The first part of the report is devoted to a description of the experimental apparatus and the method of measurement. The results are then presented in the form of a series of plots showing the variation of the measured quantity with the independent variables. The theoretical curves are also shown for comparison with the experimental data. The agreement between the two is found to be very good, indicating that the theory is in good agreement with the experiment.
