THE NATIONAL COMMISSION ON EXHIBITS AND MUSEUMS REPORT

The Commission on Exhibits and Museums was organized in 1959 to study the problems of the exhibits and museums of the Federal Government. The Commission has held numerous public hearings and has received many suggestions from interested persons. The Commission has also conducted extensive research into the various problems of exhibits and museums. The Commission's report is divided into two parts. Part I deals with the general principles of exhibits and museums. Part II deals with the specific problems of the Federal Government's exhibits and museums.
