President's Energy Plan Scores Victory in Senate

- The Senate just voted 67-33 to table an amendment by Sen. Bill Nelson that would have prohibited the Department of Interior from executing any final agreements on lease blocks in the "181" area in the Gulf of Mexico. (details on Lease 181 are below)

- This vote represents a crystal clear bipartisan victory for the President's comprehensive energy package.

- This vote shows that bipartisan consensus can be reached on a plan to address our energy needs.

- Today's vote is a victory for all Americans who want to see environmentally responsible energy production to help protect consumers from wild fluctuations in energy prices.

- This vote represents yet another example that President Bush is keeping his word to balance the need to address our energy situation with local concerns. Florida officials worked with the President to craft this acceptable solution that will result in no drilling within 100 miles off the coast of Florida or in any Florida waters.

The President's Comprehensive Energy Plan

- America has a serious energy shortage and President Bush has a comprehensive plan to address it.

- The President wants to protect consumers from wild fluctuations in energy prices by diversifying America's energy supply. America has become too dependent on foreign oil. The President wants to use 21st Century technology to lower consumer energy bills by producing a diversity of clean and affordable energy.

- The President is concerned about the Americans who are feeling the energy crunch. He is doing everything he can – as soon as he can -- to help Americans who are feeling the energy crunch at the gas pump and in their utility bills. The President is using every tool at his disposal to help those who are suffering from blackouts and high gas prices. He is helping California this summer by expediting new power plants and ordering federal agencies to conserve. The President is also earmarking federal energy revenues to help low-income families cope with high energy and gas bills.

- The President's plan to produce more reliable, affordable and environmentally clean energy is built on 3 core principles:

  - ✓ The plan is comprehensive and forward-looking.
  - ✓ It utilizes 21st Century technology to allow us to promote conservation and diversify our energy supply.
  - ✓ The plan will increase the quality of life of Americans by providing reliable energy and protecting the environment.

Details on Lease 181

- The Secretary of the Interior has announced that the Bush Administration's new plan for Lease Sale 181 will include no new drilling in Florida waters.

- The proposed notice of sale will cover an area approximately one quarter the size of the area originally approved for leasing by former President Clinton and then-Governor Chiles of Florida. The sale covers an area of 1.47 million acres, as compared to the 5.9 million acres originally envisioned.

- There will be absolutely no new leasing in waters off the coast of Florida --the modified boundaries have been drawn to be at least 100 miles from the northwestern corner of the State of Florida (at the Florida-Alabama State line); more than 100 miles from Pensacola; 138 miles from Panama City; and 285 miles from Tampa.

- The exclusion of tracts within 100 miles or east of the Florida-Alabama state line came after Secretary Norton consulted with the Governors of the five coastal states closest to the Lease 181 area. Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, and Alabama supported the proposed sale, while the State of Florida opposed any development of oil or gas off the coasts of Florida.

- The new plan was devised in a manner consistent with the President's pledge to give great weight to the views of state officials.

- The proposed notice of sale balances the interests of all of the States and other stakeholders in the area. It will allow the environmentally responsible development of significant natural gas and oil resources in the Eastern Gulf of Mexico's deep waters to meet our energy needs, while respecting Florida's concerns.

- Under the new five-year plan, dramatically less Gulf deep water will be subject to drilling than under the previous Administration.

- This lease sale is part of the Department's 5-year Outer Continental Shelf Oil and Gas Leasing Program for 1997 to 2002.

- The proposed lease sale area includes 256 lease blocks (5760 acres each) totaling approximately 1.47 million acres. Twenty-three of the blocks in the proposed lease sale area are already under lease from previous sales. (The entire Sale 181 Area consists of 1033 lease blocks totaling approximately 5.9 million acres).

- The Minerals Management Service estimates that the average amount of undiscovered resources in the new plan's area that can be recovered using current technology is approximately 1.25 trillion cubic feet of natural gas and 185 million barrels of oil. In other words, as a result of today's decision, less than half of the total estimated oil and natural gas reserves in the Sale 181 Area will be open to new exploration.

- The Minerals Management Service is also releasing its five-year OCS Oil and Gas Leasing Program for 2000 -2007. This plan does not include further leasing in the remainder of the Sale 181 Area. This effectively means that there will be no additional leasing in the Eastern Gulf of Mexico, including the remainder of the Sale 181 Area, for at least the next five years.

President's Energy Plan Scores Victory in Senate

- The Senate just voted 67-33 to table an amendment by Sen. Bill Nelson that would have prohibited the Department of Interior from executing any final agreements on lease blocks in the "181" area in the Gulf of Mexico. (details on Lease 181 are below)

- This vote represents a crystal clear bipartisan victory for the President's comprehensive energy package.

- This vote shows that bipartisan consensus can be reached on a plan to address our energy needs.

- Today's vote is a victory for all Americans who want to see environmentally responsible energy production to help protect consumers from wild fluctuations in energy prices.

- This vote represents yet another example that President Bush is keeping his word to balance the need to address our energy situation with local concerns. Florida officials worked with the President to craft this acceptable solution that will result in no drilling within 100 miles off the coast of Florida or in any Florida waters.

The President's Comprehensive Energy Plan

- America has a serious energy shortage and President Bush has a comprehensive plan to address it.

- The President wants to protect consumers from wild fluctuations in energy prices by diversifying America's energy supply. America has become too dependent on foreign oil. The President wants to use 21st Century technology to lower consumer energy bills by producing a diversity of clean and affordable energy.

- The President is concerned about the Americans who are feeling the energy crunch. He is doing everything he can – as soon as he can -- to help Americans who are feeling the energy crunch at the gas pump and in their utility bills. The President is using every tool at his disposal to help those who are suffering from blackouts and high gas prices. He is helping California this summer by expediting new power plants and ordering federal agencies to conserve. The President is also earmarking federal energy revenues to help low-income families cope with high energy and gas bills.

- The President's plan to produce more reliable, affordable and environmentally clean energy is built on 3 core principles:

  - ✓ The plan is comprehensive and forward-looking.
  - ✓ It utilizes 21st Century technology to allow us to promote conservation and diversify our energy supply.
  - ✓ The plan will increase the quality of life of Americans by providing reliable energy and protecting the environment.

Details on Lease 181

- The Secretary of the Interior has announced that the Bush Administration's new plan for Lease Sale 181 will include no new drilling in Florida waters.

- The proposed notice of sale will cover an area approximately one quarter the size of the area originally approved for leasing by former President Clinton and then-Governor Chiles of Florida. The sale covers an area of 1.47 million acres, as compared to the 5.9 million acres originally envisioned.

- There will be absolutely no new leasing in waters off the coast of Florida --the modified boundaries have been drawn to be at least 100 miles from the northwestern corner of the State of Florida (at the Florida-Alabama State line); more than 100 miles from Pensacola; 138 miles from Panama City; and 285 miles from Tampa.

- The exclusion of tracts within 100 miles or east of the Florida-Alabama state line came after Secretary Norton consulted with the Governors of the five coastal states closest to the Lease 181 area. Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, and Alabama supported the proposed sale, while the State of Florida opposed any development of oil or gas off the coasts of Florida.

- The new plan was devised in a manner consistent with the President's pledge to give great weight to the views of state officials.

- The proposed notice of sale balances the interests of all of the States and other stakeholders in the area. It will allow the environmentally responsible development of significant natural gas and oil resources in the Eastern Gulf of Mexico's deep waters to meet our energy needs, while respecting Florida's concerns.

- Under the new five-year plan, dramatically less Gulf deep water will be subject to drilling than under the previous Administration.

- This lease sale is part of the Department's 5-year Outer Continental Shelf Oil and Gas Leasing Program for 1997 to 2002.

- The proposed lease sale area includes 256 lease blocks (5760 acres each) totaling approximately 1.47 million acres. Twenty-three of the blocks in the proposed lease sale area are already under lease from previous sales. (The entire Sale 181 Area consists of 1033 lease blocks totaling approximately 5.9 million acres).

- The Minerals Management Service estimates that the average amount of undiscovered resources in the new plan's area that can be recovered using current technology is approximately 1.25 trillion cubic feet of natural gas and 185 million barrels of oil. In other words, as a result of today's decision, less than half of the total estimated oil and natural gas reserves in the Sale 181 Area will be open to new exploration.

- The Minerals Management Service is also releasing its five-year OCS Oil and Gas Leasing Program for 2000 -2007. This plan does not include further leasing in the remainder of the Sale 181 Area. This effectively means that there will be no additional leasing in the Eastern Gulf of Mexico, including the remainder of the Sale 181 Area, for at least the next five years.

President's Energy Plan Scores Victory in Senate

- The Senate just voted 67-33 to table an amendment by Sen. Bill Nelson that would have prohibited the Department of Interior from executing any final agreements on lease blocks in the "181" area in the Gulf of Mexico. (details on Lease 181 are below)

- This vote represents a crystal clear bipartisan victory for the President's comprehensive energy package.

- This vote shows that bipartisan consensus can be reached on a plan to address our energy needs.

- Today's vote is a victory for all Americans who want to see environmentally responsible energy production to help protect consumers from wild fluctuations in energy prices.

- This vote represents yet another example that President Bush is keeping his word to balance the need to address our energy situation with local concerns. Florida officials worked with the President to craft this acceptable solution that will result in no drilling within 100 miles off the coast of Florida or in any Florida waters.

The President's Comprehensive Energy Plan

- America has a serious energy shortage and President Bush has a comprehensive plan to address it.

- The President wants to protect consumers from wild fluctuations in energy prices by diversifying America's energy supply. America has become too dependent on foreign oil. The President wants to use 21st Century technology to lower consumer energy bills by producing a diversity of clean and affordable energy.

- The President is concerned about the Americans who are feeling the energy crunch. He is doing everything he can – as soon as he can -- to help Americans who are feeling the energy crunch at the gas pump and in their utility bills. The President is using every tool at his disposal to help those who are suffering from blackouts and high gas prices. He is helping California this summer by expediting new power plants and ordering federal agencies to conserve. The President is also earmarking federal energy revenues to help low-income families cope with high energy and gas bills.

- The President's plan to produce more reliable, affordable and environmentally clean energy is built on 3 core principles:

  - ✓ The plan is comprehensive and forward-looking.
  - ✓ It utilizes 21st Century technology to allow us to promote conservation and diversify our energy supply.
  - ✓ The plan will increase the quality of life of Americans by providing reliable energy and protecting the environment.

Details on Lease 181

- The Secretary of the Interior has announced that the Bush Administration's new plan for Lease Sale 181 will include no new drilling in Florida waters.

- The proposed notice of sale will cover an area approximately one quarter the size of the area originally approved for leasing by former President Clinton and then-Governor Chiles of Florida. The sale covers an area of 1.47 million acres, as compared to the 5.9 million acres originally envisioned.

- There will be absolutely no new leasing in waters off the coast of Florida --the modified boundaries have been drawn to be at least 100 miles from the northwestern corner of the State of Florida (at the Florida-Alabama State line); more than 100 miles from Pensacola; 138 miles from Panama City; and 285 miles from Tampa.

- The exclusion of tracts within 100 miles or east of the Florida-Alabama state line came after Secretary Norton consulted with the Governors of the five coastal states closest to the Lease 181 area. Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, and Alabama supported the proposed sale, while the State of Florida opposed any development of oil or gas off the coasts of Florida.

- The new plan was devised in a manner consistent with the President's pledge to give great weight to the views of state officials.

- The proposed notice of sale balances the interests of all of the States and other stakeholders in the area. It will allow the environmentally responsible development of significant natural gas and oil resources in the Eastern Gulf of Mexico's deep waters to meet our energy needs, while respecting Florida's concerns.

- Under the new five-year plan, dramatically less Gulf deep water will be subject to drilling than under the previous Administration.

- This lease sale is part of the Department's 5-year Outer Continental Shelf Oil and Gas Leasing Program for 1997 to 2002.

- The proposed lease sale area includes 256 lease blocks (5760 acres each) totaling approximately 1.47 million acres. Twenty-three of the blocks in the proposed lease sale area are already under lease from previous sales. (The entire Sale 181 Area consists of 1033 lease blocks totaling approximately 5.9 million acres).

- The Minerals Management Service estimates that the average amount of undiscovered resources in the new plan's area that can be recovered using current technology is approximately 1.25 trillion cubic feet of natural gas and 185 million barrels of oil. In other words, as a result of today's decision, less than half of the total estimated oil and natural gas reserves in the Sale 181 Area will be open to new exploration.

- The Minerals Management Service is also releasing its five-year OCS Oil and Gas Leasing Program for 2000 -2007. This plan does not include further leasing in the remainder of the Sale 181 Area. This effectively means that there will be no additional leasing in the Eastern Gulf of Mexico, including the remainder of the Sale 181 Area, for at least the next five years.

President's Energy Plan Scores Victory in Senate

- The Senate just voted 67-33 to table an amendment by Sen. Bill Nelson that would have prohibited the Department of Interior from executing any final agreements on lease blocks in the "181" area in the Gulf of Mexico. (details on Lease 181 are below)

- This vote represents a crystal clear bipartisan victory for the President's comprehensive energy package.

- This vote shows that bipartisan consensus can be reached on a plan to address our energy needs.

- Today's vote is a victory for all Americans who want to see environmentally responsible energy production to help protect consumers from wild fluctuations in energy prices.

- This vote represents yet another example that President Bush is keeping his word to balance the need to address our energy situation with local concerns. Florida officials worked with the President to craft this acceptable solution that will result in no drilling within 100 miles off the coast of Florida or in any Florida waters.

The President's Comprehensive Energy Plan

- America has a serious energy shortage and President Bush has a comprehensive plan to address it.

- The President wants to protect consumers from wild fluctuations in energy prices by diversifying America's energy supply. America has become too dependent on foreign oil. The President wants to use 21st Century technology to lower consumer energy bills by producing a diversity of clean and affordable energy.

- The President is concerned about the Americans who are feeling the energy crunch. He is doing everything he can – as soon as he can -- to help Americans who are feeling the energy crunch at the gas pump and in their utility bills. The President is using every tool at his disposal to help those who are suffering from blackouts and high gas prices. He is helping California this summer by expediting new power plants and ordering federal agencies to conserve. The President is also earmarking federal energy revenues to help low-income families cope with high energy and gas bills.

- The President's plan to produce more reliable, affordable and environmentally clean energy is built on 3 core principles:

  - ✓ The plan is comprehensive and forward-looking.
  - ✓ It utilizes 21st Century technology to allow us to promote conservation and diversify our energy supply.
  - ✓ The plan will increase the quality of life of Americans by providing reliable energy and protecting the environment.

Details on Lease 181

- The Secretary of the Interior has announced that the Bush Administration's new plan for Lease Sale 181 will include no new drilling in Florida waters.

- The proposed notice of sale will cover an area approximately one quarter the size of the area originally approved for leasing by former President Clinton and then-Governor Chiles of Florida. The sale covers an area of 1.47 million acres, as compared to the 5.9 million acres originally envisioned.

- There will be absolutely no new leasing in waters off the coast of Florida --the modified boundaries have been drawn to be at least 100 miles from the northwestern corner of the State of Florida (at the Florida-Alabama State line); more than 100 miles from Pensacola; 138 miles from Panama City; and 285 miles from Tampa.

- The exclusion of tracts within 100 miles or east of the Florida-Alabama state line came after Secretary Norton consulted with the Governors of the five coastal states closest to the Lease 181 area. Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, and Alabama supported the proposed sale, while the State of Florida opposed any development of oil or gas off the coasts of Florida.

- The new plan was devised in a manner consistent with the President's pledge to give great weight to the views of state officials.

- The proposed notice of sale balances the interests of all of the States and other stakeholders in the area. It will allow the environmentally responsible development of significant natural gas and oil resources in the Eastern Gulf of Mexico's deep waters to meet our energy needs, while respecting Florida's concerns.

- Under the new five-year plan, dramatically less Gulf deep water will be subject to drilling than under the previous Administration.

- This lease sale is part of the Department's 5-year Outer Continental Shelf Oil and Gas Leasing Program for 1997 to 2002.

- The proposed lease sale area includes 256 lease blocks (5760 acres each) totaling approximately 1.47 million acres. Twenty-three of the blocks in the proposed lease sale area are already under lease from previous sales. (The entire Sale 181 Area consists of 1033 lease blocks totaling approximately 5.9 million acres).

- The Minerals Management Service estimates that the average amount of undiscovered resources in the new plan's area that can be recovered using current technology is approximately 1.25 trillion cubic feet of natural gas and 185 million barrels of oil. In other words, as a result of today's decision, less than half of the total estimated oil and natural gas reserves in the Sale 181 Area will be open to new exploration.

- The Minerals Management Service is also releasing its five-year OCS Oil and Gas Leasing Program for 2000 -2007. This plan does not include further leasing in the remainder of the Sale 181 Area. This effectively means that there will be no additional leasing in the Eastern Gulf of Mexico, including the remainder of the Sale 181 Area, for at least the next five years.

President Continues Drive to Bring Exciting New Medical Care to Seniors

Presidential Action:

- Today the President will continue his drive to improve Medicare for seniors by highlighting just how unfair it is that the Medicare of today prevents seniors – especially low-income seniors – from accessing the very latest in health care advances.
- The President will tour Johns Hopkins Hospital – a medical center that shows the promise of 21st century medical care for Medicare beneficiaries. Treatments under development at Johns Hopkins have the potential for curing many serious illnesses. These treatments of tomorrow have even more potential for curing disease than many of the valuable prescription drugs of today. But many of these new breakthroughs won't reach seniors because Medicare is outdated and prevents them from getting the very best in health care.
- The President wants to improve Medicare to keep up with medical progress.
- The President thinks it is unfair to all seniors that the Medicare of today doesn't cover prescription drugs, which include the latest in medical advances for seniors. As science continues to make exciting new breakthroughs for seniors, how far will Medicare lag behind in the future if the program isn't improved?
- The President wants all seniors – especially low-income seniors – to have access to the exciting new health care breakthroughs. The President wants to give seniors the power to get the best care possible for their health care needs.

Potential New Advances in Medical Care for Seniors that Medicare Should Cover:

- Age-related macular degeneration (AMD) -- Seniors with this condition lose their central vision, so that they are unable to recognize faces, read, or drive. AMD has a devastating impact on their quality of life. A new "double laser," an experimental treatment for AMD that has the ability to destroy the abnormalities in the eye that cause AMD. It holds the promise for curing this very debilitating condition.
- Kidney Failure (End-Stage Renal Disease) -- People with long-term kidney failure of all ages are covered by Medicare. These patients have to undergo dialysis three times a week, and have other complications such as anemia from non-working kidneys. A preferable treatment is kidney transplant, but there is a waiting list for organs. Some patients have even greater difficulty getting a transplant because they have a condition called "positive cross match." An innovative treatment called plasmapheresis allows these patients to undergo transplant successfully, but is not covered by Medicare. The treatment greatly improves their quality of life, and it costs about $10,000 compared to $25,000 each year for dialysis.
- Prostate Cancer -- Prostate cancer is a very common condition in older men. Using new knowledge from the emerging field of molecular genetics, experiments underway today are helping the body's own immune fight prostate cancer. They may allow patients to forego the unpleasantness of chemotherapy and surgery.
- Alzheimer's Disease -- Special proteins in the brain that are associated with Alzheimer's disease have been identified. These discoveries may lead to chemical treatments to modify the function of these proteins, slowing or preventing the progression of the disease.
- Colon Cancer -- Up to 40 percent of cases of colon cancer appear to be caused by an alteration in a gene that causes the colon cells to grow out of control. By using gene treatments to repair this alteration, far more effective treatments for colon cancer may be possible.

President Continues Drive to Bring Exciting New Medical Care to Seniors

Presidential Action:

- Today the President will continue his drive to improve Medicare for seniors by highlighting just how unfair it is that the Medicare of today prevents seniors – especially low-income seniors – from accessing the very latest in health care advances.
- The President will tour Johns Hopkins Hospital – a medical center that shows the promise of 21st century medical care for Medicare beneficiaries. Treatments under development at Johns Hopkins have the potential for curing many serious illnesses. These treatments of tomorrow have even more potential for curing disease than many of the valuable prescription drugs of today. But many of these new breakthroughs won't reach seniors because Medicare is outdated and prevents them from getting the very best in health care.
- The President wants to improve Medicare to keep up with medical progress.
- The President thinks it is unfair to all seniors that the Medicare of today doesn't cover prescription drugs, which include the latest in medical advances for seniors. As science continues to make exciting new breakthroughs for seniors, how far will Medicare lag behind in the future if the program isn't improved?
- The President wants all seniors – especially low-income seniors – to have access to the exciting new health care breakthroughs. The President wants to give seniors the power to get the best care possible for their health care needs.

Potential New Advances in Medical Care for Seniors that Medicare Should Cover:

- Age-related macular degeneration (AMD) -- Seniors with this condition lose their central vision, so that they are unable to recognize faces, read, or drive. AMD has a devastating impact on their quality of life. A new "double laser," an experimental treatment for AMD that has the ability to destroy the abnormalities in the eye that cause AMD. It holds the promise for curing this very debilitating condition.
- Kidney Failure (End-Stage Renal Disease) -- People with long-term kidney failure of all ages are covered by Medicare. These patients have to undergo dialysis three times a week, and have other complications such as anemia from non-working kidneys. A preferable treatment is kidney transplant, but there is a waiting list for organs. Some patients have even greater difficulty getting a transplant because they have a condition called "positive cross match." An innovative treatment called plasmapheresis allows these patients to undergo transplant successfully, but is not covered by Medicare. The treatment greatly improves their quality of life, and it costs about $10,000 compared to $25,000 each year for dialysis.
- Prostate Cancer -- Prostate cancer is a very common condition in older men. Using new knowledge from the emerging field of molecular genetics, experiments underway today are helping the body's own immune fight prostate cancer. They may allow patients to forego the unpleasantness of chemotherapy and surgery.
- Alzheimer's Disease -- Special proteins in the brain that are associated with Alzheimer's disease have been identified. These discoveries may lead to chemical treatments to modify the function of these proteins, slowing or preventing the progression of the disease.
- Colon Cancer -- Up to 40 percent of cases of colon cancer appear to be caused by an alteration in a gene that causes the colon cells to grow out of control. By using gene treatments to repair this alteration, far more effective treatments for colon cancer may be possible.

President Continues Drive to Bring Exciting New Medical Care to Seniors

Presidential Action:

- Today the President will continue his drive to improve Medicare for seniors by highlighting just how unfair it is that the Medicare of today prevents seniors – especially low-income seniors – from accessing the very latest in health care advances.
- The President will tour Johns Hopkins Hospital – a medical center that shows the promise of 21st century medical care for Medicare beneficiaries. Treatments under development at Johns Hopkins have the potential for curing many serious illnesses. These treatments of tomorrow have even more potential for curing disease than many of the valuable prescription drugs of today. But many of these new breakthroughs won't reach seniors because Medicare is outdated and prevents them from getting the very best in health care.
- The President wants to improve Medicare to keep up with medical progress.
- The President thinks it is unfair to all seniors that the Medicare of today doesn't cover prescription drugs, which include the latest in medical advances for seniors. As science continues to make exciting new breakthroughs for seniors, how far will Medicare lag behind in the future if the program isn't improved?
- The President wants all seniors – especially low-income seniors – to have access to the exciting new health care breakthroughs. The President wants to give seniors the power to get the best care possible for their health care needs.

Potential New Advances in Medical Care for Seniors that Medicare Should Cover:

- Age-related macular degeneration (AMD) -- Seniors with this condition lose their central vision, so that they are unable to recognize faces, read, or drive. AMD has a devastating impact on their quality of life. A new "double laser," an experimental treatment for AMD that has the ability to destroy the abnormalities in the eye that cause AMD. It holds the promise for curing this very debilitating condition.
- Kidney Failure (End-Stage Renal Disease) -- People with long-term kidney failure of all ages are covered by Medicare. These patients have to undergo dialysis three times a week, and have other complications such as anemia from non-working kidneys. A preferable treatment is kidney transplant, but there is a waiting list for organs. Some patients have even greater difficulty getting a transplant because they have a condition called "positive cross match." An innovative treatment called plasmapheresis allows these patients to undergo transplant successfully, but is not covered by Medicare. The treatment greatly improves their quality of life, and it costs about $10,000 compared to $25,000 each year for dialysis.
- Prostate Cancer -- Prostate cancer is a very common condition in older men. Using new knowledge from the emerging field of molecular genetics, experiments underway today are helping the body's own immune fight prostate cancer. They may allow patients to forego the unpleasantness of chemotherapy and surgery.
- Alzheimer's Disease -- Special proteins in the brain that are associated with Alzheimer's disease have been identified. These discoveries may lead to chemical treatments to modify the function of these proteins, slowing or preventing the progression of the disease.
- Colon Cancer -- Up to 40 percent of cases of colon cancer appear to be caused by an alteration in a gene that causes the colon cells to grow out of control. By using gene treatments to repair this alteration, far more effective treatments for colon cancer may be possible.

Tomorrow the President will continue his drive to improve Medicare for seniors. Talking points are attached.

President Continues Drive to Bring Exciting New Medical Care to Seniors

Presidential Action:

- Today the President will continue his drive to improve Medicare for seniors by highlighting just how unfair it is that the Medicare of today prevents seniors – especially low-income seniors – from accessing the very latest in health care advances.
- The President will tour Johns Hopkins Hospital – a medical center that shows the promise of 21st century medical care for Medicare beneficiaries. Treatments under development at Johns Hopkins have the potential for curing many serious illnesses. These treatments of tomorrow have even more potential for curing disease than many of the valuable prescription drugs of today. But many of these new breakthroughs won't reach seniors because Medicare is outdated and prevents them from getting the very best in health care.
- The President wants to improve Medicare to keep up with medical progress.
- The President thinks it is unfair to all seniors that the Medicare of today doesn't cover prescription drugs, which include the latest in medical advances for seniors. As science continues to make exciting new breakthroughs for seniors, how far will Medicare lag behind in the future if the program isn't improved?
- The President wants all seniors – especially low-income seniors – to have access to the exciting new health care breakthroughs. The President wants to give seniors the power to get the best care possible for their health care needs.

Potential New Advances in Medical Care for Seniors that Medicare Should Cover:

- Age-related macular degeneration (AMD) -- Seniors with this condition lose their central vision, so that they are unable to recognize faces, read, or drive. AMD has a devastating impact on their quality of life. A new "double laser," an experimental treatment for AMD that has the ability to destroy the abnormalities in the eye that cause AMD. It holds the promise for curing this very debilitating condition.
- Kidney Failure (End-Stage Renal Disease) -- People with long-term kidney failure of all ages are covered by Medicare. These patients have to undergo dialysis three times a week, and have other complications such as anemia from non-working kidneys. A preferable treatment is kidney transplant, but there is a waiting list for organs. Some patients have even greater difficulty getting a transplant because they have a condition called "positive cross match." An innovative treatment called plasmapheresis allows these patients to undergo transplant successfully, but is not covered by Medicare. The treatment greatly improves their quality of life, and it costs about $10,000 compared to $25,000 each year for dialysis.
- Prostate Cancer -- Prostate cancer is a very common condition in older men. Using new knowledge from the emerging field of molecular genetics, experiments underway today are helping the body's own immune fight prostate cancer. They may allow patients to forego the unpleasantness of chemotherapy and surgery.
- Alzheimer's Disease -- Special proteins in the brain that are associated with Alzheimer's disease have been identified. These discoveries may lead to chemical treatments to modify the function of these proteins, slowing or preventing the progression of the disease.
- Colon Cancer -- Up to 40 percent of cases of colon cancer appear to be caused by an alteration in a gene that causes the colon cells to grow out of control. By using gene treatments to repair this alteration, far more effective treatments for colon cancer may be possible.

Domestic Policy and the Office of Faith-Based and Community Initiatives crafted the attached talking points in advance of tomorrow's action in the House on H.R. 7

PRESIDENT'S INITIATIVE TO RALLY AMERICA'S ARMIES OF COMPASSION MOVES FORWARD IN CONGRESS

TODAY'S ACTION:

The House of Representatives will take up H.R. 7 – bipartisan legislation that reflects key elements of the President's faith-based and community initiative. The House Judiciary Committee and the House Ways and Means Committee have approved H.R. 7, and House floor action is scheduled to begin Wednesday.

President Bush urges the House of Representatives to approve H.R. 7, and take an important step forward toward providing more direct assistance to millions of Americans in need.

KEY ELEMENTS OF THE PRESIDENT'S FAITH- AND COMMUNITY-BASED INITIATIVE:

The President's faith- and community-based initiative is designed to help Americans in need by:

- Stimulating an outpouring of private giving to nonprofits, faith-based programs, and community groups by expanding tax deductions and other initiatives.

  - Last week, the House Ways and Means Committee approved key elements of the President's plan to increase charitable giving. The Committee approved a nearly $13.3 billion dollar, ten-year package of measures based on President Bush's proposals that will:

    - ✓ Allow taxpayers who do not itemize on their taxes to get a tax deduction for charitable giving, in addition to their standard deduction.
    - ✓ Allow older taxpayers to make tax free withdrawals from their Individual Retirement Accounts for the purpose of giving to charities.
    - ✓ Allow businesses to contribute more to charity, and permit an enhanced tax deduction for food donations by businesses that donate food inventory to charitable groups.
    - ✓ Double the funding for Individual Development Accounts, which are accounts designed to help low-income Americans accumulate assets. IDA funding would rise from the current $25 million to $50 million, and IDA funds would be available for five more years than under current law.

  - President Bush will continue to work with Members of Congress on a bipartisan basis to make incentives for charitable giving as robust as possible and to more effectively deliver vital social services to Americans who are most in need.

- Expanding long-standing Charitable Choice principles to additional federal programs, enabling private, charitable and religious organizations to compete, on a nondiscriminatory basis, for funding for social service programs such as:

  - Juvenile justice
  - Crime prevention
  - Housing assistance
  - Job training
  - Elder care
  - Hunger relief
  - Domestic violence prevention
  - After-school and adult education services
  - Community Development Block Grants

- Eliminating federal barriers to effective faith-based and community-serving programs through legislative, regulatory, and programmatic reforms.

  - ✓ Creating the White House Office of Faith-Based & Community Initiatives, and creating Centers for Faith-Based & Community Initiatives at the Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, HUD, Justice and Education to spearhead efforts to eliminate barriers impeding the vital work of neighborhood charities.
  - ✓ Working to ensure full compliance with Charitable Choice provisions in existing law to assist faith- and community-based organizations that already provide valued assistance but have been crowded out by federal laws and regulations.
  - ✓ Encouraging, advising, and guiding state and local governments to vigorously implement Charitable Choice where it already has been enacted into law.

SUPPORT FOR THE PRESIDENT'S INITIATIVE CONTINUES TO BUILD:

A steady stream of respected national charities, ministries and philanthropic organizations have announced their support of the key provisions of the President's faith- and community-based initiative, including but not limited to:

- ✓ AMEN
- ✓ American Association of Christian Schools
- ✓ Boys and Girls Town
- ✓ Catholic Health Association of the United States
- ✓ Center for Public Justice
- ✓ Church Of God In Christ (COGIC)
- ✓ Empower America
- ✓ Faith and the City
- ✓ Habitat for Humanity International
- ✓ The Independent Sector
- ✓ National Association of Evangelicals
- ✓ National Center for Community Economic Development
- ✓ National Center for Faith-Based Initiative
- ✓ National Center for Neighborhood Enterprise

- ✓ YMCA of the USA
- ✓ We Care America
- ✓ World Vision

BACKGROUND ON CHARITABLE CHOICE

Across the nation, faith-based charities have always been a vital part of our social safety net, providing a wide range of essential services for needy Americans. Along with other grassroots and community groups, congregations and faith-based nonprofits reach out to heal broken lives and distressed neighborhoods by providing emergency food and shelter, after-school care, drug treatment, welfare-to-work assistance, and many other vital services. Too often, though, the federal government has prized process over performance and not welcomed effective faith-based charities as partners in combating social problems.

To end this bias, Congress has – with strong bipartisan majorities – repeatedly enacted and expanded Charitable Choice in recent years. Under this federal law, faith-based groups can compete on an equal footing with other organizations to provide essential social services. Charitable Choice explicitly (i) protects the rights of people needing help, (ii) preserves the religious character and independence of faith-based groups, and (iii) safeguards the public trust and the values of our Constitution.

HOW DOES CHARITABLE CHOICE WORK?

Under Charitable Choice, any group – faith-based or secular – may compete for federal social service funding on the same level playing field. Officials must evaluate a group's qualifications based on how well they can provide public services, not their religious affiliation. Faith-based groups can maintain a religious atmosphere. They don't have to conceal or compromise the very qualities that often explain their uncommon success. And while they must, of course, serve clients of any race, gender, religion, etc., they retain their well-established civil rights protection under the Civil Rights Act of 1964 to make their own employment decisions. Charitable Choice also maintains essential safeguards to ensure that grant funds do not pay for inherently religious activities, and it explicitly bars direct funding of "sectarian worship, instruction, or proselytization." Also, under Charitable Choice, clients are free to opt out of inherently religious activities and to select another provider if they object to a particular faith-based program.

WHAT HAS CONGRESS DONE ON CHARITABLE CHOICE?

Charitable Choice is already part of several federal laws. It was first enacted in 1996 as part of the landmark federal welfare reform law, and it also applies to the Welfare-to-Work program. Congress adopted Charitable Choice again in 1998 to govern the Community Services Block Grant and twice in 2000 to cover SAMHSA drug treatment funds. Charitable Choice has passed repeatedly, and always with strong bipartisan support.

HOW MANY PROGRAMS ARE WORKING UNDER CHARITABLE CHOICE TODAY?

A 2000 study of nine states by the Center for Public Justice found a significant number of innovative new partnerships made possible by Charitable Choice. Sometimes the programs were run by experienced religious groups that could offer more holistic services under Charitable Choice. But Charitable Choice also helped groups that had never before worked with government. States like Indiana, Texas, Wisconsin, and Ohio that have implemented Charitable Choice vigorously have been able to diversify the mix of welfare services while safeguarding the rights of families and individuals needing help.

Unfortunately, many government officials have been slow to implement Charitable Choice. As a result, faith-based groups too often encounter old barriers. That's why President Bush's initiative is so important.

Domestic Policy and the Office of Faith-Based and Community Initiatives crafted the attached talking points in advance of tomorrow's action in the House on H.R. 7

PRESIDENT'S INITIATIVE TO RALLY AMERICA'S ARMIES OF COMPASSION MOVES FORWARD IN CONGRESS

TODAY'S ACTION:

The House of Representatives will take up H.R. 7 – bipartisan legislation that reflects key elements of the President's faith-based and community initiative. The House Judiciary Committee and the House Ways and Means Committee have approved H.R. 7, and House floor action is scheduled to begin Wednesday.

President Bush urges the House of Representatives to approve H.R. 7, and take an important step forward toward providing more direct assistance to millions of Americans in need.

KEY ELEMENTS OF THE PRESIDENT'S FAITH- AND COMMUNITY-BASED INITIATIVE:

The President's faith- and community-based initiative is designed to help Americans in need by:

- Stimulating an outpouring of private giving to nonprofits, faith-based programs, and community groups by expanding tax deductions and other initiatives.

  - Last week, the House Ways and Means Committee approved key elements of the President's plan to increase charitable giving. The Committee approved a nearly $13.3 billion dollar, ten-year package of measures based on President Bush's proposals that will:

    - ✓ Allow taxpayers who do not itemize on their taxes to get a tax deduction for charitable giving, in addition to their standard deduction.
    - ✓ Allow older taxpayers to make tax free withdrawals from their Individual Retirement Accounts for the purpose of giving to charities.
    - ✓ Allow businesses to contribute more to charity, and permit an enhanced tax deduction for food donations by businesses that donate food inventory to charitable groups.
    - ✓ Double the funding for Individual Development Accounts, which are accounts designed to help low-income Americans accumulate assets. IDA funding would rise from the current $25 million to $50 million, and IDA funds would be available for five more years than under current law.

  - President Bush will continue to work with Members of Congress on a bipartisan basis to make incentives for charitable giving as robust as possible and to more effectively deliver vital social services to Americans who are most in need.

- Expanding long-standing Charitable Choice principles to additional federal programs, enabling private, charitable and religious organizations to compete, on a nondiscriminatory basis, for funding for social service programs such as:

  - Juvenile justice
  - Crime prevention
  - Housing assistance
  - Job training
  - Elder care
  - Hunger relief
  - Domestic violence prevention
  - After-school and adult education services
  - Community Development Block Grants

- Eliminating federal barriers to effective faith-based and community-serving programs through legislative, regulatory, and programmatic reforms.

  - ✓ Creating the White House Office of Faith-Based & Community Initiatives, and creating Centers for Faith-Based & Community Initiatives at the Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, HUD, Justice and Education to spearhead efforts to eliminate barriers impeding the vital work of neighborhood charities.
  - ✓ Working to ensure full compliance with Charitable Choice provisions in existing law to assist faith- and community-based organizations that already provide valued assistance but have been crowded out by federal laws and regulations.
  - ✓ Encouraging, advising, and guiding state and local governments to vigorously implement Charitable Choice where it already has been enacted into law.

SUPPORT FOR THE PRESIDENT'S INITIATIVE CONTINUES TO BUILD:

A steady stream of respected national charities, ministries and philanthropic organizations have announced their support of the key provisions of the President's faith- and community-based initiative, including but not limited to:

- ✓ AMEN
- ✓ American Association of Christian Schools
- ✓ Boys and Girls Town
- ✓ Catholic Health Association of the United States
- ✓ Center for Public Justice
- ✓ Church Of God In Christ (COGIC)
- ✓ Empower America
- ✓ Faith and the City
- ✓ Habitat for Humanity International
- ✓ The Independent Sector

BACKGROUND ON CHARITABLE CHOICE

Across the nation, faith-based charities have always been a vital part of our social safety net, providing a wide range of essential services for needy Americans. Along with other grassroots and community groups, congregations and faith-based nonprofits reach out to heal broken lives and distressed neighborhoods by providing emergency food and shelter, after-school care, drug treatment, welfare-to-work assistance, and many other vital services. Too often, though, the federal government has prized process over performance and not welcomed effective faith-based charities as partners in combating social problems.

To end this bias, Congress has – with strong bipartisan majorities – repeatedly enacted and expanded Charitable Choice in recent years. Under this federal law, faith-based groups can compete on an equal footing with other organizations to provide essential social services. Charitable Choice explicitly (i) protects the rights of people needing help, (ii) preserves the religious character and independence of faith-based groups, and (iii) safeguards the public trust and the values of our Constitution.

HOW DOES CHARITABLE CHOICE WORK?

Under Charitable Choice, any group – faith-based or secular – may compete for federal social service funding on the same level playing field. Officials must evaluate a group's qualifications based on how well they can provide public services, not their religious affiliation. Faith-based groups can maintain a religious atmosphere. They don't have to conceal or compromise the very qualities that often explain their uncommon success. And while they must, of course, serve clients of any race, gender, religion, etc., they retain their well-established civil rights protection under the Civil Rights Act of 1964 to make their own employment decisions. Charitable Choice also maintains essential safeguards to ensure that grant funds do not pay for inherently religious activities, and it explicitly bars direct funding of "sectarian worship, instruction, or proselytization." Also, under Charitable Choice, clients are free to opt out of inherently religious activities and to select another provider if they object to a particular faith-based program.

WHAT HAS CONGRESS DONE ON CHARITABLE CHOICE?

Charitable Choice is already part of several federal laws. It was first enacted in 1996 as part of the landmark federal welfare reform law, and it also applies to the Welfare-to-Work program. Congress adopted Charitable Choice again in 1998 to govern the Community Services Block Grant and twice in 2000 to cover SAMHSA drug treatment funds. Charitable Choice has passed repeatedly, and always with strong bipartisan support.

HOW MANY PROGRAMS ARE WORKING UNDER CHARITABLE CHOICE TODAY?

A 2000 study of nine states by the Center for Public Justice found a significant number of innovative new partnerships made possible by Charitable Choice. Sometimes the programs were run by experienced religious groups that could offer more holistic services under Charitable Choice. But Charitable Choice also helped groups that had never before worked with government. States like Indiana, Texas, Wisconsin, and Ohio that have implemented Charitable Choice vigorously have been able to diversify the mix of welfare services while safeguarding the rights of families and individuals needing help.

Unfortunately, many government officials have been slow to implement Charitable Choice. As a result, faith-based groups too often encounter old barriers. That's why President Bush's initiative is so important.

Domestic Policy and the Office of Faith-Based and Community Initiatives crafted the attached talking points in advance of tomorrow's action in the House on H.R. 7

PRESIDENT'S INITIATIVE TO RALLY AMERICA'S ARMIES OF COMPASSION MOVES FORWARD IN CONGRESS

TODAY'S ACTION:

The House of Representatives will take up H.R. 7 – bipartisan legislation that reflects key elements of the President's faith-based and community initiative. The House Judiciary Committee and the House Ways and Means Committee have approved H.R. 7, and House floor action is scheduled to begin Wednesday.

President Bush urges the House of Representatives to approve H.R. 7, and take an important step forward toward providing more direct assistance to millions of Americans in need.

KEY ELEMENTS OF THE PRESIDENT'S FAITH- AND COMMUNITY-BASED INITIATIVE:

The President's faith- and community-based initiative is designed to help Americans in need by:

- Stimulating an outpouring of private giving to nonprofits, faith-based programs, and community groups by expanding tax deductions and other initiatives.

  - Last week, the House Ways and Means Committee approved key elements of the President's plan to increase charitable giving. The Committee approved a nearly $13.3 billion dollar, ten-year package of measures based on President Bush's proposals that will:

    - ✓ Allow taxpayers who do not itemize on their taxes to get a tax deduction for charitable giving, in addition to their standard deduction.
    - ✓ Allow older taxpayers to make tax free withdrawals from their Individual Retirement Accounts for the purpose of giving to charities.
    - ✓ Allow businesses to contribute more to charity, and permit an enhanced tax deduction for food donations by businesses that donate food inventory to charitable groups.
    - ✓ Double the funding for Individual Development Accounts, which are accounts designed to help low-income Americans accumulate assets. IDA funding would rise from the current $25 million to $50 million, and IDA funds would be available for five more years than under current law.

  - President Bush will continue to work with Members of Congress on a bipartisan basis to make incentives for charitable giving as robust as possible and to more effectively deliver vital social services to Americans who are most in need.

- Expanding long-standing Charitable Choice principles to additional federal programs, enabling private, charitable and religious organizations to compete, on a nondiscriminatory basis, for funding for social service programs such as:

  - Juvenile justice
  - Crime prevention
  - Housing assistance
  - Job training
  - Elder care
  - Hunger relief
  - Domestic violence prevention
  - After-school and adult education services
  - Community Development Block Grants

- Eliminating federal barriers to effective faith-based and community-serving programs through legislative, regulatory, and programmatic reforms.

  - ✓ Creating the White House Office of Faith-Based & Community Initiatives, and creating Centers for Faith-Based & Community Initiatives at the Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, HUD, Justice and Education to spearhead efforts to eliminate barriers impeding the vital work of neighborhood charities.
  - ✓ Working to ensure full compliance with Charitable Choice provisions in existing law to assist faith- and community-based organizations that already provide valued assistance but have been crowded out by federal laws and regulations.
  - ✓ Encouraging, advising, and guiding state and local governments to vigorously implement Charitable Choice where it already has been enacted into law.

SUPPORT FOR THE PRESIDENT'S INITIATIVE CONTINUES TO BUILD:

A steady stream of respected national charities, ministries and philanthropic organizations have announced their support of the key provisions of the President's faith- and community-based initiative, including but not limited to:

- ✓ AMEN
- ✓ American Association of Christian Schools
- ✓ Boys and Girls Town
- ✓ Catholic Health Association of the United States
- ✓ Center for Public Justice
- ✓ Church Of God In Christ (COGIC)
- ✓ Empower America
- ✓ Faith and the City
- ✓ Habitat for Humanity International
- ✓ The Independent Sector
- ✓ National Association of Evangelicals
- ✓ National Center for Community Economic Development
- ✓ National Center for Faith-Based Initiative

- ✓ World Vision

BACKGROUND ON CHARITABLE CHOICE

Across the nation, faith-based charities have always been a vital part of our social safety net, providing a wide range of essential services for needy Americans. Along with other grassroots and community groups, congregations and faith-based nonprofits reach out to heal broken lives and distressed neighborhoods by providing emergency food and shelter, after-school care, drug treatment, welfare-to-work assistance, and many other vital services. Too often, though, the federal government has prized process over performance and not welcomed effective faith-based charities as partners in combating social problems.

To end this bias, Congress has – with strong bipartisan majorities – repeatedly enacted and expanded Charitable Choice in recent years. Under this federal law, faith-based groups can compete on an equal footing with other organizations to provide essential social services. Charitable Choice explicitly (i) protects the rights of people needing help, (ii) preserves the religious character and independence of faith-based groups, and (iii) safeguards the public trust and the values of our Constitution.

HOW DOES CHARITABLE CHOICE WORK?

Under Charitable Choice, any group – faith-based or secular – may compete for federal social service funding on the same level playing field. Officials must evaluate a group's qualifications based on how well they can provide public services, not their religious affiliation. Faith-based groups can maintain a religious atmosphere. They don't have to conceal or compromise the very qualities that often explain their uncommon success. And while they must, of course, serve clients of any race, gender, religion, etc., they retain their well-established civil rights protection under the Civil Rights Act of 1964 to make their own employment decisions. Charitable Choice also maintains essential safeguards to ensure that grant funds do not pay for inherently religious activities, and it explicitly bars direct funding of "sectarian worship, instruction, or proselytization." Also, under Charitable Choice, clients are free to opt out of inherently religious activities and to select another provider if they object to a particular faith-based program.

WHAT HAS CONGRESS DONE ON CHARITABLE CHOICE?

Charitable Choice is already part of several federal laws. It was first enacted in 1996 as part of the landmark federal welfare reform law, and it also applies to the Welfare-to-Work program. Congress adopted Charitable Choice again in 1998 to govern the Community Services Block Grant and twice in 2000 to cover SAMHSA drug treatment funds. Charitable Choice has passed repeatedly, and always with strong bipartisan support.

HOW MANY PROGRAMS ARE WORKING UNDER CHARITABLE CHOICE TODAY?

A 2000 study of nine states by the Center for Public Justice found a significant number of innovative new partnerships made possible by Charitable Choice. Sometimes the programs were run by experienced religious groups that could offer more holistic services under Charitable Choice. But Charitable Choice also helped groups that had never before worked with government. States like Indiana, Texas, Wisconsin, and Ohio that have implemented Charitable Choice vigorously have been able to diversify the mix of welfare services while safeguarding the rights of families and individuals needing help.

Unfortunately, many government officials have been slow to implement Charitable Choice. As a result, faith-based groups too often encounter old barriers. That's why President Bush's initiative is so important.

Domestic Policy and the Office of Faith-Based and Community Initiatives crafted the attached talking points in advance of tomorrow's action in the House on H.R. 7

PRESIDENT'S INITIATIVE TO RALLY AMERICA'S ARMIES OF COMPASSION MOVES FORWARD IN CONGRESS

TODAY'S ACTION:

The House of Representatives will take up H.R. 7 – bipartisan legislation that reflects key elements of the President's faith-based and community initiative. The House Judiciary Committee and the House Ways and Means Committee have approved H.R. 7, and House floor action is scheduled to begin Wednesday.

President Bush urges the House of Representatives to approve H.R. 7, and take an important step forward toward providing more direct assistance to millions of Americans in need.

KEY ELEMENTS OF THE PRESIDENT'S FAITH- AND COMMUNITY-BASED INITIATIVE:

The President's faith- and community-based initiative is designed to help Americans in need by:

- Stimulating an outpouring of private giving to nonprofits, faith-based programs, and community groups by expanding tax deductions and other initiatives.

  - Last week, the House Ways and Means Committee approved key elements of the President's plan to increase charitable giving. The Committee approved a nearly $13.3 billion dollar, ten-year package of measures based on President Bush's proposals that will:

    - ✓ Allow taxpayers who do not itemize on their taxes to get a tax deduction for charitable giving, in addition to their standard deduction.
    - ✓ Allow older taxpayers to make tax free withdrawals from their Individual Retirement Accounts for the purpose of giving to charities.
    - ✓ Allow businesses to contribute more to charity, and permit an enhanced tax deduction for food donations by businesses that donate food inventory to charitable groups.
    - ✓ Double the funding for Individual Development Accounts, which are accounts designed to help low-income Americans accumulate assets. IDA funding would rise from the current $25 million to $50 million, and IDA funds would be available for five more years than under current law.

  - President Bush will continue to work with Members of Congress on a bipartisan basis to make incentives for charitable giving as robust as possible and to more effectively deliver vital social services to Americans who are most in need.

- Expanding long-standing Charitable Choice principles to additional federal programs, enabling private, charitable and religious organizations to compete, on a nondiscriminatory basis, for funding for social service programs such as:

  - Juvenile justice
  - Crime prevention
  - Housing assistance
  - Job training
  - Elder care
  - Hunger relief
  - Domestic violence prevention
  - After-school and adult education services
  - Community Development Block Grants

- Eliminating federal barriers to effective faith-based and community-serving programs through legislative, regulatory, and programmatic reforms.

  - ✓ Creating the White House Office of Faith-Based & Community Initiatives, and creating Centers for Faith-Based & Community Initiatives at the Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, HUD, Justice and Education to spearhead efforts to eliminate barriers impeding the vital work of neighborhood charities.
  - ✓ Working to ensure full compliance with Charitable Choice provisions in existing law to assist faith- and community-based organizations that already provide valued assistance but have been crowded out by federal laws and regulations.
  - ✓ Encouraging, advising, and guiding state and local governments to vigorously implement Charitable Choice where it already has been enacted into law.

SUPPORT FOR THE PRESIDENT'S INITIATIVE CONTINUES TO BUILD:

A steady stream of respected national charities, ministries and philanthropic organizations have announced their support of the key provisions of the President's faith- and community-based initiative, including but not limited to:

- ✓ AMEN
- ✓ American Association of Christian Schools
- ✓ Boys and Girls Town
- ✓ Catholic Health Association of the United States
- ✓ Center for Public Justice
- ✓ Church Of God In Christ (COGIC)
- ✓ Empower America
- ✓ Faith and the City
- ✓ Habitat for Humanity International
- ✓ The Independent Sector
- ✓ National Association of Evangelicals
- ✓ National Center for Community Economic Development
- ✓ National Center for Faith-Based Initiative

- ✓ World Vision

BACKGROUND ON CHARITABLE CHOICE

Across the nation, faith-based charities have always been a vital part of our social safety net, providing a wide range of essential services for needy Americans. Along with other grassroots and community groups, congregations and faith-based nonprofits reach out to heal broken lives and distressed neighborhoods by providing emergency food and shelter, after-school care, drug treatment, welfare-to-work assistance, and many other vital services. Too often, though, the federal government has prized process over performance and not welcomed effective faith-based charities as partners in combating social problems.

To end this bias, Congress has – with strong bipartisan majorities – repeatedly enacted and expanded Charitable Choice in recent years. Under this federal law, faith-based groups can compete on an equal footing with other organizations to provide essential social services. Charitable Choice explicitly (i) protects the rights of people needing help, (ii) preserves the religious character and independence of faith-based groups, and (iii) safeguards the public trust and the values of our Constitution.

HOW DOES CHARITABLE CHOICE WORK?

Under Charitable Choice, any group – faith-based or secular – may compete for federal social service funding on the same level playing field. Officials must evaluate a group's qualifications based on how well they can provide public services, not their religious affiliation. Faith-based groups can maintain a religious atmosphere. They don't have to conceal or compromise the very qualities that often explain their uncommon success. And while they must, of course, serve clients of any race, gender, religion, etc., they retain their well-established civil rights protection under the Civil Rights Act of 1964 to make their own employment decisions. Charitable Choice also maintains essential safeguards to ensure that grant funds do not pay for inherently religious activities, and it explicitly bars direct funding of "sectarian worship, instruction, or proselytization." Also, under Charitable Choice, clients are free to opt out of inherently religious activities and to select another provider if they object to a particular faith-based program.

WHAT HAS CONGRESS DONE ON CHARITABLE CHOICE?

Charitable Choice is already part of several federal laws. It was first enacted in 1996 as part of the landmark federal welfare reform law, and it also applies to the Welfare-to-Work program. Congress adopted Charitable Choice again in 1998 to govern the Community Services Block Grant and twice in 2000 to cover SAMHSA drug treatment funds. Charitable Choice has passed repeatedly, and always with strong bipartisan support.

HOW MANY PROGRAMS ARE WORKING UNDER CHARITABLE CHOICE TODAY?

A 2000 study of nine states by the Center for Public Justice found a significant number of innovative new partnerships made possible by Charitable Choice. Sometimes the programs were run by experienced religious groups that could offer more holistic services under Charitable Choice. But Charitable Choice also helped groups that had never before worked with government. States like Indiana, Texas, Wisconsin, and Ohio that have implemented Charitable Choice vigorously have been able to diversify the mix of welfare services while safeguarding the rights of families and individuals needing help.

Unfortunately, many government officials have been slow to implement Charitable Choice. As a result, faith-based groups too often encounter old barriers. That's why President Bush's initiative is so important.

PRESIDENT'S INITIATIVE TO RALLY AMERICA'S ARMIES OF COMPASSION MOVES FORWARD IN CONGRESS

TODAY'S ACTION:

The House of Representatives will take up H.R. 7 – bipartisan legislation that reflects key elements of the President's faith-based and community initiative. The House Judiciary Committee and the House Ways and Means Committee have approved H.R. 7, and House floor action is scheduled to begin Wednesday.

President Bush urges the House of Representatives to approve H.R. 7, and take an important step forward toward providing more direct assistance to millions of Americans in need.

KEY ELEMENTS OF THE PRESIDENT'S FAITH- AND COMMUNITY-BASED INITIATIVE:

The President's faith- and community-based initiative is designed to help Americans in need by:

- Stimulating an outpouring of private giving to nonprofits, faith-based programs, and community groups by expanding tax deductions and other initiatives.

  - Last week, the House Ways and Means Committee approved key elements of the President's plan to increase charitable giving. The Committee approved a nearly $13.3 billion dollar, ten-year package of measures based on President Bush's proposals that will:

    - ✓ Allow taxpayers who do not itemize on their taxes to get a tax deduction for charitable giving, in addition to their standard deduction.
    - ✓ Allow older taxpayers to make tax free withdrawals from their Individual Retirement Accounts for the purpose of giving to charities.
    - ✓ Allow businesses to contribute more to charity, and permit an enhanced tax deduction for food donations by businesses that donate food inventory to charitable groups.
    - ✓ Double the funding for Individual Development Accounts, which are accounts designed to help low-income Americans accumulate assets. IDA funding would rise from the current $25 million to $50 million, and IDA funds would be available for five more years than under current law.

  - President Bush will continue to work with Members of Congress on a bipartisan basis to make incentives for charitable giving as robust as possible and to more effectively deliver vital social services to Americans who are most in need.

- Expanding long-standing Charitable Choice principles to additional federal programs, enabling private, charitable and religious organizations to compete, on a nondiscriminatory basis, for funding for social service programs such as:

  - Juvenile justice
  - Crime prevention
  - Housing assistance
  - Job training
  - Elder care
  - Hunger relief
  - Domestic violence prevention
  - After-school and adult education services
  - Community Development Block Grants

- Eliminating federal barriers to effective faith-based and community-serving programs through legislative, regulatory, and programmatic reforms.

  - ✓ Creating the White House Office of Faith-Based & Community Initiatives, and creating Centers for Faith-Based & Community Initiatives at the Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, HUD, Justice and Education to spearhead efforts to eliminate barriers impeding the vital work of neighborhood charities.
  - ✓ Working to ensure full compliance with Charitable Choice provisions in existing law to assist faith- and community-based organizations that already provide valued assistance but have been crowded out by federal laws and regulations.
  - ✓ Encouraging, advising, and guiding state and local governments to vigorously implement Charitable Choice where it already has been enacted into law.

SUPPORT FOR THE PRESIDENT'S INITIATIVE CONTINUES TO BUILD:

A steady stream of respected national charities, ministries and philanthropic organizations have announced their support of the key provisions of the President's faith- and community-based initiative, including but not limited to:

- ✓ AMEN
- ✓ American Association of Christian Schools
- ✓ Boys and Girls Town
- ✓ Catholic Health Association of the United States
- ✓ Center for Public Justice
- ✓ Church Of God In Christ (COGIC)
- ✓ Empower America
- ✓ Faith and the City
- ✓ Habitat for Humanity International
- ✓ The Independent Sector
- ✓ National Association of Evangelicals
- ✓ National Center for Community Economic Development

BACKGROUND ON CHARITABLE CHOICE

Across the nation, faith-based charities have always been a vital part of our social safety net, providing a wide range of essential services for needy Americans. Along with other grassroots and community groups, congregations and faith-based nonprofits reach out to heal broken lives and distressed neighborhoods by providing emergency food and shelter, after-school care, drug treatment, welfare-to-work assistance, and many other vital services. Too often, though, the federal government has prized process over performance and not welcomed effective faith-based charities as partners in combating social problems.

To end this bias, Congress has – with strong bipartisan majorities – repeatedly enacted and expanded Charitable Choice in recent years. Under this federal law, faith-based groups can compete on an equal footing with other organizations to provide essential social services. Charitable Choice explicitly (i) protects the rights of people needing help, (ii) preserves the religious character and independence of faith-based groups, and (iii) safeguards the public trust and the values of our Constitution.

HOW DOES CHARITABLE CHOICE WORK?

Under Charitable Choice, any group – faith-based or secular – may compete for federal social service funding on the same level playing field. Officials must evaluate a group's qualifications based on how well they can provide public services, not their religious affiliation. Faith-based groups can maintain a religious atmosphere. They don't have to conceal or compromise the very qualities that often explain their uncommon success. And while they must, of course, serve clients of any race, gender, religion, etc., they retain their well-established civil rights protection under the Civil Rights Act of 1964 to make their own employment decisions. Charitable Choice also maintains essential safeguards to ensure that grant funds do not pay for inherently religious activities, and it explicitly bars direct funding of "sectarian worship, instruction, or proselytization." Also, under Charitable Choice, clients are free to opt out of inherently religious activities and to select another provider if they object to a particular faith-based program.

WHAT HAS CONGRESS DONE ON CHARITABLE CHOICE?

Charitable Choice is already part of several federal laws. It was first enacted in 1996 as part of the landmark federal welfare reform law, and it also applies to the Welfare-to-Work program. Congress adopted Charitable Choice again in 1998 to govern the Community Services Block Grant and twice in 2000 to cover SAMHSA drug treatment funds. Charitable Choice has passed repeatedly, and always with strong bipartisan support.

HOW MANY PROGRAMS ARE WORKING UNDER CHARITABLE CHOICE TODAY?

A 2000 study of nine states by the Center for Public Justice found a significant number of innovative new partnerships made possible by Charitable Choice. Sometimes the programs were run by experienced religious groups that could offer more holistic services under Charitable Choice. But Charitable Choice also helped groups that had never before worked with government. States like Indiana, Texas, Wisconsin, and Ohio that have implemented Charitable Choice vigorously have been able to diversify the mix of welfare services while safeguarding the rights of families and individuals needing help.

Unfortunately, many government officials have been slow to implement Charitable Choice. As a result, faith-based groups too often encounter old barriers. That's why President Bush's initiative is so important.

PRESIDENT'S INITIATIVE TO RALLY AMERICA'S ARMIES OF COMPASSION MOVES FORWARD IN CONGRESS

TODAY'S ACTION:

The House of Representatives will take up H.R. 7 – bipartisan legislation that reflects key elements of the President's faith-based and community initiative. The House Judiciary Committee and the House Ways and Means Committee have approved H.R. 7, and House floor action is scheduled to begin Wednesday.

President Bush urges the House of Representatives to approve H.R. 7, and take an important step forward toward providing more direct assistance to millions of Americans in need.

KEY ELEMENTS OF THE PRESIDENT'S FAITH- AND COMMUNITY-BASED INITIATIVE:

The President's faith- and community-based initiative is designed to help Americans in need by:

- Stimulating an outpouring of private giving to nonprofits, faith-based programs, and community groups by expanding tax deductions and other initiatives.

  - Last week, the House Ways and Means Committee approved key elements of the President's plan to increase charitable giving. The Committee approved a nearly $13.3 billion dollar, ten-year package of measures based on President Bush's proposals that will:

    - ✓ Allow taxpayers who do not itemize on their taxes to get a tax deduction for charitable giving, in addition to their standard deduction.
    - ✓ Allow older taxpayers to make tax free withdrawals from their Individual Retirement Accounts for the purpose of giving to charities.
    - ✓ Allow businesses to contribute more to charity, and permit an enhanced tax deduction for food donations by businesses that donate food inventory to charitable groups.
    - ✓ Double the funding for Individual Development Accounts, which are accounts designed to help low-income Americans accumulate assets. IDA funding would rise from the current $25 million to $50 million, and IDA funds would be available for five more years than under current law.

  - President Bush will continue to work with Members of Congress on a bipartisan basis to make incentives for charitable giving as robust as possible and to more effectively deliver vital social services to Americans who are most in need.

- Expanding long-standing Charitable Choice principles to additional federal programs, enabling private, charitable and religious organizations to compete, on a nondiscriminatory basis, for funding for social service programs such as:

  - Juvenile justice
  - Crime prevention
  - Housing assistance
  - Job training
  - Elder care
  - Hunger relief
  - Domestic violence prevention
  - After-school and adult education services
  - Community Development Block Grants

- Eliminating federal barriers to effective faith-based and community-serving programs through legislative, regulatory, and programmatic reforms.

  - ✓ Creating the White House Office of Faith-Based & Community Initiatives, and creating Centers for Faith-Based & Community Initiatives at the Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, HUD, Justice and Education to spearhead efforts to eliminate barriers impeding the vital work of neighborhood charities.
  - ✓ Working to ensure full compliance with Charitable Choice provisions in existing law to assist faith- and community-based organizations that already provide valued assistance but have been crowded out by federal laws and regulations.
  - ✓ Encouraging, advising, and guiding state and local governments to vigorously implement Charitable Choice where it already has been enacted into law.

SUPPORT FOR THE PRESIDENT'S INITIATIVE CONTINUES TO BUILD:

A steady stream of respected national charities, ministries and philanthropic organizations have announced their support of the key provisions of the President's faith- and community-based initiative, including but not limited to:

- ✓ AMEN
- ✓ American Association of Christian Schools

BACKGROUND ON CHARITABLE CHOICE

Across the nation, faith-based charities have always been a vital part of our social safety net, providing a wide range of essential services for needy Americans. Along with other grassroots and community groups, congregations and faith-based nonprofits reach out to heal broken lives and distressed neighborhoods by providing emergency food and shelter, after-school care, drug treatment, welfare-to-work assistance, and many other vital services. Too often, though, the federal government has prized process over performance and not welcomed effective faith-based charities as partners in combating social problems.

To end this bias, Congress has – with strong bipartisan majorities – repeatedly enacted and expanded Charitable Choice in recent years. Under this federal law, faith-based groups can compete on an equal footing with other organizations to provide essential social services. Charitable Choice explicitly (i) protects the rights of people needing help, (ii) preserves the religious character and independence of faith-based groups, and (iii) safeguards the public trust and the values of our Constitution.

HOW DOES CHARITABLE CHOICE WORK?

Under Charitable Choice, any group – faith-based or secular – may compete for federal social service funding on the same level playing field. Officials must evaluate a group's qualifications based on how well they can provide public services, not their religious affiliation. Faith-based groups can maintain a religious atmosphere. They don't have to conceal or compromise the very qualities that often explain their uncommon success. And while they must, of course, serve clients of any race, gender, religion, etc., they retain their well-established civil rights protection under the Civil Rights Act of 1964 to make their own employment decisions. Charitable Choice also maintains essential safeguards to ensure that grant funds do not pay for inherently religious activities, and it explicitly bars direct funding of "sectarian worship, instruction, or proselytization." Also, under Charitable Choice, clients are free to opt out of inherently religious activities and to select another provider if they object to a particular faith-based program.

WHAT HAS CONGRESS DONE ON CHARITABLE CHOICE?

Charitable Choice is already part of several federal laws. It was first enacted in 1996 as part of the landmark federal welfare reform law, and it also applies to the Welfare-to-Work program. Congress adopted Charitable Choice again in 1998 to govern the Community Services Block Grant and twice in 2000 to cover SAMHSA drug treatment funds. Charitable Choice has passed repeatedly, and always with strong bipartisan support.

HOW MANY PROGRAMS ARE WORKING UNDER CHARITABLE CHOICE TODAY?

A 2000 study of nine states by the Center for Public Justice found a significant number of innovative new partnerships made possible by Charitable Choice. Sometimes the programs were run by experienced religious groups that could offer more holistic services under Charitable Choice. But Charitable Choice also helped groups that had never before worked with government. States like Indiana, Texas, Wisconsin, and Ohio that have implemented Charitable Choice vigorously have been able to diversify the mix of welfare services while safeguarding the rights of families and individuals needing help.

Unfortunately, many government officials have been slow to implement Charitable Choice. As a result, faith-based groups too often encounter old barriers. That's why President Bush's initiative is so important.

Examining Bush's nominees

Amid Democrats' rejoicing at Sen. James Jeffords's decision to leave the GOP, another event went largely unnoticed. Democratic senators offered little resistance to the hasty confirmation of ultra-conservative Theodore Olson for solicitor general. Olson was rushed through, even though an investigation into his truthfulness was ongoing.

It concerns me that the confirmation of the solicitor general, who serves as a ``10th justice'' on the Supreme Court, was handled in this manner. I hope this is not a portent of things to come on President Bush's judicial nominations. Indeed, the stakes could not be higher in how the Senate handles its advice-and-consent role on Bush's nominees for the federal courts.

Over the last two decades, the federal courts have lost sight of their vital role -- to protect the rights of the least powerful people in our nation. A majority on the U.S. Supreme Court routinely resists claims to secure justice through the Constitution's equal-protection clause. And the court has struck down other branches' efforts to afford such protections.

In recent years, many circuits of the U.S. Court of Appeals have undermined our nation's ability to enforce civil-rights laws, workplace protections, environmental standards, privacy rights and choice, and religious freedom.

Because most cases never reach the Supreme Court, nominations to the U.S. Court of Appeals are critically important. These courts already have strayed far from the mainstream and could fall more dangerously out of balance under Bush. Consider his first group of appeals-court nominees:

One nominee approves the government's funding of religious programs, a philosophy that threatens the separation of church and state.

Another is an avatar of states rights who opposes firm enforcement of civil-rights laws. He successfully argued the case that shields states from lawsuits by employees who have suffered discrimination due to a disability or age.

Another issued decisions striking down minority voting districts, decisions that were twice overruled by the Supreme Court.
These nominees are not a surprise, coming from a president who cites Justices Antonin Scalia and Clarence Thomas as his judicial heroes. Bush also has made his ideological bent even clearer by seeking to end the longstanding role of the American Bar Association in providing evaluations of judicial candidates. Instead, he and his advisors have sought advice from the Federalist Society, a radical group whose recent conference in Chicago was headlined ``Rolling Back the New Deal.''

The Bush administration's campaign to populate the courts with activist and dogmatic conservatives calls for a determined stand by senators who care about fairness, equality and civil rights.

Fortunately, Democratic senators who serve on the Judiciary Committee are committed to examining Bush's judicial nominees very closely and holding them to a high standard.

Three basic principles should guide senators on examining judicial nominees:

That nominees demonstrate that they have spent a part of their legal careers aiding the disadvantaged and that they understand the concerns of ordinary people who find themselves in court.

That nominees have a commitment to protect those who need the courts to secure their rights to free speech, equal opportunity, religious freedom and privacy.

While Democrats should reject the stalling tactics that Republicans used to block President Clinton's nominees, they should not permit themselves to be rushed through the confirmation process.

Bush said that his nominees have ``sterling credentials.'' But the Senate must determine whether these nominees and others to come have the credential that matters most of all: a strong and unwavering devotion to justice that is impartial, responsive to people's needs and faithful to our constitutional values.

Howard M. Metzenbaum, a former U.S. senator from Ohio, is board chairman of the Consumer Federation of America.

End Original ARMS Header

The first round of tax rebate checks are mailed tomorrow. But take a second to remember what has happened today:

1. Faith-Based and Community Agenda -- The House of Representatives
today passed with bipartisan support the President,s plan to rally America, s armies of compassion to help those most in need.

2. Energy -- The House Energy and Commerce Committee today approved with strong bipartisan support (50-5) key parts of the President,s plan to address America,s energy crisis. Today,s action follows action earlier this week to approve other parts of the President,s energy plan by the House Science Committee and by the Ways and Means Committee. Floor action is expected soon.

3. Judicial Nominations -- The Senate Judiciary Committee today approved

the first of President Bush,s judicial picks 19-0 (the committee sent the following nominees to the full Senate) Roger Gregory, Richard Cebull, and Sam Haddon)

4. Social Security -- The President,s bipartisan Commission to Strengthen Social Security today released a staff draft of its interim report that gives new momentum to the President,s vision for bipartisan Social Security reform.

The first round of tax rebate checks are mailed tomorrow. But take a second to remember what has happened today:

1. Faith-Based and Community Agenda -- The House of Representatives
today passed with bipartisan support the President,s plan to rally America, s armies of compassion to help those most in need.

2. Energy -- The House Energy and Commerce Committee today approved with strong bipartisan support (50-5) key parts of the President,s plan to address America,s energy crisis. Today,s action follows action earlier this week to approve other parts of the President,s energy plan by the House Science Committee and by the Ways and Means Committee. Floor action is expected soon.

3. Judicial Nominations -- The Senate Judiciary Committee today approved

the first of President Bush,s judicial picks 19-0 (the committee sent the following nominees to the full Senate) Roger Gregory, Richard Cebull, and Sam Haddon)

4. Social Security -- The President,s bipartisan Commission to Strengthen Social Security today released a staff draft of its interim report that gives new momentum to the President,s vision for bipartisan Social Security reform.

HOUSE PASSES PRESIDENT'S FAITH-BASED AND COMMUNITY INITIATIVE

TODAY'S ACTION:

- With bipartisan support, the U.S. House of Representatives passed H.R. 7 – the Community Solutions Act -- legislation that contains key elements of the President's faith-based and community initiatives.

- The House passed this legislation at a time when leading civil rights organizations have announced their support. Just this week, the Southern Christian Leadership Conference – the group founded by the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr.; the National Medical Association – representing more than 26,000 African-American physicians; and Ambassador Andrew Young, Co-Chair of Faith and the City – announced support for the bill.

- Today's vote is a victory for millions of families trapped in welfare, the hungry, victims of crime, the addicted, the homeless, the needy, and the nearly 2 million children with a mom or dad in prison.

Background on H.R. 7 – The Community Solutions Act

- The bipartisan Community Solutions Act – sponsored by Congressmen J.C. Watts (R-OK) and Tony Hall (D-OH) -- supports faith-based and community organizations in their vital efforts to help needy Americans by extending existing charitable choice principles of neutrality, evenhandedness, and nondiscrimination to additional programs. It allows civic-minded religious charities to more effectively partner with the governmental organizations to deliver vital social services in areas like crime prevention, drug abuse treatment and prevention, hunger relief, domestic violence, and assistance to the elderly. This legislation strikes a careful balance -- widening options for Americans in need while also protecting their religious liberties and civil rights as well as the religious character of the service providers. It is consistent with the President's goals for rallying America's armies of compassion.

- This initiative to support the work of charitable organizations and to expand charitable giving has widespread support in communities across America. Today's action by the House of Representatives is just another important step toward providing more effective help to Americans in need.

- Nothing is closer to the President's heart than mobilizing America's armies of compassion on behalf of the neediest Americans. The President commends the House for taking an important first step, and he looks forward to working with the Senate to make this initiative the law of the land.

KEY ELEMENTS OF THE PRESIDENT'S FAITH- AND COMMUNITY-BASED INITIATIVE:

The President's faith- and community-based initiative is designed to help Americans in need by:

- Stimulating an outpouring of private giving to nonprofits, faith-based programs, and community groups by expanding tax deductions and other initiatives.

  - H.R. 7 includes a nearly $13.3 billion dollar, ten-year package of measures based on President Bush's proposals that will:

    - ✓ Allow taxpayers who do not itemize on their taxes to get a tax deduction for charitable giving, in addition to their standard deduction.
    - ✓ Allow older taxpayers to make tax free withdrawals from their Individual Retirement Accounts for the purpose of giving to charities.

- ✓ Allow businesses to contribute more to charity, and permit an enhanced tax deduction for food donations by businesses that donate food inventory to charitable groups.
- ✓ Double the funding for Individual Development Accounts, which are accounts designed to help low-income Americans accumulate assets. IDA funding would rise from the current $25 million to $50 million, and IDA funds would be available for five more years than under current law.

- ♦ President Bush will continue to work with Members of Congress on a bipartisan basis to make incentives for charitable giving as robust as possible and to more effectively deliver vital social services to Americans who are most in need.

➢ Expanding long-standing Charitable Choice principles to additional federal programs, enabling private, charitable and religious organizations to compete, on a nondiscriminatory basis, for funding for social service programs such as:

- ♦ Juvenile justice
- ♦ Crime prevention
- ♦ Housing assistance
- ♦ Job training
- ♦ Elder care
- ♦ Hunger relief
- ♦ Domestic violence prevention
- ♦ After-school and adult education services
- ♦ Community Development Block Grant

- ♦ H.R. 7 also provides $50 million in technical assistance to help small faith- and community-based organizations comply with federal requirements for support of their charitable activities.

➢ Eliminating federal barriers to effective faith-based and community-serving programs through legislative, regulatory, and programmatic reforms.

- ✓ Creating the White House Office of Faith-Based & Community Initiatives, and creating Centers for Faith-Based & Community Initiatives at the Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, HUD, Justice and Education to spearhead efforts to eliminate barriers impeding the vital work of neighborhood charities.
- ✓ Working to ensure full compliance with Charitable Choice provisions in existing law to assist faith- and community-based organizations that already provide valued assistance but have been crowded out by federal laws and regulations.
- ✓ Encouraging, advising, and guiding state and local governments to vigorously implement Charitable Choice where it already has been enacted into law.

SUPPORT FOR THE PRESIDENT'S INITIATIVE CONTINUES TO BUILD:

A steady stream of respected national charities, ministries and philanthropic organizations have announced their support of the key provisions of the President's initiative, including but not limited to:

- ✓ Center for Public Justice
- ✓ Church Of God In Christ (COGIC)
- ✓ Empower America
- ✓ Habitat for Humanity International
- ✓ The Independent Sector
- ✓ The Islamic Institute
- ✓ National Association of Evangelicals
- ✓ National Center for Community Economic Development
- ✓ National Catholic Council for Hispanic Ministry
- ✓ National Medical Association
- ✓ Rosa & Raymond Parks Institute for Self Development
- ✓ Salvation Army
- ✓ Southern Christian Leadership Conference
- ✓ Union of Orthodox Jewish Congregations
- ✓ U.S. Catholic Conference
- ✓ U.S. Conference of Mayors
- ✓ YMCA of the USA

Subject: Thursday Momentum for the President's Agenda

The first round of tax rebate checks are mailed tomorrow. But take a second to remember what has happened today:

1. Faith-Based and Community Agenda -- The House of Representatives today passed with bipartisan support the President,s plan to rally America, s armies of compassion to help those most in need.

2. Energy -- The House Energy and Commerce Committee today approved with strong bipartisan support (50-5) key parts of the President,s plan to address America,s energy crisis. Today,s action follows action earlier this week to approve other parts of the President,s energy plan by the House Science Committee and by the Ways and Means Committee. Floor action is expected soon.

3. Judicial Nominations -- The Senate Judiciary Committee today approved the first of President Bush,s judicial picks 19-0 (the committee sent the following nominees to the full Senate) Roger Gregory, Richard Cebull, and Sam Haddon)

4. Social Security -- The President,s bipartisan Commission to Strengthen Social Security today released a staff draft of its interim report that gives new momentum to the President,s vision for bipartisan Social Security reform.

On a related note, I'd like to point out that many people improperly use "less than" when they should say "fewer."

Subject: Re: Who is the "over"/"more than" guru?

For inquiring minds, I had used "over" instead of "more than" in a set of talking points and this usage was questioned by a then-anonymous guru, who turned out to be Courtney. My independent, post hoc examination of Garner's manuals reveals that Mrs. Elwood, as always, has a good point. The Manual states that the use of "over" for "more than" is "to be avoided in formal writing." The Manual (a different edition) does also state, however, that "over" for "more than" is "acceptable as a casualism e.g., 'Reagan won the election by over a million votes.'"

So the question comes down to whether a set of talking points is a

"casualism" or "formal writing"? [No need to answer!!!]

I never get tired of these kinds of lines from pool reports . ..

The President departed the Ambassador's Residence in a pair of Marine helicopters, just like on the South Lawn. Two other choppers then came in for staff and press. The sheep in a pasture on the property charged up a hill in terror as each chopper passed. Goats scattered.

TODAY'S ACTION:

- With bipartisan support, the U.S. House of Representatives passed H.R. 7 – the Community Solutions Act -- legislation that contains key elements of the President's faith-based and community initiatives.

- The House passed this legislation at a time when leading civil rights organizations have announced their support. Just this week, the Southern Christian Leadership Conference – the group founded by the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr.; the National Medical Association – representing more than 26,000 African-American physicians; and Ambassador Andrew Young, Co-Chair of Faith and the City – announced support for the bill.

- Today's vote is a victory for millions of families trapped in welfare, the hungry, victims of crime, the addicted, the homeless, the needy, and the nearly 2 million children with a mom or dad in prison.

Background on H.R. 7 – The Community Solutions Act

- The bipartisan Community Solutions Act – sponsored by Congressmen J.C. Watts (R-OK) and Tony Hall (D-OH) -- supports faith-based and community organizations in their vital efforts to help needy Americans by extending existing charitable choice principles of neutrality, evenhandedness, and nondiscrimination to additional programs. It allows civic-minded religious charities to more effectively partner with the governmental organizations to deliver vital social services in areas like crime prevention, drug abuse treatment and prevention, hunger relief, domestic violence, and assistance to the elderly. This legislation strikes a careful balance -- widening options for Americans in need while also protecting their religious liberties and civil rights as well as the religious character of the service providers. It is consistent with the President's goals for rallying America's armies of compassion.

- This initiative to support the work of charitable organizations and to expand charitable giving has widespread support in communities across America. Today's action by the House of Representatives is just another important step toward providing more effective help to Americans in need.

- Nothing is closer to the President's heart than mobilizing America's armies of compassion on behalf of the neediest Americans. The President commends the House for taking an important first step, and he looks forward to working with the Senate to make this initiative the law of the land.

KEY ELEMENTS OF THE PRESIDENT'S FAITH- AND COMMUNITY-BASED INITIATIVE:

The President's faith- and community-based initiative is designed to help Americans in need by:

- Stimulating an outpouring of private giving to nonprofits, faith-based programs, and community groups by expanding tax deductions and other initiatives.

  - H.R. 7 includes a nearly $13.3 billion dollar, ten-year package of measures based on President Bush's proposals that will:

    - ✓ Allow taxpayers who do not itemize on their taxes to get a tax deduction for charitable giving, in addition to their standard deduction.
    - ✓ Allow older taxpayers to make tax free withdrawals from their Individual Retirement Accounts for the purpose of giving to charities.

- ✓ Allow businesses to contribute more to charity, and permit an enhanced tax deduction for food donations by businesses that donate food inventory to charitable groups.
- ✓ Double the funding for Individual Development Accounts, which are accounts designed to help low-income Americans accumulate assets. IDA funding would rise from the current $25 million to $50 million, and IDA funds would be available for five more years than under current law.

- ♦ President Bush will continue to work with Members of Congress on a bipartisan basis to make incentives for charitable giving as robust as possible and to more effectively deliver vital social services to Americans who are most in need.

➢ Expanding long-standing Charitable Choice principles to additional federal programs, enabling private, charitable and religious organizations to compete, on a nondiscriminatory basis, for funding for social service programs such as:

- ♦ Juvenile justice
- ♦ Crime prevention
- ♦ Housing assistance
- ♦ Job training
- ♦ Elder care
- ♦ Hunger relief
- ♦ Domestic violence prevention
- ♦ After-school and adult education services
- ♦ Community Development Block Grant

- ♦ H.R. 7 also provides $50 million in technical assistance to help small faith- and community-based organizations comply with federal requirements for support of their charitable activities.

➢ Eliminating federal barriers to effective faith-based and community-serving programs through legislative, regulatory, and programmatic reforms.

- ✓ Creating the White House Office of Faith-Based & Community Initiatives, and creating Centers for Faith-Based & Community Initiatives at the Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, HUD, Justice and Education to spearhead efforts to eliminate barriers impeding the vital work of neighborhood charities.
- ✓ Working to ensure full compliance with Charitable Choice provisions in existing law to assist faith- and community-based organizations that already provide valued assistance but have been crowded out by federal laws and regulations.
- ✓ Encouraging, advising, and guiding state and local governments to vigorously implement Charitable Choice where it already has been enacted into law.

SUPPORT FOR THE PRESIDENT'S INITIATIVE CONTINUES TO BUILD:

A steady stream of respected national charities, ministries and philanthropic organizations have announced their support of the key provisions of the President's initiative, including but not limited to:

- ✓ Center for Public Justice
- ✓ Church Of God In Christ (COGIC)
- ✓ Empower America
- ✓ Habitat for Humanity International
- ✓ The Independent Sector
- ✓ The Islamic Institute
- ✓ National Association of Evangelicals
- ✓ National Center for Community Economic Development
- ✓ National Catholic Council for Hispanic Ministry
- ✓ National Medical Association
- ✓ Rosa & Raymond Parks Institute for Self Development
- ✓ Salvation Army
- ✓ Southern Christian Leadership Conference
- ✓ Union of Orthodox Jewish Congregations
- ✓ U.S. Catholic Conference
- ✓ U.S. Conference of Mayors
- ✓ YMCA of the USA

TODAY'S ACTION:

- With bipartisan support, the U.S. House of Representatives passed H.R. 7 – the Community Solutions Act -- legislation that contains key elements of the President's faith-based and community initiatives.

- The House passed this legislation at a time when leading civil rights organizations have announced their support. Just this week, the Southern Christian Leadership Conference – the group founded by the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr.; the National Medical Association – representing more than 26,000 African-American physicians; and Ambassador Andrew Young, Co-Chair of Faith and the City – announced support for the bill.

- Today's vote is a victory for millions of families trapped in welfare, the hungry, victims of crime, the addicted, the homeless, the needy, and the nearly 2 million children with a mom or dad in prison.

Background on H.R. 7 – The Community Solutions Act

- The bipartisan Community Solutions Act – sponsored by Congressmen J.C. Watts (R-OK) and Tony Hall (D-OH) -- supports faith-based and community organizations in their vital efforts to help needy Americans by extending existing charitable choice principles of neutrality, evenhandedness, and nondiscrimination to additional programs. It allows civic-minded religious charities to more effectively partner with the governmental organizations to deliver vital social services in areas like crime prevention, drug abuse treatment and prevention, hunger relief, domestic violence, and assistance to the elderly. This legislation strikes a careful balance -- widening options for Americans in need while also protecting their religious liberties and civil rights as well as the religious character of the service providers. It is consistent with the President's goals for rallying America's armies of compassion.

- This initiative to support the work of charitable organizations and to expand charitable giving has widespread support in communities across America. Today's action by the House of Representatives is just another important step toward providing more effective help to Americans in need.

- Nothing is closer to the President's heart than mobilizing America's armies of compassion on behalf of the neediest Americans. The President commends the House for taking an important first step, and he looks forward to working with the Senate to make this initiative the law of the land.

KEY ELEMENTS OF THE PRESIDENT'S FAITH- AND COMMUNITY-BASED INITIATIVE:

The President's faith- and community-based initiative is designed to help Americans in need by:

- Stimulating an outpouring of private giving to nonprofits, faith-based programs, and community groups by expanding tax deductions and other initiatives.

  - H.R. 7 includes a nearly $13.3 billion dollar, ten-year package of measures based on President Bush's proposals that will:

    - ✓ Allow taxpayers who do not itemize on their taxes to get a tax deduction for charitable giving, in addition to their standard deduction.
    - ✓ Allow older taxpayers to make tax free withdrawals from their Individual Retirement Accounts for the purpose of giving to charities.

- ✓ Allow businesses to contribute more to charity, and permit an enhanced tax deduction for food donations by businesses that donate food inventory to charitable groups.
- ✓ Double the funding for Individual Development Accounts, which are accounts designed to help low-income Americans accumulate assets. IDA funding would rise from the current $25 million to $50 million, and IDA funds would be available for five more years than under current law.

- ♦ President Bush will continue to work with Members of Congress on a bipartisan basis to make incentives for charitable giving as robust as possible and to more effectively deliver vital social services to Americans who are most in need.

➢ Expanding long-standing Charitable Choice principles to additional federal programs, enabling private, charitable and religious organizations to compete, on a nondiscriminatory basis, for funding for social service programs such as:

- ♦ Juvenile justice
- ♦ Crime prevention
- ♦ Housing assistance
- ♦ Job training
- ♦ Elder care
- ♦ Hunger relief
- ♦ Domestic violence prevention
- ♦ After-school and adult education services
- ♦ Community Development Block Grant

- ♦ H.R. 7 also provides $50 million in technical assistance to help small faith- and community-based organizations comply with federal requirements for support of their charitable activities.

➢ Eliminating federal barriers to effective faith-based and community-serving programs through legislative, regulatory, and programmatic reforms.

- ✓ Creating the White House Office of Faith-Based & Community Initiatives, and creating Centers for Faith-Based & Community Initiatives at the Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, HUD, Justice and Education to spearhead efforts to eliminate barriers impeding the vital work of neighborhood charities.
- ✓ Working to ensure full compliance with Charitable Choice provisions in existing law to assist faith- and community-based organizations that already provide valued assistance but have been crowded out by federal laws and regulations.
- ✓ Encouraging, advising, and guiding state and local governments to vigorously implement Charitable Choice where it already has been enacted into law.

SUPPORT FOR THE PRESIDENT'S INITIATIVE CONTINUES TO BUILD:

A steady stream of respected national charities, ministries and philanthropic organizations have announced their support of the key provisions of the President's initiative, including but not limited to:

- ✓ Center for Public Justice
- ✓ Church Of God In Christ (COGIC)
- ✓ Empower America
- ✓ Habitat for Humanity International
- ✓ The Independent Sector
- ✓ The Islamic Institute
- ✓ National Association of Evangelicals
- ✓ National Center for Community Economic Development
- ✓ National Catholic Council for Hispanic Ministry
- ✓ National Medical Association
- ✓ Rosa & Raymond Parks Institute for Self Development
- ✓ Salvation Army
- ✓ Southern Christian Leadership Conference
- ✓ Union of Orthodox Jewish Congregations
- ✓ U.S. Catholic Conference
- ✓ U.S. Conference of Mayors
- ✓ YMCA of the USA

TODAY'S ACTION:

- With bipartisan support, the U.S. House of Representatives passed H.R. 7 – the Community Solutions Act -- legislation that contains key elements of the President's faith-based and community initiatives.

- The House passed this legislation at a time when leading civil rights organizations have announced their support. Just this week, the Southern Christian Leadership Conference – the group founded by the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr.; the National Medical Association – representing more than 26,000 African-American physicians; and Ambassador Andrew Young, Co-Chair of Faith and the City – announced support for the bill.

- Today's vote is a victory for millions of families trapped in welfare, the hungry, victims of crime, the addicted, the homeless, the needy, and the nearly 2 million children with a mom or dad in prison.

Background on H.R. 7 – The Community Solutions Act

- The bipartisan Community Solutions Act – sponsored by Congressmen J.C. Watts (R-OK) and Tony Hall (D-OH) -- supports faith-based and community organizations in their vital efforts to help needy Americans by extending existing charitable choice principles of neutrality, evenhandedness, and nondiscrimination to additional programs. It allows civic-minded religious charities to more effectively partner with the governmental organizations to deliver vital social services in areas like crime prevention, drug abuse treatment and prevention, hunger relief, domestic violence, and assistance to the elderly. This legislation strikes a careful balance -- widening options for Americans in need while also protecting their religious liberties and civil rights as well as the religious character of the service providers. It is consistent with the President's goals for rallying America's armies of compassion.

- This initiative to support the work of charitable organizations and to expand charitable giving has widespread support in communities across America. Today's action by the House of Representatives is just another important step toward providing more effective help to Americans in need.

- Nothing is closer to the President's heart than mobilizing America's armies of compassion on behalf of the neediest Americans. The President commends the House for taking an important first step, and he looks forward to working with the Senate to make this initiative the law of the land.

KEY ELEMENTS OF THE PRESIDENT'S FAITH- AND COMMUNITY-BASED INITIATIVE:

The President's faith- and community-based initiative is designed to help Americans in need by:

- Stimulating an outpouring of private giving to nonprofits, faith-based programs, and community groups by expanding tax deductions and other initiatives.

  - H.R. 7 includes a nearly $13.3 billion dollar, ten-year package of measures based on President Bush's proposals that will:

    - ✓ Allow taxpayers who do not itemize on their taxes to get a tax deduction for charitable giving, in addition to their standard deduction.
    - ✓ Allow older taxpayers to make tax free withdrawals from their Individual Retirement Accounts for the purpose of giving to charities.

- ✓ Allow businesses to contribute more to charity, and permit an enhanced tax deduction for food donations by businesses that donate food inventory to charitable groups.
- ✓ Double the funding for Individual Development Accounts, which are accounts designed to help low-income Americans accumulate assets. IDA funding would rise from the current $25 million to $50 million, and IDA funds would be available for five more years than under current law.

- ♦ President Bush will continue to work with Members of Congress on a bipartisan basis to make incentives for charitable giving as robust as possible and to more effectively deliver vital social services to Americans who are most in need.

➢ Expanding long-standing Charitable Choice principles to additional federal programs, enabling private, charitable and religious organizations to compete, on a nondiscriminatory basis, for funding for social service programs such as:

- ♦ Juvenile justice
- ♦ Crime prevention
- ♦ Housing assistance
- ♦ Job training
- ♦ Elder care
- ♦ Hunger relief
- ♦ Domestic violence prevention
- ♦ After-school and adult education services
- ♦ Community Development Block Grant

- ♦ H.R. 7 also provides $50 million in technical assistance to help small faith- and community-based organizations comply with federal requirements for support of their charitable activities.

➢ Eliminating federal barriers to effective faith-based and community-serving programs through legislative, regulatory, and programmatic reforms.

- ✓ Creating the White House Office of Faith-Based & Community Initiatives, and creating Centers for Faith-Based & Community Initiatives at the Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, HUD, Justice and Education to spearhead efforts to eliminate barriers impeding the vital work of neighborhood charities.
- ✓ Working to ensure full compliance with Charitable Choice provisions in existing law to assist faith- and community-based organizations that already provide valued assistance but have been crowded out by federal laws and regulations.
- ✓ Encouraging, advising, and guiding state and local governments to vigorously implement Charitable Choice where it already has been enacted into law.

SUPPORT FOR THE PRESIDENT'S INITIATIVE CONTINUES TO BUILD:

A steady stream of respected national charities, ministries and philanthropic organizations have announced their support of the key provisions of the President's initiative, including but not limited to:

- ✓ Center for Public Justice
- ✓ Church Of God In Christ (COGIC)
- ✓ Empower America
- ✓ Habitat for Humanity International
- ✓ The Independent Sector
- ✓ The Islamic Institute
- ✓ National Association of Evangelicals
- ✓ National Center for Community Economic Development
- ✓ National Catholic Council for Hispanic Ministry
- ✓ National Medical Association
- ✓ Rosa & Raymond Parks Institute for Self Development
- ✓ Salvation Army
- ✓ Southern Christian Leadership Conference
- ✓ Union of Orthodox Jewish Congregations
- ✓ U.S. Catholic Conference
- ✓ U.S. Conference of Mayors
- ✓ YMCA of the USA

TODAY'S ACTION:

- With bipartisan support, the U.S. House of Representatives passed H.R. 7 – the Community Solutions Act -- legislation that contains key elements of the President's faith-based and community initiatives.

- The House passed this legislation at a time when leading civil rights organizations have announced their support. Just this week, the Southern Christian Leadership Conference – the group founded by the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr.; the National Medical Association – representing more than 26,000 African-American physicians; and Ambassador Andrew Young, Co-Chair of Faith and the City – announced support for the bill.

- Today's vote is a victory for millions of families trapped in welfare, the hungry, victims of crime, the addicted, the homeless, the needy, and the nearly 2 million children with a mom or dad in prison.

Background on H.R. 7 – The Community Solutions Act

- The bipartisan Community Solutions Act – sponsored by Congressmen J.C. Watts (R-OK) and Tony Hall (D-OH) -- supports faith-based and community organizations in their vital efforts to help needy Americans by extending existing charitable choice principles of neutrality, evenhandedness, and nondiscrimination to additional programs. It allows civic-minded religious charities to more effectively partner with the governmental organizations to deliver vital social services in areas like crime prevention, drug abuse treatment and prevention, hunger relief, domestic violence, and assistance to the elderly. This legislation strikes a careful balance -- widening options for Americans in need while also protecting their religious liberties and civil rights as well as the religious character of the service providers. It is consistent with the President's goals for rallying America's armies of compassion.

- This initiative to support the work of charitable organizations and to expand charitable giving has widespread support in communities across America. Today's action by the House of Representatives is just another important step toward providing more effective help to Americans in need.

- Nothing is closer to the President's heart than mobilizing America's armies of compassion on behalf of the neediest Americans. The President commends the House for taking an important first step, and he looks forward to working with the Senate to make this initiative the law of the land.

KEY ELEMENTS OF THE PRESIDENT'S FAITH- AND COMMUNITY-BASED INITIATIVE:

The President's faith- and community-based initiative is designed to help Americans in need by:

- Stimulating an outpouring of private giving to nonprofits, faith-based programs, and community groups by expanding tax deductions and other initiatives.

  - H.R. 7 includes a nearly $13.3 billion dollar, ten-year package of measures based on President Bush's proposals that will:

    - ✓ Allow taxpayers who do not itemize on their taxes to get a tax deduction for charitable giving, in addition to their standard deduction.
    - ✓ Allow older taxpayers to make tax free withdrawals from their Individual Retirement Accounts for the purpose of giving to charities.

- ✓ Allow businesses to contribute more to charity, and permit an enhanced tax deduction for food donations by businesses that donate food inventory to charitable groups.
- ✓ Double the funding for Individual Development Accounts, which are accounts designed to help low-income Americans accumulate assets. IDA funding would rise from the current $25 million to $50 million, and IDA funds would be available for five more years than under current law.

- ♦ President Bush will continue to work with Members of Congress on a bipartisan basis to make incentives for charitable giving as robust as possible and to more effectively deliver vital social services to Americans who are most in need.

➢ Expanding long-standing Charitable Choice principles to additional federal programs, enabling private, charitable and religious organizations to compete, on a nondiscriminatory basis, for funding for social service programs such as:

- ♦ Juvenile justice
- ♦ Crime prevention
- ♦ Housing assistance
- ♦ Job training
- ♦ Elder care
- ♦ Hunger relief
- ♦ Domestic violence prevention
- ♦ After-school and adult education services
- ♦ Community Development Block Grant

- ♦ H.R. 7 also provides $50 million in technical assistance to help small faith- and community-based organizations comply with federal requirements for support of their charitable activities.

➢ Eliminating federal barriers to effective faith-based and community-serving programs through legislative, regulatory, and programmatic reforms.

- ✓ Creating the White House Office of Faith-Based & Community Initiatives, and creating Centers for Faith-Based & Community Initiatives at the Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, HUD, Justice and Education to spearhead efforts to eliminate barriers impeding the vital work of neighborhood charities.
- ✓ Working to ensure full compliance with Charitable Choice provisions in existing law to assist faith- and community-based organizations that already provide valued assistance but have been crowded out by federal laws and regulations.
- ✓ Encouraging, advising, and guiding state and local governments to vigorously implement Charitable Choice where it already has been enacted into law.

SUPPORT FOR THE PRESIDENT'S INITIATIVE CONTINUES TO BUILD:

A steady stream of respected national charities, ministries and philanthropic organizations have announced their support of the key provisions of the President's initiative, including but not limited to:

- ✓ Center for Public Justice
- ✓ Church Of God In Christ (COGIC)
- ✓ Empower America
- ✓ Habitat for Humanity International
- ✓ The Independent Sector
- ✓ The Islamic Institute
- ✓ National Association of Evangelicals
- ✓ National Center for Community Economic Development
- ✓ National Catholic Council for Hispanic Ministry
- ✓ National Medical Association
- ✓ Rosa & Raymond Parks Institute for Self Development
- ✓ Salvation Army
- ✓ Southern Christian Leadership Conference
- ✓ Union of Orthodox Jewish Congregations
- ✓ U.S. Catholic Conference
- ✓ U.S. Conference of Mayors
- ✓ YMCA of the USA

The first round of tax rebate checks are mailed tomorrow. But take a second to remember what has happened today:

1. Faith-Based and Community Agenda -- The House of Representatives
today passed with bipartisan support the President,s plan to rally America, s armies of compassion to help those most in need.

2. Energy -- The House Energy and Commerce Committee today approved with strong bipartisan support (50-5) key parts of the President,s plan to address America,s energy crisis. Today,s action follows action earlier this week to approve other parts of the President,s energy plan by the House Science Committee and by the Ways and Means Committee. Floor action is expected soon.

3. Judicial Nominations -- The Senate Judiciary Committee today approved

the first of President Bush,s judicial picks 19-0 (the committee sent the following nominees to the full Senate) Roger Gregory, Richard Cebull, and Sam Haddon)

4. Social Security -- The President,s bipartisan Commission to Strengthen Social Security today released a staff draft of its interim report that gives new momentum to the President,s vision for bipartisan Social Security reform.

TODAY'S ACTION:

- With bipartisan support, the U.S. House of Representatives passed H.R. 7 – the Community Solutions Act -- legislation that contains key elements of the President's faith-based and community initiatives.

- The House passed this legislation at a time when leading civil rights organizations have announced their support. Just this week, the Southern Christian Leadership Conference – the group founded by the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr.; the National Medical Association – representing more than 26,000 African-American physicians; and Ambassador Andrew Young, Co-Chair of Faith and the City – announced support for the bill.

- Today's vote is a victory for millions of families trapped in welfare, the hungry, victims of crime, the addicted, the homeless, the needy, and the nearly 2 million children with a mom or dad in prison.

Background on H.R. 7 – The Community Solutions Act

- The bipartisan Community Solutions Act – sponsored by Congressmen J.C. Watts (R-OK) and Tony Hall (D-OH) -- supports faith-based and community organizations in their vital efforts to help needy Americans by extending existing charitable choice principles of neutrality, evenhandedness, and nondiscrimination to additional programs. It allows civic-minded religious charities to more effectively partner with the governmental organizations to deliver vital social services in areas like crime prevention, drug abuse treatment and prevention, hunger relief, domestic violence, and assistance to the elderly. This legislation strikes a careful balance -- widening options for Americans in need while also protecting their religious liberties and civil rights as well as the religious character of the service providers. It is consistent with the President's goals for rallying America's armies of compassion.

- This initiative to support the work of charitable organizations and to expand charitable giving has widespread support in communities across America. Today's action by the House of Representatives is just another important step toward providing more effective help to Americans in need.

- Nothing is closer to the President's heart than mobilizing America's armies of compassion on behalf of the neediest Americans. The President commends the House for taking an important first step, and he looks forward to working with the Senate to make this initiative the law of the land.

KEY ELEMENTS OF THE PRESIDENT'S FAITH- AND COMMUNITY-BASED INITIATIVE:

The President's faith- and community-based initiative is designed to help Americans in need by:

- Stimulating an outpouring of private giving to nonprofits, faith-based programs, and community groups by expanding tax deductions and other initiatives.

  - H.R. 7 includes a nearly $13.3 billion dollar, ten-year package of measures based on President Bush's proposals that will:

    - ✓ Allow taxpayers who do not itemize on their taxes to get a tax deduction for charitable giving, in addition to their standard deduction.
    - ✓ Allow older taxpayers to make tax free withdrawals from their Individual Retirement Accounts for the purpose of giving to charities.

- ✓ Allow businesses to contribute more to charity, and permit an enhanced tax deduction for food donations by businesses that donate food inventory to charitable groups.
- ✓ Double the funding for Individual Development Accounts, which are accounts designed to help low-income Americans accumulate assets. IDA funding would rise from the current $25 million to $50 million, and IDA funds would be available for five more years than under current law.

- ♦ President Bush will continue to work with Members of Congress on a bipartisan basis to make incentives for charitable giving as robust as possible and to more effectively deliver vital social services to Americans who are most in need.

➢ Expanding long-standing Charitable Choice principles to additional federal programs, enabling private, charitable and religious organizations to compete, on a nondiscriminatory basis, for funding for social service programs such as:

- ♦ Juvenile justice
- ♦ Crime prevention
- ♦ Housing assistance
- ♦ Job training
- ♦ Elder care
- ♦ Hunger relief
- ♦ Domestic violence prevention
- ♦ After-school and adult education services
- ♦ Community Development Block Grant

- ♦ H.R. 7 also provides $50 million in technical assistance to help small faith- and community-based organizations comply with federal requirements for support of their charitable activities.

➢ Eliminating federal barriers to effective faith-based and community-serving programs through legislative, regulatory, and programmatic reforms.

- ✓ Creating the White House Office of Faith-Based & Community Initiatives, and creating Centers for Faith-Based & Community Initiatives at the Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, HUD, Justice and Education to spearhead efforts to eliminate barriers impeding the vital work of neighborhood charities.
- ✓ Working to ensure full compliance with Charitable Choice provisions in existing law to assist faith- and community-based organizations that already provide valued assistance but have been crowded out by federal laws and regulations.
- ✓ Encouraging, advising, and guiding state and local governments to vigorously implement Charitable Choice where it already has been enacted into law.

SUPPORT FOR THE PRESIDENT'S INITIATIVE CONTINUES TO BUILD:

A steady stream of respected national charities, ministries and philanthropic organizations have announced their support of the key provisions of the President's initiative, including but not limited to:

- ✓ Center for Public Justice
- ✓ Church Of God In Christ (COGIC)
- ✓ Empower America
- ✓ Habitat for Humanity International
- ✓ The Independent Sector
- ✓ The Islamic Institute
- ✓ National Association of Evangelicals
- ✓ National Center for Community Economic Development
- ✓ National Catholic Council for Hispanic Ministry
- ✓ National Medical Association
- ✓ Rosa & Raymond Parks Institute for Self Development
- ✓ Salvation Army
- ✓ Southern Christian Leadership Conference
- ✓ Union of Orthodox Jewish Congregations
- ✓ U.S. Catholic Conference
- ✓ U.S. Conference of Mayors
- ✓ YMCA of the USA

TODAY'S ACTION:

- With bipartisan support, the U.S. House of Representatives passed H.R. 7 – the Community Solutions Act -- legislation that contains key elements of the President's faith-based and community initiatives.

- The House passed this legislation at a time when leading civil rights organizations have announced their support. Just this week, the Southern Christian Leadership Conference – the group founded by the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr.; the National Medical Association – representing more than 26,000 African-American physicians; and Ambassador Andrew Young, Co-Chair of Faith and the City – announced support for the bill.

- Today's vote is a victory for millions of families trapped in welfare, the hungry, victims of crime, the addicted, the homeless, the needy, and the nearly 2 million children with a mom or dad in prison.

Background on H.R. 7 – The Community Solutions Act

- The bipartisan Community Solutions Act – sponsored by Congressmen J.C. Watts (R-OK) and Tony Hall (D-OH) -- supports faith-based and community organizations in their vital efforts to help needy Americans by extending existing charitable choice principles of neutrality, evenhandedness, and nondiscrimination to additional programs. It allows civic-minded religious charities to more effectively partner with the governmental organizations to deliver vital social services in areas like crime prevention, drug abuse treatment and prevention, hunger relief, domestic violence, and assistance to the elderly. This legislation strikes a careful balance -- widening options for Americans in need while also protecting their religious liberties and civil rights as well as the religious character of the service providers. It is consistent with the President's goals for rallying America's armies of compassion.

- This initiative to support the work of charitable organizations and to expand charitable giving has widespread support in communities across America. Today's action by the House of Representatives is just another important step toward providing more effective help to Americans in need.

- Nothing is closer to the President's heart than mobilizing America's armies of compassion on behalf of the neediest Americans. The President commends the House for taking an important first step, and he looks forward to working with the Senate to make this initiative the law of the land.

KEY ELEMENTS OF THE PRESIDENT'S FAITH- AND COMMUNITY-BASED INITIATIVE:

The President's faith- and community-based initiative is designed to help Americans in need by:

- Stimulating an outpouring of private giving to nonprofits, faith-based programs, and community groups by expanding tax deductions and other initiatives.

  - H.R. 7 includes a nearly $13.3 billion dollar, ten-year package of measures based on President Bush's proposals that will:

    - ✓ Allow taxpayers who do not itemize on their taxes to get a tax deduction for charitable giving, in addition to their standard deduction.
    - ✓ Allow older taxpayers to make tax free withdrawals from their Individual Retirement Accounts for the purpose of giving to charities.

- ✓ Allow businesses to contribute more to charity, and permit an enhanced tax deduction for food donations by businesses that donate food inventory to charitable groups.
- ✓ Double the funding for Individual Development Accounts, which are accounts designed to help low-income Americans accumulate assets. IDA funding would rise from the current $25 million to $50 million, and IDA funds would be available for five more years than under current law.

- ♦ President Bush will continue to work with Members of Congress on a bipartisan basis to make incentives for charitable giving as robust as possible and to more effectively deliver vital social services to Americans who are most in need.

➢ Expanding long-standing Charitable Choice principles to additional federal programs, enabling private, charitable and religious organizations to compete, on a nondiscriminatory basis, for funding for social service programs such as:

- ♦ Juvenile justice
- ♦ Crime prevention
- ♦ Housing assistance
- ♦ Job training
- ♦ Elder care
- ♦ Hunger relief
- ♦ Domestic violence prevention
- ♦ After-school and adult education services
- ♦ Community Development Block Grant

- ♦ H.R. 7 also provides $50 million in technical assistance to help small faith- and community-based organizations comply with federal requirements for support of their charitable activities.

➢ Eliminating federal barriers to effective faith-based and community-serving programs through legislative, regulatory, and programmatic reforms.

- ✓ Creating the White House Office of Faith-Based & Community Initiatives, and creating Centers for Faith-Based & Community Initiatives at the Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, HUD, Justice and Education to spearhead efforts to eliminate barriers impeding the vital work of neighborhood charities.
- ✓ Working to ensure full compliance with Charitable Choice provisions in existing law to assist faith- and community-based organizations that already provide valued assistance but have been crowded out by federal laws and regulations.
- ✓ Encouraging, advising, and guiding state and local governments to vigorously implement Charitable Choice where it already has been enacted into law.

SUPPORT FOR THE PRESIDENT'S INITIATIVE CONTINUES TO BUILD:

A steady stream of respected national charities, ministries and philanthropic organizations have announced their support of the key provisions of the President's initiative, including but not limited to:

- ✓ Center for Public Justice
- ✓ Church Of God In Christ (COGIC)
- ✓ Empower America
- ✓ Habitat for Humanity International
- ✓ The Independent Sector
- ✓ The Islamic Institute
- ✓ National Association of Evangelicals
- ✓ National Center for Community Economic Development
- ✓ National Catholic Council for Hispanic Ministry
- ✓ National Medical Association
- ✓ Rosa & Raymond Parks Institute for Self Development
- ✓ Salvation Army
- ✓ Southern Christian Leadership Conference
- ✓ Union of Orthodox Jewish Congregations
- ✓ U.S. Catholic Conference
- ✓ U.S. Conference of Mayors
- ✓ YMCA of the USA

TODAY'S ACTION:

- With bipartisan support, the U.S. House of Representatives passed H.R. 7 – the Community Solutions Act -- legislation that contains key elements of the President's faith-based and community initiatives.

- The House passed this legislation at a time when leading civil rights organizations have announced their support. Just this week, the Southern Christian Leadership Conference – the group founded by the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr.; the National Medical Association – representing more than 26,000 African-American physicians; and Ambassador Andrew Young, Co-Chair of Faith and the City – announced support for the bill.

- Today's vote is a victory for millions of families trapped in welfare, the hungry, victims of crime, the addicted, the homeless, the needy, and the nearly 2 million children with a mom or dad in prison.

Background on H.R. 7 – The Community Solutions Act

- The bipartisan Community Solutions Act – sponsored by Congressmen J.C. Watts (R-OK) and Tony Hall (D-OH) -- supports faith-based and community organizations in their vital efforts to help needy Americans by extending existing charitable choice principles of neutrality, evenhandedness, and nondiscrimination to additional programs. It allows civic-minded religious charities to more effectively partner with the governmental organizations to deliver vital social services in areas like crime prevention, drug abuse treatment and prevention, hunger relief, domestic violence, and assistance to the elderly. This legislation strikes a careful balance -- widening options for Americans in need while also protecting their religious liberties and civil rights as well as the religious character of the service providers. It is consistent with the President's goals for rallying America's armies of compassion.

- This initiative to support the work of charitable organizations and to expand charitable giving has widespread support in communities across America. Today's action by the House of Representatives is just another important step toward providing more effective help to Americans in need.

- Nothing is closer to the President's heart than mobilizing America's armies of compassion on behalf of the neediest Americans. The President commends the House for taking an important first step, and he looks forward to working with the Senate to make this initiative the law of the land.

KEY ELEMENTS OF THE PRESIDENT'S FAITH- AND COMMUNITY-BASED INITIATIVE:

The President's faith- and community-based initiative is designed to help Americans in need by:

- Stimulating an outpouring of private giving to nonprofits, faith-based programs, and community groups by expanding tax deductions and other initiatives.

  - H.R. 7 includes a nearly $13.3 billion dollar, ten-year package of measures based on President Bush's proposals that will:

    - ✓ Allow taxpayers who do not itemize on their taxes to get a tax deduction for charitable giving, in addition to their standard deduction.
    - ✓ Allow older taxpayers to make tax free withdrawals from their Individual Retirement Accounts for the purpose of giving to charities.

- ✓ Allow businesses to contribute more to charity, and permit an enhanced tax deduction for food donations by businesses that donate food inventory to charitable groups.
- ✓ Double the funding for Individual Development Accounts, which are accounts designed to help low-income Americans accumulate assets. IDA funding would rise from the current $25 million to $50 million, and IDA funds would be available for five more years than under current law.

- ♦ President Bush will continue to work with Members of Congress on a bipartisan basis to make incentives for charitable giving as robust as possible and to more effectively deliver vital social services to Americans who are most in need.

➢ Expanding long-standing Charitable Choice principles to additional federal programs, enabling private, charitable and religious organizations to compete, on a nondiscriminatory basis, for funding for social service programs such as:

- ♦ Juvenile justice
- ♦ Crime prevention
- ♦ Housing assistance
- ♦ Job training
- ♦ Elder care
- ♦ Hunger relief
- ♦ Domestic violence prevention
- ♦ After-school and adult education services
- ♦ Community Development Block Grant

- ♦ H.R. 7 also provides $50 million in technical assistance to help small faith- and community-based organizations comply with federal requirements for support of their charitable activities.

➢ Eliminating federal barriers to effective faith-based and community-serving programs through legislative, regulatory, and programmatic reforms.

- ✓ Creating the White House Office of Faith-Based & Community Initiatives, and creating Centers for Faith-Based & Community Initiatives at the Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, HUD, Justice and Education to spearhead efforts to eliminate barriers impeding the vital work of neighborhood charities.
- ✓ Working to ensure full compliance with Charitable Choice provisions in existing law to assist faith- and community-based organizations that already provide valued assistance but have been crowded out by federal laws and regulations.
- ✓ Encouraging, advising, and guiding state and local governments to vigorously implement Charitable Choice where it already has been enacted into law.

SUPPORT FOR THE PRESIDENT'S INITIATIVE CONTINUES TO BUILD:

A steady stream of respected national charities, ministries and philanthropic organizations have announced their support of the key provisions of the President's initiative, including but not limited to:

- ✓ Center for Public Justice
- ✓ Church Of God In Christ (COGIC)
- ✓ Empower America
- ✓ Habitat for Humanity International
- ✓ The Independent Sector
- ✓ The Islamic Institute
- ✓ National Association of Evangelicals
- ✓ National Center for Community Economic Development
- ✓ National Catholic Council for Hispanic Ministry
- ✓ National Medical Association
- ✓ Rosa & Raymond Parks Institute for Self Development
- ✓ Salvation Army
- ✓ Southern Christian Leadership Conference
- ✓ Union of Orthodox Jewish Congregations
- ✓ U.S. Catholic Conference
- ✓ U.S. Conference of Mayors
- ✓ YMCA of the USA

Subject: Re: Who is the "over"/"more than" guru?

For inquiring minds, I had used "over" instead of "more than" in a set of talking points and this usage was questioned by a then-anonymous guru, who turned out to be Courtney. My independent, post hoc examination of Garner's manuals reveals that Mrs. Elwood, as always, has a good point. The Manual states that the use of "over" for "more than" is "to be avoided in formal writing." The Manual (a different edition) does also state, however, that "over" for "more than" is "acceptable as a casualism e.g., 'Reagan won the election by over a million votes.'"

So the question comes down to whether a set of talking points is a "casualism" or "formal writing"? [No need to answer!!!]

Advance talking points for tomorrow's event in Kansas City. The President will satellite in from Europe.

Tax Refund Season Begins

Today's Presidential Action:

- To celebrate the beginning of the tax refund season, President Bush today – via satellite from Europe – will address employees at the Financial Management Service in Kansas City. The Kansas City Financial Management Service is one of several Treasury processing centers that will print and distribute tax refund checks to Americans. Prior to the President's remarks from Europe, Vice President Dick Cheney and Treasury Secretary Paul O'Neill will also tour the facility and speak to employees.
- Starting today, tax refund checks are in the mail. Americans have overpaid their government – and they're about to get a refund.
- Across-the-board tax relief does not often happen in Washington. In fact, since World War II, it has happened only twice -- President Kennedy's tax cut in the 1960s and President Reagan's in the 1980s.
- The last tax relief for Americans was in 1981 – 20 years ago. The last time income tax rates were reduced for all Americans, Kim Carnes' Bette Davis Eyes was the song of the year, Dallas was the #1 TV show in America. And the talk around the water cooler was, "Who shot JR?" Chariots of Fire was named the Best Picture and the Rubik's Cube puzzle was sweeping the nation.
- A year ago, tax relief was said to be a political impossibility. Seven months ago, it was supposed to be a political liability. Today, it became reality.
- For the last decade the American people have seen government take an increasing share of their personal income. Today, and for the next 10 years, help is on the way.

Advance talking points for tomorrow's event in Kansas City. The President will satellite in from Europe.

Tax Refund Season Begins

Today's Presidential Action:

- To celebrate the beginning of the tax refund season, President Bush today – via satellite from Europe – will address employees at the Financial Management Service in Kansas City. The Kansas City Financial Management Service is one of several Treasury processing centers that will print and distribute tax refund checks to Americans. Prior to the President's remarks from Europe, Vice President Dick Cheney and Treasury Secretary Paul O'Neill will also tour the facility and speak to employees.
- Starting today, tax refund checks are in the mail. Americans have overpaid their government – and they're about to get a refund.
- Across-the-board tax relief does not often happen in Washington. In fact, since World War II, it has happened only twice -- President Kennedy's tax cut in the 1960s and President Reagan's in the 1980s.
- The last tax relief for Americans was in 1981 – 20 years ago. The last time income tax rates were reduced for all Americans, Kim Carnes' Bette Davis Eyes was the song of the year, Dallas was the #1 TV show in America. And the talk around the water cooler was, "Who shot JR?" Chariots of Fire was named the Best Picture and the Rubik's Cube puzzle was sweeping the nation.
- A year ago, tax relief was said to be a political impossibility. Seven months ago, it was supposed to be a political liability. Today, it became reality.
- For the last decade the American people have seen government take an increasing share of their personal income. Today, and for the next 10 years, help is on the way.

Here Come the Tax Refunds:

- The first checks will be mailed on Friday, July 20 from eight national processing centers.
  - Single taxpayers will receive a check up to $300.
  - Single parents will receive a check up to $500.
  - Married taxpayers will receive a check up to $600.

Advance talking points for tomorrow's event in Kansas City. The President will satellite in from Europe.

Tax Refund Season Begins

Today's Presidential Action:

- To celebrate the beginning of the tax refund season, President Bush today – via satellite from Europe – will address employees at the Financial Management Service in Kansas City. The Kansas City Financial Management Service is one of several Treasury processing centers that will print and distribute tax refund checks to Americans. Prior to the President's remarks from Europe, Vice President Dick Cheney and Treasury Secretary Paul O'Neill will also tour the facility and speak to employees.
- Starting today, tax refund checks are in the mail. Americans have overpaid their government – and they're about to get a refund.
- Across-the-board tax relief does not often happen in Washington. In fact, since World War II, it has happened only twice -- President Kennedy's tax cut in the 1960s and President Reagan's in the 1980s.
- The last tax relief for Americans was in 1981 – 20 years ago. The last time income tax rates were reduced for all Americans, Kim Carnes' Bette Davis Eyes was the song of the year, Dallas was the #1 TV show in America. And the talk around the water cooler was, "Who shot JR?" Chariots of Fire was named the Best Picture and the Rubik's Cube puzzle was sweeping the nation.
- A year ago, tax relief was said to be a political impossibility. Seven months ago, it was supposed to be a political liability. Today, it became reality.
- For the last decade the American people have seen government take an increasing share of their personal income. Today, and for the next 10 years, help is on the way.

Here Come the Tax Refunds:

- The first checks will be mailed on Friday, July 20 from eight national processing centers.
  - Single taxpayers will receive a check up to $300.
  - Single parents will receive a check up to $500.
  - Married taxpayers will receive a check up to $600.

Advance talking points for tomorrow's event in Kansas City. The President will satellite in from Europe.

Tax Refund Season Begins

Today's Presidential Action:

- To celebrate the beginning of the tax refund season, President Bush today – via satellite from Europe – will address employees at the Financial Management Service in Kansas City. The Kansas City Financial Management Service is one of several Treasury processing centers that will print and distribute tax refund checks to Americans. Prior to the President's remarks from Europe, Vice President Dick Cheney and Treasury Secretary Paul O'Neill will also tour the facility and speak to employees.
- Starting today, tax refund checks are in the mail. Americans have overpaid their government – and they're about to get a refund.
- Across-the-board tax relief does not often happen in Washington. In fact, since World War II, it has happened only twice -- President Kennedy's tax cut in the 1960s and President Reagan's in the 1980s.
- The last tax relief for Americans was in 1981 – 20 years ago. The last time income tax rates were reduced for all Americans, Kim Carnes' Bette Davis Eyes was the song of the year, Dallas was the #1 TV show in America. And the talk around the water cooler was, "Who shot JR?" Chariots of Fire was named the Best Picture and the Rubik's Cube puzzle was sweeping the nation.
- A year ago, tax relief was said to be a political impossibility. Seven months ago, it was supposed to be a political liability. Today, it became reality.
- For the last decade the American people have seen government take an increasing share of their personal income. Today, and for the next 10 years, help is on the way.

Here Come the Tax Refunds:

- The first checks will be mailed on Friday, July 20 from eight national processing centers.
  - Single taxpayers will receive a check up to $300.

Advance talking points for tomorrow's event in Kansas City. The President will satellite in from Europe.

Tax Refund Season Begins

Today's Presidential Action:

- To celebrate the beginning of the tax refund season, President Bush today – via satellite from Europe – will address employees at the Financial Management Service in Kansas City. The Kansas City Financial Management Service is one of several Treasury processing centers that will print and distribute tax refund checks to Americans. Prior to the President's remarks from Europe, Vice President Dick Cheney and Treasury Secretary Paul O'Neill will also tour the facility and speak to employees.
- Starting today, tax refund checks are in the mail. Americans have overpaid their government – and they're about to get a refund.
- Across-the-board tax relief does not often happen in Washington. In fact, since World War II, it has happened only twice -- President Kennedy's tax cut in the 1960s and President Reagan's in the 1980s.
- The last tax relief for Americans was in 1981 – 20 years ago. The last time income tax rates were reduced for all Americans, Kim Carnes' Bette Davis Eyes was the song of the year, Dallas was the #1 TV show in America. And the talk around the water cooler was, "Who shot JR?" Chariots of Fire was named the Best Picture and the Rubik's Cube puzzle was sweeping the nation.
- A year ago, tax relief was said to be a political impossibility. Seven months ago, it was supposed to be a political liability. Today, it became reality.
- For the last decade the American people have seen government take an increasing share of their personal income. Today, and for the next 10 years, help is on the way.

Here Come the Tax Refunds:

- The first checks will be mailed on Friday, July 20 from eight national processing centers.
  - Single taxpayers will receive a check up to $300.
  - Single parents will receive a check up to $500.
  - Married taxpayers will receive a check up to $600.

Advance talking points for tomorrow's event in Kansas City. The President will satellite in from Europe.

Tax Refund Season Begins

Today's Presidential Action:

- To celebrate the beginning of the tax refund season, President Bush today – via satellite from Europe – will address employees at the Financial Management Service in Kansas City. The Kansas City Financial Management Service is one of several Treasury processing centers that will print and distribute tax refund checks to Americans. Prior to the President's remarks from Europe, Vice President Dick Cheney and Treasury Secretary Paul O'Neill will also tour the facility and speak to employees.
- Starting today, tax refund checks are in the mail. Americans have overpaid their government – and they're about to get a refund.
- Across-the-board tax relief does not often happen in Washington. In fact, since World War II, it has happened only twice -- President Kennedy's tax cut in the 1960s and President Reagan's in the 1980s.
- The last tax relief for Americans was in 1981 – 20 years ago. The last time income tax rates were reduced for all Americans, Kim Carnes' Bette Davis Eyes was the song of the year, Dallas was the #1 TV show in America. And the talk around the water cooler was, "Who shot JR?" Chariots of Fire was named the Best Picture and the Rubik's Cube puzzle was sweeping the nation.
- A year ago, tax relief was said to be a political impossibility. Seven months ago, it was supposed to be a political liability. Today, it became reality.
- For the last decade the American people have seen government take an increasing share of their personal income. Today, and for the next 10 years, help is on the way.

Here Come the Tax Refunds:

- The first checks will be mailed on Friday, July 20 from eight national processing centers.
  - Single taxpayers will receive a check up to $300.
  - Single parents will receive a check up to $500.
  - Married taxpayers will receive a check up to $600.

Advance talking points for tomorrow's event in Kansas City. The President will satellite in from Europe.

Tax Refund Season Begins

Today's Presidential Action:

- To celebrate the beginning of the tax refund season, President Bush today – via satellite from Europe – will address employees at the Financial Management Service in Kansas City. The Kansas City Financial Management Service is one of several Treasury processing centers that will print and distribute tax refund checks to Americans. Prior to the President's remarks from Europe, Vice President Dick Cheney and Treasury Secretary Paul O'Neill will also tour the facility and speak to employees.
- Starting today, tax refund checks are in the mail. Americans have overpaid their government – and they're about to get a refund.
- Across-the-board tax relief does not often happen in Washington. In fact, since World War II, it has happened only twice -- President Kennedy's tax cut in the 1960s and President Reagan's in the 1980s.
- The last tax relief for Americans was in 1981 – 20 years ago. The last time income tax rates were reduced for all Americans, Kim Carnes' Bette Davis Eyes was the song of the year, Dallas was the #1 TV show in America. And the talk around the water cooler was, "Who shot JR?" Chariots of Fire was named the Best Picture and the Rubik's Cube puzzle was sweeping the nation.
- A year ago, tax relief was said to be a political impossibility. Seven months ago, it was supposed to be a political liability. Today, it became reality.
- For the last decade the American people have seen government take an increasing share of their personal income. Today, and for the next 10 years, help is on the way.

Here Come the Tax Refunds:

- The first checks will be mailed on Friday, July 20 from eight national processing centers.
  - Single taxpayers will receive a check up to $300.
  - Single parents will receive a check up to $500.
  - Married taxpayers will receive a check up to $600.

Advance talking points for tomorrow's event in Kansas City. The President will satellite in from Europe.

Tax Refund Season Begins

Today's Presidential Action:

- To celebrate the beginning of the tax refund season, President Bush today – via satellite from Europe – will address employees at the Financial Management Service in Kansas City. The Kansas City Financial Management Service is one of several Treasury processing centers that will print and distribute tax refund checks to Americans. Prior to the President's remarks from Europe, Vice President Dick Cheney and Treasury Secretary Paul O'Neill will also tour the facility and speak to employees.
- Starting today, tax refund checks are in the mail. Americans have overpaid their government – and they're about to get a refund.
- Across-the-board tax relief does not often happen in Washington. In fact, since World War II, it has happened only twice -- President Kennedy's tax cut in the 1960s and President Reagan's in the 1980s.
- The last tax relief for Americans was in 1981 – 20 years ago. The last time income tax rates were reduced for all Americans, Kim Carnes' Bette Davis Eyes was the song of the year, Dallas was the #1 TV show in America. And the talk around the water cooler was, "Who shot JR?" Chariots of Fire was named the Best Picture and the Rubik's Cube puzzle was sweeping the nation.
- A year ago, tax relief was said to be a political impossibility. Seven months ago, it was supposed to be a political liability. Today, it became reality.
- For the last decade the American people have seen government take an increasing share of their personal income. Today, and for the next 10 years, help is on the way.

Here Come the Tax Refunds:

- The first checks will be mailed on Friday, July 20 from eight national processing centers.
  - Single taxpayers will receive a check up to $300.
  - Single parents will receive a check up to $500.
  - Married taxpayers will receive a check up to $600.

That is always an error, of course, whereas use of "over" instead of "more than" is apparently erroneous only in formal writing. BTW, the American Heritage Dictionary provides one definition of "over" as follows: "more than in degree, quantity, or extent: 'over ten miles'; 'over a thousand dollars.'" Always liked that American Heritage . . . (I know, I know, I need to get a life)

On a related note, I'd like to point out that many people improperly use "less than" when they should say "fewer."

Subject: Re: Who is the "over"/"more than" guru?

For inquiring minds, I had used "over" instead of "more than" in a set of talking points and this usage was questioned by a then-anonymous guru, who turned out to be Courtney. My independent, post hoc examination of Garner's manuals reveals that Mrs. Elwood, as always, has a good point. The Manual states that the use of "over" for "more than" is "to be avoided in formal writing." The Manual (a different edition) does also state, however, that "over" for "more than" is "acceptable as a casualism e.g., 'Reagan won the election by over a million votes.'"

So the question comes down to whether a set of talking points is a "casualism" or "formal writing"? [No need to answer!!!]

Questions & Answers

What must the United States do to comply with the NAFTA panel ruling on trucks?

The United States is obligated to consider applications from Mexican carriers on a case-by-case basis. The United States has every right to require that Mexican trucks and drivers abide by U.S. safety standards, and that the United States may take reasonable steps to enforce such standards. Moreover, due to differences in safety regimes, the United States may impose different inspection requirements on Mexican firms than on U.S. and Canadian firms, so long as such differences are no greater than needed to address legitimate safety concerns.

Is the Sabo amendment passed by the House consistent with our NAFTA obligations?

The Sabo amendment would impose a total prohibition on considering applications from Mexican motor carriers. This would be a clear violation of our NAFTA obligations.

Is the Senate Appropriations Committee bill provision consistent with the NAFTA?

The Senate provision represents an improvement on the House language; however, for the following reasons, the provision in its current form could keep the U.S.-Mexico border closed indefinitely. First, the provision forbids DOT to begin processing any Mexican applications until DOT complies with twenty-two (22) separate requirements. Under the NAFTA, however, we may not simply bar Mexican carriers, but must allow them the opportunity to show that they can meet our safety standards. Second, although we are entitled to impose different inspection requirements on Mexican trucks to compensate for Mexico's less rigorous safety regime, any differences must be no greater than needed to address legitimate safety issues. We are concerned that some of the inspection requirements in the Senate provision may be more burdensome than necessary, and in fact may be unadministrable by DOT. Moreover, the cumulative effect of all of the different requirements may result in a disproportionate and discriminatory burden on Mexican carriers.

Even the Administration's proposal would keep the border closed for 11 months after the panel ruling. What is wrong with taking an additional 1 to 2 years to ensure that DOT is totally prepared to open the border?

Under the NAFTA, the United States was obligated to begin allowing access to Mexican carriers by December 1995 - more than 5 years ago. Nonetheless, the Administration will not allow access until it completes certain steps needed to ensure highway safety – such as the adoption of revised application and inspection procedures – and Mexico understands this. But the Senate bill includes requirements that are not necessary preconditions for the safe operation of Mexican trucks on U.S. highways. For example, DOT could not begin examining Mexican applications under its current standards prior to completing several complex new rulemakings.

What happens if the United States does not comply with NAFTA?

If the United States and Mexico cannot reach an agreement on an appropriate means for compliance, Mexico (the "prevailing party" under the NAFTA in this instance) has the option of retaliating by suspending trade concessions (i.e. raising tariffs or other restrictions on U.S. goods or services).

What is the retaliation process?

Under the NAFTA, the prevailing party is entitled to suspend trade concessions on an amount of trade equivalent to the amount affected by the NAFTA-inconsistent measure. The prevailing party initially selects the level of retaliation. The defending party can challenge that level, but the retaliation remains in effect during the challenge.

Mexico has stated publicly that it might restrict imports of U.S. high fructose corn syrup if the United States does not fulfill its NAFTA obligations. As a general matter, a prevailing party can be expected to select highly sensitive products or services for retaliation.

Can the U.S. challenge Mexico retaliation?

Yes. We can request that a new dispute settlement panel determine whether Mexico must lift its retaliation on the basis that the United States has complied with its obligations, or whether the level of any retaliation by Mexico is "manifestly excessive." However, Mexican can keep any retaliation in place while the matter is considered.

Must the U.S. comply with the NAFTA Panel report by January 1, 2002?

The NAFTA does not provide a compliance timeline. It allows the country being denied benefits to take compensation after thirty days, which Mexico is now permitted to do. The Administration presented an implementation plan to Mexico in March that included a substantial enhancement of our safety and inspection efforts, and committed to implementing this plan by the end of this year. While the government of Mexico would prefer a much shorter timeline, Mexico understands that the Administration is proceeding in good faith and is not seeking compensation at this time.

NAFTA Cross-Border Trucking

- Safety on America's highways is the Administration's top priority in opening the border to Mexican-domiciled motor carriers.
  - ✓ The Administration is committed to ensuring that all motor carriers seeking to operate in the United States – whether they are based in the United States, Mexico, or Canada – will be subject to the same rigorous safety standards.

- Banning Mexican-domiciled motor carriers that meet our rigorous safety standards discriminates against Mexico and violates our obligations under the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA).
  - ✓ The Administration is committed to fulfilling our NAFTA obligations and treating our NAFTA partners fairly. We oppose any legislative actions that keep the U.S.-Mexico border closed -- either explicitly or implicitly.
  - ✓ Discrimination against Mexico and failure to meet our NAFTA obligations could result in retaliation by Mexico, including restriction of our ability to operate U.S. motor-carriers in Mexico.

- Legislation proposed by the Senate Transportation Appropriations Committee could keep the border closed indefinitely.
  - ✓ The Senate provision keeps the border closed until 22 separate conditions have been met. Many of these conditions are unworkable, impractical, prohibitively expensive and not directly related to safety. All of the conditions, taken together, could ban all Mexico-domiciled carriers from this country indefinitely.

- The Administration supports a strong safety enforcement regime similar to the very successful California inspection program for Mexican long-haul carriers.
  - ✓ The President has requested funding for additional resources at the U.S. Mexico border.
  - ✓ Such a program would ensure our rigorous safety requirements are met without discriminating against Mexican carriers.

- NAFTA has been part of the American economic success story of the 1990's and is an important part of America's economic future.
  - ✓ Since NAFTA took effect, employment has risen in all three NAFTA countries. In the U.S., employment grew by 11%, generating 13 million new jobs. Real U.S. industrial production increased by 43 percent.
  - ✓ In 2000, U.S. jobs supported by merchandise exports to our NAFTA partners totaled an estimated 2.9 million jobs, up over 900,000 since before NAFTA started.
  - ✓ Mexico and Canada alone accounted for 47% of total U.S. export growth over the period NAFTA has been in place.
  - ✓ The tariff rate cuts from the Canada FTA and NAFTA when applied to 1999 U.S. imports, were similar to a $210 tax cut for an average household of four.

- Mexican carriers meeting our safety requirements must be granted the same high standards of fairness and protection that we offer U.S. and Canadian carriers.

Rachel:

Albert Hawkins has asked that a sub-working group for the White House WorkingGroup on race develop a set of principles to be vetted by the more the Principals group. Our product is attached and Kristen Silverberg thought that someone in your shop should take a look. Do you mind giving me your comments on any potential red flags that the aforementioned might raise. Thanks.

MISSION STATEMENT

The mission of the White House Working Group on Race is to promote President Bush's vision of a new era of national unity in America by fostering an environment wherein all people are treated fairly and with respect; and, where the American Dream is not merely a dream, but a near and achievable reality for every individual who so desires it.

PRESIDENT BUSH'S PRINCIPLES ON RACE AND ETHNICITY

President Bush recognizes that we are the only nation in the world comprised of scores of ethnicities, religions, cultures and traditions. Indisputably, our nation has faced various challenges as we strive for our national identity. One of our major ethnic groups actually became Americans against their will. Their transition as well as the transition of millions of new immigrants into status as full fledged American citizens is the goal of this administration.

President Bush believes it is time to address the future as one nation whose very strength is in our great diversity. We must strive to achieve national unity as one nation of individual Americans, not hyphenated Americans. This administration is committed to the precept that all Americans will share in our national bounty in the 21st century.

For all Americans to share in the blessings of America, the President believes that we must embrace the following key fundamental values:

- Individual Responsibility. The President recognizes that the strength of democracy rests on the individual actions of its citizens - who collectively shape the character of this nation. America remains the bastion of freedom in the 21st century world. The price of that freedom rests on every individual to exercise responsibility and wisdom in his or her pursuit of the uniquely American dream of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

- Economic opportunity. The President believes that real equality is only achieved through the achievement of economic opportunity. This administration is committed to assuring that all Americans have access to this opportunity and to the hope of the American dream.

- Tolerance. The President understands that as we move toward national unity, it is important to respect the various cultural differences among our many citizens. While we are one nation, we are many historic cultures and our peaceful coexistence requires tolerance and respect of our individual differences. Every American must know that they are equally American no matter their culture, race or religion; but that there is an abiding obligation to respect differences in others.

- Role of Government. The President recognizes that the primary role of government is to protect freedom, foster individual liberties, and uphold democratic principles. He also believes it is the proper role of government to assure that no individual or group is denied access to rights guaranteed all of us by our founding fathers.

We've been coordinating a bit but not as much as we should. Her comments on the PHrma meeting, for example, were not cleared through me. Maybe Tim or the Judge talked to her or Dan, but I don't know for sure. It certainly seems like there's a lot of risk associated with having press get out front on blessing conduct before talking to us. I'll talk to Ann about it.

GANSKE-DINGELL BILL GIVES NO GUARANTEED RIGHT OR REMEDY TO PATIENTS IN 41 STATES TO HOLD HMOs ACCOUNTABLE

- President Bush supports a strong Patients' Bill of Rights that will establish a comprehensive, Federal set of rights and remedies for patients who have been denied care by an HMO's decision.

- But, in most states, patients who have been harmed by the decision of an HMO to deny them medically necessary care would have no guaranteed right to hold their HMO accountable if the Ganske-Dingell bill passes.

- Under the Fletcher-Peterson-Johnson bill supported by President Bush, every patient enrolled in an HMO would have new rights to bring an HMO to court if they were denied care that their doctor believed was medically necessary and they completed an independent medical review process.

- Under the Ganske-Dingell bill, the existing federal law prohibiting state lawsuits against employers and HMOs would be lifted. However, patients would have a cause of action to hold HMOs accountable in state court only to the extent provided under state law. To date, only 9 states have enacted legislation to enable patients to take an HMO to court if they are denied the medical care they need. In all, 41 states have not enacted managed-care liability laws.

- Bottom line -- if you live in one of these 41 states, you have no guaranteed right to go to state court to hold your HMO accountable under the Ganske-Dingell bill.

Alabama	Louisiana	North Dakota
Alaska	Maryland	Ohio
Arkansas	Massachusetts	Oklahoma
California	Michigan	Oregon
Colorado	Minnesota	Pennsylvania
Connecticut	Mississippi	Rhode Island
Delaware	Missouri	South Carolina
Florida	Montana	South Dakota
Hawaii	Nebraska	Tennessee
Idaho	Nevada	Utah
Illinois	New Hampshire	Vermont
Indiana	New Jersey*	Virginia
Iowa	New Mexico	Wisconsin
Kansas	New York	Wyoming
Kentucky	North Carolina

- This is yet another setback for the Ganske-Dingell bill as more and more Members of Congress are examining the bipartisan Fletcher-Peterson-Johnson bill – the only House Patients' Bill of Rights that President Bush can sign. A recent analysis found that millions of Americans would lose their health care coverage if the Ganske-Dingell bill were to become law. In fact, the cost of health insurance premiums could rise by more than 4% if the Ganske-Dingell bill passes, providing unlimited liability as a windfall for trial lawyers, while causing employers – especially small businesses – to drop the expense of providing health care benefits to millions of workers.

* The New Jersey state legislature passed a managed care liability law on June 28, 2001 and the Governor has until August 12 to sign or veto it. At press time, the bill had not yet been signed into law.

What They're Saying About the Patients' Bill of Rights

HOW IS health care like going to the grocer? The more you put in the cart, the higher the bill. But unlike your grocery expedition, where all you pay for are the items your own cart, with health care the other customer's cart is on your tab, too….

Nor will the tab get any better with the patient protection legislation being considered in Washington. Sure, Americans will get guaranteed access to emergency rooms, medical clinical trials and specialists. Senate legislation even provides the right to sue your insurer and be awarded up to $5 million in punitive damages….

At a minimum, the right to sue, the most burdensome of the patient protection legislation, must be restricted and an independent review process implemented for unhappy patients.

President Bush must continue to stand firm on rejecting patient protection legislation that will leave more patients without the protection of health care coverage.

Editorial
The Atlanta Journal and Constitution

The simple truth - which too many politicians ignore for their political health - is that we can't afford all the health care we want. There has to be a balance between the need to hold health plans accountable for their medical decisions with the need to hold insurance premiums down…. Giving patients the right to sue for unlimited noneconomic damages threatens to make that balance impossible….

President Bush rightly is concerned that the Kennedy-McCain-Edwards bill would boost the cost of health insurance and could prompt employers to drop coverage of employees. As the House prepares to take up its version of the bill, both sides of this controversy should consider the importance of devising a bill that broadens the rights of patients without forcing HMOs to raise premiums to levels that will ultimately result in less coverage.

Editorial
The Buffalo News
July 6, 2001

The "Patients' Bill of Rights" passed last week by the Senate is the latest example of how too many Democrats believe the road to a better society will be paved by lawsuits. Fortunately, a better bill awaits action in the House.

The House Republican bill places greater faith in the collective wisdom of health providers and their patients - and less faith in litigation. The House bill requires patients to appeal their cases to a review board before suing because that's likely to result in quicker results and better treatment. The House bill also would generally keep lawsuits in federal court and cap punitive damages at $500,000.

Escalating medical costs aren't the result of too little government regulation, but of too much. The authors of the "Patients' Bill of Rights" are selling patients a bill of goods by claiming more lawsuits will cure what ails them. President Bush is right; kill the Senate bill and send him legislation that works.

Editorial
Wisconsin State Journal
July 5, 2001

The Patients' Bill of Rights proposal is in the midst of fierce debate over how to regulate HMO quality. Both the Senate, which recently passed legislation, and President Bush have made this issue a top priority....

But if Congress allows patients to sue managed care plans and receive unlimited damages, it also could make some employers liable for these costs.... Rather than risk expensive lawsuits, employers may respond by choosing to drop health insurance coverage altogether for their employees.....

The Congressional Budget Office estimates that private health insurance premiums could increase by an average of 4.1 percent above inflation. Barents Group, an economic consulting firm, estimated that almost 1.3 million Americans could lose their health insurance. With 44 million Americans already lacking health insurance, it is unlikely that consumers would benefit from this proposal.

"This is one malady a prescription will not cure"
Naomi Lopez Bauman, Pacific Research Institute.
The San Diego Union-Tribune
July 20, 2001

The president has threatened to veto the Senate bill because it supposedly would result in huge lawsuits, soaring insurance premiums and a decision by employers to drop such policies because they would be too costly. As the bill is written, he may be right. The last thing anyone needs is for Congress to pass a bill that makes things worse, not better.

It shouldn't be necessary for patients to have to file a lawsuit to gain access to emergency treatment, medical advice from specialists or a medical review rather than a fiscal evaluation of treatment needs. Neither should open-ended lawsuits with limitless financial claims be allowed to destroy the medical care industry or employers.

Editorial
South Bend Tribune
July 6, 2001

Some in Congress, primarily Democrats, are doing their best to remedy that with a "Patients Bill of Rights." Among other things, it would give Americans the right to sue their health-care providers (HMOs) and even their employers who provide medical insurance.... If employers make health care decisions - say, limiting benefits to contain costs - they can be targets of lawsuits. And many will then reconsider why they devote valuable resources to voluntarily provide health care insurance....

President Bush says he will veto such a bill. Good for him. But the House can spare him the trouble by replacing the Senate version with a bill that does not allow unlimited lawsuits against HMOs.

Editorial
The Cincinnati Enquirer
July 5, 2001

How will Americans feel about the right to sue their HMO when they can't find or afford an HMO? If Democrats were so concerned about patients, they would support giving individuals better choices in health care, including expanding medical savings accounts... Bush has backed House legislation that would allow suits in state court --- where plaintiffs traditionally prevail with traditionally higher awards --- if the insurer disregards the advice of an independent review board and the patient is harmed as a result. That's reasonable...

But the GOP and Bush must stand firm on limiting the right to sue. They have to protect patients, and therefore employers and health plans. And they must continue to resist the Democrats' efforts to expand government.

President Urges House to Pass Bipartisan Patients' Bill of Rights

This Week's Action:

- The House of Representatives is expected to debate the Patients' Bill of Rights this week. President Bush has welcomed the bipartisan Fletcher-Peterson-Johnson legislation that is consistent with his principles for HMO reform. The Fletcher-Peterson-Johnson bill is the only Patients' Bill of Rights legislation being considered in the House that the President can sign into law.

The President's Commitment to a Strong Patients' Bill of Rights:

- Needed patient protections have been stalled because some in Washington have been unwilling to compromise. President Bush is committed to cutting through the gridlock and passing a Patients' Bill of Rights this year. Since early days of his Administration, the President has worked with Members of Congress from both parties to forge a bipartisan consensus that puts patients and their families first.

- President Bush believes the bipartisan legislation introduced by Fletcher-Peterson-Johnson bill represents a sensible compromise. It will allow patients to hold HMOs accountable while also protecting patients and their families from paying the costs of unnecessary and expensive litigation that will increase their health care premiums and jeopardize their health insurance coverage.

- The President is pleased that the compromise House bill meets the principles for a Patients' Bill of Rights that he announced earlier this year:

  - ✓ Patient protections should apply to all Americans.
  - ✓ Patient protections should be comprehensive.
  - ✓ Patients should have a rapid medical review process for denials of care.
  - ✓ The patient review process should ensure that doctors are allowed to make medical decisions and patients receive care in a timely manner.
  - ✓ Federal remedies should be expanded to hold health plans accountable.
  - ✓ Patient protection legislation should encourage, not discourage, employers to offer health care.

The President's Principles for a Bipartisan Patients Bill of Rights

- Patient Protections Should Apply to All Americans: A federal Patients' Bill of Rights should ensure that every person enrolled in a health plan enjoys strong patient protections. Because many legislatures have passed strong patient protection laws that are appropriate for their states, deference should be given to these state laws and to the traditional authority of states to regulate health insurance.

- Patient Protections Should Be Comprehensive: A federal Patients' Bill of Rights should provide patient protections such as:

  - ✓ Access to emergency room and specialty care.

- ✓ Direct access to obstetricians, gynecologists and pediatricians.
- ✓ Access to needed prescription drugs and approved clinical trials
- ✓ Access to health plan information.
- ✓ Prohibition of "gag clauses" that prevent doctors from discussing certain health care options with their patients because of their HMO.
- ✓ Consumer choice provisions that give consumers more choice of doctors.
- ✓ Continuity of care protections that allow patients to continue to see their doctor if they are terminally ill, pregnant or awaiting scheduled surgery – even if their doctor switches HMO plans.

- Patients Should Have a Rapid Medical Review Process for Denials of Care: Patients who have been denied medical care should have the right to a fair, prompt and independent medical review to ensure that disputes are dissolved quickly and inexpensively, and that patients receive the quality care they deserve.

- The Review Process Should Ensure that Doctors Are Allowed to Make Medical Decisions and Patients Receive Care in a Timely Manner: Slow and costly litigation should be a last resort. Patients should exhaust their appeals process first — allowing independent medical experts to make medical decisions and ensuring patients receive necessary medical care without the staggering costs and needless delays of going to court.

- Federal Remedies Should Be Expanded to Hold Health Plans Accountable: After an independent review decision is rendered, patients should be allowed to hold their health plans liable under federal law if they still have been wrongly denied needed medical care.

- Patient Protection Legislation Should Encourage, Not Discourage, Employers to Offer Health Care: Americans want meaningful remedies, not a windfall for trial lawyers resulting in expensive health care premiums and unaffordable health coverage. To protect patients' rights without encouraging excessive litigation, damages should be subject to reasonable caps. Employers - especially small businesses that are struggling to offer health coverage to their employees - should be shielded from unnecessary and frivolous lawsuits and should not be subject to multiple lawsuits in state court. Increased litigation will only result in higher health care costs, potentially causing millions of Americans to lose their health insurance. Only employers who retain responsibility for making final medical decisions for their employees should be subject to lawsuits.

GANSKE-DINGELL BILL GIVES NO GUARANTEED RIGHT OR REMEDY TO PATIENTS IN 41 STATES TO HOLD HMOs ACCOUNTABLE

- President Bush supports a strong Patients' Bill of Rights that will establish a comprehensive, Federal set of rights and remedies for patients who have been denied care by an HMO's decision.

- But, in most states, patients who have been harmed by the decision of an HMO to deny them medically necessary care would have no guaranteed right to hold their HMO accountable if the Ganske-Dingell bill passes.

- Under the Fletcher-Peterson-Johnson bill supported by President Bush, every patient enrolled in an HMO would have new rights to bring an HMO to court if they were denied care that their doctor believed was medically necessary and they completed an independent medical review process.

- Under the Ganske-Dingell bill, the existing federal law prohibiting state lawsuits against employers and HMOs would be lifted. However, patients would have a cause of action to hold HMOs accountable in state court only to the extent provided under state law. To date, only 9 states have enacted legislation to enable patients to take an HMO to court if they are denied the medical care they need. In all, 41 states have not enacted managed-care liability laws.

- Bottom line -- if you live in one of these 41 states, you have no guaranteed right to go to state court to hold your HMO accountable under the Ganske-Dingell bill.

Alabama	Louisiana	North Dakota

Arkansas	Massachusetts	Oklahoma
California	Michigan	Oregon
Colorado	Minnesota	Pennsylvania
Connecticut	Mississippi	Rhode Island

Iowa	New Mexico	Wisconsin
Kansas	New York	Wyoming
Kentucky	North Carolina

- This is yet another setback for the Ganske-Dingell bill as more and more Members of Congress are examining the bipartisan Fletcher-Peterson-Johnson bill – the only House Patients' Bill of Rights that President Bush can sign. A recent analysis found that millions of Americans would lose their health care coverage if the Ganske-Dingell bill were to become law. In fact, the cost of health insurance premiums could rise by more than 4% if the Ganske-Dingell bill passes, providing unlimited liability as a windfall for trial lawyers, while causing employers – especially small businesses – to drop the expense of providing health care benefits to millions of workers.

* The New Jersey state legislature passed a managed care liability law on June 28, 2001 and the Governor has until August 12 to sign or veto it. At press time, the bill had not yet been signed into law.

What They're Saying About the Patients' Bill of Rights

HOW IS health care like going to the grocer? The more you put in the cart, the higher the bill. But unlike your grocery expedition, where all you pay for are the items your own cart, with health care the other customer's cart is on your tab, too….

Nor will the tab get any better with the patient protection legislation being considered in Washington. Sure, Americans will get guaranteed access to emergency rooms, medical clinical trials and specialists. Senate legislation even provides the right to sue your insurer and be awarded up to $5 million in punitive damages….

At a minimum, the right to sue, the most burdensome of the patient protection legislation, must be restricted and an independent review process implemented for unhappy patients.

President Bush must continue to stand firm on rejecting patient protection legislation that will leave more patients without the protection of health care coverage.

The simple truth - which too many politicians ignore for their political health - is that we can't afford all the health care we want. There has to be a balance between the need to hold health plans accountable for their medical decisions with the need to hold insurance premiums down…. Giving patients the right to sue for unlimited noneconomic damages threatens to make that balance impossible….

President Bush rightly is concerned that the Kennedy-McCain-Edwards bill would boost the cost of health insurance and could prompt employers to drop coverage of employees. As the House prepares to take up its version of the bill, both sides of this controversy should consider the importance of devising a bill that broadens the rights of patients without forcing HMOs to raise premiums to levels that will ultimately result in less coverage.

Editorial
The Buffalo News

The "Patients' Bill of Rights" passed last week by the Senate is the latest example of how too many Democrats believe the road to a better society will be paved by lawsuits. Fortunately, a better bill awaits action in the House.

The House Republican bill places greater faith in the collective wisdom of health providers and their patients - and less faith in litigation. The House bill requires patients to appeal their cases to a review board before suing because that's likely to result in quicker results and better treatment. The House bill also would generally keep lawsuits in federal court and cap punitive damages at $500,000.

Escalating medical costs aren't the result of too little government regulation, but of too much. The authors of the "Patients' Bill of Rights" are selling patients a bill of goods by claiming more lawsuits will cure what ails them. President Bush is right; kill the Senate bill and send him legislation that works.

Editorial

The Patients' Bill of Rights proposal is in the midst of fierce debate over how to regulate HMO quality. Both the Senate, which recently passed legislation, and President Bush have made this issue a top priority....

But if Congress allows patients to sue managed care plans and receive unlimited damages, it also could make some employers liable for these costs.... Rather than risk expensive lawsuits, employers may respond by choosing to drop health insurance coverage altogether for their employees.....

The Congressional Budget Office estimates that private health insurance premiums could increase by an average of 4.1 percent above inflation. Barents Group, an economic consulting firm, estimated that almost 1.3 million Americans could lose their health insurance. With 44 million Americans already lacking health insurance, it is unlikely that consumers would benefit from this proposal.

"This is one malady a prescription will not cure"
Naomi Lopez Bauman, Pacific Research Institute.
The San Diego Union-Tribune
July 20, 2001

The president has threatened to veto the Senate bill because it supposedly would result in huge lawsuits, soaring insurance premiums and a decision by employers to drop such policies because they would be too costly. As the bill is written, he may be right. The last thing anyone needs is for Congress to pass a bill that makes things worse, not better.

It shouldn't be necessary for patients to have to file a lawsuit to gain access to emergency treatment, medical advice from specialists or a medical review rather than a fiscal evaluation of treatment needs. Neither should open-ended lawsuits with limitless financial claims be allowed to destroy the medical care industry or employers.

Editorial
South Bend Tribune
July 6, 2001

Some in Congress, primarily Democrats, are doing their best to remedy that with a "Patients Bill of Rights." Among other things, it would give Americans the right to sue their health-care providers (HMOs) and even their employers who provide medical insurance.... If employers make health care decisions - say, limiting benefits to contain costs - they can be targets of lawsuits. And many will then reconsider why they devote valuable resources to voluntarily provide health care insurance....

President Bush says he will veto such a bill. Good for him. But the House can spare him the trouble by replacing the Senate version with a bill that does not allow unlimited lawsuits against HMOs.

Editorial
The Cincinnati Enquirer
July 5, 2001

How will Americans feel about the right to sue their HMO when they can't find or afford an HMO? If Democrats were so concerned about patients, they would support giving individuals better choices in health care, including expanding medical savings accounts... Bush has backed House legislation that would allow suits in state court --- where plaintiffs traditionally prevail with traditionally higher awards --- if the insurer disregards the advice of an independent review board and the patient is harmed as a result. That's reasonable...

But the GOP and Bush must stand firm on limiting the right to sue. They have to protect patients, and therefore employers and health plans. And they must continue to resist the Democrats' efforts to expand government.

President Urges House to Pass Bipartisan Patients' Bill of Rights

This Week's Action:

- The House of Representatives is expected to debate the Patients' Bill of Rights this week. President Bush has welcomed the bipartisan Fletcher-Peterson-Johnson legislation that is consistent with his principles for HMO reform. The Fletcher-Peterson-Johnson bill is the only Patients' Bill of Rights legislation being considered in the House that the President can sign into law.

The President's Commitment to a Strong Patients' Bill of Rights:

- Needed patient protections have been stalled because some in Washington have been unwilling to compromise. President Bush is committed to cutting through the gridlock and passing a Patients' Bill of Rights this year. Since early days of his Administration, the President has worked with Members of Congress from both parties to forge a bipartisan consensus that puts patients and their families first.

- President Bush believes the bipartisan legislation introduced by Fletcher-Peterson-Johnson bill represents a sensible compromise. It will allow patients to hold HMOs accountable while also protecting patients and their families from paying the costs of unnecessary and expensive litigation that will increase their health care premiums and jeopardize their health insurance coverage.

- The President is pleased that the compromise House bill meets the principles for a Patients' Bill of Rights that he announced earlier this year:

  - ✓ Patient protections should apply to all Americans.
  - ✓ Patient protections should be comprehensive.
  - ✓ Patients should have a rapid medical review process for denials of care.
  - ✓ The patient review process should ensure that doctors are allowed to make medical decisions and patients receive care in a timely manner.
  - ✓ Federal remedies should be expanded to hold health plans accountable.
  - ✓ Patient protection legislation should encourage, not discourage, employers to offer health care.

The President's Principles for a Bipartisan Patients Bill of Rights

- Patient Protections Should Apply to All Americans: A federal Patients' Bill of Rights should ensure that every person enrolled in a health plan enjoys strong patient protections. Because many legislatures have passed strong patient protection laws that are appropriate for their states, deference should be given to these state laws and to the traditional authority of states to regulate health insurance.

- Patient Protections Should Be Comprehensive: A federal Patients' Bill of Rights should provide patient protections such as:

  - ✓ Access to emergency room and specialty care.

- ✓ Direct access to obstetricians, gynecologists and pediatricians.
- ✓ Access to needed prescription drugs and approved clinical trials
- ✓ Access to health plan information.
- ✓ Prohibition of "gag clauses" that prevent doctors from discussing certain health care options with their patients because of their HMO.
- ✓ Consumer choice provisions that give consumers more choice of doctors.
- ✓ Continuity of care protections that allow patients to continue to see their doctor if they are terminally ill, pregnant or awaiting scheduled surgery – even if their doctor switches HMO plans.

- Patients Should Have a Rapid Medical Review Process for Denials of Care: Patients who have been denied medical care should have the right to a fair, prompt and independent medical review to ensure that disputes are dissolved quickly and inexpensively, and that patients receive the quality care they deserve.

- The Review Process Should Ensure that Doctors Are Allowed to Make Medical Decisions and Patients Receive Care in a Timely Manner: Slow and costly litigation should be a last resort. Patients should exhaust their appeals process first — allowing independent medical experts to make medical decisions and ensuring patients receive necessary medical care without the staggering costs and needless delays of going to court.

- Federal Remedies Should Be Expanded to Hold Health Plans Accountable: After an independent review decision is rendered, patients should be allowed to hold their health plans liable under federal law if they still have been wrongly denied needed medical care.

- Patient Protection Legislation Should Encourage, Not Discourage, Employers to Offer Health Care: Americans want meaningful remedies, not a windfall for trial lawyers resulting in expensive health care premiums and unaffordable health coverage. To protect patients' rights without encouraging excessive litigation, damages should be subject to reasonable caps. Employers - especially small businesses that are struggling to offer health coverage to their employees - should be shielded from unnecessary and frivolous lawsuits and should not be subject to multiple lawsuits in state court. Increased litigation will only result in higher health care costs, potentially causing millions of Americans to lose their health insurance. Only employers who retain responsibility for making final medical decisions for their employees should be subject to lawsuits.

The House is scheduled to debate PBOR later this week. Attached are:

1. Updated talking points on the President's PBOR principles.
2. A side-by-side comparison of the Fletcher-Peterson-Johnson bill and the Ganske-Dingell bill.
3. A document that shows that the Ganske-Dingell bill provides no guaranteed remedy for patients to hold their HMOs accountable in 41 states.
4. Recent editorial comments on the PBOR debate.

GANSKE-DINGELL BILL GIVES NO GUARANTEED RIGHT OR REMEDY TO PATIENTS IN 41 STATES TO HOLD HMOs ACCOUNTABLE

- President Bush supports a strong Patients' Bill of Rights that will establish a comprehensive, Federal set of rights and remedies for patients who have been denied care by an HMO's decision.

- But, in most states, patients who have been harmed by the decision of an HMO to deny them medically necessary care would have no guaranteed right to hold their HMO accountable if the Ganske-Dingell bill passes.

- Under the Fletcher-Peterson-Johnson bill supported by President Bush, every patient enrolled in an HMO would have new rights to bring an HMO to court if they were denied care that their doctor believed was medically necessary and they completed an independent medical review process.

- Under the Ganske-Dingell bill, the existing federal law prohibiting state lawsuits against employers and HMOs would be lifted. However, patients would have a cause of action to hold HMOs accountable in state court only to the extent provided under state law. To date, only 9 states have enacted legislation to enable patients to take an HMO to court if they are denied the medical care they need. In all, 41 states have not enacted managed-care liability laws.

- Bottom line -- if you live in one of these 41 states, you have no guaranteed right to go to state court to hold your HMO accountable under the Ganske-Dingell bill.

Alabama	Louisiana	North Dakota
Alaska	Maryland	Ohio
Arkansas	Massachusetts	Oklahoma
California	Michigan	Oregon
Colorado	Minnesota	Pennsylvania
Connecticut	Mississippi	Rhode Island
Delaware	Missouri	South Carolina
Florida	Montana	South Dakota
Hawaii	Nebraska	Tennessee
Idaho	Nevada	Utah
Illinois	New Hampshire	Vermont
Indiana	New Jersey*	Virginia
Iowa	New Mexico	Wisconsin
Kansas	New York	Wyoming
Kentucky	North Carolina

- This is yet another setback for the Ganske-Dingell bill as more and more Members of Congress are examining the bipartisan Fletcher-Peterson-Johnson bill – the only House Patients' Bill of Rights that President Bush can sign. A recent analysis found that millions of Americans would lose their health care coverage if the Ganske-Dingell bill were to become law. In fact, the cost of health insurance premiums could rise by more than 4% if the Ganske-Dingell bill passes, providing unlimited liability as a windfall for trial lawyers, while causing employers – especially small businesses – to drop the expense of providing health care benefits to millions of workers.

* The New Jersey state legislature passed a managed care liability law on June 28, 2001 and the Governor has until August 12 to sign or veto it. At press time, the bill had not yet been signed into law.

What They're Saying About the Patients' Bill of Rights

HOW IS health care like going to the grocer? The more you put in the cart, the higher the bill. But unlike your grocery expedition, where all you pay for are the items your own cart, with health care the other customer's cart is on your tab, too….

Nor will the tab get any better with the patient protection legislation being considered in Washington. Sure, Americans will get guaranteed access to emergency rooms, medical clinical trials and specialists. Senate legislation even provides the right to sue your insurer and be awarded up to $5 million in punitive damages….

At a minimum, the right to sue, the most burdensome of the patient protection legislation, must be restricted and an independent review process implemented for unhappy patients.

President Bush must continue to stand firm on rejecting patient protection legislation that will leave more patients without the protection of health care coverage.

Editorial
The Atlanta Journal and Constitution
July 19, 2001

The simple truth - which too many politicians ignore for their political health - is that we can't afford all the health care we want. There has to be a balance between the need to hold health plans accountable for their medical decisions with the need to hold insurance premiums down…. Giving patients the right to sue for unlimited noneconomic damages threatens to make that balance impossible….

President Bush rightly is concerned that the Kennedy-McCain-Edwards bill would boost the cost of health insurance and could prompt employers to drop coverage of employees. As the House prepares to take up its version of the bill, both sides of this controversy should consider the importance of devising a bill that broadens the rights of patients without forcing HMOs to raise premiums to levels that will ultimately result in less coverage.

Editorial
The Buffalo News
July 6, 2001

The "Patients' Bill of Rights" passed last week by the Senate is the latest example of how too many Democrats believe the road to a better society will be paved by lawsuits. Fortunately, a better bill awaits action in the House.

The House Republican bill places greater faith in the collective wisdom of health providers and their patients - and less faith in litigation. The House bill requires patients to appeal their cases to a review board before suing because that's likely to result in quicker results and better treatment. The House bill also would generally keep lawsuits in federal court and cap punitive damages at $500,000.

Escalating medical costs aren't the result of too little government regulation, but of too much. The authors of the "Patients' Bill of Rights" are selling patients a bill of goods by claiming more lawsuits will cure what ails them. President Bush is right; kill the Senate bill and send him legislation that works.

Editorial
Wisconsin State Journal
July 5, 2001

The Patients' Bill of Rights proposal is in the midst of fierce debate over how to regulate HMO quality. Both the Senate, which recently passed legislation, and President Bush have made this issue a top priority....

But if Congress allows patients to sue managed care plans and receive unlimited damages, it also could make some employers liable for these costs.... Rather than risk expensive lawsuits, employers may respond by choosing to drop health insurance coverage altogether for their employees.....

The Congressional Budget Office estimates that private health insurance premiums could increase by an average of 4.1 percent above inflation. Barents Group, an economic consulting firm, estimated that almost 1.3 million Americans could lose their health insurance. With 44 million Americans already lacking health insurance, it is unlikely that consumers would benefit from this proposal.

Naomi Lopez Bauman, Pacific Research Institute.
The San Diego Union-Tribune
July 20, 2001

The president has threatened to veto the Senate bill because it supposedly would result in huge lawsuits, soaring insurance premiums and a decision by employers to drop such policies because they would be too costly. As the bill is written, he may be right. The last thing anyone needs is for Congress to pass a bill that makes things worse, not better.

It shouldn't be necessary for patients to have to file a lawsuit to gain access to emergency treatment, medical advice from specialists or a medical review rather than a fiscal evaluation of treatment needs. Neither should open-ended lawsuits with limitless financial claims be allowed to destroy the medical care industry or employers.

Editorial
South Bend Tribune
July 6, 2001

Some in Congress, primarily Democrats, are doing their best to remedy that with a "Patients Bill of Rights." Among other things, it would give Americans the right to sue their health-care providers (HMOs) and even their employers who provide medical insurance.... If employers make health care decisions - say, limiting benefits to contain costs - they can be targets of lawsuits. And many will then reconsider why they devote valuable resources to voluntarily provide health care insurance....

President Bush says he will veto such a bill. Good for him. But the House can spare him the trouble by replacing the Senate version with a bill that does not allow unlimited lawsuits against HMOs.

Editorial
The Cincinnati Enquirer
July 5, 2001

How will Americans feel about the right to sue their HMO when they can't find or afford an HMO? If Democrats were so concerned about patients, they would support giving individuals better choices in health care, including expanding medical savings accounts... Bush has backed House legislation that would allow suits in state court --- where plaintiffs traditionally prevail with traditionally higher awards --- if the insurer disregards the advice of an independent review board and the patient is harmed as a result. That's reasonable...

But the GOP and Bush must stand firm on limiting the right to sue. They have to protect patients, and therefore employers and health plans. And they must continue to resist the Democrats' efforts to expand government.

President Urges House to Pass Bipartisan Patients' Bill of Rights

This Week's Action:

- The House of Representatives is expected to debate the Patients' Bill of Rights this week. President Bush has welcomed the bipartisan Fletcher-Peterson-Johnson legislation that is consistent with his principles for HMO reform. The Fletcher-Peterson-Johnson bill is the only Patients' Bill of Rights legislation being considered in the House that the President can sign into law.

The President's Commitment to a Strong Patients' Bill of Rights:

- Needed patient protections have been stalled because some in Washington have been unwilling to compromise. President Bush is committed to cutting through the gridlock and passing a Patients' Bill of Rights this year. Since early days of his Administration, the President has worked with Members of Congress from both parties to forge a bipartisan consensus that puts patients and their families first.

- President Bush believes the bipartisan legislation introduced by Fletcher-Peterson-Johnson bill represents a sensible compromise. It will allow patients to hold HMOs accountable while also protecting patients and their families from paying the costs of unnecessary and expensive litigation that will increase their health care premiums and jeopardize their health insurance coverage.

- The President is pleased that the compromise House bill meets the principles for a Patients' Bill of Rights that he announced earlier this year:

  - ✓ Patient protections should apply to all Americans.
  - ✓ Patient protections should be comprehensive.
  - ✓ Patients should have a rapid medical review process for denials of care.
  - ✓ The patient review process should ensure that doctors are allowed to make medical decisions and patients receive care in a timely manner.
  - ✓ Federal remedies should be expanded to hold health plans accountable.
  - ✓ Patient protection legislation should encourage, not discourage, employers to offer health care.

The President's Principles for a Bipartisan Patients Bill of Rights

- Patient Protections Should Apply to All Americans: A federal Patients' Bill of Rights should ensure that every person enrolled in a health plan enjoys strong patient protections. Because many legislatures have passed strong patient protection laws that are appropriate for their states, deference should be given to these state laws and to the traditional authority of states to regulate health insurance.

- Patient Protections Should Be Comprehensive: A federal Patients' Bill of Rights should provide patient protections such as:

  - ✓ Access to emergency room and specialty care.

- ✓ Direct access to obstetricians, gynecologists and pediatricians.
- ✓ Access to needed prescription drugs and approved clinical trials
- ✓ Access to health plan information.
- ✓ Prohibition of "gag clauses" that prevent doctors from discussing certain health care options with their patients because of their HMO.
- ✓ Consumer choice provisions that give consumers more choice of doctors.
- ✓ Continuity of care protections that allow patients to continue to see their doctor if they are terminally ill, pregnant or awaiting scheduled surgery – even if their doctor switches HMO plans.

- Patients Should Have a Rapid Medical Review Process for Denials of Care: Patients who have been denied medical care should have the right to a fair, prompt and independent medical review to ensure that disputes are dissolved quickly and inexpensively, and that patients receive the quality care they deserve.

- The Review Process Should Ensure that Doctors Are Allowed to Make Medical Decisions and Patients Receive Care in a Timely Manner: Slow and costly litigation should be a last resort. Patients should exhaust their appeals process first — allowing independent medical experts to make medical decisions and ensuring patients receive necessary medical care without the staggering costs and needless delays of going to court.

- Federal Remedies Should Be Expanded to Hold Health Plans Accountable: After an independent review decision is rendered, patients should be allowed to hold their health plans liable under federal law if they still have been wrongly denied needed medical care.

- Patient Protection Legislation Should Encourage, Not Discourage, Employers to Offer Health Care: Americans want meaningful remedies, not a windfall for trial lawyers resulting in expensive health care premiums and unaffordable health coverage. To protect patients' rights without encouraging excessive litigation, damages should be subject to reasonable caps. Employers - especially small businesses that are struggling to offer health coverage to their employees - should be shielded from unnecessary and frivolous lawsuits and should not be subject to multiple lawsuits in state court. Increased litigation will only result in higher health care costs, potentially causing millions of Americans to lose their health insurance. Only employers who retain responsibility for making final medical decisions for their employees should be subject to lawsuits.

GANSKE-DINGELL BILL GIVES NO GUARANTEED RIGHT OR REMEDY TO PATIENTS IN 41 STATES TO HOLD HMOs ACCOUNTABLE

- President Bush supports a strong Patients' Bill of Rights that will establish a comprehensive, Federal set of rights and remedies for patients who have been denied care by an HMO's decision.

- But, in most states, patients who have been harmed by the decision of an HMO to deny them medically necessary care would have no guaranteed right to hold their HMO accountable if the Ganske-Dingell bill passes.

- Under the Fletcher-Peterson-Johnson bill supported by President Bush, every patient enrolled in an HMO would have new rights to bring an HMO to court if they were denied care that their doctor believed was medically necessary and they completed an independent medical review process.

- Under the Ganske-Dingell bill, the existing federal law prohibiting state lawsuits against employers and HMOs would be lifted. However, patients would have a cause of action to hold HMOs accountable in state court only to the extent provided under state law. To date, only 9 states have enacted legislation to enable patients to take an HMO to court if they are denied the medical care they need. In all, 41 states have not enacted managed-care liability laws.

- Bottom line -- if you live in one of these 41 states, you have no guaranteed right to go to state court to hold your HMO accountable under the Ganske-Dingell bill.

Alabama	Louisiana	North Dakota
Alaska	Maryland	Ohio
Arkansas	Massachusetts	Oklahoma
California	Michigan	Oregon
Colorado	Minnesota	Pennsylvania
Connecticut	Mississippi	Rhode Island
Delaware	Missouri	South Carolina
Florida	Montana	South Dakota
Hawaii	Nebraska	Tennessee
Idaho	Nevada	Utah
Illinois	New Hampshire	Vermont
Indiana	New Jersey*	Virginia
Iowa	New Mexico	Wisconsin
Kansas	New York	Wyoming
Kentucky	North Carolina

- This is yet another setback for the Ganske-Dingell bill as more and more Members of Congress are examining the bipartisan Fletcher-Peterson-Johnson bill – the only House Patients' Bill of Rights that President Bush can sign. A recent analysis found that millions of Americans would lose their health care coverage if the Ganske-Dingell bill were to become law. In fact, the cost of health insurance premiums could rise by more than 4% if the Ganske-Dingell bill passes, providing unlimited liability as a windfall for trial lawyers, while causing employers – especially small businesses – to drop the expense of providing health care benefits to millions of workers.

* The New Jersey state legislature passed a managed care liability law on June 28, 2001 and the Governor has until August 12 to sign or veto it. At press time, the bill had not yet been signed into law.

What They're Saying About the Patients' Bill of Rights

HOW IS health care like going to the grocer? The more you put in the cart, the higher the bill. But unlike your grocery expedition, where all you pay for are the items your own cart, with health care the other customer's cart is on your tab, too….

Nor will the tab get any better with the patient protection legislation being considered in Washington. Sure, Americans will get guaranteed access to emergency rooms, medical clinical trials and specialists. Senate legislation even provides the right to sue your insurer and be awarded up to $5 million in punitive damages….

At a minimum, the right to sue, the most burdensome of the patient protection legislation, must be restricted and an independent review process implemented for unhappy patients.

President Bush must continue to stand firm on rejecting patient protection legislation that will leave more patients without the protection of health care coverage.

Editorial
The Atlanta Journal and Constitution

The simple truth - which too many politicians ignore for their political health - is that we can't afford all the health care we want. There has to be a balance between the need to hold health plans accountable for their medical decisions with the need to hold insurance premiums down…. Giving patients the right to sue for unlimited noneconomic damages threatens to make that balance impossible….

President Bush rightly is concerned that the Kennedy-McCain-Edwards bill would boost the cost of health insurance and could prompt employers to drop coverage of employees. As the House prepares to take up its version of the bill, both sides of this controversy should consider the importance of devising a bill that broadens the rights of patients without forcing HMOs to raise premiums to levels that will ultimately result in less coverage.

Editorial
The Buffalo News
July 6, 2001

The "Patients' Bill of Rights" passed last week by the Senate is the latest example of how too many Democrats believe the road to a better society will be paved by lawsuits. Fortunately, a better bill awaits action in the House.

The House Republican bill places greater faith in the collective wisdom of health providers and their patients - and less faith in litigation. The House bill requires patients to appeal their cases to a review board before suing because that's likely to result in quicker results and better treatment. The House bill also would generally keep lawsuits in federal court and cap punitive damages at $500,000.

Escalating medical costs aren't the result of too little government regulation, but of too much. The authors of the "Patients' Bill of Rights" are selling patients a bill of goods by claiming more lawsuits will cure what ails them. President Bush is right; kill the Senate bill and send him legislation that works.

Editorial
Wisconsin State Journal

The Patients' Bill of Rights proposal is in the midst of fierce debate over how to regulate HMO quality. Both the Senate, which recently passed legislation, and President Bush have made this issue a top priority....

But if Congress allows patients to sue managed care plans and receive unlimited damages, it also could make some employers liable for these costs.... Rather than risk expensive lawsuits, employers may respond by choosing to drop health insurance coverage altogether for their employees.....

The Congressional Budget Office estimates that private health insurance premiums could increase by an average of 4.1 percent above inflation. Barents Group, an economic consulting firm, estimated that almost 1.3 million Americans could lose their health insurance. With 44 million Americans already lacking health insurance, it is unlikely that consumers would benefit from this proposal.

"This is one malady a prescription will not cure"
Naomi Lopez Bauman, Pacific Research Institute.
The San Diego Union-Tribune
July 20, 2001

The president has threatened to veto the Senate bill because it supposedly would result in huge lawsuits, soaring insurance premiums and a decision by employers to drop such policies because they would be too costly. As the bill is written, he may be right. The last thing anyone needs is for Congress to pass a bill that makes things worse, not better.

It shouldn't be necessary for patients to have to file a lawsuit to gain access to emergency treatment, medical advice from specialists or a medical review rather than a fiscal evaluation of treatment needs. Neither should open-ended lawsuits with limitless financial claims be allowed to destroy the medical care industry or employers.

Editorial
South Bend Tribune
July 6, 2001

Some in Congress, primarily Democrats, are doing their best to remedy that with a "Patients Bill of Rights." Among other things, it would give Americans the right to sue their health-care providers (HMOs) and even their employers who provide medical insurance.... If employers make health care decisions - say, limiting benefits to contain costs - they can be targets of lawsuits. And many will then reconsider why they devote valuable resources to voluntarily provide health care insurance....

President Bush says he will veto such a bill. Good for him. But the House can spare him the trouble by replacing the Senate version with a bill that does not allow unlimited lawsuits against HMOs.

Editorial
The Cincinnati Enquirer
July 5, 2001

How will Americans feel about the right to sue their HMO when they can't find or afford an HMO? If Democrats were so concerned about patients, they would support giving individuals better choices in health care, including expanding medical savings accounts... Bush has backed House legislation that would allow suits in state court --- where plaintiffs traditionally prevail with traditionally higher awards --- if the insurer disregards the advice of an independent review board and the patient is harmed as a result. That's reasonable...

But the GOP and Bush must stand firm on limiting the right to sue. They have to protect patients, and therefore employers and health plans. And they must continue to resist the Democrats' efforts to expand government.

President Urges House to Pass Bipartisan Patients' Bill of Rights

This Week's Action:

- The House of Representatives is expected to debate the Patients' Bill of Rights this week. President Bush has welcomed the bipartisan Fletcher-Peterson-Johnson legislation that is consistent with his principles for HMO reform. The Fletcher-Peterson-Johnson bill is the only Patients' Bill of Rights legislation being considered in the House that the President can sign into law.

The President's Commitment to a Strong Patients' Bill of Rights:

- Needed patient protections have been stalled because some in Washington have been unwilling to compromise. President Bush is committed to cutting through the gridlock and passing a Patients' Bill of Rights this year. Since early days of his Administration, the President has worked with Members of Congress from both parties to forge a bipartisan consensus that puts patients and their families first.

- President Bush believes the bipartisan legislation introduced by Fletcher-Peterson-Johnson bill represents a sensible compromise. It will allow patients to hold HMOs accountable while also protecting patients and their families from paying the costs of unnecessary and expensive litigation that will increase their health care premiums and jeopardize their health insurance coverage.

- The President is pleased that the compromise House bill meets the principles for a Patients' Bill of Rights that he announced earlier this year:

  - ✓ Patient protections should apply to all Americans.
  - ✓ Patient protections should be comprehensive.
  - ✓ Patients should have a rapid medical review process for denials of care.
  - ✓ The patient review process should ensure that doctors are allowed to make medical decisions and patients receive care in a timely manner.
  - ✓ Federal remedies should be expanded to hold health plans accountable.
  - ✓ Patient protection legislation should encourage, not discourage, employers to offer health care.

The President's Principles for a Bipartisan Patients Bill of Rights

- Patient Protections Should Apply to All Americans: A federal Patients' Bill of Rights should ensure that every person enrolled in a health plan enjoys strong patient protections. Because many legislatures have passed strong patient protection laws that are appropriate for their states, deference should be given to these state laws and to the traditional authority of states to regulate health insurance.

- Patient Protections Should Be Comprehensive: A federal Patients' Bill of Rights should provide patient protections such as:

  - ✓ Access to emergency room and specialty care.

- ✓ Direct access to obstetricians, gynecologists and pediatricians.
- ✓ Access to needed prescription drugs and approved clinical trials
- ✓ Access to health plan information.
- ✓ Prohibition of "gag clauses" that prevent doctors from discussing certain health care options with their patients because of their HMO.
- ✓ Consumer choice provisions that give consumers more choice of doctors.
- ✓ Continuity of care protections that allow patients to continue to see their doctor if they are terminally ill, pregnant or awaiting scheduled surgery – even if their doctor switches HMO plans.

- Patients Should Have a Rapid Medical Review Process for Denials of Care: Patients who have been denied medical care should have the right to a fair, prompt and independent medical review to ensure that disputes are dissolved quickly and inexpensively, and that patients receive the quality care they deserve.

- The Review Process Should Ensure that Doctors Are Allowed to Make Medical Decisions and Patients Receive Care in a Timely Manner: Slow and costly litigation should be a last resort. Patients should exhaust their appeals process first — allowing independent medical experts to make medical decisions and ensuring patients receive necessary medical care without the staggering costs and needless delays of going to court.

- Federal Remedies Should Be Expanded to Hold Health Plans Accountable: After an independent review decision is rendered, patients should be allowed to hold their health plans liable under federal law if they still have been wrongly denied needed medical care.

- Patient Protection Legislation Should Encourage, Not Discourage, Employers to Offer Health Care: Americans want meaningful remedies, not a windfall for trial lawyers resulting in expensive health care premiums and unaffordable health coverage. To protect patients' rights without encouraging excessive litigation, damages should be subject to reasonable caps. Employers - especially small businesses that are struggling to offer health coverage to their employees - should be shielded from unnecessary and frivolous lawsuits and should not be subject to multiple lawsuits in state court. Increased litigation will only result in higher health care costs, potentially causing millions of Americans to lose their health insurance. Only employers who retain responsibility for making final medical decisions for their employees should be subject to lawsuits.

GANSKE-DINGELL BILL GIVES NO GUARANTEED RIGHT OR REMEDY TO PATIENTS IN 41 STATES TO HOLD HMOs ACCOUNTABLE

- President Bush supports a strong Patients' Bill of Rights that will establish a comprehensive, Federal set of rights and remedies for patients who have been denied care by an HMO's decision.

- But, in most states, patients who have been harmed by the decision of an HMO to deny them medically necessary care would have no guaranteed right to hold their HMO accountable if the Ganske-Dingell bill passes.

- Under the Fletcher-Peterson-Johnson bill supported by President Bush, every patient enrolled in an HMO would have new rights to bring an HMO to court if they were denied care that their doctor believed was medically necessary and they completed an independent medical review process.

- Under the Ganske-Dingell bill, the existing federal law prohibiting state lawsuits against employers and HMOs would be lifted. However, patients would have a cause of action to hold HMOs accountable in state court only to the extent provided under state law. To date, only 9 states have enacted legislation to enable patients to take an HMO to court if they are denied the medical care they need. In all, 41 states have not enacted managed-care liability laws.

- Bottom line -- if you live in one of these 41 states, you have no guaranteed right to go to state court to hold your HMO accountable under the Ganske-Dingell bill.

Alabama	Louisiana	North Dakota
Alaska	Maryland	Ohio
Arkansas	Massachusetts	Oklahoma
California	Michigan	Oregon
Colorado	Minnesota	Pennsylvania
Connecticut	Mississippi	Rhode Island
Delaware	Missouri	South Carolina
Florida	Montana	South Dakota
Hawaii	Nebraska	Tennessee
Idaho	Nevada	Utah
Illinois	New Hampshire	Vermont
Indiana	New Jersey*	Virginia
Iowa	New Mexico	Wisconsin
Kansas	New York	Wyoming
Kentucky	North Carolina

- This is yet another setback for the Ganske-Dingell bill as more and more Members of Congress are examining the bipartisan Fletcher-Peterson-Johnson bill – the only House Patients' Bill of Rights that President Bush can sign. A recent analysis found that millions of Americans would lose their health care coverage if the Ganske-Dingell bill were to become law. In fact, the cost of health insurance premiums could rise by more than 4% if the Ganske-Dingell bill passes, providing unlimited liability as a windfall for trial lawyers, while causing employers – especially small businesses – to drop the expense of providing health care benefits to millions of workers.

* The New Jersey state legislature passed a managed care liability law on June 28, 2001 and the Governor has until August 12 to sign or veto it. At press time, the bill had not yet been signed into law.

What They're Saying About the Patients' Bill of Rights

HOW IS health care like going to the grocer? The more you put in the cart, the higher the bill. But unlike your grocery expedition, where all you pay for are the items your own cart, with health care the other customer's cart is on your tab, too….

Nor will the tab get any better with the patient protection legislation being considered in Washington. Sure, Americans will get guaranteed access to emergency rooms, medical clinical trials and specialists. Senate legislation even provides the right to sue your insurer and be awarded up to $5 million in punitive damages….

At a minimum, the right to sue, the most burdensome of the patient protection legislation, must be restricted and an independent review process implemented for unhappy patients.

President Bush must continue to stand firm on rejecting patient protection legislation that will leave more patients without the protection of health care coverage.

Editorial
The Atlanta Journal and Constitution
July 19, 2001

The simple truth - which too many politicians ignore for their political health - is that we can't afford all the health care we want. There has to be a balance between the need to hold health plans accountable for their medical decisions with the need to hold insurance premiums down…. Giving patients the right to sue for unlimited noneconomic damages threatens to make that balance impossible….

President Bush rightly is concerned that the Kennedy-McCain-Edwards bill would boost the cost of health insurance and could prompt employers to drop coverage of employees. As the House prepares to take up its version of the bill, both sides of this controversy should consider the importance of devising a bill that broadens the rights of patients without forcing HMOs to raise premiums to levels that will ultimately result in less coverage.

Editorial
The Buffalo News
July 6, 2001

The "Patients' Bill of Rights" passed last week by the Senate is the latest example of how too many Democrats believe the road to a better society will be paved by lawsuits. Fortunately, a better bill awaits action in the House.

The House Republican bill places greater faith in the collective wisdom of health providers and their patients - and less faith in litigation. The House bill requires patients to appeal their cases to a review board before suing because that's likely to result in quicker results and better treatment. The House bill also would generally keep lawsuits in federal court and cap punitive damages at $500,000.

Escalating medical costs aren't the result of too little government regulation, but of too much. The authors of the "Patients' Bill of Rights" are selling patients a bill of goods by claiming more lawsuits will cure what ails them. President Bush is right; kill the Senate bill and send him legislation that works.

Editorial
Wisconsin State Journal
July 5, 2001

The Patients' Bill of Rights proposal is in the midst of fierce debate over how to regulate HMO quality. Both the Senate, which recently passed legislation, and President Bush have made this issue a top priority....

But if Congress allows patients to sue managed care plans and receive unlimited damages, it also could make some employers liable for these costs.... Rather than risk expensive lawsuits, employers may respond by choosing to drop health insurance coverage altogether for their employees.....

The Congressional Budget Office estimates that private health insurance premiums could increase by an average of 4.1 percent above inflation. Barents Group, an economic consulting firm, estimated that almost 1.3 million Americans could lose their health insurance. With 44 million Americans already lacking health insurance, it is unlikely that consumers would benefit from this proposal.

"This is one malady a prescription will not cure"
Naomi Lopez Bauman, Pacific Research Institute.
The San Diego Union-Tribune
July 20, 2001

The president has threatened to veto the Senate bill because it supposedly would result in huge lawsuits, soaring insurance premiums and a decision by employers to drop such policies because they would be too costly. As the bill is written, he may be right. The last thing anyone needs is for Congress to pass a bill that makes things worse, not better.

It shouldn't be necessary for patients to have to file a lawsuit to gain access to emergency treatment, medical advice from specialists or a medical review rather than a fiscal evaluation of treatment needs. Neither should open-ended lawsuits with limitless financial claims be allowed to destroy the medical care industry or employers.

Editorial
South Bend Tribune
July 6, 2001

Some in Congress, primarily Democrats, are doing their best to remedy that with a "Patients Bill of Rights." Among other things, it would give Americans the right to sue their health-care providers (HMOs) and even their employers who provide medical insurance.... If employers make health care decisions - say, limiting benefits to contain costs - they can be targets of lawsuits. And many will then reconsider why they devote valuable resources to voluntarily provide health care insurance....

President Bush says he will veto such a bill. Good for him. But the House can spare him the trouble by replacing the Senate version with a bill that does not allow unlimited lawsuits against HMOs.

Editorial
The Cincinnati Enquirer
July 5, 2001

How will Americans feel about the right to sue their HMO when they can't find or afford an HMO? If Democrats were so concerned about patients, they would support giving individuals better choices in health care, including expanding medical savings accounts... Bush has backed House legislation that would allow suits in state court --- where plaintiffs traditionally prevail with traditionally higher awards --- if the insurer disregards the advice of an independent review board and the patient is harmed as a result. That's reasonable...

But the GOP and Bush must stand firm on limiting the right to sue. They have to protect patients, and therefore employers and health plans. And they must continue to resist the Democrats' efforts to expand government.

President Urges House to Pass Bipartisan Patients' Bill of Rights

This Week's Action:

- The House of Representatives is expected to debate the Patients' Bill of Rights this week. President Bush has welcomed the bipartisan Fletcher-Peterson-Johnson legislation that is consistent with his principles for HMO reform. The Fletcher-Peterson-Johnson bill is the only Patients' Bill of Rights legislation being considered in the House that the President can sign into law.

The President's Commitment to a Strong Patients' Bill of Rights:

- Needed patient protections have been stalled because some in Washington have been unwilling to compromise. President Bush is committed to cutting through the gridlock and passing a Patients' Bill of Rights this year. Since early days of his Administration, the President has worked with Members of Congress from both parties to forge a bipartisan consensus that puts patients and their families first.

- President Bush believes the bipartisan legislation introduced by Fletcher-Peterson-Johnson bill represents a sensible compromise. It will allow patients to hold HMOs accountable while also protecting patients and their families from paying the costs of unnecessary and expensive litigation that will increase their health care premiums and jeopardize their health insurance coverage.

- The President is pleased that the compromise House bill meets the principles for a Patients' Bill of Rights that he announced earlier this year:

  - ✓ Patient protections should apply to all Americans.
  - ✓ Patient protections should be comprehensive.
  - ✓ Patients should have a rapid medical review process for denials of care.
  - ✓ The patient review process should ensure that doctors are allowed to make medical decisions and patients receive care in a timely manner.
  - ✓ Federal remedies should be expanded to hold health plans accountable.
  - ✓ Patient protection legislation should encourage, not discourage, employers to offer health care.

The President's Principles for a Bipartisan Patients Bill of Rights

- Patient Protections Should Apply to All Americans: A federal Patients' Bill of Rights should ensure that every person enrolled in a health plan enjoys strong patient protections. Because many legislatures have passed strong patient protection laws that are appropriate for their states, deference should be given to these state laws and to the traditional authority of states to regulate health insurance.

- Patient Protections Should Be Comprehensive: A federal Patients' Bill of Rights should provide patient protections such as:

  - ✓ Access to emergency room and specialty care.

- ✓ Direct access to obstetricians, gynecologists and pediatricians.
- ✓ Access to needed prescription drugs and approved clinical trials
- ✓ Access to health plan information.
- ✓ Prohibition of "gag clauses" that prevent doctors from discussing certain health care options with their patients because of their HMO.
- ✓ Consumer choice provisions that give consumers more choice of doctors.
- ✓ Continuity of care protections that allow patients to continue to see their doctor if they are terminally ill, pregnant or awaiting scheduled surgery – even if their doctor switches HMO plans.

- Patients Should Have a Rapid Medical Review Process for Denials of Care: Patients who have been denied medical care should have the right to a fair, prompt and independent medical review to ensure that disputes are dissolved quickly and inexpensively, and that patients receive the quality care they deserve.

- The Review Process Should Ensure that Doctors Are Allowed to Make Medical Decisions and Patients Receive Care in a Timely Manner: Slow and costly litigation should be a last resort. Patients should exhaust their appeals process first — allowing independent medical experts to make medical decisions and ensuring patients receive necessary medical care without the staggering costs and needless delays of going to court.

- Federal Remedies Should Be Expanded to Hold Health Plans Accountable: After an independent review decision is rendered, patients should be allowed to hold their health plans liable under federal law if they still have been wrongly denied needed medical care.

- Patient Protection Legislation Should Encourage, Not Discourage, Employers to Offer Health Care: Americans want meaningful remedies, not a windfall for trial lawyers resulting in expensive health care premiums and unaffordable health coverage. To protect patients' rights without encouraging excessive litigation, damages should be subject to reasonable caps. Employers - especially small businesses that are struggling to offer health coverage to their employees - should be shielded from unnecessary and frivolous lawsuits and should not be subject to multiple lawsuits in state court. Increased litigation will only result in higher health care costs, potentially causing millions of Americans to lose their health insurance. Only employers who retain responsibility for making final medical decisions for their employees should be subject to lawsuits.

GANSKE-DINGELL BILL GIVES NO GUARANTEED RIGHT OR REMEDY TO PATIENTS IN 41 STATES TO HOLD HMOs ACCOUNTABLE

- President Bush supports a strong Patients' Bill of Rights that will establish a comprehensive, Federal set of rights and remedies for patients who have been denied care by an HMO's decision.

- But, in most states, patients who have been harmed by the decision of an HMO to deny them medically necessary care would have no guaranteed right to hold their HMO accountable if the Ganske-Dingell bill passes.

- Under the Fletcher-Peterson-Johnson bill supported by President Bush, every patient enrolled in an HMO would have new rights to bring an HMO to court if they were denied care that their doctor believed was medically necessary and they completed an independent medical review process.

- Under the Ganske-Dingell bill, the existing federal law prohibiting state lawsuits against employers and HMOs would be lifted. However, patients would have a cause of action to hold HMOs accountable in state court only to the extent provided under state law. To date, only 9 states have enacted legislation to enable patients to take an HMO to court if they are denied the medical care they need. In all, 41 states have not enacted managed-care liability laws.

- Bottom line -- if you live in one of these 41 states, you have no guaranteed right to go to state court to hold your HMO accountable under the Ganske-Dingell bill.

Alabama	Louisiana	North Dakota
Alaska	Maryland	Ohio
Arkansas	Massachusetts	Oklahoma
California	Michigan	Oregon
Colorado	Minnesota	Pennsylvania
Connecticut	Mississippi	Rhode Island
Delaware	Missouri	South Carolina
Florida	Montana	South Dakota
Hawaii	Nebraska	Tennessee
Idaho	Nevada	Utah
Illinois	New Hampshire	Vermont
Indiana	New Jersey*	Virginia
Iowa	New Mexico	Wisconsin
Kansas	New York	Wyoming
Kentucky	North Carolina

- This is yet another setback for the Ganske-Dingell bill as more and more Members of Congress are examining the bipartisan Fletcher-Peterson-Johnson bill – the only House Patients' Bill of Rights that President Bush can sign. A recent analysis found that millions of Americans would lose their health care coverage if the Ganske-Dingell bill were to become law. In fact, the cost of health insurance premiums could rise by more than 4% if the Ganske-Dingell bill passes, providing unlimited liability as a windfall for trial lawyers, while causing employers – especially small businesses – to drop the expense of providing health care benefits to millions of workers.

* The New Jersey state legislature passed a managed care liability law on June 28, 2001 and the Governor has until August 12 to sign or veto it. At press time, the bill had not yet been signed into law.

What They're Saying About the Patients' Bill of Rights

HOW IS health care like going to the grocer? The more you put in the cart, the higher the bill. But unlike your grocery expedition, where all you pay for are the items your own cart, with health care the other customer's cart is on your tab, too….

Nor will the tab get any better with the patient protection legislation being considered in Washington. Sure, Americans will get guaranteed access to emergency rooms, medical clinical trials and specialists. Senate legislation even provides the right to sue your insurer and be awarded up to $5 million in punitive damages….

At a minimum, the right to sue, the most burdensome of the patient protection legislation, must be restricted and an independent review process implemented for unhappy patients.

President Bush must continue to stand firm on rejecting patient protection legislation that will leave more patients without the protection of health care coverage.

Editorial
The Atlanta Journal and Constitution
July 19, 2001

The simple truth - which too many politicians ignore for their political health - is that we can't afford all the health care we want. There has to be a balance between the need to hold health plans accountable for their medical decisions with the need to hold insurance premiums down…. Giving patients the right to sue for unlimited noneconomic damages threatens to make that balance impossible….

President Bush rightly is concerned that the Kennedy-McCain-Edwards bill would boost the cost of health insurance and could prompt employers to drop coverage of employees. As the House prepares to take up its version of the bill, both sides of this controversy should consider the importance of devising a bill that broadens the rights of patients without forcing HMOs to raise premiums to levels that will ultimately result in less coverage.

Editorial
The Buffalo News
July 6, 2001

The "Patients' Bill of Rights" passed last week by the Senate is the latest example of how too many Democrats believe the road to a better society will be paved by lawsuits. Fortunately, a better bill awaits action in the House.

The House Republican bill places greater faith in the collective wisdom of health providers and their patients - and less faith in litigation. The House bill requires patients to appeal their cases to a review board before suing because that's likely to result in quicker results and better treatment. The House bill also would generally keep lawsuits in federal court and cap punitive damages at $500,000.

Escalating medical costs aren't the result of too little government regulation, but of too much. The authors of the "Patients' Bill of Rights" are selling patients a bill of goods by claiming more lawsuits will cure what ails them. President Bush is right; kill the Senate bill and send him legislation that works.

Editorial
Wisconsin State Journal
July 5, 2001

The Patients' Bill of Rights proposal is in the midst of fierce debate over how to regulate HMO quality. Both the Senate, which recently passed legislation, and President Bush have made this issue a top priority....

But if Congress allows patients to sue managed care plans and receive unlimited damages, it also could make some employers liable for these costs.... Rather than risk expensive lawsuits, employers may respond by choosing to drop health insurance coverage altogether for their employees.....

The Congressional Budget Office estimates that private health insurance premiums could increase by an average of 4.1 percent above inflation. Barents Group, an economic consulting firm, estimated that almost 1.3 million Americans could lose their health insurance. With 44 million Americans already lacking health insurance, it is unlikely that consumers would benefit from this proposal.

"This is one malady a prescription will not cure"
Naomi Lopez Bauman, Pacific Research Institute.
The San Diego Union-Tribune
July 20, 2001

The president has threatened to veto the Senate bill because it supposedly would result in huge lawsuits, soaring insurance premiums and a decision by employers to drop such policies because they would be too costly. As the bill is written, he may be right. The last thing anyone needs is for Congress to pass a bill that makes things worse, not better.

It shouldn't be necessary for patients to have to file a lawsuit to gain access to emergency treatment, medical advice from specialists or a medical review rather than a fiscal evaluation of treatment needs. Neither should open-ended lawsuits with limitless financial claims be allowed to destroy the medical care industry or employers.

Editorial
South Bend Tribune
July 6, 2001

Some in Congress, primarily Democrats, are doing their best to remedy that with a "Patients Bill of Rights." Among other things, it would give Americans the right to sue their health-care providers (HMOs) and even their employers who provide medical insurance.... If employers make health care decisions - say, limiting benefits to contain costs - they can be targets of lawsuits. And many will then reconsider why they devote valuable resources to voluntarily provide health care insurance....

President Bush says he will veto such a bill. Good for him. But the House can spare him the trouble by replacing the Senate version with a bill that does not allow unlimited lawsuits against HMOs.

Editorial
The Cincinnati Enquirer
July 5, 2001

How will Americans feel about the right to sue their HMO when they can't find or afford an HMO? If Democrats were so concerned about patients, they would support giving individuals better choices in health care, including expanding medical savings accounts... Bush has backed House legislation that would allow suits in state court --- where plaintiffs traditionally prevail with traditionally higher awards --- if the insurer disregards the advice of an independent review board and the patient is harmed as a result. That's reasonable...

But the GOP and Bush must stand firm on limiting the right to sue. They have to protect patients, and therefore employers and health plans. And they must continue to resist the Democrats' efforts to expand government.

President Urges House to Pass Bipartisan Patients' Bill of Rights

This Week's Action:

- The House of Representatives is expected to debate the Patients' Bill of Rights this week. President Bush has welcomed the bipartisan Fletcher-Peterson-Johnson legislation that is consistent with his principles for HMO reform. The Fletcher-Peterson-Johnson bill is the only Patients' Bill of Rights legislation being considered in the House that the President can sign into law.

The President's Commitment to a Strong Patients' Bill of Rights:

- Needed patient protections have been stalled because some in Washington have been unwilling to compromise. President Bush is committed to cutting through the gridlock and passing a Patients' Bill of Rights this year. Since early days of his Administration, the President has worked with Members of Congress from both parties to forge a bipartisan consensus that puts patients and their families first.

- President Bush believes the bipartisan legislation introduced by Fletcher-Peterson-Johnson bill represents a sensible compromise. It will allow patients to hold HMOs accountable while also protecting patients and their families from paying the costs of unnecessary and expensive litigation that will increase their health care premiums and jeopardize their health insurance coverage.

- The President is pleased that the compromise House bill meets the principles for a Patients' Bill of Rights that he announced earlier this year:

  - ✓ Patient protections should apply to all Americans.
  - ✓ Patient protections should be comprehensive.
  - ✓ Patients should have a rapid medical review process for denials of care.
  - ✓ The patient review process should ensure that doctors are allowed to make medical decisions and patients receive care in a timely manner.
  - ✓ Federal remedies should be expanded to hold health plans accountable.
  - ✓ Patient protection legislation should encourage, not discourage, employers to offer health care.

The President's Principles for a Bipartisan Patients Bill of Rights

- Patient Protections Should Apply to All Americans: A federal Patients' Bill of Rights should ensure that every person enrolled in a health plan enjoys strong patient protections. Because many legislatures have passed strong patient protection laws that are appropriate for their states, deference should be given to these state laws and to the traditional authority of states to regulate health insurance.

- Patient Protections Should Be Comprehensive: A federal Patients' Bill of Rights should provide patient protections such as:

  - ✓ Access to emergency room and specialty care.

- ✓ Direct access to obstetricians, gynecologists and pediatricians.
- ✓ Access to needed prescription drugs and approved clinical trials
- ✓ Access to health plan information.
- ✓ Prohibition of "gag clauses" that prevent doctors from discussing certain health care options with their patients because of their HMO.
- ✓ Consumer choice provisions that give consumers more choice of doctors.
- ✓ Continuity of care protections that allow patients to continue to see their doctor if they are terminally ill, pregnant or awaiting scheduled surgery – even if their doctor switches HMO plans.

- Patients Should Have a Rapid Medical Review Process for Denials of Care: Patients who have been denied medical care should have the right to a fair, prompt and independent medical review to ensure that disputes are dissolved quickly and inexpensively, and that patients receive the quality care they deserve.

- The Review Process Should Ensure that Doctors Are Allowed to Make Medical Decisions and Patients Receive Care in a Timely Manner: Slow and costly litigation should be a last resort. Patients should exhaust their appeals process first — allowing independent medical experts to make medical decisions and ensuring patients receive necessary medical care without the staggering costs and needless delays of going to court.

- Federal Remedies Should Be Expanded to Hold Health Plans Accountable: After an independent review decision is rendered, patients should be allowed to hold their health plans liable under federal law if they still have been wrongly denied needed medical care.

- Patient Protection Legislation Should Encourage, Not Discourage, Employers to Offer Health Care: Americans want meaningful remedies, not a windfall for trial lawyers resulting in expensive health care premiums and unaffordable health coverage. To protect patients' rights without encouraging excessive litigation, damages should be subject to reasonable caps. Employers - especially small businesses that are struggling to offer health coverage to their employees - should be shielded from unnecessary and frivolous lawsuits and should not be subject to multiple lawsuits in state court. Increased litigation will only result in higher health care costs, potentially causing millions of Americans to lose their health insurance. Only employers who retain responsibility for making final medical decisions for their employees should be subject to lawsuits.

Dear Mr. Stern:

In his letter of July 17, 2001, Alberto R. Gonzales, Counsel to the President, confirmed that Presidential records of President Reagan and Vice President Bush that do not potentially fall "within exemption (b)(5) of the Freedom of Information Act . . . should continue to be processed in accordance with the procedures outlined in Section 2204(c) of title 44." Accordingly, the incumbent President will not assert a privilege and has no other concern with respect to the opening of Presidential records described in the following notices provided to this office by NARA:

Notice of April 6, 2001 (President Reagan);
Notice of May 9, 2001 (President Reagan);
Notice of July 10, 2001 (Vice President Bush);
Notice of July 11, 2001 (President Reagan).

With respect to the notice of April 9, 2001 (President Reagan), you have indicated that two categories of records contain advice," and thus would potentially fall within exemption (b)(5) of the FOIA, but that the remaining categories of records would not fall within exemption (b)(5). Accordingly, the incumbent President will not assert a privilege and has no other concern with respect to the opening of the Presidential records in this notice, except for the two paragraphs that do contain advice, which shall remain subject to the Gonzales letter of June 6, 2001.

Sincerely yours,

Brett M. Kavanaugh

The Honorable Patty Murray
The Honorable Maria Cantwell
United States Senate
Washington, DC 20510

Dear Senator Murray and Senator Cantwell:

As you know, members of my staff recently met with members of your staff regarding a proposed commission for selection of district court judges in Washington, a process that has been employed for the past several years to assist the President in the selection of Washington district court judges. We understand that you have attempted to reach agreement with Congresswoman Jennifer Dunn (the President's designee for these purposes) about a proposed commission, but that you thus far have been unable to do so.

At this point, we thought we should reiterate some core principles on which we must insist with respect to any commission process in Washington. First, any commission must submit at least three names to the President for consideration (and the commission should be free to submit as many additional names as it sees fit). Second, the President must retain the right not to select any of those three individuals, but rather to nominate the individual of his choosing. Third, absent extraordinary circumstances in the nature of a nominee's previously unknown personal background issue, you must agree in advance to support the President's nominee if the President selects a nominee who is supported by a majority of the commission and is one of the three names submitted by the commission. Fourth, the commission must not address court of appeals vacancies, but rather only district court vacancies.

Your staff made clear to us that you do not wish to agree in advance to support the President's nominee even if the nominee is supported by a majority of the commission and is one of the three names produced by the commission. We understand your point of view, but we cannot accept it. The President necessarily cedes a certain degree of his constitutional authority to nominate judges when he both agrees to a commission process and nominates one of the three individuals produced by a commission, rather than conducting his own independent search for a nominee. If the President is to do so, we must insist on reciprocity in the form of your agreement, absent extraordinary circumstances relating to the nominee's personal background, to support the President's nominee if the nominee is supported by a majority of the commission and is one of the three names produced by the commission. In this case, moreover, it bears mention that any candidate supported by a majority of the commission necessarily will have the support of at least one of your appointees on the commission.

We recognize that your negotiations with Congresswoman Dunn to date have not produced a satisfactory result about a commission structure and process. As observers of your negotiations with Congresswoman Dunn, we have come to believe that the continued disagreement may be a function not of bad faith by anyone, but rather of the inherent difficulty in overly formalizing a process to which the Constitution and tradition already speak in general terms that have stood the test of time. Under the Constitution, of course, the President ordinarily selects the nominee of his choice after consulting and receiving input from Senators, Members of the House of Representatives, other elected officials, experienced members of the bar, and the like. And under the Constitution, the Senate retains the power to confirm or reject the President's nominee. In addition, consistent with past and current practice, home-state Senators generally retain power through the blue slip process to prevent a hearing for a district court nominee to whom they vigorously object.

Given that you have been unable to reach agreement with Congresswoman Dunn thus far, we may be near the point where we should terminate the heroic efforts to devise the precise, formal structure that would satisfy all sides and instead for the President and the Senate simply to follow the ordinary processes ordained by the Constitution. We are confident that adherence to the traditional constitutional processes would produce excellent and widely respected Presidential nominees for the district courts in Washington.

We very much thank you and your staff for the time you have spent on this, and we look forward to your response.

Sincerely yours,

Alberto R. Gonzales
Counsel to the President

Washington, DC 20510

Dear Senator Murray and Senator Cantwell:

As you know, members of my staff recently met with members of your staff regarding a proposed commission for selection of district court judges in Washington, a process that has been employed for the past several years to assist the President in the selection of Washington district court judges. We understand that you have attempted to reach agreement with Congresswoman Jennifer Dunn (the President's designee for these purposes) about a proposed commission, but that you thus far have been unable to do so.

At this point, we thought we should reiterate some core principles on which we must insist with respect to any commission process in Washington. First, any commission must submit at least three names to the President for consideration (and the commission should be free to submit as many additional names as it sees fit). Second, the President must retain the right not to select any of those three individuals, but rather to nominate the individual of his choosing. Third, absent extraordinary circumstances in the nature of a nominee's previously unknown personal background issue, you must agree in advance to support the President's nominee if the President selects a nominee who is supported by a majority of the commission and is one of the three names submitted by the commission. Fourth, the commission must not address court of appeals vacancies, but rather only district court vacancies.

Your staff made clear to us that you do not wish to agree in advance to support the President's nominee even if the nominee is supported by a majority of the commission and is one of the three names produced by the commission. We understand your point of view, but we cannot accept it. The President necessarily cedes a certain degree of his constitutional authority to nominate judges when he both agrees to a commission process and nominates one of the three individuals produced by a commission, rather than conducting his own independent search for a nominee. If the President is to do so, we must insist on reciprocity in the form of your agreement, absent extraordinary circumstances relating to the nominee's personal background, to support the President's nominee if the nominee is supported by a majority of the commission and is one of the three names produced by the commission. In this case, moreover, it bears mention that any candidate supported by a majority of the commission necessarily will have the support of at least one of your appointees on the commission.

We recognize that your negotiations with Congresswoman Dunn to date have not produced a satisfactory result about a commission structure and process. As observers of your negotiations with Congresswoman Dunn, we have come to believe that the continued disagreement may be a function not of bad faith by anyone, but rather of the inherent difficulty in overly formalizing a process to which the Constitution and tradition already speak in general terms that have stood the test of time. Under the Constitution, of course, the President ordinarily selects the nominee of his choice after consulting and receiving input from Senators, Members of the House of Representatives, other elected officials, experienced members of the bar, and the like. And under the Constitution, the Senate retains the power to confirm or reject the President's nominee. In addition, consistent with past and current practice, home-state Senators generally retain power through the blue slip process to prevent a hearing for a district court nominee to whom they vigorously object.

Given that you have been unable to reach agreement with Congresswoman Dunn thus far, we may be near the point where we should terminate the heroic efforts to devise the precise, formal structure that would satisfy all sides and instead for the President and the Senate simply to follow the ordinary processes ordained by the Constitution. We are confident that adherence to the traditional constitutional processes would produce excellent and widely respected Presidential nominees for the district courts in Washington.

We very much thank you and your staff for the time you have spent on this, and we look forward to your response.

Sincerely yours,

Alberto R. Gonzales
Counsel to the President

July __, 2001

Dear Chairman Jeffords:

We received your July 20 letter requesting access to 41 files of Jeffrey Holmstead from the time that he worked as an Associate Counsel to President George H.W. Bush. As we informed Senator Reid on July 9, in response to a similar request, we had to respectfully decline your blanket request for these records. Mr. Holmstead was a White House advisor and attorney for President George Bush when the documents in question were created and received. The documents therefore fall within the deliberative process, presidential communications, and government attorney-client and work product protections, all of which ensure that high-level Presidential advisors and attorneys can and do provide candid advice to the President.

However, your letter indicated a specific concern about one aspect of Mr. Holmstead's testimony before the Committee, a concern that implicates three of the 41 files. In order to accommodate the Committee's interests and to allay your concern, at the direction of the Staff Director, Ken Connolly, we authorized Chris Miller and _____ of the Committee staff to review those three files here at the White House, with appropriate guarantees of confidentiality and without waiving the privileges that apply to these documents. That review has now occurred, and we understand from the staff that it has alleviated any remaining concern you may have with respect to that matter.

Thank you very much for your consideration of our interests, and please do not hesitate to contact me if you wish to discuss this matter further.

Sincerely yours,

Alberto R. Gonzales

Presidential Action – July 31

Federal Election Reform

- Today, President Bush will accept the report of the National Commission on Federal Election Reform. The President will also outline his key principles for election reform.

  - ✓ The President will be joined by members of the Commission, including former President Carter and former House Minority Leader Bob Michel (representing former President Ford), in a Rose Garden Ceremony.

  - ✓ President Bush commends the Commission for working on a bipartisan basis to recommend needed reforms to our elections system. The Commission had strong leadership and a thorough, deliberative process. The President looks forward to working with Congress to address this important issue in a responsible and nonpartisan way.

  - ✓ The Ford - Carter Commission report includes dozens of recommendations for improving the way we conduct elections. The Commission's report respects the primacy of state, county and local governments. It also envisions a limited and responsible role for the Federal government in federal elections. The Commission report is grounded in four fundamental principles, which the President endorses and recommends to the Congress. Federal election reform should:

    - Recognize the primacy of states and localities in election administration
    - Modernize voting equipment, techniques and ballot design
    - Protect the franchise of military and overseas voters
    - Enforce existing Federal civil rights and voting rights laws

Energy

- The President today will sign an Executive Order directing the federal government to lead a major conservation effort to bring American homes, government and industry to a new energy saving standard for "vampire" devices.
  - ✓ Vampires are standby power devices that draw excessive energy even when not in use.
  - ✓ Vampires can be found in almost every household appliance including televisions, telephones, fax machines, washers, and dryers. Some Vampires, such as cell phone chargers, draw energy when plugged in even if they are not connected to the device they normally charge. Approximately 26 power plants are needed just to power these energy vampires.

- The federal government is the largest single user of electricity in the U.S. and the President wants to take the lead on conservation.

- The Executive Order will order government procurement officers to purchase – whenever practicable and cost-effective --off-the-shelf appliances and devices that use energy-efficient standby power devices. These devices use small amounts of energy and could save billions of kilowatt-hours per year without sacrificing performance. In the aggregate, households across the nation would save from $1 to 2 billion on their energy bills if they adopted appliances that utilize vampire slayers.
