeam and Messrs. Stynes, Kitts and Webber of Morgan Stanley participated in a conference call with Mr. Maher of Mafco and representatives from Wachtell at Morgan Stanley headquarters in New York to review the status

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT UNDER FOIA REQUESTED

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018975

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

of the Coleman transaction and address organizational, legal, logistical and other issues. A final structure for the transaction was agreed upon.

Mr. Easton and Ms. Amorison of Skadden met with Messrs. Shapiro and Isko of Coleman, Mr. Nesbitt of Mafco and Messrs. Emmerich and Cohen of Wachtell at the offices of Wachtell to review the merger agreements and discuss outstanding issues in connection with the Coleman transaction.

Janet Kelley of Sunbeam and Messrs. Brendel and Kline of Thorp Reed & Armstrong met in Aurora, Illinois with Mr. Messner of First Alert and First Alert's general counsel, Haldon Grant, to conduct general legal, environmental and intellectual property due diligence.

Mr. Gluck of Sunbeam and Messrs. Harlow and Bornstein of Arthur Andersen reviewed First Alert's audit work papers at the offices of First Alert's auditors, Price Waterhouse LLP ("Price Waterhouse"), in Chicago.

Sunbeam's financial advisors continued discussions with First Alert's financial advisors regarding the terms of the transaction, including the price payable to shareholders. Sunbeam modified its proposal to an all cash tender offer at a price of $5.00 per share.

Messrs. Mclenaar and Tom Nicholas, Senior Associate of Coopers & Lybrand, met with Ms. Vyas to conduct due diligence and tour Signature's production facilities in Glenwillow, Ohio.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

February 27, 1998	Late at night on February 26th and early in the morning on February 27th, Mr. Fogg and Mark T. Shehan, Esq. of Skadden and Messrs. Stynes, Kitts and Fuchs of Morgan Stanley negotiated by telephone with Signature's lawyers and Mr. Friedman of DLJ and presented an offer for Sunbeam's acquisition of Signature with a price of $8.00 per share in cash. In the afternoon of February 27th, the Board of Directors of Sunbeam, Morgan Stanley representatives Stynes, Fuchs, Kitts, Strong, Webber, Chang, Yoo, Bram Smith, Managing Director, Ruth Porat, Managing Director, Michael Hart, Principal, John Tyree, Associate, and Lily Rafi, Analyst, Messrs. Fogg and Easton of Skadden and Mr. Fannin and Ms. Kelley of Sunbeam met at Morgan Stanley headquarters in New York to consider the Coleman transaction, pursuant to which each outstanding share of Coleman common stock would be converted into the right to receive 0.5677 of a share of Sunbeam common stock and $6.44 in cash. The Board unanimously approved the Coleman transaction. The Board of Directors of Sunbeam also unanimously approved a negotiating range and authorized certain officers of Sunbeam to proceed with negotiations related to the proposed acquisitions of First Alert and Signature and to enter into a definitive agreement if satisfactory terms could be reached. Late in the evening, Sunbeam proposed to purchase, in a tender offer, all outstanding shares of First Alert at a price of $5.25 per share, net to the seller in cash.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT UNDER FOIA REQUESTED

018977

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CPH 1042304
16div-024333

	Skadden attorneys Easton, Amorison, Weiss and Steven Daniels, Esq. met with Wachtell attorneys Emmerich, Cohen, Frank L. Miller, Esq., Michael S. Katzke, Esq. and Deborah L. Paul, Esq. and Messrs. Isko and Shapiro of Coleman at the offices of Wachtell to finalize the definitive merger agreements.
	Messrs. Fannin, Kersh, Gluck and Ms. Kelley met with Messrs. Harlow and Bornstein of Arthur Andersen at the Palace Hotel in New York to discuss the recent due diligence performed on Coleman, First Alert and Signature.
	Messrs. Molenaar and Nicholas of Coopers & Lybrand toured Signature's production facilities in Bridgeview, Illinois.
February 28, 1998	Late at night on February 27th and early in the morning on February 28th, Messrs. Fogg and Shehan of Skadden and Messrs. Stynes, Kitts and Fuchs negotiated by telephone with Signature's lawyers and Mr. Friedman of DLJ and presented an offer for Sunbeam's acquisition of Signature to the representatives of DLJ with a price of $8.25 per share in cash.
	Messrs. Dunlap, Kersh and Fannin of Sunbeam and Messrs. Kitts and Stynes of Morgan Stanley participated in conference calls with First Alert and Signature to finalize the terms of the transactions.
	The Board of Directors of First Alert and Signature approved the transactions with Sunbeam. Definitive agreement between Sunbeam and First Alert

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT UNDER FOIA REQUESTED

CONFIDENTIAL SASMF 17244

018978

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CPH 1042305
16div-024334

	and Sunbeam and Signature were executed.
February 28 - March 1, 1998	Messrs. Dunlap, Kersh, Fannin and Goudis of Sunbeam, Messrs. Kitts, Fuchs and Porat of Morgan Stanley met with Mauri Hope of Hill & Knowlton to discuss the public relations aspects of the transactions.
March 1, 1998	Representatives of Sunbeam, Messrs. Kitts, Fuchs and Stynes of Morgan Stanley and Ms. Hope of Hill & Knowlton participated in a conference call with Steve Lipin of the Wall Street Journal to advise him of the impending announcement of the transactions.
March 2, 1998	Announcement of the transactions prior to the opening of trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

The information on this schedule has been supplied by Morgan Stanley & Co., Incorporated. Sunbeam makes no representation as to its accuracy or completeness.

SCHEDULE A

Personnel from Morgan Stanley & Co., Incorporated, 1585 Broadway, New York, New York 10036, (212) 761-4000, who worked on the Sunbeam project were:

Bruce D. Fiedorek, Managing Director, Firm Management (New York)
William H. Strong, Managing Director (Chicago Branch)
Robert W. Kitts, Managing Director, Mergers & Acquisitions (New York)
Ruth Porat, Managing Director, Mergers & Acquisitions (New York)
William Reid, Managing Director, Mergers & Acquisitions (New York)
Bram Smith, Managing Director, Mergers & Acquisitions (New York)
James B. Stynes, Managing Director, Mergers & Acquisitions (New York)
Alexandre J. Fuchs, Vice President, Mergers & Acquisitions (New York)
Michael Hart, Principal
John Tyree, Associate, Mergers & Acquisitions (New York)
Josh Webber, Associate, Mergers & Acquisitions (New York)
Gene K. Yoo, Associate, Mergers & Acquisitions (New York)
Tyrone Chang, Analyst, Mergers & Acquisitions (New York)
Lily Rafi, Analyst, Mergers & Acquisitions (New York)

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT UNDER FOIA REQUESTED

018980

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CPH 1042307
16div-024336

The information on this schedule has been supplied by Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom LLP. Sunbeam makes no representation as to its accuracy or completeness.

SCHEDULE B

Personnel from Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom LLP, 919 Third Avenue, New York, New York 10022, (212) 735-3000, who worked on the Sunbeam project were:

Partners	Of Counsel	Counsel	Associates
Clifford H. Aronson	James A. Levitan	Wendy Fleishman	Allison L. Amorison
Richard L. Easton		Joseph P. Nisa	Angela I Daniel
Blaine V. Fogg			Steven J. Daniels
Mitchell J. Solomon			Matthew M. Greenberg
Barbara Wrubel			Alexander B. Johnson
			Nancy H. Johnson
			Deborah J. Komins
			Patrick J. Morgan
			Timothy F. Nelson
			Regina Olshan
			Mark E. Rakoczy
			Mark T. Shehan
			James A. Stotizfus
			Clem G. Turner
			Romina Weiss
			William J. Weiss

Legal Assistants		Support Staff
Cat Bistransin	Carol A. Albano	Marlene Flom	Sandra J. Roach
Buzz Bovshow	Rudolph E. Arita	Todd William Genger	Jennifer Roberts
Robert A. Davies	Philip A. Ashby	Josephine Giambalvo	Florence Samuelson
Jennifer Hessmer	Kim Baker	Kathryn Graybill	Quetcy Santiago
Nicholas F. Matranga	Katherine J. Balazs	Elizabeth C. Guthrie	Linda Schager
Matthew J. Plante	Camilla K. Beattie	Helen Harris	Gregory J.Simon
Todd Ross	Paul Bogdanovic	Laura L. Hauck	Lorna Smith-Grant
Martha I. Rosas	Brenda Boykin	Beryl Heaton	Maureen Todman
Laura M. Sheridan	Lynn T. Buckley	Patricia Jones
Janet W. Slater	Carole Casey	Helen B. Kaplan
	Jill G. Cornell	Mary E. Keough
	Joanne D'Angelo	Leslie C. Leach
	Linda Davis	Ann Link
	Serafina Distefano	Robert C. Loehr
	Carol Donnelly	G. Bradford Newman
	Rosalie Engelman	Karl J. Peterson
	Margaret Flocco	Cristina Poggioli

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT UNDER FOIA REQUESTED

The information on this schedule has been supplied by Sedgewick of Florida, Inc. Sunbeam makes no representation as to its accuracy or completeness.

SCHEDULE C

Personnel from Sedgewick of Florida, Inc., 1 Financial Plaza, Suite 2400, Ft. Lauderdale, Florida 33394, (954)764-7700, who worked on the Sunbeam project were:

Peter Cook - Account Manager
Thomas Patrick - Account Director

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018982

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

The information on this schedule has been supplied to us by Arthur Andersen LLP. Sunbeam makes no representation as to its accuracy or completeness.

SCHEDULE D

Personnel from Arthur Andersen LLP, 100 N.E. 3rd Avenue, Suite 700, Fort Lauderdale, Florida 33301, (954) 523-4433) and 777 South Flagler Drive, Phillips Point, Suite 1700, West Tower, West Palm Beach, Florida 33401 (561) 832-8100, and One Biscayne Towers, Suite 2100, Miami, Florida 33131, (305) 374-3700, who worked on the Sunbeam project were:

Phil Harlow, Partner (Fort Lauderdale)
Sandra Prisco, Executive Assistant to Phil Harlow
Larry Bornstein, Senior Audit Manager (West Palm Beach)
Rosemary Alberto, Executive Assistant to Larry Bornstein
Dennis Pastrana, Senior Accountant (Miami)

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018983

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

The information on this schedule has been supplied to us by Thorp Reed & Armstrong. Sunbeam makes no representation as to its accuracy or completeness.

SCHEDULE E

Personnel from Thorp Reed & Armstrong, One Riverfront Center, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania 15222-4895, (412) 394-7711, who worked on the Sunbeam project were:

Partners	Of Counsel	Associates
Joseph R. Brendel	Peter G. Veeder	Ronald C. Gahagan, Jr.
Edward B. Harmon		James M. Ginocchi
Michael J. Kline

Support Staff	Librarian
Roberta S. McLaughlin	Donna Kieler

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT UNDER FOIA REQUESTED

018984

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CPH 1042311
16div-024340

SASMF17251

The information on this schedule has been supplied by Coopers & Lybrand LLP. Sunbeam makes no representation as to its accuracy or completeness.

SCHEDULE F

Personnel from Coopers & Lybrand LLP, 1301 Avenue of the Americas, New York, New York 10019-6013, (212) 259-1000, who worked on the Sunbeam project were:

Donald Burnett, Partner (New York)
Andrew Molenaar, Partner (New York)
Jong Lee, Manager (New York)
Dick Oishi, Manager (Chicago)
Dave Winston, Manager (Chicago)
Keith Polak, Senior Associate (New York)
Eric Mauch, Senior Associate (Chicago)
Tom Nicholas, Senior Associate (Chicago)

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

The information on this schedule has been supplied by Hill & Knowlton, Inc. Sunbeam makes no representation as to its accuracy or completeness.

SCHEDULE G

Personnel from Hill & Knowlton, Inc., 466 Lexington Avenue, New York, New York 10017, (212) 885-0300, who worked on the Sunbeam project were:

Ed Belak
Kim Brooks
Pat Carle
A.J. Desjardins
Madeline Hardardt
Mari Hope
Christopher Markham
Pamela Ritchie
Michael Sheinfield
Carla Sylvester
Harlan Teller
Jane-Linn Vincent

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

The information on this schedule has been supplied by Sunbeam Corporation.

SCHEDULE H

Personnel from Sunbeam Corporation, 1615 South Congress Avenue, Suite 200, Delray Beach, Florida 33445, (561) 243-2100, who were not referred to in the above Chronology to which this schedule is attached, but who worked on the Sunbeam project, were:

Steve Dalberth - Director, Treasury Operations
Marta Deak - Human Resources Generalist
Steve Groh - Manager-Financial Planning and Analysis
Silvia Inman - Administrative Assistant
James Llewellyn - Director of Compensation and Benefits
Dee Valek - Administrative Assistant
Sean Thornton - Director-Corporate Security
Deborah MacDonald - Director, Worldwide Planning & Strategy
Gary Mask -Vice President-Human Resources
Shelley Meronchuk- Administrative Assistant
Dale Tabinowski - Director, Field Human Resources
George Timchal - Vice President, Procurement
Bob Totte - Vice President, Taxes
Don Uzzi - Left firm-was Executive Vice President, Consumer Products, Worldwide

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

018987

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CPH 1042314
16div-024343

SKADDEN, ARPS, SLATE, MEAGHER & FLOM LLP
919 THIRD AVENUE
NEW YORK 10022-3897
TEL (212) 735-3000
FAX (212) 735-2000

May 5, 1998

VIA FACSIMILE TRANSMITTAL

John Kroog, Esq.
Director, Market Surveillance
New York Stock Exchange, Inc.
11 Wall Street
New York, New York 10005

Re: Acquisition of The Coleman Co., Inc. (CLN) by Sunbeam Co. (SOC)
NYSE Investigation #98611

Dear Mr. Kroog:

In response to your letter dated March 6, 1998 to David C. Fannin, Esq., Executive Vice President, Chief Legal Officer and Secretary of Sunbeam Corporation ("Sunbeam"), I am enclosing a copy of a written chronology (the "Chronology") describing events leading up to the March 2, 1998 announcement of Sunbeam's acquisitions of The Coleman Co., Inc., Signature Brands USA, Inc. and First Alert, Inc. (the "Acquisitions"). The Chronology was prepared for and submitted to the Securities and Exchange Commission in response to an inquiry similar to that in your March 6 letter.

We believe that the Chronology and the Schedules attached thereto respond to most, if not all, of the requests for information contained in your March 6 letter. The Chronology describes the events culminating in the public announcement of the Acquisitions and identifies the principal outside firms engaged by Sunbeam to assist it with the Acquisitions. The Schedules attached to the Chronology contain the names of the individuals at those firms who worked on the Acquisitions, as well as the names of Sunbeam personnel not referred to in the Chronology who are believed to have been aware of the Acquisitions before they were publicly announced. The Chronology is correct to the best of our knowledge.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

CONFIDENTIAL SASMF 17254

0188810

However, to the extent that it is based on information supplied by other firms, Sunbeam cannot vouch for the accuracy of the information supplied.

If you have any questions regarding the enclosed materials, please do not hesitate to telephone me.

Request for Confidential Treatment

Sunbeam requests that the documents submitted herewith be treated as confidential and that, with respect to any request for disclosure to any person or entity other than the New York Stock Exchange of any of the information contained in the materials submitted herewith, Sunbeam be provided with notice that disclosure has been requested and an opportunity to submit written objections to such disclosure before any disclosure is made.

Notice of any request for disclosure should be sent to David C. Fannin, Esq., Executive Vice President, Chief Legal Officer and Secretary, Sunbeam Corp., 1615 South Congress Avenue, Delray Beach, Florida 33445 (tel. (561) 243-2100), and to the undersigned at the above address

Please acknowledge receipt of this request for confidential treatment by signing the duplicate of this letter enclosed herewith in the space provided below, and returning the same to me in the enclosed stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Very truly yours,

Douglas M. Kraus

Enclosures

Request for confidentiality acknowledged

_____

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

SASMF17256

MESSAGE CONFIRMATION

04/30/99 15:58
ID=SKADDEN ARPS

DATE	S.R-TIME	DISTANT STATION ID	MODE	PAGES	RESULT
04/30	18'27"	212 3271331	CALLING	31	OK	0000

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

CONFIDENTIAL SASMF 17256

018990

PRELIMINARY DRAFT

PROJECT LASER

Presentation to the Board of Directors

CAMPER

February 27, 1998

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY
CONFIDENTIAL
0083960

266810

CPH EXHIBIT 89
FOR IDENTIFICATION
PAMELA A. STITT
1-8 2004
WITNESS Chang, T.

MORGAN STANLEY
16civ-024347

PROJECT LASER

Table of Contents

SECTION I TRANSACTION OVERVIEW

Tab A Strategic Rationale
Tab B Transaction Summary

SECTION II OVERVIEW OF CAMPER COMPANY

SECTION III PRELIMINARY VALUATION OF CAMPER COMPANY

SECTION IV OVERVIEW OF LASER COMPANY

SECTION V PRELIMINARY VALUATION OF LASER COMPANY

SECTION VI REVIEW OF ANTICIPATED COMBINATION SYNERGIES

SECTION VII PRO FORMA COMBINATION ANALYSIS

APPENDIX

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY
CONFIDENTIAL
0083961

C66810

F13103603\02-26-98\8:59 PM 2

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

TRANSACTION OVERVIEW

MORGAN STANLEY
CONFIDENTIAL
0083962

16div-024349

166810

F13\100126\02-22-98\8:31 AM

STRATEGIC RATIONALE

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY
CONFIDENTIAL
0083963

966810

F13\1038837\02-26-0619:59 P\PG4

MORGAN STANLEY
IGGIV-024030

PROJECT LASER

Strategic Rationale
CAMPER

- Capitalize on strong brand value
  - Near 40% market share in industry, nearest competitor has only 10%
  - Untapped strength of the Camper brand
- Maintain recent growth rate in revenues and earnings
  - Respond to market concern about the need to make an acquisition ("Quantum Leap")
  - Remain a top performer in peer group
  - Increase leverage over channels
- Give management opportunity to streamline operations and utilize its expertise in cost cutting
  - Current businesses operating efficiently
  - Similarity of businesses will result in the potential to realize tremendous synergies
  - Capacity available at current facilities to absorb significant production responsibilities of Coleman
- CAMPER has grown rapidly through acquisition without associated operations rationalization
  - Significant opportunity for business re-engineering
- Consolidate outdoor recreational presence
  - Diversify existing product base
  - Combination results in less seasonal product mix in outdoor segment
  - Acquired brands expected to maintain sales during economic downturn
- Several opportunities to create value remain
  - Industry has lacked innovation and advertising
  - Push new product through existing distribution system (mass market channels)

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0083964

966810

TRANSACTION SUMMARY

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY
CONFIDENTIAL
0083965

L66810

F13\103883\02-26-98\9:59 PM35

1040 MORGAN STANLEY 2

PROJECT LASER

Transaction Summary

Two Step Transaction:
- Acquisition of CAMPER Holding (owner of 82.4% of CAMPER Operating Co. stock) from MAFCO affiliates
- Minority repurchase of Operating Co. public shareholders

The CAMPER Holding Acquisition

Description:	• Acquisition of all the outstanding stock of CAMPER Holding by LASER
Consideration:	A) - 14,099,749 LASER Common Shares (fixed) - $590,426,989 approximate value as of February 26, 1998 B) - $159,956,756 Cash to MAFCO affiliates
"Assumption" of Holding Company Debt:	• "Assumption" of CAMPER Holding Company Debt $524.4MM of Discount Notes accreted value • All early redemption costs to be paid by LASER
Collars:	• None
Walkaway:	• None
Closing Conditions:	• Customary conditions
Shareholder Lockup:	• MAFCO affiliates agreed to hold at least 75% of their LASER shares for 3 months; and at least 50% of their LASER shares for 6 months
Expected Closing:	• 2Q98

Note: (1) Assumes LASER stock price of $41.875

The Minority Repurchase

Description:	• Reverse subsidiary merger of newly formed subsidiary into CAMPER
Consideration:	A) - 5,336,721 LASER Common Shares (fixed) - $223,475,192 approximate value as of February 26, 1998 B) - $60,543,244 Cash to public shareholders
Collars:	• None
Walkaway:	• None
Closing Conditions:	• LYONS redemption • Customary conditions
Expected Closing:	• 2Q98

Cash-Out of Options

Number of Options:	• 3,282,930
Average Exercise:	• $15.1447
Cash-out Price:	• $27.5000
Total Cash-out Cost:	• $40,561,585

NOT ACERTIFIED COPY

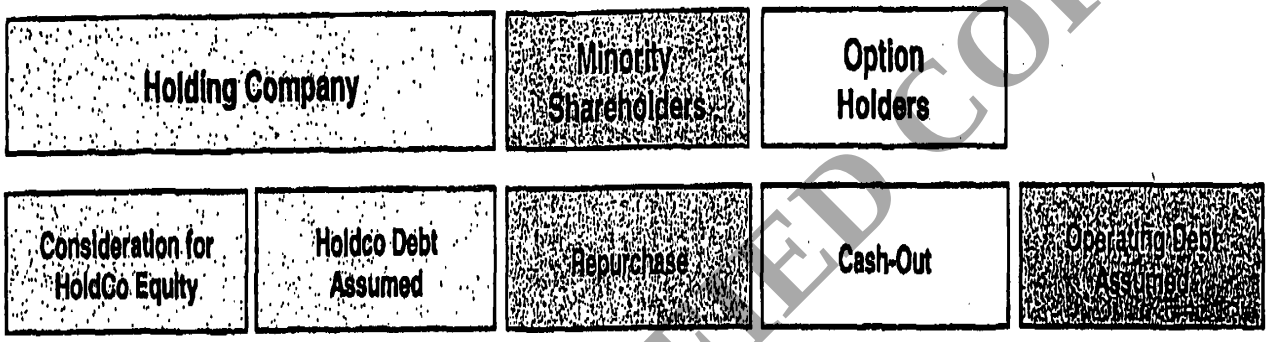
MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0083966

866810

PROJECT LASER

Transaction Pricing

CAMPER



- 19,436,470 LASER Common Shares Issued
- $220,500,000 Cash
- $40,561,581 worth of options cashed out
- $1,064,400,000 Total debt assumed or refinanced

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY
CONFIDENTIAL
0083967

666810

Notes: (1) Assumes paydown of $90.0MM associated with the sale of CAMPER Safety & Security.

PROJECT LASER

Financial & Market Overview of Laser and Camper

Market Statistics:	Laser	Camper
Market Price @ February 25, 1998	$41.875	$19.875
10-Year High	$50.438	$26.000
10-Year High Date	10/15/97	03/22/96
Primary Shares Outstanding (MM)	85.5	53.5
Fully Diluted Shares Outstanding (MM)	88.1 (1)	54.2 (2)
Indicated Dividend	$0.04	$0.00
Indicated Dividend Yield/LTM Payout Ratio	0.1% / 2.8%	0.0% / 0.0%

Current Estimates
EPS Estimates	I/B/E/S	Laser	I/B/E/S	Camper
1997A	$1.42 (3)	$1.42 (3)	$0.51 (3)	$0.51 (3)
1998E	$2.00	$2.20	$0.97	$1.13
5-Year Est. EPS Growth (4)	20.0%	N.A.	17.5%	20.9%
Implied P/E Ratio
1997A	29.5 x	29.5 x	39.0 x	39.0 x
1998E	20.9	19.0	20.5	17.6
1998E P/E to Growth Rate	1.0	N.A.	1.2	0.8

Capitalization ($MM):	Book as of 12/31/97	Market as of 02/25/98	Book as of 12/31/97 (6)	Market as of 02/25/98 (6)
Short-Term Debt	$0.7	$0.7	$64.7	$64.7
Long-Term Debt (5)	194.6	194.6	387.3	387.3
Stockholder's Equity	531.9	3,581.6 (6)	227.1	1,062.7 (6)
Total Capitalization	$727.2	$3,776.8	$679.1	$1,514.7
Cash	$52.4		$13.0
Total Debt/Total Capitalization	26.8%	5.2%	66.6%	29.8%
Net Debt/Total Net Capitalization	21.2%	3.8%	65.9%	29.2%
Market/Book Ratio	5.2 x		2.2 x

1998E Financial Results (7)		Margin		Margin
Revenues	$1,433.2		$1,184.9
EBIT	285.0	19.9%	124.9	8.7%
Gross Interest Expense	8.2		32.0
Net Income	180.9	12.6%	60.3	4.2%
EBIT/Gross Interest Expense	34.6		3.9
1998E Effective Tax Rate	35.0%		35.0%

Operating Statistics:
Employees	6,000	7,000
LTM Sales/Employees	$238,863	$169,271
LTM EBIT/Employees	$47,498	$17,843
LTM Capex to LTM Sales	5.0%	2.5%
Credit Rating (Moody's/S&P)	N.A.	B (S&P)

Notes: (1) Based on 85.5 MM common shares and 6.7 MM options outstanding with an average exercise price of $25.61, as of preliminary 12/31/97 Annual Report; treasury method assumed.
(2) Based on 53.5 MM common shares on 2/20/98 and 3.1 MM options outstanding with an average exercise price of $15.14, on 2/23/98 from Camper Mgmt.; treasury method assumed.
(3) Earnings from continuing operations excluding one time charges.
(4) Estimates for Camper management case earnings per share projections from 1998-2002.
(5) Long-term debt includes minority interest.
(6) Market value based on primary shares outstanding; book value for Camper estimated for sale of Safety & Security.
(7) Based on I/B/E/S case for Laser and Camper Management case for Camper.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0083968

Cont #97

OVERVIEW OF CAMPER COMPANY

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

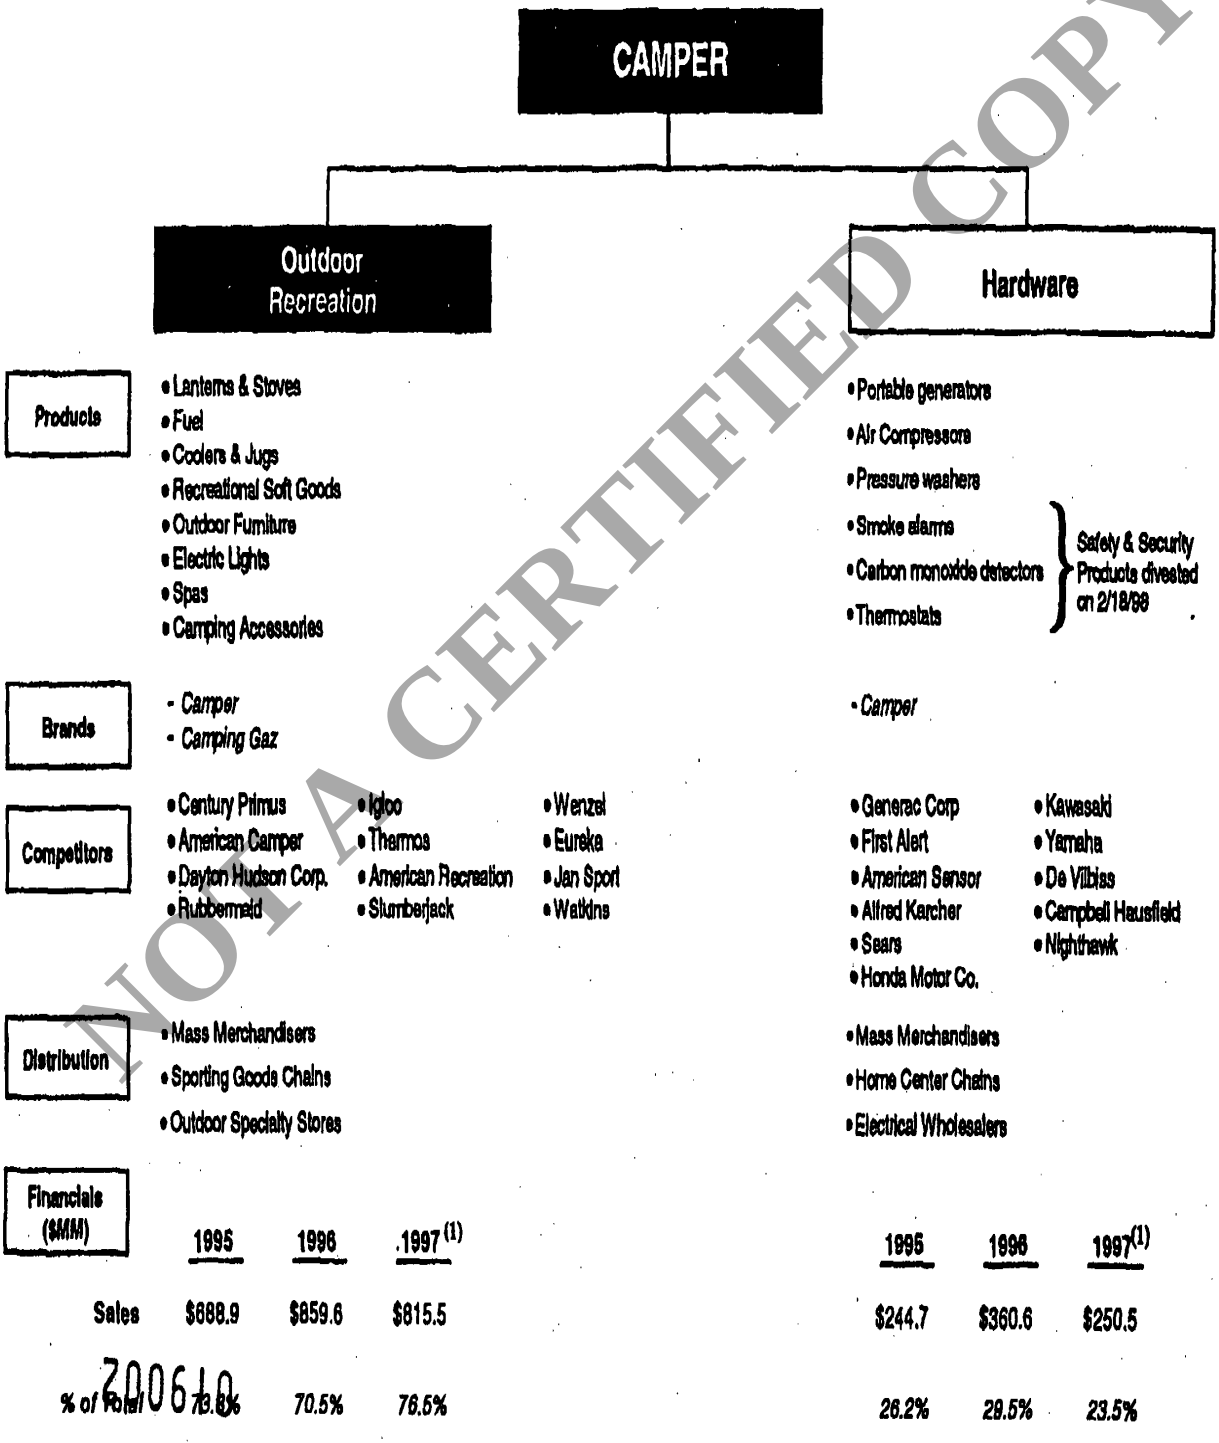
MORGAN STANLEY
CONFIDENTIAL
0083969

100610

PRELIMINARY DRAFT

PROJECT LASER

Camper Business Overview



NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0083970

200610

F1803\1448093-26-98&12P

Note: (1) Percentage breakdown of 1997 segment sales based on Prudential Securities research report dated 11/14/97.

PRELIMINARY

PROJECT LASER

Summary Descriptive Sheet: CAMPER

($MM, except per share amounts)

DESCRIPTION OF BUSINESS:

Leading manufacturer and marketer of consumer products for the outdoor recreation and hardware markets on a global basis. The Company's products have been sold domestically and internationally under the Camper brand name since the 1920s.

The Company attributes its market position to the strength of the Camper brand name, the breadth of products sold, product quality and innovation, marketing, distribution and manufacturing expertise.

RECENT EVENTS:

February 18, 1998 - Stebe plc signed an agreement to acquire Camper's Safety and Security division for $105MM. Stebe will also license the "Camper" name for certain products sold through retail distribution.

September 2, 1997 - The Company announced the appointment of Joseph P. Page to the position of CFO, succeeding Steven F. Kaplan who is leaving the Company.

August 7, 1997 - The Company reported 2Q earnings of $0.47 (excluding restructuring charges and extraordinary items) compared to $0.53 for the same period last year.

May 27, 1997 - The Company said it is moving its headquarters to Wichita, Kansas, from Golden, Colorado in order to be closer its main manufacturing operation.

April 15, 1997 - The Company announced that it will close three US and one international factory, cut its 7,000-person workforce by 10% and eliminate about 1/3 of its product line.

SELECTED INFORMATION:

State of Incorp:	Delaware
Headquarters:	Wichita, KS
Stock Symbol:	CLN
Listing:	NYSE
Fiscal Year End:	December 31

SEGMENT SALES BREAKDOWN:

Industry ($)			Geographic ($)
Outdoor Recreation	$815.5	76.5%	Domestic	$867.7	81.4%
Hardware	250.5	23.5%	Europe	159.9	15.0%
			ROW	191.88	18.0%
			Eliminations	-153.5	-14.4%
Total	$1,066.0	100.0%	Total	$1,066.0	100.0%

SELECTED FINANCIAL INFORMATION:

	Fiscal Years Ended December 31,			3 Yr.	LTM	Estimates (2)
	1995	1996	1997	C.G.R.	(12/30/97)	1998E	1999E
Revenues (1)	$933.6	$1,220.2	$1,066.0	6.9%	$1,066.0	$1,184.9	$1,303.4
% Change	62.2%	30.7%	-12.6%		--	11.2%	10.0%
EBITDA (1)	127.9	99.0	99.0	-12.0%	99.0	159.1	189.9
% Margin	13.7%	8.1%	9.3%		9.3%	13.4%	14.6%
EBIT (1)	101.4	62.6	62.8	-21.3%	62.8	124.9	146.0
% Margin	10.9%	5.1%	5.9%		5.9%	10.5%	11.2%
Net Income	50.0	11.3	14.3	-46.5%	14.3	60.7	77.8
% Margin	5.4%	0.9%	1.3%		1.3%	5.1%	6.0%
Capital Expenditures	29.1	41.3	27.0	-3.6%	27.0	38.0	41.0

3-year Price History

SELECTED MARKET INFORMATION:

Stock Price (2/25/98):	$19.875
LTM Low / High:	11.500/20.880
10-year High (3/22/96):	26.000
Shares Outstanding (MM):	53.425
Dividend:	$0.00
Dividend Payout:	0.0%
Dividend Yield:	0.0%

SELECTED VALUATION PARAMETERS:

	LTM	1998E
Adj. Mkt. Cap./Sales (3):	143.8%	129.4%
Adj. Mkt Cap / EBIT (3):	24.4 x	12.3 x
Adj. Mkt Cap / EBITDA (3):	15.5	9.6
Market/Book (4):	4.3
Discount to LTM High:	(4.8)%
Discount to 10-year High:	(23.6)

	E.P.S.	P/E
FY 1997:	$0.27	74.2 x
LTM:	0.27	74.3
1998E (2):	0.97	20.5
1999E (2):	1.14	17.4
Proj. 5 Yr. Growth (5):	17.5%
1998E P/E to Growth	1.0 x

OWNERSHIP:

Significant Shareholdings (6):		D&O Holdings (6):
Total Insider Holdings	83.2%	Ronald O. Perelman (54)	Director	82.8%
		Jerry W. Levin (52)	Chairman, CEO	0.0%
		Other		0.4%
Institutional Ownership	12.7%
Retail	4.1%
Total	100.0%	Total Insider Holdings		83.2%

CAPITALIZATION:

	Book Capitalization at 12/30/97		Market Capitalization at 2/25/98
	Amount	%	Amount	%
Short-Term Debt:	$0.0	100.0%	$0.0	100.0%
Long-Term Debt:	$481.0	65.9%	$481.0	31.2%
Preferred Stock:	0.0	0.0%	0.0	0.0%
Shareholders Equity:	248.8	34.1%	1,061.8	68.8%
Total Capitalization (7):	$729.8	100.0%	$1,542.9	100.0%
Cash and Cash Equivalents:			$9.9
Adjusted Market Capitalization (3):			$1,533.0

SELECTED CREDIT STATISTICS:

LTM EBIT / Net Interest:	1.5 x
LTM EBITDA / Net Interest:	2.4
Total Debt / LTM EBITDA:	4.9
Senior Debt Ratings
- Moody's	NA
- S&P	B

Notes:
(1) Sales, EBIT, EBITDA and Net Income are for continuing operations before any extraordinary or non-recurring items, and cumulative effect of accounting changes.
(2) Estimates from Laser Management projections for Camper.
(3) Adj. Market Cap. consists of market value of equity (including preferred stock) plus total debt less cash and cash equivalents.
(4) Based on a closing market price of $19.875 per share on 2/25/98 and 53.4 MM shares outstanding on 12/30/97.
(5) I/B/E/S growth rate estimate as of 2/25/98.
(6) Based on information from proxy dated 3/31/97; Institutional ownership from Bloomberg.
(7) Total Capitalization excludes short-term debt.
(8) Percentage breakdown of 1997 industry sales based on Prudential Securities research report dated 11/14/97; geographic breakdown based on 1996 percentages.

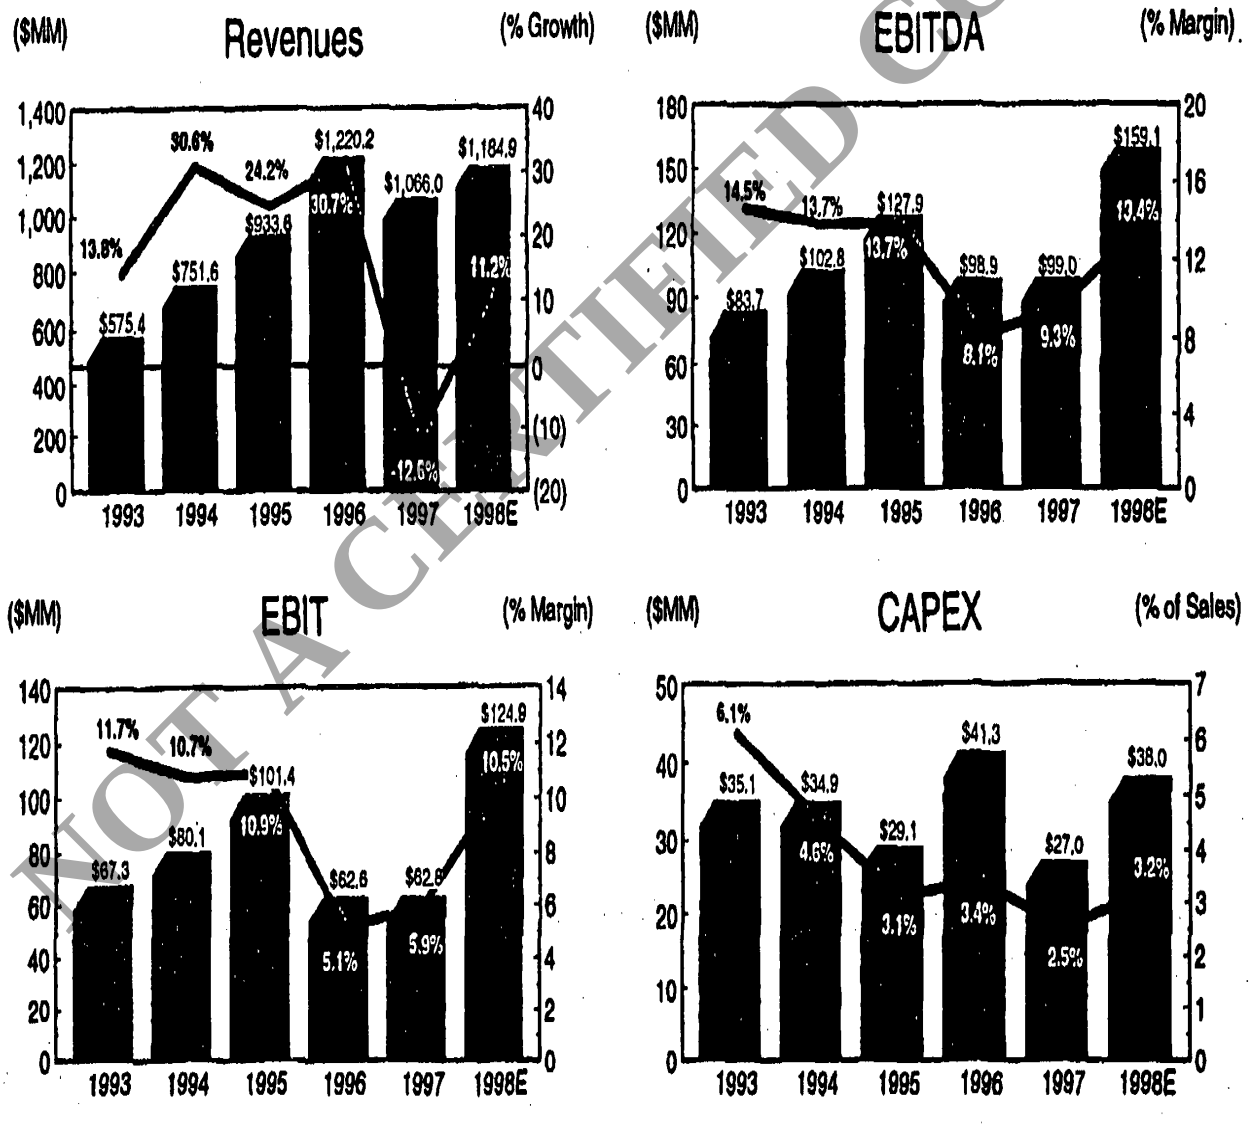
E0061603

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

PROJECT LASER

The Camper Company

Financial Performance (1)



NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY
CONFIDENTIAL
0083972

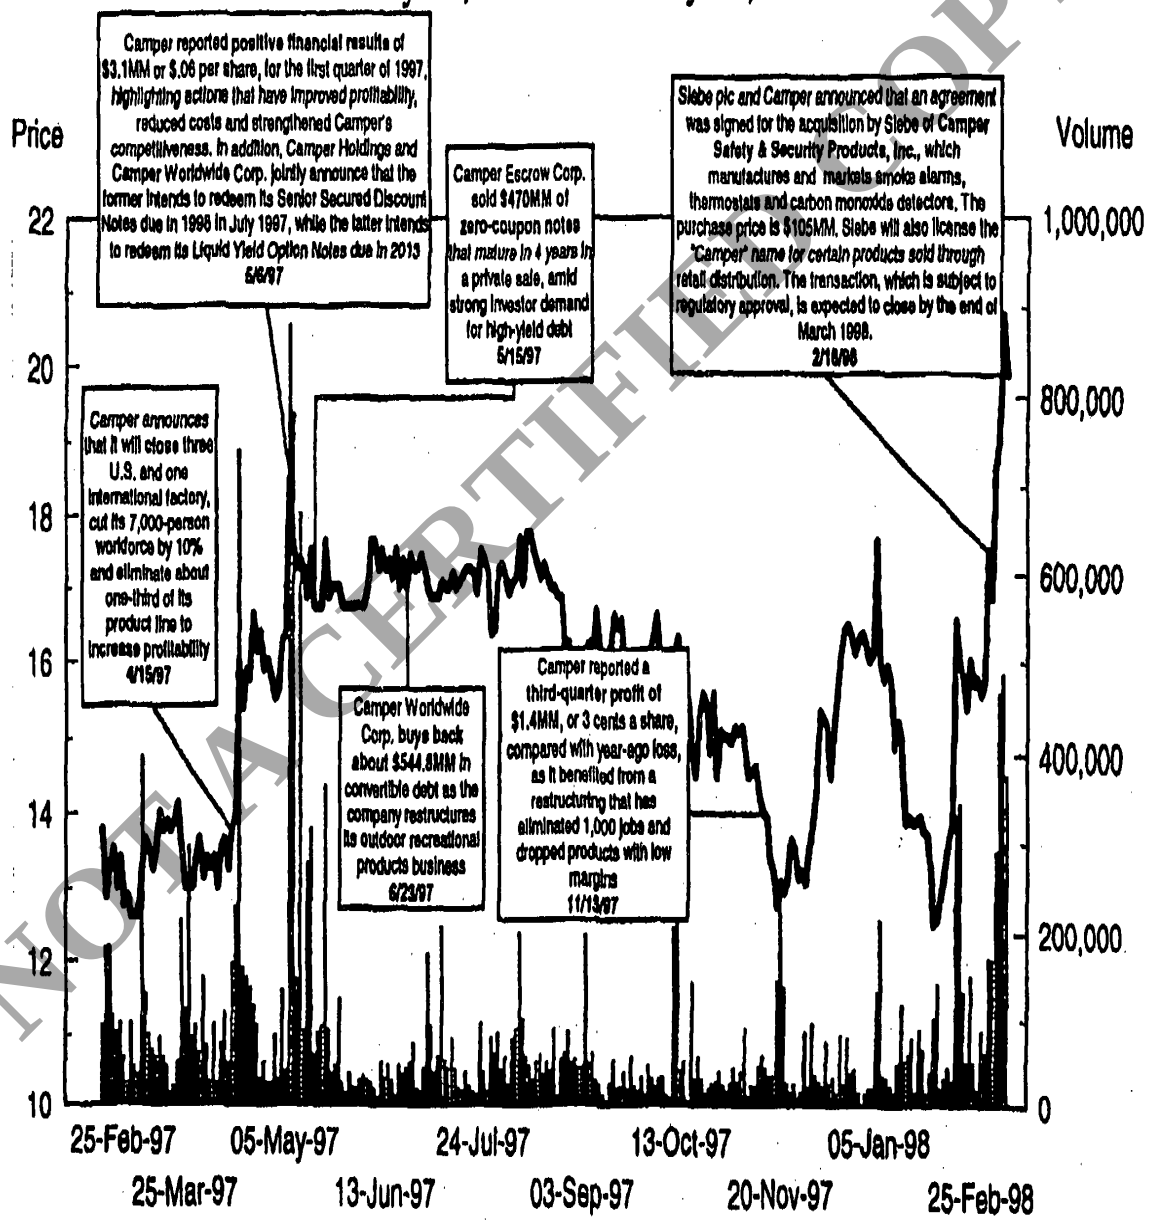
100610

Notes: (1) Financials exclude all non-recurring items. 1998E are based on the Laser management case for Camper.

PROJECT LASER

The Camper Company - Annotated Share Price/Volume Analysis

February 25, 1997 - February 25, 1998



NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

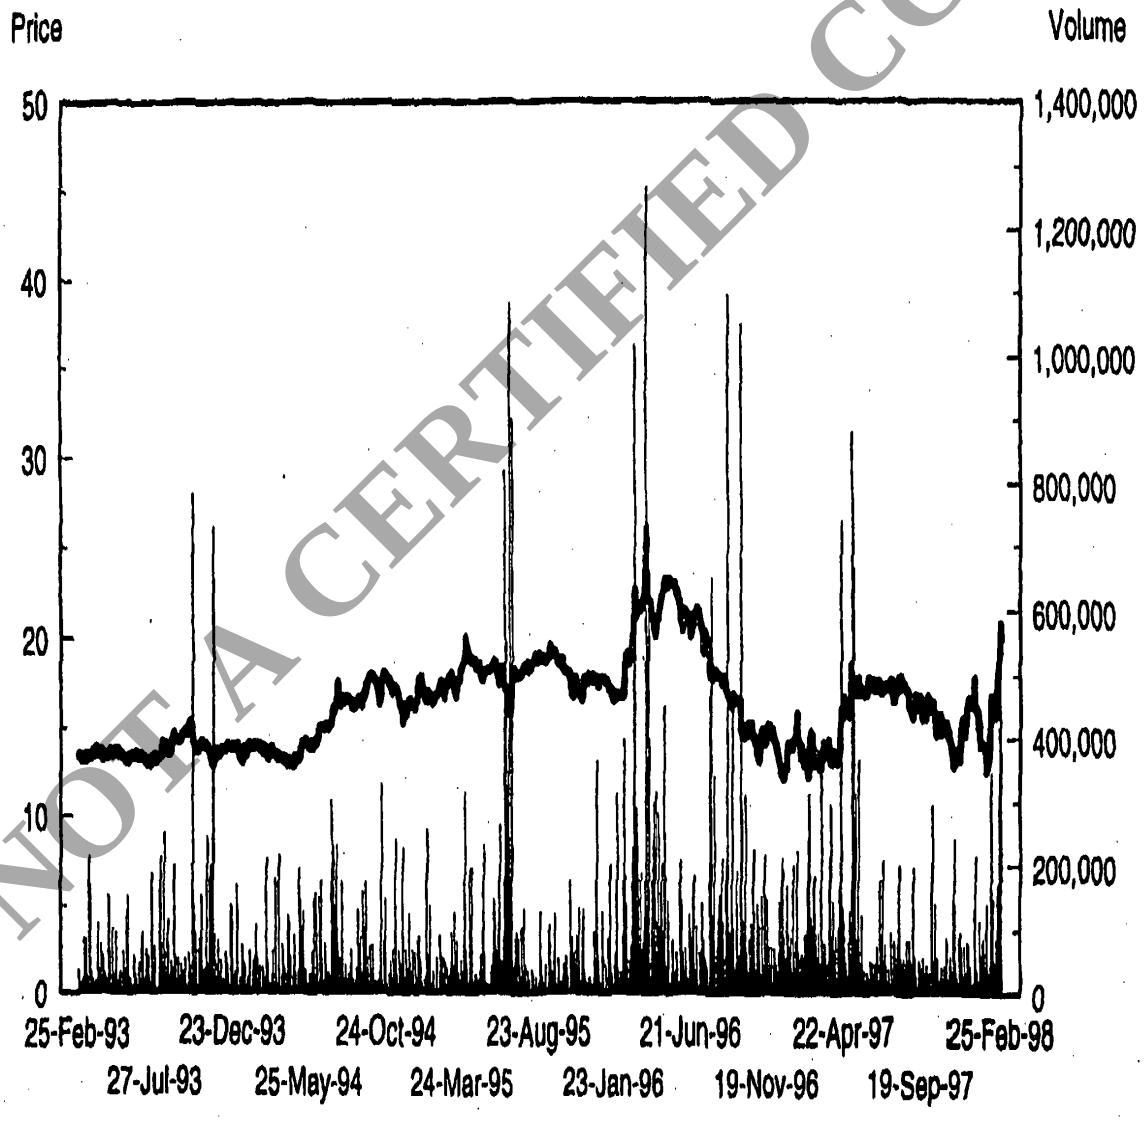
MORGAN STANLEY
CONFIDENTIAL
0083973

S00610

PROJECT LASER

Camper Price/Volume Graph

February 25, 1993 to February 25, 1998



NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

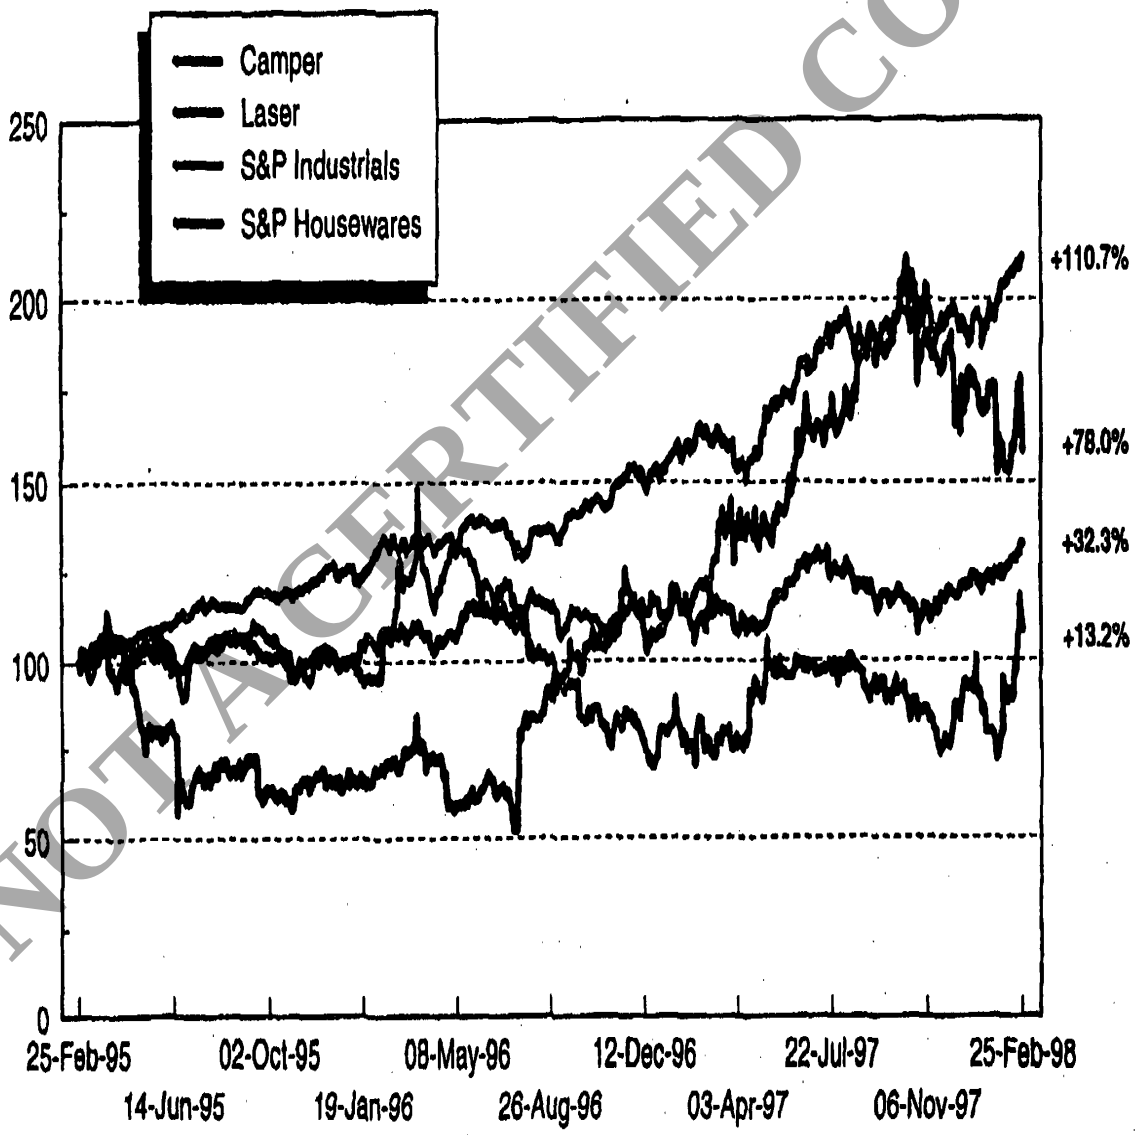
MORGAN STANLEY
CONFIDENTIAL
0083974

900610

PROJECT LASER

CAMPER - Indexed Share Price Analysis

February 25, 1995 - February 25, 1998



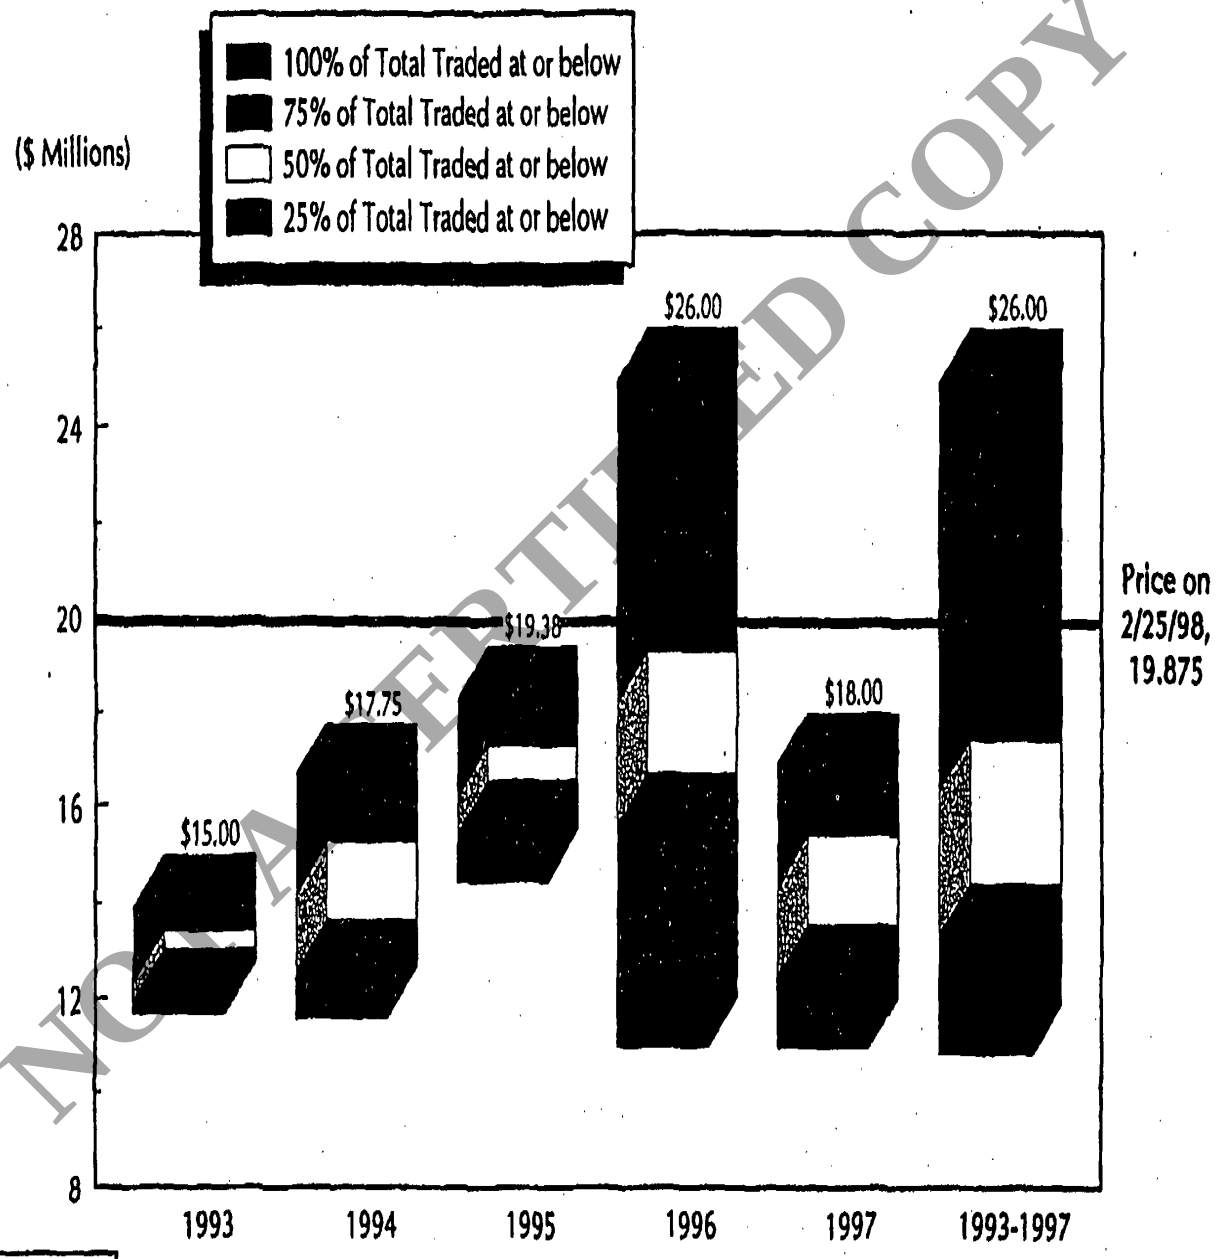
NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY
CONFIDENTIAL
0083975

L00610

PROJECT LASER

Camper Company: Stock Basis Analysis



Shares traded as a % of 53,424,856 total shares outstanding[1]	25.7%	24.4%	32.0%	59.9%	39.1%	186.3%

Note: (1) From 10Q dated 9/30/97

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0083976

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY
16div 024383

PROJECT LASER

The Camper Company: Summary of Recent Analyst Estimates

Date	Price	Firm/(Analyst)	Recomm.	Target Price	EPS 1998E	EPS 1999E	PE 1998E	PE 1999E	Long Term EPS Growth	1998 PE/Growth
02/23/98	$18.625	ABN AMRO/ (B. Burnson/B. Martin)	Hold	N.A.	$0.90	$1.15	20.7x	16.2x	20%	1.04
02/23/98	$18.625	McDonald & Co./ (J. Maurer)	Hold	N.A.	0.90	1.25	20.7	14.9	N.A.	N.A.
02/20/98	$16.875	Prudential Securities/ (N. Heymann)	Hold	$18-$19 6-12 mo.	0.90	1.15	18.8	14.7	N.A.	N.A.
02/20/98	$16.875	CS First Boston (L. Hyman)	Buy	$23 12 mo.	0.95	1.25	17.8	13.5	15%	1.19
02/25/98	$19.88	I/B/E/S			$0.97	$1.14	20.5x	17.4x	17.5%	1.17
02/25/98	$19.88	First Call (Ten Brokers)			$0.96	$1.20	20.7	15.5	17.5%	1.18

- "Camper's management has streamlined the infrastructure and renewed its focus on generating profitable sales. Although much already has been accomplished, we expect continued efforts to drive higher profitability through better information management systems, globalization of the operations and product line, and improving product mix." (CS First Boston - 2/20/98)
- "Now that the company has cleaned up many of the issues which have had a negative impact on margins over the last two years . . . It appears that FY98 may be the first year since FY95 that we have an opportunity to witness the earnings power of Camper." (MacDonald & Co. - 2/23/98)
- "The company's performance in the first half of 1998 will demonstrate to investors the untapped strength of the Camper brand and the newly formed existence of an operating base that is exceptionally well-positioned for the growth of the Camper franchise...Our investment hypothesis is based on the overall health of the camping industry, the opportunities associated with this health which are yet to be exploited, the enduring strength of the Camper brand name and Mr. Levin's ability to bring operational discipline to a neglected infrastructure." (Morgan Stanley - 10/9/97)
- "After an earnings stumble in 1996, a new management team, lead by Mr. Jerry Levin, is refocusing the company on profitability while attempting to revitalize the industry through increased advertising and new product innovations." (Morgan Stanley - 10/9/97)
- "The restructuring is on or ahead of the plan: 1,000 jobs have been eliminated compared with a goal of 700; 25% of SKUs have been cut compared to an initial target of 33%, which management now believes it can exceed; and liquidity has increased by $100 million, already reaching the year-end objective. Moreover, anecdotal indications of retailers' response to the new lineup for 1998 have been quite favorable." (CS First Boston - 11/18/97)

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0083977

600610

PROJECT LASER

Analysis of Camper Shareholdings

	Amount	%
Institutions [1]
Manning & Napier Advisors, Inc.	1,551,147	2.9%
General Motors Invt. Mgmt. Corp.	590,000	1.1%
California Public Employees Rtmnt.	527,600	1.0%
ARCO Investment Management Co.	500,000	0.9%
Keystone Investment Management Co.	380,000	0.7%
Standard Pacific Capital LLC	294,920	0.6%
STI Capital Management	279,940	0.5%
Luther King Capital Management	240,000	0.4%
New Jersey Division of Investment	226,000	0.4%
Barclays Global Investors, N.A.	211,566	0.4%
Long-Term Capital Portfolio, L.P.	209,000	0.4%
The Florida State Board of Admin.	180,000	0.3%
Kingdon Capital Management Corp.	140,000	0.3%
Mellon Bank, N.A.	110,360	0.2%
Total Institutional Holdings	6,561,394	12.3%

	Amount	%
Insiders [2]
Ronald O. Perelman	44,067,520	82.8%
Other Directors & Officers	322,594	0.4%
Total Insider Holdings	44,390,114	83.2%
Other Holdings	2,413,982	4.5%
Total Shares Outstanding [3]	53,424,856	100.0%

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY
CONFIDENTIAL
0083978

Notes:
(1) Based on Technimetrics ownership run dated 2/20/97
(2) Based on Proxy dated 3/31/97
(3) Based on common shares outstanding per 9/30/97 10Q

010610

PRELIMINARY VALUATION OF CAMPER COMPANY

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY
CONFIDENTIAL
0083979

110610

F13\100128\02-22-98\8:31 AM

MORGAN STANLEY
16CIV-024356

PROJECT LASER

Valuation Methodology

Morgan Stanley's preliminary valuation relies on four valuation methodologies:

	Methods	Relevance for the Company
Comparable Trading Company Analysis	-Value in public equity markets -Analysis of comparable companies' trading and operating statistics -Add "control premium" to determine M&A value	-Depends upon the number of pure comparable companies in size and business line
Precedent Transactions	-Value in market for "Corporate Control" -Price required to be paid to control cash flows -Analysis of precedent transactions is helpful to the extent the acquiree is similar and the external environment is constant	-Depends upon number of recent precedent transactions and degree of comparability
Discounted Cash Flow Analysis	-Discounted present value of projected cash flows with a terminal value applied -Discounted at the appropriate discount rate, the "Weighted Average Cost of Capital" -Resulting DCF value is adjusted to reflect other assets (e.g., cash) and liabilities (e.g., debt)	-Best gauge of standalone economic value -Best method of capturing unique value of company for a strategic buyer -Focuses on cash flow and growth characteristics of company -If done properly, is a very useful valuation tool in negotiations -Must have realistic underlying business plan/budget

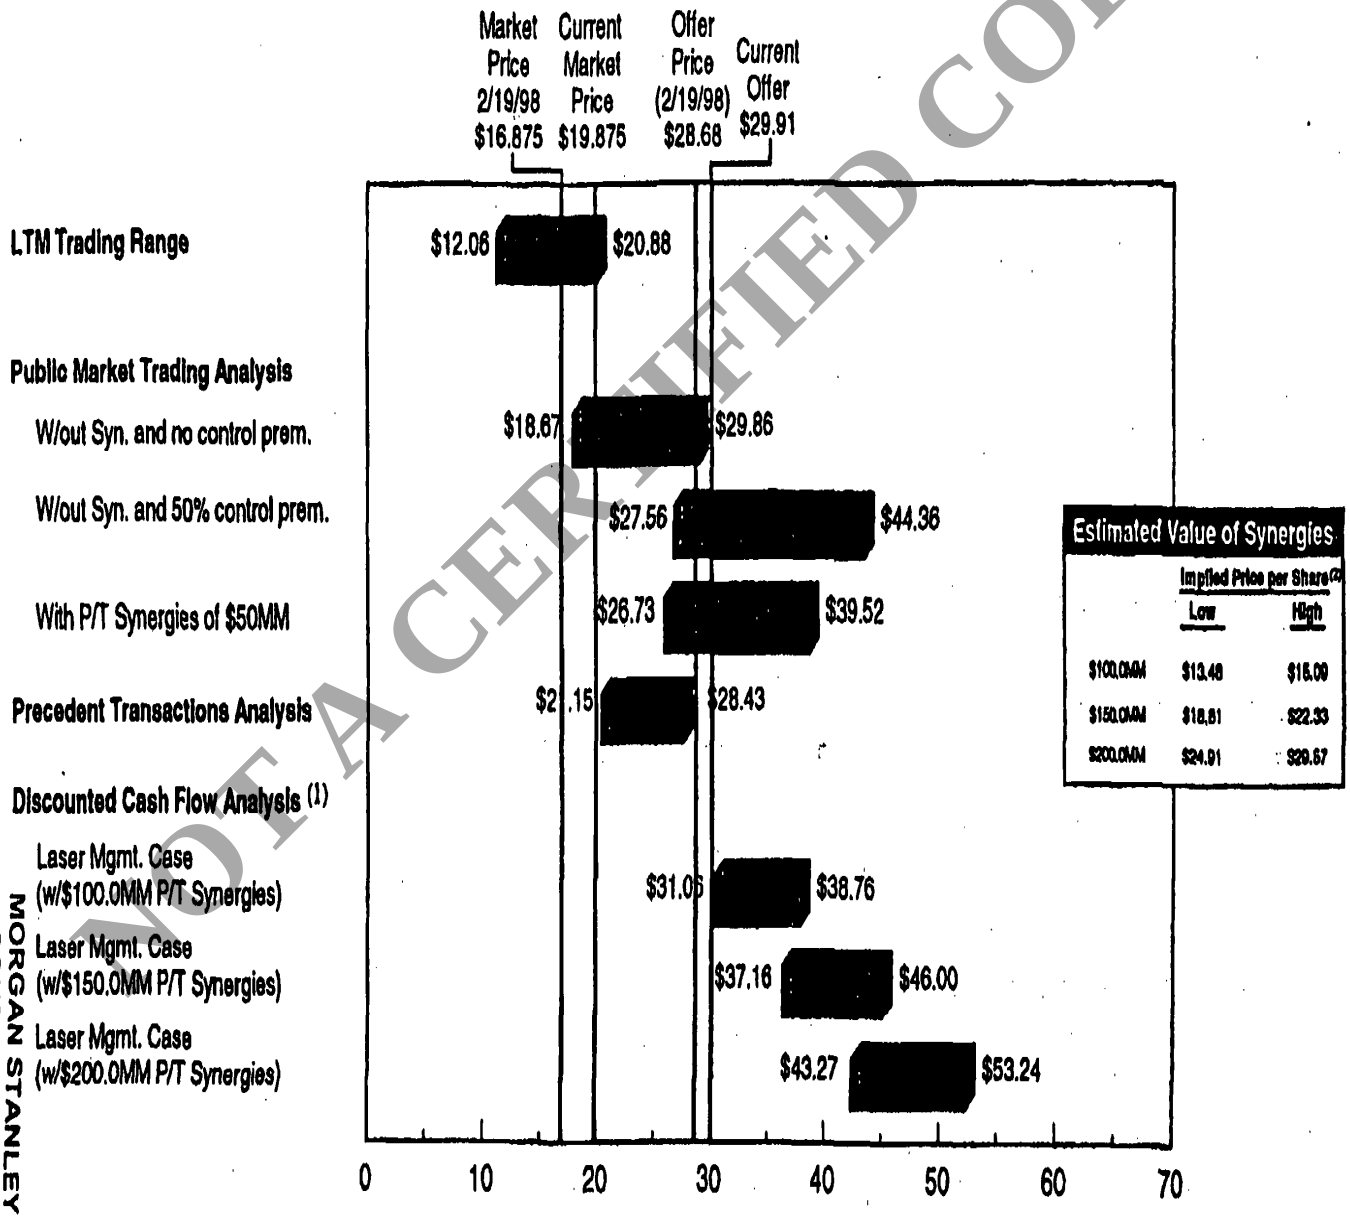
MORGAN STANLEY
CONFIDENTIAL
0083980

OF A CERTIFIED COPY

210610

PROJECT LASER

Summary of Valuation Analysis
CAMPER Company



Estimated Value of Synergies

	Implied Price per Share(2) Low	High
$100.0MM	$13.48	$15.09
$150.0MM	$18.51	$22.33
$200.0MM	$24.91	$29.57

Notes: (1) Discounted to January 1, 1998 assuming a 10.5-11.5% discount rate and a 9.0-11.0 forward EBIT Multiple for terminal value.
(2) Based on 53.4MM common shares outstanding on 2/25/98 from the 9/30/97 10-Q and 3.3MM options outstanding with an average exercise price $15.14 on 12/31/97 from Camper Management; options proceeds assumes tax benefits on options exercise.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0083981

C 10610

16div-024368

PROJECT LASER

Summary of Camper Valuation Analyses

($MM, except per share data)

Benchmark	Amount	Multiple Range Low		Multiple Range High	Implied Aggregate Value Low		Implied Aggregate Value High	Implied Equity Value Low		Implied Equity Value High	Implied Price per Share (4) Low		Implied Price per Share (4) High
I. Trading Analysis
Without Synergies
1998E Revenues	$1,184.9	1.5 x	-	2.2 x	$1,777	-	$2,607	$1,337	-	$2,167	$24.44	-	$39.05
1998E EBITDA	159.1	8.0	-	12.0	1,273	-	1,909	832	-	1,469	15.54	-	26.75
1998E EBIT	124.9	11.0	-	16.0	1,374	-	1,998	934	-	1,558	17.33	-	28.33
1998E Net Income	60.3	18.0	-	23.0	1,526	-	1,827	1,085	-	1,387	20.00	-	25.31
Without Control Premium					Mean:	$1,487	- $2,085	$1,047	-	$1,645	$19.33	-	$29.86
					Median:	$1,450	- $1,954	$1,010	-	$1,513	$18.67	-	$27.54
Control Premium 50.0%					Mean (1):	$2,017	- $2,908	$1,571	-	$2,468	$28.55	-	$44.36
					Median (1):	$1,955	- $2,710	$1,514	-	$2,270	$27.56	-	$40.88
With Synergies (2)
1998E EBITDA (w/ Synergies)	$209.1	8.0 x	-	12.0 x	$1,673	-	$2,509	$1,232	-	$2,069	$22.59	-	$37.33
1998E EBIT (w/ Synergies)	174.9	11.0	-	16.0	1,924	-	2,798	1,484	-	2,358	27.02	-	42.43
1998E Net Income (w/ Synergies)	93.6	18.0	-	23.0	2,125	-	2,593	1,685	-	2,153	30.57	-	38.81
					Mean:	$1,907	- $2,633	$1,467	-	$2,193	$26.73	-	$39.52
					Median:	$1,924	- $2,593	$1,484	-	$2,153	$27.02	-	$38.81
II. Precedent Transaction Analysis
1997 Revenues	$1,066.0	1.9 x	-	2.4 x	$2,025	-	$2,558	$1,585	-	$2,118	$28.81	-	$38.20
1997 EBITDA (w/o Synergies)	99.0	12.0	-	15.6	1,188	-	1,544	748	-	1,104	13.99	-	20.33
1998 EBITDA (w/o Synergies)	159.1	10.0	-	12.0	1,591	-	1,909	1,150	-	1,469	21.15	-	26.75
					Mean:	$1,601	- $2,004	$1,161	-	$1,564	$21.31	-	$28.43
					Median:	$1,591	- $1,909	$1,150	-	$1,469	$21.15	-	$26.75
III. Discounted Cash Flow (3)
Laser Mgmt. Case (w/o Synergies)					$1,432	-	$1,734	$992	-	$1,294	$18.36	-	$23.67
Laser Mgmt. Case (w/ $100.0MM Base Pre-Tax Synergies)					2,153		2,590	$1,713	-	$2,150	31.06	-	38.76
Laser Mgmt. Case (w/ $150.0MM Base Pre-Tax Synergies)					2,500		3,001	$2,059	-	$2,561	37.16	-	46.00
Laser Mgmt. Case (w/ $200.0MM Base Pre-Tax Synergies)					2,846		3,412	$2,406	-	$2,972	43.27	-	53.24
IV. Estimated Value of Synergies
$100.0MM Pre-Tax								$721	-	$856	$13.48	-	$15.09
$150.0MM Pre-Tax								1,067	-	1,267	18.81	-	22.33
$200.0MM Pre-Tax								1,414	-	1,678	24.91	-	29.57

Notes:
(1) Assumes a 50.0% equity control premium.
(2) Assumes 1998 pre-tax synergies of $150.0MM.
(3) Discounted to January 1, 1998 assuming a 10.5-11.5% discount rate and a 9.0-11.0 forward EBIT Multiple for terminal value.
(4) Based on 53.5 MM common shares outstanding and 3.3 MM options outstanding with an average exercise price of $15.14 from Camper Management; assumes treasury method shares.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0083982

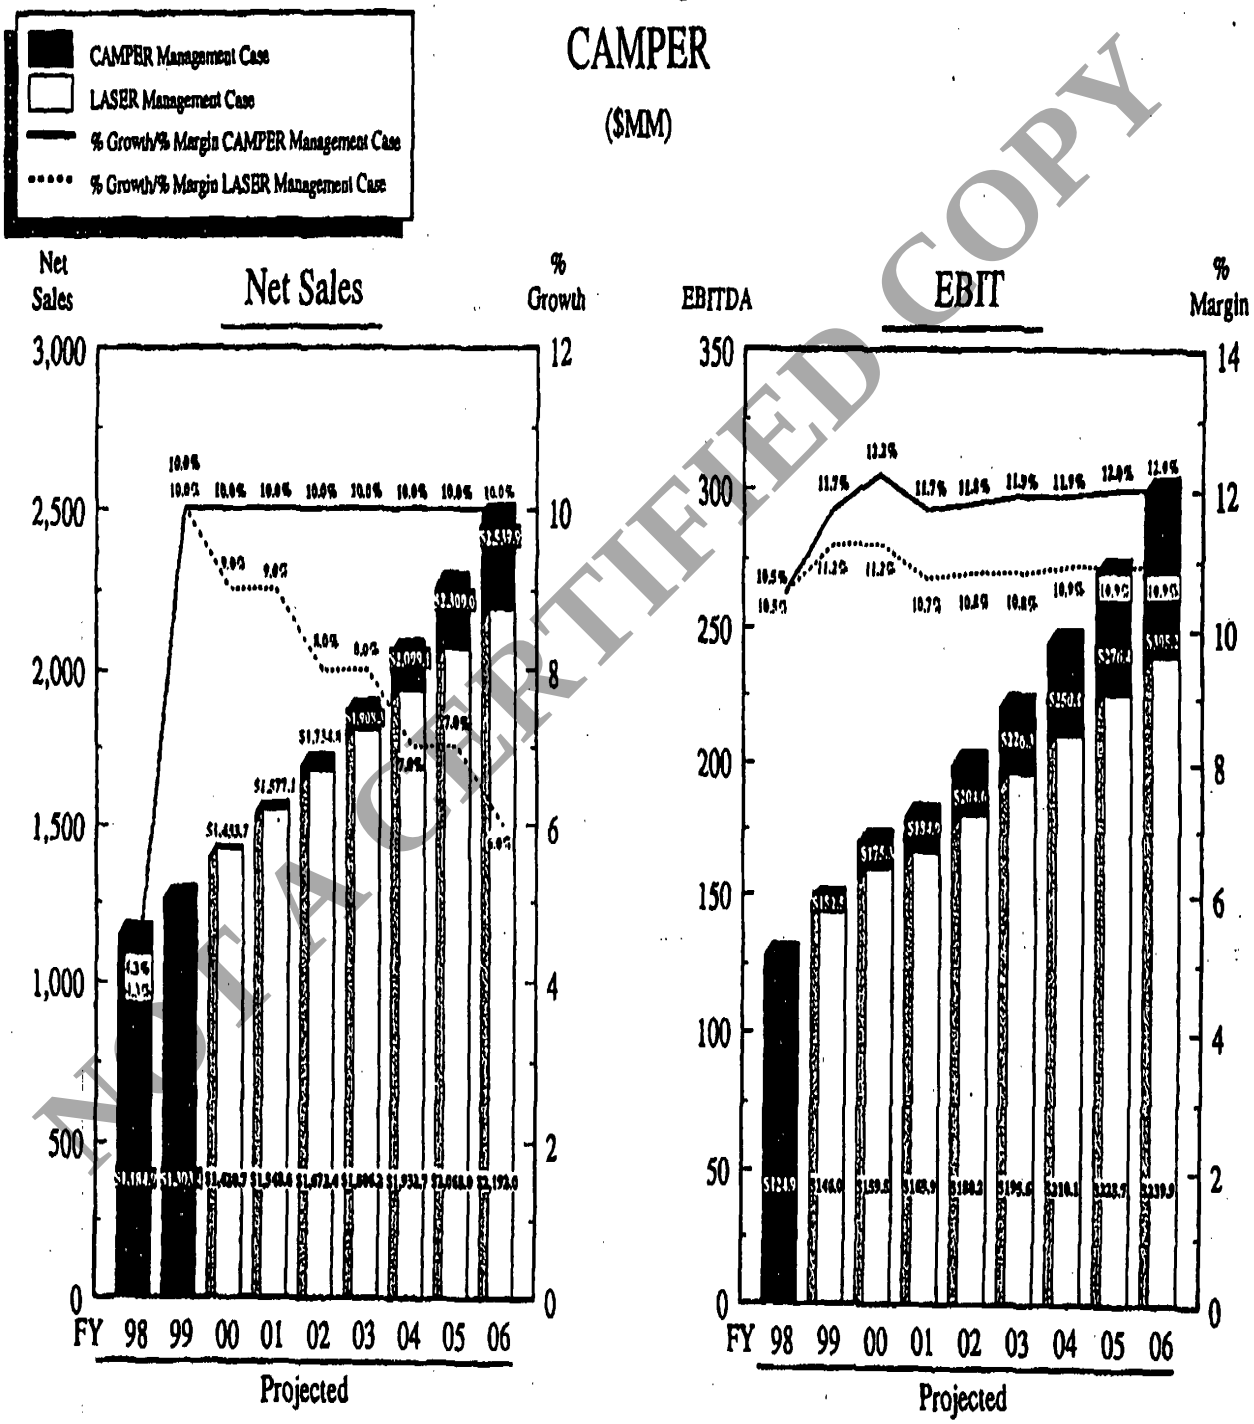
16div 024369 MORGAN STANLEY

PROJECT LASER

Financial Projections

CAMPER

($MM)



MORGAN STANLEY
CONFIDENTIAL
0083983

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

S10610

F18D0145034.01\2-28-98\1:04A

MSCAN0000870

PROJECT LASER

Camper Valuation Matrix - Without Synergies

Laser Mgmt. Case Without Synergies

($MM, except per share data)

Exch. Ratio (1)	Impl. Price Per Share	Equity Value (1)	Aggregate Value (2)	Premium/(Discount) to: Cur. (3)	LTM High	LTM Low	Equity Value/ FY Earnings 1997E (4)	1998E (4)	1999E (4)	Aggregate Value/ 1997E (4) Sales	1997E (4) EBITDA	1997E (4) EBIT	Aggregate Value/ 1998E (4) Sales	1998E (4) EBITDA	1998E (4) EBIT	Aggregate Value/ 1999E (4) Sales	1999E (4) EBITDA	1999E (4) EBIT
Camper Stat.:				$19.88	$20.88	$12.06	$12.8	$60.3	$77.4	$1,066.0	$99.0	$62.8	$1,184.9	$159.1	$124.9	$1,303.4	$190.0	$146.0
0.7000 x	$29.31	$1,613.8	$2,054.0	47.5 %	40.4 %	143.0 %	N.M. x	26.8 x	20.9 x	1.9 x	20.7 x	32.7 x	1.7 x	12.9 x	16.4 x	1.6 x	10.8 x	14.1 x
0.7050	29.52	1,625.7	2,065.9	48.5	41.4	144.7	N.M.	27.0	21.0	1.9	20.9	32.9	1.7	13.0	16.5	1.6	10.9	14.1
0.7100	29.73	1,637.6	2,077.8	49.6	42.4	146.5	N.M.	27.2	21.2	1.9	21.0	33.1	1.8	13.1	16.6	1.6	10.9	14.2
0.7150	29.94	1,649.4	2,089.7	50.6	43.4	148.2	N.M.	27.4	21.3	2.0	21.1	33.3	1.8	13.1	16.7	1.6	11.0	14.3
0.7200	30.15	1,661.3	2,101.5	51.7	44.4	149.9	N.M.	27.6	21.5	2.0	21.2	33.5	1.8	13.2	16.8	1.6	11.1	14.4
0.7250	30.36	1,673.2	2,113.4	52.8	45.4	151.7	N.M.	27.8	21.6	2.0	21.3	33.7	1.8	13.3	16.9	1.6	11.1	14.5
0.7300	30.57	1,685.1	2,125.3	53.8	46.4	153.4	N.M.	28.0	21.8	2.0	21.5	33.8	1.8	13.4	17.0	1.6	11.2	14.6
0.7350	30.78	1,697.0	2,137.2	54.9	47.4	155.2	N.M.	28.2	21.9	2.0	21.6	34.0	1.8	13.4	17.1	1.6	11.3	14.6
0.7400	30.99	1,708.9	2,149.1	55.9	48.4	156.9	N.M.	28.4	22.1	2.0	21.7	34.2	1.8	13.5	17.2	1.6	11.3	14.7
0.7450	31.20	1,720.7	2,160.9	57.0	49.4	158.6	N.M.	28.6	22.2	2.0	21.8	34.4	1.8	13.6	17.3	1.7	11.4	14.8
0.7500	31.41	1,732.6	2,172.8	58.0	50.4	160.4	N.M.	28.8	22.4	2.0	21.9	34.6	1.8	13.7	17.4	1.7	11.4	14.9
0.7550	31.62	1,744.5	2,184.7	59.1	51.5	162.1	N.M.	29.0	22.5	2.0	22.1	34.8	1.8	13.7	17.5	1.7	11.5	15.0
0.7600	31.83	1,756.4	2,196.6	60.1	52.5	163.8	N.M.	29.1	22.7	2.1	22.2	35.0	1.9	13.8	17.6	1.7	11.6	15.0
0.7650	32.03	1,768.3	2,208.5	61.2	53.5	165.6	N.M.	29.3	22.8	2.1	22.3	35.2	1.9	13.9	17.7	1.7	11.6	15.1
0.7700	32.24	1,780.1	2,220.4	62.2	54.5	167.3	N.M.	29.5	23.0	2.1	22.4	35.4	1.9	14.0	17.8	1.7	11.7	15.2
0.7750	32.45	1,792.0	2,232.2	63.3	55.5	169.0	N.M.	29.7	23.2	2.1	22.5	35.5	1.9	14.0	17.9	1.7	11.8	15.3
0.7800	32.66	1,803.9	2,244.1	64.3	56.5	170.8	N.M.	29.9	23.3	2.1	22.7	35.7	1.9	14.1	18.0	1.7	11.8	15.4
0.7850	32.87	1,815.8	2,256.0	65.4	57.5	172.5	N.M.	30.1	23.5	2.1	22.8	35.9	1.9	14.2	18.1	1.7	11.9	15.4
0.7900	33.08	1,827.7	2,267.9	66.4	58.5	174.2	N.M.	30.3	23.6	2.1	22.9	36.1	1.9	14.3	18.2	1.7	11.9	15.5
0.7950	33.29	1,839.6	2,279.8	67.5	59.5	176.0	N.M.	30.5	23.8	2.1	23.0	36.3	1.9	14.3	18.3	1.7	12.0	15.6

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0083984

Notes: (1) Based on 53.5 MM common shares outstanding on 2/20/98 and 3.3 MM options outstanding with an average exercise price of $15.14 on 2/23/98 from information provided by Camper Management.
(2) Includes Preferred Stock of $0 MM and Total Debt of $345 MM less Cash of $13 MM.
(3) Based on the closing share prices on 2/26/98.
(4) Estimates based on Laser Mgmt. Case

B 10610

MORGAN STANLEY 024371

PROJECT LASER

Camper Valuation Matrix - With Base Synergies of $100.0MM (8.4% of 1998 Sales)

Laser Mgmt. Case - Base Synergies of $100.0MM

($MM, except per share data)

Exch. Ratio (1)	Impl. Price Per Share	Equity Value (1)	Aggregate Value (2)	Premiums/(Discount) to: Cur. (3)	LTM High	LTM Low	Equity Value/ FY Earnings 1997E (4)	1998E (4)	1999E (4)	Aggregate Value/ 1997E (4) Sales	1997E (4) EBITDA	1997E (4) EBIT	Aggregate Value/ 1998E (4) Sales	1998E (4) EBITDA	1998E (4) EBIT	Aggregate Value/ 1999E (4) Sales	1999E (4) EBITDA	1999E (4) EBIT
Camper Sim.:				$19.88	$20.88	$12.06	$45.3	$93.6	$145.8	$1,066.0	$149.0	$112.8	$1,184.9	$209.1	$174.9	$1,303.4	$290.0	$246.0
0.7000 x	$29.31	$1,613.8	$2,054.0	47.5 %	40.4 %	143.0 %	35.7 x	17.2 x	11.1 x	1.9 x	13.8 x	18.2 x	1.7 x	9.8 x	11.7 x	1.6 x	7.1 x	8.3 x
0.7050	29.52	1,625.7	2,065.9	48.5	41.4	144.7	35.9	17.4	11.1	1.9	13.9	18.3	1.7	9.9	11.8	1.6	7.1	8.4
0.7100	29.73	1,637.6	2,077.8	49.6	42.4	146.5	36.2	17.5	11.2	1.9	13.9	18.4	1.8	9.9	11.9	1.6	7.2	8.4
0.7150	29.94	1,649.4	2,089.7	50.6	43.4	148.2	36.4	17.6	11.3	2.0	14.0	18.5	1.8	10.0	11.9	1.6	7.2	8.5
0.7200	30.15	1,661.3	2,101.5	51.7	44.4	149.9	36.7	17.7	11.4	2.0	14.1	18.6	1.8	10.1	12.0	1.6	7.2	8.5
0.7250	30.36	1,673.2	2,113.4	52.8	45.4	151.7	37.0	17.9	11.5	2.0	14.2	18.7	1.8	10.1	12.1	1.6	7.3	8.6
0.7300	30.57	1,685.1	2,125.3	53.8	46.4	153.4	37.2	18.0	11.6	2.0	14.3	18.8	1.8	10.2	12.2	1.6	7.3	8.6
0.7350	30.78	1,697.0	2,137.2	54.9	47.4	155.2	37.5	18.1	11.6	2.0	14.3	18.9	1.8	10.2	12.2	1.6	7.4	8.7
0.7400	30.99	1,708.9	2,149.1	55.9	48.4	156.9	37.8	18.3	11.7	2.0	14.4	19.1	1.8	10.3	12.3	1.6	7.4	8.7
0.7450	31.20	1,720.7	2,160.9	57.0	49.4	158.6	38.0	18.4	11.8	2.0	14.5	19.2	1.8	10.3	12.4	1.7	7.5	8.8
0.7500	31.41	1,732.6	2,172.8	58.0	50.4	160.4	38.3	18.5	11.9	2.0	14.6	19.3	1.8	10.4	12.4	1.7	7.5	8.8
0.7550	31.62	1,744.5	2,184.7	59.1	51.5	162.1	38.5	18.6	12.0	2.0	14.7	19.4	1.8	10.4	12.5	1.7	7.5	8.9
0.7600	31.83	1,756.4	2,196.6	60.1	52.5	163.8	38.8	18.8	12.0	2.1	14.7	19.5	1.9	10.5	12.6	1.7	7.6	8.9
0.7650	32.03	1,768.3	2,208.5	61.2	53.5	165.6	39.1	18.9	12.1	2.1	14.8	19.6	1.9	10.6	12.6	1.7	7.6	9.0
0.7700	32.24	1,780.1	2,220.4	62.2	54.5	167.3	39.3	19.0	12.2	2.1	14.9	19.7	1.9	10.6	12.7	1.7	7.7	9.0
0.7750	32.45	1,792.0	2,232.2	63.3	55.5	169.0	39.6	19.1	12.3	2.1	15.0	19.8	1.9	10.7	12.8	1.7	7.7	9.1
0.7800	32.66	1,803.9	2,244.1	64.3	56.5	170.8	39.9	19.3	12.4	2.1	15.1	19.9	1.9	10.7	12.8	1.7	7.7	9.1
0.7850	32.87	1,815.8	2,256.0	65.4	57.5	172.5	40.1	19.4	12.5	2.1	15.1	20.0	1.9	10.8	12.9	1.7	7.8	9.2
0.7900	33.08	1,827.7	2,267.9	66.4	58.5	174.2	40.4	19.5	12.5	2.1	15.2	20.1	1.9	10.8	13.0	1.7	7.8	9.2
0.7950	33.29	1,839.6	2,279.8	67.5	59.5	176.0	40.6	19.7	12.6	2.1	15.3	20.2	1.9	10.9	13.0	1.7	7.9	9.3

Notes: (1) Based on 55.5 MM common shares outstanding on 2/20/98 and 3.3 MM options outstanding with an average exercise price of $13.14 on 2/23/98 from information provided by Camper Management.

(2) Includes Preferred Stock of $50MM and Total Debt of $453 MM less Cash of $13 MM.

(3) Based on the closing share prices on 2/25/98.

(4) Estimates based on Laser Mgmt. Case

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0083985

MSDPM 0243872

PROJECT LASER

Camper Valuation Matrix - With Base Synergies of $150.0MM (12.7% of 1998 Sales)

Laser Mgmt. Case - Base Synergies of $150.0MM

($MM, except per share data)

Exch. Ratio (1)	Impl. Price Per Share	Equity Value (1)	Aggregate Value (2)	Premium/(Discount) to: Cur. (3)	LTM High	LTM Low	Equity Value/ FY Earnings 1997E (4)	1998E (4)	1999E (4)	Aggregate Value/ 1997E (4) Sales	1997E (4) EBITDA	1997E (4) EBIT	Aggregate Value/ 1998E (4) Sales	1998E (4) EBITDA	1998E (4) EBIT	Aggregate Value/ 1999E (4) Sales	1999E (4) EBITDA	1999E (4) EBIT
Camper Stat.:				$19.88	$20.88	$12.06	$61.5	$110.3	$180.1	$1,066.0	$174.0	$137.8	$1,184.9	$234.1	$199.9	$1,303.4	$340.0	$296.0
0.7000 x	$29.31	$1,613.8	$2,054.0	47.5 %	40.4 %	143.0 %	26.2 x	14.6 x	9.0 x	1.9 x	11.8 x	14.9 x	1.7 x	8.8 x	10.3 x	1.6 x	6.0 x	6.9 x
0.7050	29.52	1,625.7	2,065.9	48.5	41.4	144.7	26.4	14.7	9.0	1.9	11.9	15.0	1.7	8.8	10.3	1.6	6.1	7.0
0.7100	29.73	1,637.6	2,077.8	49.6	42.4	146.5	26.6	14.8	9.1	1.9	11.9	15.1	1.8	8.9	10.4	1.6	6.1	7.0
0.7150	29.94	1,649.4	2,089.7	50.6	43.4	148.2	26.8	15.0	9.2	2.0	12.0	15.2	1.8	8.9	10.5	1.6	6.1	7.1
0.7200	30.15	1,661.3	2,101.5	51.7	44.4	149.9	27.0	15.1	9.2	2.0	12.1	15.3	1.8	9.0	10.5	1.6	6.2	7.1
0.7250	30.36	1,673.2	2,113.4	52.8	45.4	151.7	27.2	15.2	9.3	2.0	12.1	15.3	1.8	9.0	10.6	1.6	6.2	7.1
0.7300	30.57	1,685.1	2,125.3	53.8	46.4	153.4	27.4	15.3	9.4	2.0	12.2	15.4	1.8	9.1	10.6	1.6	6.3	7.2
0.7350	30.78	1,697.0	2,137.2	54.9	47.4	155.2	27.6	15.4	9.4	2.0	12.3	15.5	1.8	9.1	10.7	1.6	6.3	7.2
0.7400	30.99	1,708.9	2,149.1	55.9	48.4	156.9	27.8	15.5	9.5	2.0	12.4	15.6	1.8	9.2	10.8	1.6	6.3	7.3
0.7450	31.20	1,720.7	2,160.9	57.0	49.4	158.6	28.0	15.6	9.6	2.0	12.4	15.7	1.8	9.2	10.8	1.7	6.4	7.3
0.7500	31.41	1,732.6	2,172.8	58.0	50.4	160.4	28.2	15.7	9.6	2.0	12.5	15.8	1.8	9.3	10.9	1.7	6.4	7.3
0.7550	31.62	1,744.5	2,184.7	59.1	51.5	162.1	28.4	15.8	9.7	2.0	12.6	15.9	1.8	9.3	10.9	1.7	6.4	7.4
0.7600	31.83	1,756.4	2,196.6	60.1	52.5	163.8	28.6	15.9	9.8	2.1	12.6	15.9	1.9	9.4	11.0	1.7	6.5	7.4
0.7650	32.03	1,768.3	2,208.5	61.2	53.5	165.6	28.7	16.0	9.8	2.1	12.7	16.0	1.9	9.4	11.0	1.7	6.5	7.5
0.7700	32.24	1,780.1	2,220.4	62.2	54.5	167.3	28.9	16.1	9.9	2.1	12.8	16.1	1.9	9.5	11.1	1.7	6.5	7.5
0.7750	32.45	1,792.0	2,232.2	63.3	55.5	169.0	29.1	16.2	10.0	2.1	12.8	16.2	1.9	9.5	11.2	1.7	6.6	7.5
0.7800	32.66	1,803.9	2,244.1	64.3	56.5	170.8	29.3	16.4	10.0	2.1	12.9	16.3	1.9	9.6	11.2	1.7	6.6	7.6
0.7850	32.87	1,815.8	2,256.0	65.4	57.5	172.5	29.5	16.5	10.1	2.1	13.0	16.4	1.9	9.6	11.3	1.7	6.6	7.6
0.7900	33.08	1,827.7	2,267.9	66.4	58.5	174.2	29.7	16.6	10.2	2.1	13.0	16.5	1.9	9.7	11.3	1.7	6.7	7.7
0.7950	33.29	1,839.6	2,279.8	67.5	59.5	176.0	29.9	16.7	10.2	2.1	13.1	16.5	1.9	9.7	11.4	1.7	6.7	7.7

Notes: (1) Based on 92.5 MM common shares outstanding on 2/20/98 and 3.3 MM options outstanding with an average exercise price of $15.14 on 2/23/98 from information provided by Camper Management.

(2) Includes Preferred Stock of $0 MM and Total Debt of 945.3 MM less Cash of $13 MM.

(3) Based on the closing share prices on 2/25/98.

(4) Estimates based on Laser Mgmt. Case

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0083986

16div 004873 MORGAN STANLEY

PROJECT LASER

Camper Valuation Matrix - With Base Synergies of $200.0MM (16.9% of 1998 Sales)

Laser Mgmt. Case - Base Synergies of $200.0MM

($MM, except per share data)

Exch. Ratio (1)	Impl. Price Per Share	Equity Value (1)	Aggregate Value (2)	Premium/(Discount) to: Curr. (3)	LTM High	LTM Low	Equity Value/ FY Earnings 1997E (4)	1998E (4)	1999E (4)	Aggregate Value/ 1997E (4) Sales	1997E (4) EBITDA	1997E (4) EBIT	Aggregate Value/ 1998E (4) Sales	1998E (4) EBITDA	1998E (4) EBIT	Aggregate Value/ 1999E (4) Sales	1999E (4) EBITDA	1999E (4) EBIT
Camper Stat.:				$19.88	$20.88	$12.06	$77.8	$127.0	$214.3	$1,066.0	$199.0	$162.8	$1,184.9	$259.1	$224.9	$1,303.4	$390.0	$346.0
0.7000 x	$29.31	$1,613.8	$2,054.0	47.5 %	40.4 %	143.0 %	20.8 x	12.7 x	7.5 x	1.9 x	10.3 x	12.6 x	1.7 x	7.9 x	9.1 x	1.6 x	5.3 x	5.9 x
0.7050	29.52	1,625.7	2,065.9	48.5	41.4	144.7	20.9	12.8	7.6	1.9	10.4	12.7	1.7	8.0	9.2	1.6	5.3	6.0
0.7100	29.73	1,637.6	2,077.8	49.6	42.4	146.5	21.1	12.9	7.6	1.9	10.4	12.8	1.8	8.0	9.2	1.6	5.3	6.0
0.7150	29.94	1,649.4	2,089.7	50.6	43.4	148.2	21.2	13.0	7.7	2.0	10.5	12.8	1.8	8.1	9.3	1.6	5.4	6.0
0.7200	30.15	1,661.3	2,101.5	51.7	44.4	149.9	21.4	13.1	7.8	2.0	10.6	12.9	1.8	8.1	9.3	1.6	5.4	6.1
0.7250	30.36	1,673.2	2,113.4	52.8	45.4	151.7	21.5	13.2	7.8	2.0	10.6	13.0	1.8	8.2	9.4	1.6	5.4	6.1
0.7300	30.57	1,685.1	2,125.3	53.8	46.4	153.4	21.7	13.3	7.9	2.0	10.7	13.1	1.8	8.2	9.4	1.6	5.5	6.1
0.7350	30.78	1,697.0	2,137.2	54.9	47.4	155.2	21.8	13.4	7.9	2.0	10.7	13.1	1.8	8.2	9.5	1.6	5.5	6.2
0.7400	30.99	1,708.9	2,149.1	55.9	48.4	156.9	22.0	13.5	8.0	2.0	10.8	13.2	1.8	8.3	9.6	1.6	5.5	6.2
0.7450	31.20	1,720.7	2,160.9	57.0	49.4	158.6	22.1	13.6	8.0	2.0	10.9	13.3	1.8	8.3	9.6	1.7	5.5	6.2
0.7500	31.41	1,732.6	2,172.8	58.0	50.4	160.4	22.3	13.6	8.1	2.0	10.9	13.3	1.8	8.4	9.7	1.7	5.6	6.3
0.7550	31.62	1,744.5	2,184.7	59.1	51.5	162.1	22.4	13.7	8.1	2.0	11.0	13.4	1.8	8.4	9.7	1.7	5.6	6.3
0.7600	31.83	1,756.4	2,196.6	60.1	52.5	163.8	22.6	13.8	8.2	2.1	11.0	13.5	1.9	8.5	9.8	1.7	5.6	6.3
0.7650	32.03	1,768.3	2,208.5	61.2	53.5	165.6	22.7	13.9	8.3	2.1	11.1	13.6	1.9	8.5	9.8	1.7	5.7	6.4
0.7700	32.24	1,780.1	2,220.4	62.2	54.5	167.3	22.9	14.0	8.3	2.1	11.2	13.6	1.9	8.6	9.9	1.7	5.7	6.4
0.7750	32.45	1,792.0	2,232.2	63.3	55.5	169.0	23.0	14.1	8.4	2.1	11.2	13.7	1.9	8.6	9.9	1.7	5.7	6.5
0.7800	32.66	1,803.9	2,244.1	64.3	56.5	170.8	23.2	14.2	8.4	2.1	11.3	13.8	1.9	8.7	10.0	1.7	5.8	6.5
0.7850	32.87	1,815.8	2,256.0	65.4	57.5	172.5	23.3	14.3	8.5	2.1	11.3	13.9	1.9	8.7	10.0	1.7	5.8	6.5
0.7900	33.08	1,827.7	2,267.9	66.4	58.5	174.2	23.5	14.4	8.5	2.1	11.4	13.9	1.9	8.8	10.1	1.7	5.8	6.6
0.7950	33.29	1,839.6	2,279.8	67.5	59.5	176.0	23.7	14.5	8.6	2.1	11.5	14.0	1.9	8.8	10.1	1.7	5.8	6.6

Notes: (1) Based on 55.5 MM common shares outstanding on 2/20/98 and 3.3 MM options outstanding with an average exercise price of $15.14 on 2/23/98 from information provided by Camper Management.
(2) Includes Preferred Stock of $0 MM and Total Debt of $433 MM less Cash of $13 MM.
(3) Based on the closing share prices on 2/25/98.
(4) Estimates based on Laser Mgmt. Case

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY
MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0083987
16div 024374 MORGAN STANLEY

PROJECT LASER

Camper Discounted Cash Flow Analysis - Without Synergies

Laser Mgmt. Case

($MM, except per share data)

EBIT Multiple (x) (Forward)	9.0			10.0			11.0
Discount Rate	10.5%	11.0%	11.5%	10.5%	11.0%	11.5%	10.5%	11.0%	11.5%
Present Value of
Cash Flows - Year 1	$98	$98	$98	$98	$98	$98	$98	$98	$98
Cash Flows - Years 2-8	448	439	431	448	439	431	448	439	431
Terminus	971	937	904	1,079	1,041	1,004	1,187	1,145	1,105
Other Assets (Liabs)(a/t)	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Aggregate Value	$1,518	$1,474	$1,432	$1,626	$1,578	$1,533	$1,734	$1,682	$1,633
Cash	$13	$13	$13	$13	$13	$13	$13	$13	$13
Preferred Stock	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Total Debt	(453)	(453)	(453)	(453)	(453)	(453)	(453)	(453)	(453)
Equity Value	$1,078	$1,034	$992	$1,186	$1,138	$1,092	$1,294	$1,242	$1,193
Price Per Share (1)	$19.87	$19.10	$18.36	$21.77	$20.93	$20.13	$23.67	$22.77	$21.90
Premium (Discount) to Market (2)	-1.6%	-5.4%	-9.1%	7.8%	3.7%	-0.3%	17.3%	12.8%	8.5%
1998E P/E Implied	17.9 x	17.2 x	16.5 x	19.7 x	18.9 x	18.1 x	21.5 x	20.6 x	19.8 x
Valuation Multiple (Entry)
Aggregate Value/1998E Revenue	1.3 x	1.2 x	1.2 x	1.4 x	1.3 x	1.3 x	1.5 x	1.4 x	1.4 x
Aggregate Value/1998E EBITDA	9.5	9.3	9.0	10.2	9.9	9.6	10.9	10.6	10.3
Aggregate Value/1998E EBIT	12.2	11.8	11.5	13.0	12.6	12.3	13.9	13.5	13.1
Equity Value/1998E Net Income	17.9	17.2	16.5	19.7	18.9	18.1	21.5	20.6	19.8
Terminal Value Analysis
% Value in Terminus	64.0%	63.6%	63.1%	66.4%	66.0%	65.5%	68.5%	68.1%	67.7%
% Value in Cash Flows	36.0%	36.4%	36.9%	33.6%	34.0%	34.5%	31.5%	31.9%	32.3%
Implied Forward Terminal Multiples
Sales	1.0 x	1.0 x	1.0 x	1.1 x	1.1 x	1.1 x	1.2 x	1.2 x	1.2 x
EBITDA	7.0	7.0	7.0	7.8	7.8	7.8	8.6	8.6	8.6
EBIT	9.0	9.0	9.0	10.0	10.0	10.0	11.0	11.0	11.0
P/E	15.2	15.2	15.2	16.6	16.6	16.6	18.1	18.1	18.1
Perpetual Growth Rate	3.9%	4.4%	4.8%	4.5%	5.0%	5.5%	5.0%	5.5%	6.0%

Notes: (1) Based on 53.5MM common shares outstanding on February 26, 1998 from Camper mgmt. and 3.3MM options outstanding at an average exercise price of $15.14 on February 26, 1998 from Camper mgmt.; treasury method shares assumed.

(2) Based on the closing share price of $20.19 on February 26, 1998.

Assumed no synergies.

Valuation As of January 1, 1998

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0083988

MSDW 02403515

PROJECT LASER

Camper Discounted Cash Flow Analysis - With Synergies of $100.0MM (8.4% of 1998 Sales) (3)

Laser Mgmt. Case

($MM, except per share data)

EBIT Multiple (x) (Forward)	9.0			10.0			11.0
Discount Rate	10.5%	11.0%	11.5%	10.5%	11.0%	11.5%	10.5%	11.0%	11.5%
Present Value of
Cash Flows - Year 1	$129	$129	$128	$129	$129	$128	$129	$129	$128
Cash Flows - Years 2-8	754	739	725	754	739	725	754	739	725
Terminus	1,397	1,347	1,300	1,552	1,497	1,444	1,707	1,646	1,588
Other Assets (Liabs)(a/l)	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Aggregate Value	$2,280	$2,215	$2,153	$2,435	$2,365	$2,297	$2,590	$2,514	$2,442
Cash	$13	$13	$13	$13	$13	$13	$13	$13	$13
Preferred Stock	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Total Debt	(453)	(453)	(453)	(453)	(453)	(453)	(453)	(453)	(453)
Equity Value	$1,839	$1,775	$1,713	$1,995	$1,925	$1,857	$2,150	$2,074	$2,002
Price Per Share (1)	$33.29	$32.15	$31.06	$36.02	$34.79	$33.60	$38.76	$37.43	$36.15
Premium (Discount) to Market (2)	64.9%	59.3%	53.8%	78.4%	72.3%	66.5%	92.0%	85.4%	79.1%
1998E P/E Implied	19.6 x	19.0 x	18.3 x	21.3 x	20.6 x	19.8 x	23.0 x	22.2 x	21.4 x
Valuation Multiple (Entry)
Aggregate Value/1998E Revenue	1.9 x	1.9 x	1.8 x	2.1 x	2.0 x	1.9 x	2.2 x	2.1 x	2.1 x
Aggregate Value/1998E EBITDA	10.9	10.6	10.3	11.6	11.3	11.0	12.4	12.0	11.7
Aggregate Value/1998E EBIT	13.0	12.7	12.3	13.9	13.5	13.1	14.8	14.4	14.0
Equity Value/1998E Net Income	19.6	19.0	18.3	21.3	20.6	19.8	23.0	22.2	21.4
Terminal Value Analysis
% Value in Terminus	61.3%	60.8%	60.4%	63.7%	63.3%	62.8%	65.9%	65.5%	65.0%
% Value in Cash Flows	38.7%	39.2%	39.6%	36.3%	36.7%	37.2%	34.1%	34.5%	35.0%
Implied Forward Terminal Multiples
Sales	1.4 x	1.4 x	1.4 x	1.6 x	1.6 x	1.6 x	1.7 x	1.7 x	1.7 x
EBITDA	7.5	7.5	7.5	8.4	8.4	8.4	9.2	9.2	9.2
EBIT	9.0	9.0	9.0	10.0	10.0	10.0	11.0	11.0	11.0
P/E	16.4	16.4	16.4	17.8	17.8	17.8	19.2	19.2	19.2
Perpetual Growth Rate	3.5%	4.0%	4.4%	4.2%	4.7%	5.1%	4.7%	5.2%	5.7%

Notes: (1) Based on 53.5MM common shares outstanding on February 26, 1998 from Camper mgmt. and 3.3MM options outstanding at an average exercise price of $15.14 on February 26, 1998 from Camper mgmt.; treasury method shares assumed.

(2) Based on the closing share price of $20.19 on February 26, 1998.

(3) Assumes $50.0MM in pretax synergies in 1998, $100.0MM in 1999 and 2000 and $105.0MM thereafter.

Valuation As of January 1, 1998

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0083989

120640

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

PROJECT LASER

Camper Discounted Cash Flow Analysis - With Synergies of $150.0MM (12.7% of 1998 Sales) (3)

Laser Mgmt. Case

($MM, except per share data)

EBIT Multiple (x) (Forward)	9.0			10.0			11.0
Discount Rate	10.5%	11.0%	11.5%	10.5%	11.0%	11.5%	10.5%	11.0%	11.5%
Present Value of
Cash Flows - Year 1	$144	$144	$144	$144	$144	$144	$144	$144	$144
Cash Flows - Years 2-8	902	885	868	902	885	868	902	885	868
Terminus	1,599	1,542	1,488	1,777	1,714	1,653	1,954	1,885	1,819
Other Assets (Liabs)(a/t)	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Aggregate Value	$2,646	$2,571	$2,500	$2,823	$2,743	$2,665	$3,001	$2,914	$2,830
Cash	$13	$13	$13	$13	$13	$13	$13	$13	$13
Preferred Stock	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Total Debt	(453)	(453)	(453)	(453)	(453)	(453)	(453)	(453)	(453)
Equity Value	$2,205	$2,131	$2,059	$2,383	$2,302	$2,225	$2,561	$2,474	$2,390
Price Per Share (1)	$39.74	$38.43	$37.16	$42.87	$41.45	$40.08	$46.00	$44.47	$42.99
Premium (Discount) to Market (2)	96.8%	90.3%	84.1%	112.3%	105.3%	98.5%	127.9%	120.3%	113.0%
1998E P/E Implied	20.0 x	19.3 x	18.7 x	21.6 x	20.9 x	20.2 x	23.2 x	22.4 x	21.7 x
Valuation Multiple (Entry)
Aggregate Value/1998E Revenue	2.2 x	2.2 x	2.1 x	2.4 x	2.3 x	2.2 x	2.5 x	2.5 x	2.4 x
Aggregate Value/1998E EBITDA	11.3	11.0	10.7	12.1	11.7	11.4	12.8	12.4	12.1
Aggregate Value/1998E EBIT	13.2	12.9	12.5	14.1	13.7	13.3	15.0	14.6	14.2
Equity Value/1998E Net Income	20.0	19.3	18.7	21.6	20.9	20.2	23.2	22.4	21.7
Terminal Value Analysis
% Value in Terminus	60.4%	60.0%	59.5%	62.9%	62.5%	62.0%	65.1%	64.7%	64.3%
% Value in Cash Flows	39.6%	40.0%	40.5%	37.1%	37.5%	38.0%	34.9%	35.3%	35.7%
Implied Forward Terminal Multiples
Sales	1.6 x	1.6 x	1.6 x	1.8 x	1.8 x	1.8 x	2.0 x	2.0 x	2.0 x
EBITDA	7.7	7.7	7.7	8.6	8.6	8.6	9.4	9.4	9.4
EBIT	9.0	9.0	9.0	10.0	10.0	10.0	11.0	11.0	11.0
P/E	16.7	16.7	16.7	18.1	18.1	18.1	19.5	19.5	19.5
Perpetual Growth Rate	3.4%	3.9%	4.3%	4.1%	4.6%	5.0%	4.6%	5.1%	5.6%

Notes: (1) Based on 53.5MM common shares outstanding on February 26, 1998 from Camper mgmt. and 3.3MM options outstanding at an average exercise price of $15.14 on February 26, 1998 from Camper mgmt.; treasury method shares assumed.
(2) Based on the closing share price of $20.19 on February 26, 1998.
(3) Assumes $75.0MM in pretax synergies in 1998, $150.0MM in 1999 and 2000 and $155.0MM thereafter.

Valuation As of January 1, 1998

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0083990

PROJECT LASER

Camper Discounted Cash Flow Analysis - With Synergies of $200.0MM (16.9% of 1998 Sales) (3)

Laser Mgmt. Case

($MM, except per share data)

EBIT Multiple (x) (Forward)	9.0			10.0			11.0
Discount Rate	10.5%	11.0%	11.5%	10.5%	11.0%	11.5%	10.5%	11.0%	11.5%
Present Value of
Cash Flows - Year 1	$160	$159	$159	$160	$159	$159	$160	$159	$159
Cash Flows - Years 2-8	1,050	1,030	1,011	1,050	1,030	1,011	1,050	1,030	1,011
Terminus	1,802	1,738	1,676	2,002	1,931	1,863	2,202	2,124	2,049
Other Assets (Liabs)(a/l)	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Aggregate Value	$3,012	$2,927	$2,846	$3,212	$3,120	$3,032	$3,412	$3,313	$3,219
Cash	$13	$13	$13	$13	$13	$13	$13	$13	$13
Preferred Stock	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Total Debt	(453)	(453)	(453)	(453)	(453)	(453)	(453)	(453)	(453)
Equity Value	$2,571	$2,487	$2,406	$2,771	$2,680	$2,592	$2,972	$2,873	$2,778
Price Per Share (1)	$46.18	$44.70	$43.27	$49.71	$48.10	$46.55	$53.24	$51.50	$49.83
Premium (Discount) to Market (2)	128.8%	121.4%	114.3%	146.3%	138.3%	130.6%	163.7%	155.1%	146.8%
1998E P/E Implied	20.3 x	19.6 x	18.9 x	21.8 x	21.1 x	20.4 x	23.4 x	22.6 x	21.9 x
Valuation Multiple (Entry)
Aggregate Value/1998E Revenue	2.5 x	2.5 x	2.4 x	2.7 x	2.6 x	2.6 x	2.9 x	2.8 x	2.7 x
Aggregate Value/1998E EBITDA	11.6	11.3	11.0	12.4	12.0	11.7	13.2	12.8	12.4
Aggregate Value/1998E EBIT	13.4	13.0	12.7	14.3	13.9	13.5	15.2	14.7	14.3
Equity Value/1998E Net Income	20.3	19.6	18.9	21.8	21.1	20.4	23.4	22.6	21.9
Terminal Value Analysis
% Value in Terminus	59.8%	59.4%	58.9%	62.3%	61.9%	61.4%	64.5%	64.1%	63.7%
% Value in Cash Flows	40.2%	40.6%	41.1%	37.7%	38.1%	38.6%	35.5%	35.9%	36.3%
Implied Forward Terminal Multiples
Sales	1.8 x	1.8 x	1.8 x	2.0 x	2.0 x	2.0 x	2.2 x	2.2 x	2.2 x
EBITDA	7.8	7.8	7.8	8.7	8.7	8.7	9.6	9.6	9.6
EBIT	9.0	9.0	9.0	10.0	10.0	10.0	11.0	11.0	11.0
P/E	16.9	16.9	16.9	18.3	18.3	18.3	19.7	19.7	19.7
Perpetual Growth Rate	3.3%	3.8%	4.3%	4.0%	4.5%	4.9%	4.6%	5.0%	5.5%

Notes: (1) Based on 53.5MM common shares outstanding on February 26, 1998 from Camper mgmt. and 3.3MM options outstanding at an average exercise price of $15.14 on February 26, 1998 from Camper mgmt.; treasury method shares assumed.

(2) Based on the closing share price of $20.19 on February 26, 1998.

(3) Assumes $100.0MM in pretax synergies in 1998, $200.0MM in 1999 and 2000 and $205.0MM thereafter.

Valuation As of January 1, 1998

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0083991

£02618023

OVERVIEW OF LASER COMPANY

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY
CONFIDENTIAL
0083992

190240

F13100126002-22-98110:02 A\PO5

1/6 [illegible] 9

PROJECT LASER

Business Overview

Sunbeam

	Kitchen Devices	Health at Home Devices	Personal Care and Comfort Devices	Outdoor Cooking Devices	Professional Care Devices
Description	• Segment includes hand and stand mixers, blenders, toasters, coffee makers, breadmakers, irons and other small appliances	• Segment includes blood pressure monitoring devices, heating pads, massagers, dental care products, humidifiers, water filters and air cleaners	• Segment includes electric blankets, shower massagers, consumer hair clippers, heated throws and comforters	• Segment includes gas and kettle grills, charcoal smokers, tabletop grills and accessories	• Segment includes a line of professional barber and beauty equipment, including electric and battery clippers, replacement blades and other grooming accessories
Brands	- Mixmaster - Sunbeam - Oster - Osterizer	- Health at Home	- Cuddle-Up - Oster	- Sunbeam - Grillmaster	- Oster
Market Position	-#1, 2 or 3 depending on product category	-#1, 2 or 3 in most categories	-#1 in electric blankets -#1 in clippers	-#1 in gas grills	-#1 in clippers
Major Competitors	-Black & Decker -Hamilton Beach/Proctor Silex (Nacco) -KitchenAid (Whirlpool)	-Duracraft -Braun (Gillette) -Health O'Meter	-Wahl -Andis -Teledyne	-Charbroil -Thermos -Weber	-Wahl -Andis
Distribution	-Mass merchandisers -Department stores -Specialty stores	-Mass merchants -Drug stores	-Mass merchants -Drug stores	-Mass merchants -Hardware/Home centers	-Mass merchants -Drug stores -Specialty stores -Professional distributors
1996 Net Sales:(1)	$383.9MM	$98.4MM	$187.0MM	$255.9MM	$59.1MM
% of Total	39%	10%	19%	26%	6%
1997 Net Sales:(1)	$455.6MM	$104.0MM	$190.4MM	$325.9MM	$72.4MM(2)
% of Total	40%	9%	16%	28%	6%

Note: (1) 1997 sales breakdown from company and does not add to 100% due to outlet sales.
(2) 1997 sales includes the away-from-home category.

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0083993

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

PROJECT LASER

Summary Descriptive Sheet: LASER

($MM, except per share amounts)

DESCRIPTION OF BUSINESS:

Company develops, makes, and sells small appliances; barbecue grills; electric blankets and heated throws; health and personal care products; barber and beauty equipment, hair clippers, and animal care products. Small appliances include mixers, blenders, coffee makers, toasters, irons, etc. Outdoor products include propane, natural gas, charcoal and electric barbecue grills, including kettle models. Health care products include blood pressure monitoring devices, heating pads, massagers, dental care products, humidifiers and air cleaners.

RECENT EVENTS:

October 24, 1997 - The Company announced it has hired Morgan Stanley to explore strategic alternatives.

October 23, 1997 - The Company reported positive 3Q earnings of $0.39, exceeding Street estimates by a penny.

October 8, 1997 - The Company announced the introduction of its new FreshSource water filtration system and AllergySmart air filtration system. The two products are expected to contribute $100 MM in 1998 sales.

June 23, 1997 - The Company announced the completion of five additional international distribution/ marketing agreements signed during the second quarter of 1997. This brings the total to 21 since Dunlap joined.

June 17, 1997 - The Company entered into a partnership arrangement with United Family Communications for exclusive pan-regional advertising on Casa Club TV, the only network entirely dedicated to the home in Latin America.

May 13, 1997 - The Company said it completed the sale of its Biddeford, Maine textile factory to an investment group.

SELECTED INFORMATION:

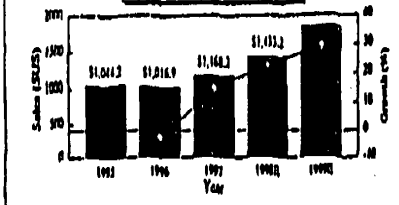
State of Incorp:	Delaware
Headquarters:	Delray Beach, FL
Stock Symbol:	SOC
Listing:	NYSE
Fiscal Year End:	December 28

SEGMENT SALES BREAKDOWN:

Industry (Estimated)			Geographic
Kitchen Devices	$467.3	40.0%	Domestic	$950.9	81.4%
Health at Home	105.1	9.0%	International	217.3	18.6%
Pers. Care & Comfort	186.9	16.0%
Outdoor Cooking	327.1	28.0%
Professional Care	70.1	6.0%
Outlet Sales	11.7	1.0%
Total	$1,168.2	100.0%	Total	$1,168.2	100.0%

SELECTED FINANCIAL INFORMATION:

	Fiscal Years Ended December 28,			3 Yr.	Estimates (2)
	1995	1996	1997	C.G.R.	1998E	1999E
Revenues (1)	$1,016.9	$984.2	$1,168.2	5.0%	$1,433.2	$1,851.5
% Change		-3.2%	18.7%		22.7%	29.2%
EBITDA (1)	114.2	48.2	239.3	44.7%	340.0	444.2
% Margin	11.2%	4.9%	20.5%		23.7%	24.0%
EBIT (1)	70.1	0.7	200.7	15.0%	285.0	371.5
% Margin	6.9%	0.1%	17.2%		19.9%	20.1%
Net Income (1)	37.6	(8.2)	123.1	N.A.	180.9	241.9
% Margin	3.7%	-0.8%	10.5%		12.6%	13.1%
Capital Expenditures	94.3	75.3	58.3	N.A.	71.7	92.6



SELECTED MARKET INFORMATION:

Stock Price (2/25/98):	$41.875
LTM Low / High:	23.875/50.438
10-year High (10/24/97):	50.438
Shares Outstanding (MM):	85.471
Dividend:	$0.04
Dividend Payout:	2.8%
Dividend Yield:	0.1%

SELECTED VALUATION PARAMETERS:

	1998E
Adj. Mkt. Cap/Sales (3):	201.0%
Adj. Mkt Cap / EBIT (3):	10.0 x
Adj. Mkt Cap / EBITDA (3):	8.4
Market/Book (4):	6.7
Discount to LTM High:	(17.0)%
Discount to 10-year High:	(17.0)

	E.P.S.	P/E
1998E ($):	$2.00	20.9 x
1999E ($):	2.64	15.9
Proj. 3 Yr. Growth ($):	20%
1998E P/E to Growth	0.8 x

FULLY DILUTED OWNERSHIP:

Significant Shareholdings (6):
Total Insider Holdings	3.8%
Franklin Mutual	19.2%
Alliance Capital Management	11.0%
Columbia Management	5.5%
Other Institutional Ownership	41.9%
Other	18.6%
	100.0%

D&O Holdings (6):
Chrm, CEO Albert J. Dunlap (60)	2.4%
Other	1.4%
Total D&O Holdings	3.8%
ESOP	0.0%
Total Insider Holdings	3.8%

CAPITALIZATION:

	Book Capitalization at 12/28/97		Market Capitalization at 2/25/98
	Amount	%	Amount	%
Short-Term Debt:	$0.7	100.0%	$0.7	100.0%
Long-Term Debt:	$194.6	26.8%	$194.6	5.2%
Preferred Stock:	0.0	0.0%	0.0	0.0%
Shareholders Equity:	531.9	73.2%	3,579.1	94.8%
Total Capitalization (7):	$726.5	100.0%	$3,773.7	100.0%
Cash and Cash Equivalents:			$52.4
Adjusted Market Capitalization (3):			$3,722.0

SELECTED CREDIT STATISTICS:

LTM EBIT / Net Interest:	17.6 x
LTM EBITDA / Net Interest:	21.0
Total Debt / LTM EBITDA:	0.8
Senior Debt Ratings
- Moody's	NA
- S&P	NA

Notes:
(1) Sales, EBIT, EBITDA and Net Income are for continuing operations before any extraordinary or non-recurring items, and cumulative effect of accounting changes.
(2) Estimates from Laser is based on I/B/E/S data from Laser.
(3) Adj. Market Cap. consists of market value of equity (including preferred stock) plus total debt less cash and cash equivalents.
(4) Based on a closing market price of $41.875 per share on 2/25/98 and 85.5 MM shares outstanding on 12/28/97.
(5) Long term growth from I/B/E/S dated 2/25/98.
(6) Based on information from proxy dated 4/16/97; institutional ownership from Technimetrics run dated 9/11/97.
(7) Total Capitalization excludes short-term debt.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY 520610
CONFIDENTIAL
0083994

PRELIMINARY DRAFT

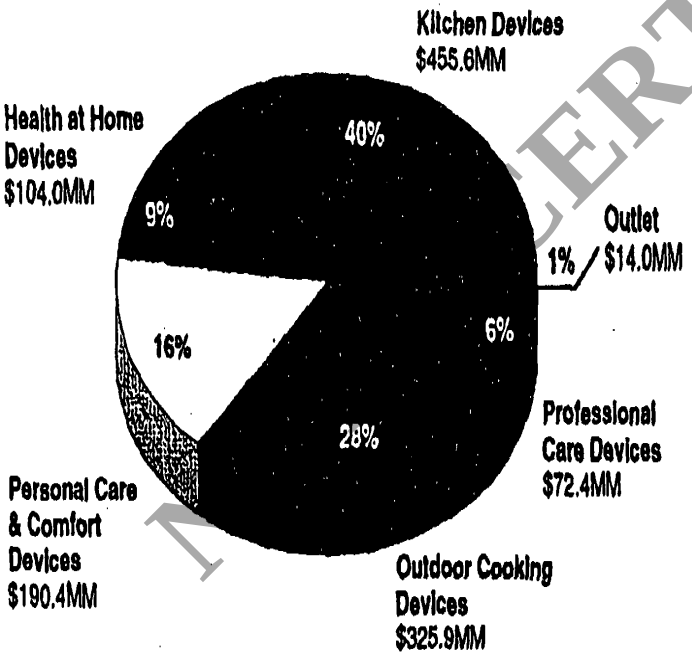
PROJECT LASER

1997 Dollar Share by Segment

Sunbeam: Preeminent Branded Consumer Devices Company

Broad presence in a number of categories

No single true competitor for Sunbeam across all product lines



Total 1997 Sales: $1,168.2MM

Kitchen Devices

- SEB
- Braun
- Moulinex
- KitchenAid
- Matsushita
- Black & Decker
- Philips
- Hamilton-Beach

Health at Home Devices

- Holmes
- Duracraft
- Health-o-Meter
- Brita
- Pur
- Homedics

Personal Care & Comfort Devices

- Conair
- Teledyne
- Helen of Troy
- Norelco
- Wahl

Outdoor Cooking Devices

- Charbroil/Thermos
- Weber
- Fiesta

Professional Care Devices

- Wahl
- Heineger
- Hamilton-Beach
- Andis
- Lister
- Black & Decker

MORGAN STANLEY
CONFIDENTIAL Z0610
0083995

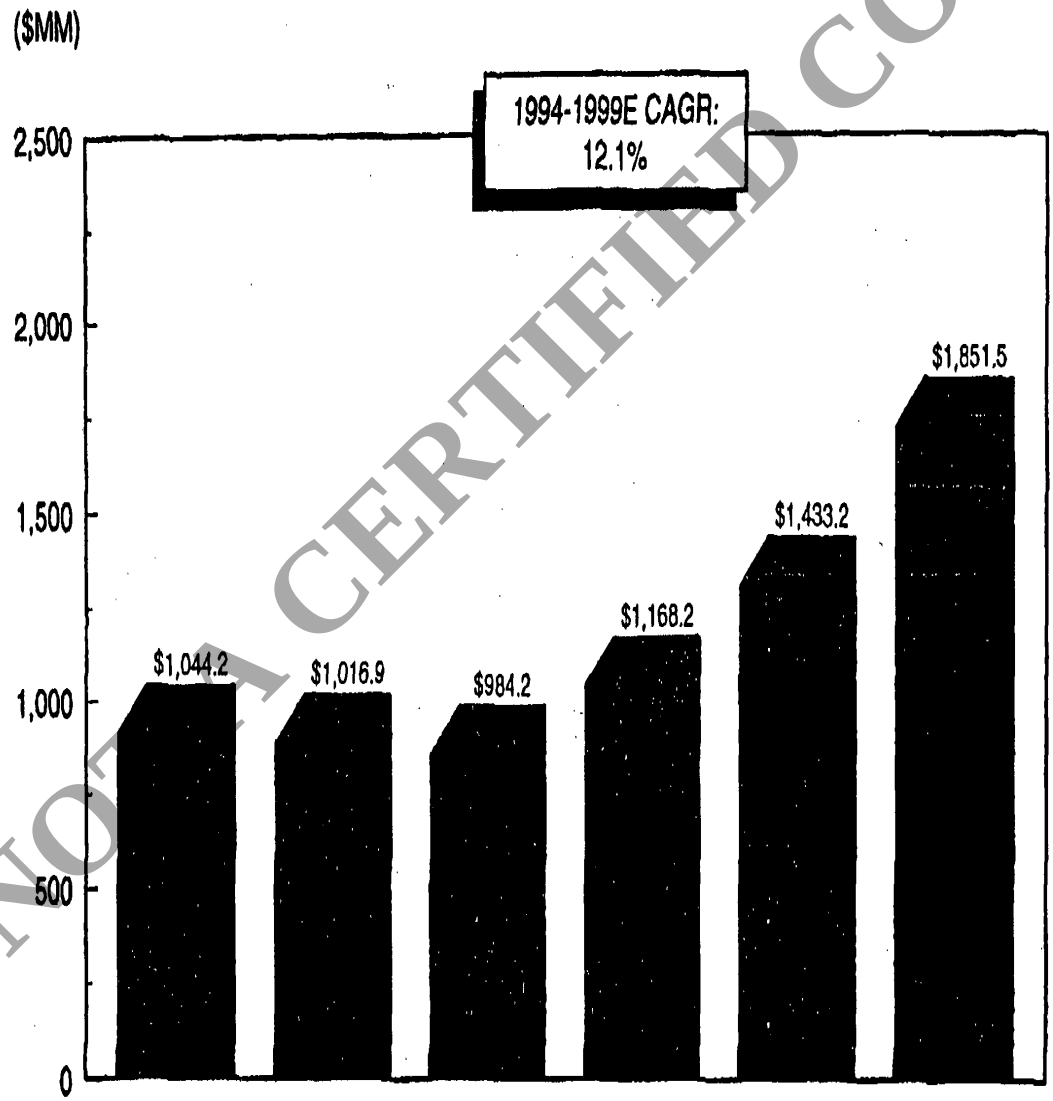
NOT CERTIFIED COPY

F1831145036d-23-98a11:38A

MORGAN STANLEY 2

PROJECT LASER

Consolidated Net Sales, 1994-1998E [(1)]



% growth	12.6%	(2.6)%	(3.2)%	18.7%	22.7%	29.2%

Source: Sunbeam Annual Report

Note: (1) Projections based on Laser I/B/E/S case.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY
CONFIDENTIAL
0083996

9028
8206

PRELIMINARY DRAFT

PROJECT LASER

Consolidated Profitability Statistics (1)(2)

($ MM) Gross Profit

	1994	1995	1996	1997	1998E	1999E
% Margin	26.8%	20.4%	17.9%	28.3%	31.7%	31.8%

($ MM) EBITDA

	1994	1995	1996	1997	1998E	1999E
% Margin	18.0%	11.2%	4.9%	20.5%	23.7%	24.0%

($ MM) EBIT

	1994	1995	1996	1997	1998E	1999E
% Margin	14.5%	6.9%	0.1%	17.2%	19.9%	20.1%

($ MM) Net Income

	1994	1995	1996	1997	1998E	1999E
% Margin	8.2%	3.7%	(1.7)%	10.5%	12.6%	13.1%

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0083997

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

620610

Notes: (1) Projections based on Laser I/B/E/S case.

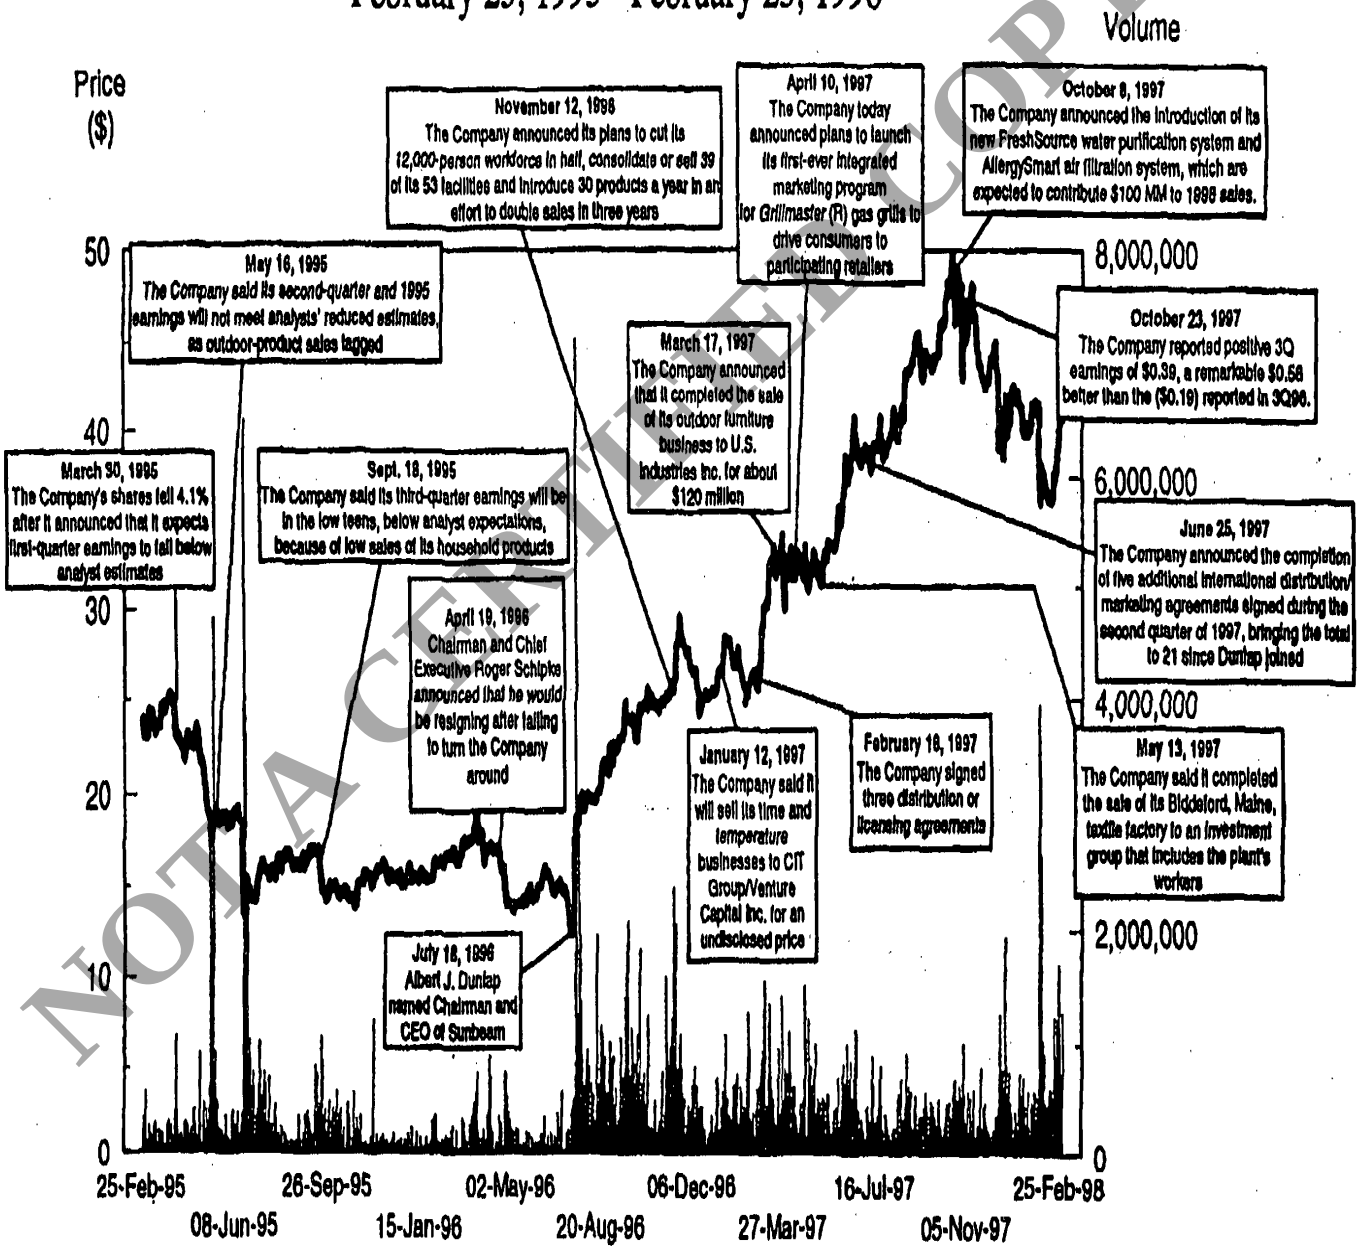
(2) Data excludes any one-time or extraordinary charges.

PRELIMINARY DRAFT

PROJECT LASER

The Laser Company - Annotated Closing Share Price and Volume Analysis

February 25, 1995 - February 25, 1998



NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0083998

019030

PROJECT LASER

The Laser Company: Summary of Recent Analyst Estimates

Date	Price	Firm/(Analyst)	Recomm.	Target Price	EPS 1998E	EPS 1999E	PE 1998E	PE 1999E	Long Term EPS Growth	1998 PE/Growth
01/29/98	$37.63	Prudential Securities/ (Nicholas Heymann)	Buy	$55 12 months	$2.10	$2.60	17.9x	14.5x	20 - 25%	.72 - .90
01/29/98	$37.63	Buckingham Research/ (William H. Steele)	Neutral	$43	2.00	2.40	18.8	15.7	21.0%	.90
01/29/98	$37.63	PaineWebber/ (Andrew Shore)	NA	$50 12 - 18 mo.	2.00	2.60	18.8	14.5	20.0%	.94
01/29/98	$37.63	Merrill Lynch/ (John Gibbons)	Buy	NA	1.80	NA	20.9	NA	15.0%	1.4
01/28/98	$37.75	CIBC Oppenheimer/ (Scott Graham)	Strong Buy	$53 12 months	2.10	2.65	18.0	14.2	NA	NA
2/25/98	$41.88	I/B/E/S			$2.00	$2.63	20.9x	15.9x	20.0%	1.05
2/25/98	$41.88	First Call (Eight Estimates)			1.99	2.58	21.0	16.2	20.3%	1.04

- "[Laser is] the most profitable player in the industry by a wide margin...(with 17% operating margins in 1997, almost three times the Housewares indusstry average of about 6%)." (Prudential Securities - 1/29/98)
- "[Laser] is focusing on taking the best care of its major customers (to ensure further access to dominant shelf space), rapidly establishing the best global distribution for its current (and likely future additional) products in the industry and continuing to toll out the industry's most innovative products...its doing everything to serve every customer like royalty." (Prudential Securities - 1/29/98)
- "As Laser displays more of a new product and service track record with retailers, we believe...gains will be realized in 1998." (CIBC Oppenheimer - 1/28/98)
- "Al Dunlap is not only restructuring Laser, but enhancing its future growth opportunities. A recent tour through SOC's Neosho, MO grill plant confirms that investments have been made to strengthen operations." (Merrill Lynch - 12/10/97)
- "We believe that what has been accomplished to date is remarkable and that there is room for further improvement over the next couple of quarters." (PaineWebber - 10/23/97)
- "We continue to believe there is upside in Laser shares as the company enters its fourth phase of shareholder value creation. Now focused on executing its growth plan, it is our view that Mr. Dunlap's desire to execute his tenth turnaround could find...enhanced flexibility in [Laser's] yearend 1997E net debt free balance sheet and significant free cash flow." (Goldman Sachs - 10/9/97)

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0083999

180610

F1\39594\02-27-98\5:55 AM\G1

180610AA02/03/98

I:\bdg\laser\sellside\soc_hold.wk4

PROJECT LASER

Analysis of Laser Shareholdings

(000s)

	Holdings	%		Holdings	%
Institutions (1)			Insiders (2)
Franklin Mutual Advisers, Inc.	17,541	19.2%	Albert J. Dunlap (Chairman & CEO)	2,158	2.4%
Alliance Capital Management L.P.	10,080	11.0%	Russell A. Kersh (EVP - Finance & Admin.)	307	0.3%
Columbia Management Company	5,050	5.5%	David C. Fannin (EVP - General Counsel)	69	0.1%
Fred Alger Management Inc.	2,643	2.9%
Fidelity Management & Research Co.	2,353	2.6%	Other Directors & Executive Officers	978	1.1%
TIAA-CREF Investment Management In	2,170	2.4%
Alex. Brown Investment Management	2,095	2.3%	Total Insider Holdings	3,513	3.8%
Wells Fargo Bank, N.A.	1,552	1.7%
Columbus Circle Investors	1,540	1.7%
New York State Common Retirement Fd	1,489	1.6%
Strong Capital Management, Inc.	1,258	1.4%	Other Holdings	10,741	11.7%
Husic Capital Management	1,215	1.3%
Top 12 Institutions	48,987	53.6%	Total Common Shares Outstanding (3)	85,166	93.1%
Other Institutions (148 in total)	21,925	24.0%	Options Outstanding (12/31/96)	6,272
Total Institutions (160 in total)	70,912	77.6%	Fully Diluted Shares Outstanding	91,437	100.0%

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY
CONFIDENTIAL
0084000

Notes: (1) Based on Technimetrics ownership run dated 9/11/97.

(2) Based on Proxy dated 4/17/97; includes options exercisable within 60 days and restricted shares.

(3) From 10-Q dated 6/29/97.

019022

16div 024387
MORGAN STANLEY

PRELIMINARY VALUATION OF LASER COMPANY

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

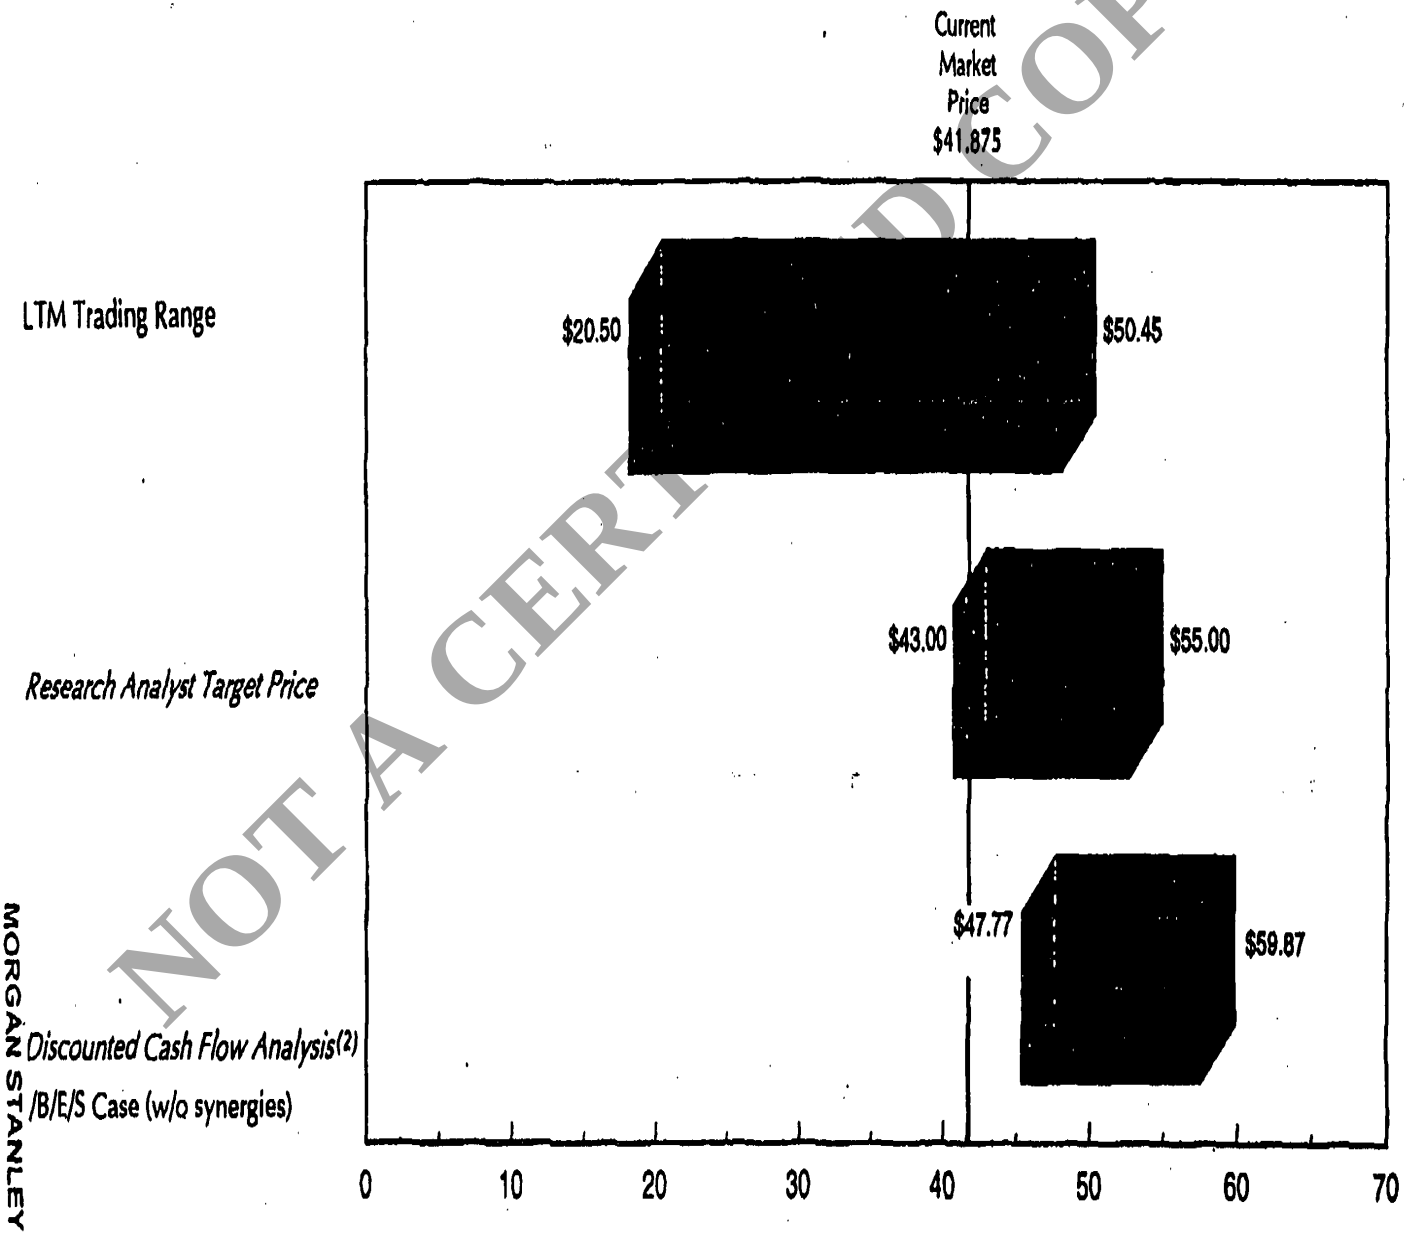
MORGAN STANLEY
CONFIDENTIAL
0084001

019033

PROJECT LASER

Summary of Valuation Analysis

LASER Company (1)



NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0084002

Notes: (1) Implied price per share based on 85.5MM common shares outstanding on February 26, 1998 from the 12/31/97 10-K and 6.7MM options outstanding with an average exercise price of $25.61, on 12/31/97 from Laser 10-K; options proceeds assumes tax benefits on options exercise

(2) Discounted to January 1, 1998 assuming a 10.5-11.5% discount rate and a 8.0-10.0 forward EBITDA Multiple for terminal value.

PROJECT LASER

Laser Valuation Matrix

I/B/E/S Case

($MM, except per share data)

Impl. Price Per Share	Equity Value (1)	Aggregate Value (1)	Premium/(Discount) to: Curr. (3)	LTM High	LTM Low	Equity Value/ FY Earnings 1997A (4)	1998E (4)	1999E (4)	Aggregate Value/ 1997A (4) Sales	1997A (4) EBITDA	1997A (4) EBIT	Aggregate Value/ 1998E (4) Sales	1998E (4) EBITDA	1998E (4) EBIT	Aggregate Value/ 1999E (4) Sales	1999E (4) EBITDA	1999E (4) EBIT
Laser Stat.:			$41.88	$50.44	$25.50	$123.1	$180.9	$241.9	$1,168.2	$239.3	$200.7	$1,433.2	$340.0	$285.0	$1,851.5	$444.2	$371.5
$37.50	$3,286.5	$3,429.4	(10.4)%	(25.7)%	47.1 %	26.7 x	18.2 x	13.6 x	2.9 x	14.3 x	17.1 x	2.4 x	10.1 x	12.0 x	1.9 x	7.7 x	9.2 x
38.50	3,378.7	3,521.5	(8.1)	(23.7)	51.0	27.4	18.7	14.0	3.0	14.7	17.5	2.5	10.4	12.4	1.9	7.9	9.5
39.50	3,470.9	3,613.7	(5.7)	(21.7)	54.9	28.2	19.2	14.3	3.1	15.1	18.0	2.5	10.6	12.7	2.0	8.1	9.7
40.50	3,563.0	3,705.9	(3.3)	(19.7)	58.8	28.9	19.7	14.7	3.2	15.5	18.5	2.6	10.9	13.0	2.0	8.3	10.0
41.50	3,655.2	3,798.1	(0.9)	(17.7)	62.7	29.7	20.2	15.1	3.3	15.9	18.9	2.7	11.2	13.3	2.1	8.5	10.2
42.50	3,747.4	3,890.3	1.5	(15.7)	66.7	30.4	20.7	15.5	3.3	16.3	19.4	2.7	11.4	13.7	2.1	8.8	10.5
43.50	3,839.6	3,982.5	3.9	(13.8)	70.6	31.2	21.2	15.9	3.4	16.6	19.8	2.8	11.7	14.0	2.2	9.0	10.7
44.50	3,931.8	4,074.7	6.3	(11.8)	74.5	31.9	21.7	16.3	3.5	17.0	20.3	2.8	12.0	14.3	2.2	9.2	11.0
45.50	4,024.0	4,166.8	8.7	(9.8)	78.4	32.7	22.2	16.6	3.6	17.4	20.8	2.9	12.3	14.6	2.3	9.4	11.2
46.50	4,116.1	4,259.0	11.0	(7.8)	82.4	33.4	22.8	17.0	3.6	17.8	21.2	3.0	12.5	14.9	2.3	9.6	11.5
47.50	4,208.3	4,351.2	13.4	(5.8)	86.3	34.2	23.3	17.4	3.7	18.2	21.7	3.0	12.8	15.3	2.4	9.8	11.7
48.50	4,300.5	4,443.4	15.8	(3.8)	90.2	34.9	23.8	17.8	3.8	18.6	22.1	3.1	13.1	15.6	2.4	10.0	12.0
49.50	4,392.7	4,535.6	18.2	(1.9)	94.1	35.7	24.3	18.2	3.9	19.0	22.6	3.2	13.3	15.9	2.4	10.2	12.2
50.50	4,484.9	4,627.8	20.6	0.1	98.0	36.4	24.8	18.5	4.0	19.3	23.1	3.2	13.6	16.2	2.5	10.4	12.5
51.50	4,577.1	4,719.9	23.0	2.1	102.0	37.2	25.3	18.9	4.0	19.7	23.5	3.3	13.9	16.6	2.5	10.6	12.7
52.50	4,669.3	4,812.1	25.4	4.1	105.9	37.9	25.8	19.3	4.1	20.1	24.0	3.4	14.2	16.9	2.6	10.8	13.0
53.50	4,761.4	4,904.3	27.8	6.1	109.8	38.7	26.3	19.7	4.2	20.5	24.4	3.4	14.4	17.2	2.6	11.0	13.2
54.50	4,853.6	4,996.5	30.1	8.1	113.7	39.4	26.8	20.1	4.3	20.9	24.9	3.5	14.7	17.5	2.7	11.2	13.4
55.50	4,945.8	5,088.7	32.5	10.0	117.6	40.2	27.3	20.4	4.4	21.3	25.4	3.6	15.0	17.9	2.7	11.5	13.7
56.50	5,038.0	5,180.9	34.9	12.0	121.6	40.9	27.8	20.8	4.4	21.7	25.8	3.6	15.2	18.2	2.8	11.7	13.9

Notes:

(1) Based on 85.5 MM common shares outstanding as of 9/30/97 from the 9/30/97 10-Q and 6.7 MM options outstanding with an average exercise price of $25.61, as 12/31/97 from Camper Management.

(2) Includes Preferred Stock of $0 MM and Total Debt of $195 MM less Cash of $52 MM.

(3) Based on the closing share prices on 2/25/98.

(4) Estimates based on I/B/E/S Case

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY
MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0084003
C0031U
MSDW-02463390

PROJECT LASER

Laser Discounted Cash Flow Analysis

I/B/E/S Case

($MM, except per share data)

EBITDA Multiple (x) (Forward)	8.0			9.0			10.0
Discount Rate	10.5%	11.0%	11.5%	10.5%	11.0%	11.5%	10.5%	11.0%	11.5%
Present Value of
Cash Flows - Year 1	$141	$141	$141	$141	$141	$141	$141	$141	$141
Cash Flows - Years 2-8	1,230	1,203	1,176	1,230	1,203	1,176	1,230	1,203	1,176
Terminus	3,232	3,118	3,008	3,636	3,507	3,384	4,040	3,897	3,760
Other Assets (Liabs)(a/l)	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Aggregate Value	$4,604	$4,462	$4,325	$5,008	$4,851	$4,701	$5,412	$5,241	$5,077
Cash	$52	$52	$52	$52	$52	$52	$52	$52	$52
Preferred Stock	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Total Debt	(195)	(195)	(195)	(195)	(195)	(195)	(195)	(195)	(195)
Equity Value	$4,461	$4,319	$4,182	$4,865	$4,708	$4,558	$5,269	$5,098	$4,934
Price Per Share (1)	$50.24	$48.70	$47.21	$54.62	$52.92	$51.29	$59.01	$57.15	$55.37
Premium (Discount) to Market (2)	20.0%	16.3%	12.7%	30.4%	26.4%	22.5%	40.9%	36.5%	32.2%
2001E P/E Implied	24.7 x	23.9 x	23.1 x	26.9 x	26.0 x	25.2 x	29.1 x	28.2 x	27.3 x
Valuation Multiple (Entry)
Aggregate Value/1998E Revenue	3.2 x	3.1 x	3.0 x	3.5 x	3.4 x	3.3 x	3.8 x	3.7 x	3.5 x
Aggregate Value/1998E EBITDA	13.5	13.1	12.7	14.7	14.3	13.8	15.9	15.4	14.9
Aggregate Value/1998E EBIT	16.2	15.7	15.2	17.6	17.0	16.5	19.0	18.4	17.8
Equity Value/1998E Net Income	24.7	23.9	23.1	26.9	26.0	25.2	29.1	28.2	27.3
Terminal Value Analysis
% Value in Terminus	70.2%	69.9%	69.5%	72.6%	72.3%	72.0%	74.7%	74.4%	74.1%
% Value in Cash Flows	29.8%	30.1%	30.5%	27.4%	27.7%	28.0%	25.3%	25.6%	25.9%
Implied Forward Terminal Multiples
Sales	2.0 x	2.0 x	2.0 x	2.3 x	2.3 x	2.3 x	2.5 x	2.5 x	2.5 x
EBITDA	8.0	8.0	8.0	9.0	9.0	9.0	10.0	10.0	10.0
EBIT	10.1	10.1	10.1	11.3	11.3	11.3	12.6	12.6	12.6
P/E	18.3	18.3	18.3	20.0	20.0	20.0	21.8	21.8	21.8
Perpetual Growth Rate	3.8%	4.3%	4.7%	4.5%	5.0%	5.4%	5.1%	5.6%	6.0%

Notes: (1) Based on 85.5MM common shares outstanding on February 25, 1998 from the 9/30/67 10-Q and 6.7MM options outstanding at an average exercise price of $25.61 on February 25, 1998 from the 12/31/96 10-K.

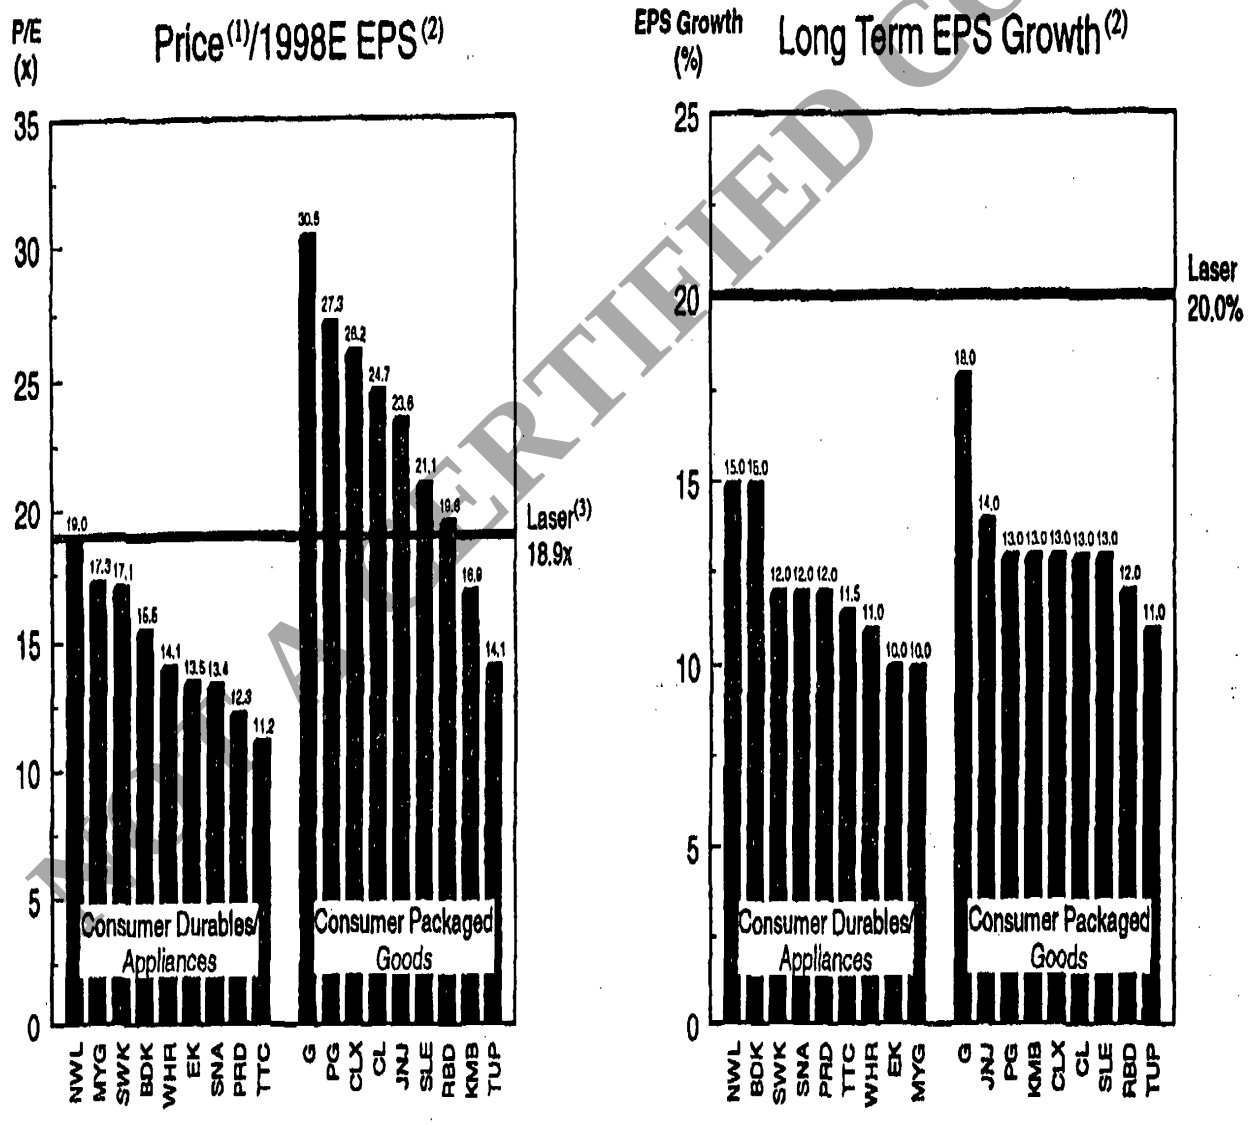
(2) Based on the closing share price of $41.88 on February 25, 1998.

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0084004

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

PROJECT LASER

Trading Statistics of Selected Consumer Products Companies



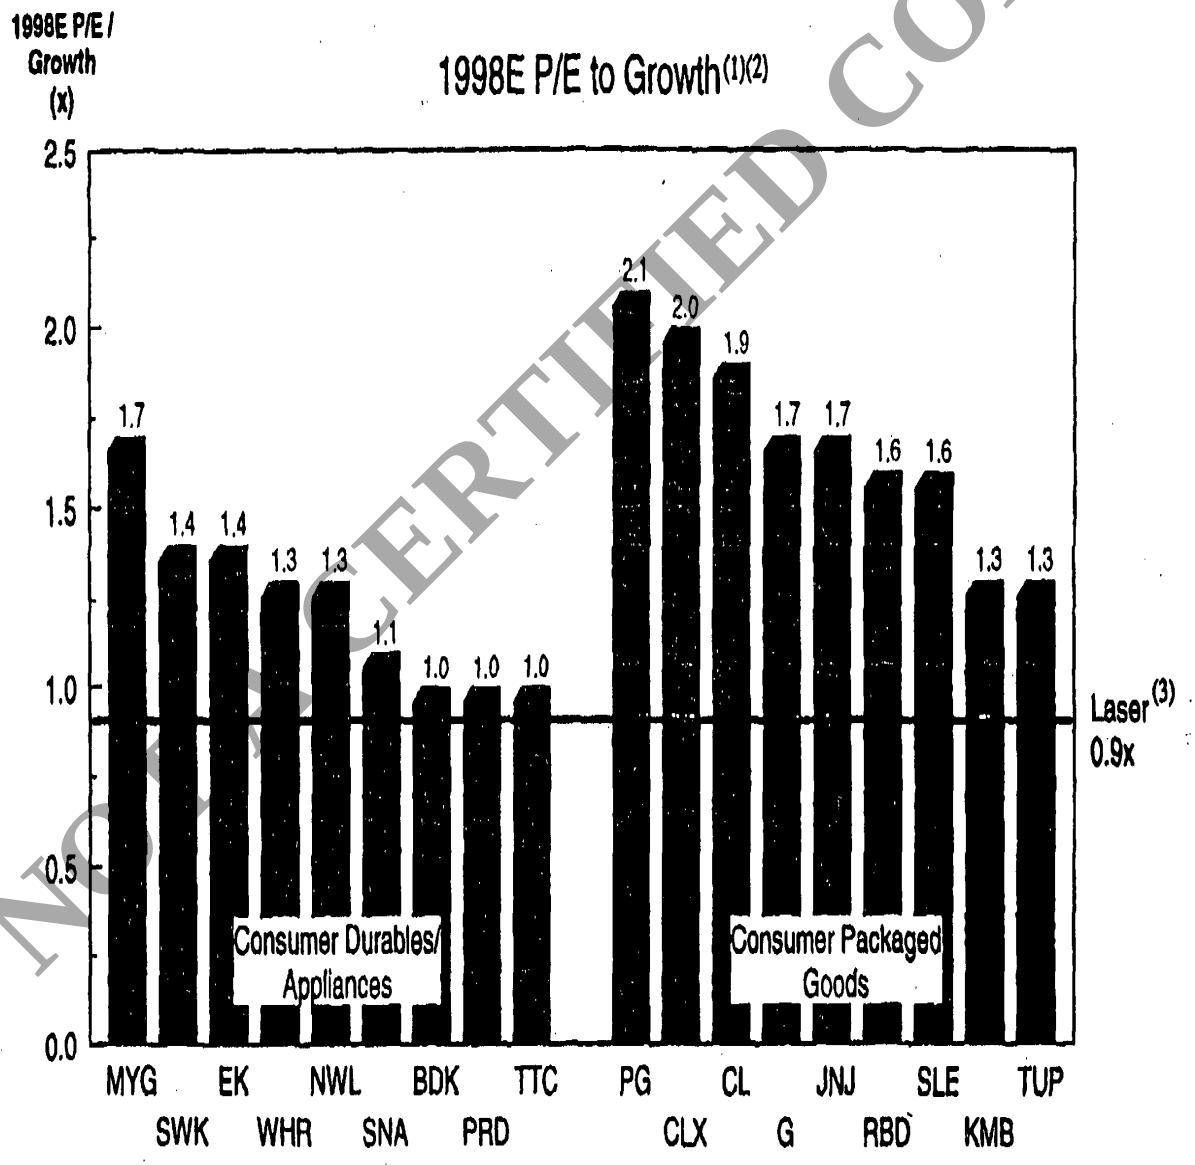
Notes: (1) Based on closing prices as of 2/25/98.
(2) Estimates based on median I/B/E/S estimates as of 2/25/98; 1998E estimates calendarized to a December 31 year end.
(3) Long-Term EPS Growth from I/B/E/S dated 2/25/98.

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0084005

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

PROJECT LASER

Trading Statistics of Selected Consumer Products Companies



Notes: (1) Based on closing prices as of 2/25/98.
(2) Estimates based on median I/B/E/S estimates as of 2/25/98 calendarized to a December 31 year end.
(3) Long-Term EPS Growth from I/B/E/S dated 2/25/98.

NOT CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0084006

190610

REVIEW OF ANTICIPATED COMBINATION SYNERGIES

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY
CONFIDENTIAL
0084007

610610

PROJECT LASER

Summary of Potential Operating Efficiencies

Operational Synergies	Revenue Synergies
• General & Administration Functional Redundancies/ Cost Savings – Sales – Marketing – Administration Management – Finance – Information Systems – Consumer Research – Product Development • Operational Functional Redundancies/Cost Savings – Distribution & Warehousing – Operations Management – Procurement Savings – Materials Management – Quality/Inspection – Facility Rationalization* • Assumes full synergies in 1999	• CAMPER sales will benefit from LASER strength in Latin America • LASER sales will benefit from CAMPER strength in Japan & Europe • LASER sales will benefit from CAMPER name on Grills in U.S. & Canada • CAMPER sales will benefit from dual branding of product lines from the Combined Company of CAMPER, LASER, SENTINEL, and JAVA • CAMPER sales will benefit from SENTINEL strength in commercial sales

* Not in initial synergies

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0084008

040610

PROJECT LASER

Overview of Synergy Analysis
CAMPER

	$100.0 MM	$150.0 MM	$200.0 MM
Estimated Annual Synergies
% of 1998E Camper Revenues	8.4%	12.7%	16.9%
% of 1998E Camper SG&A	7.7%	11.5%	15.3%
% of 1998E Newco Revenues	3.8%	5.7%	7.6%
% of 1998E Newco SG&A	4.4%	6.6%	8.8%

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0084009

170610

16div 024096 MORGAN STANLEY

PROJECT LASER

Repositioning Highlights
Combination of Cost Reduction and Growth Drive Shareholder's Value

Cost Related

- Majority of the restructuring plan completed in the first quarter of 1997
  - Expected to result in cost savings of $225MM, of which 75% are expected to be realized in 1997 and the balance in 1998
- Facility consolidation finished
  - Of 26 factories, eight remain (four in the US, three in Mexico and one in Venezuela)
  - Reduced the number of warehouses from 61 to 18
  - Consolidated the number of headquarter locations from six to one
- Workforce reduction to 6,000 from 12,000 employees
  - 3,000 positions related to businesses sold
- Eliminate 88% of its Stock Keeping Units (SKUs)
  - From 12,500 items (of which 4,500 were furniture products) to about 2,000
  - Elimination of product variations, not product lines; simplified ongoing business
- Divested non-core businesses
  - Furniture, decorative bedding, time and temperature lines, gas logs & heaters and Biddeford, Maine textile mill sold; Counselor and Borg scales brands exclusively licensed to Signature Brands

Growth Related

- Implemented and integrated new systems and processes for all core business functions (e.g., new J.D. Edwards systems, product development, Demand Solutions forecasting, controllers, accounting, etc.)
- Redesigned concurrent product development cycle from 2.5 years to 6 months
  - Plans to introduce 30 new products a year over the next several years
- Initiated "Project Full Time" to improve customer service
  - Opportunity to further increase sales by eliminating supplier hedging, filling voids and being invited into new categories
  - Channel management expected to contribute $200 MM in revenue by 1999
- Selectively targeting international markets for growth opportunities
- Initiated extensive consumer and market research
  - Identify opportunities by addressing consumer issues and needs
- Revamped advertising campaign
  - Award winning advertising and marketing campaign

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0084010

210610

PROJECT LASER

Scott Paper - Restructuring and Growth Plans

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Restructuring Plan

- Cut number of facilities
  - Reduce number of warehouses from 60 to 19; Close older, higher-cost plants; Close printing and writing paper unit in Mexico
- Create three operating companies in geographic units with distinct headquarters
  - United States (Philadelphia, then Boca Raton), Asia (Hong Kong) and Europe (Paris)
- Divest non-core (non-tissue) assets
  - Sell S.D. Warren printing and writing division to realize $1.3Bn; Sell Alabama energy facility for $350MM
  - Sell Philadelphia headquarters for $1Bn
- Reduce workforce by over 35% with approximately 11,000 layoffs
  - 71% of HQ staff, 50% of managers, 20% of hourly workers and 60% R&D staff
- Reduce R&D by eliminating $35MM (50%) and 60% of staff to create market-driven R&D department
- Reduce non-operating costs by eliminating memberships in outside organizations and corporate gifts to charities

Growth Targets

- Reduce company's $2.3Bn debt and expand stock buyback with $2.5 Bn from divestiture of assets
- Invest $25MM in Shanghai joint venture and $148MM in Mexico expansion
  - Pursue similar ventures in India and Indonesia
- Introduce 107 new products and hire marketing employees while focusing on core tissue business
- Improve annual productivity 5% on a cost base of $4.0Bn to create $200MM of cost reduction
- Result: Share price appreciation of 225% during Dunlap's tenure until sale to Kimberly-Clark Corp.

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0084011

610470

PRO FORMA COMBINATION ANALYSIS

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY
CONFIDENTIAL
0084012

770610

F13\100126\02-22-96\8:31 AM

PROJECT LASER

Summary of Pro Forma Combination Methodology

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

- Transaction assumed to occur on January 1, 1998 with all financial data presented for fiscal years ended December 31, 1997
  - Exception of accreted value of Holding Company notes and related redemption premium, calculated as of May 15, 1998
  - Shareholders equity of holding company adjusted by difference
- Camper Holding Company balance sheet estimated from December 31, 1997 Operating Company balance sheet and adjusted for sale of Safety & Security business
- Transaction to be accounted for as a purchase, structured as an acquisition of Mafco's interest in Camper Holding Company and the assumption of debt followed by a purchase of the minority publicly held shares
- Preliminary assumption is that the Camper acquisition would be for stock and cash plus the assumption of operating company and holding company debt
  - Camper shares held by Mafco downward adjusted by 19.2 MM shares ($500 MM assumed value of holding debt at $26 per share)
  - Additional $220.5MM in cash exchanged for 8.1MM Camper shares
  - Assumed debt refinanced with new bank loans at a cost of 7% and $500MM in zero coupon convertible at 5.5% convertible into 8.9MM Laser shares
  - Remaining equity purchased for Laser common stock at a fixed exchange ratio of 0.7450 Laser shares issued per Camper share
- Synergies primarily driven by operational cost efficiencies
- Goodwill assumed to be amortized over 40 years with no tax deductibility

MORGAN STANLEY
CONFIDENTIAL
0084013

S10610

F13\10356\02-27-98\8:16 AM\2

PROJECT LASER

Camper Company Financial Projections

Significant Assumptions

	Camper Management Case	Laser Management Case
Methodology	• Based on summary information provided by Camper Company and CSFB research report modified by Camper management – Modified with an assumed PP&E write-off not included in plan • Assumes the Sale of Camper Safety & Security business	• Adjusted from Camper management case to reflect more conservative projections
Sales Projections	• 1998 from Camper management plan • Sales growth held at 10% thereafter	• Decreased sales growth rate from management case of 10% in 1998 to 6% by 2006
Operating Margins	• 1998 management estimate of $136.3MM adjusted for: – Increase of $8.3MM from write-off of $25MM in PP&E resulting in saved depreciation expense over 3 years – Decrease of $7.5MM in lost grill related royalties • Operating margin grown to 12.0% in 1999 and 12.5% thereafter – 1999 and 2000 further adjusted from stated margins by $8.3MM depreciation adjustments	• 1998 margins unadjusted from Camper management case; base operating margins held constant at 1998 unaffected level of 11.5% – 1999 and 2000 further adjusted by depreciation related to PP&E write-off
EBIT	• EBIT projections based off operating income adjusted by amortization and other expense – Other expense held constant at $1MM from 1998 management estimate	• Amortization and other income assumptions identical to Camper management case
Capital Expenditures	• 1998 as indicated by management (includes $8MM in Oracle related Capex) – Capex held constant at 2.5% of sales thereafter – Increased by $8MM of Oracle Capex in 1999 and 2000	• Same percentage as Camper management case
Depreciation	• 1998 from management plan less depreciation adjustment from PP&E write-off – Grown to 100% of Capex by 2001	• Same percentage as Camper management case
Amortization	• 1998 estimate of $11.25MM from management held constant thereafter	• Identical to Camper management case
Non-cash Working Capital	• 1998 accounts receivable and inventory adjustments from CSFB report – Days outstanding and turnover held constant thereafter • Other ratios/percentages held constant at 1997 levels pro forma for Safety & Security sale	• Same ratios/percentages as Camper management case
Tax Rate	35%	• 35%

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

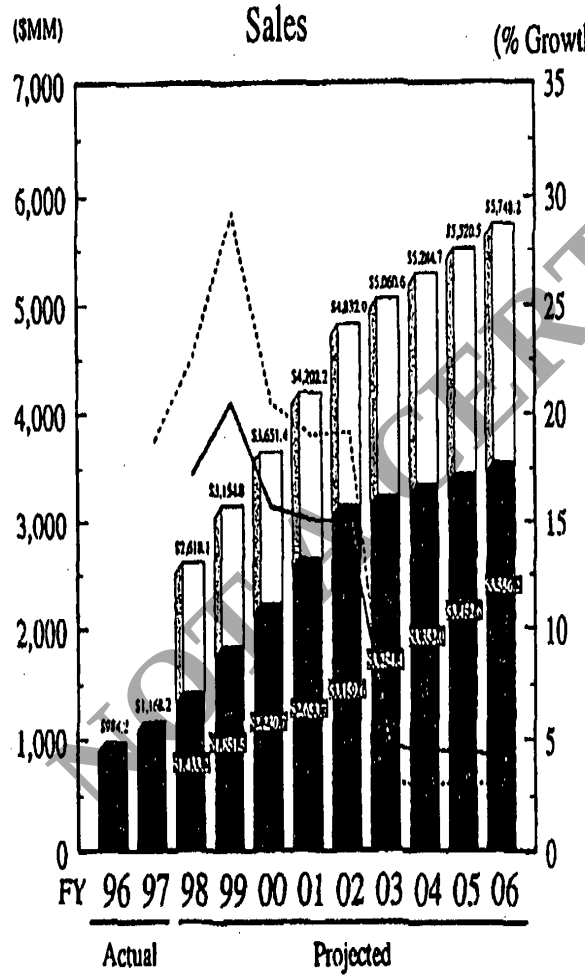
MORGAN STANLEY
CONFIDENTIAL
0084014

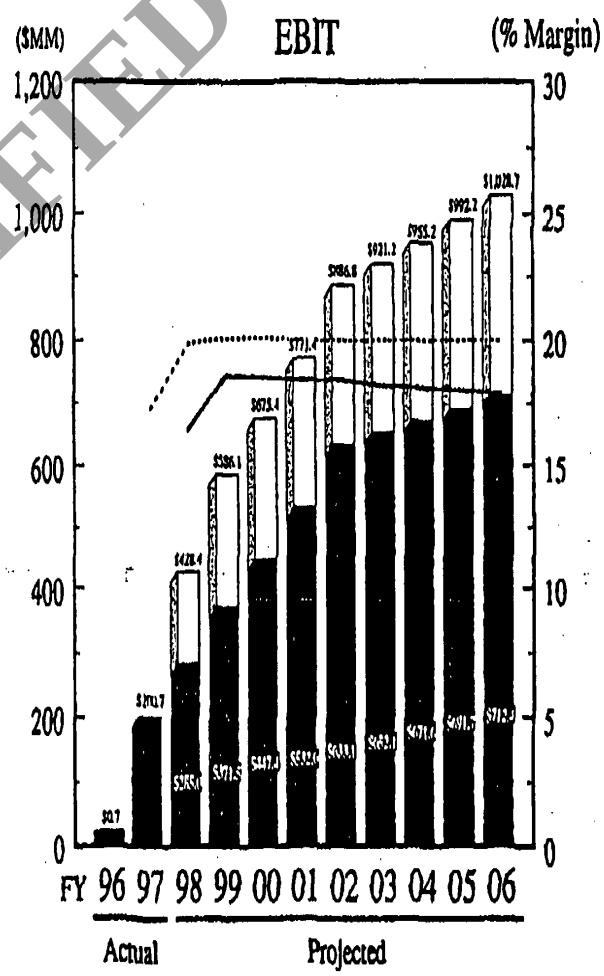
970610

PROJECT LASER

Pro Forma Combination Analysis

CAMPER with LASER[1]





Synergies	$50	$100	$100	$105	$105	$105	$105	$105	$105

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0084015

NOT CERTIFIED COPY

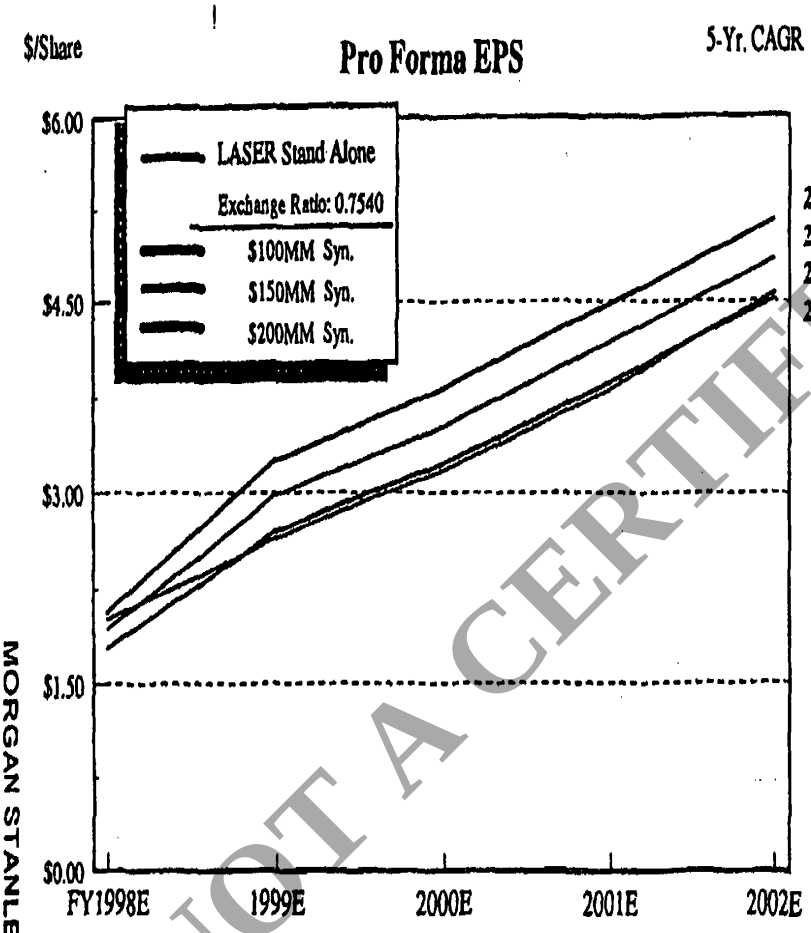
L70610

Note: (1) Assumes purchase price per share of $29.91 and $100MM in pre-tax synergies; based on I/B/E/S case for Laser and Laser Management case for Camper.

PRELIMINARY DRAFT

PROJECT LASER

Acquisition of CAMPER



Capitalization

	LASER Stand Alone	Pro Forma[1] Exchange Ratio 0.7450
	($MM)
Total Debt	$195.3	$1,699.8
% of Total Capital	26.9%	61.9%
Equity	$531.9	$1,045.8
% of Total Capital	73.1%	38.1%
Cash	$52.4	$74.6
Shares Issued (MM)	--	19.4
% of Existing Shares	--	22.7%
% Ownership
- CAMPER Shareholders	--	17.4%
- Existing LASER Shareholders	--	82.6%

Synergies[2]

Accretion/(Dilution)

$100MM	(11.7)%	1.7%	1.8%	1.6%	(1.2)%
$150MM	(4.1)%	12.4%	11.1%	9.7%	5.9%
$200MM	3.2%	23.2%	20.4%	17.5%	12.6%

810610

Notes: (1) Includes $100MM P/T synergies and assumes merger date of 1/1/98.
(2) $100MM, $150MM, and $200MM represent 8.4%, 12.7%, and 16.9% of Camper 1998E sales respectively.

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0084016

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

PROJECT LASER

Accretion/Dilution and Credit Statistic Analysis

Laser: I/B/E/S Case; Camper: Laser Mgmt. Case - Without Warrants;

Camper Base Case Synergies of $100.0MM;

($ MM)

Pro Forma EPS Analysis	PF 1997	1998	1999	2000	2001	2002	2003	2004	'98-'02 CAGR
Diluted E.P.S. Accretion/(Dilution)
Laser Stand Alone Diluted EPS (1)	$1.41	$2.00	$2.64	$3.17	$3.80	$4.56	$4.77	$4.99	22.9%
% change	--	42.2%	32.0%	20.0%	20.0%	20.0%	4.5%	4.8%
Pro Forma Diluted EPS (1)	--	$1.77	$2.69	$3.23	$3.86	$4.51	$4.74	$5.06	26.4%
% Accr./(Dil.) to Laser Shareholders	--	-11.7%	1.7%	1.8%	1.6%	-1.2%	-0.6%	1.3%
% change	--	--	52.0%	20.2%	19.7%	16.7%	5.1%	6.7%
Synergies
Synergies Realized (p/t)	--	$50.0	$100.0	$100.0	$105.0	$105.0	$105.0	$105.0
% of Pro Forma Revenue	--	1.9%	3.2%	2.7%	2.5%	2.2%	2.1%	2.0%
Incr. Synergies Req. to Break Even (p/t)	--	$38.6	N.M.	N.M.	N.M.	$5.8	$3.0	N.M.
% of Pro Forma Revenue	--	1.5%	0.0%	0.0%	0.0%	0.1%	0.1%	0.0%
Credit Statistics (2)
Cash Interest Expense
EBITDA/Interest	4.67 x	7.01 x	11.07 x	17.28 x	37.22 x	53.72 x	82.70 x	N.M. x
(EBITDA-CapEx)/Interest	3.64	5.73	9.25	14.43	31.03	44.80	68.92	N.M.
Total Interest Expense
EBITDA/Interest	3.51 x	5.19 x	7.70 x	10.62 x	16.58 x	20.29 x	82.70 x	N.M. x
(EBITDA-CapEx)/Interest	2.74	4.24	6.44	8.87	13.82	16.92	68.92	N.M.
Total Fixed Charges
EBITDA/(Interest+Pref. Divs. [Pre-Tax])	3.51 x	5.19 x	7.70 x	10.62 x	16.58 x	20.29 x	82.70 x	N.M. x
(EBITDA-CapEx)/(Interest+Pref. Divs. [Pre-Tax])	2.74	4.24	6.44	8.87	13.82	16.92	68.92	N.M.
Senior Debt / EBITDA	3.09 x	1.92 x	1.15 x	0.65 x	0.20 x	0.38 x	0.00 x	0.00 x
Total Debt (Excl. Pref.) / EBITDA	4.38	2.88	1.91	1.35	0.84	0.38	0.00	0.00
Total Debt (Incl. All Pref.) / Book Cap.	61.9%	56.1%	47.7%	37.4%	25.7%	12.7%	0.0%	0.0%
Total Debt (Excl. Pref.) / Book Cap.	61.9%	56.1%	47.7%	37.4%	25.7%	12.7%	0.0%	0.0%
Funds Flow from Operations / Total Debt (Excl. Pref.)	16.9%	22.1%	35.0%	51.2%	85.0%	192.0%	N.M.	N.M.
Cumulative Free Cash Flow	--	$146.1	$348.2	$633.7	$986.9	$752.6	$1,320.2	$1,935.5
% of PF Bank Debt Outstanding:	100.0%	100.0%	84.0%	54.8%	18.9%	18.9%	0.0%	0.0%
% of PF High Yield Debt Outstanding:	N.M.	N.M.	N.M.	N.M.	N.M.	N.M.	N.M.	N.M.
Rev/Net PP&E	8.21 x	8.48 x	9.32 x	9.96 x	10.77 x	11.84 x	12.04 x	12.39 x

Note: (1) Laser stand alone EPS from I/B/E/S. Pro forma EPS excludes costs associated with restructurings.
(2) Pro forma 1997 includes $50MM in pre-tax synergies.

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0084017

JUST A CERTIFIED COPY

670610

16div 024404 MORGAN STANLEY

PRELIMINA DRAFT

PROJECT LASER

Accretion/Dilution and Credit Statistic Analysis

Laser: I/B/E/S Case; Camper: Laser Mgmt. Case - Without Warrants;

Camper Base Case Synergies of $150.0MM;

($ MM)

	Pro Forma EPS Analysis								'98-'02
	PF 1997	1998	1999	2000	2001	2002	2003	2004	CAGR
Diluted E.P.S. Accretion/(Dilution)
Laser Stand Alone Diluted EPS (1)	$1.41	$2.00	$2.64	$3.17	$3.80	$4.56	$4.77	$4.99	22.9%
% change	--	42.2%	32.0%	20.0%	20.0%	20.0%	4.5%	4.8%
Pro Forma Diluted EPS (1)	--	$1.92	$2.97	$3.52	$4.17	$4.83	$5.05	$5.36	26.0%
% Accr./(Dil.) to Laser Shareholders	--	-4.1%	12.4%	11.1%	9.7%	5.9%	6.0%	7.4%
% change	--	--	54.8%	18.6%	18.5%	15.8%	4.7%	6.1%
Synergies
Synergies Realized (pf)	--	$75.0	$150.0	$150.0	$155.0	$155.0	$155.0	$155.0
% of Pro Forma Revenue	--	2.9%	4.8%	4.1%	3.7%	3.2%	3.1%	2.9%
Incr. Synergies Req. to Break Even (pf)	--	$13.7	N.M.	N.M.	N.M.	N.M.	N.M.	N.M.
% of Pro Forma Revenue	--	0.5%	0.0%	0.0%	0.0%	0.0%	0.0%	0.0%
Credit Statistics (2)
Cash Interest Expense
EBITDA/Interest	4.97 x	7.38 x	12.25 x	20.30 x	54.60 x	107.82 x	143.45 x	N.M. x
(EBITDA-CapEx)/Interest	3.94	6.09	10.37	17.13	45.97	90.68	120.53	N.M.
Total Interest Expense
EBITDA/Interest	3.73 x	5.45 x	8.43 x	11.98 x	19.95 x	25.89 x	143.45 x	N.M. x
(EBITDA-CapEx)/Interest	2.96	4.50	7.14	10.11	16.80	21.77	120.53	N.M.
Total Fixed Charges
EBITDA/(Interest+Pref. Divs. (Pre-Tax))	3.73 x	5.45 x	8.43 x	11.98 x	19.95 x	25.89 x	143.45 x	N.M. x
(EBITDA-CapEx)/(Interest+Pref. Divs. (Pre-Tax))	2.96	4.50	7.14	10.11	16.80	21.77	120.53	N.M.
Senior Debt / EBITDA	2.90 x	1.81 x	1.01 x	0.52 x	0.07 x	0.22 x	0.00 x	0.00 x
Total Debt (Excl. Pref.) / EBITDA	4.11	2.73	1.72	1.18	0.68	0.22	0.00	0.00
Total Debt (Incl. All Pref.) / Book Cap.	61.9%	55.5%	46.0%	34.6%	21.7%	7.7%	0.0%	0.0%
Total Debt (Excl. Pref.) / Book Cap.	61.9%	55.5%	46.0%	34.6%	21.7%	7.7%	0.0%	0.0%
Funds Flow from Operations / Total Debt (Excl. Pref.)	17.9%	23.4%	38.8%	58.8%	105.8%	329.9%	N.M.	N.M.
Cumulative Free Cash Flow	--	$162.7	$398.8	$720.0	$1,110.4	$915.0	$1,520.7	$2,172.7
% of PF Bank Debt Outstanding:	100.0%	100.0%	79.0%	46.3%	6.6%	6.6%	0.0%	0.0%
% of PF High Yield Debt Outstanding:	N.M.	N.M.	N.M.	N.M.	N.M.	N.M.	N.M.	N.M.
Rev/Net PP&E	8.21 x	8.48 x	9.32 x	9.96 x	10.77 x	11.84 x	12.04 x	12.39 x

Note: (1) Laser stand alone EPS from I/B/E/S. Pro forma EPS excludes costs associated with restructurings.
(2) Pro forma 1997 includes $75MM in pre-tax synergies.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY
CONFIDENTIAL
0084018

050610

MORGAN STANLEY

PRELIMIN DRAFT

PROJECT LASER

Accretion/Dilution and Credit Statistic Analysis

Laser: I/B/E/S Case; Camper: Laser Mgmt. Case - Without Warrants;

Camper Base Case Synergies of $200.0MM;

($ MM)

	Pro Forma EPS Analysis								'98-'02
	PF 1997	1998	1999	2000	2001	2002	2003	2004	CAGR
Diluted E.P.S. Accretion/(Dilution)
Laser Stand Alone Diluted EPS (1)	$1.41	$2.00	$2.64	$3.17	$3.80	$4.56	$4.77	$4.99	22.9%
% change	--	42.2%	32.0%	20.0%	20.0%	20.0%	4.5%	4.8%
Pro Forma Diluted EPS (1)	--	$2.06	$3.25	$3.81	$4.47	$5.14	$5.37	$5.67	25.6%
% Accr./(Dil.) to Laser Shareholders	--	3.2%	23.2%	20.4%	17.5%	12.6%	12.6%	13.4%
% change	--	--	57.6%	17.3%	17.1%	15.1%	4.4%	5.6%
Synergies
Synergies Realized (pf)	--	$100.0	$200.0	$200.0	$205.0	$205.0	$205.0	$205.0
% of Pro Forma Revenue	--	3.8%	6.3%	5.5%	4.9%	4.2%	4.1%	3.9%
Incr. Synergies Req. to Break Even (pf)	--	N.M.	N.M.	N.M.	N.M.	N.M.	N.M.	N.M.
% of Pro Forma Revenue	--	0.0%	0.0%	0.0%	0.0%	0.0%	0.0%	0.0%
Credit Statistics (2)
Cash Interest Expense
EBITDA/Interest	5.27 x	7.75 x	13.52 x	24.05 x	80.43 x	402.56 x	418.73 x	N.M. x
(EBITDA-CapEx)/Interest	4.24	6.46	11.57	20.50	68.32	341.22	354.48	N.M.
Total Interest Expense
EBITDA/Interest	3.96 x	5.72 x	9.20 x	13.51 x	23.40 x	35.59 x	418.73 x	N.M. x
(EBITDA-CapEx)/Interest	3.19	4.76	7.87	11.52	19.87	30.16	354.48	N.M.
Total Fixed Charges
EBITDA/(Interest+Pref. Divs. [Pre-Tax])	3.96 x	5.72 x	9.20 x	13.51 x	23.40 x	35.59 x	418.73 x	N.M. x
(EBITDA-CapEx)/(Interest+Pref. Divs. [Pre-Tax])	3.19	4.76	7.87	11.52	19.87	30.16	354.48	N.M.
Senior Debt / EBITDA	2.74 x	1.70 x	0.89 x	0.40 x	0.00 x	0.08 x	0.00 x	0.00 x
Total Debt (Excl. Pref.) / EBITDA	3.88	2.58	1.56	1.02	0.53	0.08	0.00	0.00
Total Debt (Incl. All Pref.) / Book Cap.	61.9%	55.0%	44.3%	31.8%	17.9%	2.8%	0.0%	0.0%
Total Debt (Excl. Pref.) / Book Cap.	61.9%	55.0%	44.3%	31.8%	17.9%	2.8%	0.0%	0.0%
Funds Flow from Operations / Total Debt (Excl. Pref.)	18.9%	24.7%	42.9%	67.7%	135.1%	945.2%	N.M.	N.M.
Cumulative Free Cash Flow	--	$179.3	$449.4	$806.2	$1,232.6	$1,132.2	$1,775.9	$2,464.7
% of PF Bank Debt Outstanding:	100.0%	100.0%	74.0%	37.7%	0.0%	0.0%	0.0%	0.0%
% of PF High Yield Debt Outstanding:	N.M.	N.M.	N.M.	N.M.	N.M.	N.M.	N.M.	N.M.
Rev/Net PP&E	8.21 x	8.48 x	9.32 x	9.96 x	10.77 x	11.84 x	12.04 x	12.39 x

Note: (1) Laser stand alone EPS from I/B/E/S. Pro forma EPS excludes costs associated with restructurings.
(2) Pro forma 1997 includes $100MM in pre-tax synergies.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0084019

190610

16div 024406 MORGAN STANLEY

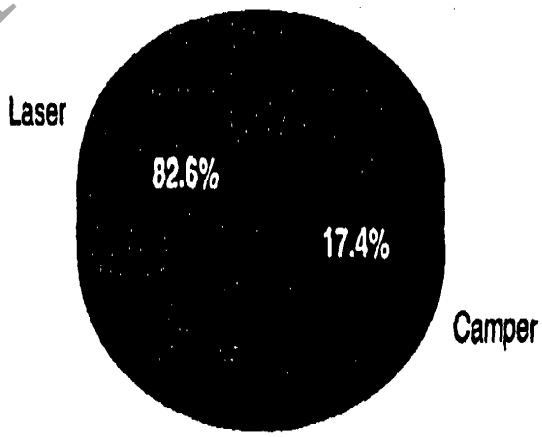
PROJECT LASER

Pro Forma Merger Analysis [1]

Summary of Fully Diluted Ownership

LASER Shares	Existing (000s)	Pro Forma (000s)	%
Common Stock	85,530	85,530	76.6%
Options	6,654	6,654	6.0%
Total	92,184	92,184	82.6%

CAMPER Shares	Existing (000s)	Pro Forma (000s)	%
Filly Diluted Shares [2]	54,546	19,436	17.4%
Total	54,546	19,436	17.4%
Total Shares		111,620	100.0%



NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY
CONFIDENTIAL
0084020

Notes: (1) Assumes a purchase price of $30.197 per share and a $41.875 share price for Laser.

(2) Assumes 53.468MM shares outstanding and 3.319MM options with an average exercise price of $15.145; treasury method assumed.

25061 0

F1BG1145034\2-27-98\5:15A

MSBCAN-02A4607

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

APPENDIX

MORGAN STANLEY
CONFIDENTIAL
0084021

019053

F13\80319\02-22-95\7:10 PM\PG0

PROJECT LASER

Premiums Paid in Selected Precedent Consumer & Sporting Goods Transactions(1)

Date Announced	Acquiree/Acquiror	Business Description of Acquiree	Equity Value	Aggregate Value (2)	Equity Value/ Cash Flow	Equity Value/ Earnings	Equity Value/ Book Value	Aggregate Value/ Revenues	Aggregate Value/ EBITDA	Aggregate Value/ EBIT	EBITDA Margin	Premium to Unaffected Stock Price (3)
09/16/97	Salomon S.A./Adidas AG	Manufactures sporting and athletic goods including ski and golf material	$1,350	$1,270	51.5x	38.6x	4.1x	1.7x	14.8x	21.3x	11.5%	19.0%
04/11/97	ERO Inc./Hedstrom Corp. (division of Hicks Muse Tate & Furst)	Manufactures toys and childrens backpacks	122.6	200.7	18.5	15.7	3.0	1.3	7.3	9.3	17.8	12.0
04/09/97	Tambrands/Procter & Gamble	Manufactures feminine hygiene products, home diagnostic, cosmetics and personal care products	1,854	2,004	18.2	28.5	19.1	3.0	8.7	14.4	34.5	15.3
11/26/96	Armor All (McKesson Corporation)/Clorox Company	Develops and markets a broad line of automotive appearance chemicals, including protectants, washes and other cleaning aids. The Company also markets several brands of home care products	410	355	25.9	31.3	3.3	1.9	13.9	16.7	13.7	14.0
10/29/96	Carter-Wallace/Investor (MarvinDavis) (Pending)	Manufacture pharmaceuticals, toiletries, diagnostic equipment and pet food	928	941	17.4	31.2	2.7	1.4	13.0	19.4	10.8	60.0
09/13/96	Duracell/Gillette	A worldwide manufacturer of high-performance alkaline batteries and other battery types	7,202	7,733	21.6	29.4	5.1	3.4	14.3	17.4	23.8	30.1
08/15/96	Spalding & Evenflo Cos/KKR	Leading global manufacturer and marketer of branded consumer products serving both the sporting goods and juvenile products markets.	533.0	912.0	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.	1.0	11.4x	14.7x	8.8	N.A.
02/13/96	Helene Curtis/Unilever PLC	Develops, manufactures and markets personal care products, primarily hair and skin products and antiperspirants and deodorants	739	842	N.A.	N.M.	3.4	0.6	13.4	24.8	4.5	71.8
½/96	Maybelline/ L'Oreal SA	Maker of Great Lash mascara and other cosmetics and perfumes	627	755	N.A.	36.6	33.5	2.1	14.9	19.0	14.1	93.4
12/18/95	Cobra Golf Inc./American Brands Inc.	Produces premium priced golf clubs including King Cobra oversized metalwoods and irons.	700.9	673.8	N.A.	21.1	7.0	3.7	12.0	12.3	30.8	30.9
08/11/95	Schwarzkopf (Hoechst AG) Henkel (KGAA)	Sells best-selling hair care products; including top-selling shampoo and best-selling hair spray	DM800	DM800	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.	0.9	N.A.	17.3	N.A.	N.A.
01/11/95	ScottPaper/Kimberly-Clark	Consumer paper products	6,800	7,786	N.A.	25.6	4.3	N.A.	10.0	16.0	N.A.	1.9
02/03/95	Club Car Inc./ Clark Equipment Co.	Designer, manufacturer and marketer of electric and gasoline golf cars for recreational use and off-road vehicles for golf, commercial and industrial use.	237.0	262.9	N.A.	25.8	4.3	1.4	11.0	13.0	12.7	50.3

Notes: (1) Based on financial data from latest twelve-month period prior to the announcement date.
(2) Equity Value plus total debt assumed less cash.
(3) 4 weeks prior to announcement of transaction.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0084022

PROJECT LASER

Premium Paid in Selected Precedent Consumer & Sporting Goods Transactions[1]

(continued)

Date Announced	Acquiree/Acquiror	Business Description of Acquiree	Equity Value	Aggregate Value (2)	Equity Value/ Cash Flow	Equity Value/ Earnings	Equity Value/ Book Value	Aggregate Value/ Revenues	Aggregate Value/ EBITDA	Aggregate Value/ EBIT	EBITDA Margin	Premium to Unaffected Stock Price (3)
01/09/95	American Home Products (Kolynos)/ Colgate-Palmolive	Oral care division of AHP that operates primarily in Latin America	1,040	1,040	N.A.	34.4	35.7	3.6	N.A.	19.2	N.A.	--
12/20/94	Canstar Sports Inc./ Nike Incorporated	Canadian maker of hockey equipment; also ice skates, in-line roller skates and protective equipment. It also makes bindings, buckles and other components for snowboard, ski, and ski boots.	395.0	455.4	N.A.	29.9	7.6	2.9	17.5	21.1	16.6	56.0
08/22/94	Neutrogena Corp./ Johnson & Johnson	U.S. manufacturer of quality skin and hair care products	929	933	N.A.	35.4	6.7	3.2	19.9	22.9	16.1	78.5
09/12/94	Borden, Inc/RJR Nabisco (KKR)	Operations include grocery products, snacks, dairy products and packaging products	2,015	3,698	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.	0.6	12.3	32.0	4.9	9.9
09/26/94	L&F Products (Eastman Kodak Co.)/Reckitt & Colman, plc	Lysol disinfectant, Mop & Glo floor polish, Resolve rug cleaners	1,550	1,550	13.0	N.A.	N.A.	2.0	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.	--
10/14/94	Eastman Kodak (L&F Do-It-Yourself Products)/ Forstmann Little & Co.	Manufactures and markets a diverse line of Do-It-Yourself products such as stains, paints, sealants and varnishes for home and commercial applications. Brand names include Thompson, Minwax, Rowcraft and Red Devil	700	700	18.1	19.8	5.8	2.1	11.4	12.0	18.4	--

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY
CONFIDENTIAL
0084023

Notes: (1) Based on financial data from latest twelve-month period prior to the announcement date.
(2) Equity Value plus total debt assumed less Cash.
(3) 4 weeks prior to announcement of transaction. 550610

MORGAN STANLEY 0

PROJECT LASER

Premium Paid in Selected Precedent Consumer & Sporting Goods Transactions[1]

(continued)

Date Announced	Acquiree/Acquiror	Business Description of Acquiree	Equity Value	Aggregate Value (2)	Equity Value/ Cash Flow	Equity Value/ Earnings	Equity Value/ Book Value	Aggregate Value/ Revenues	Aggregate Value/ EBITDA	Aggregate Value/ EBIT	EBITDA Margin	Premium to Unaffected Stock Price (3)
10/27/92	Bristol-Myers Squibb (Drackett)/ S.C. Johnson & Son	The Company manufactures household products including Windex glass cleaner, Drano drain opener, Vanish toilet bowl cleaner, Endust cleaning sprays, Behold furniture polish, Renuzit air fresheners, O-Cedar broom and mop handles and Mr. Muscle hard-surface cleaners	1,150	1,150	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.	2.0	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.	--
06/20/90	American Cyanamid Co. (Shulton Group)/Clorox Co.	Purchased the worldwide household products portion of the Shulton Group, which includes the Pine-Sol cleaning product and the line of Combat brand insecticides	465	465	N.A.	N.A.	N.M.	2.5	N.A.	36.6	N.A.	--
03/09/90	American Home Products (Boyle-Midway Unit)/Reckitt & Colman Plc	Products include Woolite soaps, Easy-Off Oven Cleaner, Black Flag and Holiday insecticides, Gulf-Lite charcoal lighter, Wizard air freshener, Sani-Flush toilet bowl cleaner, Old English furniture polish, HRS Floor Care, and Zero Cold Wash	1,250	1,250	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.	1.9	12.9	13.7	14.7	--
09/22/89	Noxell Corp./ Procter & Gamble Co.	Company develops, manufactures and markets cosmetic, toiletry and household products. Products include: Noxzema, Clarion Complexion Lotion, Raintree, Cover Girl Cosmetics, Liquid Household Cleaner and Chill Ingredients	1,358	1,291	21.3	25.7	5.1	2.4	13.8	15.2	17.4	50.7%
03/20/89	Coleman Co/MacAndrew & Forbes	The company's products fall in two business segments: outdoor recreation, which includes lanterns, campstoves, catalytic heaters, coolers, jugs, tents, sleeping bags, fuel, camping accessories, air inflators, lights, patio grills, canoes, fishing boats, backpacking equipment, camping utility trailers, life vests, Hobie Cat and Hodler sailboats, water skis, sailboards, air guns, archery bows, bass fishing boats, water ski boats, California Cooperage spa products, Western Cutlery knives, and ranging optical rangefinders; heating and air conditioning, which includes furnaces, air conditioners and heat pumps for homes and air conditioners for recreational vehicles.	539.8	662.0	N.A.	22.1	2.7	1.0	9.4	12.3	10.6	73.0

Notes: (1) Based on financial data from latest twelve-month period prior to the announcement date.
(2) Equity Value plus total debt assumed less Cash.
(3) 4 weeks prior to announcement of transaction.

990610

F13\10380902-26-98\1:56 AM 03

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0084024

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

PROJECT LASER

Premium Paid in Selected Precedent Consumer & Sporting Goods Transactions(1)

(continued)

Date Announced	Acquiree/Acquiror	Business Description of Acquiree	Equity Value	Aggregate Value (2)	Equity Value/ Cash Flow	Equity Value/ Earnings	Equity Value/ Book Value	Aggregate Value/ Revenues	Aggregate Value/ EBITDA	Aggregate Value/ EBIT	EBITDA Margin	Premium to Unaffected Stock Price (3)
01/22/88	Sterling Drug Inc./ Eastman Kodak Co.	Develops, manufactures and markets pharmaceuticals; household products; cosmetics and toiletries. Major products include: Phillips Milk of Magnesia, Midol, Bayer Aspirin, Panadol, Lysol, D-Con and Miniwax	5,267	5,770	21.6	27.7	5.2	2.6	13.6	17.7	16.7	97.8
12/01/86	Chesebrough Ponds Inc./ Unilever N.V.	Chesebrough's products include: health and beauty (cosmetics, toiletry and medicinal products); packaged foods: Health Tex (apparel for infants); Prince Matchabelli (fragrances and cosmetics); hospital supplies; Prince (sports equipment; Bass (casual footwear). Trademarks include: Cutex, Dermatology Formula, Groom & Clean, Intensive Care, Pertussin, Pond's, Q-Tips, Rave, Vaseline, Adolph's	3,095	4,413	N.A.	22.7x	2.9x	1.4x	N.A.	14.7x	N.A.	61.1%
10/01/86	Richardson-Vicks Inc./ Procter & Gamble Co.	Richardson-Vicks develops, manufactures and markets personal care products, including toiletries, hair care products, and health care products, including proprietary medicines. Major brand-name products include Vicks and Nyquil cough and cold products. Oil of Olay and Clearasil skin care products, and Vidal Sassoon and Pantene hair care products	1,708	1,873	N.A.	22.2	3.6	1.6	N.A.	19.2	N.A.	N.A.
		Mean:			22.7x	28.3x	9.0x	2.0x	13.1x	18.9x	15.6%	44.0%
		Median:			19.9	28.5	4.7	2.0	13.4	17.6	15.4	40.4

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0084025

Notes: (1) Based on financial data from latest twelve month period prior to the announcement date.
(2) Equity Value plus total debt assumed less cash.
(3) 4 weeks prior to announcement of transaction.

90610

PROJECT LASER

Market Statistics for Selected Comparable Companies: Camper

($mm, except per share data)

Company	Price[1]	LTM Price High	LTM Price Low	Market Value Equity	Market Value Aggregate[2]	EPS[3] LTM	EPS Calendar 1998E	EPS Calendar 1999E	P/E LTM	P/E Calendar 1998E	P/E Calendar 1999E	CY98 PE/ Growth	CY99 PE/ Growth	Proj. 5 yr. EPS Growth[4]	Aggregate Value/ 1998E[5] Sales	Aggregate Value/ 1998E[5] EBITDA	Aggregate Value/ 1998E[5] EBIT	Aggregate Value/ 1999E[5] Sales	Aggregate Value/ 1999E[5] EBITDA	Aggregate Value/ 1999E[5] EBIT
Consumer Durables/Appliances
Black & Decker	$50.44	$51.25	$29.63	$4,781.9	$6,397.6	$2.34	$2.60	$3.25	21.6	19.4	15.5	1.3	1.0	15.0 %	1.3 x	8.7 x	12.3 x	1.2 x	N.A.	11.2 x
Snap-On	42.06	46.31	35.25	2,560.6	2,709.8	2.5	2.7	3.0	17.1	15.6	13.9	1.3	1.2	12.0	1.5	N.A.	9.5	1.4	N.A.	8.4
Stanley Works	47.06	47.50	35.50	4,201.2	4,463.5	2.1	2.4	2.8	22.3	19.6	17.1	1.6	1.4	12.0	1.6	10.3	12.4	1.5	9.1	10.8
Toro	39.94	46.31	33.00	486.8	705.8	2.9	3.2	3.5	13.6	12.5	11.4	1.1	1.0	11.5	0.6	N.A.	7.5	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.
Newell Companies	44.94	45.19	32.13	7,149.6	8,583.7	1.8	2.1	2.4	24.7	21.4	19.0	1.4	1.3	15.0	2.4	11.2	13.4	2.3	10.6	12.6
Maytag	45.00	46.00	20.13	4,273.9	5,090.2	1.9	2.3	2.6	23.9	19.2	17.3	1.9	1.7	10.0	1.4	8.9	12.3	1.3	8.3	11.3
Polaroid	46.19	60.31	36.25	2,057.0	2,716.2	2.2	2.8	3.8	20.9	16.8	12.3	1.4	1.0	12.0	1.2	7.2	10.7	1.1	6.8	9.2
Eastman Kodak	63.63	93.00	53.31	21,328.1	22,306.1	3.5	4.1	4.9	18.8	16.1	13.5	1.6	1.4	10.0	1.5	7.6	10.4	1.4	6.7	8.8
Whirlpool	65.88	69.50	45.25	4,941.3	7,564.3	3.2	4.0	4.7	20.8	16.5	14.1	1.5	1.3	11.0	0.9	8.0	13.9	0.9	7.4	12.4
					Median:				20.9 x	16.8 x	14.1 x	1.4 x	1.3 x	12.0 %	1.4 x	8.7 x	12.3 x	1.4 x	7.9 x	11.0 x
					Mean:				20.4	17.4	14.9	1.5	1.3	12.1	1.4	8.8	11.4	1.4	8.2	10.6
Consumer Packaged Goods
Rubbermaid Inc.	$29.00	$30.50	$23.00	$4,344.1	$4,607.2	$0.89	$1.20	$1.48	32.6 x	24.2 x	19.6 x	2.0 x	1.6 x	12.0 %	1.8 x	10.0 x	13.5 x	1.7	9.2	12.1
Gillette	107.88	108.81	72.00	60,418.3	62,637.3	2.5	3.0	3.5	42.6	36.0	30.5	2.0	1.7	18.0	5.6	19.1	21.2	5.1	18.2	20.4
Tupperware	26.81	45.63	22.50	1,636.4	1,896.7	1.8	1.7	1.9	14.7	15.9	14.1	1.4	1.3	11.0	1.5	7.8	11.2	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.
Procter & Gamble	83.44	84.75	56.63	111,936.4	117,178.4	2.6	2.7	3.1	32.5	30.8	27.3	2.4	2.1	13.0	3.0	14.6	18.1	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.
Clorox	86.56	87.19	55.00	8,950.8	10,012.7	2.5	2.9	3.3	34.0	29.6	26.2	2.3	2.0	13.0	3.4	N.A.	17.8	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.
Kimberly-Clark	55.06	56.88	43.25	30,317.4	32,820.6	2.4	2.9	3.3	22.8	19.3	16.9	1.5	1.3	13.0	2.4	11.9	14.5	2.3	10.8	13.2
Johnson & Johnson	74.25	74.69	51.13	99,308.3	98,288.3	2.5	2.8	3.1	30.2	26.8	23.6	1.9	1.7	14.0	3.9	14.3	17.9	3.5	12.7	15.9
Colgate-Palmolive	78.88	81.69	49.25	23,331.7	26,191.0	2.4	2.8	3.2	32.3	28.4	24.7	2.2	1.9	13.0	2.7	17.2	20.8	2.5	15.4	18.5
Sara Lee	57.25	59.94	38.50	27,089.0	30,581.0	2.1	2.4	2.7	27.5	24.0	21.1	1.8	1.6	13.0	1.5	12.3	16.5	N.A.	N.A.	N.A.
					Median:				32.3 x	26.8 x	23.6 x	2.0 x	1.7 x	13.0 %	2.7 x	13.3 x	17.8 x	2.5 x	12.7 x	15.9 x
					Mean:				29.9	26.1	22.7	1.9	1.7	13.3	2.9	13.4	16.8	3.0	13.3	16.0
					Total Median				23.3 x	19.5 x	17.2 x	1.6 x	1.4 x	12.5 %	1.6 x	10.3 x	13.4 x	1.5 x	9.2 x	12.1 x
					Total Mean:				25.2	21.8	18.8	1.7	1.5	12.7	2.1	11.3	14.1	2.0	10.5	12.7
Laser	$42.06	$50.44	$25.50	$3,594.9	$3,737.7	$1.40	$2.00	$2.64	30.0 x	21.0 x	15.9 x	1.1 x	0.8 x	20.0 %	2.4 x	9.7 x	11.7 x	1.9 x	7.7 x	9.2 x
Camper	19.88	20.88	12.06	1,061.3	1,567.1	0.51	0.97	1.14	N.M.	20.5	17.4	1.2	1.0	17.5	1.2	9.0	11.5	1.1	7.6	9.6

Notes:

(1) Closing prices as of 2/25/98. High and low represent the latest 52 week figures

(2) Aggregate value equals market value of equity plus short-term debt, long-term debt, minority interests and any capital leases and underfunded pensions, as appropriate

(3) IBES median EPS estimates as of 2/25/98 and calendarized to December 31st for 1998 and 1999

(4) IBES median long-term growth estimates as of 2/25/98

(5) Based on estimates from various research reports; Camper estimates based on Prudential research report dated 11/13/97

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0084026

437

IN THE FIFTEENTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT
IN AND FOR PALM BEACH COUNTY,
FLORIDA

COLEMAN (PARENT) HOLDINGS INC.,
Plaintiff,

vs.

MORGAN STANLEY & CO., INC.,
Defendant.
_____/

CASE NO. CA 03-5045 AI

FILED
Jan 3 2005
SHARON R. BOCK
CLERK & COMPTROLLER
BY DEPUTY CLERK

Filed Under Seal — Subject To Confidentiality Order

APPENDIX TO COLEMAN (PARENT) HOLDINGS INC.'S SUMMARY JUDGMENT FILING

VOLUME 6
(EXHIBITS 47-59)

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016270

Jerold S. Solovy
Ronald L. Marmer
Jeffrey T. Shaw
JENNER & BLOCK LLP
One IBM Plaza
Chicago, Illinois 60611
(312) 222-9350

John Scarola
SEARCY DENNY SCAROLA BARNHART & SHIPLEY P.A.
2139 Palm Beach Lakes Blvd.
West Palm Beach, Florida 33402-3626
(561) 686-6300

Attorneys for Coleman (Parent) Holdings Inc

971

TABLE OF CONTENTS
VOLUME 6

	TAB
Paul Shapiro Deposition Transcript (6/8/04)	47
James Maher Deposition Transcript (11/3/04)	48
Steven Geller Deposition Transcript	49
Paul Shapiro Deposition Transcript (7/28/04)	50
Joseph Page Deposition Transcript	51
MS Ex. 84	52
CPH Ex. 239	53
MS Ex. 112	54
MS Ex. 88	55
MS Ex. 113	56
MS Ex. 120	57
MS Ex. 117	58
CPH Ex. 140	59

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016271

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0162772

IN THE FIFTEENTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT

IN AND FOR PALM BEACH COUNTY, FLORIDA

COLEMAN (PARENT) HOLDINGS, INC.,
Case No: CA 03-5045 AI

Plaintiff,

vs.

MORGAN STANLEY & CO., INC.,

Defendant.

MORGAN STANLEY SENIOR FUNDING, INC.,
Case No: CA 03-5165 AI

Plaintiff,

vs.

MACANDREWS & FORBES HOLDINGS, INC.,

Defendant.

DEPOSITION OF PAUL E. SHAPIRO

Tuesday, June 8, 2004

New York, New York

Reported By:

LINDA J. GREENBERG

JOB NO. 161095

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016273

June 8, 2004
9:19 A.M.

Deposition of PAUL E. SHAPIRO, taken by Defendant, pursuant to Notice, at the offices of Kirkland & Ellis, L.L.P., Citicorp Center, 153 East 53rd Street, New York, New York, before Linda J. Greenberg, a Certified Shorthand Reporter and Notary Public of the State of New York.

APPEARANCES:

JENNER & BLOCK, L.L.P.
Attorneys for Plaintiff
One IBM Plaza
Chicago, Illinois 60611-7603

BY: MICHAEL T. BRODY, ESQ.

KIRKLAND & ELLIS, L.L.P.
Attorneys for Defendant
777 South Figueroa Street
Los Angeles, California 90017
BY: LAWRENCE P. BEMIS, Esq.

Also Present:
Kathryn Reed DeBord, Esq.
Kirkland & Ellis, L.L.P.

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: This is tape number one of the videotaped deposition of Paul Shapiro in the Matter of Coleman (Parent) Holding, Inc., plaintiff, versus Morgan Stanley & Company, Incorporated, defendant, Case Number CA 03-5045 AI.

Morgan Stanley Senior Funding, Inc., plaintiff, versus MacAndrews & Forbes Holding, Incorporated, et al, defendant. Case number CA 03-5165 AI in the Fifteenth Judicial Circuit in and for Palm Beach County, Florida.

This deposition is being held at Kirkland & Ellis at 153 East 53rd Street, New York, New York on Tuesday, June 8, 2004, and the time is 9:59 a.m.

My name is Mark Granderson with Esquire Deposition Services, and I am the legal video specialist. The court reporter is Linda Greenberg, also in association with Esquire Deposition Services.

Will counsel please introduce themselves.

MR. BEMIS: Lawrence Bemis for the Morgan Stanley entities.

MS. DeBORD: Katie DeBord for Morgan Stanley.

MR. BRODY: Michael Brody for Coleman Parent Holdings, MacAndrews & Forbes and the witness.

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Will the court reporter please swear in the witness.

PAUL E. SHAPIRO,
having been first duly sworn, was examined and testified as follows:

EXAMINATION BY
MR. BEMIS:

Q. Good morning Mr. Shapiro. Again, my name is Larry Bemis.

Would you state your full name for the jury, please?

A. Yes. Paul E. Shapiro, S-H-A-P-I-R-O.

Q. What does the "E" stand for?

A. Edwin.

Q. Mr. Shapiro, how old are you?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016274

A. 63.
Q. What is your date of birth?
A. April 25, 1941.
Q. Are you currently a senior vice president of MacAndrews & Forbes Holdings, Inc.?
A. Yes, I am.
Q. Where do you live?
A. I live in Florida, in Boca Raton, Florida; 2199 Northwest 30th Road; and in New York City in Manhattan.
Q. Are you registered to vote?
A. I'm registered to vote in Florida. I hold a Florida driver's license. I consider myself a Florida resident.
Q. What is your residence address in Manhattan?
A. 132 East 72nd Street.
Q. Are you married?
A. Yes.
Q. Does your spouse live in New York or Florida?
A. She goes back and forth with me.

Q. Where is she registered to vote?
A. Florida. She also holds a Florida driver's license.
Q. Do you have an office address in New York City?
A. Yes, I do. At the present time it's 35 East 62nd Street.
Q. Do you have an office telephone number at that address?
A. Yes. 212-572-8610.
Q. Do you have an office address in Florida?
A. No, I do not at this time.
Q. Now, is your office address that you gave is, is that the address of MacAndrews & Forbes Holdings, Inc.?
A. Yes, it is.
Q. And how long has that been your current office address?
A. Just since January 1st of this year.
MR. BRODY: I'm sorry, the answer was what?

(Requested portion of record read.)
Q. Sir, I'm going to ask you some questions today concerning a number of events going back to 1997 and going forward.
Do you understand, sir, that you are being videotaped today?
A. Yes, I do.
Q. And you have been deposed before, have you not, sir?
A. Yes, I have.
Q. You understand that you are under oath and that the oath you took has the same force and effect as if you were testifying in front of a jury?
A. Yes.
Q. Is there any reason that you can think of that you would not be able to testify fully and truthfully today?
A. No, there is not.
I would like to add that I am experiencing a problem with my eye today, something usual, so I may blink several times because of that condition, but it's nothing more than that.

Q. If at any point you need to take a break, let us know; or you're having trouble reading documents, because there are going to be a lot of documents, let us know and we'll see what we can do.
Mr. Brody was introduced as your counsel here today. Did you have an opportunity to meet with him before your deposition?
A. Yes, I did.
Q. And how long did you meet with him to prepare for your deposition?
A. We met twice, and I would guess that the total of the two meetings might have been five hours, six hours. Something in that range.
Q. When did you meet with him?
A. I met with him yesterday, and I met with him two or three weeks ago. I don't remember the exact date previous to yesterday.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016275

Q. When you met with Mr. Brody, did you review documents?
A. Yes, we did.
Q. What documents did you review?
MR. BRODY: I'm going to object to the form of the question. I ask you to rephrase, what we've done on other depositions.
MR. BEMIS: I have to confess, I can't tell you what you've done in all the other depositions.
MR. BRODY: Typically witnesses have been permitted to testify if any of the documents refreshed their recollection.
Your partners have taken the position that the question you just asked invades work product.
MR. BEMIS: I'm not going to get into what other people have done or not done. I'm going to ask my question. If you object, we'll go from there.
MR. BRODY: Fine.
Q. What documents did you review in preparation for your deposition?

MR. BRODY: I object and instruct him not to answer. It invades work product. You can ask the question --
MR. BEMIS: I heard you the first time. You made your objection.
Q. Are you going to follow the instruction and not tell me what documents you reviewed?
A. I'm going to follow the instructions of my attorney.
Q. Were these documents you reviewed related to events in 1997, 1998, during the period of the Sunbeam/Coleman merger and acquisition?
MR. BRODY: You can answer that question yes or no.
A. Yes.
Q. Did any of those documents refresh your recollection about events going back to 1997 and 1998?
A. Some did, yes.
Q. What documents did you review that refreshed your recollection?

MR. BRODY: You can answer.
A. I reviewed some papers that appeared to have been connected to a meeting held between some Coleman people and Sunbeam people in December of 1997.
Q. Could I just stop you right there.
Is that a document solving so-called synergies between the two companies?
A. Yes. It was a list of ideas for synergies, yes.
I reviewed what I would call a merger agreement. I don't know what the exact title of it was, but the merger documents connected to the transaction that ultimately occurred between Sunbeam and Coleman.
Q. May I ask you, is that the document that you signed on behalf of The Coleman Company, Inc.?
A. Yes.
Q. Go ahead.
A. I also reviewed documents relating to a presentation made by senior Sunbeam management to me and others at Coleman in the week proceeding the signing of that merger agreement concerning Sunbeam's expected performance for 1998 and beyond, if I recall.

I reviewed --
Q. Do you remember the title of that document?
A. No, I don't.
Q. Just give me --
A. It was what I would call a deck. It was a presentation.
Q. A PowerPoint presentation?
A. Yes.
Q. If you just give me one second.
Was this document entitled, "Sunbeam's Strategic Long Range Presentation"?
A. I don't remember, but I'm sure -- what I'm talking about is likely to be a document you'll show me, and when you show it to me I'll tell you if it appears to be the one that I reviewed.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016276

Q. Was this a meeting that took place before the merger agreement was signed which, I think, the record later will show was February 28th of 1998?
A. Yes. The deck related to a meeting that was held before the agreement was signed.
Q. Did Mr. Kersh make a presentation at this meeting?
A. Yes.
MR. BEMIS: We'll cover that -- I think for the record that's MS-86, but when the documents arrive, we'll confirm that.
Q. What other documents did you review that refreshed your recollection?
A. Minutes of board meetings of the Coleman board relating to their approval, their consideration of the transaction, their approval of the transaction. A presentation made by Credit Suisse First Boston to the board, including a fairness evaluation opinion.
Q. Can I ask you, on the board minutes, did you review minutes other than the minutes of February 25, 1998 and February 27, 1998 which have previously been identified --

A. I don't remember the exact dates, but there were minutes of two meetings that were held a few days prior to the signing of the merger document and then a meeting held on the same day as the signing.
Q. And then the Credit Suisse First Boston documents you reviewed, you recall to be a fairness opinion?
A. My recollection is, it was a presentation to the board to help them in concluding whether the price was fair to Coleman shareholders, and I don't recall if --
Again, if I saw the deck it would probably refresh my recollection, but they were giving the board their judgment as to the proper -- as to the fairness to shareholders of the proposed price.

MR. BEMIS: Can we have the courtesy of going off the record? The documents have arrived. We'll bring them into the room and things should go a little smoothly. I think things have been going smoothly, but they will continue to go smoothly.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: The time is now 10 minutes after 10 and we are now off the record.
(Discussion held off the record.)
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: The time is now 10:15 and we are back on the record.
(Requested portion of record read.)
Q. When you refer to a deck, are you referring to a PowerPoint presentation?
A. Yes. I don't remember whether in this instance it was presented -- whether it was presented with a camera, but it was a group of papers that looked like a PowerPoint presentation.

Q. Let me show you what's been previously marked as MS-84. We're not going to go through this in detail right now, but I just want to ask you if the document that you recall in the form of a deck that, I believe, was presented by Mr. Kersh before the merger agreement was signed, is this the document you were referring to?
MR. BRODY: You can answer the question, but I'd ask you to clarify. Are you asking about the documents or the handwriting or both?
MR. BEMIS: I'm just asking right now about the document.
A. We're now shifting from the First Boston document which I've been --
Q. Yes, sir.
A. This looks like -- again, I can't be specific, but it looks like the document that was presented at the meeting at Morgan Stanley, yes.
Q. Let me rephrase the question and start over.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016277

Page 18

When you use the term "deck," is that the type of document that you are referring to, what you have in your hands, MS-84?

A. Yes.

Q. Can you just hold it up to the camera, just hold the front page up so the jury can see what we're talking about. You can hand that back to me and we'll come back to it later.

Let's go forward now from the Credit Suisse First Boston deck that you looked at. What other documents did you look at in preparation for your deposition that refreshed your recollection?

A. My recollection is that I looked at a copy of a press release issued by Sunbeam in the period between the signing of the merger agreement and the actual closing of the transaction, mid March, the 18th, 19th, somewhere in there, in which they discussed the question of whether they would reach the revenue target that they had forecast publicly prior to that.

Page 19

Q. Revenue or sales?

A. I don't remember. I'd have to look at the releases.

Q. But you only looked at one press release?

A. Yes.

Q. What other documents did you look at that refreshed your recollection?

A. I'm sure there were a few others, but I don't recall sitting here. Again, as you show me documents, I'll be glad to tell you whether or not I looked at them in preparation.

Q. When did you retain Mr. Brody as your counsel?

A. My understanding is Mr. Brody was retained by my employer some time ago and I first met with him, as I said, in preparation for this case and agreed that he would represent me, also.

Q. Are the fees for Mr. Brody's services then being paid by your employer?

A. Yes.

Page 20

Q. So that's MacAndrews & Forbes, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Does Mr. Brody represent you in any other matters other than this litigation?

A. No, he does not.

Q. You have given other depositions related to the Coleman/Sunbeam merger transaction, correct?

A. I believe I recall having given a deposition in Florida -- at least one deposition in Florida. I think it was in the shareholder litigation, but I'm not sure, some time ago.

Q. Now, other than the one deposition that you believe you gave in Florida, have you given any other testimony under oath in any proceeding such as for the Securities and Exchange Commission, the New York Stock Exchange, anything like that?

MR. BRODY: Related to Sunbeam?

MR. BEMIS: Related to this,

Page 21

yes.

A. I don't believe so. I met with the Securities and Exchange Commission and I met with the New York Stock Exchange, but I don't believe I gave testimony.

Q. When you met with the Securities and Exchange Commission, were you under oath during the interview?

A. Not to my recollection.

Q. Were you represented by counsel?

A. The company was represented by counsel. I personally did not require counsel. I was not a witness to anything, nor was I a subject to the investigation.

Q. Again, I'm just going to refer -- all my questions today are going to be on the Coleman/Sunbeam merger. Unless I tell you otherwise, that is what we'll be talking about. That will keep you focused.

When you met with the New York Stock Exchange, were you interviewed?

A. No. I was meeting with them in connection with issues relating to whether Sunbeam was meeting the listing standards of the Stock Exchange and whether they would continue to list the stock or de-list the stock.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016278

Q. Other than the two meetings that you've identified with the -- excuse me, you haven't identified there were two meetings. Other than the meetings you've been telling me about with the SEC or the New York Stock Exchange as the case may be, have you met with any other regulatory agency about Coleman/Sunbeam issues?

MR. BRODY: Object to the form. You can answer.

A. I'm trying to think of the three years that I was at Sunbeam -- I don't recall meeting with any other agency.

Q. Just to close this out then, do you recall one instance where you were under oath and you gave a deposition, you believe, in the shareholder litigation, and that is the only time you believe you've given testimony under oath regarding the Sunbeam/Coleman transaction?

MR. BRODY: Object to the form.

A. Yes, I mean, without somehow refreshing my recollection, I recall one deposition taken in Florida relating to the shareholder litigation. I don't believe there were any others -- I can't recall, sitting here today, that there were any others.

I was definitely not under oath in any discussions I had with either the SEC or the New York Stock Exchange.

Q. Did you ever appear as a witness on behalf of Sunbeam to testify for the corporation as opposed to give testimony as Paul E. Shapiro?

A. As I look back, I recall one instance in Delaware where I gave testimony in a case involving the -- on behalf of the corporation in a case involving -- I believe it was indemnification and payment of fees on behalf of Al Dunlap, the former CEO of Sunbeam, and I know I testified in Delaware Chancery Court on that issue.

I don't recall if I had been deposed on that issue or not. I don't recall giving testimony in any other case. It's possible. I just don't recall.

Q. Other than discussing your deposition here today with your attorney, Mr. Brody, have you discussed the deposition with anyone else beyond saying I'm going to be here, for example?

A. Steven Fasman, who is counsel at MacAndrews & Forbes, discussed with me before I met Mr. Brody -- told me about the case, discussed with me the willingness to provide Mr. Brody as my counsel and sort of facilitated my meeting with Mr. Brody.

Q. And Mr. Fasman is an attorney for MacAndrews & Forbes?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you review during your preparation the complaints in the two actions that you are here giving testimony on today?

A. No, but I have read them previously some time ago.

Q. What were the circumstances under which you first read the complaints?

A. My recollection is that somebody at MacAndrews -- Steven Fasman, possibly -- sent me a copy of the complaint that they had filed in the -- originally the Morgan Stanley case; and when Morgan Stanley filed their counterclaim, if I recall, a separate case, I don't remember which it was, I was sent a copy of that complaint, I believe also by Steven Fasman, but I'm not sure.

Q. Did you have any involvement in the drafting of the complaint by Coleman Parent Holdings against Morgan Stanley & Co., Incorporated?

A. Not to my recollection.

Q. Am I correct that the first time that you saw that complaint was after it had been filed in court?

A. That's my recollection.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016279

Page 26

Q. I'm going to ask you just a few questions about your background and then we're going to go on to some more substantive matters.

Did you first go to work for The Coleman Company on July 1st of 1997?

A. Yes.

Q. When did you leave the company as an employee?

A. I left on the date that the closing took place in the sale to Sunbeam which, if I recall, was -- it was either the last day of March or the first day of April. It was the very end of March or early April of 1998.

Q. Let me show you what's we'll mark as MS-257.

(Exhibit MS-257 for identification, Mr. Shapiro's resignation from The Coleman Company, Inc.)

Q. Do you have Morgan Stanley Exhibit 257 in front of you, sir?

A. Yes.

Q. Is that your signature?

Page 27

A. Yes.

Q. Is this your resignation from The Coleman Company, Inc.?

A. I don't recall, but it certainly looks like it. I assume it is.

Q. Now, during the time you were employed by The Coleman Company, which I think you've told me now would be July 1, 1997 through March 31st of 1998, what positions did you hold with the company?

A. My recollection is that I was executive vice president and general counsel.

Q. Where was your office?

A. My office was at 625 Madison Avenue in New York.

Q. Did The Coleman Company maintain offices at that address?

A. Yes. We had a small executive office for what I would call corporate personnel, as opposed to operating personnel, and there were about six or eight of us that were in that space as opposed to Coleman's major headquarters in

Page 28

Wichita, Kansas.

Q. Did you ever work out of the Wichita, Kansas office?

A. Yes.

I never had an office there, but I traveled there fairly frequently for business reviews and so forth.

Q. That was a very poorly phrased question.

Did you ever maintain an office in Wichita?

A. No.

Q. For all practical purposes then, your office was at 625 Madison Avenue while you were employed by The Coleman Company?

A. That's correct.

Q. During the period you were employed by The Coleman Company, did you hold any other employment with entities owned by Ronald Perelman, either in total or through some other stock ownership?

A. Well, I didn't have stock ownership --

Page 29

Q. No, Mr. Perelman's stock ownership.

A. No. But to my recollection, in addition to my contract with Coleman, I also had a contract with one of the MacAndrews holding companies.

Q. Was this Marvel Entertainment?

A. No. I had left Marvel-- I left Marvel immediately preceding -- immediately before going to Coleman.

Q. Let me focus just on the Coleman period right now.

Can you tell us what company that you were also employed by that was affiliated with Mr. Perelman?

A. I don't recall. At various times I was affiliated with a company called the Andrews Group, which was a holding company, an intermediate holding company that, among other things, owned all or some of the stock in, I believe in -- had a relationship, let's put it that way, to Marvel, which had been my previous employer.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016280

Page 30

And one of the MacAndrews & Forbes Holdings -- at various times I have also had contracts with others of the holding companies above the operating companies, I just don't recall at that time which one it was.

Q. Just so we're clear, as far as you can recall as you sit here today, during the period July 1, 1997 through March 31, 1998, while you were employed by Coleman, you only had employment with one other company associated with Mr. Perelman, is that right?

A. At any given time I did. I don't remember whether it changed during that period.

Q. During the period you were employed by The Coleman Company, was that your primary employment?

A. Yes.

Q. And what percentage of your time did you spend on The Coleman Company as opposed to this other company owned by Mr. Perelman?

Page 31

A. To my recollection, over 90 percent. I just don't recall.

Q. During the period you were employed by The Coleman Company, were you also of counsel to the law firm of Greenberg Traurig? And I think the full name at that time was Greenberg Traurig Hoffman Rosen Lipoff & Quentel.

A. When I first came to work for MacAndrews & Forbes, I remained of counsel to Greenberg Traurig for a period of time. I don't remember when that ended.

I was paid for a period of time by the firm. Then that stopped, and then I remained listed on the letterhead as counsel for a period of time, but I don't frankly recall whether it included the period during which I was at Coleman.

Q. Before you went to work for The Coleman Company, you had been employed in various capacities as an attorney, had you not?

A. Within the MacAndrews entity or by myself?

Page 32

Q. By yourself, sir.

A. Yes.

Q. When did you start your legal practice?

A. 1967.

Q. Was that after your graduation from law school?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you graduate from the University of Pennsylvania, is that right?

A. Yes.

Q. If I recall, you did your undergraduate work there as well?

A. Yes, I did.

Q. What did you in 1967, and we'll just work our way forward real quickly.

A. In 1967, I joined as an associate in the law firm of Wolf Block Schorr & Solis-Cohen in Philadelphia.

Q. Were you officed in Philadelphia at that time?

A. Yes, I was.

Q. Did you eventually open an office in West Palm Beach?

Page 33

A. Yes. Jumping a bunch of years and careers, but, I did.

Q. Why don't you bring me forward from when you joined Wolf Schorr.

A. I was with Wolf Block Schorr again from somewhere around September of 1967 until the beginning of April of 1970.

The beginning of April 1970, I left with another young lawyer and gave up the practice of law and we formed a school called the Institute for Paralegal Training.

We were the first school in the country to train people to work as legal assistants. I would say one of our first placements was at your law firm in Chicago --

Q. You eventually sold that company, as I recall?

A. Yes. We sold that company to Bell & Howell Company.

Q. In 1973?

A. In 1973.

Q. Take us forward.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016281

Page 34

What did you do in 1973?
A. I continued to work for the school for Bell & Howell Company until the summer of 1976, at which time I resigned from the school.
I then took a year off, although I did some consulting work during that year, and returned to Wolf Block Schorr & Solis-Cohen in 1977.
Q. Which office?
A. Philadelphia.
Q. How long did you stay in the Philadelphia office?
A. I stayed in the Philadelphia office until the summer of 1982, at which point I moved to Palm Beach County, Florida for the purpose of starting a Wolf Block office in that area.
Q. When you moved to West Palm Beach, Florida in 1982, did you establish legal residence then in Florida?
A. Yes. That's where I lived, in Boca Raton, Florida, my office was in West Palm Beach. I took the Florida Bar exam.

Page 35

Became a member of the Florida Bar, if I recall, in the fall of '82.
Q. You beat me by two years.
A. I then practiced law in that office until 1988, at which point I and others in the office left and formed a firm which was named Shapiro & Bregman, B-R-E-G-M-A-N.
Q. Can I interrupt you there?
So that office, Shapiro & Bregman -- that's an ampersand, right, Bregman?
A. Yes.
Q. You opened that office in 1988; and you continued in that practice, I think, until about 1991, is that correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And what happened in 1991?
A. In 1991 we merged that firm into the firm of Greenberg Traurig, which, I think, then had the name Greenberg Traurig Hoffman Lipoff Rosen & Quentel.
Q. That's correct.
And then you worked with the

Page 36

Greenberg Traurig firm, which we'll use for shorthand, until about January of 1994, is that right?
A. No.
Until December of 1993, at which point, at the end of December, I joined MacAndrews & Forbes, and was assigned to work for one of the companies that they controlled, which was Marvel Entertainment Group, Inc.
Q. When you joined MacAndrews & Forbes, are you referring now to the holding company or a larger affiliated group of companies?
A. I'm just referring to the affiliated companies, yes.
Q. The company that you went to work for with MacAndrews & Forbes, was that a Marvel Entertainment Group?
A. I think, again, to my recollection, my employment agreement was with a company called Andrews Group, of which I was an executive vice president; and my day-to-day work was, again, 95 percent for Marvel Entertainment Group, of which I was an executive vice president and general counsel.

Page 37

Ultimately, I believe, also chief administrative officer.
Q. Let me show you what we'll mark as MS-252.
(Exhibit MS-252 for identification, Mr. Shapiro's resume.)
Q. Do you have MS-252 in front of you, sir?
A. Yes, I do.
Q. Mr. Shapiro, there's a brief resume for you here. Could you just take a quick read of it and let me know when you're finished, and my question is just going to be whether it's accurate, at least in its presentation of your background and employment as described therein?
A. Yes. I really don't know what this is from, but it is accurate.
Q. All right, you can set it aside.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016282

When you first started your employment with Marvel Entertainment Group, did you move to New York from West Palm Beach?

A. Again, I was living in -- I was working in West Palm Beach. I was living in Boca Raton. My wife and I, our arrangement was that we rented an apartment in New York and we commuted. We kept our house. We were in Florida on weekends, we were in New York during the week when my business had me in New York, I traveled a great deal on business to Italy and to California and to other places.

Q. When you went to work for Marvel Entertainment Group, I think you said your titles eventually were executive vice president, general counsel and chief administrative officer, did you have an office in New York?

A. Yes.

Q. And where was that office, sir?

A. I believe Marvel was headquartered -- I was at the Marvel headquarters and I believe it was headquartered at 387 Park Avenue South.

Q. And at the time that you were employed by Marvel Entertainment Group, was that company owned by Mr. Perelman or one of his affiliated companies?

A. Mr. Perelman's companies owned approximately 81 or 82 percent of the stock, and the rest was owned by the public.

Q. That's then approximately the ownership percentage that Mr. Perelman had through his affiliate companies of The Coleman Company at the time of the merger, correct?

A. That's correct.

Q. Your next job then after Marvel Entertainment Group was with The Coleman Company, correct?

A. That's correct.

Q. And we've covered that.

Let's leap forward now to March 31, 1998. You resign. Where do you go to work next?

A. I was under contract, again, with one of the MacAndrews holding companies, and I had an office -- they established an office for me at 35 East 62nd Street, which is their headquarters; and I was there. I spent -- I really didn't have a lot to do, so I spent a lot of time at my home in Florida.

But I was -- I had that office until June -- mid June of 1998, at which time I went to Sunbeam.

Q. I think if you look at Morgan Stanley Exhibit 252, it states that about June 15, 1998, you became the executive vice president and chief administrative officer of Sunbeam Corporation, is that accurate?

A. Yes.

Q. I remember that, because that happens to be my birthday, so I won't forget that.

Did you then enter into a three year employment agreement with Sunbeam

Corporation?

A. My recollection is that during the time I was at Sunbeam, I think there were two different agreements, but I did enter into an agreement. I don't remember how long the first one was.

It was soon after I went there, within a month, we entered into an agreement.

Q. How is it that you came to be an employee of Sunbeam Corporation on or about June 15th of 1998?

A. Well, whatever day June 15th is, it might be a Monday, the prior Saturday I was in Florida, and I received a call informing me that the board of Sunbeam had fired their CEO and CFO -- had fired their CEO, Al Dunlap, the prior -- on that day, and I don't remember whether they fired or suspended the CFO, Russell Kersh.

But they had then reached out to MacAndrews & Forbes and requested a meeting the next day, on Sunday, to discuss, among other things, the possibility of MacAndrews & Forbes providing management, at least on a temporary basis, to take over the company. Since after the merger Coleman represented probably 40 percent or 40 plus percent of the revenues of the combined company, and I went to New York.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016283

Page 42

I was asked to come to New York. I went to New York. I met with Jerry Levin, who had been the CEO of Coleman, some MacAndrews people and the board of Sunbeam, I don't remember offhand whether all of the board members were present. They weren't all present in person, I don't remember how many were in person by telephone, and it was agreed that day that Jerry and I would go to Florida and take over the management of Sunbeam.

And we would sort out over the next few weeks or a month what the permanent arrangement or the long-term arrangement would be, and that's how I came to be involved with Sunbeam.

Page 43

Q. Who called you, the name of the person who called you and first discussed with you going to work for Sunbeam?

A. Howard Gittis, who is executive vice president of MacAndrews & Forbes Holdings.

Q. Is it fair to say, then, Mr. Gittis asked you to come to New York then and meet with the other MacAndrews & Forbes people?

A. Yes.

Q. And then when you came to New York, you met with Mr. Levin and others and then proceeded to take on the assignment as you have described it?

A. Yes.

Q. Let me show you what has been marked as MS-258.

(Exhibit MS-258 for identification, Document.)

Q. I've handed you, sir, what's been marked as MS-258 for identification.

Would you please take a minute and look at it and tell me when you're done. I don't have a lot of detailed questions about it. Primarily it's related to the fourth paragraph of the document.

Page 44

A. I'm sorry, what was your question?

Q. I didn't ask you one yet. Are you done?

A. Yes, I've reviewed it.

Q. Is it accurate, sir, that you, as stated in the fourth paragraph, that you, along with Mr. Levin, signed three-year employment agreements with Sunbeam?

A. I believe so, yes.

Q. When did the employment agreements then terminate?

A. Well, in my case, assuming this is the last agreement I signed with Sunbeam, because I just can't remember, my agreement terminated in the summer of 2001, sometime after the Sunbeam bankruptcy filing.

Page 45

Q. When you were employed by Sunbeam during the time period we've gone over, June 15th of 1998 through, we'll say, June of 2001, did you have an office in Florida?

A. Yes. I had an office in Florida.

Q. Where at?

A. Initially, the office was at Sunbeam headquarters which was in Del Ray. I don't remember the exact address, but it was on Congress and Linton.

Q. Did you also maintain an office in New York?

A. For a period of time, yes.

Q. Where was that office in New York?

A. It was, I believe, still at 625 Madison.

Q. Again, that's --

A. Wait a second. I meant 35 East 62nd.

Q. Again, that's a MacAndrews & Forbes office, correct?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016284

Page 46

A. Yes.
Q. And while you worked for Sunbeam, how much time did you spend in New York versus time in Florida; or if it varied --
A. My duties were essentially all in Florida.
I did spend time in New York because the lenders that we were dealing with for the most part were headquartered in New York. All the lawyers -- the matter involved a lot of lawyers, lenders, consultants, et cetera and they were all based in New York, so I did have to go to New York frequently for the purpose of meeting with those people.
But I would say that I considered myself to be working in Florida.
Q. Did you commute back and forth during weekends, as you described earlier --
A. No, essentially -- we still had our home and we essentially were based in Florida. As I said, we came up here when I needed to come up for base. I have children up here we visited periodically, but my business location was Florida.

Page 47

Q. Were you paid by Sunbeam during this period of time that you worked for Sunbeam?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you work for any other company affiliated with Mr. Perelman during the time you worked for Sunbeam?
A. Yes. I was also employed by one of Mr. Perelman's holding companies. Although, again, I would say most of my time, well over 90 percent, was spent on Sunbeam.
Q. What holding company did you work for during this period?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Were you paid by that company as well as paid by Sunbeam?
A. Yes.
Q. While you were employed by Sunbeam, were you on the board of directors at any time?

Page 48

A. Of --
Q. Sunbeam?
A. Of the public corporation? No.
Q. Were you a member of an audit committee of Sunbeam, even if you weren't a director of the company?
A. No. I was not a member. I attended most of the audit committee meetings as a senior executive, but I was not a member.
Q. You attended the audit committee meetings of the board of directors, but you weren't a member because you weren't a director, is that right?
A. That's correct. I don't know if I attended all of them, but I attended many of them.
Q. But your attendance at the audit committee meetings of Sunbeam during your employment were strictly as a senior executive officer of the company, correct?
A. That's correct.

Page 49

Q. Let me show you what's been marked as MS-253.
(Exhibit MS-253 for identification, Detail organization chart.)
Q. If you would take a moment and look at MS-253, I don't have a lot of questions. It's a detail organization chart for Sunbeam. Just concentrate, I think, on the first page of the organization chart, which has a number in handwriting. It looks like a "7" at the bottom.
And then if you'll turn also to the one marked "12" in handwriting, I have just a couple of quick questions for you.
After you've looked at those, let me know.
A. Okay.
Q. My first question is, is this a Sunbeam created document?
A. It appears to be. I don't recall it, but it appears to be.
Q. It has a date in the upper

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016285

Page 50

right-hand corner of the first page dated September 14, 1998. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Turn to page 7, which is entitled "Chief Executive Officer," and then it has Mr. Levin's name at the top and you ultimately appear on the left-hand side, third line.
A. Yes.
Q. To your knowledge, is this a fair and accurate organizational chart for Sunbeam on or about September 14th of 1998?
A. I have no reason to believe otherwise. Things shifted fairly rapidly in the early days at Sunbeam, but this appears to be a chart showing Jerry Levin's direct reports.
Q. And you were one of his direct reports as executive vice president and chief administrative officer, correct?
A. That's correct.
Q. And then if we turn to page 12, the page is entitled, "Administration."

Page 51

Tell me when you are there.
A. Yes.
Q. Is this an organizational chart for your direct reports when you were in the position of executive vice president, chief administrative officer of Sunbeam, at least as of the date of the document?
A. Yes. It's not complete, but it's close, yes.
Q. So the general counsel, Janet G. Kelley, reported to you?
A. Yes, she did.
Q. Following your employment at Sunbeam, which I believe you thought terminated in June of 2001, did you join another MacAndrews & Forbes company?
A. I believe what I said was that my employment terminated in the summer of 2001. I'm not sure if -- my recollection was that it terminated at the end of July, but I could be wrong.
Q. I may have misheard.
A. I started spending time in both places, in effect, but, yes, I did join another company as of August 1st.

Page 52

Q. And what company was that?
A. Revlon.
Q. Which Revlon company?
A. Revlon the public company.
Q. Is that Revlon, Inc.?
A. I think it's Revlon Holdings, Inc., but I'm not certain.
Q. What was your position?
A. I was executive vice president and chief administrative officer.
Q. That is the same title that you held at Sunbeam, correct?
A. That's correct.
Q. Did you have essentially the same duties at Revlon Holdings, Inc. that you did at Sunbeam?
A. They were similar. There were some lines of business that were different, some of the reports were different, but they were similar.
Q. When you were at Sunbeam, did your responsibilities include restructuring, if you will, of Sunbeam following the termination of Mr. Dunlap and Mr. Kersh and others?

Page 53

A. I would say that I was one of the people intimately involved in that. I was not -- I think Jerry Levin really took the lead on that, but I was intimately involved in that, yes.
Q. When you became employed by Revlon Holdings, Inc., were you involved in restructuring with that company?
A. That company didn't restructure, so the answer to that is no.
They recently -- they recently engaged in a transaction in which they swapped a good deal of debt for equity and restructured their balance sheet in that way, but I was not involved in that transaction.
Q. How long did you work for Revlon Holdings, Inc. as executive vice president and chief administrative officer?
A. Again, from the summer of 2001 until December 31st of 2004.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016286

Q. 2004 --
A. '3, excuse me.
And then I had one project that I continued to work on until recently.
Q. Where was your office when you worked for Revlon Holdings, Inc.?
A. It was at Revlon's headquarters, which was originally at 625 Madison; and then in October of 2003, we moved the headquarters to 237 Park Avenue.
Q. After you left Revlon Holdings, Inc., what did you do then?
A. I rejoined the parent company, MacAndrews & Forbes Holdings, as a senior vice president.
Q. Was that as of January 1st of 2004?
A. Yes.
Q. And that is your current position today, correct?
A. That is my current position today, although that position will end at the end of June of 2004.
Q. Why is that?

A. Because I, at that point, will join a new business with my son.
Q. So as of June 1st of 2004 --
A. As of July 1st.
Q. I misspoke, I'm sorry.
As of July 1st, 2004, will you be severing all employment relationships with any of Mr. Perelman's companies?
A. I will not after that be working for Mr. Perelman's companies. I have severance obligations that they have toward me that will continue to be fulfilled.
Q. Do you have a position with a company called Toll Brothers, Inc.?
A. Yes.
Q. Is that your son's company?
A. No.
Q. It's a different company?
A. That's a New York Stock Exchange publicly listed company of which I've been a director for over ten years.
Q. When you go into business, I take it with your son, I think you said this summer, where is that business located?

A. That business will be located both in New York and Florida.
Q. What does it do?
A. The business, it's involved in a new field, which is called the life insurance settlement business and involves the purchase of life insurance policies from people who no longer want or need their life insurance. Very complicated business which, luckily, my son understands.
Q. I would gather it's actuarially based, and I think I do understand what it probably involves.
So as you sit here today, do you still maintain your apartment residence in New York as you've described it?
A. Yes.
Q. And you still maintain your same home in Boca Raton, correct?
A. That's correct.

Q. Just curious, why we're deposing you in New York while you're living in Florida. Is there a reason why we couldn't have taken your deposition in Florida?
A. I was not asked to have my deposition taken in Florida. I was there the weekend and would have been happy to stay for this deposition.
But I think the question you actually asked me was not where I was living. You asked me where I was a resident -- consider myself to be a resident of Florida.
Q. I understand, and I'm not quarreling --
A. And over the last ten years, my work has caused me to be in New York a great deal of the time, and in Florida for some of the other time, then other places.
Q. Did you actually travel from Florida to New York for your deposition here?
A. I actually came here on Sunday

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0116287

Page 58

evening.
Q. Have you ever held any positions in Coleman Parent Holdings, Inc., one of the plaintiffs in this case, the consolidated cases?
A. The answer is, I do not recall holding a position in any of them, but it's possible.
Q. Have you ever held a position in a company called, all caps, CLN Holdings Inc., no comma?
A. I don't recall holding a position in that company, but again, it's possible.
Q. CLN Holdings Inc. also was at one time known as Coleman Escrow Corp.
Did you ever hold a position in Coleman Escrow?
A. I don't recall if I held a position.
Q. Same question for Coleman Worldwide Corporation?
A. I don't recall.
Q. MAFCO Holdings Inc., no comma?

Page 59

A. I think MAFCO Holdings Inc. is the company which I am now the senior vice president -- actually, excuse me, MacAndrews & Forbes Holdings, Inc., is the company of which I'm now --
Q. MAFCO Holdings Inc. is a different company?
A. Yes. The answer is, I don't recall. I believe so, but I don't recall.
Q. In any of the companies affiliated with Mr. Perelman that you have worked for in your career, have you ever sat on the boards of directors?
A. Not of the public companies. Only of subsidiaries.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: The time is now 11:08 and we are off the record.
(A recess was taken.)
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: The time is now 11:19 and we are back on the record.
Q. Mr. Shapiro, do you know Barry F. Schwartz?
A. Yes, I do.
Q. Was he employed by Wolf Block

Page 60

at the same time that you were an attorney there?
A. Yes. We overlapped for part -- Barry's younger than I am. We overlapped for part of the time.
Q. Did you both work in the Philadelphia office at the same time?
A. I'm not sure. I believe Barry came when I was still -- yes, he came when I was still in Philadelphia. I think he came when I was gone and when I got back there, he was there.
Q. Did Mr. Schwartz have any connection with your decision to join The Coleman Company, Inc. in 1997?
A. I don't recall.
Q. How was it that you came to work for The Coleman Company?
A. Remember, I was working for MacAndrews & Forbes prior to that.
Q. Right.
A. I had been at Marvel Entertainment Group. Marvel Entertainment Group filed a Chapter 11 bankruptcy petition in December of 1996; and there was a very contentious fight in Delaware Bankruptcy Court all through the spring -- the winter and spring of 1997 involving MacAndrews' interest on one side and bondholders who were led by, among others, Carl Icahn, on the other side.

Page 61

And at the end of June -- sometime in late June of 1997, the Bankruptcy Court gave the bondholders the right to vote stock that was pledged to them which was an amount of stock that controlled the company.
And Mr. Icahn and other bondholders elected a new board that replaced the existing board at Marvel, and I left at that time.
I don't recall whether I resigned or was fired, but I left.
Q. Did Mr. Schwartz have any involvement in your initial employment by Mr. Pearlman's companies in 19 -- I think it was 1994 when you first joined?
A. I was originally approached, I believe, by Mr. Gittis -- Mr. Schwartz reported to Mr. Gittis -- and I consider Mr. Schwartz a very good friend; and Mr. Schwartz encouraged me, along with Mr. Gittis, to join the company.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016288

He thought it was something -- he thought it was a good thing for me and for the company and so forth, so he did influence me, yes.

Q. Did you know Mr. Gittis before he approached you to join Mr. Pearlman's companies in 1994?

A. Yes. He had also been a long time Wolf Block Schorr partner and we were colleagues beginning -- we first met him when I was a summer associate at Wolf Block in 1966.

Q. In 1997, when you joined The Coleman Company, were you an active member of the Florida Bar?

A. I believe so. I ultimately transferred to inactive status, but I don't remember when.

Q. In 1997, when you joined The Coleman Company, were you a member of the Bar of any state other than Florida?

A. Yes. I was a member of the Pennsylvania Bar. I am now also inactive, but I don't recall which year I moved to inactive status in the Pennsylvania Bar.

Q. Any other state bars?

A. No, no.

Q. Have you ever been a member of the New York Bar?

A. No, I have not.

Q. You may be able to do the math faster than me.

How many years did you actively practice law, either with Wolf Schorr, your own firm, or with the Greenberg Traurig firm, as you described it?

MR. BRODY: Excluding practice of law at MacAndrews & Forbes or its entities?

MR. BEMIS: Yes, the private practice of law.

Q. Let me rephrase the question before you try to answer, because the court reporter is having a difficult time taking both of us simultaneously.

How many years were you in private practice with the firms of Wolf Schorr, your firm and Greenberg Traurig?

A. I believe 19 or 20 years.

Q. What type of practice did you have during those 19 to 20 years?

A. I was originally a real estate lawyer. Then I switched to being a, I would say, corporate and business lawyer, also, I continued to do real estate work.

And by the time I left the practice to join Marvel, I would have considered myself a corporate securities lawyer.

Q. As a corporate securities lawyer, did you counsel clients in mergers and acquisitions?

A. At times, yes, but generally not huge public company transactions.

Q. When you were practicing as a lawyer, and a corporate securities lawyer, did you become familiar with the Federal Securities Laws; in particular, the 1933 Act and the 1934 Act?

A. Yes.

Q. And as a corporate securities lawyer in connection with your practice, did you also become generally familiar with the accounting profession and their responsibilities in connection with, for example, underwritings of securities?

MR. BRODY: Object to the form.

You can answer.

Q. You can answer.

A. Generally, yes.

Q. In your practice as a corporate securities lawyer, could you read an audited financial statement?

MR. BRODY: Object to the form. Go ahead.

A. I'm not trained as an accountant, but I believe I can make some sense of an audited financial statement, yes.

Q. As a corporate securities lawyer, did you understand what a balance sheet was?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016289

Page 66

A. Yes.
MR. BRODY: Objection.
Q. Did you understand what an income statement was?
MR. BRODY: Same objection.
A. As a general matter, yes.
Q. Were you familiar, as a corporate securities lawyer, with generally accepted accounting principles, even though I understand you're not an expert?
MR. BRODY: Object to the form.
A. I'm certainly familiar with the concept of generally accepted accounting principles, and I used some of the principles and didn't know a lot of the other principles.
Q. Would the same be true for generally accepted auditing standards?
MR. BRODY: Same objection.
A. You've asked me in my role as a practicing attorney --
Q. Correct?

Page 67

A. Yes. I knew what they were.
I would have had much less familiarity with generally accepted auditing standards in those days.
Q. As a corporate securities lawyer as you've described it, by the time you joined Coleman in 1997, were you familiar with the duties of directors to public companies?
A. As a general matter, yes.
Q. Let's turn to 1997, if we could, sir, when you joined the company.
You were the general counsel of the company, The Coleman Company, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And as the general counsel of The Coleman Company, starting in 1997, did you have the sole responsibility for legal matters of that company?
A. I had the responsibility for managing the legal department of that company. I was the senior legal officer, yes.
Q. During the period July 1, 1997 until your resignation, March 31, 1998, how many lawyers were there in The Coleman Company legal department that reported to you as general counsel and chief legal officer?

Page 68

A. My recollection is that I had a younger lawyer, Steven Isko, who was the corporate securities M&A lawyer.
Q. That's I-S-K-O, correct?
A. I-S-K-O.
We had a product liability group in Wichita that consisted of Ken Bell as the senior attorney and several paralegals.
We had one or two intellectual property lawyers, Steve Gurth (ph.) being the most senior.
We had counsel in our French subsidiary, Robert Rosenzweig. I think it's R-O-S-E-N-Z-W-E-I-G; and we had another generalist named Vic Michaels.
Q. Vic Michaels?
A. Yes, Vic Michaels.
I think that's it. I don't

Page 69

remember if we had anybody else.
Q. In terms of the Sunbeam/Coleman transaction, were you the chief legal officer for that transaction for The Coleman Company, Inc.?
A. I was general counsel at the time. I mean, I worked on the transaction. Steven Crew worked on the transaction as did others and we had outside counsel.
Q. When you say others, others inside the legal department at the Coleman Company?
A. Yes. I mean, I'm not certain, but I would think that as -- to the extent that there were issues or questions concerning, for example, product liability issues, Ken Bell would have gotten involved and so forth.
Q. Well, setting aside a product liability issue or perhaps an environmental issue where you had to list something on the disclosure schedule, in terms of the actual merger agreement, the drafting and execution of that agreement, was that your responsibility or was it shared with Mr. Isko or how was --

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016290

Page 70

MR. BRODY: Objection to form.

A. Mr. Isko and I took responsibility for the company, but I don't want to overstate the work product that we had Wachtel Lipton as outside counsel, and they certainly did the vast majority of drafting; they and counsel for Sunbeam, Skadden Arps.

I was the senior most legal officer within the company involved in the transaction.

Q. You've heard the expression, "The buck stops here"?

A. Yes. It's a fairly old expression and honored more in breach.

Q. Well, setting aside where it's honored, in the case of the merger agreement here that you signed on behalf of The Coleman Company, Inc., did the buck stop at your desk, sir, for that agreement for The Coleman Company --

Page 71

MR. BRODY: Object to form.

Q. -- as chief legal officer?

A. With regard to any legal matter, I would say yes, for the company.

Q. Now, you told me earlier in your questioning this morning that you did review some of the board of director minutes for The Coleman Company, Inc. that were related to the merger, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. I want to show you first a document, MS-88, and ask you to take a look at that. That's already been previously marked.

I've handed you what's been marked as Morgan Stanley or MS-88.

Do you have that in front of you?

A. Yes, I do.

Q. Is this, Mr. Shapiro, one of the documents that you reviewed with your counsel in preparation for your deposition?

A. I believe the answer is yes.

Page 72

Q. Are these the minutes of The Coleman Company, Inc. board of directors meeting on February 25, 1998 at 4 p.m. eastern time?

A. They appear to be, yes.

Q. And this meeting was held at 35 East 62nd Street, New York, New York, correct?

A. That's correct.

Q. And that is the MacAndrews & Forbes address or office address you gave me earlier, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you attend the entire meeting?

A. I believe so.

Q. Were you there as executive vice president and general counsel of The Coleman Company, Inc.?

A. Yes.

Q. If you can set that aside. You're going to need to refer to it again. Just keep it close there.

Sir, would you do me the

Page 73

pleasure of handing that to the court reporter. This was previously marked at Mr. Slovin's deposition, but for reasons I can't explain, this doesn't have an initial, so we'll ask the reporter to initial it and date it, please.

(Exhibit MS-118 for identification, Agenda and minutes of board of directors meeting on 2/27/98.)

Q. Mr. Shapiro, do you have MS-118 in front of you?

A. Yes.

Q. Is this the agenda and minutes of the board of directors meeting of The Coleman Company, Inc. on February 27, 1998?

A. It appears to be the minutes.

Q. Is this one of the documents that you reviewed with Mr. Brody, your counsel, before coming to your deposition today?

A. Yes.

Q. And was this meeting of The Coleman Company board of directors held on

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016291

Page 74

February 27, 1998 at the MacAndrews & Forbes offices at 35 East 62nd Street, New York, New York?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you attend the February 27, 1998 board meeting?
A. Yes, I did.
Q. And did you attend as the general counsel and vice president of The Coleman Company?
A. Yes.
Q. And did you attend the entire meeting on February 27th?
A. To my recollection, yes.
Q. Would you please look at a document we previously marked as MS-117.
MR. BRODY: Are you going to need to initial this again?
MS. DeBord: Yes.
MR. BRODY: Why don't I get him started looking --
MR. BEMIS: Miss Reporter, would you please initial this and date it. For the record, this was also marked at

Page 75

Mr. Slovin's deposition.
(Exhibit MS-117 for identification, Agreement and plan of merger.)
Q. Sir, do you have Exhibit MS-117 in front of you?
A. Yes, I do.
Q. And is this, sir, the agreement and plan of merger among Sunbeam Corporation, Camper Acquisition Corp. and The Coleman Company, Inc.?
A. It appears to be, yes.
Q. Is your signature on this document on the page that is marked Morgan Stanley Confidential 0008054?
A. Yes.
Q. And you signed this as the executive vice president of The Coleman Company, Inc., correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And at the time you signed it, that is, the agreement had been approved by the board of directors?
A. Yes.

Page 76

Q. And you had, as the chief legal officer and general counsel, reviewed the document before you signed it, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And you understood the document, correct?
A. I think so.
Q. If you would look at MS-88 again, which is the February 25th meeting, please, and tell me when you have that document.
A. Yes, I have it.
Q. Is February 25, 1998 the first board of directors meeting at which the board of directors of The Coleman Company had been advised that there were discussions between Coleman and Sunbeam concerning a merger?
A. To my recollection, yes.
Q. During the February 25th meeting, was there any representative of Morgan Stanley Co., Inc., at the meeting?
A. It appears from the minutes that Gordon Rich and Rob Duffy were both there.

Page 77

Q. They're not employed by Morgan Stanley, are they?
A. I'm sorry, Morgan Stanley. I thought you said Credit Suisse -- no, the answer is no. Nobody from Morgan Stanley was there.
Q. I'm going to ask you the same question with regard to Morgan Stanley Senior Funding, Inc.
Was anyone from that company present at the February 25th meeting?
A. No.
Q. Before February 25, 1998, had anyone from either Morgan Stanley & Co., Incorporated or Morgan Stanley Senior Funding made any type of presentation to the board of directors of The Coleman Company relating to the Sunbeam/Coleman merger?
A. There had been a meeting with certain members of Morgan Stanley at which at least one or maybe two of the directors attended, but other than that, to my knowledge, no.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016292

Q. At the February 25, 1998 board of directors meeting, were any documents of any kind presented to the board of directors that were attributed to Morgan Stanley; that is, prepared by Morgan Stanley, or Morgan Stanley Senior Funding?
A. I don't recall.
MR. BRODY: Object to the form.
Q. At the February 25, 1998 board of directors meeting, was there any reference to Morgan Stanley or Morgan Stanley Senior Funding at the meeting?
A. I don't recall.
Q. According to the minutes of the meeting, it convened at 4 p.m. and adjourned at 5:30 p.m. Is that your recollection of how long the meeting lasted?
A. I don't recall. I mean, it's -- if you would have asked me offhand, I would have said a couple of hours, so it's --
Q. Please now look at Morgan

Stanley 118, which is the minutes of the February 27th board of directors meeting.
Do you have that in front of you?
A. Yes.
Q. Now, was it at this meeting on February 27th that a board of directors actually voted to approve the merger agreement that we marked as MS-117?
A. Yes.
Q. Were there any presentations to the board of directors between the conclusion of the February 25th meeting of the board and the beginning of the February 27, 1998 meeting of the board concerning the proposed merger between Coleman and Sunbeam?
A. You're asking the meeting of the board as opposed to individual discussions? There was no meeting of the board, to my recollection.
Q. Were there any documents presented to the board of directors between the February 25th meeting's conclusion and the commencement of the February 27, 1998 board of directors meeting?

A. I don't recall.
Q. At the February 27th meeting, at which time the merger was approved, was there any presentation at the meeting by any representative of Morgan Stanley & Co., Incorporated?
A. I do not believe so.
Q. Was there any presentation by a representative of Morgan Stanley Senior Funding, Inc.?
A. I do not believe so.
Q. There were, however, presentations at both board of directors meetings by Credit Suisse First Boston, correct?
A. There certainly was at the second meeting. I don't remember their presentation, sitting here today, at the first meeting. They were present. I don't remember their presentation.
Q. And Credit Suisse First Boston was The Coleman Company's exclusive financial advisor in the Sunbeam/Coleman merger transaction, was it not?

A. Yes.
Q. Now, at the board meeting on February 27th, the board members were voting on behalf of some public shareholders, were they not?
A. Yes.
Q. And they were also voting on behalf of MAFCO Holdings Inc., which at that time, I think, owned approximately 82 percent indirectly of The Coleman Company, Inc., is that correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Was the vote of the board of directors on February 27, 1998, was it unanimous?
A. My recollection is yes, it was.
Q. To your knowledge, were any members of the board of directors of The Coleman Company told how they should vote on February 27, 1998?
A. No.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016293

Q. To your knowledge then, did the board of directors of The Coleman Company, Inc. exercise their own independent business judgment on February 27, 1998 in deciding whether to vote for the merger?
A. Based on the information presented to them, I believe the answer is yes.
Q. After the February 27, 1998 board of directors meeting of The Coleman Company, were any members of the board of directors provided with any documents prepared by Morgan Stanley & Co., Incorporated?
A. Not directly.
Q. Were they presented with any documents prepared by Morgan Stanley Senior Funding, Inc.?
A. I don't recall any.
Q. At the time that the merger transaction was presented to the board, Coleman had advisors in the transaction, did it not?
A. I think you asked me that previously and I said that Credit Suisse was their advisor.

Q. Well, in addition to Credit Suisse they had legal advisors, and that would be the Wachtel Lipton firm, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. Would you consider the Wachtel Lipton Rosen & Katz firm to be a sophisticated legal firm?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you consider that firm to be a sophisticated securities firm?
A. Yes.
Q. A sophisticated corporate firm?
A. Yes.
Q. A sophisticated firm in the negotiation, drafting and execution of merger and acquisition agreements?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you consider that firm to be sophisticated in the legal requirements of the Securities Act of 1933 and the Exchange Act of 1934?
A. Yes.

Q. You told me earlier that your -- that is, The Coleman Company's banking firm, investment banking firm, Credit Suisse First Boston, was their exclusive financial advisor.
Do you believe that at that time, in 1998, Credit Suisse First Boston was an a sophisticated investment banking firm?
MR. BRODY: Object to the form. Go ahead.
A. Yes.
Q. And had Credit Suisse First Boston indeed provided financial services to Mr. Perelman's holding companies in past merger and acquisition transactions?
A. I don't know if they had to the holding companies. I know they had to the operating companies.
Q. On February 27, 1998, when the board voted to approve the Sunbeam/Coleman merger, The Coleman Company had a public accounting firm, did it not?
A. Yes, it did.

Q. Was that Ernst & Young, L.L.P.?
A. Yes.
Q. And in your view, was Ernst & Young, L.L.P. a sophisticated accounting firm?
A. Yes.
Q. Now, at the board of directors meeting on February 27, 1998, did Credit Suisse First Boston present a fairness opinion on the terms of the merger transaction?
A. I believe the answer is yes.
Q. And would you tell the jury what a fairness opinion is?
A. Well, in my mind, it's an analysis by an investment banker in which they go through a series of methodologies for valuing the equity, in this instance, the equity of Coleman, in order to aid the board of directors in determining whether the price being offered for the company by, in this case, Sunbeam, is an appropriate price, is an adequate price and is fair to the shareholders.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016294

Page 86

Q. Let me show you what has been marked as Morgan Stanley 120; and again, we'll have the court reporter mark this, although it was marked, I think, at Mr. Slovin's deposition as well?

(Exhibit MS-120 for identification, Document dated 2/27/98.)

Q. Do you have, sir, MS-120 in front of you, sir?

A. Yes.

Q. This document is dated February 27, 1998 and is addressed to the board of directors of The Coleman Company, is it not?

A. Yes, it is.

Q. And is that Mr. Gordon A. Rich's signature on the third page?

A. I'm not familiar with Gordon's signature, but it appears to be.

Q. Is it your recollection, sir, based on attending the February 27, 1998 board of directors meeting that Mr. Rich did, indeed, present Credit Suisse First Boston's opinion on the fairness of the Coleman/Sunbeam merger?

Page 87

A. Yes.

Q. Is there any reference in MS-120, the written fairness opinion, to Credit Suisse First Boston rendering its fairness opinion based on any representations by Morgan Stanley & Co., Incorporated?

MR. BRODY: Object to the form.

A. The only thing I can say is that if you look at page 2 of the fairness opinion they talk about what they have relied on, and they talk about publicly available business and financial information relating to the company and the acquiror, which would have been Sunbeam, and they talk about reviewing certain other information, including financial forecasts provided by, among others, the acquiror.

And I don't -- I don't, sitting here today, know to what extent any of those things would have either been prepared by or reviewed by Morgan Stanley or presented, for example, at a meeting where forecasts were presented in the week prior to the merger, but the words "Morgan Stanley" do not appear to me on this page.

Page 88

Q. Well, in Mr. Rich's presentation on February 27, 1998, did Mr. Rich make any reference to Credit Suisse First Boston's fairness opinion being based in any way upon any representation, statement or document that they received from Morgan Stanley and Co., Incorporated?

A. I don't recall.

Q. You don't recall one way or the other?

A. No. I don't recall one way or the other.

Q. At the board of directors meeting, when the board decided in their independent business judgment to vote on the merger, was any type of fairness opinion presented to the board by Morgan Stanley and Co., Incorporated?

A. No.

Page 89

Q. Is it your understanding, sir, that Credit Suisse First Boston, the exclusive financial advisor to The Coleman Company, Inc. in this transaction, provided an opinion that the merger transaction as set forth in MS-117 was fair to the public shareholders of The Coleman Company?

A. You're asking -- excuse me. Could you restate the question, please?

MR. BEMIS: Let her re-read it to you.

(Requested portion of record read.)

A. Yes.

Q. After the February 27th board of directors meeting, did you ever have any face-to-face meetings with anyone representing Morgan Stanley and Co. concerning the Sunbeam/Coleman merger transaction?

A. At any time after?

Q. After the February 27 -- let me -- good point. Let me bracket the questions I'm going to ask you now between February 27th and the closing, which, I believe, is March 30th of 1998. That's the time frame I'm going to be asking you about, and I'll try to put it in all the questions.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016295

Page 90

With that background, did you attend any meetings, face-to-face meetings, with Morgan Stanley concerning the Sunbeam/Coleman acquisition between February 27th and the closing on March 30, 1998?

A. Not to my recollection.

Q. Did you attend any meetings with Morgan Stanley after the closing and through July 1st of 1998?

A. I think the answer to that is yes.

Q. And what meeting do you think that you attended during that period?

A. Well, after I went to work at Sunbeam in mid June, soon thereafter we had a meeting with the senior lenders, and I believe that meeting took place in June, so it was before July the 1st, which is the time period you had framed.

Page 91

That meeting was attended by members of, I would say, Morgan Stanley. I don't know which division of Morgan Stanley.

Q. Was that meeting in connection with the zero coupon notes that were issued by Sunbeam and purchased by Morgan Stanley Senior Funding in connection with the merger?

MR. BRODY: Object to the form of the question. It assumes facts not in evidence.

A. I can't answer the question a simple way.

Morgan Stanley -- without getting specific as to its divisions -- was selling senior notes -- had sold senior notes. We never knew if they had sold them all or whether some of them were in inventory. They were also in the senior secured credit.

They had, I believe, 40 percent of the senior secured credit that was in or around $1,700,000,000, so they were both a lender to the company in senior credit and they were involved in the notes that you've described.

Page 92

We met with them with representatives of Morgan Stanley in late June because, for one, we wanted to introduce ourselves to the senior lenders. We knew the company had problems and we wanted to meet with them.

Secondly, I think we were -- we believed we were about to default on a covenant relating to the senior secured loan, which they were a 40 percent participant in.

And third, to my recollection, Sunbeam, when I came there, was in the process of filing a registration statement for the so-called zero coupon bonds which became a problem because Arthur Andersen was unwilling to attach its prior audit opinion -- to consent to the attachment over to the filing.

Page 93

So I know I met with representatives of Morgan Stanley, but I can't separate the strands.

Q. And I also misspoke earlier as to identifying who was underwriting what, so I'll give -- you met with one of the Morgan Stanley entities --

A. I think it was several people.

Q. Between February 27th and the closing on March 30th, did you have any conference calls with anyone with Morgan Stanley, whether it be Senior Funding or it be Morgan Stanley & Co., Incorporated?

A. I don't recall.

Q. In the same time frame, February 27th through the closing on March 30th, did you receive any documents from anyone at Morgan Stanley or Morgan Stanley Senior Funding concerning the Coleman/Sunbeam acquisition?

A. I don't recall.

Q. Did you receive any electronic mail from Morgan Stanley between February 27, 1998 and March 30, 1998 in any way connected with the Sunbeam/Coleman merger transaction?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016296

Page 94

A. I don't recall.
Q. Is it fair to say, sir, that between February 27, 1998 and March 30, 1998 that you don't recall receiving any form of communication, written, oral or electronic, between yourself and either Morgan Stanley Senior Funding or Morgan Stanley and Co., Incorporated?
A. The only two things that I might have received, and I don't know who they came from, were a press release issued by Sunbeam in that time period and a copy of the private placement memorandum for the zero coupon bonds, which might have come from Morgan Stanley. I don't recall as we sit here now.
MR. BEMIS: Let's just identify those two documents.
Q. I show you what's been marked as MS-39 at another deposition and ask you if that's the press release you just referred to?

Page 95

A. It appears to be, yes.
Q. You can hand that back to me and we'll come back to that.
I will hand you what's been marked as MS-166 and I'll ask that -- this was already marked but we'll mark it again as MS-166, which I believe is the zero coupon offering memo that you were referring to.
(Exhibit MS-166 for identification, Offering memorandum.)
Q. Is MS-166 the offering memorandum you were referring to, sir?
A. It appears to be.
MR. BEMIS: Let's go off the record for a change of tape.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: The time is now 12:13 and we have reached the end of tape number one and we are off the record.
(Discussion held off the record.)
(A recess was taken.)
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: The time is now 12:21 and this is tape number two and we are back on the record.

Page 96

Q. When you received MS-166, which is the offering memorandum, did you read the document?
A. I don't remember. I don't remember when I received it. If you recall, what I testified to is that I might have received it in that period. I don't remember when I first saw it and I don't --
Q. Well, if you might have received it, did you read it when you received it?
A. I don't recall.
MR. BRODY: Object to the form.
Q. If you'll look at MS-117, which is the merger agreement and please turn to section 4.19, which is captioned "Brokers." Tell me when you are there.
A. I'm there.
Q. Did The Coleman Company provide a copy of the agreement between Credit Suisse First Boston and The Coleman Company to Sunbeam which is identified in this document as Laser?

Page 97

A. There's a parenthetical that indicates such an agreement was provided, so I assume it was.
Q. This agreement would be the retention letter, correct, that you signed?
A. It would seem to be, but I don't recall.
Q. Let me show you the retention letter, which I'll have to locate.
MR. BEMIS: Miss Reporter, would you please mark as MS-169 a December 10, 1997 letter to The Coleman Company from Credit Suisse First Boston.
(Exhibit MS-169 for identification, Letter dated 12/10/97 from CSFB to The Coleman Company.)
A. Yes, I have it.
Q. Is that your signature that appears on page 3 and page 4 of the document under the heading "The Coleman Company, Inc."?
A. Yes, it is.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016297

Page 98

Q. And is this exhibit, MS-169, the engagement letter between Credit Suisse First Boston and The Coleman Company, Inc. an indemnification agreement between the same parties?
A. I believe it is.
Q. And is this the agreement that is referred to in paragraph 4.19 of MS-177?
A. I assume it is.
Q. You may set 169 aside for right now.
Did The Coleman Company, Inc. pay Credit Suisse First Boston a fee for the services Credit Suisse First Boston provided to The Coleman Company as its exclusive financial advisor in the Coleman/Sunbeam merger transaction?
A. The agreement provides for a fee, and I assume we paid it.
Q. Was the fee approximately 4 million dollars?
MR. BRODY: I object to the form. Are you asking what the agreement provides or what was actually paid, if he knows?

Page 99

MR. BEMIS: I'll take either one.
A. There are two fees which add up to 4 million dollars. I assume that's what was paid, but I don't recall.
Q. Do you recall any dispute with Credit Suisse First Boston about the payment of the fee?
A. No.
Q. As chief legal officer of the company and the person who signed MS-166, would you be the person at the Coleman Company who would have approved the payment of an Credit Suisse First Boston invoice?
A. I don't recall. I might have. Mr. Isko might have. There are others that could have.
Q. Did The Coleman Company, Inc. enter into any engagement letters similar to MS-166 with Morgan Stanley & Co., Incorporated in connection with the

Page 100

Coleman/Sunbeam merger?
A. No.
Q. Did The Coleman Company make any payments to Morgan Stanley in connection with the Coleman/Sunbeam merger?
A. I'm not aware of any.
Q. Are you aware of any payments by any company affiliated with The Coleman Company, Inc. that made any payments to Morgan Stanley in connection with the Coleman/Sunbeam merger?
A. I'm not aware of any.
Q. Please look at the merger agreement, MS-117, and I direct your attention to section 7.2, sir, which is on page 29.
A. Uh-huh.
Q. That section is entitled "Access and Information: Confidentiality."
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. And you read this section, of course, before you signed the merger agreement, right?

Page 101

A. I don't recall, but I assume so.
Q. Do you find this section to be a customary provision in a merger and acquisition agreement in your experience as both an attorney and as general counsel to The Coleman Company?
MR. BRODY: Object to form.
A. The provision seems to be appropriate, yes.
Q. Now, sir, there is a provision here for the exchange of information pursuant to initial cap "C," Confidentiality, capital "A," Agreements between Laser, which is Sunbeam, and the company, which is Coleman, dated February 4, 1998 and February 23, 1998, correct?
A. That's what the agreement says, yes.
Q. And those agreements were executed, were they not, sir?
A. I have no idea.
Q. Well, did you as chief legal

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016298

Page 102

officer take any steps to confirm whether these confidentiality agreements had been executed before you signed this document, MS-117?
A. It's my recollection that there was a confidentiality agreement in place between the parties, but I don't recall the date, I don't recall whether there was one or two.
Q. Why do you say one or two?
A. Because there are two dates listed here.
Q. Why did you say one?
A. What I said was -- I'll go back over my answer and be very specific -- what I said was, is that sitting here today, I recall that there was a confidentiality agreement in place during the transaction so that we could exchange non public information.
I do not recall, sitting here today, that there was more than one; nor do I recall what the dates of the agreement or agreements would have been.

Page 103

Q. But it is your understanding that there was a confidentiality agreement between the parties and it was reciprocal, regardless of when dated, is that fair?
MR. BRODY: Object to the form.
A. Yes.
Q. Let me show you then what we'll mark as MS-133; and this has been previously marked so that one we don't have to do again.
MR. BRODY: The copy that you gave him appears to have something highlighted on the back page.
MR. BEMIS: That may be my copy. Let me see. That may just be his signature. I'm not sure -- we'll give you this one. There's no big secret on the highlighting. I just gave you the wrong one. Now that we have that clarified --
Q. Do you have MS-133 in front of you?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you sign MS-133?
A. Yes.

Page 104

Q. Is MS-133 the confidentiality agreement that you referred to in paragraph 7.2 of the merger agreement, MS-117?
A. I assume so. It's one of them, yes.
Q. Did you send MS-133, the February 4, 1998 letter, then to Sunbeam Corporation for its signature?
A. I don't know. I don't know if it was hand-delivered to their counsel. I have no idea about this. There is a signature from Sunbeam on it.
Q. Do you recognize that as Mr. Fannin's signature?
A. I see the stamp on it and I see that it's signed, yes. I wouldn't recognize Mr. Fannin's signature.
Q. Would you tell the jury who Mr. Fannin is?
A. Yes. Mr. Fannin was the executive vice president, I think at that point in time, general counsel. His title changed right around this time. General counsel of Sunbeam prior to the merger.

Page 105

Q. Would you agree with me that Mr. Fannin in this transaction was your counterpart at Sunbeam?
A. Yes.
Q. Indeed, if the titles are accurate, you were both executive vice presidents and general counsels of your respective employers, correct?
A. That's correct.
Q. Can we refer to MS-133 as one of the confidentiality agreements as it's capitalized in the merger agreement, 117?
MR. BRODY: Object to the form. It's assuming the fact --
MR. BEMIS: I heard your objection. I'm just asking him right now.
Q. Can we, sir, or not?
A. We can refer to it as a confidentiality agreement, at least one of which we've identified, yes.
Q. Who drafted MS-133?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Did you draft it? That is,

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016299

Page 106

you, as general counsel of The Coleman Company or --
A. Did I personally draft this?
Q. Yes, sir.
A. No, I did not personally draft it.
Q. Was it provided to you by Wachtel Lipton?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Was it provided to you by Mr. Schwartz?
A. I don't believe it was provided by Mr. Schwartz. I don't recall whether it was provided by Wachtel, by Mr. Isko or by Skadden and then reviewed by Wachtel. I just don't know.
Q. Let me show you what's been marked as MS-75, which is a chronology that was prepared by the Wachtel firm to the New York Stock Exchange, and telling me when you have that and --
A. I have that.
Q. Okay. If you would look at the paragraph under the date January 29, 1998 and tell me when you are there.

Page 107

A. Uh-huh.
Q. By the way, you've seen this document before, have you not, sir?
A. Yes. I believe this is a document that I reviewed with counsel.
Q. And you reviewed it with counsel in preparation for your testimony today, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Now, let's look at the January 29th entry, and it states that "On January 29th, Barry F. Schwartz of MacAndrews telephoned Wachtel Lipton to indicate that a form of confidentiality agreement to be proposed to Sunbeam in connection with the provision of confidential information to Sunbeam will be faxed to Wachtel Lipton for review."
Do you see that paragraph?
A. Yes.
Q. Wachtel Lipton was your counsel in the transaction as you've told us, right?

Page 108

A. That's correct.
Q. And MS-75, which you have in front of you and which you reviewed with your lawyers, was a document that Wachtel Lipton submitted to the United States Securities and Exchange Commission pursuant to a request by the Commission, correct?
MR. BRODY: Objection. Foundation.
MR. BEMIS: Read the first paragraph of the letter, sir.
MR. BRODY: Same objection.
A. I apologize, but looking at the letter I see a chronology.
I do not see anything that says that this document was attached. I don't mean to be contentious. I just don't -- I can't answer the question.
It mentions that there are certain items attached and there's a chronology.
Q. Well, sir, as the legal officer of the company, The Coleman Company at the time this letter was written -- because you still were the legal officer on March 30, 1998, because you hadn't resigned, right?

Page 109

A. You asked me a question which, I believe, was whether this document was submitted, the confidentiality agreement was submitted to the SEC.
Q. No, no, I didn't say that at all and that may be where we've got some confusion.
My question, the chronology that you have in MS-75 was prepared by Wachtel, the Coleman's counsel, in response to a request by the United States Securities and Exchange Commission?
A. Yes.
Q. And now, the paragraph that we looked at or that I read to you provides that, in effect, Mr. Schwartz provide a copy of a confidentiality or confidential information form that was going to be faxed to Wachtel Lipton for review.
Are you there?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016300

A. Yes.
Q. Now, having read that, does this refresh your recollection over who prepared any confidentiality agreement for signing by Sunbeam?
A. No.
Q. The next paragraph reads, "Joram Salig of MacAndrews faxed the confidentiality agreement to Wachtel Lipton and Paul Shapiro, general counsel of Coleman, for their respective review."
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Is that an accurate statement?
A. I don't recall. It's seven years later. I just don't recall. I assume it is, but I don't recall.
Q. Do you have any reason to doubt that it is true?
A. No. You asked me if it's accurate and I assume it means, can I remember that today, and the answer is, I can't. I assume it's accurate.
Q. Would you tell the jury who Joram Salig is?

A. Joram Salig is an attorney who at the time in question worked for Barry Schwartz.
Q. At MacAndrews & Forbes?
A. Yes, the holding company.
Q. Did you make any changes to MS-133 after you received it from whomever you received it from, and prior, of course, to the signature by Mr. Fannin of Sunbeam?
A. My practice with this type of document would have been to review it and to also have Steven Isko, who was my associate, review it, and I don't recall whether either of us made any changes.
Q. Now, you've had an opportunity to review MS-133, correct, both today and, I think, in your deposition preparation you saw this, is that correct -- I misspoke, I'll withdraw the question.
In your deposition today you have had an opportunity to review MS-133, right?

A. I have had an opportunity to look at it and say that it appears to be a confidentiality agreement relating to this transaction. I have not read it in detail.
Q. And you read it before you signed it and sent it to Mr. Fannin in 1998?
A. I don't recall, but it was normally my practice to read things that I signed.
Q. As a lawyer, now, not just as a citizen on the street, when you sign documents as executive vice president and general counsel of a public company, don't you read them before you sign them?
MR. BRODY: Objection. Asked. And answered.
Q. As a matter of course, don't you read things, sir, before you sign them when you were acting as general counsel and executive vice president of a public company?
A. Yes.

Q. Now, look at, if you would, the term "Evaluation Materials" that appear on page 1 of MS-133.
A. Yes.
Q. Do you, as you sit here today, recall making any type of change or comment to the meaning of that defined term, "evaluation material"?
MR. BRODY: Object to form. Foundation.
A. I don't recall.
Q. Turn then please to page 4, the last paragraph, beginning, "You understand." Are you there?
A. Yes.
Q. Tell me when you've read the paragraph.
A. I've read the paragraph.
Q. Am I correct, sir, that this paragraph provides that Coleman was not making any representations or warranty to Sunbeam about the completeness or accuracy of the capital "E," Evaluation, capital "M," Material, as defined on page one of this document?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016301

MR. BRODY: Object to form.
A. That's what this says.
Q. Did you, to your knowledge, as you sit here today, make any changes to this paragraph before this letter was sent to Mr. Fannin of Sunbeam for his signature?
A. I do not recall having made any changes.
Q. If you'll turn back to page 1, sir, "Evaluation Material" includes, within the definition drafted by The Coleman Company, either directly or through its affiliates, information, whether in oral, written, electronic or other form prepared by, among others, its bankers and financial advisors, am I correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And "bankers and financial advisors," as it's used in your letter, includes bankers and financial advisors such as Credit Suisse First Boston, correct?

A. That's correct.
Q. And it would include on a reciprocal basis an investment banker such as Morgan Stanley & Co., Incorporated, right?
MR. BRODY: Object to the form and foundation.
A. I don't know how to answer the question because there is no reciprocal -- you haven't directed me to any reciprocal provision in this document.
Q. Sir, you told me under section 7.2 that there were reciprocal confidentiality agreements.
A. I absolutely did not say that. You're putting words in my mouth.
Q. We'll let the record --
A. Excuse me.
Q. Sir, I'm not here to argue with you --
A. Excuse me --
Q. This is question and answer. I'm not going to listen to --

A. You don't have to listen to me, but the jury does. Excuse me.
Q. I move to strike your comments.
A. You can strike my comments; but if you want to continue the deposition, I will not let you misstate what I said and let it sit.
You asked me very specifically under 7.2 whether there were two confidentiality agreements.
I very specifically said that I remembered that there was at least a confidentiality agreement in place in regard to this transaction, that I did not know the date of it, that I did not remember whether there were two.
You have identified one here. I have never discussed a confidentiality agreement that ran in the other direction. I don't recall if there was one. I did not discuss it, so please do not put words into my mouth, or I will not continue to sit through this deposition.
Q. Are you done?

A. Yes, I'm finished.
MR. BEMIS: Okay, I move to strike your comments.
MR. BRODY: I oppose the motion. I think it's an appropriate response to the question; and if you want him to answer questions, you have to give him an opportunity to answer them.
MR. BEMIS: I move to strike your side-bar comments.
Q. Did The Coleman Company or its affiliates prepare a confidentiality agreement for Sunbeam to send to The Coleman Company for execution pursuant to paragraph 7.2 of the merger agreement?
A. The answer is, I don't recall, but your question makes no sense, because "pursuant to" means in relation to -- this agreement is dated later than either of the dates that appears for those confidentiality agreements.
Q. Well, let me rephrase the question then for you since my question makes no sense to you, and I'll see if I can do a better job.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016302

You refer in the document you signed to a February 23, 1998 confidentiality agreement in section 7.2 of MS-117, right?
A. I don't refer to anything.
There is a document here that refers to two confidentiality agreements. I have testified that I do not recall those confidentiality agreements. That's all I can testify to.
Q. Well, you can testify that you signed the document, MS-117, and you read it before you signed it, right?
A. I can testify to the fact that I signed it.
MR. BRODY: And he already has.
I think we're now getting into arguing with the witness. I ask you to move on.
MR. BEMIS: And I ask you to keep your comments limited to objections, and I move to strike your side-bar comments.

MR. BRODY: Objection.
Argumentative.
Q. Let me show you what's been marked as MS-134.
(Exhibit MS-134 for identification, Draft document).
Q. Please look at MS-134 and tell me when you are done.
MR. BRODY: Do you want him to read it or just look at it?
MR. BEMIS: We don't need to be contentious. I'm doing the same thing I do with everyone. I'm giving him the courtesy of looking at the exhibit and letting me know when he's prepared to answer a question.
If he needs more time after I ask a question, I will, of course, extend to him the courtesy of as much time as he needs to look at it.
A. Yes. I have MS-134 in my hand.
Q. Is MS-134 a draft of the confidentiality agreement referenced in paragraph 7.2 of Exhibit 117 that we discussed earlier?

A. I have no idea.
Q. Well, you read it. Does it appears to be, sir, a draft of it?
A. I don't know, because it's not signed.
Q. I understand it's not signed and you can't answer it -- let me ask you, can you compare, if you like, MS-134 and the previously identified MS-133, and tell me if there is any apparent difference between the two documents other than, for example -- I'm not suggesting what your answer should be -- the name was left blank on page 4, whereas I believe in MS-133, I believe Mr. Jerry Levin's name is filled in.
A. I mean, it appears to be a draft that somebody prepared of an agreement that is similar to the -- to MS-133.
Q. Did The Coleman Company or one of its affiliates in the MacAndrews & Forbes group of companies send this document to Sunbeam for its execution?

A. I don't know. I have no idea.
Q. Let me show you what's been marked as MS-101.
(Exhibit MS-101 for identification, Document dated 2/23/98.)
A. For some reason I have two copies.
Q. It's just they were stuck together. Thank you, sir.
A. Yes, this appears to be the same as 134.
Q. I appreciate that.
If you look at the fax banner line at the top, it says "212-527-5888 MacAndrews & Forbes." Do you see that?
A. Uh-huh.
Q. Could you answer yes or no rather than --
A. I'm sorry, yes.
Q. That's okay. It happens all the time.
And it's also dated February 23, 1998, the same date of the document,

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0163303

Page 122

correct?
MR. BRODY: "It" being the fax banner as being the same?
MR. BEMIS: Yes.
A. Yes.
Q. Is this a fax banner for MacAndrews & Forbes?
A. I don't know.
Q. Have you ever seen a fax banner for MacAndrews & Forbes?
A. I probably have. I mean, it appears to be, but I don't know.
Q. Do you know whose fax number that is, 212-257-5888?
A. No.
Q. I'm going to hand you what's been marked as MS-69.
Did you receive a copy of this document in connection with the Sunbeam/Coleman merger transaction, sir?
A. I may have, but I don't specifically recall.
Q. Turn to page 4, and would you please look at Mr. Joram Salig's name there and the numbers below.

Page 123

A. Uh-huh.
Q. You have to say yes or no.
A. I'm sorry. Yes.
Q. Now, at the time that this document appears to be dated, this is on the first page, March 6, 1998, was Joram Salig, was he, to your knowledge, an attorney working for Mr. Schwartz at MacAndrews & Forbes Holdings, Inc.?
A. I'm sorry, what date did you say?
Q. On the first page there's a footer prepared and it says, "March 6, '98 printed at 12:56 p.m."
A. I believe so.
Q. Is there more than one Joram C. Salig that you're aware of that worked for Mr. Barry Schwartz about this time at MacAndrews & Forbes?
A. No.
Q. And what role did Mr. Joram C. Salig play in the Coleman/Sunbeam merger transaction that is documented in MS-117?

Page 124

A. I don't recall. He's an experienced corporate lawyer, but I don't recall the role he played.
Q. Did you make any inquiry before you signed MS-117 and the particular reference to paragraph 7.2 whether the --
A. I'm sorry, what is MS-117 again?
Q. The merger agreement. I'll rephrase the question for you. You have it right at the bottom --
A. I got it.
Q. Before you signed MS-117 -- and I'm making particular reference in my question to section 7.2 -- did you make any inquiry of anyone either at Sunbeam or at Coleman or at MacAndrews & Forbes whether the Confidentiality Agreements -- capitalize "Confidentiality" and capitalize "Agreements" -- dated February 4, 1998 and February 23, 1998 had been signed by the parties?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Would it have been customary in execution of your duties as chief legal officer of The Coleman Company to have made such an inquiry before you signed the merger agreement?

Page 125

A. I can't answer that question. Maybe, maybe not. I don't know.
Q. What circumstances would you not have made inquiry whether documents were executed that are referred to as being executed in the merger agreement?
A. I just, I can't recall. I can't recall. This was a transaction which occurred over eight or nine days in which we were essentially going -- we had large teams of people. We were essentially going around the clock. It's a 39 page single-spaced document.
Is it possible that I made a mistake in reading this and did not see the confidentiality agreement? It's possible. I just don't recall. This was over seven years ago, sir.
Q. That really wasn't my question how many years ago it was. The question was, would it be customary for you, even though you don't recall it as you sit here today, to have made inquiry as part of your responsibilities as chief legal officer of The Coleman Company before you executed this contract, MS-117?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016304

Page 126

MR. BRODY: Objection to form. Asked and answered. That's the same question. Go ahead.

A. I had assistant counsel. I had people from Wachtel Lipton sitting there. If somebody -- did I necessarily -- can I remember that I read this?

I don't remember. I don't remember. I can't answer your question. I appreciate your attempt to pin it on me, but I don't remember.

Q. Please don't assume I'm trying to pin anything on you, whatever you meant by that.

Let me go at it a slightly different way with you.

Was it your understanding at the time that you signed MS-117 and with particular reference to paragraph 7.2 that the parties had, indeed, executed, capital C, Confidentiality Agreements, capital A, that are referenced in that paragraph and dated as of February 4th and February 23, 1998?

Page 127

A. I testified previously -- I could say this a hundred times. We can sit here until tomorrow, that my recollection is that there was a confidentiality agreement in place between the parties.

I cannot testify to anything more than that no matter how many times or how many ways you ask it, sir.

MR. BEMIS: We said we would break at 1 o'clock. This is a good time to break.

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: The time is now 1:05 and we are off the record.

(A luncheon recess was taken from 1 o'clock p.m. to 2:10 p.m.)

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: The time is now 2:10 and we are back on the record.

Page 128

Q. Mr. Shapiro, would you please look at section 7.2 of the merger agreement, MS-117, please.

A. I left my glasses in my jacket. Hold on a second. I'll get my glasses.

Q. I know the feeling.

A. Sorry, what section?

Q. 7.2.

A. Okay.

Q. That provision provides for access to the books, records, properties, plants and personnel of each of the parties to the merger agreement, correct?

A. Uh-huh.

Q. You have to answer yes or no.

A. Yes.

Q. At any time during the period covered by this section 7.2, was there any difficulty that you are aware of accessing the books and records of Sunbeam Corporation by The Coleman Company, Inc.?

A. Can you just give me a minute?

Q. Sure.

A. I'm trying to refresh my

Page 129

recollection.

This refers to the company effective time -- 2.3 --

Q. I think you have to look at 2.3 for that.

A. What I'm trying to come to grips with here is, as I read this, this paragraph gives each party access essentially from the date of the agreement, which was the Friday, the 27th or 28th, when it was signed and a press release went out, public release went out, and the closing date a month later.

Actually, my recollection is -- this sort of surprises me, because my recollection when I look at this was that this was for the benefit of Sunbeam because they were going to take over this company. And we essentially had a deal that had only -- the only real condition that we thought we had here was Hart-Cott, so Sunbeam would have wanted to get into Coleman facilities, because they were going to work on the reorganization plan with Coopers Lybrand.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016305

Page 130

Actually, other than the fact that, I guess, maybe it's standard, I'm surprised that there was a provision that allowed us into their world, because I don't know what we would have done in their world at that point.
We were bound, subject only, I guess, to Hart-Cott, and the standard -- what I guess lawyers refer to as a MAC out, subject only to a material adverse change out.
So the answer is, I don't believe we were denied any access. I don't believe that we requested any -- would have had a reason to request any access.
Q. Before the date of MS-117, which is as of February 27, 1998, are you aware of The Coleman Company inquiring of Sunbeam to examine Sunbeam's books and records pursuant to any preliminary due diligence and the access being denied by Sunbeam?

Page 131

A. No, I'm not aware -- I don't recall any access being denied.
Q. Are you aware of any restrictions being placed on The Coleman Company's access to books and records of Sunbeam at any time during the negotiations and leading all the way up until the closing on March 30, 1998?
A. I don't recall that it was ever contemplated that, for example, given the timing of the transaction -- when you say access to books and records, there were public records on file; and essentially, this is what lawyers refer to as a public company deal.
We were operating as Coleman essentially based on the public records of Sunbeam, and then some additional information that was furnished about their future plans, because our shareholders were going to be large shareholders of Sunbeam; and the stub period, the stub period beyond what had been announced.
The point of this deal, they

Page 132

had announced their '97 earnings. They had not filed their 10-K. But they had announced the earnings and there were three quarters of Qs available as public records that carried you through the third quarter of '97.
It was never contemplated that we would, for example, go in and do an audit or any -- it would have been simply impossible. This was not like buying a small company that wasn't public. We didn't treat it as such.
So we were not denied access, but we would never have asked for that kind of access, nor do I believe that the other side asked for it of us.
Q. The "other side" being Sunbeam?
A. Yes.
I mean they had some very specific requests, but when you talk about books and records, I think about, like, reviewing the financial performance, literally going in and reviewing the financial performance as opposed to what's publicly reported. They didn't do that either.

Page 133

They had a bunch of very specific requests about specific information, but it wasn't a general overhaul due diligence.
Q. So in your view, the due diligence was somewhat limited in this transaction based on the nature of the transaction?
A. What I'm saying is that the diligence was focused more on what was public as opposed to an attempt to go behind what was public other than those things that were specifically divulged and requested.
Q. Can you identify for me any of the -- I don't mean to be pejorative -- but the things that were specifically requested by The Coleman Company from Sunbeam?
MR. BRODY: Object to the form. Go ahead.
A. I recall more the other

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016306

Page 134

direction, frankly.
Q. Let's do both sides.
A. Yes. What was requested by Coleman of Sunbeam was, if I recall, was basically some kind of presentation of, you know, how -- as I said, they had made a public press release of their earnings for the year.
We requested some kind of information about, as I recall, how were they doing since the end of the year and what was their -- what did the future look like for Sunbeam, what was their growth plan.
And that was largely responded to by a meeting that was held in a deck that I mentioned at the very beginning of the deposition that was presented to us.
With regard to individual items that were not public records, I really can't recall today what they might have been. I have a better recollection of the work that I had to do, which was more producing things for Sunbeam to look at.

Page 135

Q. Focusing now on the request for a presentation of this information that I think we identified -- Morgan Stanley 88 was a deck that we identified this morning -- 84, I misspoke, 84, excuse me -- who made this --
A. I don't think I have a copy, so I can't respond to whether 84 is the right number.
Q. I'll give it to you.
This, I believe, in your last answer or the answer before last is what you're referring to as MS-84 that we identified this morning.
A. It looks right. This looks correct.
Q. Let me then step back and ask you to tell the jury who at The Coleman Company or one of its affiliates made the request for the information that you identified and apparently results in the deck MS-84?
A. Again, this was a long time ago. My recollection is that someone from our side requested such a meeting.

Page 136

I don't recall sitting here today whether it was the sort of M&A team that was working on the deal for MacAndrews which was Jim Maher and Will Nesbit, or whether it was Jerry Levin, but I believe it would have been one of them.
Q. Was this request in writing or was it oral?
A. I don't recall. I think it was probably oral. It also may have been that Credit Suisse was involved in the request.
Q. Do you recall any documents from Credit Suisse First Boston to Sunbeam or anyone who was advising them for this information?
A. No.
Q. So, again, what you do recall is what was asked for, it was asked for orally?
A. To the best of my recollection, that's correct.
Q. And that the result of the request, as you sit here today, resulted in the meeting where MS-84 that we just identified was presented by Mr. Kersh?

Page 137

A. Within my world.
Just to explain what I mean by that, there were kind of two parallel worlds working here.
One was sort of the M&A world at a deal level, and that was really Maher/Nesbit, possibly some other people higher up at MacAndrews, and possibly Credit Suisse after they were engaged. They were on the business side. I was never involved with them, for example, in meeting the other side and negotiating the purchase price.
So they may have made due diligence requests, which I may or may not have known about at the time, but I don't recall them today.
Within my world, working on the deal, once the handshake had been reached, the request I recall was some kind of an oral request from somebody, I think, on our business side to somebody at either

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016307

Page 138

Morgan Stanley or at Sunbeam for a presentation, a meeting, information.

Q. But as you sit here today, you cannot identity who made the request or to whom it was made specifically, is that fair?

A. No. I believe it was to somebody at either Sunbeam or Morgan Stanley.

Q. But other than identifying a company, you can't identify the person to whom the request was made or indeed who indeed made the request on behalf of your side?

A. I cannot.

Q. Okay. Let me show you what we'll mark as MS-39, which is the press release we identified earlier this morning.

Do you have MS-39 in front of you, sir?

A. Yes, I do.

Q. This is the press release we identified this morning of March 19, 1998 as one of documents that you reviewed in preparation for your deposition, correct?

Page 139

A. Yes.

Q. Now, when you received MS-39, did you read it?

A. I assume when you say when I received it, you mean when I originally received it.

Q. Yes, back in 1998.

A. The answer is, I don't recall whether I received the press release or simply became aware of its contents.

Q. I take it then if you did receive it, you do not know how you received it. Is that accurate?

A. Yes, I don't recall.

Q. And if someone told you about it, is it fair to say you don't remember now who told you about it?

A. Yes.

Q. Having read MS-39, did you consider any of the information in the press release to be material in the context of the merger agreement, MS-117?

Page 140

MR. BRODY: Object to form.

A. I'd have to go back through the agreement. I considered it concerning, because it was inconsistent with what we thought was going on at Sunbeam.

Q. You used the term that -- and I'm familiar with the material -- adverse event or condition, to use differently, but did you consider the information in the press release, MS-39, to be a material adverse event?

A. In and of itself, as I said, it was concerning. I don't think that this itself, in my opinion, and I am not an expert on -- I've never looked at, you know, 20 cases on what have courts agreed is a material adverse change in a situation like this -- I did not see this by itself as a material adverse change, but if it were accompanied by a bunch of other things, I suppose it could have been.

Q. As a result of either receiving the press release or being advised of its contents, did you, as the executive vice president, chief legal officer and the signatory to MS-117, take any steps to investigate further the information that is in the press release?

Page 141

A. I was general counsel. Not chief legal officer.

Q. I apologize. I'll accept that amendment.

A. My recollection is that we -- I can't remember which one of us -- were surprised and concerned about this and made some inquiry of the other side as to what was going on at Sunbeam.

And this -- as you pointed out earlier to me, this did not talk about revenues. My recollection is not revenues. This talks about net sales. It doesn't talk about earnings. It doesn't talk about revenues.

My recollection is that Sunbeam had put out publicly, forecasts or projections, as to how they would perform in future periods, and this was inconsistent with what had been public.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016308

Page 142

And my take-away reading it was that given the type of advisors they had, sitting here today, my recollection is that they had forecasts or projections out that both covered revenues and possibly components of revenues, like net sales and earnings that they and their advisors must have been concerned -- I knew that they were in some kind of a road show on the bonds -- that their forecasts they now believed were not accurate, at least as to what was in this press release, net sales.
But I took a certain amount of comfort that that must mean they also discussed the other components that were out, forecasts like net earnings or earnings; and were comfortable, or at least convinced their advisors that they were comfortable, that they were okay on those elements, and, therefore, did not have to publicly change those forecasts.
And my recollection today -- and I cannot remember the individual back and forth -- is that we expressed concern to somebody on the other side; and what came back to us was:

Page 143

"Look, it's still early in the month. We do a lot of late month shipments, particularly at the end of the quarter. We're not sure we're going to miss. As an excess of caution, because we're out at a road show, we feel a need to put this out, but we think we're okay with regard to our earnings."
Based on that -- I don't mean this was 30 seconds, there were a variety of discussions internally among our group -- I think the conclusion we reached was that it was inappropriate to try to exercise the MAC out, and that this was the extent of the problem.
The clear take-away on our part, this was a blip. Sunbeam's view was, this was a blip. They would recover from it in the second quarter, et cetera.
Q. Can you tell the jury who it was that you spoke to when you made this inquiry because of your concern over the contents of the press release?

Page 144

A. Well, first of all, I didn't say that I made an inquiry. What I said was we sat -- there was a group of us that sat down and talked, and I don't remember who in the group -- I am quite certain it was not I -- who in the group spoke to somebody on the Sunbeam team; and let's include in the team the lawyers, the investment bankers, et cetera --
Q. I didn't mean to interrupt you. Are you finished?
A. Yes.
Q. I asked you earlier whether you had any discussions with anyone at Morgan Stanley & Co., Incorporated and Morgan Stanley Senior Funding, Inc. between the signing of this MS-117, and you said you didn't recall any.
A. I know that I personally cannot -- I did not talk to anybody at Morgan Stanley about this press release.
Q. You've referred to the MAC

Page 145

event and there is a specific provision in the contract that deals with that, and let's make sure we're talking about the same provision.
If you look at MS-117 and look at section 5.7, tell me if that is the material adverse event provision that you were referring to.
A. I think so.
Q. Now, as I understand section 5.7 from reading it, whatever constitutes a material adverse event, if it exists, that there is a so-called out for The Coleman Company, and that out being that they did not have to go forward with the merger transaction.
Am I reading this correctly?
A. Let's take a minute and read the agreement, okay. I mean, that's the way I recall it in my mind, but Article 5 says that "they represent and warrant as follows," so the MAC change is a representation.
In other words, this does not

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016309

Page 146

by itself say that anybody can -- that we, as Coleman, would have the right to not consummate.

So I have to find out what the impact of a misrepresentation might have been -- I'm sorry, what the existence of this situation would mean.

Q. Sir, I may be able to assist you in this and save some time and you can tell me if I'm wrong, and I'm not trying to put words in your mouth.

If you would look at what I'll show you is Exhibit 93, which is the so-called agreement and plan of merger among Sunbeam Corporation, Laser Acquisition Corporation and CLN Holdings Inc. and Coleman Parent Holdings, Inc., I direct your attention to section 8.2, and if you'll look at section 8.2(a).

A. Okay.

Q. And then if you'll also look back, now we'll go back to 117 and look at "Termination of the Agreement," which I believe is section 10 --

Page 147

A. 9.

Q. Let me look here. 9. 9.1, which provides, "This agreement shall terminate automatically upon the termination of the holdings merger agreement in accordance with" --

A. So that's the way -- so there is --

Q. Is it your understanding that how the two documents worked is that if there was a material adverse event under MS-117, that that was a condition of closing for the holdings merger agreement; and that upon that condition occurring and being declared the underlying Coleman agreement, MS-117 would terminate automatically?

A. That appears to be the way it worked.

Q. I appreciate your pointing that out because mechanically it is a little complicated, but that's how I understood it. You can set aside the CLN merger agreement 93 for the time being if you'd like.

Page 148

Would you please go back and look at the press release again. I want to ask you a couple more questions about that.

A. Okay.

Q. The press release, MS-39, contains a paragraph which is the penultimate paragraph of the documents and it begins with "cautionary statements."

Do you see that paragraph, sir?

A. Yes.

Q. As an attorney and as a person who did practice in the securities area, did you understand what cautionary statements are?

A. Yes.

Q. And is the statement that appears in the press release, MS-39, correct, to your understanding, as of 1998, what cautionary statements were, or as the term is used here, "forward looking statements," as defined in the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995?

Page 149

MR. BRODY: Object to the form.

You can answer.

Q. Yes?

A. I understand what a forward-looking statement is, and I understand that there is an attempt here to talk about forward -- to caution people against forward-looking statements.

Q. And what do you understand to be a forward-looking statement as of 1998, the date of the press release?

A. I haven't thought about it for a while; but my recollection is that there is a safe harbor in the securities laws for forward-looking statements where you essentially are specific about what the reasons are that something you're saying about the future may not occur and where you have no reason to believe at the time that the statement you are making is inaccurate.

So, for example, if I were in the airline business, and I said that I think we're going to have a great year next year and then put a forward-looking statement in that said one of the things that I caution against is the possible change in oil prices, which would affect our costs, and oil prices, in fact, did change, then I would be protected under the forward-looking statement safe harbor from the prediction I had made, that we would make a great year, if the reason that we weren't making a great year was the change in oil prices and/or other things that I had warned people about.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016310

Page 150

Q. Is there any provision --

A. You have to recognize, I've seen this press release now quite often, including in the securities litigation and so forth, so I can't separate -- I'm having trouble separating out in my mind what it meant in 1998, the minute I got it, from all the stuff I've learned over the last six years.

Q. Is there any provision in the merger agreement, MS-117, by way of a representation or a warranty concerning forward looking statements by either party to the merger agreement?

Page 151

MR. BRODY: Object to form.

A. I don't recall.

Q. Well, you have the document in front of you. If you can take a look and if you find one, point it out to me. Otherwise, we'll just move forward.

A. It appears that the representations made with regard to financial statements here do not have anything relating to forward looking statements.

Q. All right, sir. You can set that aside for the time being.

Now, let me ask you to look at a document which we have previously marked as MS-243.

(Exhibit MS-243 for identification, Document dated 3/20/98 from Ernst & Young to CLN Holdings Inc. and Morgan Stanley & Co., Incorporated.)

Q. I have handed you what's been marked as MS-243, which is dated March 20,

Page 152

1998 and it's from CLN Holdings -- excuse me -- it is to CLN Holdings Inc. and Morgan Stanley & Co., Incorporated from Ernst & Young.

Have you seen this document before?

A. I don't recall.

Q. Do you know what it is?

A. I think it's what, again, the professional normally refers to as a comfort letter.

Q. It's a comfort letter in connection with establishing the due diligence defense of section 11 of the 1933 Act, correct?

MR. BRODY: Object to form.

A. I really don't remember. I just -- I mean, it's -- my understanding is that Morgan Stanley and Sunbeam were out selling the zero coupon bonds. The offering memorandum under which they were being sold, which you had shown me earlier, I presume contains Coleman financials that are audited, and the auditor is normally asked to render an opinion as to -- essentially, is there any -- it boils down to, are they aware of anything at the moment this was going out that would change the opinion that they had previously rendered. To boil it down, that's what this does.

Page 153

Q. Can we refer to this going forward as a, capital C, Comfort, capital L, Letter?

A. I believe, yes.

Q. You can set that aside for the time being.

I want to show you now what's been marked as MS-9, previously marked, sir. Please look at MS-9 and tell me when you're satisfied that you've looked at it.

I do have some questions, but we can focus on a particular paragraph as it becomes necessary.

A. Okay.

Q. Is this, in your judgment, sir, a comfort letter as well as --

A. It appears to be, yes.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016311

Q. And in your expertise in the securities field, would it be a cross comfort letter in connection with the debenture offering?

MR. BRODY: Objection to form. Foundation.

A. I'm not sure. I don't know what a cross confirmation -- comfort letter.

It appears to be a comfort letter relating to Sunbeam financials, whereas the other one was Ernst & Young giving comfort on the Coleman financials.

I really don't understand the various checkmarks in paragraph 11, but that probably doesn't matter.

Q. Maybe I can address the question differently.

You have Exhibit 243 in front of you, correct? I think it's 243, which is the Ernst & Young letter addressed to CLN.

A. And Morgan Stanley.

Q. And Morgan Stanley, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And both of these letters are being submitted in connection with an offering memorandum dated March 19, correct?

A. That's correct.

Q. We could go back and pull it out again, but is it your understanding that's the offering memorandum for the zero coupons?

A. Yes.

MR. BEMIS: For the record, I think we identified that as MS-166.

Q. And the exhibit that you have now in front of you, Number 9, that is from the auditors of Sunbeam, correct?

A. That's correct.

Q. And Morgan Stanley 243 was from the auditors in 1998 as of The Coleman Company, Inc., right?

A. I think officially it's 1997, but yes.

Q. But as of the time they wrote the comfort --

A. They were not engaged, I believe, for 1998. I just want to be literal. They were auditors.

MR. BRODY: Also I would point out a clarification.

You keep talking about Coleman, but the document recites it's the balance sheets of CLN Holdings Inc., which contain The Coleman Company financial statements on a consolidated basis.

MR. BRODY: So the questions and answers are clear.

Q. Just to put this in context so we can move on to another issue, is it your understanding that MS-9, which is the Arthur Andersen comfort letter, and MS-243, which is the Ernst & Young, L.L.P. comfort letter, were both given by the auditors in connection with the offering memorandum for the Sunbeam Corporation zero coupon convertible senior subordinated debentures in 28 --

A. I believe they were each done for that purpose.

Q. And each of the letters recites, I think it's sub-paragraph(a), that, "These recipients of these letters are assumed to be knowledgeable about the due diligence review process that would be performed if the placement of securities were being registered pursuant to the Securities Act of 1933," correct?

A. That's correct.

Q. Is there anything in MS-9 that, in your judgment, is a material adverse event under section 5.7 of MS-117, the merger agreement?

MR. BRODY: Objection. Form. Foundation. Go ahead.

A. I'm not getting paid here today, okay. I've never seen this letter before and it was not addressed to anybody that I was connected to.

Do I really -- am I really required to read this letter and give a professional opinion? I no longer have an active license in any state.

Is that really what I'm

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016312

Page 158

supposed to do here today?
MR. BRODY: That was my objection.
MR. BEMIS: I'm glad that you agree with his statement.
Q. Yes, it is what I'm asking you to do and that's what I want you to do.
I want to look --
A. I'd like to ask my lawyer whether I am required to do that today.
I am a witness; and I was not a witness to any event connected to this letter.
Q. I'm not going to quarrel with you.
So we're clear, there are numbered paragraphs that are in the Arthur Andersen letter beginning on page 2, and I'm asking you to look at the items there and tell me whether, based on your position as the signatory of the merger agreement, MS-117, and being the general counsel and executive vice president of The Coleman Company Inc. in 1998, are any of the items that are disclosed by Andersen here material adverse events as set forth in section 5.7 of MS-117?

Page 159

A. This is not something that was ever disclosed to me.
Q. Sir, I'm not asking you that.
I'm asking you now, you have the document. Tell me whether any of these items are material adverse events?
MR. BRODY: I'm going to object to the line of questioning on the grounds of form, and if I can explain --
MR. BEMIS: No, you can't. You can object on form. You cannot explain; and if you do explain, I'm going to adjourn the deposition.
MR. BRODY: Let me just finish what I'm saying.
MR. BEMIS: Okay.
MR. BRODY: I think you are asking him a really unfair question for the reasons he stated, among others, and --
MR. BEMIS: Now you're going

Page 160

way beyond form. You object to form, otherwise we're going to adjourn the deposition. I'm serious.
You either limit your objections, or I'm going to adjourn it.
MR. BRODY: Well, I think I've done a pretty good job of limiting my objections. To say the question is unfair, and not explain why I think it is unfair is not suggesting the answer to this witness.
The witness has explained to you his reasons. There are a host of others. I see under Rule 413 this is just going nowhere, and so I guess I'd ask you to withdraw --
MR. BEMIS: No, I'm not withdrawing the question.
You've got your objection.
THE WITNESS: My question is -- and I think I have a right to ask my counsel this question -- to my knowledge -- and I'm not an expert in litigation, I was not brought here as an expert witness or paid to be an expert witness.

Page 161

As a witness, I can testify to things that are -- events, pieces of paper that I've looked at or whatever, that I have seen before and that relate to something that I thought about before or witnessed. Look up the verb "witness."
You are asking me here to look at a document I have never seen, that was not sent to me, that was not sent to my company, and to give an opinion as to that document that I assume is based on my knowledge as a lawyer, and I don't understand how to do that or why I would do that.
You're not asking me to be a witness now. You're asking me to become an expert looking at facts that I have never seen before.
MR. BEMIS: You want to answer the question, sir? I'm not going to quarrel with you. You're either going to answer it or you're not going to answer it, and we're going to adjourn the deposition and ask for a court order to bring you back. It's one of the two. I'm not going to quarrel with you.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016313

Page 162

THE WITNESS: Look, I don't have any interest in being threatened with a court order. If what you want to do is ask a judge whether -- I am perfectly happy to have a judge tell me whether it is my responsibility to answer that question, and I will come back for the purpose of answering that question if a judge says that I have to do that;and I have testified here now for five hours and I am prepared to continue to testify.

I do not believe it is my obligation or interest to read a document I have never seen and exercise some kind of independent judgment about this where I am not a witness to the facts.

So I think what would make sense, sir, is if you go on to something else; and if you feel that this is something which I am required to testify to, if you get a court order, I will be happy to reappear and to respond to that question if a judge tells me that that is my obligation.

Page 163

MR. BRODY: And I would add by way of suggestion that if you --

MR. BEMIS: I don't need suggestions. I only need objections. Please, I don't need any suggestions from you. If you make an objection, that's all you need to do so the judge can rule on the objection.

MR. BRODY: I'm suggesting something that would allow us to get past this and move on. That is, I'm asking you to ask questions on other topics and if you want to revisit this at the --

MR. BEMIS: I want to ask --

THE WITNESS: This is a lot of work, and I'm very tired. It's the end of five hours, and I don't understand why I have to learn at a deposition.

I have never understood that to be something that is the obligation of a witness.

Page 164

MR. BEMIS: Sir, again, I do not wish to --

THE WITNESS: It's technical, it's complicated, and I am not a witness to these facts.

MR. BEMIS: Oh, I think you are a witness to these facts, sir.

THE WITNESS: I have never seen this document before, sir.

MR. BEMIS: That is not the issue, whether you've seen the document, although it may become an issue later.

The issue is whether you're going to answer the question; and if you tell me that you're not going to answer the question, you won't read the document, then we'll proceed accordingly.

I'm not trying to threaten you in any way and I don't want you to think that I am.

I am here as asking the questions pursuant to my responsibility as an attorney, and that is all I'm here for.

Do you want to read back the

Page 165

question --

THE WITNESS: My attorney has advised me, and I believe that I am not required to answer this question; and I am saying that I'm happy to continue the deposition, and if a judge says that I am wrong about this and that I am required to answer the question, I will take the time to read it when I am fresh and to try to answer the question.

MR. BRODY: And I'd also suggest, as I've said, that we consult further about this and do it after --

MR. BEMIS: I don't think that would be appropriate, to adjourn the deposition so you can consult with your witness on how to answer a critical question in the lawsuit.

It wouldn't be permitted in court; and it would not, in my view, be something that I would be willing to acquiesce in today.

MR. BRODY: I'm not suggesting we do that. I would give you my representation that I would not consult with the witness about your question.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 166

MR. BEMIS: I do not think we are advancing the progress here by engaging in any further colloquy.
I would ask you to answer the question or instruct him not to answer it or adjourn the deposition to obtain a protective order if you think that my conduct is somehow inappropriate.
MR. BRODY: Well, let me just tell you what I'll do:
I suggest that you withdraw the question long enough for me to call Florida counsel, make sure that he thinks what I'm doing is correct.
If he agrees that what I'm doing is correct and suggests we ought to take it to the judge. If he says, "Brody, you're being unreasonable, have him answer the question," I'll so advise the witness.
In the meantime, if you're concerned that I'm going to consult with the witness about answering the question, which I said I wouldn't do, I'll have him sit in here and you guys can talk about baseball. I don't care. But that's what I would suggest as a way to get past this.

Page 167

But if you would insist upon pushing forward on a question that he doesn't feel is anything that he can provide testimony on as a witness, and I think is an improper question given the Rules of Evidence, that's your choice.
I think there are lots of ways out of this problem.
MR. BEMIS: Would you find my question and repeat it to the witness?
Would you please show that question repeated in the transcript?
(The following question is the pending question.)
Q. "Is there anything in MS-9 that in your judgment is a material adverse event under section 5.7 of MS-117, the merger agreement?"
MR. BEMIS: Will you answer the question, please?

Page 168

A. I think I've made clear that I don't --
Q. Tell me yes or no so we have a record of what you're doing so we can take it in front of the judge.
A. I will only answer the question if the judge tells me that it's a question that I should answer.
MR. BEMIS: Are you instructing him not to answer or are you just allowing him to decide --
MR. BRODY: I'm willing to instruct him so that this is something that I'll resolve, but I'm also asking you, if you would engage in the procedure that I just suggested so we can avoid --
MR. BEMIS: You want to make a call to Mr. Scarola?
MR. BRODY: Yes.
MR. BEMIS: If you wish to make a call to Mr. Scarola, I will acquiesce in in that as long as you honor your commitment that you're not going to discuss the answers to the questions or the subject matter with the witness.

Page 169

MR. BRODY: I will honor that commitment. I've made it twice to you.
MR. BEMIS: I'm just asking you to confirm it.
MR. BRODY: Three times.
MR. BEMIS: Feel free to use the telephone. We're off the record while you make your phone call.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: The time is now 3:06 and we are off the record.
(A recess was taken.)
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: The time is now 3:17 and we are back on the record.
MR. BRODY: As I said I would, I've not consulted with the witness despite his request that I advise him about something not relating to the substance of the testimony, but to honor my statement to you, Mr. Bemis, I have resisted that request.
I continue my objection to the form of the question for the reasons stated by myself and by the witness, among others, it requires a legal conclusion.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016315

Page 170

I am willing to withdraw my instruction; and state that while I'm willing to withdraw the instruction, I remain convinced that this is an objectionable question.
If the witness can answer it based on knowledge that can be called for in a deposition, he may do so.
If he cannot answer the question -- and maybe that's what he -- if he cannot answer the question, then so be it. But I will withdraw the instruction. He can answer it based on his knowledge.
Do you want the question back?
THE WITNESS: Let me have the question.
Q. When you're ready to answer -- whatever you're going to say -- would you let me know, because I want to have the reporter insert into the transcript the exact question that was pending so it's easier to find later.
(Requested portion of record

Page 171

read.)
(The following question is the pending question.)
Q. "Is there anything in MS-9 that in your judgment is a material adverse event under section 5.7 of MS-117, the merger agreement?"
A. I continue to believe that the question is an unfair question, but I will answer the question to the best of my ability sitting here today.
And the answer I would give is that it certainly would have been helpful to know that net sales were less than half for the month of January, less than half of what they had been the prior year. The net income was 9 and a half million dollars negative as opposed to 5 million positive the prior year.
Q. Can I --
A. Hold on a second. You asked me a question, and I do not want to be interrupted.
Q. Would you please identify the paragraphs, is all I'm asking you, of the letter that you're referring to when you're reading things into the record?

Page 172

A. Paragraph 5(a) and (b) indicate that net sales were less than 50 percent of the comparable period, which is essentially the month of January the prior year. That income was minus 9.5 million as opposed to plus 4.7 million.
And that long-term debt, as reflected in paragraph 6-A, had jumped -- when you put it together with paragraph 5(a) -- had jumped in a month and a half from 219 million to 299 million. They jumped $80 million.
Q. Did you mean to say 5(a)? You said 6-A --
A. No, 5(a) and 6-A. You have to compare the two. You have to compare the two because they both speak about December 29th, but you have to go to February 1st in 5(a) and compare it to March 16th.
Those things might have resulted in some -- might have raised some questions in my mind; and 6(c), which then indicated that sales -- when you deduct it from 5(b) for the month of February --

Page 173

This is very strange, but it appears that there were no sales in the month of February -- unless I'm reading this wrong -- 1998, because in 5(b) they show net sales of 72 million 945 through February 2nd; and in 6(c) they refer to sales through March 1st as 72 million, which is less than what they were at February 2nd, so they appear to just have returns or something that adjusted net sales downward.
I don't know offhand whether those things are a material adverse change, but if I had seen this letter at the time it might have raised some questions in my mind.
Q. I don't know if you mentioned this, because I was trying to follow your answer, but I didn't hear you say paragraph 6(c). Would you look at that, please.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 174

A. Paragraph --
Q. 6(c) of MS- --
A. 6(c) says --
Q. I know what it says. Are you there?
My question to you, if you're looking at it, is that a material adverse event, in your judgement as the signer of the merger agreement, MS-117 --
A. And I told you --
MR. BRODY: Let him finish his question and I'll object.
Q. Focusing on paragraph 6(c) of MS-9, is that a material adverse effect under section 5.7 of MS-117?
MR. BRODY: Object to form. Foundation. Calls for a legal conclusion. All the objections I stated before, and he's asked and answered. Go ahead.
A. I said that it shows a very disturbing fact, pattern which I was unaware of until having seen this letter; and I don't know that in and of itself it would constitute a material adverse effect, but it would have raised questions in my mind as to whether they were headed in that direction, is the best I can say.

Page 175

Q. Are there any other paragraphs other than the ones you've identified now which I noted as 5(a), 5(b), 6(a) and 6(c). I didn't hear you say 6(b), but if you did, I apologize.
A. I do not believe I referred to 6(b). 6(b) is a little bit concerning, but I don't know that at the time I would have considered it by itself as a material adverse effect.
Q. So just so we have it in one place, the paragraphs that you've identified as being potential adverse material effect paragraphs are paragraphs 5(a), B; 6(a), and 6(c), correct, sir?
A. That's correct. Maybe 6(b).
Q. I appreciate that.
Let's look now at MS-10.
Please tell me when you're done reviewing MS-10 and I'll have a few questions for you.

Page 176

A. Okay.
Q. This letter, which is dated March 25, 1998 addressed to Morgan Stanley by Arthur Andersen refers back to MS-9 that we looked at earlier, and if you need to, you might want to have that in front of you, it's up to you.
Sir, is there anything in this letter from Arthur Andersen to Morgan Stanley & Co., Incorporated that you consider to be material adverse effect under section 5.17 of the merger agreement, MS-117?
MR. BRODY: Object to the form of the question. Form, foundation, legal conclusion and the aforestated reasons.
A. If you look at (e), the table in (e) on page 2 that repeats the sales issue that is contained in 6(c), which I referred to earlier, they have now added something which was not there.
5(b) showed an income deflection through the period through February 1st. It didn't talk about income, if I recall in this other one, through March 1st.

Page 177

Now they're through March 1st, so in the month of February it appears that the prior year they made 5 million dollars and change, and this year, in a month, they were down about 2 million.
Because according to the prior letter, they're down 9 million 5 as of February 1. They charged 30 million for the new contracts. Let's assume that that's not an issue, so that would take them down to 39.5; and they report them down 41.9, so that's almost another 2 million.
They've obviously had a bad February income-wise, which it didn't show before, and that it confirms that they had a bad February sales-wise.
And they have, if I recall, a press release out, if I can find it --
Q. The March 19th press release?
A. Yes.
Q. It's MS-39.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016317

Page 178

A. A press release out which says that the sales are going to be 285 to 295 was their original estimate.

This is now showing that their sales were 72 million at March 1st.

So they're now going have to do -- to reach their own numbers that they put out, 180 million in the month of March.

Now, I don't know what their prior March had been, but as I said, it would have been concerning; and their long-term debt further increased from March 1st -- that was talked about in paragraph 5(a) as 219 at February 1st -- let's see if they've updated that -- they've updated it to 299 at March 16th, so it's another 10 million.

I don't recall frankly whether -- you'd have to know the business better than I to know whether that's typical of that time of year or not that they draw large amounts of money or whether it was due to the poor performance.

Page 179

So I don't know that any of these things by themselves would have constituted a material adverse change.

The question is whether that would have led to a discussion which would have revealed other things that would have revealed that there was a material adverse change. I don't know.

Q. The paragraphs that you've identified in MS-10 are sub-paragraphs (e) and (f) that potentially would fall within the section 5.7. Those are the only two that I made notes on. Am I correct?

A. Yes. Those and the ones in the prior letter are painting a picture of a company not performing as it publicly said it was going to perform during that period.

MR. BEMIS: We're going to change the tape right here.

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: The time is now 3:34 and this is the end of tape number two and we are off the record.

Page 180

(Videotape changed.)

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: The time is now 3:36 and this is tape number three and we are back on the record.

Q. Sir, would you please take MS-117, the merger agreement, out of your exhibit pile there and put it in front of you and turn to section 7.3.

Are you there, sir?

A. Yes.

Q. The title of section 7.3 is "Comfort Letters," correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And the first paragraph refers to a company, and that's The Coleman Company under this agreement, correct, sir?

A. Yes.

Q. And using its reasonable best efforts to cause to be delivered to Laser -- and that is Sunbeam, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. -- a comfort letter of Ernst & Young, L.L.P. as of the date of the registration statement shall become effective, correct?

Page 181

A. Yes.

Q. And then there's to be another letter as of the date of the information statement mailed to the company's stockholders, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. The information statement was, indeed, sent to the company's shareholders, was it not, sir?

A. Unless I've got this wrong, my recollection is it was sent about a year and a half later than it was supposed to be sent, yes.

In other words, the one that's contemplated here was to be sent in the time frame, if I recall, of April/May '98.

We ultimately, I believe, did not send that information statement until the end of -- I want to say 2000. '99 or early -- the end of '99 or early 2000, if I recall.

Q. Let me show you what's been

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016318 marked as MS-130.

(Exhibit MS-130 for identification, Document dated 3/18/98.)
Q. Sir, do you have MS-130 in front of you?
A. Yes.
Q. And you'll see that it's dated March 18, 1998 on the last page.
A. Yes.
Q. And is it your testimony, sir, that this was not sent to the shareholders? And I have the EDGAR filing list if you need to see it --
A. I mean, my recollection is that the -- maybe it's the proxy statement that never went to the shareholders, but that the shareholder piece was put on hold for a year and a half.
The information -- if you say it went out, then it went out. I didn't recall.
Q. Would you like to see --
A. Well, the meeting that it was referring to -- the point is that this was an information statement that was leading to a meeting at which the shareholders would vote.

Q. No. It's just the opposite.
The shareholders don't vote on this one. That's the point of an information statement.
A. That's correct, but they also -- there was a registration statement, excuse me.
They got this and then there was a registration statement to issue stock which would have completed the merger. That never got done. I forgot that this had been filed, and until I see it now, you tell me that it was filed.
Q. I kept interrupting you and for that I apologize.
Just so the record is clear, you've got MS-130 in front of you, and what it is, is the Section 14(f) information statement, which I will represent to you, if you check the SEC filings, it was indeed filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission. I believe the filing date is --

A. It says "March 18, 1998" on the bottom of it Section 14(f).
Q. You're familiar with EDGAR, right?
A. Yes.
Q. Let me show you what's being marked as Exhibit 248.
(Exhibit MS-248 for identification, Document filed with Securities and Exchange Commission.)
A. Okay.
Q. Would you, sir, please turn to page 2 of the document under the date of -- there's one filed by Coleman and one filed by Sunbeam at the entries for 3/18/98, SC14(f)1. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Now, does that, sir, mean that The Coleman Company filed the document we have marked as MS-130 with the Securities and Exchange Commission of the United States of America on March 18, 1998?

A. I assume so. I don't know.
Q. Would you assume that to be true, sir, based as general counsel of The Coleman Company on this date?
A. I assume from looking at the EDGAR report and this document that it was done; but as you know, I testified that I did not recall it being done at that time.
MR. BRODY: Objection as asked and answered.
Q. Now, sir, one of the comfort letters that the company -- that is, that Coleman was to provide to Sunbeam, was a comfort letter from Ernst & Young as of the date on which the information statement was mailed to the company's stockholders, which was March 18, 1998.
Did that happen?
A. I don't know.
Q. Well, who --
MR. BRODY: I'm sorry, object to form, by the way.
Q. Who at the company, either within, as an employee or an advisor, was responsible for using the company's best efforts to cause to be delivered to Sunbeam the comfort letter identified in section 7.3-A as of the date the information statement was mailed to the company's stockholders March 18, 1998?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016319

Page 186

A. I don't recall. It could have been me. It could been have been Steve Isko. It could have been Joe Page, the CFO. I don't recall.

I know that you've shown me one today that's dated March 20th. I don't recall if another one was issued for March 18th or not.

Q. Now, turn to paragraph 7.3(b) of MS-117 and tell me when you are there.

A. I'm there.

Q. That paragraph is, if you would compare -- let me back up before we do sub-paragraph (b).

The second comfort letter that is referred to in section 7.2(a) of MS-117 is to be dated as of the effective date of the registration statements.

Page 187

Do you see that, sir?

A. Let's go back a step.

Q. Sure.

A. (a) --

Q. We're on (a).

A. (a) is when the information statement is mailed to the company's stockholders -- and I do not know.

With the EDGAR report it shows when it was filed with the SEC. It doesn't show when it was mailed to shareholders.

We know that there was a comfort letter issued on the 20th, so it talks about a date when the registration statement is effective, and I think the registration statement that's being talked about here is not the registration statement for the debt, it's for the stock to be issued, and it talks about as of the date of which the statement is to be mailed to the shareholders.

Q. All I'm referring to now, I was going to ask you a question about the registration statement.

Page 188

Here's the question:

The registration statement that is referred to in paragraph 7.3(a) is the registration statement for the securities that were going to be issued by Sunbeam --

A. Correct.

Q. -- as part of the merger consideration, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Because there are two registration statements, and I want to separate that from the bond registration statement. Now, let's look at 7.3(b).

If you'll tell me when you are there, I'll proceed.

A. Yes, I'm there.

Q. Would you agree with me, sir, if we can shortcut this, that paragraph 7.3(b) is a reciprocal paragraph to 7.3(a)?

A. It would appear to be.

MR. BRODY: I will object to the form of the question. Were you done with the question?

Page 189

MR. BEMIS: Yes.

MR. BRODY: I'll object to the form of the question.

Q. I think your question was they appear to be, sir?

A. It's interesting. One of them is 7 lines long, one is 6 lines long -- one of these, 7.3 is 6 lines long, 7.3(b) is 7 lines long, so I didn't -- if I read them next to each other I could see what was different.

I believe that they're similar, yes.

Q. Now, did The Coleman Company, Inc. receive from Arthur Andersen, L.L.P., Sunbeam's independent public accountants, a comfort letter dated on or about the date that the information statement, MS-130, was mailed to stockholders?

MR. BRODY: Object to the form of the question.

A. I don't recall.

Q. Did The Coleman Company receive

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016320

Page 190

from Sunbeam the comfort letter dated on or about the date of the information statement, which is March 18th --

MR. BRODY: Asked and answered and same objection.

MR. BEMIS: I haven't finished the question.

MR. BRODY: Sorry.

I thought you were.

MR. BEMIS: No, I hadn't finished. Now I'm going to repeat it.

Q. At any time did The Coleman Company receive from Arthur Andersen, L.L.P. a comfort letter addressed, as indicated in paragraph 7.3(b), in connection with the transactions contemplated by the merger agreement, MS-117?

MR. BRODY: Asked and answered and same objections.

A. I took your first question to relate to the information statement.

Q. And you had answered that. Now it's related to at any time --

Page 191

A. Well, my recollection is because I was involved deeply in the second piece, my recollection is that when we finally filed the registration statement, which was somewhere around a year and a half later, we then got a letter from Arthur Andersen -- a comfort letter -- that gave comfort with regard to the '97 financial statements as restated, by that time.

So there was a comfort letter at that time. I don't recall whether it was a comfort letter in the March time period. It was given to Coleman.

Q. I'm going to ask the question, and I think you've answered it because we didn't have some dates. I want to make sure the record is clear.

At any time up until the closing, March 30, 1998, did The Coleman Company receive from Arthur Andersen, L.L.P. either one of the comfort letters that are referred to in section 7.3(b) of MS-117?

Page 192

A. I don't recall receiving it.

MR. BRODY: Now, since the question and answer came too soon, I would object to the form and foundation of the last question.

Q. Did The Coleman Company request from Sunbeam the comfort letter or letters specified in section 7.3(b) before the closing on March 30, 1998 of the merger transaction?

A. I don't recall.

Q. Did any company affiliated with The Coleman Company, Inc. -- and I'm going now upstream -- CLN and Coleman Parent Holdings, any of the MAFCO entities -- request from Sunbeam that Arthur Andersen provide the comfort letter or letters specified in section 7.3(b) of MS-117 before the closing of the merger agreement on March 30, 1998?

MR. BRODY: Same objection.

A. I don't recall.

Q. Did Sunbeam or any representative of Sunbeam tell The Coleman

Page 193

Company that Arthur Andersen would not provide the comfort letters provided in section 7.3(b) as of the dates specified before the closing on March 30, 1998?

A. 7.3(a) and (b) talk about a comfort letter to be provided at the time of mailing of this document.

I don't know when or if this document was mailed. We have not discussed that today, and if it was not mailed prior to the date that you have mentioned, March 30 or 31st, then the comfort letter would not have been provided or requested.

So unless we establish -- if you tell me that this was mailed prior to March 31st, then the comfort letter should have been issued under the agreement and we can start to track down why it was not -- why I don't recall it.

But if it was not mailed in that time frame, the comfort letter was not supposed to have been issued and would not have been issued.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016321

Page 194

Q. Would you please answer my question, and I can show it repeated to you, and I'm not quarreling with you. I just want you to answer my question.
A. The reason I can't answer your question is that the agreement provides that we would request and get a comfort letter at a point in time that relates to a mailing.
I can't answer a question as to whether we requested it, because I don't know whether we mailed it. It would have been inappropriate to ask for it if we weren't mailing.
Q. Is it your testimony, sir, that your recollection is that you didn't send MS-130 to the stockholders after the information statement was filed with the SEC?
A. I don't recall.
Q. I didn't ask you whether you recalled.
Is that your understanding of what happened?

Page 195

A. I don't know. I mean, I would assume that the lawyers in the room who have been working on this for whatever number of years have pulled all the documents and you guys do know.
I don't remember.
Q. Okay, let's go back to my question.
Did anyone from Sunbeam, whether it be Sunbeam employees or their advisors, tell The Coleman Company or its representatives before the closing on March 30, 1998 that Arthur Andersen, L.L.P. would not provide either of the comfort letters specified in section 7.3(b) of MS-117?
A. If this was not mailed at that time, nobody would have asked the question, so --
Q. I'm not worried about whether the question was asked.
A. That's like asking me -- look, here's the point.
The comfort letter had to be

Page 196

dated contemporaneously, approximately with the mailing, so you would not ask for it except around the time of the mailing itself.
Q. Wasn't the mailing a condition of the closing, sir?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Do you want to look at the document, sir? Or do you want me to do it for you?
A. It would be helpful if you would direct me to the place in the document where it shows that -- again, sir, I'm testifying as to something that you probably have studied and that I did seven years ago.
So if you would tell me where that was a condition, or whether this was mailed, it would help me answer the question.
I don't recall if this was mailed. I've made that clear.
Q. Sir, I'm not here to testify for you, and if you just answer my questions, you can qualify them with saying that you don't know whether it was mailed, if you wish.

Page 197

My question is --
A. I've said to you that I don't recall that we made a request for the comfort letter; and therefore, if we had not made a request, then I certainly wouldn't recall that it was denied, that the request was denied.
Q. So as I understand your testimony, you have no recollection --
A. I testified, sir.
I would appreciate if you not summarize my testimony. I gave a statement. The statement stands on the record.
Q. Now I'm going to ask you a question and you can either answer it or you can decline to answer as your counsel or you decide.
Is it your testimony that you do not recall Sunbeam ever telling you, either directly or through one of its

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016322 representatives before the closing on March 30, 1998 of the merger transaction that Arthur Andersen, L.L.P. would not provide the comfort letter or letters provided in section 7.3(b) of the merger agreement, MS-117?

MR. BRODY: Objection to form.

A. I don't recall discussing the subject.

MR. BRODY: Objection to form. Asked and answered.

Q. Do you consider, sir, as the general counsel of the company that the comfort letters specified to be exchanged in section 7.3 of MS-117 were important to whether the deal closed?

A. The information statement and the issues that floated around it were largely handled for us by Wachtel Lipton, and I simply don't recall seven years later what the mechanics were.

Q. My question is not about mechanics now.

My question is simply whether the comfort letters were important -- or if you prefer the word "material" -- to the closing of the transaction on March 30, 1998?

MR. BRODY: Object to the form.

A. I have said I don't recall, and the reason that -- and you're making this extremely difficult as a witness, because you have taken great pains to show me other comfort letters that were issued around this time.

For some reason, neither the Arthur Andersen comfort letter nor the Ernst & Young comfort letter have been shown to me.

That indicates either that you've chosen not to show them to me or that neither of them was requested, meaning that for some reason the information statement was not mailed in that time, and I don't remember from seven years ago which of those things was relevant or happened.

Q. Did you ask whether the comfort letters from Arthur Andersen, L.L.P. had been provided to The Coleman Company before the transaction contemplated by MS-117 closed on March 30th?

Did you ever ask anyone?

MR. BRODY: Object to the form.

A. I don't recall. I don't recall.

Q. Was it important to you?

A. I don't recall.

MR. BRODY: We've been over this several times --

Q. You don't recall whether it was important to you?

A. What was important to me was to get the transaction closed, and we did close it. So we must have met at that point whatever conditions we and the other side deemed were important. That's all I can say today.

Q. When was the first time that you had any discussions with -- do you need a break?

MR. BRODY: I'd like to take a break, because I haven't had one. I think the court reporter needs one, too.

MR. BEMIS: Okay. That's why I asked.

MR. BRODY: Before you go off the record, it's 4 o'clock.

Are we going until 5?

MR. BEMIS: Yes. We said we'd quit at 5. I didn't say I would be done -- I'm going to try to finish.

MR. BRODY: We'll take 5 minutes and then we'll come back and finish.

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: The time is 4:04 and we are off the record.

(A recess was taken.)

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: The time is now 4:10 and we are back on the record.

Q. Sir, would you look at MS-130 and just read the first couple of lines into the record for us.

A. Could I just take a minute?

I'd like to look back at another document.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016323

Page 202

Q. If you're looking for the conditions of closing, I'm going to cover that with you, so we'll get there.

Let's focus right now on MS-130. Look at the first paragraph, where it says, "This information statement is being mailed on or about March 18, 1998 to holders of record as of March 18, 1998 of shares of common stock" -- et cetera -- "of The Coleman Company, Inc.," correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Now, would you have filed this statement with the SEC, that is, The Coleman Company as indicated by the EDGAR filing that we reviewed, if the company had not, indeed, mailed the information statement required by Section 14(f) of the Exchange Act of 1934?

A. When you said "you file," I do not think we as a company would have filed this unless it was our intention to mail on or about March 18th, when we file.

Q. Now, you had asked me where we had gotten off onto the conditions of the closing.

Page 203

Please look at MS-117 at 35, page 35. Tell me when you are there.

A. Uh-huh.

Q. You have to say yes or no.

A. Yes.

Q. Thank you.

I direct your attention now to Article 8, "Conditions to Consummation of the Merger," and sub-paragraph(a) in particular. Do you see that paragraph?

A. Yes.

Q. And does that not indeed provide that one of the conditions of the closing is that there be the mailing of the information statement to the company's stockholders and that the period required by law -- which I believe is 20 days -- had lapsed?

A. Again, this was a long time ago, but I don't think this is a condition to the closing.

The closing is what we talked about taking place on March 30th.

Page 204

This is a condition to the merger of the two companies. The merger did not take place at the closing.

At the closing, Sunbeam acquired 80 some percent of the stock of Coleman.

To effect the back end merger, it had to go then through the merger, including granting appraisal rights to the minority shareholders, exchanging stock, et cetera. That did not take place in the March 31st timetable, and it was expected to not take place for another six to eight weeks, so it was expected to be consummated sometime, let's say, in May.

And, in fact, that's why I was saying it did not take place until about a year and a half later. There was no question that the registration statement was not going to become effective. It was never thought that that would become effective by March 31st, so it couldn't have been a condition of the closing you were talking about in March 1998.

Page 205

Q. I'm only referring now to the registration statement.

MR. BRODY: That's the answer. Ask another question.

A. What I'm saying to you is --

Q. Say whatever you'd like --

A. You've asked me a question and what I'm saying to you is section 8.1 does not, in my view, relate to the closing that you have referred to.

It relates to the consummation of the merger of the two corporations which was intended to take place at a later date.

Q. Well, let me ask you this --

A. And under no circumstances does it say that by the closing date this document, 130, had to have been mailed to the shareholders.

As I said, it may have been, but this is saying that before the merger takes place, this document has to have been mailed to the shareholders.

I don't recall, for example,

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0163244

Page 206

sitting here today, whether the information statement had to be -- this replaces, because there was an 80 percent shareholder, a normal proxy statement.

I don't recall whether this has to be filed with the SEC and have a review period or not. I just don't remember anymore.

Q. Let's talk about the discussions leading up to your signing the merger agreement, MS-117.

When is the --

A. The merger agreement? MS-117. I did not sign the merger agreement.

Q. Maybe I misspoke --

A. I'm sorry, yes. I was looking at the other document. Yes.

Q. Because the record is a little garbled, just so we're clear, you did sign the merger agreement, MS-117?

A. Well, there are two agreements.

Q. I know, sir, but I said 117.

A. Yes, 117 I signed.

Q. That's the only one I'm talking about with you.

Page 207

A. Okay, yes.

Q. When is the first time that you had any discussions with anyone about a possible transaction involving The Coleman Company and Sunbeam Corporation?

A. Sometime, if I recall, in December of 1997.

Q. Did you look at any documents in your preparation that refreshed your recollection of when this first discussion took place?

A. Yes, but I remembered without -- I remembered it within a few days without having looked at those documents.

Q. Is it the chronology that we talked about earlier, which is MS-75, prepared by Wachtel and given to the SEC?

A. No. My recollection, sitting here years later, was the first time that I became aware was in connection with a meeting that was held, which I attended -- I had recalled it in mid December. I believe now it was December 12th.

Page 208

In preparation for the deposition I saw that I had signed -- and you showed me today -- an engagement with First Boston a couple of dates before that. I frankly did not remember it having been before the meeting.

Q. Were your first discussions involving any type of transaction with Sunbeam in connection with hiring CSFB as your investment advisor?

A. My recollection of the events started with the meeting that took place, I believe on December 12th. Now, I must have known about the meeting a few days ahead of time or it wouldn't have been on my schedule.

But I did not recall and do not recall today being aware of this transaction more than a few days, a week, ten days, something like that, before the meeting of December 12th.

Q. December 12th you recall having a meeting.

Can you tell me who was present at the meeting?

Page 209

A. My recollection is that from Coleman it was Jerry Levin, the CEO, Joe Page, the chief financial officer, and myself.

And from Sunbeam it was Russell Kersh, the chief financial officer, David Fannin, the general counsel, and a member of the board, Peter Langerman, who also represented the largest then Sunbeam shareholder.

Q. Where was this meeting?

A. The meeting was at 625 Madison and it was in a conference room next to Jerry Levin's office.

Q. Is this the meeting that is identified in the first paragraph of Exhibit A to MS-75 to the right of the date, December 12, 1997?

A. Yes.

MR. BRODY: Object to form.

A. Yes -- did you say MS-97 or MS-75?

Q. I said MS-75, according to the

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016325

Page 210

transcript.
A. Yes. I believe it is.
Q. And did you have advance notice of the meeting?
A. As I said to you, I don't remember having advance notice but I must have, because I don't remember being shocked walking in the conference room, but I don't think it was a great deal in advance.
Q. What was the subject matter of the meeting?
A. My recollection is, it was to be sort of a meet and greet and a very informal starting discussion of -- they wanted to ask us some questions about Coleman and what kinds of ideas could we float around about possible synergies that might exist if the two companies were merged.
Q. Who requested that meeting?
A. I don't know.
Q. Who invited you to the meeting?
A. I think Jerry Levin.

Page 211

Q. Do you recall what, if anything, Mr. Levin said to you about the subject matter of the meeting?
MR. BRODY: Before the meeting?
MR. BEMIS: Yes, before the meeting when he got invited.
A. Only what I just testified to, that it was kind of a meet and greet and we would discuss some possible synergies and I think Jerry sensed -- that he conveyed to me was that he did not think this was likely to really get to a deal.
Q. Did you prepare any documents for the meeting?
A. I don't recall.
Q. In your preparation, did you see any documents that were discussed at the meeting?
A. There was a one- or two-page list of synergy ideas that I saw, but I don't remember if I saw it before the meeting or at the meeting. I know I saw it at the meeting. I don't recall if I saw it before.

Page 212

Q. Let me show you what we'll mark as MS-231. I'm going to hand to you what the court reporter will mark as MS-231.
(Exhibit MS-231 for identification, Document with handwriting.)
Q. Do you have MS-231 in front of you, sir?
A. Yes, I do.
Q. Is this the document that you were referring to that you either saw at the meeting or before the meeting?
A. I saw a document like this. I can't remember today if this was the only -- the exact iteration and whether the numbers added up right, but it was a document like this.
Q. Who prepared the document that you saw at the meeting like MS-231?
A. I did not prepare it, and I believe it was prepared by Jerry Levin and Joe Page, and I don't know who else might have helped them.
Q. What is it that makes you

Page 213

believe that the document like MS-231 was prepared by either Mr. Levin or Mr. Page?
A. Well, I remember Mr. Levin's involvement, I mean, I remember him working on this; and Mr. Page, as CFO, was, I'm sure, involved in helping him.
Q. Can you identify the handwriting on MS-231?
A. It's not mine, and I don't believe it's Jerry Levin's. I'm not really familiar with Joe Page's handwriting.
Q. Given the attendees at the meeting -- recognizing that you may not be able to testify with certainty as to his handwriting -- what is your belief, if any, as to whose handwriting it is?
A. It was one of the other four people other than Jerry Levin or me, is all I can say.
Q. Fair enough.
Let me show you another copy of this document, which is MS-78, previously marked.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016326

Please take a look at MS-78, which I've just put in front of you.
Do you have that, sir?
A. Yes.
Q. Just turn to the second page, and my question is, do you know whose handwriting is on this document?
A. No.
Q. Do you have any idea?
A. Again, not Levin's, not mine; and given the front page, probably not Page's.
Q. You can set MS-78 aside for the time being. I'm going to show you a document marked as MS-177.
(Exhibit MS-177 for identification, Document with handwriting.)
Q. Take a look at that.
My only question is, whose handwriting is it, if you know?
A. Not mine. Not Jerry Levin's.
As I read some things in here, I would assume it was one of the Sunbeam people's handwriting, because as an example, the very last item on the first page is something that -- Coleman for Kids exclusive to Target is something we knew about, so we probably wouldn't have written that in notes.

Somebody from Sunbeam probably didn't know it, therefore they would have taken the notes.
Q. You can set that aside. We'll come back to that.
I'd like you to take MS-231 from your exhibit pile and put that in front of you and I have a couple of more questions about that.
Other than Mr. Page and Mr. Levin, are you aware of any other person who may have assisted in the preparation of this?
MR. BRODY: Object to form.
A. No.
Q. And do you know what analysis, if any, was done to arrive at the numbers that appear in the column to the left of the document totaling $150.5 million?

A. Well, I'd have to go item by item to answer that, but if you look at the first item, we had given a third-party license to Charbroil with regard to outdoor gas barbecue grills as opposed to cooking stoves.
And whoever wrote this, Jerry or Joe, assumed that given Sunbeam was in that business directly, and that I guess it had seen that Sunbeam claimed a margin of 20 percent on those products, or Charbroil -- I don't know where he got the 20 percent -- that you could take the sales that Charbroil was making that year, which I guess he thought was 75 million, put a margin in of 20 percent. You'd get to 15 million. Deduct the royalties that we would no longer get.
I should add, the license was about to expire. We were in the process of negotiating a renewal when this transaction occurred, so I think he assumed, well, they wouldn't renew it.

They would pick up the business, add it to their business, and this is $13 million of margin that you could obtain.
Then he went to the next one, synergies --
Q. Can I ask a question about the last one?
Why, if the license was about to expire, would you subtract the 2 million?
A. When I said it was about to expire, Charbroil wanted to renew and we wanted to renew.
So if you were looking at -- what you were saying is today we get 2 million in margin off of that business in royalties. If you take it over and get 15, then you're going to get a new 15 minus the 2 we were already getting. It's additive to the amount of 13, okay?
Q. I got you.
A. Then the next thing was Camping Gas barbecues. Camping Gas was a French company that made -- the premiere camping equipment company in Europe -- and they also made barbecue grills that were sold in Europe.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016327

Page 218

So whoever wrote this was saying, "Maybe between the Sunbeam brand, you guys make barbecue grills, we don't make them except in Europe. There are some synergies there that would allow us to save money on the -- pick up another 10 percent of margin on the Camping Gas barbecue grills."

Q. If you go back up to the first item, there's some handwriting to the right that it says, "SOC believes," it says "10M," which I read as 10 million.

Do you see that writing?

A. Yes.

Q. Did someone at the meeting on behalf of Sunbeam make a statement like that?

A. I don't recall. I don't recall because, again, I don't know -- the only person on our side whose handwriting this might be, I've testified to, is Page.

Page 219

It appears it was written by somebody on the Coleman side, because with the comments. So I suppose Page was taking notes, and for whatever reason somebody on the Sunbeam side said, "We think this will only be 10 million, not 15 million."

Q. If you would continue and look at the third item, which is "Corporate Staff" of $15 million, can you tell me what analysis, if any, was done to arrive at that number?

MR. BRODY: Objection to form and foundation.

A. Again, the best people to ask would be Jerry Levin and Joe Page, but they were aware that Dunlap ran the business very differently than the way we ran a business.

And so it was their understanding that if Dunlap took this business over, as opposed to having corporate staff in a lot of different locations, he would centralize it in one place. And they just estimated based on what Coleman's corporate overhead was that you could cut out approximately -- it was a guesstimate, I think, $15 million of Coleman overhead by putting it on the Sunbeam backbone.

Page 220

You weren't going to have two public companies, for example, you wouldn't need to duplicate two financial staffs, et cetera.

Q. Turning to item 4, can you tell me what "International Group Staff" refers to?

A. Yes.

We at Coleman had international businesses in Europe, in Latin America, in Japan, and there were specific staffs devoted to those in Europe, in Japan and in Miami, if I recall, for the Latin American group.

There may have also been staff in Argentina and somewhere else. I can't recall anymore.

Then we also had a staff in New

Page 221

York that we called ROW, rest of world, and that staff covered the rest of the world where we didn't have our own subsidiary, we were operating generally through distributors, and did some overseeing of the local staffs that were in those other three places.

They also had an international group, and I think somebody was estimating that you didn't need both staffs and that you could -- their staff could oversee what our staff was overseeing for Coleman at the same time they were overseeing Sunbeam.

Q. The fifth item, "Latin America Staff," can you briefly describe what that is referring to?

A. Yes. We each had a staff for Latin American markets.

Sunbeam had a brand called Oster. The Oster brand was very popular in parts of Latin American, Venezuela and other parts.

The business was generally

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016328

Page 222

staffed out of Miami as well as some local people. We, as I said, had a Miami staff that ran our Latin American business, so somebody was proposing that maybe we can get rid of one of our Latin American staff in Miami and just run off of their backbone.

Q. Item 6, I think, is "C Europe Networks Sells S Products," is that right?

A. Yes. The idea there would have been that Sunbeam didn't really have presence in Europe.

We had presence in Europe through our Camping Gas subsidiary, and I don't recall if we had anything else in Europe.

And the idea was, could we -- because we already had a distribution network in Europe, could we begin to introduce Sunbeam products in Europe using the Coleman backbone, in effect.

And the number -- whoever did this just made a guesstimate. Might be a $100 million of sales at a 20 percent margin, so that would be $20 million that you can bring in.

Page 223

Q. Does the "C Europe" refer to Coleman Europe?

A. Yes, I think so.

Q. And the "S" refers to Sunbeam?

A. I would assume so.

Q. So the idea here is that the Coleman Europe sales network would sell Sunbeam products which --

A. Might, might.

Q. Understood. It might.

And that might result in $100 million in sales at a margin of 20 percent?

A. Correct.

Q. The next item is item 7.

A. Same thing for Japan. They had no presence in Japan. We had a full subsidiary in Japan. It was our second biggest camping market in the world of Coleman product.

And the idea was, could we introduce Sunbeam products in Japan running it off of our backbone.

Page 224

Q. So, again, the "C" refers to Coleman and the "S" is for Sunbeam, right?

A. Yes.

Q. The next item, which is item 8, "Factory Outlet Staff," what does that refer to?

A. Each of the companies had factory outlet stores, the purpose of which, as a general matter, to get rid of excess and obsolete inventory.

And we had stores in various parts of the country. They had stores in various parts of the country, and we each had a small headquarters staff to run those units; and the theory was, couldn't one of those staffs run both units.

Q. Item number 9 is "S Catalytic Appliance Line." What does that refer to?

A. Coleman had a line of heaters called catalytic heaters.

They were very efficient heaters that did not, if I recall -- produced no or very little carbon monoxide which was important, because they could be used in enclosed spaces for a limited amount of time.

Page 225

It was a very advanced burning technique; and the question was, since Sunbeam made products -- some products that heated, could you take the Coleman know-how in catalytic appliances and create some Sunbeam appliances. If you'll notice that was a small number, but it was an idea.

Q. The tenth item is, "Consolidate Division HQ to DBF."

Did I read that correctly?

A. Yes.

Q. What does that refer to?

MR. BRODY: Objection to form and foundation.

A. I guess that means -- we had three divisions in the United States that had headquarters in remote locations.

East Pack, which was a backpack company, was headquartered outside of Boston; PowerMate, which made portable generators, electrical generators, was headquartered in Nebraska; and Coleman Outdoor Recreation, which was the biggest piece of this, makes the camping equipment, was headquartered in Wichita.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016329

Page 226

And the idea there was, could you consolidate all of their divisional headquarter staff to -- I guess "DBF" is Del Ray Beach, Florida.

Q. The eleventh item is, "Consolidate Domestic Sales Forces."

Can you briefly explain for me what that means?

MR. BRODY: Objection to form and foundation.

A. Again, Dunlap, in his public appearances and his books and so forth, professed the idea that as you acquire brands and so forth you could -- you would pick up huge efficiencies in sales staff so that you had a person calling on Wal-Mart, for example -- since you have a consolidation at retail, you have a person calling on Wal-Mart.

Page 227

We had a lot of common distribution between the companies. Wal-Mart, K-Mart. Target, in particular, and to some degree, Home Depot. Grills for Sunbeam and flashlights, and certain other things, and grills for Coleman.

The question was, could you take the sales backbone and put more products on it without having to duplicate the sales staff. Consistent with the Dunlap philosophy, you theoretically could.

Our own philosophy I don't think thought you could, but if they bought our company, they would have used their philosophy, and this was a proposed saving that might occur if that happened.

Q. What is item 12?

A. Coleman had what was referred to as a Legacy computer system, which, as I understand it, means it's old and a lot of it is custom-made for Coleman.

As we had acquired other companies, on the one hand; and on the other hand, given that we and all other companies were facing the Y2K issue, we had pretty much concluded that what we were going to do was to put in what's called an Enterprise ARP system -- an Enterprise computer system, which is an integrated computer system that does everything from the factory to the accounting.

Page 228

And we had decided that it would be an Oracle system, and we had gotten far enough to estimate that the expense of that system would be $20 million. We had spent some money with Ernst & Young's consulting group to work on that system.

Sunbeam had already put in an Enterprise system in early 1996 or '7, JD Edwards' system.

And so the person writing this was assuming that we could eliminate the Oracle system and just spend some money converting Coleman over to the JD Edward's system.

Page 229

Q. What is item 13?

MR. BRODY: Objection.

Form, foundation.

A. I don't know.

Q. What is item 14?

A. Well, everybody always believes that if you're in a lot of different businesses, you can create a global sourcing system.

So that, for example, you're buying plastic for blenders, irons, toasters and other products at Sunbeam, and at the same time you're buying a lot of plastic for products such as coolers at Coleman. You're buying metal, raw steel for Coleman camping equipment. You're buying raw steel for appliances that Sunbeam is making, and you're making these things in various places all over the world.

And so managers always believe that if you can put more of that stuff together, you can buy it better, and that was the idea here.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016930

Page 230

Q. What is item 15?
MR. BRODY: Objection to form and foundation.
A. Again, the Dunlap theory of business involves consolidating warehouses and logistics, meaning transportation and material movement and so forth.
And the theory is that, again, if you're shipping -- if you can consolidate what's going to K-Mart between more -- put more business at K-Mart, you have more full truckloads, you can operate out of fewer warehouses.
So that, for example, if I need 100,000 foot warehouse for something and they need a 100,000 foot warehouse, even if you need 200,000 feet, the cost of operating -- the people cost of operating 200,000 feet is much less than twice 100,000 feet, so consolidating facilities was estimated might save as much as $10 million.
Q. How long did the meeting on December 12th last?

Page 231

A. I don't know. I would guess maybe a couple of hours.
Q. Other than MS-231 that you're looking at and people's notes on the same document, were there any other documents that were discussed or handed out at the meeting?
A. There were other things discussed. There was nothing else handed out that I can remember.
Q. As an example, was there any supporting material ever prepared for any of the 15 items on MS-231?
A. Not that I recall.
Q. Did someone lead the discussion on behalf of The Coleman Company at the meeting? For example, Mr. Levin or Mr. Page?
A. Yes -- I think Jerry led it. I don't know, on some of these items Joe may have taken the lead. I don't recall. I did not. That's for sure.
Q. Was there someone who took the lead on behalf of Sunbeam at the meeting?

Page 232

A. Russ Kersh did.
Q. He was the most senior Sunbeam person attending the meeting, right?
A. Well, I mean, Peter Langerman was a director, so he kind of -- he kind of at a social level took the lead.
Fannin was a lawyer, like myself, and less involved in day-to-day operations. I think in terms of seniority he's older than Russ, but Russ was the senior of the two as an officer. He was for all intents and purposes the number two guy at Sunbeam -- yes, at Sunbeam.
Q. Did CSFB, who, at least according to the retention letter had been retained a couple of days earlier, have any input into the preparation of the document MS-231?
A. I don't recall. Jerry Levin would be more likely to know than I.
Q. Do you recall whether there were any earlier versions of MS-231?
A. I don't recall.
Q. I'm going to show you what the reporter will mark as MS-228.

Page 233

(Exhibit MS-228 for identification, Document with handwriting.)
Q. Do you have MS-228 in front of you?
A. Yes, I do.
Q. Do you know whose handwriting is on this document?
A. No. It's not mine. I don't think it's Jerry's.
Q. Reading any of the comments that you can read, can you tell me if this document appears to have been prepared by either someone from the Sunbeam side or the Coleman side?
MR. BRODY: Which, the handwriting or the typed document?
MR. BEMIS: The handwriting. Just the handwriting.
A. I would think the Sunbeam side because, for example, on number 2, it says -- actually, I don't know. I don't know. It says something about "assembling third party in Europe." I don't know. I can't read enough of the writing to know.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016331

Page 234

Q. Okay. You can set that one aside.
Did you have any follow-up discussions with Sunbeam about the issue of synergies between the two companies?
A. Did I?
Q. Yes, sir.
A. Not that I recall.
Q. So am I correct that the only meeting that you attended where Sunbeam was present and the subject of synergies to be achieved or possible to be achieved between the combination of the two companies was the December 12, 1997 meeting?
A. With Sunbeam present, the only other meeting that I recall would have been the meeting at Morgan Stanley the week that we signed the agreement, and I don't recall if synergies were discussed at that meeting or not.
Q. I'm going to hand you what was previously marked as MS-77 which is entitled, "Sunbeam Corp./The Coleman Company, Inc. Proforma Combination Analysis, December 10, 1997," and it appears to be on the stationery of Chase Securities Inc., no comma.

Page 235

Do you have that in front of you?
A. Yes.
Q. First of all, have you ever seen that document before?
A. I never saw it until preparation -- I don't recall ever seeing it until preparation for my deposition.
Q. What, if any, involvement did Chase or Chase Securities Inc. have with the Coleman/Sunbeam transaction?
A. I don't recall any involvement, so this may have been a presentation that was made to the Maher/Nesbit team or to Jerry Levin before CSFB was retained, but I don't know what else it would be.
Q. I'm just going to show you this real briefly.

Page 236

I've handed you what's been marked as MS-76 at a previous deposition.
Have you ever seen this document before? And if you turn to page 2, you'll just see there's a brief table of contents of some public documents --
A. I don't recall.
Q. -- and some research reports.
A. I don't recall.
Q. You don't recall seeing it?
A. No.
Q. You can set it aside. You can hand it back to me. We'll put it back in the file.
According to the chronology, you had a couple of meetings on December 16th and 17th of 1997 on the transaction, and I'm referring now to Exhibit A to MS-75, if you'd like to look at that to help you.
A. Yes.
Q. Turning first to the December 16th meeting, where was that meeting held?
MR. BRODY: Objection.

Page 237

Foundation.
Q. Let me back up then.
Were you present at the meeting as shown on that chronology?
A. I assume I was. I have no reason to believe otherwise.
Q. Do you have any recollection of the meeting whatsoever?
A. I mean, I remember having a couple of meetings. I don't remember the dates.
Q. Setting aside the date and looking at the attendees on the chronology prepared by Wachtel Lipton, do you recall the meeting itself even though you do not recall the date?
A. Yes. I mean, I recall some meetings.
Q. Now, referring specifically to this meeting which is under the date of December 16th, where did the meeting take place?
A. I'm surmising that it would have been at MacAndrews headquarters because of who the attendees were.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0163332

Page 238

Q. That being Mr. Perelman, among --
A. Yes.
Q. How long did this meeting last?
A. I don't recall.
Q. What was discussed about a potential transaction?
A. I mean, the most I recall -- and the two meetings don't stand out in my mind separately -- is that there was a meeting in which we probably replayed to them what had happened in the December 12th meeting, and there was just a general discussion about what a deal might look like.
Q. Well, at the meetings where you discussed, in general, what a deal might look like, what was discussed about what the deal might look like?
MR. BRODY: Before you go further on that, keeping in mind that he's counsel, are you attempting to seek his legal communications or legal advice?

Page 239

MR. BEMIS: I'm just asking what took place. If you object, you'll have to object.
MR. BRODY: Well, I'm going to object. Given the soft foundation as to when it was and who was there and what was discussed, I don't think I can instruct you not to answer the question.
But to the extent your communications include your communication of legal advice or communications of information to you seeking legal advice, you've got to say so and disclose that rather than the legal advice.
A. I don't remember a lot about those meetings. Just kind of a general discussion.
I don't recall anything that was terribly specific, much more like, how would you combine the businesses, where are they additive, what happens when you put the two of them together.
I don't recall anything terribly specific.

Page 240

Q. Do you recall whether the timing of these meetings, given that you don't remember the exact date and we're working off of the chronological, whether the deal was being discussed as a possible stock transaction, cash transaction, or combination of both?
A. I don't remember being aware of that kind of discussion at that point in time.
Q. Do you recall any documents being discussed at either of the two meetings?
A. No.
Q. Now, the next meeting that you are identified as participating in in the Wachtel chronology, MS-75, is a meeting on January 29, 1998, if you'd like to look at that.
My question is, did you attend a meeting on the 29th of January as set forth in the Wachtel chronology?
A. I can't remember that meeting, but I have no reason to believe otherwise having looked at the chronology.

Page 241

Q. Now, looking -- we also looked at the notes which is, if you'll pull it out, is MS-177, multiple pages of notes.
A. Yes.
Q. Let me know when you have it.
Looking at the chronology and looking at the notes, and I think you told me earlier that you had thought it was someone from Sunbeam's handwriting based on some remarks at the bottom of the first page relating to -- I think, Coleman Kids, I think, was the reference.
Do you believe those notes were made in the meeting that is identified on the last paragraph of page -- it's page 2 of Exhibit A of MS-75?
A. Sir, what did you just say, page --
Q. Page 2 of Exhibit A --
MR. BRODY: We have too many things. You're asking if these notes were made at a meeting on January 29th?
Q. That's referred to on page 2 of

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016333

Exhibit A of MS-75.
A. I don't know. It's hard to tell.
These could also be notes from somebody like --
Q. Well, if you don't know, you don't know. That's fine. You've answered the question.
Let's focus then on what, if anything, you can remember about the meeting on the 29th.
What was the meeting about?
A. As I said before, I don't remember that meeting. If I had not seen the Wachtel Lipton letter, I would not have recalled that I attended this meeting.
Q. In the Wachtel Lipton chronology on the January 29th, it is stated, "They further discussed how the companies might proceed with due diligence and related matters if Sunbeam made unacceptable proposal."
Do you see that sentence?

A. Uh-huh.
Q. Yes or no.
A. Yes. I'm sorry.
Q. That's all right.
As of January 29, 1998, were you aware of any due diligence that had been performed by either Coleman or Sunbeam in connection with any proposed or contemplated or being discussed transaction between the parties?
A. I don't recall any. There had been some requests to me from David Fannin as a result of the December 12th meeting, which I punted one. I was told, "We don't know if anything is going to happen here. Just let it sit. Don't do anything at the present time."
So I did not respond to those requests. I don't remember making any due diligence requests of them. It is possible that the Maher/Nesbit team made some or that CSFB to Morgan Stanley made some.
I recall thinking at the end of December that no deal was going to happen. Then I recall thinking in late January that something might happen. And then I recall thinking in early February that nothing was going to happen, and then all of a sudden it happened.

And that's sort of my recollection of that period in time, between the end of December and somewhere around February 23rd.
Q. So if we were to bring us current, then the next meeting that you can't recall whether Sunbeam was present or Sunbeam was not present, and just people from Mr. Perelman's companies were present would be February 23rd or so, 1998?
A. Whatever the Thursday is of that week. It would have been February 19th, I guess. The 27th was a Friday. That's the day we signed. So the 20th would have been a Friday. So the 19th, I would say.
Q. What happened on February 19th of 1998?

A. Assuming it's a Thursday, my recollection is that I received a call early in the morning from Barry Schwartz of MacAndrews telling me that they believed that a deal was possible and that it was something that was going require a great deal of effort quickly and that I should come to a meeting, I should get dressed and get to a meeting that morning early for us to organize and catch up with each other and organize the effort to go do a deal.
MR. BEMIS: It's 5 o'clock. I told you I'd break at 5 o'clock and so why don't we break here, and we'll have to discuss what we're going to do to finish you, because I cannot finish even if we go another hour.
It's likely going to take, I'm guessing, my best estimate, and truly, it's an estimate, but I reasonably think we can finish you in a morning, and we can do it in Florida if you'd like.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016334

Page 246

That's the best I can do for us right now since we said we'd quit at 5.
MR. BRODY: We'll take your request under advisement, and advise you whether we're willing to bring the witness back. We started late for reasons that you guys didn't have what you needed and weren't ready and --
MR. BEMIS: That's nonsense that we weren't ready.
We started all of about 15 minutes delayed as a consequence of some boxes not being here.
15 minutes wouldn't have made any difference of whether we completed the deposition, and I do apologize if Federal Express did not get here in time.
But I didn't schedule this deposition for New York. You insisted it be taken in New York. We could have taken it in Florida while we were there.
MR. BRODY: Can I finish?
MR. BEMIS: You may.
MR. BRODY: Thank you.

Page 247

We didn't start on time for whatever reason. You weren't in a position to start, and I understand you saying Federal Express didn't have your documents here, but we could have started with other stuff at 9:30.
In any event, I think a lot of time today has been wasted asking this witness things about documents and meetings that he has no knowledge of or did not attend, and we'll take your request under advisement.
I want to state one other thing on the record which is information I received today.
We offered to you Mr. Jones' deposition for Friday, I believe it was, of this week, and you did not want to go forward with that deposition on that day as scheduled.
I've been advised that Mr. Jones is having surgery and is going to be very difficult to schedule in the future.

Page 248

MR. BEMIS: When is he having the surgery?
MR. BRODY: I think within the next week or ten days. I don't have the information in front of me, but we'll do what we can on getting you a date.
MR. BEMIS: I will state for the record, if you want to make such a big deal of this, is that you scheduled Mr. Jones on a date when we had a case management conference in the case and we advised you.
When you do that, you make it extraordinarily difficult to go to West Palm Beach and Wichita simultaneously.
We're off the record.
MR. BRODY: No, we're not off the record, because I feel like I need to respond to that.
MR. BEMIS: I'm sure you do.
MR. BRODY: Yes, I do.
MR. BEMIS: Then go ahead and respond and let's get finished so the witness can leave.

Page 249

MR. BRODY: There is a case management conference on Friday, I acknowledge, but I also suspect there are more lawyers on your side of the case able to take Mr. Jones' deposition than will be in court on Friday.
MR. BEMIS: Well, when you start making decisions as to who takes depositions you let me know, and we'll put you on the payroll. But that's not your decision. That's my decision. Not yours.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: The time is now 5:10 and we are off the record.
(Time Noted: 5:10 p.m.)

_____
PAUL E. SHAPIRO

Subscribed and sworn to before me this ____ day of ____ , 2004.

_____

0163335

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

PAUL E. SHAPIRO
STATE OF NEW YORK)
ss:
COUNTY OF NEW YORK)
I wish to make the following changes, for the following reasons:
Page Line ___ ___
Change From: _____
Change To: _____
Reason:
_____
Page Line ___ ___
Change From: _____
Change To: _____
Reason:
_____
Page Line ___ ___
Change From: _____
Change To: _____
Reason:
_____
Page Line ___ ___
Change From: _____
Change To: _____
Reason:
_____
Page Line ___ ___
Change From: _____
Change To: _____
Reason:
_____
Page Line ___ ___
Change From: _____
Change To: _____
Reason:
_____
Page Line ___ ___
Change From: _____
Change To: _____
Reason:
_____

_____
PAUL E. SHAPIRO

Subscribed and sworn to before me
this___day of_____, 2004.
_____

CERTIFICATE

I, Linda J. Greenberg, Professional Shorthand Reporter and Notary Public in and for the State of New York, do hereby certify that, PAUL E. SHAPIRO, the witness whose deposition is hereinbefore set forth, was duly sworn and that such deposition is a true record of the testimony given by the witness to the best of my skill and ability.

I further certify that I am neither related to or employed by any of the parties in or counsel to this action, nor am I financially interested in the outcome of this action.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand this 11th day of June, 2004.

_____
Linda J. Greenberg

My commission expires: May 17, 2007

INDEX

WITNESS	EXAMINED BY	PAGE
PAUL E. SHAPIRO	Mr. Bemis	5

EXHIBITS

NO.	PAGE
(Exhibit MS-257 for identification, Mr. Shapiro's resignation from The Coleman Company, Inc.)	26
(Exhibit MS-252 for identification, Mr. Shapiro's resume.)	37
(Exhibit MS-258 for identification, Document.)	43
(Exhibit MS-253 for identification, Detail organization chart.)	49
(Exhibit MS-118 for identification, Agenda and minutes of board of directors meeting on 2/27/98.)	73
(Exhibit MS-117 for identification, Agreement and plan of merger.)	75
(Exhibit MS-120 for identification, Document dated 2/27/98.)	86
(Exhibit MS-166 for identification, Offering memorandum.)	95
(Exhibit MS-169 for identification, Letter dated 12/10/97 from CSFB to The Coleman Company.)	97
(Exhibit MS-134 for identification, Draft document)	119
(Exhibit MS-101 for identification, Document dated 2/23/98.)	121
(Exhibit MS-243 for identification, Document dated 3/20/98 from Ernst & Young to CLN Holdings Inc. and Morgan Stanley & Co., Incorporated.)	151
(Exhibit MS-130 for identification, Document dated 3/18/98.)	182
(Exhibit MS-248 for identification, Document filed with Securities and Exchange Commission.)	184
(Exhibit MS-231 for identification, Document with handwriting.)	212
(Exhibit MS-177 for identification, Document with handwriting.)	214
(Exhibit MS-228 for identification, Document with handwriting.)	233

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0163336

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016337

IN THE FIFTEENTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT
IN AND FOR PALM BEACH COUNTY,
FLORIDA
----------x

COLEMAN (PARENT) HOLDINGS, INC.,

Plaintiff,

vs. Case No. CA 03-5045 AI

MORGAN STANLEY & CO., INC.,

Defendants.

----------x

JAMES ROBERT MAHER

New York, New York

Wednesday, November 3, 2004

Reported by: Steven Neil Cohen, RPR

Job No. 166520

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016338

November 3, 2004
9:00 a.m.

Continued Videotaped Deposition of JAMES ROBERT MAHER, taken by Defendants, pursuant to notice at the offices of Kirkland & Ellis, LLP, 153 East 53rd Street, New York, New York, before Steven Neil Cohen, a Registered Professional Reporter and Notary Public of the State of New York.

APPEARANCES

JENNER & BLOCK LLP
One IBM Plaza
Chicago, Illinois 60611-7603
Attorneys for Coleman (Parent) Holding, Inc.
BY: ROBERT T. MARKOWSKI, ESQ.

KIRKLAND & ELLIS, LLP
777 South Figueroa Street
Los Angeles, California 90017
Attorneys for Morgan Stanley & Co., Inc.
BY: LAWRENCE P. BEMIS, ESQ.

KIRKLAND & ELLIS, LLP
655 Fifteenth Street, N.W.
Suite 1200
Washington, D.C. 20005
Attorneys for Morgan Stanley & Co., Inc.
BY: RYAN P. PHAIR, ESQ.

ALSO PRESENT: Steven Fasman
Ruben Martinez, Videographer

IT IS HEREBY STIPULATED AND AGREED, by and between counsel for the respective parties hereto, that the sealing and filing of the within deposition be waived; that such deposition may be signed and sworn to before any officer authorized to administer an oath; that all objections, except as to form are reserved to the time of trial.

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: The time is 9:00 a.m. This is tape number one, volume 2 of the continuation videotaped deposition of Mr. James Robert Maher.

JAMES ROBERT MAHER,
called as a witness by the Defendants, having been previously duly sworn, testified further as follows:

BY MR. BEMIS:

Q. Good morning, Mr. Maher.

A. Good morning.

Q. Yesterday when we adjourned we had worked our way up date-wise to about I believe January 23 and I believe that if you look at the chronology, MS 75, which we looked at yesterday you will see a meeting on that date.

Did you -- you are not shown as attending that meeting with Mr. Stynes, Mr. Fuchs and Mr. Chang.

Did you recall Mr. Nesbitt giving you a report of that meeting?

A. The reason I am pausing, I don't -- I thought there was a meeting around that period of time which I at least spent some time in the meeting so I am not sure I wasn't -- there was a meeting with Stynes -- I guess there was a separate meeting but I think there was a meeting where Stynes came by. Maybe it is later.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016339

Page 220

Q. Just focusing on the meeting on January 23, was that the first meeting, even if you did not attend, that you recall occurring following Mr. Reid's telephone call earlier in the month of January?
A. I frankly don't recall. It is listed as the first meeting so I assume the chronology is correct.
Q. Did Mr. Nesbitt who has testified that he did attend this meeting tell you the results of the meeting on January 23?
A. I don't specifically recall him telling me. I also can't imagine that if this meeting occurred which it says it did that he wouldn't have told me.
Q. Let me show you what we have already marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 175.
A. I am just going to get some coffee.

Page 221

Q. Do you have MS 175 in front of you?
A. I do.
Q. Have you seen this document before?
A. I don't remember -- I don't specifically recall it but it looks like the type of document that Morgan Stanley would have put together at that time.
Q. On the first page, the first page where it refers to Laser specific, do you see the first bullet point which reads, Laser earnings projections based on I/B/E/S dated 1/21/98?
A. Yes.
Q. Would you tell the jury what I/B/E/S is?
A. I think it is a compilation of analysts' estimates.
Q. Is it short for Institutional Brokers Estimate System?
A. It may well be.
Q. Have you used this source before?
A. Yes. It is sort of universally used.

Page 222

Q. Universally used in the investment banking profession?
A. Yes.
Q. Is it -- in 1998 was it a compilation, if you will, of estimates by various institutions?
A. Excuse me one second.
MR. MARKOWSKI: Stop that.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Going off the record. The time is 9:06.
(Discussion off the record)
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are back on the record. The time is 9:06.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. The question that was pending was were the I/B/E/S estimates in 1998, the date of the document you are looking at, a compilation of estimates by various institutional brokers about earnings of corporations?
A. Yes.
Q. If you look to the right side of the first page of MS 175 you see under the Camper specific heading a bullet which reads as follows: "Camper earning projections based on modified CS First Boston report November 18, 1997."

Page 223

Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Was CS First Boston following as an analyst the Coleman Company on or about that time, November 18, 1997?
A. I don't know.
Q. Have you ever seen the CS First Boston report that is identified in that bullet?
A. I may have.
Q. Is there anything in this document that, as you look at it now, that to you is a misrepresentation by Morgan Stanley to MacAndrews & Forbes?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Object to the form.
THE WITNESS: I would have to look at every line in here. I am not going to do that.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. Okay. Then you can set the document aside.
Do you want to hand that back to

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016340

Page 224

me?
Mr. Nesbitt testified that he attended the meeting that we were discussing, that is, with Mr. Stynes, Mr. Yoo, Mr. Chang and Mr. Fuchs because you would not attend.
Having looked at MS 75 does that in any way refresh your recollection that Mr. Nesbitt told you what happened at the meeting?
MR. MARKOWSKI: I don't believe that accurately characterizes Mr. Nesbitt's testimony. Object to the form. Lack of foundation.
MR. BEMIS: I think it does.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. You can answer.
A. What is the question?
Q. Let me shortcut this.
Did Mr. Nesbitt tell you that he had a meeting about this time, January 23, with Mr. Stynes, Mr. Yoo, Mr. Chang and Mr. Fuchs?
A. I don't specifically recall him telling me this but I remember there was a meeting and it says so in the chronology so I have no reason to dispute that.

Page 225

Q. What do you recall about the meeting regardless at this point of the source from whom you heard it?
A. I don't recall saying anything about the meeting but I do recall the first meeting after the Bill Reid called where Morgan Stanley came and I didn't look closely enough at the sheet to tell you what it says but it was my understanding they came with an all-stock offer at a price that was less than Reid had indicated. It didn't involve any cash. And that is my recollection.
I don't know if that is what that says.
Q. What is the next thing that you remember happening following this offer as you have just described it?
A. I don't know if it is the next thing that happened but the next thing that relates to this transaction was I think Morgan Stanley was told -- I told them, somebody told them that whatever they proposed was unacceptable.

Page 226

Q. Whatever proposal followed Mr. Reid's phone call was unacceptable; is that fair?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you at that point -- did at that point MacAndrews & Forbes make a counterproposal?
A. There was a counterproposal eventually made. I think it was -- I think it was as to the form of the transaction.
There needed to be cash in the transaction and it needed to be a higher price. I don't think -- I don't think there was a price indicated at that time.
Q. I am going to hand you back real quickly Morgan Stanley 175 and if you look under Transaction Specific on the first page, do you see that heading?
A. Yes.
Q. It does state in the first bullet, assumes 100 percent stock finance transaction with purchase accounting.
A. Yes.
Q. Do you see that?

Page 227

A. Yes.
Q. Does that then suggest to you as you sit here today that this was indeed the transaction you were thinking of, a 100 percent stock transaction?
A. It does.
Q. You can hand that back to me.
We know as you told us that the transaction proposed in Exhibit 175 was rejected by MacAndrews & Forbes, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. The best you can recall, if there was a counterproposal it had to be some combination of cash and stock but no specific price was set at that point for the Coleman stock?
A. That is my recollection.
Q. Did you report the results of the proposal in Exhibit 175 to Mr. Perelman?
A. I don't specifically remember. I can't imagine not.
Q. Would it be your normal course when these meetings took place to advise Mr. Perelman of the ongoing discussions?
A. Yes.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 228

Q. Would Mr. Perelman in the ordinary course provide you with direction as to what he wanted to do next?
A. Yes.
Q. In this case what instructions did he give you?
A. I don't recall any specific instructions but the end result was that we rejected the proposal so --
Q. What is the next time -- next meeting that you recall meeting -- withdrawn.
What is the next meeting you recall with any representatives of Sunbeam or Sunbeam itself in connection with what becomes the Coleman transaction?
A. Well, according to this chronology there was a meeting on the 29th.
Q. Let me ask you to look at your calendar which is MS 86 and I believe that does show a meeting on January 27 which is not on the chronology.
MR. BEMIS: If you would hand one to the witness, Mr. Markowski?
THE WITNESS: Thanks.

Page 229

BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. I would ask you now that you have MS 86 in front of you to turn to the entry for Tuesday, January 27, 1998.
Are you there?
A. Getting there.
Q. At 11:30 a.m. you have a reference to a meeting that appears to include Mr. Gittis, Mr. Perelman, Mr. Gordon Rich from Credit Suisse First Boston and it appears to be in Mr. Gittis' office and it is Re: Gucci and Coleman.
Did I read that correctly?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you have a meeting on that date with those gentlemen on those topics, Gucci and Coleman?
A. That is what it says. I may well have.
Q. What happened at that meeting?
A. I don't recall.
Q. If Mr. Gordon Rich was at the meeting with regard to Coleman would he have been there as your investment adviser?
A. I assume so, yes.

Page 230

Q. You, as you sit here today, have no specific recollection of what happened at this meeting?
A. No.
Q. You may set -- hold on to your calendar. Keep that in front of you but you may set it aside for the time being.
If you look at the chronology, Morgan Stanley Exhibit 75, you will see there is a reference to a -- the retention of Wachtell, Lipton; do you see that?
A. I do, on the 28th.
Q. Yes, sir. Were you at all involved in that decision?
A. I think -- I mean, I am sure I was aware of the decision. There may have been some discussion about it. I was certainly aware of it.
Q. By January 28 MacAndrews & Forbes either directly or through Coleman had retained both an investment banker and a law firm as part of the negotiations over a possible Coleman transaction; is that fair to say?
A. That is fair to say.

Page 231

Q. Did you -- if you look at -- strike that.
Did you have a meeting on January 28 with Mr. Gittis and Mr. Nesbitt as shown on your calendar that date?
If you will look at the entry at 9:00 a.m. it is HG which I assume is Mr. Gittis and WN, Mr. Nesbitt. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Can you tell the jury what happened at that meeting?
A. I can't.
Q. There is also a meeting on January 29 that is referred to in the chronology, MS 75, that takes place between Sunbeam, various representatives, Morgan Stanley, various representatives, Coleman, various representatives, and MacAndrews & Forbes, various representatives including yourself and the CSFB team at MacAndrews & Forbes' offices in New York.
Do you see that entry?
A. Where is this?
Q. On January 29, 1998. It is the

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016342

Page 232

third entry.
A. Where does it say MacAndrews & Forbes offices?
Q. I think that comes out of another exhibit which is Morgan Stanley 279.
I tell you what. Without setting where the meeting was did you attend the meeting that is shown for January 29?
A. I remember a meeting of this sort of magnitude, this cast of characters, taking place around that period of time to discuss synergies, yes.
Q. Where did that meeting take place as you recall it?
A. I think it may have been at Revlon's office.
Q. At Revlon's offices?
A. I think so.
Q. Where are Revlon's offices?
A. 625 Madison, but I think there is a reference in my calendar, 11th page, Nesbitt, 625 Madison, on the 29th.
Q. Did you attend the entire meeting?
A. I think so.

Page 233

Q. As of the January -- what was the basic subject matter of the January 29 meeting?
A. Well, it says in the chronology, to discuss potential synergies which would be a combination of Coleman and Sunbeam.
Q. At that meeting, as of the -- sorry.
A. As well as setting a time frame for due diligence.
Q. I take it as of January 29 at least there had been no due diligence done by either side, on your side of the transaction?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Object to the form of the question. I think it mischaracterizes the witness' prior testimony.
THE WITNESS: I wouldn't characterize it that way. There had been work being done all along. When we went back and Nesbitt had done work, I am sure First Boston had done work in preparation for the December meeting. I think there was a period of time when probably nothing was done. Prior to the 29th meeting I would imagine that work was being done again by a combination of First Boston, Nesbitt, Levin, Page.

Page 234

BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. You have told me the -- you have told me some of the work that was done before the meeting with Mr. Dunlap in Palm Beach on December 18. We covered that yesterday, right?
A. We covered that I believe yesterday.
Q. Then I believe you told me that following the meeting on December 18 at Mr. Perelman's home matters broke down; is that right?
A. That is correct.
Q. There was no further discussions, no further investigation or due diligence, if you will, up until the time the parties next met following Mr. Reid's call in the week of January 18; is that fair?
A. I don't know when Reid's call was. Again -- I don't know we established when Reid's call was.

Page 235

Q. The public filings say it was on January 22. That was Exhibit MS 79 that we looked at yesterday.
I don't want to quarrel --
A. Okay. I will say the 22nd.
Q. Following the 22nd, following the 22nd we know, you told me, there was a meeting apparently between at least Mr. Nesbitt and certain representatives of Morgan Stanley, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Between the 23rd and this meeting on the 29th what due diligence had been done by MacAndrews & Forbes concerning a transaction with Sunbeam and Coleman?
A. As I just stated, you asked me a question whether -- you said, I think you said, no due diligence had been done prior to the 29th.
Q. Forget what my other question was. Let's focus on the question I asked you right now.
Between the 23rd of January and the meeting on January 29th what due diligence had been done by MacAndrews & Forbes concerning a transaction between Coleman and Sunbeam?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016343

Page 236

A. I don't know.
Q. At the meeting was there a discussion -- withdrawn.
At the January 29 meeting, and you did attend the meeting, correct?
A. I did, yes.
Q. Are the parties that are identified in MS 75 as having attended the meeting, that is, Mr. -- Messrs. Stynes, Fuchs, Chang, Fannin, Kersh, Levin, Page, Shapiro, yourself, Mr. Maher, Nesbitt and Mr. Rich from Credit Suisse First Boston the people you remember attending the meeting?
A. I don't remember them specifically. I remember Kersh was there, Fannin was there, certainly Page was there, Levin was there, Nesbitt, Rich, myself, Chang, Fuchs, Stynes was there.
In general I remember these people being there. There may have been other people there.

Page 237

Q. Were there discussions at the January 29 meeting among those who attended it about how the companies might proceed with due diligence and related matters if Sunbeam made an acceptable proposal?
A. That is what it says in the chronology. I have no reason to dispute it.
Q. So the due diligence was to proceed once Sunbeam made an acceptable proposal; is that correct?
A. Not necessarily.
Q. What was the agreement reached at the January 29 meeting?
A. The due diligence of -- the specific due diligence relating to interaction between representatives of Sunbeam and Coleman would take place after an acceptable proposal was on the table.
It doesn't mean that Levin wasn't doing work, due diligence work. It doesn't mean that Nesbitt wasn't doing it, it doesn't mean that First Boston wasn't doing it in the interim.
Q. Do you know that they were?

Page 238

A. I don't know that they weren't.
Q. Do you know that they were is my question.
Do you have personal knowledge of them, the people you have identified, doing this work?
A. Well, Levin was certainly doing work on the -- on synergies which is certainly part of the due diligence effort.
Q. Anything else?
A. Not that I can think of at the moment.
Q. Let's move forward and there is a reference to Sunbeam entering into a confidentiality agreement with Coleman on or about February 4, 1998.
Do you see that entry?
A. Yes.
Q. Have you seen the confidentiality agreement?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Let me show you a copy of what has been identified as the confidentiality agreement and ask you to please take a moment and look at it.

Page 239

I have handed the witness what has been marked as MS 133.
Have you had an opportunity to look at MS 133?
A. I have, yes.
Q. Have you ever seen it before?
A. I don't recall seeing it, no.
Q. In your experience as an investment banker is it customary for parties in a transaction being negotiated such as the Coleman-Sunbeam transaction to exchange confidentiality agreements?
A. Generally.
Q. You can hand that back to me.
By the time of the exchange of the confidentiality agreements had you learned of Sunbeam's results for the fourth quarter of 1997?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Object, lack of foundation, mischaracterizes the record. There has been no testimony that there was in fact an exchange of confidentiality agreements.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. Let me rephrase the question.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016344

Page 240

By the time of January 4, the date of the confidentiality agreement that we just reviewed, February 4 -- did I say January?
A. You did.
Q. I apologize.
By the time of the February 4 confidentiality agreement that we just reviewed were you aware of Sunbeam's results as reported for -- excuse me -- fourth quarter of 1997?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Let me show you a document previously marked as Morgan Stanley 206 which is a copy of a Wall Street Journal article on January 29, 1998.
Do you have that in front of you?
A. I do.
Q. Having looked at that document, at least as of January 4, 1998, were you aware of the reported earnings of Sunbeam for its fourth quarter 1997?
MR. FASMAN: You said January again.
BY MR. BEMIS:

Page 241

Q. I did.
Let me ask the question again.
Having looked at the document at least as of February 4 were you aware of the reported earnings for Sunbeam for its fourth quarter of 1997 as set forth in MS 206?
A. I imagine I would have been. I don't have a recollection of being specifically informed but I would imagine I would have seen this.
Q. Would you have seen it as part of the clipping service that you received?
A. I would have seen it by reason of the Wall Street Journal article.
Q. You read the Wall Street Journal regularly?
A. Pretty much.
Q. You can hand that back to me.
At the January 29 meeting that we discussed before we turned to the confidentiality agreement was the earnings shortfall reported in MS 206 discussed among the parties at that meeting?
A. I don't recall it being

Page 242

discussed.
Q. What is the next thing that you recall in the negotiations following the January 29, 1998 -- excuse me. Let me withdraw that.
What is the next event you recall occurring in the negotiations between Sunbeam and Coleman and their representatives after the January 29, 1998 meeting which you believe took place at Revlon's offices?
A. Well, I have in front of me the chronology from Wachtell, Lipton.
Q. Does that assist you in your testimony looking at that chronology?
A. Yes. MS 75?
Q. Yes.
A. It says there was a meeting attended by Morgan Stanley, Mr. Nesbitt, myself and Mr. Rich, Mr. Duffy of First Boston, and it says that they made a presentation reflecting a transaction which Coleman would be acquired by Sunbeam for .6017 Sunbeam shares per Coleman shares which was approximately $22 a share plus warrants that Morgan Stanley valued at $4 per share.

Page 243

Apparently I indicated that MacAndrews would not be prepared to support such a proposal and advised Morgan Stanley that only an all-stock transaction that valued Coleman stock at $30 a share or an amount slightly lower than $30 a share if the transaction involved cash and stock would be of interest.
It sounds right to me.
Q. As of February 6 the parties hadn't reached an agreement. You were still at a proposal counterproposal stage, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Is it fair to say that this meeting on February 6 as described in MS 75 was the first time that MacAndrews & Forbes had made a counteroffer as opposed to simply rejecting an offer made by Sunbeam?
A. I think that's correct but I also, as I pointed out earlier, it depends how you characterize counteroffer.
I think our counter -- with a

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016345

Page 244

dollar pricing, I think that is correct, but if you go back to the proposal that they made earlier, the all-stock proposal on --

Q. January 23.

A. On January 23, there was a form of a counterproposal which this doesn't work as an all-stock transaction at this price. I guess I consider that to be a counterproposal.

Q. Is it fair to say, however, as of February 6, the figure of $30 per share was the first time that MacAndrews & Forbes had put that on the table in the negotiations?

A. I think that's right.

Q. Where did the figure $30 per share come from?

A. It must have come from discussions with Mr. Perelman, Mr. Gittis, I am sure Mr. Levin.

Q. It wasn't your figure?

MR. MARKOWSKI: Mr. Maher's personally?

BY MR. BEMIS:

Q. Yes, as a negotiator.

Page 245

A. It was not my personal counterproposal.

Q. Was there a discussion amongst the principals at MacAndrews & Forbes who were heading the negotiations as you identified them yesterday where the $30 figure was arrived at?

A. I am sure there were a number of discussions. I don't recall the specifics of those discussions but typically there are discussions, ongoing discussions.

I don't remember a meeting where there was a number specifically arrived at.

Q. Was there a meeting where --

A. There may have been. It could have ranged from Ronald Perelman saying here is what I think we ought to do to somebody saying, well, Ronald, would you find this acceptable and him saying, yes. That might have been me, somebody else.

That would be typical of the types of discussions that would have occurred.

Q. What was the basis for the figure of $30 per share as a valuation for Coleman at this time?

Page 246

A. I don't recall.

Q. What was Coleman trading at on the New York Stock Exchange on February 6, 1998?

A. I don't know. I am sure you know.

Q. I do. The closing price was $15.65.

A. So you have answered your own question. Thank you.

Q. I was trying to be polite in answering your question.

My question is, if the closing price was $15.65 can you help the jury understand how as negotiators you came up with -- you being MacAndrews & Forbes -- came up with $30 per share?

A. Well, typically in a negotiation you take into consideration any number of different items including the underlying value of the company that you are interested in -- in the underlying value of Coleman, the synergies created between the two companies and typically in a transaction like this the negotiations are -- they vary but they -- there are negotiations over who gets what share of the synergies attributed to them so you have an underlying value of the company and then some sort of sharing of the synergies.

Page 247

Typically in a transaction like this you could probably have 50 percent of the synergies going to each party. That would be typical.

You look at, as I mentioned yesterday, how much the acquirer can afford to pay because that has something to do with the negotiation.

You look at what the potential transaction will mean to the acquirer because that has something to do with what they will be willing to pay.

All of those items get factored into it and there is no science. It is sort of an art as to what number you come up with.

And in the end it ultimately, in a company like this which is controlled 80 plus percent by one individual, it depends on what he is willing to sell the stock for.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016346

Page 248

Q. Are you finished? I didn't want to interrupt you.
A. No.
Q. In this case I think you referred to something as an art. Art usually gets reduced to some form whether it be a canvass, a sculpture, something we can look, touch and see.
Is there a document that you have ever seen where a calculation arriving at a valuation of $30 per share for Coleman was determined or calculated?
A. There were -- the First Boston analysis had ranges of values. Those documents exist, yes.
Q. If there is a document it is a First Boston document as you would recall it?
A. Yes.
Q. You didn't see any documents from Morgan Stanley valuing Coleman at $30 per share, did you?
MR. MARKOWSKI: You are talking about back at that time?

Page 249

MR. BEMIS: Yes.
THE WITNESS: I don't recall that. I would be very surprised if, at that point in time, if they would have had a document valuing the company at $30 a share when they were trying to buy it at 23.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. They weren't trying to buy it. Sunbeam was trying to buy Coleman.
A. They weren't hired to make the case that the company was worth more than what they were offering.
Q. Sunbeam was buying Coleman, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. When you came up with the alternative structures at the February 6 meeting of $30 per share or a lower value for a cash stock combination was -- did CSFB, your investment banker, provide input into that decision?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Could you read the question back for me please?

Page 250

(Record read)
MR. MARKOWSKI: Object to the form. I am not sure what the reference to "the decision" is.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. You can answer.
A. What decision?
Q. The counterproposal.
A. I don't specifically remember CSFB being involved in that decision.
They were -- they were available for -- to answer questions, to give us advice and they may well have had some input into it.
Q. There was the proposal we identified on January 23, the one that was the all-stock transaction, and I believe the exhibit number that you looked at was -- give me one second -- was Morgan Stanley Exhibit 175.
Do you recall that? That was the all-stock transaction?
A. I do.
Q. Did you have CSFB review that proposal?

Page 251

A. I am sure they did.
Q. If they did review it -- withdrawn.
If they did review it as you are sure that they did would it be customary for CSFB to provide you with a result of their review?
A. No.
Q. Would they just keep it to themselves?
A. No.
Q. What -- how would the information that comprises CSFB's review get back to MAFCO?
A. Well, in that case I don't think there was much to review.
We had rejected the transaction so what were they going to review it and get back to us with?
Q. Focusing -- withdrawn.
Were you, that is, MacAndrews & Forbes, as of February 6 when you made the proposal of $30 per share in an all-stock deal, was MacAndrews & Forbes actively looking for a buyer for Coleman?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016347

Page 252

A. No, not that I recall.
Q. Was Sunbeam the only party that was in the negotiations or even preliminary discussions, if you will, with MacAndrews & Forbes concerning a purchase or some form of business combination with Coleman?
A. Yes, I think that is right.
I am just going to grab some coffee.
Q. At the February 26 meeting, excuse me -- withdrawn.
At the February 6, 1998 meeting we have been discussing was there a discussion at that meeting of Sunbeam assuming as part of a transaction Coleman Worldwide and CLN Holdings' indebtedness?
A. I think that may have occurred at that meeting, yes. I think there was a discussion. I am not sure if it was in that meeting or a later meeting but it was --
Q. Who raised that as a potential point of the structure of a transaction?
A. I think I did.
Q. Did you do that on your own or was that an instruction you received from Mr. Perelman?

Page 253

A. I wouldn't have done it on my own, no.
Q. What was the amount of the indebtedness of Coleman Worldwide and CLN Holdings that you were discussing being assumed by Sunbeam as part of the Coleman-Sunbeam transaction should it go forward?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Was it in the hundreds of millions of dollars?
A. Yes, it was.
Q. Was it indeed over a billion dollars?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Object.
THE WITNESS: I don't know what the number was. I am sure you know what the number is. Tell me what it is.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. I am not trying to be contentious with you, sir. You don't assume that I know anything right now. If you can answer my question we will try to get you out of here quicker.

Page 254

A. I don't know.
Q. CLN Holdings --
MR. MARKOWSKI: I didn't get a chance to finish my objection. My objection is the question was misleading.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. Setting aside the exact number of the indebtedness of Coleman Worldwide and CLN Holdings, the suggestion for the assumption was a suggestion put forward by Mr. MacAndrews & Forbes in the negotiations; is that fair?
A. That is fair.
Q. Just so the jury understands who these parties are, Coleman Worldwide was a holding company, was it not?
A. I don't remember the exact names of the companies. I am trying to be helpful but I don't remember the names.
Q. Was Coleman Worldwide a holding company as opposed to an operating company?
A. I think so.

Page 255

Q. Was CLN Holdings a holding company as opposed to an operating company?
A. I am telling you I don't remember the exact structure so --
Q. I didn't ask you the exact structure.
A. These are the companies that -- are you asking me the companies that owned -- are those the companies that owned the stock of Coleman on behalf of MacAndrews & Forbes in the short form?
Q. In short form that is where we are going, yes.
My first question is: Was CLN Holdings a holding company and not an operating company?
MR. MARKOWSKI: I think what Mr. Maher says is he doesn't remember the exact names of the companies.
THE WITNESS: CLN could be a public entity. I don't know which it is. That is my issue.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. Did MacAndrews & Forbes, I am going to pick your words, ultimately own

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016348

Page 256

the Coleman common stock, the 82 percent that is attributed to Mr. Perelman?
A. Yes.
Q. It did. Mr. Perelman owned this stock indirectly if you will through a series of holding companies, correct?
A. I believe that is correct.
Q. The debt that you were speaking of assuming was debt of the holding companies within the chain running from Coleman up to ultimately Mr. Perelman's ownership, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Let me show you -- I only have one extra copy of this exhibit. I am sorry.
I am going to hand you what has been previously marked as Morgan Stanley 108. Do you have that exhibit in front of you?
A. I do.
Q. Mr. Nesbitt testified in his deposition that he prepared this document.
Did -- have you seen the document before?

Page 257

A. I don't recall specifically but it looks familiar. I think this is very similar to the one we saw yesterday.
Q. There are a number of attachments to the document. If you turn to page, turn to page, they are not necessarily numbered at the bottom but you will have to look at the Bates numbering on them.
It would be the fourth page of the document. It is titled Project Laser Proposed Summary Transaction Terms.
A. Yes. It is 0924 on the bottom.
Q. Yes, sir.
Have you seen that document before?
A. It looks familiar.
Q. This proposal, is this proposal an -- an all-stock proposal, stock and warrants?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Mr. Bemis, let me pause here for a second. I don't have the document in front of me. You indicated at the beginning Mr. Nesbitt testified that he prepared this document. Were you referring simply to the first page of this compilation materials or the entire package?

Page 258

MR. BEMIS: Mr. Nesbitt -- Mr. Nesbitt prepared the document and assembled the document. I think it is fair to say, although I don't have instant recall of it, I don't think he said he prepared all of the attachments to the document.
THE WITNESS: This attachment was prepared by Morgan Stanley.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. That is why I said that.
I think the question that was pending as we were looking at page 3, the form of the consideration of the proposed summary transaction appears to be Laser common stock and Laser common stock warrants. Am I correct?
A. Yes.
Q. This is -- it also continues, an implied price of $22 per share; is that correct?
A. For the common stock portion of the transaction, yes.

Page 259

Q. Was this -- was the proposal that you are looking at under Project Laser Proposed Summary Transaction, Bates numbered CPH1120634, was that the proposal that was rejected at the February 6 meeting and to which you countered with the $30 per share as an all-stock transaction or something less if there was a combination of cash and stock?
A. It looks like it, yes.
Q. According to the miscellaneous provisions on the same page of MS 108 there is -- there are two bullets, one of which is no assumption of any holding company level debt. Do you see that?
A. Miscellaneous, yes.
Q. Was your proposal, that is, MacAndrews & Forbes proposal, that there be an assumption or an assumption of CLN Holding debt and Worldwide debt again a counterproposal to this summary proposal?
A. As I said earlier, I don't recall when that proposal to assume the debt of the MacAndrews & Forbes holding companies was stated.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0163149

Page 260

It was clearly after this but I don't remember whether it was in response to this or not.
Q. According to the prospectus filed by the Coleman Company, and I am referring to Morgan Stanley Exhibit 279, and, in particular, page 37, the prospectus states that, "At this meeting," referring to the February 6, 1998 meeting, "the possibility of Sunbeam's acquisition of MacAndrews & Forbes' interests in Coleman including Sunbeam's assumption of indebtedness of Coleman Worldwide and CLN Holdings as the first step in the acquisition of Coleman was discussed."
Does that then square with your recollection?
A. Yes.
Q. One other question. That is, look at the expected closing date, if you will. It says 2Q98. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Does that mean, 2Q98, second quarter of 1998?
A. I believe so, yes.

Page 261

Q. Did you -- was there any discussion at the February 6 meeting at which the Sunbeam proposal that we have been discussing was made and the counterproposal, if you will, was made as you provided, was there a specific discussion of a closing date?
A. I don't recall. There may have been but I don't recall it.
Q. Do you recall how the closing date eventually got moved to the first quarter of 1998 from the initial proposal that we are looking at here of the second quarter of 1998?
A. I don't recall how that happened, no.
Q. Turn to the -- to the page which is Bates marked CPH1120640 in Exhibit 108.
Tell me when you are there.
A. Is this CSFB 930?
Q. Yes. I think it is.
A. Sunbeam Corporation, I/B/E/S EPS estimate overview.
Q. Right. That is where I am at. I think we are both on the same page.

Page 262

Again, I/B/E/S estimate overview, that, which is dated February 6, 1998 on the right-hand side, did you understand that I/B/E/S to be the I/B/E/S we spoke about earlier, the investors -- institutional investor summaries?
A. Yes, it seems to be.
Q. The next page of the document, I will use the CPH Bates numbers but it is CPH1120641, First Call Estimate Overview, do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. What is First Call?
A. It is another -- I think it is a compilation of analysts' estimates also.
Q. Is it something one subscribes to?
A. I think one can subscribe to it, yes.
Q. Did MacAndrews & Forbes subscribe to it?
A. I don't know.
Q. Did MacAndrews & Forbes -- is I/B/E/S a service one subscribes to?
A. I don't think so.

Page 263

Q. How do you obtain those figures?
A. I frankly don't know.
Q. You leave that to the analysts?
A. I call Mr. Nesbitt.
Q. Fair enough.
A. I think you can get them on the internet.
Q. You think the I/B/E/S figures are on the internet?
A. I think so.
Q. Let's set this document aside, MS 108, for now. You can hand it back to me.
Let's try to move forward now from February 6 and let me ask you, was there a response to your counterproposal at the February 6 meeting when you rejected the offer that Sunbeam made that we just reviewed of all cash -- excuse me, all stock and warrants and an implied value of $22 per share?
A. I have the chronology again in front of me.
It says on February 13 Stynes and Kitts called me saying they were making their best and final proposal of .65116

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016350

Page 264

shares of Sunbeam stock which was approximately 24.50.

I apparently indicated it was of no interest.

Q. Going back to the meeting on February 6, did you at that meeting receive a document from Morgan Stanley?

A. Which meeting? Sorry.

Q. The meeting of February 6, the one we were talking about.

A. I don't recall a specific document but I would be surprised if there wasn't one.

Q. Let me show you what has been marked as Exhibit 81 in an earlier deposition.

This, sir, is the exact same document that was attached to Exhibit 108, Mr. Nesbitt's collection of documents.

I would ask you first to take a look at it. I just have a couple of quick questions.

A. Okay.

Q. Do you have the document in front of you?

Page 265

A. I do.

Q. The first page of this four-page document which is entitled Proposed Summary Transaction Terms, I will represent to you that I compared it to the document we looked at in Exhibit 108 which has Mr. Nesbitt's calculations on top.

My first question is: Did this document, Exhibit 81, get handed out at the meeting on February 6 and discussed?

A. It certainly seems like it.

Q. For the record, we are looking at Bates number CP033711 through CP033714.

Looking at the --

A. What is a CPH number?

Q. There is two sets of numbers on the documents. I will put the CPH numbers in if I can see where the CPH number is on the first page which I didn't see.

I see it now. It is also for the record CPH1421814. That continues to CPH142817.

You can hand it back to me. I think we have covered it in our other questioning. I don't want to take your time unnecessarily with it. Thank you.

Page 266

Just to put us back on track here, after the meeting on February 6 in which -- or at which, excuse me -- the exhibit we just looked at, MS 81, that proposal was rejected as well as the proposal which is -- a copy of which is in MS 108, the next thing you recall happening is a counterproposal on February 13; is that correct?

A. The next thing according to the -- my chronology is February 13 of that which I have no reason to dispute.

Q. I am going to hand you what we previously marked in another deposition as Morgan Stanley 356.

Do you have that in front of you?

A. I do.

Q. This document is dated February 12, 1998 and it is addressed to Mr. Will Nesbitt, not to you, from Rob Duffy.

Rob Duffy is Mr. Duffy at Credit Suisse First Boston, your investment adviser, correct?

A. That's correct.

Page 267

Q. Have you seen this document before, MS 356?

A. Again, I don't recall specifically but it looks like something that I would have seen.

Q. This was a document prepared by -- is this document prepared by Credit Suisse First Boston?

A. Appears to be.

Q. The document contains a scenario which they refer to as base case. Do you see that?

It is up on the upper left-hand corner in all of the pages.

A. Second page?

Q. Yes, sir.

A. Yes.

Q. By the way, Project Violet is what becomes the Coleman transaction, correct?

A. I don't know.

Q. Looking at this document, does this appear to be a -- an analysis from a financial perspective of the Coleman-Sunbeam transaction?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016351

Page 268

A. I wish I could read it. I am having trouble seeing it.
Q. Let me ask you, or is it, alternatively, a proposal for some form of leveraged buyout?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Object to the form of the question.
THE WITNESS: It looks like an analysis of what an investment bank would typically do which is to analyze whether a private equity firm or buyout firm, as you said, could -- what it could afford or what level, what price could be paid for the company. I don't think -- I don't believe there was any discussion about an actual leveraged buyout or management buyout. It was more a theoretical exercise.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. A theoretical exercise?
A. I believe, yes.
Q. When you read through the theoretical exercise, if you will, is there a price per share that a private equity fund, for example, might be willing to pay for this company based on the analysis done by CSFB?

Page 269

A. I can't frankly tell you at the moment. It will take a while to figure that out.
I don't think there is a conclusion here the best I can tell. There is a bunch of numbers but I don't see a conclusion. It looks like -- I can't even tell -- it looks like $31 per share.
Q. Where are you reading that from?
A. Equity, first page. Page 1.
Q. Yes, sir.
A. Up in the left-hand corner under CS First Boston Corporation.
Q. That is $21 per share, not 31.
A. Is it?
Q. Yes. My eyes are bad but not that bad.
MR. MARKOWSKI: I guess I can't read it either.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. Indeed, I think if you read through to the next page it continues over at $21 per share. Go to the third page.

Page 270

Very clearly $21 per share. Continuing --
A. Then it goes out and starts over again at it looks like if that is 21 or 32, 22 or 32 depending --
Q. It rises from 21 to 23.
A. 22.
Q. 23?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Your copy must be better than ours because I can't make those numbers out.
MR. BEMIS: It is not our position or point. You or I could quarrel with what it says. If he can't read it he says he can't read it. I can clearly read it and the numbers are 21 through 23. I don't want to quarrel with you. If you can't read it we will set. aside.
THE WITNESS: Okay.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. The ultimate objective of a document like MS 356 that your investment bankers prepared would be to look at a possible scenario of what a private equity fund might be willing to pay for Coleman; is that correct?

Page 271

A. Yes. Typically when investment bankers look at companies, particularly when they are looking at the fairness transaction, one of the things they look at is what a leveraged management buyout could afford to do to pay for the transaction.
Typically that is -- typically that is the low end of the spectrum in terms of value because buyout firms don't -- are not able to create synergies in any transaction.
Q. Let's turn to the February 13 conference call.
MR. MARKOWSKI: Before you go on to something new can we take a short break?
MR. BEMIS: Sure.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Going off the record. The time is 10:21. This completes tape number one.
(Recess)
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are back on the record. The time is 10:37. This begins tape number two, volume two.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016352

Page 272

BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. Mr. Maher, when we broke we were going to turn to the February 13 conference call.
First of all, my understanding is on February 13 you were in Aspen, is that correct, based on your calendar, MS 86?
A. Well, according to my calendar on February 13 I left for Aspen in the afternoon.
Q. Did you take the conference call before or after you left?
A. I am not sure. I don't think it would have been -- it must have been before I left because once I was in the air I wouldn't have taken it.
Q. The reference on February 13, breakfast at 36 East 63rd Street, is a reference to breakfast at Mr. Perelman's townhouse; is that correct?
A. That's correct.
Q. Did the conference call come in at the townhouse or did you take the call at the office?
A. Was it a conference call or a meeting? I just don't recall.

Page 273

Q. I don't see a meeting on your calendar on the 13th. Do you?
A. I don't.
Q. All right.
Setting aside --
A. I don't see a conference call either.
Q. That's correct. I don't either.
So setting aside whether it was a conference call or a meeting, this was a communication between the parties which was a response to what had been essentially rejected and the counterproposal of February 6, right?
A. Yes.
Q. Were there any documents that were used in the conference call or the meeting if that is what happened?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Let me show you MS 82.
Let me see if I can see one that is easier for you to read.
I will show you what has been marked as MS 82 at an earlier deposition which is entitled Project Laser and then below that line, Laser Stand Alone Income Statements.

Page 274

This has CPH Bates numbers 1406962 through 64.
Do you have that document in front of you?
A. I do.
Q. Did you have this document at the time -- first of all, have you ever seen this document before?
A. I may have. I don't specifically recall it.
Q. Is there anything, as you read the document, that shows a -- a combination of the two companies, that is, Sunbeam and Coleman?
A. There is a Laser which I believe is Sunbeam's stand alone case.
Q. That is the first page, right?
A. Yes. There is a Camper stand alone case without sale of Safety and Security. It says management case.
Then there is a Camper stand alone income statement - sale of Safety and

Page 275

Security management case.
Q. Just so the jury understands one of the headings there, Sale of Safety and Security, does that refer to the sale of a Coleman company or division which was called Safety and Security?
A. Yes. It must.
Q. You can hand that back to me then.
Did you, in the course of the, either the meeting or the call on February 13, did you confer with any one else to -- withdrawn.
Did you confer with anyone else in the February 13 conference call on behalf of MacAndrews & Forbes such that you could state to Morgan Stanley that MacAndrews & Forbes' proposal was not of interest?
A. I don't recall. I may or may not have.
Q. Was this proposal on February 13, was it an all-stock transaction?
A. I believe so. It looks like it.
Q. Was there any discussion in the changing of the closing date from the second quarter of 1998 as we saw in the earlier documentation?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016353

Page 276

A. Not that I recall.
Q. What is the next thing that you recall happening after the February 13 call or meeting at which time you rejected the proposal put forth at that time?
A. Once again, referring to the Wachtell, Lipton chronology, MS 75, it appears that Kitts and I had a conversation on the 18th of February which I have no reason to dispute in which he invited a counterproposal.
Q. At this time on February 18 you were back in your office having returned from Aspen, right?
A. According to my calendar I was back in New York, yes.
Q. Were there any documents exchanged in relationship to this telephone call on February 18 -- withdrawn.
In connection with the February 18 telephone call between yourself and Mr. Kitts was there -- were there documents exchanged by the parties?

Page 277

A. Not that I recall.
Q. This again was just a verbal back and forth between the two on various terms?
A. I don't think it is a verbal back and forth on various terms. That is not what the chronology suggests.
Q. Perhaps then I misspoke. Let me try again.
On the telephone call on the 18th was all that was discussed a -- an invitation to MacAndrews & Forbes to make a counterproposal to the offer made on February 13, 1998?
A. I don't know that that is all that was discussed.
Q. Can you -- having read the chronology can you now recall anything else that was discussed?
A. No.
Q. Did Mr. Kitts, to your knowledge -- strike that.
As you sit here today can you recall Mr. Kitts putting any specifics on an invited -- an uninvited counterproposal?

Page 278

A. An uninvited?
Q. No. An invited.
A. Invited.
No.
Q. On the 19th you meet with -- do you meet with Mr. Perelman as shown on MS 75?
A. That is what MS 75 suggests, that I had a meeting on the 19th with Perelman. I have no reason to believe that didn't occur.
Q. You met with Mr. Perelman following the call with Mr. Kitts on February 18 to discuss with Mr. Perelman a possible counterproposal; is that correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Again, the counterproposal that you are discussing with Mr. Perelman is a counterproposal to the proposal made on February 13 that we discussed earlier, correct?
A. I guess. It is a counterproposal.
Q. The last -- I am trying to make sure I understand it.

Page 279

The last proposal that was on the table by either party was the one put forth on February 13?
A. I assume that is correct. You can assume that is correct.
Q. You met with Mr. Perelman, and was it Mr. Perelman who then provided the proposal of .789 Sunbeam shares per Coleman share which was according to MS 75 approximately $30 per share?
A. Ask that question again please.
Q. Sure.
When you met with Mr. Perelman did -- on the -- February -- on February 19 --
MR. MARKOWSKI: Let me stop for a moment. We have been assuming that the chronology specifies the date of the Perelman meeting. I am not sure that this is necessarily what this is telling us. I don't know that it matters but I think the reference on the 19th tell us that the call to Mr. Kitts was on the 19th.
MR. BEMIS: All right. Fair

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016354

Page 280

enough. I will not quarrel about something like that. I don't think it is significant either. Let me go back and ask the question in a slightly different way.

BY MR. BEMIS:

Q. After Mr. Kitts spoke to you on February 18 you did have a discussion with Mr. Perelman about Mr. Kitts' call, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. There is a counterproposal that is relayed to Mr. Kitts on February 19, 1998, right?

A. Yes.

Q. That counterproposal was a proposal that was given to you by Mr. Perelman, right?

A. Not necessarily.

Q. What do you mean by that?

A. I don't know whether it was a proposal that Mr. Perelman suggested or a proposal that I suggested that he agreed to or a proposal that somebody else in the room may have suggested that he agreed to that I delivered, or I am sure there are other permutations.

Page 281

Q. In any event, Mr. Perelman approved the proposal?

A. I believe that to be the case.

Q. The next thing that happened after Mr. Perelman approves the proposal is that you transmit the proposal to Mr. Kitts; is that right?

A. That sounds correct.

Q. Your proposal which is 7.89 Sunbeam shares per Coleman share which is stated in MS 75 to be $30 per share, does that seem correct, the figures that are in there?

A. It seems correct, yes.

Q. This was an all-stock offer, correct?

A. I think so.

Q. Did the offer include assumption of holding company debt such as we discussed earlier for the debt of Coleman Worldwide and CLN Holdings Inc.?

A. I am not sure.

Q. What was the closing date on this proposal? For example, did it still remain second quarter of 1998 or had it changed?

Page 282

A. I don't think -- I don't recall that there was -- there were counterproposals to all of the items in the original proposal.

Q. You were basically focused at this time on pricing issues?

A. I believe so.

Q. When you spoke to -- after you spoke to Mr. Perelman and perhaps others and obtained Mr. Perelman's consent to the terms of the proposal of .789 Sunbeam shares did you convey that to Mr. Kitts?

A. I believe so.

Q. Did you do that orally?

A. I believe so.

Q. Were there any -- in connection with your oral communication, were there any documents exchanged between the two of you such as by a facsimile or electronic means of some kind?

A. Not that I remember.

Q. Mr. Kitts, what was his response when you gave him Mr. Perelman's counterproposal?

Page 283

A. I don't know what his response was when I gave him the counterproposal.

Q. He didn't immediately accept it, did he?

A. No.

Q. Indeed, is what happened that Mr. Kitts called you later on the same day, that is February 19, and made another proposal?

A. According to the chronology that sounds correct.

Q. The counterproposal was a proposal of 7.11 Sunbeam shares per Coleman share which according to the chronology had a valuation of about $26.90 per Coleman share.

A. Did you say 7.11?

Q. I said .711 I thought. Maybe I did. I did say -- let me ask you the question. Thank you for catching that.

The counterproposal that Mr. Kitts provided was an exchange of .711 Sunbeam shares per Coleman share which according to the chronology had a valuation of $26.90 per Coleman share; is that correct?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016355

Page 284

A. Yes.
Q. To the best of your recollection as you sit here today are the figures, those figures, accurate in terms at least of the counterproposal that was given to you?
A. It sounds more or less correct.
Q. Did you -- when Mr. Kitts called you to make this further counterproposal on February 19 were there any documents exchanged in connection with this counterproposal?
A. Not that I recall.
Q. Did you tell Mr. Kitts at the time you received this counterproposal that Coleman would be prepared to consider an exchange ratio of .745 shares of Sunbeam stock which was approximately $28.20 per share?
A. I don't recall whether that was in that same conversation or in a subsequent conversation but it seems to me correct, somewhere either in that conversation or a subsequent conversation I responded.

Page 285

Q. Having, at this point, on February 19, you having made this proposal to Mr. Kitts as to what Coleman would be prepared to consider as an exchange ratio of .745 shares, how did Mr. Kitts respond?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Was there any discussion at this point where you make this last proposal on February 19 of assumption of holding company debt of the MacAndrews & Forbes companies?
A. I think at this point in time that was part of the transaction, I think. I am not 100 percent sure but I think.
Q. Was the closing date still the second quarter of 1998 as we looked at earlier?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Let's move forward.
Did Mr. Perelman, by the way, give you the authority to tell Mr. Kitts that Coleman would be prepared to consider the exchange ratio of .745 shares?

Page 286

A. I don't recall having specific authority but I don't also believe that I would have offered it without either understanding that he was prepared to accept it or having been told specifically that he would accept it.
Q. Let me hand to you now what has been marked previously as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 83.
I have handed you a copy of Morgan Stanley Exhibit 83 and you have that in front of you, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. I will tell you that some of the handwriting on this document is Mr. Nesbitt's by his testimony. I don't represent that all of it is but some of it is.
Did you receive a copy of MS 83?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Are you including the handwriting in your question at this point or just the document?
MR. BEMIS: No, just the document. I am not quarreling over when the handwriting was put on. Did he get a copy of the document with or without the handwriting.

Page 287

THE WITNESS: This looks somewhat familiar to me.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. This document bears a date, it is on the very bottom of the document, in the left-hand side, it is on the so-called footer line. You will see it is 022098.
Do you see that?
A. I do.
Q. Does this document in terms of the consideration package, if you will, represent the terms that you counterproposed to Mr. Kitts on February 19?
A. I don't think so but I am not 100 percent sure of that because there are two packages here.
Q. Can we focus on package 1 first? I realize there are two. I note that the exchange ratio on package 1 is .7450, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. That is what you proposed on

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016356

Page 288

February 19, 1998 to Mr. Kitts, correct?
A. According to this chronology, yes.
Q. Again, that was an all-stock offer, no cash, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. So at least with regard to the consideration package 1, does that accurately reflect your counterproposal to Mr. Kitts on February 19?
A. I am not sure because I don't know whether my proposal on the 19th included the assumption of Camper holding company debt as is referred to.
Q. My reading of -- is the assumption of holding company debt in this document as it is laid out in MS 83, is the assumption of holding company debt included within both consideration package 1 and consideration package 2?
A. Well, I can't tell you. That is my question. I don't know the answer to that.
Q. In any event, it looks like -- withdrawn.

Page 289

Is it fair to say looking at MS 83 that you received back from Mr. Kitts at least two consideration packages?
A. Yes.
Q. You had a choice to elect either package 1 or package 2, is that right? That is the proposal at least?
A. That is what it appears to be, yes.
Q. When you received -- withdrawn.
If you will turn to page 2, it also refers to a proposal by Mr. Kitts for an expected closing of the second quarter of 1998, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. With regard to due diligence there is to be an execution of agreements upon completion of satisfactory due diligence, right?
A. Yes, that is what it says.
Q. The due diligence -- excuse me. The agreements which is capitalized in that sentence on page 2, that is the definitive merger agreements, right?
A. I assume so.

Page 290

Q. The due diligence would be the due diligence that would be done before the execution of the merger agreements, right?
A. Presumably.
Q. There would be due diligence on both sides of the transaction, correct?
A. Presumably.
Q. The next box on page 2 which is -- has the writing inside of the box, Acquisition of Publicly Held Camper Shares, do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Does that refer, to your understanding, based on being in the negotiations, the acquisition of the shares of the Coleman Company, Inc. that were not held indirectly by Mr. Perelman?
A. I would interpret it that way.
Q. Again, the expected closing there is the second quarter of 1998, correct?
A. That is correct.
Q. After you received MS 83 did you discuss it with anyone?
A. I don't recall specific discussions but I can't imagine that I wouldn't have discussed it with Perelman, Gittis, Levin, Wachtell, Lipton, First Boston.

Page 291

Q. When you had -- were there any issues that arose in your discussions with Wachtell, Lipton, First Boston or Mr. Perelman or Mr. Gittis?
A. I don't recall. I don't recall exactly what issues arose out of this.
Q. Okay.
Does this document though, MS 83, form the basis for your further negotiations with Sunbeam or its representatives that leads to the execution of the merger agreements?
A. It formed the basis for further negotiations and those negotiations ultimately led to an execution of the merger agreement.
Q. You can hand that back to me. Thank you very much.
Let me hand you what has previously been marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 340.
I will take one second and see if we marked this exhibit. We might not have.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016357

Page 292

I misspoke, this exhibit has not been marked and I would ask the court reporter to mark this copy as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 340.
(Morgan Stanley Exhibit 340 marked for identification)
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. Do you have Exhibit MS 340 in front of you?
A. I do.
Q. The first two pages following the fax cover sheet do have some handwriting on it.
Is any of that handwriting yours?
A. I don't believe so.
Q. Do you know whose it is?
A. I don't.
Q. Did you have any -- did you have any discussions with anyone where the items which are marked "no" in the margin were discussed?
A. I may have. I have specifically "no" next to a preferred share 48-1/8 conversion price, 25 percent premium over current Laser price.

Page 293

It says "no" next to it in the column. I don't recall why that says no.
Q. If you turn to page 2 to the right of the heading Shareholder Lockup there is "no" and I think that means registration rights, is that what that means?
A. Probably a reasonable interpretation. It says REGRTS.
Q. That would refer to --
A. I would believe registration rights.
Q. Rather than a lockup of the shares they would be subject to some form of registration rights agreement, correct?
A. It would be the norm.
Q. That would be the norm?
A. Yes.
Q. Going down the page under the heading Acquisition of Publicly Held Camper Shares, there is a termination fee and there is -- to the right it is written, no.
Do you remember discussing that issue with anyone?

Page 294

A. I am sure I was involved in discussions about every one of these items but I don't recall it specifically.
Q. Again, the -- I don't see any no or any writing next -- withdrawn.
The expected closing is still shown here as being second quarter of 1998, correct?
A. Yes. Well, it is in two places. It looks like it contemplates two closings.
Q. That ultimately is the form of the transaction that takes place that is a two-step transaction and there are to be indeed two closings, correct?
A. That is my recollection, yes.
Q. On the third page which is entitled Project Laser Pricing Mechanism Overview --
MR. MARKOWSKI: I think that may be the fourth page.
MR. BEMIS: Is it the fourth page on that one? You are correct. It is the fourth page. Thank you.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. Item number 1 refers to assumed

Page 295

Camper holding company debt of 500 million dollars and then it being offset by a portion of the existing holding company stock position in Camper and then at an assumed 26 per camper share valuation.
Do you see that?
A. I do, yes.
Q. Can you tell the jury what that refers to?
A. It is -- it looks to me to be a calculation where the holding company debt is valued at $26 per Camper share held by MacAndrews & Forbes.
Q. There is writing at the bottom that reads -- I think I am reading this correctly -- "Will - other holding company obligations."
Do you see that writing?
A. I do.
Q. Is that your writing?
A. I don't believe so.
Q. Do you know whose it is?
A. No.
Q. On the final page of the document which is transaction pricing calculations,

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016358

Page 296

we have first deal assumptions at the top and it, below the price per Laser share the exchange ratio of .745. That again is what you proposed in your call on February 19, 1998, right?
A. That is correct.
Q. Then there are some basic debt assumptions there, correct? One of them is $500 million?
A. There is the line, debt assumption, assumed face amount -- face value, $500 million."
Q. That is debt of the Coleman Company, Inc., correct?
A. It doesn't say that here but I assume that is correct.
Q. You can set that -- you can set this document aside for right now. You can hand it back to me. Thank you.
Would you agree with me that from February 19 through the execution of the documents on February 28 things moved pretty quickly?
A. I would -- I guess I would characterize it differently. I think things moved as they would in a normal transaction of this size.

Page 297

Q. It would be normal in a transaction of this size -- let me step back.
On February 20 did you have a deal -- withdrawn.
On February 19 after you spoke to Mr. Kitts, did you have a deal?
A. Sometime after I spoke to Mr. Kitts we had a rough deal. I don't know when he came back to me and acknowledged what we had.
Q. After you received the February 20, 1998 document that we just went through that was MS 340 did you have a deal?
A. No, because -- I don't think we had a deal. I think we were clearly in the ballpark because the economic value of that transaction was starting to be close to what we were talking about but I don't think we had a final deal at that point in time because I know it changed after that.
Q. You went to -- am I correct that you were in Aspen between February 19 and

Page 298

February 22 skiing, is that correct, looking at your calendar?
A. February 19?
Q. Through the 22nd.
A. I left on the night of Thursday, the 19th, and spent the weekend in Aspen.
Q. Did you do any negotiations over the weekend in Aspen about this transaction with Sunbeam?
A. I may well have.
Q. Do you have any specific recollection of doing so such that you could tell that to the jury under oath?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Object to the form of the question.
THE WITNESS: Yes. I think I recall having discussions with Kitts before and after taking off from -- taking off on Thursday evening and I think they continued into Friday and they may have continued all weekend. I don't specifically recall them continuing all weekend but I certainly recall having a discussion or discussions with Kitts on Thursday afternoon, evening, and I believe it was continuing on into Friday.

Page 299

BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. You believe you did have continuing discussions with Mr. Kitts over the weekend?
A. Certainly. I specifically remember discussions on Thursday and I think they continued.
Q. Was there any further exchange of documents in this period while you were in Aspen?
A. Not that I recall.
Q. You returned from Aspen I think on February 22 according to your calendar?
A. It looks like Sunday night, the 22nd, yes.
Q. Then on the 23rd it appears that there were a series of meetings. Is that consistent with your recollection of events?
A. My calendar suggests there was a meeting with Morgan Stanley on the 23rd at 5:45. That also is mentioned in the chronology prepared by Wachtell, Lipton.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016359

Page 300

Apparently on the 23rd there was a meeting at some point in time during the day between Nesbitt, Page, Levin, Shapiro, Duffy and Geller with representatives of, it looks like, Morgan Stanley to conduct due diligence.

Later that day there were meetings with -- I met with, it looks like, the First Boston people and then that evening there was a meeting at Morgan Stanley which included Nesbitt, Shapiro, Levin, Page, Maher, Duffy, Steven Isko and Fannin and Kersh, Kitts, Stynes, Fuchs, Chang and Goudis at Morgan Stanley where Sunbeam made a presentation regarding its business and its outlook.

Q. Could I ask you to focus on the first meeting on February 23? You are not shown as attending the first meeting which is identified in MS 75 which you read a moment ago.

Do you see that meeting?

A. On the 23rd?

Q. Yes, sir.

A. I do.

Page 301

Q. There is a specific reference to conduct due diligence. Do you see that?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you know what due diligence was done at this meeting on February 23, 1998?

A. I think this meeting was Morgan Stanley's due diligence regarding Sunbeam.

Q. Regarding Sunbeam or regarding Coleman?

A. Regarding Coleman, excuse me.

Q. So then you don't attend this meeting, right? You are not shown as being there.

A. I didn't attend it, nor does my calendar suggest that I did.

Q. Later in the day you have -- you have a meeting with, it looks like, CSFB personnel; is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. What was the subject matter of that meeting on February 23, 1998 among CSFB personnel and yourself?

A. I can only -- I don't recall specifically. I would think it was to discuss the status of the transaction.

Page 302

Q. When you are discussing -- withdrawn.

Can you recall anything specific about the status of the transaction that you discussed?

A. No.

Q. Then you attend this meeting on February 23 in the evening; is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Your calendar refers to a 5:45 p.m. meeting at Morgan Stanley and that is, for the record, on MS 86.

Is that the meeting you attended?

A. Yes. I don't know if it is at 5:30. That is what my calendar says. 5:45.

Q. You said there -- earlier you told me there was a presentation at that meeting by Mr. Fannin and Mr. Kersh. Do you recall that?

A. Yes.

Q. They presented a -- strike that. What did -- what did Mr. Fannin present?

Page 303

A. I don't recall. Fannin was there. I don't think he was actually making the presentation. I think Kersh as I recall did a great bulk of the presentation.

Q. Did Mr. -- in Mr. Kersh's presentation did he use some form of projection device so that people could follow along with the discussion or was it just an oral presentation?

A. There was a projector and there was -- I think everybody had copies of the slides.

Q. A deck of the materials?

A. I believe so, yes.

Q. Let me show you what has been marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 84. Let me see that one back. I gave you multiple copies on top of it. I want to make sure I gave you the right one.

I have given you now Morgan Stanley 84. Did you have a copy of the -- of MS 84 during Mr. Kersh's presentation?

A. I think so.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0016360

Page 304

Q. Did you stay for the entire presentation?
A. I believe so.
Q. Looking at MS 84, if you will turn to the -- turn to page -- I want to give you this -- let me see the easiest way to read these numbers for you.
There are CPH numbers on it beginning with CPH1324756. Do you see that number on the first page? I will refer to the last two digits to help us along.
A. Okay.
Q. Turn to the page marked 59.
A. Okay.
Q. You will see some writing there, explore licensing opportunities. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you recognize the handwriting?
A. I do not.
Q. Did you make any notes on the copy of the deck that you had?
A. Not that I recall.
Q. There is, if you will turn to page -- turn to page 71. Are you there?

Page 305

A. No.
I am.
Q. There is next to the figure, net sales, do you see the handwriting, Jan, J-A-N, slow and then February below the January?
A. It says Feb, Jan.
Q. Did Mr. Kersh comment on net sales in January during his presentation?
A. Not that I recall.
Q. Did he comment on February sales?
A. Not that I recall.
Q. Did anyone ask any questions about January or February sales?
A. Not that I recall. I think there was discussion about the first quarter and the year.
Q. The first quarter. What was the discussion -- was this a discussion between Mr. Kersh and representatives of MacAndrews & Forbes?
A. Well, Mr. Kersh was at the -- sitting at the head table making the presentation so it was with Mr. Kersh and everybody else in the room effectively.

Page 306

Those discussions were about the ability of the company to make its forecast which is in the long range strategic plan here, sales and EPS in 1998, specifically, and going on beyond that, and my recollection is that Mr. Kersh in no uncertain terms said that not only was he going to make "what the Street's forecast was," but they were going to make their budget in the first quarter and for the year.
Q. Did Mr. -- this was a statement that Mr. Kersh made for the entire year in February of 1998, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. He was projecting forward at that point approximately ten months and a week or so, right?
A. He was projecting they were going to do better than their budget.
Q. He was projecting forward as I said for ten months and about a week as of this time; is that right?
A. Well, he was projecting forward for about a month and he was projecting forward for ten months and a few days.

Page 307

Q. Then the projections for the year 1999, those were projections not only for the balance of 1998 but for another 12 months in 1999, right?
A. Yes.
Q. Then the projections for 2000, those were projections for two years and at least ten months, correct?
A. Well, 2000 were projections that were for the period starting in the beginning of 2000 so it wasn't -- it was not projections for two years and two months.
Q. Perhaps I misspoke in the way I asked the question. I think we both agree it was a projection for the year 2000, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. The year 2000 was still a year and ten months away, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. There is writing at the bottom under earnings per share where one wrote below 220 for 1998, $1.99.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0163110

Page 308

Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you recall that discussion?
A. You will note there is a little ST next to it which I believe indicates that that is the Street estimate or the I/B/E/S or whatever for the company.
Q. Did Morgan Stanley speak at the meeting on February 23 that -- in the evening other than courtesies and pleasantries?
A. Well, I think Morgan Stanley introduced Kersh who introduced the subject, was involved in the process. There were discussions about where we were going. There were discussions about questions we had and they were certainly involved in the process, yes.
Q. I didn't ask you whether they were involved in the process. That is a different question. I want you to focus on perhaps a more limited --
A. Did they address questions? The answer is, yes.
Q. What questions was Morgan Stanley asked, and please tell me who was asked and who responded if you can.

Page 309

A. I think Morgan Stanley was asked questions primarily about completing the due diligence.
Q. The due diligence of Coleman?
A. The due diligence of Sunbeam and Coleman as to the process.
Q. As to what?
A. As to the process.
Q. The process of how they were going to complete due diligence?
A. Yes.
Q. What due diligence did -- were you -- excuse me.
Who spoke on behalf of Morgan Stanley?
A. My recollection is that I think it was Stynes primarily.
Q. What did he say?
A. He was sort of the team leader.
Q. What did Mr. Stynes say?
A. I don't recall specifically.
Q. Who asked the question of Mr. Stynes?

Page 310

A. I don't recall. I don't recall who asked any questions.
Q. Other than this question to Mr. Stynes do you recall any other questions asked of anyone on behalf of -- withdrawn.
Other than this question addressed to Mr. Stynes do you recall any other questions addressed to Morgan Stanley?
A. Not specifically, no.
Q. Do you recall any specific question ever asked of Morgan Stanley at the February 23 meeting whether Sunbeam would meet its net sales objectives for the first quarter of 1998?
A. No.
Q. Do you recall any question asked of Morgan Stanley at the February 23rd meeting whether Sunbeam would meet its earnings per share estimates for the first quarter of 1998?
A. What was -- go back one question.
Q. What -- do you recall any question asked of Morgan Stanley at the

Page 311

February 23 meeting whether Sunbeam would meets its earnings per share estimates for the first quarter of 1998?
MR. MARKOWSKI: I think he asked for the prior question.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. Do you recall any specific question ever asked of Morgan Stanley at the February 23 meeting whether Sunbeam would meet its net sales objectives for the first quarter of 1998?
A. No. I said, no. No to the second question also.
Q. Okay.
Did anyone ask Morgan Stanley at the meeting whether Sunbeam would meet its long term strategic plan net sales goals for 1998?
A. No.
Q. Did -- I would ask you.
A. I don't recall anybody asking.
Q. I am sorry. I didn't mean to interrupt you.
Did anyone at the February 23 meeting ask anyone at Morgan Stanley

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0163362

Page 312

whether Sunbeam would meet its long range strategic plan net sales goals for 1999?
A. Not that I recall.
Q. The same question for the year 2000.
A. Not that I recall.
Q. With regard to earnings per share, did anyone ask Morgan Stanley at the meeting whether Sunbeam would meet its earnings per share projection for 1998 of $2.20 as set forth in this document?
A. Not that I recall.
Q. I would ask you the same question for the periods 1999 and 2000 which have the respective earning per share figures of $2.75 and $3.30.
A. Not that I recall.
Q. Did anyone ask -- did anyone ask at the February 23rd meeting whether Sunbeam had interim financial statements for the month of January 1998?
A. Not that I recall.
Q. Did anyone at the February 23 meeting ask Sunbeam to provide MacAndrews & Forbes copies of their interim financial statements for January 1998?

Page 313

A. Not that I recall.
Q. As part of the -- there is a discussion on page CPH, and then the last two digits, 60. If you would turn there please?
A. Okay.
Q. In the left-hand margin -- by the way, this handwriting has been previously identified to be, at least in the belief of one person, Mr. Jerry Levin's handwriting.
Are you familiar with Mr. Levin's handwriting?
A. No, I am not.
Q. Anyway, we will set that issue aside.
Turn to the left-hand column on that page where it is written, dumped 10 million blankets, Japan and China fourth Q.
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you recall Mr. Kersh or anyone else discussing Sunbeam dumping 10 million blankets in Japan and China in the fourth quarter?

Page 314

A. I don't.
Q. Do you recall any discussion at all about blankets in China and Japan?
A. I remember there was a discussion about blankets and some sales but I don't remember what the substance of it was.
Q. Did anyone at the meeting after the presentation or even during the presentation ask Mr. Kersh when Sunbeam planned to file its annual report on form 10-K with the Securities and Exchange Commission for the year ending 1997?
A. I don't remember somebody specifically asking that but I am sure at some point in time somebody asked that question or maybe I -- or we knew the answer to it.
Q. You did know they were going to file one, that is, Sunbeam?
A. Well, of course.
Q. On page CPH ending with the two digits, 65, would you please turn to that page?
A. Okay.
Q. Under bullet -- above bullet number 1 is the heading Implemented No Return Policy. Do you see that?

Page 315

A. I am not sure that is what it says. It looks like something about no return policy.
Q. Was there a discussion of no return policy at this meeting on February 23?
A. I don't recall.
Q. At any point during the February 23 meeting did any representative of MacAndrews & Forbes ask for a list, whether it be oral or in writing, of Sunbeam's current customers?
A. Yes. I think there was a request for current customers. I don't remember who made it and I don't know whether it was made at this meeting or some later date but I think there was a request for customers.
There were requests for lots of information at this meeting, typical types of information, and that would be the typical type of information that people would request.
I don't specifically remember

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0163363

Page 316

anybody asking the question but --
Q. As you sit here today you don't have a specific recollection of ever receiving a customer list, do you?
A. I think we did receive a customer list. I don't specifically remember it but I think we did.
Q. Did you ask -- at the -- strike that.
At the February 23 meeting did anyone from MacAndrews & Forbes ask Mr. Kersh where Sunbeam stood on sales for the first quarter of 1998 versus where they were a year earlier, first quarter 1997?
A. There was a substantial amount of discussion about the first quarter, and, as I recall, Kersh basically said that he was going to make the goal.
You asked me whether somebody from MacAndrews & Forbes. I loosely include in that people from Coleman also.
Q. I am including Coleman in that. I think we are both on the same page.
A. Okay, and First Boston also.
Q. I was including First Boston, any representative on behalf of MacAndrews & Forbes.

Page 317

A. Okay.
Q. Was there any discussion at the February 23 meeting of Sunbeam's pattern of sales orders during quarters?
A. Not that I recall.
Q. I am going to show you now a series of exhibits and I just want to see if any of the documents have your handwriting on them. There is no specific questions other than that.
Unfortunately this is a ritual we have to go through because we can't figure out whose these are.
Do you want to hand me back 84, Mr. Maher, and we will get that out of your way? Thank you very much.
First I am going to hand to you MS 181. These are copies of the deck that you looked at.
My only question is whether you can identify any of the handwriting on the document.
A. Is it the same all the way

Page 318

through the document?
Q. The handwriting is consistent.
A. I will just look at one. No.
Q. Thank you very much.
I am handing you now MS 182 and ask you to look at the handwriting on that, please, and tell me if you can identify it, any of it?
A. No.
Q. You can hand that back to me. Thank you.
I am now going to hand to you MS 183. There may be two sets of handwriting on that, one on the cover page and one on the inside.
I would like you to take a look at it.
A. No.
Q. I hand you now what has been marked as Morgan Stanley 184. On the cover page you will see Black & Decker written on it and then there is some writing, restructuring charge, at the top and additional writing on the interior of the document.

Page 319

A. No.
Q. Lastly, I show you what has been marked as MS 185 which has handwriting, sales 96, and then, eliminated 40 to 50, and then there is some other writing on the inside of the document at various places.
A. No.
Q. Did you keep your copy of MS 84 which is the copy that you looked at first or did you leave it behind at the meeting?
A. I don't know. You said it is a copy that I looked at first.
Q. In the deposition?
A. Not the specific copy that I -- that is not mine.
Q. I am not suggesting that it was. What I meant is you said you did have a copy of the deck at the presentation, not that that was yours?
A. It would be pretty typical of me just to leave it.
Q. Let me show you now what -- strike that.
Were there any other documents handed out at the meeting or available at the meeting of February 23?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016364

Page 320

A. For some reason I think there was a Morgan Stanley presentation on -- either on Sunbeam or the combined entity. I just remember something. I don't know whether it was at that meeting or a later meeting or an earlier meeting.
Q. Did you see it in your deposition preparation?
A. I don't recall seeing it, no.
Q. Did you keep a copy of the document from Morgan Stanley?
A. I doubt it.
Q. According to the chronology, we will go back to MS 75, between February 24 and the 27th, 1998, Coleman and Sunbeam and their respective advisers negotiated the structure of the transaction, conducted due diligence and drafted the necessary documentation. Do you see that?
A. I do.
Q. Is that an accurate statement of what happened during that period?
A. I think that is an accurate statement.

Page 321

Q. Did you -- I want to focus on the negotiation of the structure first.
Was that your responsibility to negotiate structure?
A. Probably, yes.
Q. And working with CSFB?
A. I don't know that they were overly involved in it.
Q. In terms of structure who was your counterpart on the other side of the negotiations?
A. Kitts and Stynes at various times were involved so the two of them.
Q. Were the lawyers on each side of the transaction involved in negotiating the structure?
A. I don't think directly, no.
Q. Were they simply drafting the documentation according to the structure that you negotiated?
A. Yes, although I am sure -- I am sure from my standpoint that I was getting input as to things that might or might not work.
Q. As an example -- I am not

Page 322

suggesting this happened right this way.
If you came up with a structure you would be able, you would pose that structure to your attorneys and they might tell you, yes, you can do it that way or, no, we can't, here is an alternative, that type of dialogue?
A. Yes, exactly.
Q. Wachtell, Lipton was the attorneys that you used, correct?
A. That's correct.
Q. Then on the Sunbeam side they -- their attorneys were Skadden, Arps?
A. Yes.
Q. You have worked with Skadden, Arps before, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Let's talk about the drafting the documentation. I think you probably answered this.
The documents, that is the merger agreements and the exhibits and the schedules that go with it, right?
A. I assume so, yes.
Q. That was drafted by the

Page 323

attorneys, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you review the documentation before, when it was finalized?
A. I don't recall specifically but "review" for me would be a two-page summary of what the important issues are of the document. I wouldn't read it specifically.
Q. As you sit here today your testimony to the jury is that you didn't read the final documentation before it was executed by the officers of the companies?
A. That's correct.
Q. You left that to others to do?
A. Yes.
Q. Let's focus on the other category of events that took place between February 24 and 27. That is conducting due diligence.
Let me ask you first to focus on due diligence by MacAndrews & Forbes.
A. Collectively?
Q. Collectively, yes; obviously on your side of the table, if you will.
A. Which would include Wachtell,

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016395

Page 324

Lipton.
Q. It is going to include Wachtell, Lipton and also Credit Suisse First Boston on your side and your accountants.
Let's start with the due diligence kind of in general terms and let me ask you whether there was a person on behalf of MacAndrews & Forbes that had overall responsibility for this due diligence that was conducted between February 24 and February 27, 1998.
A. I would say the laboring oar was, from a business standpoint, was Jerry Levin and Joe Page and their accountants.
Obviously from a legal standpoint it was Wachtell, Lipton and First Boston was involved with both the legal and financial, business due diligence.
Q. Did you have overall responsibility for monitoring the due diligence?
A. No.
Q. Did you have overall responsibility -- I will use a different term -- coordinating the due diligence?

Page 325

A. No.
Q. Mr. Gittis testified in an earlier deposition that due diligence did "fall within the ambit of Maher."
Is that an accurate statement in your view?
MR. MARKOWSKI: I object to the form of the question.
THE WITNESS: Did it fall in the what?
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. I didn't hear you.
A. Could you ask the question again?
Q. Sure.
Mr. Gittis who was deposed on April 21, 1999 in the Coleman Company shareholder litigation was deposed and was asked the following questions. I am referring to page 9, line 25:
"Q. In connection with the agreement by MacAndrews to sell its interests did MacAndrews conduct a due diligence investigation of Sunbeam's operations?
"A. Oh, sure, they did.

Page 326

"Q. Do you know who the people at MacAndrews were who were responsible for performing that investigation?
"A. It fell within the ambit of Jim Maher who was the president of MacAndrews."
That is what Mr. Gittis said.
Is that an accurate statement?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Object to the form of the question.
THE WITNESS: I think -- do you want to ask the question again?
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. Is that an accurate description of -- by Mr. Gittis?
A. It is a description. I wouldn't -- it is not the way I would describe it.
It is also a question -- he is answering a question about MacAndrews. I don't know whether he is answering for MacAndrews in the sense that we have been talking about or just MacAndrews.
Excuse me a second.
MR. MARKOWSKI: Off the film for a phone call.

Page 327

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Going off the record.
The time is 12:00 p.m.
(Recess)
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are back on the record. The time is 12:12.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. Mr. Maher, did you give any instructions to Credit Suisse First Boston as to what due diligence they should do in this period between February 24 and February 27, 1998?
A. Other than to do -- none that I recall specifically other than to do their normal due diligence that they would conduct in a transaction like this.
Q. Did you give any instructions to your law firm, Wachtell, Lipton as to what due diligence they should do in this period between February 24 through February 27, 1998?
A. Nothing that I recall specifically; the normal drill.
Q. Did you give your, Coleman's,

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016366

Page 328

accounting firm -- did you give Coleman's accounting firm, Ernst & Young, any instructions as to the accounting due diligence they should?
A. No. I am sure Page did. I wouldn't have.
Q. With regard to -- with regard to MacAndrews & Forbes internally now excluding your outside advisers was there any person inside MacAndrews & Forbes who was tasked with doing any form of due diligence?
A. I think Will was doing due diligence working with all of the parties, I believe. Will Nesbitt.
Q. Right. I knew who you were talking about.
To your knowledge did any of the group that you have described as conducting the due diligence, CSFB, Wachtell, Lipton, Mr. Nesbitt and the accounting firm of Ernst & Young, did they during this period of due diligence, February 24 through February 27, did they conduct any interviews of any Sunbeam employees about

Page 329

Sunbeam's financial performance in the first quarter of 1998?
A. I don't know.
Q. Again, this same group of people?
A. Other than the interviews that occurred at the meeting that took place at Morgan Stanley on the 23rd, there was a pretty thorough vetting of Sunbeam's performance at that meeting with the management of Sunbeam.
Q. Anything other than the February 23 meeting that you are aware of?
A. No.
Q. Are you aware of any of the -- your due diligence team interviewing Sunbeam middle management during the due diligence period?
A. I believe that Levin and Page, Shapiro made a number of visitis to different locations.
I can't tell you where they went or what they did but I would imagine in the course of that they talked to a number of middle managers.
Q. Recognizing --

Page 330

A. At Sunbeam.
Q. You weren't on these trips, correct?
A. No.
Q. As you sit here today while you believe they interviewed certain Sunbeam facilities you don't know such that you could tell the jury that they actually did interview middle management people, is that fair?
A. That's fair.
Q. Did anyone on the MacAndrews & Forbes' due diligence team interview Sunbeam customers, for example, like a Wal-Mart or a Sears or whatever their largest customers were?
A. If that were done that would have been Jerry.
Q. You are not aware of it being done as you sit here?
A. I have a vague recollection that somebody talked to some of their customers.
The big customers of Sunbeam were big customers of Coleman and in some cases Revlon so my recollection is there were some discussions. I just don't know.

Page 331

Q. You didn't conduct any discussions?
A. I didn't, no.
Q. Did anyone on behalf of the MacAndrews & Forbes' due diligence team interview analysts about Sunbeam?
A. I would be surprised. No.
MR. MARKOWSKI: You are focusing on this February 24 to 27 time period?
MR. BEMIS: Yes, sir. I am focusing on the period February 24 through February 27 as set forth in MS 75.
THE WITNESS: The only one I would think that would have been involved, it would be highly unusual to involve an analyst since this was a public company.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. Did anyone on the MacAndrews & Forbes' due diligence team interview Arthur Andersen during this period of due diligence, February 24 through the 27th?
A. You are talking about the broad

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016367

Page 332

team?
Q. The whole broad team.
A. I don't know. I do think there were discussions between our accountants and their accountants.
Q. As you sit here today you don't know the results of those discussions, correct?
A. I don't recall them, no.
Q. During the due diligence period we have been discussing, February 24 through the 27th, did anyone to your knowledge on the MacAndrews due diligence team go back and research analyst reports about Sunbeam that pre-dated this time period, February 24 through the 27th?
A. I think Will read through a lot of the research reports. We had a package of research reports early on that predates this period which is when -- as we said, work started in December. It continued after the discussions started in January so to suggest that it is just this narrow -- this three-day period I think is -- I don't know whether he looked at research reports during this three-day period but he certainly looked at research reports.

Page 333

Q. If Mr. Nesbitt -- Mr. Nesbitt would be the one who knows what he looked at?
A. Yes, he would.
Q. Did you personally undertake to review any research reports about Sunbeam before September -- excuse me -- February 27, 1998, you, personally?
A. I think I read a few of the research reports about Sunbeam.
Q. Do you recall whose that you read?
A. I think -- I think it was First Boston. I don't recall.
Q. There was a First Boston report identified in one of the First Boston documents. I think it is dated, I want to say, November 1 of 1997 but I could be mistaken.
Is that the one you are referring to?
A. I am not sure.
Q. Did First Boston -- strike that.

Page 334

Did Credit Suisse First Boston have an analyst that was covering Sunbeam?
A. Well, I assume so because I think there was a research report.
Q. I could be wrong about this but I understood that -- how is it announced that they are going to institute coverage on a company, for example, and in addition to that there can be research reports that are done that are not part of announced coverage. Am I correct in that or do I have it wrong?
A. If there is a research report written, I don't know who would have written it except somebody who was covering the company.
Q. Was Credit Suisse First Boston researching Sunbeam during this period leading up to February 27, 1998 when the due diligence was going on?
A. I frankly don't recall whether they had analysts out. I think I said that a number of times.
Q. During the due diligence period of February 24 through the 27th as referenced in MS 75 did Morgan Stanley provide to anyone on the MacAndrews due diligence team any documents that you know of?

Page 335

A. I think Morgan Stanley presented, as I said before, it may have occurred and may have been at their office or before or after that there was a presentation on Sunbeam. I don't have it in front of me but I am pretty sure there was a document that they presented that was a, for lack of a better term, a selling document on Sunbeam.
Q. Let me show you -- let me show you what I think the document is you are referring to and you can tell me if it is or is not.
I will hand you what has been marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 186. Do you have that document in front of you?
A. 186, yes.
Q. Is this the document you are referring to?
A. Let me take a look.
MR. MARKOWSKI: This particular

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016368

Page 336

version has some handwriting in it.
MR. BEMIS: I am sure.
MR. MARKOWSKI: You are excluding that?
MR. BEMIS: I am excluding any handwriting on it. I can't guarantee you -- there is handwriting on the front too. I think I know whose it is. Another day, another issue.
THE WITNESS: Yes, this is the one I was talking about.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. Is any of the handwriting in this document yours?
A. No. Well, I haven't gone through it completely. Is it all the same?
Q. I don't want to try to testify about what it is. That would not be proper for me to do so.
Let me --
A. On the earlier documents you showed me, you said it was on the front page, it was --
Q. This one I couldn't tell you that with certainty.

Page 337

Look at page CPH1324814.
A. Stated growth objectives?
Q. Yes, yes.
A. I was right on that page.
Q. There is some handwriting on the right-hand side that reads, as I read it, how much driven by restructuring charges, savings through income.
Do you see that?
A. How much is driven by restructuring charges, restructuring charges, savings through income.
Q. Is that your writing?
A. No.
Q. Do you know whose it is?
A. I do not.
Q. Do you have any thought on whose it is?
A. No.
Q. You had this -- is this the document that you believe was available at the February 23 meeting?
A. Yes; either at that meeting -- they may have presented it at that meeting, "they" being Morgan Stanley.

Page 338

Q. I think you told me earlier you had no recollection of Morgan Stanley making any presentation, correct?
A. No. I don't.
Q. Did you ask anyone on the MacAndrews & Forbes' due diligence team to conduct any review of MS 186 during the due diligence period of February 24 through the 27th, 1998 as reflected in MS 75?
A. Did I ask somebody specifically to?
Q. Yes.
A. Not that I recall.
Q. Did anyone do it even if they did it on their own and without instruction?
A. I believe that everybody who was at that meeting read through this and in some shape or form was impacted by it.
Q. Did someone tell you that -- did the people on the due diligence team tell you that they read through it and were impacted by it or are you just making that as an assumption?
A. I don't remember somebody specifically saying they were -- that they read through this but --

Page 339

Q. Okay.
Did you -- you worked on -- you worked on an outline of the -- withdrawn.
You did have, after the results of the -- your due diligence team's investigation of Sunbeam, you had sufficient information that you elected to proceed with the execution of merger documents, correct?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Can I have the question back please?
MR. BEMIS: I will re -- I will withdraw and ask another question.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. Did you have after you completed the results of your due diligence investigation by this team we have identified during the period February 24 through the 27th of 1998 enough information that you elected to proceed with the execution of the merger documents.
MR. MARKOWSKI: I am going to object the form. You are referring to Mr. Maher proceeding with the execution of the documents.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016369

Page 340

MR. BEMIS: I am referring to MacAndrews & Forbes.
MR. MARKOWSKI: Okay.
THE WITNESS: I am not sure MacAndrews & Forbes executed the merger agreement either.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. MacAndrews & Forbes through its holding companies did execute the merger documents or through --
A. Coleman did execute.
Q. So did CLN?
A. As part of -- not the merger agreement but --
Q. Yes, they did do one of the merger agreements. There is two merger agreements.
MR. MARKOWSKI: What is the question?
MR. BEMIS: We have lost track. Do you want me to restate the question for you?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Rephrase or restate it.

Page 341

BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. After you had completed the results of your due diligence investigation that was conducted by this team between February 24 and 27 did you have enough information to enter into the merger agreements that were signed as of February 28, 1998?
MR. MARKOWSKI: I am going to object to the form of the question. It is misleading. Mr. Maher made it clear that the due diligence period wasn't limited to the 24th through the 27th.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. You can answer.
A. I don't know how quite to answer it because it is sort of -- you are asking about me. I didn't enter into the merger agreements.
Q. I am referring you to in the context of MacAndrews & Forbes. I know you didn't sign the documents.
A. The company Coleman entered into an agreement that provided them with certain protections, certain further disclosures, certain further information that was forthcoming, that would be forthcoming with the agreement that they felt at that point in time was appropriate to enter into.

Page 342

Q. CLN Holdings signed such an agreement as well as the Coleman Company, right?
A. You told me that a few minutes ago. They signed an agreement. I am sure. I don't remember what the agreement was.
Q. Both CLN Holdings?
A. They would have been similar.
Q. Similar in the sense that the parties entered into agreements that provided them with certain protections, as you put it, certain further disclosures and certain further information that was to be forthcoming after the agreements were signed, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Indeed those are called like representations and warranties, aren't they?
A. Yes.

Page 343

Q. You negotiate those between the parties?
A. Yes.
Q. And then you reduce them to writing in the contracts?
A. That's right.
Q. The contracts -- they did, in your case there were no other warranties and representations other than what the parties specifically sat down and agreed to?
MR. MARKOWSKI: I object to the form of the question. Mr. Maher said he never read the final versions of the agreement.
THE WITNESS: I didn't read the final version of the agreement.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. You read the summaries of the agreements, right, sir?
A. What is your question?
Q. Sir, you -- my question was the contracts that were executed in this case contained representations and warranties by the parties, correct?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016370

Page 344

A. Yes.
Q. They were representations by Sunbeam on the one hand, right?
A. I believe so.
Q. And there were representations by Coleman in one of the documents, correct?
A. I believe so.
Q. And representations by CLN Holdings, one the parties to the contract, in the first step of the merger, right?
A. Different, but, yes.
Q. In your, those representations and warranties were all placed in writing after the parties completed their negotiations, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And in customary fashion the parties in those agreements agreed there were no other representations and warranties other than set forth in the definitive documents that they signed?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Object to the lack of foundation.
THE WITNESS: I don't know that for a fact. If it says it, if you want to tell me that it says it, then it says it.

Page 345

BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. You would agree with me if it says that, right?
A. Yes.
Q. If the merger agreements say there are no other warranties and representations other than set forth in those documents you would agree that is an accurate statement?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Objection.
THE WITNESS: Yes.
MR. BEMIS: You will be laughing a different tune later.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. Hand that document back to me. Let's go forward from February 27, 1998.
You told us that you did appear at the board meeting of the Coleman Company, correct?
A. That's correct.
Q. You made a presentation at that time?

Page 346

A. I think I told the board about the history of the negotiations.
Q. In addition to you speaking Mr. Levin spoke, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And then you had your representatives from CSFB speak at the meeting, correct?
A. I didn't. It wasn't my meeting. They spoke.
Q. MacAndrews & Forbes?
A. Coleman meeting.
Q. Withdrawn.
Let's leave it that CSFB spoke at the meeting on behalf of the transaction, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. They expressed an opinion, I think, as you put it with appropriate qualifying language that the transaction was fair to Coleman's public shareholders?
A. From a financial point of view, yes.
Q. Yes. Thank you.
Following the meeting of the

Page 347

Coleman board, at the conclusion of the Coleman board meeting on February 27 the transaction with Sunbeam was approved by the Coleman board, correct?
A. Well, there were two meetings. There was one on the 25th and one on the 27th.
Q. Just the 27th now.
A. Yes.
Q. The 27th -- the February 27th meeting is the one where the transaction was actually voted upon?
A. Yes.
Q. I forgot one person who spoke at the meeting. There was also lawyers for Coleman from Wachtell, Lipton, Anna Emmerich, in particular, who spoke to the board as well?
A. At one or both of those meetings, yes.
Q. Each one -- as I understand it each of the board members voted in favor of the transaction; is that correct?
A. I don't recall but I assume that is correct.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016371

Q. To your knowledge were any of the board members told how to vote on the transaction?
A. By whom?
Q. By anybody.
A. They may have been told what they could take into consideration in voting which I guess is sort of how to vote by the lawyers.
Q. My question was probably a little bit different. Maybe it wasn't clear enough.
Did anyone on the MacAndrews & Forbes side of the transaction tell the Coleman board members how they had to vote on the transaction?
MR. MARKOWSKI: You mean vote yes or no?
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. Yes; yes or no.
A. Not to my knowledge.
Q. The Coleman board members who -- when -- you told us earlier that Morgan Stanley didn't make any presentation to the board members, correct?

A. Not that I am aware of other than the presentations that were given to the representatives of the company, First Boston, the Coleman management team, the MacAndrews & Forbes people.
I am sure that a copy of that -- so you have a director Page, not Page but Levin, who certainly had a copy of that, had been presented that information.
Q. Other than Mr. Levin is there any other Coleman board member that you are aware of that even had any knowledge of a potential transaction between Coleman and Sunbeam before the board meeting on February 25, 1998?
A. Sure.
Q. Who?
A. Perelman, Slovin, was Gittis a director? I don't know if he is a director or not. Drapkin, yes. Those three at a minimum.
Q. Let me ask you to go forward from the approval of the merger agreements. They were, as the record will show, eventually signed as of -- they were signed on February 28, as of February 27.

I want to go forward from that date with you.
After February 28 did you have, up until the time of closing which I believe is March 30, 1998, did you, Mr. Maher, have any communications with anyone at Morgan Stanley about Sunbeam-Coleman?
A. Not that I recall.
Q. Are you aware of Mr. -- are you aware of Mr. Levin having any communications with anyone at Morgan Stanley between February 28, 1998 and the closing on March 30, 1998?
A. No.
Q. Mr. Perelman?
A. Not that I am aware of.
Q. Mr. Page?
A. Not that I am aware of.
Q. Mr. Nesbitt?
A. Not that I am aware of.
Q. Are you aware of anyone at Credit Suisse First Boston having any communications with anyone at Morgan Stanley about the Sunbeam transaction between February 28 and March 30, 1998?

A. Not that I am aware of.
Q. After March -- strike that.
After February 28 and continuing up to the closing which is again March 30, 1998 did MacAndrews & Forbes' due diligence team do any further due diligence on Sunbeam?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Would you read the question back for me please?
(Record read)
THE WITNESS: Other than -- it is my understanding that during that period of time I think there was a number of meetings that involved, I believe, Page and Levin in terms of what the future operations of the company are, would be and how the company was going to be operated. I don't know whether that qualifies for further due diligence under your definition or not but I think those discussions, ongoing discussions, were taking place as to synergies and putting the businesses together and what the impact may be. I think that qualifies.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016372

Page 352

BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. Anything other than that?
A. Not that I am aware of.
MR. BEMIS: Why don't we change the tape?
THE WITNESS: I am sorry. After Sunbeam -- do you -- what was the question again, between what?
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. February 28, 1998 and March 30, 1998, the closing.
A. I think after Sunbeam put out its press release I believe that Levin spoke with Kersh about the business and what the press release meant.
That is my understanding.
MR. BEMIS: Why don't we change the tape here and we will pick up with that?
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: The time is 12:44 and this completes tape number two.
(Recess)

Page 353

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are back on the record. This begins tape number three, volume two. The time is 12:45.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. Let me first ask you to identify the press release you are referring to and then I will ask you a couple of followup questions.
I will show you what has been marked as MS 39 which is a copy of a March 19 press release.
I am handing you what has been previously marked as MS 39 on Sunbeam stationery.
I will hand a copy to your counsel.
Do you have MS 39 in front of you?
A. I do.
Q. You referred a moment ago in your testimony to a press release.
Is MS 39 the press release you were referring to?
A. It is.
Q. As I understand your testimony,

Page 354

Mr. Levin, in your understanding, spoke to Mr. Kersh following the issuance by Sunbeam of the March 19, 1998 press release; is that correct?
A. That is my understanding, yes.
Q. How did you reach that understanding?
A. I think -- my recollection is that at the time after this announcement was made there was some questions posed by the press release as to whether they were going to make the quarter or not and it seemed, I believe, the determination was made to have Jerry Levin talk to Kersh about what exactly this meant.
Q. First of all, you didn't speak to Mr. Kersh, right?
A. I did not.
Q. Did Mr. Levin to your personal knowledge speak to Mr. Kersh?
A. Personal knowledge? What does that mean?
Q. You were present when Mr. Kersh and Mr. Levin spoke, if they did speak?
A. No.

Page 355

Q. Did someone tell you that Mr. Levin spoke to Mr. Kersh?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Did you see a document where Mr. Levin said I spoke to Mr. Kersh?
A. No.
Q. Did someone tell you that Mr. Levin spoke?
A. That is my recollection. There was a conversation but I don't recall where that recollection comes from.
Q. I take it then you don't recall what Mr. -- because you weren't -- strike that.
So the jury is clear, you weren't present -- you were not present at the conversation with Mr. Kersh assuming it occurred, right?
A. That's correct.
Q. You don't know how you even learned that such a conversation, if it took place, took place, correct?
A. That's correct.
Q. You don't have any notes that you have ever seen about this conversation if it occurred, do you?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0163373

Page 356

A. No.
Q. Did you hear from some source what Mr. Kersh said to Mr. Levin?
A. It is my understanding that he was reassuring as to the prospects of the company.
Q. Did someone -- did you hear from some source what Mr. Kersh said to Mr. Levin?
A. No.
Q. Did you ever speak -- strike that.
To this day have you ever spoken to Mr. Levin and asked him whether he spoke to Mr. Kersh?
A. No.
Q. Following the issuance of the March 19 press release -- strike that.
Did you see the March 19 press release on or about that time, March 19?
A. Somewhere around there, yes; somewhere on that day or thereafter.
Q. You were in Aspen between March 14 and March 28, 1998, weren't you?

Page 357

A. That's correct.
Q. So how did you find out about the press release in Aspen while you were skiing in Aspen?
A. I don't recall.
Q. While you were skiing in Aspen did you give any instructions to your due diligence team as to any followup they should do with respect to the press release?
A. I didn't have a due diligence team.
Q. MacAndrews & Forbes had a due diligence team, didn't they?
A. Yes.
Q. That is what I am referring to. I think I have been trying to be consistent with that. I will rephrase the question.
Did the MacAndrews & Forbes' due diligence team do anything about the March 19 press release by way of further investigation after it was issued and while you were skiing in Aspen?
A. Well, as I told you I believe that Levin talked to Kersh.

Page 358

Q. Other than what you believe, anything else?
A. I also recall that I was told that analysts who followed the stock were being told by Dunlap at the time that he put this press release out only, I don't have the exact language, but sort of paraphrasing, only at the behest of his lawyers and that things were really okay.
Q. You heard something from an analyst. Can you tell me what analyst it was?
A. I can't tell.
Q. You didn't talk to the analyst?
A. I did not.
Q. Who did you hear this from?
A. This was internally within MacAndrews & Forbes.
Q. Something that was being discussed in the hallways?
A. Well, the hallways of MacAndrews & Forbes is where everything gets discussed. I wasn't there as you know.
Q. I know you were skiing.
Did anyone call, as a result of hearing this in the hallways or wherever at MacAndrews & Forbes -- Mr. Dunlap was making these statements.

Page 359

Did anyone on the MacAndrews & Forbes' due diligence team call Mr. Dunlap and ask him about the statements that were being attributed to him in connection with the March 19 press release?
A. I don't know.
Q. Did anyone on the MacAndrews & Forbes' due diligence team after the issuance of the March 19 press release ask Sunbeam for copies of their interim financial statements for the first quarter of 1998 to the extent they existed on that date?
A. I don't know.
Q. Did you ever up to the time of closing as a representative of MacAndrews & Forbes ever see an interim financial statement of Sunbeam for the first quarter or any portion of it 1998?
A. No, I didn't see that until after the closing.
Q. At any time up to the closing on

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016374

Page 360

March 30, 1998 did anyone on the MacAndrews & Forbes' due diligence team even request of Sunbeam either directly or through its accountants, Arthur Andersen, a copy of Sunbeam's interim financial statements for any period in the first quarter of 1998?

A. Not that I am aware of.

MR. BEMIS: Why don't we break for lunch?

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Going off the record. The time is 12:33.

(Luncheon recess: 12:33)

Page 361

AFTERNOON SESSION

1:46 p.m.

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are back on the record. The time is 1:46.

BY MR. BEMIS:

Q. Good afternoon, Mr. Maher.

A. Good afternoon.

Q. Let me turn to a different topic now.

During the March period of 1998 you knew, did you not, that there was going to be an underwriting of Sunbeam debentures as part of the financing of the acquisition of Coleman?

A. Yes, I did.

Q. You knew that Morgan Stanley was doing the underwriting, correct?

A. I did.

Q. Did you -- you have told us already that you were in Aspen from March 14 to March 24.

Did you attend any road shows at all in March concerning the debentures?

A. I did not.

Q. Did you ever see any -- strike that.

Page 362

Did you ask anyone on behalf of the MacAndrews & Forbes team to attend any of the road shows?

A. No.

Q. Did you ever see any of the documents that were used in the road shows?

A. Used in the road shows? I probably saw the -- I may have seen the red herring.

Q. There is a document that I can show you. It is a document called -- withdrawn.

There is a document referred to as Speaking Points which was marked as MS 193 and I would like to show it to you and ask you whether you have ever seen it.

I am going to hand you what has been marked previously as MS 193.

MR. BEMIS: Here is a copy for you, Mr. Markowski.

BY MR. BEMIS:

Q. For the record, this has Bates numbers SB0018203-288 as well as CPH0255395-480.

Page 363

Mr. Maher, do you have Exhibit MS 183 in front of you?

A. I do. 183?

Q. 193. Thank you very much. 193.

A. Yes.

Q. Have you seen it before?

A. I don't believe so.

Q. Will you hand it back to me?

Thank you, sir.

MR. MARKOWSKI: Could you read me back the Bates numbers that Mr. Bemis read?

MR. BEMIS: Would you like me to read them to you again?

MR. MARKOWSKI: Maybe I misheard it.

MR. BEMIS: CPH numbers -- let me look at the document in case there is some issue. They are just coming off my notes. CPH0255395.

MR. MARKOWSKI: If that is what you read. I heard a different number. Maybe it was me.

MR. BEMIS: It is possible I misspoke. It wouldn't be the first

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016375

Page 364

time.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. Now let me show you what has previously been marked as MS 194, and for the record I will read the Bates numbers into the record.
The CPH Bates numbers are 1185762-84 and the MS Bates numbers are 00977-99.
Do you have MS 194 in front of you, Mr. Maher?
A. I do.
Q. Please take a look at it and my only question at the outset will be if -- have you ever seen it before.
A. Is this the same as the other?
Q. Portions of it I believe are the same but if you would like to see the other one I can give it to you?
A. No. It is just -- I do recall seeing something. I don't know if it was this or something about the combined entities after they made the announcement. This doesn't look exactly like it but it may be.

Page 365

Q. You don't know?
A. I don't know.
Q. You can hand it back to me.
I asked you earlier whether you had ever seen the offering memorandum and -- withdrawn.
I asked you yesterday whether you had ever seen the offering memorandum for the debentures. You testified yesterday you had not and yet I thought I heard you say a few moments ago you may have seen a red herring?
A. I may have.
Q. You don't know one way or another?
A. No.
Q. The red herring is not the final offering memorandum, correct?
A. No, it is not.
Q. Did you -- strike that.
Did anyone -- withdrawn.
Did MacAndrews & Forbes through any entity that you are aware of purchase any of the debentures issued by Sunbeam in March of 1998 and underwritten by Morgan

Page 366

Stanley in connection with the Sunbeam-Coleman transaction?
A. I don't know.
Q. You don't know of any?
A. I don't know of any.
Q. You didn't buy any, did you, personally?
A. Personally, no.
Q. You didn't buy any on behalf of Mr. Perelman's companies, did you?
A. No. I already answered that.
Q. Let me show you what has been marked as -- before I show you this document, stepping back to the underwriting, did you see any of the documents executed between Morgan Stanley and Sunbeam in connection with the underwriting such as a notes purchase agreement, underwriting agreement?
A. I doubt it.
Q. When you have done, you have done -- strike that.
Your firm, at least when you worked with them, First Boston, did underwritings; you told me that, right?

Page 367

A. Yes.
Q. You are familiar and have seen underwriting agreements, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. For securities that are subject to the 1933 Securities Act you are familiar with the due diligence defense of underwriters, are you not?
A. It has been a long time so refresh my memory.
Q. As an underwriter you understand that under section 33 of the 1933 Act, that underwriters are absolutely liable for statements in an underwriting memorandum absent the availability of due diligence.
Do you recall that from your many years in investment banking?
A. I told you, most of my time was on the M&A side of the business, merger and acquisition, but that sounds correct.
Q. In connection with underwritings that you are familiar with it is customary, is it not, to include the financial statements of the offering company in the offering memorandum as certified by the auditors, correct?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0163376

Page 368

A. Yes.
Q. Are you familiar -- are you familiar with the term "comfort letters?"
A. Yes.
Q. You have seen them before?
A. Yes.
Q. Is it not indeed customary in the case of an underwriting for securities such as was done in the Sunbeam transaction by virtue of the debentures to obtain comfort letters from the auditors in connection with the offering memorandum?
A. Yes.
Q. I am going to ask you to take a look at Morgan Stanley 166 which is the offering memorandum that has previously been identified by other witnesses.
MR. MARKOWSKI: Do you have a copy I can use?
MR. BEMIS: Sure.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. Let me withdraw that question and start over again.
I have handed you what has

Page 369

previously been marked as MS 166 which is the offering memorandum for the Sunbeam zero coupon convertible senior subordinated debentures 2018.
Do you have that in front of you?
A. I do.
Q. My understanding is that you did not see -- you have not seen this offering memorandum before, right?
A. I told you I wasn't sure. I don't think I have.
Q. In connection with the offering memorandum, Coleman's financial statements are attached to this, to this document as are Sunbeam's financial statements?
A. Okay.
Q. Did you have -- did you have any role in having Ernst & Young provide its consent to have its financial statements included in the offering memorandum?
A. No.
Q. In connection with -- in connection with the offering memorandum for the debentures were you aware that Morgan Stanley would in the ordinary course have received comfort letters from the auditors whose financial statements as certified by them are included in the offering memorandum?

Page 370

A. The question --
Q. Let me rephrase the question.
A. I think I know what you are asking.
Q. In connection with the inclusion of the financial statements in the offering memorandum for Coleman which, for example, are in here, is it customary for the --
A. And for Sunbeam.
Q. And for Sunbeam.
A. And the other companies.
Q. First Alert and Signature Brands to have their auditors provide comfort letters with respect to the financial statements included in the offering memorandum?
A. Yes.
Q. Am I correct, sir, that -- let me try again.
Am I correct, sir, that a comfort letter in this case which -- we are dealing with a period mid first quarter, would provide certain comfort to the underwriter with regard to the period since the last audited financial statement included in the offering memorandum?

Page 371

A. Comfort or discomfort, yes.
Q. Comfort or discomfort?
A. Yes.
Q. For example, nothing has come to you attention except that?
A. Something along those lines.
Q. You are familiar with that?
A. Yes.
Q. In connection with the offering memorandum for the zero coupons bonds, the Coleman Company's auditors, Ernst & Young, did provide a comfort letter to Morgan Stanley.
Have you seen that letter?
A. The Coleman?
Q. Yes.
A. No.
Q. Did you --
MR. MARKOWSKI: Sorry. Could you read the question back please?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016377

Page 372

MR. BEMIS: In connection with the offering memorandum for the zero coupon bonds the -- I misspoke. I will rephrase the question. I called them bonds rather than debentures.

BY MR. BEMIS:

Q. In connection with the offering memorandum for the zero coupon debentures Ernst & Young did provide a comfort letter to Morgan Stanley. Have you seen that letter?

A. I did not.

Q. Have you ever asked to see that letter at any time?

A. No.

Q. In connection with the offering memorandum for the zero coupon debentures the auditors for Sunbeam, Arthur Andersen, provided a comfort letter to Morgan Stanley. Have you ever seen that letter?

A. Yes.

Q. When did you first see it?

A. I can't tell you when I first saw it. It was sometime after -- after -- after -- year -- years later. It may have been in connection with the, or during the period of time after the, let's call it, the collapse of Sunbeam.

Page 373

Q. Is it fair to say, sir, that MacAndrews & Forbes did not, until sometime after March 30, 1998, the date of the closing, request from either Sunbeam or Arthur Andersen, for that matter, a copy of the comfort letter provided by Arthur Andersen in connection with the debenture offering?

A. I don't know that for a fact.

Q. Did you request a copy of the Arthur Andersen comfort letter?

A. I did not.

Q. Did you request anyone at MacAndrews & Forbes on the due diligence team to request a copy of the audit comfort letter provided by Arthur Andersen to Morgan Stanley in connection with the debenture offering?

A. I did not but I must tell you I took a fair amount of comfort that Morgan Stanley, having released this release and knowing they had a comfort letter from the auditors of Sunbeam, went forward with the offering.

Page 374

Q. My question is -- just so I am clear.

You did not; that is, the MacAndrews --

A. I think I answered the question.

Q. You answered it you, and I am not sure whether you meant you or MacAndrews & Forbes.

Let me try to get a straight answer.

A. You got a straight answer.

Q. I am not suggesting you were trying to equivocate with me. I didn't mean anything by that. Please accept my apologies.

A. Okay.

Q. My question was: Did anyone on the -- on the MacAndrews & Forbes' due diligence team request a copy of the Andersen comfort letter to Morgan Stanley issued in connection with the debenture offer before the closing of the Coleman-Sunbeam transaction on March 30?

Page 375

A. I think I answered that before as I don't know.

Q. Are you aware of any prohibition in the merger of -- strike that.

Under the merger agreements are you aware of any provision in the agreements that would have barred, or prohibited, if you prefer, whether it be CLN Holdings or Coleman, requesting a copy of the Andersen comfort letter before the closing?

A. No.

Q. Are you aware of the --

A. I am also not aware of anything that would require them to provide it either.

Q. Require who?

A. Sunbeam.

Q. Are you aware of the provisions in the merger agreements that require Sunbeam to make its books and records including accounting records available to Coleman and CLN Holdings after the signing of the agreements on February 28 and up to the time of closing?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 376

A. I don't remember that specifically but that sounds like a normal provision.

We also have, I will point out we have a press release that says they are going to come very close to making their numbers and a cold comfort letter that at the time one could presume was -- basically expressed something that was similar to what is said in this press release. That would be a reasonable assumption to make.

Q. Wouldn't it also be a reasonable assumption that you on behalf of the MacAndrews & Forbes' due diligence team would request financial information from Sunbeam after it issued the press release?

MR. MARKOWSKI: Object to the form of the question.

THE WITNESS: No. I don't think that is a reasonable assumption at all. I think what is reasonable here is the assumption that if somebody is doing an underwriting and they put out a press release that the press release is not a lie, not a bold face lie.

Page 377

MR. MARKOWSKI: Hold on. Let him finish.

BY MR. BEMIS:

Q. Are you done?

A. Yes.

Q. Who issued the press release?

A. Sunbeam.

Q. Thank you.

A. And who underwrote the bonds?

MR. MARKOWSKI: One at time.

BY MR. BEMIS:

Q. You saw the press release?

A. And who underwrote the bonds?

Q. I am not here to answer questions.

A. Let me ask you a question.

MR. MARKOWSKI: Jim, hold on. Larry, let him speak. Okay.

MR. BEMIS: I will wait -- let him say whatever he would like and then we will go on.

BY MR. BEMIS:

Q. Anything else?

A. Do you want to read me back what I just said?

Page 378

(Record read)

BY MR. BEMIS:

Q. Did you want to say anything else?

A. No.

Q. Did you ask the auditors on your due diligence team which was Ernst & Young to make any inquiries of Arthur Andersen about Arthur Andersen's comfort letter issued to Morgan Stanley by Arthur Andersen in connection with the debenture offer?

A. Did not.

Q. Are you aware of anyone on the MacAndrews & Forbes' due diligence team making such a request through Ernst & Young?

A. I am not.

Q. Did you get -- did you get, and if I asked you this I apologize, but did you, that is, MacAndrews & Forbes, get a copy of the Ernst & Young comfort letter that was sent to Morgan Stanley?

A. I don't know. Obviously you are including Coleman in that?

Q. Yes, I am.

Page 379

A. I can't believe that their auditors would have provided something to somebody without providing it to them. That would be highly unusual.

Q. In fact, it is customary in your experience that the comfort letters --

A. I think it is actually required.

Q. -- goes to both the company and to, in this case, the underwriters, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. In addition to the comfort letters that were issued in connection with the underwriting of the debentures, are you familiar with the requirement for the issuance of comfort letters in connection with the merger documents?

A. Say that again.

Q. Sure.

In addition to the comfort letters we have been discussing in connection with the debenture offering are you aware there are requirements for comfort letters from the auditors that were incorporated into the merger agreements?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 380

MR. MARKOWSKI: I object to the form of the question. It misstates the record with respect to the requirements of the merger agreements.
MR. BEMIS: I don't think it does but I will stand on my question.
THE WITNESS: I don't know. Do you want to ask me the question again?
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. Are you aware that there was a requirement in the CLN, I will call it, merger agreement which is marked as MS 93 in Exhibit A for the provision of a comfort letter?
A. When? When was there a provision?
Q. It was a provision for a comfort letter in connection with the registration of the securities to be issued following the first -- closing of the first step of the merger.
A. Comfort letter at a point in time when the securities were to be registered?
Q. That is correct.
A. Which could be -- we never got

Page 381

there.
Q. I am not disputing that. I am just --
A. If there was a comfort letter, if the transaction, which it did close, and MacAndrews & Forbes chose to sell those securities and get a registration statement filed, I guess, shorthand, there would have been a requirement for a cold comfort letter from the auditors. It makes sense to me.
Q. It does make sense to you?
A. Yes.
Q. Let me just --
MR. MARKOWSKI: I want to stop for a second. Is that what you were representing to the witness is contained in the merger agreement?
MR. BEMIS: I said in an exhibit to the merger agreement, and it is.
MR. MARKOWSKI: Okay.
MR. BEMIS: It is Exhibit A.
MR. MARKOWSKI: I just want to make sure I understand what your representation to the witness was.

Page 382

MR. BEMIS: I am going to show it to him. I am not testifying.
MR. MARKOWSKI: You already made a representation. I just wanted to understand what it was.
MR. BEMIS: Don't try to box me in on what I said. The record shows what I said. I am not answering your questions here today. There will come a time, perhaps, but not today.
Mr. Reporter, would you mark as Exhibit 278 the registration rights agreement dated March 29, 1998 among Sunbeam Corporation and Coleman (Parent) Holdings, Inc.?
(Morgan Stanley Exhibit 278 marked for identification)
MR. MARKOWSKI: This is a newly marked exhibit?
MR. BEMIS: I think so.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. First of all, sir, I want to show you what has been previously marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 93.
I am going to ask you to turn to

Page 383

page 7994.
A. Is this the same thing?
Q. No. What I am handing you now is MS 93, the agreement and plan of merger among Sunbeam, Laser and CLN Holdings and Coleman (Parent) Holdings.
MR. MARKOWSKI: May I have a copy please?
MR. BEMIS: Yes. I am going to run out of copies of these things.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. Do you have that document in front of you, sir?
A. I do.
Q. If you would look to page -- I will give you the Morgan Stanley number because it is shorter -- 7994?
A. Yes.
Q. That document is Exhibit A and it refers to it as the registration rights agreement, right?
A. Yes.
Q. Have you ever seen Exhibit 93 including the attachment, Exhibit A, before today?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016380

Page 384

A. I don't know.
Q. Turn -- now I would like you to look at MS 278 which is Exhibit A but executed by the parties.
Do you have that document?
A. I do.
Q. Do you know Mr. Dickes?
A. I do.
Q. Would you turn to the last page of MS 278 and you will see the signature above the name Glenn P. Dickes and above that, Coleman (Parent) Holdings, Inc.
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Is that Mr. Dickes' signature?
A. I don't know.
Q. You wouldn't know.
Is it your understanding the registration rights agreement was executed?
A. I don't know.
Q. Turn to page 8 of the agreement, MS 278. Tell me when you are there.
A. Page 8. I am there.
Q. Directing your attention to paragraph 12 under Section 2.4 entitled

Page 385

Registration Procedures. Are you there?
A. Yes.
Q. Were you aware at the time that the merger agreements were executed that the registration rights agreement attached to the CLN merger agreement, MS 93, contained a requirement that a comfort letter be signed by Sunbeam's independent public accountants?
A. Ask me -- say that again.
Q. Sure.
Were you aware at the time the merger agreements were executed that the registration rights agreement attached to the CLN merger agreement, MS 93, contained a requirement that a comfort letter be signed by Sunbeam's independent public accountants?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Object to the form of the question, mischaracterizes the document.
THE WITNESS: I don't know.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. Hand it back to me.
A. Both of them?

Page 386

Q. Sure. You can hand them both back.
A. It wouldn't have been the kind of detail I would have focused on.
Q. Who would have been in charge of focusing on that kind of detail?
A. Wachtell, Lipton.
Q. Just so the jury puts that in context, Wachtell, Lipton was your attorneys, right?
A. Collectively.
Q. For the MacAndrews group in this transaction?
A. Or Coleman.
Q. They also represented CLN Holdings Inc., right?
A. I guess so.
Q. And Coleman (Parent) Holdings, Inc. which was a signatory to the contract we just looked at, right?
A. Okay.
Q. Would you give me 93 back?
MR. MARKOWSKI: The merger agreement?
MR. BEMIS: Right.

Page 387

MR. MARKOWSKI: I gave it to you.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. At any time following the issuance of the March 19 press release are you aware of anyone at MacAndrews & Forbes on the due diligence team asking Sunbeam for the contents of the Arthur Andersen comfort letter that was issued in connection with the debentures?
A. I think you asked me that question already.
Q. I may have and I apologize if I did. I just want to make sure I close this out and we will go on.
A. No.
Q. Are you aware after March 19 of anyone on the MacAndrews & Forbes' due diligence team asking Morgan Stanley for the contents of the comfort letter provided to Morgan Stanley in connection with the debenture offer?
A. I am not.
Q. Are you aware of anyone on behalf of the MacAndrews & Forbes' due diligence team after March 19 asking anyone at Arthur

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Andersen about the contents of the comfort letter issued in connection with the offering of the debentures?
A. I am not.
Q. You knew on behalf of MacAndrews & Forbes that at least as of the closing, March 30, that Sunbeam would have interim financial statements for a period of approximately three months as of the date of closing, is that right?
A. I am not sure I understand the question you are asking.
Q. Let me try again. If you don't understand it it wouldn't do any good to have you answer it.
At the time of the closing, you, Mr. Maher --
A. Yes.
Q. -- your history of investment banking and being sophisticated financially as you are knew that Sunbeam had interim financial statements as of March 30, 1998, interim financial statements?
A. Quarterly statements?
Q. Actually they would be monthly statements which would get eventually wrapped into quarterly statements.

You knew they had interim financial statements, that is, Sunbeam?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Object to the form of the question.
THE WITNESS: I knew they would have quarterly statements. I didn't know for a fact they had monthly statements.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. Did you ever ask them?
A. I don't recall asking them, no.
Q. Did anyone on the --
A. I think you asked that question before.
Q. I probably did.
Did anyone on behalf of the MacAndrews & Forbes' due diligence team ask anyone on the Sunbeam side of the transaction whether Sunbeam had monthly interim financial statements?
A. I don't know.
Q. Have you ever heard that Sunbeam engaged in what the accountants call bill and hold transactions?

A. Yes.
Q. Did you hear at some point that they had done that in 1997?
MR. MARKOWSKI: You are asking if any time prior to today he heard of that?
MR. BEMIS: That is just a starting --
MR. MARKOWSKI: Yes.
THE WITNESS: Yes.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. Did you know that they engaged in bill and hold transactions before the closing of the merger agreements on March 30, 1998?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Would you read that back for me please?
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. I will read it back.
Did you know that they engaged in bill and hold transactions before the closing of the merger agreements on March 30, 1998?
MR. MARKOWSKI: The first word was did you know?

MR. BEMIS: Did you know.
MR. MARKOWSKI: When?
MR. BEMIS: I said before the closing on March 30, 1998.
MR. MARKOWSKI: You are asking if Mr. Maher knew that before then.
I am trying to understand the time period of the question. You are asking him whether he knew prior to the closing?
MR. BEMIS: I will tell you what. I will shorten this to get him out of here. I will ask the question again.
MR. MARKOWSKI: Go ahead.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. Before March 30, 1998, the close of the merger transactions, did you know that Sunbeam in the year 1997 engaged in bill and hold transactions as that term is used by accountants?
A. I don't remember whether I knew then or not. I may have, I may not have.
Q. Were you aware at the closing on March 30, 1998 that Sunbeam had in 1997

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016382

Page 392

announced an early buy program for its grills?
A. I do believe that was discussed to some extent in the February meeting.
Q. February of 1998 meeting?
A. Meeting at Morgan Stanley on February --
Q. I think the meeting you are referring to is February 23, 1998 at 5:45 p.m.
A. That is the one.
Q. Were you aware on March 30, 1998 at the time of the closing that Sunbeam's grill sales accounted for in excess of 30 percent of its net domestic sales?
A. I don't know. I don't remember the exact numbers.
Q. Do you remember there were numbers discussed at the February 23, 1998 meeting about the percentage of Sunbeam's domestic sales that --
A. There were numbers discussed at the February meeting. I don't recall how specific they were in terms of percentages and so forth but I do remember, they did go through business by business and talk about the sales of each business. You have that presentation.

Page 393

Q. Let me try --
A. It is in the presentation.
Q. I didn't get the whole question out.
A. Sure.
Q. Let me try one more time.
Did you know at the time of the closing on March 30, 1998 that Sunbeam's grill sales accounted for in excess of 30 percent of its domestic sales?
A. During what period of time?
Q. 1997.
A. I think we had a break out in that presentation as to what their sales were in 1997.
Q. Did you understand that those grill sales that accounted for in excess of 30 percent of their domestic sales, Sunbeam's domestic sales in 1997, were subject to the early buy program?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Object to the form of the question.

Page 394

BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. You can answer.
A. I don't recall what percentage. I know we discussed it but I don't recall what the percentage was so the answer is I think we were told at that meeting but I don't remember the exact details.
Q. Were you told at any point before the closing on March 30, 1998 that the early buy program could have a negative impact on Sunbeam's future financial performance?
A. I don't believe so.
Q. Let me show you MS 166. Turn to MS 166, the offering memorandum which you have in front of you.
A. Yes.
Q. There is a section on page 12 that begins, risk factors. Tell me when you are there.
A. I am there.
Q. Would you just read the first paragraph into the record for the jury please?
A. "Investment in the debentures offered hereby involves a high degree of risk. Prospective investors should carefully consider the following risk factors in addition to other information set forth in this offering memorandum in connection with an investment in the debentures offered hereby."

Page 395

Standard language.
Q. Just boilerplate in your view?
A. Yes.
Q. Turn to page 16 and tell me when you are there.
A. I am there.
Q. There is a caption for seasonality, do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Would you read that section into the record for the jury please?
A. "Sales of certain of the company's products can be negatively impacted by unseasonable weather conditions during different seasons and quarters of the years. For instance, company's sales of warming blankets were negatively impacted in the fourth quarter of 1997 by moderate temperatures in the northern states. The company has attempted to levelize production, marketing and other activities related to seasonal products by implementing an early buy program. Such a program shifts certain of the weather-related risks of negative sales impact for such seasonal products to later months of the season and as a result could have a negative impact on future financial performance."

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016383

Page 396

Q. Had you read the offering memorandum you would have been aware of this information at the time of the closing on March 30, 1998, correct?

A. I would have been aware of what?

Q. The language you just read to the jury.

A. If I had read the memorandum I would have been aware of what?

Q. The language you just read to the jury.

A. Yes.

Q. Was there any discussion at the February 23 meeting of the extent of

Page 397

Sunbeam's 1997 bill and hold transactions?

A. I think there was a discussion. I just -- I don't recall the details of that discussion.

Q. If you would turn to page F3? Excuse me.

Let me ask you to first turn to page 16.

A. Yes.

Q. I know you are waiting on me. Just give me one second. I misspoke.

I need you to turn to page 14 if you could under risk factors in MS 166.

Are you there?

A. Yes.

Q. Under the risk factor "economic conditions" in the offering memorandum would you just read the last sentence into the record for the jury please beginning with "in addition?"

A. "In addition, the extended credit terms provided by the company in connection with its early buy program increased the company's risk of collection of related accounts receivable."

Page 398

Q. With regard -- now I ask you a question about bill and hold and I would like you to turn to page F -- that stands for the financial statements -- and it is page F8. It appears on the Bates numbered page, this may help you, CPH1326566.

A. Yes.

Q. At the February 23 meeting was it discussed either by Mr. Kersh directly or as a result of questioning that Sunbeam did engage in bill and hold sales?

A. I think so.

Q. At the February 23 meeting was it discussed that in 1997 the amount of the bill and hold sales was approximately 3 percent of Sunbeam's consolidated revenues?

A. I don't recall.

Q. As of March 30, 1998 had you read the offering memorandum, MS 166, and, in particular, page F8 under the heading Revenue Recognition in the financial statements you would have seen the following language, "The amount of such bill and hold sales at December 29, 1977 was approximately 3 percent of consolidated revenues," wouldn't you, sir?

Page 399

A. Explain to me what that has to do with the last question.

Q. Could you just answer my question?

A. No. I am not going to answer the last question.

Q. You are not going to answer?

A. No. Because you asked me a question before, what happened in a meeting, you asked me a question as to what happened in a meeting in February.

Then you read something out of a document that is produced in March and try to draw the inference that the two had something to do with each other.

Q. These statements weren't produced in March. They are actually part of the 10-K which is March 6 but, sir, had you read the offering memorandum?

A. March 6 is not February.

Q. Do you need to say something else and then I will ask you a question.

A. March 6 is not the February meeting.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016384

Page 400

Q. Are you all done?
A. Yes.
Q. As of March 30, 1998 had you read the offering memorandum you would have known that at least according to Arthur Andersen approximately 3 percent of Sunbeam's consolidated revenues were the product of sales on a bill and hold basis, wouldn't you?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Object to the reference of this being Arthur Andersen's statement.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. I will rephrase the question.
If you had read the offering memorandum as of March 30, 1998 you would have known that in footnote 1 of Sunbeam's financial statements it was disclosed that for the year 1997 approximately 3 percent of Sunbeam's consolidated revenues were the product of sales on a bill and hold basis, wouldn't you?
A. Anybody who read that statement would know that.
Q. Thank you very much. You can hand that back to me. We are all done with that.

Page 401

MR. MARKOWSKI: We will take a short break.
MR. BEMIS: Sure.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Going off the record at 2:40.
(Recess)
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are back on the record. The time is 2:45.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. I will hand you what has been marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 208 which is the form 10-K for Sunbeam for the period ending December 28, 1997.
I was wondering -- can you tell me whether you have that document in front of you, sir?
A. I do.
Q. I have a couple of questions about some specific sections that are underlined in this document and I would ask you first to turn to page 6.
A. Page what?
Q. Page 6.

Page 402

Are you there?
A. Yes.
Q. Just to put this in context for the jury, the form 10-K is what is also referred to as an annual statement, correct?
A. By who? I don't refer to it -- sort of an annual report.
Q. Annual statement, annual report; you refer to it as the annual report?
A. I refer it to as the 10-K.
Q. We will use that terminology then for you.
Am I correct that companies who have securities that are registered securities under the '33 Act file annual reports on form 10-K once a year?
A. That is my understanding also.
Q. At any time before December 30, 1998 had you ever looked at a form 10-K for Sunbeam?
A. What was the question again?
Q. At any time before -- at any time before March 30, 1998 had you ever looked at a form 10-K for Sunbeam?

Page 403

A. I presume so, yes.
Q. Do you know what year you looked at?
A. Probably 1997. Before what date?
Q. Before the closing on December 30, 1998.
A. December 30, 1998?
Q. I misspoke. March 30, 1998. Let me ask the question again.
Before March 30, 1998 did you look at Sunbeam's form 10-K for the year 1997? Earlier you testified did you not.
A. I don't recall looking at it.
Q. Look at page 6 under the heading Seasonality and tell me when you are there.
A. I am there.
Q. Do you see the underlining that appears on page 6 which bears the Bates number CPH1428836? Do you see it?
A. Yes.
Q. Would you read it into the record for the jury please?
A. "During 1997 the company initiated early buy programs for highly seasonal products such as grills and warming blankets in order to more levelize production and distribution activities."

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016385

Page 404

Q. Do you know who placed that underlining on this document?
A. I do not.
Q. Turn to the next page, page 7, CPH1428837. Are you there?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you see the underlining in the first full paragraph?
A. Yes.
Q. Would you read that into the record for the jury?
A. There is no underlining in the first full paragraph.
Q. Excuse me. It is the second full paragraph. I didn't have my page turned far enough.
A. Okay.
Q. Okay?
A. Starting -- "as of December 28, 1997 the amount of such reserves was approximately 4 percent," 4 percent number in parentheses, "of the company's total liabilities as set forth in the company's consolidated financial statements. Such environmental reserves do not anticipate any offsets for potential insurance recoveries from certain of the company's liability insurance carriers which the company continues to pursue."

Page 405

Q. Sir, the next major heading is Cautionary Statements. Do you see that?
A. The next what?
Q. The next heading on that page is entitled Cautionary Statements?
A. Yes.
Q. If you would continue over to page 9 where you will see some underwriting and a paragraph that begins, "Sales of certain of the company's products." Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Would you read the first two sentences into the record for the jury which are not underlined?
A. "Sales of certain of the company's products can be negatively impacted by unseasonable weather conditions during different seasons of the year, for instance, the company's sales of warming blankets were negatively impacted in the fourth quarter of 1997 by moderate temperatures in the northern states."

Page 406

Q. Would you then read the underlined text which follows that, those two sentences?
A. "The company has attempted to levelize production, marketing and other activities related to seasonable products by implementing an early buy product program."
Q. That is in quotation marks?
A. Yes, it is. Early buy is in quotations. "Such a program shifts certain risks of negative sales impact for such seasonal products to later months in the season and as a result could have a negative impact on future financial performance."
Q. The language that you just read out of the form 10-K, this entire -- is available as a public document, correct?
A. Yes, it is.
Q. It is filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission, correct?

Page 407

A. These particular references here that you had me read were specifically pointed out as being inadequate by the SEC.
Q. That may well be the case but I didn't ask you that. I asked you whether the document was publicly available.
A. I just wanted to make sure you knew that.
Q. Thank you.
Are you aware that this document was publicly available as of March 30, 1998 from the Securities and Exchange Commission?
A. Was I aware?
Q. Yes.
A. I assume so, yes.
Q. Finally, if you will turn to the financial statements and, in particular, turn to page -- let me ask you a question that I forgot to ask you.
In that language that you just read under the cautionary statements concerning the early buy program there is underlining. Do you know who put that underlining on there?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016386

Page 408

A. Which one? Page 9?
Q. Yes, sir, page 9.
A. I don't.
Q. If you turn now to the section that is entitled item 7, it is on page 14, management's --
A. F14?
Q. Actually not F14, just plain 14, headed Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operation.
A. Yes.
Q. There is some underlining on page 14 in the penultimate paragraph.
Do you see that underlining?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you know who placed that underlining on this document at CPH?
A. I do not.
Q. This paragraph as well discloses the early buy marketing program, correct?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Object to the form of the question.
BY MR. BEMIS:

Page 409

Q. You can answer, sir.
Let me withdraw the question.
This paragraph discloses that Sunbeam had something called an early buy marketing program that included among other things extended credit terms with due dates in the second quarter of 1998, right, sir?
A. That is what it says.
Q. It is also stated in this paragraph by Sunbeam that, "The company sold approximately $50 million of outdoor cooking products under this program in the fourth quarter of 1997." Do you see that?
A. I do.
Q. Were those two facts discussed at the February 23, 1998 meeting that Mr. Kersh spoke at?
A. I think there was some discussion about the early buy programs as I said before and the amount of grill sales in the fourth quarter may have been -- I think, was mentioned. I am not sure. I am not sure. But I will also point out that Kersh said they were going to make the numbers in the first quarter regardless of any of these items.

Page 410

Q. Turn to -- by the way, you referred to Mr. Kersh.
So the jury is clear, Mr. Kersh was an employee of Sunbeam, correct?
A. Yes, chief financial officer.
Q. If you will continue, go over now to the financial statement section which should have the designation F on the bottom.
If you will turn to page F, it is F7 but F7 is going to continue over to a second page without a page number because this is printed off of EDGAR.
Tell me when you are there.
A. I am there.
Q. Under revenue recognition --
A. That is on the second page?
Q. Yes, sir. The carryover. Do you see that paragraph?
A. I do.
Q. Disclosure that in paragraph, by Sunbeam, in the footnotes to its financial statements is the same disclosure that we looked at in the debenture offering memorandum a few minutes ago, MS 166, correct?

Page 411

A. I don't know if it is exactly the same.
Q. Would you like to look at the other one again so we can close this out?
MR. MARKOWSKI: The documents say what they say. I don't understand why you are spending time with the witness doing it.
MR. BEMIS: Because the witness isn't going to appear at trial unless you are going to represent you will present him at trial.
MR. MARKOWSKI: The documents will be there if you want to show them to the jury.
MR. BEMIS: Are you representing you will bring him to the jury?
MR. MARKOWSKI: The documents will be there. My objection is you are wasting the witness' time because the documents will say what they say now and later and having Mr. Maher physically compare them for you isn't really advancing this.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016387

Page 412

MR. BEMIS: Are you going to produce him at trial?
MR. MARKOWSKI: If you have any questions -- are we done?
MR. BEMIS: I --
MR. MARKOWSKI: You are wasting our time. You are wasting our time.
MR. BEMIS: You asked me a question. Now you are being rude.
MR. MARKOWSKI: I didn't ask you a question at all. I said that you are wasting our time. There is no doubt about that. I don't have to ask you that.
THE WITNESS: Isn't the 10-K taken and lifted into that document word for word? Maybe I am mistaken.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. Were you referring to the Sunbeam's 10-K being taken word for word and being placed in the offering memorandum, MS166?
A. Yes.
Q. Is that your understanding?

Page 413

A. I don't know. I am asking you that question. Just give me the piece of paper.
Q. Sure. That is what I thought would be the fastest to get this over.
I am going to hand you MS 166 and I have turned the page to where I think you should be looking and that is CPH page 1326566.
I will hand that to you, Mr. Maher. Let me reach. There we go. Thank you, sir.
A. Like I said it is the financial of the 10-K. I wouldn't --
Q. So I get the question out and we will move on to another topic, the disclosure that appears in MS 166 is the same disclosure that appears in Sunbeam's annual statement on form 10-K, MS 208, under revenue recognition on page F7 of the financial statements, correct?
A. F8.
Q. F8 in MS 166 and F7 in MS 208.
A. It seems to be the same.
Q. You can hand that back to me and

Page 414

I appreciate your patience. We are all done with that.
MR. MARKOWSKI: We are done with the 10-K.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. Sir, I have handed you what we previously marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 93 which is the -- the agreement and plan of merger among Sunbeam, Laser, CLN Holdings Inc. and Coleman (Parent) Holdings, Inc. which you looked at earlier today.
Do you have that in front of you?
A. Yes.
Q. Please look at section 6.7 which is on page 18.
A. Yes.
Q. That section is entitled Access to Information and Confidentiality. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Are you aware of any request by MacAndrews & Forbes' due diligence team directed to either Sunbeam or its accountants to examine Sunbeam's books and records, properties and personnel, copies of its documents filed with either the federal or state securities authorities pursuant to paragraph 6.7 of MS 93?

Page 415

A. Well, first of all, you wouldn't, for any public documents which you include in that list of items, you wouldn't need this.
Q. You may not need it, sir, but --
A. But it doesn't say it here.
Q. It does say it if you read all the way down.
A. What does it say?
Q. If you look at the last sentence on page 18 beginning with the word "operations" with a closed parentheses, and during such period shall each furnish or each shall furnish promptly to the others (A) a copy of each report, schedule or other document filed or received by it pursuant to the requirements of the federal or state securities laws.
A. That says that they are supposed to deliver. You were asking me whether -- whether anybody requested those public filings. That is all.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016388

Page 416

Q. Okay. I hear your point.
Would you answer my question?
A. Which is?
Q. Are you aware of any request by the MacAndrews & Forbes' due diligence team directed to either Sunbeam or its accountants to examine Sunbeam's books and records, properties, personnel, copies of any documents filed with the federal or state securities authorities pursuant to Section 6.7 of MS 93?
A. No.
Q. Can you hand that back to me?
I have handed you what has previously been marked as MS 117, the agreement and plan of merger among Sunbeam Corporation, Camper Acquisition Corporation and the Coleman Company, Inc. dated as of February 27, 1998.
Do you have that in front of you?
A. I do.
Q. Please turn to Section 7.26, the document on page 29, entitled Access and Information; Confidentiality.

Page 417

Tell me when you are there.
A. I am there.
Q. Are you aware of any request by Coleman pursuant to this Section 7.2 made to either Sunbeam or its accountants or its legal counsel or its financial advisers for access to books and records relating to Sunbeam and, in particular, books and records relating to properties, plants, personnel, business operations, et cetera?
A. I am not but as we talked about earlier today after signing the merger agreement there was a -- it is my understanding that management of Sunbeam and management of Coleman started to spend a lot of time together so information of this nature quite naturally I think was passed back and forth during that period of time. I don't have any firsthand knowledge of it.
Q. You can hand it back to me.
My understanding of the meetings you were talking about were meetings in connection with the proposed combination of the companies and how they would be integrated post closing; am I correct?

Page 418

A. Yes. There was a lot of information that is outlined in that paragraph that would be changing hands, I presume.
Q. As you sit here today you are not aware of any such information changing hands?
A. I am not.
Q. Were you involved in any discussions concerning hedging of the Sunbeam stock that was received at the time of the closing of the Sunbeam CLN merger?
A. Yes.
Q. What discussions were you involved with?
A. I was involved with a number of different discussions, with a number of different financial institutions about the possibility of entering into an agreement, hedging agreement, I guess for lack of a better term, that would allow MacAndrews & Forbes to effectively sell some of its securities in a hedging transaction.
Q. Tell the jury what a hedging transaction is.

Page 419

A. I think the simplest way to think about it is you own a share of stock, you agree to sell it at a price today to a financial institution, you get some percentage -- let's say it was $10, and these numbers will be wrong by some factor because I haven't done this in a long time.
Say the price of the stock was $10 today. You agree to sell it to this institution for $10. They agree to buy it from you in say a year or two years. They will pay you for it today.
They will -- the transaction will stay in place for a period of time which could be a year or two years.
You will share in some percentage of the upside above $10 if the stock trades above $10 over that period, whatever the period of time is, and you will be protected on the downside so that if the stock goes down, in some cases you even have absolute protection. It depends how much upside you want versus how much downside protection you get.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016389

Page 420

Q. Over what period of time -- withdrawn.
Over what period of time did you have discussions with people about hedging the Sunbeam stock received in the merger?
A. It may have been before the actual closing. It may have started before the closing, I don't remember exactly when, and went on for several months after the closing of the transaction.
Q. Can you identify for the jury please who you were having -- withdrawn.
Can you identify for the jury with whom you were having these discussions and by -- with whom, company names as opposed to individuals?
A. I think -- this may not be all inclusive -- but off the top of my head, Bear Stearns, I think Chase, maybe Citibank and maybe First Boston but certainly Bear Stearns and maybe Goldman Sachs. Certainly Bear Stearns and Citibank. The other names I am less certain about.
Q. Did you go to these financial institutions, if I can call them that, or did they come to you?

Page 421

A. I don't recall.
Q. Did you ever -- strike that.
Did you ever enter in -- withdrawn.
MacAndrews & Forbes, whatever entity at that point was -- would enter into such a transaction -- withdrawn.
Did MacAndrews & Forbes or any of its entities ever enter into a hedging transaction with respect to the Sunbeam securities issued at the time of the closing of the merger?
A. Not to my knowledge.
Q. Why not?
A. I think any number of reasons. Probably the primary reason was during that period of time in 1998 there was a fair amount of concern and with no clear answer as to whether -- what the SEC's view was as to these transactions.
These transactions effectively -- because when a securities firm enters into this type of transaction it protects itself by selling some of the shares that it has bought from you in the future.

Page 422

There was a concern that the SEC will take the position, or the SEC was thinking about the position that effectively what was happening if you look through this transaction was that the seller of the -- the owner of the securities that were being hedged was effectively selling unregistered securities ultimately through the transaction and wasn't really -- it was never resolved during the period of time that made any sense for us to do this.
As it turns out we probably could have done it if we did it before we actually owned the securities.
So if we had done it during the month of March it would have been okay.
Q. Did you ever get to the point of receiving specific proposals from any of the five companies that you identified?
A. I think so. I think specific -- specific proposals were like wherever the stock price is today, we will buy X number of shares at a premium Y above the stock price and protect you Z below that stock price. Something like that.

Page 423

There is also a limited number -- I think there is a certain practical limitation on the number of shares you can do on these type of transactions.
Q. About what period of time did these -- withdrawn.
When did these discussions end in 1998 as best you can recall?
A. I think the middle of the year, June.
Q. June of 1998?
A. I guess. They trailed off after a while because it became clear, clearer and clearer that neither we nor the securities firms were prepared to enter into these transactions.
I think Bear Stearns was probably the most aggressive. They seemed prepared to do it.
Q. My understanding, and please correct me if I am wrong, is the SEC did not come down after consideration with the conclusion that these were sales of unregistered securities, the hedging transactions; am I correct in that?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016390

Page 424

A. I don't know.
Q. You don't know. Okay.
A. It sounds like a good decision though.
Q. I don't profess to tell you whether I am right or wrong on that one. I am aware of the dispute.
MR. MARKOWSKI: In other words, you are not giving him legal advice so he can go do it today.
MR. BEMIS: You got that right. You got that right.
BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. Let me show you what has been marked as MS 74 which is an article from Barron's Magazine dated June 6, 1998.
I will tell you that although this is a Barron's article it was reprinted from another source because the Barron's article on that large format that they used makes terrible photocopies.
I actually have a terrible photocopy if you would like to look at it.

Page 425

This one is much easier to read.
My first question to you is: Have you seen this article that appeared in Barron's on June 6, 1998 which we marked as MS 74?
A. Yes, I think I did.
Q. Did you receive it as part of the clipping services?
A. I don't recall how I got it but I am sure I got it.
Q. Did you read the article?
A. I believe so.
Q. What was your reaction to the article when you read it?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Did you have any meetings with anyone about the article?
A. Not that I recall.
Q. Did you prepare any memorandum or memoranda as the case may be about the document?
A. I don't believe so.
Q. Will you tell me -- will you hand that to me?
Did you participate in any

Page 426

decisions -- withdrawn.
Did you participate in any discussions at MacAndrews & Forbes about requesting a rescission of the Sunbeam-Coleman transaction with Sunbeam?
A. My recollection is there were certainly discussions. I think we ultimately asked for a rescission transaction.
Q. What happened to that request?
A. I frankly don't recall. It was either rendered impractical or --
Q. Did you participate in any of the discussions with Sunbeam concerning settling MacAndrews & Forbes claims against Sunbeam?
A. Yes.
Q. What was your role in those discussions?
A. I think I was just a participant with Mr. Gittis, I would say, taking the lead.
Q. Mr. Gittis had the lead in these discussions?
A. Yes, I would say so.

Page 427

Q. Whose idea was it to settle the dispute between MacAndrews & Forbes and Sunbeam through the issuance of warrants?
A. I don't know whose idea it was. As I recall the parties to that -- I think Sunbeam was being advised I think at that point in time by Blackstone and their attorneys were involved, Skadden, Arps; our attorneys, Wachtell, Lipton; us; I think Peter Langerman, I think, as a board member.
Q. Board member for Sunbeam, right?
A. Yes, and also a significant shareholder of the company as I recall, representing, I think, Mutual Shares was a big shareholder of the company. Langerman represented that position.
Q. Did Michael Price have any role in this?
A. Michael Price was Langerman's partner, boss, owner of Mutual Shares. I don't think he had sold Mutual Shares at that point in time. I think he still owned them. I think Peter spoke for Michael.
Q. At some point there was a

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016391

Page 428

settlement reached with Sunbeam which was reduced to writing?
A. Yes.
Q. And that settlement provided for the issuance of warrants to MacAndrews & Forbes to settle the dispute with Sunbeam, correct?
A. That is correct.
Q. Did MacAndrews & Forbes place a value to the warrants that were issued as part of the settlement?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Object to the form of the question.
THE WITNESS: I think -- my recollection is that there is two issues; one, there was a point of view as to whether they had any value at all which my point of view is these warrants were valueless but it was an opportunity to settle and get on with trying to make this company work as opposed -- was the only real solution, so the only money we had at that point in time.
Rescission didn't seem possible and put a management team in place that would move the company forward would be the logical thing at that point in time.

Page 429

In terms of value I personally felt the warrants were valueless. I think MacAndrews put a value on the warrants. I don't know what it was.
Q. Did MacAndrews & Forbes put a value on its claims against Sunbeam that were settled by the issuance of the warrants?
A. I don't know.
Q. For example, did they say we were damaged in the amount of $500 million as a result of Sunbeam's conduct, something like that? I am not suggesting 500 million is the number. I am using that as an example.
MR. MARKOWSKI: Let me make sure we are not getting into privileged communications here. You are asking him in the context of communications with Sunbeam was there a value expressed?
MR. BEMIS: Yes.
MR. MARKOWSKI: If there were any internal discussions with lawyers you should exclude them from your answer.

Page 430

BY MR. BEMIS:
Q. Let me put it this way.
A. I think the Blackstone advisers put some value on the warrants.
Q. Blackstone put a value of $70 million on the warrants?
A. I don't know what the value was.
Q. Sunbeam in its financial statements took a $70 million charge for the settlement based on the warrants, correct?
A. I don't know. They may well have. I am telling you what my point of view was at the time.
Q. Let me go back to the question I originally asked. We are getting close to being finished.
In the negotiations with Sunbeam did MacAndrews & Forbes ever express a position to Sunbeam as to the amount of damage that MacAndrews & Forbes claims it had been injured as a result of the Sunbeam-Coleman transaction?

Page 431

A. Not that I recall.
Q. Did you ever see the Blackstone report?
A. I think I saw a Blackstone report. I don't know if it was the Blackstone report.
Q. It is my understanding that other than -- withdrawn.
Were the warrants that were issued by Sunbeam to MacAndrews & Forbes, whatever entity it was, were those warrants thereafter pledged to secure indebtedness of one or more of the MacAndrews & Forbes companies?
A. I don't know.
Q. Were you involved at all in the claims that were made against Arthur Andersen by MacAndrews & Forbes?
A. No.
Q. I am including Coleman (Parent) Holdings or CLN Holdings. You weren't involved in any of that?
A. No.
Q. You were gone by that period of time over to your next job?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016392

A. I don't know. I don't know. When was it?
Q. It was in the year 2000 when the claims were filed. I think it was 2000. I know they were settled October 10, 2002.
A. Yes. Pretty much.
MR. BEMIS: I don't have anything else.
MR. MARKOWSKI: We are done.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: The time is 3:32.
This completes the videotaped deposition.
(Time noted: 3:32 p.m.)

_____
JAMES ROBERT MAHER

Subscribed and sworn to before me this day of 2004.

_____

CERTIFICATE

STATE OF NEW YORK)
COUNTY OF NEW YORK)

I, Steven Neil Cohen, a Registered Professional Reporter and Notary Public within and for the State of New York, do hereby certify: That JAMES ROBERT MAHER, the witness whose deposition is herein before set forth, was duly sworn by me and that such deposition is a true record of the testimony given by such witness.

I further certify that I am not related to any of the parties to this action by blood or marriage and that I am in no way interested in the outcome of this matter.

I further certify that neither the deponent nor a party requested a review of the transcript pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 30(e) before the deposition was completed.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand this 4th day of November, 2004.

STEVEN NEIL COHEN, RPR

INDEX OF EXAMINATION

Witness
JAMES ROBERT MAHER
By Mr. Bemis.....219

MORGAN STANLEY EXHIBITS

Exhibit Number Marked
340 Document.....292
278 Registration Rights Agreement.....382

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0163393

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0163914

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF THE FIFTEENTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT
IN AND FOR PALM BEACH COUNTY, FLORIDA
COLEMAN (PARENT) HOLDINGS, INC.,
Plaintiff,
VS.
MORGAN STANLEY & CO., INC.,
Defendant.

VIDEOTAPED DEPOSITION STEVEN GELLER
New York, New York
Friday, July 30, 2004

Reported by:
Robert X. Shaw, CSR
CSR NO. 817
JOB NO. 163186

July 30, 2004
9:48 a.m.

Videotaped Deposition of STEVEN GELLER, held at the offices of Kirkland & Ellis, 153 East 53rd Street, New York, New York, pursuant to Notice, before Robert X. Shaw, CSR, a Notary Public of the State of New York.

APPEARANCES:

JENNER & BLOCK
Attorneys for Plaintiff
One IBM Plaza
Chicago, Illinois 60611
BY: CLARK C. JOHNSON, ESQ.

KIRKLAND & ELLIS, LLP
Attorneys for Defendant
655 Fifteenth Street, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20005
BY: THOMAS A. CLARE, ESQ.

VINSON & ELKINS LLP
Attorneys for Mr. Geller
666 Fifth Avenue
New York, New York 10103
BY: STEVEN R. PARADISE, ESQ.

ALSO PRESENT:
Victor Disla, Videographer
Brandie Weaver
Beth Stewart

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Stand by.
This is tape number 1 of the videotaped deposition of Mr. Steven Geller in the matter of Coleman Parent Holdings Inc., Plaintiff, versus Morgan Stanley and Co. Inc., Defendant, in the 15th Judicial District in and for Palm Beach County Florida.
This deposition is being held at 153 East 53rd Street, New York, New York on July 30th, 2004 at approximately 9:48 a.m.
My name is Victor Disla from the firm of Esquire Video Services, and I am the legal video specialist.
The court reporter is Mr. Bob Shaw, in association with Esquire Deposition Services.
Will counsel please introduce themselves for the record.
MR. CLARE: Yes, good morning. Thomas Clare of Kirkland & Ellis LLP, here on behalf of Morgan Stanley & Co., and Morgan Stanley Senior Funding, and I have with me Beth Stewart, also a summer

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016395

Page 5

associate at Kirkland Ellis LLP.
MR. JOHNSON: Clark Johnson of Jenner & Block, Chicago, for Coleman Parent Holdings and MacAndrews & Forbes Holdings.
MR. PARADISE: Steven Paradise with Vinson & Elkins, and with me is Brandi Weaver, a summer associate with our firm, and we are here on behalf of the witness, Mr. Geller.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Will the court reporter please swear in the witness.
STEVEN GELLER, having been first duly sworn by the Notary Public, testified as follows:
THE WITNESS: I do.
EXAMINATION BY
MR. CLARE:
Q. Good morning, Mr. Geller. We met this morning when you came in. My name is Tom Clare, and I am here on behalf of Morgan Stanley in this lawsuit.
Could I get you to state your full name for the record, please?
A. Sure. Steven Keith Geller.

Page 6

Q. What is your home address?
A. 300 East 75th Street, New York, New York 10021.
Q. Is that your primary residence?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you have any other residences?
A. No.
Q. Do you maintain a residence in Florida?
A. No.
Q. What is your date of birth?
A. July 28th, 1972.
Q. How are you currently employed?
A. I am employed by Credit Suisse First Boston.
Q. What is your address at Credit Suisse First Boston?
A. It is 11 Madison Avenue, New York, New York 10010.
Q. What position do you hold at CSFB?
A. I am currently a director.
Q. You are represented by counsel here today?
A. Yes, I am.
Q. That is Mr. Paradise?

Page 7

A. That is correct.
Q. Before this morning, have you spoken with Mr. Johnson or any attorney from Jenner & Block about the deposition here today?
A. No, I have not.
Q. Before we get into the substance of what we are going to talk about, and go through some of the mechanics of how we are going to proceed today, you understand that the deposition today is being videotaped and that the video of this deposition might be played to the jury in the trial of this case?
A. I dO.
Q. Have you ever been deposed before?
A. I have not been deposed, but I think I testified before, I don't know if there is a difference.
Q. The testimony that you provided was in court or in some sort of legal proceeding?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. Did it have anything to do with Sunbeam?
A. No.
Q. Did it have anything to do with Coleman?

Page 8

A. No.
Q. Was it a business matter related to your work at CSFB, or was it a personal matter?
A. A business matter.
Q. Did the matter in which you provided testimony involve any MacAndrews & Forbes company or transaction that you were working on?
A. No.
Q. Counsel has probably gone through this with you, but let's talk a little bit about some of the ground rules that we will use here today.
You just took an oath. It is the same oath that you would take if you were testifying live in court; do you understand that?
A. Yes.
Q. And is there any reason that you can't provide truthful testimony today in answering my questions?
A. No.
Q. My job is to ask questions that you can understand and that are clear. If for some reason you don't understand my question, or you don't hear me and you would like me to rephrase it or repeat it, I would be happy to do that.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Just let me know and I will attempt to rephrase it in a way that is easy to understand. Your job is to answer the questions to the best of your ability. If you answer my question, I will assume that you heard my question and that you understand it; is that okay?

A. Yes.

Q. If at any point today you want to correct something that you said earlier in your testimony, or if you remember something that is either different or you want to add to your prior testimony, just let me know and I will give you an opportunity to do that; okay?

A. Yes.

Q. The court reporter is taking down your testimony based on what you say, and we are obviously videotaping, but because the court transcript is the official record of the proceeding today, you have to answer verbally. The court reporter can't take down if you just nod your head or shake or shrug your shoulders; so, I may remind you from time to time that you have to answer my questions verbally.

And we also need to try to not interrupt each other. I will ask my question before you start your answer and I will try to let you finish your answer before I start my next question. We may need to remind each other of that throughout the day.

If you need to take a break for any reason, get some coffee or water, use the restroom, walk around, let me know and we will try to accommodate you as quickly as we can.

Do you have any questions about the ground rules that we covered this morning?

A. No.

Q. What was the subject matter of the testimony that you gave in your prior proceeding?

A. It was related to the CSFB technology group.

Q. Was it an arbitration? Was it a lawsuit? What role did you play in that?

A. I was just a, I was called in for some questions, but I did not have a major role; so, I don't know the overall reason that I was there.

Q. Okay. The full name of your employer is Credit Suisse First Boston, and I will refer to it today as CSFB. And I will also talk today about the Coleman Company, which is one of the subject matters of the lawsuit.

When I refer to Coleman, I will be talking about the camping goods company that was headquartered in Kansas, and there are some other companies that have similar names; for example, there is a company called Coleman Parent Holdings Company.

That was a MacAndrews & Forbes affiliate that owned some percentage of Coleman, and I will refer to that as either CPH, Coleman Parent Holdings or I may refer to it as MacAndrews & Forbes, just to differentiate it from the camping goods company.

If for some reason my question is not clear or a difference between those entities makes a difference to your answer, let me know, and we will make sure that we get it clear.

Is that okay, if we use those terms today to talk about the questions that I am going to ask?

A. Yes.

Q. How did you prepare for the deposition today?

A. I did not do very much preparation. I did meet with Steven, my attorney. That's pretty much it.

Q. When did you meet with him?

A. Yesterday.

Q. For how long?

A. Oh, probably about an hour and a half to two hours.

Q. Was anyone other than Mr. Paradise present?

A. There was a woman from the legal department at CSFB.

Q. Nobody from the law firm of Jenner & Block?

A. No.

Q. Did you review any documents that refreshed your recollection about these events

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016397

Page 13

related to the engagement that CSFB had worked on for Coleman?
A. None that refreshed my recollection, but I did review documents.
Q. What documents do you recall having reviewed?
A. Yesterday?
Q. Yes.
MR. PARADISE: I will object for a moment. I will not object, but I think to ask that question you do need to establish that a document refreshed his recollection.
As long as we have an understanding that there is no waiver of any kind by my allowing him to answer the question, I will let him answer.
MR. CLARE: Yes. We have that understanding.
A. I reviewed an investment banking committee memo.
I reviewed a fairness opinion and I reviewed an engagement letter.
That was it.
Q. Did you review or have described to you any prior testimony that was given by any witness related to these matters?

Page 14

A. Did I review --
Q. Like deposition testimony or transcripts of testimony that were given by any of the witnesses in this case.
A. No.
Q. Did you speak to anyone other than Mr. Paradise and the attorney from CSFB's legal department about the deposition?
A. Sorry?
Q. Did you speak with anyone, other than your counsel -- either the CSFB, in-house counsel or Mr. Paradise about the deposition today?
A. No, I did not. I did inform my boss that I was going to a deposition, but I did not disclose the matter, but I was going to be out all day today.
MR. PARADISE: Excuse me.
MR. CLARE: Sure.
(Witness and counsel confer.)
A. Also, yesterday Hillary Preston was also present. She works with Steve. I apologize.

Page 15

Q. When you refer to Mr. Paradise, that was intending to include his colleagues at Vinson & Elkins.
A. All right.
Q. Did you speak with anyone other than MacAndrews & Forbes about the deposition today?
A. No.
Q. Anyone formerly at the Coleman Company?
A. No.
Q. Any of your colleagues at CSFB, other than the in-house attorney that was present?
A. No.
Q. Do you have any ongoing business relationships with MacAndrews & Forbes?
A. No.
Q. When was the last time that you performed work for MacAndrews & Forbes or any MacAndrews & Forbes-related company?
A. I think, on that transaction.
Q. When you say "that transaction," you are referring to Sunbeam's acquisition of Coleman?

Page 16

A. Correct.
Q. Prior to Sunbeam's acquisition of Coleman, had you done work for any MacAndrews & Forbes company while at CSFB?
A. MacAndrews & Forbes company? No.
Q. When was the last time that you had spoken with anyone at MacAndrews & Forbes about a Coleman or Sunbeam, this transaction?
A. Um, I am not sure I ever had spoken to anyone at MacAndrews & Forbes, but I may have spoken to them during the Sunbeam transaction. I probably did speak to some people at MacAndrews & Forbes.
Q. We will obviously discuss the chronology of that transaction in some detail throughout the course of the day today.
Just to put it in a time reference, the acquisition transaction closed at the end of March, 1998, is when the deal actually closed.
If I understand your testimony, since March of 1998, since the transaction closed, you have not spoken with anyone at MacAndrews & Forbes about the transaction?
A. As best as I can remember, I think that is correct.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 17

Q. Have you spoken with anyone at Sunbeam about the transaction since March of 1998?
A. When you say "the transaction"?
Q. Sunbeam's acquisition of Coleman.
A. No.
Q. When was the first time that you heard about a lawsuit that had been filed against Morgan Stanley related to the acquisition transaction that we have been discussing?
A. You know, I received a notice to send documents to my legal department and I don't remember the exact time. I feel like it may have been six months, a year ago, I don't know the exact date, but I handed over documents to my legal department.
Q. Did anyone from MacAndrews & Forbes or their attorneys, Jenner & Block, contact or consult or interview you prior to the filing of that lawsuit, which took place in May of 2003?
A. No.
Q. Do you understand from any source the nature of the allegations that are being made against Morgan Stanley in the lawsuit?

Page 18

A. Not really. No.
Q. In general, MacAndrews & Forbes has alleged that Morgan Stanley engaged in a conspiracy with Sunbeam to defraud it in connection with Sunbeam's acquisition of Coleman.
Are you aware of any facts, as you sit here today, that would support those allegations?
A. No.
Q. MacAndrews & Forbes further alleges that Morgan Stanley knowingly provided false information to it during the negotiations for that acquisition transaction.
Are you aware of any facts, as you sit here today, that would support those allegations?
A. Morgan Stanley -- um, no. Received a financial plan from Sunbeam and Morgan Stanley. I don't know who gave it to us, three-year forecasts from Sunbeam, some plan.
Q. Just to -- I will make sure I understand your answer.

Page 19

A. Sure.
Q. If I understand your testimony, you were provided by Sunbeam with a financial plan for Sunbeam?
A. Yes.
Q. Did Morgan Stanley provide that plan to you?
A. I don't remember. We went to a diligence session. I believe the representatives of Morgan Stanley and Sunbeam were there; so, I don't know who actually handed it -- but it was a Sunbeam document.
Q. A document that you had understood had been prepared by Sunbeam?
A. Yes.
Q. And was that document presented verbally during that meeting that you recall attending?
A. Yes.
Q. Was it presented verbally by anyone from Morgan Stanley, to the best of your knowledge?
A. No.
Q. Was it presented by someone from Sunbeam?

Page 20

A. To the best of my knowledge, yes.
Q. Would that be Mr. Rus Kersh from Sunbeam?
A. I don't remember.
Q. But it was one of the Sunbeam officers or executives that were present at that meeting?
A. I believe so.
Q. So, I want to go back to my original question that led us down this road.
MacAndrews & Forbes has alleged that Morgan Stanley knowingly provided false information to it in connection with the acquisition transaction.
Do you have any reason to believe that Morgan Stanley, apart from Sunbeam, did that in connection with the acquisition transaction?
A. No. No.
Q. Do you understand that Morgan Stanley also was underwriter for certain bond offerings that was done by Sunbeam in connection with the acquisition transaction?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you have that understanding back in 1998 when you were working on the transaction, or have you learned that since?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016399

Page 21

A. I don't remember when I learned.
Q. As part of the lawsuit, MacAndrews & Forbes has alleged that Morgan Stanley was negligent in its performance of due diligence in connection with the underwriting of that convertible bond offering and negligent in connection with its due diligence in working with Sunbeam on the acquisition transaction.
Do you have any knowledge or facts or information that those allegations are true?
A. No.
Q. Other than the due diligence session that you described to me, did you participate or have an opportunity to observe any of the due diligence that was performed by Morgan Stanley with regard to Sunbeam?
A. No.
Q. Did you participate or observe Morgan Stanley conducting due diligence on the Coleman Company?
A. Did I observe? Um, I don't remember. I don't remember.

Page 22

Q. You understand the difference that I am attempting to draw here?
A. Yes. I don't remember a diligence session on the Coleman Company; so, I don't remember if they ever performed it.
Q. As I said, we will get into the meetings or conversations in some detail this morning and in the early part of the afternoon.
Before we do that, I would like to get a little bit more background information about you.
Would you describe your education for me.
A. Sure, I went to Duke University, and I studied economics and Japanese. And I joined Credit Suisse First Boston in 1994 as an analyst, and I have been there for the past ten years
Q. What degree did you receive from Duke?
A. BA.
Q. Did you graduate with honors?
A. Yes.
Q. There are different gradations of honors at Duke?

Page 23

A. Yes. I graduated cum laude.
MR. PARADISE: Try to keep your voice up for the benefit of the reporter.
Q. Do you have any postgraduate degrees?
A. No.
Q. Have you ever attended business school?
A. No.
Q. Are you a CPA?
A. No.
Q. Do you have any other professional certification?
A. No.
Q. Are you admitted to practice law anywhere?
A. No.
MR. PARADISE: Don't forget -- father.
THE WITNESS: That is a profession.
Q. It is an important profession.
A. Very important, yes.
Q. Any military service?
A. No.

Page 24

Q. You testified that you joined CSFB in 1994, as an analyst. And that you now hold the title of director. Can you walk me through your titles that you have held at CSFB, as best you can.
A. Sure.
Q. With the years that you received those titles.
A. Sure. I was an analyst from 1994 to 1997.
I became associate in the fall of 1997, and I was associate for the next three and a half years, I believe, until June of 2000, and I became a vice president.
And in December of 2003 I became director.
I think that is the progression.
Q. During the period of time that a Sunbeam acquisition of Coleman was being negotiated and worked on and closed, you held the title of associate? That would have been in --
A. This was disclosed in 1998?
Q. Correct. The events that we are going to be focusing on took place in the fourth quarter of 1997 and then the first quarter of 1998.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

A. Okay. So, I would have been associate, yes.
Q. And what were your responsibilities generally with regard to this transaction, as associate, at CSFB during that time period?
A. To help the financial modeling, I was in the M&A group and the financial modeling, the preparation of analyses.
Q. Who did you report to during that time period?
A. Well, lots of people. But I think ultimately the heads of the M&A group were Gordon Rich, Brian Finn, Scott Lindsay and Steve Koch.
Q. Am I correct that who you would report to on a particular transaction would depend upon which banker was working on the engagement?
A. Yes. And, ultimately, their senior banker, which would be one of those four gentlemen, as associate, probably would report to a couple layers in between; so, maybe the entire M&A group above associate, I would say ultimately according to those four, but to answer: Yes, you reported to someone above you on each transaction.

Q. With regard to the engagement that CSFB performed for Coleman in the Sunbeam acquisition, who were the intermediate bankers that you worked with?
A. I remember working with Rob Duffy, as the intermediate. He was the intermediate banker. And Gordon Rich.
Q. Have you remained in the mergers and acquisitions area since 1998?
A. Yes. I joined the technology practice in 2000, and I have been in the technology practice since, but still focusing on mergers and acquisitions.
Q. Can you approximate how many M&A deals that you have worked on prior to the Sunbeam Coleman acquisition in the first quarter of 1998?
A. When you say "worked on," can you be more specific?
Q. Played a substantive role on either supporting with financial analysis, modeling, playing any role whatsoever.

A. Okay. Several transactions don't actually get consummated; so, when you say "worked on," do you mean only transactions that happened or projects?
Q. I would define it to include projects.
A. I don't know the answer.
Probably 40 or 50.
Q. If we were to change the definition, then, to include transactions that actually closed, probably --
A. Probably would be 10 or less.
Q. Can you approximate those same figures, since the Sunbeam Coleman transaction?
A. Probably another 20 transactions that closed, maybe more. Probably, I don't know, 200 projects. I don't know. It is very difficult to answer that question.
Q. In response to one of my prior questions you described having attended a due diligence meeting with some Sunbeam people where Morgan Stanley was present.
Were you involved in other deals prior to the Coleman Sunbeam transaction where you had had participated in due diligence sessions?

A. Yes.
Q. Had you been involved, prior to the Sunbeam acquisition of Coleman, where, as part of the transaction, the client that CSFB was representing would be receiving stock, either a buyer or seller of the transaction?
A. I believe so.
Q. And in connection with those transactions, had you been involved in performing due diligence?
A. Yes.
Q. As you sit here today, can you think of other transactions that you have worked on besides the Sunbeam Coleman transaction where your client or CSFB's client was receiving stock and you were asked to perform due diligence into the company whose stock your client was receiving?
MR. JOHNSON: This is buy or sell side?
MR. CLARE: Correct.
A. This is before the transaction or during the transaction?

NOT CERTIFIED COPY

CONT #971

Page 29

Q. Why don't we not limit it in time. Why don't we have it be during any time period.
A. Sure -- yes, there are transactions.
Q. Can you think of some, as you sit here today, examples of similar transactions?
A. Similar transactions defined as where my client --
Q. Received stock.
A. Received or issued stock?
Q. I am trying to focus on -- and let's see if we can narrow it down further, as Mr. Johnson has suggested. We can maybe do this in an efficient way.
As you sit here today, can you think of other transactions in which the client that you and CSFB were advising were receiving stock in exchange for selling its interest in a company or assets where you had performed a role in due diligence?
A. I am sure that I can think of several. We advised --
MR. PARADISE: Just answer Yes or No for now.
THE WITNESS: Yes.

Page 30

Q. So that, those are transactions that you have some experience and familiarity with?
A. Yes.
Q. In the course of performing the due diligence for those transactions, can you describe to me, generally, what steps you took or were involved in, in the area of due diligence?
A. Very different on each transaction. It is various transactions, very transaction-specific. It is very title-specific for me. It is very team-specific.
So, it would be very difficult to answer that question, that general question with an answer that kind of encompasses everything. It is very specific to a particular transaction.
Q. Okay. Let's come at it this way. You described in your prior testimony a meeting that you attended, you described as a due diligence session, with Sunbeam, and where Morgan Stanley was present.
What other due diligence did you participate in of Sunbeam in connection with the Coleman Sunbeam transaction?

Page 31

MR. PARADISE: Objection to the form, foundation grounds.
MR. JOHNSON: I will join.
MR. PARADISE: You can answer.
A. I don't remember.
Q. As you sit her today, other than the one meeting that you described, can you recall any other due diligence activity that was undertaken by you in connection with the transaction?
MR. PARADISE: Same objection.
MR. JOHNSON: I join.
A. I don't recall. I don't remember any, I don't remember any other -- other sessions.
Q. Putting aside meetings, were there other steps that you took -- for example, reviewing documents or publicly available information, or the like, that you would categorize as due diligence that you performed on this transaction?
MR. PARADISE: Same objection.
A. Sure, we -- I remember viewing publicly available documents, research reports regarding Sunbeam. I don't remember what else we did. I am sure we did other analyses as well.

Page 32

Q. As you sit here today, the due diligence that you recall performing was this meeting and reviewing public documents related to Sunbeam?
A. Yes.
Q. Is there anything else that you recall that would fit into the category of due diligence on Sunbeam that you were involved in?
A. I don't recall.
Q. I want to go back to the questions that I was asking you earlier about other transactions that you had worked on where you were advising a seller that was receiving stock as part of a deal.
In any of those other transactions, were you involved in due diligence activities that were different than attending a due diligence session like the one on the Coleman transaction or reviewing public available documents?
A. That is fairly standard. Again, it

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016402 varies from deal to deal, but no, that is really standard.

Q. Were there other transactions that you worked on where your client would be receiving stock where you took any step in addition to reviewing publicly available documents and meeting with the company's management as part of your due diligence?

MR. JOHNSON: Hold on.

MR. PARADISE: I don't think I understood the last question. I don't think the last answer he gave you was consistent with the understanding of the question that I had. You may want to go back.

If you don't mind, he was asking you whether you had any, I think, if you had done anything in addition to reviewing publicly available information and attending due diligence sessions on other M&A transactions, and you said that is pretty standard. I don't think that answered the question.

THE WITNESS: Yes. We did more than one session. We could do, a few other documents, yes. We sometimes do things differently than that one particular transaction. As I said, it is very specific to the particular deal.

Q. And on these other transactions, as you described, what are the other types of documents that you might review, other than the ones, the publicly available documents that you described?

MR. JOHNSON: Are we talking generally M&A, or are we talking sell sides where the seller gets stock?

MR. CLARE: For all of my questions, for the next brief time period we are talking about situations where the client that you are advising is receiving stock as part of a sale transaction, or they are selling either -- an interest in the company or assets.

MR. PARADISE: We are talking about any type of M&A engagement, whether it be limited or not limited to where Credit Suisse First Boston is engaged for a fairness opinion.

MR. CLARE: Correct.

MR. PARADISE: Any time of.

MR. JOHNSON: Any time of an M&A transaction or a sell side transaction where the seller is getting stock.

MR. PARADISE: I am sorry. With that caveat, but not limited to where they are only rendering a fairness opinion.

MR. CLARE: That's correct.

MR. PARADISE: Is that correct?

Q. Let me get this straight.

We are talking about the universe of transactions where CSFB is advising the client on a sell side transaction, but without regard to the type of engagement, not being limited to --

MR. JOHNSON: Objection to form. But --

MR. PARADISE: Do you understand the question?

THE WITNESS: I wanted to answer the question. I don't think there is an agreement among all of you guys.

MR. PARADISE: There is an agreement, but we are having trouble articulating it, and it is probably my fault. It is early.

Let me give it a shot.

On this transaction the Sunbeam Coleman transaction that Credit Suisse was engaged in, what Mr. Clare is asking you is, on other transactions in which you are representing the sell side company, but not necessarily limited to where you are only engaged to render a fairness opinion, have you done additional due diligence, beyond what you already described as a due diligence you performed on this transaction, on the Coleman Sunbeam transaction?

THE WITNESS: Okay.

MR. PARADISE: Does that help?

THE WITNESS: Yes.

MR. JOHNSON: Objection to the form of your question, too.

MR. CLARE: I will try it this way.

Q. What other kinds of due diligence have you done on other engagements on the sell side?

A. On the sell side?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016403

Page 37

Q. Yes.
A. From selling a company, I may, you know, talk to the company -- understand the company, as well, spend time with all of their management team.
I did that probably here -- ah, you know, we reviewed, depending upon the type of transaction, you know, there are different industries that you deal with. Certain things are more sensitive than others.
You will, several different documents. It is a very difficult thing to answer. We review important documents, depending upon the particular situation.
So, it is hard for me to answer that question in a general sense, because it is very transaction-specific.
Q. On other transactions where your client is receiving stock in exchange for selling --
A. Sure.
Q. -- an interest in a company or selling assets, have you performed other types of due diligence on the company that is issuing the stock to your client?

Page 38

A. Yes. And I think my answer to the question is: It depends on the company that is issuing the stock. Right. Because every company is unique in its own fashion, has different areas that you need to focus on.
When you say different types of due diligence, I think the answer would be Yes, and the answer would be very specific to the type of transaction you are doing and the type of stock you are receiving and the business of the acquirer.
Q. Can you give me some examples of additional due diligence that you might be able, that you have done in other circumstances like that, beyond attending a, one, due diligence session and reviewing public documents that might be appropriate for a particular transaction?
A. Sure.
MR. JOHNSON: Hold on a second. Could I hear the question back.
(Record read.)
A. Sure. I will give you one example.
Working with technology companies we often sit in on IP calls or intellectual property sessions, because that is always a very important part of the company that is issuing us the stock.

Page 39

Again, that is an example of something we may participate in, if it is extremely important.
Q. And the purpose of doing that would be to learn about a particular aspect of the issuer's business?
A. Yes. That has value, significant value. And again, as I said, every company is different; so, in technology IPs, that is important, and lower growth companies may not be as important to the overall value. That is an example.
Q. As you sit here today, are there other examples that come to mind of due diligence that you performed on those type of transactions?
A. Um, nothing that comes to mind.
Q. For example, in a transaction which your client is receiving stock from an issuing company, as part of a sell side transaction, have you ever met with the issuer's auditors to ask them questions about the financial condition of the company?

Page 40

A. Have I ever met with the issuer's auditors?
MR. PARADISE: By "issuer," you mean the company?
Q. Issuing the stock.
A. The auditors usually speak to each other and then give a report. Have I participated in a session, maybe.
But if it is a publicly available company, usually the auditor, the financials are audited or reviewed by an auditor. So -- accurate, in all material respects.
Q. You described a situation where the auditors for the two companies would talk to each other, as part of the due diligence process. Did I understand that correctly?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you recall, in connection with the Sunbeam Coleman transaction, any interaction between Coleman's auditors and Sunbeam's auditors?
A. I don't remember.
Q. You certainly did not have any involvement in it, to the best of your

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 41

recollection?
A. No.
Q. I asked you, earlier, whether, prior to the Sunbeam Coleman transaction, you had worked on any deals for MacAndrews & Forbes, and I believe you answered that you had not; is that correct?
A. Yes.
Q. This was your first introduction to MacAndrews & Forbes was this engagement?
A. Yes.
Q. By "this engagement" I am referring to CSFB's engagement in December of 1997 in connection with the Coleman Sunbeam transaction. That was your first introduction to MacAndrews & Forbes or individuals at MacAndrews & Forbes?
A. That was my first introduction to individuals at MacAndrews & Forbes, yes.
Q. Did you have an understanding that CSFB had a prior relationship with MacAndrews & Forbes and had done other work for MacAndrews & Forbes historically?
A. I did not know at the time. I was associate; so, I don't know. I don't think so. I just got staffed on a transaction, and I helped with the transaction. So.

Page 42

Q. Let's get some documents to see if we can --
A. Sure.
Q. I will hand you what we previously marked as Morgan Stanley Deposition Exhibit 230. I ask that you take a look at it.
We will come back to this document a couple times today. I will only focus you on a particular part this morning.
For the record, while you are perusing it, Exhibit 230 is a February 25th, 1998 memo from various individuals at CSFB to the investment banking committee dated February 25th, 1998. Is this the investment banking memo that you reviewed --
A. Yes.
Q. -- in preparation for the deposition today?
A. Yes.
Q. I will focus for this part of the examination on what is section 11 of the memo. It is actually also on page 11 of the memo.
It is the section entitled Credit

Page 43

Suisse First Boston's relationship and fees. Take a moment to read that paragraph to yourself and I will ask you a few questions about it.
Let me know when you are ready.
A. I am ready.
Q. The paragraph describes other transactions involving MacAndrews & Forbes and Credit Suisse First Boston.
The first one described in the paragraph is the initial public offering of the Revlon Group, wherein Credit Suisse First Boston acted as joint global coordinator?
Did you work on that transaction?
A. No.
Q. Did you have any involvement?
A. No.
Q. The second transaction described is several lead managed debt and equity financings for Coleman.
Did you work on those financing transactions, in any way?
A. No.
Q. The third one is a financial advisory assignment in the summer of 1997, in which Mafco, advised by Credit Suisse First Boston, made a final round bid on a property in a transaction that was eventually consummated by another party.

Page 44

Did you have any involvement in that transaction that is described?
A. No.
Q. And the final transaction described is in January of 1998, a lead manufacturing debt offering as part of MacAndrews & Forbes' acquisition of a controlling stake and recapitalization of Panavision. Did you have any involvement in that transaction?
A. No.
Q. That final transaction that is described there, as having taken place in January of 1998, was during the same time period that you were working on and that CSFB was working on the Sunbeam Coleman acquisition.
Putting aside whether you played a role on the transaction, on the Panavision transaction or not, did you have any understanding that CSFB was simultaneously working on that transaction for MacAndrews &

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 45

Forbes in connection with Panavision recapitalization?
A. No. I mean, other than it is in this memo, so if I looked at this memo, I may have seen it at the time that the memo was written. I don't know. I don't remember who wrote this paragraph, but --
Q. But you don't recall having, as part of the work that you were doing on the Coleman engagement, discussing work with other analysts, associates or professionals at CSFB about MacAndrews & Forbes and Panavision, what work was simultaneously going on?
A. No.
Q. Who at Coleman or MacAndrews & Forbes did you have interaction with, as part of the work you did on the Coleman Sunbeam transaction?
A. I don't remember the gentleman's name. I did not have very much interaction. I was associate. I did not have much client information at the time on this particular transaction.
There were some people, and I don't remember who I interacted with, but I just don't remember their names.

Page 46

Q. I will mention a few names to you, and if you let me know if you recall having met or spoken with them as part of this engagement.
A. Yes.
Q. Ron Perelman?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you meet or speak with Mr. Perelman on this transaction?
A. Yes.
Q. And what do you recall about your interactions with Mr. Perelman?
A. I just -- I attended a meeting. I did not really have any interaction; so, I did meet him, but that is -- that is all I remember.
Q. Do you recall the subject matter of the meeting that you attended where Mr. Perelman was present?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Or what was discussed.
A. I believe this transaction.
Q. Anything more specific than the subject matter of the transaction that you recall?

Page 47

A. Um, maybe discussed the status of the discussions. I don't remember. I don't remember.
Q. Was that your first introduction to Mr. Perelman?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you have a view as to whether Mr. Perelman was, at that time frame, highly sophisticated in mergers and acquisitions transactions?
A. Did I have a view, yes. He was a very smart -- he seemed to be a very smart man with a very good reputation. Yes.
Q. Did you have any discussions or interactions with Jim Maher?
A. Yes, he was, I believe, at that same meeting.
Q. Other than that meeting that you described, did you have any interaction with Mr. Maher or discussions with Mr. Maher?
A. Other than that meeting, no. I don't remember.
Q. The meeting that you remember where Mr. Maher was present, was the same meeting where Mr. Perelman was present?

Page 48

A. Yes.
Q. Do you recall Mr. Maher having been present at the due diligence meeting with Sunbeam that you described earlier?
A. I don't remember who was there.
Q. Do you recall that there were individuals from MacAndrews & Forbes at the due diligence meeting, even if you can't remember who they were?
A. Actually, I don't remember. I don't remember.
MR. PARADISE: Keep your voice up for the reporter's benefit.
THE WITNESS: Sure.
Q. During that time period, did you regard Mr. Maher as highly sophisticated in mergers and acquisitions transactions?
A. Yes.
Q. He appeared that way to you?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you have any meetings or discussions with Howard Gittis?
A. I believe he was at that same meeting.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016905

Q. Other than the meeting that you described, this was the same meeting with Mr. Maher and Mr. Perelman?
A. Yes.
Q. Other than that meeting, did you have any interactions or dealings with Mr. Gittis?
A. No.
Q. Will Nesbitt?
A. Yes. I believe he was at that same meeting.
Q. Did you have other interaction with Mr. Nesbitt, besides the meeting that you described?
A. We may have had some conversations over the course of the transaction. I vaguely remember that we probably spoke once or twice.
Q. Mr. Nesbitt was your counterpart at MacAndrews & Forbes, in terms of relative seniority?
A. No. I don't think so. I think he was more senior than I was at the time.
Q. Would it be fair to say that Mr. Nesbitt was your primary point of contact at MacAndrews & Forbes for this transaction, in terms of frequency of interaction?

MR. JOHNSON: Objection to form.
A. Yes, yes. I don't know. I did not have very much interaction, but I don't know.
Q. What conversations do you recall having with Mr. Nesbitt about the Coleman --
A. I don't really remember any conversations that I may have participated in -- if he called Rob Duffy or something, but I don't remember having any substantive conversations.
Q. Did you receive information from Mr. Nesbitt or anyone at MacAndrews & Forbes about Coleman, for purposes of your model?
A. Maybe. I don't remember. I don't remember. It has been so long ago. Potentially. Potentially.
Q. Did you have interactions with people at the Coleman Company, management of the, the camping goods, Mr. Jerry Levin or Jerald Page, those individuals in connection with the transaction?
A. I believe I met Mr. Levin, but I don't remember -- I think it was maybe at that same meeting.

Q. Was there someone at the Coleman Company that provided you with input or information about Coleman for your modeling purposes?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Did you have an awareness or understanding from any source that in the fourth quarter of 1997, in the first quarter of 1998, that CSFB was also a lender to the Coleman Company?
A. No.
Q. Did you have any discussions with bankers at CSFB regarding what Coleman's credit position was with regards to its outstanding loans?
A. I don't remember having any discussions.
Q. There were two CSFB professionals, Julia Kingsberry and Joel Gloudowski, whose names have appeared on some documents that we have looked at.
Do you recall any discussion with either Ms. Kingsberry or Mr. Glodowski about Coleman or the transaction?
A. Those names are not familiar to me.

Q. I will hand you what we previously marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit Number 315.
I will ask you that you take a look at it. Given your prior testimony, I think we will probably move through this document fairly quickly, but I wanted to ask you a few questions about it.
A. All right.
Q. Let me know after you have had an opportunity to peruse it and I will point you to specific parts of it and I will ask you about them.
A. Okay.
Q. This is a document that Mr. Gloudowski's and Ms. Kingsberry's names appear on behalf of Credit Suisse First Boston.
Having seen this document, does it refresh your recollection in any way that they were professionals involved in a lending relationship with the Coleman Company?
A. It doesn't refresh my recollection at all.
Q. Have you ever seen this document before?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 53

A. I don't recall seeing this document.
Q. The document is dated the same day as the closing of the acquisition transactions, March 30th, 1998, and it describes, in the first few paragraphs here, the repayment of obligations that Coleman Company had.
Did you have any involvement, quite apart from this document, in the mechanics or the modeling of Coleman's payback of debt in connection with the closing of the transaction?
A. No.
Q. In the subject line of this letter, Morgan Stanley Exhibit 315, it describes Credit Suisse First Boston as an agent for certain lenders, and also as having issued certain letters of credit.
In 1997, or 1998, did you have any knowledge that Credit Suisse First Boston had that role?
A. No.
Q. The document on page 1 over to 2, describes the various payoff figures for aspects of the loan, adding up to $82.7

Page 54

million.
Do you have an understanding from any source as to how much of that money was owed to Credit Suisse First Boston versus the other lenders?
A. No.
Q. Put that document aside. Before we get into the specific chronology, I would like to ask you to explain in your own words what role you played on the transaction or this engagement. What were your responsibilities?
A. Did we cover that or was that -- you asked about what the role of the associate was?
Q. I think I asked, specifically, what role an associate may have on that transaction.
What I would like to get now is your recollection, as best you can remember, of what you were asked to do and what you did do in connection with the acquisition transaction.
A. I assisted with preparing the financial models for the transaction.
Q. You also testified that you attended one due diligence session.

Page 55

A. Aha.
Q. One due diligence session?
A. Aha. Yes.
Q. Were you tasked with performing due diligence on behalf of Coleman or MacAndrews & Forbes; is that the reason why you had attended that session? Is that a separate responsibility or was your attendance at that session part of your understanding of the company for purposes of your model?
MR. JOHNSON: Objection to form.
A. Um, I guess my understanding of the diligence was to understand the company for purposes of the model. That was my role.
Q. Did you participate in any of the price negotiations with Sunbeam?
A. No.
Q. Did you participate in any meetings or telephone conferences with Sunbeam management, other than that one due diligence session that you described?
A. I don't recall any. There may have been a conversation, but I don't know.
Q. Do you recall whether Al Dunlap was present at the meeting that you attended?

Page 56

A. I don't recall that.
Q. Do you recall ever having been on the telephone conference or in a meeting with Mr. Dunlap as part of your work on this engagement?
A. I don't recall any conversations.
Q. Were you involved in the preparation of materials that were presented by CSFB to the Coleman board of directors?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you attend the board meetings of the Coleman board of directors in connection with the acquisition transaction?
A. No.
Q. Did you have an understanding as to why MacAndrews & Forbes was interested in selling its interest in Coleman?
A. No.
Q. Did you have an understanding that MacAndrews & Forbes had engaged in prior efforts to sell its interest in Coleman before its discussions with Sunbeam?
A. No. I don't think so.
Q. Earlier, you described

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 57

transactions -- or "projects," I think you called them -- that don't mature into actual closed acquisition transactions.

Were you involved in any projects unconsummated that related to the Coleman Company, prior to these discussions with Sunbeam?

A. No.

Q. In connection with the engagement, were you aware of any efforts by MacAndrews & Forbes to talk with other potential purchasers, in parallel with Sunbeam, to engage interest in purchasing?

A. I was not aware of any.

Q. Were you ever asked to prepare sell side materials for MacAndrews & Forbes or for Coleman to describe Coleman to potential purchasers?

A. Not that I remember, no.

Q. Did you ever hear anyone say, in words or substance, that MacAndrews & Forbes was interested in selling its interest in Coleman because Coleman was underperforming?

A. No.

Q. Or that Coleman's financial condition was deteriorating?

Page 58

A. No

Q. Did you ever hear anyone say, in words or substance, that MacAndrews & Forbes was interested in selling its interest in Coleman because it needed to raise cash or other assets for other MacAndrews & Forbes companies?

A. No.

Q. Did you ever hear any discussion, either internally at CSFB or at MacAndrews & Forbes, about what MacAndrews & Forbes planned to do with the proceeds that it received from the transaction?

A. No.

Q. Under the merger agreement that was ultimately signed, MacAndrews & Forbes retained the right to pledge its shares of Sunbeam that it received as part of the consideration to secure debt obligations. I am making that representation to you.

Did you have any discussions with MacAndrews & Forbes about their plans in that regard, or their interest in retaining that right?

Page 59

A. No, I did not have any discussions.

Q. Were you involved in any discussions, either internally at MacAndrews & Forbes or externally with Sunbeam or Morgan Stanley, about the form of consideration that would be used in that acquisition transaction?

A. No.

Q. Do you have an understanding that, at some point in the transaction, an all cash deal was discussed between the parties?

A. No.

Q. As you sit here today, are you aware that the transaction, as ultimately consummated, involved a cash component paid to MacAndrews & Forbes, a stock component, Sunbeam stock component paid to MacAndrews & Forbes, and also that certain debt was assumed?

A. Yes.

Q. You have that recollection?

A. Yes.

Q. Were you involved in any discussions with MacAndrews & Forbes about the financial benefits that it would achieve by structuring the transaction that way?

Page 60

A. No.

Q. Were you aware of any restrictions or limits in place on MacAndrews & Forbes or any of its holding companies that would make it beneficial, either from a tax or accounting standpoint, to structure the transaction as a mixture of cash, stock and debt assumption?

A. No.

Q. During the meeting that you described with Mr. Perelman and Mr. Maher and Mr. Gittis, where they were present -- and maybe Mr. Nesbitt, I think you said, also may have been present at the meeting, but during that meeting -- whoever the participants were, was there a discussion about accepting Sunbeam stock as part of the consideration for the merger?

A. I don't remember.

Q. Do you recall anyone suggesting, in words or in substance, that it was a bad idea to take Sunbeam stock?

A. No.

Q. Did you have any discussions with Mr. Levin about his views on the growth potential for Sunbeam stock?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 61

A. No.
Q. Have you ever met Mr. Don Drapkin?
He is a MacAndrews & Forbes person. Was he someone that you had any interaction with?
A. He may have been at that meeting, I don't know.
Q. Do you recall Mr. Drapkin expressing any views with regard to whether accepting Sunbeam stock was a good idea or a bad idea?
A. No.
Q. During any of your discussions with MacAndrews & Forbes, was there any discussion about Al Dunlap accepting stock in a company that was being run by Mr. Dunlap?
A. No.
MR. JOHNSON: Objection to form.
Q. Did you or others, to your knowledge, do any research on Mr. Dunlap's history and performance at other companies that he had been at as part of your research on Sunbeam?
A. I don't remember doing any specific research, although he was a well-known CEO at the time; so, we may have had an understanding about the companies that he had run for Sunbeam. But I don't remember if we did any specific research on it.

Page 62

Q. Were you aware that Mr. Dunlap had a reputation of being a turnaround specialist for companies?
A. What do you mean by a turnaround specialist?
Q. Taking underperforming companies, cost cutting, and turning around underperformers into growth-oriented companies.
A. Yes. Yes.
Q. Did you understand that he had previously been at a series of companies where he had turned them around in the way that I just described?
A. I think so.
Q. Did you know, in the fourth quarter of 1997 and the first quarter of 1998, that Mr. Dunlap had been an executive at Scott Paper Company before coming to Sunbeam?
A. Um, maybe. If you ask me to name the companies that he was the COO, I could not do it today, but maybe back then I had an understanding that he was.

Page 63

Q. Did you conduct any research or did anyone conduct any research, to your knowledge, about Mr. Dunlap's tenure at Scott Paper and the achievements that he had claimed to have created at Scott Paper?
A. I don't remember. Maybe.
Q. In the fourth quarter of 1997, the first quarter of 1998, did you have any reason to question Mr. Dunlap's honesty and integrity as a chief executive officer?
A. No.
Q. Did you ever hear anyone say, in words or substance, that there was a reason to question Mr. Dunlap's honesty or integrity?
A. No.
Q. Or any other member of the Sunbeam management team?
A. No.
Q. One of the components of the acquisition transaction was the assumption of debt by Sunbeam of debt held by Coleman and other holding companies affiliated with the transaction.
Were you part of any conversations with MacAndrews & Forbes about the benefits to be achieved from including a debt assumption as part of the compensation package?

Page 64

A. I don't remember any. There may have been.
Q. We looked, earlier, at a document that suggested that, at the same time, there was a recapitalization project going on.
Do you recall any discussions about the need for MacAndrews & Forbes or any of its holding companies to remove debt from its books in order to achieve these other financing transaction that it was simultaneously working on?
A. No.
MR. PARADISE: Tom, whenever it is convenient, could we take a short rest room break?
MR. CLARE: Sure.
Okay, why don't we take it now.
MR. PARADISE: And keep it short.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: The time is 10:50 a.m., and we are going off the video record.
(Recess.)

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 65

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Stand by. The time is 11:04 a.m., and we are back on the video record.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Mr. Geller, before the break I was asking you some questions about what role you played on the transaction.
Maybe you can just give me a flavor of what it was like on the transaction on a day-to-day basis. I mean, how did you interact with other people on the team, and how did you get information for your models? What role did you perform on a day-to-day basis?
MR. JOHNSON: Objection to form and to the several questions loaded in there, as well.
A. Can we start question by question?
Q. Sure.
Describe for me your day-to-day role on the transaction.
A. I did, read research reports. I put together the financial models to help evaluate the transaction.
Q. Did you perform all of this work in

Page 66

New York?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you ever travel to Florida in connection with the work on this engagement?
A. No.
Q. Did you ever travel outside of the State of New York?
A. No.
Q. How did you receive the financial information for your models?
A. I don't remember. Myself or Rob Duffy probably received the information for the models.
Q. What do you recall as the source of information about Sunbeam for your models? Where did you get the financial information about Sunbeam?
A. Well, probably, I don't remember exactly, but probably publicly available information on Sunbeam -- SEC filings, as an example; research reports, as an example. And probably from Morgan Stanley and from Sunbeam.
Q. What information do you recall getting from Morgan Stanley about Sunbeam?
A. I don't recall any specific information from either Morgan Stanley or Sunbeam. I probably received documents and I couldn't tell you exactly who gave them to me or to Rob.

Page 67

Q. As you sit here today, do you recall having received any document from Morgan Stanley about Sunbeam?
A. No.
Q. As you sit here today, do you recall receiving any document from Sunbeam about Sunbeam's financial condition?
A. No. So, one of the two most likely sent us the documents about, most likely sent us the information about Sunbeam, but I don't remember who did specifically send it to us.
Q. How did you get staffed on this transaction?
A. I received a call from our staffer probably, and they said you are going to, you are going to work on this transaction.
Q. What instructions were you given about the transaction?
A. I don't remember.
Q. What stage of discussions with Sunbeam was the transaction at when you first got involved?

Page 68

A. I don't remember.
Q. Was it your sense that you were involved from an early point in the discussion, or did you come in later, closer to the signing of the merger agreement, if you recall?
A. I don't know all of the discussions; so, I don't know what stage we came in.
Q. Can you estimate the number of weeks or months or days that you were working on this engagement?
A. I would estimate a couple of months, maybe.
Q. I hand you a document that we have previously marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 169, a December 10th, 1997 letter from CSFB addressed to the Coleman Company.
Have you seen this document before?
A. Yes.
Q. Is this the engagement letter that you reviewed in preparing for your deposition today?
A. Yes.
Q. Were you involved in any way in

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

017611

Page 69

preparing the engagement letter for this transaction?
A. I don't remember doing this particular engagement letter or being involved.
Q. Do you recall any discussions about the scope of CSFB's engagement, or for what services CSFB was being retained for?
A. No.
Q. The first paragraph of the letter describes CSFB as the exclusive financial adviser with respect to the evaluation of a proposed transaction with the company, code named Laser; do you see that language?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you understand that the Laser was a code name for the Sunbeam company?
A. Yes.
Q. And Morgan Stanley Exhibit 169, the engagement letter, describes CSFB as the exclusive financial adviser with respect to evaluating the proposed transaction with Sunbeam.
Are you aware of any other financial advisers that were engaged by Coleman to evaluate a proposed transaction with Sunbeam?

Page 70

A. No.
Q. Are you aware of any other financial adviser, other than CSFB, that was engaged by MacAndrews & Forbes in connection with evaluating the proposed transaction with Sunbeam?
A. No.
Q. The engagement letter in the second paragraph contains a number of sub-parts that describe the tasks that CSFB may be asked to perform.
The first one discusses that CSFB would, if appropriate and requested, assist Coleman in analyzing and evaluating the business operation and financial position of the company, which is defined as the Coleman Company.
Did you play a role in analyzing or evaluating the business operation and financial position of the Coleman Company as part of the engagement?
A. Yes. I believe so.
Q. What understanding did you have as to the financial position of Coleman at the time?

Page 71

A. I don't remember.
Q. Do you recall, generally, that Coleman was underperforming versus other companies in the market?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Are you aware of any other financial adviser that assisted Coleman in analyzing its and evaluating its business for purposes of a proposed transaction?
A. No.
Q. In connection with the work that you did, you were not asked to coordinate or assist with any other financial adviser in that regard?
A. No.
Q. The paragraph (b) states that: "If appropriate and requested, CSFB would assist Coleman in evaluating proposals, any proposal which is received from Laser. Sunbeam."
Were you involved in evaluating proposals received from Sunbeam?
A. I don't remember. We may have summarized proposals from Sunbeam. So, I don't remember. I was associate; so, I may have received a proposal and analyzed it.

Page 72

Q. As you sit here today, do you recall receiving term sheets or other proposals related to consideration amounts in analyzing the economics of them to MacAndrews & Forbes or Coleman?
A. I believe so. I believe so.
Q. In connection with that, was part of the work that you did evaluating the potential value of Sunbeam's stock that would be received by Coleman and MacAndrews & Forbes as part of the transaction?
MR. JOHNSON: Objection to form.
A. I believe. I believe we analyzed that relative to the publicly available information and made assessment, yes.
Q. Do you recall any analysis or evaluation of the value of Sunbeam's stock apart from the publicly available information?
A. I think, yes, we received the strategic plan, I believe, as we discussed earlier.
Q. And you are referring to the Sunbeam document that you recall receiving at the due diligence meeting?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 73

A. Yes.
Q. Other than the Sunbeam strategic plan, which you received at the meeting, do you recall any other data or information that you considered in evaluating the value of Sunbeam stock?
A. I don't remember.
Q. The next paragraph describes that, if appropriate and requested, CSFB would assist Coleman in structuring and negotiating the proposed transaction with Sunbeam.
Did you play any role in the structuring or negotiating the transaction with Sunbeam?
A. No.
Q. The next paragraph states that: "If appropriate and requested, CSFB would meet with the board of directors to discuss the proposed transaction and its financial implications."
I think we established earlier that you did not attend any of the board meetings; is that correct?
A. No, I don't remember --
Q. You were involved in preparing information that was presented to the board?

Page 74

A. Yes.
Q. And the final paragraph describes rendering a fairness opinion.
Were you involved in the preparation of a fairness opinion?
A. Of the actual document?
Q. Or the analysis that led to it.
A. Yes.
Q. What role did you play in the analysis of the fairness opinion?
A. I helped prepare the financial models.
Q. And other than the sources of information that you have already described, publicly available information and the Sunbeam long-range strategic plan, were there other sources of information about Sunbeam that fed into that analysis work that you did for the fairness opinion?
A. I don't remember. I may have received information about the benefits of the transaction, as well. The cost savings, as an example.
Q. Do you recall, as you sit here today, receiving information about the benefits of the transaction and the cost savings from anyone at Morgan Stanley?

Page 75

A. No.
Q. The paragraph on the bottom of page 1 of the engagement letter describes that the company, Coleman, "will furnish CSFB with all information concerning the company or CSFB reasonably deems appropriate, will provide CSFB with access to the company's officers, directors, employees, accountants, counsel and other representatives."
Do you recall meeting with representatives of the company, specifically its accountants or attorneys, with regard to the engagement transaction work that you did?
A. Sorry. Can you just repeat that --
Q. Sure.
A. I --
Q. Do you recall having met with officers, directors, employees and accountants, counsel or other representatives of Coleman in connection with the engagement?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you recall meeting with any of

Page 76

Coleman's accountants, Ernst & Young?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Do you recall any interaction with Ernst & Young on the engagement at all?
A. I don't recall any.
Q. Do you recall any interaction with Coleman's attorneys for the transaction, attorneys at the Wachtel Lipton firm?
A. I don't believe I had any interaction. I may have sent a fax or two to them, but I don't believe I had any interaction.
Q. Who at Coleman was the source of your information about Coleman and its financial condition?
A. I don't remember. I don't remember who sent it to us.
Q. I would like you to turn to page 2, please. Towards the bottom middle of the page, there is a paragraph that states: "If we are requested to render an opinion, the nature and scope of our analysis, as well as the form and substance of our opinion, shall be as we deem appropriate."
Is that consistent with your

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 77

understanding of how the work on this engagement was performed?
In other words, CSFB determined the nature and scope of the analysis that went into the fairness opinion?
MR. JOHNSON: Objection to form.
A. I don't remember.
Q. Is that standard or typical for the engagements that you have worked on, that CSFB makes the determination about the nature and scope of analysis that will be performed prior to rendering a fairness opinion?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you recall that being any different in this transaction?
A. No.
Q. Did anyone from Coleman or MacAndrews & Forbes place any limits on the nature or scope of CSFB's analysis?
A. Not that I recall.
Q. Did anyone from Coleman or MacAndrews & Forbes ever prevent CSFB or you from conducting any investigation or performing any analysis that you wanted to perform?

Page 78

A. Not that I recall.
Q. Do you recall anyone from Sunbeam placing any limits on the information that you had requested from Sunbeam?
A. Not that I recall.
Q. Do you recall anyone from Morgan Stanley placing any limits or the nature or the scope of your analysis of Sunbeam?
A. No.
Q. Turn to the third page, please. The next to last paragraph, it describes the agreement being construed "governed in accordance with the laws of the State of New York," and I asked you whether you recall having traveled outside of the State of New York for this engagement. I think you said that you had not.
Do you know if Mr. Rich or any other member of the CSFB team traveled outside of New York in connection with this engagement?
A. I don't know.
Q. Was the team that worked on this transaction from CSFB based or headquartered in New York?
A. Yes.

Page 79

Q. Did you participate in any telephone conferences or conversations with participants who you recall being present in Florida -- on the call --
A. Maybe. I don't remember.
Q. You did recall being present at a due diligence meeting, an in-person meeting; correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Did that meeting take place in New York?
A. Yes.
Q. Other than that one meeting, do you recall having participated in any telephone conferences with representatives of Sunbeam?
A. I don't remember. I don't recall.
Q. As you sit here today, you are unable to recall any other direct communication that you had with Sunbeam employees?
A. Correct.
Q. Would you put that document aside. What was your understanding of Morgan Stanley's role in the transaction?
A. Financial adviser to Sunbeam.

Page 80

Q. Did anyone ever state to you, in words or in substance, that Morgan Stanley was serving as an adviser to MacAndrews & Forbes?
A. No.
Q. Did anyone state to you, in words or substance, that Morgan Stanley was serving as an adviser to the Coleman Company?
A. No.
Q. Did you ever observe Morgan Stanley to provide financial advice to the Coleman Company?
A. No.
Q. Did you ever observe Morgan Stanley to provide financial advice to MacAndrews & Forbes?
A. No.
Q. Did anyone ever tell you, in words or in substance, that Morgan Stanley would have some responsibility for performing due diligence on behalf of MacAndrews & Forbes?
A. No.
Q. Did anyone ever tell you, in words or substance, that Morgan Stanley would have some responsibility for performing due diligence on behalf of the Coleman Company?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 81

A. No.
Q. Did you ask anyone from Morgan Stanley to review your model?
A. No.
Q. Did you ask anyone from Morgan Stanley to review the materials that you were preparing for the Coleman board?
A. No.
Q. Mr. Geller, I will hand a document that has been previously marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 75.
This is a lengthy document, the first three pages of which are a letter from an attorney at the firm of Wachtel Lipton Rosen & Katz, and it is addressed to the SEC. I don't have any reason to believe Mr. Geller that you have ever seen this document before.
I will represent to you that this document was produced to us in the litigation and it attaches, as Exhibit A, a chronology that was prepared by the Wachtel Lipton firm and presented to the SEC in this transaction, and it describes meetings and conversations that took place.
And I am going to ask you some questions not about the document, but about the transactions that, the meetings that are referred to here, perhaps in a way of structuring the rest of our discussion.

Page 82

So that is the reason that I am providing you with this document.
A. Okay.
Q. If you want to flip ahead to the page, the first page of Exhibit A --
A. Okay.
Q. It describes a telephone call in early December of 1997 between Mr. Dunlap and Mr. Perelman.
And it describes these conversations beginning in early December of 1997. Is that roughly consistent with the time frame that you think you and others at CSFB got involved?
MR. JOHNSON: Objection to form.
A. Yes.
Q. The second entry on the chronology, is a December 12th, 1997 meeting. It describes the meeting between Mr. Levin, Mr. Shapiro and Mr. Page, on behalf of Coleman. A meeting with Mr. Fannin and Mr. Kersh and Mr. Langerman, on behalf of

Page 83

Sunbeam. You are not shown as having participated in that meeting.
Did you have any knowledge or understanding that that meeting was going to take place?
A. I don't remember.
Q. There was a reference here to potential synergies that could result from a combination of Sunbeam and Coleman.
In preparation for the discussions with Sunbeam, were you asked to prepare or consider a model for synergies that might be achieved during the negotiations?
A. I don't remember if we prepared anything, synergies in particular.
Q. There are some names in this entry that we have not talked about before. It makes reference to a Mr. Fannin, and he is described as the executive vice president and counsel and secretary of Sunbeam.
Did you have any dealings with Mr. Fannin, at any point during your work on the engagement?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Do you remember, do you recall whether Mr. Fannin was present at the due diligence meeting that you remember attending?

Page 84

A. I don't remember.
Q. The next entry is for Russell Kersh in this document. He is described as the vice-chairman and chief financial officer of Sunbeam.
Do you recall meetings or conversations with Mr. Kersh of Sunbeam?
A. I remember the name, but I don't remember what interaction I had with him.
Q. Do you remember if Mr. Kersh was at the due diligence meeting that you recall attending?
A. I don't remember.
Q. I will hand you, and just keep this document in front of you for a minute, we will come right back to it.
A. All right.
Q. I will hand you what has been marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 78. I will ask you to take a look at it.
The first page of Morgan Stanley Exhibit 78 is a fax cover page dated December 15th, 1997. And attached to the cover page is a one-page itemization of 15 items, totaling $150.5 million.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016415

Page 85

A. Okay.
Q. The first thing I want to do is establish the chronology for this document. If you look at the message on the first page of the fax message, the first sentence refers to a meeting having taken place on a Friday. December 15th, 1997 was a Monday; so, the Friday before was December 12th. I will make those representations to you.
A. Yes.
Q. The first paragraph of the fax transmittal letter describes this as a one-page list of issues which, "C," provided to the Sunbeam representatives during the December 12th meeting, and the fax cover sheet describes the attachment as identified synergies and cost savings in putting the two companies together.
Now I will ask you to flip over to the second page with that background. I will ask you if you have ever seen the second page of Morgan Stanley Exhibit 78 before.
MR. JOHNSON: Objection to the form of the question.

Page 86

A. I don't remember if I saw this particular exhibit.
Q. Do you recall having seen a document like this before that identifies synergies, potential synergies in an itemization of these 15 items or similar items?
A. Yes.
MR. JOHNSON: Objection to form.
Q. Do you recall having seen them in the fourth quarter of 1997, first quarter of 1998, or since then?
A. I think, back then, I remember.
Q. That was part of the information that you used in your financial model?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you know who prepared this document, this specific exhibit, the second page of Morgan Stanley Exhibit 78?
A. No.
Q. Do you know if CSFB had any involvement in preparing it?
A. I don't believe so.
Q. Were you ever asked to do any work to determine if the figures identified on this page totaling $150,000,000 were reasonable?

Page 87

A. I don't recall doing any work.
Q. Do you recall ever being asked to perform that function?
A. No.
Q. Do you recall any discussions with Morgan Stanley about potential synergies?
A. No.
Q. Do you recall being part of any discussions with Sunbeam about synergies that might be, could be achieved from the transaction?
A. I don't recall any.
Q. Was the subject of synergies discussed at the due diligence meeting that you recall attending?
A. Maybe. I don't remember.
Q. As you sit here today, you can't recall any reference to synergies during that meeting?
A. I can't recall, no.
Q. You described having seen documents that contained an itemization of synergies from the transaction.
A. Yes.

Page 88

Q. Were those figures in the documents that you were describing revised through the course of your work?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Do you recall meetings or discussions with the Coleman Company or MacAndrews & Forbes where those figures were adjusted up or down?
A. I don't recall.
Q. You can put that document aside.
Going back to the December 12th entry on the chronology. The first meeting described thereunder, December 12th.
Do you have an understanding from any source about what transpired during that meeting between Coleman and Sunbeam?
A. I don't remember.
Q. The second paragraph on that same date describes a meeting between Mr. Perelman and Mr. Gittis and Mr. Maher and Mr. Rich and Mr. Levin, discussing a potential transaction with Coleman and Sunbeam.
This is the first time in the chronology that CSFB shows up as having been involved.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Do you recall having attending that meeting?
A. No, I don't recall.
Q. The meeting that you attended with, some of those same participants were Mr. Perelman and Mr. Maher and other individuals from MacAndrews & Forbes.
Was it your sense that that was the initial discussion between CSFB and MacAndrews & Forbes about it, or did you have a sense that there had been prior discussions?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Did Mr. Rich ever describe to you conversations of his meetings with MacAndrews & Forbes that you had not attended?
MR. JOHNSON: Any meeting or this one?
A. Did he ever?
Q. Any meeting.
A. When you say described, just --
Q. Did he ever relay the substance of what took place at the meeting?
A. No.
Q. The next two entries on the chronology, December 16th and December 17th, you are listed as a participant in those meetings.

I would like you to read the entries for both of those meetings, please, and let me know when you are ready.
A. Okay.
Q. Do you recall attending these meetings?
A. I recall attending one, but -- I recall attending one.
Q. What do you recall about the meeting that you attended? What was discussed?
A. I don't remember. I think we probably prepared some materials, um, discussed them. I don't remember. I don't remember the specifics and substance.
Q. Do you recall providing the individuals from MacAndrews & Forbes with a compilation of publicly available information about Sunbeam?
A. I don't recall. Maybe.
Q. The next entry on the page describes a December -- December 18th, on the next page, describes a meeting between Mr. Perelman, Mr. Dunlap and Mr. Price. And it takes place the day or two after the meetings that you were participating in.

Do you recall, as part of the meeting that you attended, preparation being made for a meeting between Mr. Perelman and Mr. Dunlap?
MR. JOHNSON: Objection to form.
A. Maybe. Maybe. I don't remember.
Q. Did you understand that Mr. Perelman and Mr. Dunlap were going to have direct communications or negotiations about a potential transaction?
A. Yes.
Q. And how did you have that understanding?
A. I don't remember if I heard it at the meeting or if I heard it secondhand.
Q. Were you or others at CSFB asked to perform any particular work to help get Mr. Perelman ready for that meeting?
A. I was not asked -- no, by anybody, but we may have prepared some materials, as we talked about the meeting prior to that day for that meeting.
Q. At the meeting that you attended, did anyone present express any views about Sunbeam as a potential acquisition partner?

A. I don't remember.
Q. Positive or negative.
A. I don't remember.
Q. Do you recall anyone during the meeting that you attended expressing concern about entering into a transaction with Mr. Dunlap?
A. No.
Q. Would you turn to the next page of the document. It is the document that, the page, rather, that begins with December, the December 18th entry, which I already asked you about.
I would like you to look at the third entry on the page. There is a reference made to William Reid, that is described as a managing director of Morgan Stanley.
Did you have any interaction with Mr. Reid?
A. Sorry, I don't see it on the page.
MR. JOHNSON: I think you confused him about what page you were on.
MR. PARADISE: The third paragraph

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 93

on the next page.
THE WITNESS: Sorry, page 3.
Q. Sorry, it is the second page of the chronology.
A. Sure.
Q. Just so we are all on the same page, literally.
MR. PARADISE: There it is.
Q. We are looking at the Bates number CPH 1401529.
A. Yes. I see it.
Q. I am looking at the third entry of the page bearing the date early January, 1998. There is a reference there to Mr. Reid, described as a managing director of Morgan Stanley.
Having had a conversation with Mr. Perelman, did you have any interactions with Mr. Reid? Is that a name that is familiar to you in connection with this engagement?
A. It is not a name that is familiar. I don't remember having any interactions with him.
Q. Do you recall anyone from MacAndrews

Page 94

& Forbes advising you that Mr. Reid had called Mr. Perelman, as described here?
A. No.
Q. The same page, the entry for January 29th, 1998, the final paragraph on the page, it describes a meeting between Mr. Stynes, Mr. Fuchs, Mr. Chang, Mr. Fannin and Mr. Kersh, and were also present Mr. Levin, Mr. Page, Mr. Shapiro, Mr. Maher, Mr. Nesbitt and Mr. Rich. Obviously, Mr. Rich is from CSFB.
Do you recall having attended this meeting, the January 29th meeting with Mr. Rich, as described here in this entry?
A. No.
Q. There are some names here that we have not seen before.
Mr. Stynes, do you have any interaction or recollection of dealings with Mr. Stynes?
A. I don't have any recollection.
Q. Mr. Fuchs? Alex Fuchs.
A. I don't have any recollection, but I may have.
Q. Mr. Stynes and Mr. Fuchs were both

Page 95

Morgan Stanley representatives. Does that refresh your recollection about any dealings that you might have had with them?
A. I just don't remember the names, but we probably did.
Q. Mr. Chang, Tyrone Chang, also with Morgan Stanley?
A. I don't remember.
Q. The January 29th meeting describes some additional discussion about potential synergies that could be created from the combination.
Do you have any understanding about what was discussed about synergies during this time period, January, late January of 1998?
A. No.
Q. The document makes reference to a discussion about how the companies might proceed with due diligence and related matters if Sunbeam made an acceptable proposal.
Did you have any understanding about how due diligence would be conducted if Sunbeam made an acceptable proposal?
A. No.
Q. Other than attending the one due diligence meeting, did you have an understanding of any other due diligence performed by MacAndrews & Forbes on Sunbeam?

Page 96

A. No.
Q. Do you recall any discussion of a confidentiality agreement or agreements between the parties to facilitate due diligence?
A. No.
Q. I will hand you what we marked previously as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 206.
A. Thank you.
Q. The Wall Street Journal article dated January 29th, 1998, the same day as the meeting that we were just looking at. Read as much of it as you would like and let me know and I will ask you some specific questions about it.
A. Okay.
Q. Do you recall seeing this article in January of 1998, or do you recall the events that are described in the article?
A. Vaguely. Not really.
Q. The first paragraph of the article reports that Sunbeam reported fourth quarter

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

16div-024562

Page 97

earnings for the four quarter of 1997, that fell slightly short of analysts' expectations.

Do you recall, in connection with the work that you were doing, being aware that Sunbeam had reported fourth quarter 1997 earnings that were short of analysts' expectations?

A. I don't recall.

Q. During this time period, were you and others at CSFB monitoring public announcements of public filings by Sunbeam?

A. I don't remember, but probably.

Q. That would have been a standard part of your practice for engagements that were active?

A. Yes.

Q. The same paragraph describes a 9.5 percent drop in the price of Sunbeam shares on that announcement of fourth quarter earnings below analysts' expectations. Do you recall, during January of 1998, almost a 10 percent drop in the Sunbeam share price entering into any of the work that you did?

A. I don't remember.

Q. Do you recall any discussions internally at CSFB about the impact that this announcement or decline in price might have on the economics of the transaction?

Page 98

A. I don't remember.

(Witness and counsel confer.)

MR. PARADISE: When we get to a breaking point, the witness would like to go to the bathroom.

THE WITNESS: Do I need permission?

MR. CLARE: We will be happy to accommodate that. Let's just get through this document, if that is all right.

MR. PARADISE: In the future you can direct that request to Mr. Clare.

Q. The subheading on the first column, "reaction of analysts," the paragraph states that "analysts had lowered their 1998 and 1999 earning estimates."

(Phone ringing.)

THE WITNESS: I apologize.

Q. That's okay.

Do you recall being aware, during the first quarter of 1998, that several analysts had lowered their earnings estimates for Sunbeam for the reasons stated here, specifically that the company's earnings wouldn't accelerate as fast as had been expected?

Page 99

A. I don't remember.

Q. During this time period, to the extent that analysts had come out with reports on Sunbeam, those things that you would have collected and reviewed as part of your work --

A. Yes.

Q. You would have been aware of any revisions to analysts' thinkings that were issued during this time period?

A. Most likely, yes

Q. Do you recall any discussion with MacAndrews & Forbes or Coleman about the view on The Street that Sunbeam's earnings would not accelerate as fast as had been previously expected?

A. I don't recall.

Q. Do you recall any discussions about what impact that might have on the economics of the transaction for MacAndrews & Forbes?

A. I don't recall.

Q. Did it play a role in the modeling work that you did?

Page 100

A. I don't recall.

MR. PARADISE: "It," being the lowering of the analyst --

MR. CLARE: Correct.

Q. The modeling work that you did, did it include projections of earnings for Sunbeam into future financial periods?

A. Yes.

Q. If Wall Street analysts had reduced their projections for those future time periods, would that have played a role in your thinking about those projections?

A. It most likely would have.

Q. As you sit here today, you don't recall whether it did or did not?

A. I don't recall.

Q. Do you recall any discussions with your colleagues at CSFB about whether less optimistic or aggressive projections were warranted for Sunbeam?

A. I don't recall.

Q. Do you recall anyone from CSFB or MacAndrews & Forbes suggesting that the projections for Sunbeam for future time periods needed to be scaled back or discounted

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

01644 19

Page 101

in some way?
A. I don't recall.
Q. We will look at some documents a little later on that were presented to the board. There are different financial cases that were presented.
There is one which appears in the document that is described as the Sunbeam long-range strategic plan case and there is another case that is described as the base case.
A. Okay.
Q. Do you recall that, generally? I am not trying to trick you here. We will look at the documents. Do you recall, generally, that different financial cases were presented to the board of directors?
A. No. I don't recall.
MR. PARADISE: Before you start this new line, can we take a short break?
MR. CLARE: Sure. I am still working on the document.
MR. PARADISE: Are you? Okay.
THE WITNESS: Yes.
MR. CLARE: Two minutes.

Page 102

THE WITNESS: Okay. Two minutes.
Q. Do you recall any impact that Sunbeam's fourth quarter earnings announcement had, if any, on the decision to present multiple cases to the board of directors?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Do you recall what the impetus of that decision was?
A. No.
MR. CLARE: Why don't we take our break.
THE WITNESS: Thank you.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: The time is 11:47 a.m. and this completes tape number 1.
(Recess.)
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Stand by. The time is 11:54 a.m. and this begins tape number 2.
Q. Mr. Geller, I am handing you two exhibits that were previously marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 133 and Morgan Stanley Exhibit 101. I will ask you to take a look at them.
A. Okay.
Q. Morgan Stanley Exhibit 133 a February 4th letter from the Coleman Company addressed to Sunbeam Corporation.

Page 103

It is a confidentiality agreement governing material provided by Coleman to Sunbeam during the due diligence.
Have you ever seen this document in any form before today?
A. I don't remember seeing it.
Q. Were you aware during, the time of the engagement, that due diligence was being conducted on Coleman by Sunbeam pursuant to a confidentiality agreement?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Do you have an understanding, one way or the other, about whether there was a confidentiality agreement in place that governed information being provided by Sunbeam to Coleman?
A. I don't remember.
Q. During the due diligence meeting that you attended, were you advised -- or, before the meeting, were you advised that there was a confidentiality agreement in place regarding what you and CSFB could do with the information and materials that it received?
A. I don't remember. I don't remember expressly being advised of that.

Page 104

Q. In other transactions that you worked on, have there been confidentiality agreements governing the exchange of information during due diligence?
A. Yes.
Q. As you sit here today, you just can't remember, one way or the other, whether there were confidentiality agreements governing the due diligence agreement during this engagement?
A. That is correct.
Q. You can put those documents aside.
Let me ask you one final question, on the issue of the confidentiality agreements. Do you recall, during any of the meetings or conversations that you were a part of, anyone from MacAndrews & Forbes or Coleman objecting to entering into a confidentiality agreement?
A. No.
Q. I will go back to the chronology that we were looking at earlier, Morgan Stanley Exhibit --
A. Thank you.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 105

Q. -- 75. And I have shown you the page that begins with the February 4th entry.

A. Yes.

Q. And the next time that you appear in the chronology is the reference to the February 23rd, 1998 meeting that appears at the bottom of the page and on to the next page. I would like to ask you to read that entry and let me know when you are ready to proceed.

A. Okay.

Q. Have you looked at the description on the top of the next page, as well? It is a carryover.

A. All right. Okay.

Q. These entries suggest that there were a series of meetings that took place on this day and that you were present for some of the meetings, but not for all of them.

My first question is whether you remember there being a series of meetings, and you were involved in some and not others, on these due diligence meetings.

A. I don't remember.

Page 106

Q. In the second carryover paragraph on the chronology it describes Sunbeam having made a presentation regarding its operating projections, which you recall having for part of the meeting that you attended; is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. This chronology doesn't identify you as having been present for that meeting.

I am not saying that the chronology is correct. I am just trying to understand whether you remember being present at a meeting where Sunbeam made a presentation about its operating projections, or if you were told that that had occurred.

A. I remember being present at a meeting where they discussed that.

Q. Okay.

A. I think so. I think. I don't know --

Q. As you sit here today, the best of your recollection is that you were present at a meeting where Sunbeam made a presentation about its operating projections?

A. At a meeting. I don't know if -- if they did it more than once.

Page 107

Q. Okay.

Prior to the due diligence meeting that you attended, other than reviewing publicly available information about Sunbeam, had you done any other due diligence regarding Sunbeam?

A. No.

Q. Had you spoken with or asked to speak with Sunbeam's management team prior to this date to conduct due diligence?

A. I don't believe so, but I don't remember.

Q. Had you spoken with, prior to the due diligence meeting, Sunbeam's accountants, the auditors -- the auditors were Arthur Andersen on the transaction.

A. I don't believe so.

Q. At any point during your work on the engagement, did you speak with Arthur Andersen?

A. I don't recall speaking to Arthur Andersen.

Q. Prior to your due diligence meeting, had you spoken with or asked to speak with

Page 108

Sunbeam's in-house accounting professionals?

A. I don't remember. I also don't know who we considered among that group; so -- I don't know.

Q. I will give you some names of people at Sunbeam.

A. Sure.

Q. For this list of names I want to focus on the time period before the due diligence meeting. We will kind of break this up into two different time periods.

Before the meeting that you recall attending, had you spoken with or asked to speak with Al Dunlap to conduct due diligence?

A. No.

Q. Rus Kersh?

A. I don't remember. Maybe.

Q. Rich Goudis?

A. Maybe.

Q. David Fannin?

A. I don't remember.

Q. Don Uzzi?

A. I don't know.

Q. Scott Yales?

A. I don't remember.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 109

Q. Kyle Kaiser?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Kyle Sinclair?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Deirdre DenDanto?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Lee Griffith?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Tom Hartshorn?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Chuck Meyers
A. I don't remember.
Q. Bill Blumfeld?
A. I don't remember.
Q. In response to several of my questions you indicated that you don't remember. My question is, as you sit here today, before the due diligence meeting that you remember attending, can you recall making any request to speak with anyone internally at Sunbeam to conduct due diligence?
MR. JOHNSON: Objection to form.
A. Can you repeat the question.
(Record read.)
MR. PARADISE: This is in person, here.

Page 110

MR. CLARE: Correct.
A. No.
Q. Prior to the due diligence meeting, did you speak with any of Sunbeam's customers?
A. No.
Q. Did you visit Sunbeam's headquarters?
A. No.
Q. Did you visit any of Sunbeam's manufacturing facilities?
A. No.
Q. Tell me everything that you can remember about the meeting that you described as a due diligence meeting.
A. It was very long ago. I just remember being in a room in a big office in New York, and I believe they handed out a plan and we discussed the plan, but I don't really remember the specifics.
Q. Who do you recall having spoken at the meeting?
A. I don't remember.
Q. As you sit here today, do you recall anyone from Morgan Stanley having a speaking role at the meeting that you attended?

Page 111

MR. JOHNSON: Objection to form.
A. I don't remember.
Q. Do you recall who handed out the plan?
A. I don't remember.
Q. In the meeting that you remember, was the presentation of the plan done by Power Point slides or by virtue of a handout that everybody had, flipping around the table?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Was the meeting interactive in the sense of people asking questions and there was give and take during the meeting?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Do you remember anything at all about the presentation that was given, other than that it was given?
A. No.
Q. During the meeting, was there any discussion about Sunbeam's performance in the first quarter of 1998?
A. I really don't remember specifics about what was discussed.
Q. Do you recall anyone asking, anyone from CSFB, or MacAndrews & Forbes, or Coleman asking Sunbeam or Morgan Stanley about Sunbeam's first quarter 1998 performance?

Page 112

A. I don't remember.
Q. Do you recall any discussion that Sunbeam's first quarter 1998 sales, up to that point, were slower than had been expected?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Do you recall anyone asking about the January, 1998 earnings announcement that we looked at?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Did you take notes during the meeting?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Is it your standard practice or typical practice to make notes during a meeting like that?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you recall what was said? Do you recall the substance of anything that was said with regard to Sunbeam's financial performance or growth prospects?
A. No.
Q. All right. We will look at, I will

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 113

hand you the next document, which is Morgan Stanley Exhibit 84.
A. Thank you.
Q. This is a document bearing the title "Sunbeam long-range strategic plan."
A. Okay.
Q. Is this, Morgan Stanley Exhibit 84, putting aside the handwriting on the document, which I am going to ask you about in a second, is this the form of presentation that you recall receiving during the due diligence meeting?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you recognize the handwriting on this document, Morgan Stanley Exhibit 84?
A. No.
Q. It is not your handwriting?
A. No.
Q. Do you recall, as part of the discussion, anyone from Sunbeam or Morgan Stanley identifying potential risks or risk factors associated with Sunbeam achieving these objectives?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Was the presentation made, was it presented page by page or was an overview given; do you recall?

Page 114

A. I don't recall.
Q. The level of detail that was presented verbally?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Were the participants in the meeting given copies to take with them, if you recall?
A. I believe so. I don't know if everyone was given a copy -- or just some people were given copies. I don't remember --
Q. You will see throughout the transaction, throughout the presentation, Morgan Stanley Exhibit 84, there are a series of what are described as strategic headlines for different Sunbeam business units, and different sales figures at the bottom of the page.
Do you see those figures, the projections, generally -- for example, on the page CPH 1324763 there are strategic headlines for the clients' business and box at the bottom that contains sales figures, historical and projected?
A. Yes.

Page 115

Q. Do you recall anyone from Sunbeam discussing the achieveability of its sales projections for 1998, 1999 or 2000?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Do you recall anyone from Morgan Stanley making any statement during the meeting --
A. I don't recall.
Q. -- about Sunbeam's sales projections?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Do you recall any discussion after the meeting with your colleagues at CSFB or with MacAndrews & Forbes about Sunbeam's sales projections?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Do you recall anyone saying, in words or in substance, that the projections were optimistic or aggressive?
A. I don't recall.
Q. I would like you to turn to page 16 of the document, which has the Bates number CPH 1324771.
A. Yes.
Q. The title is Sunbeam long-range strategic objectives earnings from continuing operations.

Page 116

And you will see on this page that there are net sales gross margin, SG and A, operating profit and other financial metrics down on the left-hand side.
And then, across the top, there are actual figures given for 1997 and long-range strategic plan numbers given for 1998, 1999 and 2000.
Do you recall any discussion of Sunbeam's long-range strategic plan as it relates to these financial metrics for 1998, '99 and 2000, during this meeting?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Did you understand, during the meeting that, Sunbeam to be making any promise or guarantee that it would achieve the figures listed as projections in its long-range strategic plan?
A. No.
Q. Did you understand Morgan Stanley to be making any promise or guarantee that Sunbeam would achieve the projections listed in Sunbeam's long-range strategic plan?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 117

A. No.
Q. The handwriting to the right of the entry for net sales appears to say, "Jan Feb slow." Did anyone say, at the meeting that you attended, in words or substance, that Sunbeam's sales for January or February were slow?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Do you recall anyone from Coleman or MacAndrews & Forbes or CSFB asking during the meeting about Sunbeam's sales in the first two months of 1998?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Would that be, in your experience in conducting due diligence, a standard question that would be asked during due diligence?
A. Yes.
Q. About specifically a company's performance during the current financial time -- reporting period?
A. Yes.
Q. As you sit here today, you can't recall whether that question was asked?
A. No.
Q. When you attended this meeting, did you have with you any checklist of questions or issues that you wanted to cover during due diligence with Sunbeam?

Page 118

MR. PARADISE: This is the witness, personally?
MR. CLARE: Correct.
A. I don't remember.
Q. Do you recall being asked to prepare one for other participants in the meeting?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Do you recall whether others at the meeting had a checklist or issue list of questions to ask or topics to cover with Sunbeam?
A. I don't remember.
Q. You can put this document side. I will hand you what I will ask the court reporter to initial a document that we had not previously marked, Morgan Stanley Exhibit 329.
(MS Exhibit 329, Sunbeam long range strategic plan, marked for identification as of this date.)
(Witness and counsel confer).
Q. Okay. Mr. Geller, I have handed you what has been marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit

Page 119

329. It is another copy of the Sunbeam long-range strategic plan with some different handwriting on it. I would like you to flip through it and ask you if you recognize that handwriting as your own.
A. Yes.
Q. This is your happened writing?
A. Yes.
Q. The page that is Bates numbered CSFB C1629, I would like to invite your attention to this.
The page is a description, bears the title "Sunbeam long-range strategic objective number 5, achieve lead industry leadership and customer service."
And the bottom of the page, in handwriting, there is a notation "21 percent of sales to Walmart." Is that your handwriting?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you believe that that was a recording of something that was said during the meeting contemporaneous?
A. Probably.
Q. Do you recall being told, during the meeting, that 21 percent of Sunbeam's sales were to Walmart?

Page 120

A. I don't remember.
Q. Is the figure 21 percent of sales to a single customer significant in conducting diligence with regard to a company's long-term performance?
MR. JOHNSON: Objection to form.
A. Can you repeat the question.
Q. Sure, I will rephrase the question because that was a bad question.
Did you find in the first quarter of 1998, during this meeting, this fact that 21 percent of Sunbeam's sales to Walmart to be significant for your purposes?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Did you or others at CSFB, to your knowledge, ever contact Walmart regarding Sunbeam?
A. No.
Q. Did you or others at CSFB, to your knowledge, ever contact Sunbeam's other customers?
A. No.
Q. What did you do, if anything, with

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 121

Sunbeam's long-range strategic plan presentation after the meeting?
A. Could you be more specific?
Q. Sure. Did you put it in the file and never look at it again? Did you use it as a source of information for your models? Did you discuss it with MacAndrews & Forbes and discuss its achieveability?
A. Sure.
MR. JOHNSON: Objection as, one, asked and answered. And, he already testified to that question.
Subject to that, you can answer it again.
Q. And by giving you those I will say that I am not meaning to limit in any way --
A. Sure.
Q. -- the options that are available to you in answering. My open-ended question and the one, the only one that is really pending is: What, if anything, did you do with Sunbeam's long-range strategic plan after the meeting?
A. I probably -- I don't remember. I don't remember. I probably used it for the basis of the financial model.

Page 122

Q. As you sit here today, do you recall doing that?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay.
A. Yes.
Q. Specifically, what parts of the Sunbeam strategic plan do you recall using in the financial model?
A. The forecast.
Q. Prior to putting the forecast information into your model, did you discuss those numbers with anyone at CSFB?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Do you recall any discussion about whether it was appropriate to use Sunbeam's strategic plan forecast numbers at face value in your model?
MR. JOHNSON: Objection to form.
A. I don't remember.
Q. Do you recall developing, as part of your financial models, an alternate base case that was different than the Sunbeam strategic plan case?
A. Yes.

Page 123

Q. What led to the preparation of the base case?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Do you recall any discussion with MacAndrews & Forbes or your colleagues at CSFB that Sunbeam's projections were optimistic or aggressive?
MR. JOHNSON: Asked and answered.
A. No.
Q. During the meeting at which the strategic plan was presented, did anyone from Sunbeam make any promise or guarantee or prediction of Sunbeam's future stock performance?
A. Can you be more specific? Do you want me to answer each one, the guarantee --
Q. Sure. Why don't you answer it in your own words.
A. No.
Q. No to all three?
A. No to all three.
Q. Did Morgan Stanley make any such, promise, prediction or guarantee?
A. No. No to all three.
Q. Did Morgan Stanley vouch for the accuracy of Sunbeam's projections, as presented during the meeting?

Page 124

A. No.
Q. Did Morgan Stanley vouch for the accuracy of Sunbeam's audited financial statements?
A. No.
Q. You can put this document aside. I will hand you what we previously marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 317, and I will ask you to look at it.
A. All right.
Q. Mr. Geller, this is not your handwriting; correct?
A. No. I don't believe so.
Q. Is any portion of the handwriting on Morgan Stanley Exhibit 317 yours? It all appears to be the same to me.
A. Me, too. I don't believe so.
Q. The handwritten notes on the top of the page have the header "Major Risks" and there are a number of different items listed on the next two pages.
Do you recall, during the meeting that you attended, the due diligence meeting,

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 125

there being a discussion of risks associated with Sunbeam's future performance?
MR. JOHNSON: Asked and answered.
A. I don't recall.
Q. Risk number 1, at least as identified on this exhibit, describes a risk of an ability to outsource quickly. It talks about different pacing of outsourcing. Do you recall any discussion about that at the meeting?
A. I don't recall.
Q. All the way down, at the very bottom of the page, there is a reference to Al Dunlap having created a negative sales impact, because, I believe, looking to sell.
Do you recall any discussion at the meeting that you attended of a negative sales impact created by Sunbeam being participant in the mergers and acquisitions market?
A. No.
Q. On the second page of the document there is a reference to revenue, the entries for 96 versus 97 and 97 versus 98. Do you recall any questions being asked or information being provided about Sunbeam's revenue, year over year, during those periods?

Page 126

A. No.
Q. You can put that document aside.
I am handing you Morgan Stanley Exhibit 85, and I will ask you to take a look at it.
A. All right. Okay.
Q. I handed you Morgan Stanley Exhibit 85, which is a presentation, a book of material presentations entitled Sunbeam corporation discussion materials, February, 1998.
Have you ever seen this document in this form before?
A. I don't think so. I don't remember seeing it.
Q. Do you recall anyone from Morgan Stanley or Sunbeam presenting this document, Morgan Stanley Exhibit 85, during the due diligence meeting that you attended?
A. I don't remember. I don't remember.
Q. Do you recall there being multiple presentations during the meeting or only one?
MR. JOHNSON: Objection to form.
A. I don't remember.

Page 127

Q. But, as you sit here today, you don't recall receiving a copy of this document, Morgan Stanley Exhibit 85, at that meeting?
A. No, I don't recall this.
Q. Okay. Do you recall Morgan Stanley, separate from Sunbeam, presenting information during the meeting?
A. No, I don't remember.
Q. Okay. You can put this document aside.
I am handing you what we have marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 88. These are minutes of a board meeting of the Coleman Company on February 25th, 1998.
You have already told me that you did not attend the board meeting of the Coleman Company, to the best of your recollection; so, my first question is: Take as much time as you would like to review the minutes of the meeting. I want to just see if it refreshes your recollection that you did attend or confirms that you did not attend, in your own mind.
A. I did not attend the meeting, so.

Page 128

Q. Seeing this doesn't refresh your recollection that you may have attended parts of it or any of it?
A. No.
Q. It lists as participants in the meeting from Credit Suisse First Boston, Gordon Rich and Robert Duffy. Do you recall Mr. Rich and Mr. Duffy attending one or more Sunbeam or Coleman board meetings?
A. Yes.
Q. Your source of that is you prepared materials for them to take to the meeting?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you recall getting any reports from Mr. Rich or Mr. Duffy or any other source about what transpired at the Coleman board meetings that related to the acquisition?
A. I don't recall.
Q. We will see in a minute that there were two board meetings held relating to the acquisition, one on February 25th, which is what we are looking at here, and another one, two days later, on February 27th.
Do you recall doing work between the board meetings to -- as an outgrowth of what

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

16div-024570

Page 129

may have transpired at the first meeting?
A. I don't remember.
Q. With that testimony, I am not going to ask you much about the board meeting for obvious reasons. I do have a question about page 2 of the minutes.
A. Okay.
Q. There is a reference here in the third paragraph to an inquiry made by Coleman to another company. It is identified as the month's likely potential bidder for Coleman, which bidder was not interested.
Do you have any understanding as to what that is referring to, Coleman having made an inquiry to another potential bidder?
A. No, I don't remember, no.
Q. You can put that document aside. I will hand you Morgan Stanley Exhibit 112. This is a document entitled February 25th, 1998, draft materials prepared for the board of directors, the Coleman Company.
Is this a document that you assisted in the preparation of?
A. Yes.
Q. I would like to invite your attention, first, to page 3 of the presentation, which is Coleman transaction multiples. Do you see that?

Page 130

A. Yes.
Q. There is a valuation sensitivity of Sunbeam's proposal model at different Sunbeam share prices.
A. Yes.
Q. As part of your modeling, was there any Sunbeam share price number below which it was concluded or discussed, the transaction would no longer be fair?
MR. JOHNSON: Objection to form.
A. I don't remember.
Q. You don't recall performing any analysis below the Sunbeam share price of $34, as indicated here?
A. No.
Q. Did you understand, in connection with the modeling work that you were doing, there to be any guarantee of Sunbeam's share price performance on a going forward basis?
A. No.
Q. Was it your understanding that Sunbeam would continue to trade publicly after the acquisition transaction?

Page 131

A. What do you mean by "after the acquisition transaction"?
Q. After Sunbeam acquired Coleman, that Sunbeam would continue, Sunbeam shares would continue to trade publicly?
A. Yes.
Q. Was it your understanding that the deal included the acquisition transaction, included any provision in which Sunbeam would have to compensate Coleman with additional cash or some other value if Sunbeam's share price dropped below a certain level?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Do you recall that concept ever being discussed as a possibility or something that might be advisable for the transaction?
A. I don't recall.
THE WITNESS: Could I take a break?
MR. CLARE: Sure. Why don't we do that now, because we will get into a more detailed line of questioning.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: The time is 12:32 p.m. and we are going off the video record.

Page 132

AFTERNOON SESSION
1:11 p.m.
STEVEN GELLER, having been previously sworn, resumed the stand and testified further as follows:
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: The time is 1:11 p.m. and we are back on the video record.
EXAMINATION BY
MR. CLARE:
Q. Mr. Geller, before the break I had handed you Morgan Stanley Exhibit 112, the presentation prepared for the Coleman board.
How did you go about preparing the presentation?
A. Can you be more specific?
Q. Sure. What process did you use to pull this information together?
A. Well, I think it really depends on the particular page, but some of it was just typed into it, the document and others were numbers that were created for the model, were pieced into the presentation, specifically in terms of how we actually developed -- is that what you are asking?
Q. The information is sourced

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016427

Page 133

throughout on different pages to different sources.
Was that your practice in putting together a presentation like this, to attribute information to its source through a footnote or other reference?
A. Yes.
Q. Did Morgan Stanley assist you in any way in preparing the presentation to be given to the board of directors?
A. No.
Q. At any point, did you or others at CSFB, to your knowledge, provide a copy of this to Morgan Stanley to review for accuracy before it was presented?
A. No.
Q. Throughout the presentation there are historical financial numbers for Sunbeam -- not projections, but historical. Those are not sourced.
Where would that information have come from? Or where did it come from?
A. Are you talking about anything in particular?
Q. Yes. For example, let's look at page 12 of the presentation.

Page 134

A. Sure.
Q. The title of the slide, rather, is "overview of Sunbeam."
The bottom right-hand box, entitled "financial summary," there is financial information for Sunbeam for 1996 and 1997, which are historicals, and then estimates for '98 and '99. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. And the '98 and '99 estimates are sourced as having been based on Wall Street estimates, but there is no source for the '96 and '97 documents. Where would the historical Sunbeam information come from?
A. I don't know this particular information. It could come from Sunbeam itself, or it could come from their public filings.
Q. Did you rely on the historical financial information provided by Morgan Stanley in putting together the presentation that went to the board?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Do you recall?

Page 135

A. I don't recall where this came from in particular.
Q. In terms of your practice in putting together information like this, is it generally your practice to obtain historical financial information from audited financial statements?
A. Yes.
Q. I would like you to turn to page 2 of the presentation, please.
A. All right.
Q. In the right-hand box, entitled "relevant statistics," there are various metrics and premium percentages that are calculated here.
Did you have any discussions with your colleagues at CSFB about the premium that Sunbeam was paying for Coleman?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Do you recall any discussion about what these premiums, as reflected here, were attributed to?
A. When you say attributed to --
Q. For example, whether there were expected synergies to be achieved through the combination of Sunbeam or Coleman that would warrant payment of a premium to Coleman.

Page 136

MR. JOHNSON: Objection to the form. I think we are getting a little bit off the record here. But, subject to that, if you understand the question --
Q. What do you mean by "off the record"?
MR. JOHNSON: I don't mean it in the traditional sense of off the record. You asked a question that really wasn't in the form of a question. And so, I objected to form.
MR. CLARE: Okay.
Q. Did you participate in any discussions with your colleagues at CSFB about the premium that was paid by Sunbeam for Coleman as having been attributed to potential synergies?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Or a control premium?
A. I don't remember.
Q. I would like you to turn to page 13 of the presentation, please. The slide summarizes different valuation analyses that were performed with regard to Sunbeam. Is that correct?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 137

A. Yes.
Q. It summarizes a discounted cash flow analysis, a comparable company analysis and a comparable acquisition analyses.
A. Correct.
Q. Did you perform those analyses in connection with the modeling that you did?
A. Parts of it, sure.
Q. In the model work that you did, were any one of those three approaches given more weight than the other?
A. I don't remember.
Q. You don't recall any discussions where anyone said, in words or substance, that, for example, the discounted cash flow analysis would be more important than a comparable acquisition analysis to Coleman's decision-making?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Now, the discounted cash flow analysis that is shown here on page 13 is shown under two different cases. We have alluded to this in my earlier questioning.

Page 138

There is the long-term strategic plan and then there is the base case.
Do you recall doing the discounted cash flow analysis under two different sets of assumptions?
A. I don't recall, but I -- this, I believe we did.
Q. Do you recall that both sets of assumptions were included or intended to be included in the materials presented to the Coleman board?
A. Yes.
Q. It was your understanding that both sets would be presented to the Coleman board?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you have any discussions as to why both the base case and the long-term strategic plan should be presented to the Coleman board?
A. No.
Q. Do you recall whether that was a decision that CSFB made on its own or a decision that was made in consultation with MacAndrews & Forbes or Coleman?
A. I don't know.

Page 139

Q. Would you turn to the next page. We will provide some additional detail on the discounted cash flow analysis.
I want to focus on the top half of the page that has historical information for 1996, 1997 and then estimates for 1998 through 2002.
A. Okay.
Q. Again, those same figures are provided for the base case and also the long-term strategic plan case.
The strategic plan case is referenced to footnote 2. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Footnote 2 describes the strategic plan as Sunbeam management projections for 1998 to 2000 and estimates for 2001 and 2002.
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you recall where those estimates for 2002 came from?
A. No.
Q. Did Sunbeam or Morgan Stanley provide guidance to CSFB on the estimates that CSFB would use for the strategic plan case for

Page 140

2001 and 2002?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Do you recall, as you sit here today, any dialogue with Sunbeam or Morgan Stanley about estimates for 2001 or 2002?
A. No.
Q. I want to refer you back to the investment banking memo that we looked at, the first document this morning in this pile, which is Morgan Stanley Exhibit 230, and I will ask that you keep Exhibit 112 out in front of you, as well.
Turning to the section, the investment banking memo that deals with the discounted cash flow analysis. It is page 7 of the presentation, the very top of the page, and it describes the discounted cash flow analysis has been performed on two cases.
As we have seen, the long-term strategic plan case and the Sunbeam base case; do you see that?
A. I think I am on the right page now, okay, yes.
Q. And the strategic plan case describes management forecasts for 1998 to

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 141

2000, and 7.5 percent growth thereafter.
Does that refresh your recollection in any way as to the source of the estimates that were included in the strategic plan case?
A. No.
Q. Did you discuss that 7.5 percent growth figure with others at CSFB or MacAndrews & Forbes?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Did you discuss that 7.5 percent growth assumption with anyone from Morgan Stanley?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Did you ask Morgan Stanley or Sunbeam to assess the reasonableness of 7.5 percent growth assumption for 2001 and 2002?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Or, generally, do you recall discussing any aspects of your discounted cash flow analysis with Morgan Stanley?
A. I don't recall.
Q. As you sit here today, you don't recall any discussions with Morgan Stanley about that?
A. No.

Page 142

Q. You can put the investment banking memo aside for a moment.
In your experience, is it typical to provide a discounted cash flow analysis under different sets of assumptions --
MR. JOHNSON: Objection to form.
Q. -- when presenting a valuation in connection with a mergers and acquisitions transaction?
MR. JOHNSON: Same objection.
MR. PARADISE: Objection, as well.
A. Okay.
MR. PARADISE: You can answer.
A. Um, when you say "typical," would you be more specific? What does that mean?
Q. Sure. Is it commonly done, in your experience?
MR. JOHNSON: Same objection.
MR. PARADISE: Objection.
A. It is a case by case -- yes, it is done.
Q. In instances where multiple scenarios are presented to the board for a discounted cash flow analysis, what is the purpose of doing it under multiple different assumptions?

Page 143

MR. JOHNSON: Objection to form.
A. To just show the implications of different assumptions.
Q. Why in this transaction for the Sunbeam Coleman acquisition did CSFB elect to present the valuation of Sunbeam under two different scenarios?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Did anyone say, in words or substance, that this, the strategic plan case was too aggressive or too optimistic and needed to be discounted?
MR. JOHNSON: Asked and answered for the third time.
A. I don't remember.
Q. You don't remember anyone saying that?
A. No.
Q. Do you remember any sense of the, that the Sunbeam projections were too aggressive leading to the development of a base case?
MR. JOHNSON: Objection to form.
A. I don't remember.

Page 144

Q. Footnote 1 describes the base case as having been projections developed in conjunction with Coleman management, based on the equity analysts' research. Did you develop those projections for the base case?
A. I don't remember.
MR. PARADISE: Was he the person at CSFB who developed them in conjunction with the Coleman management?
MR. CLARE: Yes, that is a much better question.
Q. Were you person at CSFB that worked in conjunction with Coleman management in developing the base case?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Do you recall any involvement in the development of the base case?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Do you know who the Coleman management that is referred to in footnote 1 is?
A. No.
Q. The base case is a more conservative case than the strategic plan case, based on these figures; correct?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 145

MR. JOHNSON: Objection to form.
A. Correct.
(MS Exhibit 330, documents Bates Nos. 1121275 to 332, marked for identification as of this date.)
MR. CLARE: I will ask the reporter to initial this document. It is a new one. Exhibit 330.
Q. Mr. Geller, I handed you what has been marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 330, and it is a presentation entitled "backup materials prepared for the investment banking committee."
Did you have any involvement in preparing these backup slides for the investment banking memo?
A. Probably yes.
Q. You don't recall having been involved in doing that?
A. Yes, I think I did.
Q. That would have been part of the work that would have led to the board presentation that we were looking at?
MR. JOHNSON: Objection to form. Is that a question?

Page 146

MR. CLARE: Yes.
A. Led to --
Part of the work is part of what we typically do, that led to the board presentation.
Q. The process I am trying to understand is, you did some modeling work and you put together some presentation materials for the investment banking committee; correct?
A. Correct.
Q. And based on the approval of the investment banking committee, a presentation was made to Coleman's board?
A. Yes. That is correct.
Q. And the same information that was provided to the investment banking committee was then provided to the Coleman board?
A. Um --
MR. JOHNSON: Objection to form.
A. Not necessarily.
Q. I think I understand the difference. It is the same work, the same type of modeling and assumptions that go into preparing for the investment banking committee, the same work that goes into preparing materials for the presentation to the board?

Page 147

MR. JOHNSON: Objection to form.
A. Generally speaking, that is correct.
Q. This slide presentation describes itself as backup materials prepared for the investment banking committee. This document, Morgan Stanley Exhibit 330, is this a document that would have accompanied the analysis performed in Morgan Stanley Exhibit 230, the investment banking memo?
A. Apparently, yes.
Q. I will only ask you about one aspect of this document, Morgan Stanley Exhibit 330. Again, it relates to the discounted cash flow part of the analysis.
If you look at the page that begins on CPH 1121310?
A. Yes.
Q. This is one slide in a series of slides done under the Sunbeam base case.
A. Okay.
Q. And if you see, in the header of the page I have referred you to, it describes the case as -- Sunbeam base case; do you see that?
A. Yes.

Page 148

Q. Okay. I want you to keep your finger on that page and flip ahead several pages to the page ending in Bates number 1313.
A. Yes.
Q. And it is the same information presented under the Sunbeam long-term plan case.
A. Okay.
Q. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Have I correctly interpreted what we are looking at here?
A. Yes.
Q. If you flip between the two different cases and if you look at the sales growth figures for 2001 and 2002, the estimates, you see that under the base case the estimates call for sales growth in 2001 and 2002 of 10 percent growth in each of those years; do you see that?
A. Yes.
MR. PARADISE: 10 percent from the previous year.
A. I see that.
Q. Under the long-term plan case, it

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016431

Page 149

calls for 7.5 percent sales growth in 2001 and 2002 in each of -- of those two years.
A. Yes.
Q. Was there any discussion internally at CSFB or with MacAndrews & Forbes about the pace at which Sunbeam's sales growth would be achieved?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Was there any discussion that the Sunbeam base case called for faster year over year growth in 2001 and 2002 than the Sunbeam long-term strategic plan case?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Do you recall any discussion at all about the differences between the Sunbeam strategic plan case and the base case?
A. No.
Q. You can put that document aside. I would like you to keep the investment banking memo in front of you.
A. Sure.
Q. You are listed as an author of the document, and did you have a role in creating Morgan Stanley Exhibit 230, the investment memo?

Page 150

A. Yes.
Q. What was your role in creating that?
A. I may have put together certain sections of the memo.
Q. Can you identify the sections of the memo that you put together, as you sit here today?
A. I can't.
Q. Did you attend a meeting of the investment banking committee with regard to the proposed sale of the Coleman to Sunbeam?
A. I think I did.
Q. Did that meeting take place in New York?
A. Yes.
Q. Was it an in-person meeting?
A. I believe so.
Q. Is this form of document, a memo to the investment banking committee, part of the process at CSFB for requesting approval prior to the issuance of a fairness opinion?
A. At the time, this was, yes.
Q. And when you say "at the time," in 1998 -- this was a part of the formal process that was required prior to the issuance of a fairness opinion?

Page 151

A. Correct.
Q. Did you understand that the investment banking committee would be relying upon the information provided in the memo and in the backup materials in making its determination regarding whether or not to issue a fairness opinion?
A. Yes.
Q. And did you understand that it was important to try to be accurate in providing information to the investment banking committee for that purpose?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you try to be accurate in providing information to the committee?
A. Ah, absolutely.
Q. Did you make any sort of presentation during the meeting of the investment banking committee on this transaction?
A. I don't recall. I don't believe so.
Q. Do you recall any questions that were asked that you were asked to address during the meeting?

Page 152

A. No, I don't recall.
Q. Do you recall anything about what was said during the investment banking meeting on the Coleman acquisition?
A. No.
Q. Did you provide a copy of a draft of Morgan Stanley Exhibit 230 to Morgan Stanley or Sunbeam prior to the investment banking committee meeting for approval or review?
A. No.
Q. I would like you to look at page 10, please.
The pages are not very legibly numbered, but in the lower-left-hand corner there is a footer of each one that gives the page number. You can skip around. That might be helpful.
Under the section entitled "synergies," the first sentence of that section states: "Coleman management has estimated that the combination with Sunbeam could create up to 150 million of cost savings and revenue synergies." Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. What was the source of that statement, as of February 25th, 1998?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 153

A. I don't remember.
Q. Do you recall that, earlier today, we looked at a document that listed $150 million of synergies from the combination with Sunbeam?
Do you recall any discussions where that synergy page was carried forward into this time period, February, 1998 and analyzed?
A. I don't remember any discussions. I don't remember any discussions specifically related to that page.
Q. Do you recall being asked to perform any work on synergies from the transaction as part of the negotiation of the acquisition in order to justify a higher price for Coleman?
A. I can't remember.
Q. More generally, were you asked at any point to perform work to provide arguments to Coleman and MacAndrews & Forbes to use in negotiating the higher price for Coleman?
A. Maybe, but I don't remember.
Q. Do you recall synergies being the subject of discussions of meetings that you were, that you attended as it related to the price of Coleman?

Page 154

A. Um, no.
Q. Or specifically the price that Sunbeam was being asked to pay for Coleman?
A. No. I was not involved in that at all.
Q. During the investment banking committee meeting, to the extent that you remember, do you recall anyone expressing doubts or concerns about Coleman or MacAndrews & Forbes receiving Sunbeam stock as a part of the consideration?
MR. JOHNSON: Could I hear that back.
A. No.
Q. I will hand you a document that we previously marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 277.
A. Thank you.
Q. I will ask you to generally familiarize yourself with it and let me know when you are ready to proceed.
A. Okay.
Q. The upper right-hand corner of the page has a date stamp and time stamp and a reference to project Violet; do you see that?

Page 155

A. Yes.
Q. Do you recall Project Violet being a code word associated with this project that we have been discussing?
A. Yes.
Q. And, actually, the words Project Violet appear on some of the other materials that we have looked at related to this transaction.
A. Yes.
Q. The date of the document is February 27th, 1998, and the time stamp says 5:39 a.m.
I will represent to you that February 27th was the date of the board meeting, the second board meeting of Coleman where the transaction was approved, and the date the final merger agreement was signed.
Do you recall, early in the morning of that day, performing an analysis like this one for some purpose?
A. Not specifically.
Q. Do you recognize this document, Morgan Stanley Exhibit 277, as something that you prepared or as part of your model?

Page 156

A. Possibly. Possibly. I recognize this format.
Q. You do?
A. This format, sure --
Q. Sorry to interrupt you. Were you done?
A. I do recognize this format of the model. I don't remember specifically what this was used for, this particular model.
Q. What information was being analyzed here in this form of the model?
MR. JOHNSON: Objection to the form.
Q. Or let me strike that and ask a different question.
A. Sure.
Q. What is the purpose of this document? This form of document, putting aside this particular one.
A. Sure.
MR. JOHNSON: Objection to the form.
Q. Do you understand my question? I am asking generally with regard to the form of this type of calculation.
MR. JOHNSON: Objection. My objection is standing.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0196133

Page 157

A. Okay. This provides some information about both companies' financial information, but, generally speaking, this is to show the accretive and dilution, it is called, of the transaction to the acquirer.
Q. This is information that would be done from the prospective of the acquiring company to see whether it is accretive or dilutive?
A. Correct.
Q. Do you recall who, if anyone, provided you the assumptions to use in this analysis for this transaction?
A. I don't remember.
Q. The second page of the exhibit sets forth the projected income statement for the companies. It does a projected Sunbeam stand-alone and then a pro forma Sunbeam Coleman combination. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. The projected Sunbeam stand-alone case uses figures for sales and discounted cash flow and operating income that are identical to the base case scenario that we looked at, not the strategic plan case.

Page 158

Did you have any discussions or recollection of doing the accretion/dilution analysis using the base case versus the strategic planning case?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Do you recall, as you sit here today, ever preparing an accretion or dilution analysis that was based on the strategic plan case?
A. I don't recall.
Q. You can put that document aside.
A. All right.
Q. I will hand you what has been marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 118. These are minutes from the February 27th, 1998 board meeting, and you are not shown as having participated, but I wanted to give you an opportunity to review it to see if it refreshes your recollection whether you did attend.
A. I don't think I attended. I don't believe I did.
Q. Did you ever receive a report from any source about what, if anything, transpired at the February 27th board meeting?

Page 159

A. Potentially, I don't remember.
Q. As you sit here today, do you recall Mr. Rich or Mr. Duffy reporting to you on the events of the February 27th board meeting?
A. No.
Q. Did you learn from Mr. Rich or Mr. Duffy that the board had approved the transaction?
A. I don't remember.
Q. You do recall that the transaction was approved and ultimately consummated?
A. Sure. That I remember.
Q. But don't recall learning that the Coleman board had approved the transaction?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Getting any feedback on the presentation that was made by CSFB to the Coleman board.
A. No, I don't remember that specifically.
Q. Do you recall that CSFB provided a fairness opinion to the Coleman board?
A. Do I -- I recall -- not specifically, because I was not at that meeting, but I recall that that was part of the board materials.

Page 160

Q. You do recall being asked, that CSFB was asked to provide a fairness opinion
MR. PARADISE: I believe the witness is --
MR. CLARE: The question is more general.
Q. As a part of the engagement, CSFB was requested to render a fairness opinion for the transaction?
A. Yes. I guess my answer would be, that would be my understanding, yes. I was never, personally, it was never requested of me, to me.
Q. Were you aware that the investment banking committee had approved the issuance of a fairness opinion for this transaction?
A. Yes.
Q. You just don't have any knowledge as to whether that fairness opinion was actually delivered to the Coleman board?
A. Well --
Q. Because you weren't there?
A. Because I was not there, correct.
Q. Thank you.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 161

Other than the work that you have already described in your testimony today, did you perform any other work relative to the preparation of a fairness opinion by CSFB?
A. Maybe, but not that I can recall. This is pretty standard material.
Q. As you sit here today, you don't recall that there were other categories or projects or works that, types of projects that you have performed specifically for the fairness opinion that did not factor into the other modeling work that you were doing?
A. Not that I can recall.
Q. Did you have any role in drafting the fairness opinion provided by CSFB?
A. No. Other than I may have -- no, not that I remember. I may have typed some text or someone gave it to me, but --
Q. I will show you Morgan Stanley Exhibit 120, which is a copy of the fairness opinion provided by CSFB to the board, and signed by Mr. Rich on the final page of the document. Do you recognize that as Mr. Rich's signature? Not today.
A. Yeah, I don't know what his signature looks like, but it appears to be.

Page 162

Q. Okay. I am not going to ask you much about this document, but on page 2, the final paragraph on page 2, there is a statement that discusses a financial forecast.
A. Yes.
Q. And the sentence that I am going to ask you about says: "With respect to the financial forecasts, we have assumed that they have been reasonably prepared on bases reflecting the best currently available estimates and judgments of the managements of the company and the acquirer as to the future financial performance of their prospective companies and the synergies and operating cost savings expected to be achieved through the combination of the operation of the company and the acquirer." Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Based on your interactions with Sunbeam and Morgan Stanley, did you have any reason to believe, based on any other information that you had or reviewed, that Sunbeam's financial forecasts had not been reasonably prepared as described here?

Page 163

A. No.
Q. Was there any information that you had obtained from other sources -- publicly available documents, analysts' reports, that would call into question the forecasts received from Sunbeam?
MR. PARADISE: At which point in time?
MR. CLARE: At any point during the first quarter of 1998.
A. Not that I remember.
Q. If you had information suggesting that Sunbeam's financial forecasts were, that called into question Sunbeam's financial forecasts, would that have been a topic that you would have followed up on in conducting due diligence?
A. Yes.
Q. You would have wanted more information about that?
A. Yes.
Q. You can put that document aside.
Earlier, I asked you a series of questions about the due diligence that you and others at CSFB had performed up to the date of that due diligence meeting. Do you recall --

Page 164

A. Right.
Q. Do you recall that line of questioning?
A. Yes.
Q. I want to ask now about the time period between the due diligence meeting and the time that the merger agreements were signed, and I will represent to you that it was a four-day period between the meeting that you were shown as having attended for due diligence and February 27th, when that --
A. Okay.
Q. Did you conduct any due diligence on Sunbeam after that due diligence meeting before the merger agreement was signed?
A. Not that I remember. I don't remember.
Q. Did you have any dealings or interaction with Sunbeam or Morgan Stanley after that due diligence meeting that you attended?
A. I don't remember. Maybe.
Q. As you sit here today, can you recall any meetings or telephone conversations

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 165

where Morgan Stanley was present after the due diligence meeting?
A. I can't recall.
Q. The merger agreement was signed between Coleman and Sunbeam on February 27th, but did not close until the end of March. Did you perform any work on the engagement during that time period between the signing of the definitive agreement and the closing?
A. Maybe. I don't remember specifically, but possibly.
Q. Do you recall, as you sit here today, being asked to do anything or doing anything during that time period between the signing of the merger agreement and its closing?
A. I can't recall anything specifically, but it is possible that we did. It is possible.
Q. Okay.
I guess, recognizing that it is possible, as you sit here today, do you recognize having done, do you remember having done any specific work during that time period, after the fairness opinion was issued to the Coleman board?

Page 166

A. I can't -- no, I don't remember. I don't remember anything specific.
Q. Did you or others at CSFB, to your knowledge, conduct additional due diligence of Sunbeam after the signing of the merger agreement?
A. Not that I recall. It is possible.
Q. After the merger agreement was signed, did you make any requests of Sunbeam or Morgan Stanley for financial information about Sunbeam?
A. I don't recall. Possibly.
Q. As you sit here today, do you recall ever having made that request?
A. No.
Q. After the merger agreement was signed, do you recall making any request of Sunbeam for information about its first quarter 1998 performance?
A. I don't remember.
Q. As you sit here today, do you recall having made any such request?
A. No.
Q. After the merger agreement was signed, but before it closed, did you make any request of information from Arthur Andersen, Sunbeam's accountants?

Page 167

A. I don't remember. As I sit here today, no.
Q. As you sit here today, you don't recall having made such a request?
A. That is correct.
Q. Are you familiar with the term "comfort letter," in the context of securities underwriting?
A. No. I have heard of it, but I don't have a -- I really don't know what it is.
Q. Have you ever reviewed comfort letters prepared by accountants in connection with the work that you have done?
A. No. I am not sure what is a comfort letter is specifically.
Q. Have you ever reviewed a letter prepared by an accounting firm that contains interim financial information since the date of the last audit, the update information, financial information?
A. Potentially.
MR. JOHNSON: Objection to form. I did not hear you. Did you answer?

Page 168

THE WITNESS: I said "potentially."
Yes.
Q. You have reviewed those types of documents in connection with work that you have done on other transaction?
MR. JOHNSON: Objection to form.
A. Yes.
Q. Do you recall, at any point during the engagement for Coleman, requesting such a letter from Arthur Andersen, Sunbeam's accountant?
A. I don't recall.
Q. As you sit here today, do you recall such a request being made?
A. No.
Q. Do you recall any discussions with MacAndrews & Forbes, Coleman or at CSFB about negative information coming out about Sunbeam prior to the close of the transaction?
A. I don't remember.
MR. CLARE: 11.
Q. I will hand you what has been marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 11.
Morgan Stanley Exhibit 11 is a press release issued by Sunbeam dated March 19th, 1998. And again, just to place the date of this press release in time for you, this -- the merger agreements were signed on February 27th, and the acquisition was closed at the end of March.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 169

So, this press release was issued during that time period, between the signing of the definitive agreement and the closing.

A. Okay.

Q. Do you recall seeing or being made aware of this press release?

A. I don't recall.

Q. Do you recall any discussion about an announcement by Sunbeam that its sales for the first quarter may be lower than analysts' estimates for the first quarter?

A. I don't remember.

Q. Do you recall whether you were asked at any point to look at your model or to determine whether adjustments might be appropriate or necessary based on this information that is disclosed here in the presses release?

A. It is possible, but I don't recall.

Page 170

Q. As you sit here today, do you recall being asked to perform any additional work based on the information presented here in the March 19th press release?

A. No.

Q. After March 19th, 1998, do you recall being asked by CSFB or MacAndrews & Forbes to request additional information from Sunbeam?

A. I don't recall.

Q. As you sit here today, do you recall any such request?

A. I don't recall.

Q. As a result of the information disclosed here in the press release, do you recall being asked by anyone to request additional information of Morgan Stanley, from Morgan Stanley?

A. I don't recall.

Q. Do you recall any discussions about Sunbeam's first quarter sales being short of expectations?

A. I don't remember.

Q. Do you recall any discussions with Mr. Duffy or Mr. Rich about what impact, if any, this announcement would have on CSFB's fairness opinion?

Page 171

A. I don't remember, but it is possible.

Q. Do you recall, in the wake of the issuance of this press release, a decline in Sunbeam's stock price?

A. I don't remember.

Q. Do you recall being asked to model the value received by MacAndrews & Forbes in the acquisition under a new set of assumptions about the value of Sunbeam's stock?

A. I don't remember.

Q. Do you recall any discussions with MacAndrews & Forbes or Coleman about delaying the closing of the transaction?

A. I don't recall.

Q. Do you recall any discussions with MacAndrews & Forbes or Coleman about declaring a material adverse change as a result of information disclosed by Sunbeam?

A. I don't recall.

Q. Do you recall any discussions as to whether additional information might be necessary to make a determination about whether a material adverse change had occurred?

Page 172

A. I don't recall.

Q. Did you attend the closing of the transaction?

A. I don't recall. I don't think so.

Q. Do you know if anyone from CSFB did, Mr. Rich or Mr. Duffy?

A. I don't know.

Q. Were you aware in the first quarter of 1998 that Morgan Stanley was, in addition to serving as an underwriter, also one of several banks that was loaning money to Sunbeam to finance the acquisition?

A. I don't remember.

Q. Did you perform any work on valuing the Sunbeam shares that MacAndrews & Forbes received in the transaction?

A. That MacAndrews & Forbes received?

Q. Yes.

A. I don't believe so.

Q. Did you perform any work on valuing the shares that MacAndrews & Forbes received from Sunbeam in light of the restrictions that the merger agreement placed on the sale of those shares?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 173

A. I don't believe so.
MR. CLARE: Why don't we take a short break, and I think we may be either done or close to being done.
If you can maybe give me ten minutes and let me collect my documents and make sure that I have not missed something that I need to cover.
MR. JOHNSON: All right.
MR. CLARE: Give me ten minutes.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: The time is 2:03 p.m. and we are going off the video record.
(Recess.)
MR. CLARE: Exhibit 11.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Stand by. The time is 2:16 p.m. and we are back on the video record.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Mr. Geller, I have handed back to you Morgan Stanley Exhibit 11, which is the March 19th, 1998 press release issued by Sunbeam, relating to the first quarter of 1998 sales.

Page 174

And after the issuance of the press release, as you sit here today, do you recall making any inquiry of Sunbeam for additional information about first quarter sales?
A. I don't recall.
Q. As you sit here today, do you recall making any inquiry of Arthur Andersen about Sunbeam's first quarter sales following the issuance of the March 19th press release?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Do you recall making any inquiry of Morgan Stanley about Sunbeam's first quarter sales after the issuance of the March 19th press release?
A. I don't recall.
Q. Do you recall receiving any information from any source about Sunbeam's first quarter sales after the issuance of the March 19th press release?
A. Any source --
I don't remember any. It is possible.
Q. Are you familiar, generally, with the concept of hedging an equity investment?
A. I think so.

Page 175

Q. Were you part of any discussions with MacAndrews & Forbes about hedging its Sunbeam shares that it received as part of the acquisition transaction?
A. I don't believe so.
Q. Did you attend any meeting or have any conversations where the concept of hedging those Sunbeam shares was discussed or considered?
A. Not that I remember.
MR. CLARE: I will hand you what was previously marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 298.
THE WITNESS: Are you done with this one?
MR. CLARE: Yes.
THE WITNESS: Thank you.
Q. Morgan Stanley Exhibit 298 is an April 23rd, 1998 letter to or memorandum to the Mafco finance lenders, copy to, among others, Joel Glodowski and Credit Suisse First Boston.
A. All right.
Q. In the first paragraph of the memorandum it indicates that it is attaching modifications to the Mafco finance credit agreements and Mafco guarantee. Do you have any familiarity with those credit and guarantee documents that are referenced there?

Page 176

A. No.
Q. And the proposed modifications that are reflected here in Morgan Stanley Exhibit 298 are described as permitting Mafco and its subsidiaries to enter into an equity hedge arrangement in respect of the Sunbeam capital stock.
Do you recall any discussions with Mr. Glodowski or others about such an equity hedge arrangement?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Did anyone ever state to you, in words or substance, that MacAndrews & Forbes was interested in hedging its investment in Sunbeam stock that it received as a result of the acquisition?
A. I don't know. Possibly. I don't remember.
Q. As you sit here today, do you recall any discussion about MacAndrews & Forbes interest in hedging its investment in Sunbeam stock?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

A. No.
Q. And, as you sit here today, do you know, one way or the other, whether MacAndrews & Forbes ever pursued any hedge arrangement for its Sunbeam stock?
A. No.
MR. CLARE: Put that one aside. Exhibit 316.
(MS Exhibit 316, 10QA filing, marked for identification as of this date.)
Q. Mr. Geller, I have handed you what has been marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 316, which is a 10-QA filed by Sunbeam. I will only ask you about the text that appears on the page.
If you look at the pagination in the upper right-hand corner, I am looking at the page 9 of 37, and it appears to be page 6 of the original 10-QA. There is a reference here to the acquisition. I would like you to read that paragraph to yourself. The final sentence of that paragraph describes the value of the Sunbeam's stock having been discounted by 15 percent due to the restrictive nature of the securities. Do you see that?

A. Yes.
Q. Do you recall that, as part of the merger agreement, that the stock received by MacAndrews & Forbes was restricted?
MR. JOHNSON: Objection to form.
A. I don't recall.
Q. Do you have an understanding from any source what discount rate MacAndrews & Forbes used in valuing the Sunbeam stock that it received due to the restrictions in the merger agreements?
A. No.
Q. Do you have any understanding from any source what the basis for the 15 percent number stated here in Exhibit 316 is?
A. No.
MR. CLARE: Those are all of the questions that I have.
THE WITNESS: Thank you.
MR. CLARE: Mr. Johnson may have a few questions for you.
MR. JOHNSON: Just a few questions. Could I have the microphone, please.

EXAMINATION BY MR. JOHNSON:
Q. Good afternoon.
A. Yes. Good afternoon.
Q. Mr. Geller, at any time prior to the signing of the merger agreement and the closing, did Morgan Stanley advise you that Sunbeam's sales through the first two months of 1998 were running at half the sales for the first two months of 1997?
MR. CLARE: Objection to form.
A. I don't recall that.
Q. At any time between the signing of the merger agreement and the closing, did Morgan Stanley ever tell you that, through the first two months of 1998, Sunbeam was showing a 40 million dollar loss in earnings?
MR. CLARE: Objection to form.
A. I don't recall.
Q. At any time between the signing of the merger agreement and the closing, did anyone from Morgan Stanley ever tell you that Sunbeam had accelerated sales into the fourth quarter of 1997?

MR. CLARE: Objection to form.
A. I don't recall. I don't recall that information.
MR. JOHNSON: No further questions.
MR. CLARE: I don't have anything further.
MR. PARADISE: Thank you.
MR. CLARE: Thank you, Mr. Geller.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: The time is 2:25 p.m., and this completes tape 2, and also the videotaped deposition of Mr. Steven Geller.
(Time noted: 2:25 p.m.)

STEVEN GELLER

Subscribed and sworn to before me
this day of 2004.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016439

CERTIFICATE

STATE OF NEW YORK)
) ss.
COUNTY OF NEW YORK)

I, ROBERT X. SHAW, CSR, a Notary Public within and for the State of New York, do hereby certify:

That STEVEN GELLER, the witness whose deposition is hereinbefore set forth,was duly sworn by me and that such deposition is a true record of the testimony given by such witness.

I further certify that I am not related to any of the parties to this action by blood or marriage; and that I am in no way interested in the outcome of this matter.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand this 3 day of August, 2004.

ROBERT X. SHAW, CSR

INDEX

WITNESS	EXAMINATION BY	PAGE
MR. GELLER	MR. CLARE	5

INFORMATION REQUESTS

DIRECTIONS: TO BE FURNISHED:
REQUESTS:

EXHIBITS

MS		FOR ID.
MS Exhibit 329, Sunbeam long range strategic plan		118
MS Exhibit 330, documents Bates Nos. 1121275 to 332		145
MS Exhibit 316, 10QA filing		177

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016441

IN THE FIFTEENTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT
IN AND FOR PALM BEACH COUNTY, FLORIDA

COLEMAN (PARENT) HOLDINGS, INC.,

Plaintiff,

v.

MORGAN STANLEY & CO., INC.,

Defendant.

MORGAN STANLEY SENIOR FUNDING, INC.,

Plaintiff,

Case No.
v. CA 3-5165 AI

MACANDREWS & FORBES HOLINGS, INC.,

Defendant.

July 28, 2004
12:08 p.m.

Continued Deposition of PAUL E. SHAPIRO, taken by Defendant, pursuant to Agreement, at the offices of Kirkland & Ellis LLP, 153 East 53rd Street, New York, New York, before ANITA SHEMIN, a Shorthand Reporter and Notary Public within and for the State of New York.

APPEARANCES:

JENNER & BLOCK LLP
Attorneys for COLEMAN and MacANDREWS & FORBES
One IBM Plaza
Chicago, Illinois 60611-7603
BY: MICHAEL T. BRODY, ESQ.

KIRKLAND & ELLIS LLP
Attorneys for MORGAN STANLEY
153 East 53rd Street
New York, New York
BY: LAWRENCE P. BEMIS, ESQ.
- and -
KIRKLAND & ELLIS LLP
655 Fifteenth Street, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20005
BY: KATHRYN REED DeBORD, ESQ.

ALSO PRESENT:
VICTOR DILA, Videographer

INDEX

WITNESS	EXAMINATION BY	PAGE
PAUL E. SHAPIRO
	MR. BEMIS	257
		392
	MR. BRODY	376

EXHIBITS

MORGAN STANLEY	DESCRIPTION	PAGE
180	Memorandum dated 2/21/98	273
181	Memorandum	287
261	Communications package	365
262	June 29, 1998, Board minutes	373

CPH	DESCRIPTION	PAGE
253	Document, Bates Nos. 1409707 through 1409980	383
254	SEC Form S-4	386

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: This is Tape No. 1 of the videotaped deposition of Mr. Paul Shapiro in the matter of Coleman (Parent) Holdings, Inc., Plaintiff v. Morgan Stanley & Co., Inc., Defendant, in the 15th Judicial Circuit in and for Palm Beach County, Florida.

This deposition is being held at 153 East 53rd Street, New York, New York, on July 28, 2004, at approximately 12:08 p.m. My name is Victor Dila, I am from the firm of Esquire Video Services. I am a legal video specialist. The court reporter is Anita Shemin in association with Esquire Deposition Services.

Will counsel please introduce themselves.

MR. BEMIS: Good afternoon. Larry Bemis, on behalf of Morgan Stanley.

MS. DeBORD: Kathy Debord, for Morgan Stanley.

MR. BRODY: My name is Michael T. Brody, on behalf of Coleman (Parent) Holdings and MacAndrews & Forbes

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 257

Holdings and the witness.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Will the court reporter please swear in the witness.
PAUL E. SHAPIRO,
having been duly sworn, testified as follows:
EXAMINATION BY MR. BEMIS:
Q Good afternoon, Mr. Shapiro. Thank you for coming back.
When we adjourned your deposition -- this is a while back -- we were talking about a home call that you had received from Barry Schwartz on the morning of February 19th. I think you said -- the transcript will -- is more precise, but I am going to summarize, you had received a phone call early on that morning, I think it was a Thursday, you said Mr. Schwartz asked you to get dressed and come to a meeting.
Do you recall the phone call?
A Yes.
Q Could you tell me as precisely as you can what Mr. Schwartz said to you on that phone call?
A No, I can't recall precisely, but it was to the effect that an agreement in principal had been reached between the business -- the business people for a transaction which Sunbeam would acquire Coleman, I should come to a meeting that was being held early that morning, I don't remember the exact time, in order to be brought up to date and to begin to organize and complete the transaction.

Page 258

Q When you refer to the business people, who are you referring to?
A Whoever were the business people on Sunbeam's side. To my knowledge, Russ Kirsch and others were the people. I met with David Fannon and their representatives at Morgan Stanley, and on our side, senior MacAndrews' people as well as Jim Maher. I think Will Nesbitt at the time was working for him.
Q Anyone else on the MacAndrews' --
MR. BRODY: That he would consider one of the senior business people?
MR. BEMIS: He used the term senior business people.
A Howard Guiness.
I don't remember who precisely was at that meeting. The senior people at MacAndrews included Daniel McCann as well as Barry Schwartz, who was acting in his capacity as general counsel.

Page 259

Q You were the senior person that worked for Coleman on the transaction at this time?
A Among the others that worked on it were Jerry Levin, who was the Chief Executive Officer; Joe Page, who was the Chief Financial Officer; I was General Counsel, Joe and I were both Executive Vice Presidents, and then below me, Stephen Isko, who was -- who worked for me as either Assistant General Counsel or deputy. I don't remember his title, but he was an in-house lawyer.
Q Would you include Mr. Levin and Mr. Page as business people working on the transaction?
A Yes.
Q Did they work on the business side of the transaction before February 19th, 1998?
A I would have to divide the negotiating of the arrangements versus discussions that might have occurred concerning the deal itself. To my knowledge, I don't remember either of them working on what the actual consideration might be and the detailed terms of the deal. They were -- they were among the senior group running Coleman, so they were involved to the extent that information might be passed or questions answered about the business itself, the operating business.

Page 260

Q Is it fair, then, to say that Mr. Levin and Mr. Page were -- were more involved in operational issues for Coleman as opposed to the purchase or sale of the company?
A Yes.
Q As I understand it, there was a meeting following the phone call from Mr. Schwartz; correct?
A Yes.
Q Where did that take place?
A I believe at 35 East 62nd Street at the headquarters of MacAndrews & Forbes.
Q Who was present at this meeting?
A I don't recall specifically. I know I was there, I believe Barry Schwartz was there, I believe Howard Gittis, Jerry Levin, either Jim Maher, or Will Nesbitt or both of them. I don't recall if Steve Isko was there. I believe he probably was. I am not sure, I don't remember the others.
Q Was there anyone from Sunbeam there?
A No.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 261

Q This was strictly a MacAndrews' meeting?
A MacAndrews and Coleman, yes.
Q How long did this meeting last on February 19th?
A I don't recall.
Q Do you recall if it lasted, for example, for a morning, was it an afternoon meeting, an all day meeting?
A It was not an all day meeting, but I don't recall how long it lasted.
Q What was the subject matter of the meeting?
A The subject matter of the meeting was the possible impending acquisition of Coleman by Sunbeam.
Q What was said on that subject? I realize there were multiple people that may have spoken.
A The gist of the meeting was that -- was that a -- I don't know how to characterize it, a tentative deal had been reached in which the basic consideration that would be paid, the value that would be paid had been agreed upon between the parties.
The method of the acquisition -- to my recollection the method of the acquisition, the -- the details of the split of how much would be cash and how much would be stock, how the transaction would actually be effectuated were still not completely pinned down.

Page 262

Q Were there open issues identified at the meeting that had to be resolved with Sunbeam?
A I don't recall. It is just my general recollection that -- that exactly how the transaction would be effectuated and exactly what the final split would be, for example, between stock and cash weren't getting pinned down, that Jim Maher was still talking with Morgan Stanley people on behalf of Sunbeam to iron out those details.
Q Is it fair to say in the larger -- withdrawn.
Is it fair to say that the large issues that remained open were the form of the transaction and the, as you put it, I believe, the split between the cash component of the consideration and the stock component of the consideration?
A Yes.
MR. BRODY: Objection to form.

Page 263

I am sorry, you may answer.
A I believe that essentially the value of the consideration was either agreed to by then, or it was very close. They were within 10 percent one way or the other, 5 percent one way or the other, and I believe the -- the other open item was how would the transaction would be accomplished, exactly what would be the mechanics of it.
Q When you say 5 or 10 percent, is that 5 or 10 percent of a dollar figure attributable to the transaction?
A No. Let me put it a different way because 5 or 10 percent would have been -- sitting here, years later, I would say they were within a dollar -- they either were there or a dollar one way or the other of what the consideration was. It was close enough to gear everybody up. There was a sense that they would come to agreement on that, but the -- but the way it would be paid and the split was not yet pinned down completely.
Q When you say the way it would be paid and the split, now we are talking about the distribution between a cash payment and a stock payment which would total up to a value?

Page 264

A There was cash, there was stock, and with regard to the MacAndrews piece, there was also an assumption of holding company debt.
Q Now, at the meeting on February 19th that you have been describing for us, what discussion was there, if any, on the assumption of debt of the holding company?
A I don't recall.
Q Do you know the amount of debt within $100 million that was being discussed at the meeting?
A Well, I said I don't recall whether the debt itself was being discussed. The holding company debt, which was above the operating company, was a number, and -- and the -- any discussion of that would have revolved around does it get assumed and does the money get paid off. It was a mechanic, but it was my understanding that the holding company debt, one way or the other, would be extinguished as a result of the transaction.
Q And the holding company debt would be reflected on the financial statements at a point in time whatever the date of the financial statements; correct?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MR. BRODY: Objection to the form.
A I believe so, yes.
Q If I were, for example, to look at the audited financial statements for the holding company CLN Holdings, Inc. -- if I were to look at the audited financial statements for CLN Holdings, Inc., for the period December 31, 1997, for example, I would find on that audited financials -- in the audited financial statements an entry, for example, long term debt; correct?
MR. BRODY: I object to form.
A I don't recall, because I wasn't involved with the holding company, but I assume the answer is, yes.
Q Okay.
Was there any discussion at the February 19th meeting about assuming debt of the Coleman Company, Inc.?
A I think the assumption -- I don't recall if there was at that meeting, but the assumption was that the Coleman debt would be assumed one way or another. The acquisition was of the whole company. It was intended to be an acquisition of the company as an entity, and, therefore, the debt would go along with it.

Q As of February 19th, 1998, can you tell us what the debt was of the Coleman Company, Inc., recognizing you might not be able to do it to the dollar?
A I cannot even do it to 100 million. I can't recall. It would have been reflected on the Coleman financial statements.
Q As we discussed with CLN Holdings, Inc., the amount of debt would be reflected in the audited financial statements of the Coleman Company, Inc., for whatever period so designated; correct?
A Yes.
Q What was the -- withdrawn.
Were there any documents handed out at the meeting on February 19th?
A I don't recall.
Q Let me show you what has been marked as Morgan Stanley 83.
Mr. Shapiro, I have handed you what has been marked as MS 83. Do you have that in front of you?
A Yes.

Q I am not -- I will tell you there are a couple of dates on the document. There is one in handwriting at the top. I am not suggesting to you that that is the date of the document, but there is also a footer at the very, very bottom that is hard to read. I have to take my glasses off to read it, but I believe it is February 20th, 1998, is the dating on it.
With that background, I don't ask you to accept the dates necessarily. Have you seen this document, MS 83, before or one like it?
A Not to my recollection.
Q Was any document similar to this available to the participants of the February 19th meeting you had been telling us about?
MR. BRODY: I object to form.
A The answer is, I have no way of knowing -- I don't recall seeing it.
Q Were there any documents available for the parties to review at the February 15th meeting that summarized in any way the transaction terms?
A I don't recall.
Q You can hand that back to me.

One last question. Do you recognize any of the handwriting on the document? There is handwriting at the top, and there is some on the front page.
A No.
Q All right.
Was the meeting that you have been describing a continuous meeting with the participants, or did you break and come back later in the day?
A I don't recall.
Q How was the meeting left?
A My general recollection today is that it was a meeting to catch everybody up on where things stood and to divide up the work to be done going forward. It was agreed that we would hire counsel, that was a follow-up to the meeting, and I believe that Steve Isko and I were assigned the responsibility to interface with counsel for Sunbeam in order to provide any diligence material they wanted and in order to meet with them and their lawyers to get the legal documents themselves that would be necessary to close the transaction.
Q Did Mr. Schwartz have specific

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 269

responsibilities assigned to him at the February 19th meeting?
A I don't recall.
Q Did Mr. Maher have further responsibilities?
A I think his responsibility would be to pin down with the Sunbeam investment bankers the finalization of whatever open issues there were in connection with the business deal itself, meaning things like how the debt would be assumed, the split of stock would be, what the final consideration would be, the split of stock and cash would be.
Q Did Mr. Maher have the lead on the business side to finalizing the business terms?
A He was responsible for the interface with the Morgan Stanley people, and he reported up to people like Mr. Gittis, Mr. Pearlman, Mr. Drapkin ultimately for the decision as to what would be acceptable.
Q Was anyone at the meeting from Credit Suisse First Boston?
A I don't recall.
Q So the record is clear, I was referring to the February 15th meeting.

Page 270

A I assumed you meant the February 19th meeting. I don't recall.
Q Was anyone at the meeting charged with the responsibility of interfacing with Credit Suisse First Boston?
A I don't recall.
Q Was anyone at the meeting on February 19th that you have been describing for us surprised that the parties on the business side had apparently come very close to reaching the business terms of a deal?
A I don't recall.
Q Were you surprised?
A Yes.
Q And why were you surprised?
A Well, because the last contact I can recall today that I was aware of was in January, and my take away from that contact, as reported to me by Jerry Levin, that this deal was just unlikely to happen, the parties were too far apart.
I think I testified earlier I had dinner with Mr. Schwartz the night before, which was a social dinner. He said nothing about it, so whether he knew and didn't say anything or whether he didn't know, I don't recall, but it just all took me by surprise that the first thing the next morning, I became aware that something had occurred.

Page 271

Q I do not recall asking you: Did you say that you had dinner with Mr. Schwartz on the evening before the February 19th meeting?
A Yes.
Q There was no discussion over dinner about this pending deal?
A No.
Q You said one of the assignments given at the February 19th meeting was to retain outside counsel; correct?
A Correct.
Q Did you do that, or did someone else do it?
A Well, I think the initial contact to Wachtel was made through MacAndrews. Probably through Mr. Schwartz, I am not certain.
Q It was not you?
A No. I met with the Wachtel people, I said, formally on behalf of the operating company. I was the -- I was the interface.
Q Who was your contact at Wachtel on the operating side?

Page 272

A Adam Emerick.
Q Had you worked with Mr. Emerick before?
A Yes, but not a great deal. I worked with him on some minor problems with some other companies.
Q Is Mr. Emerick a transactional lawyer?
A I think he is probably one of the most knowledgeable M and A lawyers I have ever met, so his -- his specialty, I suppose, is M and A transactions, but his certain -- he certainly -- certainly, his overall knowledge of corporate law is enormous, so I suppose he advises in an advisory role as well as a transactional role.
Q Going forward, did Mr. Emerick have the primary outside legal responsibility for the MacAndrews & Forbes/Coleman side of the transaction?
A Yes. The interface, you know, at the top may have been with Marty Lipton, but on a day-to-day basis, Adam Emerick was the team leader for Wachtel in terms of doing the transaction.
Q Eventually merger documents were drafted which we reviewed at your earlier deposition session. Do you recall those documents?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 273

A Yes.
Q Who took the lead in drafting those? Was it Wachtel?
A I believe it was Skadden, but I am not certain whether it was Wachtel or Skadden. Skadden Arps represented Sunbeam in the transaction. I believe they took the lead in the drafting.
Q When did you first meet with Mr. Emerick, or if it was Mr. Lipton, concerning the Sunbeam/Coleman transaction?
A I think it was with Mr. Emerick, and I would say within a day or two of February 19th. I Don't recall precisely, but soon thereafter.
Q Let me show you a document which we will mark as Morgan Stanley 180.
MR. BEMIS: All you need to do is initial the documents, Miss Reporter. If you will initial and date them for me, please.
(Morgan Stanley Exhibit 180, memorandum dated February 21, 2998, marked for identification, as of this date.)

Page 274

Q I hand you what has been marked by the reporter as MS 180. Do you have that in front of you, sir?
A (No Response)
Q You have to answer yes or no.
A Yes, I do. I am sorry, I forgot.
MR. BEMIS: This is a two-page memorandum dated February 21st, 1998, I believe from Mr. Adam O. Emerick addressed to Richard L. Easton and Alex Fuchs, F U C H S, Miss Reporter.
Q Have you seen this document before?
A I don't recall.
Q Was Mr. Easton Mr. Emerick's counterpart at Skadden?
A Yes. Finn Fogg and Easton were the team at Skadden.
Q And Marty Lipton and Adam Emerick were the team at Wachtel?
A Yes, though in terms of my involvement, both Finn and Rich were -- were in negotiating sessions with me and drafting sessions, Mr. Lipton was not. So, his involvement would be sort of the top level client contact between MacAndrews and Wachtel.

Page 275

Q Did you say that Mr. Emerick was in drafting sessions with you?
A I said Mr. -- Mr. Fogg and Mr. Easton, although the memo is not addressed to Mr. Fogg, and on the one side, both he and Mr. Easton were in many of the negotiating drafting sessions I attended, and on the other side, it was generally Adam for us.
Q You may hand that back to me.
I understand now that you met at either a day or two after February 19th with your counsel. What is the next major event after that that you recall happening concerning the transaction?
A Well, everything happened in such a tight time frame, and it wasn't relevant to remember it at the time. It was over six years ago. That -- that is hard to separate the threads of what happened day by day, but there were discussions at which we came to understand what the issues were and discussed them among ourselves; i.e., the Coleman/MacAndrews group with counsel.
There were then discussions that I was not involved with with the other side that moved those issues toward agreement. I recall that Steve Isko and I met with Janet Kelly, who was the No. 2 counsel at Sunbeam at the time, and David Fannon. Janet Kelly was more involved in what I would call diligence type matters, and we were busy getting her materials that satisfied her diligence requests and then getting together with counsel for the other side and negotiating the documents themselves. I just -- I can't separate it out day by day, it is just -- it is just too difficult.

Page 276

Q Let me show you what we marked in your -- or showed you in your last deposition as Morgan Stanley 75, which is sometimes referred to as the Wachtel chronology.
If you turn to Page 3, and that will be -- I think it is Page 3 of the chronology, not necessarily of the document, the top date is February 4th, 1998. Do you see that?
A (No Response)
Q And if you look down now, there is a reference to a -- to meetings on February 23rd, 1998, and I would like you first to look at that, and I have some questions about that date. Are you there?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 277

A Yes.
Q The first entry on MS 75 under that date of February 23rd, there is -- there is a meeting to conduct due diligence, and you are identified as attending that meeting. Do you see that reference?
A Yes.
Q Do you recall that meeting?
A (No Response)
Q If it helps you, there is a continuation of the February 23rd entries.
A I remember an evening meeting. I do not recall the meeting in the morning or at some other time of the day.
Q Am I correct, then, that you do not recall a due diligence meeting, if you will, in the morning on February 23rd?
A No, I don't because my recollection of the due diligence meetings that I was involved in as counsel were essentially meetings which were attended by Janet Kelly. She is not listed here. I may have well been at the meeting, I don't recall it today.
Q Let's turn to the evening reference on February 23rd.

Page 278

A Yes.
Q And it is stated in the chronology that there was a meeting that you attended as well as others at which Sunbeam made a presentation, quote, "Regarding its 1998 operating projections." Do you see that?
A Yes.
Q Did you -- strike that.
Did you attend the evening meeting?
A Yes.
Q Where was that held?
A At the offices of Morgan Stanley.
Q How is it that you came to attend the meeting?
A Somebody informed me that this meeting was going to be held, and it could have been Jerry Levin, I am not sure, and I was invited to attend and, therefore, attended.
Q Did you speak at the meeting?
A I don't recall.
Q By speaking, I don't mean just social pleasantries.
A I don't recall speaking at the meeting.
Q How long did the meeting last on that evening of February 23rd?

Page 279

A I don't recall. It was -- it was -- it was certainly no more than three hours, but I don't recall how long it was.
Q Well, would you -- who -- who spoke at the meeting?
A My recollection is that Rich Goudis, who was the head of investor relations. They had what investment bankers call a DEC, which was a series of slides, and Goudis ran the overhead projector, he probably prepared the DEC, and Russ Kirsch -- and most of the meeting was held by Russ Kirsch. I don't recall if any of the investment bankers spoke, I don't remember today, but the major thrust of the conversation was a presentation by Kirsch and Goudis with Rich doing the talking.
Q Investment Bankers were both present from Morgan and Credit Suisse First Boston; is that correct?
A Looking at the list, Duffy was the only person from Credit Suisse. Nesbitt and Maher were in-house investment, that was their job, were there, and I noted that Kits, Steins, Fuchs, Chang were all Morgan Stanley people. They were there, yes.

Page 280

Q Mr. Duffy was the -- was the -- strike that.
Was Mr. Duffy at this time the senior person on the Credit Suisse First Boston investment banking team working on the transaction?
A No. No, the senior person was Gordon Rich.
Q He is not shown as attending the meeting. Do you recall if he was there?
A I don't recall.
Q Let me show you a document which has been previously marked as Morgan Stanley 84, and which I -- do you recall in your previous session of your deposition, you said you saw this in your preparation? And I will hand that to you.
And let me take this back for a second. I will hands another one to you. You can use that one.
MR. BRODY: Thank you.
Q Let me see if I gave you a marked up one. I did -- I did not.
I have given you Morgan Stanley 84. Did you see this document, albeit probably in slide form, on February 23rd, 1998?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0016448

Page 281

A I saw a document that looked like this. I cannot be specific. I cannot specifically say it was this one.
Q Was -- was MS 84 in hard copy available for people at the meeting so they could take notes or write on it?
A I believe so, but I am not certain.
Q Did you take any notes during the February 23rd evening meeting?
A I don't recall.
Q If you would look at MS 84, there is handwriting, and I will direct you, for example, to the fourth page, and there are -- there are page numbers on the bottom, and the easiest ones, I think, to refer to are the single digit numbers.
Do you see where it says MS and then 00004?
A Yes.
Q Do you recognize that handwriting next to the writing?
A Some of it looks like it could be Jerry Levin's, but I am not sure.
Q Turn to Page 5 of MS 84.

Page 282

Does this also look like Jerry Levin's handwriting?
MR. BRODY: I object to form.
A Could be, could be. I am not 100 percent sure. Certainly, it is not mine, it is not Steve Isko.
Q If you would turn now to Page 6.
There is also handwriting. Is your testimony the same concerning the possibility --
A Yes.
Q -- that it is Mr. Levin's handwriting?
A (No Response)
Q Turn to Page 16, sir. It is entitled "Sunbeam Long Range Strategic Objectives Earnings from Continuing Operations."
Do you see the entry "Net Sales," and then next to it off to the right, handwriting, which is, I believe, "Jan slow," and then February below that? Do you see that?
A Yes.
Q There are numbers below it as well. Does that to you also look like Mr. Levin's handwriting?
MR. BRODY: I object to the form of the question.

Page 283

A It could be.
Q When you say it could be, you have seen Mr. Levin's handwriting before; right?
A Yes. And as I have testified, I think it kind of looks like his handwriting, but it's not -- it's not clear to me that it is.
Q During the presentation by either Mr. Kirsch or Mr. Goudis -- let me stop and ask, did they both speak, or did just one of them speak and the other operate the projector?
A My take away sitting here years later, that Kirsch did most of the speaking. I don't remember if Gittis spoke a little, not at all, but Kirsch dominated the discussion.
Q Did Mr. Kirsch say anything to the effect that net sales for Sunbeam in January were slow for 1998?
A I don't recall.
Q Did Mr. Goudis make any statement to that effect that you recall?
A I don't remember.
Q Did Mr. Kirsch make any statements about earnings per share for 1998? And I direct your attention to Page 16 at the bottom of the page, there is in handwriting below the figure $2.20,

Page 284

$1.99, it looks like.
A I don't recall him -- I do not recall Mr. Kirsch saying that the numbers presented would not be achieved. Quite the contrary.
Q Did Morgan Stanley -- strike that.
Did anyone present on behalf of -- withdrawn.
Let me do it this way: Did Mr. Kits say anything at the evening meeting?
A I don't recall.
Q Did Mr. Steins say anything at the February 23rd evening meeting?
A I don't recall.
Q Did Mr. Fuchs say anything at the meeting?
A I don't recall.
Q Mr. Chang?
A I don't recall.
Q Would you consider this meeting of February 23rd, 1998, a due diligence meeting?
A Yes.
Q Were questions -- strike that.
Were there any questions asked by either Coleman representatives or MacAndrews & Forbes representatives?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 285

A Yes.
Q Do you recall any of the questions that were asked?
A I remember Jerry Levin, possibly Joe Page, asking questions about the margins that they were achieving because the margins were much higher than margins that we were able to achieve in similar businesses, questioning how they could achieve such margins.
I remember Mr. Levin asking questions about their new products, such as what they referred to as air and water, water purification, air being air purifying matters. I remember Mr. Levin asking about international markets, I remember him asking about their grill business, and I recall him asking about they had taken a very large reserve in their restructuring in 1998, where they stood with regard to that reserve.
Q What was said on that subject by --
A I think they --
Q -- by Sunbeam?
A I think they gave him a number, a sense of a number as to how much of the reserve had been used, what was left. There were a variety of questions about the operation generally. Jerry, and to a lesser extent, Joe asked -- Joe Page asked.

Page 286

Q Turn to Page 17. Look at the writing in the right-hand side after the text next to the graph where it says "225 M." Do you see that?
A Yes.
Q Is that -- you mentioned that Mr. Levin had -- excuse me, Mr. Levin had asked a question, I think, on the restructuring charge and how much was left. Does looking at this writing in any way refresh your recollection of what the question was or what the answer was at the meeting?
A No. My recollection, sitting here years later, is that that -- that the amount that they had used was a very high percentage of what they had reserved by the end of '97. That is what we learned at the meeting.
Q Can you read the handwriting below the "225 M" on Page 17?
A It looks like it says "Write-off in 1996, 10 million left." That is what it looks like.
Q Having read that, assuming that is what the words are, is there anything inconsistent with those words and those figures from what you can remember being said at the meeting?

Page 287

MR. BRODY: I object to form.
A No. I mean, my recollection was that there was a large number, and that -- and that a very high percentage of it had already been used. And I don't remember the precise numbers, but 225 is a large number, and 10 is a small number compared to 225. That is consistent with my take away.
Q I have a couple of other versions of this document, and I want to see if you can identify any of the handwriting that is on them. They will be the same document, just different handwriting.
MR. BEMIS: Miss Reporter, would you mark MS 181 for the witness, please.
(Morgan Stanley Exhibit 181, memorandum, marked for identification, as of this date.)
Q The reporter has handed you what we have marked as Morgan Stanley 181. I would ask you, please, to look through the document from the first page, which has some handwriting, and several other pages and tell me if you can identify any of -- any of the handwriting?

Page 288

A No. The people at the meeting whose handwriting I was familiar with, it would only be Levin, Isko and my own. I wasn't used to seeing Joe Page's or any of the MacAndrews' people's handwriting. So, the answer is, no, it is not mine, it is not Isko's, it is not Jerry's.
Q Let me show you a couple of more of these and --
A Sure.
Q -- and there is really no shortcut to doing it, unfortunately?
A I understand.
Q I will hand you what was marked as Morgan Stanley 182 at a previous deposition, and please take a look at that and see if you can identify that handwriting. There is some handwriting on the front page beginning with 223, and there is, I believe, a couple of additional notes in the document. I will find the page number for you. It is on the very last page of the document, it appears to be a 100 followed by an M and air, "100 M air and water."

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 289

A I don't recognize it.
Q Okay. You will hand that back to me. Thank you.
I hand you what was now marked as MS 183 at a previous deposition, sir. This one has a cover page on it.
MR. BRODY: Do you have a copy?
MR. BEMIS: Oh, I am sorry. Yes.
MR. BRODY: Thank you.
Q There is quite a bit of handwriting in the document itself. Please look at it, and if you can identify the handwriting, please tell us whose it is.
A No, I am not familiar with this handwriting.
Q Okay.
Do you know who Karen is on the front page of the document? Did I take yours back? I may have, I am sorry.
A No.
Q Do you know who Ishann Seth, I think, is?
A No.
Q Let me hand you what has been marked as MS 184 in a previous deposition, and I would like you to do the same thing you have been doing. Look at the document and see if you can identify any of the handwriting which begins on Page 1.

Page 290

A No, I do not.
Q I will hand you now what has been previously marked as MS 185 and ask if you can look at that and tell me if you can identify any of the handwriting?
A No. No, I do not.
Q Do you recall any discussion of a no return policy being implemented by Sunbeam at this meeting? Let me withdraw the question and ask it a little bit better.
Do you recall whether there was any discussion at the February 23rd evening meeting about Sunbeam having implemented a no return policy?
A I don't recall. I am aware of their attempt to institute the policy and a lot about it, but I don't recall when I learned about it. I don't recall if it was that meeting or subsequent.
Q In general, what do you recall about the policy and their attempt to implement, recognizing you might not remember when you first learned about it?

Page 291

A My recollection is that Russ Kirsch and Al Dunlop decided there would be a no return policy with retailers, and that he so informed the sales staff and the accounting staff in the latter part of 1997, and that the policy was an unenforceable, ridiculous policy, and it failed. And -- and it was kind of almost humorous because in the latter part of the year of 1997 and in early 1998, there were literally trucks of returns coming to the Hattiesburg warehouse that were turned back on orders of Kirsch. They went back to wherever they came from, made a round trip back to Hattiesburg, and they kept going. Essentially, the way it was described to me, there were trucks all over Mississippi going back and forth from places like Wal-Mart with returns.
Q When you said it was described to you, who described it to you?
A It was described to me in connection with the work that we did on the restructuring, when we learned about it, because it went to the issue of were there -- there were returns that should be accounted for or not. Actually, the stuff did come back, and there was a massive amount of product piled up in Hattiesburg that we had to sort through, and we had to --

Page 292

Q You said restructuring. Did you mean the restatement?
A Yes, the restatement.
Q That is the restatement in October of 1998?
A When we started to learn about this, I -- I know that I began to learn about it in detail in June of 1998 because, you know, I think I have previously described Arthur Andersen sitting down with us right after I went to Sunbeam and telling us that they could not -- they would not give permission to use their financials in connection with a public offering of the debt that had been sold under 144.
And I recall very distinctly in that meeting a discussion of that -- of that exact issue, there was product out there that Andersen now claimed they were unaware of that was making round trips between retailers and not being accepted at Hattiesburg. I don't recall whether it was discussed in February -- in the

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 293

February 23rd meeting.
Q But you put the date of this meeting in, you assumed, your position at Sunbeam on June 15th of 1998?
A Mid June, 14th, 15th, somewhere around there.
Q And your position was Chief Administrative Officer reporting directly to Mr. Levin; correct?
A Correct.
Q So, the meeting with Andersen that you have described to us was sometime after your start in mid June?
A It was within the first ten days after my start, yes.
Q Okay. I will show you a large DEC, which has been marked as MS 186, and ask you to take a look at that.
Do you have MS 186 in front of you, sir?
A Yes, I do.
Q If you can look through it and tell me if you recall this DEC? I am using the word DEC as you used it being presented at the February 23rd meeting.
A No, I don't. I don't recall one way or the other.

Page 294

Q You can hand that to me.
Do you recognize any of the handwriting on it? There is an RSE in the upper right-hand corner.
A (No Response)
Q No?
A (No Response)
Q I want to hand this back to you because there is one entry that I would like you to take a look at. If you turn to Page --
MR. BRODY: Can I have the copy back?
MR. BEMIS: Yes.
Q -- 59.
MR. BRODY: Thank you.
Q Mr. Shapiro, with the heading "The Sunbeam Corporation Projected Stated Growth Objectives."
MR. BRODY: Which page?
MR. BEMIS: Page 59.
Q Are you there?
A Yes.
Q You will see under the third bullet some handwriting, and I believe it reads, "How much driven by restruc.," with a period, "charges savings through income?"

Page 295

Does that look -- does it look like I read it correctly to you?
A Yes.
Q Do you recognize that handwriting?
A No.
Q No.
You had mentioned to Mr. Levin asking a question about operating margins?
A Yes.
Q Does this entry achieve an operating margin of at least 20 percent? And then it has parenthetically, "From 16 percent over last nine months." Does that in any way refresh your recollection about the questions or the answers to Mr. Levin's questions?
A No, the answers -- there was no discussion from Sunbeam indicating that the margins were being achieved through use of restructuring charges, relief of restructuring reserves. In fact, it was quite clear the way Kirsch presented it, that they were pure operating margins, that their excellence of operations were such that they were achieving very, very high in consumer product goods of that type.

Page 296

20 percent is extremely high in those categories, so there was no discussion that -- from his perspective, from Sunbeam Company's perspective that indicate that the margins were being achieved through use of restructuring reserves.
Q I didn't mean to interrupt you. Did anyone on your side of the table, the Coleman side, such as Mr. Levin ask the question, are you achieving any of these operating margins through restructuring charges?
A I don't recall.
Q Was there a -- was the discussion on operating margins as presented in this bullet point, that it had been 16 percent over the last nine months, but the objective was to obtain 20 percent in the 1998 --
MR. BRODY: You mean at the meeting on the 23rd?
MR. BEMIS: Yes. At the meeting on the 23rd, yes.
A I don't recall them talking about 16 percent operating margin. I recall them talking as a general matter about achieving operating margins in their business of 20 percent.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 297

Q Okay. You can hand that back to me. According to MS 75 -- I will hand that back to you.
MR. BEMIS: Do you still have yours? Okay.
MR. BRODY: The answer is, I don't think the witness has one.
MR. BEMIS: I was asking if you had yours.
MR. BRODY: Oh, I thought you were asking him.
MR. BEMIS: Fair enough.
Q I am going to hand back MS 75 again, and I turn to Page 4. Look at the reference to February 24-27, 1998, and directing your attention to the reference to "Conducted due diligence." Do you see that?
A Yes.
Q Can you tell me from your personal knowledge what due diligence was done during this period of time, February 24th through the 27th?

Page 298

A I recall Sunbeam, through Janet Kelly, making various requests to Steve Isko and me that were directed largely toward what litigation did we have outstanding, did we have environmental claims outstanding, trying to get their arms around an understanding of what those litigation and environmental matters might encompass.
I think they had some questions about our licensing and about other major contracts that we might have that would impact operations going forward. And I remember discussion about what we were doing with our computer system because we were in the process of changing our computer system going to an Enterprise system.
Q Did the Coleman Company, Inc., do any due diligence of Sunbeam during this period of time that we have identified, February 24th through February 27th?
MR. BRODY: I object to the form of the question.
A My recollection is that -- that over time, the public records of Sunbeam had been looked at.
I think that, again, we asked some general questions about their litigation, environmental matters, how they ran certain parts of their businesses, but to a great extent, we relied on the public filings of Sunbeam.

Page 299

Q When you speak of public filings, you are speaking of filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission?
A Yes. And the meeting in the -- and the evening meeting that you previously referred to was, I would say, from Coleman's perspective a major part of the due diligence.
Q Was there any one person at the Coleman Company who had responsibility for overall due diligence, whether it is called operational or legal, however you might want to term it?
A I would say I had responsibility on the legal side for responding to their due diligence requests and for any requests that we might make along with Mr. Isko on the business side. I would say that it was a combination of Jim Maher with the assistance of Will Nesbitt, and Jerry Levin and Joe Page.
Q Was all of the due diligence completed that -- by the time that the merger agreements were signed, as of February 27th, 1998?

Page 300

A Yes.
Q Strike that.
In the course of doing the due diligence, whether it be responding to a request of Sunbeam or a request made by Sunbeam, were any records kept, that you are aware of, of the due diligence requests and the responses by any party to the transactions?
A I don't recall.
Q Did Credit Suisse First Boston do any due diligence of Sunbeam that you are aware of?
A They attended the evening meeting that we have discussed.
Q The February 23rd meeting?
A Yes. And I know they went into the public records of Sunbeam in order to do their fairness opinion. And I don't recall whether they asked other questions that would have been answered by either Sunbeam or their investment bankers. I don't recall sitting here today.
Q Are you aware of any due diligence that was done by your -- withdrawn.
Are you aware of any due diligence that was done by the Wachtel law firm on behalf of the Coleman Company or CLN Holdings, Inc., for that matter?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0161553

Page 301

A I don't know, I don't remember.
Q Did Ernst & Young, which was the -- which was the outside accounting firm for Coleman Company, Inc., at this time, do any due diligence of Sunbeam's financial statements?
A I don't recall. I do recall them responding to questions and, I think, arranging to meet with -- meet with the Sunbeam auditors or the Sunbeam finance people, I don't remember which, and I think it had to do with understanding the tax situation at Coleman.
Q If I understand what you just said, Ernst & Young was responding to a request for information by Sunbeam's accountants?
A That is my recollection. Or Sunbeam's finance people, I don't remember which, trying to understand certain aspects of the tax, where we stood tax wise at Coleman.
Q At any point up to the signing of the merger documents, which we have previously identified, and they are dated February 27th, 1998, did the Coleman Company, Inc., make any request of Sunbeam for financial statements for any period in 1998? For example, January, February?

Page 302

MR. BRODY: I object to the form of the question.
Go ahead.
A My recollection is that -- again, this is over six years ago, but it seems to me at some point in late January or early February, Sunbeam announced their 1997 results and indicated how they were doing up to that point, I would say through January of '98. I believe there were questions asked as to how they were doing for January and February at the point that we signed, and I believe that -- my recollection is that we were assured that they were on target to meet the stated projections that were out publicly and that were consistent with the DEC they had shown us in the evening presentation at Morgan Stanley in the last week in February.
But I don't think -- I don't know if we requested actual financial statements for January or February. We asked questions about their performance, and they were responded to.
Q Who asked the questions, and who responded?

Page 303

A I can't recall who on our side asked and on their side responded. I thought on their side, it would be Russell Kirsch, but I don't remember specifically.
Q Now, when you referred to an announcement of some financial results, I think you were referring to the fourth quarter of 1997 for Sunbeam; weren't you?
A Yes.
Q I will show you a document previously identified as MS 206, which is an article from the Wall Street Journal, January 29th, 1998. Please take a look at it, and I just have a couple of quick questions on this.
(Witness peruses document)
A Okay.
Q Referring now to MS 206, the Wall Street Journal article dated January 29th, 1998, you are shown as being on a distribution list, which is on Page 2. Do you see that?
A Yes.
Q Did you -- did you receive a copy of this, as indicated?
A I don't recall. I remember being aware of the general information that is discussed in this article.

Page 304

Q Who is Marc Shifman? Who was that?
A Marc was, I think, at the time head of investor relations for Coleman reporting to Jerry Levin.
Q When you received this article, this -- this was -- strike that.
Did you receive this article -- withdrawn.
Whether you received the article or not, you were at least aware contemporaneously with the announcement that there had been a shortfall and a market reaction to the Sunbeam's stock price; is that right?
A Yes, yes.
Q Now, I asked you whether the Coleman Company had requested any financial statements for any period in 1998, and you have given me an answer to that. Do you recall whether the Coleman Company asked Arthur Andersen to provide the Coleman Company, Inc., with any financial statements, whether audited or unaudited, for any period in 1998 --
A (No Response)
Q -- before the closing of the merger

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 305

document -- excuse me, the signing of the merger documents?
A I am sorry, 1998 financial statements?
Q That was a terrible question. Let me try it again.
A You are asking me about 1998 financial statements?
Q Let me ask a question. I will withdraw it, it was poorly phrased.
Did the Coleman Company, Inc., ask Arthur Andersen for any financial statements, whether audited or unaudited, for Sunbeam for any period in 1998 before the execution of the merger documents on February 27th, 1998?
A In my mind, the question doesn't make sense for a couple of reasons. One is we would not have gone directly to Arthur Andersen. They were engaged by Sunbeam. Normal protocol would be to go through Sunbeam. We would not contact them directly.
Secondly, Arthur Andersen would have not been the keeper of those statements, they would have been interim financial statements, and normally Andersen would not have any involvement with those financial statements except with the issuance of a 10-Q at the end of the first quarter where they would do a review, but not certify statements. So, it wouldn't have made any sense to go to Andersen at that point, and I don't recall going to Andersen.

Page 306

Q I appreciate it might not make any sense to you, but at the end of your answer, I think you said you do not recall any such request being made?
A No, no.
Q Setting aside the Coleman Company now, I want to focus on CLN and ask you the same questions.
Are you aware of anyone from CLN Holdings, Inc., making a request of Sunbeam for financial statements, whether audited or unaudited, for any period in 1998 before the signing of the merger documents as of February 27th, 1998?
A I don't recall us -- us being the large group, being Coleman or CLN, requesting actual financial statements. I do recall asking whether everything was okay and consistent with what had been portrayed to the public.
Q When you say you, you asked that question?

Page 307

A No, no. I said I recall it being asked.
Q But as you sit here today, you don't remember who asked it; correct?
A No, but I remember being aware that we were going to ask and being aware of what we were told.
Q Whatever you were told, as you sit here today, you do not remember who told you -- told your side of the table whatever was said?
A No, no.
Q I will take this back from you.
MR. BEMIS: Why don't we take a break. We have been going an hour and a half.
MR. BRODY: Fine.
(Recess Taken)
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: The time is 1:42 p.m., and this begins Tape No. 2.
Q Did anyone, to your knowledge, from CSFB ask Sunbeam for any audited or unaudited financial statements for any period in 1998 before the signing of the merger documents?
A I don't know.
Q Did the Coleman Company have interim

Page 308

financial statements that it prepared?
A We normally prepared a monthly financial statement for internal purposes. They certainly weren't filed publicly.
Q I wasn't suggesting they were.
A And I don't remember how far after the end of each month they would have been available.
Yes, we prepared monthly.
Q In the monthly interim financial statements, did it include both an income statement and a balance sheet?
A I believe so.
Q Were those interim financial statements at the Coleman Company, were those prepared by the -- under the direction of the Chief Financial Officer of the company?
A Yes.
Q And that would be Mr. Page; correct?
A Yes.
Q On a quarterly basis, the Coleman Company, in 1998, filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission its quarterly financial results on a Form 10-Q; right?
A The answer is, I don't recall, because

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 309

at or before end of the quarter, the company was sold to Sunbeam, and I was gone. So, we would not -- the prior management would not have been in a position to prepare those financials.

Q I understand. Fair point.

Let's -- let me go back, then, to 1997. During 1997, did the Coleman Company, Inc., file quarterly financial statements with the Securities and Exchange Commission on Form 10-Q?

A (No Response)

Q Are you aware of any request by anyone on the Coleman or the holding company's side of the negotiations asking Sunbeam for either January or February interim financial statements before the signing of the merger documents as of February 27th, 1998?

A Not to my recollection.

Q Going forward up to the closing now of March -- withdrawn.

Up to the time of the closing of the CLN Holdings merger agreement, which is March 30, 1998, are you aware of anyone on either the Coleman or the CLN holding side of the transaction, whether it be a law firm, an accounting firm, internally requesting of

Page 310

Sunbeam copies of the interim financial statements for the month of January 1998?

A I don't recall.

Q Are you aware of such a request for the period of February 1998?

A I don't recall.

Q And the same question for the period ending March of 1998?

A I don't recall.

Q Did you ever have a communication, whether it be written or oral, with anyone at Morgan Stanley about whether Sunbeam's performance in the first quarter of 1998 was compared to what analysts might be estimating for the same time period?

A Did I?

Q Yes.

A No, I did not. I don't recall any.

Q Did you ever have any written or oral communications with Morgan Stanley about Sunbeam's first quarter sales?

A I did not.

Q Did you ever have any communications, again written or oral, with Morgan Stanley about Sunbeam's first quarter earnings for 1998?

Page 311

A No.

Q Did you ever have any written or oral communications with anyone at Morgan Stanley discussing whether Sunbeam's turn around was, quote, "real," closed quote?

A I think the answer is -- I think I have testified earlier that my communication with Morgan Stanley was essentially limited to the meeting the last week of February, the due diligence meeting, and I do believe that at that meeting, we received assurances that Sunbeam was on track for the first quarter, the turn around was real, the results were repeatable, et cetera. Those assurances came in the presence of Morgan Stanley, but I believe were made by the Sunbeam people.

Q Did anyone from -- withdrawn.

Did you ever have any discussion with anyone from Morgan Stanley, directly with Morgan Stanley, in which you discussed with Morgan Stanley Sunbeam's business plan for 1998?

A Did I?

Q Yes.

A No.

Q The same question for 1999?

Page 312

A Other than I have stated earlier concerning that evening meeting, no.

Q Let me show you what has been previously marked as Morgan Stanley 87. Do you have that in front of you, sir?

A Yes.

Q Can I see -- I want to make sure you have all of the pages on your copy, sir. I will hand that back to you.

Did you receive MS 87 from Mr. Emerick and Mr. Frank L. Miller?

A I am on the distribution list. I don't recall specifically, but I assume so.

Q Does the transaction structure as set forth in these documents accurately reflect the final structure of the transaction that is memorialized in the merger documents we have previously identified?

A I believe so.

Q You can set it aside, then.

Is it fair to say that by February 25th of 1998, that the consideration and the structure of the transaction which is memorialized in the merger documents had been agreed upon by the parties?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 313

A Yes. I don't remember if there was any last minute tinkering, but essentially it had been agreed upon as of February 25th from your perspective as a legal officer of the Coleman Company.

Q Were there any open issues that you were still considering?

A I don't recall. I mean, there may have been some things that had to be resolved, but I believe they were most of the way there. I don't remember today what was open.

Q Sir, I hand you what has been previously marked as MS 188. Please take a look at it. I have just a couple of questions for you. The first one is going to be whether you received it, so --

A I don't recall.

Q Do you recall in the negotiations when you became actively involved, February 19th up until the -- say up until February 26th, when the deal became a combination of cash and stock as opposed to a stock deal?

A It was sometime during that period from when I first got started to the closing. And I think I testified last time that the key issue was that we insisted that there be no shareholder vote as a condition to the closing. So, the closing would only be conditioned on Hart Scott Rodino, which was impossible to avoid, and conditioned on the material adverse change provision in the agreement.

Page 314

And that insistence drove the result to some combination of cash and stock because under New York Stock Exchange rules, a company cannot issue 20 percent or more of the voting stock without a shareholder vote. So, the investment bankers and the lawyers had to figure out a way to do the deal with no more than 19.9 percent of the stock being issued.

And I know there were discussions between Sunbeam's counsel and the New York Stock Exchange that went into the details of what could actually be issued because there were treasury shares, for example, that could be added to newly issued shares, and -- and -- and all of that led to a number, which was the maximum number. When you multiply that number by the agreed upon consideration, you couldn't get to the consideration, so there had to be a cash element.

Page 315

Q If you look at, please, Exhibit 188, which I understand you said you did not receive?

A I said I don't recall if I received it.

Q I am sorry, I thought you said you did not receive it. I misunderstood.

Turn to Page 3 under the heading "Basis of Agreement to Convert to Cash and Stock."The third item is "Deliver as much in Laser stock as can be permitted, remainder in cash." Do you see that?

A Yes.

Q Now, is this -- is this provision; that is, as much stock as can be permitted and remainder in cash, were you referring to that there had to be only so much stock that would be part of a deal to avoid a vote, and the balance would have to be in cash?

MR. BRODY: I object to the form. Go ahead.

A Essentially, there is a calculation here that shows between the two pages how much Sunbeam stock could be issued without a shareholders vote. It appears on Page 2 and Page 3.

Q So, as I understand it, the -- your side of the table; that is, the Coleman/CLN Holdings side of the table, wanted to take as much Sunbeam stock as possible, subject to what you have told us about wanting to avoid a shareholder vote; is that fair?

Page 316

MR. BRODY: I object to the form, foundation.

A No, I don't recall who -- who wanted to drive this as -- as -- as much in the stock direction as possible. What I recall was -- what I recall, without regard to whether the Coleman side wanted all stock or some combination in the transaction, there was a limitation of how much stock could be issued based upon the shareholders vote that drove that. Whether, in fact, the Coleman side wanted more stock, less cash, more cash, less stock, I don't recall today.

Q Would the gentlemen who were on the business side of the transaction be the people that you would think, sitting here today, would be most knowledgeable on that subject?

A Yes, I would think so.

Q You can hand that back to me. You told us -- withdrawn.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

You told us in the first day of your deposition that you attended the February 25th, 1998 Board of Directors meeting of the Coleman Company, Inc.; correct?

A Yes.

Q And at the meeting, there was a presentation by Mr. Levin; correct?

A (No Response)

Q Would you like to see the minutes?

A Yes, I recall that there were at least two meetings. At one of the meetings, Mr. Levin presented the current status of the business.

Q I have handed you the minutes of the Board of Directors meeting of the Coleman Company, Inc., dated February 25th, 1998, at 4:00 p.m.

A Yes.

Q Do you have that in front of you?

A Yes.

Q If you need to refer to them, let me know. I don't have too many questions on it at this point.

There was a presentation by Mr. Levin; correct?

A That is correct.

Q And, in addition, there was a presentation by Credit Suisse First Boston; was there not?

A The minutes indicate that there was.

Q Having reviewed the minutes of the meeting and outline of the presentation by Mr. Levin and Mr. Gordon Rich of First Boston, do these minutes accurately reflect what was said at the meeting, recognizing they are not verbatim minutes?

A Yes. I have some trouble sitting here again over six years later distinguishing between this meeting and the meeting two days later, but I know that Mr. Rich, First Boston, did make a very complete presentation to the Board of their valuation, and methodology and so forth. I just don't remember which of the two meetings it occurred at. The minutes indicate at the first meeting, and I presume they are accurate.

Q Let me also show you what has been marked as MS 279, the Coleman Company, Inc., Notice of Merger and Appraisal Rights and Information Statement.

I am going to hand you what has been previously marked, I think, at Mr. Rivkin's (phonetic) deposition earlier. I don't have many questions about it, it is a long document.

Did you assist in the preparation of this document?

A Can you tell me when this document is dated?

Q Yes, I can, sir. I will have to get --

A If it is December '99, the answer is, yes. I assisted mainly at a review level.

Q It is on the second page. It should be right on the second page. The document is dated December 6th, 1999.

A The answer is, yes.

Q What was your level of participation, please?

A Well, the -- the -- the document was filed in order to close what we referred to as the back end of the merger, which was the transfer of consideration to the Coleman share -- the minority Coleman shareholders, the approximately 18 percent other than the maximum shareholders, and that was supposed to occur soon after the closing with the MAFCO piece, which was at the end of March of '98.

It got delayed, and -- and this was -- this was subsequently undertaken as a major project that went on for quite a time. It was done -- it was headed by Mr. Isko, who reported to me. He was general counsel at that point of Sunbeam reporting to me as Chief Administrative Officer, and the finance headed by Bobby Jenkins, who conferred with him often on issues as a colleague, and -- and with the help of Skadden and the help of Deloitte and Arthur Andersen and Ernst & Young --

Q Perhaps -- withdrawn.

A So, I was involved in --

Q What was specifically your involvement?

A It was a project, and the answer was I was -- I was a member of the team that talked about the project, dealt with the SEC comments as they came back and forth and tried to figure out how to get this very difficult task accomplished, but I was by no means the leader of the project.

Q There is a narrative provision in the filing which describes the negotiations and the presentations to the Board of Directors of the company. Did you -- did you participate in drafting that narrative?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 321

A I don't recall. I do not believe that I was a draftsman of any of this. I reviewed major parts of it and commented on them, but I was not a draftsman.
Q Could you tell me who was the major draftsman of the text of MS 279?
A Well, to the extent that it was the financial portions of it, it would have been the various accounting firms that were involved with the particular parts, Ernst & Young with regard to Coleman, Deloitte with regard to any Sunbeam financials that were presented after 1998 and Arthur Andersen with regard to financials through the end of 1998.
With regard to the legal and textural parts, it would have been Stephen Isko working with a team from Skadden, headed by Rich Easton and Finn Fogg.
Q Who would have been responsible for drafting those sections that dealt with the negotiations that led up to the signing of the merger agreements and the presentations, for example, made to the Board?
A I don't recall. I don't recall whether it was Mr. Isko, whether Wachtel got involved again to help with that since they had been involved with it before. Skadden wouldn't have been involved with it originally, so it would probably not have been them. I am just not certain.

Page 322

Q Before this document that is MS 279 was -- strike that.
The document was eventually filed with the SEC; correct?
A That is correct.
Q And it was sent to Coleman shareholders?
A After being approved by the SEC, yes.
Q Did you review the final text of the document before it was submitted to the SEC for its approval?
A I reviewed the documents at various points in its process. I don't recall whether I reviewed final text or not.
Q To the extent that the document was reviewed by you, did you make any material changes to it? I realize you might have made a small textural change. Do you remember any material changes you might have made?
A Along the way, I don't recall.

Page 323

Q Did you -- at least to the final draft that you did see, did the document fairly and accurately summarize the negotiations leading up to the execution of the merger documents to the extent you had knowledge of those negotiations?
MR. BRODY: I object to the form.
A The answer is, I don't recall. I would assume that if I felt the document was inaccurate, that I would have expressed that view.
Q Let's -- let me show you Morgan Stanley 118, the minutes of the second Board of Directors meeting, in case you need to look at those.
Do you have Morgan Stanley 118 in front of you?
MR. BRODY: He doesn't, actually.
A No, I don't.
Q I thought I gave you 118; did I not?
MR. BRODY: You gave me 118.
Q I apologize, too many documents here. Here you go, sir.
A Okay.
Q All right.
Did Mr. Rich of Credit Suisse First

Page 324

Boston make a presentation to the Board as reflected in the minutes of February 27th?
A It appears that he did, yes.
Q What was your role -- your role was to -- withdrawn.
How would you describe your role at the Board meeting?
A Essentially ministerial. I was not a member of the Board, I was general counsel to the company, and in this instance, I was the one who introduced the resolutions as general counsel.
Q Did you make any type of presentation other than the introduction of the various resolutions?
A Not to my recollection.
Q Did you draft the resolutions, or were those done by a legal counsel for you in connection with --
A I believe the resolutions were -- drafts of the resolutions were prepared by Wachtel Lipton. I am sure I reviewed them, as did Mr. Isko.
Q Were there any questions by the members of the Coleman Company Board of Directors from either the February 25th or the February 27th meeting that stand out in your mind today?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

A No. I recall the members asking questions trying to understand the transaction, understanding what the alternatives were to doing a transaction, whether the value was adequate and so forth, what you would expect from an intelligent board of directors, but nothing that I recall seven, six and a half years later, no.

Q Did any of the directors raise at the meeting the value of the Sunbeam stock that was a part of the consideration that was being paid for the Coleman stock?

A I mean, the value of the stock, stock was traded publicly, and it had a market value day by day. It was discussed by Mr. Rich, I am sure there were questions asked about whether we were comfortable, those who were involved with the transaction, that Sunbeam was solid, and was a good company and so forth.

The -- the public shareholders, of course, who were the major part of the Board's concern were in a position all through this thing to vote with their feet, and, so, they -- they were each in a position to make their own decision about the value of Sunbeam's stock. Since the minute this was announced, it became a proxy for Coleman stock, but the focus was, as described in the minutes, was the price fair.

Q And Credit Suisse First Boston opined that it was?

A Correct.

Q What does it mean that you opine that it is fair in this context?

A It means that the investment banker does an analysis of what they believe the fair price for Coleman is, the company that they represent, and that analysis essentially is based on the operations and prospects of the company as opposed to what its actual stock price is.

They then look at the consideration being paid and opine as to whether the consideration being paid is appropriate, fair, in light of the valuation they have determined is appropriate for the target company, the acquired company, and they use various methods of computation of what the value of Coleman is, discounted cash flow and others.

Q And all of the valuations that were done by CSFB were presented in summary form, if you will, to the Board; were they not?

A Yes.

Q And did any of the CSFB valuation methodologies that were presented to the Board suggest in any way that the consideration paid as of the point in time of their presentation was not fair?

A They all -- if I recall, every valuation showed that 27.50 a share, which was the consideration that appeared -- that was the target consideration was a fair price.

Q And given the market price of Coleman stock, before the announcement of the merger, was a premium being paid based on a valuation of $27.50 per share?

A As that term is generally understood, the answer is, yes. 27.50 represented more than what Coleman was trading before the announcement. Before the announcement, whether it was a premium to what Coleman was really worth is in the eye of the beholder.

Q Based simply on valuation by the market as you have described it, there was substantial agreement?

A Yes, the Coleman stock -- the Coleman stock was trading at considerably less than 27.50 a share up until right before the announcement.

Q Am I correct that the premium, again based on market value as you have described them, was in excess of 40 percent?

A I don't recall exactly. Coleman was somewhere in the prior months in the 14 half to 18 range. If I recall, it went up and down, and it jumped right before the merger was announced. So you can do the calculation.

Q Did any of the directors at either the February 25th or February 27th Board meeting raise in their questioning the recent announcement that we looked at in the Wall Street Journal article, which I think is MS 206, that Sunbeam had not met certain street expectations for the fourth quarter of 1997, and there had been a drop in its price as a result thereof?

A I don't recall.

Q Did any of the people in attendance who were not directors, such as yourself, did they raise this issue with the -- with the Board for their consideration?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 329

A I don't recall.
Q Was there any discussion at the Board of Directors meetings on either February 25th or February 27th, 1998, any discussion about analysts' expectations for Sunbeam's performance, financial performance, for the first quarter of 1998?
A I don't recall.
Q Do you recall there being any presentation by any adviser to the Coleman Company at either of the -- at either Board meeting, February 25 or February 27, concerning analysts' expectations for Sunbeam's first quarter performance?
A I just don't recall.
Q If there had been such a presentation by an adviser to the Coleman Company or as a result of an employee of the Coleman making such a presentation -- withdraw the question. I will try it again.
If there had been a presentation to Coleman's Board at either February 27th or February 25th, and that presentation had concerned analysts' expectations for Sunbeam's financial performance in the first quarter of 1998, would that have been reflected in the minutes?

Page 330

MR. BRODY: I object to form.
A I don't know.
Q Who kept the minutes at the meeting; was it Mr. Isko?
A Mr. Isko.
Q Were there audiotapes of the directors minutes?
A No.
Q Shorthand notes?
A No.
Q Did Mr. Isko draft the minutes in the first instance, or was it done by your law firm?
A For this meeting, I don't recall.
Q The February 27th, 1998 Board meeting was the last Board meeting of the Coleman Company, Inc.; was it not?
A It was the -- to my recollection, it was the last meeting of the Board in which the membership was -- the membership at February 27th, Coleman continued to exist and still does. It has meetings.
Q After the -- withdrawn.

Page 331

Did you attend any of the presentations sometimes called roadshow presentations for the zero coupon notes that were issued in connection with the merger?
A No.
Q Did you see -- before the closing of the CLN merger agreement in March 1998, did you see the offering memorandum for the notes?
A I don't believe so.
Q You did see the March 19th press release; did you not?
A I saw it in the newspaper, yes.
Q A moment ago, I misspoke, I think I referred to the zero coupon notes. They were actually debentures. You understand what I meant?
A I assumed you meant the zero coupons issued to fund the merger of Coleman, First Alert and Signature Brands.
Q Those were the debentures I was referring to.
A Okay.
Q So we are both on the same page.
Let me show you the press release from March 19th. I think you testified in your earlier session with us that you did see this in your deposition preparation. I will hand that to you and your counsel.

Page 332

You saw this press release, you said, in the newspapers; is that how you saw it?
A Yes, yes.
Q Do you remember what newspaper -- strike that.
Did you see it on or about March 19th in the newspapers?
A A copy was presented to me. I don't recall whether it was a copy directly out of the newspapers, whether it was something that came from a website, Dow Jones News. I don't recall. I saw this press release on approximately a contemporaneous basis to it being issued.
Q Did I understand you to say that someone gave it to you, the press release or newspaper article?
A I got it somehow. It didn't appear magically.
Q Were you on a distribution list?
A I was not on a distribution list.
Q However it got to you, you got it and you read it when you received it; correct?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 333

A Yes.
Q Did you, as a result of the press release, did you take any actions to investigate the matters set forth in the press release?
A I am quite certain I attended a meeting in which the contents of the press release were discussed by Coleman and MacAndrews people.
Q Where was this meeting?
A I don't recall.
Q Was it in New York?
A Yes.
Q Who was present?
A I don't recall.
Q Do you recall anyone who was present besides yourself?
A I am sure Jerry Levin was there, could have been Mr. Isko on the MAFKO end, it could have involved Mr. Maher, Mr. Schwartz, Mr. Gittis. Some members of that group, I would presume.
Q How soon after the press release was issued on March 19th, 1998, did this meeting take place?
A Soon.
Q That day?

Page 334

A On the next day. Within a very short time.
Q So the -- withdrawn.
How long did this meeting last?
A I don't recall.
Q Do you have any notes of the meeting?
A No.
Q Any documents handed out or discussed at the meeting other than --
A No, I just remember that we discussed what this was all about and what it meant.
Q What was said about what this was all about and what it meant?
A My recollection is that it came as a surprise to us, that it was our belief up until the time of this press release that Sunbeam was on track to meet its net sales and earnings projections that had been shown to us at the meeting in the last week of February and had been presented at various analysts' meetings to the public. And, so, to my recollection, it was the first we became aware that they believed that they might have a problem.
Q There is no -- withdrawn.
There is no mention of earnings in this press release; right?

Page 335

A That is correct. So, my reading of the press release would be that they are talking about a sales shortfall, and that by not mentioning earnings and by having earnings estimates out in the public, I would have read it to presume that they still believed that they were going to make their earnings.
Q Let's start with you. Did you make any inquiry of anyone at Sunbeam following your receipt of the press release?
A Not to my recollection.
Q Did anyone who attended this meeting where, as you put it, this was a surprise to us, did anyone at that meeting make any inquiry of Sunbeam about either its sales for the first quarter of 1998 or its earnings for the same period?
A I believe someone from our team got in touch with someone from the Sunbeam side, probably the investment banking side of Sunbeam; i.e., Morgan Stanley, to get a sense of what was going on.
Q What makes you believe today, as you sit here six years later, that someone on your team got in touch with someone --

Page 336

A I just have a vague recollection that there was an inquiry made, and there was an answer given.
Q But as you sit here today, you do not know who made the inquiry, if one was made; is that fair?
A That is correct.
Q And if an inquiry was made by someone, you don't know to whom it was made by, as you sit here today?
A Yes. As I say, I believe that the line of communication would have been to Morgan Stanley probably from Mr. Maher or Mr. Nesbitt.
Q Did Mr. Maher or Mr. Nesbitt ever tell you that they had spoken to someone at Morgan Stanley after March 19th?
A Again, my recollection is that I believe that I learned that someone had spoken to the Sunbeam side and -- and had been responded to by -- with an assurance that, A, they might still make the number because they tended to get a lot of sales at the end of the quarter, they were being very conservative, and, B, it was kind of a blip, and it was notin the a big deal.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 337

They didn't believe it affected the long term, it just simply affected the quarter.
Q Can you identify any better for me who on the Sunbeam side you think said something to this effect, other than who it would have been --
A No. The way I have gotten -- the way that it is in my mind is that if -- the only person on the Sunbeam side that somebody might have talked with would have been Mr. Dunlop or Mr. Kirsch. None of us were in contact at that point, to my knowledge, with Mr. Dunlop. The only person that might have talked to Russ Kirsch would have been Jerry Levin. I don't recall him having that discussion, and it is likely if it was Jerry, I would remember or would have been part of it.
And the way the transaction tended to work, a lot of communications funneled through Maher and Nesbitt on our side, this type of communication, and they generally did not talk directly to the Sunbeam people, they talked to the Morgan Stanley people.
Q Have you seen any documents that in any way would evidence a communication of the type that you think could have happened?

Page 338

A Any documents?
Q Yes, sir.
A No.
Q For example, a memorandum that someone wrote that I spoke to Mr. Kirsch, and he said the following, anything like that?
A No.
Q Did you have any -- strike that.
Did you participate in any discussions on the March 19th press release with Mr. Pearlman?
A Not that I recall.
Q Did any of the directors of the Coleman Company, Inc., have contact with any of the officers of the Coleman Company after the March 19th press release and make inquiry about that press release?
MR. BRODY: I object to form.
A I don't recall.
Q Did anyone on the Coleman side make contact with Rich Goudis, whose phone number is listed on the press release, to ask for further information about the matters set forth in the press release?

Page 339

A I don't think so.
Q Did anyone on the Coleman side of the transaction, including CLN Holdings, Inc., request from Sunbeam their interim financial statements for the months of January and February 1998 following the issuance of the press release, MS 339?
MR. BRODY: I object to form.
A I don't recall.
Q Did anyone on the Coleman or CLN Holdings Inc.'s side of the transaction make any inquiry to Sunbeam's auditors after March 19th and before the closing on March 30, 1998, about the matters set forth in the March 19th, 1998 press release?
MR. BRODY: Same objection.
A I don't believe so. I don't recall.
Q Now, following the March 19th, 1998 press release, did the team at MacAndrews & Forbes continue to monitor the financial press with regard to Sunbeam? That is a poor question. Let me withdraw it and try it again.
Between March 19, 1998, and the closing on March 30, 1998, did the MacAndrews & Forbes team that was working on this transaction monitor the financial press for commentary from analysts on Sunbeam?

Page 340

A It would have been normal procedure in MacAndrews & Forbes to receive clippings from the financial press relating to each of their companies, and certainly Sunbeam would have been on the list by now.
Q When you say it would be normal procedure, is there a person who had that task?
A But that, I don't know the answer. I assume there was, but at that point in time, senior executives tended to receive a daily packet that included any comments in the press about any of the MacAndrews companies. I am sure somebody would have been added to the list by then.
Q Did this daily package have a name?
A No.
Q Were you on the distribution list for the daily package?
A There were points of time during my time at MacAndrews, and there was a point in time when it became dramatically unwieldy, so I was no longer --
Q Were you on the list between March 19

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 341

and March 30?
A The answer is, I don't recall. But, typically, if it related to one of the companies I was working at, it would get to me.
In other words, Jerry Levin was certainly on the list. If something came through of interest, he would have sent it up to me even if I didn't get it directly.
Q Would Mr. Maher have been on the list with regard to this transaction?
A I presume so.
Q Mr. Nesbitt?
A I don't know whether he would have been on the list or Mr. Maher would have forwarded him materials.
Q If you have answered this, I apologize for asking it again, but do you know who at this period of time, say March 19th up to March 30th, would have been the person who would have prepared the daily package? And if it is more than one person, just tell me who.
A I have no idea because it was essentially a clerical function. I mean, they undoubtedly subscribed to some clipping service. A clipping service I would presume forwarded a package in electronic or hard copy, and somebody -- this job that you are portraying would have involved making a series of Xerox copies and attaching a distribution list and sending them out.

Page 342

Q So, it was actually a service that provided the collection of the information?
A The answer was, I never knew. I presume so. That is how you normally do that kind of thing. I can't imagine they had people sitting and reading newspapers all day. They used to. Now, it is a business. In old days, people actually did do that. I don't know, was a time when that is how it was done.
Q On June 15th, you told me you accepted your position at Sunbeam, you -- as the Chief Administrative Officer, did you participate in the investigation that was done on the restatement of Sunbeam's financial statements?
A Yes.
Q What was your role?
A Participating senior executive, sat in on meetings with the accountants, attended discussions with the SEC staff, sat in on Audit Committee -- presentations to the Audit

Page 343

Committee and Audit Committee meetings.
Q Did you attend all of the Audit Committee meetings that involved the restatement?
A I generally attended all of the Audit Committee meetings unless I was unavailable for some reason.

Q And you also were the principal executive officer of the Coleman Company who was negotiating with the lending banks to Sunbeam, were you not?
A You mean after the 15th?
Q My questions are all to the 15th.
A I wouldn't say I was the principal, I mean I was -- Jerry Levin was the chief fiancial officer and I would say it was more like a team and certainly Jerry Levin --it tended to be Jerry, me, Bobby and Steve Isko who would meet with the banks.
Q And the banks had loaned Sunbeam money in connection with the merger transaction; correct?
A That's correct
Q And what were the banks that you were negotiating with?

Page 344

A The bank group at that time was, consisted of Morgan Stanely who owned 40 percent of the, of that level of debt, First Union, now Wachovia, I think were at Wachovia, First Union, 40 percent Morgan Stanley, and then there were two banks that each owned 30 percent, one was then First Union, now Wachovia, and Bank of America.
Q And what was the total amount of the debt that these percentage costs related to as of September 15th of 1998?
MR. BRODY: Thank you.
A The facility was somewhere in the billion 8 range, and the -- what was drawn in June 1998, I don't recall. It was considerably less, maybe a billion 2 or a billion 3 at that point. I don't recall specifically.
Q And the bank facility, which consists of these three banks, as of June 15th, loaned Sunbeam somewhere in the neighborhood of 1.2 to $1.3 billion; that is what you recall?
A They were committed to something like a billion 8, and they had loaned -- I am really vague on this -- a billion 2 or a billion 3. The whole facility had not been drawn.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 345

Q As of June 15th of 1998, when you joined Sunbeam, was Sunbeam in default under any of the lending agreements?
A No, but -- but we determined within a week or so of being there that they would be in default as of June 30th.
Q What was the nature of the default that was anticipated by June 30th?
A I don't recall, but it was a covenant default. It had to do with performance for the quarter ending June 30th, and I don't recall if it was sales or net -- or net earnings, but -- but -- but it was a -- but it was more than a technical covenant that we were going to be in default of.
Q And did you then participate in negotiations with the bank facility to either waive the covenant or amend the credit agreement such that there would be no default?
A Yes.
Q And did you -- did you -- did you eventually reach an agreement with the banks?
A Yes, we did.
Q When was that?
A I would say late June, early July.

Page 346

Q Of 1998?
A Yes.
Q Following that agreement, did Sunbeam default again?
A I believe that we -- that there was a constant stream of waivers that we sought. And I believe that when you say did we default, the reason I hesitate in answering that is I can't remember if we obtained waivers before defaults actually occurred or whether we cured defaults with waivers. So, technically, I don't remember the answer, but what I do recall is we knew we had a problem, we wanted the banks to give us kind of blanket relief, and they sort of wanted to deal with it quarter by quarter.
Q Did there come a time when the banks refused to grant Sunbeam any further waivers?
A No, I don't think that that time ever came.
Q Did Sunbeam draw down on the balance of the credit facility?
A Yes.
Q Did it eventually draw down on the entire $1.8 billion?
A I believe so.

Page 347

Q Did Sunbeam file for bankruptcy?
A Yes.
Q When was that?
A It was January or early February of 2001.
Q At the time of the filing of the bankruptcy, did -- did the banks have -- withdrawn.
At the time of the filing of the bankruptcy by Sunbeam, Did it owe the banks the $1.8 billion that it had drawn down?
A I believe it did.
Q And did the banks then file claims in the bankruptcy proceeding?
A I believe so.
Q I want to go back to the restatement of the financial statements. When did that process start? Withdrawn.
What was your first involvement with the restatement of Sunbeam's financial statements that occurred? I think you told me earlier in October of 1998?
A I think I testified earlier that within two or three days after Jerry Levin and I arrived at Sunbeam in June of '98, we met with

Page 348

Phil Harlowe from Arthur Andersen, who is -- who was the Arthur Andersen partner in charge of the Sunbeam account because there had been a lot written about whether Sunbeam's numbers were accurate or not, including a Baron's article in early June.
We received assurance from Mr. Harlowe that Arthur Andersen stood behind its audits and was comfortable with the results. Within the next few days, no more than ten days, I learned that in connection with the zero coupon bonds that had been issued in March of '98, there was a registration that had to be filed sometime by the last ten days in June, June 19 scenario, to make the bonds publicly tradeable. They were issued as 144 bonds, exempt from registration.
And in connection with that filing, Arthur Andersen had to agree to the inclusion of the audit opinion from 12/31/97 in the filing. And somebody came to inform me that Arthur Andersen was starting to raise concerns as to whether they could stand by their earlier audit letter.
And I was asked to come into a meeting with Phil Harlowe and -- and at least one of his associates, Larry Bornestein, and some of the Sunbeam people, and in that meeting, Phil expressed concern -- I think Bobby Jenkins was also in that meeting with me -- concern that -- that in doing their follow-up work in connection with agreeing to include their '97 audit opinion, there were some things that were now disturbing them, that they thought there might be some problems, and they weren't sure they could include -- they could agree to have their audit opinion attached to the filing.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 349

Those -- the -- the consequences of that would have been very dire for Sunbeam because you can't file without the inclusion of the audit opinion. So, Sunbeam would have been unable to file. It would, therefore, have defaulted in a provision of the bond -- of the bond debenture, which would have resulted in Sunbeam having to make certain penalty payments of interest to the zero coupon holders and to make a public announcement that there was an issue concerning its -- its accounting.

I was, of course, not in a position to dispute the facts because I didn't know the facts. I was newly arrived on the scene. All I knew was that it was a very serious situation and told Mr. Harlowe that it was a very serious situation, and did he understand the consequences of the action he was proposing or considering. And that is because of the repercussions from that decision by Arthur Andersen, I thought it was important that he go to his national office and involve the highest level partners in that decision so that it wasn't the kind of thing where a local decision was made.

Page 350

And then two weeks later, they said, oops, we really can do this, the damage would have already been severe. I wanted to make certain that Andersen was giving it their top level consideration, whatever the decision ultimately was. I wasn't in a position to push them or argue with them one way or the other, and -- and over the next few days, they brought in a national partner, who was a former SEC accounting division senior accountant -- my recollection, his name was John Riley, a very smart guy -- and they wavered back and forth over the next few days, and as they got up to the date when this filing had to occur under the bond debenture, they concluded that they could not include their audit and opinion in filing, and, therefore, the filing had to be delayed.

Page 351

That caused a major emergency for Sunbeam, and we then had to announce publicly this fact, and that our Audit Committee was looking into the circumstances surrounding our financials. I don't remember whether -- whether it was one press release or two, but -- but between then and the next few days, a press release was issued stating that the Audit Committee had determined that it was uncertain whether our previous financials could be relied upon and that the Audit Committee was undertaking an investigation into whether a restatement would be necessary.

So, that -- so, that brings you up to somewhere around the last week in June, I believe.

Q In this two week period, roughly between when you started and the end -- and the end of the month, and the issuance of these press releases, was -- did anyone claim that Morgan Stanley -- that Morgan Stanley had anything to do with the issues that were causing Arthur

Page 352

Andersen to hesitate to allow the use of their opinions in the Registration Statement for the zero coupon debentures?

A Not to my recollection.

Q Did Mr. Riley or Mr. Harlowe, for that matter, during this two week period identify for you specific accounting issues that were -- that were the -- that were the cause, if you will, of their unwillingness to allow their opinion to be used in a Registration Statement for the debentures?

A Yes.

Q What were the specific issues as of -- as of the end of June that were brought to your attention by either Mr. Harlowe, or by Mr. Riley or someone else from Andersen?

A Again, this was a process, so it is hard to isolate, what you learned at one point versus what you learned at another point. But my recollection was that the major issues they raised were a very large bill and hold sale of grills, outdoor barbecue grills. At the end of 1997, they raised an issue concerning the booking of returns for 1997, and then there was an issue concerning whether there were certain sales that had been registered were real or not.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 353

In connection with the bill and hold sale, the issue was that there are very specific steps that must be accomplished in order to book something as a bill and hold sale, it is very specific accounting, and among those things were letters that were required from retailers saying that, in effect, that I requested this extra inventory, I wanted it for my purpose, and that, in fact, we are -- we are the owners even though we don't necessarily physically possess it, and even though we are not going to pay for it for some time. There was a question of whether the letters that were received by Andersen were the right kind of letter and whether, in fact, they had been in some respects influenced by Sunbeam when they weren't supposed to be influenced by Sunbeam.
With regard to the returns, the story came out as to whether there were -- the issue that I mentioned earlier where trucks were appearing at the loading dock with returns, and Sunbeam was sending them away, and whether, in fact, there were -- there were unaccounted for returns at the end of '97 and the first quarter of '98 also were impacted by that. And the bill and hold issue, there was at least one sale, a very large sale, if I recall, consisted of parts that the -- in a sense the consumer service end of Sunbeam had this large inventory of parts, so if you called up and said my toaster is broken, and I need a new handle, somewhere there was a fulfillment department that either sold you that handle or gave it to you if it was under warranty, and there was an alleged sale that involved millions and millions of dollars to that whole inventory to a third party at the end of '97, and it was booked in '97. It was somewhere between 5 and $10 million, if I recall, and facts had now came out as to whether that sale had really occurred or not.

Page 354

There were some other matters, but those were the kinds of things that were raised.
Q So, as a consequence of these matters being raised, the result was that Andersen did notify Sunbeam that it would not consent to the use of the opinion with regard to certain financial statements for inclusion in the Registration Statement for the debentures; am I right?

Page 355

A That is correct.
Q So the jury is clear on this, which financial statements were at issue for inclusion in the debenture offering in this period of June of 1998?
A I believe it was the year end 1996 financial statements, the year end 1997 financial statements and the first quarter of 1998.
Q Now, following the Andersen decision and the press releases that were issued, was there an investigation undertaken by Sunbeam in connection with its auditors concerning some of these very matters you have described for us which caused Andersen to decline to give their consent to the use of their opinion?
A Yes. Essentially under the aegis of the Audit Committee, the Audit Committee retained Deloitte & Touche as their special consultant and as an expert to work with Arthur Andersen and the Sunbeam accounting and finance staff to determine whether a restatement was needed, whether the financials did not fairly and accurately present the financial condition of the company at the periods that I mentioned.

Page 356

Q At the same time, did Deloitte and withdrawn.
Did Arthur Andersen assist in this investigation as well?
A Yes, Arthur Andersen, in theory, was the lead. They were investigating the situation kind of like the lead. Deloitte was looking over their shoulder on behalf of the Audit Committee, and the -- and the finance staff and the senior executives at Sunbeam were also involved.
Q And there was also a group called Chicago Partners who was involved as well; correct?
A That is correct. They were -- the Chicago Partners, if I recall, was involved for a different purpose, because at the same time, the -- the -- the Board -- I don't recall if it was the Board or the Audit Committee, undertook an investigation of what had happened in order to determine who was at fault, whether there were people at Sunbeam that had to be removed and so forth.
And that investigation was undertaken by, I believe, a committee of the Board. They retained Skadden Arps, and I believe Chicago Partners was retained as a forensic accounting firm to work on that report with the Board committee. As I said, I don't remember if it was the Audit Committee, a separate committee of the Board or the whole board. I don't remember today.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 357

Q And the law firm that was involved was Skadden Arps; correct?

A Yes.

Q The same counsel had by Sunbeam in the merger transaction that closed on March 30, 1998?

A That is correct.

Q The reports -- the reports were eventually issued by Sunbeam -- withdrawn.

A report was eventually issued by Arthur Andersen with regard to its investigation; correct?

A Not exactly. The first step was that enough work was done to convince everybody involved that a restatement was necessary. So, Andersen came to the conclusion that a restatement was necessary, Deloitte agreed with that, and the Audit Committee agreed with it.

Page 358

Q I didn't mean to interrupt. Go ahead.

A The process is that you investigate whether, in fact, a restatement is necessary. The first question is, a bell goes off, you say you can't rely on the financials, now we have to determine is it a real problem or not.

Something around a month or six weeks went by during which enough investigative work was done that the accountants and the Audit Committee all became convinced that the financials involved did not accurately and fairly state the financial condition and operations of the company, the results of operations of the company, so then we announced that fact.

That gets you to sometime in early to mid August, and then additional work was done to now, in effect, redo the financial statements for the periods involved, and a new opinion was issued by Arthur Andersen at the end of that process for the restated financials.

Q When I use the word report, that -- that was not -- that was not a good word for what I was looking for. Arthur Andersen did issue to Sunbeam, in connection with the restatement and the investigation, a management letter, did it not, where it outlined the problems that -- that are -- that are at the root, if you will, of what caused the restatements to be issued; is that fair?

Page 359

A I believe under accounting law or practice, I am not sure where it comes from, when you do a restatement, the auditing firm is required to issue a management letter which contains all of the deficiencies that they believe led to the restatement. It is a -- it is an interesting process because they were supposed to issue such a letter in connection with the annual audit anyway.

And -- and this letter tells you a lot of things after the fact, which you kind of wish had been told to the company before the fact; i.e., that the internal control mechanisms are inadequate, things like that.

Q Did the -- did the -- have you reviewed the management -- strike that.

Did you review the management letter when it was issued?

A Yes.

Q Did the management letter in any way suggest that Morgan Stanley had had any paragraphs in any of the accounting matters that caused the restatement?

Page 360

A Not, not to my recollection.

Q Was there any indication in the management letter that was issued by Arthur Andersen in connection with the restatement that Morgan Stanley knew of the accounting matters that caused the restatement before the restatement was --

A They wouldn't have looked into it, but, no.

Q Let me show you what has been marked as Exhibit 61 and ask you if this is the management letter that you have been describing for us that Arthur Andersen issued following the investigation that you have described in conjunction with Deloitte & Touche, the Audit Committee, and Sunbeam's accounting staff?

A It appears to be.

Q In addition to the --

A Yes, okay.

Q It is okay to proceed?

A Yes.

Q In addition to the audit work that was 61 — 8-96

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 361

done and which we have been -- we have summarized in MS 61, you told us also there was an investigation undertaken by the Board with the assistance of legal counsel and Chicago Partners. Do you recall that testimony?
A Yes.
Q Did this committee of the Board have a name, like the Audit Committee, like special committee to investigate?
A As I said, I should remember this, but I just don't. I don't remember if it was the whole Board, or a committee of the Board or the Audit Committee itself.
Q Did this -- I am going to call it a special committee, so we can separate it from the Audit Committee, if that is proper. Did this special committee issue a report of any kind?
A There was a report prepared. I don't know if it was issued by that committee or accepted by the committee. In other words, I don't know whether the report which was largely compiled and prepared by Skadden and Chicago Partners then became the committee's report or whether they simply accepted the report.

Page 362

Q Did the report of the special committee, whatever form it eventually took, did it assess blame or assign blame to any one person or persons for the issues that were also the subject of the management letter, which we marked as MS 61?
A I don't recall. What I recall focusing on was, did it pin any blame on anybody that was still with the company. In other words, my focus sitting where I was as an operational person, I had my own views of who was at fault. My concern was is anybody that might have been at fault in any material way gone, or do we have people that we are depending on now still at the company whose activities are revealed by this investigation to be such that we shouldn't continue in employment with the company. So, that was sort of my focus.
Q Did people on the Board receive a written version of whatever Skadden prepared?
A They received a presentation of it. I don't remember whether they kept it or not.
Q When you say a presentation, like that, like a DEC presentation we talked about?
A No. I think they received the report itself and a verbal presentation by Bob Zimmit at Skadden, along with Chris Malloy, who worked with him. I don't know whether they kept the report because there were all kinds of issues regarding confidentiality and privilege that were going back and forth with the SEC. I don't recall if they were given to them in a room, made a presentation and gave it back to them or kept it.

Page 363

Q Did the report go to the SEC as far as ongoing proceedings with the SEC?
A We initially resisted giving it to the SEC, and I don't recall if it ultimately went to the SEC or not.
Q Did the report identify any wrongdoing by Morgan Stanley in connection with the matters that were investigated?
A I don't recall.
Q You don't recall one way or the other?
A No, I don't recall one way or the other.
Q Did the report identify any current employees of Sunbeam at the time that the report was prepared were at fault for the matters set forth in the report?
A My recollection is that there was one employee who I believe -- one who -- who we had -- who we had some serious concerns about, and -- and that person left the company after the restatement was completed.

Page 364

Q Who was that?
A Robert Gluck, who was the chief -- I believe the Chief Accounting Officer was his title.
Q Did Chicago Partners prepare a report separate from whatever Skadden Arps prepared?
A I don't recall. I know they worked on the Skadden report, and -- I mean I believe they were retained by Skadden to work on that report. I don't believe they produced a separate report, but it is possible.
Q Was there an individual at Chicago Partners that was primarily responsible for whatever forensic investigation it did, if that is what it is?
A There was, and I can't remember what his name was.
MR. BEMIS: Let's take about five minutes, and I will try to finish him up in the next 30 minutes and get him out of here.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MR. BRODY: That is good.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: The time is 3:22 p.m., and this ends Tape No. 2.
(Recess Taken)
MR. BEMIS: Would you mark this.
(Morgan Stanley Exhibit 261, communications package," marked for identification, as of this date.)
Q Let me show you what the court reporter has previously marked as --
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Excuse me. I have to get on the video.
The time is 3:34 p.m., and this begins Tape No. 3.
Q Sir, let me hand you what the court reporter has previously marked as MS 261. Do you have that, sir?
A Yes, I do.
Q Did you receive a copy of this as is indicated on the distribution -- I am sorry, attachment, which is Page 2 of the document?
A I believe so.
Q This document is marked as a confidential draft. Was there a further draft of this document, to your knowledge?

A I don't know.
Q When you received this document, did you make any further comments to the text of the various enclosures with the press release and ending with a conference call alert?
A I don't know. I mean, I know what this was, and it would have been my practice at the time to review it and make comments, but I don't know when the draft got to the point where I had no comments.
Q Would you please tell the jury what MS 261 is.
A Yes. We were about to issue the revised -- I should say the restated financials of Sunbeam for 1996, 1997 and the first quarter of '98. I think that the second quarter of '98 came a little later than this, and this was a communications package that was put together that was a combination of a press release that would be issued, a script for a conference call that would involve analysts and others that might be interested, and an employee communication, a communication to vendors, to retailers and so forth. So, it was a complete communication package in connection with announcing the restated financial results.

Q Was the press -- withdrawn.
Are any of the handwritten changes on this document yours?
A I don't believe so.
Q Do you know whose they are?
A No.
Q Do you have any idea whose they are --
MR. BRODY: I object to form.
A -- no, I really don't. I -- it could be -- it -- it talks about a conference call here, so it could be Marc Shifman or somebody at Sard Verbinnen who is our outside communications firm for this, who was sitting on the phone call making notes of comments to get to the final draft. I just don't know.
Q Well, let's start with each of the items real quickly. This shouldn't take long.
The press release that was issued, was it not, that is Attachment A to --
A A press release was issued. I presume it was -- it was this one.
Q If you look at Attachment B, which is entitled "Restatement Conference Call," did that conference call take place?

A Yes.
Q Were you on the conference call?
A I was in the room when Jerry presided, yes.
Q Did Mr. Levin read the text as set forth in Exhibit 261?
A He read part of it, and Bobby Jenkins read part of it, and I will see who else.
Q I only saw Bobby Jenkins and Mr. Levin, but I could have missed somebody.
A It appears that it was Bobby and Jerry.
Q Now, following the reading of the prepared text, were there questions and answers?
A I believe so.
MR. BRODY: When the conference call was taking place?
MR. BEMIS: When the conference --
MR. BRODY: When it took place, rather?
MR. BEMIS: Yes.
A I believe so. Our normal practice would be to open the phone lines to those on the line for questions.
Q Is there a transcript of the conference call that you are aware of?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 369

A I don't believe we did transcripts of recordings of Sunbeam conference calls. I am not certain.
Q I used the word transcript, I should have said, was there a recording of any kind?
A I don't recall if we recorded the conference calls.
Q The questions and answers, which is Attachment C, if you continue through the document, were these, if you will, prepared answers to anticipated questions that those on the conference call might ask?
A Possible questions, yes.
Q If you will turn to Exhibit D, which is a letter dated October 20th, 1998, or perhaps better described as a memorandum from Mr. Levin to the earnings restatement and an attached video, did that go to Sunbeam's management, the letter and the video?
A I believe it did, yes.
Q And then, finally, there is an Exhibit E, an e-mail to Mr. Levin, to all Sunbeam employees. Did that e-mail get sent to the -- get sent to the employees as indicated?
A I believe it did.

Page 370

Q And like Exhibit F appears to be a form of letter to vendors dated October 20th, 1998, did that letter get sent to selected vendors?
A I believe it did.
Q If you look now at Exhibit G, this is -- it is -- it appears to be another form letter to -- and it has a trade name. Did this letter get sent to certain customers of Sunbeam?
A I believe so, yes.
Q Would this like go to Wal-Mart, for example?
A Yes.
Q And then, if we look at Item H, which is entitled "Conference Call Alert," is this a memorandum or a press release of some kind that went out so that people could call into the conference call?
A Yes, I believe so.
Q All right.
Now, the document we have been looking at, which is a package of materials, is this, if you will, a culmination of the work done by Andersen, Deloitte Touche, Skadden, Chicago Partners, et cetera, over the period from June 15th when you came to the company up until

Page 371

October of 1998?
A It is a culmination of probably 90 percent of the work, because as I said, my recollection is we wanted to get out as quickly as possible the restated financials for -- we were now derelict in 10-Q filings, we had failed to file the second quarter 10-Q's within the required time, and -- and my recollection is that we wanted to move as quickly as we could consistent with doing the job properly, so we got this much out.
And I believe this covered through the period of the first -- without looking at it again, the first quarter of '98, and then we had to come back about a month later and do the second quarter of '98. The work just wasn't all done by this time, so there was another call that dealt with the second quarter of '98, which wasn't a restatement, it was the first time we released those financials.
And I don't recall when the -- when the third quarter of '98 was done, whether it was done at the time we announced the second quarter or it was done later. We tried to catch up and be a back on time filer. I don't recall whether we caught up at the end or --

Page 372

Q When you were not getting your 10-Q filings filed in a timely manner with the SEC, were you filing, or had you filed 8-K's to notify the SEC where you were at with respect to your investigation?
A Well, you file the 8-K to notify the public you file it with the SEC. I am sure we filed a press release and an 8-K at the time in late June when we were informed by Andersen that we could not rely on the financials and to announce that we were investigating and to announce that we were going to restate.
In the meantime, the SEC was in touch with us. We met with them once or twice. They were in regular touch with the Skadden people, they knew where we were. I don't think we had to subsequently file to say we wouldn't be filing our quarterly. I think they were generally aware of that.
Q I apologize for interrupting you. Let me show you what we will mark as MS 262.
MR. BRODY: 261 is a new exhibit today?
MR. BEMIS: Yes.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 373

Miss Reporter, would you mark this as 262, please.

(Morgan Stanley Exhibit 262, June 29, 1998 Board of Directors meeting minutes, marked for identification, as of this date.)

Q I have handed you what the reporter has marked as MS 262, which is entitled "Minutes of Special Meeting of the Executive Committee and of the Audit Committee of the Board of Directors of Sunbeam Corporation, June 29th, 1998."

Do you have that in front of you?

A Yes.

Q Now, as I -- as I understand your prior testimony, June 29th, 1998, would be about the time that the -- that the issue with Andersen would have come to a head; that is, that they would not consent to the use of their opinion in connection with the Registration Statement for the debentures. Am I in the right time frame?

A I think so, yes.

Q Okay.

Now, the Audit Committee kept minutes of all of the formal meetings; did it not?

A Yes, I believe so.

Page 374

Q And I think you said earlier that you participated in the Audit Committee meetings to the extent that you were available. If there was a meeting when you weren't there, I think you told us you wouldn't have, but if you were, you did participate; correct?

A Yes.

Q Do you recall any meetings of the Audit Committee at which any comments were made about Morgan Stanley in connection with the merger?

A I don't recall.

Q Do you recall any comments about Morgan Stanley on any subject matter at these Audit Committee meetings from June, let's say, of 1998 up until the October conference call?

A Well, yes, there were. I mean --

Q Other than banking issues? Let me set that one aside.

A Okay. I do recall discussions that related to zero's and their role in the zero's because at some point over the summer, Jerry Levin, and I and I think Bobby Jenkins went to meet with one of the largest holders of the zero coupon bonds, a group in Texas, and they were regular customers of Morgan Stanley, they were a large hedge fund, and I recall discussions with them in which they expressed their view of Morgan Stanley's role in and the work Morgan Stanley had done, and the fact that they were considering bringing a lawsuit against Morgan Stanley and had done something, I think maybe lobbied a lawyer's letter to Morgan Stanley simply reserving rights to later bring a complaint.

Page 375

We were aware of issues relating to the failed attempt of Morgan Stanley to lead a syndication of the loan when the three banks went into the loan 40 percent, 30 percent and 30 percent in round numbers. Morgan Stanley were responsible themselves for if it were fully drawn between 6 and $700 million, and the other two banks, in excess of $500 million. That was an extremely unusual position for banks to be in, and it was their intention that they were just -- that -- that they were going to bridge the situation until there was a syndication led by Morgan Stanley, at which point Morgan Stanley would have paid themselves and the other two banks way down.

And -- and the first meeting for a presentation to proposed syndicate members had been scheduled, if I recall, sometime from early to mid June had been called off because of the accounting problems that they began to see and the performance problems at Sunbeam. I was aware of those issues. I don't recall any other discussions except discussions relating to the Morgan Stanley as the banker.

Page 376

MR. BEMIS: That is all I have. Thank you very much.

MR. BRODY: Could we go off the record for just a second.

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: The time is 3:50 p.m. We are going off the record.

(Recess Taken)

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: The time is 3:54 p.m. We are back on the video record.

EXAMINATION BY MR. BRODY:

Q I would like to ask you a few questions to follow-up on some of the things that Mr. Bemis has asked you today and in the last session. This is the second session of your this; correct?

A Yes.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016472

Page 377

Q And the first session ended with Mr. Bemis still questioning?
A Yes.
Q So, this is my first opportunity to question you on the record?
A Yes.
Q In the last session, sir, Mr. Bemis asked you some questions concerning the Information Statement and the comfort letter provisions in the merger agreement. Do you generally recall that topic?
A Yes.
MR. BRODY: Counsel, I am going to apologize that I don't have extra copies, but I trust that you do of these documents.
Q Let's start with Exhibit 117, the Public Company Merger Agreement. It is previously marked.
Mr. Shapiro, I have given you what has been marked by Mr. Bemis as Exhibit 117. Do you recognize that as the public Company Merger Agreement?
A (No Response)
Q The merger agreement with the --

Page 378

A Yes.
Q Can you turn to Paragraph 7.3, and in Paragraph 7.3A and 7.3B, the agreement discusses certain circumstances in which comfort letters may be obtained?
A Yes.
Q I am going to focus on Paragraph 7.3B, and it refers to a comfort letter. Can you describe the circumstances in which Coleman would have the ability to obtain a comfort letter pursuant to Paragraph 7.3B?
A Well, my recollection is that the transaction essentially had two steps to it. Step 1 was the acquisition by a Sunbeam entity of the parent company, the MacAndrews -- ultimately went up to MacAndrews & Forbes, the parent company stock. That transaction took place, I believe, on March 30th of 1998, and that stock was acquired. Approximately, 18 percent of the stock was held by the public.
Because entities controlled by Mr. Pearlman had 80 percent of the stock, no shareholder meeting of the Coleman shareholders was required, but, nevertheless, to complete the merger and the acquisition by Sunbeam entities of the Coleman public stock, a second step had to take place, and that second step involved a mailing to the Coleman shareholders of an Information Statement, which in that case essentially replaces a proxy statement. A proxy statement would have been used when a vote was required, and the Information Statement would provide information similar to that that would be provided in a proxy statement. The shareholders would have had no right to vote on the outcome, but they would have had a right under Delaware law to dissent from the transaction and -- and exercise their appraisal rights under Delaware law.

Page 379

So, instead of taking the consideration that was called for under the agreement, they could go to the Delaware court in effect and say, we want you to force the company to pay me what you determine, judge, is the fair value of my stock.
So, the Information Statement essentially is a way for the -- for the shareholder to receive all of the information that presumably the shareholder would need to make a decision as to whether to accept a consideration or to dissent. In addition to that, in connection with the back end merger, people were to be paid in cash and stock, and it was agreed that the stock would be publicly traded stock, and the stock, therefore, had to be registered on a Registration Statement with the SEC.

Page 380

In connection with the Registration Statement and the Information Statement, both of which had to go through the SEC and be sent to shareholders, information in those Registration Statements -- in the Registration Statement and I believe in the Information Statement included the financials of Coleman for periods audited by Ernst & Young, which would have included everything at least through the end of '97, and depending on when the mailing occurred, the first quarter of '98. It was anticipated at the time that this was done, that that second step and the ultimate mailing would take place between, let's say, 30 to 60 days after the March 30th closing, whenever the closing was going to take place of the first stage.
And I believe 7/3 was Sunbeam obtaining from Coleman an agreement that it would do whatever was necessary to cause or to request Ernst & Young to provide the financial statements that were needed for inclusion in the Registration Statement and the Information Statement.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 381

Q Okay.

Now, focusing on the text of Paragraph 7.3B itself, in light of the explanation that you have just given, what was the date, according to Paragraph 7.3B, on which those comfort letters from the auditors would be provided? Or I should say dates.

A Well, the -- the -- the Ernst & Young -- consistent with SEC practice, the Ernst & Young comfort letter had to be ultimately dated the date that the Registration Statement became effective. That would have been the date, as I said, projected to be somewhere in the 30 to 60 day range after all things went well, after the closing of the first stage. So, end of April to the end of May.

Q I guess I don't want to focus so much on the date. Just reading the text of 7.3B, does it provide when those comfort letters -- does the text of the agreement provide when those comfort letters should be provided?

Page 382

A Yes. It says they should be provided at the time the Registration Statement becomes effective and when the Information Statement is mailed to the company's stockholders.

Q Focusing on the terms Registration Statement and Information Statement, are those terms defined terms within the text of that agreement?

A I have to look. They are capitalized, so they probably are.

Q Can you explain to us where you are looking?

A I am looking under the definition section of the agreement, which is Section 1.1, and on Page 4 of 1.1, there is a definition for Information Statement, which refers you to 4.9, and -- and the Registration Statement is defined on Page 6 and also refers you to 4.9.

Q So, to get the definition, you have to go to 4.9 that is on Page 17, and focusing on -- we will do them one at a time. What is the Registration Statement, as defined in that document, defined as?

A It is defined as the Registration

Page 383

Statement on Form S-4 under the Securities Act, which is also a defined term for the purpose of registering the shares of Laser common stock, that would have been Sunbeam common stock, to be issued in the company merger.

Q What is the term Information Statement defined as?

A It is defined as the Information Statement to be distributed in connection with the company merger with a related filing on Schedule 13E3, where the notice to be provided to the company's stockholders pursuant to Section 14F of the Exchange Act, leaving out some expertise.

Q When that is referring to the company merger, that is what you described as the second stage of the merger?

A Yes.

MR. BRODY: I am going to ask the court reporter to mark this as Exhibit 253.

(CPH Exhibit 253, document bearing Bates Nos. CPH 1409707 through 1409980, marked for identification, as of this date.)

Page 384

MR. BRODY: I will state for the record that it bears Production Nos. CPH 1409707 through 1409980.

Q Mr. Shapiro, is the document that I have given you marked as Exhibit 253, the Information Statement that you have just referred to?

A It appears to be.

Q Based upon your review of it, can you determine when it was mailed, approximately?

A It appears to be mailed, approximately, December 6th, 1999.

Q So, if a comfort letter was provided pursuant to Paragraph 7.3 that we spent some time talking about in connection with that Information Statement, it would have been provided in December of 1999 or thereabouts?

MR. BEMIS: Objection, leading.

THE WITNESS: Could I answer?

MR. BEMIS: You can answer, sure.

Q Yes?

A Yes. That is not when it was anticipated. It would be presented, but as facts turned out, because of the restatement, as I said, it was anticipated that it would be provided when this was mailed, which we would have expected to be, let's say, in May of '98, but it didn't happen until now, yes.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016474

Page 385

Q If you just put Exhibit 253, the Information Statement, aside, I will show you what Mr. Bemis has previously showed you as Exhibit 130, and you were asked some questions about that document before.
Is that the Information Statement sent in connection with the company merger that was referenced in Paragraph 7.3B?
A I don't believe so.
Q I am going to give you back what had been previously marked as Morgan Stanley 117, and I have opened it to 1.9 where you were looking before. Can you review Paragraph 1.9 and tell me if any of the defined terms there appear to refer to the document that I have shown you as Exhibit 130?
MR. BEMIS: Objection to the form.
A This appears to be something that is referred to in 4.9, which is a 14-F notice, which is a Notice to Shareholders, relating to the change of directors. Again, a notice as opposed to a proxy because they don't get the voting control. At this point, the vote is controlled by its Sunbeam entities.

Page 386

MR. BRODY: I will ask the court reporter to mark one additional exhibit as Exhibit 254.
(CPH Exhibit 254, SEC Form S-4, marked for identification, as of this date.)
Q I will give you what has been marked as Exhibit 254. This is a lengthy 364 page document that I will represent we printed off of the SEC's website. It does not have a production number in this case, although I am quite confident that there are copies in this document in the production file.
I am going to ask you if you can tell me what Exhibit 254 is?
A It says on the front that it is an S-4.
Q Do you recognize that as an SEC form for Registration Statement?
A Yes.
Q Do you have an understanding as to what stock or other securities that form is registered on?
A I believe it is registering the Sunbeam stock that is to be paid to the public shareholders of Coleman in connection with the completion of the merger.

Page 387

Q Can you explain to us when that document was submitted to the SEC?
A Submitted to the SEC?
Q Or filed?
A The answer is, I don't know when it was submitted. It became effective -- it appears to be on -- mailed on December 6th.
Q Of?
A I am sorry. December 6th, 1999.
Q I have placed again in front of you Exhibit 117, the Public Company Merger Agreement. In that agreement, when Paragraph 7.3B refers to an effective date of a Registration Statement, you understand it to refer to this December 1999 date?
MR. BEMIS: Objection to the form, leading.
A Yes.
Q You can put that document aside.
Today, Mr. Bemis asked you some questions about the meeting you attended, I believe, in the evening of February 23rd at Morgan Stanley?

Page 388

A Yes.
Q And I believe you said some individuals of Sunbeam, in the presence of Morgan Stanley, described the prospects and plans of the company, among other things?
A Yes.
Q I believe Mr. Bemis asked you if anyone had stated at the meeting -- the Sunbeam people at the meeting had stated that the numbers that it was projecting had not or would not be achieved, and you said, among other things, quite the contrary. Could you explain what you meant by that?
A Yes. I believe the answer is that Russ Kirsch expressed confidence that notwithstanding the slow performance, sales performance, that had been previously announced in January, for example -- yes, in January, that -- that they stuck by what -- what was out on the street with regard to the first quarter and the balance of '98.
Q Now, in your last session, sir, you were asked some questions about CPH Exhibit 17 and Morgan Stanley Exhibit 10. I will place those in front of you now and identify those as various comfort letters provided by Arthur Andersen to Morgan Stanley on March 19th, and perhaps earlier dates, 1998, and March 25th, 1998.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 389

MR. BEMIS: Objection, form.

Q I believe your testimony was that you had not seen those documents contemporaneously; that is, in 1998?

A That is correct.

Q That is not something that you reviewed in connection with the work that you did for Coleman or later for Sunbeam -- withdrawn.

Was that not something that you did for the work for Coleman prior to the March closing?

A That is correct. I might have seen them later when I went to Sunbeam. After June 14th, I might have.

Q I believe you said that those documents raised concerns or questions in your mind. What did you mean by that?

A The March 19th letter -- the March 19th letter shows that net sales for the period -- Sunbeam had at that time this odd fiscal year, which started -- I guess ended December 30th or December 29th, so they state sales for December 29th, '97, through February 1st, '98. The net sales here were less than 50 percent of the prior period -- the comparable prior year, excuse me, and that -- and that net income had gone from 4.8 million, approximately, to, approximately, 9 and a half million negative. So, that would have -- should have shown a problem with the first -- essentially the first month.

Page 390

Further, on Page 5, they go on to say though the company has not provided us with any financial statements as of any date or for any period subsequent to February 1st, '98, they have provided net sales. Now, for the two month period, essentially, as opposed to the one month period in 5-B, were 72 million as compared to 143,500,000, and, so, net sales were, approximately, half of what they had been for the two months in the prior year, meaning that to hit the number that they had projected, they would have to do -- I think the projection out on the street was 275 to 285 for the first quarter -- they would have to do 200 million and change in the balance of March, which would have raised some concerns since they had never done that kind of number, I don't believe, in one month. That is the first of them.

Page 391

And then in the March 25th letter, in E, they showed long term debt which I believe was only covered for the period Feb. 1 through Feb. 1 in the first letter, and for that period, it had gone up a little bit, from 194 to 219. It now showed it going from 194 to 279, so they were negative 60 in the month of February, which is a substantial jump in debt with regard to sales.

It shows what I had previously described in the March 19th letter, sales through March 1, approximately half of the comparable period in the prior year, and it shows net income or loss going from 9,765,000 positive in the prior period, comparable prior period, the first two months of the year, essentially to negative 41 million, although of that negative 41 million, 30 million was really a pure accounting charge relating to restricted stock issued in connection with new employment agreements to certain key officers. Let's say on an operating basis, it was really negative 11 million, so a $20 million swing negative in the first two months of the year.

Page 392

Q How did the information --

A Then --

Q I am sorry.

A Then it goes on to say that as of March 23rd, the debt had gone from -- it is 279 at the beginning of the month to 309 as of March 23rd, so it had increased another $30 million in that three week period, approximately three weeks and a day.

Q How did that information, which is contained in those two comfort letters, compare to what you and others were told at the meeting at Morgan Stanley on the 23rd?

A In my recollection today, it was inconsistent with the picture that was presented to us.

MR. BRODY: I have nothing further.

MR. BEMIS: One question.

CONTINUED EXAMINATION BY MR. BEMIS:

Q After the restatement was done, what did the accountants conclude the difference was between sales in the first quarter of 1998 and the first quarter of 1997?

MR. BRODY: I object to form. I am

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 393

sorry, objection to form.
A I am sorry, what the difference was --
Q I think, actually, in the first quarter of 1998 versus 1997, and I think if you look at MS 262 -- I direct your attention to the page. I am looking for the page number in this document.
A I think it's the last three numbers at the bottom, CPH, I think it is 719. Is that the page you are directing me to, where it says first quarter '98?
Q Well, there is also -- there is another place it appears. Let me put a clean question to you because I think we are both at the same information, but on a different page. It appears twice.
If you would look at -- you were looking at the press release; correct?
A Yes, the draft press release.
Q Just looking at the press release, what was the difference between first quarter 1998 revenue versus what was originally reported?
MR. BRODY: I object to form.
THE WITNESS: I can answer it now?
MR. BRODY: Yes.

Page 394

A The press release indicates that first quarter was 247.6 versus the originally reported 244.3. Now, I am just trying to spin up and remember how that all worked. The K had never been filed, there was no original. I guess the K was filed -- they issued a press release, I remember that, in early April that had, I believe, sales on it, and then I guess the K was filed. So, this is saying that the originally reported was 244.3, and after the restatement, it was -- it went to 247.6, and that the loss, which compares to, I believe -- I am trying to dig my way through it. It compares to the March 19th press release which projected revenues of less than what was on the street, which was 275 to 285. I don't remember what the number was in that press release, if there was a number.
MR. BRODY: Do you want him to see the document?
MR. BEMIS: He can look at the document, if he wants to.
Q I think you are being handed the press release.
A Yes.

Page 395

I said 275 to 285, it is 285 to 295, but are expected to exceed first quarter net sales of 253.4. So, this 247 would be compared to 253.4, but there are two things I can't -- that come to my mind, and I can't really dig (sic) my way through them.
This refers to the net sales, the press release, which is the number in the press release, and I believe in the two Andersen comfort letters, Sunbeam had something called waterfall, which was the difference between gross sales and net sales, which was considerable. It was anywhere from 12 to 20 percent of items that went -- that were deducted from gross to net. I don't know what the press release -- the press release refers to revenues. This refers to net sales, and this refers to net sales. I don't know what revenues were, I don't remember offhand.
The second thing is you are now talking apples to oranges. One of the things, the first quarter, as stated in the press release, got to the number it got to were because there were a bunch of items disallowed in the fourth quarter of 1997 in the restatement as being improperly booked that ultimately were recognized, but in the first quarter of '98. So, they were only '98 revenues because -- because they were moved out of '97, and, therefore, the number may have been a similar number, but -- but it only -- it only got to a similar number because of the shifting of a lot of money out of the end of '97, which devastated '97, right into the quarter of '98. For example, the bill and hold sales which were disallowed.

Page 396

You really want apples to apples. If you did, I believe that actual -- and, again, I don't know if we are talking gross sales here or net sales were substantially different on an apples to apples basis from what was stated to us and what was stated in this press release.
Q If you look at --
A And I believe, also, the loss of $55 million was very different from what the analysts, for example, if I recall, were projecting for the first quarter of '98.
Q Are you finished? I don't want to interrupt you.
A Yes.
Q Okay.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 397

The press release which you have in front of you, which is marked as MS 39, concludes, does it not, that they expect to exceed -- net sales are expected to exceed 1997 first quarter net sales of 253.4 million? That is what it says; right, it would exceed first quarter 1997?

A Yes.

Q It doesn't say -- the press release doesn't say they are going to meet the analysts' expectations of 285 to $295 million; does it?

MR. BRODY: I object to form.

Q That isn't what the press release says?

A But you have to get back to what I said. What I said was, again, to just separate the threads, this press release, I would be of the opinion that this press release corrected from Sunbeam's standpoint any analysts' estimates that were out there with regard to net sales and brought them to a number of called 53 plus $1.253.4, plus a dollar. I think that is a fair reading of this. But it did not correct in any way the analysts' estimates that were out on the street for earnings for the first quarter.

Therefore, I think it is logical to conclude, given the obligation of the company, that they were, in effect, supporting the earnings estimates that were out there, which I believe were way, way north of a $55 million loss, nor does this say the way that we are going to get to 253.4 plus a dollar is by shifting earnings that were already recorded in, I believe, its 10-K, which had now been filed for '97, creating a bigger loss -- I am sorry, a bigger deterioration in '97 into '98. So, I am saying I don't think this is an apples to apples if the accounting was the same for the two periods.

Page 398

Q What you are pointing to is the press release and the October --

A If the accountings were the same for the two periods, this would not have been the result. The period -- the period for the first quarter of '98, the result would have been much worse than the 257.6 million.

Q Rather than trying to guess at these numbers in the fashion that we are going about it, the fact is that the apples to apples and oranges to oranges comparison between the first quarter of 1997 and the first quarter of 1998 were actually filed with the SEC pursuant to the restatement; correct?

Page 399

MR. BRODY: I object to the form.

A I wouldn't expect that because you are taking one sentence -- you are taking one sentence out of a press release that has prior pages to it and subsequent pages, and what it says wasere were numbers moved out of various periods permanently or into other periods. So, you can't take a snapshot that says -- that says I am comparing on the one hand a number for the first quarter of '98 based on everything that built up to it through prior periods, and it is comparable to a number in the restatement when numbers came out of the prior periods and were moved up to that number.

Q I am not quarreling with you about how the numbers got arrived at, that is not my job. My question is a little different. Perhaps it wasn't articulated well.

If, actually, Sunbeam filed a restatement where it said based on the accounting prior to the restatement, here is what our net sales were for 1997 first quarter, and here is what they were for first quarter

Page 400

1998, absent restatement that was filed with the SEC; was it not?

A As I have said, no, I don't believe -- I said previously there are two issues here that are moving. One is -- is the documents that were done in March, both the press release, March of '98, and the Arthur Andersen comfort letters used the language, net sales. If the document that you are pointing me to in the press release issued in October of 1998 in connection with the restatement uses the term revenues, I don't know, sitting here today, what the comparison is between the revenues and net sales, but the top line at Sunbeam was typically anywhere from 12 to 20 percent higher than the net sales line. So, if revenues is referring to the top line, then you have got -- you have got to bring it down by as much as 40 some million dollars.

Secondly, I don't think comparing the two things or making that there is a press release which has the words in it, I will not accept personally that that is a fair representation of the financial condition of Sunbeam's financial performance in the first quarter without looking at where the money came from.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MR. BEMIS: Okay. Let's leave that for another day. That is beyond what we are going to accomplish in the next few minutes that somebody else will have to tell us about that I understand you can't answer the question in the way that the documents are phrased.

All right. Thank you very much. I hope to meet you again under different circumstances, perhaps in Florida.

MR. BRODY: The deposition is concluded. We will reserve signature.

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: The time is 4:30. This completes Deposition Tape No. 3 and also completes the deposition of Mr. Paul Shapiro.

(Time noted: 4:30 p.m.)

CERTIFICATION

I, ANITA SHEMIN, a Notary Public in and for the State of New York, do hereby certify:

THAT the witness whose testimony is hereinbefore set forth was duly sworn by me; and

THAT the within transcript is a true record of the testimony given by said witness.

I further certify that I am not related, either by blood or marriage, to any of the parties to the action; and

THAT I am in no way interested in the outcome of the matter.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand the 29th day of July, 2004.

_____

ANITA SHEMIN

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016179

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0164580

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF THE FIFTEENTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT
IN AND FOR PALM BEACH COUNTY, FLORIDA

COLEMAN (PARENT) HOLDINGS, INC.,

Plaintiff,

vs. No. CA 03 5045 AI

MORGAN STANLEY & CO., INC.,

Defendant.

MORGAN STANLEY SENIOR FUNDING, INC.,

Plaintiff,

vs. No. CA 03 5165 AI

MACANDREWS & FORBES HOLDINGS, INC.,

Defendant.

C O N F I D E N T I A L

VIDEOTAPED DEPOSITION OF JOSEPH P. PAGE

Tuesday, April 27, 2004

Los Angeles, California

Reported by:
PAMELA J. FELTEN
CSR No. 5189
Job No. 137520

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016481

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0164910

UNITED STATES

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF THE FIFTEENTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT
IN AND FOR PALM BEACH COUNTY, FLORIDA

COLEMAN (PARENT) HOLDINGS, INC.,
Plaintiff,
vs.) No. CA 03 5045 AI
MORGAN STANLEY & CO., INC.,
Defendant.

MORGAN STANLEY SENIOR FUNDING, INC.,
Plaintiff,
vs.) No. CA 03 5165 AI
MACANDREWS & FORBES HOLDINGS, INC.,
Defendant.

CONFIDENTIAL
VIDEOTAPED DEPOSITION OF JOSEPH P. PAGE
Tuesday, April 27, 2004
Los Angeles, California

Reported by:
PAMELA J. FELTEN
CSR No. 5189
Job No. 137520

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF THE FIFTEENTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT
IN AND FOR PALM BEACH COUNTY, FLORIDA

COLEMAN (PARENT) HOLDINGS, INC.,
Plaintiff,
vs.) No. CA 03 5045 AI
MORGAN STANLEY & CO., INC.,
Defendant.

MORGAN STANLEY SENIOR FUNDING, INC.,
Plaintiff,
vs.) No. CA 03 5165 AI
MACANDREWS & FORBES HOLDINGS, INC.,
Defendant.

CONFIDENTIAL
Videotaped Deposition of JOSEPH P. PAGE, taken on behalf of Morgan Stanley, at 1901 Avenue of the Stars, Suite 575, Los Angeles, California, beginning at 12:50 p.m. and ending at 6:54 p.m. on Tuesday, April 27, 2004, before PAMELA J. FELTEN, Certified Shorthand Reporter No. 5189.

APPEARANCES:

For Morgan Stanley & Co., Inc. and Morgan Stanley Senior Funding, Inc.:

KIRKLAND & ELLIS LLP
BY: THOMAS A. CLARE
Attorney at Law
655 Fifteenth Street, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20005
(202) 879-5993
tclare@kirkland.com

For Coleman (Parent) Holdings, Inc. and MacAndrews & Forbes Holdings, Inc.:

JENNER & BLOCK
BY: MICHAEL T. BRODY
Attorney at Law
ONE IBM PLAZA
Suite 4400
Chicago, Illinois 60611-7603
(312) 222-9350
mbrody@jenner.com

The Videographer:

MITCH LERMAN
ESQUIRE DEPOSITION SERVICES

INDEX

WITNESS:	EXAMINATION
JOSEPH P. PAGE
BY MR. CLARE	11
BY MR. BRODY	268

EXHIBITS
(NOT ATTACHED - RETAINED BY MR. CLARE)

DEPOSITION	PAGE
MS 100 CLN Holdings Inc. Consolidated Statement of Operations (Bates Nos. CPH0282212 to CPH0282227)	79
MS 101 February 23, 1998 letter agreement to The Coleman Company, Inc. from Sunbeam Corporation (Bates Nos. CP 033110 to CP 033116 and CPH 1421213 to CPH 1421219)	134
MS 102 The Coleman Company organization charts (Bates Nos. CPH0171292 to CPH0171296)	136
MS 103 December 10, 1997 letter agreement to The Coleman Company from Credit Suiss First Boston (Bates Nos. CP 012044 to CP 012046 and CPH 1402232 to CPH 1402234)	141
MS 104 Document headed MAFCO Consolidated Group, Inc., Sunbeam/Coleman Comparison dated 12/8/97 2:13 p.m. (Bates Nos. CPH 2000144 to CPH 2000149)	176
MS 105 Document headed MAFCO Consolidated Group, Inc. Will Nesbitt, dated 12/10/97 4:56 p.m. (Bates Nos. CP 038209 to CP 038213 and CPH 1426299 to CPH 1426303)	176

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

INDEX (Continued)

EXHIBITS
(NOT ATTACHED - RETAINED BY MR. CLARE)

DEPOSITION PAGE
MS 106 Document headed MAFCO Consolidated Group, Inc., Sunbeam/Coleman dated 1/26/98 11:49 a.m. (Bates Nos. CP 037827 to CP 037836 and CPH 1425922 to CPH 1425931) 182
MS 107 Document headed MAFCO Consolidated Group, Inc., Sunbeam/Coleman dated 1/26/98 11:47 a.m. (Bates Nos. CPH 2000086 to CPH 2000095) 182
MS 108 Document headed MAFCO Consolidated Group, Inc., Will Nesbitt, dated 2/6/98 5:12 p.m. (Bates Nos. CPH 1120631 to CPH 1120659 and CSFBC 0000921 to CSFBC 0000949) 183
MS 109 April 28, 1998 letter from Skadden, Arps to the Securities and Exchange Commission with Chronology attached (Bates Nos. CPH 1042288 to CPH 1042317 and SASMF 17227 to SASMF 17256) 200
MSA 110 Photocopies of various business cards (No Bates numbers) 204
MS 111 Sunbeam Long Range Strategic Plan (No Bates numbers) 219
MS 112 February 25, 1998 Draft Materials Prepared for the Board of Directors The Coleman Company, Inc. (Bates Nos. CP 011053 to CP 011072 and CPH 1401219 TO CPH 1401238) 237

INDEX (Continued)

EXHIBITS
(NOT ATTACHED - RETAINED BY MR. CLARE)

DEPOSITION PAGE
MS 113 Minutes of a Meeting of the Board of Directors of The Coleman Company, Inc. Held on Wednesday, February 27, 1998 (Bates Nos. SASMF 08881 to SASMF 08881 and CPH 0634065 to CPH 0634075) 241
MS 114 Document titled The Coleman Company, Inc. (Bates Nos. CPH 1344526 to CPH 1344542) 246
MS 115 Sunbeam earnings press release dated May 11th, 1998 (Bates Nos. 0063805 to 0063811) 257
MS 116 The Coleman Company, Inc. Analysis of Effects of Stock Option Exercises (Bates No. CPH 0014850) 266

PREVIOUSLY MARKED EXHIBITS
(REFERENCED BUT NOT ATTACHED - RETAINED BY MR. CLARE)

MS 93 Agreement and Plan of Merger among Sunbeam Corporation, et al. and Coleman (Parent) Holdings Inc. dated as of February 27, 1998 (Bates Nos. 0007947 to 0008010) 129
MS 79 MacAndrews & Forbes document titled "Sunbeam Transaction Rationale" (Bates No. CPH0467007 and SB 232346) 158
MS 76 December 1997 document entitled "Materials Prepared for Discussion Sunbeam" (Bates Nos. CPH1407048 to CPH1407318 and CP 016852 to CP 017122) 159

INDEX (Continued)

PREVIOUSLY MARKED EXHIBITS
(REFERENCED BUT NOT ATTACHED - RETAINED BY MR. CLARE)

MS 77 Sunbeam Corp./The Coleman Co., Inc. Pro Forma Combination Analysis December 10, 1997 (Bates Nos. CP 037515 to CP 037534 and CPH 1425610 to CPH 1425629) 163
MS 75 March 30, 1998 letter to the SEC from Wachtell, Lipton with attachments (Bates no. CP 011337 to CP 011346 and CPH 1401525 to CPH 1401534) 164
MS 78 December 15, 1997 fax from Sunbeam with attachment (Bates Nos. 0026587 to 0026588) 169
MS 80 Document titled Laser Corporation Key Assumptions (Bates Nos. CP 038199 to CP 038206 and CPH 1426289 to CPH 1426296) 185
MS 81 Project Laser Proposed Summary Transaction Terms (Bates Nos. CP 033771 to CP 033774 and CPH 1421814 to CPH 1421817) 194
MS 82 Project Laser, Laser Stand Alone Income Statement (Bates Nos. CP 016766 to CP 016768 and CPH 1406962 to CPH 1406964) 197
MS 83 Project Laser Proposed Summary Transaction Terms (Bates Nos. CP 039154 to CP 039157 and CPH 1427250 to CPH 1427253) 198
MS 84 Sunbeam Long Range Strategic Plan (Bates Nos. MF 00001 to MF 00019 and CPH 1324756 to CPH 1324774) 212

INDEX (Continued)

PREVIOUSLY MARKED EXHIBITS
(REFERENCED BUT NOT ATTACHED - RETAINED BY MR. CLARE)

MS 85 Sunbeam Corporation Discussion Materials, February 1998 (Bates Nos. CP 020984 to CP 021068 and CPH 1411216 to CPH 1411300) 225
MS 88 Minutes of a Meeting of the Board of Directors of The Coleman Company, Inc. Held on Wednesday, February 25, 1998 (Bates Nos. SASMF 08872 to SASMF 08880 and CPH 0634056 to CPH 0634064) 230
MS 11 Sunbeam press release (Bates No. 0016944 to 0016945) 255
MS 58 April 3, 1998 fax with Sunbeam press release attached (Bates No. SASMF 14139 to SASMF 14143 and CPH 0639323 TO CPH 0639327) 257

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Los Angeles, California, Tuesday, April 27, 2004
12:50 p.m. - 6:54 p.m.

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: This is the videotape deposition of Joseph Page in the matter of Coleman (Parent) Holdings Incorporated versus Morgan Stanley Senior Funding, Incorporated, also Morgan Stanley Senior Funding, Incorporated versus MacAndrews & Forbes Holding, Incorporated.

Today's date is April 27th, 2004. The time is 12:50 p.m. My name is Mitch Lerman. I represent Esquire Deposition Services of Chicago.

Would counsel please identify themselves for the record.

MR. CLARE: Tom Clare from the law firm of Kirkland & Ellis LLP on behalf of Morgan Stanley & Co. and Morgan Stanley Senior Funding.

MR. BRODY: Michael Brody from Jenner & Block, Chicago, Illinois, on behalf of the witness, Coleman (Parent) Holdings, Inc., and MacAndrews & Forbes.

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: The case number to today's matter is CA 03 5045 AI in the Fifteenth Judicial Circuit in and for Palm Beach County, Florida.

Would counsel -- excuse me.

We're on the record. Would the court reporter please swear in the witness.

JOSEPH P. PAGE,
having been administered an oath, was examined and testified as follows:

MR. BRODY: Before we begin, Tom, as I mentioned off the record at the beginning, your notice of deposition requested Mr. Page to bring with him any documents relevant to the case. We have in the past objected to that broad and undefined request for production of documents and, moreover, we don't think a notice of deposition is the proper way to obtain the production of documents.

Having said that, however, as an accommodation to you and to the witness, Mr. Page has produced today and I have handed to you the only documents that he is able to identify that could possibly be responsive. So I've given them to you, they're originals only, and we'll use them today as is necessary. When the deposition is over, I'll take them back, have them copied and produced to you. And I point out that there is one privileged document within the file which we have withheld on that ground.

MR. CLARE: Okay, Mike. Thank you for that.

One other housekeeping matter before we begin. The deposition in this case is being taken in both of the consolidated cases. At the beginning of the videotape record only one of the case numbers was read into the record. The other case number is CA 03 5165 AI and that's the Morgan Stanley Senior Funding versus MacAndrews & Forbes action.

EXAMINATION

BY MR. CLARE:

Q With those preliminaries out of the way, good afternoon, Mr. Page. We met just a few moments ago. My name is Tom Clare and I represent Morgan Stanley in this litigation. Could I ask you to state your full name, please, for the record.

A Joseph P. Page.

Q And your address, please.

A Home address?

Q Yes.

A 314 Loring Avenue, Los Angeles.

Q That's in California?

A California.

Q Do you have any other residences?

A No.

Q And could I get your business address, please.

A 10880 Wilshire Boulevard, Los Angeles, California.

Q And who is your current --

A Suite 1850.

Q Thank you. And who is your current employer?

A Shelter Capital Partners.

Q And what kind of business is Shelter Capital --

A Private equity venture capital.

Q In a moment we'll go through some of the ground rules for the deposition today, but one of the things that we're going to need to try to do is to avoid talking over each other. The court reporter is taking down my questions and your answers. And so if you'll give me an opportunity to finish my question before answering, that will help the court reporter to take down the testimony as accurately as we can.

What is your title at Shelter Capital?

A I'm a member. I'm also the chief operating officer of the firm.

Q Is that your only employer at this time?

A Yes.

Q And how long have you been with Shelter?

A Four years.

Q Is Shelter Capital owned or in any way affiliated with MacAndrews & Forbes or any of its companies?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

A No.
Q Has it ever been?
A No.
Q Do you have any ownership interest in any entity or company that is affiliated with MacAndrews & Forbes today?
A No.
Q Do you receive any compensation in any form from MacAndrews & Forbes or any of its affiliated companies --
A I --
Q -- today?
A I do not.
Q Have you ever been deposed before?
A Yes.
Q How many times?
A Once.
Q And in what matter?
A It was a civil case at New World Communication Group.
Q Is that the only time?
A Yes.
Q I take it that that deposition did not have anything to do with your role at Coleman; is that correct?

A That's correct.
Q It did not have anything to do with Sunbeam?
A That's correct.
Q And what, just generally, was the nature of that matter?
A It was a dispute over a license agreement for some characters in a cartoon.
Q And what was the sub- -- the general subject matter of your testimony in that matter?
A It's so long ago. It was probably fact gathering. The -- it was settled out after -- shortly after the depositions were taken.
Q Were you involved in negotiating the license agreements that were at issue in that dispute?
A No.
Q Have you ever provided sworn testimony in court or any other live proceeding?
A Not that I can remember.
Q Okay. As -- as promised, you've had an opportunity to talk with your counsel, and before we get into more of the substantive questions, I want to go through a few of the ground rules which may be familiar to you from your prior deposition.
At the beginning of the session today, you just took an oath, and that's the same oath that you would take as if you were testifying in court. My job this afternoon is to ask you questions that you can understand, and if I don't do my job, make sure you tell me. If you don't understand or you can't hear my question, just ask me and I'll be happy to try to rephrase it for you.

Your job, consistent with your oath, is to answer my questions truthfully and to the best of your ability. If you give an answer to my question, I'm going to assume that you heard my question and understood it. Is that okay?
A That's fine.
Q And if you need to correct something that you've said, if later in the deposition or if something occurs to you that you want to amend or correct a prior answer, just let me know and I'll give you an opportunity to do that. Is this okay?
A That's fine.
Q Now, the court reporter, as I mentioned, is taking down the testimony and while it is recorded on video, the paper record is the primary record that we have, and so we both need to make sure we do verbal answers to the questions instead of nods and shrugs and things. Answering out loud, we'll need to try to do that. We talked about not trying to interrupt or talk over each other.

And as I mentioned to you off the record, if you need to take a break for any reason, just let me know and we can take a short break.
Do you have any questions about the ground rules for the deposition today?
A Nope.
Q What did you do to prepare for your deposition today?
A I met with representatives of the law firm representing The Coleman Company.
Q Is that Mr. Brody and his firm?
A And one of his associates, that's correct.
Q And do you remember the other person's name?
A Maybe Mr. Brody can help me with the gentleman that came out.
MR. BRODY: Just remember -- testify what you can remember to and --
THE WITNESS: Another lawyer came out probably two or three months ago.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Okay. Was it just Mr. Brody and this one other lawyer?
A That's correct.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016186

Page 17

Q And it was a male?
A Yes.
Q Was anyone else present for some or all of that session?
A No.
Q Just the three of you.
And you said that was about a month or so ago?
A It was just the two of us per time. Not three at once.
Q Were these two separate --
A Yes.
Q -- sessions?
A That's correct.
Q Okay. And did you -- when did you meet with Mr. Brody?
A Yesterday.
Q And for how long?
A Approximately two and a half hours.
Q Just you and Mr. Brody?
A That's correct.
Q And did you look at any documents?
A Yes, we did.
Q Any of the documents that were shown refresh your recollection about the events related to Sunbeam's acquisition of Coleman?

Page 18

A Somewhat.
Q Can you think of any right now that refreshed your recollection?
A No.
Q Did you review any prior deposition testimony that's been given in this or any other Sunbeam related matter?
A No.
Q Was any deposition testimony described to you?
A No.
Q Did you look at documents with the other attorney from Mr. Brody's firm?
A Yes.
Q Did the documents that were shown to you by that attorney refresh your recollection about the events?
A Not that I recall.
Q Did you review any deposition testimony with that attorney?
A No.
Q Or have any prior testimony described to you?
A No.
Q Other than the two sessions that we have just talked about, were there any other efforts that you made to prepare yourself for the deposition today?
A No.

Page 19

Q How long did you meet with the attorney the first time?
A About the same amount of time, two and a half hours.
Q And that was here in Los Angeles?
A That's correct.
Q Other than the attorneys, Mr. Brody and the attorney whose name you can't remember, have you spoken with anyone else about the lawsuit that is currently pending in Florida against Morgan Stanley?
A No.
Q Have you spoken to anyone at MacAndrews & Forbes about this litigation?
A Steve Fasman called me originally to say that I was going to be deposed in the matter.
Q And how long ago was that?
A It's been a long time, so I can't recall.
Q When did you first hear that Coleman (Parent) Holdings had filed a lawsuit against Morgan Stanley?
A When Steven Fasman called me.
Q Prior to Mr. Fasman calling you, you were not aware that this lawsuit had been commenced?
A That's correct.
Q I take it, then, that you were not consulted by anyone prior to it being filed?

Page 20

A Not that I can remember.
Q Or interviewed about the underlying facts?
A I was not interviewed.
Q Have you seen a copy of the complaint that Coleman (Parent) Holdings filed against Morgan Stanley?
A Yes.
Q And have you read it?
A Yes.
Q Was the first time you saw a copy of the complaint in this action during one of the two deposition sessions -- preparation sessions that you've described?
A I think it was in advance of the first one.
Q So material was sent to you in advance to read?
A That's correct. I requested it.
Q In addition to the complaint, was there any other material that you requested to look at?
A They also sent the complaint of Morgan Stanley against Coleman Holding.
Q So both complaints?
A That's correct.
Q Is there anything else?
A Nope.
Q Have you had business dealings with Morgan Stanley other than in connection with Sunbeam's acquisition of Coleman?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MR. BRODY: In any capacity?
MR. CLARE: In any capacity.
THE WITNESS: Not that I can recall.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Do you know anyone at Morgan Stanley who works there now or in the past?
A I'm sure I do, if I went and looked in my Rolodex.
Q But as you sit here today, you can't recall?
A Nobody is close. Or nobody that I would have seen in the recent past.
Q Have you or any of the companies that you've worked for ever retained Morgan Stanley for any purpose?
A Not that I can remember.
Q In 1997 and the first quarter of 1998, which are the events that we're primarily going to talk about today, did you have an opinion about Morgan Stanley's reputation as being an ethical company?
MR. BRODY: Object to form.
I'm sorry. I'm objecting for the court reporter and perhaps for the judge later. You can answer the question.
THE WITNESS: Can you repeat the question?
MR. CLARE: Sure.
Q In 1997 and the first quarter of 1998, did you have an opinion as to whether or not Morgan Stanley was an ethical company?

A No.
Q In 1997 and the first quarter of 1998, did you have an opinion as to whether or not Morgan Stanley was a competent investment bank?
A No.
MR. BRODY: Same objection.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q I take it that you've had an opportunity to read the complaint that was filed against Morgan Stanley?
A Yes.
Q And you understand that Coleman (Parent) Holdings have alleged in that litigation that Morgan Stanley conspired with Sunbeam to defraud Coleman (Parent) in connection with the acquisition of Coleman? Do you understand that that allegation is being made?
A Yes.
Q Do you believe as you sit here today that Morgan Stanley did conspire with Sunbeam to defraud Coleman (Parent) Holdings?
A I don't have an opinion.
Q Do you have any facts that would support such a contention? Are you personally aware of it?
MR. BRODY: Object to the form.

THE WITNESS: I don't have an opinion.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q My -- my question was a little bit different. My question was: Putting aside whether you have an opinion or not, whether you participated in any meetings or are aware of any facts that you believe would support such a contention?
MR. BRODY: Same objection.
THE WITNESS: I don't know how to an- -- respond to that question.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q So as you -- I'm trying to get: As you sit here today and you think about that allegation, are there anything that you were involved in that you think support that allegation that's made that Morgan Stanley conspired with Sunbeam to defraud Coleman (Parent) Holdings?
MR. BRODY: Object to form and also legal conclusion.
Go ahead
THE WITNESS: I really never thought about it.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Can you describe your educational background for me, please.
A You want degrees and years?
Q Please.

A I have a Bachelor of Science in accounting from Loyola Marymount University, 1975. I hold a Master's Degree from Loyola Marymount University, 1979. And I'm a certified public accountant in the State of California and inactive status.
Q Inactive?
A Inactive.
Q When did you obtain your CPA degree? Certification rather.
A 1977.
Q And when did it go inactive status?
A Somewhere around 1996, I believe, which is a couple of years after I had left public accounting.
Q So prior to the events in 1997 and the first quarter of 1998 relating to the sale of Coleman to Sunbeam, your status as a CPA had switched to inactive?
A I believe that's correct.
Q Going back to your college degree in accounting, did you have any other majors besides accounting?
A No.
Q Any concentration within accounting?
A No.
Q Did you graduate with any honors?
A Not that I re- -- can recall.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

16div-024632

Q And your Master's Degree, was that an MBA Degree?
A Yes. Master's of Business Administration.
Q And that was from the same institution?
A That's correct.
Q And what year was that?
A 1979. It was an Executive MBA program.
Q And were you working at the time you obtained that degree?
A That's correct.
Q And who were you working for at the time?
A Price Waterhouse.
Q What city was that?
A Los Angeles.
Q Did you have any concentration associated with your Executive MBA?
A International business.
Q And what was required in order to achieve that concentration?
A Additional course work in international business courses.
Q Was that the only concentration?
A Yes.
Q And you successfully completed it?
A That's correct.

Q Did you graduate with -- from your Master's program with any honors?
A Not that I can recall.
Q Have you ever been admitted to or studied the practice of law?
A No.
Q Have you ever been certified as a certified public accountant in any state other than California?
A No.
Q You indicated that you were working for Price Waterhouse at the time of your MBA studies. When did you start working for Price Waterhouse?
A 1975.
Q Immediately upon graduating from college?
A That's correct.
Q And what was your position at Price Waterhouse?
A Initially I was on the audit staff of Price Waterhouse.
Q Auditing public companies?
A That's correct.
Q Based out of Los Angeles?
A Yes.
Q And how, if at all, did you progress in terms of titles or responsibility changes after that?
A You want to know where I ended or what I did along the way?

Q I'd like to know the sequence along the way.
A Okay.
Q As best you can.
A I can do it. I was an auditor for three years at Price Waterhouse. I then switched to the tax department, approximately 1978. Completed my Master'S Degree in 1979. I took a tour of duty with Price Waterhouse in Paris, France from 1979 to 1981. While I was in Paris, I was promoted to manager. I returned to Los Angeles in 1981, continued to work in the tax department of Price Waterhouse, and I was admitted as a partner in 199- -- excuse me -- 1986. And I left the firm in January or December/Jan -- December of 1993.
Q What were your duties and responsibilities when you were working in the tax function at Price Waterhouse?
A Which time frame?
Q The time frame immediately after your audit function in the 1978 time period before you went to Paris.
A Just a generic staff accountant, senior accountant in the tax department.
Q Was it related to the audit function, as well?
A During that time, it would be both compliance and planning for companies and individuals. And on the audit test function, it would be working with companies and their accounting for income tax provision sections.

Q And you were in that job for approximately a year before your MBA and your tour of duty in France?
A That's correct.
Q And while in France, what were your job functions?
A I was responsible for an ex-patriot tax practice in preparing U.S. tax returns for U.S. citizens living abroad. And our area of concentration was Southern Europe and Northern Africa.
Q And was the focus exclusively on individuals or did it also include companies?
A It was probably 90, 95 percent individuals. Some -- some consulting on the corporate side.
Q You were promoted to manager at the conclusion of your tour of duty or during?
A Midway.
Q Did your job functions in terms of what you have just described change in any way when you were promoted to manager?
A I was one of the two managers in charge of running the practice in Paris for my last year.
Q And when you say the practice, you mean the practice that you just described?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 29

A That's correct. There were about approximately 10 professionals which were U.S. based -- U.S. CPAs working in Europe at the time.
Q Did the individuals that you supervised as a manager all perform the same function? In other words, ex-pat tax?
A Yes.
Q So when you were promoted to manager, there wasn't another group that was brought underneath your ambit other than the one you had been working in?
A No. Generally the staff that were in Europe were on rotations of two years.
Q When you returned to the United States, you returned as a manager to Los Angeles?
A That's correct.
Q And what were your job functions?
A Similar to what I was doing before I left. And actually I'll clarify. I was in Century City. It's the greater Los Angeles area. If we're going to get into that granule of detail, I'll give you the exact locations. It was Century City. There was also a -- distinguish that between the Los Angeles office, and there were other practices in and around the Los Angeles area. I continued to do work with corporations, individuals, high net worth families, and pretty much doing the same type of work I was doing before I left.

Page 30

Q Still in the tax area?
A Yes.
Q In 198- -- and did those responsibilities continue until 1986 when you were --
A Yes.
Q -- made a partner?
A That's correct.
Q When you were made a partner, did your responsibilities change in any way?
A We -- yes. At that time we formalized our entertainment media practice and I was one of the two founding partners of the specialized practice in the entertainment media area for Price Waterhouse.
Q And what did those responsibilities entail?
A I mostly -- my new client assignments were all in the entertainment media area and I lightened my load in areas outside of entertainment media to be a pure concentration on the entertainment media space.
Q Was it tax based work or accounting based work or both or neither?
A It was accounting based work in the sense of helping companies form. I also at the same time or around the same time was one of the mergers and acquisition specialists for the firm. And because in Los Angeles most of the mergers and acquisition activities were in the entertainment media area, it all blended together as one large activity. And I also continued to advise in the high net worth families in the Los Angeles area. And I found the business manager practice of Price Waterhouse probably in the late '80s and continued to do the same sorts of work that I was doing before, but I was supervising a staff of individuals at that time.

Page 31

Q It was during this time that you were designated by Price Waterhouse as an M & A specialist?
A That's correct.
Q What was required in order to achieve that designation?
A A lot of mergers and acquisition work.
Q So practical, real world experience?
A Yes.
Q Anything else? Any other course work?
A There were training courses that were held periodically that I would have attended. I would have taught on some of them. Tax structure kind of courses. And there were dedicated teams of partners around the country and around the world that would have been designated mergers and acquisitions specialists.
Q And did you maintain that merger and acquisition specialist designation up until the time you left?

Page 32

A That's correct.
Q What classes or training did you teach in connection with your designation as M & A specialist?
A I used to teach an accounting for income tax course.
Q I'm sorry?
A Accounting for income tax course, which had to do with the audit side of the tax provision and related balance sheet accounts for financial audit.
Q Any other course work that you taught?
A I taught a lot of courses, but nothing I could remember at this point.
Q Were all of the courses that you taught either related to accounting or tax?
A Yes, I believe so.
I was also the world firm specialist for tax in entertainment media. So I would consult around the world with other offices regarding the entertainment media industry.
Q And that practice was headquartered here in Century City?
A That's correct.
Q During that time period that you were designated an M & A specialist, can you approximate how

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

16div-024634

Page 33

many others at Price Waterhouse had achieved that designation?
A There would have been hundreds of us.
Q How many in the Century City area?
A Century City/Los Angeles area there were probably 25 or 30. Maybe more.
Q Was there a -- an annual education requirement for currency that needed to be maintained in order to maintain that designation, or once you had it you had it for --
A No. We met on a regular basis.
Q While -- while you were at Price Waterhouse in any of the time periods that we talked about, did you have as any of your clients MacAndrews & Forbes or any of its affiliated companies?
A Yes.
Q And can you describe that for me, please.
A I did some work for New World Entertainment, I believe it was in the late '80s. And it had to do with some structuring of a acquisition that they were doing and a divest- -- divestiture of a company in Australia. That was all on the tax structure side.
Q And what was New World Entertainment acquiring?
A I was -- it was being acquired by one of the MacAndrews & Forbes entities and I was helping them with some structuring of that acquisition.

Page 34

Q Was -- what was the nature of the consideration that was being given for the acquisition? Was it cash? Stock? Debt?
A I believe it was -- it was cash, but I don't have a -- have a vague recollection of that transaction. It was not one that was a very extensive assignment. It was a fairly small assignment.
Q But as you sit here today, you can't recall specifically what the consideration was?
A No.
Q And if I understood your prior answer correctly, your client was New World Entertainment and it was being acquired by MacAndrews & Forbes?
A No. My client was -- was MacAndrews.
Q Okay. Thank you for that clarification. And it was acquiring New World Entertainment?
A That's correct.
Q What was the nature of the divestiture that was being done in Australia?
A They -- we were shutting down an Australian subsidiary.
Q Of New World?
A Yes.
Q After the acquisition?

Page 35

A It was either contemporaneously with the acquisition or shortly thereafter.
Q And to whom was that company being divested?
A I think it was just being shut down.
Q Oh. Thank you.
Any other dealings with MacAndrews & Forbes or its affiliates while at Price Waterhouse other than -- than the engagement that we've talked about?
A Later, yes. But at that time, no. Later in my career, yes.
Q Not while at Price Waterhouse?
A That's correct.
Q Okay. And you left Price Waterhouse in 1993?
A December of '93, that's correct.
Q And where did you go?
A I went to work for New World Communication Group.
Q And why did you move from Price Waterhouse to New World?
A I was offered a job and I accepted it.
Q And who was it that offered you that job?
A The job was offered to me -- the individual was Mr. Bill Bevins, who was the chief executive officer of New World. And I actually was an employee of MacAndrews & Forbes beginning in 1994. And it had -- was -- it had already acquired New World. And so I was loaned down to New World as a -- an executive from MacAndrews & Forbes.

Page 36

Q Okay. But you were employed by MacAndrews & Forbes?
A That's correct.
Q What was your title during that time period?
MR. BRODY: Which time period?
BY MR. CLARE:
Q The time period that you worked for New World. Well, let me clarify.
A The company --
Q It's more complicated than that. The time period that you worked for MacAndrews & Forbes but were on loan to New World Communications.
A My title at MacAndrews & Forbes was chief financial officer of Andrews Group. My loaned title to New World was I was chief financial officer of New World Communications Group, which was a holding company which held as one of its assets New World Entertainment.
Q During that time period that we're talking about, while you were on loan to New World Communications Group, did you have any responsibilities at Andrews Group or were they exclusively New World related?
A I had some responsibilities of Andrews Group.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 37

Q Okay.
A Andrews Group was the holding company inside of MacAndrews & Forbes that held all entertainment media assets.
Q So that included New World, but also other holdings?
A That's correct.
Q What other holdings were included in that group?
A Marvel Entertainment was held there, also. And I believe a company called Four Star Entertainment, which was an inactive company.
Q Would you describe, please, what your primary responsibilities were as the CFO of Andrews Group, putting aside the New World responsibilities for a moment?
A I -- most of my time was spent at the New World level. There was a -- very little time acting as -- doing some coordination amongst the Marvel and New World assets pre New World becoming a public entity.
Q Were you involved in any merger and acquisition work during that time period?
A For which?
Q For Andrews Group.
A Well --

Page 38

Q Or any of its holdings.
A With respect to New World, yes. Other Andrews -- MacAndrews & Forbes entities at that time, no.
Q So during the time that you were the CFO of New World, you continued to engage in or you did do some merger and acquisition work?
A At New World.
Q At New World. Could you describe that for me, please.
A We acquired a distribution company called Genesis Entertainment which I was involved in. That acquisition was already underway just as I was arriving to New World. We also acquired a company called -- it was Stephen Cannell's company, it was an entertainment company, and a library that I worked on and negotiated a deal with. We acquired a company called Moving Target which was an entertainment company that I also was involved in -- with. And then we also at the same time of having these entertainment assets, we owned broadcast stations and there were three broadcast operations, different broadcast groups that were acquired, and I had some involvement in the acquisition of those broadcast groups.
Q Did you work with outside financial advisors on any of those deals that you described?

Page 39

A Not that I can recall.
Q No investment banks that you can recall?
A Not that I can recall.
Q What about outside accounting firms?
A Not that I can recall.
Q You talked about the Genesis acquisition. Was that a stock deal or cash?
A That was a stock deal privately held. Not a public company.
Q And did you have some or any responsibility for conducting due diligence on the Genesis stock that was being acquired?
A That one -- that one transaction was just about complete when I was arrived -- when I was arriving so I did very little work on that particular transaction.
Q In the time that you were involved, did you have any involvement in doing due diligence on the Genesis stock that was being acquired?
A No.
Q Who -- do you know who at New World had performed that?
A I don't.
Q I'll ask you the same question about the other deals that you referenced. There was a Moving Target?
A Yes.

Page 40

Q Did you have any responsibility or duty for conducting due diligence on that deal?
A Yes, I did.
Q And how did you perform the due diligence on that acquisition?
A I performed the due diligence with my internal staff and myself.
Q Was that also a stock deal?
A My recollection is it is -- or it was. Again, another private held -- privately held company.
Q And what steps did you take to do -- conduct due diligence on that transaction?
A What does steps mean?
Q What -- what due diligence did you conduct?
A I reviewed financial statements, tax returns, reviewed projections, interviewed personnel, looked at the current liabilities, contingent liabilities.
Q All those --
A All those things.
Q -- tasks that you described, they were all done with regard to the company that was being acquired?
A It was a very small entity.
Q Okay. For what purpose did you review projections?
A For financial per- -- potential financial performance, but there were no as- -- there were no library assets so they were very limited in projections other than expenses.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016492

Page 41

Q But for what purpose were you reviewing them?
A For --
Q These are -- I'm sorry. Go ahead.
A For future performance potential in combination with our company.
Q Were you reviewing projections that had been provided by the prior owners?
A That would be correct.
Q And were you reviewing those projections for feasibility?
A Again, they were just expenses. So they were just expense items because this was really an individual's personal company with very limited assets in it. So, yes, I would have been looking at it for both a liability and an assets viewpoint.
Q To determine the veracity of those projections?
A Yes.
Q For any of the other acquisition transactions that you described, did you perform due diligence in a like manner?
A Yes.
Q For which deal?

Page 42

A Cannell.
Q And can you describe, please, the due diligence that you performed for that transaction?
A Stephen Cannell is a -- a famous television writer/producer, had an extensive library, and when we acquired Stephen's company, we were acquiring his production assets, his library. We were going to license his library. We were going to distribute it. And we pro- -- performed, myself plus all of our staff, entertainment staff, performed due diligence on every aspect of his company, including contracts, projections of his library, what we thought the performance of his library would be, and looking at expenses, contingent liabilities, known liabilities.
Q Did you interview folks at that company?
A Yes.
Q Did you review projections in the same way that you described earlier?
A Yes.
Q Did you review financial reports?
A Yes.
Q Did you visit the facilities?
A Yes.
Q What other steps other than the ones I've just taken (sic) did you take on that transaction to conduct due diligence?

Page 43

A What was necessary to have a complete understanding of the company.
Q Can you think of anything else as you sit here today?
A No.
Q Did you conduct this due diligence again with your internal staff at New World?
A Yes.
Q Did you involve any outside consultants or advisors?
A Not that I can recall.
Q Both for the Moving Target and the -- is it Cannell?
A Yes. Stephen Cannell.
Q Both for the Moving Target and the Stephen Cannell deals, did you feel that you were qualified to conduct the due diligence from the accounting aspects of those companies from your prior experience?
MR. BRODY: Object to the form.
Go ahead.
THE WITNESS: Yes.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Have you told me all of the merger and acquisition work that you can remember as you sit here today?

Page 44

A In my career?
Q During that time period that you were at New World.
A Well, I also would have done due diligence on some of the acquisitions of the television stations, but those I would not have been the primary responsible executive. We had a broadcast group that was based in Atlanta, Georgia. I would have helped with that group on selected items that they would request of me, but I would have been the primary due diligence leader on any entertainment product or entertain -- entertainment asset that we would acquire.
Q With regard to the acquisition of the television stations, did you employ any outside consultants or advisors to assist with due diligence?
A I believe we did, but I can't recall.
Q What about those acquisitions did you believe necessitated hiring outside advisors?
A I just -- I was not as active on those acquisitions that I would have been on the others. I don't know if they used outsiders or not. It's possible.
Q And with regard to the due diligence that was performed on the acquisitions of those television stations, did you or individuals acting at your direction interview personnel?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 45

A Again, I was not that active in those acquisitions, so I would have only a peripheral responsibility and it would mostly be with respect to how those companies would have folded into the overall financials of New World Entertainment Group because we were a public company at the time.
Q Would that have included the evaluation of projections provided to you by management of those companies?
A I -- I would not have personally done that. That would have been done by broadcast experts who were based in Atlanta, Georgia.
Q And those broadcast experts were members of New World Communications that were within that organization?
A That's correct.
Q You stayed at Andrews Group and New World until -- for how long?
A I -- well, I was at Andrews Group through -- give me a moment to remember back -- I believe 1998.
Q I've seen a report that indicated that you were the executive vice president and CFO of Andrews Group from December 1993 to January 1997.
A That's correct, but I was at Andrews Group until about '98, and then I moved over to a company called PX Holding, which was inside of the MacAndrews & Forbes organization. You asked me about Andrews Group.

Page 46

Q Okay.
A I moved over to a holding company that sat on top of the acquisition of Panavision within the MacAndrews & Forbes organization.
Q I see. So a separate entity was created to acquire Panavision?
A That is correct.
Q And you took over that organization?
A I was in -- I was an officer inside of that company.
Q At the time -- and was that company a subsidiary of Andrews Group?
A No.
Q It was a --
A I --
Q -- peer --
A I'm not exactly sure how it fit into the corporate structure. I can't give you a response one way or another where it was in the corporate organization of MacAndrews & Forbes.
Q And what month and year was that?
MR. BRODY: What's that?

Page 47

BY MR. CLARE:
Q When you undertook those responsibilities for Panavision.
A PX Holding.
Q PX Holdings. Thank you.
A It would have been sometime mid '98. And I can't recall exactly which month.
Q This was after your tenure at Coleman Company?
A That's correct.
Q You became -- when did you go to Coleman Company?
A It's August/September of '98. Excuse me. August/September of '97 is the best of my recollection.
Q And you became the executive vice president and CFO of Coleman?
A That's correct.
Q Were you simultaneously holding a position at New World?
A No. New World had been sold in January of 1997 to News Corp.
Q And between January of 1997 and August of 1997, what were you doing?
A I was looking for new acquisitions for MacAndrews & Forbes.
Q Based here in Los Angeles or in Century City?

Page 48

A Yes. That's correct.
Q So you remained an employee of MacAndrews & Forbes during that time period?
A Yes.
Q You left New World upon its sale?
A Yes.
Q Tell me, please, the circumstances that led to you becoming the CFO of Coleman Company.
A I was in New York, summer of '97, and I was asked if I would take over as chief financial officer of The Coleman Company for a period of time until they could locate a permanent chief financial officer for The Coleman Company.
Q Up until that point in time, had you had any professional dealings with The Coleman Company?
A No.
Q Were you replacing a CFO that had left?
A Yes, but I had never met him.
Q And who was that?
A Steve. And I can't remember Steve's last name.
Q Do you know why Steve left?
A Steve was asked to leave.
Q Do you know why?
A Um, I don't know the -- the full story of why he was being asked to leave.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

16div-024638

Page 49

Q What were you told?
A I was told that he was -- they had moved Coleman from Wichita to Denver, and they were moving Coleman from Denver back to Wichita. They didn't believe long term that he would go to Wichita, and they were going to need to replace him at some point. And they wanted to have an opportunity to have someone go into Coleman, stabilize the financial organization until it could determine who should be the permanent chief financial officer of the company.
Q Coleman was in the midst of a restructuring during that time period, correct?
A That is correct.
Q Were there any other reasons that you were told as to why Steve was asked to leave?
A No.
Q Did you relocate to Wichita for that position?
A No.
Q You were living still in California?
A Yes.
Q And you were performing your duties as the CFO of Coleman from California?
A That's correct.
Q How does that square with the explanation that they wanted somebody to be in Wichita to be the CFO?

Page 50

A Permanent CFO to be in Wichita. I was not necessarily going to be the permanent CFO. This was more of an interim or temporary assignment.
Q Did you have any other titles while you were at The Coleman Company except for executive vice president and CFO?
A At The Coleman Company?
Q Yes.
A No. Not that I recall.
Q During the time that you were at The Coleman Company, did you remain an employee of MacAndrews & Forbes?
A Yes, I did.
Q Did you receive compensation from MacAndrews & Forbes?
A Yes, I did.
Q Did you also receive compensation from The Coleman Company?
A No, I didn't.
Q So you were never actually employed by The Coleman Company?
A I was employed by The Coleman Company.
Q You just didn't receive any compensation?
A My compensation was paid to MacAndrews & Forbes.

Page 51

Q Paid by MacAndrews & Forbes?
A No. My comp- -- the compensation for my services was paid to MacAndrews & Forbes.
Q Coleman Company paid MacAndrews & Forbes and MacAndrews & Forbes then paid you?
A That's correct.
Q And was that arrangement in place the entire time that you were CFO of The Coleman Company?
A That's correct. I did receive severance from The Coleman Company directly to me at the -- at the time that Russ Kersh let me go.
Q That was after the acquisition?
A That's correct.
Q Who did you report to while you were at The Coleman Company?
A Jerry Levin.
Q And who were your direct reports?
A Joe Tesoriero, the head of taxes. Gwen Whistler, who was head of international. Karen Clark, who was my vice president of finance. And there were a couple of others, but I can't recall their names at this point.
Q You joined Coleman as an employee effective August 1997?
A That's correct.

Page 52

Q Were you compensated on a salary basis during '97 and 1998?
A From who?
Q MacAndrews & Forbes.
A Yes.
Q Did you receive any other form of compensation other than salary?
A From MacAndrews & Forbes?
Q Yes.
A I would have received base salary and bonus.
Q Any other forms of communi- -- of compensation?
A I had a car provided to me. I had health benefits provided to me. That's about it.
Q All by MacAndrews & Forbes?
A That's correct.
Q What compensation, if any, did you receive from Coleman during that time period?
A I was awarded stock options when I started with The Coleman Company.
Q And it was a single award?
A Yes.
Q Did you ever exercise those options?
A I did.
Q During your time as CFO?
A That's correct.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Q When? Can you place in time your exercise?
A It was --
Q Prior to -- I'm sorry. Go ahead.
A It was a couple days after my 16(b) restriction elapsed, which was six months. And in reviewing documents over the last several days, it was after we released our annual report and before the close of the first quarter. Was sometime in March of '98.
Q How many options were you awarded and exercised?
A My recollection is 50,000 options.
Q And what proceeds did you receive from the exercise?
A I can't remember the amount.
Q What was your salary in that time period from MacAndrews & Forbes on an annual basis?
A I can't remember.
Q Can you give me an estimate? Order of magnitude?
A $500,000 a year.
Q And bonus?
A 250,000 a year.
Q You believe that that estimate that you've just given me, recognizing it's an estimate, was for the time period 1997, 1998?

A That would be around that time. That would be about what I was earning, I believe.
Q During the time that you were the chief financial office of Coleman, did you receive compensation from any other entities other than MacAndrews & Forbes and The Coleman Company?
A I would have exercised stock options from my New World tenure, which those would have been translated to News Corp. options, and that would have been compensation from News Corp. under the -- when they acquired New World.
Q Those had -- were options that were awarded during the time that you were at New World?
A That's correct.
Q No new awards during that time period --
A No.
Q -- from News Corp.?
A That's correct.
Q And would you describe briefly for me, please, the employment that you've held since leaving Coleman.
A After I left Coleman, I took up residence at Panavision, which was a new MacAndrews & Forbes acquired or controlled company. Sometime after my arrival there -- so it's probably mid 1998 -- I became vice chairman and chief administrative officer of Panavision, which I stayed through end of April 2000.

Q And since then?
A I joined Shelter Capital as a partner in May of 2000, which I'm -- I'm still there currently.
Q We talked about your merger and acquisition activities before joining Coleman. Have you continued a merger and acquisition practice after leaving Coleman?
A A practice in a professional service practice or the practice of mergers and acquisition?
Q Have you played any role in merger and acquisition transactions after leaving Coleman?
A Yes.
Q And would you describe that for me, please.
A We looked at a number of companies at Panavision to acquire. I don't think we concluded any of those potential acquisitions. And then in my roles and responsibilities as a partner of Shelter Capital, our primary focus is investing in companies from a private equity standpoint where we would take control positions and take board seats, and in that activities, we would acquire companies, and I have participated in a number of acquisitions in and around our portfolio companies at Shelter Capital.
Q While at Panavision, did you conduct, either directly or through your staff, due diligence on acquisition candidates?

A Yes.
Q And could you describe that for me, please.
A A -- one of a potential acquisitions, we were looking at a lighting company that was based in London. I attended with the CEO of the company meetings with management of that company, reviewed their operations, facilities, their market share activities, how they were as a competitor against our activities in London, reviewed financial documents, audited financial statements, forecasts of their business.
Q For the same purposes that we talked about earlier?
A Yes.
Q During any of that work that was performed, did you engage outside advisors to assist in due diligence?
A No.
Q All conducted in-house?
A Yes. The -- none of the acquisitions were ever completed.
Q Do you or have you ever owned any property in Florida?
A No.
Q Are you registered to vote?
A In Florida?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

96-1910

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 57

Q Here in California.
A Yes, I am.
Q Have you ever registered to vote in Florida?
A No.
Q Do you have a California driver's license?
A Yes, I do.
Q Have you ever held a driver's license in Florida?
A No.
Q Ever paid income taxes to the State of Florida?
A Yes.
Q Uh --
A Through Price Waterhouse as a partner. We were a general partnership.
Q Since leaving Price Waterhouse in 1993, have you paid any income tax to the State of Florida?
A No.
Q Other than the stock options that were exercised in Coleman, did you own stock in Coleman independently?
A No.
Q Did you ever own stock in Scott Paper?
A No.
Q Did you ever own stock in Sunbeam?
A Not that I can recall.

Page 58

Q Did -- so you did not receive any Sunbeam stock personally in connection with the acquisition transaction?
A That's correct.
Q Ever own stock in Morgan Stanley?
A Not that I can recall.
Q I'd now like to focus on the time period when you were the chief financial officer of The Coleman Company. So all the questions that I'm going to be asking are focused on -- on that time period.
When you assumed the role of interim CFO, did Coleman have its own business planning organization?
A It wasn't interim CFO. I was the chief financial officer of The Coleman Company.
Q Thank you for that clarification.
But it was not intended to be a permanent position?
A It was permanent until we found a replacement, like everything in life.
Q All right. Let me start again.
A I'm sorry.
Q Well, I appreciate the clarification. That's -- that is very helpful and I want to be as accurate as I can in my questioning so I appreciate that.
When you assumed the responsibilities of chief financial officer of Coleman, did it have its own business planning organization?
A Could you -- what do you mean by business planning? Maybe that will help me understand your question.
Q Forecasting, budgeting, strategic planning.
A It was -- inside of The Coleman Company, there were individuals that provided forecasting and planning. We generally decentralized it so it was at the business units. And so if we had a PowerMate, which was our power generating company, they would have a -- an individual who would forecast that particular business unit. And then my staff would have assembled those forecasts together to create a long-term forecast for the company or forecast for the company.
Q And did those individuals report to you, even indirectly, at the individual business units?
A They really reported to the business unit leaders. They would have some indirect or dotted line responsibility to me, but mostly we required them to report to the business leaders.
Q What role, if any, did you play with regard to the restructuring that was underway at Coleman when you joined?
A I was very active in the restructuring of The Coleman Company when I arrived. They were in the middle of accounting adjustments for the restructuring, monitoring, inventory reserves that were taken. We also had IT issues with respect to Y2K that I was responsible for, and the overall health and development of the financial organization was my responsibility.
Q What was the time horizon over which the restructuring was intended to be completed?
A It had begun well before that -- well before I ever arrived, and I would say by the time I arrived, we were still in the middle of the restructuring. I don't know if I ever had a time in my mind when it would be completed.
Q Were there any target dates that had been discussed or contemplated internally?
A Not that I recall.
Q What aspects of the restructuring had been accomplished prior to your arrival?
A I think the majority of the restructuring items that had been accomplished is they had decided what inventory items or what products they were going to continue with for the majority of the items which they were going to go forward with, which ones they were not going to go forward with. And they were trying to dispose of excess inventories. They were deciding the capacity of plants. But all of it was in the process. I wouldn't say any of it was completed, but I would believe that 70 to 80 percent of the decisions that had been made had been made and we were in the execution phase of those, and monitoring.

Page 59

Page 60

Page 61

Q Tell me about the remaining percentage. In other words, what restructuring decisions were made during your tenure?

A Restructuring is a very broad topic. I mean it's hard to say that there is three items on the restructuring checklist and you've got two of the three to go. Restructuring is a continuing effort that is -- requires monitoring and adjustments and course correction. We were continuing to look at excess inventory and --

THE REPORTER: I'm sorry. Could you slow down just a little.

THE WITNESS: Oh, I'm sorry.

THE REPORTER: "We were continuing to look at" --

MR. BRODY: Excess inventory.

THE WITNESS: -- excess inventory and in the area of disposing of that excess inventory trying to get some type of modernization from the inventory. We had one division, Safety and Security, that was for sale that we were trying to dispose of that was not a part of the core business on an ongoing basis, and we were trying to pull together our forward forecast of what was going to happen in some of the foreign locations. Korea, Japan. So I would say that by the time I arrived, we knew where the -- the issue areas were and we were still working through clarifying what we were going to do with those particular business units. So I would say that there was a lot of activity around restructuring. It was talked about quite a bit at investor conferences and there were always discussions about it on investor calls.

Page 62

BY MR. CLARE:

Q What tasks associated with the restructuring remained unfinished at the time that the merger was completed?

MR. BRODY: Wait. Which merger?

MR. CLARE: With -- with Sunbeam.

THE WITNESS: It was the continuation of when I arrived. There was still some activities that were ongoing with respect to inventory and plants and which ones were going to stay open and which ones were going to close. A lot of those were also being discussed with the Sunbeam management and their advisors of what they wanted to do. For instance, we had a very large Y2K project underway that we were told to suspend awaiting the acquisition by Sunbeam because they wanted to go into a different course of action versus what we were thinking we wanted to do with the Sun- -- with The Coleman Company.

Page 63

BY MR. CLARE:

Q These conversations that you're describing with Sunbeam management, did they take place during the pendency of while they were waiting for the transaction to close?

A Some of them did, yes.

Q Did any of those conversations about the future course of the restructuring at Coleman take place prior to the signing of the definitive merger agreement?

A Not that I recall.

Q But you do recall having conversations with Sunbeam management about the future direction of the restructuring between the signing of the definitive agreement and the closing?

A If it wasn't me directly, it would have been through Jerry giving me instructions.

Q So those conversations were taking place, some of them you were involved in, others Mr. Levin was involved in?

A That's correct. Mostly it would have been Jerry, not me.

Page 64

Q Did you ever meet with Sunbeam management between the time of the signing of the definitive merger agreement and the closing?

A I don't recall when the signing of the definitive merger agreement occurred. If someone could tell me what that date was, I could -- I could give you a better view if I met with anybody between that and closing.

Q Sure. The definitive merger agreement was signed February 27th, 1998, and the closing was approximately one month later at the end of March.

A I don't recall meeting with anybody between that -- those two dates.

Q Do you have a meeting in mind that you're thinking about that fell outside of that date?

A No. We had meetings that I recall in New York that would have occurred in December and January of -- December of '97 and January of '98 with some members of the Sunbeam team.

Q And the nature of those meetings were in the vein of discussing a potential merger transaction?

A I would say they would be -- they would be in the vein of exploratory and a merger transaction, yes.

Q And then ultimately negotiations for definitive agreement?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016498

Page 65

A I didn't participate in negotiations.
Q The meetings that you attended were exploratory in nature?
A Yes.
Q And during those meetings, was there a discussion with Sunbeam management about the future direction of the restructuring at The Coleman Company?
A Not that I recall specifically about restructuring of The Coleman Company.
Q After the closing, did you have discussions and conversations with Sunbeam's management about the topic of the future direction of Coleman's restructuring?
A In the one area of IT, yes. The others that I can't recall. I was in charge of the IT -- the project that was ongoing at Coleman. So I would have been the one that they would have talked to about my activities and my staff's activities on the -- the IT area.
Q And you're certain that those conversations took place after the closing?
A After the definitive agreement or after the closing?
Q Well, that's what I'm trying to get at.
A It would have been between the definitive agreement and closing, yes.
Q Okay. And who -- who was that discussion with?

Page 66

A I don't recall.
Q Did it take place in New York?
A No. I was -- I asked if I should continue -- we had a 30 million dollar IT project that was underway. I had completed a one million dollar planning project just before the definitive agreement was signed is my recollection, and I was about ready to move to phase two which was to expend a lot of money and hire experts on the outside, and I was told to not do that. And I can't remember if it was -- who it was at Sunbeam who gave me those instructions.
Q Was that -- were those instructions given verbally to you or in writing?
A Verbally.
Q Over the telephone or in person?
A Most likely over the telephone.
Q And I apologize if you answered this already. You don't recall the person who gave you that direction?
A No.
Q Um.
A I believe it was the head of IT for Sunbeam, but I don't remember his name.
Q Was that -- was that a single telephone conversation that you had or a series of conversations about this topic?

Page 67

A There were a series of conversations about the topic.
Q All involving this one individual or were other members of Sunbeam's management team involved in that decision?
A I can't recall how many and what individuals were involved.
Q But you only recall dealing with one individual on that topic?
A That's correct.
Q Was Morgan Stanley a part of any of those conversations about that topic?
A Not that I recall.
Q And on the one verbal communication that you recall, was Morgan Stanley on the telephone line?
A Not that I recall.
Q Was it your understanding that Mr. Levin was meeting with Sunbeam management during this -- the time period between the definitive agreement and the closing?
A I don't have any knowledge if he was or wasn't. Jerry was in New York. I was in Wichita. So what Jerry was doing in New York was not something that I was keeping tabs on, his movement, so I wouldn't have any knowledge if he was meeting with them or not meeting with them.

Page 68

Q As you sit here today, did you ever have a conversation with Mr. Levin where that was discussed; in other words, what his -- his activities were during that time period between the definitive agreement and the closing?
A Not that I recall.
Q Earlier in your testimony -- and this is the reason why I'm asking you these questions -- you said that those -- some of the discussions that were had with Sunbeam management were held indirectly through Mr. Levin, and that's what I'm trying to understand, what you were referring to when you answered my question that way. Can you explain?
A Well --
MR. BRODY: Object -- I'm sorry. Object to the form. Go ahead.
THE WITNESS: Most of the restructuring of the company was complete. There were some areas in the grills and other areas of interest that overlapped between activities that Sunbeam would have had in its portfolio products and what Coleman would have had in its portfolio products. I was not involved with the day-to-day operations of our -- our companies from a business standpoint, sales, marketing, product development. That was Jerry's primary responsibility of dealing with those business heads. And so if there were decisions with respect to those particular products in those companies and they affected what Sunbeam may have in those companies, I would only hear about it peripherally from others. I wouldn't necessarily engage in that conversation. So I assume that Jerry was probably having some discussions, but I don't know who they were with or when they were being held. They could have happened before the definitive agreement saying if we go to a definitive agreement, then don't do these things or do these things, but I don't have a recollection of when Jerry would have had those conversations

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 69

Q As you sit here today, are you aware of any contact by Coleman or its senior management team with Sunbeam's management team during that time period between the definitive agreement and the closing other than the one conversation or series of conversations on technology issues that you've already testified to?

A I believe that there were at least one visit by Sunbeam individuals to Coleman for a review of our operations at Coleman that probably occurred after the definitive agreement and before closing.

Q And was Morgan Stanley a part of that visit?

A I don't recall.

Page 70

Q Were you present for that visit?

A Yes.

Q And who from Sunbeam do you recall visiting?

A Russ would have been there certainly, and then I don't remember who else was with him.

Q But as you sit here today, you don't recall Morgan Stanley being part of the Sunbeam contingent that visited?

A No. But I don't recall who else was there other than Russ.

Q Did you have any responsibility for administering any tax sharing agreements between Coleman and any other MacAndrews & Forbes entity?

A I know that there was a tax sharing agreement, but I also believe that since Coleman had losses, that the tax sharing agreement at that time probably wouldn't have been active. So, yes, it would have been one of my responsibilities, and if there was something that needed to be done with respect to the tax sharing agreement, it would have been something I would have been responsible for.

Q Do you recall in fact during the time period that you were there Coleman contributing losses to the MacAndrews Consolidated Tax Group for purposes of the tax sharing agreement?

Page 71

A I've never seen MacAndrews & Forbes tax returns so I wouldn't know if the losses were utilized at MacAndrews & Forbes' level.

Q Okay. Putting aside the tax sharing agreement, was Coleman experiencing losses during that time period?

A I believe --

Q Net --

A I believe so.

Q Net operating losses?

A Yes.

Q So recognizing that you don't understand or have personal dealings with the -- how that would be treated under the tax sharing agreements, during the time period that you were there, Coleman was experiencing net operating losses?

A That's correct.

Q Okay. Do you have an understanding as to how the tax sharing agreements worked at MacAndrews & Forbes during that time period, '97 and '98?

A Not as I sit here today. Not that I can recall.

Q In 1997 and 1998 while you were at Coleman, were there any other or any -- strike that.

While you were at Coleman, were there any ways in which proceeds from Coleman's operations would flow to other entities that were owned by MacAndrews & Forbes?

Page 72

A Outside of MacAndrews & Forbes or MacAndrews & Forbes?

Q MacAndrews & Forbes or any of its affiliated companies.

A I don't recall any other affiliated companies, but we certainly would have made payments to MacAndrews & Forbes for expenses.

Q For example, your salary?

A My salary would be a primary -- I think a good example, and there were others, I think, that would have been similarly situated.

Q Can you think of other examples of payments that were made by Coleman for expenses to MacAndrews & Forbes?

A Paul Shapiro's contract may have been up at MacAndrews, and he -- we would have reimbursed him for his. There may have been some insurance that was at MacAndrews that would have been reimbursed for. And there could have been just out-of-pocket expenses.

Q But as you sit here today, you can't think of any of those?

A Nothing specifically.

Q Even cat- -- category-wise, generically, can you describe the types of expenses that might fall into

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016500

that rubric?
A Could be rent, because I know that our offices for Coleman in New York were at 625 Madison, which was a -- an office building that was controlled by MacAndrews & Forbes or one of its companies.
Q Anything else that you can think of?
A Nothing in -- in detail.
Q When you -- when you answer the question that way, it leads me to want to ask the next question. Do you have something else in your mind that isn't a detailed --
A If we would -- normally what happened at Coleman, if there was an expenditure that was paid for in New York having to do with an out-of-pocket expense, it would come through the inter-company account as a disbursement. I can't remember if it was as detailed as pencils or if it was grand as, you know, airfare or somebody's salary. But that was a regular occurrence.
Q Did Coleman Company issue any debt while you were there?
A Not that I can recall.
Q Were you aware at the time whether any of the Coleman debt that existed was secured by assets of MacAndrews & Forbes or any MacAndrews & Forbes company?
A Not that I remember.

Q Did you have an understanding whether Coleman Company stock had been pledged to secure debt of MacAndrews & Forbes or any of its entities?
A Yes.
Q Can you describe that for me, please.
A It's not a company that I remember having a lot of involvement with, but it was typical for MacAndrews & Forbes Company to pledge stock of a -- one of its companies for debt at a holding company level between MacAndrews & Forbes, the ultimate parent, and the public company.
Q Are you aware of instances in which that was done while you were at Coleman?
A New debt or debt -- or is that -- that vehicle was in place when I was there, I believe, but I don't know if any new debt was put -- was sold during that time.
Q Were there any pledged transactions that were -- were made during your tenure that you can recall?
A Not that I can recall.
Q But your recollection is that that vehicle was in place at the time you arrived?
A Yes.
Q And was in place at the time of the acquisition?

A Yes.
Q Did you negotiate or play any role in connection with any of the Coleman debt that existed, even if renegotiating or restructuring existing debt?
A I seem to recall we may have had some discussions in and around covenants on our bank lines, but I can't recall. As a -- as a chief financial for a number of companies, I've had many discussion -- discussions with bankers and renegotiating covenants. So it -- it would have been something I think we would have been looking at at Coleman if we -- even -- maybe if we didn't have a restructuring of a covenant, we may have been in dialogue with our bankers about our covenants.
Q Did you negotiate or play in role in connection with the Coleman credit agreement? The revolver agreement?
A Not that I can recall specifically or generally.
Q Do you recall, specifically or generally, discussions with Coleman's lenders about covenant compliance?
A I know we monitored them as a part of our treasury activities. I can't recall if it would have gone to having discussions directly with the lenders.
Q Were there discussions that you had with people at MacAndrews & Forbes about Coleman's compliance with its debt covenants?

A Yes.
Q And who would you discuss that with?
A Irwin Engelman, I believe, was chief financial officer at the time. It would have been a normal discussion point at times when I would be in New York. We -- we always would talk about compliance with debt covenants. We also, you know, talked about where we stood with respect to all of our covenants. It was a normal occurrence.
Q Did Coleman ever violate any of the covenants under its loan agreements?
A I can't recall if we did or we didn't.
THE REPORTER: Can I have a second to change paper?
MR. CLARE: Certainly.
MR. BRODY: You okay?
THE WITNESS: Sure.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Was Coleman close to violating any of its covenants under the loan agreements while you were there?
A I don't recall.
Q Did Coleman prepare operating plans for 1998 while you were there?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

A Yes.
Q And what process did Coleman follow to generate that plan?
A Generally what we do is go out to each of the business units, we would make site visits. So, for example, if we were -- not all sites were visited. A majority of the sites -- for instance, we would go to Japan to have a site view, a visit with our Japanese subsidiary. They would prepare -- each of the divisions or subsidiaries would prepare a plan for the year, and that plan would be presented to the senior management of Coleman. That would include myself, Jerry Levin, and a couple of others in and around the senior manager -- management positions. That would include potentially Paul Shapiro, who is general counsel, and some others. And then we would have an exchange about their future plans, what they thought the company -- their particular subsidiary division was going to do in the future. And there would be a dialogue between senior management and those division heads.
Q And then what was the next step?
A Next step usually was a -- there would be notes either from Jerry or others on the senior management team back to the division about making some adjustments to the plan, and then ultimately those plans would come to my staff, they would be added together, and a consolidated plan would be -- start to develop.

Q Was that infrastructure in place at the time you arrived?
A Yes.
Q And Coleman had been following that practice for the time prior to your arrival?
A I believe so.
Q Did Coleman have a plan for 1997?
A I believe it did.
Q Do you know how Coleman's performance compared to its plan for 1997?
A I don't recall.
Q Were you -- you personally were not involved in the making of the '97 plan?
A No, I was not involved in making that plan.
Q Were you involved at the end of 1997 in -- in reviewing performance against the '97 plan.
A I don't remember.
Q Were there documents at Coleman that tracked performance versus plan on an ongoing basis during the year?
A I'm sure there were, but not that I can recall.
Q You were personally involved in the making of the plan for 1998?

A That's correct.
Q How did Coleman's first quarter 1998 performance compare to its plan?
A I don't remember. I wasn't there at the end of the first quarter of '98.
Q When did you leave Coleman?
A The day after the acquisition. So it would have been the end of March of '98 and the quarter would not have been concluded.
Q Did you have reports that were provided to you on a intra-quarter basis showing performance against plan?
A Not -- yes, I'm sure I did, but not that I can recall.
Q So as you sit here today, you cannot recall at any point during the first quarter how Coleman's financial performance stacked up against its plan?
A Not that I can remember.
MR. CLARE: Okay. Let's mark the first exhibit.
MR. BRODY: What do you need?
THE WITNESS: I'm reaching for my glasses.
MR. CLARE: We'll start with MS 100.
(Deposition Exhibit MS 100 was marked for identification by the court reporter.)

MR. BRODY: Thanks. I'll find one later.
MR. CLARE: What are you looking for?
MR. BRODY: A stapler.
MR. CLARE: Oh.
Q Mr. Page, I'm handing you --
MR. BRODY: I'm sorry. It's stapled in the bottom corner.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q -- what's been marked as Morgan Stanley 100. Do you recognize this document?
A I do not.
Q Do you recognize this form of document -- of report or form that you've seen before in connection with your work at Coleman?
A Not that I recall.
Q Who at the Coleman organization would have been responsible for generating or maintaining this type of a report?
A During my tenure would probably be Karen Clark or one of our other assistant controllers.
Q And -- so I take it you don't have any understanding or basis to say how often this type of report was generated or updated?
A Not that I recall.
Q And maybe it's obvious, the reason why I'm asking you about this is that is a fax line at the top of this particular compilation that has your name and The Coleman Company on it. Do you see that at the top of Morgan Stanley Exhibit 100?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016502

Page 81

A I do.
Q And do you see that fax number there to the left of (316) 832-2501?
A I see that number.
Q Do you recognize that as a fax number that was associated with you in some way when you were at Coleman?
A I will speculate for you that 316 -- I know that's Wichita's Area Code, and this is probably coming off of my fax machine in Wichita. But I wasn't there.
Q How much time did you spend in Wichita during your tenure at Coleman?
A I believe when this was faxed, I wasn't at Coleman anymore.
Q Okay. But putting -- quite apart from this, how much time did you physically spend in Wichita while you were at Coleman?
A During the seven or eight months that I was the chief financial of -- chief financial officer of The Coleman Company, I was outside of Los Angeles somewhere on Coleman business every week except for the week of Christmas and the week of Thanksgiving. And my normal pattern would be I would probably be in Wichita between 50 and 75 percent of that time that I was traveling. Other times it would be New York or out at a plant or one of our subsidiaries.

Page 82

Q Did Coleman have any operations in Florida?
A Not that I recall.
Q Do you recall ever visiting Florida for any purpose during your tenure at Coleman?
A Never.
I'll back that up and say not that I remember. I -- we may have done a conference down there once.
Q But as you sit here today, you don't recall ever traveling to Florida on Coleman business?
A Yeah, I don't recall going to Florida on Coleman business. The only thing, I have a recollection of giving a speech at an investor relations conference somewhere in the south, and it could have been Florida.
Q But that didn't specifically relate to Coleman business; that was --
A It would have been a Coleman presentation at a investors relation conference. It would be in the Morgan Stanley consumer products seminar and we were presenting The Coleman Company potentially.
Q Now, you said --
A That was an example.

Page 83

Q You used Morgan Stanley --
A As an example.
Q You don't recall who was --
A No.
Q -- sponsoring the conference?
A No.
Q And as you sit here today, you don't recall whether it was in Florida or outside of Florida?
A No. It could have been.
Q Looking at Morgan Stanley Exhibit 100, the title of it is "CLN Holdings Inc. Consolidated Statement of Operations." Do you recognize CLN Holdings Inc. as one of the indirect parents of Coleman Company?
A Yes.
Q The first line of the report here on the first page indicates net revenues, and it compares the three months -- first three months in 1997 and the first three months of 1998. Do you see that?
A Yes, I do.
Q And this document shows that the first three months of 1998 revenues are lower than the first three months of 1997.
A Yes, it shows that.
Q Is that consistent with your recollection that while you were at Coleman in the first quarter of 1998 that net revenues were below what they had been in the prior year?

Page 84

A I wouldn't have known because I never closed the first quarter of '98.
Q But even within the quarter, was it your understanding that that was the case?
A I wouldn't have known.
Q So at any point during the first quarter of 1998, you would not have seen documents or reports showing how Coleman's performance to date in the quarter compared to the same quarter in the prior year?
A But the quarter wouldn't have been complete.
Q I understand that. It wouldn't have been for the -- a complete quarter, but for a period within the first quarter. Did you ever --
A Yeah. The period could have been January. Based on a timing of the close of this transaction, we may or may not have had a February view. So we would have at -- we probably would have had January closed, but we also would have been still working on February or could have just com- -- completed February.
Q Was it -- in the January/February time period, did you ever have information that Coleman's operations to date in the quarter were lower than the same time period in 1997 quarter to date?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

A I don't recall.
Q You don't recall how its performance compared?
A No.
Q During any of the conversations that you had with Sunbeam, which you've characterized as exploratory conversations, did you have any discussions with Sunbeam about Coleman's performance in the first quarter of 1998 as compared to the first quarter of 1997?
A Not that I remember.
Q I'd like you to turn back into the third page of this document, it's the Bates number at the bottom CPH 0282214. And, again, we're looking at Morgan Stanley deposition Exhibit 100.
A 2214?
Q Correct. And the title on this page is The Coleman Company, Inc. Income Statement March 1998. Is this a form of document that you're familiar with?
A This looks like one of our income statements.
Q Is this a report that would have been provided to you on some basis while you were at Coleman?
A This particular one? No.
Q Or this form of document?
A Yes, it could be.
Q Okay. I want to focus on the right half of the page and just have you explain to me what information is being conveyed in the columns that are under year -- the year-to-date heading.

A You want me to read across to you?
Q Well, I want to understand what -- what's being conveyed. The first column says "Actual - 1997." And that I'm interpreting as the actual 1997 performance?
A That would be my interpretation, also.
Q Do you know that to be the case?
A Not that -- I don't know -- because I've never seen this document before -- if that is in fact 1997.
Q Putting aside the specific numbers that are on the page, that's -- that's the information that would be --
A That would lead me to believe that that was actual results from 1997, the first quarter.
Q And the second column is "Plan - 1998"?
A It reads "Plan - 1998."
Q And would the information that is conveyed in that column be the results of the planning process that you described?
A I don't know if -- I don't know if that's true or not.
Q So you don't know whether the results of the planning process that you described earlier were ever incorporated into a -- an income statement form like this?

A I don't know whose plan this one is.
Q Again, putting aside the specific numbers on the page --
A And I don't know if we ever completed the planning -- I can't recall if we completed the planning process for 1998 when I was there.
Q So it's your testimony that as you sit here today, you're not sure whether the plan for 1998 was ever completed?
A I can't remember if we completed it or not. I know it was in process. I just don't know if it was ever finalized.
Q And then the third column under that same header would be the actual 1998 performance to date?
A Yes. That would be -- I would interpret as being the actual performance of the company through that period.
Q Were you ever sent or copied a report of this form that purported to show the actual 1998 performance to date compared to a plan amount during your tenure?
A For the first quarter of '98?
Q Yes.
A Never.
Q In the fourth quarter of 1997, did you receive such a document?

A Yes, I'm sure.
Q And you -- would it have been in this form that we're looking at here on the third page of Morgan Stanley Exhibit 100?
A I believe so.
Q As you sit here today, do you have an understanding as to how Coleman's performance in 1997 compared with the 1997 plan?
A Not that I can recollect.
Q During the first quarter of 1998, did you have a sense of whether Coleman's performance was above or below plan?
A Not that I can remember.
Q Would that have been a topic that was discussed with investors at -- or analysts?
A Performance through -- through the first quarter? Is that what you're asking me? At an investor conference?
Q As it relates to -- as it compares to plan.
A We wouldn't have talked to -- that would be selective disclosure issues. We wouldn't have done that.
Q Was Coleman's plan for either 1997 or 1998 ever discussed or disclosed outside of Coleman Company or MacAndrews & Forbes?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 89

A Not that I can recall.
Q At the time you left -- strike that.
At the time that the definitive agreement was signed, was Coleman's sales to date in the first quarter of 1998 above or below the sales for that same time period in the first quarter of 1997?
A I don't recall.
Q You can't even recall directionally whether it was above or below?
A No.
Q Were you part of any discussion in which Coleman or anybody speaking on behalf of Coleman informed Sunbeam during the first quarter of 1998 that its financial performance was below its plan for 1998?
A Not that I can recall.
Q Did Coleman ever issue any press releases or public statements in the first quarter of 1998 regarding its performance as compared to its plan?
A Not that I can recall. We wouldn't have sent out a press release on our internal plan to an outside -- that would not be something we would ever do.
Q Why not?
A Because no one would have an idea what our internal plans were.
Q As you sit here today, do you recall ever discussing in any context Coleman's 1998 plan with Sunbeam?

Page 90

A Not specifically.
Q What about generally?
A I don't recall any conversations directly about the plan that I can recall.
Q Were you ever asked questions about Coleman's performance objectives for 1998?
A Not that I can remember.
Q Do you recall that topic being discussed with you? Putting aside the specific questions that may or may not have been asked.
A Not that I can remember.
Q Do you recall any discussions with Morgan Stanley about Coleman's 1998 plan?
A Not that I can remember -- recall.
Q Do you recall that topic being discussed?
A No.
Q I'd like you to turn to the last page of Morgan Stanley Exhibit 100. It's Bates number ending in 2227. This document at the top is titled "Management Judgment Income Statement." Do you recognize this form of document?
A No.
Q Do you see the handwriting at the top that says, "1-Time Charges"?

Page 91

A I do.
Q Is that your handwriting?
A That is not.
Q Do you have any understanding as to what information is being communicated on this page?
A Nope.
Q Did you provide written reports to MacAndrews & Forbes regarding Coleman's performance while you were at Coleman?
A The only time I remember providing written reports regarding Coleman to MacAndrews & Forbes would have been at board meetings.
Q At Coleman board meetings?
A Yes.
Q No ongoing reporting?
A Not that I can recall.
Q And to whom would those reports be given at the board meetings?
A Board members.
Q Including members of MacAndrews & Forbes?
A That's correct. Whoever of us would be in attendance.
Q Do you recall which board members were affiliated with MacAndrews & Forbes during your tenure?

Page 92

A No.
Q Putting aside the written reports that were provided to Coleman's board members, did you verbally report financial information about Coleman to MacAndrews & Forbes employees during your tenure?
A Not that I can recall.
Q You testified earlier that the topic of covenant compliance was something that you would discuss with MacAndrews & Forbes; is that correct?
A That's correct.
Q Do you recall other Coleman financial topics that were discussed with MacAndrews & Forbes?
A Not that I can recall.
Q So as you sit here today, covenant compliance is the only topic that you can recall discussing with MacAndrews & Forbes during the time that you were there?
A Yes.
Q Who at MacAndrews & Forbes did you provide that information to?
A As I think I mentioned before, it was Irwin Engelman, who is the chief financial officer, and there was someone who would have been in his treasury area who had banking relations that I may have spoken to.
Q Do you know that individual's name?
A Not that I can remember.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 93

Q Were these conversations with Mr. Engelman part of an ongoing reporting that you had with him or to him or were these more ad hoc conversations that dealt with specific issues?
A I'd characterize them more as ad hoc.
Q Do you recall what events prompted these discussions?
A Um, generally Irwin would call if he was going to meet with one of the bankers and ask how we were doing in compliance with our covenants, and was there anything that the bankers should know in advance.
Q And was there anything that you reported to Mr. Engelman to report to the banks during your tenure?
A Not that I recall.
Q Were you involved in any way in the sale of Coleman's Safety and Security?
A Not directly. I think I had dispatched maybe one or two -- one or two of my staff to help out on that disposition, but I was not an active participant in the disposition of that company.
Q Do you know why that division was sold?
A I believe that it didn't fit the long-term strategy that Jerry had for the company.
Q Which was what?
A More of a consumer recreation company than a product company.

Page 94

Q What were the proceeds that Coleman received from that sale?
A I don't remember.
Q Do you recall it being in the range of approximately $100,000,000?
A That sounds like around in the range it was being discussed being sold.
Q Was that a cash sale?
A I believe so.
Q Was -- during your tenure at Coleman, was Coleman approached by any company other than Sunbeam with regard to a potential merger or acquisition?
A Not that I can remember.
Q Did Coleman approach any other company during your tenure about a potential merger or acquisition?
A We looked at acquiring a couple of companies during my tenure. I can't recall if it was before or after or during the discussions with Sunbeam.
Q Well, it certainly wasn't after. Right?
A Well, we could have, because it could have been a conversation after Coleman was sold, someone else said, "Would you like to get back in the consumer products business?" And they could be -- it could be a discussion I had with a MacAndrews & Forbes individual that would have been a MacAndrews & Forbes entity, not under the Coleman umbrella.

Page 95

Q I see. When Coleman was approached by Sunbeam and those conversations were underway, did Coleman seek out other potential bidders?
A Not that I know. Not that I'm aware of.
Q Okay. Now I'd like to talk specifically about Sunbeam's acquisition of Coleman. So my questions are all going to be geared toward your role and trying to understand what role you played in -- in that process. So I will ask you to describe what role you played in that process, and we'll start there.
A Um, my earliest recollection was that I was invited into a meeting to meet some representatives from Sunbeam. I mostly was a participant in Q and A discussions with the Sunbeam individuals asking about the operations of Coleman. My role really during the period of the -- of the Sunbeam/Coleman discussions was mostly centered on continuing to run the financial operations of The Coleman Company. I wasn't that directly involved in the discussions that Sunbeam was having with Coleman direct.
Q We'll go through the meetings that, at least there are records, that you attended in more detail. But you testified about your earliest recollection of having this meeting with Sunbeam and participating in a Q and A session. Were those questions that were being directed by Sunbeam to Coleman about Coleman's business?

Page 96

A Yes.
Q Were any questions going the other direction about Sunbeam's business by Coleman during that meeting that you recall?
A Not that I recall.
Q Do you recall the time period of that meeting?
A I recall one -- at least one meeting before the Christmas holidays where we had a -- a discussion with individuals from Sunbeam.
Q Is that the meeting that you were just referring to?
A Yes.
Q I asked you earlier or you testified in response to one of my questions whether you attended any of the negotiation sessions with Sunbeam, and I believe you said that you wouldn't characterize any of the meetings that you attended as negotiations; is that correct?
A That's correct.
Q So it would be fair to say that all of the meetings that you attended with Sunbeam would be characterized as exploratory sessions; is that the way

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

16div-024650

Page 97

you described it?
A Yes.
Q Were you part of any meetings where price or structure of the transaction were discussed?
A I don't think so.
Q At the meetings that you remember attending, were Morgan Stanley present?
A There was one meeting that I remember that Morgan Stanley was present.
Q And who from Morgan Stanley?
A I don't recall.
Q What role did Morgan Stanley play at that meeting?
A It was a discussion where Russ was presenting the Sunbeam plan or its internal views of its forecast, and I think some Morgan Stanley individuals were present at that discussion.
Q That was Mr. Kersh who was doing the presentation?
A Yes.
Q Did Morgan Stanley speak during that meeting?
A Not that I recall.
Q Did you attend any meetings or telephone conferences with Sunbeam where Morgan Stanley was present other than the one that you've described?

Page 98

A Not that I can recall.
Q Did you attend any meetings or telephone conferences with Sunbeam where Morgan Stanley was not present, in other words, outside of Morgan Stanley's presence?
A Yes.
Q The first Q and A session that you described, is that one such --
A Yes.
Q -- session?
Are there others that you can recall as you sit here?
A Well, after the definitive agreement was signed, certainly I had discussions regarding IT and other things with Sunbeam personnel that there wouldn't have been anybody other than myself and that particular individual on the phone.
Q And that was in the time period between the definitive agreement and the closing?
A That's correct.
Q And it was shortly after the closing that you no longer worked for Coleman?
A That's correct.
Q Were you involved in any way in the due diligence that Sunbeam did with regard to Coleman's operations?

Page 99

A Yes.
Q And how were you involved?
A I would answer any questions that they would ask of me or provide my staff to respond to any other inquiries they may have.
Q And you described the one meeting where questions were asked directly to you. Were there other such meetings where questions were asked to you about Coleman's operations or financial performance?
A Yes.
Q And where did those meetings take place?
A There was another meeting in New York -- I think it was probably after the beginning of '98 -- where we had another meeting with -- with Sunbeam personnel.
Q And, again, the purpose of that meeting or the -- was for Sunbeam to ask questions about Coleman?
A That's correct.
Q During that meeting, were -- did people from Coleman ask questions about Sunbeam or its business operations?
A The only time I remember having a discussion regarding the operations of Sunbeam was at a meeting where Mr. Kersh made a presentation on the Sunbeam company.

Page 100

Q And that was the same meeting that you described earlier?
A Yes.
Q And Morgan Stanley was present for that?
A That's correct.
Q But you don't recall them saying anything?
A That's correct.
Q Were you involved with or responsible for conducting any due diligence on Sunbeam prior to the acquisition?
A No.
Q Did you work with any of Coleman's outside advisors who were tasked with doing due diligence on Sunbeam?
A No.
Q Did you perform an evaluation of the deal for Coleman?
A No.
Q Do you know who, if anyone, did perform such evaluation?
A I don't have a direct recollection of anybody performing that that I would have known. If it would have been done, it would have been done by MacAndrews & Forbes staff.
Q Are you aware one way or the other whether such evaluation was done? Have you ever seen it before?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 101

A Not that I remember.
Q Were you ever asked for information to prepare such evaluation?
A Evaluation of what?
Q Of what the acquisition transaction would be worth to Coleman or its shareholders.
A Not that I recall.
Q Did you receive any inquiries from MacAndrews & Forbes related to evaluation that would -- that they were conducting for the deal?
A Not that I recall.
Q Are you aware of any documents that would reflect Coleman's or MacAndrews & Forbes' estimate of the economic benefits it expected to receive from the transaction?
A Not that I can remember.
Q If we wanted to ask somebody within the MacAndrews & Forbes organization for that type of information, who would be the likely individuals that we would go to?
A Irwin Engelman, Jim Maher. Ronald, I'm sure. Howard Gittis.
Q When -- in the other acquisition, the merger transactions that you've been involved in with

Page 102

MacAndrews & Forbes companies, are there documents that are put together reflecting the economic benefits that MacAndrews & Forbes expects to receive?
A No, not -- well, I'm sure there were, but none -- none that I would have been prepared -- I would prepare.
Q Were you aware -- aware that such documents existed?
A Not that I'm aware of.
Q At the time of the transaction, did you think that Sunbeam was overpaying for Coleman?
A I don't have an opinion.
Q Did you ever have a discussion with anyone at Coleman or MacAndrews & Forbes about the consideration that was being paid by Sunbeam to Coleman shareholders?
A What kind of consideration is being paid? Yes.
Q Okay. We'll talk about that in a moment. But in terms of the overall compensation and whether it was over -- whether Sunbeam was overpaying, did you ever have any discussions with anyone about that topic?
A Not that I can recall.
Q Did you ever discuss that with Karen Clark?
A Not that I recall.
Q Did you ever discuss the amount of compensation that Coleman's shareholders would be receiving with

Page 103

Mr. Maher?
A Not that I can recall.
Q Or Mr. Engelman?
A Not that I can recall.
Q Mr. Gittis?
A Not that I can recall.
Q Mr. Perelman?
A Not that I can recall.
Q Anyone within the MacAndrews & Forbes organization?
A They negotiated the deal. So I wouldn't have had a discussion about price with them.
Q Did you have a view in the first quarter of 1998 how much you thought The Coleman Company was worth?
A No.
Q Was that something that was outside of your job function?
A I wouldn't have been qualified to value The Coleman Company.
Q Now, you're aware -- or let me ask it this way. Are you aware that during the discussions between Sunbeam and Coleman that various forms of consideration were discussed for the acquisition?
MR. BRODY: During the negotiations? Is that the question?

Page 104

MR. CLARE: Yes.
THE WITNESS: Yes. I'm aware that there were various forms of compensation or consideration that were being considered.
MR. CLARE: Okay. We need to stop to change the videotape.
THE WITNESS: Great.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Going off the record. The time is 2:43 p.m. This is the end of Tape 1.
(Recess.)
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Back on the record. The time is 2:52 p.m. This is the beginning of Tape 2.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Okay. Mr. Page, before the break, we were talking about the consideration that Coleman shareholders would receive in connection with the acquisition transaction. And just so I'm clear, I believe you've testified already that you do not recall any conversations that you had about the amount of the compensation that some -- Coleman shareholders would receive under the transaction; is that correct?
A That's correct.
Q But I was then going to ask you about the different forms of consideration that were under discussion, and you did have conversations about the different forms of consideration; is that correct?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016508

Page 105

A Not that I was advised, but I heard that in the -- in the negotiations there was a combination of cash and stock.
Q That was the way the deal was ultimately struck?
A That's correct.
Q And an additional aspect of the acquisition was that Sunbeam agreed to assume certain debt at Coleman and the operating company level; is that correct?
A That's correct, ultimately.
Q Do you recall there being discussions about the acquisition being a cash only transaction?
A I never heard it was a hundred percent cash transaction. I always understood there being some equity element.
Q What is -- what was the source of information that you had about the forms of consideration that were under discussion?
A That would -- Jerry Levin would have been the one that -- who would have informed me.
Q He was reporting back to you on the negotiations?
A That's correct.
Q Was it your understanding that from the outset

Page 106

Sunbeam stock was intended to be a portion of the consideration?
A I'm not -- I wasn't a part of the negotiations. I don't know what the form of the original thoughts for the transaction were.
Q From the time that you first were apprised of -- of what was being discussed, Sunbeam stock was part of the consideration package?
A That's what I recall.
Q So there was never a time when it wasn't, to your understanding?
A That's correct.
Q Did you have any discussions with Mr. Levin about what Coleman's preferred compensation package would be?
A No.
Q With anyone at MacAndrews & Forbes?
A Not that I recall.
Q Were you asked for your input as to whether Coleman should proceed with the acquisition transaction?
A Not that I recall.
Q Did you have a view?
A Not that I recall.
Q Did anyone ask you or were you part of any discussions about whether Coleman shareholders should accept Sunbeam stock as a part of the consideration?

Page 107

A I don't --
MR. BRODY: Objection to form. Asked and answered.
Go ahead.
THE WITNESS: Not that I remember.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q That topic was never discussed with you to the best of your recollection?
A To the best of my recollection, no.
Q Did you have a view as to whether Coleman shareholders should accept Sunbeam stock as part of the consideration?
A I didn't have a view.
Q Were you part of any discussions where anyone suggested in words or in substance that Coleman shareholders should not accept Sunbeam stock as part of the consideration?
A No, I don't have a recollection of having that conv- -- that thought or discussion.
Q Did you ever hear Mr. Levin express the view that the Coleman shareholders, and in particular MacAndrews & Forbes, should get all cash for its interest in Coleman?
A Not that I recall.

Page 108

Q Mr. Levin never discussed that with you?
A Not that I recall.
Q When you were in New York, did you ever attend breakfast meetings with Mr. Perelman?
A Never.
Q Was there anyone within Coleman or the MacAndrews & Forbes organization that was in favor of accepting Sunbeam stock, to your knowledge? Or expressed that view in your presence?
A Not that I remember.
Q Was there any discussion -- did you have any discussion or part of any conversations about the pros and cons of accepting stock in a company that was being operated by Al Dunlap?
A Not that I remember.
Q Did anyone in your presence ever express doubts about Mr. Dunlap's track record?
A No.
Q Or about Sunbeam's projected growth?
A Not that I remember.
Q Did you ever discuss Sunbeam with any financial analysts?
A Not that I can recall.
Q Are you aware that Mr. Levin met with a Paine Webber analyst named Andrew Shore at or around the time of the acquisition transaction?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016509

Page 109

A Not that I remember or recall.
Q Did he ever discuss with you conversations that he, Mr. Levin, had had with financial analysts about Sunbeam?
A No.
Q Now, broadening beyond Mr. Levin. Did you ever have discussions with MacAndrews & Forbes personnel who had reported conversations they had had with financial analysts regarding Sunbeam?
A No.
Q Any discussions with Mr. Levin or anyone within the MacAndrews & Forbes organization about structuring the deal in a way that would include Sunbeam assuming holding company level debt?
A Not that I recall.
Q Did you have an understanding as to the need of MacAndrews & Forbes or any of its subsidiaries to remove those -- that debt from its books in order to accomplish other financial objectives?
A Not that I remember.
Q Did you have any discussions about financing transactions that MacAndrews & Forbes was in the midst of in the fourth quarter of 1997 and the first quarter of 1998?

Page 110

A I don't have -- that was not something that I would have been aware of.
Q And, in fact, you were not aware of?
A I was not aware of.
Q Did you ever hear anyone say that part of the reason why holding company level debt was made part of the consideration package was to allow MacAndrews & Forbes to refinance its debt for other companies?
A Not that I remember.
Q Were you aware or are you aware of credit agreements at MacAndrews & Forbes that impose limits on its ability to retain proceeds from asset sales?
A I'm not aware of that.
Q Were you aware of such agreements or such limits in 1997 or 1998?
A No.
Q Did you ever hear it say (sic) that the consideration package for the Sunbeam/Coleman transaction was structured in a way to maximize MacAndrews & Forbes' retention of cash proceeds?
A No.
Q Did you ever discuss with anyone the implications of the Sunbeam acquisition under credit agreements at MacAndrews & Forbes?

Page 111

A No.
Q Did you have an understanding from any source that MacAndrews & Forbes was limited in the amount of cash consideration that it could retain as a result of the acquisition transaction as opposed to using it to pay down existing debt?
A No.
Q Did you have any work -- did you do any work with CSFB on the merger acquisition?
A Not that I recall.
Q Were you aware that they were retained as Coleman's financial advisor for the acquisition?
A Yes.
Q And who at Coleman was primarily responsible for dealing with CSFB?
A I don't remember.
Q Wasn't you?
A Not that I remember.
Q Did you have any dealings with CSFB in connection with the transaction?
A Not that I remember.
Q Did you have any dealings with other consultants or outside advisors in connection with the acquisition transaction?
A I think I met some individuals from Coopers who were on the Sunbeam team.

Page 112

Q And who did you understand Coopers to be working for?
A Sunbeam.
Q And what was the purpose of -- of your conversations with Coopers?
A Well, I was just introduced to them at some point when they started their work in Wichita.
Q No substantive discussions?
A Not with me.
Q Just introductions?
A Introductions with me, but they had conversations with my staff.
Q Who else at The Coleman Company was on the team that was working on the acquisition transaction?
A Sunbeam acquisition of Coleman?
Q Yes.
A It would have been Jerry Levin, Paul Shapiro in New York. And then could have been some of my staff working directly with individuals at Sunbeam. Karen Clark, others.
Q Are you aware of conversations that Ms. Clark or others had directly with members of Sunbeam?
A I would be informed if they were going to have a conversation. I wouldn't know the details of the conversation.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 113

Q Were you informed that those conversations did take place?
A Yes.
Q Before the definitive agreement was signed?
A Very little before the definitive agreement was signed. Most of it was after the definitive agreement was signed.
Q During the time period between the definitive agreement and the closing?
A Yes.
Q And it was your understanding that Ms. Clark had conversations directly with Sunbeam during this time period?
A Yes.
Q Other members of your staff?
A I believe Joe Tesoriero, who was my director of taxes, would have had discussions with tax individuals at Sunbeam or their advisors.
Q During that same time period?
A Yes.
Q Anyone else on your staff who would have had direct conversations with Sunbeam during that time period?
A Nobody that I can remember.

Page 114

Q In any of the reports that you received that those conversations were going to take place or had taken place, was it ever reported to you that Morgan Stanley was a part of those discussions?
A Not that I can recall.
Q Was it your understanding that Ms. Clark's conversations were directly with her counterparts at Sunbeam?
A Yes.
Q And the same thing with Mr. Testatori (sic)?
A Tesoriero?
Q Thank you.
A Yes.
Q I really butchered that.
A It would only have been with Sunbeam representatives. I wouldn't have known if there had been others around.
Q You were not a part of any of those conversations?
A Sometimes I would be.
Q In any of the conversations that you were a part of, was Morgan Stanley on part of the conversation?
A Not that I recall.
Q And all of those conversations took place before the closing?

Page 115

A Yes. Well, I'm sure there were ones that took place after closing, but I wasn't there.
Q The ones that you were a part of were?
A Yes. Before the closing.
Q And what was the purpose of those conversations that took place between Coleman and Sunbeam during that interim period?
MR. BRODY: Object to the form.
Go ahead.
THE WITNESS: They would have been due diligence related, trying to understand the financial operations of Coleman. For Joe Tesoriero, tax positions that Coleman had taken historically. And it was just a requirements for information, I think, to -- to -- for the Sunbeam individuals to perform due diligence.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Which direction was due diligence occurring during these conversations? Was Coleman doing due diligence on Sunbeam or was Sunbeam doing due diligence on Coleman or both?
A Sunbeam doing due diligence on Coleman.
Q During these -- any of those conversations that you were part of or reported to you, did Coleman request any information or documents from Sunbeam about Sunbeam?
A The only time I recall was when Russ presented the strategic plan for Sunbeam to a group of MacAndrews & Forbes and Coleman executives.

Page 116

Q And that was the meeting that we talked about a few moments ago?
A That's correct.
Q But during this time period between the definitive agreement and the closing, during any of those conversations, did Coleman make any requests of Sunbeam, to your knowledge?
A Not that I recall.
Q Were requests made by Sunbeam of Coleman for information?
A Yes.
Q And that was in the nature of due diligence that Sunbeam was doing on Coleman?
A Between the definitive period and closing, yes. And also they were trying to have a better understanding of how our work flows came about and more detailed information of how they would consolidate Coleman into the Sunbeam organization.
Q Are you aware of any due diligence that was conducted by Coleman or Coleman (Parent) Holdings on Sunbeam Company?
A Not that I recall.
Q Are you aware whether others in the organization, either at Coleman or within MacAndrews & Forbes, were responsible for conducting due diligence to Sunbeam?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 117

A Not that I remember.
Q You understood at the time that the acquisition that was being discussed would have called for Coleman (Parent) Holdings to receive a substantial number of Sunbeam shares, correct?
A Yes.
Q And it would result in MacAndrews & Forbes and its affiliate companies owning 10 to 15 percent of Sunbeam after the transaction closed?
A I'm not aware of -- I don't recall the exact percentage.
Q But it was a substantial interest that they were taking in Sunbeam?
A Yes.
MR. BRODY: I'm sorry. Belatedly object to the form.
Go ahead.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Are you aware as you sit here today of any due diligence that was conducted by Coleman or MacAndrews & Forbes or any of its affiliated companies regarding Sunbeam?

Page 118

A Not that I can remember.
Q Did you have a view at the time that due diligence should be conducted with regard to Sunbeam or its operations?
A I can't recall.
Q Would it be typical in merger and acquisition practice for a company that's acquiring a substantial amount of equity in another company to conduct due diligence on its operations?
MR. BRODY: Object to form.
THE WITNESS: If it's not a controlled transaction, it would be a little unusual.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q It would be unusual?
A We had a similar transaction when News Corp. acquired New World, and we did not do due diligence on News Corp.
Q Who at Sunbeam do you remember discussing prior to the signing of the definitive agreement?
A I don't understand. Could you repeat that?
MR. BRODY: Yeah.
MR. CLARE: I'm sorry. It was probably a bad question. I think I left out a word.
Q Who at Sunbeam do you recall talking to prior to the signing of the definitive agreement?

Page 119

A I remember having a couple of conversations with Russ Kersh and his head of taxes, who I -- I can't recall his name, and his IT individual, who I can't recall his name either.
Q Did you have conversations with Mr. Kersh that were apart from the meeting that you described where Mr. Kersh made a presentation about Sunbeam's plan?
A No.
Q That was the only conversation that you remember with Mr. Kersh?
A Regarding Sunbeam's forecast, that's correct.
Q Well, on any subject related to Sunbeam?
MR. BRODY: Is this prior to the definitive agreement stage or anytime?
BY MR. CLARE:
Q This is prior to the definitive agreement stage?
A Not that I recall.
Q Did you ever -- did you have any direct dealings with Al Dunlap?
A Never met him. Never talked to him on the phone.
Q Rich Goudis?
A Yes.
Q And what -- again, prior to the definitive agreement, what were your dealings with Mr. Goudis?

Page 120

A I remember the name. I think he may have been one of the -- at one of the meetings or I was on a phone call with him in advance of the definitive agreement.
Q Did you have discussions with Mr. Goudis where -- directly; in other words, without Morgan Stanley present?
A Not that I recall.
Q And as you sit here today, do you recall which of those -- any of the meetings Mr. Goudis was at?
A I don't recall.
Q How about David Fannin?
A I believe David -- I met him maybe in the first or second meeting. I don't remember if he was at any of the later ones.
Q Don Uzzi?
A Never met him.
Q Scott Yales?
A I don't recall that name.
Q Kyle Kaiser?
A I don't recall that name.
Q Kyle Sinclair?
A That name does not ring a bell.
Q Diedra DenDanto?
A I don't recall that name.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016512

16div-024656

Q Lee Griffith?
A No. Don't remember him.
Q Tom Hartshorne?
A Don't recall.
Q Chuck Myers?
A Don't recall.
Q Bill Bloomfield?
A Don't recall.
Q Other than the individuals that we've talked about, do you recall having conversations or dealings with anyone at Sunbeam?
A Regarding?
Q Regarding the acquisition transaction. Again, prior to the definitive agreement?
A Other than those handful of individuals we just went through, those would have been the only ones I would have talked to.
Q During any of those meetings or conversations, did any of these individuals ever refuse to answer any questions that were asked of them about Sunbeam?
A Not that I recall.
Q Did you have any conversations with Sunbeam's in-house accounting professionals?
A Well, Russ was a chief financial officer so he would have been an accounting professional. So I remember him. And I probably talked to his controller. Escapes me who his name was.

Q Mr. Goudis?
A Yeah, I think it was Goudis.
MR. BRODY: No. Object to form. Goudis is Director of Investor Relations.
MR. CLARE: Yes, you're right.
Q Any members of the Sunbeam in-house audit team?
A External audit team or internal audit team?
Q Internal.
A Not that I recall.
Q Did you ever have any discussions with Sunbeam's outside auditors at Arthur Andersen?
A I remember talking to a tax partner at some point, but I don't recall talking to the audit partner.
Q What was the subject of the discussion with the tax partner?
A I think it was introduction to my -- Joe Tesoriero, who is my head of taxes.
Q Was this with regard to information requests that were being made by Sunbeam to Coleman?
A Yes.
Q So the purpose was not to obtain information from Arthur Andersen?
A No.

Q Are you aware of any requests made by anyone from Coleman or anyone within the MacAndrews & Forbes organization to Arthur Andersen about Sunbeam?
A No.
Q Are you aware of any discussions with any of Sunbeam's customers about Sunbeam?
MR. BRODY: By whom?
MR. CLARE: By anyone at Coleman or anyone within the MacAndrews & Forbes organization or any of its outside advisors.
THE WITNESS: Not that I recall.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Did you visit Sunbeam's headquarters prior to the signing of the definitive agreement?
A No.
Q Did you visit any of Sunbeam's manufacturing facilities?
A No.
Q Are you aware whether anyone from Coleman or MacAndrews & Forbes visited Sunbeam's headquarters prior to the signing of the definitive agreement?
A Not that I recall.
Q Or any of Sunbeam's manufacturing facilities?
A Not that I recall.
Q Did you ask -- strike that.

Who was Coleman's auditor during this time period?
A Ernst & Young.
Q Did you ever have discussions with Ernst & Young about Sunbeam?
A Yes.
Q Did you ask or direct Ernst & Young to make any inquiries of Sunbeam or its advisors?
A No.
Q What were the nature of your discussions with Ernst & Young?
A I would have alerted Ernst & Young that we were going to be acquired; that they may be requested to make their working papers available to Sunbeam's auditors, Arthur Andersen. So that would be a courtesy call to the audit partner.
Q Other than that conversation -- conversations that you just described, any other discussions with Ernst & Young about Sunbeam?
A Not that I recall.
Q Did you review any of Sunbeam's public filings prior to the acquisition being signed?
A I remember reading through or skimming the 10-K and some analyst reports.
Q For what purpose?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 125

A Understanding their business.
Q Is this prior to the signing of the definitive agreement?
A I don't recall the timing of it.
Q And I noted as I flipped through the stack of documents that your counsel produced to us immediately prior to the deposition that there are indeed some Sunbeam public filings in here. Do you recall which, if any -- which of the public filings that you reviewed and when you reviewed them?
A I don't.
Q Were you -- was the purpose for reviewing those filings to conduct due diligence on Sunbeam?
A No.
Q Was the purpose to prepare for any of the meetings that you were attending?
A It was -- the purpose was to understand what businesses that they were in that could be similar to the ones that we were in and to have a better general understanding of what businesses that Sunbeam was in.
Q Did you direct -- or are you aware whether anyone at Coleman or MacAndrews & Forbes directed CSFB to conduct any due diligence regarding Sunbeam?
A I don't -- not that I recall.
Q Did you know the CSFB team -- any members of the CSFB team that was working on that engagement?

Page 126

A Gordo, who was the -- the partner on it.
Q Gordon Rich?
A Gordon Rich.
Q And had you had prior dealings with Mr. Rich?
A Yes.
Q For Coleman?
A No. It was for -- I think he was our banker at New World, and I had a personal relationship with him.
Q And had you ever worked with Mr. Rich or any of his team on any merger and acquisition transactions?
A Yes.
Q Which ones?
A When New World sold to News Corp.
Q Mr. Rich and his team served as the -- as New World's financial advisor?
A I believe so.
Q Was there any concern that if Coleman or MacAndrews & Forbes had asked CSFB to conduct due diligence that they wouldn't have done a good job?
A I don't recall.
Q Did you view, at the time, CSFB as competent to conduct a due diligence investigation of Sunbeam if asked?
A Yes.

Page 127

Q Did you have any dealings with the Wachtell, Lipton law firm regarding the Sunbeam acquisition transaction?
A Yes, I knew Adam Emmerich, who was the partner.
Q And is it your understanding that Coleman had retained Wachtell, Lipton as an advisor in connection with the transaction?
A Yes.
Q Did you have any -- did -- to your knowledge, did Wachtell, Lipton conduct any due diligence investigation of Sunbeam?
A Not that I --
MR. BRODY: Objection to form. Foundation.
THE WITNESS: Not that I know of.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Did you have any concern that, if asked, Wachtell, Lipton would not do a good job of conducting due diligence regarding Sunbeam?
MR. BRODY: Same objection.
THE WITNESS: Not that I'm aware of.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Did you view them as competent to conduct such an investigation in 1997 and 1998?
A To -- competent to do complete due diligence on Sunbeam?

Page 128

Q Yes.
A They couldn't do a complete job. They were lawyers, not working for a financial institution.
Q In conjunction with other financial advisors?
A As a part of the team.
Q Yes.
A Yes, they could.
Q It wasn't anything about Wachtell, Lipton's competence?
A No.
Q Did you direct Ernst & Young to conduct any due diligence regarding Sunbeam?
A No.
Q Did you have any concern about Ernst & Young's competence to conduct a due diligence investigation of Sunbeam, if asked, or to participate in such an investigation?
A No.
Q Do you have an understanding as to why none of these outside advisors were directed or asked to conduct a due diligence investigation of Sunbeam?
A I don't.
MR. BRODY: Objection. Foundation.
THE WITNESS: I don't.
BY MR. CLARE:

0195 14

16div-024658

Page 129

Q Was the topic of conducting due diligence on Sunbeam ever discussed with you?
A Not that I recall.
Q Are you aware that MacAndrews & Forbes, through its subsidiaries, were given access to Sunbeam's books and records by the merger agreement?
MR. BRODY: Object to form. Foundation
THE WITNESS: Not that I recall.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q I'm going to hand you what's been marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 93.
(Previously marked Exhibit MS 93 referenced herein.)
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Have you ever seen this document before?
A Not that I can remember, but I'm sure I have.
Q Were you involved in the negotiation or drafting or -- of the merger agreements between Sunbeam and Coleman?
A Not primarily.
Q Were drafts circulated to you for comment?
A Yes.
Q Did you in fact comment on them?
A Not that I can remember.
Q Who were they circulated to you by?

Page 130

A Probably Wachtell.
Q I'd like you to turn to the page that is Bates numbered 7968 at the bottom. It's page 18 of the agreement.
Invite your attention to Section 6.7. It's at the bottom of that page and carries over to the next page. I'm going to ask you some questions about it. So if you'd like to read that to yourself and let me know when you're ready.
A Okay.
Q Were you aware at the time that the merger agreement allowed Coleman to have access to Sunbeam's books and records as described here in Section 6.7?
A Not that I recall.
Q Does reviewing this refresh your recollection in that regard?
A No.
Q Is it typical in a merger and acquisition agreement to have such a provision like Section 6.7, in your experience?
MR. BRODY: Object -- object to form. Foundation.
THE WITNESS: It seems reasonable.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q In your experience?

Page 131

A Yes.
MR. BRODY: Same objection.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Are you aware of any requests that were made to Sunbeam pursuant to this Section 6.7?
A Not that I can recall.
Q Did anyone ever report to you that such requests were made?
A Not that I recall.
Q Or did anyone report to you that a request for information from Sunbeam was ever rejected or denied?
A Not that I recall.
Q The Section 6.7, last sentence, refers to a confidentiality agreement, several agreements. One dated February 4th, 1998 and one dated February 23rd, 1998. Are you aware of those agreements?
A Not that I remember.
Q Were you involved in any way in discussing confidentiality agreements between Sunbeam and Coleman leading to the definitive agreement?
A Not that I remember.
Q Have you ever seen those agreements?
A I can't recollect ever seeing those agreements.
Q I'm sorry?
A I don't recollect ever seeing those agreements.

Page 132

Q In your experience, is it typical to have such agreements in merger and acquisition transactions?
MR. BRODY: Object to form.
THE WITNESS: Yes.
MR. BRODY: Go ahead.
THE WITNESS: Yes.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Do you have any reason to believe that either of those confidentiality agreements were not executed?
MR. BRODY: Object to form.
THE WITNESS: I wouldn't have knowledge.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q You have no personal knowledge one way or the other?
A No.
Q Or no discussion about that?
A No. That's correct.
Q During the time period that -- between the definitive agreement and the closing, you had discussions with Sunbeam personnel?
A That's correct.
Q Did you understand or operate as if a confidentiality agreement were in place between the two companies in terms of disclosing confidential Coleman information to Sunbeam?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 133

A Yes.
MR. BRODY: Object to the form.
THE WITNESS: Yes.
MR. BRODY: I'm sorry. Could I have the end of that question back, please. Or read the whole thing.
(Record read as follows:
"Question: Did you understand or operate as if a confidentiality agreement were in place between the two companies in terms of disclosing confidential Coleman information to Sunbeam?")
MR. BRODY: Thanks.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q On the same page, under Article VII, there is a Section 7.1. I'm going to ask you a question about the very first part of that.. I'd like you to read that to yourself.
A Okay.
Q Do you understand Section 7.1 to be a form of a lockup?
A Yes.
Q And that's a restriction that Coleman (Parent) Holdings had on its ability to sell Sunbeam stock?
A That's correct.

Page 134

Q There is a parenthetical in the first sentence of Section 7.1 that would permit (Parent) Holdings to pledge Sunbeam shares to secure bona fide indebtedness or other obligations. Do you see that reference?
A I do.
Q Are you aware of any pledges that meet that description that MacAndrews & Forbes or any of its affiliates made with regard to Sunbeam shares after they received it?
A Not that I'm aware of.
Q Okay. You can set that document aside.
I'd like to mark that as the next exhibit, please.
THE REPORTER: 101, MS 101.
(Deposition Exhibit MS 101 was marked for identification by the court reporter.)
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Mr. Page, I've handed you what's been marked as Morgan Stanley Deposition Exhibit 101, and ask that you take a look through it and let me know when you're ready.
A Okay.
Q Morgan Stanley Exhibit 101 is a form agreement between the Sunbeam Corporation and The Coleman Company, the date February 23rd, 1998. Do you see that?
A I do.

Page 135

Q And the subject matter of this form agreement is confidentiality of information provided during discussions leading to the definitive agreement. Do you see that?
A Yes, I do.
Q Have you ever seen this document in any form before today?
A Not that I recall.
Q Do you recall receiving this in draft from Sunbeam or its counsels or advisors?
A Not that I remember.
Q Do you recall any discussion relating to February -- relating to this agreement?
A No.
Q Do you see at the top there is a fax number and a fax header indicating MacAndrews & Forbes? Do you recognize that fax number as one associated with MacAndrews & Forbes?
A My memory is not that good.
Q Are you aware whether this agreement was ever signed?
A Um, I'm not. I'm not aware one way or another.
Q Were you part of any discussions about this agreement?
A Not that I recall.

Page 136

MR. BRODY: Asked and answered.
MR. CLARE: I'm sorry?
MR. BRODY: Asked and answered was the objection. Go ahead.
THE WITNESS: Not that I recall.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Earlier when I asked if it would be typical in your experience to have a confidentiality agreement leading to -- or governing discussions leading to a merger agreement, in your experience, is this document, Morgan Stanley 101, an example of the type of form that would be typical?
MR. BRODY: Object to form. Foundation.
THE WITNESS: I haven't read it word for word, but something like this would be typical.
MR. CLARE: Okay. Set that aside.
MR. BRODY: 102?
MR. CLARE: Yes.
(Deposition Exhibit MS 102 was marked for identification by the court reporter.)
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Mr. Page, I've just handed you what's been marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 102. Ask that you just flip through it quickly. Or take as much time actually as you'd like to look at it. I only have a few questions about it.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016516

Page 137

A Okay.
Q Do you recognize Morgan Stanley Exhibit 102 as a series of organization charts for The Coleman Company and certain of its departments?
A Yes, I do.
Q And page 1 of Morgan Stanley Exhibit 102 is the Corporate Legal Department?
A Yes. That's what's written at the top.
Q Does that reflect the organizational structure of the Legal Department during your tenure?
A As I remember.
Q To the best of your knowledge?
A To the best of my knowledge.
Q To your knowledge, was anyone identified here in the Corporate Legal Department asked to conduct due diligence on Sunbeam in connection with the transaction?
MR. BRODY: Object to foundation.
THE WITNESS: I don't recall.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Is there anyone -- strike that.
Go to the second -- the second page of Morgan Stanley Exhibit 102. It refers to the Corporate Finance Group and shows you at the top of the organization chart. Does this page, bearing Bates No. 1293, reflect the organization structure of the Corporate Finance Group of Coleman Company while you were there as you remember it?

Page 138

A As I remember it.
Q And all of these individuals reflected on this page reported to you directly or indirectly?
A That's correct.
Q Does seeing this page refresh your recollection in any way about individuals that might have had conversations with Sunbeam either before or after the definitive agreement was signed?
A Yeah. Al Scheels, the V.P. of MIS, would have been the individual that would have been the -- my direct report who would have been interacting with the Sunbeam head of I -- IT.
Q Is it your understanding that Mr. Scheels had direct communications without you present with the Sunbeam IT folks?
A Yes.
Q And you had conversations where you and Mr. Scheels had conversations with them?
A That's correct.
Q Anybody else on this page?
MR. BRODY: Anybody else on this page what?
BY MR. CLARE:
Q That refreshes your recollection --

Page 139

A No.
Q -- that had direct conversations with Sunbeam --
A No.
Q -- at any point in time?
How about Ms. Clark?
A Yes. I said -- I think I mentioned her before.
Q Correct.
A And Joe Tesoriero, which I mentioned before.
Q You can set that document aside.
I want to go back to the work that you did with CSFB. You indicated that CSFB was retained as a financial advisor on the New World/News Corp. transaction?
A News Corp. transaction, that's correct.
Q And had -- was CSFB asked to perform any due diligence in connection with that transaction?
A No. They -- they -- not that I recall. They were giving the fairness opinion for the transaction for the shareholders of -- of New World.
Q They were giving the fairness opinion?
A That's correct.
Q Was there any other aspect of their engagement besides rendering a fairness opinion?
A Not that I recall.

Page 140

Q Were there any other in- -- transactions for which you had engaged CSFB in your career?
MR. BRODY: Object to form.
Go ahead.
THE WITNESS: I may have, but nothing that I can remember specifically or indirectly or generally.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q That's pretty broad.
Are you aware of any instance in which CSFB had been asked by a company owned or affiliated with MacAndrews & Forbes to conduct due diligence in connection with the merger and acquisition transaction?
A Not that I can recall.
Q You indicated that you had a personal friendship with Mr. Rich?
A Yeah. Gordon Rich.
Q Did that predate his work on the News Corp. --
A Yes.
Q -- transaction?
A Yes.
Q So you knew Mr. Rich well?
A Yes.
Q How did you meet Mr. Rich?
A He's a friend of my brother's who is a financial officer of a public company on the East Coast,

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 141

and we met through that relationship while I was still at Price Waterhouse.
Q Did you remain in touch with Mr. Rich after the acquisition transaction? The Coleman/Sunbeam acquisition transaction?
A Not that I remember.
Q So that was the last dealings that you had with him?
A He died not too long after that, I think.
MR. CLARE: Mark the next exhibit.
(Deposition Exhibit MS 103 was marked for identification by the court reporter.)
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Mr. Page, I've handed you what's been marked as Morgan Stanley Deposition Exhibit 103. It's a December 10th, 1997 letter. And ask that you take a look at it. It's on CSFB letterhead.
A Right.
Q Have you ever seen this document before?
A I saw it yesterday.
Q Prior to preparing for your deposition -- and I assume that's the context in which you reviewed it?
A Yes, it was.
Q -- have you ever seen this document before?
A Not that I recall.

Page 142

Q I'd like you to turn to the last page of the document. Do you recognize the signature there as Mr. Shapiro's signature --
A Um --
Q -- on behalf of The Coleman Company?
A I don't know if I could tell you if that was Paul's signature or not, but he has signed it.
Q And do you recognize that as Mr. Rich's signature?
A I wouldn't rec- -- know if that was his signature or not either.
Q Okay. You were aware that Coleman had engaged CSFB as an advisor in connection with the acquisition transaction?
A Yes.
Q And you were aware of that at the time?
A Yes.
Q Were other candidates considered?
A I was not in the selection process.
Q Were you aware there was a selection process or are you -- or was there no selection process?
Was there a selection process that you were not a part of or there was no selection process?
A I'm not --
MR. BRODY: Object to the form.

Page 143

Go ahead.
THE WITNESS: I didn't make that decision. I don't know if there was a selection process or not.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Okay. You were not involved in negotiating that document, the engagement between Coleman and CSFB?
A I did not negotiate this document.
Q Do you believe you reviewed it before it was signed?
A Not necessarily.
Q In the first paragraph of the letter reads as follows: "This letter agreement confirms our understanding that The Coleman Company, Inc." -- referred to as the company or you -- "has engaged Credit Suiss First Boston Corporation and its affiliates, successors and assigns as appropriate ('CSFB' or 'we'), to act as its exclusive financial advisor with respect to the evaluation of the proposed Transaction (as defined below) with a company we have code-named Laser."
Do you understand Laser to be referring to Sunbeam?
A Yes.
Q And that was the code name that was associated with Sunbeam for this transaction?
A That's correct.

Page 144

Q Was it your understanding that CSFB was in fact retained by Coleman as the exclusive financial advisor for the transaction?
A As it's read in that letter, yes.
Q And is that consistent with your understanding?
A Yes.
Q Are you aware of any other being ret- -- any other companies or individuals being retained by Coleman as a financial advisor with respect to the evaluation of a proposed transaction with Sunbeam?
A Not that I recall.
Q The paragraph that follows lays out a number of different tasks that CSFB will -- would perform if appropriate and requested. And I'm going to go through them and ask you if you're aware if they in fact performed those tasks or if they were asked to perform those tasks.
First, did CSFB assist Coleman in analyzing and evaluating the business operations and financial position of Coleman?
A Not that I can recall.
Q Were any -- were any other company retained to perform that task?
A Not that I recollect.
Q Did CSFB assist Coleman in evaluating any

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016518

16div-024662

Page 145

proposal that was received from Sunbeam?
A I'm -- not that I have a recollection of.
Q Was any other company retained to perform that function?
A I -- you're -- your questions are what I was -- things that I was in attendance at. There were other discussions that I was not in attendance at that things could have been discussed with respect to evaluating and considering other acquisitions, but for evaluations with me present, no.
Q Okay. So to your knowledge, you don't have any knowledge, I guess, whether CSFB assisted Coleman in evaluating proposals that were received from Sunbeam?
A That's correct.
Q You were not part of any of those discussions?
A I was not part of the discussions.
Q But you're also not aware of anyone -- any other financial advisor --
A That's correct.
Q -- so advising Coleman?
A That's correct.
Q Did CSFB assist Coleman in structuring and negotiating the proposed transaction with Sunbeam?
MR. BRODY: Objection. Foundation.
Go ahead.

Page 146

THE WITNESS: It's the same issue as before. They could have, but not in my presence.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Did CSFB attend any meetings that you were at that you've described?
A Yes. I believe so.
Q And, again, you don't classify those as negotiation sessions?
A No.
Q Did CSFB meet with the board of directors as described in paragraph (d) to discuss the proposed transaction and its financial implications?
A Yes.
Q And you were present for that?
A Yes.
Q Did anyone else perform that function for the board of directors?
A Not that I recall.
Q Did CSFB render an opinion as to the fairness from a financial point of view to the company stockholders of the consideration to be received in the Sunbeam transaction?
A Yes, they did.
Q And did anyone else render such an opinion?
A Not that -- not that I recall.

Page 147

Q Get you to turn to page 2 of Morgan Stanley Exhibit 103. The first full paragraph describes the compensation that CSFB would receive for this engagement. Describes a financial advisory fee of $250,000 payable upon execution of the agreement.
Do you know if that payment was made to CSFB?
A I don't recall.
Q It describes a transaction fee of $3,750,000 payable upon the consummation of the transaction.
Was that payment made?
A I don't recall.
Q And the third deals with the reimbursement of out-of-pocket expenses including fees and expenses of counsel retained by CSFB.
Do you recall whether any such reimbursements were made?
A I don't recall.
Q Do you remember CSFB retained counsel to advise it in connection with its engagement for Coleman?
A Not that I recollect.
Q Were any other financial adv- -- were any -- are you -- strike that. Withdrawn.
Were any financial advisory fees paid to any -- anyone in connection with the acquisition transaction, to your knowledge? In other words, are you aware of any payments like the ones described here to other financial advisors?

Page 148

A Not that I recall.
Q Did CSFB ever request, to your knowledge, to perform work related to the acquisition transaction that MacAndrews & Forbes or Coleman did not permit it to do?
A Could you ask that again?
Q Sure. Did CSFB ever ask to expand the scope of its engagement in a way that Coleman or MacAndrews & Forbes rejected?
MR. BRODY: Objection. Foundation.
THE WITNESS: Not that I recall.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Are you aware of any due diligence conducted by CSFB on Sunbeam?
MR. BRODY: Objection. Foundation.
THE WITNESS: Not that I remember.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q What did you understand Morgan Stanley's role to be in the acquisition transaction?
A Advisor to Sunbeam.
Q Was there ever a time that you believed them to be an advisor to The Coleman Company?
A No.
Q Was there ever a time that you believed Morgan

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016519

Page 149

Stanley to be an advisor to MacAndrews & Forbes?
A Not in this transaction.
Q Not in connection with the acquisition transaction?
A Yes. They could have been at other times.
Q Are you aware of any instance in which they were?
A No.
Q So at any point during the -- your tenure at Coleman, did you think that Morgan Stanley was an advisor to MacAndrews & Forbes for the Sunbeam/Coleman transaction?
A No.
Q Are you aware of any engagement letter between Coleman or MacAndrews & Forbes and Morgan Stanley?
A No.
Q Are you aware of anyone ever asking Morgan Stanley in words or in substance to conduct research or due diligence on Sunbeam on behalf of Coleman?
A Not that I remember.
Q Or on behalf of MacAndrews & Forbes?
A No.
Q Are you aware of anyone ever telling Morgan Stanley in words or in substance that Coleman was relying upon it to conduct research or due diligence on Sunbeam?

Page 150

A Not that I recall.
Q Are you aware of anyone ever telling Morgan Stanley in words or in substance that MacAndrews & Forbes was relying upon Morgan Stanley to conduct research or due diligence on Sunbeam?
A Not that I recall.
Q Did anyone ever discuss with you in words or in substance that they -- let -- let me withdraw that.
Did anyone at Coleman or MacAndrews & Forbes ever discuss with you information that was provided by Morgan Stanley?
A No.
Q Did anyone ever tell you in words or in substance that they were relying upon information presented by Morgan Stanley in going ahead with the acquisition transaction?
A Not that I remember.
Q Did anyone from Coleman or MacAndrews & Forbes ask Morgan Stanley to review the work that CSFB had done?
A Not that I remember.
Q Or to review the materials that CSFB presented to the Coleman board to make sure that they were accurate?
A Not that I remember.
Q Or to review the materials that the Wachtell,

Page 151

Lipton firm had presented to the Coleman board?
A Not that I remember.
Q Did you attend the closing?
A What does "attend the closing" mean?
Q Well, the deal closed at the end of March.
A It closed on a day.
Q Yes, it did close on a day.
A And what does it mean "attend the closing"?
Q Were you present when it closed?
A I was in Wichita, Kansas, the day it closed -- actually, in Wichita, Kansas, the day it was announced, and I believe I was in Wichita when it closed.
Q So the day the definitive agreement was signed, you were in Wichita?
A The day it was announced, I was in Wichita.
Q Okay. Were -- were you present when the definitive agreement was signed?
A I don't think so.
Q Do you have an understanding where the agreement was signed?
A No.
Q Do you have --
A Or I don't recall. Excuse me.
Q Do you have an understanding as to where it was closed?

Page 152

A No.
Q Were you aware before the closing of the deal that Morgan Stanley was assisting Sunbeam in the financing of the acquisition?
A Yes.
Q Were you aware that Morgan Stanley was intending to serve as the underwriter for convertible notes that Sunbeam was going to issue?
A I believe that's what I recollect, yes.
Q Were you aware that Morgan Stanley was also part of a group of banks that was going to enter into a credit agreement with Sunbeam --
A Not that --
Q -- to provide a bank loan?
A Not that I recall.
Q Before the closing of the deal, are you aware of any request made of Morgan Stanley by Coleman or MacAndrews & Forbes to provide the information that it had obtained during its role of -- as an underwriter?
A Not that I recall.
MR. BRODY: I'm sorry. Could you read that question back?
(Record read as follows:
"Question: Before the closing of the deal, are you aware of any request made of Morgan Stanley by Coleman or MacAndrews & Forbes to provide the information that it had obtained during its role as an underwriter?")

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016520

MR. BRODY: Object to the form.

Go ahead.

BY MR. CLARE:

Q Before the deal closed, did you ever -- are you aware of anyone asking what information Morgan Stanley had obtained in the performance of its underwriter due diligence?

A No.

Q Before the deal closed, did -- are you aware of any request of Morgan Stanley to provide a report on the results of its due diligence of Sunbeam?

A No.

Q Are you aware at any time period of a request being made of Morgan Stanley to provide the results of its due diligence on Sunbeam?

A No.

Q How did you first become aware of a potential transaction between Sunbeam and Coleman? Who told you?

A I believe it was Jerry Levin.

Q And where were you when he told you?

A I don't remember.

Q Was it an in-person conversation?

A Probably on the phone.

Q And what did he say?

A He said, in essence, that Sunbeam has expressed some interest in The Coleman Company and there were some discussions that were taking place.

Q Was it your understanding that there had already been discussions?

A I don't think that we would have gotten into that detail.

Q Was there any discussion of price during that conversation?

A Not that I recall.

Q Or structure of the transaction?

A Not that I recall.

Q Was there any discussion about whether Coleman would be interested in entering into a transaction with Sunbeam?

A Not that I remember.

Q Or why an acquisition transaction might make sense for Coleman?

A Not that I remember.

Q Were there any discussions -- withdrawn. Strike that.

Was this before the turn of the new year in 1998?

A Yes. It would -- it would have been in the late part of '97. Excuse me. Yeah. Late part of '97, that's correct.

Q In December, do you believe?

A It was around the holiday time. So it could have been between Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Q Were you aware that -- well, strike that.

There was a meeting between Mr. Dunlap and Mr. Perelman that took place, an in-person meeting. Was it before or -- were you aware that such a meeting had taken place?

A I have a vague recollection of a meeting like that -- of being told about a meeting like -- with the two of them meeting at some point. I don't remember when it was.

Q Was it --

A I --

Q Was that before or after you first learned of this potential transaction?

A I can't place the time.

Q Were you asked to do anything in connection with this information that Mr. Levin was --

A No. I think Jerry was alerting me as chief financial officer that we had a potential transaction and we may at some point have to enter into some discussions with Sunbeam regarding the acquisition. I think he was just giving me a heads-up.

Q Is there anything else about that conversation with Mr. Levin that you can remember?

A No.

Q In any of your discussions, did you ever hear anyone say in words or in substance that MacAndrews & Forbes was interested in selling its interest in Coleman because it believed Coleman was underperforming?

A No.

Q Or to raise cash for other MacAndrews & Forbes companies?

A No.

Q Or to eliminate debt for other financing?

A No.

Q Did you have any discussions with Mr. Levin about potential synergies that could be achieved between a combination of Sunbeam and Coleman?

A I remember conversations that Jerry and I have had about synergies.

Q Okay. Would you please tell me about those conversations.

A Oh, I think when the discussions came up

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016521

Page 157

originally and they had moved to we were going to get together with Sunbeam executives, either before that or after the first meeting, a group of individuals -- and I believe it really started with Jerry -- put together a list of items that could be a road map for the Sunbeam due diligence team of items that they should consider in the combination of the two companies, potential savings of the two companies put together.

Q Did you have any role in putting that together?

A I read it. I probably gave some input on the corporate cost structure. But that would be -- it would be limited to that area.

Q Those are the only conversations that you remember regarding the subject of synergies as it relates to this acquisition transaction?

A Well, it was a -- probably a series of conversations that Jerry and I would have had.

Q Were all of the conversations that you had related to synergies prior to that meeting -- meeting that you described?

A Well, at the meeting we would have talked about them. So certainly the -- I'm -- most of the conversations regarding synergies were either before or during that meeting.

Q Okay. I'm going to hand you what's previously been marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 79.

Page 158

THE WITNESS: You want to mark it?

MR. CLARE: It's previously been marked.

THE REPORTER: It's previously marked.

MR. BRODY: Thanks.

THE WITNESS: Okay.

(Previously marked Exhibit MS 79 referenced herein.)

BY MR. CLARE:

Q Have you ever seen this document, Morgan Stanley Exhibit 79, before?

A No, not that I remember.

Q Did you rely in any way upon the information that's communicated here in the work that you did on the acquisition transaction?

MR. BRODY: Object to the form.

THE WITNESS: I don't understand that question.

MR. CLARE: Sure. Let me rephrase it.

Q You've never -- to the best of your knowledge, you've never seen this document before?

A I've never seen that document.

Q The information that's communicated here on Morgan Stanley Exhibit 79, did it play any role in the work that you did leading to the acquisition?

MR. BRODY: Same objection.

Page 159

THE WITNESS: I don't know what the work I was doing and leading to the acquisition that this would be relevant to. So I can't answer your question.

BY MR. CLARE:

Q Neither do I and that's my -- it sounds to me like the answer is -- is no.

A No.

Q Okay. That's all I'm trying to understand.

A Okay.

Q Hand you what's previously been marked as Deposition Exhibit 76, Morgan Stanley Deposition Exhibit 76.

(Previously marked Exhibit MS 76 referenced herein.)

THE WITNESS: You want me to take the rubber-band off?

MR. CLARE: You can. I'm only going to ask you about a couple of pages of it.

For the record, Morgan Stanley Exhibit 76 is a document on CSFB letterhead, at least the first page, dated December 1997, entitled "Materials Prepared for Discussion Sunbeam."

THE WITNESS: Okay.

BY MR. CLARE:

Q Have you ever seen this document before?

Page 160

A Not that I remember.

Q Do you know when it was provided to Coleman by CSFB?

A Um, I don't know if it was provided to Coleman by CSFB.

Q Okay. Do you know if the information communicated here by CSFB was ever updated or provided to Coleman before the transaction closed?

A I don't know.

MR. BRODY: Object to form.

THE WITNESS: I -- this wasn't -- I don't recognize this document and it wasn't something that Coleman -- that I can remember -- I mean Coleman -- define Coleman for me. Is it executives of Coleman? Shareholders of Coleman?

BY MR. CLARE:

Q Coleman's management team or individuals at MacAndrews & Forbes associated with Coleman.

MR. BRODY: Object. Foundation.

THE WITNESS: I've never seen this document. So that's all I can probably speak to.

BY MR. CLARE:

Q You indicated earlier that you read some Sunbeam's public filings?

A Yes.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016522

Page 161

Q The -- I take it that it was not public filings necessarily in this form?
A I would have pulled public filings off EDGAR or through any other sources that we would have used.
Q So that was my -- that was going to be my next question. CSFB didn't provide you with the materials, did they?
A They could -- they could have, but I'm very capable of pulling documents -- public documents on my own.
Q Part of the information that's included here in Morgan Stanley Exhibit 76 are analyst research reports.
A Uh-huh.
Q Did you review analyst research reports on Sunbeam prior to the signing of the agreement?
A Yes, I read some.
Q And for what purpose?
A Un- -- again, understanding Sunbeam's businesses and how its acquisition of Coleman would fit into its business strategies.
Q Do you think analyst research reports are an appropriate source of information about a company?
A It's one -- one of many sources.
Q When you read the analyst reports on Sunbeam, did they contain projections about Sunbeam's future performance?

Page 162

A Yes.
Q Did you interpret those statements in the analyst reports as guarantees or promises of that level of future performance by Sunbeam?
A Guarantees, promises, no.
Q What did you interpret them to be?
A Forecasts of the performance of the -- of the financial -- financial performance of the company on a go-forward basis that the analysts would have received in dialogues with management of the company.
Q And is it a typical practice in connection with merger and acquisition transactions to use analyst reports and projections as basis of information?
MR. BRODY: Object. Foundation, form
THE WITNESS: As a starting point, yes.
MR. CLARE: We can set this document aside.
Q Did you have any dealings with Chase Securities as it relates to the Sunbeam/Coleman acquisition?
A Chase may have been one of our lenders, but I can't recall that -- I have had business dealings with Chase in prior companies. They could have been one of the lenders in our facilities.
Q As you sit here today, do you recall Chase playing any role in the acquisition transaction?

Page 163

A Not that I recall.
Q Let me hand you what's previously been marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 77 and ask you to take a look at it.
(Previously marked Exhibit MS 77 referenced herein.)
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Ask if you've ever seen that document before.
A Okay. Not that I recall ever seeing this before.
Q Do you know whether anyone at Coleman or MacAndrews & Forbes asked Chase to prepare this?
A I don't -- I don't have a view. Not that I know of.
Q Was Chase ever retained to do any work in the acquisition transaction?
A Not that I remember.
Q On the third page of Morgan Stanley Exhibit 77, Chase lays out the assumptions that it made in presenting this pro forma combination analysis. Do you see that?
A Yes.
Q And the financial projections in this pro forma are based on the Sunbeam equity report from Prudential dated October 30th, 1997.
A Yes.

Page 164

Q Do you see that?
A I do.
Q Is that a typical way for a company to present such an analysis? In other words, relying upon third party equity reports?
MR. BRODY: Objection. Foundation, form.
THE WITNESS: Preliminarily, yes.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q In reading this, Morgan Stanley Exhibit 77, would you understand Chase to be guaranteeing the projections that were made in that Prudential research report?
A No.
Q Or would you be -- understand Prudential to be guaranteeing those projections?
A No.
Q Okay. Set that document aside. I'm going to hand you what's been marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 75.
(Previously marked Exhibit MS 75 referenced herein.)
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Ask that you take a look at it. This is a March 30, 1998 letter from the Wachtell, Lipton firm to the Securities and Exchange Commission. And attached to the letter is a chronology that was prepared by counsel and submitted to the SEC of the events leading to the acquisition transaction.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 165

Have you ever seen the document or the chronology before?

A No, I've never seen this letter before.

Q We're going to use this document for this segment of the deposition to see if we can put some structure on some of the meetings that you attended, or at least are reported here that you attended, to see if they refresh your recollection in any way about the events.

A Okay.

Q So I'd like you to turn to the exhibit to the letter which begins on page CPH 1401528. Exhibit A. Do you see that?

A Got it.

Q The first entry bearing your name is December 12th, 1997. Ask you to read that to yourself.

A Okay.

Q Do you recall the December 12th, 1997 meeting?

A Vaguely.

Q Is this the meeting that you described earlier at which the synergies were presented?

A I can't recall if it's this one or it would have been the next one.

Page 166

Q Where did the meeting that you remember take place?

A These would have been in Jerry's conference room at 625 Madison Avenue.

Q In New York?

A Yes.

Q Was Morgan Stanley present at the meeting that you remember?

A Not that I recall.

MR. BRODY: This first one?

THE WITNESS: Yes.

BY MR. CLARE:

Q Did you know at the time of the first meeting that Morgan Stanley was advising Sunbeam?

A Not that I remember.

Q This entry for the December 12th indicates that Mr. Levin, Mr. Shapiro and yourself gave a presentation. Do you recall giving a presentation to Sunbeam?

A I recall being at the meeting. I don't remember what my role was in the meeting.

Q You don't recall whether you had a speaking role or not?

A I don't recall.

Q Tell me everything that you do remember about the meeting that you remember.

Page 167

A I remember having a meeting at some point with Russ Kersh and -- and I guess this is being refreshed by reading this -- that David Fannin and Peter Langerman were there, and we had a general discussion of the operations of Coleman, what we were doing in some of the business units. But it was a fairly unstructured discussion. We may have had with us our investor relation pack where we could have flipped some PowerPoint slides just to give them a better understanding of The Coleman Company.

Q Anything else that you remember about the meeting?

A No. That's about it.

Q Do you remember any of the questions -- whether there were any questions that were asked of Coleman by Sunbeam?

A Not that I can remember.

Q Do you remember any discussion about -- let me strike that.

What did you understand the purpose of this meeting to be?

A Potential acquisition of Sunbeam taking over The Coleman Company.

Q Was there any discussion of price or structure of that acquisition?

Page 168

A Not that I remember.

Q How did you prepare for the meeting?

A I really don't recall.

Q What -- was there any action items or tasks that were identified at the meeting as the next steps in this discussion?

A Not that I remember.

Q Were there discussions that you had internally either with others at Coleman or at MacAndrews & Forbes after the meeting?

A Not that I remember.

Q Other than what you've already testified to, is there anything that you -- else that you remember about that meeting?

A About the one on December 12th?

Q Yes.

A No.

Q I'm going to hand you the next exhibit. You may want to keep that one out. We're going to go back to that in a moment.

A Okay.

Q This one is marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 78. First page is a Sunbeam fax sheet dated December 15th, the second page is a series of entries adding up to 150.5 million dollars.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016524

Page 169

(Previously marked Exhibit MS 78 referenced herein.)
THE WITNESS: Should I read the message on the front or is it not necessary?
BY MR. CLARE:
Q I'm only going to use it to point out that in the first line of the fax message it describes the attachment as a one-page list of issues which C, referring to Coleman, provided to us at our meeting on Friday. And if you work the dates, it's referring to the December 12th --
A 12th.
Q -- meeting.
So the attachment to this document, Morgan Stanley Exhibit 78, are 15 items adding up to 150.5 million. Who prepared this document?
MR. BRODY: Meaning the attachment?
MR. CLARE: The attachment, yes.
THE WITNESS: What do you mean by prepare?
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Who had input into its creation?
A I believe it would have been Jerry and the senior staff members of Coleman. That would have included me.
Q And it was prepared before the December 12th meeting?

Page 170

A Based on these dates, yes.
Q And at whose request was this document prepared?
A I don't remember.
Q Did Mr. Levin give the direction that it would be prepared?
A Yes.
MR. BRODY: Objection. Asked and answered.
THE WITNESS: Yes. To me.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q And what were his instructions?
A Um, this would -- this is very typical of two companies that are in the same line of business of looking at cost -- potential cost savings when we combine companies that would be in the same -- as a strategic inv- -- strategic acquirer of a company as opposed to a financial acquirer. So this would be a very common document that would be prepared.
Q Did you circulate drafts of this document before the meeting for comment?
A Not that I recollect.
Q Do you recall changes that were made to it before it was finalized?
MR. BRODY: Object to form.

Page 171

THE WITNESS: Not specifically.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Generally?
A No.
Q How did you go about preparing this document which is the attachment to Morgan Stanley Exhibit 78?
MR. BRODY: Object to form.
THE WITNESS: I didn't prepare. I may have -- prepare anywhere from -- I could have given input on any of these line items. I could have typed this off of my computer. There wasn't a lot that would have gone into this other than in areas of -- that I would have done would have been looking at our corporate overhead staff, which I believe is one of the items on here, because I would have looked at our budgets on the corporate side. I had some knowledge of our Oracle expense, the 20 million dollar, item 12, elimination, is the one IT project that I was in charge of. So there were a couple of these that I would have some personal input on. Some of the other ones I would have no input on.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Who was the person at Coleman who was preparing this document and receiving input from you and other members of the senior team?
A I don't think it was anybody at Coleman. It was probably at the -- at our offices in New York. It would have been Jerry Levin's direction that this was then put together.

Page 172

Q Do you know who -- who at Mr. Levin's direction was actually preparing the document? In other words, who did you give your input to?
A I don't remember.
Q Are there any work papers in existence that would support the line items that are listed here?
A Not that I can recall.
Q What was done to -- to determine whether the figures presented here were reasonable?
A Um, I think of some these are just coming from our budget packages and looking at the financial statements of Sunbeam.
Q Can you identify which of these items would have come from the budget packages?
A As I said before, the corporate staff numbers would have come in from our -- international group would have come out of our corporate budgets. The corporate staff would have been out of our corporate budget of how many people we have on that staff, what we spend on an annual basis in having a corporate staff.
Q Was any integration plan created prior to the generation of this document?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 173

A This would be the document we would hand over to Sunbeam for their integration people and due diligence people to -- to look at the Sunbeam organization and then look into the Coleman organization. This is really a road map for where they should be looking for synergies and cost savings.
Q Did Coleman ever prepare such an integration plan in connection with its own consideration of potential synergies?
A Of -- no. We wouldn't have been in a position to be able to do that since we really -- Sunbeam was a larger company and had much more extensive operations than ours.
Q But no plan was created?
A Not to my --
MR. BRODY: By Coleman?
MR. CLARE: By Coleman.
THE WITNESS: By Coleman? Not to my knowledge.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Was any effort made to identify or assess the costs of achieving the synergies identified here on this document?
A Not to my knowledge.
Q Were any of Coleman's or MacAndrews & Forbes' outside advisors involved in the creation or preparation of this document?

Page 174

A Not that I remember.
Q Was CSFB involved in any way in the preparation or this document or presentation of it?
A Not that I recall.
Q Who presented this document at the December 12th meeting?
A Would have been Jerry.
Q Anyone else?
A Um, and I'm sure we'd have gone line by line with the Sunbeam executives in attendance and had a dialogue about each -- each of the items and our thoughts that were surrounding those items.
Q Did you speak on any of the line items?
A I probably would have talked about the Oracle IT project because I was -- that was one that I was in charge of.
Q Any others?
A I could have talked about just giving them what our total corporate staff budget was and international group budget was. Basically just reading from our financial statements.
Q Were there any questions that were asked by Sunbeam about any of these items on this document --
A Uh --

Page 175

Q -- that you recall?
A Not that I can recall.
Q Are you aware of any other written document related to potential cost savings that were provided to Sunbeam or its representatives?
A Not that I can remember.
Q Was this document ever retracted at any point during the negotiations or discussions with Sunbeam?
A Not that I remember.
Q During what time period was this document prepared? Over how many days or weeks?
A I could speculate, but I don't remember.
Q Was it days or weeks?
A It was probably in -- it could have been done in -- in days or a week or so. It wouldn't have been a very extensive effort because it would have been done out of public documents of Sunbeam and were done from our -- our internal budgets, and this would have been an evolutionary process as we would have put it together.
Q Was this document ever updated after your meeting with Sunbeam where it was presented to Sunbeam?
A No. I think the idea was Sunbeam was going to take this back and they were going to do their own due diligence, come back and ask from us more material that they want to know so they could clarify each of these areas and come up with new areas or eliminate some of these areas.

Page 176

Q And did that, in fact, occur?
A Not that I remember.
Q Who from -- you described a role that Mr. Levin played in putting this document together. You described your role. Were there any other individuals that had input into this document that you're aware of?
A Not that I can remember.
Q Was Mr. Nesbitt involved in preparing or providing input onto this document?
A Not that I recall.
Q Anyone else from MacAndrews & Forbes?
A Not that I remember.
MR. CLARE: Okay. You can set that document aside.
Mark that as the next one, please.
We'll mark two at a time. That's the first one.
MR. BRODY: Exhibit 104?
MR. CLARE: That's the second one.
MR. BRODY: Exhibit 104 and 105?
THE REPORTER: Yes.
MR. BRODY: Thank you.
(Deposition Exhibits MS 104 and MS 105

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016526

Page 177

were marked for identification by the court reporter.)

MR. CLARE: For the record, while you're reviewing Morgan Stanley Exhibit 104 and 105, Morgan Stanley 104 is a document bearing the header for MAFCO Consolidated Group, Inc. Sunbeam/Coleman Comparison, and a date and time in the upper right-hand corner of December 8th, 1997 at 12:13 p.m.

Morgan Stanley Exhibit 105 bears the header MAFCO Consolidated Group Inc., Will Nesbitt. And in the upper right-hand corner the date and time of December 10th, 1997 at 4:56 p.m.

Q My first question, Mr. Page, is: Have you seen any -- either of these two documents before?

A Not that I remember.

Q Were you involved in any way in the preparation of these documents?

MR. BRODY: Object to form.

THE WITNESS: Preparation as in typing, no.

BY MR. CLARE:

Q As in providing input for?

A Not that I remember.

Q Morgan Stanley Exhibit 105 identifies Will Nesbitt in the upper left-hand corner. Did you have any interactions with Mr. Nesbitt in preparing for the

Page 178

December 12th meeting that we've been talking about?

A Not that I remember.

Q Did you have any interactions with Mr. Nesbitt in any aspect of the Sunbeam/Coleman acquisition transaction?

A Yes. Will worked on it from the MacAndrews & Forbes side so I would have had discussions with him. He was at that one meeting that we were at the Morgan Stanley offices, I believe, or when Morgan Stanley was present when there was a presentation by Russ of the future of Sunbeam.

Q Apart from that meeting, what were the nature of your discussions with Mr. Nesbitt about the acquisition?

A He would call me for info- -- requests for information, debt levels, sales figures. He'd ask for analyst report information that we may have. I, you know, interacted with Will quite a bit when I would be in New York.

Q Both of these documents bear the header MAFCO Consolidated Group Inc. Do you see that?

A Uh-huh.

Q Are you familiar with that as a MacAndrews & Forbes company?

A Yes.

Page 179

Q And that company is not have any indirect ownership interest in Coleman at the time, did they?

A I don't know. I don't know what the corporate structure of MAFCO or MacAndrews & Forbes was.

Q Were either of these documents prepared at your request?

A No.

Q I'd like you to look at the fourth page -- I'm sorry -- what is identified as, yes, page 4 of Morgan Stanley Exhibit 104, which is the document dated December 8th, 1997. It appears that Ms. -- this document is modeling a pro forma analysis with three different levels of cost savings. Do you see that?

A I do.

Q With no cost savings, with 40,000,000 in cost savings, and with 60,000,000 in cost savings. Do you know the circumstances under which those estimates were arrived at?

A I don't.

Q If you look at the third page of Morgan Stanley Exhibit 105, which is dated two days later, December 10th, Mr. Nesbitt's spreadsheet, or the spreadsheet bearing his name, is again modeling the merger consequences at those same three synergy levels. Do you see that?

Page 180

A I do.

Q Did you have any discussion with anyone about potential synergies from the acquisition in the zero to $60,000,000 range during this time period in preparing for the December 12th meeting?

A Not that I recol- -- recollect.

Q Do you know how those estimates were arrived at?

A I do not.

Q Do you know what analysis, if any, was performed between December 10th, 1997, the date of Morgan Stanley Exhibit 105, and the December 12th meeting at which 150 million dollars in synergies was presented to Sunbeam?

MR. BRODY: Object to form.

THE WITNESS: No, I don't.

BY MR. CLARE:

Q I'd like you to go back to Morgan Stanley 104, please, and look at the last page. It's some handwritten notes. It's unclear whether it actually goes with this document or not, but this is the way it was produced to us in the litigation. Do you recognize that handwriting?

A I do not.

Q It's not yours, I take it?

A It's not.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016527

Page 181

Q The first line appears to say Sunbeam. The second line appears to say McKelly. Is that a name that's familiar to you?
A It's not.
Q The third -- sorry -- the fourth line appears to say, "Agenda - MS - get as much as possible."
Do you have an understanding as to what that means or refers to in the context of the Sunbeam transaction?
A I do not.
Q The next line says, "FU plus B of A," with an arrow, "bully MS." Do you see that?
A I see it.
Q Do you understand "FU" to be reference to First Union?
A No. I have no knowledge.
Q Do you have any understanding as to what that reference means?
A No.
Q The next reference is, "covenant relief okay."
Do you have an understanding as to what that's referring to?
A I do not.
MR. CLARE: Okay. You can set that document aside.

Page 182

Mark that one as Morgan Stanley 106.
(Deposition Exhibit MS 106 was marked for identification by the court reporter.)
MR. CLARE: And let's mark this as 107.
MR. BRODY: Thank you.
(Deposition Exhibit MS 107 was marked for identification by the court reporter.)
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Have you ever seen either of these two documents before, Morgan Stanley 106, which is dated January 26th 1998, or Morgan Stanley 107, which is dated January 26th, 1998?
A Not that I remember.
Q Morgan Stanley Exhibit 106 appears to be a merger consequence analysis assuming cost savings of $100,000,000, and 107 appears to be a merger consequence analysis assuming cost savings of $150,000,000.
Were you involved at any point after the December 12th meeting in modeling or considering synergies for the acquisition?
A Not that I remember.
Q So your testimony is that, to the best of your recollection, your involvement with modeling or considering synergies ended with the presentation of that document on the 12th?

Page 183

MR. BRODY: Objection. Form.
Go ahead.
THE WITNESS: That's what I remember at this point, yes.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q During any of the meetings that you attended with Sunbeam, did the subject of synergies come up again? In other words, at any of the later meetings?
A Not that I recall.
Q Do you know how the $100,000,000 synergy number reflected on Morgan Stanley Exhibit 106 was arrived at?
A No.
Q Or the $150,000,000 figure reflected on Morgan Stanley Exhibit 107?
A No.
Q No discussions with Mr. Nesbitt about that topic?
A Not that I recall.
Q Okay. Set those aside.
MR. BRODY: 108?
THE REPORTER: Yes.
MR. CLARE: Yes.
(Deposition Exhibit MS 108 was marked for identification by the court reporter.)
BY MR. CLARE:

Page 184

Q Mr. Page, I'm handing you what's been marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 108. It's a document in the upper right-hand corner bearing a date of February 6th, 1998, the same legend in the upper left-hand corner MAFCO Consolidated Group, Inc., Mr. Nesbitt's name. And the title refers to merger consequences assuming cost savings of $75,000,000.
Do you have an understanding as to why Mr. Nesbitt was modeling an acquisition with $75,000,000 of synergies in early February?
A I do not.
MR. BRODY: Okay. And you're just -- the question is focusing on the first page of the exhibit? Because what follows appears to be very different.
MR. CLARE: Yes.
MR. BRODY: Collection of different stuff.
MR. CLARE: Yes. And I will say that I -- I -- this is the way that the document was produced to us. I don't have any understanding or knowledge whether it was actually compiled in this way.
MR. BRODY: Got it.
MR. CLARE: But my question to Mr. Page about the $75,000,000 figure is limited to the first page of Morgan Stanley Exhibit 108.
Q So have you ever seen that first page before?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016528

Page 185

A Not that I remember.
Q And are you aware of Mr. Nesbitt or others modeling synergies in the $75,000,000 range in January or February of 1998?
A Not that I remember.
Q During any of the meetings that you attended, did Coleman or anyone from MacAndrews & Forbes tell Sunbeam that it was modeling synergies at $75,000,000?
A Not that I'm aware of.
Q Okay. You can set that document aside.
I'm handing you what's been previously marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 80. It's a document entitled "Laser Corporation Key Assumptions."
(Previously marked Exhibit MS 80 referenced herein.)
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Have you ever seen this document before?
A Not that I recall.
Q Do you recognize any of the handwriting on Morgan Stanley Exhibit 70?
A Give me a moment to make my way --
Q Sure. Take --
MR. BRODY: I'm sorry.
THE WITNESS: -- through the document.
MR. BRODY: I'm sorry. Morgan Stanley

Page 186

Exhibit --
MR. CLARE: Exhibit 80.
MR. BRODY: 80.
MR. CLARE: Thank you, Mike. I appreciate that.
THE WITNESS: I don't recognize any of the handwriting.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q The -- on the first page of Morgan Stanley Exhibit 80 it makes some assumptions that are Laser Specific, Camper Specific, and Transaction Specific. And you'll see there's an arrow coming off of the Camper Specific column and some handwritten notes there. Says, "From discussions with Levin and Page." Do you see that?
A I do.
Q Do you recall any discussions with Sunbeam or Morgan Stanley in which the camper specific assumptions that are listed there were discussed?
A Not that I recall.
Q Do you recall providing Sunbeam or Morgan Stanley with earning projections for Coleman?
A Not that I recall.
Q There is a reference here in the first bullet -- bullet point to a modification of a CSFB report dated November 18th, 1997. Do you recall any discussions about modifying the projections that -- in a CSFB report to provide to Sunbeam or Morgan Stanley?

Page 187

A Not that I recall.
Q The first dash under that bullet point gives an estimated 1998 sales figures of roughly 1.2 million dollars. Do you see that?
A It's 1.2 billion dollars.
Q 1.2 billion dollars. Thank you.
Do you recall providing Sunbeam or Morgan Stanley with an estimate of 1998 sales?
A I do not.
Q Did you or anyone from Coleman ever tell Morgan Stanley or Sunbeam that Coleman was not on pace to achieve the estimates reported by Wall Street analysts?
MR. BRODY: Object to form.
THE WITNESS: Not that I remember.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Did anyone from MacAndrews & Forbes in your presence ever tell Sunbeam or Morgan Stanley that?
A Not that I remember.
Q The camper specific assumptions include estimates for sales, operating income, income from continuing operations and EPS. Do you see that?
A I do.
Q And at least according to this document, that those projections were based upon modification of a CSFB report. Is that a typical way to present information as a starting point for discussions in a merger and acquisition transaction?

Page 188

MR. BRODY: Object to the form. Foundation.
THE WITNESS: Starting with the analyst report and modifying out is a -- is a fair way to -- to look at a company.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q And when information like that is presented, derived from an analyst report, is it reasonable for the company receiving that information to interpret the estimates as guarantees of future performance?
A No.
Q Why not?
A Because they're estimates based on what -- there are a number of factors that would go into analyst estimates. It would be -- some would be economic stability of the U.S. and world economies since Coleman in specific was in a worldwide market. If there was, for instance, a continuous recession in Japan, it would have an adverse reaction or have adverse consequences to our Japanese subsidiary. So you'd have to take it in a snapshot at that one place in time and how the company is performing and how its product line is rolling out, consumer interests, interest rates. Be all sorts of factors that would go into consideration.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016529

Page 189

Q Would that be true of any estimate of future performance?
A For any company.
Q The second bullet point there references camper long-term earnings growth of 17.5 percent based on I/B/E/S dated January 21st. Are you familiar with I/B/E/S? Or I/B/E/S?
A I think that's a group that consolidates earning estimates from analyst community.
Q And is that a typical way to present earnings growth information in this type of a context?
A I don't know.
Q Like you to turn back to the page CPH 1426294. It's three pages from the back.
A Got it.
Q And this is a slide entitled "Laser Corporation Synergy and Price Analysis - Pooling" and the word "irrelevant" is written there. Were you part of any discussions where synergy or price analysis pooling was described as irrelevant to the analysis?
A No.
Q Do you know what that's referring to?
A I believe that they're saying that pooling is not available in this transaction. Pooling transactions are very complicated and they're hard to fit inside the rules. So it's not outside the realm of reason why somebody would put irrelevant there.

Page 190

Q Okay. Put that document aside.
I'd like to return to the chronology that we were looking at earlier, Morgan Stanley Exhibit 75.
A Okay.
Q The next reference that bears your name is a meeting on January 29th, 1998. It's at the bottom of the next page. Ask you to read through that entry.
A Okay.
Q The bottom entry there references a meeting with Mr. Stynes, Mr. Fuchs, Mr. Chang, Mr. Fannin, Mr. Kersh, Mr. Levin, Mr. Page, Mr. Shapiro, Mr. Maher, Mr. Nesbitt and Mr. Rich. Do you recall that meeting?
A This one I don't recall.
Q The -- at least according to this description is to discuss potential synergies that could be created by a combination of Coleman and Sunbeam. Do you recall synergies being discussed at a meeting in late January?
A I don't recall that.
Q The entry indicates that another topic of discussion was how the companies might proceed with due diligence and related matters if Sunbeam made an acceptable proposal. Do you recall that topic being discussed?

Page 191

A I don't.
Q Do you believe that you attended this meeting?
A I just don't recall this one.
Q Did all of the meetings that you attended related to the acquisition transaction take place in New York?
A Yes. Then there were some meetings with some Sunbeam personnel, as I mentioned before, that were post agreement, pre-closing, that they would have come out as individuals to -- to Wichita. But the -- the only ones I ever attended were in New York.
Q The December 12th meeting, Mr. Levin provided a piece of paper with 150.5 million dollars in synergies. Was that figure discussed at subsequent meetings --
MR. BRODY: Objection.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q -- that you were at?
MR. BRODY: I'm sorry. Objection to form, mischaracterizes, and I think asked and answered.
Go ahead.
THE WITNESS: Not that I remember.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Do you recall any discussion with Sunbeam or

Page 192

Morgan Stanley about the topic of due diligence?
A Not that I can recall.
Q Do you recognize the names of any of the individuals here on the Sunbeam side of the table at least that are identified for the January 29th meeting. Do you know who Mr. Stynes is?
A I don't recall him.
Q Or Mr. Fuchs?
A Don't recall him.
Q Mr. Chang?
A Don't recall him. Fannin, yes. And Kersh, yes.
Q And obviously everybody else on the other -- on that -- on the Coleman side of the table you knew?
A Yes. I recognize all of them.
Q Does reviewing this entry for the January 29th, 1998 refresh your recollection in any way about a meeting that you might have attended in New York?
A No. I -- my -- as I mentioned earlier, I had a recollection of two meetings; one early, around the holiday period, and then the one where Mr. Kersh made a presentation of Sunbeam. I remember those two. This one I don't remember.
Q Do you recall hearing in the January 1998 time period that Sunbeam had fallen short of analysts'

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016530

Page 193

expectations for fourth quarter 1997?
A Not that I remember.
Q Any discussion internally at Coleman or with others at MacAndrews & Forbes about Sunbeam's performance in the fourth quarter of 1997?
A Not that I remember.
Q Who is Marc Shiffman?
A He was our investor relations individual. He handled our dealings with analysts. He worked for Jerry. He was --
Q He was a Coleman person?
A Yes. He was housed in New York.
Q I'm sorry. You said he was based in New York?
A Yes.
Q Who is Jim Conroy?
A Jim Conroy works for MacAndrews & Forbes. He's a -- he's a PR individual.
Q Bob Knibb?
A Knibb was an executive at the MacAndrews & Forbes organization.
Q Greg Woodland?
A In the Finance Department of the MacAndrews & Forbes organization.
Q During the time period that discussions with Sunbeam were underway, were you copied on or routed these reports and other materials related to Sunbeam?

Page 194

A Not that I remember.
Q Were you aware that in the January 1998 time period, analysts had lowered their 1998 and 1999 earnings estimates for Sunbeam?
A Not that I recall.
Q Do you remember any discussion about analysts revising downward their estimates for Sunbeam?
A Not that I recall.
MR. CLARE: We need to stop the tape -- to change the tape.
MR. BRODY: Okay. Why don't we take a break?
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Going off the record. The time is 4:47 p.m. This is the end of Tape 2.
(Recess.)
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Back on the record. The time is 4:59 p.m. This is the beginning of Tape 3.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Did you personally have any conversations with analysts regarding Sunbeam?
A Not that I recall.
Q I'm going to hand you what's been marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 81. Ask you to take a look at it.
A Okay.
(Previously marked Exhibit MS 81 referenced herein.)

Page 195

BY MR. CLARE:
Q Have you ever seen this document before?
A Not that I recall.
Q Have you ever seen it -- a document in this form before, a term sheet for proposed transaction between Coleman and Sunbeam?
A Not that I remember.
Q Morgan Stanley Exhibit 81 bears a print date at the bottom left-hand corner of February 6th, 1998. Were you present at any meeting where a term sheet like this was handed out or discussed?
A Not that I recall.
Q The document that we're looking at, Morgan Stanley 81, is reflecting a proposed transaction that's an all stock deal. Do you see that?
A I do.
Q Do you have any understanding or discussion how the terms were negotiated relating to an all stock deal?
A I do not.
Q Or how the deal evolved during discussions from an all stock deal to a mix of stock and cash?
A I do not.
MR. BRODY: Object to the form.
BY MR. CLARE:

Page 196

Q There is a termination fee referenced here in this term sheet. Do you -- were you part of any discussions relating to a termination fee?
A No.
Q The expected closing is identified on Morgan Stanley Exhibit 81 as the second quarter of 1998. Did you have any understanding as to when this transaction would propose to be closed?
A I don't recall.
Q Do you know why it was moved up to close at the end of the first quarter?
A I do not. Or don't recall.
Q Or do you know that it was ever contemplated to close in the second quarter?
A Well, it was two steps. One was taking out of the MacAndrews & Forbes fee. And the second step was taking out the public.
Q Do you have any understanding as to how the timing of that first step of that transaction was arrived at?
A I don't recall.
Q Or any of the discussions between the parties about the timing?
A No. I wasn't a party to those.
Q There is a reference here on Morgan Stanley

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 197

Exhibit 81 to a one-year lockup for RP, which I'm assuming refers to Ron Perelman. Do you recall any discussions relating to the lockup term for the shares that Mr. Perelman or MacAndrews & Forbes would receive?
A No.
Q Okay. You can set that document aside.
I'm going to hand you what's been marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 82 --
MR. BRODY: Thank you.
MR. CLARE: -- titled "Project Laser, Laser Stand Alone Income Statements, I/B/E/S Case."
(Previously marked Exhibit MS 82 referenced herein.)
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Have you ever seen this document before?
A Not that I recall.
Q In any of the work that you performed related to the acquisition transaction, did you rely on information provided by Morgan Stanley?
MR. BRODY: Object to form and foundation.
THE WITNESS: Not that I recall.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q In any of the work that you performed on the acquisition transaction, was the source of any information that was provided to you attributed to Morgan

Page 198

Stanley?
MR. BRODY: Same objection.
THE WITNESS: Not that I recall.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q You can set that document aside. Handing you Morgan Stanley Exhibit 83. Previously marked. Similar in form to the document that we were just looking at. Bears the title "Project Laser, Proposed Summary Transaction Terms" and the print date in the lower left-hand corner is February 20th, 1998.
(Previously marked Exhibit MS 83 referenced herein.)
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Have you seen this document before?
A Not that I recall.
Q Under the form of consideration, the consideration package entries on the first page, it is reflecting what is still an all stock deal, but that MacAndrews & Forbes would have the right 30 days prior to closing to choose between two different consideration packages.
Do you recall at any point a discussion about a transaction where MacAndrews & Forbes would have an option on how it would elect to receive its consideration?

Page 199

A Not that I remember.
Q There is also an entry on the February 20th term sheet that we're looking at related to the assumption of holding company debt. Do you know how that topic was introduced as a discussion point between the parties?
A I don't.
Q Were you part of any meeting where the topic of assumption of debt was discussed between Coleman and Sunbeam?
A No.
Q During the meeting that you recall where Mr. Kersh made the presentation, was there any discussion of deal structure?
A Not that I recall.
Q Or price?
A No.
Q On the second page of Morgan Stanley Exhibit 83, there is a reference to a one-year lockup period. Were you -- was that topic discussed in any of the meetings that you attended?
A Not that I remember.
Q Did you ever discuss the topic of a lockup internally at Coleman or with MacAndrews & Forbes?
A Not that I remember.

Page 200

Q Were you part of any discussion either before or after the acquisition agreement was signed on how MacAndrews & Forbes might hedge its position that it was going to take in Sunbeam?
A No.
Q Were you aware that proposals were made to MacAndrews & Forbes on how it might hedge its position in Sunbeam?
A No.
Q Put that document aside.
Mark that as the next one, please.
THE REPORTER: 109.
MR. CLARE: Is that 109?
THE REPORTER: Yes.
(Deposition Exhibit MS 109 was marked for identification by the court reporter.)
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Mr. Page, I'm handing you what's been marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 109. The beginning of this document is a letter from the law firm of Skadden, Arps to the SEC transmitting yet another chronology. There is an entry that I'd like to ask you about that is dated February 21st, 1998, and that entry begins on page CPH 1042298.
A Okay. You say the February 21st date?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Q Correct.
A Do you want me to read that?
Q Yes. Just to yourself, please.
A Okay.
Q Do you recall this telephone conference with Coopers & Lybrand?
A I recall a -- a call around this period of time. I can't remember the exact date with Coopers as an introductory call.
Q This was the call that you referred to earlier in your testimony?
A Yes.
Q Were you in Wichita for this call?
A I don't recall.
Q Was Morgan Stanley a part of this call?
A Not that I remember.
Q This entry identifies the purpose is to discuss Coleman's business. Do you recall any discussion of Coleman's business during this telephone conference call?
A No.
Q You recall it as being introductory only?
A Yes.
Q You knew at the time you were talking to Coopers & Lybrand that they had been retained by Sunbeam?
A That's correct.

Q And did you understand that Coopers & Lybrand had been tasked to evaluate the synergies that might be achieved through a merger?
A I understood that to be one of their tasks, yes.
Q Were there other tasks?
A I would assume that they were doing due diligence, yes.
Q Due diligence on Coleman?
A Yes.
Q Was there any discussion with Coopers & Lybrand on this call about Sunbeam's business?
A Not that I recall.
Q Were there any synergy figures that were discussed with Coopers & Lybrand?
A Not that I recall.
Q Did you identify members of your staff for Coopers & Lybrand to work with in response to their request for information?
A Not that I remember, but I'm sure that would have been one of the topics we would have talked about.
Q Is there anything else you remember about your discussion with Coopers & Lybrand?
A I think this was probably the call we had before they came out to do due diligence at our -- some of our facilities and so this was probably establishing timetables.

Q Was any substant -- substance of Coleman's business operations discussed on this call?
A I don't think so.
Q Did you accompany Coopers & Lybrand on any of their site visits?
A No.
Q Were you present for any of the interviews that they conducted?
A Nope.
Q Did you provide any documents to Coopers & Lybrand?
A I was never interviewed by Coopers & Lybrand.
Q Did you provide any documents to members of your staff who was working with Coopers for transmittal to Coopers?
A Coopers interacted with my direct staff members. They took up residence in my conference room next my office in Wichita, Kansas, for a week or so, as I seem to recall, and they interacted directly with a lot of my direct reports, but not with me.
MR. CLARE: I'll put this back into here. Let's mark that as at next one, please.
MR. BRODY: 110?

MR. CLARE: Yes.
(Deposition Exhibit MS 110 was marked for identification by the court reporter.)
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Mr. Page, I'm handing you what's been marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 110. There is no Bates number on this document, but it is among the documents that were produced to us today at the beginning of this deposition by your counsel. We've had a copy made and we'll be marking it as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 110. It's a one-page document. It appears to be a photocopy of business cards from your file.
A That's correct. This is only half of the information that -- there was -- there was copies of cards on the back of the sheet that I handed over to you.
Q Indeed there were. All right. Well, let's deal with this page for now.
We've talked about your dealings with Mr. Kersh who is on the upper left-hand corner. Other than the one meeting that we've been discussing where Mr. Kersh made a presentation, did you have any other in-person meetings with Mr. Kersh?
A I believe he came to two. He -- one, the first meeting where we -- that I recall, and the second was the one he made the presentation, and I believe he came to

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 205

Wichita at least one time where he took a plant tour and had other interactions with staff members.
Q And that was after the agreement was signed?
A That's correct.
Q Mr. Gluck is the -- identified here as the third entry is the controller. Does that refresh your recollection about the controller at Sunbeam --
A Yes.
Q -- that you may have spoken with?
A Yes.
Q Did you have any telephone conversations or meetings with Mr. Gluck?
A I think I had various conversations with him along -- along the way. Sometimes it was he was seeking information. I would be directing him to staff members that could provide it to him.
Q Did you ever ask Mr. Gluck any questions about Sunbeam's business practices?
A I did not.
Q You have Mr. Gluck's home number written here. Did you ever have occasion to call Mr. Gluck at home for any reason?
A Not that I remember.
Q Mr. Totte, is that the individual --
A That's the --

Page 206

Q -- the tax person?
A -- head of taxes for Sunbeam. Yes, that's correct.
Q Did you have meetings with Mr. Totte?
A I believe I met him in Wichita one time.
Q Again, between the definitive agreement and closing?
A That's correct.
Q Mr. Wilder is identified here as the tax partner from Arthur Andersen. Is that the individual you were referring to earlier?
A Yes.
Q The Harlow name is handwritten here as the Arthur Andersen audit partner. Did you have any dealings with Mr. Harlow?
A I don't recall having direct contact with Mr. Harlow.
Q Was any contact with Mr. Harlow ever reported to you?
A Not that I remember.
Q Then there is a number of cards here from Coopers & Lybrand. Are these the individuals that visited Wichita in the manner that you just described?
A I believe so. These were the, I think -- yes, I think that's correct.

Page 207

Q Mr. Duffy from CSFB, did you have dealings with Bob Duffy?
A I remember a meeting with him, yes.
Q In what context?
A I think he was at some of the early meetings we had.
Q On what subject matter?
A It would have been on the -- Jerry Levin's office regarding the merger.
Q And what did it relate to? Preparing for the --
A I don't recall the nature of the conversation. I just remember meeting him.
Q Do you recall Alex Fuchs from Morgan Stanley, having any dealings with Mr. Fuchs?
A I remember the name. I don't remember interacting with him.
Q Do you recall whether he was present at any of the meetings that you were at?
A Not that I can recall.
Q Or having any discussions with him?
A Not that I recall.
Q Mr. Joshua Webber?
A Not that I recall.
Q You can set Exhibit 109 and 110 aside.

Page 208

I'd like to look back at Morgan Stanley Exhibit 75, the chronology prepared by Wachtell, Lipton. The next entry that I'd like to look at is dated February 23rd, 1998. Ask you to read that entry to yourself.
A Okay.
Q There is two sessions that are identified here on February 23rd, 1998 that reference you and I'd like to take them one at a time. The first reference is a meeting with Mr. Nesbitt, Mr. Page, Mr. Levin, Mr. Shapiro, Mr. Duffy and Mr. Geller with Mr. Stynes, Mr. Fuchs, Mr. Goudis in New York to conduct due diligence. Do you recall that meeting?
A I recall having a meeting in -- at 625 Madison Avenue before we went over to the Morgan Stanley offices. It was similar in tone and content to the first discussion we had back in November -- excuse me -- in December of '97 talking about the operations of Coleman.
Q Was that the exclusive focus of the meeting, the Coleman operations?
A That's my recollection.
Q Did -- was there any presentation made at that meeting by Coleman or those at the meeting on behalf of Coleman about its business operations?
A I don't recall.
Q Do you recall it as a question-and-answer

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0165134
16div-024678

Page 209

session?
A I really don't recall the substance of the meeting other than there was a discussion of Coleman.
Q And did -- would you classify this meeting as exploratory in nature?
A Yes.
Q Did you have a sense or understanding as to whether negotiations for an acquisition had -- had been underway at this point?
A I assume, yes.
Q Do you recall any discussion during that session about Sunbeam or its business operations?
A Um, I believe that was the beginning of the discussion that -- was the setup for the discussion that we were going to have that Russ was going to present -- Mr. Kersh was going to present the operations of Sunbeam to MacAndrews & Forbes employees and Coleman employees.
Q And that occurred later that day?
A That's correct.
Q At the offices of Morgan Stanley?
A Yes.
Q Do you recall any of the questions that were asked of Coleman during that morning session?
A I don't.
Q Were there any discussion of synergies?

Page 210

A I don't recall.
Q Do you recall anything that was said by any of the Morgan Stanley representatives during that meeting?
A I do not.
Q Did Morgan Stanley ask questions?
A I don't recall.
Q Is there anything else about the morning session that you remember?
A No.
MR. BRODY: When you say morning, I think his testimony was it was before the other one. I'm not sure his testimony was in the morning. You may want to --
THE WITNESS: My recollection was in the afternoon.
MR. CLARE: Okay. Fair enough. In the first session.
THE WITNESS: First session.
MR. BRODY: Thank you.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q The first session relating to Coleman's business operations?
A Right.
Q As you sit here today, you cannot recall anything that was said by anyone on the Sunbeam side?
A I don't recall.

Page 211

Q The second meeting referenced for February 23rd indicates attendees Nesbitt, Shapiro, Levin, Page, Maher, Duffy, and Isko for Coleman. And Fannin, Kersh, Kitts, Stynes, Fuchs, Chang and Goudis. Do you recall that meeting?
A Yes, I do.
Q Is that the meeting that you've been referring to at which Mr. Kersh made a presentation?
A Yes.
Q And tell me in as much detail as you can what you recall about that presentation.
A I recall Mr. Kersh presenting each of the business lines of Sunbeam in some detail, what was included in those lines, discussions of margins, growth potential, activities from '97 through '98. It was -- it would be characterized as an investor relations presentation with forward looking information financially.
Q Did you or anyone from Coleman or MacAndrews & Forbes ask questions of Mr. Kersh?
A Yes.
Q Do you recall any of the questions that were asked?
A No.
Q Did Mr. Kersh address -- strike that.

Page 212

Did Morgan Stanley present any portion of the presentation?
A Not that I remember.
Q Did Mr. Kersh hand out written slides to accompany his presentation?
A I believe so.
Q Did Morgan Stanley hand out any written materials?
A Not that I remember.
Q What, if anything, did Mr. Kersh say about Sunbeam's performance in the first quarter of 1998?
A I don't recall.
Q I'm going to hand you what's previously been marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 84.
MR. BRODY: Thank you.
(Previously marked Exhibit MS 84 referenced herein.)
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Ask you to take a look at it.
A Okay.
Q Is Morgan Stanley Exhibit 84 a copy of the presentation that Mr. Kersh delivered?
A I believe it is.
Q Did Mr. Kersh present this page by page in terms of going through the items or was it more a summary

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 213

presentation?
A Page by page.
Q Do you recognize any of the handwriting on this copy, Morgan Stanley Exhibit 84?
A I do not.
Q Did Morgan Stanley comment in any way at that meeting on Mr. Kersh's presentation of Sunbeam's strategic plan?
A Not that I recall.
Q Did Morgan Stanley state at any point during your discussions that they had independently examined the audited financials of Sunbeam?
A I don't recall.
Q Was the -- what, if anything, did Mr. Kersh say about how Sunbeam expected 1998 earnings per share to come out?
A I don't recall.
Q Was that a topic that he addressed?
A Uh, I believe he did. It was in the presentation in the back.
Q Did you understand Mr. Kersh's projection of earnings per share for 1998 to be a guarantee?
A No. I remember Mr. Kersh making a statement that the street had a lower number that was on these forecasts.

Page 214

Q That the street was predicting a lower number?
A That's correct.
Q Mr. Kersh's presentation was a higher number?
A That's correct.
Q Was there any discussion about that?
A He just made it as a -- as a comment.
Q Was there any discussion -- any questions asked by Coleman or MacAndrews & Forbes about 1998 performance?
A I don't recall.
Q Did Mr. Kersh address in any way the turnaround that was underway at Sunbeam initiated by Mr. Dunlap?
A Not that I recall.
Q Did Mr. Kersh address grill revenue?
A Not that I remember.
MR. BRODY: Are you asking what he remembers or do you want him to look through the document for what was addressed or wasn't addressed?
MR. CLARE: I'm only asking for his recollection at this point.
MR. BRODY: Okay. Thanks.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q I'd like you to turn, please, to what is page Bates No. 4763, "Strategic Headlines" page. There is some sales figures referenced there at the bottom. What, if anything, do you recall Mr. Kersh saying about those sales figures?

Page 215

A I don't recall.
Q Did you understand that the 1998, 1999 and 2000 figures were estimates? Or projections?
A Yes.
Q And did those projections fall under the category of estimates that cannot reasonably be relied upon as a guarantee?
MR. BRODY: Object to the form. Legal conclusion. Argumentative.
Go ahead.
THE WITNESS: I would put more weight on these because they're coming from the company than I would from an analyst's presentation.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Did you interpret them to be a guarantee by Mr. Kersh or by Sunbeam that these figures would be achieved?
A Not a guarantee.
Q Did you interpret them to be a promise that the figures would not be lower than this?
A No.
Q Did Mr. Kersh ever state in words or in substance that Sunbeam stock would not decrease in value over time?

Page 216

A No.
Q Was it contemplated that Sunbeam stock would continue to trade publicly after the acquisition?
A Would Sunbeam continue to be a public corporation? Yes.
Q Was there any discussion of an early buy sales program?
A Not that I recollect -- recollect.
Q The next page of the presentation there is a reference to air and water documents -- air and water products, rather, in point No. 4.
A Yes.
Q You see some handwriting there?
A I do.
Q Hundred million in 1998. Do you know what that's referring to?
A I think -- I seem to remember Russ making -- when he was presenting this area, he was bullish on their household air purification, air water products.
Q And the impact that it would have on Sunbeam's performance?
A Yes.
Q Did you understand Mr. Kersh to be guaranteeing the positive impact of the air and water products?
A Guaranteeing, no.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016536

Page 217

Q I'd like you to turn, please, to the page bearing Bates No. 4771, describing long range strategic objectives, earnings from continuing operations. And there is a reference or a table here showing actual and strategic plan numbers for a variety of financial metrics. In the left-hand column, the top item is net sales. To the right of that is a handwritten note. It says, "January, February slow." Do you see that?
A I do.
Q Do you recall any discussion about sales in January or February of 1998 being slow?
A No.
Q Do you have any understanding as to what that's referring to?
A I do not.
Q Was there any discussion at that meeting that you attended about Sunbeam's performance to date in the first quarter of 1998?
A Not that I recall.
Q Was there any discussion about how Sunbeam's performance in the first quarter would compare to analyst estimates?
A Not that I remember.
Q Or to the prior year?
A Not that I remember.

Page 218

Q Did Morgan Stanley present any portion of this presentation, Morgan Stanley Exhibit 84?
A Not that I remember.
Q At the conclusion of the presentation, didn't Morgan Stanley make any remarks?
A Not that I recall.
Q What, if anything, did you do with Mr. Kersh's presentation after leaving the meeting?
A I don't recall what I did with it.
Q Did you use the presentation for any of the work that you did on the acquisition?
A Not that I recall.
Q Did you take any of the figures that were provided by Mr. Kersh in his presentation into your modeling or analysis of the presentation --
MR. BRODY: Object.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q -- of the acquisition?
MR. BRODY: Object to form. Mischaracterizes his testimony about what he did.
Go ahead.
THE WITNESS: I didn't model a combined transaction.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Did you take any of the figures presented by Mr. Kersh in his presentation for any purpose in connection with your work on the acquisition transaction?
MR. BRODY: Same objection.
THE WITNESS: Not that I recall.
MR. CLARE: Let's mark this as the next exhibit, please.
THE REPORTER: It's 111.
MR. BRODY: 111?
THE WITNESS: 111.
MR. BRODY: Thank you.
(Deposition Exhibit MS 111 was marked for identification by the court reporter.)
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Morgan Stanley 111 is another copy of the same presentation that we've just been looking at. This one was found in the file that was produced by your counsel to me at the beginning of the deposition today. There is some handwriting on this version, Morgan Stanley 111. Is that your handwriting?
A This is my handwriting.
Q Okay. I'd like to go through it and, to the best of your ability, please explain to me the handwritten entries. The first one, I believe, appears on the page titled "Sunbeam Appliances, Strategic Headlines."

Page 219

Page 220

A That's the one I have.
Q Okay. And do you see a reference there to the right of the title?
A 30 percent margin.
Q Do you know what that's referring to?
A Probably referring to the margin on that particular line of appliances.
Q Is that an in- -- information that was presented by Mr. Kersh?
A That would be my recollection.
Q And did Morgan Stanley present any information at that meeting or any other meeting about margins?
A Not that I recall.
Q Did you understand Mr. Kersh to be guaranteeing any level of margin on Sunbeam's products on a going forward basis?
A On a go-forward basis? No. I think that reference of 30 percent is on historical basis.
Q There is a reference to the left of the "blending and Mixing" entry. Do you see that?
A It says 50 cents per share. I don't know what that means. I don't recall.
Q On the next page there is another entry to 30 percent margin?
A Yes.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 221

Q Is that for the Health At Home line?
A That's correct.
Q Same questions, was that information presented by Mr. Kersh?
A Yes.
Q Did Morgan Stanley make any statement about margins for the Health at Home products?
A Not that I recall.
Q And, again, that was a description of historical --
A That would have been the question.
Q The next page relates to Personal Care and Comfort Bedding. 40 percent margin?
A 40 percent margin.
Q Is it the same?
A Same answers as before.
Q Okay.
A Historical, no from Morgan Stanley, and it was Russ.
Q No guarantees?
A No guarantees.
Q There is some circles with the sales figures at the bottom and some notes. I'm wondering if you can explain and interpret the handwriting for me?
A I think that my writing to the right is saying that they had a fourth quarter problem because they only had single and double bedding and not king and queens. So it caused them a little bit of a -- some type of issue in the fourth quarter. And that's all my interpretation would be.

Page 222

Q Okay. The next page. This is the --
A There is a note down by 169, and 120 of that 169 was bedding in the U.S. I'm -- don't know what that would have meant. The Clippers on the far right, that is differentiating Clippers, I believe, at retail versus -- I guess they had a professional haircutting line. This differentiates one from what's going to be coming up next.
Q Next page is "Outdoor Cooking"?
A Showing 10 percent margin '97, and it's also noting a 20 to 25 percent margin for '98.
Q And that was a projection made by Mr. Kersh about the margins?
A That's correct.
Q And did you understand Mr. Kersh to be guaranteeing that level of margin for the outdoor cooking products?
A No.
Q The next page "Strategic Headlines" for "Other Channels"?

Page 223

A Excuse me. I think my comment to the right is this has to do with lodging. They were going to sell irons, coffee makers, and hair dryers through a direct channel to hotel chains as a growth strategy and channel. And outlet stores, they had the professional clipper business. They were going to go through outlet stores. 21 -- 16 U.S., 5 Canada adds up to 21.
I'm now at the long range strategic objectives, earnings from continuing operation, and I think I was doing math from -- we asked him what his '96 base was of 984 million, and I think I was just doing the growth of revenue year to year. 180 million from '96 to '97. 450 million from '97 to '98. 400 million from '98 to '99. And 400 million from '99 to 2000. And I note on the very bottom under 2000 -- excuse me -- 1998, earnings per share of $2.20. I have marked street estimate where it says "street" $1.97.
Q Did Mr. Kersh present the street estimate?
A That's correct.
Q So he provided both figures during the presentation?
A Well, the ones that were written, we would have -- we would have asked -- someone asked the question, "What is the street estimate for '98?" Or he made a statement that the street estimate for '98 was less than what their internal forecasts were.

Page 224

Q Did he provide any explanation as to why the internal forecasts were higher than the street estimates?
A Not that I recall.
Q Did he provide any guarantee or promise that EPS would be higher than the street estimates?
A He was alluding that he believed that they were going to beat the street.
Q Did he make that promise or guarantee that Sunbeam would beat the street?
A He made a statement that he believed they were going to beat the street.
Q Did you interpret that as a promise or guarantee?
A No. I interpreted that as his estimate of what the performance of the company was going to be.
Q Did you in any of the work that you did on the acquisition transaction rely on Mr. Kersh's estimate of beating the street in thinking about the acquisition?
MR. BRODY: Object to the form. Mischaracterizes prior testimony.
Go ahead.
THE WITNESS: Not that I recall.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Did you discuss it with anyone at Coleman?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016538

Page 225

A Not that I recall.
Q Or MacAndrews & Forbes?
A Not that I recall.
Q Okay. Put that document aside.
Hand you what's been marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 85.
(Previously marked Exhibit MS 85 referenced herein.)
THE WITNESS: Okay.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Have you ever seen this document before?
A I think I saw one yesterday.
Q Okay.
A When it was presented to me by my lawyer.
Q Prior to preparing for your deposition, had you ever seen a copy of Morgan Stanley Exhibit 85 before?
A Not that I recall.
Q Was this document entitled "Sunbeam Corporation Discussion Materials February 1998," provided or presented during a meeting that you attended?
A Not that I remember.
Q If you had been provided with a copy of it, would you have kept it in the same place as you did the strategic plan presented by Mr. Kersh?
A Not necessarily.

Page 226

Q This is -- this document 85 is in the nature of a presentation. Do you recall any other presentations being made at the meeting other than the one Mr. Kersh gave?
A No.
Q I'd like you to turn, please, to the Bates No. ending 11220, "Sunbeam Corporation Investment Rationale."
A Okay.
Q Whether or not as part of a presentation or not, have you ever seen this slide before?
A Not that I remember.
Q During any of the meetings that you attended, did anyone from Morgan Stanley or Sunbeam describe Sunbeam as an attractive growth story?
A Not that I remember.
Q During any of the meetings that you attended, did anyone state in words or in substance that Sunbeam has undergone a profound transformation since the arrival of new management in July 1996?
A Not that I remember.
Q Or that Sunbeam has tremendous intrinsic value?
A Not that I remember.
Q Next line under that reference to intrinsic value talks about growth and profitability outpacing nearest competitors. Was there ever any discussion about

Page 227

Sunbeam outpacing its competitors in growth and profitability?
A Not that I remember.
Q Were any promises or guarantees made by Mr. Kersh at that meeting that you attended about growth and profitability?
A Well, he certainly talked about growth and profitability.
Q Those topics were discussed?
A Yes.
Q Were any promises or guarantees made about growth or profitability of Sunbeam on a going forward basis?
A No.
MR. BRODY: Object to the form.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q I'm sorry. The answer was?
A No.
Q Do you recall this slide being discussed or presented in any of the meetings that you attended?
A Not that I remember.
Q I'd like you to turn, please, to the slide ending 1226. Was this slide discussed or presented at the meeting you attended?
A Not that I recall.

Page 228

Q Do you recall Sunbeam -- either Mr. Kersh or anyone else -- preside -- providing estimates or projections of performance for 1998 and 1999 based on an Oppenheimer research report as reflected here?
A Not that I recall.
Q I'd like you to turn to the next page, please. Same questions. Have you seen that slide before? Was it presented at the meeting?
A Not that I remember.
Q I'd like you to turn to the slide page 1231, please. Do you recall this slide being presented or discussed at the meeting?
A Not that I recall.
Q Did Mr. Kersh address growth objectives for Sunbeam during the meeting?
A He talked about growth. He presented growth targets for Sunbeam. Yes.
Q Did you understand those targets to be promises or guarantees?
A No.
Q There is a reference here in the first bullet point of doubling 1996 sales to almost two billion by 1999 without acquisitions. Was that topic discussed at the meeting that you attended?
A Not that I recall.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016539

Page 229

Q Or the tripling of international sales?
A International sales generically was discussed, but not tripling that I can recall.
Q The next bullet point refers to an operating margin objective of at least 20 percent. Do you recall that topic being discussed?
A I don't.
Q Or a 25 percent return on equity?
A I don't recall.
Q Or a free cash flow of 600 million?
A I don't recall.
Q Do you understand -- withdrawn. Strike that. Set that document aside.
Is there anything else about the meeting that you attended where Mr. Kersh gave his presentation that you remember that we haven't discussed?
A No. I think we've covered most of it.
Q Have we covered all of it or most of it?
A We've covered everything I can remember.
Q Okay. Thank you.
What is the next event that you remember related to the acquisition?
A Well, there was a board meeting and I remember a presentation, and Coopers & Lybrand individuals in Wichita, Kansas. Those would be the other events that I recall surrounding the acquisition.

Page 230

Q I'm going to hand you what's been marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 88, minutes from a board meeting of The Coleman Company dated February 25th, 1998. You're shown as an attendee.
(Previously marked Exhibit MS 88 referenced herein.)
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Have you ever seen these board minutes before?
A Only in preparation for this deposition.
Q The Exhibit Morgan Stanley 88 purports to be minutes of a meeting of the board of directors of Coleman in February -- on February 25th, 1998 in New York. Do you recall attending a board meeting of Coleman in New York?
A Yes, I do.
Q Where did Coleman hold its board meetings on -- normally?
A They normally were held at the townhouse, which is on 62nd Street.
Q And you're referring to the MacAndrews & Forbes townhouse?
A That's correct.
Q And that was the ordinary place of board meetings for Coleman even before this acquisition?

Page 231

A All the ones that I've attended were at the board room at MacAndrews & Forbes.
Q In New York?
A In New York.
Q What do you recall about the board meeting that you attended?
A A general discussion of the potential acquisition of Sunbeam acquiring Coleman.
Q Do you recall attending more than one board meeting on the -- on the acquisition?
A I only really remember one.
Q Did you speak at the board meeting that you attended?
A I don't believe so.
Q Did anyone from Morgan Stanley attend the meeting that you remember?
A Not that I recall.
Q Did anyone from Morgan Stanley participate in the meeting even if they didn't participate in person?
A Not that I recall.
Q No one from Morgan Stanley plugged in by telephone call?
A Not that I recall.
Q Or videoconference?
A No.

Page 232

Q Was any written material made available to the board of directors or the participants that was attributed to Morgan Stanley?
A Not that I remember.
Q I'd like you to turn -- well, please, just -- the first page indicates that Mr. Levin called the meeting to order and asked Mr. Isko to serve as the secretary of the meeting. Mr. Isko is a name we've seen before. He was in the law department at Coleman?
A At that time, yes.
Q And he was the assistant secretary of the corporation?
A I knew him as a lawyer in the law department.
Q Did -- was it Mr. Isko's practice to circulate drafts of the board minute meetings for comment among the participants?
MR. BRODY: Object to form.
Go ahead.
THE WITNESS: Not usually.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Turning to the second page of Morgan Stanley Exhibit 88, the middle or third paragraph on the page, I'd like you to read that to yourself, please.
A Okay.
Q It describes a presentation made by Mr. Maher

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0165540 about the history of the proposed transaction with Sunbeam. What do you recall about Mr. Maher's presentation?

A I don't recall his presentation.

Q Do you recall Mr. Levin making remarks about the -- the acquisition?

A I do not recall.

Q There is a reference here to an inquiry made by the company to another potential bidder who was not interested. Do you recall that being discussed at the board meeting?

A I recall another company, but I can't remember who it was.

Q Were you part of the inquiry that was made to that other company?

A No.

Q Who handled those communications?

A It wasn't me, so I wouldn't know.

Q That paragraph refers to numerous questions being asked about the transaction and a discussion. Do you recall any of the questions that were asked by the board members about the transaction?

A I don't.

Q Or any of the directors?

A I don't.

Q Did you recall Morgan Stanley being mentioned or referenced at all during the board meeting?

A Not that I recall.

Q Turn to the next page, please. Well, I guess it's the next paragraph on -- on the same page we were looking at, on page 2 of the exhibit. It describes a presentation by Mr. Emmerich. Do you recall Mr. Emmerich's presentation?

A No, I don't recall it.

Q He described the overall structure of the acquisition. Do you recall any questions that were asked of Mr. Emmerich?

A I don't.

Q Do you recall any discussion about the tax treatment of the acquisition?

A I don't recall.

Q The next page, page 3 of the exhibit, again refers to questions -- numerous questions being asked by the directors regarding the consideration being paid, the structure of the transaction and the other terms of the transaction. Do you recall any of the questions that were asked or discussions that followed Mr. Emmerich's presentation?

A I do not.

Q Turn to the next page. The second full paragraph. Mr. Levin introduced Mr. Gordon Rich of First Boston. Do you recall Mr. Rich making a presentation?

A I recall him making a presentation, yes.

Q What do you recall about his presentation?

A Just that he was giving --

THE REPORTER: I'm sorry? He was giving --

THE WITNESS: Giving a fairness opinion.

THE REPORTER: Thank you.

BY MR. CLARE:

Q You may be confusing different meetings and different presentations. I think we'll see in a few minutes that a fairness opinion was given by Mr. Rich at a meeting that took place two days later.

A Okay.

Q So do you recall Mr. Rich on the 25th giving any sort of presentation about the transaction?

A I don't recall.

Q Do you recall Mr. Rich discussing or mentioning Morgan Stanley during this presentation?

A I don't recall.

Q Turn to the top of the next page, please. And read that first paragraph to yourself, which is at the top of page 5 of Morgan Stanley Exhibit 88.

A Okay.

Q Did Mr. Rich present a conclusion to the board of directors of Coleman that Sunbeam stock was fairly valued at the then existing market price?

A I think that's what the paragraph says.

Q Do you recall him doing that?

A No, I don't.

Q It describes an analysis performed by CSFB to reach that conclusion. Do you recall anything that was said about how that analysis was performed?

A I don't recall.

Q Three paragraphs down from that, there is a reference to the Management Incentive Plan and a discussion about an earnings per share condition not having been satisfied. Do you recall that topic being discussed at the board meeting?

This is in the paragraph that begins, "Mr. Levin thanked Mr. Rich . . ."

A Okay. I read it.

Q Do you recall that issue?

A I don't.

Q Do you recall, as indicated in the bottom section of that page, the board approving the payment of bonuses notwithstanding the satisfying -- the sat- -- the conclusion being satis- -- condition being satisfied?

A I don't.

Q Did you receive a bonus pursuant to the

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 237

Management Incentive Plan for 1997?
A Yes.
Q And pursuant to this resolution reflected here?
A I can't recall.
Q Do you recall how much that bonus payment was?
A It wasn't a large amount. But it was paid after I had left Coleman.
Q Can you give me an order of magnitude?
A 20- to 25,000.
Q Okay. You can put that document aside. Mark this as the next one, please.
THE REPORTER: 112.
(Deposition Exhibit MS 112 was marked for identification by the court reporter.)
THE WITNESS: Okay.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Have you ever seen this exhibit, Morgan Stanley 112 before? It's a February 25th, 1998 "Materials Prepared For Board of Directors of Coleman Company."
A I remember some of it.
Q Do you recall this presentation being given by Mr. Rich to the board of directors?
A Vaguely.
Q At the meeting that you attended?
A Yes.

Page 238

Q Did anyone other than Mr. Rich from CSFB speak, to your recollection?
A I don't remember.
Q At any point during the board of directors meeting, did anyone provide the board with the estimates -- the higher estimates that Mr. Kersh had presented during the meeting?
A Not that I remember.
Q I'd like you to turn, please, to slide 12 of Morgan Stanley Exhibit 112, Bates numbered 1231. It's titled "Overview of Sunbeam." Do you see at the bottom right-hand corner there is a financial summary provided for the 1996, '97 and 1998 -- 1999 -- estimates for '88 (sic) and '89 (sic). Do you see that?
A I do.
Q Do you see the footnote indicates that the estimates are based on Wall Street estimates?
A Yes.
Q And it was your recollection that the Wall Street estimates were lower than the figures that Mr. Kersh had presented?
A That's correct. That's what Mr. Kersh said.
Q Do you remember -- and that's consistent with your recollection of what --
A That's true. I did not go back and independently verify his comments.

Page 239

Q Was there any discussion at the board meeting of Sunbeam's having projected higher numbers than what Wall Street was estimating?
A Not that I remember.
Q Look at the next page of the document. the "Valuation Summary," slide 13. There's a discounted cash flow analysis presented under the long term strategic plan and also a base case. Do you recall CSFB presenting alternate analyses to the board?
A I don't recall.
Q Do you recall any discussion from the board about the differences between the base case -- what is described here as the base case and what is described here as the long term strategic plan case?
A No.
Q Turn to the next page, please, which is a detail on the discounted cash flow analysis. You see the base case line has a footnote, note 1, which states, "Projections developed in conjunction with CLN management based on equity analyst research."
Do you recall any discussion about how the base case presented to the Coleman board was arrived at?
A I do not.
Q Were you consulted or provide any input on a base case for presentation to the Coleman board?

Page 240

A Not that I remember.
Q Do you have an understanding as to what the equity analyst research referred to in that footnote relates to?
A I do not.
Q Were you ever asked by CSFB to comment on equity analyst research reports providing estimates for Sunbeam on a going forward basis?
A Not that I remember.
Q Would you turn to slide 18, please, "Pro Forma Analysis." Do you recall Mr. Rich or anyone from CSFB presenting to the board a $100,000,000 pretax synergy scenario?
A Not that I remember.
Q Do you recall any discussions of synergies with the Coleman board?
A Not that I remember.
Q Was there any discussion at the Coleman board that you remember about the value of Sunbeam stock?
A Not that I recall.
Q Any projections on a going forward basis about what CSFB or others believed that the stock might be worth?
A Not that I remember.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016542

MR. CLARE: Mark this as 113.
(Deposition Exhibit MS 113 was marked for identification by the court reporter.)
BY MR. CLARE:
Q I've handed you what's been marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 113. These are minutes of the meeting of the board meeting The Coleman Company held on Friday, February 27th, 1998, again at 35 East 62nd Street in New York. Do you recall attending this meeting?
A I think they both have blurred together in my mind.
Q Having reviewed now these two different board minutes, do you recall there being two separate meetings? Does that refresh your recollection?
A No.
Q At -- do you recall anyone from Morgan Stanley attending the meeting or meetings that you remember?
A I do not.
Q You're shown as a participant or at least as an attendee of the meeting here. Do you have any reason to believe that you did not attend both meetings?
A I believe I was in attendance at both meetings.
Q The paragraph at the bottom of the first page reflects Mr. Levin updating the board on the status of negotiations and describing a modification to the exchange ratio that had been presented a day or two earlier. Do you recall any discussion about that topic?

A I do not.
Q Do you recall the reasons for the cash component of the consideration being increased?
A I do not.
Q Do you recall any discussion at any -- either of the board meetings expressing a desire on the part of the board or any board member to receive less Sunbeam stock as part of the consideration?
A I do not.
Q Did anyone from Morgan Stanley attend the February 27th board meeting?
A Not that I remember.
Q Did anyone from Morgan Stanley participate in the February 27th board meeting by telephone or videoconference?
A Not that I remember.
Q Look at page 2 of Exhibit -- Morgan Stanley Exhibit 113, the third paragraph from the bottom, reflects Mr. Rich delivering a fairness opinion on behalf of CSFB. Do you see that?
A I do.
Q Do you recall Mr. Rich giving that opinion?
A Yes, I do.

Q What, if anything, do you recall about Mr. Rich's presentation of the fairness opinion?
A Other than he said it was a fair transaction, it was a fair --
Q Was there any questions put to Mr. Rich or discussion about that?
A Not that I recall.
Q Was there any discussion about the work that had been performed by CSFB to reach that conclusion?
A Not that I remember.
Q Did Morgan Stanley's name come up at all in connection with the discussion of fairness of the consideration?
A Not that I remember.
Q Did Morgan Stanley render or provide any fairness opinion to the Coleman board?
A Not that I remember.
Q Or any opinion on any topic?
A Not that I remember.
THE REPORTER: I need another paper change.
MR. CLARE: Oh. Go ahead.
THE REPORTER: Okay. Thank you.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q At the board meeting that you recall attending, did the board of directors approve the proposed acquisition?

A Yes.
Q Was there any discussion that the board had relied upon Morgan Stanley in approving the transaction?
A Not that I recall.
Q At the conclusion of the board meeting, did somebody go sign the merger agreement on behalf of The Coleman Company?
A I don't remember.
Q Certainly wasn't you?
A Wasn't me.
Q Was there any discussion or conversations that you had with any of the participants after the board meeting about the transaction?
A Not that I remember.
Q Did you, after the definitive agreement was signed, play any part in the issuance of Sunbeam convertible debentures?
A Could you --
Q Sure.
A -- ask that question again?
Q Did you play any role or review any materials relating to Sunbeam's issuance of convertible debentures after the agreement was signed?
A No.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 245

Q Did you read any of the offering materials related to that offering?
A Not that I remember.
Q Did you attend any of the road shows related to that offering?
A No.
Q Do you recall Morgan Stanley and other banks making inquiries of Coleman during the time period between the definitive agreement and the closing?
A Not that I remember.
Q Do you recall making a presentation to Morgan Stanley and First Union Bank about Coleman and its business?
A What time frame?
Q Well, any time frame.
A Not that I remember.
Q Do you recall presenting Coleman's 1998 plan to Sunbeam's lenders?
A Not that I remember.
On your prior question about Morgan Stanley presentations, they could have been in attendance at an investor relations meeting so I could have talked to an investor -- a analyst for Morgan Stanley at some point. I just don't recall.
Q But not in the context of a specific session?

Page 246

A Not in -- not in context of a specific session and not in the context of this transaction.
MR. CLARE: Let's mark this as the next exhibit, please. 114.
THE REPORTER: 114.
(Deposition Exhibit MS 114 was marked for identification by the court reporter.)
THE WITNESS: Okay.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q All right. Do you recognize this document, Morgan Stanley Exhibit 114?
A I don't.
Q Do you see on the first page and other pages of the document there are multiple fax lines dated March 13th, 1998?
A I do.
Q And that was a time period when you were still with Coleman, correct?
A That's correct.
Q And one of the fax entries here is a fax from your machine, at least it bears your name --
A That's correct.
Q -- and your fax number?
A That's correct.
Q And then the other fax line is to a New York telephone fax with the entry MS NY IBD. Do you see that?

Page 247

A I do.
Q Do you recall sending or any presentation to Morgan Stanley or transmitting it to somebody else for transmittal to Morgan Stanley in the March 1998 time period?
A I don't.
Q Do you recall presenting by telephone the information contained in this slide?
A I don't recall.
Q Do you recall being asked by Mr. Levin or making a -- having a conversation with Mr. Levin to Morgan Stanley and First Union?
A Not that I recall.
Q I'd like you to turn, please, to page 4529. Talks about The Coleman Brand. And the bottom two bullet points. First one reads, "History of innovation and technological improvement." Do you see that?
A I do.
Q Do you understand that statement to be making a promise or guarantee about future innovation or technological improvement?
A I actually think it says, "History of innovation" so that's not -- no, I would not.
Q And "significant market positions," do you understand that to be making any guarantees about future market position?

Page 248

A No.
Q Do you recall -- whether or not you recall this particular compilation, do you recall presenting any of these slides in any context?
A These are familiar slides that we would make in a normal presentation to potential investors or analysts that would be interested in Coleman background material on companies that we're restructuring. Those appears to be ones that we would have used time and time again.
Q Okay. You don't recall providing the standard presentation to Morgan Stanley at any point?
A I just don't recall.
Q Look at the slide 4536 near the back entitled "Revenue/EBITDA/Capital." Do you see that?
A Right. Yes.
Q And is this slide part of the presentation that would be made to potential investors?
A Potentially. But I don't know if it would include future.
Q You're referencing the "Plan 1998" column?
A That's correct.
Q Would that be unusual to present that?
A To an investor it would be.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016544

Page 249

Q It would be?
A It would be.
Q Why -- why would that information be omitted in presenting to an -- investors?
A Forward looking information. Selective disclosure issues.
Q Have you ever presented -- do you recall ever presenting Coleman's 1998 plan to any potential investor or third party?
A I don't recall.
Q When -- do you understand Coleman to be making a guarantee or promise that it will meet these 1998 plan numbers for revenue, EBITDA and capital as reflected here on the slide?
A No.
Q That's because they are forward looking statements?
A That's correct.
Q And for the reasons that you described earlier, it would not be reasonable for a third party to rely on them as a guarantee of future performance?
A Not a guarantee.
MR. BRODY: Object to the form.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q I'm sorry?

Page 250

A Not a guarantee.
Q Did you know as of the middle of March 1998 that Coleman's -- strike that.
Turn to the next to -- third to the last page, slide 4540. Slide entitled 1998 Growth Strategy. Is this a slide that would have been part of the typical investor -- investment package?
A Yes.
Q Is the growth strategy here -- presented here a statement of Coleman's growth objectives?
A Um, I believe it would be strategies.
Q Okay. Are these guarantees or promises that Coleman will accomplish these strategies?
A Guarantees, no.
Q This is management's estimation of what they're attempting to accomplish?
A It's management's --
MR. BRODY: Object to form.
THE WITNESS: Management's plan for the upcoming year.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Would it be reasonable for a third party to rely on these objectives as a promise or guarantee that they would be achieved?
A No.

Page 251

MR. BRODY: Object to form.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q No?
A No.
Q Put that aside.
Do you recall in the period of time between the definitive agreement and the closing that Sunbeam issued a press release about its first quarter 1998 sales?
A Yes.
Q And what do you recall about that release?
A Thought it was a downward adjustment to the guidance it had given previously.
Q Were you part of any discussions internally at Coleman or MacAndrews & Forbes about that press release?
A Before it went out?
Q No. After it was received.
A I may have had some discussions with my internal staff.
Q What -- tell me everything you remember about those conversations.
A Just that they had issued a press release as they were guiding down their -- their quarter, and that would be about the extent of it.
Q No discussions with Mr. Levin?
A Not that I remember.

Page 252

Q Or anyone at MacAndrews & Forbes?
A Not that I remember.
Q Did you ask anyone at Sunbeam about the downward adjustment?
A No.
Q Did you ask anyone at Morgan Stanley about the press release?
A Not that I remember.
Q Did you ask -- all right. Let me -- withdrawn.
Are you aware of anyone at Coleman or MacAndrews & Forbes making an inquiry to Sunbeam about that press release?
A Not that I remember.
Q Are you aware of anyone at Coleman or MacAndrews & Forbes asking Morgan Stanley about that press release?
MR. BRODY: Objection. Foundation.
THE WITNESS: Not that I remember.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Did Coleman or MacAndrews & Forbes ask CSFB to look into the implications of it?
MR. BRODY: Objection. Foundation.
THE WITNESS: Not that I know of.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Or Wachtell, Lipton?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 253

MR. BRODY: Same.
THE WITNESS: Not that I know of.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Was there any discussion internally that you were a part of about exercising the material adverse change clause in the agreement?
A Not in my presence.
Q Are you aware of any of those discussions?
A No.
Q Or any discussions about approaching Sunbeam with a request to delay the closing of the transaction until after the end of the first quarter?
A Not that I remember.
Q Any discussions at all internally at Coleman or MacAndrews & Forbes about the implications of Sunbeam's announcement for the transaction?
A Not that I remember.
Q Or with any third party?
A Not that I remember.
Q And the conversations that you had with your staff, did they relate to the -- well, what was the purpose of those discussions?
A Just to give them information that there had been a press release, that we knew that Sunbeam was on the road, that obviously it had impact on their lives because if the acquisition would have gone through, they would have been impacted since they were corporate staff members and probably would be redundant. So they probably had a personal interest and a professional interest. So I would have taken it upon myself to make sure that they had seen that.

Page 254

Q Are you aware of any other discussions or inquiries that were made in the days after the March 1998 press release issued by Sunbeam?
A Not that I can recall.
Q Did you ever have any discussions with Mr. Perelman about the acquisition?
A Not that I can remember. We obviously would have had interchanges potentially at board meetings, but nothing I can recall correctly.
Q Any discussions other than at board meetings?
A Not that I remember.
Q Do you know who attended the closing for Coleman?
A No.
Q Do you know where the shares of Coleman were exchanged for the consideration?
A No.
MR. CLARE: Mark this as the next. Actually, I think we've already got this one marked.

Page 255

MR. BRODY: I can't see it, but it looks like it has a sticker on it.
MR. CLARE: It does. I was just looking at the date. Yes, it does. I want to make sure it's the right litigation. Thanks.
Mr. Page, I've handed you what's been marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 11, a copy of a press release issued by Sunbeam on March 19th, 1998.
(Previously marked Exhibit MS 11 referenced herein.)
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Is this the press release that you remember?
A Yes.
Q Is this the one we've been discussing for the last few minutes?
A Yes.
Q There is a statement in the press release stating Sunbeam's expectation that first quarter 1998 net sales would exceed the first quarter of 1997 sales. Do you see that?
A Yes, I do.
Q Do you recall any discussion with anyone about that statement in the press release?
A No.
Q Would you classify that as a forward looking statement?

Page 256

A Yes.
MR. BRODY: I'm sorry. Object to the form.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Do you understand that to be a promise or a guarantee that first quarter 1998 sales would exceed first quarter 1997 sales?
MR. BRODY: Object to the form.
THE WITNESS: I think it's getting closer to a promise. Not a guarantee.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q How is it getting closer to a promise?
A Because you're in the mid part of the month of March and you should have at that point, with two and a half of three months completed, a pretty good idea what the quarter should be.
Q Did you in any of the work that you did rely upon that forward looking statement?
MR. BRODY: Object to form.
THE WITNESS: No.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Were you -- do you recall any discussion about that with anyone at Coleman or MacAndrews & Forbes?
A Not that I recall.
Q Handing you what's been marked as Morgan

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0165476

Page 257

Stanley Exhibit 58. Again, the first page is a fax cover sheet. The attachment that I'm going to ask you about is a press release by Sunbeam dated April 3rd, 1997.

A Okay.

(Previously marked Exhibit MS 58. referenced herein.)

BY MR. CLARE:

Q Did you see or hear about this press release issued by Sunbeam?

A In advance or after?

Q Either.

A Not in advance. I certainly read it.

Q After it was issued?

A Yes.

Q Any discussion at Coleman or MacAndrews & Forbes about it?

A I don't believe I was at Coleman any longer. So no to Coleman. And MacAndrews & Forbes I can't recall.

Q What -- so you don't recall any discussions about this with anybody?

A That's correct.

MR. BRODY: 115?

THE REPORTER: 115.

(Deposition Exhibit MS 115 was marked for identification by the court reporter.)

Page 258

BY MR. CLARE:

Q I've handed you Morgan Stanley Exhibit 115, the Sunbeam release dated May 11th, 1998.

A Okay.

Q Do you recall seeing or hearing about this earnings release?

A No.

Q You don't recall it?

A No.

Q What is the next thing or event that you recall hearing about the Sunbeam/Coleman acquisition?

A The next event would have been when the Barron's article came out. I was contacted by somebody at MacAndrews & Forbes to give my reaction to the Barron's article.

Q Who contacted you?

A Probably was Will Nesbitt.

Q And tell me about that conversation.

A Just that it had come out and they were looking at it and wanted to run by me some of their thoughts on that -- that article.

Q What were their thoughts?

A It was just a -- it was in my file, I believe.

MR. BRODY: Okay. We may be getting into an area that touches on a privileged communication. Why don't you lay some foundation for the communication.

Page 259

BY MR. CLARE:

Q The first conversation you had was with Mr. Nesbitt?

A Yes.

Q Was anybody else on the line?

A No.

Q Okay. What did Mr. Nesbitt say to you?

A He said the Barron's article came out and that it was -- he had sent me the article, and said just to look at it and I did.

Q Had you seen it before Mr. Nesbitt sent it to you?

A No.

Q And you read it?

A Yes.

Q And then what was next -- what happened next?

A I can't recall.

Q Did you have any other conversations about the Barron's article?

A I'm sure I did.

Q With whom?

A Will.

Q Was he the only person?

Page 260

A That's all I can remember.

Q Okay. And what further conversations did you have with Mr. Nesbitt?

A Just the nature of some of the items that were contained in the article about Sunbeam's operations.

Q And what specifically?

A Nothing I can remember specifically.

Q For what purpose did you understand Mr. Nesbitt to be making this inquiry?

A He was trying to understand what parts of the Barron's article that had any impact on the operations of Sunbeam.

Q And did Mr. -- did you discuss with Mr. Nesbitt -- what views did you present to Mr. Nesbitt?

A That I wasn't aware of -- wasn't aware of the article and couldn't add much guidance on the article that was in Barron's.

Q Any other discussions about the Barron's article with anyone else?

A No.

Q Did Mr. Nesbitt say in words or in substance that MacAndrews & Forbes had been misled by Sunbeam?

A Not that I recall.

Q Do you recall anyone from MacAndrews & Forbes ever stating that to you in words or in substance?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

A Not that I recall.
Q Did Mr. Nesbitt or anyone from MacAndrews & Forbes ever tell you in words or in substance they believed that Morgan Stanley had misled them?
A Not that I recall.
Q What's the next event that you remember?
A That's it.
Q Do you recall Mr. Dunlap being -- an announcement that Mr. Dunlap had been fired?
A Yes.
Q And do you recall what were -- any discussions about that?
A No. No discussions.
Q Were -- did anyone contact you in the aftermath of Mr. Dunlap's firing about next steps?
A No.
Q Were you ever approached to take a position at Sunbeam?
A No. No position was ever offered to me at Sunbeam.
Q Was it ever discussed with you?
A Jokingly, since I lived in California and Sunbeam was in Florida.
Q Other than in a joking sense --

A No.
Q -- were there any discussions --
A No.
Q -- about that?
A I had moved on to Panavision at that point so I was actively involved in the operations of Panavision.
Q And at what point again did you join Panavision?
A Just after the -- Panavision transaction closed just after the Coleman acquisition closed. And so there was a period where -- I think there was a couple of weeks between the two of them, and then I would have -- I went in residence at Panavision and then sometime thereafter became an officer of Panavision.
Q Was there ever a discussion -- were you ever part of any discussion where there was a link established between the sale of Coleman and the Panavision acquisition?
A No.
Q After you joined Panavision, did you have any further involvement or discussion relating to Sunbeam or Coleman?
A Not that I can recall.
Q Were you part of discussions between MacAndrews & Forbes and Sunbeam in which MacAndrews & Forbes sought to rescind the transaction?

A No.
Q Were you aware that those discussions were underway?
A No.
Q Were you aware that MacAndrews & Forbes settled -- reached a settlement with Sunbeam?
A No.
Q You didn't play any role in the negotiation of the settlement?
A No.
Q Any role in valuing the settlement?
A No.
Q Have you done any work with or for Sunbeam since Mr. Levin has taken control?
A No.
Q When was the last time you spoke with Mr. Levin?
A Well over a year ago.
Q Have you ever spoken with Mr. Levin about litigation arising out of the acquisition?
A No.
Q Anyone at MacAndrews & Forbes about that?
A Steve Fasman with respect to this deposition.
Q Other than that one conversation?

A Barry Schwartz regarding this deposition.
Q Anything else?
A No.
Q After the closing of the acquisition transaction, did you attend any meeting or participate in any conversation with Bear Stearns regarding a proposal to hedge?
MR. BRODY: Objection. Asked and answered.
THE WITNESS: No.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q CSFB?
A No.
Q Citibank?
A No.
Q Anyone else?
A No.
Q Did you ever hear that topic discussed?
A Not that I rec- -- not that I recall.
Q Do you know why MacAndrews & Forbes did not pursue any proposal that was presented to hedge its investment in Sunbeam?
A No.
Q In 1997 and 1998, did you regard the -- Mr. Perelman as highly sophisticated in merger and acquisition transactions?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016548

Page 265

MR. BRODY: Object to the form.
THE WITNESS: Yes.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q And buying and selling companies?
A Yes.
Q In analyzing potential equity investments?
A Yes.
Q Did you in 1997 and 1998 regard Mr. Maher as highly sophisticated in merger and acquisition transactions?
MR. BRODY: Same objections.
THE WITNESS: Yes.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q In buying and selling companies?
A Yes.
Q And in analyzing potential equity investments?
A Yes.
Q In 1997 and 1998, did you regard Mr. Gittis as highly sophisticated in merger and acquisition transactions?
MR. BRODY: Object to form.
THE WITNESS: Yes.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q In buying and selling companies?
A Yes.

Page 266

Q And in analyzing potential equity investments?
A Yes.
MR. BRODY: It's a new one?
MR. CLARE: Yes.
THE REPORTER: 116.
(Deposition Exhibit MS 116 was marked for identification by the court reporter.)
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Handed you what's been marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 116. It's a document entitled "The Coleman Company, Inc. Analysis of Effects of Stock Option Exercises." Have you ever seen this document before?
A No.
Q Do you know what this document is presenting?
A No.
Q The time -- that fax line at the top of the page, May 6th, 1998, that was a time after you had left Coleman?
A That's correct.
Q You were no longer in residence at Wichita?
A That's correct.
Q Do you serve on the boards of any MacAndrews & Forbes companies?
A Currently?
Q Currently.

Page 267

A No.
Q Have you ever?
A Yes.
Q Which ones?
A Panavision.
Q Other -- other than Panavision?
A No.
Q What years were on the board of Panavision?
A '98 through 2000, I believe.
Q Did you join the board after the Coleman/Sunbeam acquisition had closed?
A Yes.
Q That was coincident with your joining Panavision?
A That's correct.
Q Did you ever speak with Mr. Nesbitt while he was in Italy regarding the Sunbeam/Coleman acquisition?
A Not that I recall.
Q Did you ever have occasion to speak with Mr. Maher while he was in Aspen related to the Sunbeam Coleman acquisition?
A Not that I recall.
Q Do you know if Mr. Maher has a home in Aspen?
A At some point he did. I don't know if he currently has one.

Page 268

Q Do you recall him having a home in Aspen at the time the acquisition transaction was under consideration?
A I can't recall.
MR. CLARE: Why don't we just take five minutes and see if we're done or close to being done?
MR. BRODY: Okay.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Going off the record. The time is 6:44 p.m.
(Recess.)
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Back on the record. The time is 6:50 p.m.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q Mr. Page, other than the meetings and telephone conversations that we've discussed today, do you recall any other meeting or telephone conversation relating to the Sunbeam acquisition of Coleman?
A No.
MR. CLARE: Those are all the questions that I have. Thank you for your time.
EXAMINATION
BY MR. BRODY:
Q Okay. Mr. Page, I just have a few questions to follow up.
Throughout today's deposition you were asked a number of questions about the work that you had done on the Coleman/Sunbeam transaction and, for example, whether you'd relied on certain information in that transaction and so on. What role did you play in the Sunbeam/Coleman transaction?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 269

A Purely as providing diligence material to the Sunbeam teams and answering questions regarding Coleman.
Q When you said "provided diligence materials to the Sunbeam team," that is information about Coleman?
A Yes.
Q Did you have anything to do with the decision of Coleman or MacAndrews & Forbes to do the deal?
A No.
Q Or the price for the deal?
A No.
Q Its terms?
A No.
Q Negotiation of any part of the deal?
A No.
Q In the work that you did, were you involved in looking at Sunbeam and its possible value?
A No.
Q You were asked a number of questions about the deal and meetings and events that happened to which you responded, "Not that I recall." What -- what do you mean by that expression?

Page 270

MR. CLARE: Object to the form of the question.
THE WITNESS: Meaning that I either cannot recall or wasn't -- that I could remember if any of that -- if I was a part of any of those discussions.
BY MR. BRODY:
Q Okay. So, for example, I know Mr. Clare asked you about various Sunbeam board meetings and whether certain things had been said there and you said, "Not that I recall." By that did you mean that it didn't happen?
MR. CLARE: Object to the form of the question. Leading.
THE WITNESS: Meaning that it could have happened, but I don't remember.
BY MR. BRODY:
Q Okay. I'm going to ask you about one exhibit and I'll use Exhibit 112 and just so you don't have to dig it out of the pile, I'll show you the copy that Mr. Clare gave to me. Exhibit 112 is the Draft Materials Prepared for the board of directors by CSFB --
A Yes.
Q -- bears a date February 25th, 1998. And I'm going to refer you to slide 14. Mr. Clare asked you about -- some questions about one case in that slide, but do you also see the description in there of the long range strategic plan?

Page 271

A Yes.
Q And the footnote for that slide -- excuse me -- for that line item, what does that refer to?
A It was the Sunbeam management projections from '98 and 2000, and the estimates for 2001 and 2002.
Q Were those -- focusing on the '98 through 2000 information, is that the information that Mr. Kersh presented to you and others on that meeting in February, perhaps the 23rd of February?
MR. CLARE: Objection.
THE WITNESS: It appears to be that.
MR. CLARE: No foundation.
MR. BRODY: Well, we can pull out the document.
MR. CLARE: No. My -- that wasn't my objection. My only objection was he didn't prepare this document.
MR. BRODY: Okay
Q But do you recognize those to be the same numbers?
A Yes.
Q Now, returning finally to that presentation of Mr. Kersh. Did -- do you recall Mr. Kersh presenting any negative information about the company sales at that meeting?

Page 272

A No.
Q Or any negative information about the company's earnings?
A No.
Q What impression did Mr. Kersh leave with you about the current year 1998?
A He was very upbeat about sales prospects and net income prospects of the company.
MR. BRODY: I have no further questions. Thank you.
MR. CLARE: I don't have anything further.
MR. BRODY: We will reserve signature.
MR. CLARE: Okay.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: Going off the record. The time is 6:54 p.m. This is the end of Tape 3. We have used a total of three tapes.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016550

I, JOSEPH P. PAGE, do hereby declare under penalty of perjury that I have read the foregoing transcript; that I have made any corrections as appear noted, in ink, initialed by me; that my testimony as contained herein, as corrected, is true and correct.

EXECUTED this _____ day of _____, 2004, at _____, _____.
(City) (State)

_____
JOSEPH P. PAGE

I, the undersigned, a Certified Shorthand Reporter of the State of California, do hereby certify:

That the foregoing proceedings were taken before me at the time and place herein set forth; that any witnesses in the foregoing proceedings, prior to testifying, were placed under oath; that a verbatim record of the proceedings was made by me using machine shorthand which was thereafter transcribed under my direction; further, that the foregoing is an accurate transcription thereof.

I further certify that I am neither financially interested in the action nor a relative or employee of any attorney of any of the parties.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have this date subscribed my name.

Dated: _____

_____
PAMELA J. FELTEN
CSR No. 5189

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016551

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016552

CONFIDENTIAL
CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER
MF 00001
CPH 1324756
16div-024697

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

DEPOSITION
EXHIBIT # 84
FOR ID TRN
4-8-04

Sunbeam®

Long Range Strategic Plan

016553

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CONFIDENTIAL

MF 00002

CPH 1324757

16div-024698

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Sunbeam

LONG RANGE STRATEGIC OBJECTIVES

1. Dominate core businesses globally (e.g., blenders, blankets, clippers, outdoor cooking, etc.).

2. Strengthen Sunbeam and Oster brands globally.

3. Continually introduce innovative and highly differentiated products globally.

4. Optimize worldwide supply chain.

5. Achieve industry leadership in customer service.

016554

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER
CONFIDENTIAL
MF 00003
CPH 1324758
16div-024699

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Sunbeam

LONG RANGE STRATEGIC OBJECTIVES

1) Dominate core businesses globally (e.g., blenders, blankets, clippers, outdoor cooking, etc.)

- Leverage our brand halo to further strengthen our image and reputation with the consumer, customer and investor, worldwide.
- Develop comprehensive Go-To-Market plans to drive worldwide activity.
- Sharpen international market focus to Latin America, Mexico, Venezuela, Japan, UK and Canada and tailor product bundles to the individual markets.
- Continue to be the consumer's first choice for innovative and differentiated solutions in both the value and premium segments of our core businesses.
- Deliver product to market better and faster than the competition.

555910 016555

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER
CONFIDENTIAL
MF 00004
CPH 1324759
16div-024700

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Sunbeam LONG RANGE STRATEGIC OBJECTIVES

2) Strengthen Sunbeam and Oster brands globally..

- Position and differentiate the Sunbeam and Oster brands globally with targeted marketing and advertising.
- Improve competitive positioning through core business focus on the consumer and technology:

  Sunbeam - Value and Innovation segments
  Oster - Quality and Performance segments

- Leverage Oster brand recognition in Latin America.
- Explore licensing opportunities. – need head of licensing

959910

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CONFIDENTIAL

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Sunbeam LONG RANGE STRATEGIC OBJECTIVES

3) Continually introduce innovative and highly differentiated products globally.

- Continue to develop highly differentiated products.
- Focus development resources on "Home Runs" (e.g., air and water). +5-10 million revenue cutoff
- Respond to and meet consumer needs better than the competition.
- Explore alternative uses for proprietary technology (i.e., utilize PTC wire technology to enter the heated carpet market). Lunch $10 Million Blankets Japan a China + Asia
- Continue to enhance the product development process and turn around.

LSS910

MF 00005

CPH 1324760

16div-024701

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Sunbeam LONG RANGE STRATEGIC OBJECTIVES

4) Optimize worldwide supply chain.

- Shift make versus buy mix from 70/30 to 50/50.
- Balance proximity of supplier, plant and customer locations to minimize logistical requirements and associated costs and accelerate delivery.
- Exploit cost savings opportunities associated with Asia Pacific economies via joint ventures and acquisitions.
- Simplify and standardize processes and practices.

CONFIDENTIAL MF 00006 CPH 1324761

16div-024702

859910

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER
CONFIDENTIAL
MF 00007
CPH 1324762
16div-024703

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Sunbeam. LONG RANGE STRATEGIC OBJECTIVES

5) Achieve industry leadership in customer service.

- Define and monitor customer satisfaction from forecasting to invoicing through Project Full Time.
- Fill distribution voids and achieve new product sell-in leveraging Full Time performance.
- Achieve preferred supplier status with joint partnering and 98% on time and in full shipments to key customers.
- Implement systems to track and resolve total quality issues incorporating ISO 9000 requirements.

016559

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER
CONFIDENTIAL
MF 00008
CPH 1324763
16div-024704

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Sunbeam APPLIANCES

Strategic Headlines

1. Strengthen Sunbeam and Oster trademarks globally.

2. Continually introduce a constant stream of consumer-driven new products concentrated in three focus areas:
   - Blending and Mixing
   - Smart Cooking
   - Everyday Best

#1 or #2 in each category BUD

3. Broaden distribution with existing customers. 30% GM

M.S.

$MM	1997	1998	1999	2000
U.S. Sales	288	356	430	480
% Increase	16%	24%	21%	12%

095910

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER
CONFIDENTIAL
MF 00009
CPH 1324764
16div-024705

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Sunbeam HEALTH AT HOME

Strategic Headlines

1. Leverage Sunbeam brand equity to become the category expert.
2. Expand the business to healthy environment (i.e., air and water) and home safety (e.g., emergency carbon monoxide or smoke notification, security alarms, first aid monitoring.)
3. Fill distribution voids and extend product seasons.
4. Use Air & Water to launch our core Health at Home product lines globally.

$MM	1997	1998	1999	2000
U.S. Sales	93	189	240	300
% Increase	7%	103%	27%	25%

100% of 1998

30% CM

199910

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Sunbeam. PERSONAL CARE & COMFORT - Bedding

Strategic Headlines

1. Advance technology advantage with continuous development of new wire technology (lower EMF) and electronic controls (solid state controls).

2. Launch new products that address consumer's safety concerns and provide heating comfort in places other than the bedroom.

3. Globalize the business focusing on high potential countries.

4. Increase household penetration by introducing new packaging and promoting the "Blanket with a Brain" concept.

$MM	1997	1998	1999	2000
U.S. Sales	169	227	260	300
% Increase	4%	34%	15%	15%

 Bedding & Clippers Together

CONFIDENTIAL
MF 00010
CPH 1324765
16div-024706

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER
CONFIDENTIAL
MF 00011
CPH 1324766
16div-024707

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Sunbeam PERSONAL CARE & COMFORT - Clippers and Other Personal Care

Strategic Headlines

1. Grow household penetration by focusing on high potential targets:
   - large and low income families
   - teens
   - African Americans
2. Introduce new products with better performance than the competition.
3. Grow business globally.
4. Enter new personal care categories leveraging our Sunbeam and Oster brand names.

$MM	1997	1998	1999	2000
U.S. Sales	169	227	260	300
% Increase	4%	34%	15%	15%

 Bedding & Clippers Together

570 GM
120
49 retail

595910

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER
CONFIDENTIAL
MF 00012
CPH 1324767
16div-024708

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Sunbeam OUTDOOR COOKING

Strategic Headlines

1. Continue to entrench GrillMaster as the dominant worldwide brand of grills and accessories/replacement parts.
2. Achieve category growth by promoting grilling in high-growth, high-profit segments. Address category negatives/barriers.
3. Dramatically increase the profit importance of GrillMaster and Outdoor Cooking to Sunbeam and the trade.
4. Develop outdoor cooking business globally, focusing on countries with high disposable income and high meat consumption.

$MM	1997	1998	1999	2000
U.S. Sales	297	341	390	420
% Increase	25%	15%	14%	8%

199910

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Sunbeam OTHER CHANNELS

Strategic Headlines

1. Away From Home
   - Bundle existing products to effectively grow lodging.
   - Expand beyond lodging into commercial food service.

2. Outlet Stores
   - Continue to expand in "A" locations.
   - Continue to serve as more profitable alternative channel for excess inventory.

$MM	1997	1998	1999	2000
U.S. Sales	65	111	135	150
% Increase	55%	71%	20%	15%

S95910

CONFIDENTIAL MF 00013 CPH 1324768

16div-024709

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Sunbeam INTERNATIONAL

Strategic Headlines

1. Focus on high growth areas where we can leverage Sunbeam and Oster brand names, such as Latin America, Canada, Southeast Asia.

2. Tailor product bundles to the individual markets (i.e., pick and choose product lines in the rest of the world).

3. Continue to develop license and distributor arrangements.

25 new ones last year 50M sales (loaded)

4. Minimize capital investment.

5. Globalize core business successes (i.e., blenders, clippers and blankets).

$MM	1997	1998	1999	2000
Int'l. Sales	240	360	529	734
% Increase	25%	50%	47%	39%

999910

CONFIDENTIAL MF 00014 CPH 1324769

16div-024710

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER
CONFIDENTIAL
MF 00015
CPH 1324770
16div-024711

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Sunbeam CHANGING COMPETITIVE DYNAMICS

- Reinvestable Returns Differentiates the Winners from the Losers.
  - Market Leaders are those who will invest in the business (i.e., New Products, Advertising, Working Capital).
    - Philips
    - KitchenAid
    - Sunbeam
    - Braun
    - Krups
    - Hamilton Beach / Proctor Silex
  - Other Companies will not remain competitive
    - Rival
    - National Presto
    - Mr. Coffee
    - Health O'Meter
    - Black & Decker
    - West Bend
- Sunbeam Maintains a Unique Global Position
  - No global competitor
  - No competitor in more than one category in the U.S./Abroad
  - Two strong global brands

L95910

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Sunbeam

LONG RANGE STRATEGIC OBJECTIVES - EARNINGS FROM CONTINUING OPERATIONS

	Actual	Long Range Strategic Plan
	1997	1998	1999	2000
Net Sales	$ 1,168	$ 1,600	$ 2,000	$ 2,400
Gross Margin	$ 331 28%	$ 511 32%	$ 640 32%	$ 773 32%
Selling, General and Administrative Expenses	$ 131 11%	$ 193 12%	$ 240 12%	$ 288 12%
Operating Profit	$ 200 17%	$ 318 20%	$ 400 20%	$ 485 20%
Other Income/Expense	$ 10	$ 12	$ 12	$ 12
Earnings From Continuing Operations	$ 190	$ 306	$ 388	$ 473
Income Taxes	$ 66	$ 107	$ 136	$ 165
Net Earnings From Continuing Operations	$ 124	$ 199	$ 252	$ 308
EPS	$ 1.41	$ 2.20	$ 2.75	$ 3.30

899910

CONFIDENTIAL MF 00016 CPH 1324771

16div-024712

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER
CONFIDENTIAL
MF 00017
CPH 1324772
16div-024713

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Sunbeam

LONG RANGE STRATEGIC OBJECTIVES - CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED BALANCE SHEET

	Actual	Long Range Strategic Plan
	1997	1998	1999	2000
Cash and Cash Equivalents	$ 52	$ 229	$ 396	$ 633
Receivables,Net	$ 296	$ 328	$ 400	$ 460
Inventories, Net	$ 256	$ 264	$ 309	$ 351
Other Current Assets	$ 54	$ 34	$ 39	$ 51
Total Current Assets	$ 658	$ 855	$ 1,144	$ 1,495
Property, Plant and Equipment, Net	$ 241	$ 274	$ 310	$ 355
Goodwill and Trademarks & Other	$ 221	$ 215	$ 208	$ 200
Total assets	$ 1,120	$ 1,344	$ 1,662	$ 2,050
Current Liabilities	$ 198	$ 213	$ 252	$ 295
Long Term Debt	$ 195	$ 195	$ 195	$ 195
Other Long Term Liabilities	$ 195	$ 199	$ 221	$ 249
Shareholders Equity	$ 532	$ 737	$ 994	$ 1,311
Total Liabilities and Shareholders Equity	$ 1,120	$ 1,344	$ 1,662	$ 2,050
Net Debt	$ 143	$ (34)	$ (201)	$ (438)

going from 25% to 20% depts increased w/ sales

225 M written in 1998 10M left

699910

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER
CONFIDENTIAL
MF 00018
CPH 1324773
16div-024714

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Sunbeam

LONG RANGE STRATEGIC OBJECTIVES - NET SALES GROWTH ANALYSIS

	Long Range Strategic Plan
	1998	1999	2000
Base Net Sales	$ 1,168	$ 1,600	$ 2,000
Domestic
New Products	227	165	145
New and Existing Channels	65	51	30
Price	20	15	20
Total Domestic	312	231	195
International
New Products	50	70	80
New Geography and Franchise Growth	70	99	125
Total International	120	169	205
Net Sales Plan	$ 1,600	2,000	$2,400

016570

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER
CONFIDENTIAL
MF 00019
CPH 1324774
16div-024715

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Sunbeam

LONG RANGE STRATEGIC OBJECTIVES - CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED STATEMENT OF CASH FLOW

	Actual	Long Range Strategic Plan
	1997	1998	1999	2000
Net Income, Continuing	$124	$199	$252	$308
Depreciation and amortization	$39	$54	$71	$83
Deferred Income Taxes	$58	$0	$5	$15
Change in Working Capital	($237)	($7)	($73)	($61)
Cash Flow from Operations	($16)	$246	$255	$345
Proceeds from Asset Sales	$91	$0	$0	$0
Capital Expenditures	($58)	($81)	($100)	($120)
Dividends	($3)	($3)	($3)	($3)
Proceeds from Exercised Options	$27	$15	$15	$15
Cash Flow before Debt Repayment	$41	$177	$167	$237
Net Debt	$143	($34)	($201)	($438)

165910

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016572

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

February 25, 1998

CONFIDENTIAL

Draft Materials Prepared for the Board of Directors

The Coleman Company, Inc.

CP 025958
CONFIDENTIAL

016573

CPH 1416194

16div-024717

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

The Coleman Company, Inc.

Preliminary Financial Terms of Transaction

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Terms	Description
Form of Transaction	"Two Step" Merger
Approximate Consideration Per CLN Share
Public	• 0.6258 SOC shares and $4.40 in cash for each CLN share (Taxable)
MacAndrews Consideration	Sell control of Coleman Worldwide (44.1mm CLN shares) in exchange for: • Assumption of First and Second Priority Notes ($496 million of accreted value 11/15/97; $525 million of accreted value 5/15/98) • 15.6 million SOC shares and $106 million in cash (Tax Free)

CP 025959
CONFIDENTIAL

CPH 1416195

16div-024718

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

The Coleman Company, Inc.

Key Transaction Multiples

NOT CERTIFIED COPY

Total Consideration to be Paid to CLN Shareholders
SOC Common Share Price	$40.625[1]
Shares To Be Issued	21.5mm
	$875mm
+ $27.50 x (16% x 34.2mm shares)	$146mm
+ Assumed Zero-Coupon Debt	$525mm
+ Net Consideration to Option Holders	$ 50mm[2]
"Common" Equity Value	$1,597mm
+ Net Debt	$440mm[3]
Adjusted Market Value	$2,037mm

(1) Based on SOC closing price as of 2/24/98.
(2) Difference between $29.82 (0.6258 SOC shares at $40.63 per SOC share plus $4.40 in cash) and average strike price of $15.14 on 3.3 million options.
(3) CLN Management estimates of 1997 Year-end Net Debt less $90 million of estimated after-tax proceeds from the sale of the safety and security products unit.
(4) Based on CLN closing prices through 2/24/98.
(5) $19.50 IPO Price adjusted for a 2-for-1 stock split.
(6) Management estimates including income from its safety and security products unit for three months.
(7) Premium to $29.82 (0.6258 SOC shares at $40.63 per share plus $4.40 in cash).

Relevant Statistics	Price	Premium[7]
▪ CLN Last Twelve Months High[4] (2/24/98)	$20 11/16	44.2%
▪ CLN Last Twelve Months Low[4] (1/27/98)	$12 1/2	138.6%
▪ % Premium to Current Stock Price (2/24/98)	$20 11/16	44.2%
▪ % Premium to IPO Price (2/26/92)	$9 3/4[5]	205.9%
▪ Adjusted Market Value
1997P EBITDA	$99	20.6x
1998E EBITDA	$164	12.4x
▪ Price as Multiple
1997 E.P.S.	$0.44	67.8x
1998E E.P.S.[6]	$1.18	25.3x

CP 025960
CONFIDENTIAL

CREDIT SUISSE | FIRST BOSTON

016575

CPH 1416196

16div-024719

The Coleman Company, Inc.

CLN Transaction Multiples

Valuation Sensitivity of SOC Proposal
(Dollars in Millions)

		SUNBEAM SHARE PRICE
		$34.00	$36.00	$38.00	$40.00	$42.00	$44.00
Implied Consideration for Public (0.6258 SOC Shares and $4.40 in Cash)		$25.68	$26.93	$28.18	$29.43	$30.68	$31.94
Common Equity Value		$1,439	$1,486	$1,533	$1,580	$1,628	$1,675
Net Debt[1]		440	440	440	440	440	440
Adjusted Value		$1,879	$1,926	$1,973	$2,021	$2,068	$2,115
Adjusted Value as a Multiple of:
1997P EBITDA[2]	$99	19.0x	19.5x	19.9x	20.4x	20.9x	21.4x
1998E EBITDA[2]	$164	11.5x	11.8x	12.1x	12.3x	12.6x	12.9x
Implied Consideration as a Multiple of:
1997 E.P.S.[3]	$0.44	58.4x	61.2x	64.0x	66.9x	69.7x	72.6x
1998E E.P.S.[3]	$1.18	21.8x	22.9x	23.9x	25.0x	26.1x	27.1x

(1) CLN Management estimate of 1997 Year-end Net Debt less $90 million of estimated after-tax proceeds from the sale of the safety and security products unit.
(2) Based on CLN Management estimates assuming the sale of the safety and security products unit.
(3) 1997 actual EPS. 1998E EPS based CLN Management estimates and includes income from the safety and security products unit for the first quarter.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

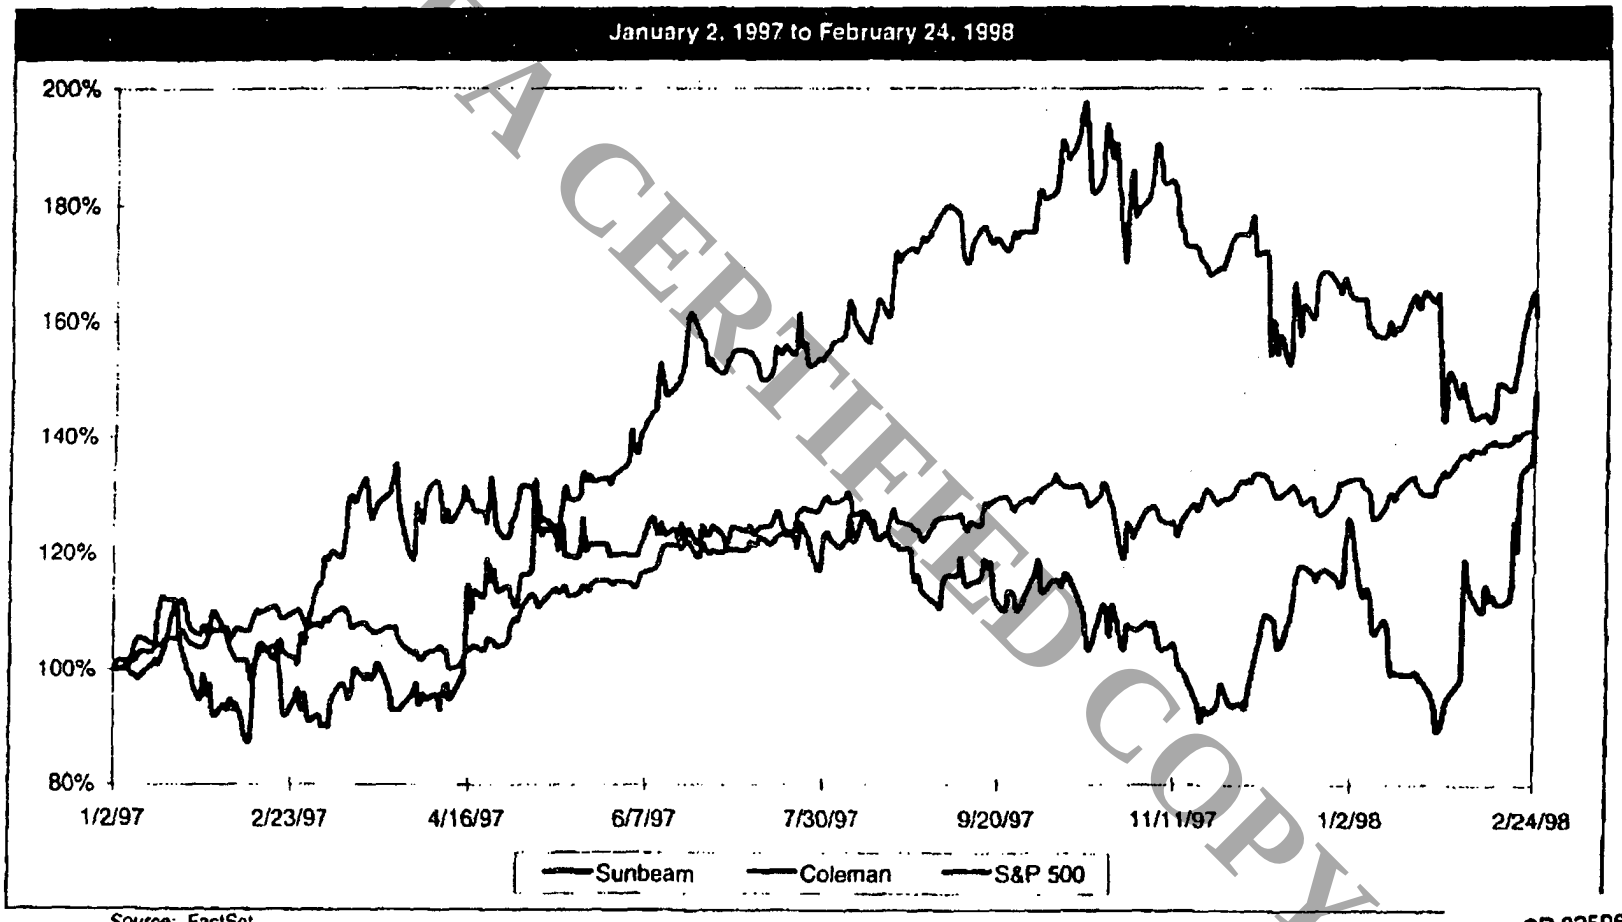
CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CREDIT SUISSE | FIRST BOSTON

CPH 1416197
16div-024720
9/59/0

The Coleman Company, Inc.

Indexed Share Price Performance



Source: FactSet.

CREDIT SUISSE | FIRST BOSTON

CP 025862
CONFIDENTIAL

W:\library\80520086.nyw/4

LL5910

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

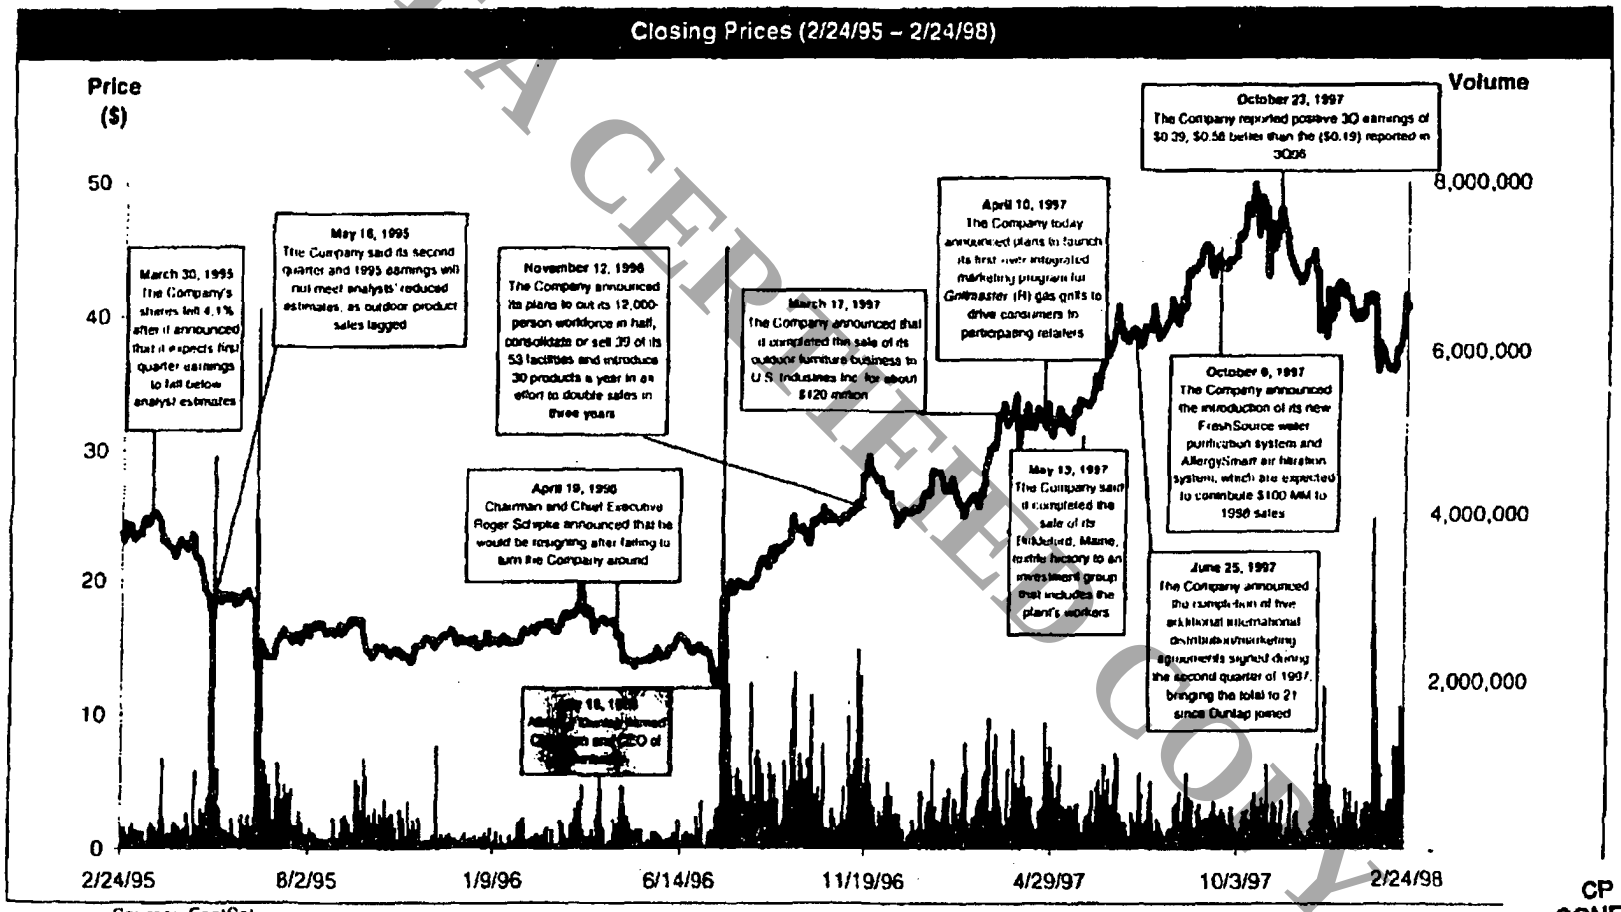
CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CPH 1416198

16div-024721

The Coleman Company, Inc.

Sunbeam: Recent Stock Price Performance



Source: FactSet.

CREDIT SUISSE | FIRST BOSTON

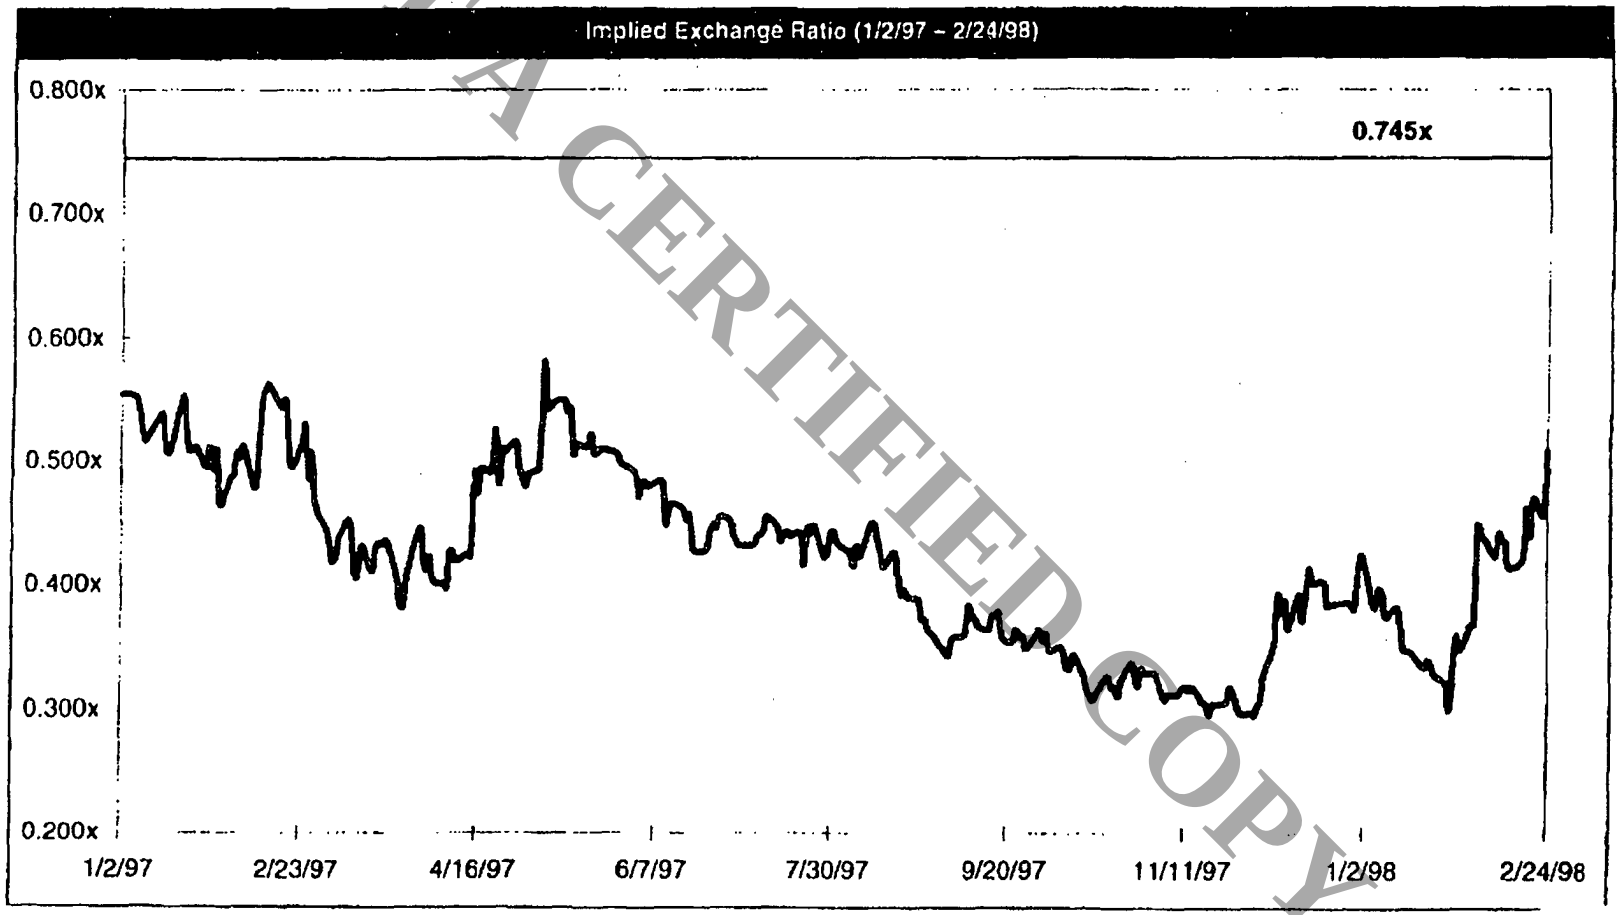
W:\library\80520086.nyw/5

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER
CPH 1416199
16div-024722
NOT A CERTIFIED COPY
CP 025963
CONFIDENTIAL
016578

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

The Coleman Company, Inc.

Implied Exchange Ratios



Source: FactSet.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

CP 025964
CONFIDENTIAL

CREDIT SUISSE | FIRST BOSTON

016579

W:\library\80520086.nyw/6

CPH 1416200

16div-024723

The Coleman Company, Inc.

Valuation Methodologies

1. Discounted Cash Flow - Assumes that the value of the Company equals the present value of future unlevered free cash flows generated from the existing assets.

2. Comparable Companies - Assesses the value of the Company in terms of the public market trading values of comparable publicly-traded companies.

3. Comparable Acquisitions - Generates a private market valuation for the Company on the basis of prices that have been paid in acquisitions of comparable companies.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

089910

CPH 1416201

16div-024724

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

The Coleman Company, Inc.

Valuation Summary - CLN

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Credit Suisse First Boston Reference Ranges

(Dollars in Millions)

VALUATION METHOD	ENTERPRISE VALUE RANGE	IMPLIED 1998E EBITDA MULTIPLE	EQUITY VALUE RANGE[1]	IMPLIED PER SHARE PRICE[2]
Discounted Cash Flow Analysis	$1,797 – $2,072	11.0x – 12.6x	$1,357 – $1,632	$24.78 – $29.62
Comparable Company Analysis	$1,150 – $1,600	7.0x – 9.8x	$710 – $1,160	$13.27[3] – $21.31
Comparable Acquisitions Analysis	$1,600 – $2,000	9.8x – 12.2x	$1,160 – $1,560	$21.31 – $28.35

(1) Equals Enterprise Value less $440 million of Net Debt.
(2) Equals (Equity Value plus $50.3 million of estimated options proceeds) ÷ (53.5 million common shares outstanding plus 3.3 million options outstanding).
(3) Assumes no conversion of options since average option strike price of $15.14 exceeds the implied per share price.

CP 025966
CONFIDENTIAL

CREDIT SUISSE | FIRST BOSTON 189910

W:\library\80520086.nyw/8

CPH 1416202

16div-024725

The Coleman Company, Inc.

Discounted Cash Flow Analysis

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Operating Assumptions[1]

(Dollars in Millions)

	1996	1997P[2]	1998E	1999E	2000E	2001E	2002E	2003E
Revenue	$1,220.2	$1,066.0	$1,163.3	$1,279.6	$1,407.5	$1,548.3	$1,703.1	$1,830.9
EBITDA	99.0	99.0	163.8	184.3	205.5	221.4	240.1	258.2
EBIT	62.6	62.8	121.8	142.3	164.5	182.4	201.1	217.0
Unlevered Free Cash Flow	NA	NA	80.3	76.2	90.9	102.6	109.7	123.7

(1) Based on CLN Management estimates for 1998 to 2001 and estimates developed in conjunction with CLN management for 2002 and beyond. Estimates exclude the safety and security products unit.

(2) 1997 pro forma for the sale of the safety and security products unit.

Present Value Matrix

(Dollars in Millions, Except Per Share)

DISCOUNT RATE		2007E EBITDA MULTIPLE 9.5X	10.5X
10.0%	Per Share[1]	$27.27	$29.62
11.0%	Per Share[1]	$24.78	$26.92

(1) Equals (Equity Value plus $50.3 million of estimated options proceeds) ÷ (53.5 million common shares outstanding plus 3.3 million options outstanding).

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CP 025987
CONFIDENTIAL

CPH 1416203

16div-024726

016582

The Coleman Company, Inc.

Comparable Companies Analysis - CLN

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Public Market Valuation
(Dollars in Millions)

		RELEVANT MULTIPLE RANGE	ENTERPRISE VALUE RANGE	EQUITY VALUE RANGE[1]	IMPLIED PER SHARE PRICE[2]
1998E Revenues	$1,163MM[3]	1.0x – 1.5x	$1,163 –$1,745	$723 – $1,305	$13.52[4]– $23.86
1998E EBITDA	$164MM[3]	7.0x – 10.0x	$1,147 –$1,638	$706 – $1,198	$13.21[4]– $22.40
1998 EPS	$1.18	13.0x – 18.0x	$1,259 –$1,594	$819 – $1,154	$15.31 – $21.20
CSFB Reference Range			$1,150 –$1,600	$710 – $1,160	$13.27[4]– $21.31

(1) Equals Enterprise Value less $440 million of Net Debt.
(2) Equals (Equity Value plus $50.3 million of estimated options proceeds) ÷ (53.5 million common shares outstanding plus 3.3 million options outstanding).
(3) As of CLN Management estimates.
(4) Assumes no conversion of options since the average option strike price of $15.14 exceeds the implied per share price.

Comparison of Market Data of Selected Comparable Companies
(Dollars in Millions)

COMPANY	MARKET VALUE	ADJUSTED MARKET VALUE	ADJUSTED MARKET VALUE 1998E SALES	1998E EBITDA	1998E EBIT	1998 P/E
Sunbeam	$3,682.7	$3,825.7	2.6x	11.6x	13.8x	20.4x
Coleman	1,124.5	1,564.7	1.3	9.6	12.8	17.5[1]
Huffy Corp.	189.4	274.2	0.4	6.4	14.5	15.6
Russell Corp.	993.3	1,503.7	1.2	7.3	11.4	15.8
The Black & Decker Corp.	4,769.7	6,385.4	1.4	8.7	11.9	19.0
The Stanley Works	4,169.3	4,431.6	1.5	9.3	11.9	19.1
Newell Co.	7,008.7	8,150.0	2.3	10.8	13.2	21.0
Rubbermaid Inc.	4,344.1	4,607.2	1.7	10.1	13.7	24.5
Brunswick Corp.	3,125.0	3,804.8	0.9	6.3	8.8	12.8

(1) P/E calculated on management's forecast of $1.18. P/E based on First Call estimate of $0.91 would be 22.7x.

CP 025968
CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CPH 1416204

16div-024727

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

The Coleman Company, Inc.

Comparable Acquisitions Analysis - CLN

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Private Market Valuation
(Dollars in Millions)

		RELEVANT MULTIPLE RANGE	ENTERPRISE VALUE RANGE	EQUITY VALUE RANGE[1]	IMPLIED PER SHARE PRICE[2]
1998E Revenues	$1,163MM[3]	1.2x - 1.5x	$1,396 - $1,745	$956 - $1,305	$17.71 - $23.86
1998E EBITDA	$164MM[3]	10.0x - 12.0x	$1,638 - $1,966	$1,198 - $1,525	$21.98 - $27.75
CSFB Reference Range			$1,600 - $2,000	$1,160 - $1,560	$21.31 - $28.35

(1) Equals Enterprise Value less $440 million of Net Debt.
(2) Equals (Equity Value plus $50.3 million of estimated options proceeds) ÷ (53.5 million common shares outstanding plus 3.3 million options outstanding).
(3) Based on CLN Management estimates.

Comparison of Market Data of Selected Comparable Acquisitions
(Currency in Millions)

DATE	ACQUIROR	TARGET	ENTERPRISE VALUE	MULTIPLE OF LTM REVENUES	MULTIPLE OF LTM EBITDA
9/96	Gillette Co.	Duracell International	$7,862.7	3.3x	14.2x
9/96	Rubbermaid Inc.	Graco Children's Products, Inc.	320.0	1.2	NA
8/96	Kohlberg Kravis Roberts & Co.	E&S Holding Corporation (Evenflo & Spalding Holding Corporation)[1]	1,078.4	1.5	12.7
1/96	Brunswick Corporation	Nelson/Weather-Rite	120.0	1.2	NA
12/95	American Brands, Inc.	Cobra Golf Inc. II	673.8	3.7	11.9
2/95	Bell Sports Corporation	American Recreation Company	150.2	1.0	10.6
12/94	Sogedim of Belgium	Adidas Int'l Hldg.	DM1,380.0	0.4	10.4

(1) Strata, an entity organized by Kohlberg Kravis Roberts & Co., L.P., owned 88.4% of the common stock after the recapitalization. The Enterprise Value is presented on a grossed-up basis.

CPH 1416205

16div-024728

The Coleman Company, Inc.

Overview of Sunbeam

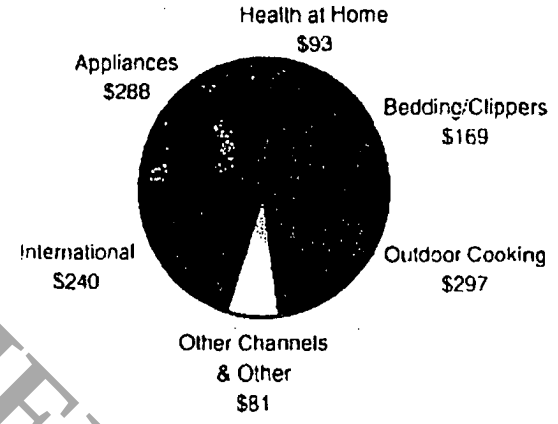
NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Business Overview

- Sunbeam is one of the leading consumer products companies in the U.S.
- Major brands include Sunbeam, Oster and Grillmaster
- The Company holds the number 1 or 2 position in a variety of products including blenders, electric blankets, gas grills, clippers and other kitchen and health devices.
- The Company is in the midst of a rapid restructuring and growth initiative led by Al Dunlap who was appointed CEO on July 18, 1996.

1997 Revenue Breakdown
Total = $1,168

(Dollars in Millions)



Financial Summary

(Dollars in Millions)

	1996	1997	1998E[1]	1999E[1]
Revenue	$984	$1,168	$1,460	$2,070
EBITDA	48	239	329	423
Net Income	(8)	124	180	236

(1) Based on Wall Street estimates.

CP 025970
CONFIDENTIAL

CREDIT SUISSE FIRST BOSTON

589910

W:\library\80520086.nyw\12

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CPH 1416206

16div-024729

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

The Coleman Company, Inc.

Valuation Summary - SOC

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Credit Suisse First Boston Reference Ranges

(Dollars in Millions)

VALUATION METHOD	ENTERPRISE VALUE RANGE	IMPLIED 1998E EBITDA MULTIPLE[1]	EQUITY VALUE RANGE[2]	IMPLIED PER SHARE PRICE[3]
Discounted Cash Flow Analysis
Long-Term Strategic Plan	$4,312 – $4,886	13.1x – 14.9x	$4,169 – $4,743	$45.77 – $51.84
Base Case	$3,813 – $4,326	11.6x – 13.2x	$3,670 – $4,183	$40.49 – $45.92
Comparable Companies Analysis	$3,400 – $4,200	10.4x – 12.8x	$3,257 – $4,057	$36.12 – $44.59
Comparable Acquisitions Analysis	$3,250 – $4,000	9.9x – 12.2x	$3,107 – $3,857	$34.53 – $42.47

(1) Multiples based on Wall Street estimates ($328.5 million of EBITDA).
(2) Equals Enterprise Value less $143 million of Net Debt.
(3) Equals (Equity Value plus $156.0 million of estimated options proceeds) ÷ (85.5 million common shares outstanding plus 9.0 million options outstanding).

CP 025971
CONFIDENTIAL

CREDIT SUISSE | FIRST BOSTON

989910

W:\library\80520086.nyw/13

CPH 1416207

16div-024730

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

The Coleman Company, Inc.

Discounted Cash Flow Analysis – SOC

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Operating Assumptions
(Dollars in Millions)

	1996	1997	1998E	1999E	2000E	2001E	2002E
Base Case[1]
Revenue	$984.2	$1,168.2	$1,460.0	$1,800.0	$2,070.0	$2,277.0	$2,504.7
EBITDA	48.1	238.0	328.5	423.0	486.5	535.1	588.6
EBIT	0.7	199.4	277.4	360.0	414.0	455.4	500.9
Unlevered Free Cash Flow	NA	NA	107.3	147.5	190.8	230.8	253.9
Long-Term Strategic Plan[2]
Revenue	$984.2	$1,168.2	$1,600.0	$2,000.0	$2,400.0	$2,580.0	$2,773.5
EBITDA	48.1	238.0	372.0	471.0	568.0	610.6	656.4
EBIT	0.7	199.4	318.0	400.0	485.0	521.4	560.6
Unlevered Free Cash Flow	NA	NA	172.7	158.0	217.3	272.1	292.5

Present Value Matrix
(Dollars in Millions, Except Per Share)

DISCOUNT RATE		2002E EBITDA MULTIPLE 9.5X	10.5X
Base Case[1]
11.0%	Per Share[2]	$42.23	$45.92
12.0%	Per Share[2]	$40.49	$44.02
Long-Term Strategic Plan[2]
11.0%	Per Share[3]	$47.72	$51.84
12.0%	Per Share[3]	$45.77	$49.71

(1) Projections developed in conjunction with CLN management based on equity analyst research.
(2) SOC Management Projections for 1998 to 2000 and estimates for 2001 and 2002.
(3) Equals (Equity Value plus $156.0 million of estimated options proceeds) ÷ (85.5 million common shares outstanding plus 9.0 million options outstanding).

CP 025972
CONFIDENTIAL

CREDIT SUISSE | FIRST BOSTON

L85910

W:\library\80520086.nyw/14

CPH 1416208

16div-024731

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

The Coleman Company, Inc.

Comparable Companies Analysis - SOC

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Public Market Valuation

(Dollars in Millions)

		RELEVANT MULTIPLE RANGE	ENTERPRISE VALUE RANGE	EQUITY VALUE RANGE[1]	IMPLIED PER SHARE PRICE[2]
1998E EBITDA	$329MM[3]	10.0x - 12.0x	$3,285 - $3,942	$3,142 - $3,799	$34.90 - $41.86
1998E E.P.S.	$1.99	19.0x - 22.0x	$3,560 - $4,124	$3,417 - $3,981	$37.81 - $43.78
CSFB Reference Range			$3,400 - $4,200	$3,257 - $4,057	$36.12 - $44.59

(1) Equals Enterprise Value less $143 million of Net Debt.
(2) Equals (Equity Value plus $156.0 million of estimated options proceeds) ÷ (85.5 million common shares outstanding plus 9.0 million options outstanding).
(3) Based on Wall Street estimates.

Comparison of Market Data of Selected Comparable Companies

(Dollars in Millions)

COMPANY	MARKET VALUE	ADJUSTED MARKET VALUE	ADJUSTED MARKET VALUE 1998E SALES	1998E EBITDA	1998E EBIT	1998 P/E
Sunbeam	$3,682.7	$3,625.7	2.6x	11.6x	13.8x	20.4x
Coleman	1,124.5	1,564.7	1.3	9.6	12.8	17.5
Tupperware Corporation	1,643.5	1,903.8	1.6	8.6	12.4	15.9
Whirlpool Corporation	4,906.5	6,887.5	0.8	7.5	12.4	16.1
The Black & Decker Corp.	4,769.7	6,385.4	1.4	8.7	11.9	19.0
The Stanley Works	4,169.3	4,431.6	1.5	9.3	11.9	19.1
Newell Co.	7,008.7	8,150.0	2.3	10.8	13.2	21.0
Rubbermaid Inc.	4,344.1	4,607.2	1.7	10.1	13.7	24.5
Brunswick Corp.	3,125.0	3,804.8	0.9	6.3	8.8	12.8

CP 025973
CONFIDENTIAL

CPH 1416209

16div-024732

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

The Coleman Company, Inc.

Comparable Acquisitions Analysis - SOC

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Private Market Valuation
(Dollars in Millions)

		RELEVANT MULTIPLE RANGE	ENTERPRISE VALUE RANGE	EQUITY VALUE RANGE[1]	IMPLIED PER SHARE PRICE[2]
1998E Revenues	$1,460MM[3]	2.0x - 2.5x	$2,920 - $3,650	$2,777 - $3,507	$31.04 - $38.77
1998E EBITDA	$329MM[3]	10.0x - 12.0x	$3,285 - $3,942	$3,142 - $3,779	$34.90 - $41.86
CSFB Reference Range			$3,250 - $4,000	$3,107 - $3,857	$34.53 - $42.47

(1) Equals Enterprise Value less $143 million of Net Debt.
(2) Equals (Equity Value plus $156.0 million of estimated options proceeds) ÷ (85.5 million common shares outstanding plus 9.0 million options outstanding).
(3) Based on Wall Street estimates.

Comparison of Market Data of Selected Comparable Acquisitions
(Dollars in Millions)

DATE	ACQUIROR	TARGET	ENTERPRISE VALUE	MULTIPLE OF LTM REVENUES	MULTIPLE OF LTM EBITDA
9/97	Goodman Holding Company	Raytheon Appliance Group	$750.0[1]	0.5x	5.5x
2/97	Honeywell	Duracraft Corp.	266.9	1.6	13.9
9/96	Gillette Co.	Duracell International	7,862.7	3.3	14.2
9/96	Rubbermaid Inc.	Graco Children's Products, Inc.	320.0	1.2	NA
8/96	Kohlberg Kravis Roberts & Co.	E&S Holding Corporation (Evenflo & Spalding Holding Corporation)[2]	1,078.4	1.5	12.7
9/95	Manitowoc Co.	Shannon Group	126.0	1.2	8.7
12/94	Berisford International plc	Welbilt Corp.	481.2	1.0	8.3
1/94	Health O'Meter Products	Mr. Coffee, Inc.	163.8	0.9	8.4

(1) $200.0 million worth of receivables were purchased by a financial institution. For valuation purposes, we assume receivables would have to be financed.
(2) Strata, an entity organized by Kohlberg Kravis Roberts & Co., L.P., owned 88.4% of the common stock after the recapitalization. The Enterprise Value is presented on a grossed-up basis.

The Coleman Company, Inc.

Contribution Analysis

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Pro Forma Contribution Analysis

(Dollars in Millions Except per Share Data)

	CLN	SOC	IMPLIED PERCENTAGE FOR CLN	ACTUAL PERCENTAGE FOR CLN	IMPLIED EXCHANGE RATIO
1997P Results
Earnings	$24	$124	15.9%	30.2%	0.311x
1998E Results
Earnings	$63	$180[1]	25.8%	30.2%	0.575x

(1) Based on $1.99 EPS and 90.7 million shares outstanding under the treasury method.

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CP 025975
CONFIDENTIAL

The Coleman Company, Inc.

Pro Forma Analysis

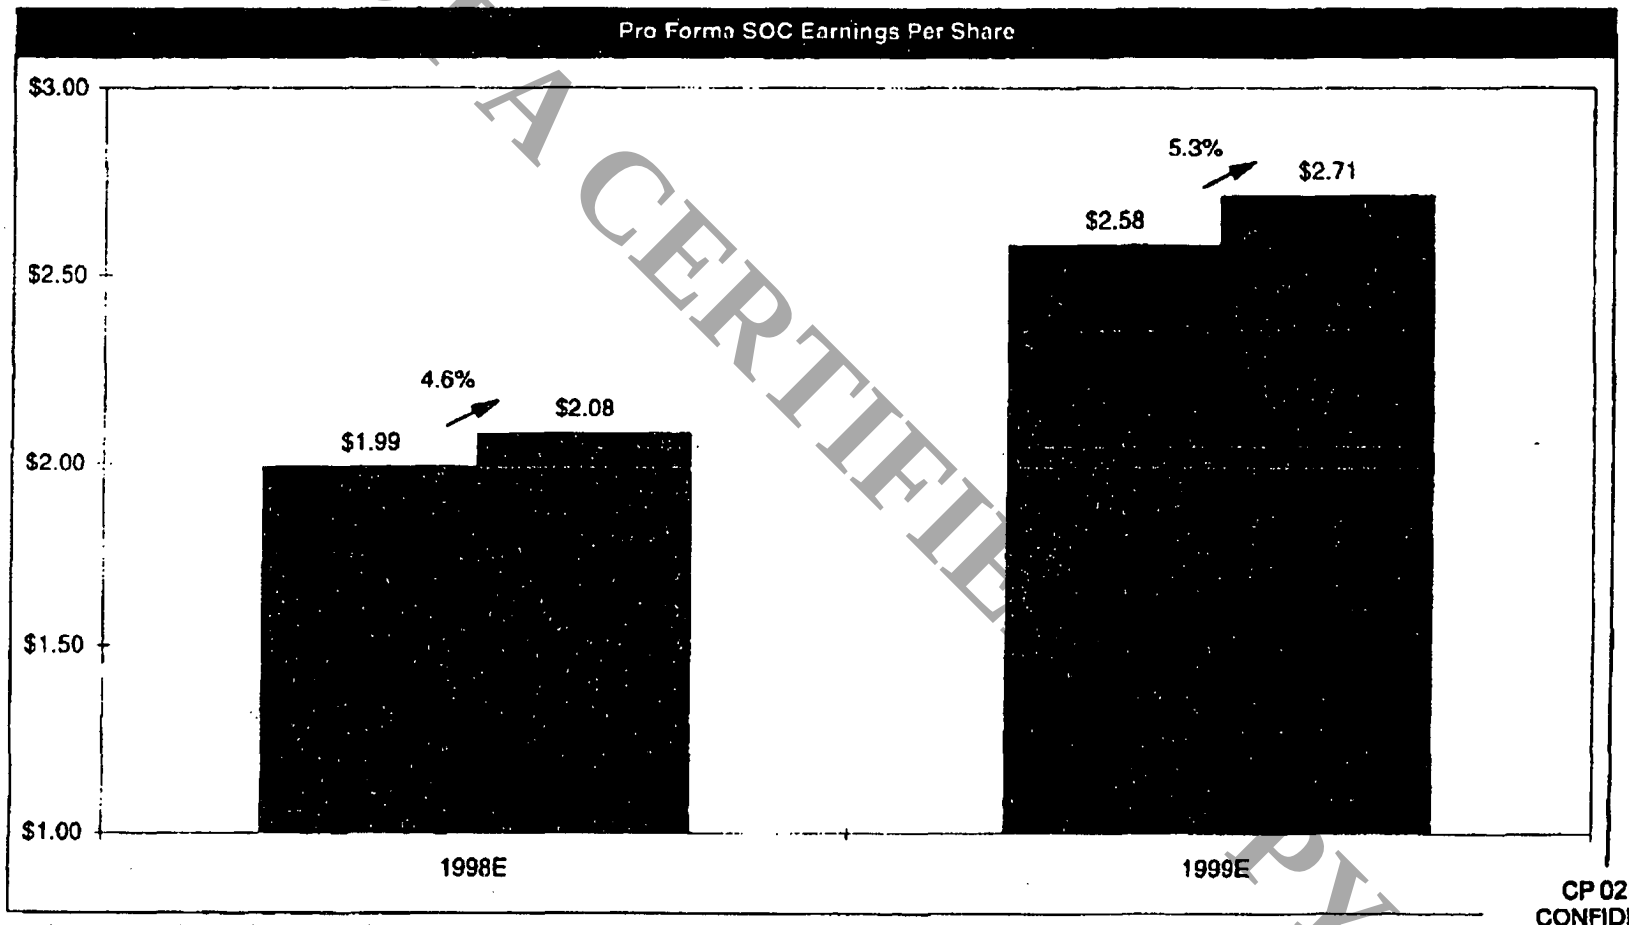
Assumptions
• $100 million of pre-tax synergies and cost savings
• Sunbeam assumes holding company zeros
• Coleman's debt and cash payment for shareholders financed at 6.5%
• Purchase accounting with goodwill amortized over 40 years

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

The Coleman Company, Inc.

Pro Forma Analysis



Note: Excludes one-time restructuring charges.

CREDIT SUISSE | FIRST BOSTON

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY
CP 025977
CONFIDENTIAL
CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER
CPH 1416213
16div-024736
269910

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016593

EXHIBIT 7

CONFIDENTIAL

CP 011053
CONFIDENTIAL

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

February 25, 1998

Draft Materials Prepared for the Board of Directors

The Coleman Company, Inc.

016594

EXHIBIT
MS 112

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

The Coleman Company, Inc.

Preliminary Financial Terms of Transaction

Terms	Description
Form of Transaction	"Two Step" Merger
Approximate Consideration Per CLN Share
Public	• 0.5677 SOC shares and $6.44 in cash for each CLN share (Taxable)
MacAndrews Consideration	Sell control of Coleman Worldwide (44.1mm CLN shares) in exchange for: • Assumption of First and Second Priority Notes ($496 million of accreted value 11/15/97; $525 million of accreted value 5/15/98) • 14.1 million SOC shares and $160 million in cash (Tax Free)

NOT CERTIFIED COPY

CREDIT SUISSE | FIRST BOSTON

W:\library\80580021.nyw/1

669910

CPH 1401220

16div-024739

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

The Coleman Company, Inc.

Key Transaction Multiples

Total Consideration to be Paid to CLN Shareholders
SOC Common Share Price	$40.625[1]
Shares To Be Issued	19.4mm
	$790mm
+ $6.44 x 34.2mm shares	$221mm
+ Assumed Zero-Coupon Debt	$525mm
+ Net Consideration to Option Holders	$ 48mm[2]
"Common" Equity Value	$1,583mm
+ Net Debt	$440mm[3]
Adjusted Market Value	$2,023mm

(1) Based on SOC closing price as of 2/24/98.
(2) Difference between $29.50 (0.5677 SOC shares at $40.63 per SOC share plus $6.44 in cash) and average strike price of $15.14 on 3.3 million options.
(3) CLN Management estimates of 1997 Year-end Net Debt less $90 million of estimated after-tax proceeds from the sale of the safety and security products unit.
(4) Based on CLN closing prices through 2/24/98.
(5) $19.50 IPO Price adjusted for a 2-for-1 stock split.
(6) CLN Management estimates including income from its safety and security products unit for three months.
(7) Premium to $29.50 (0.5677 SOC shares at $40.63 per share plus $6.44 in cash).

Relevant Statistics	Price	Premium[7]
▪ CLN Last Twelve Months High[4] (2/24/98)	$20 11/16	42.6%
▪ CLN Last Twelve Months Low[4] (1/27/98)	$12 1/2	136.0%
▪ % Premium to Current Stock Price (2/24/98)	$20 11/16	42.6%
▪ % Premium to IPO Price (2/26/92)	$9 3/4[5]	202.6%
▪ Adjusted Market Value
1997P EBITDA	$99	20.4x
1998E EBITDA	$164	12.4x
▪ Price as a Multiple of
1997 E.P.S.	$0.44	67.1x
1998E E.P.S.[6]	$1.18	25.1x

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

969910

CPH 1401221

16div-024740

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

The Coleman Company, Inc.

CLN Transaction Multiples

NOT CERTIFIED COPY

Valuation Sensitivity of SOC Proposal

(Dollars in Millions)

	SUNBEAM SHARE PRICE
	$34.00	$36.00	$38.00	$40.00	$42.00	$44.00
Implied Consideration for Public (0.5677 SOC Shares and $6.44 in Cash)	$25.74	$26.88	$28.01	$29.15	$30.28	$31.42
Common Equity Value	$1,442	$1,484	$1,527	$1,569	$1,612	$1,655
Net Debt [1]	440	440	440	440	440	440
Adjusted Value	$1,882	$1,924	$1,967	$2,010	$2,052	$2,095
Adjusted Value as a Multiple of:
1997P EBITDA [2] $99	19.0x	19.4x	19.9x	20.3x	20.7x	21.2x
1998E EBITDA [2] $164	11.5x	11.7x	12.0x	12.3x	12.5x	12.8x
Implied Consideration as a Multiple of:
1997 E.P.S. [3] $0.44	58.5x	61.1x	63.7x	66.2x	68.8x	71.4x
1998E E.P.S. [3] $1.18	21.9x	22.8x	23.8x	24.8x	25.7x	26.7x

(1) CLN Management estimate of 1997 Year-end Net Debt less $90 million of estimated after-tax proceeds from the sale of the safety and security products unit.
(2) Based on CLN Management estimates assuming the sale of the safety and security products unit.
(3) 1997 actual EPS. 1998E EPS based CLN Management estimates and includes income from the safety and security products unit for the first quarter.

CPH 1401222

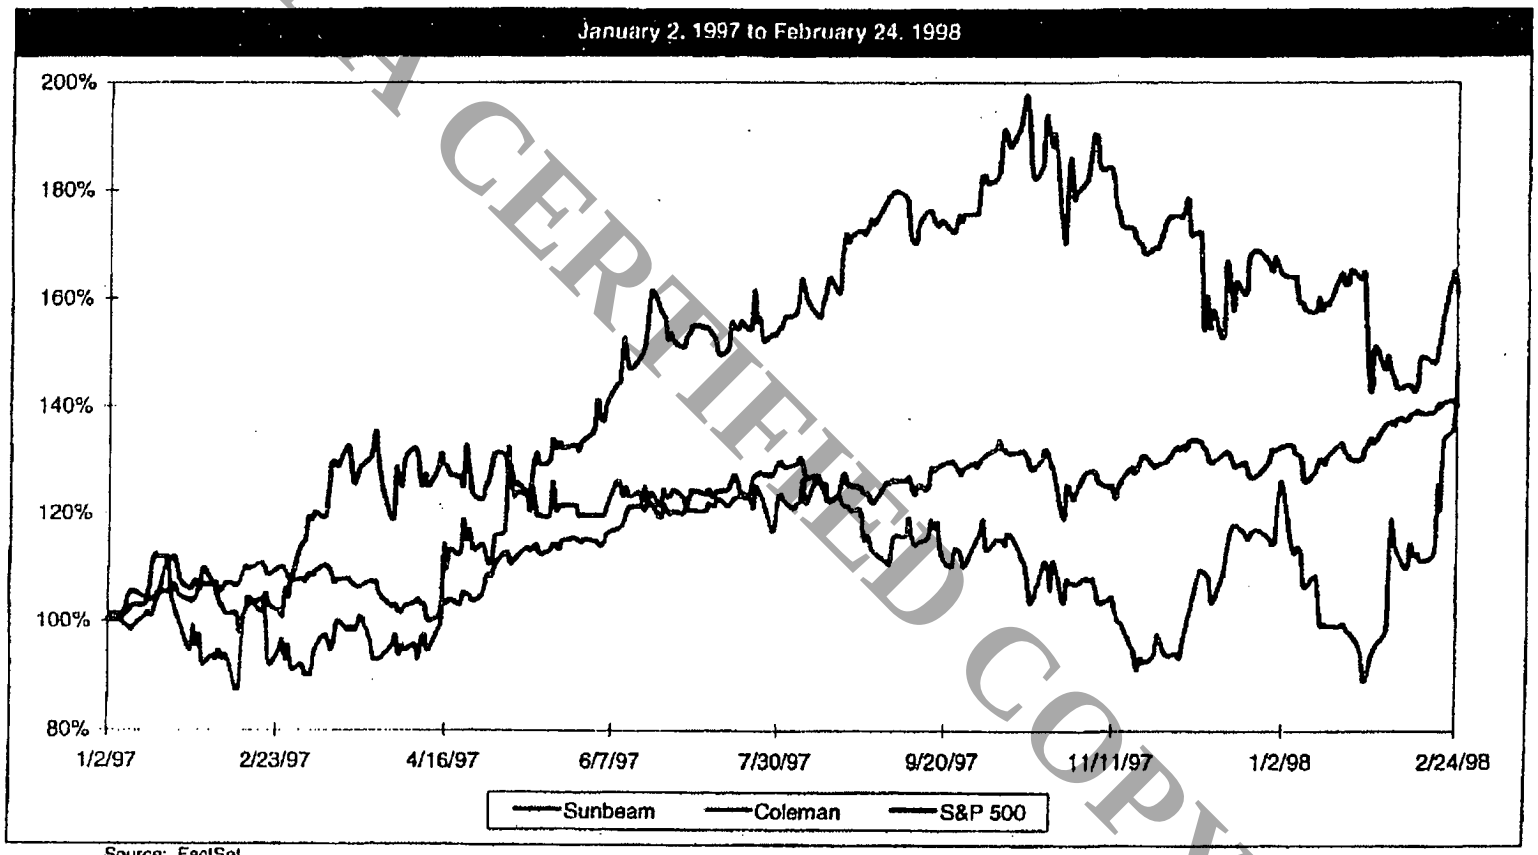
16div-024741

L69910

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

The Coleman Company, Inc.

Indexed Share Price Performance



Source: FactSet.

CREDIT SUISSE | FIRST BOSTON

CP 011057
CONFIDENTIAL

W:\library\80520086.nyw/4

869910

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

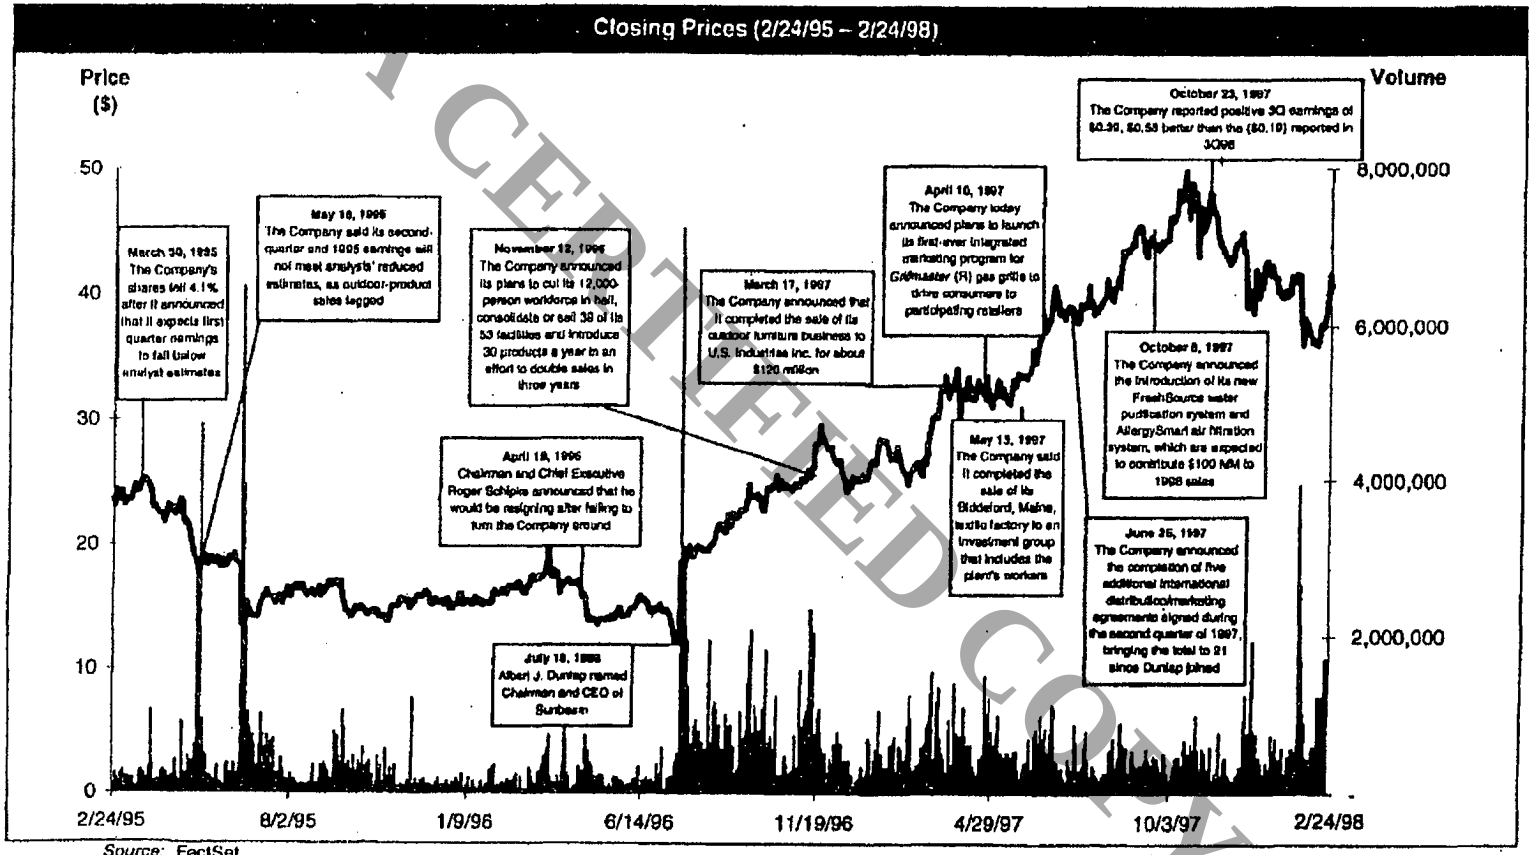
CPH 1401223

16div-024742

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

The Coleman Company, Inc.

Sunbeam: Recent Stock Price Performance



Source: FactSet.

CREDIT SUISSE | FIRST BOSTON

CP 011058
CONFIDENTIAL

W:\library\80520086.nyw/5

669910

NOT CERTIFIED COPY

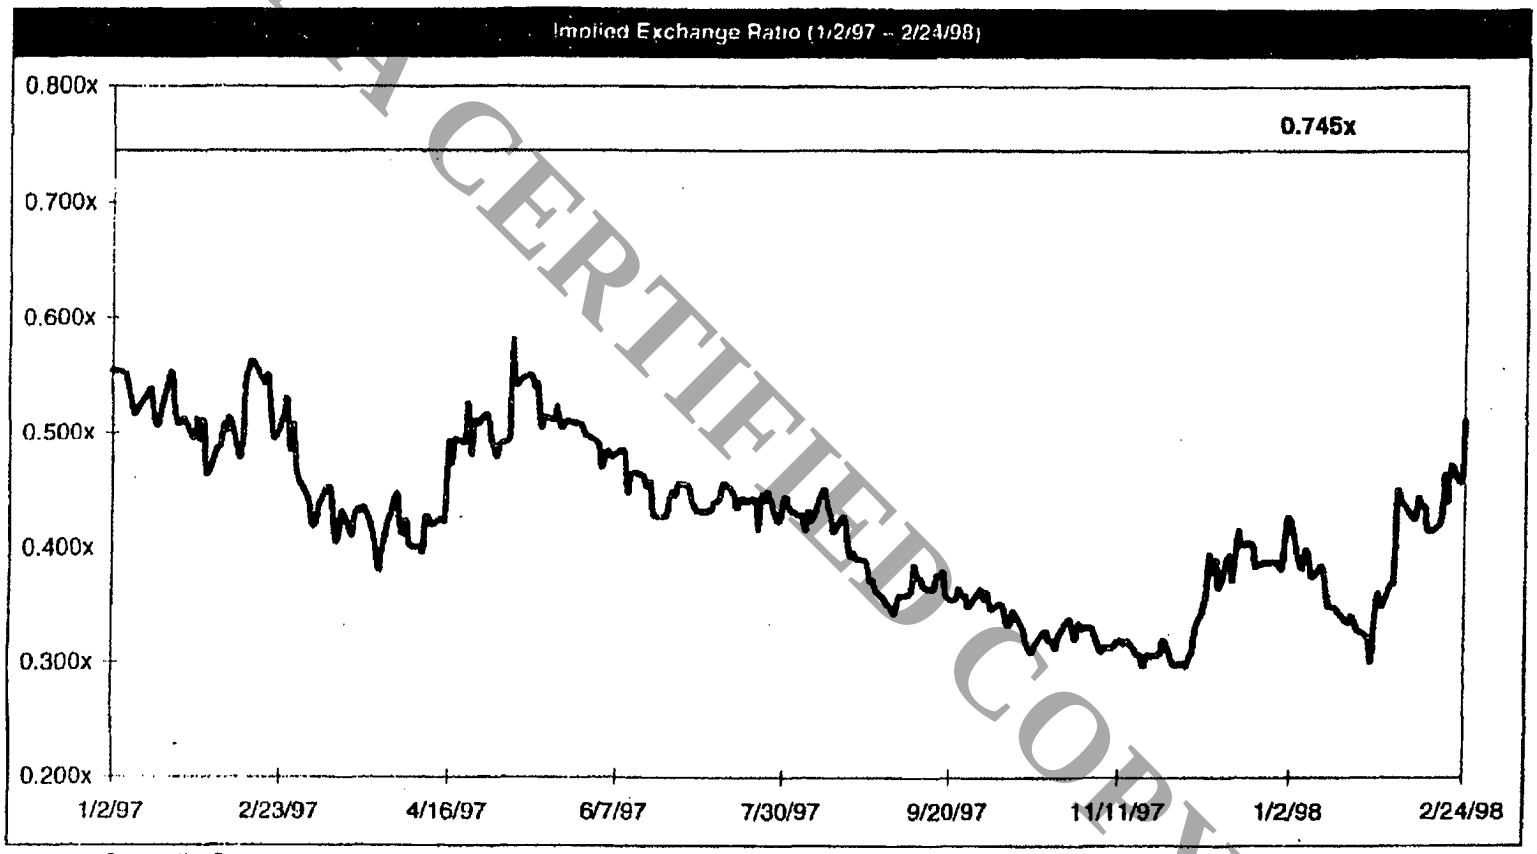
CPH 1401224

16div-024743

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

The Coleman Company, Inc.

Implied Exchange Ratios



Source: FactSet.

CP 011059
CONFIDENTIAL

CREDIT SUISSE | FIRST BOSTON

W:\library\80520086.nyw/6

009910

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

CPH 1401225

16div-024744

Cont #971

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

The Coleman Company, Inc.

Valuation Methodologies

1. Discounted Cash Flow - Assumes that the value of the Company equals the present value of future unlevered free cash flows generated from the existing assets.

2. Comparable Companies - Assesses the value of the Company in terms of the public market trading values of comparable publicly-traded companies.

3. Comparable Acquisitions - Generates a private market valuation for the Company on the basis of prices that have been paid in acquisitions of comparable companies.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

CPH 1401226

109910

16div-024745

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

The Coleman Company, Inc.

Valuation Summary - CLN

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Credit Suisse First Boston Reference Ranges

(Dollars in Millions)

VALUATION METHOD	ENTERPRISE VALUE RANGE	IMPLIED 1998E EBITDA MULTIPLE	EQUITY VALUE RANGE[1]	IMPLIED PER SHARE PRICE[2]
Discounted Cash Flow Analysis	$1,797 – $2,072	11.0x – 12.6x	$1,357 – $1,632	$24.78 – $29.62
Comparable Company Analysis	$1,150 – $1,600	7.0x – 9.8x	$710 – $1,160	$13.27[3] – $21.31
Comparable Acquisitions Analysis	$1,600 – $2,000	9.8x – 12.2x	$1,160 – $1,560	$21.31 – $28.35

(1) Equals Enterprise Value less $440 million of Net Debt.
(2) Equals (Equity Value plus $50.3 million of estimated options proceeds) ÷ (53.5 million common shares outstanding plus 3.3 million options outstanding).
(3) Assumes no conversion of options since average option strike price of $15.14 exceeds the implied per share price.

CREDIT SUISSE | FIRST BOSTON

209910

CPH 1401227

16div-024746

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

The Coleman Company, Inc.

Discounted Cash Flow Analysis

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Operating Assumptions[1]
(Dollars in Millions)

	1996	1997P[2]	1998E	1999E	2000E	2001E	2002E	2003E
Revenue	$1,220.2	$1,066.0	$1,163.3	$1,279.6	$1,407.5	$1,548.3	$1,703.1	$1,830.9
EBITDA	99.0	99.0	163.8	184.3	205.5	221.4	240.1	258.2
EBIT	62.6	62.8	121.8	142.3	164.5	182.4	201.1	217.0
Unlevered Free Cash Flow	NA	NA	80.3	76.2	90.9	102.6	109.7	123.7

(1) Based on CLN Management estimates for 1998 to 2001 and estimates developed in conjunction with CLN management for 2002 and beyond. Estimates exclude the safety and security products unit.
(2) 1997 pro forma for the sale of the safety and security products unit.

Present Value Matrix
(Dollars in Millions, Except Per Share)

DISCOUNT RATE		2007E EBITDA MULTIPLE 9.5X	10.5X
10.0%	Per Share[1]	$27.27	$29.62
11.0%	Per Share[1]	$24.78	$26.92

(1) Equals (Equity Value plus $50.3 million of estimated options proceeds) ÷ (53.5 million common shares outstanding plus 3.3 million options outstanding).

CP 011062
CONFIDENTIAL

CREDIT SUISSE | FIRST BOSTON

W:\library\80520086.nyw/9

CPH 1401228

16div-024747

E09910

The Coleman Company, Inc.

Comparable Companies Analysis - CLN

Public Market Valuation
(Dollars in Millions)

		RELEVANT MULTIPLE RANGE	ENTERPRISE VALUE RANGE	EQUITY VALUE RANGE[1]	IMPLIED PER SHARE PRICE[2]
1998E Revenues	$1,163MM[3]	1.0x – 1.5x	$1,163 –$1,745	$723 – $1,305	$13.52[4]– $23.86
1998E EBITDA	$164MM[3]	7.0x – 10.0x	$1,147 –$1,638	$706 – $1,198	$13.21[4]– $22.40
1998 EPS	$1.18	13.0x – 18.0x	$1,259 –$1,594	$819 – $1,154	$15.31 – $21.20
CSFB Reference Range			$1,150 –$1,600	$710 – $1,160	$13.27[4]– $21.31

(1) Equals Enterprise Value less $440 million of Net Debt.
(2) Equals (Equity Value plus $50.3 million of estimated options proceeds) ÷ (53.5 million common shares outstanding plus 3.3 million options outstanding).
(3) As of CLN Management estimates.
(4) Assumes no conversion of options since the average option strike price of $15.14 exceeds the implied per share price.

Comparison of Market Data of Selected Comparable Companies
(Dollars in Millions)

COMPANY	MARKET VALUE	ADJUSTED MARKET VALUE	ADJUSTED MARKET VALUE 1998E SALES	1998E EBITDA	1998E EBIT	1998 P/E
Sunbeam	$3,662.7	$3,825.7	2.6x	11.6x	13.8x	20.4x
Coleman	1,124.5	1,564.7	1.3	9.6	12.8	17.5[1]
Hully Corp.	189.4	274.2	0.4	6.4	14.5	15.6
Russell Corp.	993.3	1,503.7	1.2	7.3	11.4	15.8
The Black & Decker Corp.	4,769.7	6,385.4	1.4	8.7	11.9	19.0
The Stanley Works	4,169.3	4,431.6	1.5	9.3	11.9	19.1
Newell Co.	7,008.7	8,150.0	2.3	10.8	13.2	21.0
Rubbermaid Inc.	4,344.1	4,607.2	1.7	10.1	13.7	24.5
Brunswick Corp.	3,125.0	3,804.8	0.9	6.3	8.8	12.8

(1) P/E calculated on management's forecast of $1.18. P/E based on First Call estimate of $0.91 would be 22.7x.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CPH 1401229
16div-024748

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

The Coleman Company, Inc.

Comparable Acquisitions Analysis - CLN

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Private Market Valuation

(Dollars in Millions)

		RELEVANT MULTIPLE RANGE	ENTERPRISE VALUE RANGE	EQUITY VALUE RANGE[1]	IMPLIED PER SHARE PRICE[2]
1998E Revenues	$1,163MM[3]	1.2x - 1.5x	$1,396 - $1,745	$956 - $1,305	$17.71 - $23.86
1998E EBITDA	$164MM[3]	10.0x - 12.0x	$1,638 - $1,966	$1,198 - $1,525	$21.98 - $27.75
CSFB Reference Range			$1,600 - $2,000	$1,160 - $1,560	$21.31 - $28.35

(1) Equals Enterprise Value less $440 million of Net Debt.
(2) Equals (Equity Value plus $50.3 million of estimated options proceeds) ÷ (53.5 million common shares outstanding plus 3.3 million options outstanding).
(3) Based on CLN Management estimates.

Comparison of Market Data of Selected Comparable Acquisitions

(Currency in Millions)

DATE	ACQUIROR	TARGET	ENTERPRISE VALUE	MULTIPLE OF LTM REVENUES	MULTIPLE OF LTM EBITDA
9/96	Gillette Co.	Duracell International	$7,862.7	3.3x	14.2x
9/96	Rubbermaid Inc.	Graco Children's Products, Inc.	320.0	1.2	NA
8/96	Kohlberg Kravis Roberts & Co.	E&S Holding Corporation (Evenflo & Spalding Holding Corporation)[1]	1,078.4	1.5	12.7
1/96	Brunswick Corporation	Nelson/Weather-Rite	120.0	1.2	NA
12/95	American Brands, Inc.	Cobra Golf Inc. II	673.8	3.7	11.9
2/95	Bell Sports Corporation	American Recreation Company	150.2	1.0	10.6
12/94	Sogedim of Belgium	Adidas Int'l Hldg.	DM1,380.0	0.4	10.4

(1) Strata, an entity organized by Kohlberg Kravis Roberts & Co., L.P., owned 88.4% of the common stock after the recapitalization. The Enterprise Value is presented on a grossed-up basis.

509910

CPH 1401230

16div-024749

The Coleman Company, Inc.

Overview of Sunbeam

Business Overview

- Sunbeam is one of the leading consumer products companies in the U.S.
- Major brands include Sunbeam, Oster and Grillmaster
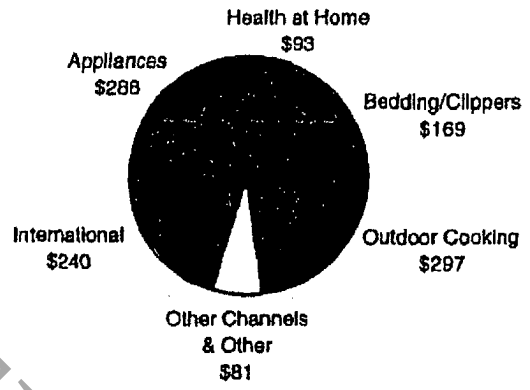
- The Company holds the number 1 or 2 position in a variety of products including blenders, electric blankets, gas grills, clippers and other kitchen and health devices.
- The Company is in the midst of a rapid restructuring and growth initiative led by Al Dunlap who was appointed CEO on July 18, 1996.

1997 Revenue Breakdown
Total = $1,168

(Dollars in Millions)



Financial Summary

(Dollars in Millions)	1996	1997	1998E[1]	1999E[1]
Revenue	$984	$1,168	$1,460	$2,070
EBITDA	48	239	329	423
Net Income	(8)	124	160	236

(1) Based on Wall Street estimates.

NOT CERTIFIED COPY

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

The Coleman Company, Inc.

Valuation Summary - SOC

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Credit Suisse First Boston Reference Ranges

(Dollars in Millions)

VALUATION METHOD	ENTERPRISE VALUE RANGE	IMPLIED 1998E EBITDA MULTIPLE[1]	EQUITY VALUE RANGE[2]	IMPLIED PER SHARE PRICE[3]
Discounted Cash Flow Analysis
Long-Term Strategic Plan	$4,312 – $4,886	13.1x – 14.9x	$4,169 – $4,743	$45.77 – $51.84
Base Case	$3,813 – $4,326	11.6x – 13.2x	$3,670 – $4,183	$40.49 – $45.92
Comparable Companies Analysis	$3,400 – $4,200	10.4x – 12.8x	$3,257 – $4,057	$36.12 – $44.59
Comparable Acquisitions Analysis	$3,250 – $4,000	9.9x – 12.2x	$3,107 – $3,857	$34.53 – $42.47

(1) Multiples based on Wall Street estimates ($328.5 million of EBITDA).
(2) Equals Enterprise Value less $143 million of Net Debt.
(3) Equals (Equity Value plus $156.0 million of estimated options proceeds) ÷ (85.5 million common shares outstanding plus 9.0 million options outstanding).

CREDIT SUISSE | FIRST BOSTON

L09910

CPH 1401232

16div-024751

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

The Coleman Company, Inc.

Discounted Cash Flow Analysis – SOC

Operating Assumptions
(Dollars in Millions)

	1996	1997	1998E	1999E	2000E	2001E	2002E
Base Case[1]
Revenue	$984.2	$1,168.2	$1,460.0	$1,800.0	$2,070.0	$2,277.0	$2,504.7
EBITDA	48.1	238.0	328.5	423.0	486.5	535.1	588.6
EBIT	0.7	199.4	277.4	360.0	414.0	455.4	500.9
Unlevered Free Cash Flow	NA	NA	107.3	147.5	190.8	230.8	253.9
Long-Term Strategic Plan[2]
Revenue	$984.2	$1,168.2	$1,600.0	$2,000.0	$2,400.0	$2,580.0	$2,773.5
EBITDA	48.1	238.0	372.0	471.0	568.0	610.6	656.4
EBIT	0.7	199.4	318.0	400.0	485.0	521.4	560.6
Unlevered Free Cash Flow	NA	NA	172.7	158.0	217.3	272.1	292.5

Present Value Matrix
(Dollars in Millions, Except Per Share)

DISCOUNT RATE		2002E EBITDA MULTIPLE 9.5X	10.5X
Base Case[1]
11.0%	Per Share[2]	$42.23	$45.92
12.0%	Per Share[2]	$40.49	$44.02
Long-Term Strategic Plan[2]
11.0%	Per Share[3]	$47.72	$51.84
12.0%	Per Share[3]	$45.77	$49.71

(1) Projections developed in conjunction with CLN management based on equity analyst research.
(2) SOC Management Projections for 1998 to 2000 and estimates for 2001 and 2002.
(3) Equals (Equity Value plus $156.0 million of estimated options proceeds) ÷ (85.5 million common shares outstanding plus 9.0 million options outstanding).

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

CP 011067
CONFIDENTIAL

CREDIT SUISSE | FIRST BOSTON

809910

CPH 1401233

16div-024752

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

The Coleman Company, Inc.

Comparable Companies Analysis - SOC

NOT CERTIFIED COPY

Public Market Valuation
(Dollars in Millions)

		RELEVANT MULTIPLE RANGE	ENTERPRISE VALUE RANGE	EQUITY VALUE RANGE[1]	IMPLIED PER SHARE PRICE[2]
1998E EBITDA	$329MM[3]	10.0x - 12.0x	$3,285 - $3,942	$3,142 - $3,799	$34.90 - $41.86
1998E E.P.S.	$1.99	19.0x - 22.0x	$3,560 - $4,124	$3,417 - $3,981	$37.81 - $43.78
CSFB Reference Range			$3,400 - $4,200	$3,257 - $4,057	$36.12 - $44.59

(1) Equals Enterprise Value less $143 million of Net Debt.
(2) Equals (Equity Value plus $156.0 million of estimated options proceeds) ÷ (85.5 million common shares outstanding plus 9.0 million options outstanding).
(3) Based on Wall Street estimates.

Comparison of Market Data of Selected Comparable Companies
(Dollars in Millions)

COMPANY	MARKET VALUE	ADJUSTED MARKET VALUE	ADJUSTED MARKET VALUE 1998E SALES	1998E EBITDA	1998E EBIT	1998 P/E
Sunbeam	$3,682.7	$3,825.7	2.6x	11.6x	13.8x	20.4x
Coleman	1,124.5	1,564.7	1.3	9.6	12.8	17.5
Tupperware Corporation	1,843.5	1,903.8	1.6	8.6	12.4	15.9
Whirlpool Corporation	4,906.5	6,887.5	0.8	7.5	12.4	16.1
The Black & Decker Corp.	4,769.7	6,385.4	1.4	8.7	11.9	19.0
The Stanley Works	4,169.3	4,431.6	1.5	9.3	11.9	19.1
Newell Co.	7,008.7	8,150.0	2.3	10.8	13.2	21.0
Rubbermaid Inc.	4,344.1	4,607.2	1.7	10.1	13.7	24.5
Brunswick Corp.	3,125.0	3,804.8	0.9	6.3	8.8	12.8

CPH 1401234
16div-024753

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

The Coleman Company, Inc.

Comparable Acquisitions Analysis - SOC

Private Market Valuation
(Dollars in Millions)

		RELEVANT MULTIPLE RANGE	ENTERPRISE VALUE RANGE	EQUITY VALUE RANGE[1]	IMPLIED PER SHARE PRICE[2]
1998E Revenues	$1,460MM[3]	2.0x - 2.5x	$2,920 - $3,650	$2,777 - $3,507	$31.04 - $38.77
1998E EBITDA	$329MM[3]	10.0x - 12.0x	$3,285 - $3,942	$3,142 - $3,779	$34.90 - $41.86
CSFB Reference Range			$3,250 - $4,000	$3,107 - $3,857	$34.53 - $42.47

(1) Equals Enterprise Value less $143 million of Net Debt.
(2) Equals (Equity Value plus $156.0 million of estimated options proceeds) ÷ (85.5 million common shares outstanding plus 9.0 million options outstanding).
(3) Based on Wall Street estimates.

Comparison of Market Data of Selected Comparable Acquisitions
(Dollars in Millions)

DATE	ACQUIROR	TARGET	ENTERPRISE VALUE	MULTIPLE OF LTM REVENUES	MULTIPLE OF LTM EBITDA
9/97	Goodman Holding Company	Raytheon Appliance Group	$750.0[1]	0.5x	5.5x
2/97	Honeywell	Duracraft Corp.	266.9	1.6	13.9
9/96	Gillette Co.	Duracell International	7,862.7	3.3	14.2
9/96	Rubbermaid Inc.	Graco Children's Products, Inc.	320.0	1.2	NA
8/96	Kohlberg Kravis Roberts & Co.	E&S Holding Corporation (Evenflo & Spalding Holding Corporation)[2]	1,078.4	1.5	12.7
9/95	Manitowoc Co.	Shannon Group	126.0	1.2	6.7
12/94	Berisford International plc	Welbilt Corp.	481.2	1.0	8.3
1/94	Health O'Meter Products	Mr. Coffee, Inc.	183.8	0.9	8.4

(1) $200.0 million worth of receivables were purchased by a financial institution. For valuation purposes, we assume receivables would have to be financed.
(2) Strata, an entity organized by Kohlberg Kravis Roberts & Co., L.P., owned 88.4% of the common stock after the recapitalization. The Enterprise Value is presented on a grossed-up basis.

NOT CERTIFIED COPY

CPH 1401235
16div-024754

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

The Coleman Company, Inc.

Contribution Analysis

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Pro Forma Contribution Analysis

(Dollars in Millions Except per Share Data)

	CLN	SOC	IMPLIED PERCENTAGE FOR CLN	ACTUAL PERCENTAGE FOR CLN	IMPLIED EXCHANGE RATIO
1997P Results
Earnings	$24	$124	15.9%	30.2%	0.311x
1998E Results
Earnings	$63	$180[1]	25.8%	30.2%	0.575x

(1) Based on $1.99 EPS and 90.7 million shares outstanding under the treasury method.

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

The Coleman Company, Inc.

Pro Forma Analysis

Assumptions
• $100 million of pre-tax synergies and cost savings
• Sunbeam assumes holding company zeros
• Coleman's debt and cash payment for shareholders financed at 6.5%
• Purchase accounting with goodwill amortized over 40 years

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

CPH 1401237

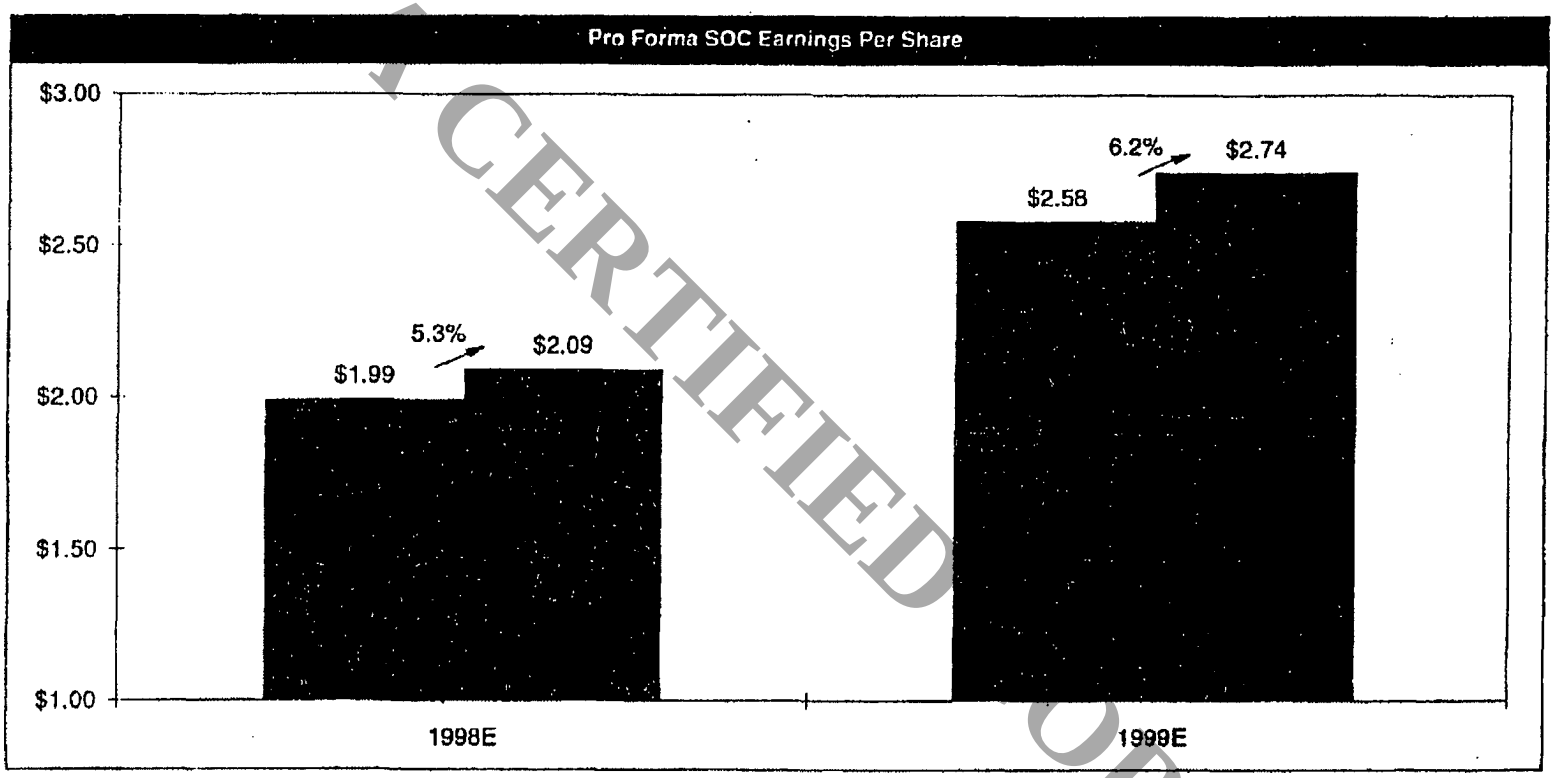
219910

16div-024756

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

The Coleman Company, Inc.

Pro Forma Analysis



Note: Excludes one-time restructuring charges.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

CREDIT SUISSE | FIRST BOSTON

W:\library\80580021.nyw/3

CPH 1401238

16div-024757

£19910

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016914

DEPOSITION
EXHIBIT # 88
FOR ID TRN
4/8/04

MINUTES OF A MEETING OF
THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF
THE COLEMAN COMPANY, INC.
Held on Wednesday, February 25, 1998 at 4:00 p.m. (EST)
35 East 62nd Street, New York, New York

Directors in Attendance:

Jerry W. Levin, Chairman
Donald G. Drapkin
Frank Gifford
Ann D. Jordan
John A. Moran (by telephone)
Ronald O. Perelman
Bruce Slovin
William H. Spoor (by telephone)

Absent:
Lawrence M. Jones
James D. Robinson III

Others in Attendance:

From The Coleman Company, Inc.
Joseph P. Page, Executive Vice President and Chief Financial Officer
Paul E. Shapiro, Executive Vice President and General Counsel
Steven R. Isko, Vice President - Legal and Assistant Secretary
From MacAndrews & Forbes
Howard Gittis
James Maher
William Nesbitt
Barry F. Schwartz
From Wachtell, Lipton, Rosen & Katz
Adam O. Emmerich
Paul K. Rowe
Michael S. Katzke
From Credit Suisse First Boston
Gordon Rich
Robert Duffy

Chairman Levin called the meeting to order at 4:00 p.m. and asked Mr. Isko to act as Secretary of the meeting. Mr. Levin thanked everyone for attending and introduced the participants from Wachtell, Lipton, Rosen & Katz, ("Wachtell") the Company's special counsel, and Credit Suisse First Boston ("First Boston"), the Company's financial advisors.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016615

The first order of business was a brief overview by Mr. Levin of the Company's results for the fourth quarter and full year 1997, and an outlook for near term prospects.

The next item of business was an overview by Mr. Levin of a proposed transaction whereby the Company would be merged with Sunbeam Corporation ("Sunbeam"). Mr. Levin stated that the Company had been in discussions with Sunbeam with respect to a potential transaction whereby the Company would be merged with Sunbeam and holders of the Company's common stock would receive Sunbeam common stock and cash with a total value of $27.50 per Company share. Mr. Levin stated that the proposed transaction is structured to put Sunbeam in control as quickly as possible in order to reduce disruption to the Company's business. Mr. Levin then provided an overview of the information provided by Sunbeam as to their current intentions with regard to divestiture of certain business units of the Company and potential restructurings of remaining facilities. Mr. Levin also reviewed certain employee-protection provisions which the Company is requesting as part of the proposed transaction, including the severance policies, acceleration of options and formalizing pre-existing agreements with certain officers.

Mr. Levin then asked Mr. James Maher to review with the Board the history of the proposed transaction with Sunbeam. Mr. Maher reviewed the history of the proposed transaction, including both the course of discussion between the Company and Sunbeam and an inquiry made by the Company to what the Company believed was the most likely potential bidder, which bidder was not interested. Following Mr. Maher's review, the directors asked numerous questions regarding the proposed transaction and a discussion ensued among the directors.

Following the directors' questions and discussion, Mr. Levin then introduced Mr. Adam Emmerich of Wachtell. Mr. Emmerich described the overall structure of the proposed transaction, the timing for the consummation of the proposed acquisition of the Company by Sunbeam, and the principal filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC") that would be required in connection with the proposed transaction and the timing of those filings. Utilizing a chart he handed out at the meeting (a copy of which is attached to these minutes), Mr. Emmerich then described in detail the structure of the proposed transaction, including the merger of CLN Holdings Inc., a subsidiary of MacAndrews & Forbes Holdings Inc. ("M&F") which owns approximately 82.4% of the Company's common stock in the first step of the transaction, and the merger of the Company and the exchange of its common stock held by the public in the second step of the transaction. Mr. Emmerich described the consideration payable in each step of the transaction, noting that, after a reduction to account for the debt at CLN Holdings, the aggregate consideration payable to M&F for shares of CLN Holdings in the first step of the transaction was based on the same proportions of consideration in cash and Sunbeam common stock payable to the public in the second step of the transaction. Mr. Emmerich also described the tax treatment of the two steps of the transaction, indicating that the receipt of consideration by the Company's public stockholders would generally be taxable while the receipt of consideration by M&F for shares of CLN Holdings in the first step would not be taxable.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016616

Mr. Emmerich then reviewed the contemplated conditions to closing, including that there would be very few conditions, which is typical of acquisitions of public companies. Mr. Emmerich stated that once the acquisition of CLN Holdings was consummated, there would be virtually no conditions to the obligations of Sunbeam to close the second step of the transaction.

The directors then asked numerous questions regarding the consideration being paid, the structure of the transaction, and the other terms of the transaction, and a discussion ensued.

Following the discussion, Mr. Emmerich stated that the Board needed to consider two distinct matters in connection with the acquisition of the Company: (i) approving the merger agreement between Sunbeam and the Company and (ii) approving the first step of the transaction (the acquisition of CLN Holdings) under Section 203 of the Delaware General Corporation law. Mr. Emmerich stated that both decisions by the Board should be governed by the "business judgment rule" under Delaware law.

Mr. Emmerich reviewed with the Board the requirements of the "duty of care" and "duty of loyalty," identifying certain facts the Board should consider, including that both M&F and the Company's public stockholders will receive consideration for the Company's common stock in the same mix of cash and stock and based upon the same valuation, management's activities to maximize the consideration to all of the Company's shareholders and that there is a tremendous risk of damage to the Company's business in conducting a more extended or extensive sale process without any indication that another bidder would emerge. Mr. Emmerich noted for the Board as part of its consideration that both Wachtell and First Boston have in the past been engaged by affiliates of the Company, including M&F and its subsidiaries.

Mr. Emmerich stated that in light of the fact that the preponderance of the economic investment of the Company's stockholders in Coleman will become an equity stake in Sunbeam following the consummation of the transaction, and that, at such time, there will exist no controlling stockholder of Sunbeam, the proposed transaction is not a "sale" within the meaning of Revlon v MacAndrews & Forbes, which doctrine Mr. Emmerich described for the Board. Mr. Emmerich stated that the Company's stockholders, as stockholders of Sunbeam, may be able to obtain another control premium with respect to their Sunbeam common stock, and that this is an unusually favorable transaction in that the public stockholders of the Company would not only

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016617

CONFIDENTIAL SASMF 08874
CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER CPH0634058

16div-024761

receive a premium for their Coleman shares but would also obtain the benefits of becoming stockholders in Sunbeam, a public company which has no controlling stockholder, thereby offering the possibility of sharing in another control premium in the future.

Following Mr. Emmerich's presentation the Board asked questions and a discussion ensued.

Mr. Levin thanked Mr. Emmerich for his presentation and then introduced Mr. Gordon Rich of First Boston. Mr. Rich reviewed with the Board each page of the presentation prepared by First Boston, a copy of which was distributed to the directors and is attached to these minutes. Mr. Rich began with an overview of the financial terms of the proposed transactions, including the proposed exchange ratio in the second step of .6258 Sunbeam shares for each share of the Company's common stock, cash consideration in the second step of $4.40 per share (together representing a premium of 44.2% to the Company's stock price on the previous day), and aggregate consideration in the first step of the transaction of approximately 15.6 million shares of Sunbeam common stock and approximately $106 million in cash. Mr. Rich then reviewed the value of the proposed transaction as it relates to various financial indicia, including historical stock trading prices and earnings, the value to the Company's stockholders as the price of Sunbeam stock increased or decreased, and the two-year trading history of Sunbeam stock. Mr. Rich stated that since Mr. Dunlap became Chief Executive Officer of Sunbeam, Sunbeam's stock price has approximately doubled.

Mr. Rich then reviewed the implied exchange ratio of the proposed transaction and stated that it was higher than the exchange ratio implied by the two companies' historical stock market price.

Mr. Rich then reviewed with the Board the section of the First Boston presentation on Valuation Methodologies, and reviewed with the Board the three methods prepared by First Boston: Discounted Cash Flow Analysis, Comparable Company Analysis and Comparable Acquisition Analysis. In reviewing the Discounted Cash Flow Analysis, Mr. Rich noted that First Boston used the Company's 1998 estimates on earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization ("EBITDA"), which shows a significant increase over 1997 results, and is higher than the Company's best results in any year. Mr. Rich stated that although First Boston did not discount the 1998 EBITDA forecasts, another buyer would likely discount such estimates, resulting in a lower discounted cash flow range of values than those presented by First Boston.

Mr. Rich stated that the price being paid for the Company's common stock would be within or exceed the range of values for the Company's common stock implied by the three valuation methodologies.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016918

Mr. Rich then provided a brief overview of Sunbeam, including Wall Street estimates for Sunbeam's stock price and then reviewed a summary of the Discounted Cash Flow Analysis, Comparable Company Analysis and Comparable Acquisition Analysis for Sunbeam. Based on such analysis, Mr. Rich stated that it was First Boston's conclusion that Sunbeam's stock was fairly valued at today's market price (approximately $41 per share). Mr. Rich then reviewed a Contribution Analysis demonstrating that, based on contribution to earnings, the Company's stockholders should receive 16% of the outstanding Sunbeam shares after the acquisition of Coleman, whereas the terms of the transaction provide that they will receive approximately 30%.

Following Mr. Rich's presentation, the directors asked questions and a discussion ensued.

Mr. Levin explained that a decision from the directors with respect to the transaction was not required at today's meeting, and that significant issues remained to be negotiated. Mr. Levin indicated that the Board would meet again to consider the final terms of the transaction.

Mr. Levin thanked Mr. Rich for his presentation and stated that the next item was the approval of the 1997 bonus payments. Mr. Levin stated that the bonuses under the Management Incentive Plan were conditioned on the Company achieving a certain minimum earnings per share. The earnings per share condition was the only condition that had not been satisfied and if the condition were absent, bonuses would have been earned under the Management Incentive Plan. Therefore, in light of the progress made by the Company during 1997 to restructure its operations and in consideration of the Company's financial performance during 1997, management recommends that a bonus be paid based on the amounts that would have been earned absent the condition of a minimum earnings per share.

Upon a motion made and duly seconded, the Board adopted management's recommendation with respect to the 1997 bonuses and adopted the following resolutions:

1997 Bonus Payments

WHEREAS, one condition to the payment of amounts under the Company's Management Incentive Plan has not been satisfied for 1997; and

WHEREAS, but for such condition, certain payments would have been earned under the Company's Management Incentive Plan;

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that in light of the progress made by the Company during 1997 to restructure its operations, and in consideration of the financial performance of the Company during 1997, the payments to employees of the Company of discretionary bonus as described to this Board are hereby approved and adopted in all respects.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0116619

General

RESOLVED, that any officer of the Company be, and each of them individually hereby is, authorized and empowered in the name and on behalf of the Company, to (i) take or cause to be taken any and all such further actions and to prepare, execute and deliver or cause to be prepared, executed and delivered, and where necessary or appropriate, file or cause to be filed with the appropriate governmental authorities, all such other instruments and documents, including but not limited to all certificates, contracts, bonds, agreements, documents, instruments, receipts or other papers, (ii) incur and pay or cause to paid all fees and expenses and (iii) engage such persons as such officer shall in his judgment determine to be necessary or appropriate to carry out fully the intent and purposes of the foregoing resolutions and each of the transactions contemplated thereby; and further

RESOLVED, that all actions previously taken by any director, officer, employee or agent of the Company in connection with or related to the matters set forth in or reasonably contemplated or implied by the foregoing resolutions be, and each of them hereby is, adopted, ratified, confirmed and approved in all respects as the acts and deeds of the Company.

Mr. Levin then stated that the next Board meeting would be held on Friday, February 27, 1998 at 9:30 a.m. (EST). Mr. Levin stated that Messrs. Rich and Emmerich and members of management would be available to answer any questions any of the directors may have and provide any additional materials a director may want.

At 5:30 p.m., the meeting was adjourned.

Secretary

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

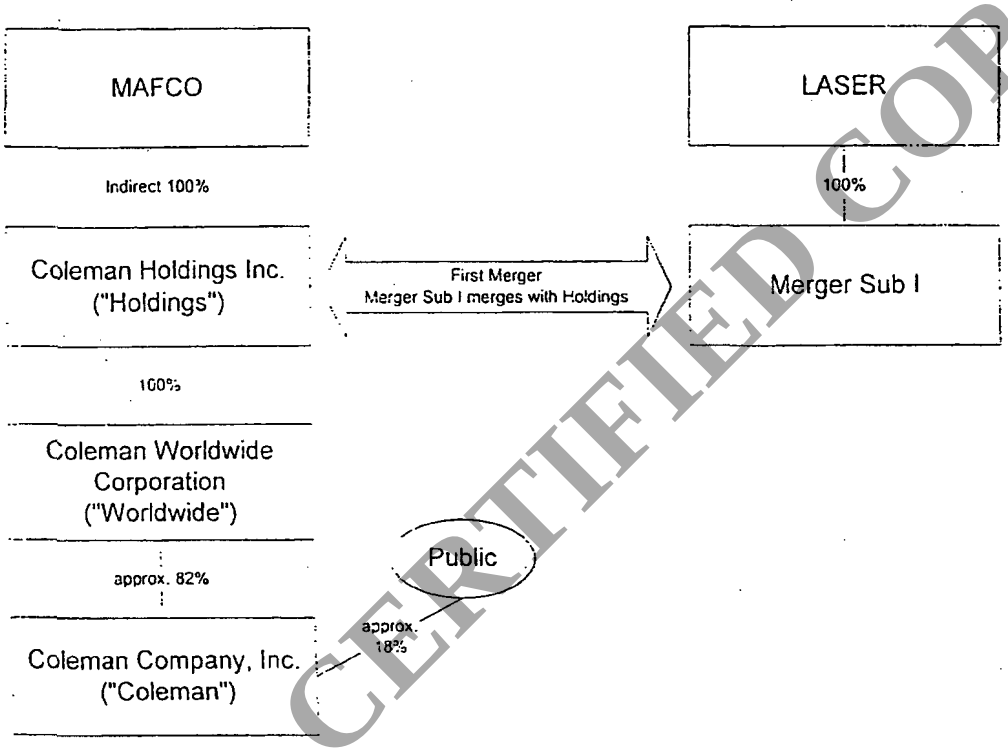
016620

CONFIDENTIAL SASMF 08877

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER CPH0634061

16div-024764

PROJECT LASER
PROPOSED TRANSACTION STRUCTURE



PRE-TRANSACTION STRUCTURE:

MAFCO owns Coleman Holding Companies, and idirectly 82% of Coleman

Public owns 18% of Coleman

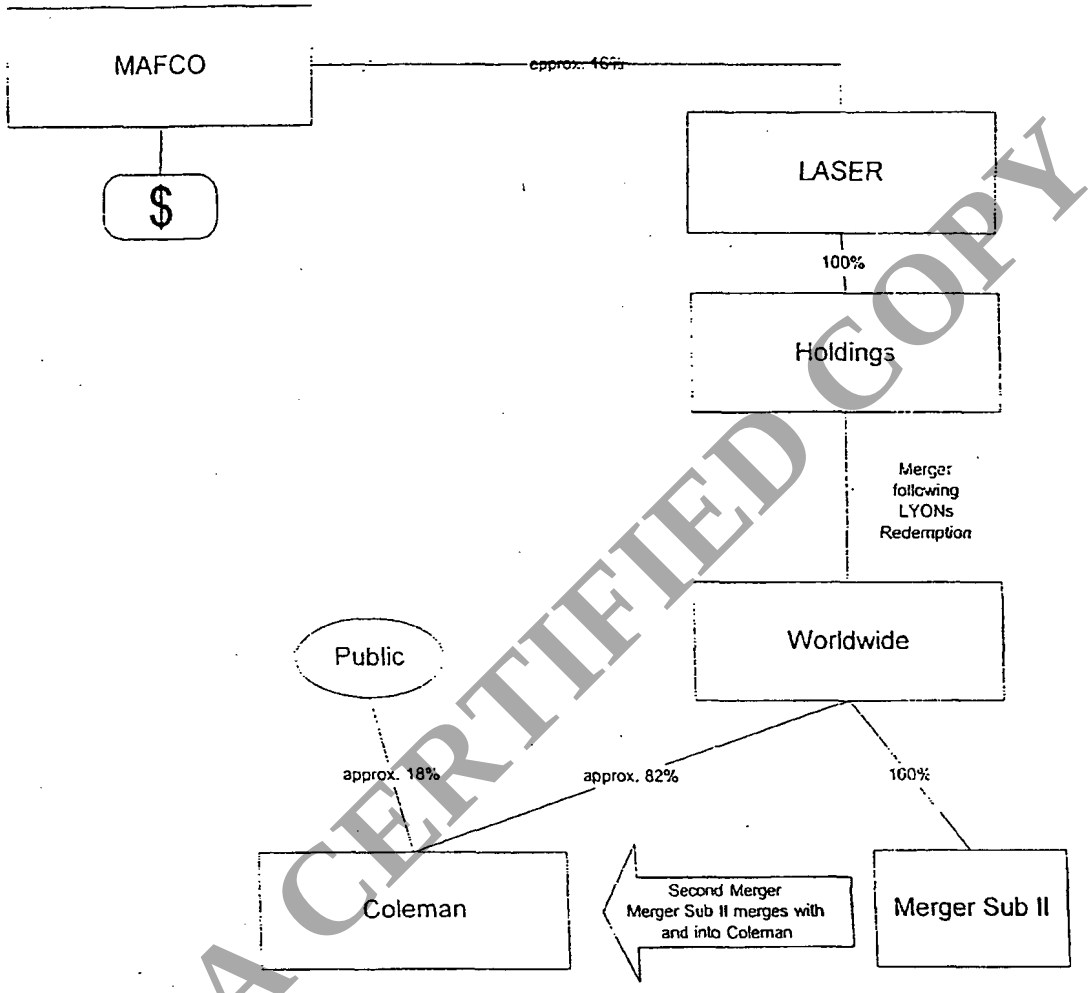
Laser forms Merger Sub I to acquire Coleman Holdings

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

012921

STRICTLY CONFIDENTIAL
FEBRUARY 25, 1998

PROJECT LASER
PROPOSED TRANSACTION STRUCTURE



AFTER FIRST MERGER:

MAFCO receives Laser stock and cash for Holdings shares

Laser owns Coleman Holdings chain

Public continues to own 18% OF Coleman

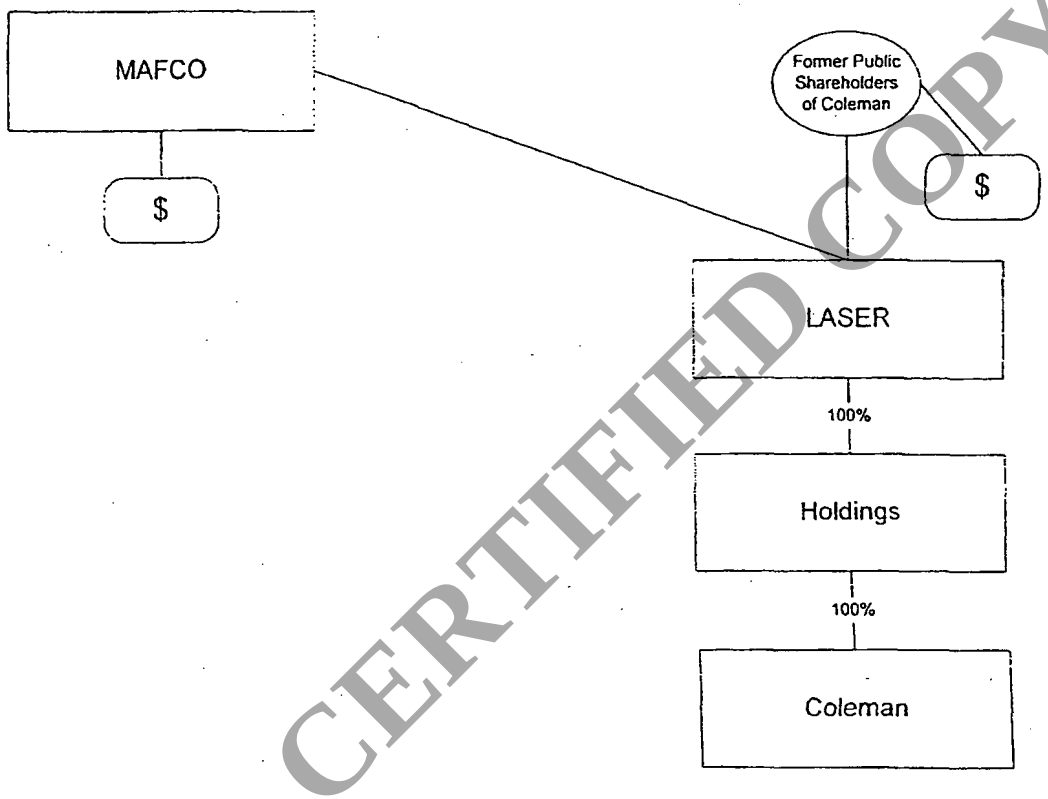
LYONs redeemed; Worldwide mergers with Holdings

Merger Sub II formed for second merger

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016622

PROJECT LASER
PROPOSED TRANSACTION STRUCTURE



AFTER SECOND MERGER:

Public receives Laser stock and cash for Coleman shares in the second merger

Coleman 100% owned by Laser

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

019623

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0166924

MINUTES OF A MEETING OF
THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF
THE COLEMAN COMPANY, INC.
Held on Friday, February 27, 1998 at 9:30 a.m. (EST)
35 East 62nd Street, New York, New York

Directors in Attendance:

Jerry W. Levin, Chairman
Donald G. Drapkin
Frank Gifford
Lawrence M. Jones
Ann D. Jordan
John A. Moran (by telephone)
Ronald O. Perelman
James D. Robinson III
Bruce Slovin
William H. Spoor (by telephone)

Others in Attendance:

From The Coleman Company, Inc.
Joseph P. Page, Executive Vice President and Chief Financial Officer
Paul E. Shapiro, Executive Vice President and General Counsel
Steven R. Isko, Vice President - Legal and Assistant Secretary
From MacAndrews & Forbes
Howard Gittis
James Maher
William Nesbitt
From Wachtell, Lipton, Rosen & Katz
Adam O. Emmerich
Paul K. Rowe
Michael S. Katzke
From Credit Suisse First Boston
Gordon Rich
Robert Duffy

Chairman Levin called the meeting to order at 9:30 a.m. and asked Mr. Isko to act as Secretary of the meeting. Mr. Levin thanked everyone for attending and reviewed with the Board the status of the negotiations, noting that in the course of the negotiations the cash component of the consideration has been increased to $6.44 per Company share, and that the exchange ratio for the Sunbeam stock to be received has been decreased to .5677, the effect of which was subsequently described by Mr. Rich. Mr. Levin then asked Adam Emmerich of Wachtell, Lipton, Rosen and Katz ("Wachtell") to review the proposed transaction structure and the consideration to be received.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

EXHIBIT
MS 123

Mr. Emmerich reviewed with the Board the transaction structure, utilizing a chart which was distributed to the Board (a copy of which is attached to these minutes), and the consideration to be received by the public stockholders of the Company and by MacAndrews & Forbes Holdings Inc. ("M&F") for the sale of CLN Holdings Inc. ("CLN Holdings"), a parent company of the Company and by the Company's public stockholders.

Mr. Emmerich then reviewed the terms of the principal documents for the transaction, utilizing a summary of such documents delivered to the Board (a copy of which is attached to these minutes). Mr. Emmerich reviewed with the Board the conditions to the first step, the merger of CLN Holdings, and the conditions to the second step, the merger of the Company and the exchange of its common stock held by the public. Mr. Emmerich reviewed again with the Board their duties under Delaware law. Mr. Emmerich then responded to questions from the directors.

Mr. Levin then introduced Mr. Gordon Rich of Credit Suisse First Boston ("First Boston"). Mr. Rich reviewed the financial terms of the proposed transaction, noting the differences from the terms that existed on Wednesday, in particular the increase in the cash component of the consideration to $6.44 per Company share and the decrease in the exchange ratio of Sunbeam shares per Company share to .5677. Mr. Rich reviewed with the Board revised pages to the First Boston presentation delivered on Wednesday (a copy of such pages are attached to these minutes). Mr. Rich stated that the revised financial terms, based on Wednesday's closing price per Sunbeam share, has $0.31 less value per Company share than the previous financial terms, but that based on yesterday's closing price for Sunbeam's common stock the value to the stockholders of the cash and stock to be received in the merger was approximately the same as on Wednesday. Mr. Rich then responded to question from the directors.

Mr. Rich then stated that it was First Boston's opinion that the consideration to be received by the public stockholders of the Company is fair from a financial point of view.

A discussion then ensued about Sunbeam's pending acquisitions, and Mr. Maher reviewed for the Board Sunbeam's contemplated acquisitions of Signature Brands (which owns the Mr. Coffee brand of coffee makers) and First Alert.

Mr. Levin reviewed with the Board the terms of the proposed transaction that relate to employee severance and benefits. Mr. Levin described for the Board the principal terms of the Executive Severance Policy to be adopted by the Board, the severance policy to be offered to employees that are not participants in the Executive Severance Policy, and the acceleration of stock options upon the closing of the acquisition of CLN Holdings.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0166626

CONFIDENTIAL SASMF 08882

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER CPH0634066

16div-024770

Mr. Levin then introduced Paul Shapiro, General Counsel of the Company, who reviewed with the Board the proposed resolutions to be adopted.

A motion was duly made and seconded to approve the following resolutions.

WHEREAS, it is proposed that CLN Holdings enter into an Agreement and Plan of Merger (the "Holdings Merger Agreement") with Sunbeam, a newly formed subsidiary of Sunbeam ("Laser Merger Sub") and Coleman (Parent) Holdings Inc., pursuant to which CLN Holdings would be merged with Laser Merger Sub, with CLN Holdings as the surviving entity (the "Holdings Merger");

WHEREAS, in the Holdings Merger, the shares of Holdings Common Stock, par value $1.00 per share ("Holdings Common Stock"), issued and outstanding immediately prior to the effective time of the Holdings Merger will be converted into the right to receive in the aggregate 14,099,749 shares of Sunbeam common stock, par value $.01 per share ("Sunbeam Common Stock"), and $159,956,756 in cash, without interest thereon; and each share of Laser Merger Sub common stock issued and outstanding immediately prior to such time will be converted into one share of Common Stock, par value $1.00 per share, of the surviving corporation in the Holdings Merger; and

WHEREAS, it is proposed that, concurrently with the execution and delivery of the Holdings Merger Agreement, the Company enter into an Agreement and Plan of Merger (the "Coleman Merger Agreement") with Sunbeam and a newly formed subsidiary of Laser ("Coleman Merger Sub") , pursuant to which the Company would be merged with Coleman Merger Sub, with the Company as the surviving entity (the "Coleman Merger"); and

WHEREAS, in the Coleman Merger, each share of the Company's Common Stock, par value $0.01 per share ("Coleman Common Stock"), issued and outstanding immediately prior to the effective time of the Coleman Merger (other than (i) shares of Coleman Common Stock owned by the Company, Sunbeam or any subsidiary of the Company and (ii) Dissenting Shares (as defined in the Coleman Merger Agreement)) will be converted into the right to receive (A) 0.5677 shares of Sunbeam Common Stock, with cash paid in lieu of fractional shares, and (B) $6.44 in cash, without interest thereon; and each share of Coleman Merger Sub common stock issued and outstanding immediately prior to such time will be converted into one share of Common Stock, par value $.01 per share, of the surviving Company in the Coleman Merger; and

WHEREAS, First Boston, financial adviser to the Board of Directors, has made a presentation to the Board of Directors regarding the Holdings Merger and the Coleman Merger and has advised the Board of Directors that, as of the date of hereof, the consideration to be received by the public stockholders of the Company in the Coleman Merger is fair to such stockholders from a financial point of view; and

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0166927

CONFIDENTIAL SASMF 08883

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER CPH0634067

16div-024771

WHEREAS, upon careful consideration of the information presented by management of the Company, First Boston and the Company's other advisers, and after full discussion of those matters which the Board of Directors believes are necessary or appropriate to enable it to evaluate and reach an informed decision regarding the fairness and advisability of the Coleman Merger and the respective transactions contemplated thereby, including the Holdings Merger, the Board of Directors has determined that it is advisable and in the best interests of the Company and its stockholders to approve the Coleman Agreement and the consummation of each of the transactions contemplated by such agreement, including the Holdings Merger; and

WHEREAS, it is proposed that the Company adopt and implement an Executive Severance Policy in substantially the form provided to the Board of Directors and that the Company enter into certain employment arrangements with Jerry W. Levin, Chairman of the Board and Acting Chief Executive Officer of the Company, and Paul E. Shapiro, General Counsel, substantially in the form of the agreements presented to the Board of Directors; and

WHEREAS, Coleman Worldwide Company ("Worldwide") intends to redeem all of its outstanding Liquid Yield Option Notes due 2013 on May 27, 1998 or as soon as practicable thereafter and following such redemption intends to merge with and into Holdings with Holdings as the surviving Company (the "Worldwide-Holdings Merger");

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT:

Approval of Coleman Merger and Coleman Merger Agreement

RESOLVED, that the Coleman Merger is advisable and fair to and in the best interests of the Company and its stockholders; and

RESOLVED, that the form, terms and provisions of the Coleman Merger Agreement, in substantially the form attached hereto, and the consummation of the transactions contemplated thereby, including the Coleman Merger and the Holdings Merger, be, and they hereby are, authorized, approved and adopted in all respects, and that any officer of the Company be, and each of them individually hereby is, authorized, in the name and on behalf of the Company, to execute, acknowledge, certify and deliver the Coleman Merger Agreement with such amendments and/or supplemental or additional related agreements as are contemplated by the Coleman Merger Agreement, and as the officer or officers executing the same shall approve, such approval to be evidenced by execution and delivery thereof; and

RESOLVED, that the Board of Directors does hereby recommend that the stockholders of the Company approve the Coleman Merger Agreement, as the same may be executed and acknowledged on its behalf by its officers; and that the Company perform its obligations in

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016628

CONFIDENTIAL SASMF 08884

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER CPH0634068

16div-024772

accordance with the Coleman Merger Agreement and the other instruments and agreements contemplated thereby; and

Delaware Business Combination Statute

RESOLVED, that the Holdings Merger and the transactions contemplated by the Coleman Merger Agreement, including the Holdings Merger, are hereby approved for purposes of Section 203 of the Delaware General Company Law (the "DGCL") which transactions may result in any of Sunbeam, Laser Merger Sub or Coleman Merger Sub becoming an "interested stockholder" within the meaning of paragraph (a)(2) of Section 203 of the DGCL and by any other similar laws that may be deemed applicable to the Company; and

RESOLVED, that the Board of Directors hereby approves the Worldwide-Holdings Merger solely for purposes of Section 203 of the DGCL which transaction may result in any of Sunbeam, Laser Merger Sub or Coleman Merger Sub becoming an "interested stockholder" within the meaning of (a)(2) of Section 203 of the DGCL and by any other similar laws that may be deemed applicable to the Company; and

Adoption of Executive Severance Policy

RESOLVED, that the form, terms and provisions of the Executive Severance Policy, in substantially the form presented to the Board of Directors, and the consummation of the transactions contemplated thereby, be, and hereby are, approved and adopted in all respects; and that any officer of the Company be, and each of them individually hereby is, authorized, in the name and on behalf of the Company, to take, or cause to be taken any and all such actions as in such officer's judgment shall be necessary, desirable, appropriate or advisable to implement, carry out and effectuate the Executive Severance Policy; and

Increases In Target Bonus

RESOLVED, that the target bonuses for the following persons under the Company's Management Incentive Plan are hereby approved and adopted in all respects:

Hiro Suzuki	50%
Anthony Lenders	60%
James Rasmus	50%
Gwen Wisler	50%
Kyle Wendt	25%
Bobby Jenkins	50%
Karen Clark	50%
Gary Patten	40%

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016629

CONFIDENTIAL

SASMF 08885

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CPH0634069

16div-024773

Approval of Certain Employment Arrangements

RESOLVED, that upon information provided to the Board of Directors and upon such other matters as are deemed relevant to the Board of Directors, the Board of Directors finds that the form, terms and provisions of the agreements with Messrs. Levin and Shapiro are fair to and in the best interests of the Company and its stockholders and hereby approves and adopts each of such agreements, substantially in the forms provided to the Board of Directors as of the date hereof; and

RESOLVED, that any officer of the Company be, and each of them individually hereby is, authorized, in the name and on behalf of the Company, to execute and deliver such employment agreements substantially in the form provided to the Board of Directors as of the date hereof, with such changes therein as the officers executing the same may approve, the execution thereof by any such officer conclusively to evidence the due authorization, approval, and adoption thereof by the Board of Directors; and

Securities and Exchange Commission Filings

RESOLVED, that in order for the Company to comply with all applicable requirements of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and all rules and regulations thereunder (the "Securities Act"), the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, and all rules and regulations thereunder (the "Exchange Act"), and the rules and regulations of the New York Stock Exchange (the "NYSE"), any officer of the Company be, and each of them individually hereby is, authorized, in the name and on behalf of the Company, with the assistance of counsel, to prepare, execute, deliver and file with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC"), the NYSE or other relevant body any and all reports, statements, documents and information required to be filed (the "SEC Filings") by the Company pursuant to the Securities Act, the Exchange Act and the rules of the NYSE, including, without limitation, to the extent deemed necessary or appropriate by any officer, after consultation with counsel, preliminary and definitive proxy materials (including an information statement meeting the requirements of Schedule 14C under the Exchange Act) and any amendments or supplements thereto or other documents required in connection therewith as such officer deem necessary or appropriate in connection with the approval of the Coleman Merger Agreement and the consummation of the transactions contemplated thereby, including the Holdings Merger; and

RESOLVED, that any officer of the Company be, and each of them individually hereby is, authorized, in the name and on behalf of the Company, to (i) appear before and respond to inquiries of officials of the SEC and the NYSE in connection with the SEC Filings, (ii) pay any fees and expenses incurred in connection with the preparation and filing of the SEC Filings, and

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0166630

CONFIDENTIAL SASMF 08886

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER CPH0634070

16div-024774

(iii) take such other actions in connection with the SEC Filings as the officer or officers taking the same shall deem necessary, appropriate or advisable; and

RESOLVED, that any officer of the Company be, and each of them individually hereby is, authorized, in the name and on behalf of the Company, to take all action necessary or appropriate to mail or cause to be mailed to the Company's stockholders definitive proxy materials together with such other documents (including without limitation a cover letter to stockholders) as such officers, upon the advice of counsel, deem necessary or appropriate in connection therewith; and

Engagements

RESOLVED, that the Board of Directors hereby approves the engagement of First Boston as financial advisor in connection with the transactions contemplated by the Coleman Merger Agreement on the terms reflected in the form of engagement letter provided to the Board of Directors, and any officer of the Company be, and each of them individually hereby is, authorized, in the name and on behalf of the Company, to enter into an engagement letter and indemnity arrangements with First Boston in connection therewith, all in such form as the officers executing the same may approve, the execution thereof by any such officer conclusively to evidence the due authorization thereof by the Board of Directors, and to take such actions as may be necessary or advisable to comply with the terms of said agreement and to consummate the transactions contemplated thereby; and

RESOLVED, that any officer of the Company be, and each of them individually hereby is, authorized, in the name and on behalf of the Company, to engage such other advisors and other agents as may be necessary or advisable in connection with the Coleman Merger and the other transactions contemplated by the Coleman Merger Agreement, including the Holdings Merger, and enter into engagement agreements with such firms on such terms as the officers executing the same may approve, the execution thereof by any such officer conclusively to evidence the due authorization thereof by the Board of Directors, and to take such actions as may be necessary or advisable to comply with the terms of said agreement and to consummate the transactions contemplated thereby; and

Actions by Subsidiaries

RESOLVED, that any officer of the Company and its various subsidiaries be, and each of them individually hereby is, authorized, in the name and on behalf of the Company and such subsidiaries, to cause any of such subsidiaries to enter into any agreement and any transaction relating thereto, and to consummate such transactions, as may be necessary or advisable in

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016631

CONFIDENTIAL SASMF 08887

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER CPH0634071

16div-024775

connection with and in furtherance of the Coleman Merger Agreement and the transactions contemplated thereby, including the Holdings Merger; and

Regulatory Filings

RESOLVED, that, in order for the Company to comply with all applicable requirements of the Hart-Scott-Rodino Antitrust Improvements Act of 1976, as amended (the "HSR Act"), and the rules and regulations thereunder, including, but not limited to, the filing requirements thereunder, any officer of the Company be, and each of them individually hereby is, authorized, in the name and on behalf of the Company, with the assistance of counsel, to prepare, execute, deliver and file or cause to be prepared, executed, delivered and filed all reports, statements, documents, and information required to be filed by the Company pursuant to the HSR Act and to respond to all requests for additional information and to meet or confer with, or to cause counsel to meet or confer with, officials of the Federal Trade Commission or the Antitrust Division of the Department of Justice relating to any transactions contemplated by the Coleman Merger Agreement, including the Holdings Merger; and

RESOLVED, that any officer of the Company be, and each of them individually hereby is, authorized to cooperate with Laser in the preparation, execution, delivery and filing of any other reports, statements, applications and information which may be required to be filed by Sunbeam, the Company or any of their respective subsidiaries in connection with the transactions contemplated by the Coleman Merger Agreement, including the Holdings Merger, or any other agreement contemplated thereunder, pursuant to the statutes, rules and regulations of the federal government or any applicable state, local or foreign authority or regulatory body; and

Certificate of Merger

RESOLVED, that in order for the Company to comply with all applicable requirements of the DGCL, the appropriate officers of the Company be, and each of them hereby is, authorized and directed, in the name and on behalf of the Company, with the assistance of counsel, to prepare, execute, deliver or cause to be prepared, executed, delivered and, at the appropriate time as contemplated by the Coleman Merger Agreement following the approval thereof by the Company's stockholders in accordance with the provisions of the DGCL, file or cause to be filed with the Secretary of State of the State of Delaware, a certificate of merger as required by the DGCL in order to effect the Coleman Merger, and any and all additional documents and information required to be filed therewith; and

Delisting of Coleman Common Stock from the NYSE

RESOLVED, that subject to the consummation of the Coleman Merger, any officer of the Company be, and each of them individually hereby is, authorized, in the name and on behalf of

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0166632

CONFIDENTIAL SASMF 08888
CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER CPH0634072

16div-024776

the Company, (i) to take all steps necessary or appropriate, upon the advice of counsel, to cause the Coleman Common Stock to cease to be listed on the NYSE, (ii) to appear before and respond to inquiries of officials of the NYSE in connection with the foregoing, and (iii) to take such other actions and do such other things in connection therewith as the officers taking or doing the same shall deem necessary, appropriate or advisable; and

Payment of Necessary Fees

RESOLVED, that any officer of the Company be, and each of them individually hereby is, authorized, in the name and on behalf of the Company, to pay all fees incurred by the Company in connection with the transactions, including, without limitation, fees and expenses of the Company's financial advisors, fees and expenses of the Company's legal counsel, filing fees and printing expenses, and to make all payments as they, or any of them individually, shall determine to be necessary or appropriate, such payment to be conclusive evidence of their determination; and

Litigation

RESOLVED, that any officer of the Company be, and each of them individually hereby is, authorized, in the name and on behalf of the Company, to take any steps in connection with initiating, defending or settling legal proceedings in any federal or state court or agency as they, upon the advice of counsel, deem necessary or appropriate in connection with the transactions contemplated by the foregoing resolutions; and

Expenses

RESOLVED, that any officer be, and each of them individually hereby is, authorized, in the name and on behalf of the Company, to pay any and all expenses and fees arising in connection with the matters contemplated by these resolutions; and

General

RESOLVED, that any officer of the Company or any person or persons authorized in writing by any of them be, and each of them individually hereby is, authorized, in the name and on behalf of the Company, to enter into, execute, deliver and perform any and all agreements, amendments, consents, certificates, instruments, documents, notices, requests, directions, approvals, instructions, reports, schedules, statements, information and other communications as any of such officers or such other authorized persons may determine to be required by, or otherwise necessary, advisable or appropriate in connection with, the Coleman Merger or contemplated in connection with the matters authorized in this and the preceding resolutions, and to make any filings pursuant to federal, state and foreign laws and to take all other actions that

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016633

CONFIDENTIAL SASMF 08889

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER CPH0634073

16div-024777

any of such officers or such other authorized persons may determine to be necessary, desirable, appropriate or advisable in order to comply with the applicable laws and regulations of any jurisdiction (domestic or foreign), or otherwise to effectuate and carry out the purposes of the foregoing resolutions and to permit the transactions contemplated thereby to be consummated lawfully, and to take any and all such other actions, including, without limitation, filings with the SEC, the National Association of Securities Dealers or other entities, as any of such officers or such other authorized persons may determine to be necessary, advisable or appropriate in connection with any of the foregoing or for the purpose of otherwise carrying into effect the purposes of this and the preceding resolutions, such determination conclusively to be evidenced by such entry, execution, delivery, performance, or the taking of such action, by and of such officers or such other authorized persons; and

RESOLVED, that the Board of Directors hereby adopts, as if expressly set forth herein, the form of any and all resolutions required by any authority to be filed in connection with any applications, reports, filings, consents to service of process, powers of attorney, issuer's covenants and other papers, instruments and documents if in the opinion of an officer of the Company executing the same, the adoption of such resolutions is necessary, desirable, appropriate or advisable, and that the Secretary or an Assistant Secretary of the Company be, and each of them individually hereby is, authorized to evidence such adoption by inserting in this these resolutions copies of such resolutions, which will thereupon be deemed to be adopted by the Board of Directors with the same force and effect as if originally set forth herein.

RESOLVED, that all actions previously taken by any officer, director, representative or agent of the Company, in the name or on behalf of the Company or any of its affiliates in connection with the transactions contemplated by the foregoing resolutions be, and each of the same hereby is, adopted, ratified, confirmed and approved in all respects as the act and deed of the Company; and

RESOLVED, that any officer of the Company be, and each of them individually hereby is, authorized, in the name and on behalf of the Company, to take or cause to be taken any and all such further actions and to prepare, execute and deliver or cause to be prepared, executed and delivered all such further agreements, documents, certificates and undertakings, and to incur all such fees and expenses, as in his or her judgment shall be necessary, desirable, appropriate or advisable to carry out and effectuate the purpose and intent of any and all of the foregoing resolutions.

Following Mr. Shapiro's presentation, the directors asked questions and a discussion ensued.

Mr. Levin then stated that Sunbeam is holding its Board meeting during this afternoon, and that this meeting of the Company's Board would continue through the time of the conclusion

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0166634

CONFIDENTIAL SASMF 08890

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER CPH0634074

16div-024778

of the Sunbeam meeting.

Following the conclusion of the Sunbeam Board meeting, the directors unanimously approved the resolutions presented earlier in the day (which resolutions are included herein).

At 10:30 p.m. (EST), the meeting was adjourned.

Secretary

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016635

CONFIDENTIAL SASMF 08891

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER CPH0634075

16div-024779

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016636

CREDIT SUISSE FIRST BOSTON

CREDIT SUISSE FIRST BOSTON CORPORATION

Eleven Madison Avenue
New York, NY 10010-3629

Telephone 212 325 2000

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

February 27, 1998

Board of Directors
The Coleman Company, Inc.
625 Madison Avenue
New York, NY 10022

Members of the Board:

You have asked us to advise you with respect to the fairness from a financial point of view to the stockholders of The Coleman Company, Inc. (the "Company"), other than Coleman Worldwide Corporation ("Worldwide") and its affiliates, of the Consideration (as hereinafter defined) to be received by such stockholders pursuant to the terms of an agreement and plan of merger dated as of February 27, 1998 (the "Company Merger Agreement") among Sunbeam Corporation (the "Acquiror"), Camper Acquisition Corp., a newly formed, wholly owned subsidiary of the Acquiror ("Merger Sub"), and the Company. The Company Merger Agreement provides, among other things, for the merger (the "Company Merger") of Merger Sub with and into the Company, whereby each outstanding share of common stock, par value $0.01 per share, of the Company (the "Company Common Stock") (other than shares of Company Common Stock held by the Company, the Acquiror or their respective subsidiaries (other than Worldwide or Holdings (as defined below)), and other than Dissenting Shares (as defined in the Company Merger Agreement)) will be converted into the right to receive (1) 0.5677 shares (the "Share Consideration") of common stock, par value $0.01 per share, of the Acquiror (the "Acquiror Common Stock") and (b) $6.44 in cash, without interest thereon (the "Cash Consideration" and, together with the Share Consideration, the "Consideration"). In connection with the Company Merger, the Acquiror, Laser Acquisition Corp., a newly formed, wholly owned subsidiary of the Acquiror ("Sunbeam Merger Sub"), Coleman (Parent) Holdings Inc. ("Parent Holdings") and CLN Holdings Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary of Parent Holdings ("Holdings"), will also enter into an agreement and plan of merger dated as of February 27, 1998 (the "Holdings Merger Agreement"), which provides, among other things, for the merger (the "Holdings Merger" and, together with the Company Merger, the "Mergers") of Sunbeam Merger Sub with and into Holdings, whereby the outstanding shares of common stock, par value $1.00, of Holdings (the "Holdings Common Stock") will be converted into the right to receive (1) 14,099,749 shares of Acquiror Common Stock and (2) $159,956,756 in cash, without interest thereon.

010637

MS 120
5-12-04 WDS

CP 010587
CONFIDENTIAL

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CPH 1400750

16div-024781

The Company Merger is subject to and conditioned upon, among other things, consummation of the Holdings Merger.

In arriving at our opinion, we have reviewed certain publicly available business and financial information relating to the Company and the Acquiror, as well as the Company Merger Agreement and the Holdings Merger Agreement. We have also reviewed certain other information, including financial forecasts, provided to us by the Company and the Acquiror, and have met with the managements of the Company and the Acquiror to discuss the business and prospects of the Company and the Acquiror as well as the business, operational and strategic benefits and implications of the Mergers and the synergies and operating cost savings expected by the managements of the Company and the Acquiror to be achieved through the combination of the operations of the Company and the Acquiror.

We have also considered certain financial and stock market data of the Company and the Acquiror, and we have compared that data with similar data for other publicly held companies in businesses similar to the Company and the Acquiror and we have considered the financial terms of certain other business combinations and other transactions that have recently been effected. We also considered such other information, financial studies, analyses and investigations and financial, economic and market criteria which we deemed relevant.

In connection with our review, we have not assumed any responsibility for independent verification of any of the foregoing information and have relied on its being complete and accurate in all material respects. With respect to the financial forecasts, we have assumed that they have been reasonably prepared on bases reflecting the best currently available estimates and judgments of the managements of the Company and the Acquiror as to the future financial performance of their respective companies and the synergies and operating cost savings expected to be achieved through the combination of the operations of the Company and the Acquiror. In addition, we have not been requested to make, and have not made, an independent evaluation or appraisal of the assets or liabilities (contingent or otherwise) of the Company or the Acquiror, nor have we been furnished with any such evaluations or appraisals. Our opinion is necessarily based upon financial, economic, market and other conditions as they exist and can be evaluated on the date hereof. We are not expressing any opinion as to what the actual value of the shares of Acquiror Common Stock will be when issued to the Company's stockholders pursuant to the Company Merger or the prices at which such shares of Acquiror Common Stock will trade subsequent to the Mergers.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016538

We have acted as financial advisor to the Company in connection with the Mergers and will receive a fee for our services, a significant portion of which is contingent upon the consummation of the Mergers.

In the past we have performed certain investment banking services for the Company and the parent of Parent Holdings and certain of its affiliates and have received customary fees for such services.

In the ordinary course of our business, we and our affiliates may actively trade the debt and equity securities of the Company, its affiliates and the Acquiror for our and such affiliates' own accounts and for the accounts of customers and, accordingly, may at any time hold a long or short position in such securities.

It is understood that this letter is for the information of the Board of Directors of the Company in connection with its consideration of the Mergers, does not constitute a recommendation to any stockholder with respect to the Company Merger and is not to be quoted or referred to, in whole or in part, in any registration statement, prospectus or proxy statement, or in any other document used in connection with the offering or sale of securities, nor shall this letter be used for any other purposes, without our prior written consent.

Based upon and subject to the foregoing, it is our opinion that, as of the date hereof, the Consideration is fair from a financial point of view to the stockholders of the Company (other than Worldwide and its affiliates).

Very truly yours,

CREDIT SUISSE FIRST BOSTON CORPORATION

By:
Gordon A. Rich
Managing Director

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016639

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016540

AGREEMENT AND PLAN OF MERGER

among

SUNBEAM CORPORATION

CAMPER ACQUISITION CORP.

and

THE COLEMAN COMPANY, INC.

Dated as of

February 27, 1998

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

01664

MS 117
5-12-04 WDF

TABLE OF CONTENTS

		PAGE
	ARTICLE I
	DEFINITIONS
Section 1.1	Definitions	1
	ARTICLE II
	THE COMPANY MERGER
Section 2.1.	The Company Merger	7
Section 2.2	Closing	7
Section 2.3	Company Effective Time of the Company Merger	7
Section 2.4	Certificate of Incorporation	7
Section 2.5	By-Laws	7
Section 2.6	Directors	8
Section 2.7	Officers	8
	ARTICLE III
	CONVERSION OF SHARES
Section 3.1.	Effect on Capital Stock	8
Section 3.2	Exchange of Certificates Representing Shares	9
Section 3.3	Dividends; Transfer Taxes	10
Section 3.4	No Fractional Shares	11
Section 3.5	Termination of Exchange Fund	11
Section 3.6	Investment of Exchange Fund	11
Section 3.7	Closing of Company Transfer Books	11
Section 3.8	Dissenting Shares	11
	ARTICLE IV
	REPRESENTATIONS AND WARRANTIES OF THE COMPANY
Section 4.1	Organization	12
Section 4.2	Capitalization	12
Section 4.3	Subsidiaries	13
Section 4.4	Authority Relative to this Agreement	13
Section 4.5	Consents and Approvals; No Violations	14
Section 4.6	Reports and Financial Statements	14
Section 4.7	Absence of Certain Changes or Events	15
Section 4.8	Litigation	16
Section 4.9	Information in Disclosure Documents and Registration Statement	17

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016942

		PAGE
Section 4.10	Taxes	17
Section 4.11	Compliance with Applicable Law	18
Section 4.12	Labor Matters	18
Section 4.13	ERISA Compliance	18
Section 4.14	Environmental Matters	20
Section 4.15	Intellectual Property	20
Section 4.16	Contracts	20
Section 4.17	Opinion of Financial Advisor	21
Section 4.18	Takeover Statute	21
Section 4.19	Brokers	21

ARTICLE V
REPRESENTATIONS AND WARRANTIES OF LASER AND MERGER SUB

Section 5.1	Organization	21
Section 5.2	Capitalization	22
Section 5.3	Merger Sub	22
Section 5.4	Authority Relative to this Agreement	22
Section 5.5	Consents and Approvals; No Violations	23
Section 5.6	Reports and Financial Statements	23
Section 5.7	Absence of Certain Changes or Events	24
Section 5.8	Litigation	24
Section 5.9	Information in Disclosure Documents and Registration Statement	24
Section 5.10	Taxes	25
Section 5.11	Compliance with Applicable Law	25
Section 5.12	Brokers	25

ARTICLE VI
COVENANTS RELATING TO CONDUCT OF BUSINESS

Section 6.1	Conduct of Business by the Company	26
Section 6.2	Other Actions	28
Section 6.3	Advice of Changes	28
Section 6.4	Conduct of Business of Merger Sub	28
Section 6.5	The Section 14(f) Notice	28

ARTICLE VII
ADDITIONAL AGREEMENTS

Section 7.1	Preparation of the Registration Statement, the Information Statement, the Schedule 13E-3 and the Section 14(f) Notice	29
Section 7.2	Access and Information; Confidentiality	29

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0166143

16div-024787

		PAGE
Section 7.3	Comfort Letters	29
Section 7.4	Listing Application	30
Section 7.5	Affiliates	30
Section 7.6	HSR Act; Competition Laws	30
Section 7.7	Employee Matters	31
Section 7.8	Continuance of Existing Indemnification Rights	32
Section 7.9	Expenses	34
Section 7.10	Public Announcements	34
Section 7.11	Reasonable Best Efforts	34

ARTICLE VIII
CONDITIONS TO CONSUMMATION OF THE MERGER

Section 8.1	Conditions to Each Party's Obligation to Effect the Company Merger	35

ARTICLE IX
TERMINATION, AMENDMENT AND WAIVER

Section 9.1	Termination	35
Section 9.2	Effect of Termination	35
Section 9.3	Amendment	35
Section 9.4	Extension; Waiver	36

ARTICLE IX
GENERAL PROVISIONS

Section 10.1	No Survival of Representations and Warranties	36
Section 10.2	Notices	36
Section 10.3	Descriptive Headings	37
Section 10.4	Entire Agreement; No Third-Party Beneficiary	37
Section 10.5	Interpretation	37
Section 10.6	Severability	38
Section 10.7	Assignment	38
Section 10.8	Disclosure Schedules	38
Section 10.6	Governing Law	38
Sectoin 10.10	Specific Performance	38
Section 10.11	Counterparts	39
Section 10.12	Certain Terms	39

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0199910

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0008014

16div-024788

AGREEMENT AND PLAN OF MERGER

AGREEMENT AND PLAN OF MERGER (this "Agreement"), dated as of February 27, 1998, among SUNBEAM CORPORATION, a Delaware corporation ("Laser"), CAMPER ACQUISITION CORP. ("Merger Sub"), a Delaware corporation and a wholly owned subsidiary of Laser, and THE COLEMAN COMPANY, INC., a Delaware corporation (the "Company").

WHEREAS, the Boards of Directors of Laser, Merger Sub and the Company deem it advisable and in the best interests of their respective stockholders that Merger Sub merge with and into the Company (the "Company Merger"), and such Boards of Directors have approved the Company Merger, upon the terms and subject to the conditions set forth herein; and

WHEREAS, as a condition to the Company Merger, a newly formed, wholly owned subsidiary of Laser will merge with and into CLN Holdings Inc. ("Holdings") with Holdings continuing as the surviving corporation and a wholly owned subsidiary of Laser (the "Holdings Merger") pursuant to an Agreement and Plan of Merger (the "Holdings Merger Agreement"), dated as of the date hereof, among Laser, Laser Acquisition Corp., a Delaware corporation and a wholly owned subsidiary of Laser, Coleman (Parent) Holdings Inc., a Delaware corporation ("Parent Holdings"), and Holdings; and

WHEREAS, the Board of Directors of the Company has approved the Holdings Merger solely for purposes of rendering Section 203 of the DGCL inapplicable to the transactions contemplated hereby; and

WHEREAS, Laser, Merger Sub and the Company desire to make certain representations, warranties, covenants and agreements in connection with the Company Merger and also to prescribe certain conditions to the Company Merger.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the foregoing and the respective representations, warranties, covenants and agreements set forth herein, the parties hereto agree as follows:

ARTICLE I

DEFINITIONS

Section 1.1 Definitions. As used in this Agreement, the following terms shall have the following meanings, the definitions to be applicable to both the singular and plural forms of each term defined to the extent that such forms of such terms are used in this Agreement.

"Affiliate" shall mean, as to any Person (as hereinafter defined), any other Person which, directly or indirectly, is in control of, is controlled by, or is under common control with, such Person. The term "control" (including, with correlative meanings, the terms "controlled by" and "under common control with"), as applied to any Person, means the possession, direct or indirect, of the power to direct or cause the direction of the management and policies of such Person, whether through the ownership of voting securities or other ownership interest, by contract or otherwise.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016945

"Affiliate Agreements" shall mean any Contract, agreement or understanding between the Company and any of its subsidiaries, on the one hand, and Worldwide and any of its Affiliates (other than the Company and its subsidiaries), on the other hand.

"Certificate of Incorporation" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 2.4.

"Certificate of Merger" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 2.3.

"Claim" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 7.8(a).

"Closing" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 2.2.

"Closing Date" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 2.2.

"Code" means the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended.

"Commonly Controlled Entity" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 4.13(a).

"Company Balance Sheet Date" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 4.6(c).

"Company Business Personnel" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 4.12.

"Company Common Stock" shall mean the common stock, par value $.01 per share, of the Company.

"Company Disclosure Schedule" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in the Introduction to Article IV.

"Company Effective Time" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 2.3.

"Company Licenses" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 4.11.

"Company Material Adverse Effect" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 4.1.

"Company Merger" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in the Recitals.

"Company Plans" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 4.13(a).

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0196946

"Company Preferred Stock" shall mean the preferred stock, par value $.01 per share, of the Company.

"Company Rule 145 Affiliates" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 7.5.

"Company SEC Reports" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 4.6(a).

"Company Stock Option Plans" shall mean The Coleman Company, Inc. 1996 Stock Option Plan, The Coleman Company, Inc. 1993 Stock Option Plan and The Coleman Company, Inc. 1992 Stock Option Plan.

"Competition Laws" shall mean foreign statutes, rules, regulations, orders, decrees, administrative and judicial doctrines, and other foreign Laws that are designed or intended to prohibit, restrict or regulate actions having the purpose or effect of monopolization, lessening of competition or restraint of trade.

"Contract" shall mean any note, bond, mortgage, indenture, license, contract, agreement or other instrument or obligation.

"Conversion Number" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 3.1(a)(i).

"Credit Suisse First Boston" shall mean Credit Suisse First Boston Corporation, the Company's financial advisor.

"DGCL" shall mean the General Corporation Law of the State of Delaware.

"D&O Insurance" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 7.8(c).

"Dissenting Shares" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 3.8.

"Employee Stock Options" shall mean all employee and non-employee director stock options issued pursuant to the Company Stock Option Plans.

"Environmental Claim" shall mean any claim, action, investigation or written notice to the Company or any of its subsidiaries by any person or entity alleging potential liability (including, without limitation, potential liability for investigatory costs, cleanup costs, governmental response costs, natural resource damages, personal injuries, or penalties) arising out of, based on, or resulting from, (a) the presence, or release into the environment, of any Hazardous Substance at any location, whether or not owned or operated by the Company or any of its subsidiaries or (b) circumstances forming the basis of any violation, or alleged violation of any applicable Environmental Law.

"Environmental Laws" shall mean all federal, state, local and foreign Laws and regulations, as in effect and as interpreted as of the date of this Agreement, relating to pollution or protection of the environment, including, without limitation, Laws and regulations relating to emissions, discharges, releases or threatened releases of Hazardous Substances, or otherwise

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016647 relating to the manufacture, processing, distribution, use, treatment, storage, disposal, transport or handling of Hazardous Substances.

"Environmental Permits" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 4.14(a).

"ERISA" shall mean the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended.

"Exchange Act" shall mean the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended.

"Exchange Agent" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 3.2(a).

"Exchange Fund" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 3.2(a).

"Filed Company SEC Reports" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 4.6(a).

"Filed Laser SEC Reports" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 5.6(a).

"GAAP" shall mean United States generally accepted accounting principles and practices in effect from time to time, consistently applied.

"Governmental Entity" shall mean any court, arbitral tribunal, administrative agency or commission or other governmental or regulatory authority or agency.

"Hazardous Substance" shall mean all substances defined as Oils, Pollutants or Contaminants in the National Oil and Hazardous Substances Pollution Contingency Plan, 40 C.F.R. § 300.5, or defined as such by, or regulated as such under, any Environmental Law, including any radon, asbestos and oil and petroleum products, by-products and fractions.

"Holdings" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in the Recitals.

"Holdings Disclosure Schedule" shall mean the Disclosure Schedule being delivered by Holdings concurrently with the execution of the Agreement and Plan of Merger relating to the Holdings Merger.

"Holdings Effective Time" shall mean the date and time on which the Holdings Merger is effected.

"Holdings Merger" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in the Recitals.

"HSR Act" shall mean the Hart-Scott-Rodino Antitrust Improvements Act of 1976.

"Information Statement" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 4.9.

"Indemnified Person" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 7.8(a).

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0196948

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0008018

16div-024792

"Intellectual Property" shall mean all domestic and foreign patents, patent applications, written invention disclosures to be filed or awaiting filing determinations, trademark and service mark applications, registered trademarks, registered service marks, registered copyrights, trademarks, service marks and trade names.

"Laser Balance Sheet Date" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 5.6(c).

"Laser Common Stock" shall mean the common stock, par value $.01 per share, of Laser.

"Laser Licenses" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 5.11.

"Laser Material Adverse Effect" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 5.1.

"Laser Preferred Stock" shall mean the preferred stock, par value $.01 per share, of Laser.

"Laser SEC Reports" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 5.6(a).

"Laser Shares" shall mean the shares of Laser Common Stock to be issued in the Company Merger.

"Laser Stock Option Plans" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 5.2.

"Laser Stock Options" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 5.2.

"Laws" shall mean any federal, state, local or foreign law, statute, ordinance, rule, regulation, order, judgment or decree, administrative order or decree, administrative or judicial decision, and any other executive or legislative proclamation.

"Liens" shall mean all pledges, claims, liens, charges, encumbrances and security interests of any kind or nature whatsoever.

"LYONs" shall mean the Liquid Yield Option™ Notes due 2013 of Worldwide.

"Merger Sub Common Stock" shall mean the common stock, par value $.01 per share, of Merger Sub.

"Morgan Stanley" shall mean Morgan Stanley & Co. Incorporated, Laser's financial advisor.

"NYSE" shall mean the New York Stock Exchange, Inc.

"PBGC" shall mean the Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016549

"Pension Plan" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 4.13(a).

"Per Share Merger Consideration" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 3.1(a)(i).

"Person" shall mean an individual, a corporation, a partnership, an association, a trust or other entity or organization.

"Plans" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 7.7(e).

"Properties" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 4.14(c).

"Registration Statement" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 4.9.

"Release" shall mean any release, spill, emission, discharge, leaking, pumping, injection, deposit, disposal, dispersal, leaching or migration into the indoor or outdoor environment (including, without limitation, ambient air, surface water, groundwater and surface or subsurface strata) or into or out of any property, including the movement of Hazardous Materials through or in the air, soil, surface water, groundwater or property.

"Schedule 13E-3" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 4.9.

"Section 14(f) Notice" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 4.9.

"Securities Act" shall mean the Securities Act of 1933, as amended.

"subsidiary" shall mean, with respect to any party, any corporation or other organization, whether incorporated or unincorporated, of which (i) such party or any other subsidiary of such party is a general partner or (ii) at least 50% of the securities or other interests having by their terms ordinary voting power to elect a majority of the Board of Directors or others performing similar functions with respect to such corporation or other organization or at least 50% of the value of the outstanding equity is directly or indirectly owned or controlled by such party or by any one or more of its subsidiaries, or by such party and one or more of its subsidiaries.

"Surviving Corporation" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 2.1.

"Tax" (and, with correlative meaning, "Taxes" and "Taxable") shall mean (i) any federal, state, local or foreign net income, gross income, receipts, windfall profit, severance, property, production, sales, use, license, excise, franchise, employment, payroll, withholding, alternative or add-on minimum, ad valorem, transfer, stamp, or environmental tax, or any other tax, custom, duty, governmental fee or other like assessment or charge of any kind whatsoever, together with any interest or penalty, addition to tax or additional amount imposed by any governmental authority; and (ii) any liability of Laser or any Laser subsidiary or the Company or any of its subsidiaries, as applicable, for the payment of amounts with respect to payments of a type described in clause (i) as a result of being a member of an affiliated, consolidated, combined or unitary group, or as a result of any obligation of Laser or any Laser subsidiary or the Company or any of its subsidiaries, as the case may be, under any arrangement to share liability for taxes or indemnify any other entity or person for taxes.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016650

"Tax Return" shall mean any return, report or statement required to be filed with respect to any Tax (including any attachments thereto), including, without limitation, any information return, claim for refund, amended return or declaration of estimated Tax.

"Welfare Plan" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 4.13(a).

"Worldwide" shall mean Coleman Worldwide Corporation, a Delaware corporation and a wholly owned subsidiary of Holdings.

ARTICLE II

THE COMPANY MERGER

Section 2.1 The Company Merger. Upon the terms and subject to the conditions set forth herein, and in accordance with the DGCL, at the Company Effective Time, Merger Sub shall be merged with and into the Company. Following the Company Effective Time, the Company shall continue as the surviving corporation (the "Surviving Corporation"), and the separate corporate existence of Merger Sub shall cease. The Company Merger shall have the effects set forth in Section 259 of the DGCL.

Section 2.2 Closing. The closing of the Company Merger (the "Closing") will take place at 10:00 a.m. on a date to be specified by the parties (the "Closing Date"), which shall be no later than the third NYSE trading day after satisfaction or waiver of the conditions set forth in Section 8.1, at the offices of Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom LLP, 919 Third Avenue, New York, New York 10022, unless another time, date or place is agreed to in writing by the parties hereto.

Section 2.3 Company Effective Time of the Company Merger. The Company Merger shall become effective on the date and at the time at which a properly executed certificate of merger (the "Certificate of Merger") is duly filed with the Secretary of State of the State of Delaware. The Certificate of Merger shall be filed as soon as practicable on or after the Closing Date. When used in this Agreement, the term "Company Effective Time" shall mean the date and time on which the Certificate of Merger is so filed.

Section 2.4 Certificate of Incorporation. From and after the Company Effective Time, the certificate of incorporation of the Company as in effect at the Company Effective Time (the "Certificate of Incorporation") shall be the certificate of incorporation of the Surviving Corporation until amended as provided by Law and the Certificate of Incorporation.

Section 2.5 By-Laws. From and after the Company Effective Time, the by-laws of Merger Sub as in effect at the Company Effective Time shall be the by-laws of the Surviving Corporation until amended as provided by the DGCL, the Certificate of Incorporation and the terms thereof.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0008021

16div-024795

Section 2.6 Directors. The directors of Merger Sub at the Company Effective Time shall be the initial directors of the Surviving Corporation and shall hold office from the Company Effective Time until their respective successors are duly elected or appointed and qualify in the manner provided in the Certificate of Incorporation and by-laws of the Surviving Corporation or as otherwise provided by the DGCL (it being understood that the directors of the Company shall resign upon the later of (i) the Holdings Effective Time and (ii) the eleventh (11th) day following the date on which the Section 14(f) Notice shall have been filed with the SEC and mailed to all stockholders of record of the Company in accordance herewith).

Section 2.7 Officers. The officers of the Company at the Company Effective Time shall be the initial officers of the Surviving Corporation and shall hold office from the Company Effective Time until their respective successors are duly elected or appointed and qualifies in the manner provided in the Certificate of Incorporation and by-laws of the Surviving Corporation, or as otherwise provided by Law.

ARTICLE III

CONVERSION OF SHARES

Section 3.1 Effect on Capital Stock. At the Company Effective Time, by virtue of the Company Merger and without any action on the part of any holder thereof:

(a) Conversion of Company Common Stock.

(i) Subject to Section 3.1(b) hereof, each share of Company Common Stock issued and outstanding immediately prior to the Company Effective Time (other than Dissenting Shares and Company Common Stock to be cancelled in accordance with Section 3.1(c) hereof) shall be converted into the right to receive (A) 0.5677 (the "Conversion Number") of a fully paid and nonassessable share of Laser Common Stock and (B) $6.44 in cash, without interest thereon (the consideration referred to in this Section 3.1(a) being sometimes referred to herein as the "Per Share Merger Consideration").

(ii) If, prior to the Company Effective Time, Laser shall (A) pay a dividend in, subdivide, combine into a smaller number of shares or issue by reclassification of its shares, any shares of Laser Common Stock, the Conversion Number shall be adjusted appropriately or (B) pay a dividend (other than regular quarterly dividend payments, consistent with past practice), whether in cash or property, the amount of the cash portion of the Per Share Merger Consideration shall be appropriately adjusted such that the amount of cash to be received with respect to each share of Company Common Stock, or if a dividend shall have been paid in other property, cash and other property to be received with respect to each share of Company Common Stock, shall be equal to that which would have been received in the aggregate with respect to each share of Company Common Stock (on a per share equivalent basis) had the dividend been paid following the Company Effective Time at a time when the Laser Shares to be

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0166652

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0008022

16div-024796

issued pursuant hereto had been issued to the holders of the shares of Company Common Stock.

(iii) Each of the shares of Company Common Stock converted in accordance with paragraph (i) of this Section 3.1(a) shall no longer be outstanding and shall automatically be cancelled and retired and shall cease to exist, and each holder of a certificate representing any such shares of Company Common Stock shall cease to have any rights with respect thereto, except the right to receive the Per Share Merger Consideration and cash in lieu of any fractional share of Laser Common Stock (determined in accordance with Section 3.4 hereof), to be issued or paid in consideration therefor upon the surrender of such certificate in accordance with Section 3.2 hereof, without interest.

(b) Company Common Stock Held by Worldwide or Holdings to Remain Outstanding. Notwithstanding Section 3.1(a) hereof, at the Company Effective Time all shares of Company Common Stock held by Worldwide or Holdings shall remain outstanding and unchanged as a result of the Company Merger.

(c) Cancellation of Treasury Stock and Company Common Stock Held by Laser and Company Subsidiaries. Each share of Company Common Stock, if any, held in the treasury of the Company, by any subsidiary of the Company, by Laser or by any subsidiary of Laser (other than Worldwide or Holdings) immediately prior to the Company Effective Time shall be cancelled and retired and cease to exist.

(d) Cancellation of Merger Sub Common Stock. Each share of Merger Sub Common Stock issued and outstanding immediately prior to the Company Effective Time shall be cancelled and retired and cease to exist.

Section 3.2 Exchange of Certificates Representing Shares.

(a) As of the Company Effective Time, Laser shall deposit, or shall cause to be deposited, with an exchange agent selected by Laser and reasonably satisfactory to the Company (the "Exchange Agent"), for the benefit of the holders of shares of Company Common Stock, for exchange in accordance with this Article III: (i) certificates representing the number of Laser Shares issuable in the Company Merger to be issued in respect of all shares of Company Common Stock outstanding immediately prior to the Company Effective Time and which are to be exchanged pursuant to the Company Merger (exclusive of shares to remain outstanding pursuant to Section 3.1(b) hereof or to be canceled pursuant to Section 3.1(c) hereof); and (ii) cash in an amount sufficient to make any cash payment due under Sections 3.1(a)(i)(B) and 3.4 hereof (such cash and certificates for Laser Shares being hereinafter referred to collectively as the "Exchange Fund").

(b) As soon as reasonably practicable after the Company Effective Time, Laser shall cause the Exchange Agent to mail (or deliver to its principal office) to each holder of record of a certificate or certificates representing shares of Company Common Stock (i) a letter of transmittal which shall specify that delivery shall be effected, and risk of loss and title to the certificates for shares of Company Common Stock shall pass, only upon delivery of the certificates for such shares of Company Common Stock to the Exchange Agent and which shall be in such form and have such other provisions, including appropriate provisions with respect to back-up withholding, as Laser may reasonably specify, and (ii) instructions for use in effecting the surrender of the certificates for shares of Company Common Stock. Upon surrender of a certificate for shares of Company Common Stock for cancellation to the Exchange Agent, together with such letter of transmittal, duly executed and completed in accordance with the instructions thereto, the holder thereof shall be entitled to receive in exchange therefor that portion of the Exchange Fund which such holder has the right to receive pursuant to the provisions of this Article III, after giving effect to any required withholding Tax, and the certificate for shares of Company Common Stock so surrendered shall forthwith be cancelled. No interest will be paid or accrued on the cash portion of the Exchange Fund. In the event of any transfer of ownership of shares of Company Common Stock which has not been registered in the transfer records of the Company, certificates representing the proper number of shares of Laser Common Stock, if any, and a check in an amount equal to the proper amount of the cash component, if any, of the Exchange Fund, will be issued to the transferee of the certificate representing the transferred shares of Company Common Stock, only upon presentation to the Exchange Agent of a certificate or certificates representing such shares of Company Common Stock, accompanied by all documents required to evidence and effect the prior transfer thereof and to evidence that any applicable stock transfer Taxes associated with such transfer were paid.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016653

Section 3.3 Dividends; Transfer Taxes. No dividends that are declared on Laser Common Stock will be paid to persons entitled to receive certificates representing shares of Laser Common Stock until such persons surrender their certificates representing shares of Company Common Stock. Upon such surrender, there shall be paid to the person in whose name the certificates representing such shares of Laser Common Stock shall be issued, any dividends which shall have become payable with respect to such shares of Laser Common Stock between the Company Effective Time and the time of such surrender. In no event shall the person entitled to receive such dividends be entitled to receive interest on such dividends. If any certificates for any shares of Laser Common Stock are to be issued in a name other than that in which the certificate representing shares of Company Common Stock surrendered in exchange therefor is registered, it shall be a condition of such exchange that the person requesting such exchange shall pay to the Exchange Agent any transfer or other Taxes required by reason of the issuance of certificates for such shares of Laser Common Stock in a name other than that of the registered holder of the certificate surrendered or shall establish to the satisfaction of the Exchange Agent that such Tax has been paid or is not applicable. Notwithstanding the foregoing, (i) neither the Exchange Agent nor any party hereto shall be liable to a holder of shares of Company Common Stock for any shares of Laser Common Stock or dividends thereon, any cash payments to be made pursuant to Section 3.1(a)(i)(B) hereof or, in accordance with Section 3.4 hereof, any cash in lieu of fractional share interests, in each case, delivered to a public official pursuant to applicable escheat Laws and (ii) any shares of Laser Common Stock held by the Exchange Agent prior to surrender of certificates representing shares of Company Common Stock shall not be deemed issued.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0008024

16div-024798

Section 3.4 No Fractional Shares. No certificates or scrip representing fractional shares of Laser Common Stock shall be issued upon the surrender for exchange of certificates representing shares of Company Common Stock pursuant to this Article III, and no dividend, stock split or other change in the capital structure of Laser shall relate to any fractional security, and such fractional interests shall not entitle the owner thereof to vote or to any rights of a security holder. In lieu of any such fractional shares of Laser Common Stock, each holder of shares of Company Common Stock who would otherwise have been entitled to a fraction of a share of Laser Common Stock upon surrender of stock certificates for exchange pursuant to this Article III will be paid cash upon such surrender in an amount equal to the product of such fraction multiplied by the closing sale price of one share of Laser Common Stock on the NYSE on the day of the Company Effective Time, or, if shares of Laser Common Stock are not so traded on such day, the closing sale price of one such share on the next preceding day on which such share was traded on the NYSE. For purposes of this Section 3.4, shares of Company Common Stock of any holder represented by two or more certificates shall be aggregated, and in no event shall any holder be paid an amount of cash pursuant to this Section 3.4 in respect of more than one share of Laser Common Stock.

Section 3.5 Termination of Exchange Fund. Any portion of the Exchange Fund which remains undistributed to the holders of the Company Common Stock for six (6) months after the Company Effective Time shall be delivered to Laser, upon demand, and any holders of the Company Common Stock who have not theretofore complied with this Article III shall thereafter look only to Laser for payment of their claim for the shares of Laser Common Stock and cash and dividends or other distributions, if any, pursuant to this Article III.

Section 3.6 Investment of Exchange Fund. Without prejudice to the rights of any holder of Company Common Stock to receive the Per Share Merger Consideration, the Exchange Agent shall invest any cash included in the Exchange Fund, as directed by Laser, on a daily basis. Any interest and other income resulting from such investments shall be paid to Laser.

Section 3.7 Closing of Company Transfer Books. At the Company Effective Time, the stock transfer books of the Company shall be closed and no transfer of shares of Company Common Stock shall thereafter be made. If, after the Company Effective Time, certificates representing shares of Company Common Stock are presented to the Surviving Corporation, they shall be cancelled and exchanged for the Per Share Merger Consideration applicable thereto.

Section 3.8 Dissenting Shares. Each outstanding share of Company Common Stock as to which a written demand for appraisal is filed in accordance with Section 262 of the DGCL and not withdrawn, and with respect to which a consent is not given in favor of the Company Merger shall not be converted into or represent a right to receive the Per Share Merger Consideration unless and until the holder thereof shall have failed to perfect, or shall have effectively withdrawn or lost, the right to appraisal of and payment for each such share of Company Common Stock under Section 262, at which time each such share shall be converted into the right to receive the Per Share Merger Consideration. All such shares of Company

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0016955

Common Stock as to which such a written demand for appraisal is so filed and not withdrawn and with respect to which a consent is not given in favor of the Company Merger, except any such shares of Company Common Stock the holder of which, prior to the Company Effective Time, shall have effectively withdrawn or lost such right to appraisal and payment for such shares of Company Common Stock under Section 262, are herein referred to as "Dissenting Shares." The Company shall give Laser prompt notice upon receipt by the Company of any written demands for appraisal rights, withdrawal of such demands, and any other written communications delivered to the Company pursuant to Section 262, and the Company shall give Laser the opportunity, to the extent permitted by Law, to participate in all negotiations and proceedings with respect to such demands. Except with the prior written consent of Laser, the Company shall not voluntarily make any payment with respect to any demands for appraisal rights and shall not settle or offer to settle any such demands. Each holder of Dissenting Shares who becomes entitled, pursuant to the provisions of Section 262, to payment for such shares of Dissenting Shares under the provisions of Section 262 shall receive payment therefor from the Surviving Corporation and such shares of Company Common Stock shall be cancelled thereafter.

ARTICLE IV

REPRESENTATIONS AND WARRANTIES OF THE COMPANY

Except as otherwise disclosed to Laser in a schedule delivered to Laser prior to the execution hereof (which schedule shall contain appropriate references to identify the representations and warranties herein to which the information in such schedule relates) (the "Company Disclosure Schedule"), the Company represents and warrants to Laser and Merger Sub as follows:

Section 4.1 Organization. The Company is a corporation duly organized, validly existing and in good standing under the Laws of the State of Delaware and has the corporate power to carry on its business as it is now being conducted. The Company is duly qualified as a foreign corporation to do business, and is in good standing, in each jurisdiction where the character of its properties owned or held under lease or the nature of its activities makes such qualification necessary, except where the failure to be so qualified would not individually or in the aggregate have a material adverse effect on the business, results of operations or financial condition of the Company and its subsidiaries, taken as a whole (a "Company Material Adverse Effect").

Section 4.2 Capitalization. The authorized capital stock of the Company consists of 80,000,000 shares of Company Common Stock and 20,000,000 shares of Company Preferred Stock. As of February 23, 1998, (i) 53,488,170 shares of Company Common Stock were issued and outstanding; (ii) 3,282,930 shares of Company Common Stock were issuable upon exercise of Employee Stock Options to acquire 3,282,930 shares of Company Common Stock outstanding under the Company Stock Option Plans (of which options to acquire 2,399,380 were vested); and (iii) no shares of Company Preferred Stock were issued or outstanding. As of such date, no shares of Company Common Stock were held as treasury shares. All of the issued and outstanding shares of Company Common Stock are validly issued,

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0008026

16div-024800

fully paid and nonassessable and free of preemptive rights. As of the date hereof, except as set forth above, there are no shares of capital stock of the Company issued or outstanding or any options, warrants, subscriptions, calls, rights, convertible securities or other agreements or commitments obligating the Company to issue, transfer, sell, redeem, repurchase or otherwise acquire any shares of its capital stock or securities. There are no notes, bonds, debentures or other indebtedness of the Company having the right to vote (or convertible into or exchangeable for securities having the right to vote) on any matters upon which stockholders of the Company may vote.

Section 4.3 Subsidiaries. All the outstanding shares of capital stock of, or other ownership interests in, each of the Company's subsidiaries have been validly issued and are fully paid and nonassessable and such shares (other than directors' qualifying shares and similar interests) are owned directly or indirectly by the Company, free and clear of all Liens. Except for the capital stock of the Company's subsidiaries and except as set forth in Section 4.3 of the Company Disclosure Schedule, the Company does not own, directly or indirectly, any capital stock or other ownership interest in any corporation, partnership, limited liability company, joint venture or other entity. Each of the Company's subsidiaries that is a corporation is a corporation duly organized, validly existing and in good standing under the Laws of its jurisdiction of incorporation. Each of the Company's subsidiaries that is a partnership or a limited liability company is duly formed and validly existing under the Laws of its jurisdiction of formation. Each of the Company's subsidiaries has the corporate power or the partnership power, as the case may be, to carry on its business as it is now being conducted or presently proposed to be conducted. Each the Company's subsidiaries that is a corporation is duly qualified as a foreign corporation to do business, and is in good standing, in each jurisdiction where the character of its properties owned or held under lease or the nature of its activities makes such qualification necessary, except where the failure to be so qualified would not individually or in the aggregate have a Company Material Adverse Effect. Each of the Company's subsidiaries that is a partnership is duly qualified as a foreign partnership authorized to do business, and is in good standing, in each jurisdiction where the character of its properties owned or held under lease or the nature of its activities makes such qualification necessary, except where the failure to be so qualified would not individually or in the aggregate have a Company Material Adverse Effect. Except as set forth in Section 4.2 hereof, there are no outstanding options, warrants, subscriptions, calls, rights, convertible securities or other agreements or commitments obligating the Company or any of its subsidiaries to issue, transfer or sell any securities of any Company subsidiary. There are no voting, stockholder or other agreements or understandings to which the Company or any of the Company's subsidiaries is a party or is bound with respect to the voting of the capital stock of the Company or any of the Company's subsidiaries.

Section 4.4 Authority Relative to this Agreement. The Company has the corporate power and authority to enter into this Agreement and to perform its obligations hereunder and to consummate the transactions contemplated hereby. The execution and delivery of this Agreement by the Company and the consummation by the Company of the transactions contemplated hereby have been duly authorized by the Board of Directors of the Company, and no other corporate actions or proceedings on the part of the Company (including any action on the part of its stockholders) are necessary to authorize this Agreement or the transactions contemplated hereby. This Agreement has been duly executed and delivered by the Company and, assuming the due authorization and valid execution and delivery by Laser and Merger Sub, constitutes a valid and binding agreement of the Company, enforceable against the Company in accordance with its terms, subject to bankruptcy, insolvency, reorganization, moratorium or similar Laws now or hereafter in effect relating to creditors' rights generally and to general principles of equity.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0166571

Section 4.5 Consents and Approvals; No Violations. Except for applicable requirements of the HSR Act, the Securities Act, the Exchange Act, Competition Laws and state securities or blue sky Laws, and the filing and recordation of the Certificate of Merger as required by the DGCL, no filing with, and no permit, authorization, consent or approval of, any governmental or regulatory authority is necessary for the consummation by the Company of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement, except for such filings, permits, authorizations, consents or approvals the failure of which to be made or obtained would not individually or in the aggregate have a Company Material Adverse Effect. Except as set forth in Section 4.5 of the Company Disclosure Schedule, neither the execution and delivery of this Agreement by the Company, nor the consummation by the Company of the transactions contemplated hereby, nor compliance by the Company with any of the provisions hereof, will (a) conflict with or result in any breach of any provisions of the certificate of incorporation or by-laws of the Company or the certificate of incorporation or by-laws of any of the Company's subsidiaries; (b) result in a violation or breach of, or constitute (with or without due notice or lapse of time or both) a default (or give rise to any right of termination, cancellation or acceleration) under, any of the terms, conditions or provisions of any material (as defined for purposes of Form 10-K) Contract to which the Company or any of the Company's subsidiaries is a party or by which any of them or any of their properties or assets may be bound; or (c) violate any order, writ, injunction, decree, statute, rule or regulation applicable to the Company, any of the Company's subsidiaries or any of their properties or assets, except in the case of clauses (b) and (c) for violations, breaches or defaults which would not individually or in the aggregate have a Company Material Adverse Effect.

Section 4.6 Reports and Financial Statements.

(a) The Company has filed all reports, forms, registrations, schedules, statements and other documents required to be filed by it with the SEC since January 1, 1997 (the "Company SEC Reports"). As of their respective dates, the Company SEC Reports complied in all material respects with the requirements of the Securities Act or the Exchange Act, as the case may be, and the applicable rules and regulations promulgated thereunder. Except to the extent that information contained in any Company SEC Report has been amended, revised or superseded by a later Company SEC Report filed and publicly available prior to the date of this Agreement (as amended, revised or superseded by a later Company SEC Report filed and publicly available prior to the date of this Agreement, the "Filed Company SEC Reports"), none of the Filed Company SEC Reports, when filed, contained any untrue statement of a material fact or omitted to state any material fact required to be stated therein or necessary to make the statements therein, in light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0016958

(b) The consolidated financial statements of the Company included in the Filed Company SEC Reports complied as to form in all material respects with the applicable accounting requirements and the published rules and regulations of the SEC with respect thereto have been prepared in accordance with GAAP (except, in the case of the unaudited statements, as permitted by Form 10-Q of the SEC) applied on a consistent basis during the periods involved (except as may be indicated therein or in the notes thereto) and fairly present the consolidated financial position of the Company and its consolidated subsidiaries as of the dates thereof and the consolidated results of their operations and their consolidated cash flows for the periods then ended (subject, in the case of the unaudited statements, to normal year-end audit adjustments and to any other adjustments described therein).

(c) Except as set forth in the Filed Company SEC Reports and except for liabilities and obligations incurred in the ordinary course of business consistent with past practice since the date of the most recent consolidated balance sheet included in the Filed Company SEC Reports (the "Company Balance Sheet Date"), neither the Company nor any of its subsidiaries has any material liabilities or obligations of any nature (whether accrued, absolute, contingent or otherwise) required by GAAP to be recognized or disclosed on a consolidated balance sheet of the Company and its consolidated subsidiaries or in the notes thereto.

Section 4.7 Absence of Certain Changes or Events. Except as set forth in the Filed Company SEC Reports, since the Company Balance Sheet Date, the business of the Company and its subsidiaries has been conducted only in the ordinary course of business consistent with past practice, and there has not been any event, change or development which individually or in the aggregate has had or would reasonably be expected to have a Company Material Adverse Effect or would impair or delay the ability of the Company to consummate the transactions contemplated by, or to satisfy its obligations under, this Agreement. Except as set forth in Section 4.7 of the Company Disclosure Schedule, during the period from the Company Balance Sheet Date through the date of this Agreement, neither the Company nor any of its subsidiaries has:

(i) declared, set aside or paid any distributions (whether in cash, stock or property) with respect to its capital stock or (y) split, combined, or reclassified any of its capital stock or issued or authorized the issuance of any other securities in respect of, in lieu of or in substitution for shares of its capital stock (other than dividends or stock issuances by a wholly owned subsidiary of the Company to the Company or another wholly owned subsidiary of the Company);

(ii) issued, delivered, sold, pledged or otherwise encumbered any shares of its capital stock, any other voting securities or any securities convertible into, or any options, warrants or rights to acquire, any such shares, voting securities or convertible securities (other than the issuance of Company Common Stock upon the exercise of Employee Stock Options in accordance with their terms and issuances by a wholly owned subsidiary of the Company to the Company or another wholly owned subsidiary of the Company);

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0019559

(iii) in the case of the Company, amended its certificate of incorporation or by-laws;

(iv) acquired or agreed to acquire by merging or consolidating with, or in purchasing a substantial portion of the assets of, or in any other manner, any business or any corporation, limited liability company, partnership, association or other business organization or division thereof material to the Company;

(v) other than in the ordinary course of business, (x) incurred any indebtedness or (y) made any loans, advances or capital contributions to, or investments in, any other person (other than the Company or a subsidiary of the Company), in any case in an amount material to the Company;

(vi) other than in the ordinary course of business or consistent with the Company's capital budgets heretofore disclosed to Laser, made or agreed to make any capital expenditure or capital expenditures;

(vii) other than in the ordinary course of business, made any Tax election or settled or compromised any material income Tax liability;

(viii) except in the ordinary course of business or except as would not reasonably be expected to have a Company Material Adverse Effect, entered into any Contracts or amended or terminated any material Contract or agreement to which the Company or any of its subsidiaries is a party or waived, released or assigned any material rights or claims thereunder;

(ix) except as required by Law or contractual obligation or in the ordinary course of business consistent with past practice, (a) increased the compensation of any of its employees, (b) entered into any Contract with any of its employees regarding his or her employment, compensation or benefits, or (c) adopted any plan, arrangement or policy which would become a Company Plan or amended any Company Plan to the extent such adoption or amendment would create or increase any material liability or obligation on the part of the Company or its subsidiaries;

(x) entered into any transaction or Contract with, or (except pursuant to the Affiliate Agreements) made any payment to, any Affiliate of the Company (other than to the Company's subsidiaries or its or their officers or directors in the ordinary course of business consistent with past practice); or

(xi) agreed to do any of the foregoing.

Section 4.8 Litigation. Except as disclosed in the Filed Company SEC Reports and as set forth in Section 4.8 of the Company Disclosure Schedule, as of the date hereof, to the Company's knowledge there is no suit, action, proceeding or investigation pending or, to the knowledge of the Company, threatened against or affecting the Company or any of its subsidiaries that individually or in the aggregate would reasonably be expected to (i) have a Company Material Adverse Effect (taking into account any reserve therefor as of the Company Balance Sheet Date), or (ii) delay in any material respect or prevent the consummation of any of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement, nor is there any judgment, order, decree, statute, Law, ordinance, rule or regulation of any Governmental Entity or arbitrator outstanding against the Company or any of its subsidiaries having, or which would reasonably be expected to have, any effect referred to in clause (i) or (ii) above.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0116960

Section 4.9 Information in Disclosure Documents and Registration Statement. None of the information to be supplied by the Company for inclusion or incorporation by reference in the information statement to be distributed in connection with the Company Merger (as amended or supplemented, the "Information Statement") or the related filing on Schedule 13E-3 (as amended or supplemented, the "Schedule 13E-3") or the notice to be provided to the Company's stockholders pursuant to Section 14(f) of the Exchange Act (as amended or supplemented, the "Section 14(f) Notice") or the registration statement on Form S-4 under the Securities Act for the purpose of registering the shares of Laser Common Stock to be issued in the Company Merger (as amended or supplemented, the "Registration Statement") will, in the case of the Registration Statement, at the time it becomes effective and at the Company Effective Time, contain any untrue statement of a material fact or omit to state any material fact required to be stated therein or necessary to make the statements therein not misleading, or, in the case of the Information Statement, the Schedule 13E-3, the Section 14(f) Notice, at the time of the mailing thereof and, in the case of the Information Statement, the Schedule 13E-3 at the Company Effective Time, contain any untrue statement of a material fact or omit to state any material fact required to be stated therein or necessary in order to make the statements therein, in light of the circumstances under which they are made, not misleading. The Information Statement, the Schedule 13E-3 and the Section 14(f) Notice will comply as to form in all material respects with the provisions of the Exchange Act, and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder.

Section 4.10 Taxes. Except as would not have a Company Material Adverse Effect or as set forth in Section 4.10 of the Company Disclosure Schedule:

(a) Each of the Company and each of its subsidiaries has (i) filed (or there has been filed on its behalf) with the appropriate Governmental Entities all Tax Returns required to be filed by it, and all such Tax Returns are true, correct and complete and (ii) has paid all Taxes due by it;

(b) there is no action, suit, investigation, audit, claim or assessment pending or proposed in writing or threatened in writing with respect to Taxes of the Company or any of its subsidiaries and, to the best of the Company's knowledge, no basis exists therefor;

(c) there are no Liens for Taxes upon the assets of the Company or any of its subsidiaries except Liens relating to current Taxes not yet due;

(d) the United States federal income Tax Returns which include the Company and the Company's subsidiaries have been examined, and such examinations have been completed, by the Internal Revenue Service (or the applicable statutes of limitation for the

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0166961

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0008031

16div-024805

assessment of federal income Taxes for such periods have expired) for all periods through and including 1985.

Section 4.11 Compliance with Applicable Law. Except as disclosed in the Filed Company SEC Reports, the Company and its subsidiaries have received such certificates, permits, licenses, franchises, consents, approvals, orders, authorizations and clearances from appropriate Governmental Entities (the "Company Licenses") as are necessary to own or lease and operate their respective properties and to conduct their respective businesses substantially in the manner described in the Company SEC Reports and as currently owned or leased and conducted, and all such Company Licenses are valid and in full force and effect, except for any such certificates, permits, licenses, franchises, consents, approvals, orders, authorizations and clearances which the failure to have or to be in full force and effect would not reasonably be expected to have, individually or in the aggregate, a Company Material Adverse Effect. Except as disclosed in Filed Company SEC Reports, the Company and the Company's subsidiaries are in compliance with their respective obligations under the Company Licenses, with only such exceptions as, individually or in the aggregate, would not reasonably be expected to have a Company Material Adverse Effect. Except as disclosed in the Filed Company SEC Reports, the Company and its subsidiaries are in compliance with all judgments, orders, decrees, statutes, Laws, ordinances, rules and regulations of any Governmental Entity applicable to them, except for such noncompliance which individually or in the aggregate would not have a Company Material Adverse Effect.

Section 4.12 Labor Matters. Except as disclosed in the Filed Company SEC Reports, neither the Company nor any of the Company's subsidiaries has any labor contracts, collective bargaining agreements or material employment or consulting agreements with any persons employed by or otherwise performing services primarily for the Company or any of the Company's subsidiaries (the "Company Business Personnel") or any representative of any Company Business Personnel. Except as set forth in the Filed Company SEC Reports, neither the Company nor any of its subsidiaries has engaged in any unfair labor practice with respect to Company Business Personnel, and there is no unfair labor practice complaint pending against the Company or any of its subsidiaries with respect to Company Business Personnel which, in either such case, would reasonably be expected to have, individually or in the aggregate, a Company Material Adverse Effect. Except as set forth in the Filed Company SEC Reports, there is no material labor strike, dispute, slowdown or stoppage pending or, to the knowledge of the Company, threatened against the Company or any of its subsidiaries, and neither the Company nor any of its subsidiaries has experienced any material primary work stoppage or other material labor difficulty involving its employees during the last three (3) years.

Section 4.13 ERISA Compliance.

(a) The Company has delivered to Laser or will deliver to Laser prior to the Company Effective Time each "employee pension benefit plan" (as defined in Section 3(2) of ERISA) (a "Pension Plan"), each "employee welfare benefit plan" (as defined in Section 3(1) of ERISA) (a "Welfare Plan"), each material bonus, stock option, stock purchase, stock ownership, stock bonus, restricted stock, deferred compensation plan or arrangement and each other material employee fringe benefit plan or arrangement maintained, contributed to or required to be maintained or contributed to by the Company or any of its subsidiaries or any other person or entity that, together with the Company, is or was treated as a single employer under Section 414(b), (c), (m) or (o) of the Code (each, a "Commonly Controlled Entity") which is currently in effect for the benefit of any current or former directors, officers, employees or independent contractors of the Company or any of its subsidiaries (collectively, the "Company Plans"). The Company has delivered to Laser or will deliver to Laser prior to the Company Effective Time true, complete and correct copies of (x) the two most recent annual reports on Form 5500 filed with the Internal Revenue Service with respect to each Company Plan (if any such report was required), (y) the most recent summary plan description for each Company Plan for which such summary plan description is required and (z) each currently effective trust agreement, insurance or group annuity contract and each other material funding or financing arrangement relating to any Company Plan.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016662

(b) No Commonly Controlled Entity has incurred any liability under Title IV of ERISA, other than for contributions not yet due to a defined benefit pension plan subject to Title IV of ERISA and other than for the payment of premiums to the PBGC not yet due, and no condition exists that presents a material risk of incurring any such liability, which liability, to the extent currently due, has not been fully paid as of the date hereof and would individually or in the aggregate be reasonably likely to result in a Company Material Adverse Effect.

(c) Except as set forth in Company SEC reports or in Section 4.13 of the Company Disclosure Schedule, neither the Company nor any of its subsidiaries has any obligation to provide any welfare benefits to employees or former employees following termination of employment except (i) for benefits the cost of which is borne entirely by the employee or former employee, (ii) as required under Section 4980 of the Code or other applicable law or (iii) obligations to provide such benefits to Company employees employed in non-U.S. jurisdictions.

(d) No Commonly Controlled Entity has engaged in a transaction described in Section 4069 of ERISA that could subject the Company or any of its subsidiaries or Laser to liability at any time after the date hereof, which liability would be reasonably likely to result in a Company Material Adverse Effect.

(e) No Commonly Controlled Entity has withdrawn from any multiemployer plan where such withdrawal has resulted in any actual or potential "withdrawal liability" (as defined in Section 4201 of ERISA) that has not been fully paid, which liability would be reasonably likely to result in a Company Material Adverse Effect.

(f) Except as set forth in Section 4.13 of the Company Disclosure Schedule or as specifically provided in this Agreement, the transactions contemplated by this Agreement will not, either alone or in connection with another event, cause there to be paid or become payable any additional benefits or any acceleration of the time of payment or vesting of any benefits under any Company Plan or under any employment, severance, termination or compensation agreement to which the Company is a party as of the Company Effective Time.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0008033

16div-024807

Section 4.14 Environmental Matters.

(a) Except as disclosed in the Filed Company SEC Reports, the Company and its subsidiaries are in compliance with all applicable Environmental Laws, which compliance includes the possession of permits and governmental authorizations required under applicable Environmental Laws ("Environmental Permits") and compliance with the terms and conditions thereof, except where such non-compliance would not result in a Company Material Adverse Effect.

(b) Except as disclosed in the Filed Company SEC Reports, there are no Environmental Claims pending or, to the knowledge of the Company, threatened against the Company or any of its subsidiaries that would reasonably be expected to result in a Company Material Adverse Effect.

(c) Except as disclosed in the Filed Company SEC Reports, the properties presently or to the knowledge of the Company formerly owned, leased or operated by the Company or its subsidiaries (including groundwater under the properties) (the "Properties") do not contain any Hazardous Substance other than as permitted under applicable Environmental Law; provided, however, that with respect to Properties formerly owned, leased or operated by the Company or its subsidiaries, such representation is limited to the period prior to the disposition of such Properties by the Company or its subsidiaries.

(d) Except as disclosed in the Filed Company SEC Reports, to the knowledge of the Company, no Hazardous Substance has been disposed of or transported from any of the Properties during the time any such Property was owned, leased or operated by the Company or any of its subsidiaries, other than as permitted under applicable Environmental Law and in effect at the time of such disposal or transportation.

(e) Except as disclosed in the Filed Company SEC Reports, to the knowledge of the Company, the Company and its subsidiaries have not become obligated, whether by operation of Law or through contractual agreement, to indemnify any other person or otherwise to assume liability for any claim brought pursuant to any Environmental Law which could reasonably be expected to have a Company Material Adverse Effect.

Section 4.15 Intellectual Property. The Company has previously delivered to Laser a list, which, to the knowledge of the Company, is true and correct as of the date hereof in all material respects, of all material issued patents and registered trademarks of the Company. Except as set forth in Section 4.15 of the Company Disclosure Schedule, the Company and its subsidiaries own or have sufficient rights to use all material Intellectual Property used in connection with the business of the Company and its subsidiaries as currently conducted. As used in this Section 4.15, the term "material," when applied to Intellectual Property, means that such Intellectual Property is used in a significant manner to conduct the business of the Company and its subsidiaries as it is currently conducted.

Section 4.16 Contracts. Except as set forth in Section 4.16 of the Company Disclosure Schedule, neither the Company nor any of its subsidiaries is a party to or bound by any material Contract, other than (i) the Affiliate Agreements listed in Section 4.10 of the Holdings Disclosure Schedule, (ii) any Contract filed or incorporated by reference as an exhibit to any Filed Company SEC Report or (iii) any Contract (other than the Affiliate Agreements listed in Section 4.10 of the Holdings Disclosure Schedule) entered into in the ordinary course of business consistent with past practice.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0169564

16div-024808

Section 4.17 Opinion of Financial Advisor. The Board of Directors of the Company has received the opinion of Credit Suisse First Boston, dated the date hereof to the effect that the Per Share Merger Consideration is fair to the holders of shares of Company Common Stock (other than Worldwide) from a financial point of view.

Section 4.18 Takeover Statute. The Board of Directors of the Company has approved the Holdings Merger solely for the purpose of rendering inapplicable, and such approval is sufficient to render inapplicable, to the Company Merger and the other transactions contemplated by this Agreement the provisions of Section 203 of the DGCL. To the best of the Company's knowledge, no other state takeover statute or similar statute or regulation applies or purports to apply to the Company Merger, this Agreement or any of the transactions contemplated hereby, and no provision of the certificate of incorporation or by-laws of the Company or certificates of incorporation or by-laws (or comparable organizational documents) of any subsidiary of the Company would, directly or indirectly, restrict or impair the ability of Laser to vote, or otherwise to exercise the rights of a stockholder with respect to, shares of capital stock of the Company or any of its subsidiaries that may be acquired or controlled by Laser.

Section 4.19 Brokers. No broker, investment banker or other person, other than Credit Suisse First Boston, the fees and expenses of which will be paid by the Company (as reflected in an agreement between Credit Suisse First Boston and the Company, a copy of which has been furnished to Laser), is entitled to any broker's, finder's or other similar fee or commission in connection with the transactions contemplated by this Agreement based upon arrangements made by or on behalf of the Company.

ARTICLE V

REPRESENTATIONS AND WARRANTIES OF LASER AND MERGER SUB

Laser and Merger Sub represent and warrant to the Company as follows:

Section 5.1 Organization. Laser is a corporation duly organized, validly existing and in good standing under the Laws of the State of Delaware and has the corporate power to carry on its business as it is now being conducted. Laser is duly qualified as a foreign corporation to do business, and is in good standing, in each jurisdiction where the character of its properties owned or held under lease or the nature of its activities makes such qualification necessary, except where the failure to be so qualified would not individually or in the aggregate have a material adverse effect on the business, results of operations or financial condition of Laser and its subsidiaries, taken as a whole (a "Laser Material Adverse Effect").

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

599910

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0008035

16div-024809

Section 5.2 Capitalization. The authorized capital stock of Laser consists of 200,000,000 shares of Laser Common Stock, and 2,000,000 shares of Laser Preferred Stock. As of February 23, 1998, (i) 85,988,627 shares of Laser Common Stock were issued and outstanding; (ii) 16,129,197 shares of Laser Common Stock were issuable upon exercise of employee and non-employee stock options (the "Laser Stock Options") outstanding under all stock option plans of Laser (the "Laser Stock Option Plans") or granted pursuant to employment agreements; and (iii) no shares of Laser Preferred Stock were issued and outstanding. As of such date, 4,568,959 shares of Laser Common Stock were held as treasury shares. All of the issued and outstanding shares of Laser Common Stock are validly issued, fully paid and nonassessable and free of preemptive rights. All of the shares of Laser Common Stock issuable as consideration in the Company Merger at the Company Effective Time in accordance with this Agreement will be, when so issued, duly authorized, validly issued, fully paid and nonassessable and free of preemptive rights. As of such date, except as set forth above, there are no shares of capital stock of Laser issued or outstanding or, as of such date or as of the date hereof, except as set forth above, any options, warrants, subscriptions, calls, rights, convertible securities or other agreements or commitments obligating Laser to issue, transfer, sell, redeem, repurchase or otherwise acquire any shares of its capital stock or securities, or the capital stock or securities of Laser. There are no notes, bonds, debentures or other indebtedness of Laser having the right to vote (or convertible into or exchangeable for securities having the right to vote) on any matters upon which stockholders of Laser may vote.

Section 5.3 Merger Sub. Merger Sub is a corporation duly organized, validly existing and in good standing under the Laws of the State of Delaware. Merger Sub is a newly incorporated company formed solely for purposes of consummating the transactions contemplated by this Agreement and has engaged in no activity other than as provided in, or contemplated by, this Agreement. The authorized capital stock of Merger Sub consists of 1,000 shares of Merger Sub Common Stock, all of which are validly issued, fully paid and nonassessable and are owned by Laser. Except as set forth above there are no shares of capital stock of Merger Sub issued or outstanding or any options, warrants, subscription, calls, rights, convertible securities or other agreements or commitments obligating Merger Sub to issue, transfer, sell, redeem, repurchase or otherwise acquire any shares of its capital stock or securities.

Section 5.4 Authority Relative to this Agreement. Each of Laser and Merger Sub has the corporate power and authority to enter into this Agreement and to perform its obligations hereunder and to consummate the transactions contemplated hereby. The execution and delivery of this Agreement by Laser and Merger Sub and the consummation by Laser and Merger Sub of the transactions contemplated hereby have been duly authorized by the Boards of Directors of Laser and Merger Sub, and no other corporate action or proceedings on the part of Laser or Merger Sub (including any action on the part of its stockholders) is necessary to authorize this Agreement or the transactions contemplated hereby. This Agreement has been duly executed and delivered by Laser and Merger Sub and, assuming it is a valid and binding obligation of the Company, constitutes a valid and binding agreement of Laser and Merger Sub, enforceable against Laser and Merger Sub in accordance with its terms, except that such enforcement may be subject to any bankruptcy, insolvency, reorganization, moratorium or similar Laws now or hereafter in effect relating to creditors' rights generally and other forms of equitable relief may be subject to equitable defenses and the discretion of the court before which any proceedings therefor may be brought.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0 1 6 9 6 9

Section 5.5 Consents and Approvals; No Violations. Except for applicable requirements of the HSR Act, the Securities Act, the Exchange Act, Competition Laws, and state securities or blue sky Laws, and the filing of the Certificate of Merger in such form as required by, and executed in accordance with the relevant provisions of, the DGCL, no filing with, and no permit, authorization, consent or approval of, any governmental or regulatory authority is necessary for the consummation by Laser or Merger Sub of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement, except for such filings, permits, authorizations, consents or approvals the failure of which to be made or obtained would not (i) individually or in the aggregate have a Laser Material Adverse Effect or (ii) delay in any material respect or prevent the consummation of any of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement. Neither the execution and delivery of this Agreement by Laser or Merger Sub nor the consummation by Laser or Merger Sub of the transactions contemplated hereby, nor compliance by Laser with any of the provisions hereof, will (a) conflict with or result in any breach of any provisions of the certificate of incorporation or by-laws of Laser or Merger Sub; (b) result in a violation or breach of, or constitute (with or without due notice or lapse of time or both) a default (or give rise to any right of termination, cancellation or acceleration) under, any of the terms, conditions or provisions of any material (as defined for purposes of Form 10-K) Contract to which Laser, Merger Sub or any of their subsidiaries is a party or by which any of them or any of their properties or assets may be bound; or (c) violate any order, writ, injunction, decree, statute, rule or regulation applicable to Laser, Merger Sub, any of their subsidiaries or any of their properties or assets, except, in the case of clauses (b) and (c), for violations, breaches or defaults which would not individually or in the aggregate have a Laser Material Adverse Effect.

Section 5.6 Reports and Financial Statements.

(a) Laser has filed all reports, forms, registrations, schedules, statements and other documents required to be filed by it with the SEC since January 1, 1997 (the "Laser SEC Reports"). As of their respective dates, the Laser SEC Reports complied in all material respects with the requirements of the Securities Act or the Exchange Act, as the case may be, and the applicable rules and regulations promulgated thereunder. Except to the extent that information contained in any Laser SEC Report has been amended, revised or superseded by a later Laser SEC Report filed and publicly available prior to the date of this Agreement (as amended, revised or superseded by a later filed Laser SEC Report to the date of this Agreement, the "Filed Laser SEC Reports"), none of the Filed Laser SEC Reports, when filed, contained any untrue statement of a material fact or omitted to state any material fact required to be stated therein or necessary to make the statements therein, in light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading.

(b) The consolidated financial statements of Laser included in the Filed Laser SEC Reports complied as to form in all material respects with the applicable accounting requirements and the published rules and regulations of the SEC with respect thereto, have been prepared in accordance with GAAP (except, in the case of the unaudited statements, as permitted by Form 10-Q of the SEC) applied on a consistent basis during the periods involved (except as may be indicated therein or in the notes thereto) and fairly present the consolidated financial position of Laser and its consolidated subsidiaries as of the dates thereof and the consolidated results of their operations and their consolidated cash flows for the periods then ended (subject, in the case of the unaudited statements, to normal year-end audit adjustments and to any other adjustments described therein).

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016667

16div-024811

(c) Except as set forth in the Filed Laser SEC Reports and except for liabilities and obligations incurred in the ordinary course of business consistent with past practice since the date of the most recent consolidated balance sheet included in the Filed Laser SEC Reports (the "Laser Balance Sheet Date"), neither Laser nor any of the Laser subsidiaries has any material liabilities or obligations of any nature (whether accrued, absolute, contingent or otherwise) required by GAAP to be recognized or disclosed on a consolidated balance sheet of Laser and its consolidated subsidiaries or in the notes thereto.

Section 5.7 Absence of Certain Changes or Events. Except as set forth in the Filed Laser SEC Reports, since the Laser Balance Sheet Date, the business of Laser and its subsidiaries has been conducted only in the ordinary course of business consistent with past practice, and there has not been any event, change or development which individually or in the aggregate has had or would reasonably be expected to have a Laser Material Adverse Effect or would impair or delay the ability of Laser to consummate the transactions contemplated by, or to satisfy its obligations under, this Agreement.

Section 5.8 Litigation. Except as disclosed in the Filed Laser SEC Reports, there is no suit, action, proceeding or investigation pending or, to the knowledge of Laser, threatened against or affecting Laser or any of its subsidiaries that individually or in the aggregate would reasonably be expected to (i) have a Laser Material Adverse Effect (taking into account any reserve therefor as of the most recent balance sheet included in the Filed Laser SEC Reports) or (ii) delay in any material respect or prevent the consummation of any of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement, nor is there any judgment, order, decree, statute, Law, ordinance, rule or regulation of any Governmental Entity or arbitrator outstanding against Laser or any of its subsidiaries having, or which would reasonably be expected to have, any effect referred to in clause (i) or (ii) above.

Section 5.9 Information in Disclosure Documents and Registration Statement. None of the information to be supplied by Laser for inclusion or incorporation by reference in (a) the Registration Statement or (b) the Information Statement, the Schedule 13E-3 or the Section 14(f) Notice will, in the case of the Registration Statement, at the time it becomes effective and at the Company Effective Time contain any untrue statement of a material fact or omit to state any material fact required to be stated therein or necessary to make the statements therein not misleading, or, in the case of the Information Statement, the Schedule 13E-3 and the Section 14(f) Notice, at the time of the mailing thereof and, in the case of the Information Statement and the Schedule 13E-3, at the Company Effective Time, contain any untrue statement of a material fact or omit to state any material fact required to be stated therein or necessary in order to make the statements therein, in light of the circumstances under which they are made, not misleading.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0008038

16div-024812

The Registration Statement will comply as to form in all material respects with the provisions of the Securities Act and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder. The Schedule 13E-3 will comply as to form in all material respects with the provisions of the Exchange Act and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder.

Section 5.10 Taxes.

(a) Laser and its subsidiaries have filed (or there have been filed on their behalf) with the appropriate governmental authorities all material Tax Returns required to be filed by them and such Tax Returns are true, correct and complete in all material respects and disclose all Taxes required to be paid by them for the periods covered thereby; and

(b) all material Taxes (whether or not shown on any Tax Return) owed by Laser and its subsidiaries and required to be paid on or before the Closing Date have been (or will be) timely paid or, in the case of Taxes which Laser or any of its subsidiaries is presently contesting in good faith, an adequate reserve has been established for such Taxes in accordance with GAAP.

Section 5.11 Compliance with Applicable Law. Except as disclosed in the Filed Laser SEC Reports, Laser and its subsidiaries have received such certificates, permits, licenses, franchises, consents, approvals, orders, authorizations and clearances from appropriate Governmental Entities (the "Laser Licenses") as are necessary to own or lease and operate their respective properties and to conduct their respective businesses substantially in the manner described in the Laser SEC Reports and as currently owned or leased and conducted, and all such Laser Licenses are valid and in full force and effect, except for any such certificates, permits, licenses, franchises, consents, approvals, orders, authorizations and clearances which the failure to have or to be in full force and effect would not reasonably be expected to have, individually or in the aggregate, a Laser Material Adverse Effect. Except as disclosed in the Filed Laser SEC Reports, Laser and its subsidiaries are in compliance in all material respects with their respective obligations under the Laser Licenses, with only such exceptions as, individually or in the aggregate, would not reasonably be expected to have a Laser Material Adverse Effect. Except as disclosed in the Filed Laser SEC Reports, Laser and its subsidiaries are in compliance with all judgments, orders, decrees, statutes, Laws, ordinances, rules and regulations of any Governmental Entity applicable to them, except for such noncompliance which individually or in the aggregate would not have a Laser Material Adverse Effect.

Section 5.12 Brokers. No broker, investment banker or other person, other than Morgan Stanley, the fees and expenses of which will be paid by Laser (as reflected in an agreement between Morgan Stanley and Laser) is entitled to any broker's, finder's or other similar fee or commission in connection with the transactions contemplated by this Agreement based upon arrangements made by or on behalf of Laser.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016669

16div-024813

ARTICLE VI

COVENANTS RELATING TO CONDUCT OF BUSINESS

Section 6.1 Conduct of Business by the Company. During the period from the date of this Agreement to the Holdings Effective Time, except as expressly permitted by this Agreement or with the prior written consent of Laser or as set forth in Section 6.1 of the Company Disclosure Schedule, the Company shall, and shall cause its subsidiaries to, carry on the business of the Company and its subsidiaries in the usual, regular and ordinary course in substantially the same manner as heretofore conducted and in compliance in all material respects with all applicable Laws and regulations and, to the extent consistent therewith, use all reasonable efforts to preserve intact the current business organizations of the Company and its subsidiaries, and to preserve its relationships with those persons having business dealings with the Company and its subsidiaries to the end that the goodwill and ongoing businesses of the Company and its subsidiaries shall be unimpaired at the Holdings Effective Time. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, during the period from the date of this Agreement to the Holdings Effective Time, the Company agrees as to itself and its subsidiaries that, except as expressly permitted by this Agreement or with the prior written consent of Laser or as set forth in Section 6.1 of the Company Disclosure Schedule:

(i) Neither the Company nor any of its subsidiaries shall (x) declare, set aside or pay any distributions (whether in cash, stock or property) with respect to its capital stock or (y) split, combine, or reclassify any of its capital stock or issue or authorize the issuance of any other securities in respect of, in lieu of or in substitution for shares of its capital stock (other than dividends or stock issuances by a wholly owned subsidiary of the Company to the Company or another wholly owned subsidiary of the Company);

(ii) Neither the Company nor any of its subsidiaries shall issue, deliver, sell, pledge or otherwise encumber any shares of its capital stock, any other voting securities or any securities convertible into, or any options, warrants or rights to acquire, any such shares, voting securities or convertible securities (other than the issuance of Company Common Stock upon the exercise of Employee Stock Options in accordance with their terms and issuances by a wholly owned subsidiary of the Company to the Company or another wholly owned subsidiary of the Company);

(iii) The Company shall not amend its certificate of incorporation or by-laws;

(iv) Other than as would not be material to the Company, the Company and its subsidiaries shall not acquire or agree to acquire (x) by merging or consolidating with, or by purchasing a substantial portion of the assets of, or in any other manner, any business or any corporation, limited liability company, partnership, joint venture, association or other business organization or division thereof or (y) any assets that individually or in the aggregate are material to the Company and its subsidiaries;

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016670

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0008040

16div-024814

(v) Other than as would not be material to the Company, the Company and its subsidiaries shall not sell, lease, license or otherwise encumber or subject to any Lien or otherwise dispose of any of the properties or assets of the Company and its subsidiaries, other than in the ordinary course of business consistent with past practice or pursuant to existing contractual obligations, if any, set forth in Section 6.1 of the Company Disclosure Schedule;

(vi) Other than in the ordinary course of business or as would not be material to the Company, the Company and its subsidiaries shall not (x) incur any indebtedness or (y) make any loans, advances or capital contributions to, or investments in, any other person (other than the Company or a subsidiary of the Company), other than to officers and employees of the Company and its subsidiaries for travel, business or relocation expenses in the ordinary course of business;

(vii) Other than in the ordinary course of business or consistent with the Company's 1998 capital budget;

(viii) Other than in the ordinary course of business, the Company and its subsidiaries shall not make any material Tax election or settle or compromise any material income Tax liability;

(ix) Except in the ordinary course of business or except as would not reasonably be expected to have a Company Material Adverse Effect, the Company and its subsidiaries (i) shall not enter into any Contracts and (ii) shall not modify, amend or terminate any material Contract or agreement to which the Company or any of its subsidiaries is, or as of the Company Effective Time will be, a party or waive, release or assign any material rights or claims thereunder;

(x) Except as required by Law or previously existing contractual arrangements, in the ordinary course of business consistent with past practice or as disclosed or otherwise provided in this Agreement, the Company will not, nor will it permit any of its subsidiaries to, (a) increase the compensation of any of its employees, (b) enter into any Contract with any of its employees regarding his or her employment, compensation or benefits, or (c) adopt any plan, arrangement or policy which would become a Company Plan or amend any Company Plan to the extent such adoption or amendment would create or materially increase any material liability or obligation on the part of the Company or its subsidiaries;

(xi) The Company and its subsidiaries shall not make any change to their accounting methods, principles or practices, except as may be required by GAAP or Regulation S-X promulgated by the SEC or by Law;

(xii) The Company shall not, and shall not permit any of its subsidiaries to, create, incur, suffer to exist or assume any material Lien on any of their assets, except as would not have a Company Material Adverse Effect or materially impair the

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016671

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0008041

16div-024815

Company's conduct of the business and operations of the Company and its subsidiaries, as presently conducted;

(xiii) The Company shall not, and shall not permit any of its subsidiaries to enter into any transaction or contract with, or (except pursuant to the Affiliate Agreements) make any payment to, any Affiliate of the Company (other than the Company's subsidiaries or its or their officers or directors in the ordinary course of business consistent with past practice); and

(xiv) The Company and its subsidiaries shall not authorize, or commit or agree to take, any of the foregoing actions.

Section 6.2 Other Actions. During the period from the date hereof to the Holdings Effective Time, the Company and Laser shall not, and shall not permit any of their respective subsidiaries to, take any action that would, or that could reasonably be expected to, result in (i) any of the representations and warranties of such party set forth in this Agreement that are qualified as to materiality becoming untrue, (ii) any of such representations and warranties that are not so qualified becoming untrue in any material respect or (iii) any of the conditions to the Company Merger set forth in Article VIII hereof not being satisfied.

Section 6.3 Advice of Changes. Upon obtaining knowledge of any such occurrence, the Company and Laser shall promptly advise the other party orally and in writing of (i) any representation or warranty made by it contained in this Agreement that is qualified as to materiality becoming untrue or inaccurate in any respect or any such representation or warranty that is not so qualified becoming untrue or inaccurate in any material respect, (ii) the failure by it to comply with or satisfy in any material respect any covenant, condition or agreement to be complied with or satisfied by it under this Agreement or (iii) any change or event (x) having, or which, insofar as can reasonably be foreseen, would have, in the case of Laser, a Laser Material Adverse Effect and, in the case of the Company, a Company Material Adverse Effect, (y) having, or which, insofar as can reasonably be foreseen, would have, the effect set forth in clause (i) above or (z) which has resulted, or which, insofar as can reasonably be foreseen, would result, in any of the conditions set forth in Article VIII hereof not being satisfied; provided, however, that no such notification shall affect the representations, warranties, covenants or agreements of the parties or the conditions to the obligations of the parties under this Agreement.

Section 6.4 Conduct of Business of Merger Sub. From the date hereof to the Company Effective Time, Merger Sub shall not (i) engage in any activities of any nature, (ii) acquire any assets, or (iii) incur any indebtedness or assume any liabilities or obligations, in each case, except as provided in or contemplated by this Agreement.

Section 6.5 Section 14(f) Notice. Promptly after the date hereof, Laser shall provide to the Company in writing the information with respect to the Laser Designees (as defined in the Holdings Merger Agreement) required by Section 14(f) of the Exchange Act and Rule 14f-1 of the SEC. Promptly after its receipt of such information, the Company shall file with the SEC and mail to all stockholders of record of the Company the Section 14(f) Notice.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0169672

ARTICLE VII

ADDITIONAL AGREEMENTS

Section 7.1 Preparation of the Registration Statement, the Information Statement, the Schedule 13E-3 and the Section 14(f) Notice. As soon as reasonably practicable following the date of this Agreement, Laser and the Company shall prepare and file with the SEC the Information Statement and Laser shall prepare and file with the SEC the Registration Statement, in which the Information Statement will be included as a prospectus (including the financial statements and pro forma financial information required to be set forth therein), and the Schedule 13E-3 and the Section 14(f) Notice. Laser shall use all reasonable best efforts to have the Registration Statement declared effective under the Securities Act and the Schedule 13E-3 and the Section 14(f) Notice cleared by the SEC and mailed as promptly as practicable after such filing. The Company will use all reasonable best efforts to cause the Information Statement and the Schedule 13E-3 and the Section 14(f) Notice to be mailed to the Company's stockholders as promptly as practicable after it has been cleared by the SEC. Each of Laser and the Company shall also take any action (other than qualifying to do business in any jurisdiction in which it is not now so qualified or to file a general consent to service of process) required to be taken under any applicable state securities Laws in connection with the issuance of Laser Common Stock in connection with the Company Merger and the Holdings Merger. The Company shall furnish all information concerning the Company, its subsidiaries and the holders of the Company Common Stock and Laser shall furnish all information concerning Laser and its subsidiaries, in each case, as may be reasonably requested in connection with any such action.

Section 7.2 Access and Information; Confidentiality. The Company and Laser shall each afford to the other and to the other's financial advisors, legal counsel, accountants, consultants and other representatives full access at all reasonable times throughout the period prior to the Company Effective Time to all of its books, records, properties, plants and personnel (provided that all such access shall be on reasonable advance notice and shall not disrupt normal business operations) and, during such period, each shall furnish promptly to the other (a) a copy of each report, schedule and other document filed or received by it pursuant to the requirements of federal or state securities Laws, and (b) all other information as such other party may reasonably request, provided that no investigation pursuant to this Section 7.2 shall affect any representations or warranties made herein or the conditions to the obligations of the respective parties to consummate the Company Merger. Each party and their respective affiliates, representatives and agents shall hold in confidence all nonpublic information in accordance with the terms of the Confidentiality Agreements between Laser and the Company dated February 4, 1998 and February 23, 1998.

Section 7.3 Comfort Letters.

(a) The Company shall use its reasonable best efforts to cause to be delivered to Laser "comfort" letters of Ernst & Young, LLP, the Company's independent public accountants, dated the date on which the Registration Statement shall become effective and as of the date on which the Information Statement is mailed to the Company's stockholders, and addressed to

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0169673

Laser and the Company, in form and substance reasonably satisfactory to Laser and as is reasonably customary in scope and substance for letters delivered by independent public accountants in connection with transactions such as those contemplated by this Agreement.

(b) Laser shall use its reasonable best efforts to cause to be delivered to the Company "comfort" letters of Arthur Andersen, LLP, Laser's independent public accountants, dated the date on which the Registration Statement shall become effective and as of the date on which the Information Statement is mailed to the Company's stockholders, and addressed to the Company and Laser, in form and substance reasonably satisfactory to the Company and as is reasonably customary in scope and substance for letters delivered by independent public accountants in connection with transactions such as those contemplated by this Agreement.

Section 7.4 Listing Application. Laser shall prepare and submit to the NYSE a listing application covering the Laser Shares to be issued in connection with the Company Merger, and shall use its reasonable best efforts to obtain, prior to the Company Effective Time, approval for the listing of such Laser Shares, subject to official notice of issuance.

Section 7.5 Affiliates. Prior to the Company Effective Time, the Company shall cause to be prepared and delivered to Laser a list (reasonably satisfactory to counsel for Laser) identifying each person who, at the time the Information Statement is mailed to the Company's stockholders, may be deemed to be an "affiliate" of the Company, as such term is used in paragraphs (c) and (d) of Rule 145 under the Securities Act (the "Company Rule 145 Affiliates"). The Company shall use its reasonable best efforts to cause such person who is identified as a Company Rule 145 Affiliate in such list to deliver to Laser on or prior to the Company Effective Time a written agreement, in customary form, that such Company Rule 145 Affiliate will not (i) sell, pledge, transfer or otherwise dispose of, or in any other way reduce such Company Rule 145 Affiliate's risk relative to, any Laser Shares issued to such Company Rule 145 Affiliate in connection with the Company Merger, except pursuant to an effective registration statement or in compliance with such Rule 145 or another exemption from the registration requirements of the Securities Act or (ii) sell or in any other way reduce such Rule 145 Affiliate's risk relative to any Laser Shares received in the Company Merger (within the meaning of Section 201.01 of the SEC's Financial Reporting Release No. 1) during the period commencing thirty (30) days prior to the Company Effective Time and ending at such time as the financial results (including combined sales and net income) covering at least thirty (30) days of post-Merger operations have been published, except as permitted by Staff Accounting Bulletin No. 76 issued by the SEC.

Section 7.6 HSR Act; Competition Laws. As soon as reasonably practicable, the Company, Laser and Merger Sub shall make or cause to be made all filings and submissions under the HSR Act (if applicable) and any other applicable Competition Laws as may be reasonably required to be made in connection with this Agreement and the transactions contemplated hereby. Subject to Section 7.2 hereof, the Company will furnish to Laser and Laser will furnish to the Company, such information and assistance as the other may reasonably request in connection with the preparation of any such filings or submissions. Subject to Section 7.2 hereof, the Company will provide Laser, and Laser will provide the Company, with copies of 016674

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0008044

16div-024818

all correspondence, filings or communications (or memoranda setting forth the substance thereof) between such party or any of its representatives, on the one hand, and any governmental agency or authority or members of their respective staffs, on the other hand, with respect to this Agreement and the transactions contemplated hereby. The Company and Laser shall consult with one another with respect to any such correspondence, filings or communications and shall engage in discussions with any Governmental Entity on a joint basis.

Section 7.7 Employee Matters.

(a) From and after the Holdings Effective Time, Laser shall honor, and shall cause the Company to honor, all employment, severance, termination, consulting and retirement agreements to which the Company is a party as of the Holdings Effective Time; provided, however, that (i) neither Laser nor the Company shall have any responsibility for the Company's obligations under that certain employment agreement entered into as of October 1, 1997, between the Company and Jerry W. Levin (except for the incentive payment provided for in section 3.2(b) thereof (relating to the divestiture of Coleman Safety & Security Products, Inc.), which shall be the responsibility of the Company and paid in accordance with the terms of section 3.2(b) thereof), and (ii) neither Laser nor the Company shall have any responsibility for the Company's obligations under that certain employment agreement entered into as of July 1, 1997, between the Company and Paul E. Shapiro. Except as provided in the first sentence of Section 7.7(b) or the proviso to this sentence, from and after the Holdings Effective Time, Laser will cause the Company to allow Company employees to participate in Laser employee benefit plans on substantially the same basis as similarly situated Laser employees; provided, however, that Laser will cause the Company to continue the Company Plans for at least six (6) months following the Holdings Effective Time. Laser will or will cause the Company to give Company employees full credit for purposes of eligibility and vesting of benefits and benefit accrual for service with the Company and its affiliates prior to the Holdings Effective Time under each Laser employee benefit plan; provided, however, that no such crediting of service results in duplication of benefits. With respect to any welfare benefit plans maintained for the benefit of Company employees from and after the Holdings Effective Time, Laser shall (i) cause there to be waived any pre-existing condition limitations and (ii) give effect, in determining any deductible and maximum out-of-pocket limitations, to claims incurred and amounts paid by, and amounts reimbursed to, such employees with respect to similar plans maintained by the Company for such employee's benefit immediately prior to the Holdings Effective Time. Laser acknowledges that, for the purposes of certain of such Company Plans and certain of such other employment, severance, termination, consulting and retirement agreements to which the Company is currently a party, the consummation of the Holdings Merger will constitute a "change in control" of the Company (as such term is defined in such plans and agreements). Laser agrees to cause the Company, after the Holdings Effective Time, to pay all amounts provided under such Company Plans and agreements as a result of a change in control of the Company in accordance with their respective terms and to honor, and to cause the Company to honor, all rights, privileges and modifications to or with respect to any such Company Plans or agreements which become effective as a result of such change in control.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016675

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0008045

16div-024819

(b) Laser shall cause the Company to continue the Company's Executive Annual Incentive Policy for the remainder of 1998, and participants therein shall not be eligible for participation in an analogous Laser incentive plan in respect of 1998. Laser shall honor, and shall cause the Company to honor, the Company's Executive Severance Policy without any amendment adverse to participants. Laser shall provide severance benefits for employees of the Company, who are not participants in Company's Executive Severance Policy and who do not have employment agreements with the Company, under the Laser severance policy on the same basis as similarly situated Laser employees provided that severance benefits shall be no less than those set forth on Schedule 7.7(b).

(c) Effective as of the ninety-first (91st) day following the Holdings Effective Time, the participants in the Executive Severance Policy set forth on Schedule 7.7(c) may voluntarily terminate their employment, which termination will be deemed to be for "Good Reason" under the Executive Severance Policy as a result of the consummation of the Holdings Merger.

(d) Laser and the Company agree to take all necessary action to provide that, effective as of the Holdings Effective Time, all outstanding Employee Stock Options shall be vested and exercisable as of the Holdings Effective Time, and between the Holdings Effective Time and the Company Effective Time, Laser shall cause the Company to maintain a broker-dealer cashless exercise procedure for the exercise of Employee Stock Options. Laser and the Company agree to take all other actions necessary to provide for the cancellation, effective at the Company Effective Time, of each outstanding Employee Stock Option and, in settlement therefor, a payment to the holder of the Employee Stock Option in cash by Laser or the Company at the Company Effective Time equal to the product of (i) the total number of shares of Company Common Stock subject to such Employee Stock Option, and (ii) the excess of $27.50 over the exercise price per share of Company Common Stock subject to such Employee Stock Option, less any applicable withholding taxes.

(e) Laser agrees that, at or prior to the Holdings Effective Time, Holdings may cause the Company to (i) assume sponsorship of the pension, retirement, savings, retiree health care and life insurance and other plans maintained by New Coleman Holdings, Inc. that are reflected in footnotes 7 and 12 to the 1996 financial statements included in the Company's 1996 Annual Report on SEC Form 10-K (as such plans may have been changed in the ordinary course of business since December 31, 1996) (the "Plans"), and (ii) assume the liabilities and obligations of New Coleman Holdings, Inc. under the Plans to the extent reflected in such footnotes (as such liabilities and obligations may have changed in the ordinary course of business since December 31, 1996). The documents used to effect such assumption shall be in form and substance reasonably satisfactory to Parent Holdings and Laser.

Section 7.8 Continuance of Existing Indemnification Rights.

(a) For six (6) years after the Company Effective Time (and during the period following the Holdings Effective Time but prior to the Company Effective Time), Laser shall, or shall cause the Surviving Corporation to, indemnify, defend and hold harmless any person who is now, or has been at any time prior to the date hereof, or who becomes prior to the Company Effective Time, a director or officer of the Company (an "Indemnified Person") against all losses, claims, damages, liabilities, costs and expenses (including attorneys' fees and expenses), judgments, fines, losses and amounts paid in settlement in connection with any actual or threatened action, suit, claim, proceeding or investigation (each, a "Claim") to the extent that any such Claim is based on, or arises out of: (i) the fact that such Indemnified Person is or was a director or officer of the Company or is or was serving at the request of the Company as a director, officer, employee or agent of another corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust or other enterprise; or (ii) this Agreement or the Holdings Merger Agreement or any of the transactions contemplated hereby or thereby, in each case to the extent that any such Claim pertains to any matter or fact arising, existing or occurring prior to or at the Company Effective Time, regardless of whether such Claim is asserted or claimed prior to, at or after the Company Effective Time, to the full extent permitted under the DGCL, the Company's certificate of incorporation or by-laws or any indemnification agreement in effect at the date hereof, including provisions relating to advancement of expenses incurred in the defense of any such Claim; provided, however, that neither Laser nor the Surviving Corporation shall be required to indemnify any Indemnified Person in connection with any proceeding (or portion thereof) involving any Claim initiated by such Indemnified Person against the Company unless the initiation of such proceeding (or portion thereof) was authorized by the Board of Directors of the Company or unless such proceeding is brought by an Indemnified Person to enforce rights under this Section 7.8; and provided further that in the event any Claim is asserted or made within such period, all such rights, liabilities and limitations in respect of any such Claim shall continue until disposition thereof. Without limiting the generality of the preceding sentence, in the event any Indemnified Person becomes involved in any Claim after the Company Effective Time, Laser shall, or shall cause the Surviving Corporation to, periodically advance to such Indemnified Person its legal and other expenses (including the cost of any investigation and preparation incurred in connection therewith), subject to the providing by such Indemnified Person of an undertaking to reimburse all amounts so advanced in the event of a final non-appealable determination by a court of competent jurisdiction that such Indemnified Person is not entitled thereto.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0116576

(b) Laser and the Company agree that all rights to indemnification, and all limitations with respect thereto, existing in favor of any Indemnified Person, as provided in the Company's certificate of incorporation or by-laws and any indemnification agreement in effect at the date hereof, shall survive the Holdings Merger and the Company Merger and shall continue in full force and effect, without any amendment thereto, for a period of six (6) years from the Company Effective Time (and during the period following the Holdings Effective Time but prior to the Company Effective Time) to the extent such rights and limitations are consistent with the DGCL; provided, however, that in the event any Claim is asserted or made within such period, all such rights, liabilities and limitations in respect of any such Claim shall continue until disposition thereof; provided further that any determination required to be made with respect to whether an Indemnified Person's conduct complies with the standards set forth under the DGCL, the Company's certificate of incorporation or by-laws or any such agreement, as the case may be, shall be made by independent legal counsel selected by such Indemnified Person and reasonably acceptable to Laser; and provided further that nothing in this Section 7.8 shall impair any rights or obligations of any current or former director or officer of the Company.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016977

(c) Laser or the Surviving Corporation shall use reasonable best efforts to obtain a liability insurance policy ("D&O Insurance") for the benefit of the Company's existing and former directors and officers commencing at the Holdings Effective Time and for a period of not less than six (6) years after the Company Effective Time providing substantially similar coverage in amounts and on terms no less advantageous than that currently provided to such existing and former directors and officers; provided further that neither Laser nor the Surviving Corporation shall be required to pay an annual premium for D&O Insurance in excess of 200% of the last annual premium paid prior to the date hereof, but in such case shall purchase as much coverage as possible for such amount.

(d) The provisions of this Section 7.8 are intended to be for the benefit of, and shall be enforceable by, each Indemnified Person, his or her heirs and his or her personal representatives.

Section 7.9 Expenses. Whether or not the Company Merger is consummated, all costs and expenses incurred in connection with this Agreement and the transactions contemplated hereby shall be paid by the party incurring such expenses.

Section 7.10 Public Announcements. Laser and the Company shall consult with each other before issuing their respective initial press releases to be issued with respect to the transactions contemplated by this Agreement and the Holdings Merger.

Section 7.11 Reasonable Best Efforts. Upon the terms and subject to the conditions set forth in this Agreement, each of the parties hereto agrees to use its reasonable best efforts to take, or cause to be taken, all actions, and to do, or cause to be done, and to assist and cooperate with the other parties in doing, all things necessary, proper or advisable, to consummate and make effective, in the most expeditious manner practicable, the Company Merger and the other transactions contemplated by this Agreement, including, but not limited to: (i) the obtaining of all necessary actions or nonactions, waivers, consents and approvals from all Governmental Entities and the making of all necessary registrations and filings with, and the taking of all other reasonable steps as may be necessary to obtain an approval or waiver from, or to avoid an action or proceeding by, any Governmental Entity (including those in connection with the HSR Act, if applicable); (ii) the obtaining of all necessary consents, approvals or waivers from persons other than Governmental Entities; (iii) the defending of any lawsuits or other legal proceedings, whether judicial or administrative, challenging this Agreement or the consummation of the transactions contemplated hereby, including seeking to have any stay or temporary restraining order entered by any court or other Governmental Entity vacated or reversed; and (iv) the execution and delivery of any additional instruments necessary to consummate the transactions contemplated by this Agreement. Notwithstanding the foregoing, nothing in this Agreement shall be deemed to require any party hereto to enter into any agreement with any Governmental Entity or to consent to any order, decree or judgment requiring such party to hold, separate or divest, or to restrict the dominion or control of such

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0016978

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0008048

16div-024822

party or any of its Affiliates over, any of the assets, properties or businesses of such party or its Affiliates in existence on the date hereof.

ARTICLE VIII

CONDITIONS TO CONSUMMATION OF THE MERGER

Section 8.1 Conditions to Each Party's Obligation to Effect the Company Merger. The respective obligations of each party to effect the Company Merger shall be subject to the satisfaction or waiver, to the extent permitted by Law, at or prior to the Company Effective Time of the following conditions:

(a) The Registration Statement shall have become effective in accordance with the provisions of the Securities Act and no stop order suspending the effectiveness of the Registration Statement shall be in effect and no proceeding for such purpose shall be pending before or threatened by the SEC; and all applicable time periods required under the Securities Act and the Exchange Act following the mailing of the Information Statement to the Company's stockholders shall have lapsed.

(b) The Laser Shares shall have been approved for listing on the NYSE, subject to official notice of issuance.

(c) No preliminary or permanent injunction or other order by any federal or state court in the United States of competent jurisdiction which prohibits the consummation of the Company Merger shall have been issued and remain in effect.

(d) The Holdings Merger shall have been consummated in accordance with its terms and the applicable provisions of the DGCL.

ARTICLE IX

TERMINATION, AMENDMENT AND WAIVER

Section 9.1 Termination. This Agreement shall terminate automatically upon the termination of the Holdings Merger Agreement in accordance with its terms.

Section 9.2 Effect of Termination. In the event of termination of this Agreement as provided in Section 9.1 hereof, this Agreement shall forthwith become void and there shall be no liability on the part of any of the parties; provided that the provisions of Sections 7.2 and 7.9 and of this Article IX shall continue and that nothing herein shall relieve any party from liability for any willful breach hereof.

Section 9.3 Amendment. This Agreement may be amended by the parties pursuant to a writing adopted by action taken by all of the parties at any time prior to (but not

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016679

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0008049

16div-024823

following) the consummation of the Holdings Merger. This Agreement may not be amended except by an instrument in writing signed by all the parties hereto.

Section 9.4 Extension; Waiver. At any time prior to (but not following) the consummation of the Holdings Merger any party hereto may (a) extend the time for the performance of any of the obligations or other acts of the other parties, (b) waive any inaccuracies in the representations and warranties contained herein or in any document delivered pursuant hereto and (c) waive compliance with any of the agreements or conditions contained herein. Any agreement on the part of a party to any such extension or waiver shall be valid only as against such party and only if set forth in an instrument in writing signed by such party. The failure of any party to this Agreement to assert any of its rights under this Agreement or otherwise shall not constitute a waiver of such rights.

ARTICLE X

GENERAL PROVISIONS

Section 10.1 No Survival of Representations and Warranties. No representations or warranties contained herein shall survive beyond the Company Effective Time. This Section 10.1 shall not limit any covenant or agreement of the parties which by its terms contemplates performance after the Company Effective Time.

Section 10.2 Notices. All notices or other communications hereunder shall be deemed to have been duly given and made if in writing and if served by personal delivery upon the party for whom it is intended, if delivered by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, or by a national courier service, or if sent by telecopier; provided that the telecopy is promptly confirmed by telephone confirmation thereof, to the person at the address set forth below, or such other address as may be designated in writing hereafter, in the same manner, by such person:

(a) If to Laser, to:

Sunbeam Corporation
1615 South Congress Avenue
Suite 200
Delray Beach, Florida 33445
Facsimile: (561) 243-2191
Attention: David C. Fannin, Esq.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0016980

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0008050

16div-024824

with a copy to:

Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher
& Flom LLP
One Rodney Square
Wilmington, Delaware 19801
Facsimile: (302) 651-3001
Attention: Richard L. Easton, Esq.

(b) If to the Company, to:

CLN Holdings Inc.
5900 North Andrews Avenue, Suite #700-A
Fort Lauderdale, Florida 33309
Facsimile: (954) 772-3352
Attention: General Counsel

with a copy to:

Wachtell, Lipton, Rosen & Katz
51 West 52nd Street
New York, New York 10019
Facsimile: (212) 403-2000
Attention: Adam O. Emmerich, Esq.

Any such notification shall be deemed delivered (i) upon receipt, if delivered personally, (ii) on the next business day, if sent by national courier service for next business day delivery or (iii) the business day received, if sent by telecopier.

Section 10.3 Descriptive Headings. The headings contained in this Agreement are for reference purposes only and shall not affect in any way the meaning or interpretation of this Agreement.

Section 10.4 Entire Agreement; No Third-Party Beneficiary. This Agreement (including the Exhibits, Disclosure Schedules and other documents and instruments referred to herein) (a) constitutes the entire agreement and supersedes all other prior agreements and understandings, both written and oral, among the parties or any of them, with respect to the subject matter hereof; (b) except for the provisions of Sections 7.7(c) and 7.8 hereof, is not intended to confer upon any other person any rights or remedies hereunder.

Section 10.5 Interpretation. When a reference is made in this Agreement to an Article, Section or Annex, such reference shall be to an Article or Section of, or an Annex to, this Agreement unless otherwise indicated. Whenever the words "include", "includes" or "including" are used in this Agreement, they shall be deemed to be followed by the words "without limitation". The words "hereof", "herein" and "hereunder" and words of similar import when used in this Agreement shall refer to this Agreement as a whole and not to any particular provision of this Agreement. The phrase "made available" in this Agreement shall mean that the information referred to has been made available if requested by the party to whom such information is to be made available. All terms defined in this Agreement shall have the defined meanings used in any certificate or other document made or delivered pursuant hereto unless otherwise defined therein. The definitions contained in this Agreement are applicable to the singular as well as the plural forms of such terms and to the masculine as well as to the feminine and neuter genders of such term. Any agreement, instrument or statute defined or referred to herein or in any agreement or instrument that is referred to herein means such agreement, instrument or statute as from time to time amended, modified or supplemented, including (in the case of agreements or instruments) by waiver or consent and (in the case of statutes) by succession of comparable successor statutes and references to all attachments thereto and instruments incorporated therein. References to a person are also to its permitted successors and assigns and, in the case of an individual, to his heirs and estate, as applicable.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

16910

Section 10.6 Severability. If any provision of this Agreement or the application thereof to any person or circumstance is determined by a court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, void or unenforceable, the remaining provisions hereof, or the application of such provision to persons or circumstances other than those as to which it has been held invalid or unenforceable, shall remain in full force and effect and shall in no way be affected, impaired or invalidated thereby. Upon any such determination, the parties shall negotiate in good faith in an effort to agree upon a suitable and equitable substitute provision to effect original intent of the parties.

Section 10.7 Assignment. Neither this Agreement nor any of the rights, interests or obligations under this Agreement shall be assigned, in whole or in part, by operation of Law or otherwise by any of the parties without the prior written consent of the other parties. Any assignment in violation of the preceding sentence shall be void. Subject to the preceding sentence, this Agreement will be binding upon, inure to the benefit of, and be enforceable by, the parties and their respective successors and assigns.

Section 10.8 Disclosure Schedules. Matters reflected on the Company Disclosure Schedule are not necessarily limited to matters required by this Agreement to be reflected therein and the inclusion of such matters shall not be deemed an admission that such matters were required to be reflected on the Company Disclosure Schedule. Such additional matters are set forth for informational purposes only and do not necessarily include other matters of a similar nature. Capitalized terms used in the Company Disclosure Schedule but not otherwise defined therein shall have the respective meanings assigned to such terms in this Agreement.

Section 10.9 Governing Law. This Agreement shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the Laws of the State of Delaware without giving effect to the provisions thereof relating to conflicts of Law.

Section 10.10 Specific Performance. The parties hereto agree that irreparable damage would occur in the event any of the provisions of this Agreement were not performed in

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016682

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0008052

16div-024826

accordance with the terms hereof and that the parties shall be entitled to specific performance of the terms hereof, in addition to any other remedy at Law or equity.

Section 10.11 Counterparts. This Agreement may be executed in two or more counterparts, each of which shall be deemed to be an original but all of which shall constitute one and the same agreement.

Section 10.12 Certain Terms. As used herein, (i) the term "material adverse effect" (including as used in any definition), with respect to any Person, shall exclude any change, event, effect or circumstance (a) arising in connection with the announcement or performance of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement or the Holdings Merger Agreement and (b) affecting the United States economy generally or such Person's industries generally; and (ii) "to the knowledge of the Company" shall mean to the actual knowledge of Paul E. Shapiro, Jerry W. Levin and Steven R. Isko.

[SIGNATURE PAGE FOLLOWS]

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0166883

MORGAN STANLEY CONFIDENTIAL 0008053

16div-024827

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, each of the parties hereto has caused this Agreement to be executed on its behalf by its officers thereunto duly authorized, all as of the date first above written.

SUNBEAM CORPORATION

By: _____
Name: Russell A. Kersch
Title: Executive Vice President

CAMPER ACQUISITION CORP.

By: _____
Name: Russell A. Kersch
Title:

THE COLEMAN COMPANY, INC.

By: _____
Name: Paul E. Shapiro
Title: EVP

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016984

16div-024828

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0166685

THE COLEMAN COMPANY, INC.

DISCLOSURE SCHEDULE

Reference is made to the Agreement and Plan of Merger (the "Merger Agreement") dated as of February 27, 1998, and among Sunbeam Corporation ("Laser"), The Coleman Company, Inc. (the "Company") and Camper Acquisition Corp. ("Merger Sub"). Capitalized terms used herein and not otherwise defined shall have the respective meanings ascribed to such terms in the Merger Agreement.

This disclosure schedule to the Merger Agreement is qualified in its entirety by reference to specific provisions of the Merger Agreement, and is not intended to constitute, and shall not be construed as constituting, representations or warranties of any party except as and to the extent provided in the Merger Agreement.

Matters reflected herein are not necessarily limited to matters required by the Merger Agreement to be reflected in the schedules. Such additional matters are set forth for information purposes and do not necessarily include other matters of a similar nature.

Any matter disclosed in one provision, sub-provision, section or subsection hereof is deemed disclosed for all purposes hereof to the extent the Merger Agreement requires such disclosure.

Headings and subheadings have been inserted herein for convenience of reference only and shall to no extent have the effect of amending or changing the express description of the schedules as set forth in the Merger Agreement.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0169896

16div-024830

SCHEDULE 4.4

Subsidiaries

(As of Jan. 19, 1998)

Application des Gaz, S.A.
Bafiges S.A.
CC Outlet, Inc.
Camping Gaz (Gb) Limited
Camping Gaz (India) Pvt. Ltd.
Camping Gaz AG
Camping Gaz GmbH
Camping Gaz International Hellas Sarl
Camping Gaz K.K.
Camping Gaz Philippines, Inc.
Camping Gaz S.r.l.
The Canadian Coleman Company, Limited
Coleman Asia Offices, Ltd.
Coleman do Brasil Ltda
Coleman (Deutschland) GmbH
Coleman Japan Co., Ltd.
Coleman Manufacturing de Mexico, S.A. de C.V.
Coleman Powermate Compressors, Inc.
Coleman Safety & Security Products, Inc.
Coleman International
Coleman SVB S.r.l.
Coleman U.K. Holdings Limited
Coleman Venture Capital, Inc.
Eastpak Manufacturing Corporation
General Archery Industries, Inc.
Kansas Acquisition Corp.
Nippon Coleman, Inc.
Productos Coleman, S.A.
River View Corporation of Barling, Inc.
Taymar Gas Limited
Woodcraft Equipment Company
Australian Coleman, Inc.
Beacon Exports, Inc.
Camping Gaz (Brazil)
Camping Gaz (Hong Kong)
Camping Gaz (Poland)
Camping Gaz Cs, Spol, S.r.l.
Camping Gaz International
Camping Gaz International (Portugal) Ltda
Camping Gaz Kft
Camping Gaz Senegal
Campiran S.A.
Coleman Argentina, Inc.
Coleman Europe
Coleman Country, Ltd.
Coleman Holland B.V.
Coleman Lifestyles K.K.
Coleman Mexico S.A. de C.V.
Coleman Powermate, Inc.
Coleman SARL
Coleman Spas, Inc.
Coleman Taymar Limited
Coleman U.K. PLC
Eastpak Corporation
Epigas International Limited
Jasan Products Ltd.
Neves Caria & Ca Ltda
Pearson Holdings, Inc.
PT Camping Gaz
Sierra Corporation of Fort Smith
Tsana Internacional, S.A.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016687

SCHEDULE 4.5

Consents and Approvals; No Violations

1. The Company's Amended and Restated Credit Agreement
2. LYONs
3. Senior Secured First Priority Discount Notes due 2001;
   Senior Secured Second Priority Discount Notes due 2001;
   Senior Secured First Priority Discount Exchange Notes due 2001;
   Senior Secured Second Priority Discount Exchange Notes due 2001 of Holdings
4. Company Stock Option Plans
5. Employment, Severance and Retention Agreements with the following executives:

Jerry Levin	Paul Shapiro	Frank Cancelloni
Björn Blomberg	Anthony Lenders	Robert Rosenzweig
Harlan Gardner	Steven Isko	Patrick McEvoy
David Stearns	George Mileusnic	David Yuen
Michael Hammes	Larry Sanford	Fritz van der Bergh
Frederick Fritz	Pietro Perrone	James Reilly
Robert Carter	Brian Althoff	Ron Lazarus
Randy Johnson	Steven Volante	Glen Moore
Steve Kaplan	Robert Ring	Kent Crudup

6. Insurance policies including but not limited to General Liability, Automobile, Umbrella Liability and Excess Liability, and Workers' Compensation policies (the "Insurance Policies") purchased by New Coleman Holdings Inc. ("New Coleman") and Mafco Holdings Inc. ("Mafco Holdings") with respect to which the Company derives the benefits, including as a subsidiary or affiliate of New Coleman and Mafco Holdings, in certain cases including forms of self-insurance, self-insured retention, deductibles, retrospective rating plans, and similar arrangements ("Self-Insured Arrangements")

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0168888

SCHEDULE 4.7

Absence of Certain Changes or Events

1. Increase in base salaries for Company employees effective as of March 1, 1998
2. Authorization of payments of discretionary bonuses under the Company's Management Incentive Plan for 1997
3. Executive Severance Policy
4. Setting of 1998 Targets under the Management Incentive Plan
5. Employment, Severance or Retention arrangements for the persons listed on Item 5. of Schedule 4.6
6. Stock Purchase Agreement (the "Stock Purchase Agreement"), dated February 18, 1998, by and among the Company, Ranco Incorporated of Delaware ("Ranco") and Siebe PLC ("Siebe"), for the sale of the shares of Coleman Safety & Security Products, Inc.; Letter Agreement, dated February 18, 1998, by and among the Company, Ranco and Siebe and the License Agreement to be entered into at the closing of the transaction under the Stock Purchase Agreement

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016689

SCHEDULE 4.8

Litigation

None

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

069910

SCHEDULE 4.10

Taxes

1. Internal Revenue Service Audit of the Mafco Holdings consolidated federal income tax return for the years 1989 and 1990

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

169691

16div-024835

SCHEDULE 4.13

ERISA

4.13(c)

1. Employment, Severance or Retention arrangements for the persons listed on Item 5. of Schedule 4.6
2. The Special Medical Plan
3. The Basic Medical Plan
4. The Regular Medical Plan

4.13(f)

1. 1996 Stock Option Plan
2. Executive Severance Policy
3. Employment, Severance and Retention Agreements (see Schedule 4.13(c))
4. Certain foreign jurisdictions may provide for special severance payments

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

269910

16div-024836

SCHEDULE 4.15

Intellectual Property

None

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016693

SCHEDULE 4.16

Contracts

1. Hedging Agreement with Koch Industries
2. Amended and Restated License Agreement dated as of January 1, 1998 between the Company and The Timberland Company
3. Open Purchase Order with Wespak Corporation for cardboard coolers
4. Agreements with Ernst & Young and Oracle Corporation for update of software system
5. Agreement between the Company and AT&T Corporation dated April 3, 1996, as amended
6. Agreement dated as of September 7, 1997 between the Company and Wolverine World Wide Inc.
7. Agreement dated as of April 4, 1994 between the Company and Char-Broil, a division of W.C. Bradley Corporation
8. Stock Purchase Agreement, dated February 18, 1998, by and among the Company, Ranco and Siebe, for the sale of the shares of Coleman Safety & Security Products, Inc.; Letter Agreement, dated February 18, 1998, by and among the Company, Ranco and Siebe and the License Agreement to be entered into at the closing of the transaction under the Stock Purchase Agreement

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016694

SCHEDULE 6.1

Conduct of Business by the Company

1. Sale of the Company's Safety & Security Division and other transactions contemplated by the Stock Purchase Agreement, dated February 18, 1998, and certain other agreements related thereto

2. From time to time, the repurchase by the Company of shares of Company Common Stock from certain officers and non-employee directors and cash-out of certain Employee Stock Options held by certain officers and non-employee directors to provide a sale under Rule 16b-3 under the Exchange Act

3. The Company may take all actions necessary to provide for vesting and exercisability of all outstanding Employee Stock Options as of the Effective Time and to provide for a broker-dealer cashless exercise procedure

4. Assume the sponsorship of all Company Plans maintained by New Coleman Holdings, Inc. pursuant to the Merger Agreement

5. Increase base salaries for Company employees effective as of March 1, 1998

6. Pay discretionary bonuses under the Company's Management Incentive Plan for 1997

7. Mafco Demand Note will be cancelled and of no further force or effect on the earlier to occur of (i) the date that all LYONs are redeemed, exchanged or otherwise retired and (ii) May 27, 1998

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016695

SCHEDULE 7.7

Employee Matters

7.7(b)

Years of Service	Period of Base Salary
0 - 5	6 weeks
5 - 10	3 months
over 10	6 months

7.7(c)

Joe Tesoriero

Robin Esterson

Bobby Jenkins

Marc Shiffman

Joseph Page

Gwen Wisler

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

669910

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016697

Privileged and Confidential
Draft - Not for Distribution

02/28/98 1:07 PM

Questions and answers

Deal

1. Why is Sunbeam making these acquisitions?

   Coleman and Mr. Coffee are great brand names that will complement our existing brands, adding great value to Sunbeam shareholders. They're also a good fit geographically, opening up distribution channels in new parts of the world for us. They'll add critical mass and synergies that will accelerate our growth..

2. Why is this transaction good for shareholders, retailers and employees?

   This transaction is going to build shareholder value for Sunbeam employees for the long term. These acquisitions are accretive and will add to earnings within the next 12 months. They'll bring strong brands to the mix, adding synergies in our core businesses. They'll give us tremendous opportunities for global growfth.

   Our retailers will do well because they want a large consolidated supplier of top-quality brands – consolidation will drive customer traffic and help retailers run more efficiently and profitably.

   I've made a commitment to stay with Sunbeam for the next three years to drive this growth.

   As the company grows, that means new opportunities for Sunbeam employees in their jobs and as shareholders; every Sunbeam employee is also a shareholder.

3. Is this going to mean major restructuring at any or all of the companies? What kind?

   Whenever I do a deal, my MO is to work with Coopers and Lybrand to evaluate each new company. We don't know exactly what kind of restructuring there will be but we expect to see between $150 and ~~$250 million~~ in savings from eliminating redundancies.

4. Will Sunbeam take a restructuring charge to consolidate these companies?

   Yes. Again, I'm going to handle these deals the way I handle all deals. I'm going to be working closely with my turnaround team and with Coopers and Lybrand to assess each of these companies – their products and their plants. Then we will decide how to move forward. Yes there will be a restructuring charge.

5. Why does Sunbeam need to buy Mr. Coffee when you already have a line of coffee makers?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

DEPOSITION EXHIBIT CPH 140

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT UNDER F.O.I.A. REQUESTED

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

Mr. Coffee is a wonderful brand name that we will add to our product line and expand around the world.

6. You're taking on a lot of debt to do this. Why?

It's cheaper to finance using debt. Even after this deal we'll still be a relatively low-debt company. We don't look at having additional debt as a problem. We focus on turnarounds and on adding long-term shareholder value.

7. What will your new debt ratio be?

We'll still have excellent debt coverage. Our debt-to-equity ratio will be about 59% this year and about 50.8% in 1999.

8. What rating will the debt of the new company have?

Probably BB or BB+.

9. How soon will these deals be final?

We want to move quickly on all of these deals. We hope to close in 30 to 60 days.

10. What is Ron Perelman's role going to be? Did he take stock in the company?

He will become Sunbeam's largest shareholder after this deal is completed, with 23 percent of the stock. Moreover, he is required to hold onto that stock for awhile. After 90 days he can see 25 percent, after another 90 days he can sell another 25 percent then after nine months after the close he can sell the remaining 50 percent.

11. What does Michael Price think of this transaction?

He's always been very supportive and expects that acquisitions will add further to our growth. He said recently that we're one of his favorite companies. He invested $60 million in Sunbeam at the start and now has over $1 billion. He said recently that we're his favorite company, although he thinks the management is a little bashful. I'm trying to work on that.

12. When can Michael Price sell his stock in the company?

Price can sell his stock only through a secondary offering.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016699

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT UNDER
F.O.I.A. REQUESTED

SB 248701

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CPH0483400

16div-024843

13. When will you have a secondary offering?

We'll pursue a secondary offering when it makes appropriate economic sense. We'll focus on paying down the debt as quickly as we can, probably in around 90 days. During that time we'll continually evaluate the demand for our equity.

14. What are the combined revenues of the companies?

In 1997, Signature Brands' revenues were $278.9 million ; First Alert's were $187 million and Coleman's were $1.07 billion. When we make these companies part of Sunbeam, we expect to see revenues of over $3 billion in 1998, and up to $5.5 billion by 2002.

15. Why doesn't this require shareholder approval?

It was important to structure these deals so that they would not require shareholder approval. We wanted to be able to move quickly. Besides that, the second quarter is a critical time for Coleman. We want to avoid disruption during their busiest time of the year.

16. What is the financial structure of these transactions?

Signature and First Alert are all cash. The Coleman transaction is a combination of cash and stock.

17. How much did Sunbeam pay for these three companies?

The total value of the three transactions is approximately $2.5 billion. The Coleman transaction is valued at $2.1 billion and is a combination of cash and stock. Signature Brands and First Alert are both all cash transactions and are valued at $240 million and $175 million.

18. Why did you pay so much for Coleman? The effective price is about $28 a share when the stock is trading at around $20 today.

Coleman is the number one brand globally in outdoor camping. It's an area we believe is growing. This acquisition will greatly expand our geographic reach. With Coleman, we are buying a top-notch company that we expect will grow into a bigger and more efficient company than it is today. We expect to see real shareholder value in this area.

19. Is this accretive?

Yes it will be accretive within 12 months. We are only interested in pursuing accretive deals because we want to increase shareholder value over the long term.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016700

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT UNDER
F.O.I.A. REQUESTED

SB 248702

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CPH0483401

16div-024844

20. Why did Mr. Dunlap overpay for these companies?

I don't think we overpaid for these companies. My main interest is turnarounds so I see value where other people might not see it. I have a proven track record in going farther to turn companies around than other people do. All of these companies are going to enhance shareholder value over the long haul.

21. Why didn't Sunbeam use more of their "paper" to finance this transaction?

Handling the transaction the way we did meant we could act quickly, which was important to me in this deal. Doing it this way was the most efficient, most cost-effective solution for our shareholders.

22. What will this mean for employees at the companies you've just bought?

We work hard to keep good employees and good operations. And we reward our employees. Good employees have nothing to worry about. They'll share in the growth and increased shareholder value that these deals will make happen. Remember, all of our employees re shareholders.

23. Layoffs and changes – When can employees begin to see the changes?

24. Coopers and Lybrand will be making an initial assessment of these companies. After they and my turnaround team have a chance to assess each of these companies, we'll begin to make some decisions.

25. When will that be?

TBD

26. Last week, First Alert was ordered to pay $16.9 million in a lawsuit. Why buy that company now? Are you responsible for that liability?

That lawsuit is a one-time charge. Yes we will be picking up the liability if the case is not turned down on appeal.

Operations

27. How can you assimilate three companies at once?

We're putting plans together. We see an excellent fit with all three companies to fit into our core businesses and add value. We have a great turnaround team here that will be working with Coopers and Lybrand to come up with a plan to incorporate these businesses into Sunbeam.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016701

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT UNDER
F.O.I.A. REQUESTED

SB 248703

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CPH0483402

16div-024845

28. How are you going to make these companies part of Sunbeam?

Sunbeam is in the business of building brand names. These are all brand leaders that will be a great addition to Sunbeam.

29. I don't see the fit with Coleman.

All of these companies have strong brands. Coleman is a good fit geographically for us. They're stronger in Asia and Europe; we're stronger in Latin America. They're consumer-branded products that are sold through the same distribution channels we use – the mass merchants. There will be synergies in sales and marketing and even in purchasing (resins and steel).

30. What are the synergies of these companies?

All of these companies will add synergies that will leverage our global distribution – in Latin America, Europe and Asia. They are all dominant brands that, when part of our mix, will accelerate and enable growth across the board for our new combined company.

31. What benefit, if any, will retailers see?

By consolidating the suppliers that work with our major customers we'll help them make more money. As a bigger company, we'll have more money to invest in infrastructure. We'll have access to better market research; we'll have the capital to invest in creating a more differentiated product line. We'll be able to support the brands with more consumer advertising – all things our customers have been telling us they want and need.

32. How many employees will Chainsaw lay-off?

I don't know exactly what we're going to do with these companies yet. Good employees will do well. I'll be working with Coopers and Lybrand to decide how to restructure these businesses to make them fit into Sunbeam.

33. Where are these companies located?

Coleman is based in Wichita, KS and has 21 locations in the US, England, France, Italy, Mexico and Puerto Rico. Signature is based in Glenwillow, OH and has two US locations. First Alert is based in Aurora, IL and has six facilities in the US, Canada, Mexico, England and Australia.

34. Who are their top retail accounts?

Signature does most of its business with Wal-Mart, as do we. We have a great relationship with Wal-Mart; they're one of our most efficient retailers. Twenty-one

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016702

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT UNDER
F.O.I.A. REQUESTED

SB 248704

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CPH0483403

16div-024846

percent of our business is through Wal-Mart. Coleman works a lot with a different set of retailers – hardware/home centers – That opens up a new distribution channel for us.

35. What name brands will the company use to sell products?

We are a company of name brands. We feel strongly about maintaining these name brands. They are all leaders.

36. What are the leading revenue product lines of these companies?

With this transaction, we're buying a group of dominant brands. Mr. Coffee is a dominant brand. Coleman is a dominant brand in the outdoor market. Campin Gaz is a dominant brand in Europe. Eastpak and Coleman are dominant in Asia. Health-o-Meter is a dominant brand in the home health care arena here in the US.

37. What kind of marketshare positions do these companies have?

They are each the dominant brands in their marketplaces.

38. You mentioned that Coleman does a lot of business in Asia. Given the current economic situation in Asia, does that pose a problem?

East Pak is a dominant player in South Korea. And Coleman as a whole is a dominant player in Japan. Most of Coleman's difficulties in Asia were due to its prior management's philosophy of overselling demand. We believe that problem is behind us. Jerry Levin has done a great job of making that company more productive.

We will be accelerating a lot of the sourcing to ride the cost curve down as the currencies devalue. We don't see the current situation as a problem because Coleman does source. Sunbeam is committed to changing its make-buy ratio to 50-50 by yearend. So we don't see the Asia situation as a long term or systemic problem.

Al Dunlap/Long term strategy

39. How do investors know you're going to stay with Sunbeam?

Concurrent with this deal, I any two key executives have just signed three-year contracts to stay on at Sunbeam. I am absolutely committed to remaining at Sunbeam to help make this company grow. I'm eager to continue my tenure because I believe there is enormous value to be created. Russell Kersh will become Vice Chairman as part of this contract.

40. How much are those new contracts going to cost shareholders?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016703

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT UNDER
F.O.I.A. REQUESTED

SB 248705

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CPH0483404

16div-024847

The financial impact of these contracts is around 34 cents a share in the first quarter. This is a small price to pay for a proven team with a commitment to continued growth. (You can never overpay a good executive.)

41. How do these acquisitions fit a larger strategy for Sunbeam?

These acquisitions will help us to become more of a global player. They're strong in parts of the world where we don't do much business yet; we're strong in other parts of the world where they don't do much business yet. We plan to bring each of these brands to new parts of the world – Mr. Coffee to Latin America for instance, where Oster is so strong – or Sunbeam products to Europe and Asia, where Coleman is already strong.

42. You talk about long-term strategy for the company. Do you consider three years long term?

43. When are you going to retire?

I tried that twice and hated it. Right now, I am committed to Sunbeam and this project.

44. Are we going to be seeing more acquisitions?

Yes. We're going to continue to make synergistic accretive acquisitions when they are a good fit for Sunbeam and when they will add value for our shareholders. I am confident that we will achieve a quantum leap in shareholder value in 1998, which will be attained in all likelihood by acquisitions or mergers.

45. What companies are next?

We've just strengthened our appliance business with Mr. Coffee, our health at home division with Health-o-meter, our personal care and comfort business with First Alert. With Coleman we're expanding into the outdoor products market, an area we think will grow a great deal. We will focus first and foremost on consolidating in the industries in which Sunbeam competes, but we will also look beyond our immediate industry groups. Big or small? We would probably concentrate on midsized companies. Those deals are the most accretive.

46. What is the financial impact of Al Dunlap's new employment agreement?

That information will be in the 10-K.

47. When was Mr. Dunlap's other contract up?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

011704

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT UNDER
F.O.I.A. REQUESTED

SB 248706

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CPH0483405

16div-024848

My contract was up this July. I wanted to move forward with these deals only if I knew I had the board's support for the long-term. I've just signed a three-year contract along with other key members of my executive committee.

48. What kind of "out" does Al Dunlap have in his contract?

Just the usual change of control provisions.

49. How much has Mr. Dunlap made at Sunbeam on stock?

50. How much stock does Mr. Dunlap own?

51. What is Mr. Dunlap's compensation package?

My base is going from $1 million to $2 million. I have no bonus. No one in the company does. Like every other employee at Sunbeam, though, I am a shareholder.

52. What EPS does the company anticipate in 1998 and 1999?

We expect accretion in 1999. These companies together will add 10 percent to earnings within 12 months.

53. How much money did Mr. Dunlap make in 1997?

My salary is $1 million. I have no bonus but am a shareholder ,as is every Sunbeam employee.

54. What type of growth rate does the company expect to have/achieve?

We expect double-digit growth to revenues and earnings over the next few years.

55. Why did the company choose to acquire?

Sunbeam saw acquiring as the best way to enhance shareholder value over the long term.

56. Were there any buyers for the company?

We decided that the best way to add value to our shareholders was through transactions like his one.

57. Has Al Dunlap ever acquired a company before?

I worked for Sir James Goldsmith for seven years and was chairman and CEO of his global holdings. Yes I've been involved in many acquisitions.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016705

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT UNDER
F.O.I.A. REQUESTED

SB 248707

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CPH0483406

16div-024849

58. Did Mr. Uzzi's contract get renegotiated too?

Don was promoted last year and is only one year into his current contract. Because he has two years left in his contract we saw no need to redo that contract.

59. Which factories will Chainsaw close?

We have no plans to close any plants as part of this deal. If we find that, after a detailed analysis, it makes sense to close a factory, we will do it.

60. How will Chainsaw achieve the cost synergies?

Through eliminating redundancies in sales and marketing.

###

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016706

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT UNDER
F.O.I.A. REQUESTED

SB 248708

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CPH0483407

16div-024850

430

IN THE FIFTEENTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT
IN AND FOR PALM BEACH COUNTY,
FLORIDA

COLEMAN (PARENT) HOLDINGS INC.,
Plaintiff,

vs.

MORGAN STANLEY & CO., INC.,
Defendant.
_____/

CASE NO. CA 03-5045 AI

FILED
Jan 3 20 05
SHARON R. BOCK
CLERK & COMPTROLLER
DEPUTY CLERK

Filed Under Seal — Subject To Confidentiality Order

APPENDIX TO COLEMAN (PARENT) HOLDINGS INC.'S SUMMARY JUDGMENT FILING

VOLUME 7
(EXHIBITS 60-74)

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Jerold S. Solovy
Ronald L. Marmer
Jeffrey T. Shaw
JENNER & BLOCK LLP
One IBM Plaza
Chicago, Illinois 60611
(312) 222-9350

John Scarola
SEARCY DENNY SCAROLA BARNHART & SHIPLEY P.A.
2139 Palm Beach Lakes Blvd.
West Palm Beach, Florida 33402-3626
(561) 686-6300

Attorneys for Coleman (Parent) Holdings Inc

016707

972

16div-024851

TABLE OF CONTENTS
VOLUME 7

	TAB
CPH Ex. 141	60
CPH Ex. 142	61
CPH Ex. 143	62
Lawrence Bornstein Deposition Transcript	63
CPH Ex. 123	64
CPH Ex. 31	65
CPH Ex. 32	66
Andrew Savarie Deposition Transcript	67
Amended Complaint (Morgan Stanley & Co. Inc., et. al. v. Arthur Andersen LLP, et. al)	68
CPH Ex. 17	69
CPH Ex. 24	70
CPH Ex. 344	71
Alan Dean Deposition Transcript	72
James Lurie Deposition Transcript	73
Ruth Porat Deposition Transcript (11/23/04)	74

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016708

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016709

Questions and answers

Hard Questions

1. Why did you overpay for these companies? Your strategy was supposed to be buying underperforming companies. You paid full price for this.

   I don't think we overpaid for these companies. These are all dominant brands. Each deal is accretive by itself.

   My main interest is restructuring and repositioning companies so I see value where other people don't. You have to remember that my team has a proven track record: when we turn around a company, we go further than anyone else does.

   Each of these companies fits nicely into our core business.
   - First Alert is well run but it can do better under our health and safety umbrella.
   - Signature Brands is a poorly run company. We will make the necessary changes to restructure it and reposition it quickly.
   - Coleman is a great brand that has been managed by a transitional management team. We will put people in there full time. Ron's managers had begun restructuring. We will do it infinitely faster. No one does that better than we do it.

2. Why did you pay so much for Coleman? The effective price is about $29 a share when the stock is trading at around $20 today.

   Coleman is the number one global brand in outdoor recreation. It's an area that we believe will continue to grow. This acquisition will greatly expand our geographic reach. With Coleman, we are buying a top-notch company that we expect will grow into a bigger and more efficient company than it is today. There are always opportunities for efficiencies. We find them and create them better than anyone else.

   Our evaluation showed Coleman was well priced. When you take the number one brand in a growing area and you combine that with my management team, you'll see substantial value.

3. Weren't there any buyers for Sunbeam? Are you doing this because you couldn't sell the company?

   I'm in the business of creating shareholder value. I have THE best turnaround team in the business and we can create shareholder value better by making acquisitions than by selling the company. Our analysis showed we could generate phenomenal value by consolidating the industry in which we compete.

4. Why are you buying these smaller companies? We were expecting to hear about a bigger acquisition – a Whirlpool or a Maytag.

   I haven't got to W yet. Deals like the ones we announced today are the most accretive. We looked at various alternatives to create increased shareholder value.

   Do the math. This is a $2.5 billion deal.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016710

DEPOSITION EXHIBIT CPH 141

CONFIDENTIAL TREATM
F.O.I.A. REQUES

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

5. How can you assimilate three companies at once? Isn't this too much to handle? Isn't this too aggressive?

   After fixing Sunbeam, this will be easy.

   Look at our track record. We've done it before and we'll do it again. We have a great turnaround team. It's unrivaled.

   First Alert, Mr. Coffee and Health-o-Meter are product lines that we can fit into our business rapidly. Coleman provides us with a means to expand globally.

6. Last week, First Alert was ordered to pay $16.9 million in a lawsuit. Why buy that company now? Are you responsible for that liability? Haven't you just turned yourself into a target?

   We're fully aware of all these issues and we don't see them as material. The question relates to an individual lawsuit. The lawsuit was over a tragic incident but you need to fix blame where it belongs. The products are safe. First Alert's products are supported by every fire department, every consumer safety group. Knowing the facts of the case we were very surprised with the outcome.

7. Where's the $150 million coming from?

   Obviously there are synergies when companies in the same industry combine. We believe that number is conservative.

8. Which factories are you going to close?

   Our estimates don't include the closing of plants as part of this deal. If, later on, we find that it makes sense to close a factory, we will do it. But that would add to the $150 million we're predicting in initial savings; it's not part of it.

9. Why didn't Sunbeam use more of their "paper" to finance this transaction?

   -> Our stock is low to us
   -> Doing it this way was the most efficient, most cost-effective solution for our shareholders. Debt is cheap right now. We'll pursue other opportunities in the future.
   -> Right capital structure to allow us to continue to make acquisitions

10. What will this mean for employees at the companies you've just bought?

    We look for the best athletes. We want them on our team. We're going to continue to build, grow and acquire, and we'll need good people to lead the way.

11. Who's going to run Coleman?

    We just bought the company. We want to have a chance to meet all the managers. I'll look for the best athletes. If we find them on the field, they'll continue to play ball with us. If not, we'll go elsewhere.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016711

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT UNDER
F.O.I.A. REQUESTED

SB 248643

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CPH0483342

16div-024855

12. You sold your scale business. Why are you buying back into it with this deal? Isn't that a market you decided you didn't want to be part of?

First of all, Health-o-Meter is more than a scale company. But Sunbeam did stay in the business with our mid-priced scales because we recognized that it's a critical part of the health and safety business. Today we're buying the market leader, one that competes in all price ranges.

13. What's your first quarter going to look like? Are you comfortable with analyst estimates?

We're happy with our first quarter so far. We're on target. At this point I'm comfortable with the street estimates.

14. Why didn't Perelman take all stock?
- It's the proper capital structure for the company. And Ron is the largest
- Ron took $589 in stock and the rest in cash.
- We believe that the amount of stock he took is a strong endorsement of our management.
- The way this deal was structured gave the right balance to our corporate structure.

15. You say these acquisitions are in your core business. What exactly is your core business?

=> durable consumer branded company

Mr. Coffee fits well into our appliance business. Health-o-Meter and First Alert will form the cornerstone of our health and safety business. Coleman dramatically enhances what was just an outdoor cooking business for us.

16. You mentioned that Coleman does a lot of business in Asia. Given the current economic situation in Asia, does that pose a problem?

=> Thank you for visiting
=> only 3% of => Excellent Asian source
=>

We're building shareholder value for the long term. We believe our timing is very good. Eastpak is a dominant player in South Korea. And Coleman as a whole is a dominant player in Japan. Most of Coleman's difficulties in Asia were due to its prior management's philosophy of overselling demand. We believe that problem is behind us. Jerry Levin has done a great job of making that company more productive.

We will be accelerating a lot of the sourcing to ride the cost curve down as the Asian currencies have devalued. We don't see the current situation as a problem because Coleman does source from the Far East. Sunbeam is committed to changing its make-buy ratio from 70-30 to 50-50 by yearend. So we don't see the Asia situation as a long term or systemic problem. In fact, we see it as an opportunity.

17. How big of a charge will you take to Restructure the company?

->
->

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

019712

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT UNDER
F.O.I.A. REQUESTED

SB 248644

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CPH0483343

16div-024856

Deal

17. Why is Sunbeam making these acquisitions?

Coleman, Mr. Coffee, First Alert and Health-o-Meter are all great brand names that will complement our existing brands, adding great value to Sunbeam shareholders. They're also a good fit geographically, opening up distribution channels in new parts of the world for us. They'll add critical mass and synergies that will accelerate our growth. It's going to enable to us to cross-brand around the world.

18. Why is this transaction good for shareholders, retailers and employees?

This transaction is going to build shareholder value for Sunbeam employees for the long term. These acquisitions are accretive and will add to earnings within the next 12 months. They'll bring strong brands to the mix, adding synergies in our core businesses. They'll give us tremendous opportunities for global growth.

Our retailers will do well because they want a large consolidated supplier of top-quality brands – consolidation will drive customer traffic and help retailers run more efficiently and profitably.

I've made a commitment to stay with Sunbeam for the next three years to drive this growth.

As the company grows, that means new opportunities for Sunbeam employees in their jobs and as shareholders; every Sunbeam employee is also a shareholder.

19. Is this going to mean major restructuring at any or all of the companies? What kind?

Yes we will restructure and reposition all of these companies. It will start to happen on day one. We expect to see around $150 million in savings from synergies and from eliminating duplicate functions.

20. Will Sunbeam take a restructuring charge to consolidate these companies?

Yes. I'm going to handle these deals the way I handle all my turnarounds. I'm going to be working closely with my turnaround team and ~~with Coopers and Lybrand~~ to assess each of these companies – their products and their plants. Then we will decide how to move forward. Yes there will be a restructuring charge.

21. Why does Sunbeam need to buy Mr. Coffee when you already have a line of coffee makers?

We had the opportunity to buy a dominant brand in the most significant category in the appliance field. It's a $500 million market. We're a small player in that market right now. Sunbeam was out of the business for the last 15 years. Mr. Coffee is the dominant player in that market, with around $200 million.

NOT ACCERTIFIED COPY

016713

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT UNDER
F.O.I.A. REQUESTED

SB 248645

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CPH0483344

16div-024857

2: Does not require shareholder vote

22. You're taking on a lot of debt to do this. Why? What happened to being net debt-free?

Right now, debt terms are the best they've been in years. It's very cheap to finance using debt. Even after this deal we'll still have a relatively low debt-to-cap ratio. We don't look at having additional debt as a problem. We focus on turnarounds and on adding long-term shareholder value.

When we started we made being net debt-free a goal. I always said I would use it as a tool to leverage the company and create shareholder value when appropriate.

23. What will your new debt to cap ratio be?

Debt to market cap will be about 33%

We'll still have excellent debt coverage. Our debt-to-cap ratio will be about 61.7% this year and about 53.1% in 1999. Of course, we'll work to rapidly pay down that debt.

24. What rating will the debt of the new company have?

Probably BB or BB+. / There are no junk bonds, we have a strong balance sheet. Rgtd Cap structure to continue our strats to ....

25. How soon will these deals be final?

We want to move quickly on all of these deals. We plan to close in the next two months.

26. What is Ron Perelman's role going to be? Did he take stock in the company?

He will become Sunbeam's second largest shareholder after this deal is completed, with about 13 percent of the stock. He's required to hold onto that stock for awhile. After 90 days he can see 25 percent, after another 90 days he can sell another 25 percent then after nine months after the close he can sell the remaining 50 percent.

27. What does Michael Price think of this transaction?

He's always been very supportive and expects that acquisitions will add further to our growth. He said recently that we're one of his favorite companies. He invested $60 million in Sunbeam at the start and now has over $1 billion. He said recently that we're his favorite company, although he thinks the management is a little bashful. I'm trying to work on that.

and our biggest shareholder

28. How much stock does Michael Price have? When can Michael Price sell his stock in the company?

Michael is still our largest shareholder with about 17 percent of the company. Price can sell his stock only through a secondary offering.

29. When will you have a secondary offering?

We'll pursue a secondary offering when it makes appropriate economic sense. We'll focus on paying down the debt as quickly as we can, probably in around 90 days. During that time we'll continually evaluate the demand for our equity.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016714

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT UNDER
F.O.I.A. REQUESTED

SB 248646

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CPH0483345

16div-024858

30. What are the combined revenues of the companies?

In 1997, Signature Brands' revenues were $278.9 million ; First Alert's were $187 million and Coleman's were $1.07 billion. When we make these companies part of Sunbeam, we expect to see revenues of over $3 billion in 1998, and up to $5.5 billion by 2002.

31. Why doesn't this require shareholder approval?

The structure didn't require shareholder approval. We believe our shareholders are very happy with the wealth we're creating.

32. What is the financial structure of these transactions?

Signature and First Alert are all cash. The Coleman transaction is a combination of cash and $814 million in Sunbeam stock.

33. How much did Sunbeam pay for these three companies?

The total value of the three transactions is approximately $2.5 billion. The Coleman transaction is valued at $2 billion and is a combination of cash and stock. Signature Brands and First Alert are both all cash transactions and are valued at $250 million and $175 million.

34. Is this accretive?

Yes. All three of these acquisitions will be accretive within 12 months. We are only interested in pursuing accretive deals because we want to increase shareholder value over the long term.

35. Layoffs and changes – When can employees begin to see the changes?

We will move very quickly once we gain control of these companies. I've always said that restructurings have to be completed in one year.

Operations

36. How are you going to make these companies part of Sunbeam?

Sunbeam is in the business of building brand names. These are all brand leaders that will be a great addition to the Sunbeam family of brands.

37. I don't see the fit with Coleman.

Coleman is the number one brand in the outdoor recreation market. We're already dominant in that area with our Grillmaster brand of gas grills. This is a perfect fit for us. Coleman's products are sold through the same distribution channels we use – the mass merchants. Coleman is a great fit geographically for us. They're stronger in Asia and Europe; we're stronger in Latin America. There will be lots of synergies and growth opportunities with this deal.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT UNDER
F.O.I.A. REQUESTED

SB 248647

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CPH048334(

16div-024859

016715

38. What are the synergies of these companies?

All of these companies will add synergies that will leverage our global distribution – in Latin America, Europe and Asia. They are all dominant brands that, when part of our mix, will accelerate and enable growth across the board for our new combined company.

39. What benefit, if any, will retailers see?

- They'll see more of the same.
- Our ability to invest in new products and infrastructure will be expanded to these brands. We believe this is exactly what major retailers are looking for.
- By consolidating the suppliers that work with our major customers we'll help those customers make more money. As a bigger company, we'll have more money to invest in infrastructure. We'll have access to better market research; we'll have the capital to invest in creating a more differentiated product line. We'll be able to support the brands with more consumer advertising – all things our customers have been telling us they want and need.

40. Where are these companies located?

Coleman is based in Wichita, KS and has 17 locations in the US, England, France, Italy, Mexico and Puerto Rico. Signature is based in Glenwillow, OH and has two US locations. First Alert is based in Aurora, IL and has two facilities in the US and Mexico.

41. Who are their top retail accounts?

They work with the same customers we do – Wal-Mart, K-Mart, Target and Home Depot.

42. What name brands will the company use to sell products?

We're going to use all of these name brands. We are a company of name brands. We feel strongly about maintaining these name brands. They are all leaders in their categories.

43. What are the leading revenue product lines of these companies?

With this transaction, we're buying a group of dominant brands. Mr. Coffee is the dominant brand. Coleman is the number one brand in the outdoor market. Camping Gaz is a dominant brand in Europe. Eastpak and Coleman are dominant in Asia. Health-o-Meter is a dominant brand in the home health care arena here in the US.

44. What kind of marketshare positions do these companies have?

They are each the dominant brands in their respective product lines.

NOT ACCERTIFIED COPY

0116716

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT UNDER
F.O.I.A. REQUESTED

SB 248648

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CPH0483347

16div-024860

Al Dunlap/Long term strategy

45. How do investors know you're going to stay with Sunbeam?

Concurrent with this deal, I and two key executives have just signed three-year contracts to stay on at Sunbeam. I am absolutely committed to remaining at Sunbeam to help make this company grow. I'm eager to continue my tenure because I believe there is enormous value to be created. Russell Kersh will become Vice Chairman as part of this contract.

46. How much are those new contracts going to cost shareholders?

=> one time charge so it wouldn't affect future earnings

The financial impact of these contracts is around 34 cents a share in the first quarter. This is a small price to pay for a proven team with a commitment to continued growth. (You can never overpay a good executive.)

47. How do these acquisitions fit a larger strategy for Sunbeam?

These acquisitions will help us to become more of a global player. They're strong in parts of the world where we don't do much business yet; we're strong in other parts of the world where they don't do much business yet. Coleman is strong in Europe and Asia; we're strong in Latin America. These are all great brands that will make us a global player.

48. When are you going to retire?

I tried that twice and hated it. Right now, I am committed to Sunbeam and this project.

49. Are we going to be seeing more acquisitions?

Yes. We're going to continue to make synergistic accretive acquisitions when they are a good fit for Sunbeam and when they will add value for our shareholders. I am confident that we will achieve a quantum leap in shareholder value in 1998, which will be attained in all likelihood by acquisitions or mergers.

50. What companies are next?

We've just strengthened our appliance business with Mr. Coffee, our health and safety division with Health-o-Meter and First Alert. With Coleman we're expanding into the outdoor products market, an area we think will grow a great deal. We will focus first and foremost on consolidating in the industry in which Sunbeam competes, but we will also look beyond our immediate industry groups. Big or small? We would probably concentrate on midsized companies. Those deals are the most accretive.

51. What is the financial impact of Al Dunlap's new employment agreement?

That information will be in the 10-K.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016717

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT UNDER
F.O.I.A. REQUESTED

SB 248649

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CPH0483348

16div-024861

52. When was your other contract up?

Although my contract had some time on it, the board wanted my commitment to stay on before they would agree to embark on this new route of building shareholder value through acquisitions.

53. What kind of "out" does Al Dunlap have in his contract?

Just the usual change of control provisions.

54. What is your compensation package?

My base is going from $1 million to $2 million. I have no bonus. No senior executive in the company does. Like every other employee at Sunbeam, though, I am a shareholder.

55. What EPS does the company anticipate in 1998 and 1999?

We expect meaningful accretion in 1999. These companies together will add at least 10 percent to EPS within 12 months.

56. What type of growth rate does the company expect to have/achieve?

We expect double-digit growth to revenues and earnings over the next few years.

57. Why did the company choose to acquire?

Sunbeam saw acquiring as the best way to enhance shareholder value over the long term. We're still committed to our initial strategy of doubling revenues through internal growth.

58. Has Al Dunlap ever acquired a company before?

I worked for Sir James Goldsmith for seven years and was chairman and CEO of his global holdings. Yes I've been involved in many acquisitions.

59. Did Mr. Uzzi's contract get renegotiated too?

Don was promoted last year and is only one year into his current contract. Because he has two years left in his contract we saw no need to redo that contract.

60. How will Chainsaw achieve the cost synergies?

Through eliminating redundancies in sales and marketing.

###

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT UNDER
F.O.I.A. REQUESTED

SB 248650

CPH04833

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

16div-024862

Third Party Spokespeople

Alice Walton	Llama Company
Phone number:	(501) 444-4095
Elizabeth "Lisa" Fontenelli	Goldman Sachs
Phone number:	(212) 902-8192
Scott Graham	CIBC Oppenheimer
Phone number:	(212) 667-7256
Connie Maneaty	Bear Stearns
Phone number:	(212) 272-4249
Charles Elson	Sunbeam Board Member – "Shareholder Activist"
Phone number:	(813) 562-7861

Peter Langerman Sunbeam - Board

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016719

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT UNDER
F.O.I.A. REQUESTED

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016720

- Strong Brands
- Lasting Value

Questions and answers

Hard Questions

1. Why did you overpay for these companies? Your strategy was supposed to be buying underperforming companies. You paid full price for this.

   I don't think we overpaid for these companies. These are all dominant brands. Each deal is accretive by itself.

   My main interest is restructuring and repositioning companies so I see value where other people don't. You have to remember that my team has a proven track record: when we turn around a company, we go further than anyone else does.

   Each of these companies fits nicely into our core business.
   - First Alert is well run but it can do better under our health and safety umbrella.
   - Signature Brands is a poorly run company. We will make the necessary changes to restructure it and reposition it quickly.
   - Coleman is a great brand that has been managed by a transitional management team. We will put people in there full time. ~~Ron's managers had begun restructuring~~. We will do it infinitely faster. No one does that better than we do it.

2. Why did you pay so much for Coleman? The effective price is about $29 a share when the stock is trading at around $20 today. a year from now will look very good. Accretive Wenfire did not overpay

   Coleman is the number one global brand in outdoor recreation. It's an area that we believe will continue to grow. This acquisition will greatly expand our geographic reach. With Coleman, we are buying a top-notch company that we expect will grow into a bigger and more efficient company than it is today. There are always opportunities for efficiencies. We find them and create them better than anyone else.

   Our evaluation showed Coleman was well priced. When you take the number one brand in a growing area and you combine that with my management team, you'll see substantial value.

3. Weren't there any buyers for Sunbeam? Are you doing this because you couldn't sell the company?

   I'm in the business of creating shareholder value. I have THE best turnaround team in the business and we can create shareholder value better by making acquisitions than by selling the company. Our analysis showed we could generate phenomenal value by consolidating the industry in which we compete.

4. Why are you buying these smaller companies? We were expecting to hear about a bigger acquisition – a Whirlpool or a Maytag.

   I haven't got to W yet. Deals like the ones we announced today are the most accretive. We looked at various alternatives to create increased shareholder value.

   Do the math. This is a $2.5 billion deal.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0167121

SB 0014697

DEPOSITION EXHIBIT
CPH 142

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT
UNDER FOIA REQUESTED

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

5. How can you assimilate three companies at once? Isn't this too much to handle? Isn't this too aggressive?

   After fixing Sunbeam, this will be easy.

   Look at our track record. We've done it before and we'll do it again. We have a great turnaround team. It's unrivaled.

   First Alert, Mr. Coffee and Health-o-Meter are product lines that we can fit into our business rapidly. Coleman provides us with a means to expand globally.

6. Last week, First Alert was ordered to pay $16.9 million in a lawsuit. Why buy that company now? Are you responsible for that liability? Haven't you just turned yourself into a target?

   We're fully aware of all these issues and we don't see them as material. The question relates to an individual lawsuit. The lawsuit was over a tragic incident but you need to fix blame where it belongs. The products are safe. First Alert's products are supported by every fire department, every consumer safety group. ~~Knowing the facts of the case we were very surprised with the outcome~~.

7. Where's the $150 million coming from?

   Obviously there are synergies when companies in the same industry combine. We believe that number is conservative.

8. Which factories are you going to close?

   Our estimates don't include the closing of plants as part of this deal. If, later on, we find that it makes sense to close a factory, we will do it. But that would add to the $150 million we're predicting in initial savings; it's not part of it.

9. Why didn't Sunbeam use more of their "paper" to finance this transaction?

   Doing it this way was the most efficient, most cost-effective solution for our shareholders. Debt is cheap right now. We'll pursue other opportunities in the future.

10. What will this mean for employees at the companies you've just bought?

    We look for the best athletes. We want them on our team. We're going to continue to build, grow and acquire, and we'll need good people to lead the way.

11. Who's going to run Coleman?

    We just bought the company. We want to have a chance to meet all the managers. I'll look for the best athletes. If we find them on the field, they'll continue to play ball with us. If not, we'll go elsewhere.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0016722

[redacted] Lisa Ivan

12. You sold your scale business. Why are you buying back into it with this deal? Isn't that a market you decided you didn't want to be part of?

First of all, Health-o-Meter is more than a scale company. But Sunbeam did stay in the business with our mid-priced scales because we recognized that it's a critical part of the health and safety business. Today we're buying the market leader, one that competes in all price ranges.

13. What's your first quarter going to look like? Are you comfortable with analyst estimates?

We're happy with our first quarter so far. [redacted]et. At this point I'm comfortable with the street estimates.

14. Why didn't Perelman take all stock?

- Ron took $589 in stock and the rest in cash.
- We believe that the amount of stock he took is a strong endorsement of our management.
- The way this deal was structured gave the right balance to our corporate structure.

15. You say these acquisitions are in your core business. What exactly is your core business?

Durable Branded Consumer Products

Mr. Coffee fits well into our appliance business. Health-o-Meter and First Alert will form the cornerstone of our health and safety business. Coleman dramatically enhances what was just an outdoor cooking business for us.

16. You mentioned that Coleman does a lot of business in Asia. Given the current economic situation in Asia, does that pose a problem?

We're building shareholder value for the long term. We believe our timing is very good. Eastpak is a dominant player in South Korea. And Coleman as a whole is a dominant player in Japan. Most of Coleman's difficulties in Asia were due to its prior management's philosophy of overselling demand. We believe that problem is behind us. Jerry Levin has done a great job of making that company more productive.

We will be accelerating a lot of the sourcing to ride the cost curve down as the Asian currencies have devalued. We don't see the current situation as a problem because Coleman does source from the Far East. Sunbeam is committed to changing its make-buy ratio from 70-30 to 50-50 by yearend. So we don't see the Asia situation as a long term or systemic problem. In fact, we see it as an opportunity.

Less than 5% of Total Sales of New Co

0016723

SB 0014699

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT
UNDER FOIA REQUESTED

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

Deal

17. Why is Sunbeam making these acquisitions?

Coleman, Mr. Coffee, First Alert and Health-o-Meter are all great brand names that will complement our existing brands, adding great value to Sunbeam shareholders. They're also a good fit geographically, opening up distribution channels in new parts of the world for us. They'll add critical mass and synergies that will accelerate our growth. It's going to enable to us to cross-brand around the world.

18. Why is this transaction good for shareholders, retailers and employees?

This transaction is going to build shareholder value for Sunbeam employees for the long term. These acquisitions are accretive and will add to earnings within the next 12 months. They'll bring strong brands to the mix, adding synergies in our core businesses. They'll give us tremendous opportunities for global growth.

Our retailers will do well because they want a large consolidated supplier of top-quality brands – consolidation will drive customer traffic and help retailers run more efficiently and profitably.

I've made a commitment to stay with Sunbeam for the next three years to drive this growth.

As the company grows, that means new opportunities for Sunbeam employees in their jobs and as shareholders; every Sunbeam employee is also a shareholder.

19. Is this going to mean major restructuring at any or all of the companies? What kind?

Yes we will restructure and reposition all of these companies. It will start to happen on day one. We expect to see around $150 million in savings from synergies and from eliminating duplicate functions.

20. Will Sunbeam take a restructuring charge to consolidate these companies?

Yes. I'm going to handle these deals the way I handle all my turnarounds. I'm going to be working closely with my turnaround team and with Coleman and Eyebrand to assess each of these companies – their products and their plants. Then we will decide how to move forward. Yes there will be a restructuring charge.

21. Why does Sunbeam need to buy Mr. Coffee when you already have a line of coffee makers?

We had the opportunity to buy a dominant brand in the most significant category in the appliance field. It's a $500 million market. We're a small player in that market right now. Sunbeam was out of the business for the last 15 years. Mr. Coffee is the dominant player in that market, with around $200 million.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0167124

SB 0014700

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT
UNDER FOIA REQUESTED

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CPH0253550
16div-024868

20

22. You're taking on a lot of debt to do this. Why? What happened to being net debt-free?

Right now, debt terms are the best they've been in years. It's very cheap to finance using debt. Even after this deal we'll still have a relatively low debt-to-cap ratio. We don't look at having additional debt as a problem. We focus on turnarounds and on adding long-term shareholder value.

When we started we made being net debt-free a goal. I always said I would use it as a tool to leverage the company and create shareholder value when appropriate.

23. What will your new debt to cap ratio be?

We'll still have excellent debt coverage. Our debt-to-cap ratio will be about 61.7% this year and about 53.1% in 1999. Of course, we'll work to rapidly pay down that debt.

24. What rating will the debt of the new company have?

Probably BB or BB+. Moody's Speculative Interval.

25. How soon will these deals be final?

We want to move quickly on all of these deals. We plan to close in the next two months.

26. What is Ron Perelman's role going to be? Did he take stock in the company?

He will become Sunbeam's second largest shareholder after this deal is completed, with about 13 percent of the stock. ~~He's required to hold onto that stock for awhile. After 90 days he can see 25 percent, after another 90 days he can sell another 25 percent then after nine months after the close he can sell the remaining 50 percent.~~

27. What does Michael Price think of this transaction?

He's always been very supportive and expects that acquisitions will add further to our growth. ~~He said recently that we're one of his favorite companies. He invested $60 million in Sunbeam at the start and now has over $1 billion. He said recently that we're his favorite company, although he thinks the management is a little bashful. I'm trying to work on that.~~

28. How much stock does Michael Price have? When can Michael Price sell his stock in the company?

Michael is still our largest shareholder with about 17 percent of the company. Price can sell his stock only through a secondary offering. 13 Pleasers

29. When will you have a secondary offering?

We'll pursue a secondary offering when it makes appropriate economic sense. We'll focus on paying down the debt as quickly as we can, probably ~~in around 90 days~~. During that time we'll continually evaluate the demand for our equity.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0167125

SB 0014701

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT
UNDER FOIA REQUESTED

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CPH0253551

16div-024869

30. What are the combined revenues of the companies?

In 1997, Signature Brands' revenues were $278.9 million ; First Alert's were $187 million and Coleman's were $1.07 billion. When we make these companies part of Sunbeam, we expect to see revenues of over $3 billion in 1998, and up to $5.5 billion by 2002.

31. Why doesn't this require shareholder approval?

The structure didn't require shareholder approval. We believe our shareholders are very happy with the wealth we're creating. If you want more than 20%

32. What is the financial structure of these transactions?

Signature and First Alert are all cash. The Coleman transaction is a combination of cash and $814 million in Sunbeam stock.

33. How much did Sunbeam pay for these three companies?

The total value of the three transactions is approximately $2.5 billion. The Coleman transaction is valued at $2 billion and is a combination of cash and stock. Signature Brands and First Alert are both all cash transactions and are valued at $250 million and $175 million.

34. Is this accretive?

Yes. All three of these acquisitions will be accretive within 12 months. We are only interested in pursuing accretive deals because we want to increase shareholder value over the long term.

35. Layoffs and changes – When can employees begin to see the changes?

We will move very quickly once we gain control of these companies. I've always said that restructurings have to be completed in one year.

Operations

36. How are you going to make these companies part of Sunbeam?

Sunbeam is in the business of building brand names. These are all brand leaders that will be a great addition to the Sunbeam family of brands.

37. I don't see the fit with Coleman.

Coleman is the number one brand in the outdoor recreation market. We're already dominant in that area with our Grillmaster brand of gas grills. This is a perfect fit for us. Coleman's products are sold through the same distribution channels we use – the mass merchants. Coleman is a great fit geographically for us. They're stronger in Asia and Europe; we're stronger in Latin America. There will be lots of synergies and growth opportunities with this deal.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0016726

SB 0014702

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CPH0253552

16div-024870

38. What are the synergies of these companies?

All of these companies will add synergies that will leverage our global distribution – in Latin America, Europe and Asia. They are all dominant brands that, when part of our mix, will accelerate and enable growth across the board for our new combined company.

39. What benefit, if any, will retailers see?

- They'll see more of the same.
- Our ability to invest in new products and infrastructure will be expanded to these brands. We believe this is exactly what major retailers are looking for.
- By consolidating the suppliers that work with our major customers we'll help those customers make more money. As a bigger company, we'll have more money to invest in infrastructure. We'll have access to better market research; we'll have the capital to invest in creating a more differentiated product line. We'll be able to support the brands with more consumer advertising – all things our customers have been telling us they want and need.

40. Where are these companies located?

Coleman is based in Wichita, KS and has 17 locations in the US, England, France, Italy, Mexico and Puerto Rico. Signature is based in Glenwillow, OH and has two US locations. First Alert is based in Aurora, IL and has two facilities in the US and Mexico.

41. Who are their top retail accounts?

They work with the same customers we do – Wal-Mart, K-Mart, Target and Home Depot.

42. What name brands will the company use to sell products?

We're going to use all of these name brands. We are a company of name brands. We feel strongly about maintaining these name brands. They are all leaders in their categories.

43. What are the leading revenue product lines of these companies?

With this transaction, we're buying a group of dominant brands. Mr. Coffee is the dominant brand. Coleman is the number one brand in the outdoor market. Camping Gaz is a dominant brand in Europe. Eastpak and Coleman are dominant in Asia. Health-o-Meter is a dominant brand in the home health care arena here in the US.

44. What kind of marketshare positions do these companies have?

They are each the dominant brands in their respective product lines.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016727

Al Dunlap/Long term strategy

45. How do investors know you're going to stay with Sunbeam?

Concurrent with this deal, I and two key executives have just signed three-year contracts to stay on at Sunbeam. I am absolutely committed to remaining at Sunbeam to help make this company grow. I'm eager to continue my tenure because I believe there is enormous value to be created. Russell Kersh will become Vice Chairman as part of this contract.

46. How much are those new contracts going to cost shareholders?

The financial impact of these contracts is around 34 cents a share in the first quarter. This is a small price to pay for a proven team with a commitment to continued growth. (You can never overpay a good executive.)

47. How do these acquisitions fit a larger strategy for Sunbeam?

These acquisitions will help us to become more of a global player. They're strong in parts of the world where we don't do much business yet; we're strong in other parts of the world where they don't do much business yet. Coleman is strong in Europe and Asia; we're strong in Latin America. These are all great brands that will make us a global player.

48. When are you going to retire?

I tried that twice and hated it. Right now, I am committed to Sunbeam and this project.

49. Are we going to be seeing more acquisitions?

Yes. We're going to continue to make synergistic accretive acquisitions when they are a good fit for Sunbeam and when they will add value for our shareholders. I am confident that we will achieve a quantum leap in shareholder value in 1998, which will be attained in all likelihood by acquisitions or mergers.

50. What companies are next?

We've just strengthened our appliance business with Mr. Coffee, our health and safety division with Health-o-Meter and First Alert. With Coleman we're expanding into the outdoor products market, an area we think will grow a great deal. We will focus first and foremost on consolidating in the industry in which Sunbeam competes, but we will also look beyond our immediate industry groups. Big or small? We would probably concentrate on midsized companies. Those deals are the most accretive.

51. What is the financial impact of Al Dunlap's new employment agreement?

That information will be in the 10-K.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016728

52. When was your other contract up?

Although my contract had some time on it, the board wanted my commitment to stay on before they would agree to embark on this new route of building shareholder value through acquisitions.

53. What kind of "out" does Al Dunlap have in his contract?

Just the usual change of control provisions.

54. What is your compensation package?

My base is going from $1 million to $2 million. I have no bonus. No senior executive in the company does. Like every other employee at Sunbeam, though, I am a shareholder.

55. What EPS does the company anticipate in 1998 and 1999?

We expect meaningful accretion in 1999. These companies together will add at least 10 percent to EPS within 12 months.

56. What type of growth rate does the company expect to have/achieve?

We expect double-digit growth to revenues and earnings over the next few years.

57. Why did the company choose to acquire?

Sunbeam saw acquiring as the best way to enhance shareholder value over the long term. We're still committed to our initial strategy of doubling revenues through internal growth.

58. Has Al Dunlap ever acquired a company before?

I worked for Sir James Goldsmith for seven years and was chairman and CEO of his global holdings. Yes I've been involved in many acquisitions.

59. Did Mr. Uzzi's contract get renegotiated too?

Don was promoted last year and is only one year into his current contract. Because he has two years left in his contract we saw no need to redo that contract.

60. How will Chainsaw achieve the cost synergies?

Through eliminating redundancies in sales and marketing.

###

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016729

SB 0014705

CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT
UNDER FOIA REQUESTED

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CPH02535

16div-024873

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016730

EXHIBIT NO. 269
MAC WISE

Sunbeam announcement:
Coleman, Signature Brands and First Alert Acquisition announcement

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Hard Questions

1. Why did you overpay for these companies? Your strategy was supposed to be buying underperforming companies. You paid full price for this.

   I don't think we overpaid for these companies. These are all dominant brands. Each deal is accretive by itself.

   My main interest is restructuring and repositioning companies so I see value where other people don't. You have to remember that my team has a proven track record: when we turn around a company, we go further than anyone else does.

   Each of these companies fits nicely into our core business.
   - First Alert is well run but it can do better under our health and safety umbrella.
   - Signature Brands is a poorly run company. We will make the necessary changes to restructure it and reposition it quickly.
   - Coleman is a great brand that has been managed by a transitional management team. We will put people in there full time. Ron's managers had begun restructuring. We will do it infinitely faster. No one does that better than we do it.

2. Why did you pay so much for Coleman? The effective price is about $29 a share when the stock is trading at around $20 today.

   When you look back at this a year from now it will look very cheap. Our evaluation showed Coleman was well priced.

   We were able to acquire the global leader in a market that's growing. We accomplished the deal. I see Coleman as a total redo of Sunbeam -- a déjà vu.

   I believe strongly in the road we're taking with this. I've turned down other opportunities to sign this contract and continue to grow Sunbeam.

   When you take the number one brand in a growing area and you combine that with my management team, you'll see substantial value.

3. Weren't there any buyers for Sunbeam? Are you doing this because you couldn't sell the company?

   I'm in the business of creating shareholder value. I have the best turnaround team in the business and we can create shareholder value better by making acquisitions than

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0167731

DEPOSITION EXHIBIT
CPH 143

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

by selling the company. Our analysis showed we could generate phenomenal value by consolidating the industry in which we compete.

I've said all along that we would add shareholder value by selling, merging or acquiring. This deal gives our shareholders the most value.

4. Why are you buying these smaller companies? We were expecting to hear about a bigger acquisition – a Whirlpool or a Maytag.

I haven't got to W yet. Deals like the ones we announced today are the most accretive. We looked at various alternatives to create increased shareholder value.

Do the math. This is a $2.5 billion deal.

5. How can you assimilate three companies at once? Isn't this too much to handle? Isn't this too aggressive?

After fixing Sunbeam, this will be easy.

Look at our track record. We've done it before and we'll do it again. We have a great turnaround team. It's unrivaled.

First Alert, Mr. Coffee and Health-o-Meter are product lines that we can fit into our business rapidly. Coleman provides us with a means to expand globally.

6. Last week, First Alert was ordered to pay $16.9 million in a lawsuit. Why buy that company now? Are you responsible for that liability? Haven't you just turned yourself into a target?

We're fully aware of all these issues and we don't see them as material. The question relates to an individual lawsuit. The lawsuit was over a tragic incident but you need to fix blame where it belongs. The products are safe. First Alert's products are supported by every fire department, every consumer safety group.

7. Where's the $150 million coming from?

I'm not going to discuss the details. Obviously there are synergies when companies in the same industry combine. We believe that number is conservative.

8. Which factories are you going to close?

Look at what we did to make Sunbeam more efficient. We'll use the same strategy. We'll keep open the plants that are running efficiently. Of course some plants will close. Of course some employees will lose their jobs. But those people who do stay with us will have a better future with us than they had before.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

019732

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

9. You've said you loathe headquarters. What's going to happen to the headquarters of these companies?

   We will be one company with one headquarters.

10. Who's going to run Coleman?

    We just bought the company. We'll determine who the senior executives will be once we take over. It could include Coleman people. It could be Sunbeam people or it could be people from the outside.

    We want to have a chance to meet all the managers. I'll look for the best athletes. If we find them on the field, they'll continue to play ball with us. If not, we'll go elsewhere.

11. What about those people? What's their severance plan?

    We've always had a severance plan for people we can't keep.

12. Why didn't Sunbeam use more of their "paper" to finance this transaction?

    Our stock is precious at these value levels. Debt is cheap right now. Doing it this way was the most efficient, most cost-effective solution for our shareholders. It gives us the right capital structure to pursue other acquisitions.

13. What will this mean for employees at the companies you've just bought?

    We look for the best athletes. We want them on our team. We're going to continue to build, grow and acquire, and we'll need good people to lead the way.

14. You sold your scale business. Why are you buying back into it with this deal? Isn't that a market you decided you didn't want to be part of?

    We did not get out of the scale business. The sale you're referring to was less than a $1 million deal. We stayed in the scale business with Sunbeam scales – in the mid-priced market. Today we're buying the market leader, one that competes in all price ranges.

15. What's your first quarter going to look like? Are you comfortable with analyst estimates?

    We're in the last month of the quarter. We have a policy of not discussing financials during the last month of the quarter. I will tell you that we have a great track record. The core business is healthy. We're in great shape. We expect that our sales will be up double digits over 1997.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0167733

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CPH 1026944
16div-024877

16. Why didn't Perelman take all stock?

- Ron's our second largest shareholder.
- The way we structured this deal gives us the right capital structure as we go forward.

17. You say these acquisitions are in your core business. What exactly is your core business?

We are in the business of making and selling durable branded consumer products. Mr. Coffee fits well into our appliance business. Health-o-Meter and First Alert will form the cornerstone of our health and safety business. Coleman dramatically enhances what was just an outdoor cooking business for us.

18. You mentioned that Coleman does a lot of business in Asia. Given the current economic situation in Asia, does that pose a problem?

The risk is small. Coleman's business in Asia will be less than 5 percent of the total sales of the new corporation. We're building shareholder value for the long term. We believe our timing is very good. This deal makes us a global player.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0167314

CONFIDENTIAL
HK SOC 00797

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CPH 1026945
16div-024878

The Deal

19. Why is Sunbeam making these acquisitions?

Coleman, Mr. Coffee, First Alert and Health-o-Meter are all great brand names that will complement our existing brands, adding great value to Sunbeam shareholders. They're also a good fit geographically, opening up distribution channels in new parts of the world for us. They'll add critical mass and synergies that will accelerate our growth. It's going to enable to us to cross-brand around the world.

20. Why is this transaction good for shareholders, retailers and employees?

This transaction is going to build shareholder value for Sunbeam employees for the long term. These acquisitions are accretive and will add to earnings within the next 12 months. They'll bring strong brands to the mix, adding synergies in our core businesses. They'll give us tremendous opportunities for global growth.

Our retailers will do well because they want a large consolidated supplier of top-quality brands – consolidation will drive customer traffic and help retailers run more efficiently and profitably..

I've made a commitment to stay with Sunbeam for the next three years to drive this growth.

As the company grows, that means new opportunities for Sunbeam employees in their jobs and as shareholders; every Sunbeam employee is also a shareholder.

21. Is this going to mean major restructuring at any or all of the companies? What kind?

Yes we will restructure and reposition all of these companies. It will start to happen on day one. We expect to see around $150 million in savings from synergies and from eliminating duplicate functions.

22. Will Sunbeam take a restructuring charge to consolidate these companies?

Yes. I'm going to handle these deals the way I handle all my turnarounds. I'm going to be working closely with my turnaround team to assess each of these companies – their products and their plants. Then we will decide how to move forward. Yes there will be a restructuring charge.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0166735

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

23. Why does Sunbeam need to buy Mr. Coffee when you already have a line of coffee makers?

We had the opportunity to buy a dominant brand in the most significant category in the appliance field. It's a $500 million market. We're a small player in that market right now. Sunbeam was out of the business for the last 15 years. Mr. Coffee is the dominant player in that market, with around $200 million.

24. You're taking on a lot of debt to do this. Why? What happened to being net debt-free?

Right now, debt terms are the best they've been in years. It's very cheap to finance using debt. Even after this deal we'll still have a relatively low debt-to-cap ratio. We don't look at having additional debt as a problem. We focus on turnarounds and on adding long-term shareholder value.

When we started we made being net debt-free a goal. I always said I would use it as a tool to leverage the company and create shareholder value when appropriate.

25. What will your new debt to cap ratio be?

We'll still have excellent debt coverage. Our debt-to-market cap ratio will be about 31.7% this year and about 23.3% in 1999. Of course, we'll work to rapidly pay down that debt.

26. What rating will the debt of the new company have?

We have a strong balance sheet with no junk bonds. We structured this deal to give us the right capital structure to move forward.

27. How soon will these deals be final?

We want to move quickly on all of these deals. We plan to close in the next two months.

28. What is Ron Perelman's role going to be? Did he take stock in the company?

He will become Sunbeam's second largest shareholder after this deal is completed, with about 13 percent of the stock.

29. What does Michael Price think of this transaction?

Michael is our largest shareholder and he's always been our biggest supporter. He has 17 percent of the company.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0167136

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

30. When can Michael Price sell his stock in the company?

Price can sell his stock only through a secondary offering.

31. Will you have a secondary offering?

We'll focus on paying down the debt as quickly as we can.

32. What are the combined revenues of the companies?

In 1997, Signature Brands' revenues were $278.9 million ; First Alert's were $187 million and Coleman's were $1.07 billion. When we make these companies part of Sunbeam, we expect to see revenues of over $3 billion in 1998, and up to $5.5 billion by 2002.

33. Why doesn't this require shareholder approval?

The structure didn't require shareholder approval. It was predominantly cash.

34. What is the financial structure of these transactions?

Signature and First Alert are all cash. The Coleman transaction is a combination of cash and $814 million in Sunbeam stock.

35. How much did Sunbeam pay for these three companies?

The total value of the three transactions is approximately $2.5 billion. The Coleman transaction is valued at $2 billion and is a combination of cash and stock. Signature Brands and First Alert are both all cash transactions and are valued at $250 million and $175 million.

36. Is this accretive?

Yes. All three of these acquisitions will be accretive within 12 months. We are only interested in pursuing accretive deals because we want to increase shareholder value over the long term.

37. Layoffs and changes – When can employees begin to see the changes?

We will move very quickly once we gain control of these companies. I've always said that restructurings have to be completed in one year.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0167137

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

Operations

38. How are you going to make these companies part of Sunbeam?

Sunbeam is in the business of building brand names. These are all brand leaders that will be a great addition to the Sunbeam family of brands.

39. I don't see the fit with Coleman.

Coleman is the number one brand in the outdoor recreation market. We're already dominant in that area with our Grillmaster brand of gas grills. This is a perfect fit for us. Coleman's products are sold through the same distribution channels we use – the mass merchants. Coleman is a great fit geographically for us. They're stronger in Asia and Europe; we're stronger in Latin America. There will be lots of synergies and growth opportunities with this deal.

40. What are the synergies of these companies?

All of these companies will add synergies that will leverage our global distribution – in Latin America, Europe and Asia. They are all dominant brands that, when part of our mix, will accelerate and enable growth across the board for our new combined company.

41. What benefit, if any, will retailers see?

- They'll see more of the same.
- Our ability to invest in new products and infrastructure will be expanded to these brands. We believe this is exactly what major retailers are looking for.
- By consolidating the suppliers that work with our major customers we'll help those customers make more money. As a bigger company, we'll have more money to invest in infrastructure. We'll have access to better market research; we'll have the capital to invest in creating a more differentiated product line. We'll be able to support the brands with more consumer advertising – all things our customers have been telling us they want and need.

42. Where are these companies located?

Coleman is based in Wichita, KS and has 17 locations in the US, England, France, Italy, Mexico and Puerto Rico. Signature is based in Glenwillow, OH and has two US locations. First Alert is based in Aurora, IL and has two facilities in the US and Mexico.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016738

CONFIDENTIAL
HK SOC 00801

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CPH 1026949
16div-024882

43. Who are their top retail accounts?

They work with the same customers we do – Wal-Mart, K-Mart, Target and Home Depot.

44. What name brands will the company use to sell products?

We're going to use all of these name brands. We are a company of name brands. We feel strongly about maintaining these name brands. They are all leaders in their categories.

45. What are the leading revenue product lines of these companies?

With this transaction, we're buying a group of dominant brands. Mr. Coffee is the dominant brand. Coleman is the number one brand in the outdoor market. Camping Gaz is a dominant brand in Europe. Eastpak and Coleman are dominant in Asia. Health-o-Meter is a dominant brand in the home health care arena here in the US.

46. What kind of marketshare positions do these companies have?

They are each the dominant brands in their respective product lines.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0116739

CONFIDENTIAL
HK SOC 00802

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

Al Dunlap/Long term strategy

47. How do investors know you're going to stay with Sunbeam?

Concurrent with this deal, I and two key executives have just signed three-year contracts to stay on at Sunbeam. I am absolutely committed to remaining at Sunbeam to help make this company grow. I'm eager to continue my tenure because I believe there is enormous value to be created. Russell Kersh will become Vice Chairman as part of this contract.

48. How much are those new contracts going to cost shareholders?

The financial impact of these contracts is a one-time charge so that it won't affect future earnings. Charge of 34 cents a share in the first quarter. This is a small price to pay for a proven team with a commitment to continued growth. (You can never overpay a good executive.)

49. How do these acquisitions fit a larger strategy for Sunbeam?

These acquisitions will help us to become more of a global player. They're strong in parts of the world where we don't do much business yet; we're strong in other parts of the world where they don't do much business yet. Coleman is strong in Europe and Asia; we're strong in Latin America. These are all great brands that will make us a global player.

50. When are you going to retire?

I tried that twice and hated it. Right now, I am committed to Sunbeam and this project.

51. Are we going to be seeing more acquisitions?

Yes. We're going to continue to make synergistic accretive acquisitions when they are a good fit for Sunbeam and when they will add value for our shareholders. I am confident that we will achieve a quantum leap in shareholder value in 1998, which will be attained in all likelihood by acquisitions or mergers.

52. What companies are next?

We've just strengthened our appliance business with Mr. Coffee, our health and safety division with Health-o-Meter and First Alert. With Coleman we're expanding into the outdoor products market, an area we think will grow a great deal. We will focus first and foremost on consolidating in the industry in which Sunbeam competes, but we will also look beyond our immediate industry groups. Big or small? We would probably concentrate on midsized companies. Those deals are the most accretive.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016740

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER
CPH 1026951
16div-024884

53. What is the financial impact of Al Dunlap's new employment agreement?

That information will be in the 10-K.

54. When was your other contract up?

Although my contract had some time on it, the board wanted my commitment to stay on before they would agree to embark on this new route of building shareholder value through acquisitions.

55. What kind of "out" does Al Dunlap have in his contract?

Just the usual change of control provisions.

56. What is your compensation package?

My base is going from $1 million to $2 million. I have no bonus. No senior executive in the company does. Like every other employee at Sunbeam, though, I am a shareholder.

57. What EPS does the company anticipate in 1998 and 1999?

We expect meaningful accretion in 1999. These companies together will add at least 10 percent to EPS within 12 months.

58. What type of growth rate does the company expect to have/achieve?

We expect double-digit growth to revenues and earnings over the next few years.

59. Why did the company choose to acquire?

Sunbeam saw acquiring as the best way to enhance shareholder value over the long term. We're still committed to our initial strategy of doubling revenues through internal growth.

60. Has Al Dunlap ever acquired a company before?

I worked for Sir James Goldsmith for seven years and was chairman and CEO of his global holdings. Yes I've been involved in many acquisitions.

61. Did Mr. Uzzi's contract get renegotiated too?

Don was promoted last year and is only one year into his current contract. Because he has two years left in his contract we saw no need to redo that contract.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016741

CONFIDENTIAL
HK SOC 00804

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

CPH 1026952
16div-024885

62. How will you achieve the cost synergies?

Through eliminating redundancies in sales and marketing.

###

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0167142

CONFIDENTIAL
HK SOC 00805

CONFIDENTIAL - SUBJECT TO PROTECTIVE ORDER

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016743

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF THE FIFTEENTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT
IN AND FOR PALM BEACH COUNTY, FLORIDA
CASE No.CA 03-5045 AI

COLEMAN (PARENT) HOLDINGS, INC.,

Plaintiff,

-vs-

MORGAN STANLEY & CO., INC.,

Defendant.

_____/

DEPOSITION OF LAWRENCE ALAN BORNSTEIN
(Videotaped)
VOLUME I

Thursday, January 15, 2004
9:05 - 1:42 p.m.

2139 Palm Beach Lakes Boulevard
West Palm Beach, Florida 33409

Reported By:
Rachel W. Bridge, RMR, CRR
Notary Public, State of Florida
Esquire Deposition Services
West Palm Beach Office
Phone: 800.330.6952
561.659.4155

APPEARANCES:
On behalf of the Plaintiff:
ROBERT T. MARKOWSKI, ESQUIRE
CHRISTOPHER M. O'CONNOR, ESQUIRE
JENNER & BLOCK, LLP
One IBM Plaza
Chicago, Illinois 60611-7603
Phone: 312.222.9350

On behalf of the Defendant:
THOMAS A. CLARE, ESQUIRE
KATHRYN REED DEBORD, ESQUIRE
KIRKLAND & ELLIS, LLP
655 Fifteenth Street, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20005
Phone: 202.879.5078

On behalf of the Witness:
MICHAEL MOSCATO, ESQUIRE
CURTIS, MALLET-PREVOST, COLT & MOSLE, LLP
101 Park Avenue
New York, New York 10178-0061
Phone: 212.696.8817
ALSO PRESENT:
EITAN ROSEN, VIDEOGRAPHER

- - -

INDEX

- - -

WITNESS:	DIRECT	CROSS	REDIRECT	RECROSS
Lawrence Bornstein
By Mr. Markowski	5
By Mr. Clare		117

- - -

EXHIBITS

- - -

EXHIBIT	PAGE
CPH Exhibit 118	12
CPH Exhibit 119	17
CPH Exhibit 120	44
CPH Exhibit 121	84
CPH Exhibit 122	93
CPH Exhibit 123	100
CPH Exhibit 124	110
MS Exhibit 55	156
MS Exhibit 56	172
MS Exhibit 57	172

PROCEEDINGS

- - -

Deposition taken before Rachel W. Bridge, Registered Professional Reporter and Notary Public in and for the State of Florida at Large, in the above cause.

- - -

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are now going on video record. The time on the monitor is 9:05 a.m.

(Thereupon, the case was introduced by the court reporter.)

MR. MARKOWSKI: Bob Markowski from Jenner & Block on behalf of Coleman (Parent) Holdings.

MR. O'CONNOR: Chris O'Connor from Jenner & Block on behalf of plaintiff, Coleman (Parent) Holdings.

MR. CLARE: Tom Clare and Kathryn Debord from Kirkland & Ellis, LLP on behalf of the defendant, Morgan Stanley & Company.

MR. MOSCATO: Mark Moscato from Curtis Mallet on behalf of the witness, Larry Bornstein.

Thereupon,

(LAWRENCE A. BORNSTEIN)

having been first duly sworn or affirmed, was examined and testified as follows:

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

DIRECT EXAMINATION

BY MR. MARKOWSKI:

Q. Mr. Bornstein, as you know, my name is Bob Markowski. I'm one of the attorneys for Coleman (Parent) Holdings in its lawsuit here in Palm Beach County against Morgan Stanley.

Mr. Bornstein, would you please state your full name?

A. Lawrence Alan Bornstein.

Q. Mr. Bornstein, where were you employed in 1998?

A. Arthur Andersen.

Q. Where was your office location?

A. West Palm Beach, Florida.

Q. How long had you been employed by Arthur Andersen at that time?

A. '98, approximately ten years.

Q. What was your position?

A. I believe at the time I was an experience manager, I think was the title.

Q. And in general, what were the responsibilities in 1998 that you had as a senior manager at Arthur Andersen?

MR. MOSCATO: Experience manager?

MR. MARKOWSKI: Excuse me, experience manager.

THE WITNESS: Supervising and performing tests, audit functions primarily.

BY MR. MARKOWSKI:

Q. How long had you been employed in the West Palm Beach office?

A. I believe approximately, probably six years.

Q. At that time did you hold any licenses?

A. Yes, a CPA, licensed in Massachusetts.

Q. When did you obtain your licenses as a certified public accountant?

A. I believe in '91 or '92.

Q. Mr. Bornstein, do you recall that in the first quarter of 1998 Sunbeam made three acquisitions?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you recall the names of the three companies that Sunbeam acquired in the first quarter of 1998?

A. Yes.

Q. Can you tell me what they are?

A. Coleman -- I don't know the exact name, but Coleman was one. First Alert was another. And I believe the third was Signature Brands.

Q. Do you recall that Coleman was the largest of the three companies that Sunbeam acquired at that time?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you recall as part of the Coleman acquisition that Sunbeam acquired all of the Coleman stock that my client, Coleman (Parent) Holdings, owned?

MR. CLARE: Objection, foundation.

THE WITNESS: I don't know, I don't know exactly who owned what and where and when, to be honest with you.

BY MR. MARKOWSKI:

Q. Do you recall that Sunbeam acquired the Coleman company stock that Coleman (Parent) Holdings had as part of the transaction?

A. I don't remember the exact structure, but I do believe they acquired a good chunk of it during that time period.

Q. From Coleman (Parent) Holdings?

A. I believe so, yes.

Q. Did you perform any work relating to the transaction by which Sunbeam acquired the Coleman company stock?

A. I did a limited amount of work, yes.

Q. What were the nature of the projects that you were involved in concerning Sunbeam's acquisition of Coleman company?

A. I accompanied various management of Sunbeam at the time in a due diligence, limited due diligence process.

Q. Were there other activities that related in any respect to Sunbeam's acquisition of Coleman that you were involved in?

A. A limited amount of review of, I believe their pro forma financial statements or pro forma projections that was done by, I believe it was done by Morgan Stanley.

Q. Do you recall being involved in activities related to Sunbeam's financing of the acquisition?

A. Yes.

Q. And what was your involvement in the financing aspect of the transaction?

A. Assisting in the preparation of a 140 section, I think it was Section 144 document, bond offering document.

Q. That's the document by which Sunbeam sold convertible debentures to finance the acquisition?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you recall what your involvement was in that process?

A. Assisting in the preparation of the pro forma financial statements that were within the document, drafting the document, the body of the document prior to the pricing of the bonds, coordinating and assisting the other accounting firms in getting the information that's needed in the document. That's pretty much all I can remember.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016715

Page 9

Q. That activity all took place in the first quarter of 1998?

A. For the most part, yes.

Q. Do you recall when during the first part of 1998 that activity was occurring?

A. I think it was middle to end of February through late March of I guess -- my year, I think it might have been, I think '98.

Q. Mr. Bornstein, did Arthur Andersen -- let me take a step back.

Arthur Andersen was involved in these activities because it served as the outside auditor for Sunbeam during that time period; is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Did Arthur Andersen, in connection with its function as the outside auditor for Sunbeam, do anything special at the end of the first quarter of 1998 to monitor Sunbeam's product shipments at the end of the first quarter?

MR. CLARE: Objection to the form.

THE WITNESS: Can you --

Page 10

BY MR. MARKOWSKI:

Q. I can restate it.

At the end of the first quarter of 1998, in its capacity as the outside auditor for Sunbeam, did Arthur Andersen do anything special to monitor the shipments of Sunbeam's products at the end of the first quarter?

MR. CLARE: Same objection.

THE WITNESS: Yes.

BY MR. MARKOWSKI:

Q. What do you recall that involving?

A. I would call them expanded cutoff procedures, expanded I would say shipping and receiving type of procedures at the end of the first quarter.

Q. Did you have any role in making the decision to cause those procedures to be implemented?

A. Yes.

Q. And what was the role?

A. It was my decision to expand procedures sufficient enough to conclude that shipments were made in a timely fashion prior to the end of the quarter and that they were in fact built, shipped and ordered by customer.

Q. Now at that point in the first quarter of 1998, were you the senior Arthur Andersen person responsible for the Sunbeam audits?

Page 11

A. No, I was not.

Q. Who was?

A. The partner was Phil Harlow.

Q. Did you recommend to Mr. Harlow that these procedures be used or did you make the decision on your own?

A. I recommended to Mr. Harlow that the procedures be done.

Q. And what was his reaction to your recommendation?

A. I don't remember.

Q. But were the procedures in fact employed?

A. Yes.

Q. When did you decide that Arthur Andersen -- excuse me, when did you decide that Arthur Andersen should use these expanded cutoff procedures at the end of the first quarter of 1998?

A. I don't know the exact date, but probably March 17th or 18th.

Q. Mr. Bornstein, I'm going to show you what we're going to mark as Coleman (Parent) Exhibit Number 118. It's a March 21 e-mail from you to William Biese, B-i-e-s-e. It bears Bates number AA120304.

Page 12

(CPH Exhibit No. 118 was marked for identification.)

MR. CLARE: Do you have a copy? Thanks.

BY MR. MARKOWSKI:

Q. Mr. Bornstein, I'd like you to take a moment to look at Exhibit 118.

Can you tell me what this document is?

A. Correspondence with a, I believe, I believe, I think he was the partner for Arthur Andersen that worked, I think he -- let me think about this. He, I think he resided in Mexico City. He was the partner in charge of the work that was done in Mexico for Sunbeam.

And based on reading this, it's a memorandum letting him know that we're going to be doing additional work at the end of the quarter on cutoff procedures.

Q. The memorandum is dated March 21, 1998; is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Sunbeam had facilities in Mexico City, or in Mexico? Excuse me.

A. Yeah, they had facilities in Mexico City and I think I recall them having one or two in, I think it was called Maquiladora and a couple of other locations in surrounding Mexico City.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 13

Q. What was the purpose of your sending this memo to Mr. Biese?
A. I believe -- I mean reading this right now, it's to let him know what was going on, let him know there was going to be additional work for him, and then to advise him of, that additional cutoff procedures were going to be needed. And in reading this at this time, it talks about bill and hold transactions as well as the emphasis on sales.
Q. Does your memorandum to Mr. Biese explain why Andersen would be conducting additional cutoff procedures at the end of the first quarter of 1998?
A. No, not specifically.
Q. Does it provide the background concerning the reasons why you wanted to implement additional procedures to monitor cutoffs?
A. Not specifically.
Q. Does it do it in general terms?
A. I believe it does, yes.
Q. And what did you advise Mr. Biese as the reason for your desire to do the additional cutoff procedures at the end of the first quarter?
A. I don't remember specifically telling him anything, but looking at this memorandum, it's clear that it talks about where they, where they were going, where they were planning on going in sales and where they were. And the notation, as you can see, there is a big push on sales and we've been told that they having bill and hold transactions.

Page 14

Q. When you say it says where the company expected to go in sales for the quarter, what are you referring to?
A. The company just released an early warning to the street that sales are not going to meet expectations of 285 to 295 million for the quarter.
That's specifically where it talks about that.
Q. And what does it say about where the company in fact was at that point in time in terms of sales?
A. 72 million as of March 1st.
Q. And how does, how do those figures relate to your desire to do additional end-of-the-quarter shipping cutoff procedures?
A. There is obviously a big spread between what was, what was recorded through March 1st and what the expectations of the company were.
So that spread led me to believe that we should be doing additional work at the end of the first quarter.
Q. And what is it about that spread that caused you to come to that conclusion, that it was appropriate to do additional work at the end of the first quarter?

Page 15

A. I believe that the spread was extremely aggressive and that it warranted additional work to make sure that they -- mentioned earlier that the product was ordered, was built, and it was properly shipped.
Q. What was your concern?
MR. MOSCATO: I object. I think he just said so.
Do you have anything to add?
THE WITNESS: No, I don't believe I have anything.
BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. How did monitoring cutoff procedures have a relationship to what you've just described?
A. Monitoring cutoff procedures would in fact give you a much greater assurance that a customer had requested that the product be sold to them; i.e., to clear purchase order, and that the product was in fact built and shipped.
Q. Were you concerned that in order to increase the reported sales for the first quarter of 1998, that Sunbeam might attempt to claim shipments had taken place during the first quarter when in fact they had not?

Page 16

A. Can you repeat that, please?
Q. Were you concerned that because of the great spread as of this point in time between Sunbeam's sales for the first two months of the first quarter and Sunbeam's original expectations for sales for the first quarter, that in order to close the gap between those two numbers, that Sunbeam might attempt to claim shipments in the first quarter that had actually not occurred?
MR. CLARE: I object to the form.
THE WITNESS: I don't believe that that was my thought process at the time. I wanted to make sure that they were actually going to ship the product and the product was ordered.
So I guess in thinking about that, then there is a possibility the concern was that there, you know, that it was a possibility that they would ship product that wasn't ordered, as well as logistically being able to ship that much product in such a short period of time, based on my experience with the company at that point in time.
MR. MARKOWSKI: Mr. Bornstein, I'll show you what we're marking as CPH Exhibit 119. It's a memorandum from Dennis Pastrana to you dated

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

015747

Page 17

March 24, 1998. The subject is cutoff testing, and it bears Bates number AA55758 through -- actually it looks like it's made up of two documents, first. First page is AA55758, and then the pages behind it are AA36921 through 36925.

(CPH Exhibit No. 119 was marked for identification.)

THE WITNESS: These are just extra copies?

BY MR. MARKOWSKI:

Q. Yes, right, thank you. If you would, I'd like you to take a moment to take a look at CPH Exhibit Number 119.

Mr. Bornstein, can you tell me what CPH Exhibit Number 119 is?

A. I apologize. I'm getting a cold, so it's kind of hard for me to hear. Can you repeat that?

Q. Can you tell me what CPH Exhibit Number 119 is?

A. Appears to be a draft of a memorandum outlining the additional procedures on cutoff and shipping that was performed at the end of the first quarter of '98.

Q. These are instructions relating to what we've been discussing, the implementation of additional procedures to monitor Sunbeam's end-of-the-first-quarter shipping practices?

Page 18

A. Yes.

Q. Who is Dennis Pastrana?

A. He was, he was the senior auditor who worked for me during the Sunbeam audit, who, for lack of a better term, did, supervised the field work on a day-to-day basis.

Q. Did you ask Mr. Pastrana to prepare instructions for the additional cutoff procedures?

A. Yes, based on this memorandum. I don't recall specifics, but based on this, I would say the answer is yes.

Q. Did you provide Mr. Pastrana with guidance concerning what you wanted the procedures to involve?

A. Yes.

Q. The -- let me direct your attention to the page that has Bates number 36293. The heading starts General Information.

A. Yes.

Q. Do you have that page in front of you?

A. Yes.

Q. Would you read the first two paragraphs under General Information out loud, please.

A. "Although the information that follows is public information, it is summarized here for your use only and is not to be shared with client personnel at the facilities you visit. Sunbeam's first quarter fiscal 1998 will end on March 29, 1998," in brackets, "the Sunday closest to the end of the month," end of brackets. "As of March 1, 1998, the company reported sales of approximately 72 million versus 143 million for the corresponding period of the preceding year. Despite this decrease, management has announced to the public that it expects first quarter sales for 1998 to exceed first quarter 1997 sales of 253.5 million. That means that the company expects to ship over 181 million," in brackets, "greater than 70 percent expected sales for the quarter," end of brackets, "in the month of March."

Page 19

Q. Now the, did you believe the statement that the company had sales of $72 million through the first two months of the year to be an accurate statement?

A. I believe at the time domestically the $72 million was the number.

Q. Do you know what that number was based on? Let me ask a different question. I asked that poorly.

Do you know how Andersen determined that Sunbeam sales for the first two months of 1998 totaled approximately $72 million?

A. I believe based on the company's financial information that was given to us.

Page 20

Q. Now a statement is made at the beginning of that two paragraphs that I had you read that the information that follows is public information.

Do you know whether in fact Sunbeam had announced to the public as of this point in time that its sales for the first two months of 1998 were only $72 million?

A. I don't believe it was. I'm not 100 percent sure, though.

Q. You don't have any recollection of the company publicly making that statement, correct?

A. No.

Q. I'd like to direct your attention down to the bottom third of the page. There is a heading that reads Revenue Recognition Policy. Do you see that?

A. Yes.

Q. Would you read that first paragraph into the record, please.

A. "Because of management pressures to meet earnings expectations, we are taking additional steps in connection with our quarterly review work to ensure that the client achieves a proper sales cutoff."

Q. Does that statement accurately reflect the reasons why you decided that Andersen should implement additional cutoff testing procedures at the end of the first quarter of 1998?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 21

A. Yes.
Q. Now, Mr. Bornstein, I note that this document indicates that Sunbeam's first quarter will end on March 29, 1998.
Do you see that statement at the top of the page?
A. Yes.
Q. Did Sunbeam's first quarter in fact end on March 29, 1998?
A. I don't believe it did, no.
Q. Do you recall what happened?
A. Yes.
Q. Can you explain?
A. One second, I'm sorry.
Q. Sure.
A. As I recall, Sunbeam decided to extend the quarter, I believe it was I think two days, in order to -- because they were going to close the Coleman acquisition I believe on March 31st, they wanted to include the additional two days of revenue related to Coleman in their first quarter.
Q. Would extending the quarter also permit Sunbeam to count its first quarter sales, additional sales that Sunbeam itself made during those three days?

Page 22

A. I believe that was their intention, yes.
Q. As of the time -- this memorandum appears to have been written on or about March 29 -- well, excuse me, March 24, I believe.
A. Yes.
Q. As of that point in time, had the first quarter been extended?
A. No, I don't believe so.
Q. So the decision to extend the first quarter that Sunbeam made was sometime between the time this memorandum was prepared and the end of the quarter?
A. Yeah, I believe I testified, somewhere in the records I'm sure there is a paper trail of the date, because I specifically remember the phone call I had. My daughter was in the hospital sick, and I remember getting the phone call related to the request to extend the quarter.
Q. Who did you get that call from?
A. I don't recall specifically.
Q. Do you recall that it was Bob Gluck that called you?
A. It's possible that it was Bob Gluck, yes.
Q. Who is Bob Gluck?
A. He was the corporate controller of Sunbeam.

Page 23

Q. Did the fact that Sunbeam advised you that it wished to extend the first quarter of 1998 have any effect on your thinking concerning the need to conduct additional cutoff procedures for the quarter?
A. Yes.
Q. And what was your thought in that regard?
A. Honestly, at that point in time I believe that they needed to come up with some additional ways to make the quarter on the revenue side, and that was one of them, one of a couple as opposed to -- I'm sorry, but that was one of them.
Q. And how did that conclusion affect your thinking with respect to the cutoff procedure project?
A. The cutoff procedure project was already implemented, but it emphasized the need to do it.
Q. Were you concerned that Sunbeam might play games with respect to its first quarter numbers?
MR. CLARE: Objection to form.
THE WITNESS: I don't consider it playing games, but there was never a clear definition of whether or not they intended to include Coleman sales or not when they made their press releases.
BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. Was the fact that Sunbeam had advised you that it wished to extend the first quarter consistent with your conclusion that management was being pressed to do whatever it could to maximize first quarter sales results?

Page 24

MR. CLARE: Objection to form.
THE WITNESS: That they needed to be aggressive, yes. That is the way I would characterize it.
BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. And they needed to be aggressive for what reason, Mr. Bornstein?
MR. CLARE: Objection, foundation.
MR. MOSCATO: You're asking him what his view is, not his trying to read their minds?
MR. MARKOWSKI: That's correct.
BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. Why did you think Sunbeam needed to be aggressive with respect to its first quarter sales activities?
A. Because again, that was a big spread of sales that were in fact recorded at March 1st, and what they had told the public they planned on doing for the first quarter.
Q. Mr. Bornstein, in general, what did -- let me ask a foundational question. In fact, Andersen did take additional steps to monitor Sunbeam's first quarter sales shipments at the end of the quarter?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 25

A. Yes.
Q. In general, what did Andersen do?
A. We sent people out to a number of material locations, manufacturing locations, where Sunbeam in fact built and shipped product at the end of the first quarter.
Q. What did those people, what were those people asked to do?
A. It's pretty much detailed in the memorandum, but basically to monitor the shipment of product, to make sure the product was actually shipped at the end of a quarter, to obtain shipping and receiving documents, to physically observe the shipping locations, to do additional work on additional bill and hold transactions that the company had told us that they were entering into, and to basically make sure that the product was there and ready to be shipped or shipped and do all the cutoff work that we talked about.
Q. We've been using the term cutoff. What does cutoff mean?
A. It's just, cutoff means, it's just a period of time that you take a snapshot. You freeze the, kind of freeze that period in time and you, exactly what it sounds, cut off when a sale is made and when a sale is not made.

Page 26

Q. And the cutoff moment in this instance was what?
A. I believe the policy, the revenue recognition policy was that it had to have been placed in a truck and the truck needed to either be filled or pushed off the dock and title passed to the customer.
Q. By what moment in time?
A. Technically, midnight of whatever the date was. I think it was March 31st that the quarter ended.
Q. It ultimately was March 31st, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. At the time this memo was written, the end of the quarter would have been March 29?
A. Yes.
Q. And it was the extension of the quarter by three days from the 29th to the 31st that resulted in that change, correct?
A. Yes, being the 31st as opposed to the 29th, yes.
Q. All right. Now did Andersen staff or, Andersen staff ask to be physically present on the Sunbeam shipping docks at midnight on the last day of the quarter?

Page 27

A. Yes.
Q. And the purpose for that was so that they could do what?
A. To make sure that the process I just explained was adhered to.
Q. Verify it with their own eyes, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Now is that something that Andersen did at the end of each Sunbeam quarter?
A. No.
Q. And the reason for the difference here was what you've already described, the gulf between where Sunbeam sales were at the end of March -- or excuse me, at the end of February, and where the company had told the public it would end up at the end of the first quarter, correct?
A. Yes. It was, as I explained earlier, a decision I made sometime in March, March 18th, 19th, that that was something I was going to have done.
Q. Mr. Bornstein, let me show you what we previously marked as CPH Exhibit Number 20. Bears Bates number CPH 0129292 through 192296.
A. Okay.
Q. Can you tell me what this document is?
A. Just give me a couple of minutes to look at it.

Page 28

Q. Sure.
A. It's a, looks like a memo from Vance Kistler, who was a, I don't know, a staff accountant or it might have been a higher level, maybe a senior accountant, on his inventory observation work at Hattisburg.
Q. Who was Vance Kistler again? I'm sorry, he's an Andersen employee?
A. Yes.
Q. Does this report relate to the sales cutoff procedures that we've been talking about?
A. Yes.
Q. Does this reflect Mr. Kistler's work and the work of others at the Hattisburg facility?
A. Yes.
Q. Hattisburg was a Sunbeam facility?
A. Yes.
Q. And what did Sunbeam do at Hattiesburg, do you know?
A. I don't remember specifically what they built there, but they manufactured equipment and had a distribution center where product was put on trucks and shipped to customers.
Q. Do you recall that Hattiesburg is one of the more significant facilities that Sunbeam had for shipping product?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 29

MR. CLARE: Objection to form.
THE WITNESS: Yes, I believe their largest at the time.
BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. Mr. Bornstein, let me show you what we've also previously marked as CPH Exhibit 113.
A. Does anyone else who lives in Florida need air conditioning in this room? Is there any way we can do that? Us Floridians need air conditioning.
Q. If at any point, Mr. Bornstein, you need to take a break or need something else like air conditioning, just let us know. We'll try to make sure you are comfortable.
A. Thank you.
Q. If you would take a moment to look at CPH Exhibit Number 113, my first question is going to be if you can identify it for me, tell me what it is.
A. Okay.
Q. The question was if you can identify the document for me.
A. The document, after reading it, appears to be a documentation of work done by -- I'm not sure who this guy is, but another employee of Arthur Andersen on cutoff work done at a warehouse in DC, a warehouse in Aurora. I think that might have been a, I believe that was a third-party warehouse.

Page 30

And again, work, additional work done on cutoff, shipping cutoff, as well as additional work done on bill and hold sales.
Q. And this relates to the project we've been talking about, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. The monitoring of Sunbeam's end-of-quarter sales shipments, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Is it fair to say that it took a fair amount of effort, Mr. Bornstein, to arrange and implement the additional cutoff monitoring procedures?
A. I would characterize it as a huge amount of effort. Probably more effort on a quarterly inventory cutoff than -- probably safe to say on probably any work that was done probably for the previous 15 years in auditing history.
Q. And the huge effort was warranted because of what again, Mr. Bornstein?
MR. MOSCATO: I object.
You can answer again, Larry.
BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. Let me ask a different question,

Page 31

Mr. Bornstein.
A. Sure.
Q. Was that huge effort in your mind justified?
A. Yes.
Q. And why did you think that huge effort was justified under the circumstances that you were confronted with?
A. You know, based on the spread, the aggressiveness of management and the spread between what was recorded as sales, as well as what was, what was out on the street, we talked about them extending the quarter.
Another thing that happened post the March 18th time frame was the announcement or the information to us that they were going to, Sunbeam was in the process of implementing an additional bill and hold series of transactions, I guess.
So again, that was kind of the second thing that, that kind of emphasized that additional work needed to be done.
Q. And the work needed to be done in order to do what you thought necessary to assure that Sunbeam properly reported its sales for the quarter?
A. Yes.
Q. And didn't report more sales than it was entitled to report, correct?

Page 32

A. Yes.
Q. When did you first learn, Mr. Bornstein, that Sunbeam's sales for the first two months of 1998 were about half of what Sunbeam's sales had been for the first two months of 1997?
MR. MOSCATO: The question is focused on the first two months? That's your question?
MR. MARKOWSKI: That's correct.
MR. MOSCATO: First two months.
THE WITNESS: I believe sometime towards maybe the first, the end of the first week of March. Maybe the second, I'd say anywhere between March 7th and maybe March 10th to 13th, in that time frame.
BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. And how did you learn that information?
A. From Dennis Pastrana, the senior accountant working for me.
Q. Do you recall whether you were present in a room with Mr. Pastrana?
A. No, it was via telephone.
Q. Where were you at?
A. I was working on the 144 offering, I believe in New York.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 33

Q. And where was Mr. Pastrana?
A. In Delray Beach, Florida, at Sunbeam's location.
Q. Do you recall whether he called you or whether you called him in connection with that phone call?
A. No, I don't recall.
Q. What do you recall Mr. Pastrana telling you?
A. Just the fact of where they were, where they were from a revenue standpoint. And I don't recall anything else specifically.
Generally he was doing work to support the work that we were doing up in New York. He was working on a comfort letter, which entailed reviewing the company's financial information for the most recent periods.
Q. Did you consider the information he provided to you about Sunbeam's sales for the first two months of 1998 to be significant in any way?
MR. CLARE: Objection to form.
THE WITNESS: Did I think it was significant, the information that he gave me?
BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. Correct, concerning Sunbeam's sales for the first two months of the first quarter of '98.

Page 34

A. Yes, I did.
Q. In what way?
A. That it was much lower than the previous year.
Q. Do you know if the public was expecting Sunbeam's sales for the first quarter of 1998 to be lower than Sunbeam's sales for the first quarter of 1997?
MR. CLARE: Objection, no foundation.
THE WITNESS: Did I know at that time?
BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. Right. Did you know if the financial community was expecting Sunbeam's sales in the first quarter of 1998 to be lower or higher than Sunbeam's sales for the first quarter of 1997 had been?
MR. CLARE: Same objection.
THE WITNESS: I knew that they were expecting I believe to be higher than the previous year.
BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. Your understanding was the financial community was expecting Sunbeam's sales to grow in the first quarter of 1998 over the first quarter of 1997 results, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. You said that Mr. Pastrana was doing work relating to the preparation of a comfort letter?

Page 35

A. Yes.
Q. What's a comfort letter?
A. A comfort letter is, for lack of a better word, it gives the underwriters and underwriter's counsel comfort that the numbers that are within the bond offering are derived from the company's books and records.
Q. Now the letter is prepared by whom?
A. By Arthur Andersen.
Q. And it goes to whom in this case?
A. I believe it goes to underwriter's counsel. So I'm not sure who exactly it's addressed to, to be honest with you, but I believe it was underwriter's counsel.
Q. The underwriting you are referring to in this case was whom?
A. Morgan Stanley.
Q. And Morgan Stanley is underwriting what in this context, just so we're clear?
A. The bond offering.
Q. And by underwriting, what do you mean?
A. They were the ones helping the company sell the bonds.
Q. Why was Andersen preparing a comfort letter for Morgan Stanley relating to the bond offering?

Page 36

A. It was requested by Morgan Stanley to prepare.
Q. Do you know why Sunbeam was issuing the bonds?
A. In order to finance a portion of the three acquisitions you talked about earlier.
Q. Including the acquisition of Coleman Company, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. What's the relevance of Sunbeam's sales results in January and February of 1998 to the work Mr. Pastrana was doing on the comfort letter?
A. The comfort letter asked for -- the standard comfort letter, there are certain things that are required to be disclosed and certain things that aren't required to be disclosed, but, for example, you'd have to look at net worth of the company compared to the prior year. I forget the exact one. Net assets of the company compared to the prior year. Really any material variation from the same period of the prior year required to disclose to the, to put in the document, put in the comfort letter.
Again, the standard things, I don't know what they are. And then if there is anything that's out of the ordinary, typically that might go in there.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 37

Q. Mr. Bornstein, in connection with -- as I understand your prior testimony in connection with the Sunbeam audits, you were the second-most senior person assigned in the audit; is that correct, the audit team?
A. There was a, there were, I think a concurring partner was also assigned to the team, but that partner didn't actually do the field work. He was more of an advisory partner. So I would consider myself probably the third senior person on the team.
Q. All right. In connection with the work you did as the third most senior Andersen person on the Sunbeam audit, if we include Mr. -- the concurring partner was Mr. Pruitt; is that correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And the engagement partner was Mr. Harlow, the audit partner?
A. Yes.
Q. And Mr. Harlow would have been more actively involved in the actual audit process than Mr. Pruitt, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. In connection with the work that you did regarding Andersen's audits of Sunbeam, did you try to keep abreast of statements that Sunbeam made to the financial community relating to its performance?

Page 38

A. Yes, I did.
Q. And is it in that connection that you had an understanding that Sunbeam had led the financial community to expect that its first quarter 1998 sales would be higher than its first quarter 1997 sales?
MR. CLARE: Objection to form.
THE WITNESS: It was a combination of a lot of things, newspaper reports, the budgets, statements Mr. Dunlap had made to the financial community and the world on growth projections. So I mean it's a combination of things how you keep track of things like that.
Andersen at the time had a system in place where you would get, you know, consensus, first call type of information that can be supplied also.
So I mean we were kept pretty -- you know, it was part of our job to be in tune to that information.
BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. And you considered yourself in the first quarter of 1998 well informed on those issues as they related to Sunbeam?
A. Yes.

Page 39

Q. When Mr. Pastrana advised you that Sunbeam's sales for the first two months of 1998 were about half of what they had been in the first two months of 1997, did you report that information to anyone else at Arthur Andersen?
A. Yes.
Q. To whom did you report it?
A. I think you can see in the memorandums that we reported that to whoever was on the engagement team working on the cutoff procedures, Mr. Harlow, Mr. Pruitt. I don't specifically remember anyone else, but I'm sure I mentioned it to other people.
Q. Did you make certain personally that Mr. Harlow knew that Sunbeam's sales in the first two months of '98 were about half of what they had been in the first two months of '97?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you personally make sure that Mr. Pruitt knew that as well?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you recall when you informed Mr. Harlow of that fact?
A. As soon as I was aware of it.
Q. Do you recall when you advised Mr. Pruitt of that?

Page 40

A. I believe not until March 17th or 18th. The night before the, the date before the press release went out and prior to the bonds being priced.
Q. Can you tell me what the context of that conversation was? Was it a conversation?
A. Yes, just in -- Mr. Pruitt, as part of his responsibility, needed to read the comfort letter in its entirety. And I do recall pointing that out to him specifically, that sales were half of what they were, and --
Q. Where were you both at?
A. He was in Miami. I believe I was, I was in West Palm Beach.
And I recall the conversation that, that the company was at 72 million versus 143 million, and explained to him where they were versus their estimates on the street. And I don't remember specifically the conversation, but I do recall letting him know that I wasn't 100 percent sure if all parties involved in the transaction were informed of that information.
Q. What did Mr. Pruitt say to you?
A. He told me that he was going to talk to Mr. Harlow and discuss the issue.
Q. And did you tell Mr. Pruitt who you weren't certain -- let me rephrase that.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 41

You indicated, if I understood you correctly, Mr. Bornstein, that you raised with Mr. Pruitt an issue concerning whether everyone involved in the debenture offering was aware of the difference between Sunbeam's sales in the first two months of '98 and the first two months of '97, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Was there somebody specific you had in mind?
A. I wasn't 100 percent sure if Morgan Stanley and Morgan Stanley's counsel, as well as any of the other people working on the transaction other than the people at Sunbeam, knew where the company sales were at that point in time.
Q. Did you want to make certain that Morgan Stanley was advised of that information?
A. Yes.
Q. Is that what you told Mr. Pruitt?
A. I didn't tell him that specifically, no.
(Thereupon, a cellphone rang.)
MR. MARKOWSKI: Can we go off the record.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are now going off the video record. The time on the monitor, 10:05 a.m.
(Discussion held off the record.)
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are now back on video record. The time on the monitor, 10:05 a.m.

Page 42

BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. Mr. Bornstein, did you specifically tell Mr. Pruitt you weren't certain if Morgan Stanley knew these facts?
A. No, I didn't specifically say that.
Q. Okay. What did Mr. Pruitt say to you when you raised an issue with respect to whether everyone was on notice of this drop in Sunbeam's sales?
A. He told me that if everyone wasn't aware, that we wouldn't issue a comfort letter.
Q. And did Mr. Pruitt give you any instruction?
A. No.
Q. Did Mr. Pruitt tell you he intended to take some action?
A. He told me he was going to talk to Mr. Harlow.
Q. Mr. Bornstein, I'm going to show you what we previously marked as CPH Exhibit Number 12. It's a two-page document on Morgan Stanley stationery bearing Bates number AA31057 through 058, and it's a letter dated March 11, 1998, from John D. Tyree of Morgan Stanley to Arthur Andersen; attention, Phil Harlow.
Would you take a moment to take a look at CPH Exhibit Number 12 for me, Mr. Bornstein.
A. Okay.

Page 43

Q. Have you seen this letter before?
A. I don't remember the specific one, but I've seen the form letter before.
Q. Were you aware that Morgan Stanley had written to Arthur Andersen to formally request Arthur Andersen provide it with a comfort letter?
A. Yes, I was.
Q. In connection with the Sunbeam debenture offering?
A. Yes. I believe we requested that this form letter be provided to Arthur Andersen.
Q. I see. So it was Andersen's request that Morgan Stanley provide it with a written request for a comfort letter?
A. Yes, because the issue was that this was a 144 offering and not in accordance with the, specifically what -- similar to like an IPO or a 33 Act filing, I believe a 144 offering was a 34 Act filing, which is a requirement of Andersen to make sure that the underwriter would sign off on a letter requesting that they were doing the same amount of work that would have been required in the 33 Act filing.
Q. That's what Morgan Stanley represented to Andersen in connection with this bond offering?
A. Yes.

Page 44

Q. Did Andersen wait to receive this letter before beginning work on the comfort letter?
A. No, I don't believe so.
MR. MARKOWSKI: Mr. Bornstein, I'm going to show you what we're marking as CPH Exhibit Number 120. It's a three-page document on Sunbeam stationery dated March 16, 1998, bearing Bates number AA31053 through 055.
(CPH Exhibit No. 120 was marked for identification.)
BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. If you would take a moment, sir, I'd like you to review this document, and my first question is whether you can identify it for me.
A. Yes.
Q. Can you tell me what it is?
A. It's a management representation letter from Sunbeam to Arthur Andersen utilized to issue our comfort letter.
Q. This is the comfort letter that you've been referring to that Morgan Stanley requested?
A. Yes.
Q. In connection with the debenture offering, correct?
What's the purpose of this letter?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 45

A. When you, any time you're, basically you're bringing -- let me back up.

The purpose of this letter again is to issue a comfort letter. And basically what you're doing is enough, the same amount of work sufficient that if you were going to issue a consent to update your opinion on the financial statements that were whatever the previous period was.

So it's mainly analytical work and work done sufficient to issue a comfort letter.

Q. Does this document contain information relating to Sunbeam's sales for the first two months of 1998?

A. Yes, it does.

Q. Where do you see that?

A. On paragraph 9C.

Q. Would you read that into the record, please?

A. "Net sales from December 29, 1997, through March 1, 1998, were 72 million, 72,018,000, as compared to 143,499,000 for the corresponding period of the preceding year."

Q. That's the information that we've been talking about that showed that Sunbeam's sales for the first two months of 1998 were approximately half of what they had been in the prior year period, correct?

Page 46

A. Yes.

Q. And this letter is signed by who, sir?

A. Signed by Albert Dunlap, Russell Kersh, David Fanin and Bob Gluck, who were all senior executives of Sunbeam.

Q. Mr. Dunlap's position at this time was what?

A. States here chairman and chief executive officer.

Q. Of Sunbeam?

A. Of Sunbeam, yes.

Q. Mr. Kersh was what?

A. Executive vice-president of finance and administration.

Mr. Fanin was executive vice-president, general counsel.

Mr. Gluck was vice-president and chief accounting officer.

Q. Four very senior Sunbeam executives, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Does this letter offer an explanation for the primary reason for the substantial decline in Sunbeam's sales for the first two months of '98 compared to the first two months of '97?

MR. CLARE: Objection to form.

THE WITNESS: In the preceding paragraph, 9B, I believe it does.

BY MR. MARKOWSKI:

Q. What does it say? Would you read that into the record, sir?

A. "For the period from December 29th, 1997, through March 16, 1998, consolidated net sales decreased as compared to the corresponding period of the preceding year primarily to the company's Early Buy program for outdoor grills which accelerated outdoor grill sales into the fourth quarter of fiscal 1997. Additionally, decreased consolidated net sales during the period as compared to the corresponding period of the preceding year results, in part, from a nonrecurring sale in January of 1997 of discontinued stock keeping units and excess and obsolete inventory in connection with the company's November 1996 restructuring. Net income decreased primarily due to the aforementioned sales decrease and a first quarter compensation charge from restricted stock issued in connection with new employment agreements for key officers."

Q. And this is a statement being made to Arthur Andersen by the senior management of Sunbeam, correct?

A. Yes.

Page 48

Q. What does it mean to be accelerating outdoor grill sales into the fourth quarter of 1997, sir?

A. It talks -- what it means is just what it says, accelerating sales of grills to the fourth quarter of the previous year.

Q. How does that affect first quarter sales?

MR. MOSCATO: Objection.

BY MR. MARKOWSKI:

Q. I'm just trying to understand what the reference to accelerating sales means so that the jury can understand.

A. Right. The Early Buy program and the bill and hold program that they had in effect at the end of 1997, you know, based on the facts as of the end of February, showed that it did have an impact on moving some of the sales that might have previously been recorded in the fourth quarter -- in the first quarter, excuse me, of the corresponding year might have been accelerated into the previous quarter.

Q. So sales that otherwise would have normally taken place in the first quarter of 1998 had in fact already occurred in the fourth quarter of 1997?

MR. CLARE: Object to the form.

THE WITNESS: Yes.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 49

BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. That's identified here as the primary reason for the drop in Sunbeam's sales in the first two months of 1998, correct?
A. That's what it states, yes.
THE WITNESS: Could we take like a five-minute break for the restroom?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Sure.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are now going off video record. The time on the monitor is 10:17 p.m.
(Thereupon, a recess was taken.)
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are now back on video record. The time on the monitor is 10:29 a.m.
BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. Mr. Bornstein, as you just testified, Albert Dunlap was the chief executive officer of Sunbeam in the first quarter of 1998, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you recall that Mr. Dunlap at that point had been the chief executive of Sunbeam for something less than two years?
A. Yes.
Q. Are you aware of Mr. Dunlap's reputation at that time as a turnaround specialist?
A. Yes.

Page 50

Q. What do you know about that? Let me go back to 1998. Back in the first quarter of 1998, what was your understanding of Mr. Dunlap's reputation for turnarounds?
A. That he had a reputation for cutting costs, turning around companies and selling them.
Q. And doing that all in very short order?
A. Yes.
Q. And were you aware of any public statements that Mr. Dunlap had made about his success in turning Sunbeam around during his tenure as Sunbeam's chief executive officer? Focusing again on what your knowledge was in the first quarter of 1998.
A. Yes.
Q. What was your understanding of what Mr. Dunlap had said publicly on that subject?
A. That it was turned around and headed for brighter and greater pastures.
Q. Mr. Dunlap was projecting significant growth in sales and profits for 1998 for Sunbeam?
A. Yes.
Q. Compared to its 1997 performance?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you have any personal doubts about that in the first quarter of 1998?

Page 51

A. Yes.
Q. And what were those doubts based upon?
A. The financial performance really through the first two months of the, of '98, and as well as me, as well as my observation and review of at least the operations that I had seen, which included several of the domestic facilities as well as the Mexico City facility.
Q. First quarter of 1998, did you consider yourself to be familiar with Sunbeam's financial results and performance?
A. For what period of time?
Q. For the prior year.
A. Yes.
Q. And for the first two months of 1998?
A. Yes.
Q. And did you consider yourself generally familiar with Sunbeam's management?
A. Some of management, yes, from a corporate standpoint.
Q. And you considered yourself to be familiar with Sunbeam's facilities?
A. As I mentioned, domestically and in Mexico, part of Mexico anyway.
Q. Did you think Mr. Dunlap was overstating his accomplishments at Sunbeam?

Page 52

A. I thought there was a possibility that he was, yes.
Q. And that was your belief in the first quarter of 1998, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Mr. Bornstein, let me show you what we've previously marked as CPH Exhibit Number 17. It's a document on Arthur Andersen stationery bearing Bates numbers MS375 through 381.
If you could take a moment, my first question is going to be whether you can identify that document for me.
A. Yeah, this is a copy of a, a copy of the comfort letter.
Q. And it's a letter dated March 19, 1998, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And it's from Arthur Andersen to Morgan Stanley & Company, Inc.?
A. Yes.
Q. And it's signed Arthur Andersen LLP, correct?
A. Yes. I believe it's my handwriting.
Q. You believe you signed the name Arthur Andersen LLP to the letter?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016756

Page 53

A. This was signed about five o'clock in the morning on the 19th, I believe, the night of the pricing of the bonds, the following subsequent a.m.
Q. So that process I think from prior testimony started on the 19th, if it was 5:00 a.m., it would have been 5:00 a.m. on the 20th?
A. 20th, I believe.
Q. Even though the letter is dated the 19th, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Were you authorized to sign this letter on behalf of Morgan Stanley -- excuse me, I misspoke.
Were you authorized to sign this letter on behalf of Arthur Andersen?
A. Yes, I was.
Q. And who provided you with that authorization?
A. Phil Harlow.
Q. And Mr. Harlow was the engagement partner, as you've previously testified, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And the letter is addressed to Morgan Stanley.
Do you know if the letter was delivered to Morgan Stanley?
A. Yes, it was.

Page 54

Q. When did that occur? I'm talking about this version of it signed by you.
A. Four or five o'clock in the morning on the 20th.
Q. And how do you know it was delivered to Morgan Stanley at that time?
A. I handed it to them.
Q. Who did you hand it to?
A. Probably Bob Lurie. Bob Lurie was an attorney from Davis Polk, I believe.
Q. I believe Mr. Lurie's name may be James.
A. Maybe. Robert, wasn't it? No?
Q. Maybe I'm mistaken, but Mr. Lurie from Davis Polk?
A. It's been six years, so yeah.
Q. And he was acting at that time as counsel for Morgan Stanley?
A. I believe so, yes.
Q. Does the March 19 comfort letter contain information relating to Sunbeam's sales results for the first two months of 1998?
A. Yes.
Q. And can you tell me where that appears?
A. Six, paragraph 6C.
Q. Does this contain the identical language that you've read into the record from the March 16 letter from Sunbeam management to Arthur Andersen?

Page 55

A. It's similar. It's not identical.
Q. CPH Exhibit Number 120. Are the figures identical?
A. Yes.
Q. And the, just so the record is clear, Mr. Bornstein, would you read paragraph 6C into the record.
A. Says, "Although the company has not provided us with any financial statements as of any date or for any period subsequent to February 1, 1998, management has provided net sales from the December 29, 1997, through March 1st, 1998, which was 72,018,000 as compared to 143,499,000 for the corresponding period of the preceding year."
Q. And that again reflects a decline of about 50 percent in sales for the first two months of 1998 from the first two months of 1997, correct, sir?
A. Yes.
Q. And does this letter also repeat the explanations management provided to Arthur Andersen for that decline?
A. Yes, the previous paragraph, 6B.
Q. And what is the primary reason that management provided again?

Page 56

A. I believe this is the exact wording. "Primarily due to the company's new Early Buy program for outdoor grills, which accelerated outdoor grills sales into the fourth quarter of fiscal 1997."
Q. Sir, you indicated that you personally handed this to Morgan Stanley's counsel --
A. Yes.
Q. -- in the early morning hours of March 20th, correct?
A. Yes, I believe so, yes.
Q. Do you know if this letter with these facts and figures, the ones that you've just testified about, had been provided to Morgan Stanley at any earlier point, either that evening or otherwise?
MR. MOSCATO: You mean a prior draft?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Correct.
THE WITNESS: I believe that it was, but I can't be certain.
BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. Had you discussed these numbers with anyone from Morgan Stanley earlier in the evening on March 19th?
A. Yes, I had.
Q. Who did you discuss them with?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

01757

Page 57

A. I think his name was John Tyree, specifically from Morgan Stanley. I don't remember anyone else from Morgan Stanley being there.
Q. I'm going to take you back in time a little bit from that moment, Mr. Bornstein.
You indicated that you had had a conversation two or three days earlier, as I understand it, with Phil Pruitt relating to these facts, correct?
A. Bill Pruitt.
Q. I'm sorry, Bill Pruitt, the concurring partner on the Sunbeam audit engagement.
A. I believe the 17th, two days earlier.
Q. And Mr. Pruitt advised you that he was going to speak with Mr. Harlow concerning making sure that everyone involved in the transactions that were underway had notice of these facts, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. What's the next thing you recall happening bearing on this subject?
MR. CLARE: Object to the form.
THE WITNESS: Personally, I remember that on the, I think the 19th -- let me think about this, 17th, 18th, 19th.
I believe the 19th I recall was the next time I got any information on the subject, when I was in a hotel room in New York waiting to go to the printer.

Page 58

BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. Do you recall what hotel you were in?
A. I think it was the Helmsley Palace Hotel.
Q. You said you were getting ready to go to the printer. What printer?
A. I think it was Global Financial Press is where we were doing the work. And I was with an associate of mine, Mark Brockelman.
Q. What was going to be happening at the printer?
A. We were going to be finalizing the bond offering. I believe the bonds were being priced. The quantity of the bonds was, what was being sold was going to be finally determined, the interest rate.
And we were going to basically change whatever numbers needed to be changed in the document as a result of the pricing, as well as issue a final comfort letter.
Q. The document that was being finalized was what?
A. The 144 offering memorandum.
Q. That's the document that would be provided to potential purchasers of the bonds?

Page 59

A. Yes. So that's when I found out about it. I was, saw it on TV.
Q. You were there with Mr. Brockelman, you indicated?
A. Yes.
Q. Mr. Brockelman, what was -- he was employed by Arthur Andersen?
A. Yes.
Q. And his reason for being there with you was what?
A. To assist me in the process, to have an extra set of eyes looking at numbers when they changed.
Q. And what happened while you were at the hotel?
A. We were watching or I was watching CNBC and saw the crawler on the bottom that Sunbeam had released an early warning release that they weren't going to make the number. I forget what the numbers were, but they were still going to exceed, I think it was first quarter of the prior year. I think that was the, I think that's what it was. I'd have to look at the press release again.
And then I, I think I saw a notation that the stock went down significantly.
Q. So you recall that there was some notice on the CNBC broadcast concerning an announcement by Sunbeam concerning its first quarter performance?

Page 60

A. Yes.
Q. And when you saw that, what was your reaction?
A. My reaction was to learn more about what the release was.
Q. What did you do?
A. I believe I called Mr. Harlow or I called someone back, back at Arthur Andersen. Possibly could have been Bob Gluck, I don't remember, but I wanted to physically get a copy of the press release.
Q. Did you speak with someone? Did you succeed in reaching someone to talk to them about the contents of the press release?
A. Yes.
Q. You can't remember at the moment whether that was Mr. Harlow or Mr. Gluck?
A. It might have been Dennis Pastrana. I don't remember who, to be honest with you, I spoke with.
Q. But you spoke with someone who had the press release itself?
A. Yes.
Q. Let me show you what's been previously marked as CPH Exhibit Number 14, Mr. Bornstein. It's a two-page document that bears Bates number Morgan Stanley confidential 16944 through 945. And it's headed "For Immediate Release, Sunbeam states that first quarter revenues may be lower than street estimates."

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 61

I'd like you to take a moment to take a look at this document for me, sir.

A. Okay.

Q. Can you tell me what this is?

A. This appears to be the press release that I was referring to earlier.

Q. And do you recall while you were at the hotel you succeeded in reaching someone who read to you the contents of this document?

A. Yes.

Q. Would you read the first sentence of this press release into the record for me, sir.

A. "Sunbeam Corporation said today that it's possible that its net sales for the first quarter of 1998 may be lower than the range of Wall Street analysts' estimates of 285 million to 295 million, but net sales are expected to exceed 1997's first quarter net sales of 253.4 million."

Do you want me to keep going?

Q. Well, does this document explain the reason why Sunbeam thought that sales might be lower than Wall Street analysts' estimates of 285 to 295 million for the quarter?

Page 62

A. Yes.

Q. What does it say on that subject?

A. It says, "The shortfall from analysts' estimates, if any, would be due to changes in inventory management and order patterns at certain of the company's major retail customers. The company further stated"-- well, actually that's a different sentence, but that's the sentence they put in there.

Q. It doesn't mention the Early Buy program, does it?

A. No.

Q. And it was the Early Buy program that management's letter to Sunbeam identified as the primary reason for sales shortfall in the first quarter of 1998, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Did Andersen, to your knowledge, sir, have any involvement in the preparation of the Sunbeam March 19 press release?

A. Not that I'm aware of, no.

Q. Did you personally have any involvement?

A. No.

Page 63

Q. Did you advise Sunbeam in any way what the March 19 press release should say?

A. No.

Q. Did you see it before it was issued?

A. No.

Q. Did anyone from Sunbeam or anyone from any other entity read to you or provide you any information concerning the contents of the March 19 press release before it was issued?

A. No.

Q. Mr. Bornstein, is this the kind of press release that you would have expected Sunbeam management to review with Andersen before it was released publicly?

MR. MOSCATO: I object.

MR. CLARE: I join in the objection.

THE WITNESS: In my opinion, yes.

BY MR. MARKOWSKI:

Q. And what is that based on?

A. Just previous, previous experience and kind of joint, joint coordination and understanding of the relationship between the auditor and the client.

Q. On prior occasions had Sunbeam previously shown Andersen drafts of press releases relating to financial information before they were publicly disclosed?

Page 64

A. Yes.

Q. Do you know why that was not done in this case?

A. No, I do not.

Q. Mr. Bornstein, does the press release, the March 19 press release, CPH Exhibit Number 14, set forth the January and February sales results numbers that are contained in management's representation letter to Andersen?

A. No.

Q. Does the press release state that Sunbeam's January and February sales were one half of 1997 sales for the same time period?

A. No.

Q. Does it state in any way that Sunbeam's sales for the first two months of 1998 were below to any extent Sunbeam's sales for the first two months of 1997?

A. No.

Q. Does the press release state that Sunbeam had in fact determined that it could not accomplish Wall Street analysts' estimates of 285 million to 295 million in sales for the quarter?

A. They said it's possible.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 65

Q. They don't say it's not going to happen, do they?
A. No.
Q. Does the press release say anything about not meeting Wall Street's expectations for earnings for the first quarter of 1998?
A. No, it does not.
Q. Does the press release say anything about Sunbeam's earnings for the first two months of 1998 being below earnings for the first two months of 1997?
A. No.
Q. Given what you knew at the time, sir, still focusing on the hotel room, the time you were at the hotel room, what was your reaction to what was read to you concerning the contents of Sunbeam's March 19 press release?
A. Thought it was very poorly written and described and thought that it was still very aggressive.
Q. When you say it was very aggressive, what in particular are you focusing on, sir?
A. Exceeding 1997 first quarter sales of 253.4 million.
Q. When you say you think that's aggressive or at the time you thought that was aggressive, what do you mean?

Page 66

A. Based on, again, the sales where they were for the first two months at 72 million, they needed to sell 100 and whatever it is, 180 million to meet that number.
Q. To meet the minimum $253 million number?
A. Yes.
Q. And by aggressive, you mean that it would be difficult to achieve?
A. Less likely than not. How's that?
Q. You thought it was not probable that Sunbeam could achieve 253 million in sales for the first quarter of 1998?
MR. MOSCATO: Objection.
MR. CLARE: Object to the form.
THE WITNESS: I thought it was aggressive.
BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. Were you skeptical?
A. Yes.
Q. And the reason why you were skeptical was because Sunbeam had so far to go? Is that basically it?
A. That, and based on my review of the facilities and the distribution capabilities of the company.

Page 67

Q. And your knowledge generally of Sunbeam's operations?
A. Yes.
Q. If you were skeptical of Sunbeam's ability to achieve $253 million in sales, Mr. Dunlap -- excuse me, Mr. Bornstein. Let me start over with that again.
A. I wish I had his money.
Q. No offense.
MR. MOSCATO: Not his personality.
BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. No offense intended, sir.
A. No problem.
Q. If you were skeptical, Mr. Bornstein, of Sunbeam's ability to accomplish $253 million in net sales for the first quarter of 1998, what was your view of the company's likelihood of accomplishing 285 to $295 million in net sales for the quarter?
A. Never considered it. It was, I didn't think the 253 was likely, so I never really even, never really went to the higher number, to be honest with you.
Q. Did you think Sunbeam had any chance of achieving 285 to 295 million in sales?
MR. MOSCATO: Now I object. He just answered the question.

Page 68

THE WITNESS: Never gave it any thought.
BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. I assume you thought it was less likely than accomplishing 253, right?
A. Logic would say that.
Q. Even more difficult, even more aggressive?
A. Yes.
Q. After the contents of the press release was read to you, Mr. Bornstein, what happened next?
A. We went to the printer's. Mark Brockelman and I took a taxi to the printer's.
Q. Do you remember what time of the day that was?
A. I believe it was between five and 6:00 p.m.
Q. And the printer is Global Financial Press?
A. Yes.
Q. Who else was there that evening?
A. Myself and Mr. Brockelman, John Tyree from Morgan Stanley, Mr. Lurie from Davis Polk. There were two, I think two attorneys from Scadden Arps.
Q. Do you remember their names?
A. One guy was foreign, I think his name was Adrien Dietz. I don't remember where he was from. Another guy, I think Todd Freed maybe, and I believe Davis Polk had one or two other people there.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016760

Page 69

Q. Do you recall if there was more than one person for Morgan Stanley?
A. No, I don't recall.
Q. The person you recall from Morgan Stanley being there is John Tyree?
A. Yes.
Q. Was anyone there from Sunbeam?
A. No.
Q. What happened when you arrived at the printer?
A. I think we, we met in a conference room. I don't remember specifically the, what first happened. I know we were told about the success of the offering and that they, it was oversubscribed and that they increased the size to -- I think we were informed about that earlier, but that they, even the fact of the warning release, that everything was still a go.
And again, it was oversubscribed and there was no issues.
Q. Do you remember how much the offering was originally expected to raise?
A. I think the net was about 500 million, I think.
Q. And you were told on the 19th when you got to the printer that the marketing activity had been very successful; is that correct?

Page 70

A. Yes.
Q. That's manage Morgan Stanley's effort to market the debentures on behalf of Sunbeam?
A. Yes.
Q. So you were being told that Morgan Stanley has had great success in marketing Sunbeam's debentures to potential investors, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. So successful that the debenture offering is being substantially increased in size, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. I'm sorry, did you say what the increased amount was?
A. I think it was 750 million net.
Q. So people are feeling pretty good about the success of the marketing activity, I take it, correct?
MR. CLARE: Object to the form and foundation.
THE WITNESS: Yeah, they were very excited and pleased with the marketing effort.
BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. That was being expressed to you at the meeting?
A. Yes.

Page 71

Q. Do you recall who was expressing that to you?
A. It was Tyree and Bob Lurie. Bob? Robert? James? Whatever, Mr. Lurie.
Q. Let's call him Mr. Lurie today.
A. I don't remember his first name.
Q. Did the subject at some point of the March 19 press release come up?
A. Yes.
Q. How did that happen?
A. I asked a couple of questions about, you know, the reaction of the press release when marketing the bonds and doing the final allocation and asked about the press release.
And they went into the story of kind of how the press release came to be and what time of the night it was and how difficult it was between Scadden Arps and Morgan Stanley and Sunbeam to actually disclose this information and agree on the wording.
Q. Can you paint the picture for me a little bit about the setting? You're in a conference room?
A. Yeah, it's a very very large, large conference room, probably similar at the time one we're in now at the printer there, multiple locations of different size conference rooms, hallways. There was also rooms for where there is pool and TV and things like that, pool table.

Page 72

So this would be kind of to the side, a side conversation with myself and Mr. Lurie and Mr. Tyree. And then everybody else would be sitting around the conference room table.
Q. When you asked Mr. the March 19 press release, with whom were you speaking?
A. Mr. Tyree and Mr. Lurie.
Q. And Mr. Lurie is Mr. Tyree's, Morgan Stanley's attorney?
A. Yes.
Q. And what were you told?
A. That it was a very difficult night. It lasted to the morning. And that Mr. Dunlap was incensed and irate and crazed, I guess, for lack of better terminology, and made the comment that he was going to lose $100 million because of this, I think was what I recall.
Q. So they told you the background leading up to the issuance of the press release, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you ask any other questions concerning the press release?
A. No.
Q. Was there any discussion about putting the information from the press release in any way into the offering memorandum that you were in the process of finalizing?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 73

A. Yes.
Q. How did that subject come up?
A. I asked the question of what they intended on putting into the document to disclose where the company was with their sales forecast and what their revised estimates were going to be.
Q. So you asked a general question, what the company intended to disclose relating to its performance in the first part of 1998, correct?
A. It wasn't really what the company was going to disclose. I mean I understand -- no one from the company was present, but what the consensus of the group was.
Q. What would be disclosed in the offering memorandum?
A. Yes.
Q. So you asked a general question, what is the offering memorandum going to say about Sunbeam's performance so far in the first quarter of 1998?
A. Yes.
Q. And who did you ask that question of?
A. I think it was a general question to Tyree, to the Scadden Arps folks, because I believe they -- I don't even remember who the hell they were representing. They were representing Sunbeam, right?

Page 74

MR. MOSCATO: Scadden, yes.
THE WITNESS: And Mr. Tyree.
BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. And what was the response?
A. That they were going to put the press release in verbatim into the document.
Q. Who said those words to you?
A. I think it was Mr. Lurie.
Q. Did anyone disagree with that when Mr. Lurie made that statement?
A. I did.
Q. Did anyone else other than you disagree?
A. No, I don't recall.
Q. How far into the evening is this conversation taking place?
A. Early.
Q. What did you say to Mr. Lurie in response to Mr. Lurie's statement to you that the intention was to include the contents of the press release as the disclosure relating to Sunbeam's performance to that point in the first quarter of '98?
A. I didn't think it was -- I told him I didn't think it was appropriate to put in there.

Page 75

Q. Who was present when you made that statement to Mr. Lurie?
A. I made the statement to whoever was in the room at the time.
Q. Was Mr. Tyree there?
A. Yes.
Q. What did you say, do you remember?
A. I said I don't think it's appropriate to put this in the, in the 2 billion-dollar bond offering, that it was an extremely forward-looking statement, it was aggressive, and that I didn't think it was a good idea.
Q. Do you remember anything else you said at that point?
A. That I was going to discuss this with Sunbeam as well as Mr. Harlow.
Q. What was the reaction from the others present, Mr. Tyree, Mr. Lurie, the Scadden lawyers?
A. At that point I don't know. I left the room.
Q. Did anyone say to you at that point that your views didn't change their thinking?
A. No.
Q. Okay. So the next thing that happened is you left the room?

Page 76

A. Yes.
Q. And you left the room for what purpose, sir?
A. To call Mr. Harlow to discuss the issue of what was going to go into the offering memorandum and to get in touch with Sunbeam, Mr. Gluck.
Q. When you said to discuss with him what was going to go into the offering memorandum, were you focusing on what was going to be said in the offering memorandum relating to Sunbeam's first quarter '98 performance?
A. Yes, the sales numbers.
Q. Did you succeed in reaching Mr. Harlow?
A. Yes.
Q. Where was he located, do you know?
A. I believe he was at his house.
Q. In Florida?
A. In Florida.
Q. And what did you tell Mr. Harlow when you got him on the phone?
A. Similarly, that they wanted to put the press release into the document and that I didn't think it was a good idea, given the aggressiveness and the forward-looking statement that was being made.
Q. Do you recall what Mr. Harlow said to you?
A. He agreed with me, and we got Mr. Gluck on the phone.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

29910

Page 77

Q. How did you get Mr. Gluck on the phone?
A. I don't recall. I don't believe I -- I'm not sure if I had the capability or Phil dialed him in, but we had a three-way conversation.
Q. So Mr. Gluck, Mr. Harlow and you are all on the telephone together at that point?
A. Yes.
Q. Was anyone else on the phone?
A. No.
Q. Was anyone else present in the room with you when you had this conversation that you can recall?
A. No. I was in the pool room.
Q. And as far as you can recall now, you were by yourself?
A. Yes.
Q. Tell me what you can recall of the conversation that you had with Mr. Gluck and Mr. Harlow at that point.
A. Just went through the press release, it was aggressive and wasn't clear. And it was a very large forward-looking statement and that it wasn't appropriate in a bond offering.
And the consensus was at the time that we all agreed; however, that because I don't think Mr. Gluck was involved in the press release, he deferred to get in touch with Mr. Fanin, and I think her name was Janet Kelly.

Page 78

Q. So Mr. Gluck -- is it your testimony that Mr. Gluck agreed with you and Mr. Harlow that it would be inappropriate to include the contents of the press release as the statement concerning where Sunbeam was at so far in the first quarter of '98?
A. Yes.
Q. Did Mr. Gluck tell you whether he had been involved in preparing a press release?
A. I recall he said he was not intimately involved. I don't know if he was at all. I think he knew about it, but he wasn't really involved.
Q. Did Mr. Gluck say anything to you about his views of the press release by itself? Taking it out of the context of whether it's going to go into the offering memorandum, did he offer any views concerning the statements made in the press release?
A. Generally I recall that he didn't like the way that it was written. I don't remember specifically on the numbers or anything like that.
Q. You don't have a recollection of what he said, but you remember he didn't like the contents of the press release?

Page 79

A. Yes.
Q. So did that conclude your conversation with Mr. Gluck at that point?
A. Yes. Mr. Gluck and Mr. Harlow continued the conversation. I got off the phone to go back to the room to relay that, that my partner as well as Mr. Gluck agreed with me, and that they were going to continue the conversation and get in touch with Mr. Fanin.
Q. Who did you make that statement to?
A. When I walked back in the room, to the, again, to whoever was in the room.
Q. Do you remember if Mr. Tyree was there?
A. Yes, he was.
Q. What happened at that point that you recall?
A. My colleague, Mr. Brockelman, asked me to leave the room with him. And he informed me that the conversation around the table was, was very derogatory towards me and that a lot of bad language was being used about me, who the fuck do I think I am and why didn't he tell me about this prior? And basically that I was, you know, cocky, and so on and so forth.
Q. You said it was bad language being used about you, derogatory language.
Did Mr. Brockelman tell you what was being said? Did he use any of the words?

Page 80

A. Basically "Who the fuck does this guy think he is," basically is what I recall.
Q. What happened after you had this side conversation with Mr. Brockelman?
A. I remember walking back into the conference room and asking Mr. Lurie and Mr. Tyree to have a side conversation in the conference room but over to the side, and asking Mr. Tyree if he had anything to say to me.
I said, you know, "My colleague says that you have some words to say about me, and if you have something to say, say it to my face."
And he basically asked me, he says, "Are these guys fucking with me," was the exact quote. "Is Sunbeam fucking with us? Is Sunbeam fucking with me? And are these guys, you know, going to make their numbers?"
And, you know, I was obviously very upset and pissed off about the comments and the tone. And, you know, obviously we were in disagreement with the press release.
Q. I'm sorry, whose comments and tone are you referring to?
A. Mr. Tyree specifically.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 81

And I basically said to Mr. Tyree that, you know, "I'm a conservative accountant, that, you know, I can't specifically answer if they're fucking with you. I haven't seen any of the sales projections that you've seen or whatever it is that they have given you, that I've done basic math, that they have done a million dollars in sales a day for the first 72 days and now they have to do" -- whatever it was, 12 to $15 million in sales for the next-- it was, I don't remember the date, but it was, you know, let's say 17 days, whatever the numbers were, and that I was very skeptical, that I remember saying to him that I don't think this company's turned around.

No one has ever seen an Al Dunlap company ever turned around, and if it is turned around and he has the numbers, he's going to make the numbers. And I'm going to make sure that they make the numbers and I'm going to send people to every shipping dock in the country in the world that I have to, if I have to, to make sure that they do make the numbers.

I said to him, "You better hope to God that they do, because if not, you're all going to get sued."

And I left the room.

Q. Did anyone before you left the room say anything in response to your comments to you?

Page 82

A. No, not that I recall.

Q. Were your comments well received by Mr. Tyree, as far as you could tell?

A. I left the room. He was, for lack of a better word, stunned.

Q. Mr. Bornstein, did you tell Mr. Tyree that night that you intended to have Andersen personnel monitor Sunbeam's shipping docks at the end of the first quarter of 1998?

A. Yes, I did.

Q. Did you explain to him why you intended to do that?

A. To make sure that they had borders and the product was built and shipped.

Q. Did anyone that night, Mr. Bornstein, provide you with any documents concerning Sunbeam's sales plan for the rest of the first quarter?

A. Yeah, I believe after that conversation, I went back and made another phone call. And I believe, as a result of Mr. Fanin, them calling Mr. Fanin and discussing it, that a document or one-page spreadsheet was provided to myself, Phil. I'm not sure who else got it. I know that the folks from Morgan Stanley had it.

And I believe I was faxed -- I don't recall specifically if I was faxed or handed this by the folks from Morgan Stanley after our conversation that I just discussed with you.

Page 83

Q. Let me show you what's previously been marked as CPH Exhibit Number 16, sir. It's a one-page document, bears Bates number Morgan Stanley confidential 28858.

Is that the document that was handed to you that night?

MR. MOSCATO: Well, can I just clarify one thing? Are you asking the basic form of the document? Does your question include all of the writing on the document?

MR. MARKOWSKI: For now I'm including everything right now.

MR. MOSCATO: So the question is do you recall whether this document containing all the writing on the document was handed to you?

THE WITNESS: The handwriting, I'm not sure. I mean I've seen several renditions of the same document with different handwriting on it.

What I've seen, what I recall is the actual typed numbers and words as well as the writing on the bottom.

MR. MARKOWSKI: Let me show you what we're going to mark for identification as CPH Exhibit Number 121. It also is a one-page document, bears Bates number LAB43.

Page 84

MR. MOSCATO: There is no question pending.

MR. MARKOWSKI: We're going to change the videotape right now.

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are now going off video record on tape number one. We'll be back on tape number two. The time on the monitor is 11:15 a.m.

(Discussion held off the record.)

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are now back on video record. It is tape number two. The time on the monitor, 11:15 a.m.

(CPH Exhibit No. 121 was marked for identification.)

BY MR. MARKOWSKI:

Q. Mr. Bornstein, I've handed you CPH Exhibit Number 121.

Have you seen this document before?

A. 121, I don't specifically remember. Again, I've seen the general, this general -- this is what I got. I believe the actual copy I got, I attached to a memorandum that I drafted sometime after the night at the printer's.

Q. The typed portion of this, does this appear to be the information that was provided to you at the printer --

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 85

A. Yes.
Q. -- on the night of March 19th?
A. Yes.
Q. When you saw this, did it give you comfort with respect to Sunbeam's ability to accomplish Wall Street's expectations for first quarter sales?
A. No, it did not.
Q. What conclusions did you reach after reviewing this document that night?
A. That the numbers were even more aggressive than I thought.
Q. And they were more aggressive than you had thought for what reason, sir?
A. Because they had close to $100 million of sales that haven't been ordered yet.
Q. Built into their sales plan for the balance of the quarter?
A. Yes.
Q. So Sunbeam was counting in its plan to get to at least $253 million, by your count, approximately $100 million in product sales that hadn't even been ordered yet at that point, correct?
MR. MOSCATO: Well, you know, I object to the rounding, but you can answer.

Page 86

THE WITNESS: I'm okay with the rounding, sorry. 86 rounds up to 100 million to me.
Yeah, it was just numbers on the page to me.
BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. So this document didn't cause you looking at it to conclude that Sunbeam's statements in the press release about its expectations for the first quarter were reasonable, correct?
A. No.
Q. What was your reaction, sir, to the manner in which Mr. Tyree had treated you that night?
A. Can you repeat the question?
Q. What was your reaction, sir, to the manner in which Mr. Tyree had treated you on the night of March 19th when these issues came up?
A. I was, felt like I was being treated disrespectfully, not being listened to.
Q. Did you think that Mr. Tyree was trying to steamroll you in any way?
MR. CLARE: Object to the form and object to foundation, calls for speculation, what Mr. Tyree was trying to do.
BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. By that I mean, sir, do you think he was trying to get you to back off of the statements that you had made?

Page 87

MR. CLARE: Same objection.
THE WITNESS: I believe he was, yes.
BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. Did you?
A. No, I did not.
Q. What was the final decision that night, sir, concerning what would be put in the offering memorandum relating to Sunbeam's performance to that point in the first quarter of 1998?
MR. MOSCATO: Number one, I object. I would like some clarification when you answer as to whose decision it was, who made the decision.
BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. Let me ask a little different, maybe more pointed question, sir.
What was ultimately put in the offering memorandum concerning Sunbeam's performance to that date for the first quarter of 1998?
A. I believe it was the press release, the wording from the press release, but I'd have to look at the document.
Q. I'm going to show you, Mr. Bornstein, what previously has been marked as CPH Exhibit Number 10.

Page 88

It's a document entitled Offering Memorandum, 214 billion-dollar Sunbeam zero coupon convertible senior subordinated debentures, due 2018, dated March 19, 1998, bears Bates number CP33169 through 33240.
A. I just want to check the press release.
I believe the first paragraph of the press release was put in verbatim into the document.
Q. And where do you see that, sir?
A. On Recent Announcements, page eight of the offering memorandum, Exhibit CPH 10.
Q. So the contents of the press release ultimately were placed into the offering memorandum, correct?
A. Right. And I recall that the last paragraph on page eight was something that I insisted on being put in there.
Q. The last paragraph refers to what, sir?
A. It's a reference to the forward-looking statement and risk factor sections, which basically it reads, "Actual results could differ materially from the statements in the press release due to various factors, including those set forth in risk factors, management discussion analysis and financial condition end results of operation and business. See forward-looking information."

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

CP 16765

Page 89

Q. Was it your decision, sir, to repeat the contents of the March 19 press release in the offering memorandum as in the manner we see here on page eight?
A. No, it was Sunbeam, the company's decision to do that.
Q. Did you recommend, by the end of the evening had you changed your mind with respect to that being appropriate?
A. No.
Q. Did at any point in the evening to your knowledge Arthur Andersen advise the company that that was the appropriate form of disclosure concerning Sunbeam's first quarter results?
A. Not that I recall.
Q. Do you know, how was that decision communicated to you, the decision to put the contents of the press release in the offering memorandum over the objections that you had raised?
A. I don't remember specifically. I think I got a phone call late in the evening, two, three o'clock in the morning from, either directly from Janet Kelly or from Phil Harlow saying that it was the company's decision to put the same wording in.
Q. Were you personally at the end of the evening satisfied with that conclusion?

Page 90

A. No, I was not; however, I have the caveat that again, I went along, I went along with the decision by the company. It was the company's decision, the company's document, and that I would strongly advise not putting it in, and also putting the, if it was going to be put in, that it would be cross referenced to the risk factors and have a statement that, you know, that the actual results could differ materially from the wording here.
Q. So at the beginning of the evening on March 19 it was your personal view that it was a bad idea to repeat the contents of the press release in the offering memorandum, and it remained your view that that was a bad idea right through the finalization of the document; is that right?
MR. CLARE: Object to the form.
THE WITNESS: Yes.
BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. Do you know did if Mr. Harlow's views changed on that subject?
MR. CLARE: Objection, calls for speculation.
MR. MOSCATO: Don't speculate. Just answer the question if you can based on conversations you had with Mr. Harlow that evening. If you can't answer the question based on those conversations, don't attempt to read his mind.

Page 91

THE WITNESS: Again, I alluded to a memorandum that I wrote about the night, and I believe that would refresh my memory, but I do believe Mr. Harlow was in agreement with myself.
BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. Mr. Bornstein, I'm not going to ask you to read the entire offering memorandum while we sit here. It will speak for itself on this issue, but do you know from your recollection of having worked on it whether that document contains the specific information that's set forth in the management March 16 representation letter to Arthur Andersen and Andersen's March 19 comfort letter relating to Sunbeam's actual sales results for the first two months of 1998?
MR. CLARE: Object to the form.
THE WITNESS: I don't believe that it does, no.
BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. Do you know if it contains a statement that Sunbeam's sales for the first two months of 1998 are below Sunbeam's sales for the first two months of 1997?
A. I don't believe that it does, no.
Q. Do you know if it states that the reason why

Page 92

Sunbeam's sales for the first quarter of 1998 may be lower than Sunbeam's sales for the first quarter of 1997 at the end of that quarter, that the primary reason for that was Sunbeam's acceleration of grill sales into the fourth quarter of 1997?
A. Specifically, no, but someone who actually reads the statement might come to that conclusion.
Q. But that statement is not made; is that correct, sir?
A. This statement is about the Early Buy program, but one would have to make a thesis that that could in fact be the reason.
Q. But the specific statement in the management representation letter that that is the primary reason for the shortfall is not made, correct?
A. I don't believe so, no.
Q. Let me show you what's been marked as CPH Exhibit Number 122 sir, a two-page document, bears Bates AA105868 -- excuse me.
Let me show you a document that we've put together. It's got two different Bates numbers that aren't consecutive, but I believe the document is, was originally part of a single two-page memo. It bears Bates number AA105868 and AA105248, and ask you if you've seen this document before, sir.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

(CPH Exhibit No. 122 was marked for identification.)

THE WITNESS: No, I don't recall ever seeing this document.

BY MR. MARKOWSKI:

Q. I take it you don't recognize the handwriting?

A. No.

Q. It's not yours?

A. No, it's not.

Q. Mr. Bornstein, let me show you what we previously marked as CPH Exhibit Number 114.

A. I'm sorry, I just want to -- just figuring out what this is, but that's okay.

Q. There is nothing you want to add to your prior answer?

A. No, it appears this was probably something that was used to draft the paragraph that went into this document.

Q. That's why I asked you about it, if you remembered seeing it before.

A. I don't remember seeing itself, no.

Q. Let me show you what we previously marked as CPH Exhibit Number 114, sir. It's a two-page document, the first page of which, the Bates numbers on the document are AAR10538 through AAR15040.

A. Okay.

Q. The first page of the document is, bears Arthur Andersen letterhead and is dated March 31, 1998, and a memorandum from Lawrence A. Bornstein to the files, West Palm Beach.

I ask you to look at this document, sir, and tell me whether you can identify it for me.

Can you identify it for me, sir?

A. It's a memorandum that I drafted, looks like several days after the March 19th night at the printer to document, document the discussions that we've been speaking about.

Q. Did you personally draft this document, sir?

A. Yes, I did.

Q. And in drafting it, did you attempt to be accurate at the time?

A. Yes.

Q. The third page of the document, sir, can you tell me what that is?

A. That is the fax that I received from Sunbeam that we were talking about before that showed the estimate of sales, the date and the potential orders to meet the $253 million expectation that they put in the press release.

Q. Can I refer you back, sir, to Exhibit 121?

A. Yes.

Q. The two documents are the same, are they not, sir?

A. Yeah, one is a better copy than the other.

Q. All right.

MR. MOSCATO: Counsel, do you have a copy of this that you could actually read all of the handwritten notes?

MR. MARKOWSKI: I think that's the best we've been able to do.

BY MR. MARKOWSKI:

Q. For what purpose did you prepare your March 31 memorandum, Mr. Bornstein?

A. To document the material events that occurred the night at the printer.

Q. Did you want to have a record of what you had said to Mr. Tyree?

A. Yes, I did.

Q. And why was that?

A. I thought it was a prudent thing to do, given the differences of opinion that transpired the night at the printer.

Q. Mr. Bornstein, I want to move on to something different for a moment.

A. Okay.

Q. Do you recall being involved in a conference call earlier in 1998 with Morgan Stanley personnel relating to Sunbeam's accounting practices?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you recall that call happening on or about March 12?

A. I don't remember specifically when it was, but it's possible that was the time frame.

Q. Was it approximately a week before the events at the printer?

A. It was probably before the original, the original 144 memorandum was released, before they went out to, on the road show or priced the bonds.

MR. MOSCATO: Larry, what do you mean by the original 144 memorandum?

THE WITNESS: There was a, I think there was one that -- there is a different one than that one that I think talks about the $500 million offering size.

Typically you have an original document that's kind of based on the best estimate at the time, and they use that to market the bonds.

Then they go out and do the road show and market the bonds, and then they price and they update the document. So I believe the due diligence call that you're talking about was done prior to the first document.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016767

Page 97

BY MR. MARKOWSKI:

Q. Before the road show started?

A. Yes.

MR. MOSCATO: Sorry, counsel. I just wanted to --

MR. MARKOWSKI: That's fine, appreciate it.

BY MR. MARKOWSKI:

Q. Let me show you what we previously marked, sir, as CPH Exhibit 31. It's a one-page memorandum on Morgan Stanley letterhead from John Tyree to Sunbeam Financing Team; subject, accounting due diligence call, dated March 7, 1998. Bears Bates number SASMF10709.

Have you seen this document before, sir?

A. I don't remember specifically, no.

Q. Does it appear to relate to the accounting due diligence call you participated in?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you see that there is an entry -- there is a schedule on this document, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And there is an entry for a time for a conference call with Arthur Andersen, correct?

Page 98

A. Correct.

Q. And that time is 12:00 p.m. on March 12?

A. Yes.

Q. And the name identified there is yours, correct?

A. Correct.

Q. Do you recall, do you see that the time for the next call with KPMG is scheduled for 12:30?

A. Yes.

Q. Do you recall there was approximately 30 minutes allotted to this accounting due diligence call with Morgan Stanley?

A. Yes.

Q. Were you in fact the spokesperson for Arthur Andersen during that telephone call?

A. No, I was not.

Q. Who was?

A. Phil Harlow.

Q. What -- did you do anything, sir -- were you involved in the call? Did you personally participate?

A. Yes, I was.

Q. What did you do to prepare for the call, if anything?

A. I believe we were provided a list of questions that were going to be asked, and that

Page 99

Mr. Harlow and myself went through the list and made notations or discussed what was going to be said on the call.

Q. And then Mr. Harlow ultimately was the spokesperson when the call took place?

A. Yeah, he did 98 percent of the speaking, and I filled in when necessary.

Q. Were you two together when the call took place?

A. No.

Q. Where was Mr. Harlow?

A. He was in Florida in his office.

Q. And where were you?

A. I was at Global Financial Press working on the document.

Q. Just an earlier occasion when you were at the printer working on the offering memorandum?

A. Yeah, there was probably several days that we were working at the printer, that being one of them.

MR. MARKOWSKI: Let me show you, Mr. Bornstein, what we'll mark as CPH Exhibit Number 123. It's a four-page document, bears Bates number AA55761 through 55764, first page of which is on Arthur Andersen letterhead and is a memorandum from Lawrence A. Bornstein, West Palm Beach, to the files; subject, due diligence call with Morgan Stanley.

Page 100

(CPH Exhibit No. 123 was marked for identification.)

BY MR. MARKOWSKI:

Q. Can you identify this document for me, sir?

A. Yeah, let me take a minute to read it.

Q. Sure.

A. Okay.

Q. Can you identify it for me, sir.

A. It was a memorandum that I put together to document the due diligence call from, I guess it's March 12th. Looks like -- I have noted here the request is March 7th, so these dates coincide with the previous exhibit.

Q. Right. The March 7th -- your memorandum indicates, CPH Exhibit Number 123 indicates that Andersen was requested on March 7 to participate in a due diligence call with Morgan Stanley, correct?

A. Right.

Q. And we were just looking at CPH Exhibit Number 31 that set up a date for that call to occur on March 12, correct?

A. Correct.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 101

Q. And the date of that memo is March 7?
A. Yes. And then in addition is the list of questions that I mentioned earlier that we were provided with my notations of what was going to be said on the call.
You can see a number of the items are crossed out, which means that they were discussed.
Q. So the document has two, there is two pieces to the document, sir?
A. Yes.
Q. First two pages are a memo that you prepared in July of '98?
A. Yes.
Q. And the second two pages are the list of questions that Morgan Stanley provided to Andersen in advance of the call?
A. Yes.
Q. And the notations there relating to what would be said?
A. Yeah, and again, I believe that everything on here was, was discussed.
Q. And you and Mr. Harlow had agreed that in response to these questions, this is the information that Morgan Stanley would be provided, correct?
A. For the most part, yes.

Page 102

Q. Now there is a gap between the time this call took place, sir, on March 12 and your preparation of this memo on July 2. Correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Can you explain that?
A. I believe it was just going back and making sure that all the documentation was in the file, and at the time I thought it was a good idea to note, to memorialize what happened at the meeting.
Q. And you had had your notes from back at that time, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And you prepared the memo later, but you dated it later, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And July 2 is the date on which this memorandum was in fact prepared?
A. Yes.
Q. Now the participants in the call, sir, in your memo are identified as whom?
A. Mr. Harlow and myself, Bob Gluck from Sunbeam, John Tyree from Morgan Stanley, Bob Lurie from Davis Polk, Andy Savart from Morgan Stanley, George Scott, First Union, and then I have a name, I don't know the name, representative from Bank of America.

Page 103

Q. Someone from Bank of America was on the call, but you don't have that name, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. That's the same John Tyree that you had, you met with and spoke with on March 19 at Global Financial, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Did anyone, sir, from Morgan Stanley suggest to you either during this call or at some other point that it would be inappropriate for Mr. Gluck, as a representative of Sunbeam management, to listen in on Morgan Stanley's due diligence call with Sunbeam's outside auditors?
MR. CLARE: Object to the form.
THE WITNESS: No, I don't recall that.
BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. That issue wasn't raised that you can recall?
A. No. I believe we were required to have someone from the company present.
Q. Morgan Stanley didn't object, to your knowledge?
A. Not that I recall.
Q. Do you recall, sir, that Mr. Harlow was asked, among other things, to comment on how aggressive Sunbeam was in its accounting policies?

Page 104

A. Yes.
Q. You say that's item eight on the checklist, agenda?
A. Yes.
Q. So you and Mr. Harlow knew that question would be asked in advance of the telephone call, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you recall what Mr. Harlow said in response to that question during the conference call itself?
A. I believe he said that the accounting, some of the accounting policies were aggressive.
Q. Do you recall that he identified any particular examples of that?
A. Bill and hold was one. And I have a note here of Encore, and I have 100 percent right of return, which I believe was one of the issues from the audit. There was an adjustment recorded, but I'm not 100 percent certain.
Then it keeps going on, a couple of other ones. EPI was another one where we had an adjustment. It was a transaction that occurred at the end of the year and was aggressive.
Q. The end of 1997?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0167169

Page 105

A. '97.
Q. Can you read the fourth item on that, on your handwritten note, sir?
A. Yeah, I think it's -- no, I would be speculating. The first three I can read. It says aggressive/bill and hold, Encore 100 percent right of return, EPI printer's.
The fourth one I can't -- it's my handwriting. If you want to give me a few minutes, I can probably figure it out.
Q. I'll come back. Let me focus on the first three for a moment.
A. Right.
Q. The first three entries, aggressive/bill and hold, Encore 100 percent right of return, and EPI printers were all things said by Mr. Harlow to Morgan Stanley during this March 12 conference call as examples of Andersen's view that Sunbeam at least on occasion was aggressive in its accounting positions?
MR. CLARE: Object to the form.
THE WITNESS: Yes, I believe so.
BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. All of those items related to events that occurred in 1997; is that correct?
A. Yes.

Page 106

Q. All of them relate to revenue recognition; is that correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you recall that on Encore and EPI -- well, let me pause for a moment on bill and hold.
Do you recall that Andersen had raised its reservations with Sunbeam relating to Sunbeam's extensive use of bill and hold accounting for sales in 1997?
MR. CLARE: Object to the form.
MR. MOSCATO: I object to that.
THE WITNESS: Can you repeat the question?
BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. Do you recall that Andersen had raised with Sunbeam its reservations about Sunbeam's business practice of using extensively bill and hold accounting and sales transactions for 1997 sales?
MR. MOSCATO: I object.
Larry, you don't have to adopt his language in answering the question. Answer it in your own words.
THE WITNESS: I don't consider it reservation, but understanding of the accounting policy in making sure that it met the rules and that the appropriate testing was done.

Page 107

BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. I'm putting aside the accounting.
Do you recall that Mr. Harlow or yourself told Sunbeam that it was a poor business practice to engage extensively in bill and hold sales?
MR. MOSCATO: I object again.
You can answer in your own words.
MR. CLARE: I object to the form.
THE WITNESS: I believe at one point that it was said, but probably later than this.
BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. Okay. Do you recall -- with respect to Encore and EPI, do you recall that Andersen took the position that Sunbeam should reverse the accounting treatment on these two transactions and not recognize the sales revenue and profits in 1997?
A. I believe that was the case, yes.
Q. And do you recall that Sunbeam refused to do that?
A. Yes.
Q. In connection with finalizing the 1997 audit?
A. Yes.
Q. And you advised or Mr. Harlow advised Morgan Stanley of those three situations during the March 12 conference call, correct?

Page 108

MR. CLARE: I object to the form.
THE WITNESS: Yes.
BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. Let me go to the fourth note that you've got there that you're having some trouble deciphering.
A. Yes.
Q. You said you could speculate, and I guess I invite that at this point, because maybe that will help us figure out what that might be a reference to.
Do you have some thought with respect to what this entry is either from your recollection or what you can read here?
A. Looks like something, discount accurate, either accuracy or accounting reports. I'm not -- I don't know.
Q. Okay.
A. Sorry.
Q. During the March 12 conference call, sir, did Morgan Stanley request an opportunity to review Andersen's 1997 audit work papers?
A. I don't remember that specifically, no.
Q. Do you remember at any point Morgan Stanley requesting an opportunity to review Andersen's 1997 audit work papers?
A. No.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016770

Page 109

Q. Do you remember at any point Andersen asking to review -- excuse me, do you remember at any point Morgan Stanley asking to review Andersen's list of proposed audit adjustments relating to the 1997 financial statements of Sunbeam?
A. No.
Q. Is it your recollection that Morgan Stanley in fact did not request an opportunity to review your work papers?
MR. CLARE: Object to the form.
THE WITNESS: I don't believe so.
BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. When you say you don't believe so, you don't believe that request was ever made?
A. No, I don't believe it was ever made.
MR. MOSCATO: Counsel, when you come to a logical breaking point, can we take a two- or three-minute break?
MR. MARKOWSKI: I can be finishing up I think in the next ten minutes or so.
MR. MOSCATO: That's fine.
MR. MARKOWSKI: If you'd like to break sooner, we can do that and finish up.
MR. MOSCATO: I'm indifferent.

Page 110

BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. Mr. Bornstein, do you recall that Arthur Andersen provided a second comfort letter to Morgan Stanley in connection with the debenture offering?
A. No. Could be a bring-down letter, but I'm not sure. Have to look at it.
MR. MARKOWSKI: Let me show you, sir, what we'll mark as CPH Exhibit Number 124. It's a three-page document bearing Bates number AA30995 through 997. And it's a letter on Sunbeam stationery dated March 23, 1998, to Arthur Andersen.
(CPH Exhibit No. 124 was marked for identification.)
BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. Can you identify this document for me, sir?
A. This appears to be an updated representation letter from Sunbeam to Arthur Andersen in connection with the comfort letter.
Q. And this letter is signed by Mr. Dunlap, Mr. Kersh, Mr. Fanin and Mr. Gluck; is that correct?
A. Yes.
Q. The same four people that signed the March 16 representation letter, correct?
A. Yes.

Page 111

Q. This letter contains the same information relating to Sunbeam sales for the first two months of 1998, correct? Net sales figures? If you look at paragraph eight.
A. Yes. This is updated through, has the same sales number, but it actually has net income or loss through March 1st.
Q. Right. In addition, it also provides the net income for Sunbeam's performance in January and February 1998, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. The March 16 letter only had net income information for January; is that right?
A. Yes.
MR. MOSCATO: March 19 letter.
MR. MARKOWSKI: March 19 letter, I'm sorry.
MR. MOSCATO: I'm sorry, it was the March --
BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. The March 16 representation letter and the March 19 comfort letter both only had net income information through January, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And this letter provides net income information for both January and February of 1998, correct?

Page 112

A. Yes.
Q. And it compares Sunbeam's net income for January and February of 1998 to Sunbeam's net income for the first two months of 1997, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And it does that in paragraph eight?
A. Yes.
Q. And what does that comparison show us?
A. Net income for the two months ended March 2nd, 1997, of 9,765,000 and net loss of 41,190,000 for the two months ended in March of '98.
Q. So in the first two months of 1997 --
A. I mean ended February, excuse me, first two months of '98.
Q. So for the first two months of 1997, Sunbeam, according to this document, had a profit of $9,765,000, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. And in the first two months of 1998, this document shows that Sunbeam had a net loss of $41,190,000, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Swaying of more than $50 million; is that correct?
A. Yes.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 113

Q. In a negative direction, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Mr. Bornstein, I'm going to show you what was -- I'm sorry, it was already marked.
Mr. Bornstein, let me show you what has been previously marked as CPH Exhibit Number 112. It's a four-page document bearing Bates number CPH 129613 through CPH 129616.
A. Okay.
Q. We'll mark this and I'll ask you if you can identify it for me.
MR. CLARE: I thought this was previously marked.
MR. MARKOWSKI: I'm sorry, I got myself confused again.
BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. Sir, let me show you what we previously marked as Exhibit Number 112. It bears Bates number 129613 through 129616, and ask you if you can identify that document for me.
A. This appears to be the bring-down letter to Morgan Stanley related to the bond offering.
Q. And this letter is dated March 25, 1998; is that correct?
A. Yes.

Page 114

Q. And in paragraph E of the letter --
A. Yes.
Q. -- at the top of the second page of the letter itself?
A. Yes.
Q. The net sales information and net income information for the first two months of 1998 is provided, correct?
A. Correct.
Q. And that's the same information that Sunbeam provided to Morgan Stanley that we just reviewed in the March 23 representation letter, correct?
MR. CLARE: Object to the form. I think you misspoke, Bob.
THE WITNESS: Yeah, you provided to Arthur Andersen, not Morgan Stanley.
BY MR. MARKOWSKI:
Q. I'm sorry. Let me ask a new question.
The net income and net sales information in paragraph E of Exhibit CPH Exhibit 112 for the first two months of 1998 is the same as the net sales and net income information contained in the Sunbeam representation letter to Arthur Andersen dated March 23, 1998, correct?
A. Correct.

Page 115

Q. And it shows a $50 million decline in profits for that time period from the first two months of 1997, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And it shows the net sales for the first two months of 1998 are about 50 percent of Sunbeam's net sales for the first two months of 1997, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you know who signed this letter on behalf of Arthur Andersen?
A. Doesn't look like my handwriting. It might have been Phil Harlow's.
Q. Do you know what the purpose of this letter dated March 25 is, Mr. Bornstein?
A. I don't specifically know, to be honest with you. It's typical that you issue a bring-down letter. I don't recall specifically if this is when the money is released to Sunbeam or not.
Q. Do you recall that the debenture offering closed on March 25, 1998?
A. It might have. I don't recall.
Q. Do you recall that Sunbeam requested that Arthur Andersen give Morgan Stanley a bring-down due diligence letter prior to the actual closing of the bond offering?

Page 116

A. I don't recall who requested it, if it was Sunbeam or Morgan Stanley.
Q. But you do recall that a request was made either by Morgan Stanley or by Sunbeam that Morgan Stanley provide an updated comfort letter at the time of the closing of the bond offering?
A. I believe that's the case, yes.
Q. Do you know whether this letter was delivered to Morgan Stanley prior to the close of the bond offering?
A. No.
Q. Do you know who would have been responsible for delivering this letter to Morgan Stanley?
A. It could have been myself or Dennis Pastrana.
Q. And as you sit here, you can't recall precisely when this letter was delivered to Morgan Stanley?
A. No.
Q. Do you know that it was?
A. Specifically, no.
Q. Would it have been signed by Arthur Andersen if it wasn't finalized for delivery to Morgan Stanley?
MR. CLARE: Objection to the form, calls for speculation.
THE WITNESS: I don't know.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016772

Page 117

MR. MARKOWSKI: Why don't we take our break right now and I'll see if I'm finished.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are now going off video record. The time on the monitor is 12:03 p.m.
(Thereupon, a recess was taken.)
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are now back on video record. The time on the monitor, 12:18 p.m.
MR. MARKOWSKI: Mr. Bornstein, that concludes my examination for this morning.
THE WITNESS: Okay, thank you.
CROSS (LAWRENCE A. BORNSTEIN)
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Good afternoon, Mr. Bornstein. Again, my name is Tom Clare. I'm with the law firm of Kirkland & Ellis in Washington, D.C., and I represent Morgan Stanley in this matter, and I'm going to ask you some questions this afternoon.
If you don't understand any of my questions or want me to rephrase them, I'll be happen to do it. I know you've been deposed numerous times before and know the rules.
A. Okay.
Q. But make sure that you understand my question before you answer it and I'll be happy to try to rephrase and make things more clear.

Page 118

Mr. Bornstein, were you contacted earlier this year by attorneys representing Coleman (Parent) Holdings about this lawsuit?
A. Yes.
Q. And can you place in time for me when you were contacted?
A. It was probably two or three months ago.
Q. And do you remember the name of the person that called you?
A. Not specifically, no.
Q. Was it somebody from Mr. Markowski's firm, Jenner & Block?
A. Yes.
Q. And you said you think this was a few months ago?
A. Yes.
Q. Are you aware that Andersen had entered into a settlement agreement with Coleman (Parent) Holdings relating to these transactions?
Were you aware of that fact?
A. No, I was not.
Q. So you don't have an understanding one way or the other of the timing of when that settlement agreement would have taken place?
A. No.

Page 119

Q. Was this a telephone conversation or an in-person meeting?
A. Telephone.
Q. Was it a single telephone conversation or multiple?
A. I believe it was two phone conversations.
Q. Same person on both calls?
A. I believe so.
Q. And you don't recall the name of the person on either call?
A. No.
Q. During these telephone conversations, both conversations were with lawyers from Mr. Markowski's firm, Jenner & Block?
A. Yes.
Q. Were there more than one lawyer on the phone?
A. I believe there were.
Q. And tell me what you remember about those telephone calls, what was said, what they said to you and what you said back.
A. The first one was that they were going to be sending me some documentation and wanted me to take a look at it if I didn't mind, and then give them a call back once I had a chance to look at it, because they wanted to ask me a few questions.

Page 120

They asked me if I was represented by counsel at the time. At the time I told them no, I was not, and that I would be willing to give them some time.
Q. Did they tell you that Coleman(Parent) Holdings had filed a lawsuit against Morgan Stanley?
A. I believe they did, yes.
Q. And did they ask whether you would be willing to be a witness against Morgan Stanley in that lawsuit?
A. No.
Q. So just to make sure I understand correctly, the first telephone call was fairly short, they asked you if you would be willing to spend some time looking at some documents?
A. Yes. I believe they were going to tell me they -- they were going it send me the, I think there were two lawsuits, one I think Coleman suing Morgan Stanley, and another one where I think it was Morgan Stanley suing Coleman maybe.
I'm not sure. It was two separate lawsuits.
Q. Was there anything else discussed on that first telephone call?
A. No.
Q. And did they in fact send you some documents to look at?
A. Yes.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016773

Page 121

Q. Do you recall what the documents were?
A. I believe it was the two lawsuits that we, I mentioned earlier.
Q. So the complaint that was filed by Coleman against Morgan Stanley was one of the documents?
A. Yes.
Q. And then a complaint that was filed by Morgan Stanley against Coleman?
A. I believe so.
Q. Were those the only two documents that you were sent?
A. I believe so.
Q. Did you receive any of the documents that you were questioned about this morning that were sent to you?
A. No.
Q. During the second telephone call, did they ask you questions about the lawsuit or the documents that they had sent you?
A. No, not specifically.
Q. Tell me what you remember about the second telephone call.
A. They asked me some general questions on the timing of the comfort letters, when those were released and delivered to Morgan Stanley.

Page 122

And then asked me some questions about my conversation with Mr. Tyree.
Q. Is that all you remember?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you read the documents that they sent you?
A. I believe I did, yes.
Q. Did you notice that your name was included in the complaint that Coleman had filed against Morgan Stanley?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you have any discussion with the lawyers about that, the fact that your name had been included?
A. No, not specifically, no.
Q. Did anybody from Coleman, and I'm specifically referring to their lawyers, ask you if you would mind if your name and a description of your testimony was included in the complaint that they were going to file against Morgan Stanley before it was filed?
A. No.
MR. MARKOWSKI: Object to the form of the question.
THE WITNESS: No, it wasn't.

Page 123

BY MR. CLARE:
Q. So your name was put in the complaint without your permission, without your knowledge?
A. Yes.
Q. Did, during either of these telephone calls, did anyone representing Coleman ask whether you agreed with the statements that were made in the complaint that was filed against Morgan Stanley?
A. No.
Q. Did they ask whether you had a belief that Morgan Stanley had conspired with Sunbeam to commit fraud?
A. No.
Q. Do you believe that Morgan Stanley conspired with Sunbeam to commit fraud as you sit here today?
A. I have no knowledge of that, no.
Q. So the answer is no, you don't believe that Morgan Stanley conspired with Sunbeam to commit fraud?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Object to the form of the question, misstates his testimony.
THE WITNESS: You're asking me if I have an opinion today in hindsight?
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. I'm asking based on everything that you know about the interactions that you had with Morgan Stanley and the interactions that you had with Sunbeam, whether you think that Morgan Stanley conspired with Sunbeam to commit fraud.

Page 124

A. I have no idea. I have my opinions of the work that Morgan Stanley did, but I have no idea if they conspired to commit fraud.
MR. MOSCATO: Just answer the specific question.
THE WITNESS: No, I do not.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. And no, you don't have an opinion, or no, you do not believe that Morgan Stanley conspired with Sunbeam to commit fraud?
MR. MOSCATO: I think he said he didn't have an opinion.
THE WITNESS: I don't have an opinion.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Okay. Do you have any evidence or information in your mind that Morgan Stanley conspired with Sunbeam to commit fraud?
MR. MOSCATO: I'm sorry.
MR. MARKOWSKI: Objection to the form of the question.
MR. MOSCATO: I don't understand.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016714

Page 125

BY MR. CLARE:
Q. I asked if you had a belief or an opinion, and you stated that you did not have an opinion or belief.
MR. MOSCATO: And you're not happy with that answer?
MR. CLARE: No, I'm fine with that answer, but regardless of whether or not you have an opinion or a belief, is there any information in your mind, is there any evidence in your mind that there was such a conspiracy between Morgan Stanley and Sunbeam, or similarly, do you have no view on that?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Object to the form of the question. Are you asking him whether any of the facts he knows are consistent with that? Is that what you're trying to ask?
MR. CLARE: No, I'm asking -- he says he has no opinion one way on the other on that.
THE WITNESS: I have no idea if they committed fraud. I believe that they were reckless and --
MR. MOSCATO: Larry, answer the question, please.
THE WITNESS: I have no idea if they committed fraud or not. I can't answer that.

Page 126

MR. MARKOWSKI: That's for the jury to decide. I don't know why we're asking Mr. Bornstein to rule on that.
MR. MOSCATO: Larry, you have to be very disciplined on that. It's getting late in the morning, but answer the specific question that you're being asked, please, all right? Thank you.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Putting aside the question of fraud, let me ask a more simple question.
Do you have any evidence that Morgan Stanley was, intended to deceive Coleman?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Object to the form of the question. He's testified about the evidence that he has, and someone else will make a judgment about its legal significance.
MR. CLARE: That's fine.
THE WITNESS: Will you repeat the question?
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Do you have any evidence that Morgan Stanley conspired with Sunbeam to deceive anybody?
A. No.
Q. Did the lawyers representing Coleman ask if you'd be willing to sign any documents, declaration or an affidavit of any kind?

Page 127

A. No.
Q. Is there anything else about those telephone calls that you remember?
A. I believe I made a comment about the lawsuit that was being filed by Morgan Stanley against Coleman with respect to representations about synergies. I think I made a comment about that.
Q. What was your comment about that?
A. That I thought it was a silly thing to make an accusation about, because I never, I never had seen a seller make representation of cost savings, so I just thought that was interesting and not on point, I guess.
Q. Do you have any personal knowledge based on your experience in 1997 or 1998 what representations were made by Coleman to Sunbeam about synergies?
A. No.
Q. So you don't have any firsthand evidence or comment on that?
A. No.
Q. It was a comment on the legal theory?
A. Yes.
Q. I want to talk about March 1998, and specifically the very beginning of March 1998, the first week. There was some testimony about that this morning.

Page 128

You were in New York working on the offering memorandum for the debenture offering?
A. I believe I was, yes.
Q. Mr. Pastrana was in Florida doing some post audit work?
A. Yes.
Q. Including working on the comfort letters?
A. Yes.
Q. And was Mr. Pastrana also working with your company to close the books for Sunbeam for January and February?
A. No.
Q. As part of Mr. Pastrana's work for the bond offering, was one of the things he was tasked to look at were sales figures for January and February 1998?
A. Yes.
Q. And Mr. Pastrana reported to you at some point that the January and February 1998 sales figures were lower than they were in the previous year, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And that was the first time you had heard that information from anyone at Sunbeam?
A. Yes.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 129

Q. Did you know from any source at the end of January whether the January '98 sales were lower than the January '97 sales?
A. No, I don't remember specifically.
Q. Did in that time period Sunbeam close its books every month so that January sales would have been available separate from February?
A. I believe they were, yes.
Q. So January 1998 figures would have been available at some point in February?
A. Yes.
Q. And the February sales would have been available at some point in early March?
A. Yes.
Q. And I think you said you believed this was in the first week of March 1998 that you heard this about January and February 1998?
A. Might have been the second one week. I'm not 100 percent sure.
Q. If we had a calendar from March 1998, would that help you in placing the date?
A. Probably not.
Q. You discussed with Mr. Pastrana that Sunbeam's lower year-over-year sales performance should be disclosed to Morgan Stanley, correct?

Page 130

A. Say that again.
Q. Did you discuss with Mr. Pastrana whether Sunbeam's lower year-over-year sales performance needed to be disclosed to Morgan Stanley?
A. I don't recall specifically talking to Mr. Pastrana about that.
Q. But you do remember talking to Mr. Harlow about it?
A. I remember talking to Mr. Harlow that the company should be disclosing it to Morgan Stanley, yes.
Q. And you also had a conversation with Mr. Gluck about that?
A. Yes.
Q. And those conversations took place within a day or two of you first learning this information from Mr. Pastrana?
A. Yes.
Q. Now you were in New York at the time working on the bond offering?
A. Yes.
Q. And you were there working with representatives from Morgan Stanley?
A. Yes.
Q. And you were at Global Financial Press attending drafting sessions?

Page 131

A. Right.
Q. And Morgan Stanley personnel were there?
A. Right.
Q. Was there any consideration given to you informing Morgan Stanley there and then during the drafting session?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Consideration by whom?
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. By you, Mr. Bornstein.
A. No. The question was never asked of me.
Q. Was that discussed with Mr. Harlow or Mr. Gluck whether that might be one way to communicate this information to Morgan Stanley?
MR. MOSCATO: The question was whether you discussed that with Mr. Harlow and Mr. Gluck.
THE WITNESS: No.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Was there any discussion about how this information should be disclosed to Morgan Stanley?
MR. MOSCATO: Objection, I think he answered that a couple of questions ago, but go ahead.
THE WITNESS: That the company should disclose it to them.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. When you say the company, you're referring to

Page 132

Sunbeam?
A. Sunbeam.
Q. So it was your view and Mr. Harlow's view that Sunbeam needed to disclose this information to Morgan Stanley?
A. Yeah, to be honest with you, I'm not 100 percent sure they were aware of it or not, but it was the company's responsibility to disclose the information.
Q. And you and Mr. Harlow communicated that view to Mr. Gluck at Sunbeam?
A. Yes.
Q. And you communicated to Mr. Gluck that you believed it was Sunbeam's responsibility to communicate this information to Morgan Stanley?
A. Yes.
Q. Did Mr. -- did you tell Mr. Gluck that you, Arthur Andersen, were not going to tell Morgan Stanley and that you were waiting for Sunbeam to disclose that information?
MR. MOSCATO: I object to that.
Did you say those words to Mr. Gluck?
THE WITNESS: No.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Did Mr. Gluck -- I'll withdraw that.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

01976

Page 133

Was there any discussion with Mr. Harlow or Mr. Gluck when this disclosure would be made to Morgan Stanley?

MR. MARKOWSKI: By whom?

MR. CLARE: By the company.

THE WITNESS: Again, I had no idea if Morgan Stanley knew or didn't know. I just know they never asked me the question.

BY MR. CLARE:

Q. But you and Mr. Harlow wanted to assure yourselves that Morgan Stanley had been informed?

A. Yes.

Q. And you and Mr. Harlow told Mr. Gluck that you thought it was the company's responsibility to tell Morgan Stanley?

A. Yes.

Q. And as part of those conversations, did you or Mr. Harlow express a view as to when the company ought to provide that information to Morgan Stanley?

A. As soon as possible.

Q. And did you communicate that to Mr. Gluck?

A. Yes.

Q. You and Mr. Harlow told Mr. Gluck that that information should be provided by Sunbeam to Morgan Stanley as soon as possible?

Page 134

A. I believe so.

Q. Are you able to put a date, an approximate one, on that conversation with Mr. Gluck where you communicated that information?

A. Maybe March 12th, March 13th.

Q. Okay. And did you, did Mr. Gluck -- what did Mr. Gluck say about what the company was going to do with this information as far as providing it to Morgan Stanley?

A. I don't remember.

Q. Did he tell you in words or in substance that he agreed and that the company would provide this information to Morgan Stanley?

A. Again, I don't recall.

Q. Do you recall, now moving forward a couple of days, that there was a follow-up discussion with Mr. Gluck about whether this information had been communicated to Morgan Stanley?

A. I don't recall.

Q. Do you know when, if at all, Sunbeam told Morgan Stanley this information about January and February 1998 sales?

A. I know they were aware of it March 17th or 18th, prior to the press release going out.

Q. How do you know that?

Page 135

A. I believe a draft, I believe a draft of the comfort letter was delivered or it was communicated by either -- I don't remember specifically. I just, like I testified earlier, that when I found out about it, my last thing was having a conversation with Bill Pruitt. The next thing I knew, I was seeing it on TV.

Q. You testified a moment ago and then also this morning about a belief that a draft comfort letter was provided to Morgan Stanley on March 17th or thereabouts.

Did you personally fax or send a draft of the comfort letter to Morgan Stanley?

A. I don't remember.

Q. As you sit here today, do you have any recollection of having done that?

A. Me personally, no.

Q. Did anybody tell you at Andersen that they had faxed a copy of the comfort letter, a draft of the comfort letter to Morgan Stanley or its counsel?

A. No, I'm not aware of that.

Q. And so do you have any personal knowledge as you sit here today whether, that a draft comfort letter was actually sent to Morgan Stanley or its counsel?

A. Prior to March 19th, no.

Q. So as far as you are able to testify, the first time a comfort letter was physically provided to Morgan Stanley or faxed or sent was March 19th, 1998, at Global Financial Press?

Page 136

A. I do recall going through certain portions of the comfort letter with underwriter's counsel as to the form of pieces of it, but I don't recall specifically issuing them a draft comfort letter personally.

Q. These recollections that you have, were these in-person meetings with underwriter's counsel?

A. Yes.

Q. During these in-person meetings, did you observe that underwriter's counsel had a draft of the comfort letter in front of them?

A. I don't recall if they had a draft of other comfort letters that they used as a sample or if it was ours, but there was definitely wording, substantive wording, examples communicated back and forth.

Q. But as you sit here today, can you testify from your own personal knowledge that Morgan Stanley or its lawyers were provided with a draft of the March 19th comfort letter before March 19th?

A. Prior to the night at the printer, no.

Q. And you testified about meetings that you had with underwriter's counsel to go through the language.

A. Uh huh.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 137

Q. And am I correct that you don't know whether the documents that underwriter's counsel had in front of them were in fact a draft of the March 19th letter or perhaps sample comfort letters from other transactions and other companies?

You just don't know one way or the other?

A. No. Again, the only thing I recollect is finalizing the draft that night and them having a draft early that night, if not, if not -- I don't recall sooner than me physically being there that a draft was delivered to them.

My point is it wasn't like at five o'clock in the morning, said here it is. As soon as we got there, they had it, you know, and they were making changes and we made changes on realtime.

Q. So you were working on the comfort letter with underwriter's counsel at Global Financial Press the night of the 19th?

A. Yes.

Q. These meetings that you described with underwriter's counsel were that evening, March 19th, at the print shop?

A. As well as previously.

Q. Okay. And those are the meetings that you're just not sure what documents underwriter's counsel had with them?

Page 138

A. Correct.

Q. But you know that that evening at the print shop, you worked on the draft of the comfort letter and it was shared and exchanged --

A. Yes.

Q. -- between underwriter's counsel and you?

A. Correct.

Q. And I think I asked you this, but I can't recall your answer.

Do you know when, if at all, anybody from Sunbeam told Morgan Stanley about lower year-over-year sales?

A. No, other than prior to the press release going out, I'm not aware of any other time.

Q. Okay. What information do you have about disclosures that were made by Sunbeam to Morgan Stanley prior to the press release going out?

A. I don't.

Q. You don't have any information?

A. No.

Q. So from your own personal knowledge, you don't have any information about when, if at all, Sunbeam disclosed lower year-over-year sales to Morgan Stanley?

Page 139

A. I am aware that as I sit here today, that the document with the earnings forecast was provided to Morgan Stanley the night before the, the night of the press release going out.

Q. When you say the document of an earnings forecast, you're referring to a sales buildup sheet that Mr. Markowski showed you this morning?

A. Yes.

Q. In the form of document that was marked as CPH Exhibit 121?

A. Yes.

Q. That form of document?

A. Yes, I'm aware that that was provided to, or at least represented to me that it was provided to Morgan Stanley.

Q. And Mr. Tyree told you that?

A. No, Mr. Fanin told me that.

Q. So Mr. Fanin informed you that the sales buildup, CPH 121, or a document in that form, was sent to Morgan Stanley the day before the press release was issued?

A. I don't know if the day before or the night of. That was subsequent to that night.

Q. Is that the only information that you have about disclosures that were made by Sunbeam to Morgan

Page 140

Stanley about first quarter 1998 sales?

MR. MOSCATO: I'm sorry, can I have the question back?

I'm concerned there is a little confusion as the timing here. But I just need to hear the last question.

(Thereupon, a portion of the record was read by the reporter.)

THE WITNESS: I am, other than what I testified earlier that I was told by Mr. Tyree at the printer that they were informed the night before about the sales forecast.

BY MR. CLARE:

Q. So what Mr. Tyree told you at the printer was consistent with what Mr. Fanin had told you, that Sunbeam had provided this information to Morgan Stanley the night before the press release?

MR. MOSCATO: Objection, that's where the confusion is. I'm not sure he said Fanin told him prior to this happening or Fanin told him after.

THE WITNESS: It was after. It was during the restatement work when things, things kind of -- I don't remember. I do recall Mr. Fanin specifically drafting a memo and handing me this document and after the fact and wanted it to get into the files.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 141

BY MR. CLARE:
Q. And I appreciate that. I'm not trying to confuse you on the timing. I just want to make sure that I understand that what Mr. Fanin told you was consistent with what Mr. Tyree told you about when Morgan Stanley was provided this information by Sunbeam.
MR. MARKOWSKI: Object to the form of the question. I think the reference to this information at this point is kind of detached from what you're referring to.
MR. CLARE: Okay, let me address that, because I think that point is well taken.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Mr. Fanin told you that Sunbeam provided information about its January and February 1990 sales to Morgan Stanley the day or night before the press release was issued, correct?
MR. MARKOWSKI: I think you misspoke there in terms of the date.
THE WITNESS: Yes. You said 1990.
MR. CLARE: Thanks.
THE WITNESS: I believe so, yes.

Page 142

BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Let me make sure I've got the right question so we're all on the same page and in the same decade.
Mr. Fanin told you during the restatement investigation that Sunbeam had provided Morgan Stanley with information about January and February 1998 sales the day or night before the press release was issued; is that correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And Mr. Tyree told you at the print shop that Morgan Stanley had been informed of that same information the day or night before the press release was issued?
A. I believe he was personally. I don't know about Morgan Stanley, but yes, he was.
Q. So what Mr. Tyree was telling -- what Mr. Tyree told you about the timing of Morgan Stanley getting this information was the same as what Mr. Fanin told you?
MR. MARKOWSKI: This information is that one-page sheet, the sales buildup that you are referring to?
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. How about any information about Sunbeam's January or February sales?

Page 143

MR. MOSCATO: Can we have the question again then?
MR. CLARE: Let me rephrase it.
MR. MOSCATO: My client made a distinction between Tyree's knowledge and Morgan Stanley's knowledge. I'm afraid -- listen, we're a neutral party here. I just want there to be a clean record, and that's why I'm making these objections. I just want clarity. So if you can ask the question again, I'd appreciate it.
MR. CLARE: Sure.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Let me ask it this way and hopefully we can cut through it.
Do you have any information from any source that Morgan Stanley or Mr. Tyree or anybody representing Morgan Stanley was advised of Sunbeam's first quarter 1998 sales before the day or the night before the press release was issued?
A. No, I'm not aware of anything else.
Q. The only information that you have is what you previously testified to about, Mr. Fanin's conversation with you?
A. Yes.
Q. And what Mr. Tyree told you at the print shop?

Page 144

A. Yes.
Q. And in both instances, the timing of those disclosures were the day or night before the press release was issued?
A. Yes.
Q. The press release, and we can look at it, was dated March 19th, 1998? It is CPH Exhibit --
A. I have it here, yes, March 19th.
Q. Can you estimate for me the number of days prior to the issuance of the press release that you informed Mr. Gluck that you believed January and February 1998 sales needed to be disclosed to Morgan Stanley?
A. Like I said, March 12th or March 13th.
Q. So five or six days elapsed between this conversation with Mr. Gluck where you and Mr. Harlow spoke with him and the date that Sunbeam issued the press release, to the best of your recollection?
A. Yes.
Q. And during that time period, that five or six-day period, you were working with Morgan Stanley and its counsel on the bond offering documents?
A. Yes.
Q. And you were in New York together?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016779

Page 145

A. For the most part, yes.
Q. And during that five or six-day time period, am I correct that you never discussed with Morgan Stanley or its counsel Sunbeam's January and February 1998 sales performance?
A. Not that I recall, no.
Q. And it was because you believed it was Sunbeam's responsibility to disclose that information to Morgan Stanley?
A. Or if Morgan Stanley asked the question, I would answer it truthfully.
Q. But Morgan Stanley didn't bring it up?
A. Right.
Q. And to your knowledge, Sunbeam did not tell Morgan Stanley at any point during that five or six-day period?
MR. MOSCATO: Do you know one way or the other?
THE WITNESS: I don't know one way or the other if they did or not.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. But again, the only information you have about that topic is that Sunbeam informed Morgan Stanley and John Tyree the day before the press release was issued?

Page 146

MR. MOSCATO: Do you really want to keep asking the same question over and over?
MR. CLARE: Yeah, I do. I just want to make sure that we're all on the same page.
MR. MOSCATO: One last time. Answer the question one more time, Larry.
THE WITNESS: Can you read that question again.
(Thereupon, a portion of the record was read by the reporter.)
THE WITNESS: Yes.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Mr. Bornstein, we talked about these drafting sessions that you attended in New York. How many days were you in New York in that first two- or three-week period in March 1998, approximately?
A. I don't know, probably between four and six days.
Q. And all of the time that you spent there in New York was working on the bond offering documents?
A. For the most part, yes.
Q. And where did those meetings take place?
A. The preliminary ones took place I believe at Scadden Arps' office, and then there was a, as they further went down the line, I think they moved over to

Page 147

Global Financial Press.
Q. Did you attend any meetings at the offices of Morgan Stanley?
A. No.
Q. Were representatives of Morgan Stanley present for those meetings, some of them?
A. Yeah, I believe Tyree and there might have been someone else in the first couple, but after that, there wasn't anybody there.
Q. So the only person that you remember being present at those sessions was John Tyree?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you remember anything about your conversations with John Tyree during those drafting sessions?
Does anything stick out as having been discussed with Mr. Tyree?
A. The form of the pro forma, financial statements and probably certain disclosures or certain, the way certain things were presented. Specifically I remember talking with Mr. Tyree.
Q. Now the pro forma information that was put into the offering memorandum, was that pro forma information that was prepared by Andersen?
A. No. It was the company's pro formas, but we, we assisted in preparing them.

Page 148

Q. When you say the company's, it was Sunbeam's pro formas?
A. Yes.
Q. So this morning in response to a question from Mr. Markowski, and I may have misheard you, I think you said that the pro forma information was prepared by Morgan Stanley. And I wanted to ask you about that.
Was any of the pro forma information that you were reviewing prepared by Morgan Stanley?
A. I reviewed pro forma information that included cost savings and synergies that was supplied by a guy named Tyrone Chang from Morgan Stanley. Those were separate and different from pro formas that went into the bond offering, because the pro formas going into the bond offering were specific to the transaction, and the new debt, those types of things, but don't have anything to do with cost savings or synergies or any of those types of things.
Q. The information that you indicated Mr. Chang provided, for what purpose were you reviewing that?
A. I reviewed it for, if they needed help on the tax treatment to how to show the tax benefit. I don't remember anything else other than that from my review of the pro formas.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016780

Page 149

Q. But none of the pro forma information that was prepared or provided to you by Mr. Chang was put into the offering memo?
A. Not that I'm aware of, no.
Q. So the pro forma information that you discussed, reviewed and that was ultimately included in the offering memorandum was prepared by Sunbeam?
A. Sunbeam, and as well as the other companies that were involved. There was Signature Brands, First Alert, Coleman. They were all involved in preparing the pro formas.
Q. But as far as the information that went into the offering memorandum, you don't have any information to suggest that Morgan Stanley was involved in preparing those pro forma financial statements?
A. As it relates to the numbers, no, but to the disclosures and the footnotes, yes.
Q. And you remember discussing those with Morgan Stanley?
A. Yes.
Q. And there was give and take during those sessions where you discussed with John Tyree, the lawyers at Scadden, about the narrative of the offering memorandum?

Page 150

A. Yes.
Q. And the disclosures that needed to be made?
A. Yes.
Q. And during that time everybody was making suggestions and edits to the document?
A. Yes.
Q. And that was the purpose of that six-day time period that you believe you were in New York was to do that work on the offering memorandum?
A. Yes.
Q. Now during that time you were in New York, you were aware that Sunbeam's January and February 1998 sales were lower than for the prior time period in 1997, correct?
A. Honestly, I don't remember the timing of it. I believe so, but I'm not certain.
Q. Is it fair to say that for at least a portion of those drafting sessions, you were aware of that information?
A. Yes.
Q. And were you in any way frustrated that you had this information, but Morgan Stanley did not?
MR. MOSCATO: I object to that.
You can answer.
THE WITNESS: I don't know if I was, I wouldn't call it frustrated, but unsure if they did or not.

Page 151

BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Okay. And you had recommended that to Mr. Gluck or told Mr. Gluck that you believed Sunbeam should disclose that information to Morgan Stanley?
A. Yes.
MR. MARKOWSKI: Isn't that where we started about half an hour ago?
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Were you frustrated that Sunbeam hadn't followed through on that while you were at these drafting sessions working day and night with the people from Morgan Stanley and so far as you could tell, they didn't appear to know?
MR. MOSCATO: I'm sorry, I have to object to that. That's, I think that's a real compound question.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Okay. Were you frustrated that you couldn't tell whether Morgan Stanley knew this information or not?
A. I said I wasn't frustrated. I just at the time found it amazing that it wasn't a topic of conversation of theirs. No one asked the question. I wasn't aware if they knew or didn't know. I just know that it wasn't something that was discussed.

Page 152

Q. Okay. Did you have any follow-up conversations with Mr. Gluck during that time period about whether Sunbeam had provided that information to Morgan Stanley?
A. I don't recall specifically, no.
MR. MOSCATO: While you're doing that, is there any way we can get a little air in here?
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. And you testified that at some point during the same time period, you had a discussion with Mr. Pruitt about the same subject matter?
A. Yes.
Q. And during that discussion, Mr. Pruitt made a reference to withholding the comfort letter if Sunbeam did not disclose this information to Morgan Stanley?
A. I believe I did say that, yes.
Q. Is that consistent with your recollection?
A. Yes.
Q. And you were a part of that conversation?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you agree with Mr. Pruitt that that was an appropriate thing to do if Sunbeam did not disclose the information to Morgan Stanley about its January and

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016701

Page 153

February 1998 sales?
A. Did I have an opinion? Is that what you said?
No, I left it up to him.
Q. Okay. But you didn't think it was inappropriate for Mr. Pruitt to reach that conclusion?
A. Honestly, I was unaware whether or not Sunbeam had advised Morgan Stanley at that time. I was, my understanding was that they did not.
Q. Your understanding was that Sunbeam had not advised Morgan Stanley?
A. Yes.
Q. And your conversation with Mr. Pruitt was that if that situation wasn't remedied, that Andersen would withhold its comfort letter?
A. That's what he told me, yes.
Q. Some questions this morning about an accounting due diligence call that you had with Morgan Stanley during this time period.
A. Yes.
Q. You participated in that call?
A. Yes.
Q. And that was a due diligence call that was requested by Morgan Stanley?
A. Yes.

Page 154

Q. You and Mr. Harlow were the participants for Andersen?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you recall, as of the date of the accounting due diligence call, whether Mr. Pastrana had already advised you about the January and February 1998 sales? Does that help you place in time --
A. Yeah, I'm not sure. I'm not 100 percent sure that I knew about this on the 12th.
Q. Mr. Gluck was on the call for Sunbeam?
A. Yes.
Q. Was there anybody else on the phone from Sunbeam?
A. Not that I'm aware of, no.
Q. Am I correct that you requested Mr. Gluck be on the call?
A. Yes.
Q. And why?
A. I believe it was an Andersen policy to have someone present from the company on the call or at the meeting.
Q. Was it, and this is a standard practice, at least at the time that you were at Andersen, to have somebody from the company on the call with underwriters in a due diligence situation like this?

Page 155

A. That was my understanding, yes.
Q. Was there any discussion with Morgan Stanley about this topic, about whether Mr. Gluck would be on the call or not?
A. Not that I recall.
Q. Was there any discussion between you and Mr. Harlow about Mr. Gluck's presence on the call?
A. No.
Q. And you had been on other due diligence calls with underwriters where there had been representative from management on the phone with you?
A. Yes.
Q. In accordance with Andersen's policy?
A. Yes.
Q. Was it your hope at the time that if Mr. Gluck was on the line with you during this due diligence call, that he might take that as an opportunity to tell Morgan Stanley about the company's performance in the first two months of 1998?
A. No. I'm not -- no. That wasn't my hope.
Q. Okay. I'm going to show you some of your prior deposition testimony on this subject and see if that refreshes your recollection about that topic and I'll ask you some follow-up questions about it.
MR. CLARE: Let's mark this as Morgan Stanley

Page 156

Exhibit 55.
(MS Exhibit No. 55 was marked for identification.)
THE WITNESS: Okay, where would you like me to look?
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. I'm going to invite your attention to page 780 of this transcript.
A. Can you just, someone tell me when and where this took place? Which one was this?
Q. Sure.
MR. MARKOWSKI: We're celebrating the third anniversary of it.
THE WITNESS: Is it really that long?
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. This is a deposition transcript taken on Monday, January 15, 2001. Appears to be day five of your deposition testimony.
A. Okay. Where would you like me to turn?
Q. And you can read as much it as you'd like to see if it refreshes your recollection, but specifically I want to invite your attention to page 780 at the top of the page. And it might be helpful if you back up to page 778 for context.
A. Okay.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

16div-024926

Page 157

Q. Have you had an opportunity to review a few pages of your deposition from January of 2001?
MR. MARKOWSKI: I think we should be specific about what portion of this he's --
MR. MOSCATO: Now Larry, you've reviewed it. Now close the transcript.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. I don't know exactly which pages you reviewed but I invited your attention to pages 778 through 780.
A. Yes, that's what I read.
Q. Okay. And does having reviewed that deposition testimony, does that refresh your recollection in any way about the sequence of events that we've been discussing; specifically, your conversation with Mr. Gluck about the need to disclose this information to Morgan Stanley and the March 12, 1998 accounting due diligence call?
A. Yes.
Q. Okay. And now testifying from your refreshed recollection, is it correct that you had discussed this issue with Mr. Gluck prior to March 12, 1998?
A. Yes.
Q. And prior to March 12, 1998, you and Mr. Harlow had informed Mr. Gluck that Sunbeam's January and February 1998 sales information needed to be disclosed to Morgan Stanley?

Page 158

A. Yes.
Q. And is it correct that at least one of the reasons that you wanted Mr. Gluck on the line for the accounting due diligence call was a hope that he would disclose information about Sunbeam's first quarter performance to Morgan Stanley?
A. If the question came up, yes.
Q. Okay. But it was your view, independent of whether the question came up, that Sunbeam had a responsibility to disclose it to Morgan Stanley?
A. Yes.
Q. And was it your hope that independent of whether the question came up, that Mr. Gluck might take this opportunity of talking with Morgan Stanley to disclose that information?
A. I believe so, yes.
Q. Did Mr. Gluck tell Morgan Stanley about Sunbeam's January and February 1998 sales on the March 12, 1998, accounting due diligence call?
A. I don't believe so, no.
Q. Do you have any recollection of that topic coming up?
A. No.
Q. Morgan Stanley didn't raise it?

Page 159

A. No.
Q. And Mr. Gluck didn't raise it?
A. No.
Q. And you didn't raise it and Mr. Harlow didn't raise it?
A. Correct.
Q. Were the answers that you provided -- strike that.
Were you answers that you and Mr. Harlow provided on the March 12, 1998, accounting due diligence call any different because Mr. Gluck was on the line?
A. No.
Q. If Mr. Gluck had not been on the line, would you or Mr. Harlow have volunteered information about Sunbeam's first quarter sales performance to date?
MR. MARKOWSKI: May I have the question back, please.
(Thereupon, a portion of the record was read by the reporter.)
MR. MARKOWSKI: Object, calls for --
MR. MOSCATO: Answer as to yourself.
MR. MARKOWSKI: I would object that it calls for speculation.
THE WITNESS: I can't answer for Harlow. If asked the question, I would have answered it truthfully. I wouldn't have volunteered anything.

Page 160

BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Because you thought it was Sunbeam's responsibility to tell that information?
A. Yes.
Q. But your willingness or unwillingness to volunteer that information had nothing to do with whether Mr. Gluck was on the line or not?
A. No.
Q. Were you any less truthful with Morgan Stanley because Mr. Gluck was on the phone with you for the March 12, 1998, due diligence call?
A. No.
Q. Were you any less candid with Morgan Stanley because Mr. Gluck was on that call?
A. No.
Q. If Morgan Stanley had asked the question on March 12, 1998, about Sunbeam's first quarter performance, would you have deferred the response to that question to Mr. Gluck, since he was on the line?
A. I have no idea what I would have done.
Q. But you believed it was Sunbeam's responsibility to provide that information?
A. Yes.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

16div-024927

Page 161

Q. Was there any discussion before the March 12, 1998, accounting due diligence call how you or Mr. Harlow would respond if Morgan Stanley asked that question?

MR. MARKOWSKI: Any discussion between Mr. Bornstein and Mr. Harlow?

MR. CLARE: That's correct.

THE WITNESS: Specifically on that point, I don't recall.

BY MR. CLARE:

Q. Even generally?

A. No.

Q. How about between you and Mr. Harlow or with Mr. Gluck?

A. No.

Q. Mr. Bornstein, I'm going to ask you to dig out CPH Exhibit 123 that we marked and looked at this morning.

MR. MOSCATO: I'm sorry, which one was 123?

MR. CLARE: CPH Exhibit 123 is the July 2nd, 1998.

THE WITNESS: This one right on the top.

MR. MOSCATO: This one?

BY MR. CLARE:

Q. And Mr. Markowski asked you some questions about the delay between the date of the call and the date that you started to prepare the memo. Is that correct?

Page 162

A. Yes.

Q. And you can tell me again if I've got this in any way wrong, but you said you felt it was important to have a record of what was said during that call.

A. Yeah, I thought it was more important than, you know, to have something other than the contemporaneous documentation from the call.

Q. And that contemporaneous documentation were the handwritten notes that appear on the third and fourth page of CPH Exhibit 123?

A. Yes.

Q. And those notes that were placed on the third and fourth page of CPH Exhibit 123, some of those notes were prepared there in advance of the call as a result of discussions between you and Mr. Harlow about how you would respond to the questions?

A. Yeah, they were all prepared prior. It was all prepared prior to.

Q. That's my next question. You anticipated it, whether any of the handwriting on the third or fourth page of Exhibit 123 was placed there during the call.

A. I think some of the items that are crossed out were placed on there during the call.

Page 163

Q. Okay.

MR. MOSCATO: The items were placed there or the crossing out?

THE WITNESS: The crossing out.

BY MR. CLARE:

Q. So the items, the handwriting of the specific items were discussed with you and Mr. Harlow before the call, and then during the call as issues came up, you crossed them off as they were discussed?

A. Some of them. These I recall were important issues that I wanted to make sure were discussed.

Q. If there is handwriting on pages three and four that's not crossed off, does that mean that they weren't discussed on the call or you just didn't cross them off?

A. No, I know that a lot more of these were discussed, but these were items that I wanted to make sure that were discussed by Harlow.

Q. Now the date of CPH Exhibit 123 is July 2nd, 1998, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And that's the date that you prepared the memo documenting your March 12, 1998, accounting due diligence call?

Page 164

A. Yes.

Q. Did you start working on this memo at any point before July 2nd, 1998?

A. I don't think so, no.

Q. So you did not document your discussions with Morgan Stanley for the accounting due diligence call in this memo format at least until July 2nd, 1998?

A. Yes.

Q. And that was after Mr. Dunlap had been fired from Sunbeam on June 15, 1998?

A. I believe so, yes.

Q. And after Sunbeam had announced that the SEC was investigating its accounting practices on June 22nd, 1998?

A. Yes.

Q. And that was after Sunbeam announced that it was delaying an SEC filing relating to the debenture offering?

A. Yes.

Q. And that was after Sunbeam had announced that its 1997 financial statement should not be relied upon?

A. I believe so, yes.

Q. That was --

A. I think that was June 30.

Q. That was June 30?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 165

A. Yes.
Q. So you did not begin to document that conversation with Morgan Stanley until after Sunbeam announced that its 1997 financial statement could not be relied upon?
A. Yes.
MR. MARKOWSKI: Can I have the question back, please.
(Thereupon, a portion of the record was read by the reporter.)
MR. MARKOWSKI: I object, mischaracterizes his prior testimony with respect to this.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. So you did not begin to document your discussions with Morgan Stanley in memo form until after Sunbeam had announced that its 1997 financial statements should not be relied upon?
A. Yes.
Q. Same question, after Sunbeam announced that its 1997 financial statements may need to be restated, that was also on June 30, 1998.
A. I believe so, yes.
Q. In drafting your July 2nd, 1998 memo, did you consult with Mr. Harlow about his recollection of what was said on the call?

Page 166

A. He reviewed it. I don't specifically remember asking him.
Q. So you prepared a draft and Mr. Harlow reviewed it?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you remember any discussions with Mr. Harlow about the draft that you had prepared or any changes that he asked to be made to your draft?
A. I don't recall, no.
Q. What about Mr. Gluck? Did you provide a draft of the July 2nd, 1998, memo to Mr. Gluck?
A. No.
Q. Why not?
A. It was for Arthur Andersen's files.
Q. The typewritten memo that's the first two pages of CPH Exhibit 123, this was your effort to distill from the notes the questions that were asked and the responses that were given on the call?
A. For the most part, yes.
Q. The third paragraph says, "Attached is the agenda as well as notes from that meeting. Mr. Savori and Mr. Lurie asked the questions and Mr. Harlow provided responses."
A. Yes.
Q. "The questions from the agenda were asked in their entirety and the responses were as follows."
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Item 4A --
A. Yes.
Q. Question four relates to the adequacy of internal controls. Do you see that on the agenda?
A. Yes.
Q. And the response that was indicated on your memo says in part, "No material weaknesses in internal controls were noted."
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you recall Mr. Harlow telling Morgan Stanley that no material weaknesses in internal controls were noted by Andersen?
A. Yes.
Q. That's consistent with your recollection of the call?
A. I believe so, yes.
Q. Do you remember Morgan Stanley asking that question and Mr. Harlow providing that answer?
A. Yes.
Q. Number eight asks, "How aggressive is the company in its accounting policies?"

Page 167

Page 168

Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. There was some testimony this morning about bill and hold and Encore and EPI, and those items are crossed off on page three.
A. Right.
Q. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Looking at your typewritten memo, the response that appears after item eight, "On a scale of one to ten, around a five or six."
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Do you recall Mr. Harlow ranking how aggressive Sunbeam's accounting policies are on a scale of one to ten?
A. Yes. That's, I recall him addressing initially the issue that way.
Q. Okay.
A. And then going into some of the detail we talked about earlier.
Q. But it's your recollection that on a scale of one to ten, Mr. Harlow told Morgan Stanley that Sunbeam was about a five or six in terms of the aggressiveness of its accounting policies?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 169

A. Yes.
Q. And Mr. Harlow's ranking of the aggressiveness of the accounting policies were part of the same conversation when he was discussing bill and hold, Encore, EPI?
A. Yes.
Q. Item ten on the agenda asks whether any major adjustments were recommended.
A. Yes.
MR. MOSCATO: Material.
MR. CLARE: Thank you, material.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Item ten on the agenda -- my copy says major.
THE WITNESS: Material.
MR. MOSCATO: I'm sorry. You're right. My abject apologies.
MR. CLARE: That's okay.
THE WITNESS: The Morgan Stanley letter requesting the question is major and on my typewritten it's material.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Okay. So just to make sure we're all clear, on page three of CPH Exhibit 123, item ten, the question that Morgan Stanley provided to you in writing was whether any major adjustments were recommended.

Page 170

A. Correct.
Q. And in handwriting under that it says, "Not material, Encore or EPI."
A. Yes.
Q. Do you remember discussing that issue with Morgan Stanley; in other words, Andersen's view that the Encore and EPI adjustments were not material?
A. Yes, I do remember that.
Q. And that recollection is in fact recorded on point 10 of your typewritten memo, which says no material adjustments were recorded?
A. Yes.
Q. Now page three of the Exhibit CPH 123 has a header on it that says Project One Time accounting due diligence. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. What does Project One Time refer to?
A. I have no idea.
Q. Are you aware that the project name that Sunbeam had given to these acquisitions was Project Laser?
A. Yeah, I recollected that from something I just looked at earlier, yes.
Q. But that's consistent with your recollection from 1998?

Page 171

A. Yes.
Q. Do you have an understanding as to why the sheet that you have here as part of your exhibit says Project One Time, when the project name was Project Laser?
A. You'd have to ask the person who put it together and sent it to me. I have no idea.
Q. That was my question. You don't have any understanding of that?
A. No, no idea.
Q. I will represent to you and I can show you the documents that other people who were on the call --
A. Yes.
Q. -- got an agenda sheet that said the word Project Laser --
A. Really? Interesting.
Q. -- on it, and I wanted to know if you had any explanation for why the document that was attached to CPH 123 from your files says Project One Time.
A. No.
MR. MARKOWSKI: When you represent, Tom, that other people on the call got a different agenda, what call are you referring to, the Arthur Andersen call, or the call with the other accounting firms?

Page 172

MR. CLARE: I'm representing the Arthur Andersen call. In fact, why don't we just mark those as exhibits and I'll ask you about it specifically, the two documents.
THE WITNESS: Okay.
MR. CLARE: This is 56.
(MS Exhibit Nos. 56 and 57 were marked for identification.)
THE WITNESS: Okay.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. And I'm showing you what's been marked as Morgan Stanley Exhibit 56 and Morgan Stanley 57. These are a series of faxes, two faxes from Shani Boone at Morgan Stanley to Mr. Freed at Scadden Arps in Exhibit 56 and Mr. Molitor at First Union in 57.
Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. Just looking at Exhibit 56 for a moment, the second page of it is the agenda that Mr. Markowski went through with you this morning.
A. Yes.
Q. And it shows a series of accounting due diligence calls beginning at 11:30 a.m. and going through start time of 1:00.
A. Yes.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

16div-024930

Page 173

Q. And then after that, there are documents, an agenda for those calls --
A. Yes.
Q. -- that are similar in form to the ones that we were just looking at attached to your typewritten memo?
A. Yes, similar.
Q. Similar in form, but not identical?
A. I don't believe identical, but I haven't proofed them both.
Q. One of the ways in which they are not identical is the header on the documents that were sent to Mr. Freed and Mr. Moliter say Product Laser accounting due diligence, and the agenda that is attached to your July 2nd memo says Project One Time.
A. Yes.
Q. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. And there are other differences in the agenda are that are, speak for themselves.
A. Yes.
Q. And do you have any explanation for why your agenda was different than other participants in the call?
A. No. It would only be speculation.

Page 174

Q. But you don't have any explanation for the discrepancy between the agenda that First Union and Scadden Arps had and the agenda that's attached to your July 2nd --
A. No.
Q. -- '98 memo?
MR. MARKOWSKI: I think you've assumed something that you haven't proved yet at this point in time, which is the agenda used in 56 and 57 was in fact the agenda used by those other parties in connection with the call as opposed to a draft of what was ultimately sent to Mr. Bornstein and to Mr. Harlow.
MR. CLARE: All I'm trying to do is understand whether Mr. Bornstein has any information about that, and he has told me -- and correct me if I'm wrong -- that you don't have any understanding or explanation for why others that were on the call had a different agenda than the one attached to your July 2nd.
MR. MARKOWSKI: Well, that's the fact I'm saying, I'm objecting to on the ground it assumes facts not in evidence. You haven't shown that the documents attached to 56 and 57 were in fact the agendas used by Scadden or by First Union in connection with the telephone call.

Page 175

MR. CLARE: Okay. Well, I'll show that through different witnesses, and we'll take that up not on Mr. Bornstein's time.
THE WITNESS: I have no idea.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Do you recall -- you don't have any explanation for that discrepancy as you sit here today?
A. No.
Q. I want to go back to your July 2nd, 1998, memo for a moment.
Question 16 on the agenda asks the question, "Company is conservative and leans to full disclosure," question mark. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. And your handwritten note says yes, and it's circled. Do you see that?
A. Yes.
Q. On July 2nd, 19 -- I'm sorry, new question.
On March 12, 1998, did you or Mr. Harlow tell Morgan Stanley that Sunbeam was conservative and leans toward full disclosure?
A. As it relates to their financial statements, yes.
Q. Okay. Is there a distinction there? Did you make any discussion with Morgan Stanley about ways in which Sunbeam was not conservative and leaned towards full disclosure on the call?

Page 176

A. No, not that I'm aware of.
Q. So the question was asked the company is conservative and leans to full disclosure, and the answer that you and Mr. Harlow gave was yes.
A. I believe as it relates to the financial statements is what we were talking about.
Q. Okay. But did you say that, do you have a recollection of saying that on the call?
A. No, I don't.
Q. And in fact, your typewritten memo memorializing the answers that were given to Morgan Stanley answers the question yes?
A. Yes.
Q. And that's consistent with your recollection of what was said on the call?
A. Yes.
MR. CLARE: We need to take a short break to change the videotape.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are now going off videotape number two. We'll be back on videotape number three. The time on the monitor is 1:30 p.m.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016781

Page 177

(Discussion held off the record.)
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are now back on video record. This is tape number three. The time on the monitor, 1:31 p.m.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Mr. Bornstein, just before the break, I was asking you about item 16 from your July 2nd, 1998 memo.
And this relates to the question that Morgan Stanley asked about whether Sunbeam was conservative and leans to full disclosure.
On the March 12, 1998 accounting due diligence call, did you tell Morgan Stanley that Sunbeam had resisted including disclosures of its bill and hold sales in its 1997 10K?
A. Did we tell Morgan Stanley --
MR. MOSCATO: I'm sorry, repeat that question.
(Thereupon, a portion of the record was read by the reporter.)
MR. MOSCATO: Answer the question yes or no. Did you?
THE WITNESS: No.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Did you tell Morgan Stanley on the March 12, 1998 call that Mr. Gluck was resistant about disclosing

Page 178

Sunbeam's bill and hold sales from the first day that you had raised the issue with them until the day that the 10K was filed?
A. I don't know about the time period.
Q. But you didn't say that to Morgan Stanley?
MR. MOSCATO: Did you say those words to Morgan Stanley?
THE WITNESS: No, I did not.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Did you say anything like that to Morgan Stanley about Sunbeam's bill and hold disclosures?
A. No.
Q. Did you tell Morgan Stanley in words or in substance that Sunbeam had resisted disclosing its reclassification of restructuring reserves in connection with its 10K?
A. No.
Q. And, Mr. Bornstein, I've read your prior deposition testimony, and there are a series of discussions that are reflected in that testimony that I want to ask you about.
On several occasions during your interactions with Sunbeam you approached Mr. Gluck relating to disclosure issues; is that correct?
A. Yes.

Page 179

Q. And one of them related to bill and hold sales?
A. Yes.
Q. And one of them related to the reclassification of restructuring reserves?
A. Yes.
Q. And there were other times that you approached Mr. Gluck about disclosure issues?
A. Yes.
Q. And during those approaches to Mr. Gluck, in several of those conversations Mr. Gluck told you to fuck off when you raised those issues with him?
A. Yeah, that was pretty common.
Q. And it happened on a number of occasions when you raised disclosure issues with Mr. Gluck?
A. Yes.
Q. On the March 12, 1998, accounting due diligence call with Morgan Stanley, did you tell Morgan Stanley in words or in substance that Mr. Gluck had told you to fuck off when you had raised disclosure issues with him?
A. No.
Q. Now the March 12, 1998, telephone conversation was not the only time that you had an opportunity to talk about Sunbeam with Morgan Stanley, correct?

Page 180

A. Correct.
Q. You had participated in drafting sessions for the offering memo in New York?
A. Yes.
Q. And during that session or sessions, did Morgan Stanley ask additional questions of you about Sunbeam?
A. No.
Q. Is there any documentation of those conversations?
A. No.
Q. So in the course of preparing the offering memorandum and the back and forth that occurred, your testimony is that at no point during those discussions did Morgan Stanley ask you for information about Sunbeam or its financial statements?
A. They asked questions, but nothing specific that I can recall.
Q. Okay. But they asked you questions during those drafting sessions?
A. Right.
Q. And there was a give and take in preparing the offering memorandum?
A. Yes.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016788

Page 181

Q. And that give and take related to the subject of Sunbeam?
A. Yes.
Q. And that how Sunbeam would be described in the offering memorandum that you were collectively working on?
A. Yes.
Q. March 19, 1998, the meeting you had with Mr. Tyree and others at Global Financial Press, that was another opportunity that you had time to spend with Morgan Stanley?
A. Yes.
Q. And how many hours would you say that you spent with Morgan Stanley that evening?
A. Ten.
Q. And during that evening, did Morgan Stanley and its representatives ask you questions about Sunbeam?
A. Yes.
Q. Mr. Bornstein, this morning and in prior depositions you've offered your opinion about Morgan Stanley's due diligence, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And your opinion is that Morgan Stanley's due diligence in connection with the bond offering is poor?

Page 182

A. Yes.
Q. Can you give me the basis for your belief that Morgan Stanley's due diligence for the bond offering was poor?
A. Basically that they never asked very simple questions that should have been asked and that, at least my understanding of the people that were involved, which was basically Mr. Tyree, that he was very distracted and had a lot of other things going on and didn't really know what the hell was going on with this deal basically.
Q. So you've identified two reasons why you think Morgan Stanley's due diligence was poor.
Are there any others that you can think of?
A. You know, that they were aware that the due diligence, financial due diligence that was performed by Arthur Andersen & Company of First Alert, Signature Brands and Coleman was limited at best, and probably, you know, was in a four or five-day period of time.
Q. Now you're talking, in your answer to my last question, you're answering specifically with regard to the due diligence that was performed by Morgan Stanley on the target companies, correct?
A. I'm not sure what Morgan Stanley did on the target companies, but they were aware of the limited amount of due diligence that the company had done on the three target acquisition companies.

Page 183

Q. Okay. Anything else that forms the basis for your opinion that Morgan Stanley's due diligence was poor?
A. No, not that I can think of.
Q. What were the simple questions that Morgan Stanley should have asked in your opinion but didn't?
A. How is the company doing now? Simple as that.
Q. Is that the only one?
A. They probably should ask more questions on the financial statement. They should have probably asked more detailed questions on bill and hold transactions. They probably should have asked a lot more questions on the estimates and the projections that Mr. Dunlap had touted. I forget what they were, but basic questions.
Q. Were all of the questions that you've just identified suggested by the public statements that Sunbeam had made?
A. I don't understand the question.
MR. MARKOWSKI: Object to the form.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. You asked, you said that Morgan Stanley should have asked additional questions about the financial statements, correct?

Page 184

A. Yes.
Q. And the assumptions that went into the financial statements?
A. They should ask some questions on the financial statements, yes.
Q. These were Sunbeam's audited financial statements that you're referring to?
A. Yes.
Q. And those financial statements at least for 1997 were publicly available?
A. Yes.
Q. You said that Morgan Stanley should have asked some additional questions about bill and hold.
A. Yes.
Q. Bill and hold transactions were also publicly disclosed by Sunbeam in its 1997 10K, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And were there any other questions that you think Morgan Stanley should have asked that they didn't beside the ones you've testified to?
A. Specifically, no.
Q. Do you have any knowledge or information about the trip that Morgan Stanley made to Sunbeam headquarters on March 4th and 5th to conduct due diligence?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 185

A. No.
Q. You weren't present for any of those meetings?
A. No.
Q. Did anybody ever report to you what was discussed during that due diligence meeting?
A. No.
Q. Do you have any knowledge or information about Morgan Stanley's bring-down due diligence telephone conference with Sunbeam's management?
A. I don't recall if I was part of that. I don't believe so.
Q. I don't believe you were either, but do you have any knowledge or information about that?
A. No.
Q. Did anybody report to you what was said or discussed during those telephone calls?
A. No.
Q. Specifically, the bring-down telephone calls that were done with Sunbeam management by Morgan Stanley to conduct due diligence.
A. No.
Q. Do you have any knowledge or information about trips that were taken by Morgan Stanley to Sunbeam in September of 1997 to conduct due diligence on Sunbeam?

Page 186

A. No.
Q. Were you present for any of those meetings?
A. I don't believe so, no.
Q. And nobody has reported to you what was said or discussed during those due diligence meetings?
A. No.
Q. Do you have any knowledge or information about what documents Morgan Stanley requested and received from Sunbeam management?
A. No.
Q. Were you involved in communicating either requests from Morgan Stanley to Sunbeam management or communicating those documents back from Sunbeam management to Morgan Stanley?
A. No.
Q. So you don't know one way or the other what documents were requested and received by Morgan Stanley?
A. No.
Q. Are you, do you have any knowledge or information about the documents that were provided to Morgan Stanley by Scadden Arps as part of the due diligence process?

Page 187

A. No.
Q. Do you have any knowledge or information about other documents that Morgan Stanley reviewed as part of the due diligence process?
A. No.
Q. And so your opinion about Morgan Stanley's due diligence is based strictly on your personal interaction with representatives from Morgan Stanley?
A. Yes.
Q. So do you have any basis one way or another to evaluate the overall due diligence conducted by Morgan Stanley in connection with the bond offering?
A. No.
MR. CLARE: Why don't we break for lunch.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are now going off video record. The time on the monitor, 1:42 p.m.
(Thereupon, a lunch recess was taken.)

(End of Volume I)

Page 188

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF THE FIFTEENTH JUDICIAL CIRCUIT
IN AND FOR PALM BEACH COUNTY, FLORIDA
CASE No.CA 03-5045 AI

COLEMAN (PARENT) HOLDINGS, INC.,

Plaintiff,
-vs-

MORGAN STANLEY & CO., INC.,

Defendant.
_____/

DEPOSITION OF LAWRENCE ALAN BORNSTEIN
(Videotaped)
VOLUME II

Thursday, January 15, 2004
2:03 - 5:30 p.m.

2139 Palm Beach Lakes Boulevard
West Palm Beach, Florida 33409

Reported By:
Rachel W. Bridge, RMR, CRR
Notary Public, State of Florida
Esquire Deposition Services
West Palm Beach Office
Phone: 800.330.6952
561.659.4155

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016790

APPEARANCES:
On behalf of the Plaintiff:
ROBERT T. MARKOWSKI, ESQUIRE
CHRISTOPHER M. O'CONNOR, ESQUIRE
JENNER & BLOCK, LLP
One IBM Plaza
Chicago, Illinois 60611-7603
Phone: 312.222.9350

On behalf of the Defendant:
THOMAS A. CLARE, ESQUIRE
KATHRYN REED DEBORD, ESQUIRE
KIRKLAND & ELLIS, LLP
655 Fifteenth Street, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20005
Phone: 202.879.5078

On behalf of the Witness:
MICHAEL MOSCATO, ESQUIRE
CURTIS, MALLET-PREVOST, COLT & MOSLE, LLP
101 Park Avenue
New York, New York 10178-0061
Phone: 212.696.8817
ALSO PRESENT:
EITAN ROSEN, VIDEOGRAPHER

- - -

INDEX

- - -

WITNESS:	DIRECT	CROSS	REDIRECT	RECROSS
Lawrence Bornstein
By Mr. Markowski		330, 343
By Mr. Clare	191 (cont'd)		341

- - -

EXHIBITS

- - -

EXHIBIT	PAGE
MS Exhibit 58	273
MS Exhibit 59	307
MS Exhibit 60	314
MS Exhibit 61	314

PROCEEDINGS

- - -

Deposition taken before Rachel W. Bridge, Registered Professional Reporter and Notary Public in and for the State of Florida at Large, in the above cause.

- - -

THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are now back on video record. The time on the monitor, 2:03 p.m.

CROSS EXAMINATION (Continued)

BY MR. CLARE:

Q. Mr. Bornstein, before the break we were talking about your opinions about Morgan Stanley's due diligence. You indicated in response to one of my questions that one of the bases for your opinion was your observation that Mr. Tyree was distracted.

Do you have any basis for that other than your personal observation?

A. During the time period trying to communicate with him and talk to him, he was working on another deal I think at the time, I believe, and it was difficult to get in touch with him if needed.

Q. Other than the fact that it was difficult to get in touch with Mr. Tyree, do you have any basis for your opinion that he was distracted?

A. The lack of knowledge of what I saw of what he knew about the company.

Q. But again --

A. That's --

Q. Please.

A. That's just my opinion.

Q. But you don't know what steps Mr. Tyree took outside of your presence to obtain information or knowledge about the company?

A. No.

Q. And do you know whether Mr. Tyree was performing Sunbeam-related duties on some of the occasions when you could not get in touch with him or on another deal?

A. No, I have no idea.

Q. You don't know one way or the other?

A. No.

Q. I want to switch now to a different topic.

Back in the first quarter of 1998, you knew that Sunbeam was acquiring the Coleman company, correct?

A. Yes.

Q. And you knew that the acquisition was a stock and cash deal?

A. Yes.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016791

Page 193

Q. And by that, I mean that Sunbeam would be providing to the owners of Coleman cash as a portion of the purchase price and stock as a portion of the purchase price?
A. Yes.
Q. And that is Sunbeam stock?
A. Yes.
Q. And did you know that the acquisition required for Coleman (Parent) Holdings Company which owned a portion of Coleman to receive over 14 million shares of Sunbeam stock as part of the purchase price?
A. Yes.
Q. You knew that back in the first quarter of 1998?
A. Yes.
Q. And did you also know that after the sale had taken place that Coleman (Parent) Holdings Company would be a significant shareholder of Sunbeam?
A. Yes.
Q. Were you informed in the first quarter of 1998 by anybody that Coleman and its corporate parents would be conducting their own due diligence on Sunbeam?
A. I wasn't aware of anything, no.
Q. You were not told anything by the people at Sunbeam that Coleman or its parent corporations would be conducting due diligence?

Page 194

A. Not that I'm aware of, no.
Q. Were you ever informed by any source that Morgan Stanley had been tasked to perform due diligence on behalf of Coleman and its corporate parent?
A. No.
Q. Did you receive any instructions from Sunbeam about any inquiries that you might get from Coleman (Parent) Holdings and its corporate parent?
A. No.
Q. Did anybody ever tell you in words or in substance not to provide Coleman (Parent) Holdings and its corporate parent with any information that they requested?
A. No.
Q. Did anybody ever instruct you to channel all information for Coleman (Parent) Holdings through Morgan Stanley?
A. No.
Q. Do you have a recollection of any inquiry that you received that you understood to be made on behalf of Coleman (Parent) Holdings?
A. No.
Q. Are you aware of any due diligence that was performed by Coleman (Parent) Holdings or its representatives as part of the acquisition transaction?

Page 195

A. No.
Q. You were not part of any in-person meetings with Coleman (Parent) Holdings or any of its representatives for that purpose?
A. No.
Q. Any telephone conferences?
A. No.
Q. Were you ever asked to participate in an accounting due diligence call with Coleman (Parent) Holdings like the one that Morgan Stanley had conducted that you participated in?
A. Not that I recall.
Q. Were you aware that Coleman (Parent) Holdings was, and Coleman were being represented in the transaction by Credit Suisse First Boston as their investment advisor?
A. No.
Q. Did you have any dealings with CSFB during the first quarter of 1998?
A. No.
Q. Did you receive any inquiries from CSFB during the first quarter of 1998 about Sunbeam or its financial performance?
A. No.

Page 196

Q. Are you aware of any inquiries that Andersen received, even if you were not personally involved, from anybody representing Coleman (Parent) Holdings?
A. Not that I'm aware of.
Q. Are you aware of any inquiries from Coleman (Parent) Holdings on the subject of Sunbeam's bill and hold sales?
A. No.
Q. Are you aware of any inquiries from anyone representing Coleman (Parent) Holdings about the bill and hold disclosures that were in Sunbeam's 1997 10K?
A. No.
Q. Or whether Sunbeam was engaged in bill and hold sales in the first quarter of 1998?
A. No.
Q. Or Sunbeam's Early Buy program?
A. No.
Q. Or the Early Buy program disclosures that were in the 1997 10K?
A. No.
Q. Or the impact of Sunbeam's Early Buy program on Sunbeam's first quarter 1998 sales?
A. No.
Q. Or Sunbeam's quarter-to-date sales in the first quarter of 1998?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016792

Page 197

A. No.
Q. At any point in time?
A. No.
Q. Are you aware of any inquiries from anyone representing Coleman (Parent) Holdings after the March 19, 1998, press release about Sunbeam's first quarter performance?
A. Can you repeat the question?
(Thereupon, a portion of the record was read by the reporter.)
THE WITNESS: No, not until after Mr. Dunlap was terminated.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. When you say not until after Mr. Dunlap was terminated, it was at that point that a new management team was installed?
A. Yes.
Q. And then inquiries were made by the new management team?
A. Yes.
Q. But limiting ourselves to the first quarter of 1998 and inquiries that may have been received from Coleman (Parent) Holdings during the first quarter of 1998, are you aware from any source of any inquiries that were made by Coleman (Parent) Holdings or any of its representatives after the March 19, '98 press release?

Page 198

A. No.
Q. So no inquiries between March 19, 1998, and the end of the first quarter?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Object to the form of the question.
THE WITNESS: Not that I'm aware of, no.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Are you aware that on April 3rd, 1998, Sunbeam announced that its first quarter 1998 sales were, had fallen short of the first quarter 1997? Were you generally aware of that?
A. I believe it was the second press release. I don't remember specifically what it said.
Q. But you're aware that shortly after the first quarter, Sunbeam issued a press release like the one I just described?
A. Yes.
Q. Were you aware of any inquiries from Coleman (Parent) Holdings or anyone representing Coleman(Parent)Holdings after that April 3rd, 1998 press release?
MR. MARKOWSKI: I want to make sure we're clear here. You've been focusing on inquiries of

Page 199

Andersen. Are you broadening the question now?
MR. CLARE: No. Any inquiries that Mr. Bornstein is aware of, made to anyone, but specifically within his knowledge.
MR. MARKOWSKI: So an inquiry to anyone, not specifically to Arthur Andersen?
MR. CLARE: Correct.
THE WITNESS: I'm not aware of anything.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. In 1998, the first quarter, as you prepared to assist Sunbeam with these acquisition transactions, did you have an expectation that Coleman or its corporate parent might want it ask questions of Arthur Andersen?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Object to the form of the question.
THE WITNESS: I thought it was possible, yes.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. So that thought did occur to you back in the first quarter of 1998?
A. Yes.
Q. And you testified that you're not aware of any inquiries that were made to Andersen and certainly not to you from Coleman (Parent) Holdings or its corporate parent?

Page 200

A. Yes.
Q. In the first quarter of 1998, did you, were you surprised by the lack of inquiry from Coleman (Parent) Holdings or its corporate parent?
A. I'd say yes.
Q. And did you form an opinion about the quality of due diligence done by Coleman (Parent) Holdings on Sunbeam in the first quarter of 1998?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Objection, lack of foundation.
THE WITNESS: I wasn't aware of any that they did, so if you want to repeat the question, I don't know if I answered it.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Sure. You were surprised that they didn't do any due diligence, to your knowledge?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Object to the form of the question. Mischaracterizes his answer.
THE WITNESS: Yes.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. If there had been inquiries that were made by Coleman (Parent) Holdings or any of its representatives to Sunbeam -- strike that, withdrawn.
If there had been any inquiries made by Coleman (Parent) Holdings or any of its representatives to Andersen about Sunbeam, would you have expected to be notified?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016793

Page 201

A. Yes.
Q. And because you were the number three person on the Andersen team advising Sunbeam at the time?
A. Yes.
Q. And because you were the point person for these acquisition transactions and working with Morgan Stanley on its due diligence, you and Mr. Harlow?
A. We were working for Sunbeam on the due diligence, not Morgan Stanley.
Q. Correct, but you were working with Morgan Stanley in responding to their inquiries as part of their due diligence?
A. Yes.
Q. And so you would expect that if there were inquiries from Coleman (Parent) Holdings, that you and Mr. Harlow would also be involved in those?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Object to the form of the question.
THE WITNESS: I would think so, yes.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Okay. Based on the total lack of due diligence that you observed from Coleman (Parent) Holdings, would you agree with me that Morgan Stanley's due diligence of Sunbeam was more comprehensive than Coleman (Parent) Holdings?

Page 202

MR. MARKOWSKI: Object, lack of foundation.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. From your observation.
A. From my observation, yes.
MR. MARKOWSKI: Same objection.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Sorry?
A. From where I stood, yes.
Q. So from your perspective, Morgan Stanley spent more time conducting due diligence of Sunbeam than Coleman (Parent) Holdings?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Same objection, lack of foundation.
THE WITNESS: From my vantage point, yes.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. And from your vantage point -- and again, that's all I'm asking you about is what you have personal knowledge of -- from your vantage point, Morgan Stanley conducted more comprehensive due diligence than Coleman (Parent) Holdings?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Same objection.
THE WITNESS: I would have to say more. I don't know how comprehensive it was, but more.

Page 203

BY MR. CLARE:
Q. It was more comprehensive than the due diligence performed by Coleman (Parent) Holdings?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Same objection.
THE WITNESS: I wasn't aware of any due diligence done by Coleman that I was aware of.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. So Morgan Stanley did due diligence and Coleman (Parent) Holdings did not, from your perspective?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Same objection.
THE WITNESS: From my perspective, yes.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. And you were surprised by the fact that Coleman (Parent) Holdings had not done any due diligence that had been directed to you?
MR. MOSCATO: I'm not going to make a big deal of it. I kind of have an objection of repeating the same question numerous times.
You can answer, Larry.
THE WITNESS: I think I just stated I was surprised.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. And you were surprised back in the first quarter of 1998?

Page 204

A. Yes.
MR. MOSCATO: Part of my objection goes to the fact that he's a busy man. I really would appreciate it if you are making points, just not to belabor them.
MR. CLARE: I understand. I just want to make sure, as you pointed out earlier, that the record is clear about Mr. Bornstein's testimony.
MR. MOSCATO: I think it's more than clear at this point. Go ahead, I'm sorry to interrupt.
MR. CLARE: That's okay.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Have you had experience in other engagements when you were at Andersen in which you were advising the client that was involved in an acquisition?
MR. MOSCATO: I'm sorry.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. In other words, besides Sunbeam, were you involved in other acquisition transactions while you were at Andersen?
MR. MOSCATO: Is that your question?
MR. CLARE: Yes.
MR. MOSCATO: My objection was to advising the client about an acquisition, because I don't think there is any testimony --

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

0019794

Page 205

MR. CLARE: That's fine, I withdraw that.
MR. MOSCATO: Okay.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Were you involved in any engagement at Andersen in which Andersen was involved in responding to due diligence inquiries in an acquisition setting besides the Sunbeam one?
A. Yes.
Q. And in those situations, were you involved in receiving or responding to requests that were made by the party that was investing in Andersen's client?
A. Yes.
Q. And were you involved in those other situations in responding to requests from the investor's financial advisors?
A. Yes.
Q. And their lawyers?
A. Yes.
Q. And in those situations, you had also met with the investing company's accountants?
A. Yes.
Q. But none of that happened in connection with the Sunbeam acquisition of Coleman; is that right?
MR. MARKOWSKI: None of what?
MR. CLARE: None of those items that I just described.

Page 206

MR. MARKOWSKI: Object to the form of the question.
THE WITNESS: That's all over the place, the question, I'm sorry.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Okay. Did you accompany -- let me withdraw that.
Were you involved in conducting due diligence on Coleman?
A. Yes.
Q. And you met with Coleman's outside accountants as part of that due diligence?
A. Yes.
Q. And you asked questions of them about Coleman's financial condition?
A. Yes.
Q. And how many days did you spend doing that with Coleman specifically?
A. One.
Q. And then you spent one day each with the other acquisition targets?
A. Yes.
Q. And that was as part of Sunbeam's due diligence on Coleman, that one day of due diligence?

Page 207

A. Yes.
Q. Did you think you had done an adequate job of conducting due diligence on Coleman from an accounting perspective?
MR. MOSCATO: I object.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Did you have a view at the time?
A. I didn't think it was adequate, no.
Q. And did you inform anybody of your view that it was inadequate?
A. The people I was traveling with. Yes, the answer is yes.
Q. Who?
A. Bob Gluck.
Q. So you told --
A. Janet Kelly, there was another guy there, Bob Tottie, I believe his name was.
Q. Was there anybody from Morgan Stanley present at that meeting?
A. No.
Q. Did you ever express that view to Morgan Stanley that you thought the due diligence that had been done on Coleman by Sunbeam was inadequate?
A. I believe I probably did, yeah.
Q. As you sit here today, do you have a recollection of when and where and to whom that information was provided at Morgan Stanley?

Page 208

A. No, not specifically, no.
Q. Generally?
A. No.
Q. So you can't testify about a particular conversation that you had or a particular document that was written to communicate that information to Morgan Stanley?
A. No.
Q. I want to switch topics to focus on the day at the print shop.
A. Okay.
Q. And I want to start where you started earlier this morning about when you were in the hotel room with Mr. Brockelman watching television.
And again, just to be clear, this was March 19, 1998, the day that the press release was issued?
A. Yes.
Q. And you were watching television with Mr. Brockelman?
A. Yes.
Q. And it was a report on CNBC?
A. I believe so, yeah.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016795

Page 209

Q. And your recollection is it was a text crawler on the bottom of the screen?
A. Yes.
Q. It was not a news report with a live interview or a news person that was communicating this information, to the best of your recollection?
A. Yeah, I think I do remember alive conversation on it, but I'm not 100 percent sure.
Q. And you recall that the news report indicated that the first quarter 1998 sales might not meet analysts' expectations? That was part of the news report that you remember hearing?
A. Honestly, I just remember early morning release Sunbeam's sales reports, sales are going to be below expectations. I don't remember anything specific about it.
Q. That was my question, was whether you remember whether the statement in the press release about first quarter 1997 sales was part of the report that you saw.
A. I don't remember.
Q. You don't remember one way or the other?
A. No.
Q. Was there any mention of Morgan Stanley in the press release, the press report that you saw on

Page 210

CNBC?
A. I don't remember.
Q. Do you remember if there were any mention of the debenture offering?
A. No.
Q. Or the pending acquisitions?
A. I don't recall anything, no.
Q. Was CNBC reporting on the reaction of the stock to this news?
A. I believe so, yeah.
Q. And what do you recall was the stock price that day?
A. I thought it went down significantly. I don't remember exactly what it was.
Q. Is that all you remember about the press report that you saw?
A. On TV?
Q. Yes.
A. Yes.
Q. And at the time that you saw the press release -- sorry, withdrawn.
At the time that you saw the press report on CNBC, you knew from your prior conversation with Mr. Pastrana that Sunbeam sales for the first two months of 1998 were lower than the prior year, right?

Page 211

A. Yes.
Q. So this news report on CNBC was not the first time you were hearing that information?
MR. MARKOWSKI: I'm going to object. He said he can't remember whether the information about the first quarter of '97 was part of the announcement.
MR. CLARE: And I didn't ask him about that.
MR. MARKOWSKI: Could you read the question back, please.
MR. CLARE: Fair enough. Now I understand your objection, Bob, I'm sorry.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Was Mr. Brockelman present when you called Mr. Harlow to ask him about the, what had happened?
A. Yes.
Q. About the press release?
A. Yes.
Q. And you said you couldn't remember whether it was Mr. Harlow or Mr. Gluck that you ultimately got in touch with from your hotel room?
A. Yes.
Q. Did either Mr. Harlow or Mr. Gluck read you the entire press release over the phone?
A. I don't remember if they did or if I got it faxed, I don't recall.

Page 212

Q. Did you learn from any source during that phone conversation who had drafted the press release?
A. I don't remember.
Q. During that telephone conversation, was there any discussion about what role, if any, Morgan Stanley had in the decision to issue the press release or its content?
A. At the hotel room, no.
Q. The first time you had a discussion on that topic was at the print shop with Mr. Tyree?
A. Yes.
Q. During that initial telephone call that you had in your hotel room, was there any discussion with Mr. Harlow or Mr. Gluck about Sunbeam's ability to exceed first quarter 1997 sales?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Could you read that back?
(Thereupon, a portion of the record was read by the reporter.)
MR. MARKOWSKI: You're talking about discussion other than reading the text of the press release?
MR. CLARE: That's correct. Any discussion about the achievability.
THE WITNESS: Not that I'm aware.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

01/16/96

Page 213

BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Was there any discussion between you and Mr. Harlow and Mr. Gluck about whether the press release that Sunbeam had issued should be retracted or withdrawn?
A. No.
Q. Did you think that the press release should be retracted or withdrawn?
A. No.
Q. Did you think the press release was false?
A. No.
Q. Did you think the press release was misleading?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you discuss your view that the press release was misleading with either Mr. Harlow or Mr. Gluck?
A. Again, at the hotel room, talking about the hotel room?
Q. Yes, I am.
A. Not that I'm aware of.
Q. Was there any discussion about withholding Andersen's comfort letter as a result of the issuance of the press release, again focusing on the conversation in the hotel room?

Page 214

A. Not that I'm aware of, no.
Q. Was there any discussion about what disclosure needed to be made in the offering memorandum of the press release with Mr. Harlow or Mr. Gluck?
A. No.
Q. So the first time that topic was raised was later at the print shop?
A. Yes.
Q. Was there a discussion with you and Mr. Harlow and Mr. Gluck about approaching Morgan Stanley with that question?
A. No.
Q. You testified that you did ask Mr. Tyree and Mr. Lurie about what would be included in the offering memorandum, correct?
A. Yeah, I did that myself.
Q. That was on your own initiative?
A. Yes.
Q. In other words, prior to that, you had not had a discussion with anybody from Andersen about asking that question?
A. No.
Q. Or anybody from Sunbeam?
A. No.
Q. You stated that you held a view that the press release was misleading.
A. Yes.
Q. But you never asked Sunbeam to withdraw or retract the press release, did you?
A. No.
Q. And you did not express that suggestion to anybody internally at Sunbeam?
A. No.
Q. And/or anybody internally at Andersen?
A. No.
Q. Or anybody at Morgan Stanley?
A. No.
Q. And the reason that you thought it was misleading is because you thought it was aggressive?
A. Yes.
Q. Is there any other reason that you thought it was misleading?
A. The language about the reasons for it were I thought misleading.
Q. In what way?
A. Just I'd have to look at it again, but --
Q. Let's pull it out. It's Exhibit Number 14.
A. Just the wording, changes in inventory management and order patterns. I'm not really sure exactly how that impacts sales.

Page 215

Page 216

Q. Could that be a reference to Sunbeam's Early Buy program?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Object to the form of the question.
THE WITNESS: I have no idea exactly at this point.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. But is that the way you understood it?
A. Yes, and then the whole comment about new products, because I don't believe that at that time any of the new products had significant sales, the new products that they talked about here.
Q. Now you testified earlier that you discussed with Morgan Stanley and the Davis Polk lawyers your belief that you had that the statement in the press release was aggressive, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you discuss with Morgan Stanley or Davis Polk these additional concerns that you had about the wording of the reasons for the softer sales?
A. I don't remember specifically.
Q. As you sit here today, can you recall any discussion that you had with Morgan Stanley or Davis Polk about the reasons stated in the press release for the softer sales?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 217

A. No.
Q. Did you discuss that issue with Mr. Gluck or Mr. Harlow in your hotel room?
MR. MARKOWSKI: That issue being the statement made in the press release?
MR. CLARE: About the reasons, yes.
THE WITNESS: No.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Did you raise that issue with anybody?
A. The reasons in the press release? I don't remember. I just, I just remember focusing on the $253 million number that I didn't think that was going to be met and that they should have just left it at lower, it's going to be lower basically.
Q. They, Sunbeam should have just left it at that?
A. Yeah.
Q. Did anyone ever tell you that Morgan Stanley had been involved in drafting the press release?
A. Drafting specifically, no, but Tyree mentioned that they were involved in the conversation that led up to the issuance of the release.
Q. With regard to the particular wording of the press release --
A. I have no idea.

Page 218

Q. You have no idea what role, if any, Morgan Stanley played in the drafting of the press release from any source?
A. Yes.
Q. Yes, you have --
A. I have no idea.
Q. You have no idea, thank you.
When was the first time you saw a hard copy of the press release? Was it in your hotel room or at the printer?
A. I think it was in my hotel room.
Q. Were you informed by anyone who had decided to include the statement about expecting to exceed 1997 first quarter sales in the press release?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Could you read that back for me, please?
(Thereupon, a portion of the record was read by the reporter.)
THE WITNESS: No.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. That was the portion of the press release that you objected to, correct?
A. For the most part, yes.
Q. And you don't have any understanding as to who put that clause in the press release?

Page 219

A. No.
Q. Mr. Tyree didn't tell you?
A. No.
Q. Or Mr. Gluck or anybody?
A. No.
Q. I want to go back to the discussion that you had with Mr. Tyree at the print shop. So we're leaving your hotel room now, and you and Mr. Brockelman go to Global Financial Press.
You said that there was a meeting that you had with the individuals present where you discussed the subscription for the bond offering, the fact that it was oversubscribed? That was the first thing that you remember when you arrived at the print shop?
A. Yeah, I was very surprised it was oversubscribed.
Q. Why were you surprised?
A. Because we just had pretty devastating news about the results of the company and the stock price was going down significantly and the bonds were oversubscribed and they were convertible bonds into stocks, so I just thought it was ironic at best that it was, the bonds were oversubscribed.
Q. And did the discussion of the press release and what should be put in the offering memo about the press release come up during that conversation?

Page 220

A. No.
Q. When did that issue come up? Did it come up in the course of working through the offering memorandum in the manner that you described?
A. No, I'd say the first 15 minutes of the conversation were about the surprise of the size of the offering, and then the conversation about what happened the night before and Dunlap yelling and screaming.
The next 15 minutes were based on what was going to be put in the offering related to the disclosure of the press release.
Q. Tell me about the conversation with Mr. Tyree and others about the night before. Tell me everything you remember about that discussion.
A. Just that there was a lot of yelling and screaming, and Dunlap would say, "Who the hell do these guys think they are making us disclose this? We're going to lose $100 million. They don't know our business." Those types of things.
Q. So it was your understanding that Mr. Dunlap was reluctant to issue the press release?
A. Yes.
Q. It was your understanding that Morgan Stanley had insisted that Sunbeam issue the press release, is

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016796

16div-024942

Page 221

that what Mr. Tyree told you?
A. No, nothing about insisting.
Q. Or had suggested?
A. I have no idea who suggested it.
Q. Well, what I'm trying to get at is you referenced a statement by Mr. Dunlap, "Who do these guys think they are, making me lose $100,000?"
A. I think they were talking about Arthur Andersen.
Q. So it was your understanding that Mr. Dunlap was upset with Andersen?
A. Yes.
Q. Now I'm a little confused, because I thought to your knowledge Andersen had not played any role in the decision to issue the press release or the drafting of it.
A. No. The decision was that the information needed to be disclosed to Morgan Stanley and the public, or else they weren't getting that comfort letter.
Q. Okay. And so you understood Mr. Dunlap to be upset with Andersen for insisting that it be disclosed to Morgan Stanley?
A. And the public.
Q. And the public?

Page 222

A. Yes.
Q. And it was your understanding that unless that information was disclosed to the public, that Andersen would withhold its comfort letter?
A. Unless reasonable disclosure was made, yes.
Q. And that if reasonable disclosure was made, that Andersen would issue its comfort letter?
A. That's my understanding, yes.
Q. In terms of the discussion about what portion of the press release ought to be included in the offering memorandum, you didn't have any objection to including the statement that Sunbeam might miss the expectation of Wall Street analysts, did you?
Did you have any objection to including that portion of the press release in the offering memorandum?
A. No.
Q. Your only objection was the clause that follows that about net sales being expected to exceed 1997 first quarter sale?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Object to the form of the question, mischaracterizes what he has said about his views of various other statements in this.
MR. MOSCATO: Well, answer the question.
THE WITNESS: My main objection was the caveat to the $253 million in sales.

Page 223

BY MR. CLARE:
Q. And that's the objection that you raised with Morgan Stanley?
A. Yes.
Q. You didn't raise any of your other objections about the wording with Morgan Stanley?
A. I don't remember specifically.
Q. You don't remember doing it?
A. I don't think any of it should be in other than really the facts as they were.
Q. Which was what?
A. They weren't going to make the top number.
Q. So you didn't have any objection to that information being disclosed?
A. No.
Q. You see here on the second page of CPH Exhibit 14 there is a cautionary statement.
A. Yes.
Q. You're familiar with those cautionary statements?
A. Yes.
Q. In the press release that you saw on March 19th, the hard copy that you saw included these cautionary statements?

Page 224

A. Yes.
Q. And these are akin to the cautionary statements that you wanted to be included in the offering memorandum --
A. Yes.
Q. -- to accompany the press release disclosure?
A. Yes.
Q. You didn't have any objection to including those cautionary statements in the offering memorandum?
A. No.
Q. Did anyone from Morgan Stanley or Davis Polk object to your suggestion that you include cautionary language in the offering memorandum about forward-looking statements or risk factors?
A. Not that I'm aware of, no.
Q. Do you remember anybody resisting that idea?
A. No.
Q. You testified that after this initial conversation with Mr. Tyree where you raised these objections, it was Mr. Lurie who said the press release would be going in verbatim?
A. Yes.
Q. Did Mr. Tyree say anything during that conversation that you remember?
A. No, not specifically.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

01/16/99

Page 225

Q. Do you have any recollection of, even without recalling his specific words, what his position on that was?
A. No.
Q. Did he ever say he disagreed with you?
A. I don't remember.
Q. You don't remember him saying that?
A. No.
Q. Did you have that impression that he disagreed with you?
A. Yes.
Q. But you can't recall what it was that he said?
A. It was his counsel sitting right next to him that disagreed with me and he didn't differ his opinion, so --
Q. Did Mr. Lurie explain the reasons for his statement that the press release would go in verbatim?
A. That those were the company's representations.
Q. So Mr. Lurie told you that these were Sunbeam's representations and that they would be included in Sunbeam's bond offering; is that a fair summary?
A. Yes.

Page 226

Q. Did Mr. Lurie express an independent view of whether it ought to be included or not?
A. He -- yes, he said he -- yes.
Q. But he was -- let me put it this way. Did Mr. Lurie communicate to you whether the company believed the press release ought to be included verbatim?
A. No.
Q. Did you think Mr. Lurie was the final decision maker as to what would go in the offering memorandum?
A. No, I thought it was the company's decision.
Q. So you didn't think it was Mr. Lurie?
A. No.
Q. You didn't think it was anybody from Davis Polk?
A. Anybody could have said the deal's not going through if we put this in. I mean it's their decision.
Q. My question is different. My question is who was the, who was the final decision maker about what would be included in the Recent Development section of the offering memorandum?
And I believe your testimony is you believe that it was the company's decision ultimately.
A. Yeah, I believe so.

Page 227

Q. Okay. Did, so you didn't think it was Mr. Tyree's decision to make ultimately?
A. No.
Q. You testified that there were at least one and maybe more lawyers from Scadden Arps present for this discussion, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And they were there as lawyers to Sunbeam?
A. Yes.
Q. Did they participate in this discussion?
A. I don't specifically remember.
Q. Do you remember any of the lawyers from Scadden expressing a view as to what ought to be included in the Recent Development section?
A. No.
Q. Do you remember them agreeing or disagreeing with the objection that you made?
A. No.
Q. Did you solicit their view?
A. I'm pretty sure that I did. I don't remember specifically, though.
Q. Do you have an impression about the position that the Scadden lawyers had on this issue that you were discussing with Mr. Lurie and Mr. Tyree?
A. I think I was the only one in the room that had a difference of opinion about what should be in there.

Page 228

Q. So it wasn't just Morgan Stanley and Davis Polk. Your impression was that Sunbeam's lawyers, Scadden Arps --
A. Yes.
Q. -- had the same view?
A. Yes.
Q. Is there anything else about that discussion that we haven't talked about today --
A. No.
Q. -- that you can recall?
A. No.
Q. At that point you left the room and you went into the pool room?
A. Uh huh.
Q. And you called Mr. Harlow?
A. (Witness nods head up and down.)
Q. Is that a yes?
A. Yes.
Q. I'm sorry, the court reporter has to take down your verbal answers.
A. Sorry, I'm eating ice.
Q. And Mr. Harlow conferenced in Mr. Gluck?
A. Yes.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016600

Page 229

Q. How long did you talk to Mr. Harlow before he conferenced in Mr. Gluck?
A. Ten minutes probably.
Q. Do you remember anything that you discussed with Mr. Harlow specifically before you brought in Mr. Gluck?
A. Other than the fact as we discussed earlier about my opinion not to put that in.
Q. Mr. Harlow shared your view?
A. Yes.
Q. And why did you conference in Mr. Gluck?
A. To get an understanding of the company's, what they believed what should be included, as well as to get more information on the basis for making the statement.
Q. Because it was the company's decision about what would be included in the offering memorandum?
A. Yes.
Q. And that was the reason you went to the company for that?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you and Mr. Harlow attempt to or discuss conferencing in anybody else from Morgan Stanley?
A. No. They were in the next room. They knew what I was doing, so they knew who I was speaking with.

Page 230

Q. I understand that, but you or Mr. Harlow didn't suggest to conference in somebody perhaps more senior from Morgan Stanley to discuss this issue?
A. Never met anybody more senior from Morgan Stanley so --
Q. That was my next question. Did you know anybody from Morgan Stanley who was working on the deal other than Mr. Tyree?
A. And Tyrone Chang, no.
Q. Other than what you testified to this morning, do you remember anything about the discussion that you had with Mr. Gluck?
A. No.
Q. And Mr. Harlow?
A. No.
Q. Mr. Harlow told you he was going to follow up with Mr. Fanin?
A. Yes.
Q. Did he say why he was going to follow up with Mr. Fanin?
A. To discuss the issue and get support for the sales estimates.
Q. And Mr. Gluck had not been involved in the discussion of the sales estimates the night before?
A. I have no idea.

Page 231

Q. But you thought Mr. Fanin had --
A. Yes.
Q. -- some additional information on that?
A. Yes.
Q. And was there a consideration or discussion that the question about what should be included in the offering memorandum might have legal implications, and that's why it made sense to bring somebody from Sunbeam's legal department into the conversation?
A. I don't know what the thought process was, to be honest with you.
Q. Did that thought occur to you?
A. No, my understanding was he was part of the discussion in the press release.
Q. But did that thought occur to you that the question of what ought to be included in the offering memorandum might have legal implications for Sunbeam and therefore a Sunbeam lawyer needed to be involved in the decision making?
A. Yes.
Q. That thought occurred to you that night?
A. As well as other counsel that were there, yes.
Q. But again, it was the company's decision about what would be included in the offering memorandum?

Page 232

A. Yes.
Q. And so it would make sense that the company's lawyers were involved in that decision?
A. Correct.
Q. And in fact, later in the evening it was the company's lawyers that communicated to you the company's decision to include the press release verbatim, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And that was either Mr. Fanin or Miss Kelly?
A. I believe it was Miss Kelly to Harlow, Harlow to me.
Q. But it was your understanding that Miss Kelly was the ultimate decision-maker on including the press release verbatim?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Objection, lack of foundation.
THE WITNESS: My belief, it was Fanin's decision. It was legal counsel, Sunbeam's legal counsel.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Sunbeam's legal counsel?
A. In-house legal counsel.
Q. Just to be clear action, it's your testimony that the final decision to include the entire text of the press release verbatim in the press release was made by Sunbeam's in-house legal counsel?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

CONT #972

Page 233

A. Yes.
MR. MARKOWSKI: Objection to lack of foundation.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. But from your perspective, that was true?
A. Yes.
Q. You returned to the room with Mr. Brockelman and Mr. Tyree and Mr. Lurie and the Scadden lawyers were and you had a side bar conversation with Mr. Brockelman?
A. Outside of the room, yes.
Q. And Mr. Brockelman told you that Mr. Tyree was making derogatory comments to you?
A. Yes.
MR. MARKOWSKI: When you say to you --
THE WITNESS: Toward me.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Directed towards you while you were outside of the room?
A. Yes.
Q. Did Mr. Brockelman tell you what he thought Mr. Tyree was upset about?

Page 234

A. I think it was the fact that he wasn't aware of the results of the sales for the first two months, where the company was.
Q. And it was, was that your sense as well? Did you share that sense that that's what Mr. Tyree was upset about?
A. Yes.
Q. So Mr. Tyree, in using profanity that was directed towards you outside of your presence and then again to you in your presence, it was your sense that he was upset about not knowing this information sooner?
A. Yes.
Q. He wasn't using this profanity in an argument with you over your objection to including the text of the press release?
A. No.
Q. That wasn't the context of Mr. Tyree's profanity?
A. Not that I believe.
Q. How about raising his voice?
A. I don't think so.
Q. Did Mr. Tyree ever say to you during that discussion after you had reentered the room that he believed that the press release should be included verbatim in the offering memorandum?

Page 235

A. I don't recall specifically him saying that.
Q. Do you recall him saying that in substance?
A. Yes.
Q. After you came back into the room?
A. Yes.
Q. And did he elaborate on his reasons for that?
A. No.
Q. Did Mr. Tyree ever indicate to you that it was his decision to make?
A. No.
Q. Did he ever say to you, "I don't care what you think, Mr. Bornstein, we're putting it in," in words or in substance?
A. For the most part, yeah, that was the gist of what was being told to me.
Q. And did you tell Mr. Tyree that the issue had been submitted to Sunbeam's legal counsel?
A. He was aware of that, yes.
Q. Because you told him?
A. Yes.
Q. You told him that you had spoken with Mr. Fanin?
A. I never spoke to Fanin, but someone had, yes.
Q. You told Mr. Tyree that Andersen had raised the issue with Mr. Fanin?

Page 236

A. Yes.
Q. And at that point, what happened with regard to this issue? Did everybody sit and wait for --
A. People kept working and it was several hours later that the decision finally came back.
Q. So people kept working on other issues related to the offering memorandum?
A. Yes.
Q. At that point in time when Mr. Tyree had this discussion with you, no decision had been made about what would be included in the offering memorandum?
A. Correct.
Q. During that same discussion with Mr. Tyree, you indicated that he said, "Are these guys fucking with me? Are they going to make their numbers or not?" Is that correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Best of your recollection of what he said?
A. Yes.
Q. Who did you understand Mr. Tyree to be referring to when he said these guys?
A. Sunbeam.
Q. So he wasn't saying Andersen? He wasn't referring to Andersen?
A. No.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

015802

Page 237

Q. And he wasn't suggesting that you or Mr. Brockelman might be fucking with him about the numbers?
A. Correct.
Q. He seemed to be directing his anger towards Sunbeam in raising this question?
A. Yeah. It was these guys, so it wasn't you.
Q. Okay. And you understood him to be referring to Sunbeam?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you -- what did you understand him to be asking, less colloquially, when he asked you that question?
A. If I thought they were going to be able to make these numbers.
Q. Did you think it was appropriate for him to ask that question?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you think it was legitimate for Mr. Tyree and Morgan Stanley to want to know that information?
A. Yes.
Q. Did he appear sincere to you in wanting to know that information?
A. He seemed very upset and nervous about it.
Q. Did he appear to you to be concerned that

Page 238

Sunbeam's management was fucking with him about their ability to meet the numbers?
A. He had a concern, yes.
Q. And did you think that, in asking that question, Mr. Tyree was being diligent in wanting to find out that information?
MR. MOSCATO: I object to that.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Did you have an impression about that?
A. No. I don't think he was being diligent about it.
Q. But you thought it was appropriate for him to ask that question?
A. Sure.
Q. And what did you tell him in response to that question?
A. I told him what I said before. I didn't think -- I thought it was a stretch.
Q. Did you tell him in words or in substance that Sunbeam was lying to Morgan Stanley about its sales objectives for the quarter?
A. No.
Q. Did you think that Sunbeam was lying to Morgan Stanley about its sales objectives for the quarter?

Page 239

A. I thought it was aggressive.
Q. But did you think that Sunbeam's management was lying to Morgan Stanley about its sales objectives?
A. No.
Q. Did you have any basis to suspect that that was the case?
A. No.
Q. Did Mr. Tyree discuss with you in any detail the schedule of sales that's been marked at least in form as CPH Exhibit 121?
A. No.
Q. Did you have any discussions about these numbers beyond you expressing the view that they were aggressive?
A. I believe I mentioned that I think they were numbers on a page and they were aggressive at this point in time.
Q. Did Mr. Tyree tell you where this document had come from?
A. No.
Q. Was there any discussion about the fact that Morgan Stanley had spent several hours on the phone the night before going through this document with Sunbeam's management?
A. No.

Page 240

Q. Was there any discussion about the fact that Mr. Uzzi and several members of Sunbeam's sales team had given a presentation to Morgan Stanley about this document?
A. No.
Q. Was there any discussion about Sunbeam's confidence in meeting these numbers that are reflected on the buildup, CPH 121?
A. Not that I recall.
Q. Did Mr. Harlow ever tell you that Mr. Uzzi was very confident about exceeding the first quarter 1997 numbers?
A. I believe he did toward later in the night.
Q. So later in the evening Mr. Harlow reported back to you that as a result of his additional inquiries, he had been informed that Mr. Uzzi was very confident that Sunbeam would exceed its first quarter 1990 sales numbers?
MR. MARKOWSKI: You said 1990 again.
MR. CLARE: Okay. I apologize.
THE WITNESS: I believe that the board got back to Phil. I don't know who he spoke to specifically. I don't know, I don't think he spoke to Uzzi directly.

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016803

Page 241

BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Okay. Did you provide any other response to Mr. Tyree about the sales buildup document except for what you just testified about to say that it was aggressive?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Other than what he testified about this morning?
MR. CLARE: Well, let me ask you that.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Did you tell Mr. Tyree that you believed, having seen this document, that it was even more aggressive for Sunbeam to be projecting these sales?
A. I don't know about more aggressive, but I, as I testified to earlier, I said if they are going to make it, they are going to make it legitimately, because I'm going to do additional procedures to ensure that they do.
Q. We're going to get to that part of the conversation in just a second. I just want to focus on CPH Exhibit 121 and the sales buildup sheet.
A. Okay.
Q. Let me know when you have that in front of you.
A. Okay.
Q. You testified a moment ago that you told

Page 242

Mr. Tyree that you believed the numbers on CPH Exhibit 121 were just numbers on a page; is that right?
A. For lack of a better definition, yeah, because I didn't see support for it.
Q. Okay. But you didn't know, Mr. Tyree didn't tell you that he had additional support beyond this document --
A. No.
Q. -- from Sunbeam sales force?
A. No.
Q. I want to get as close as I can to the exact word that you told Mr. Tyree in response to this document. Can you tell me what your best recollection is?
A. I think I've already testified to that.
Q. Okay. Can you tell me again, please.
A. That I thought it was aggressive and a bunch of numbers on a page.
Q. Now this morning, in response to a question from Mr. Markowski, you testified to a belief that you had after seeing this document, that it was even more aggressive.
And I want to know, did you communicate that belief to Mr. Tyree that your skepticism about the numbers escalated after having seen the sales buildup that's CPH 121?

Page 243

A. I don't recall specifically.
Q. Do you recall at all discussing that issue with Mr. Tyree?
A. That it was escalated above where it was before? No.
Q. Did you provide Mr. Tyree or any of the Davis Polk lawyers with any information about any of the customers that are listed here on CPH Exhibit 121?
A. No.
Q. For example, did you tell Morgan Stanley anything that you or Arthur Andersen knew about potential orders at Wal-Mart?
A. No.
Q. Or past sales to that customer?
A. No.
Q. Or ordering patterns?
A. No.
Q. Or trends?
A. No.
Q. Did you have this information in your mind about any of the customers that are listed here on CPH Exhibit 121?
A. No.
Q. Did you have any specific information about the sales or ordering patterns for these customers that night on March 19, 1998?

Page 244

A. No.
MR. MOSCATO: Is it possible to take 30 seconds and hunt up a cup of coffee?
MR. CLARE: Sure, let's go off the record.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are now going off video record. The time on the monitor, 3:01 p.m.
(Thereupon, a recess was taken.)
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are now back on video record. The time on the monitor is 3:11 p.m.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Mr. Bornstein, before the break we were talking about your discussions with Mr. Tyree at the print shop on the evening of March 19th.
You testified that you told Mr. Tyree you were skeptical of Sunbeam's abilities to exceed first quarter 1997; is that correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Other than the word skeptical, did you use any other word with Mr. Tyree to describe your views about the achievability of that sales objective?
A. I might have used the word conservative.
Q. In referring to yourself as a conservative accountant?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016004

Page 245

A. I believe so, yes.
Q. And did you tell Mr. Tyree in words or in substance that it was impossible for Sunbeam to exceed its first quarter 1997 sales objective, of exceeding -- let me rephrase.
Did you tell Mr. Tyree in words or in substance that it would be impossible for Sunbeam in the first quarter of 1998 to exceed first quarter 1997 sales?
A. I don't believe I used the word impossible. I think I used the words logistically difficult.
Q. Okay. So we have skeptical and logistically difficult.
A. I think those are the words I used.
Q. Are there any other words that you used in talking to Mr. Tyree to describe your view of the achievability of that sales objective?
MR. MARKOWSKI: He already -- are you excluding what he already testified to this morning? Just to get him to repeat it as a memory test? Because he testified on this.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. No, I'm asking you whether you remember using any other exact words. I'm asking you for exact words.
A. I don't remember the exact words, to be honest with you, so many years.

Page 246

(Thereupon, a cellphone rang.)
MR. CLARE: Let's go off the record.
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are now going off the video record. The time on the monitor is 3:12 p.m.
(Discussion held off the record.)
THE VIDEOGRAPHER: We are now back on video record. The time on the monitor, 3:18 p.m.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Mr. Bornstein, before the break I was asking you to the best of your ability to tell me the exact words that you used with Mr. Tyree and Mr. Lurie in describing your views on the achievability of Sunbeam's objective to exceed first quarter 1997 sales.
And can you testify beyond what you've already told me that you used the word skeptical and logistically difficult to describe your exact words?
A. Healthy skepticism. I did the math for them, and I think I testified to everything else I've said.
Q. As you sit here today, other than just do the math, skepticism or healthy skepticism and logistically difficult, do you remember any of the exact words that you used with Mr. Tyree or with Mr. Lurie?
A. No.

Page 247

Q. Now when you said you did the math for them, that was basis for your skepticism; is that correct, the gap that existed at that point in time between sales to date and the number of days left in the quarter? Is that the math that you're referring to?
A. Yes.
Q. And you went through that with Mr. Tyree and Mr. Lurie?
A. Yes.
Q. Other than that calculation that you did, let me ask you this. Did you actually physically do it out on paper with Mr. Lurie and Mr. Tyree?
A. No. I did it in my head.
Q. And that's your testimony where you said they would have to ship between 10 and $15 million a day for the rest of the quarter?
A. Correct.
Q. And that was the basis for your statements to Mr. Tyree and Mr. Lurie about your skepticism?
A. That, and I've been to every location throughout the country and thought it would be difficult to ship that much product --
Q. Okay.
A. -- so quickly.
Q. Was it based on anything else besides that?

Page 248

A. No.
Q. Had you done any study or analysis of sales trends at Sunbeam?
MR. MOSCATO: You mean like a formal study or analysis or any kind of understanding?
MR. CLARE: Any kind of understanding.
THE WITNESS: Yes.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. And what had you done?
A. Just looked at quarterly results and looked at sales by month.
Q. Did you have an understanding that there was a history at Sunbeam of sales being back-ended at the end of the quarter?
MR. MARKOWSKI: Object to the form of the question.
THE WITNESS: There was a recent history, yes.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. An uptake of sales in the last few days or weeks of a quarter?
A. Yes.
Q. And you knew that on March 19th?
A. Yes.
Q. Was your skepticism based on anything you knew about a particular customer of Sunbeam's?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016805

Page 249

A. No.
Q. You didn't have any additional information about a customer?
A. No.
Q. Did you know anything, did you have any additional information about the likelihood of the sales coming in based on a particular customer or conversation that you had had with a customer?
A. No.
Q. Or with a member of Sunbeam's sales staff?
A. No.
Q. You testified that you told Mr. Tyree and Mr. Lurie and, in the Scadden lawyer's presence, that you were going to be conducting some additional procedures at the end of the quarter, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And I believe you said that your statement was something to the effect that if they are going to make their revenue number, they are going to make it, because I'm going to be sending people out to every shipping dock all over the country at midnight at the end of the quarter, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. Those were the additional procedures that you were describing?

Page 250

A. Yes.
Q. And those are the procedures that you discussed with Mr. Markowski this morning?
A. Yes.
Q. What was your intent of telling that to Morgan Stanley? Why did you tell Morgan Stanley you were going to be doing that?
A. Because I was skeptical that they were going to be able to make the numbers.
Q. And you wanted to take additional steps to make sure that the first quarter 1998 sales numbers that Sunbeam reported were right; is that correct?
A. Yes.
Q. And that was due in part to the pressure that you believed management was putting on the sales staff to get product out the door?
A. Yes, for the most part, my decision to do that was made at that point in time because of the way I was being treated by the people in the room and my conservatism and wanting to make sure that it was actually going to be achieved.
Q. Because you wanted the numbers that Sunbeam reported at the end of the quarter to be right?
A. Yes.

Page 251

Q. And you meant it when you said it, right?
A. I meant it.
Q. And you actually followed through on it?
A. Yes.
Q. And did anybody from Morgan Stanley or Davis Polk object to Andersen conducting those additional procedures?
A. Not that I'm aware of, no.
Q. Well, did they say anything to you in response to your statement that you intended to carry out those additional procedures?
A. No, they didn't say a word.
Q. But they didn't object?
A. No.
Q. Do you think it would be fair for the people in the room to believe that you were serious about wanting to carry through on that statement?
A. I have no idea what they wanted to believe or not.
Q. But you said it in a serious way, you weren't joking around?
A. Right.
Q. Did you, in doing the math with Mr. Tyree and Mr. Lurie, did you ever indicate a particular number that you believed could be shipped on a per-day basis through the end of the quarter by Sunbeam?

Page 252

A. No.
Q. And did you have a particular number in your mind about how much could be shipped by Sunbeam on a per-day basis through the end of the first quarter?
A. No.
Q. So you didn't say that for the Neosho facility?
A. I don't remember specifically talking about any specific facility other than I visited, I think I specifically listed off the names of the locations I had visited.
Q. Well, that's why I'm asking you the question, because you testified you told Morgan Stanley that you had been to Neosho.
A. Yes.
Q. Did you ever tell Morgan Stanley that the Neosho facility can only ship x dollars' worth of product per day?
A. No. Specifically, no.
Q. Generally?
A. No.
Q. How about the Hattiesburg facility?
A. No.
Q. Did you ever tell anyone from Morgan Stanley

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016306

Page 253

that you believed that only x dollars' worth of product could be shipped from the Hattiesburg facility on a per-day basis?
A. No.
Q. You testified that you said that night at the printer that "I hope to God they do make their sales numbers; otherwise, you're all going to get sued."
A. Yes.
Q. Do you recall that testimony?
A. Yes.
Q. That statement is not documented in your March 31st, 1998, memo.
A. Correct.
Q. And you previously testified that this was an off-the-cuff comment that you had made.
A. Yes.
Q. Do you think the people in the room understood it that way in the context of the discussion that you had?
A. I have no idea.
Q. Is that the way you intended it to be taken, was as an off-the-cuff comment?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you really think that everybody was going to get sued?

Page 254

A. Possibility if the numbers didn't come in, yeah.
Q. And did you tell anyone at Andersen of your belief that everybody was going to get sued if the numbers didn't come in?
Did you discuss that with anyone internally at Andersen?
A. Not before making that comment, no.
Q. How about afterwards?
A. I don't recall specifically.
Q. You didn't tell Mr. Harlow that?
A. I'm sure at some point in time I did, that I made the comment, but I don't remember specifically.
Q. At that point in time, March 19, 1998, did you think it was necessary to delay the bond offering as a result of Sunbeam's sales performance to date in the first quarter of 1998?
A. In March?
Q. Uh huh.
A. What part of March?
Q. On March 19th, that night at the print shop.
A. No, I didn't know it was a decision that I needed to make, to be honest with you.
Q. Did you, did that thought ever occur to you that the bond offering should be delayed as a result of the slower sales performance through that point in the quarter?

Page 255

A. I was surprised that the bond offering was going forward that night, and I made that perfectly clear to people.
Q. How did you make that perfectly clear?
A. Just surprised how, that the bond offering was continuing to go on and that the amount was much higher given the recent developments.
Q. Okay. But I want to be clear.
You said you were surprised that the bond offering was going forward because of the announcement that had been made that day.
A. Yes.
Q. And it was bad news that was announced, correct?
A. Yes.
Q. It was an early warning to the markets about Sunbeam's financial performance?
A. Yes.
Q. And you were surprised that the pricing and the subscription of the bonds had gone as well as it did in light of that news?
A. Yes.
Q. Were you surprised that Sunbeam was continuing to go forward with the bond offering? That's a separate question.

Page 256

A. Not surprised that Sunbeam was, no.
Q. Were you surprised that Sunbeam decided to continue, given the fact that it had a fully subscribed bond offering?
A. No, I was surprised that Morgan Stanley was continuing with it, not Sunbeam.
Q. Did you tell Morgan Stanley that you were surprised they were continuing with it?
A. Yes.
Q. What did you say?
A. That I was surprised that things were proceeding the way they were, given what was going on.
Q. Okay. Tell me exactly what you told Morgan Stanley in that regard.
MR. MOSCATO: If you remember the exact words, use the exact words. If you remember in substance, just give the substance.
THE WITNESS: That was in the first 15 minutes of the conversation, we talked about the oversubscriptions of the bonds and what happened that night. I don't know the exact words.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. But I want to be clear. Your testimony is that you told Morgan Stanley that the bond offering should be cancelled or delayed in light of the Sunbeam sales situation?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016007

Page 257

A. No.
MR. MOSCATO: I object.
THE WITNESS: I said I was surprised that it was continuing to go on. I never said it should be cancelled or delayed.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Did you think it should be cancelled or delayed?
MR. MOSCATO: I thought he answered that a couple of minutes ago. I mean you keep getting yourself in this because you ask the same question five times.
Larry, answer the question again, please.
I would really ask you for your sake, if nothing else, not to keep covering the same territory again and again. It's not helpful.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Well, I'm entitled to understand the surprise that you expressed. And I understand and I'm not, have no intention to ask you more questions about your surprise that the bond offering was oversubscribed, okay? We've covered that.

Page 258

A. Okay.
Q. And I understand that you were surprised that the bonds had been priced the way they were, right?
A. Right.
Q. And you were surprised that the bond offering had been oversubscribed.
A. Yes.
Q. Were you surprised that Morgan Stanley had decided to go forward with the bond offering apart from those two points?
A. Yes.
Q. Why were you surprised?
A. Just was, given that the stock price went down and the recent announcement of the information of the sales of not meeting their original forecast.
Q. So what did you think Morgan Stanley should have done?
MR. MOSCATO: Objection. Did you have a feeling as to what Morgan Stanley should do or were you just surprised?
THE WITNESS: I was just surprised.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Did you have a feeling what Morgan Stanley should have done?
A. No, I've never sold bonds myself, so I didn't have an opinion other than being surprised.

Page 259

Q. And as you sit here today, you don't have an opinion one way or the other about whether Morgan Stanley should have delayed or cancelled the bond offering?
A. As I sit here today, my opinion is they should have, yes.
Q. With the benefit of hindsight.
A. Yes.
Q. As you sat there in the conference room on March 19, 1998, did you have an opinion as to whether Morgan Stanley should have cancelled or delayed the bond offering?
A. No.
Q. That opinion was formed after Sunbeam imploded?
A. Yes. That's a good way to put it.
Q. Do you need to attend to your --
A. No, I'm okay. I'll do it on the next break.
Q. You testified that you received a telephone call later that evening from somebody informing you that a decision had been made to include the press release verbatim in the offering memorandum?
A. Yes.
Q. Up until that point in time, the group was working on other aspects of the offering memo.

Page 260

A. Yes.
Q. You received a telephone call?
A. Yes.
Q. And then you came back into the room?
A. I don't remember if I left the room or not.
Q. And did you inform those present that the decision had been made?
A. Yes.
Q. And what did you say?
A. That the decision has been made to use the press release verbatim.
Q. And did you inform those present who had made that decision?
A. Yes.
Q. And what did you say?
A. That it was made by Janet Kelly. I have no -- don't remember if they corroborated that or not directly with them.
Q. Was there any other discussion beyond your informing the room about Miss Kelly's decision?
A. Other than to make sure that the forward-looking statement information was cross referenced.
Q. And do you know who physically accomplished

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

Page 261

that?
In other words, who put in the forward-looking statement cross referencing that you had asked to be included?
A. I think I pulled the information and gave it to, I think Todd Freed was the guy that was taking control of what was getting put into the printer and taken out.
Q. Mr. Freed was an attorney at Scadden?
A. Yes.
Q. Later in the morning you signed and delivered a comfort letter to Morgan Stanley?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you disagree with the decision of Andersen to issue a comfort letter in connection with the bond offering?
A. No.
Q. Did you disagree with the decision that was made by Miss Kelly to include the press release verbatim in the offering memorandum?
A. I think I've already said that I disagreed that it shouldn't have been in there.
Q. Was it your understanding that your objections to that conclusion had been overruled by the company?

Page 262

A. Yes.
Q. And is that why you were comfortable in issuing the press release, that your objections had been considered and then rejected by the company?
MR. MOSCATO: I'm sorry, in issuing the press release?
MR. CLARE: In issuing the comfort letter.
MR. MOSCATO: Why don't you start again?
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Is that the reason why you were comfortable in issuing the comfort letter, because your objections had been considered by the company and overruled?
MR. MOSCATO: I don't understand the question.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Here's what I'm getting at.
You disagreed with the conclusion of the press release in the offering memorandum. We've covered that.
A. Yeah.
Q. But you signed and delivered a comfort letter to Morgan Stanley on behalf of Arthur Andersen that allowed the bond offering to go forward.
MR. MOSCATO: I object to that.
THE WITNESS: I don't know if it allowed the bond offering to go forward.

Page 263

MR. MOSCATO: I don't think there is anything in the record that the bond offering, that that somehow was a prerequisite to the bond offering going forward.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. Did you understand that Morgan Stanley had requested a comfort letter from Andersen in connection with the bond offering?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you understand that the offering memorandum would include Sunbeam's audited financials?
A. Yes.
Q. Did you understand that that bond offering memorandum would be registered at some later point in time?
A. Portions of it would have.
Q. Including the portions that included the audited financials?
A. The audited financials would definitely be included. I'm not sure about the rest of it.
Q. And you knew that evening on, at the print shop that Andersen would have to issue its consent to allow those audited financials to be included in that registered memorandum, correct?

Page 264

A. Yes.
Q. So did you believe that Andersen should have withheld its consent for the offering memorandum to be finalized with the audited financials that night at the print shop?
MR. MOSCATO: Objection, he didn't give his consent to this offering memorandum. They just didn't. So I object. No foundation to your question.
BY MR. CLARE:
Q. You didn't have an objection to giving the comfort letter to Morgan Stanley that evening?
A. No.
Q. And you knew when you delivered the comfort letter to Morgan Stanley that Andersen audited financial statements would be included in that offering memo?
A. Yes.
Q. And you knew that Andersen's name was going to be used in the offering memorandum as Sunbeam's auditor?
A. Yes.
Q. And you had looked at those pages that night at the print shop?
A. The audited financials?

NOT A CERTIFIED COPY

016009

Page 265

Q. Yes.
A. Yes.
Q. And in fact, you read through the offering memorandum and made cross preferences, you had been working on that for the last couple of days leading up to that, correct?
A. Correct, but you're not opining on the information on the front of the document.
Q. But again, you knew that Andersen's name was in the offering memorandum?
A. Yes.
Q. And you knew that that document was going to be provided to the debenture investors?
A. Yes.
