QUESTION 18: Currently, OHS costs are included in both the WHO and OA appropriations. Is that also the case in the FY 2004 request? If so, please provide a table, by appropriation, showing total OHS budgeted costs, for each of the fiscal years 2002 through 2004.

RESPONSE: For FY 2003, although funds were requested as part of the WHO budget activity, the Office of Homeland Security received for the first time its own appropriation, separate from the WHO appropriation. Funds supporting OHS / HSC requirements in FY 2003 were provided also to OA as part of the OA Pilot program. The FY 2004 Request identifies all requirements for OHS / HSC in the WHO Budget Activity, since the OA Pilot program is not certain to continue after FY 2003. See table below:

(Dollars in Thousands)

	Congressional Appropriations
	FY 2002 Enacted*	FY 2003 Enacted	FY 2004 Request
OHS / HSC	$30,800	$8,272	$8,331
OA		$778
	$30,800	$9,050	$8,331

*FY 2002 budget for OHS was based on the OHS mission and funding profile prior to the establishment of DHS and was provided by 3 sources of emergency appropriated funds: P.L. 107-38 for $25,000,000; P.L.107-117 for $2,000,000; and P.L. 107-206 for $3,800,000.

QUESTION 19: Last year, it was stated that one MOU existed between OHS and other EOP entities (p. 51). Please provide a copy of the MOU between MOU and the Office of Science and Technology Policy.

RESPONSE: The MOU between OHS and OSTP expired with the creation of the Department of Homeland Security as relevant responsibilities transferred from OHS to DHS, pursuant to the Homeland Security Act of November, 2002.

QUESTION 20: Have any other MOUs been signed since that time?

RESPONSE: A MOU between the Homeland Security Council and the National Security Council/White House Situation Support Staff was signed in May, 2003 providing for the expansion of NSC's classified computer network to include approved HSC staff with necessary security clearances.

In addition standard interagency agreements were signed between OHS/HSC and the Office of Administration (OA) and OMB to pay for detailees from these EOP entities to OHS/HSC and separately between OHS/HSC and OA to pay for miscellaneous supplies and materials.

QUESTION 21: At this time last year, OHS planned to establish a coordination center which would function 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, using a communications room and two incident management rooms. At the same time, the Administration made clear that the role of OHS was to establish and coordinate policy, and not to conduct operational activities. With the establishment of the Department of Homeland Security, have these specific activities been descoped or eliminated?

RESPONSE: The role of the Homeland Security Council is to advise and assist the President, develop and coordinate the implementation of the National Strategy for Homeland Security to secure the United States from terrorist threats and attacks, and to help coordinate policy across the departments and agencies of the executive branch. The Homeland Security Council does not conduct operational activities. The Homeland Security Council does not operate a coordination center. With the establishment of the Department of Homeland Security, DHS is the lead federal agency for incident management. As such, DHS operates a Homeland Security Center with 24 hour/7 days per week coordination and communications capabilities. Those functions do not reside in the Homeland Security Council.

QUESTION 22: How many positions support these activities in the FY 2004 request, and what is the total budgeted amount?

RESPONSE: The FY 2004 budget will not fund any personnel or activities related to the DHS coordination center. However, virtually every member of the HSC staff has responsibilities to support and advise the President regarding incident response efforts, continuity of government and related coordination roles on behalf of the President.

QUESTION 23: How are such activities appropriate for a policymaking body, when DHS now exists to coordinate and execute operational activities related to specific homeland security incidents and activities?

RESPONSE: Just as the NSC was created by Congress in 1947 in the same act which created the Department of Defense and the CIA, Congress established the HSC within the EOP by statute at the same time as it created the Department of Homeland Security. The role of the Homeland Security Council is to advise and assist the President, develop and coordinate the implementation of the National Strategy for Homeland Security to secure the United States from terrorist threats and attacks, and to help coordinate policy across the departments and agencies of the executive branch. The Homeland Security Council does not conduct operational activities. The Homeland Security Council does not operate a coordination center. With the establishment of the Department of Homeland Security, DHS is the lead federal agency for incident management. As such, DHS operates a Homeland Security Center with 24 hour/7 days per week coordination and communications capabilities. Those functions do not reside in the Homeland Security Council.

QUESTION 24: At the time of last year's hearing, the permanent location and amount of space for the President's Critical Infrastructure Protection Board had not been determined (p. 77). Have these requirements been determined today?

REV_00169169

RESPONSE: The President's Critical Infrastructure Protection Board (PCIPB) no longer exists at the White House. Executive Order 13228, which created the PCIPB, was amended. Congress through the Homeland Security Act created within Department of Homeland Security the Directorate for Information Analysis and Infrastructure Protection (IAIP). One of the responsibilities of the IAIP directorate is the important issue of critical infrastructure protection. This is a robust directorate led by an under secretary.

QUESTION 25: Likewise, total CIPB staffing had not been determined. Do you have an estimate today? What staffing assumptions were made in the FY 2004 budget submission?

RESPONSE: The President's Critical Infrastructure Protection Board (PCIPB) no longer exists at the White House. Executive Order 13228, which created the PCIPB, was amended. Congress through the Homeland Security Act created within Department of Homeland Security the Directorate for Information Analysis and Infrastructure Protection (IAIP). One of the responsibilities of the IAIP directorate is the important issue of critical infrastructure protection. This is a robust directorate led by an under secretary.

QUESTION 26: How much funding is included in the FY 2004 request for CIPB, and how does that compare to the current estimate for FY 2003?

RESPONSE: The President's Critical Infrastructure Protection Board (PCIPB) no longer exists at the White House. Executive Order 13228, which created the PCIPB, was amended. Congress through the Homeland Security Act created within Department of Homeland Security the Directorate for Information Analysis and Infrastructure Protection (IAIP). One of the responsibilities of the IAIP directorate is the important issue of critical infrastructure protection. This is a robust directorate led by an under secretary.

QUESTION 27: Please provide a breakdown showing how those funds would be used.

RESPONSE: The President's Critical Infrastructure Protection Board (PCIPB) no longer exists at the White House. Executive Order 13228, which created the PCIPB, was amended. Congress through the Homeland Security Act created within Department of Homeland Security the Directorate for Information Analysis and Infrastructure Protection (IAIP). QUESTION 28: Please provide details on any government-industry partnerships that have been created in support of cyber security initiatives coordinated by, or carried out, through EOP or the CIPB.

RESPONSE: In 2002, the President's Critical Infrastructure Protection Board developed a National Strategy to Secure Cyberspace. To encourage broader participation and input into the development process, a draft strategy was released for public comment in September 2002. In addition, the PCIPB requested the National Infrastructure Assurance Council and the National Security Telecommunications Advisory Committee both provide comments on the draft strategy. Furthermore, there were 10 town hall meetings held in various portions of the country which brought industry, academia and private citizens together to focus on the complex issues related to cyber security. The final strategy thus integrated extensive public and industry comments and was released in February 2003.

The National Strategy to Secure Cyberspace emphasizes that government-industry partnerships will be a cornerstone to success. As the primary implementer of the Strategy, DHS will be a partner with industry and academia to accomplish the objectives identified by the President's strategy.

National Security Council (POC – Katherine Fertakis)

QUESTION 29: Your request includes a 10.8 percent increase to cover reimbursable detailee costs and additional support staff for the President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board. Please explain the need for these increases in detail.

RESPONSE: The requested increase covers reimbursable detailee costs of personnel from the Department of State. The National Security Council (NSC) may request detailed personnel performing at a high level in high priority positions to remain beyond their initial tour of duty because of their unique qualifications. The NSC is required to reimburse the Department of State for details to NSC that exceed the cap of 13 detailed into their second year and for all staff detailed longer than two years per Public Law 93-126. The FY 2003 increase in this category estimates for details becoming reimbursable during the Spring and the Summer. The FY 2004 increase represents an annualization of the expenses, minus the cost for the details that will not be renewed.

Since the events of September 11, 2001, the PFIAB support staff workload has been significantly increased and consumed by the homeland security effort. Thus far about 95% of the Board's current advisory work for the President has been directly related to homeland security and counter-terrorism. (Intelligence performance thereon, and support to the new department of homeland security) With only 4 staff members and an already overflowing Board work schedule, work on other important PFIAB priorities has been deferred—such as declassification review of PFIAB archived records. At least three additional staff members, including a GS-14 administrative manager, will be needed to adequately meet support requirements as the Board expands its review of intelligence support to homeland security beyond the more immediate structural and organizational issues, and also re-engages the more general intelligence performance issues across the full spectrum of pressing issues. The FY 2004 request includes $250,000 which will fund two reimbursable detailed staff members and one permanent, Schedule A, Excepted Service, GS-14 administrative management position.

QUESTION 30: What are the dollar and percentage increases for each of the above items, compared to the FY 2003 estimated levels?

RESPONSE: The FY 2004 request for NSC reimbursable detailees represents an increase of $356,000, or 64%, over the FY 2003 estimated levels. The PFIAB increase of $250,000 will be 100% above the FY 2003 request since this is a new requirement for FY 2004.

QUESTION 31: The justifications indicate that 11 additional positions are being added to this office in FY 2003, raising the estimated from 60 in FY 2002 to an estimated 71 in FY 2003. What specific positions are being created?

RESPONSE: The 11 additional positions, which raise NSC's FTE from 60 to 71, are not new positions. In FY 2003, the Office for Combating Terrorism (OCT) was combined with the NSC budget request. The increased FTE request correlates with the continued funding for and operation of the OCT as a part of the NSC submission.

QUESTION 32: The FY 2004 request includes funds for a new GS-14 administrative manager for the PFIAB. Why is this new position needed at this time?

RESPONSE: PFIAB requires a permanent administrative position for continuity as well as efficiency reasons. The administrative staff constitutes the lifeblood of the Board: it fulfills all of the support responsibilities, including human resource management, budget, travel, procurement, research, publishing, protocol, and special assistance to the Executive Director, Chair and Vice Chair. With only two administrative people on staff, it is absolutely critical that both individuals be fully knowledgeable about and highly experienced at White House administrative policies, procedures and guidelines; equally important, both must possess highly honed administrative skills and be extremely efficient, effective and professionally dedicated.

The Board simply cannot attain this level of experience and competence by relying on detailees from other agencies, particularly non-reimbursed detailees. More often than not, we must accept whomever an agency can make available. Therefore, the Board will use this one permanent administrative billet to create a PFIAB office manager position. This individual not only will provide continuity of expertise and experience, but also will ensure that the other administrative person obtains the proper professional mentoring and supervision. We plan to make this a GS-14 position, but may start the individual we select at the GS-13 level to allow for personal advancement...and thereby also ensuring, hopefully, a fairly long term of service to the Board.

Office of National Drug Control Policy (POC – Michelle Marx)

QUESTION 33: You are requesting 10 additional FTE in FY 2004 to replace 10 non-reimbursable detailees who are no longer available. Why are these positions no longer available, and what are the specific positions?

RESPONSE: ONDCP's FY 2004 request includes resources to support 125 FTEs, an increase of 10 FTEs over the FY 2003 request. This FTE increase is requested to offset the loss of approximately 20 - 25 of the 30 non-reimbursable military detailee positions the Department of Defense has supported at ONDCP since 1996. (The Department of Defense, as outlined in a December 28, 2001 memorandum, has adopted a general policy that approves of requests for details only on a reimbursable basis, with limited exceptions.)

This 10 FTE increase, along with distributing additional responsibilities among existing staff, will allow ONDCP to absorb the detailee staffing loss and meet its statutory responsibilities. The specific positions would be appointed within the following offices: Planning and Budget; State and Local Affairs; Intelligence; and Supply Reduction.

Renovation of the Eisenhower Executive Office Building (POC – Steve Beattie)

QUESTION 34: What is the status of funding provided in FY 2002 and 2003? Please provide a breakdown of funding by the type of activity or renovation performed.

RESPONSE: 34: The General Service Administration has used FY 2002 Emergency Response Funds in the amount of $1,674,000 for starting the Architects' and Engineers' design contract for the 17th Street Wing Security Modernization Project. GSA is currently in the process of reprogramming $7,500,000 for FY 2003 for design, management and inspection. The FY 2003 reprogramming is required to complete the Design/Build/Bridging documents and assist in managing the Design/Build/Bridging efforts.

QUESTION 35: How much remains unobligated, by appropriation?

RESPONSE: 35: The General Services Administration (GSA) awarded a portion of the design cost in the amount of $1,537,173 utilizing the FY 2002 Emergency Response Fund. $136,827 remains unobligated. GSA has not obligated any FY 2003 funding.

QUESTION 36: Please provide a detailed breakdown showing how funds requested in the GSA budget for FY 2004 would be used.

RESPONSE: 36: The following is a break down on how the funds will be used in FY 2004:

REV_00169173

Major Work Items:
Electrical System	$ 10,244,000
Air conditioning system, chillers and piping	$ 12,530,000
Interior Construction	$ 13,163,000
Utility Vault (includes foundation construction)	$ 22,107,000
Window Blast Mitigation	$ 4,685,000
Mansard Roof Hardening	$ 802,000
Estimated Construction Cost (ECC)	$ 63,531,000
Management and Inspection	$ 2,226,000
Authorization Requested (ECC, M&I)	$ 65,757,000

QUESTION 37: Please provide a detailed schedule for activities planned in FY 2004.

RESPONSE: 37: The design/build/bridging contract is scheduled to be awarded in March 2004. The current schedule for the project is as follows:

Design Award:	04/03
Design/Build/Bridging Procurement Start:	09/03
A/E Bridging Documents Complete:	10/03
Design/Build/Bridging Contract Award:	03/04
Construction Complete:	06/06

QUESTION 38: How much are you currently paying GSA for the unoccupied space along the 17th Street side of EEOB, and how much rental cost are you incurring for the new locations where relocated employees are working?

RESPONSE: We are not paying for the unoccupied space along the 17th Street side of the EEOB in FY2003. Employees were relocated to 1800 G. Street where FY 2004 rental costs are estimated at $4,978,000 and to 1801 Pennsylvania Avenue where the FY 2004 rental costs are estimated at $792,000. Both rental cost estimates exclude parking space costs.

Executive Residence (POC – Worthington White)

QUESTION 39: Please provide a table, corresponding to the projects on page 81 of last year's hearing record, showing the original appropriation for each project, the amount obligated to date, and the project status. This involves projects funded in fiscal year 2002.

RESPONSE: The following table provides funding information on the FY 2002 projects.

REV_00169174

Executive Residence at the White House
FY2002 White House Repair and Restoration

Project	Original Appropriation	Obligated To Date	Status of Project
Pool Shelter Roof Reconstruction and Pool Deck Renovation	$430,000	$412,926	This project is completed, with only minor punch list items and related recurring maintenance items to be funded from the remaining funds.
Communication System Repairs/Phase 2*	$456,667 $4,544,000	$155,872	Modifications to the original design under Phase I (FY2001) are completed. The pre-bid meeting with prospective contractors is scheduled for mid-May, with contract award by late June, and construction commending by late July.
East and West Wing Exterior Restoration	$2,500,000	$2,398,433	The restoration is underway, all Phase I funds will be utilized this year.
Insulated Windows Replacement	$160,000	$162	The prototype utilizing historically accurate reproduction glass is in production, with manufacturing of actual replacement units expected to begin in June. Installation to be begin in August.
Kitchen Floor Replacement	$75,000	$60,815	This project is nearing completion with the remaining funds to be utilized for utility work.
North Portico Curtain Wall	$120,000	$106,751	The project is completed with remaining funds required to purchase spare parts inventory.
Stone Pavers Restoration	$277,000	$220,082	The project is currently underway and is scheduled for completion by September 2003.
West Colonnade Restoration	$275,000	$0	Planning has recently been completed; work will be accomplished in August and early September 2003.

*For the Comunication System Repairs/Phase 2 project, $456,667 was funded in FY 2001 for Architect and Engineering. The remaining $4,544,000 was for construction.

QUESTION 41: The justifications (p. 67) indicate an estimated unobligated balance of $7,023,000 in this appropriation at the beginning of FY 2003. Please explain the sources of this balance, and provide a schedule for obligation of increments of those funds.

RESPONSE: The majority ($4,388,127) of the unobligated funds are associated with the Communication System Repairs/Phase 2 which was delayed to unanticipated design requirements. The schedule for completion and obligation of all FY2002 projects is detailed in the table below.

Executive Residence at the White House
FY2002 White House Repair and Restoration

Project	Original Appropriation	Obligated To Date	Status of Project
Pool Shelter Roof Reconstruction and Pool Deck Renovation	$430,000	$412,926	This project is completed, with only minor punch list items and related recurring maintenance items to be funded from the remaining funds.
Communication System Repairs/Phase 2*	$456,667 $4,544,000	$155,872	Modifications to the original design under Phase I (FY2001) are completed. The pre-bid meeting with prospective contractors is scheduled for mid-May, with contract award by late June, and construction commending by late July.
East and West Wing Exterior Restoration	$2,500,000	$2,398,433	The restoration is underway, all Phase I funds will be utilized this year.
Insulated Windows Replacement	$160,000	$162	The prototype utilizing historically accurate reproduction glass is in production, with manufacturing of actual replacement units expected to begin in June. Installation to be begin in August.
Kitchen Floor Replacement	$75,000	$60,815	This project is nearing completion with the remaining funds to be utilized for utility work.
North Portico Curtain Wall	$120,000	$106,751	The project is completed with remaining funds required to purchase spare parts inventory.
Stone Pavers Restoration	$277,000	$220,082	The project is currently underway and is scheduled for completion by September 2003.
West Colonnade Restoration	$275,000	$0	Planning has recently been completed; work will be accomplished in August and early September 2003.

*For the Comunication System Repairs/Phase 2 project, $456,667 was funded in FY 2001 for Architect and Engineering. The remaining $4,544,000 was for construction.

As of this date, there are also 5 projects which have balances prior to FY 2002. They are as follows:

FY1996 – Roof Repair – balance of $9,227. These funds will be expended as needed for ongoing maintenance and corrective measures.

FY1998 – Repair/restoration of the Laundry Room – balance of $26,616. Purchase of replacement equipment and maintenance of equipment to be expended in FY2003.

REV_00169177

FY2000 – Purchase and Install Two Ironers – balance of $5,754. These funds will be expended to replace the drive belts in FY2003.

FY2000 – Renovation of Paint Shop – balance of $38,271. Funds will be used to purchase and update equipment to meet EPA and OSHA requirements in FY2003.

FY2000 – Third Floor Promenade – balance of $11,392. Funds will be expended to rehab and replace drainage system in late FY2003 or early FY2004.

White House Repair and Restoration (POC – Dennis Freemyer)

QUESTION 42: You are requesting $4,225,000 for repairs and restoration of the White House. Is there additional funding in the National Park Service budget or elsewhere in the President's budget request for FY 2004 for similar activities at the White House?

RESPONSE: There are no other budget requests for the same activities at the White House.

QUESTION 43: Of this request, $3,500,000 is for restoration of the east and west wing exterior. Please provide a detailed discussion and breakdown of this request.

RESPONSE: The funding requested is for the continuation (2nd phase) of the East and West Wing Restoration project, the first being funded in FY'02. This is consistent with the original planning for the execution of this project based on the experience of the completed Executive Residence Exterior Restoration completed in 1996. A breakdown of major work items follows:

Estimated Construction Costs:

Mobilization, scaffolding, rental equipment	150,000
Stone, stucco, wood restoration, insulated glass	1,580,000
Paint removal	1,660,000
Effluent/hazardous material disposal	150,000
Specialized window film including installation	400,000
Specialized stucco coating including installation	550,000
Painting	500,000
Site Restoration	260,000
Design, project management, project supervision, testing	350,000
Contingency	400,000
Estimated Total Cost	$6,000,000
FY 2002 Funding	$2,500,000
FY 2004 Funding Request	$3,500,000

Pennsylvania Avenue Improvements (POC – Steve Beattie)

QUESTION 44: What is the total estimated cost of security and street improvements on Pennsylvania Avenue in front of the White House, for which funds were provided in FY 2003?

RESPONSE: This project is to be funded by the Federal Highway Administration (FHWA). The total estimated cost of security and street improvements on Pennsylvania Avenue in front of the White House is currently $26.1 million. The information below breaks out the estimated FY 2003 costs for the project.

Project Activity	Projected FY 2003 Obligations
Preliminary Activities
Verification and Concept Studies	$ 605,150
Design Activities
Ground Survey and Mapping	$ 57,524
Subsurface Utility Survey	$ 149,682
Environmental Documentation	$ 75,000
Final Design (Consultant)	$ 1,300,000
Crash Testing	$ 350,000
FHWA Contract Administration	$ 100,000
Design Contingency	$ 262,644
Construction Activities
Construction Contract	$ 18,500,000
Utility Construction	$ 1,500,000
FHWA Contract Administration	$ 1,700,000
MVVA Construction Assistance	$ 500,000
Construction Contingency	$ 1,000,000
Grand Totals	$26,100,000

QUESTION 45: What is the status of that project? When will FY 2003 funds be obligated?

RESPONSE: 45: The status of the security and street improvements on Pennsylvania Avenue is as follows -

- Project's status is an ongoing iterative process as the Design team receives comments from the public and the various stakeholders on surrounding sites.
- Under the National Environmental Policy Act, the final public information meeting for the Environmental Impact Assessment was held on May 5, 2003, which is the last step before the final report is issued the week of May 27, 2003. It is expected that the report's concluding statement will find no significant impact.

- The design team is in the pre-design stage.
- The engineers are currently in the design stage for utility relocation in the project's vicinity.
- The Section 106 review as required by the Secretary of the Interior under the Historic Preservation Act is underway and will develop a Memorandum of Agreement in June 2003, which will address issues regarding the design details. The Section 106 review occurs when a project utilizing federal funds may have an effect upon natural, environmental, or cultural resources and looks at mitigation of any adverse effects to those resources.
- $1.5 million is expected to be obligated at the end of August or early September 2003 to start the utility relocation on Pennsylvania Avenue and at the north ends of Jackson and Madison Places.
- Arrangements have already been made for procurement of the trees to be used on the Avenue since it will require root and limb pruning over two calendar years prior to installation on the Avenue. The trees will be installed after inaugural events in the spring of 2005.
- Approximately, $2,675,000 has been obligated to date (under contract). The remaining $3,685,000 will be obligated within the next six months to have the construction contract awarded by the end of September or early October 2003.

QUESTION 46: How much funding is requested for this project in FY 2004, and where is it located in the budget?

RESPONSE: $15 million has been set aside under the Department of the Interior bill for FY 2004. However, discussions have been held between the Federal Highway Administration and EOP staff to make the money available for contract award this fiscal year. Discussions have included placing FY 2004 monies into the FY 2003 supplemental appropriation. With the highway legislation pending, there could be a delay in getting the funding moved into the supplemental appropriation to allow the project to get underway.

QUESTION 47: What is the schedule for studies of traffic congestion mitigation alternatives in the vicinity of the White House, as funded in FY 2003?

RESPONSE: The project administrators met with EOP staff on May 8, 2003 to begin outlining the scope of the study and a plan to involve the District of Columbia government and neighborhood stakeholders. A schedule for the study has not been developed, but will be prepared in the next three months.

Remote Data Center (POC – Carlos Solari)

QUESTION 48: What is the status of establishment today of the remote data center?

RESPONSE: The remote data center project is on schedule and on budget. The project began last summer by conducting a systems development lifecycle analysis to determine and recommend the location for the facility. From this analysis, EOP decided on building the data center at a hardened FEMA facility located in Maryland. The project is being co-managed with FEMA and was established with three phases: (1) infrastructure build-out of the hardened facility (power, air handlers, etc), (2) construction of the data center itself (cabling, raised flooring, etc), and (3) the transition of EOP data systems (telecommunications, servers, etc). The project is approximately halfway through completion for the first two phases with a scheduled opening (initial operational capability) date of September 2003. The transition phase is on schedule preparing the systems and will proceed to begin the transfer September 2003 – with a planned transition of 12 months for all systems. The following chart shows the funding of the remote data center from FY 2002 thru FY 2004.

	FY 2002	FY 2003	FY 2004
CIP	$15,000,000	$5,000,000	$8,403,000
Total	$15,000,000	$5,000,000	$8,403,000

QUESTION 49: Last year, you estimated annual operating costs of this facility to be $7,500,000 (p. 88). Is that your current estimate?

RESPONSE: Last year OA provided a rough estimate of $7,500,000 for the future annual operating cost of the new data center facility. This was based upon the following estimated costs:

- $1,500,000 in communications to maintain connectivity for the EOP,
- $600,000 in space rental,
- $450,000 for hardware maintenance,
- $1,300,000 for software maintenance,
- $2,600,000 for contractor services,
- $300,000 for supplies/components,
- $75,000 for equipment, and
- $675,000 in salaries/benefits.

While most of these estimates remain valid, OA must revise the estimate for space rental to $1,258,000, bringing the revised estimated annual operating costs for the facility to $8,158,000.

REV_00169181

QUESTION 50: Your FY 2004 request includes $8,403,000 to transition the remote data center to full operational status (p. 75). What specific activities are required in FY 2004 to accomplish this? Can you provide a breakdown of the FY 2004 request consistent with these activities?

RESPONSE: The following table lists the FY2004 CIP funds requested for the completion of the remote data center construction and initial year operating costs.

Object Class	Object Class Title	Requested Funding ($ in 000)	Description
23.0	Space Rental Payments	$1,258	This estimate reflects $1,258,000 in rental for the offsite data center and will be the initial rent to be paid for the offsite data center. This cost was previously funded from emergency funds.
23.3	Communications, utilities, and miscellaneous charges	$4,420	$4,420,000 is for CIP networking/ telecommunications projects at the offsite data center. These projects include funds for a tap off of telecommunications lines, two additional DS-3 data paths, two T-1 lines, and backup to support required communications bandwidth, and availability requirements.
25.2	Other Services	$2,700	This estimate reflects Priority System Disaster Recovery costs, Secondary Systems Disaster Recovery costs, Hardware and Software for the Disaster Recovery Site, and Hardware and Software upgrades to support the data center move.
26.0	Supplies and materials	$25	The estimate reflects $25,000 in additional supplies necessary for start-up operations at the offsite data center. This will include start up costs for office equipment used for the new office spaces.
Total FY2004 Data Center CIP Request		$8,403

President's Travel (POC - Rothley Howard)

QUESTION 51: Please update the information on pages 89 through 94 of last year's hearing record concerning travel by the President and the First Lady by continuing data from the final entry of last year's record to the present time.

RESPONSE: The following charts summarize Presidential, First Lady and Vice Presidential travel for Fiscal Years 2002 and 2003 (to date). They also reflect costs currently in the accounting system. Several of the trips listed below are awaiting additional costs, therefore, final costs may vary.

3. $48,050 for training, consulting and editing support for EOP/CFO policies regarding financial statements, prompt payment, travel, and transportation act, interagency agreements and portal to portal documents. Deliverables include training materials and conduct of training, formatted and edited documents. The contract was awarded July 2002 and ran through March 2003.

FY 2003 as of May 15, 2003

1. $406,695 for continued assistance in developing an enterprise architecture to incorporate and support the strategic IT vision, goals and objectives of the OA and the EOP. Deliverables include assistance and analysis as follows: critical information shortfall, impact, and trade-off analysis, concept of operations, architecture and enterprise architecture system toolsets, baseline definitions, report results for demonstration of architecture sustainment, and target technical architecture and migration plan. The contract was amended in January and May 2003 to exercise the option to extend performance and funded through September 2003.

2. $149,968 for consultant services to help configure IT storage products and perform data migration and setup. Deliverables include recommendations concerning management and long term strategy for operating and planning architecture along with execution of the infrastructure support. The contract was awarded in May 2003 with a period of performance running through November 2003.

3. $60,000 for assistance in designing a new performance management system for the Office of Administration in order to improve dialogue between manager and employee. Deliverables included recommended performance evaluation system and form as well as training. The contract was awarded in December 2002 with a performance period ending March 2003.

4. $49,800 for consulting services of an electrical engineer. Deliverables included conceptual designs, drawings and specifications, suggested project schedules and cost estimates. The contract was awarded in May 2003 with a period of performance through June 2003.

5. $25,750 for assistance in writing a statement of work for the EOP telephone contract recompete. Deliverables include recommended draft language for technical requirements to be incorporated into the solicitation. The contract was awarded in November 2002 with the period of performance through December 2002.

6. $47,040 for independent information technology expertise. Deliverables include access to technical reports and analysis and recommendations. The period of performance is from September 2003 through August 2004.
7. $936,000 for IT engineering and technical support services. Deliverables include studies and technical evaluations, analyses, recommendations and reports. The period of performance is from May 2003 through April 2004.

Freedom Corps (POC – Eric Lanman)

QUESTION 54: Please provide EOP budgeted funding for the Freedom Corps for fiscal years 2002 through 2004.

RESPONSE: The funding profile for the USA Freedom Corps from its inception through FY 2004 is as follows:

(Dollars in thousands) Category	FY02 Actual	FY03 Request	OA Pilot	FY03 Recission	FY03 Enacted	FY04 Estimate
Personnel	420	800	0	0	800	827
Travel	6	600	0	-330	270	102
Rent	99	0	0	0	0	157
Comm, Util & Misc	0	0	0	0	0	25
Printing & Reproduction	0	0	0	0	0	225
Other Services	0	1,200	-289	0	911	926
Supplies & Materials	0	0	0	0	0	9
Equipment	0	0	0	0	0	9
Total	525	2,600	-289	-330	1,981	2,280

Note: As part of a pilot program authorized by Congress in fiscal year 2003, general support costs such as rent, supplies, printing, information technology, etc., are centrally managed and charged against the Office of Administration.

QUESTION 55: Please provide a breakdown of the FY 2004 request for the Freedom Corps, and a brief description of the work to be accomplished under each item.

RESPONSE: The FY 2004 WHO request includes funding for the following USA Freedom Corps requirements.

Personnel: This category provides funding for the cost of the salaries and benefits for the staff of the USA Freedom Corps. The FY 2004 WHO request included $827,000 for this category.

Travel: The USA Freedom Corps office staff members are frequent travelers and often work at the national, state and local levels with organizations.~~, especially in organizing the Citizen Corps across the country~~ In addition, the Director of the USA Freedom Corps or the appropriate staff is required to address gatherings at national conferences, and of state and local officials in order to disseminate information about the President's Call to Service and the activities coordinated by the USA Freedom Corps.~~ and answer questions relating to the organization of USA Freedom Corps activities at the local level.~~ The FY 2004 WHO request included $102,000 for this category.

Rent: This category funds the costs of the GSA office space utilized by the USA Freedom Corps. The FY 2004 WHO request included $157,000 for this category.

Printing: This category includes the costs of the creation and printing of documents regarding the USA Freedom Corps mission and policies and initiatives~~specific programs~~ coordinated by its Council. The FY 2004 WHO request included $225,000 for this category.

Other services: This category includes funds for the hiring of contractors to measure the nationwide effects of the USA Freedom Corps efforts through surveys and other measurement tools, and funds for information dissemination and the creation and production of materials used in the furtherance of the USA Freedom Corps mission and ~~specific programs,~~initiatives coordinated by its Council. The FY 2004 WHO request included $926,000 for this category.~~ and other activities that will further the mission of the USA Freedom Corps.~~

Communications and Misc.,~~;~~ Supplies and Materials, Equipment: These general categories are managed centrally by the White House Office of Management and Administration. Funds in these categories support the normal costs associated with day to day office operations. The FY 2004 WHO request included $43,000 for this category.

QUESTION 56: Last year, funds were requested for Freedom Corps information dissemination and recognition materials (p. 239). Are similar activities funded in FY 2004? If so, how much?

RESPONSE: The FY 2004 WHO request includes requirements for similar activities to those funded in FY 2003 and included are funds for information dissemination and recognition materials. Funds for these activities are included in the Other Services category of the WHO request. An estimated $926,000 of this portion of the request is for USA Freedom Corps requirements.

QUESTION 57: Are additional funds requested in FY 2004 outside the EOP?

RESPONSE: As a White House office and a coordinating council, the USA Freedom Corps does not run, fund, or administer programs. Instead, the USA Freedom Corps coordinates the development of policies and initiatives with various offices/entities in the Executive Branch in support of the President's goal to strengthen the American culture of service while helping all Americans find meaningful service opportunities. This role does not require outside funding and none have been requested by the WHO.

QUESTION 58: Please provide a listing of the staff in the USA Freedom Corps Office, showing the incumbent name and position. Please designate any detailees.

REV_00169218

RESPONSE: A listing of the current USA Freedom Corps Office staff is provided below.

John Bridgeland: Assistant to the President and Director, USA Freedom Corps
Ron Christie: Special Assistant to the President and Deputy Director, USAFC
Lindsey Kozberg: Special Assistant to the President for Policy/Public Affairs
Therese Lyons: Director of Public Liasion
Ian Rowe: Director of Management and Strategy
Kathleen Mynster: Deputy Press Secretary
Britt Grant: Special Assistant to the Director
Cornell Teague: Associate Director
Nique Fajors: Agency Liaison – Detailee
Ken Lanza: Agency Liaison - Detailee

Sensitive Compartmented Information Facilities (POC – Jeff Thompson)

QUESTION 59: Are any funds requested in any EOP office in the FY 2004 President's request for the construction of sensitive compartmented information facilities (SCIFs)?

RESPONSE: No funds are requested for SCIFs in FY 2004.

QUESTION 60: How many such facilities have been built within EOP offices since the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001?

RESPONSE: Sixteen SCIFS have been built.

Data Center Relocation (POC – Carlos Solari)

QUESTION 61: What is the status of efforts to relocate the existing EOP data center, and what are plans for the coming year?

RESPONSE: The remote data center project is on track to achieve completion on budget and on schedule. The project began last summer by conducting a systems development lifecycle analysis to determine and recommend the location for the facility. From this analysis, EOP decided on building the data center at a hardened FEMA facility located in Maryland. The project is being co-managed with FEMA and was established with three phases: (1) infrastructure build-out of the hardened facility (power, air handlers, etc), (2) construction of the data center itself (cabling, raised flooring, etc), and (3) the transition of EOP data systems (telecommunications, servers, etc). The project is approximately halfway through completion for the first two phases with a scheduled opening (initial operational capability) date of September 2003. The transition phase is on schedule preparing the systems and will proceed to begin the transfer September 2003 – with a planned transition of 12 months for all systems.

QUESTION 62: Are funds requested in the FY 2004 budget for this project?

RESPONSE: The following table displays the funds requested for this project in FY 2004.

Object Class	Object Class Title	Requested Funding (in $1000s)	Description
23.0	Space Rental Payments	$1,258	This estimate reflects $1,258 in rental for the offsite data center and will be the initial rent to be paid for the offsite data center. This cost was previously funded from emergency funds.
23.3	Communications, utilities, and miscellaneous charges	$4,420	$4,420 is for CIP networking/telecommunications projects at the offsite data center. These projects include funds for a tap off of telecommunications lines, two additional DS-3 data paths, two T-1 lines, and backup to support required communications bandwidth, and availability requirements.
25.2	Other Services	$2,700	This estimate reflects Priority System Disaster Recovery costs, Secondary Systems Disaster Recovery costs, Hardware and Software for the Disaster Recovery Site, and Hardware and Software upgrades to support the data center move.
26.0	Supplies and materials	$25	The estimate reflects $25 in additional supplies necessary for start-up operations at the offsite data center. This will include start up costs for office equipment used for the new office spaces.
Total FY2004 Data Center CIP Request		$8,403

White House Communications Agency (POC – Eric Lanman)

QUESTION 63: Updating the information on page 133 of last year's hearing record, please provide estimated reimbursements for the White House Communications Agency for each of the fiscal years 2002 through 2004.

RESPONSE: Reimbursements made to the White House Communications Agency, for the non-telecommunications support they provide to the WHO, is broken down into two categories: military personnel and audiovisual support. The amount of planned reimbursement is initially set and agreed to via an inter-agency agreement (IAG). This IAG is then adjusted if needed as a result of actual execution. Reimbursement actuals and estimates follow:

	FY02 (actual)	FY03 (est.)	FY04 (est.)
Military Personnel	$4,376,085	$4,754,346	$4,858,942
Audiovisual Support	$4,543,643	$3,953,848	$2,743,915

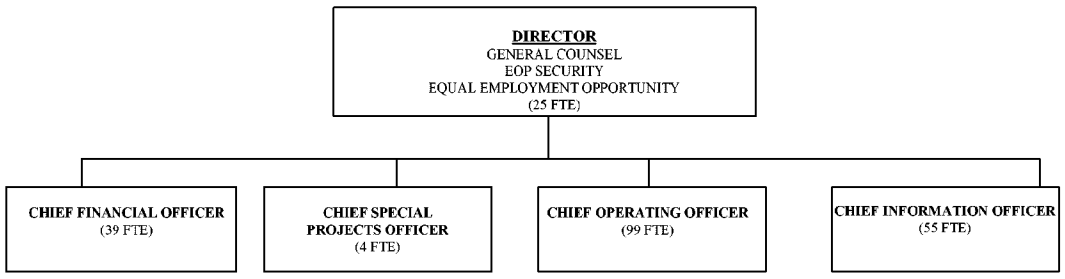
Total	$8,919,738	$8,708,194	$7,602,857

The FY04 estimate for audiovisual support shows a decrease from the FY 2003 estimate due to the move of audiovisual supplies and equipment from IAG reimbursed items to direct procurement through normal WHO channels.

Office of Administration (POC – Chuck Sigman)

QUESTION 64: Updating the information on page 134 of last year's hearing record, please provide a current organizational chart for the Office of Administration, including the associated numbers of FTEs requested for each office in the FY 2004 President's budget.



RESPONSE: The Office of Administration organization chart provided below reflects the current organizational structure. The FY 2004 FTE request remains constant with FY 2003 levels (222 FTE).

Executive Office of the President

Office of Administration

Organization Chart

Total 222 FTE

QUESTION 65: Last year, it was estimated that 4 FTE were needed to provide administrative services to the Office of Homeland Security. Since that office is substantially smaller due to establishment of the DHS, is there a lesser requirement for OA support? If so, is that reflected in FY 2004 staffing figures?

REV_00169221

RESPONSE: The FY 2003 budget proposal included the statement that there was "2 CFO staff to support Homeland Security" rather than the 4 FTE referred to in the question. These two Chief Financial Officer (CFO) staff were requested during FY 2003 because last year's OA budget request was a 49% increase over the previous year's spending – and security-related enhancements accounted for nearly all of that increase. The FY 2004 budget proposal included additional security-related enhancements beyond the FY 2003 level. Furthermore, even though the funding level of the Homeland Security Council is not as great as was originally envisioned, it is still a separate account for which the staff must perform the same number of administrative tasks in setting up and monitoring the status of the account. Therefore, the additional two FTE in the CFO office remain necessary to assist EOP offices in executing their new responsibilities.

QUESTION 66: Your salary and expenses request includes a transfer of $1,500 from Homeland Security for information technology services. What are these services?

RESPONSE: The part of OHS that remained with EOP (now called the Homeland Security Council) does not need the information technology contractor support that was previously planned. There is, however, an urgent need to expand the funding needed to support the White House website. The system security put in place to protect the whitehouse.gov website from cyber attack includes a web content distribution designed to make it highly resistant to denial of service type attacks. The cost of this service has increased dramatically, and is directly proportional to the volume of activity. The volume of activity, in turn, is a combination of the website hits and the level of cyber-attack activity directed against the site. The importance of the White House web site cannot be overstated. Along with the DHS website, the whitehouse.gov website is one of the primary government sites with a mission to communicate threat level information to the public.

Due to increased traffic on the White House website, the monthly cost of web caching service to maintain the website has risen from $30,000 per month to more than $75,000 per month. The estimated FY 2004 cost to maintain the website is $1,500,000. No funds were requested for this increased requirement in the FY 2004 budget. OA wishes to use the funds originally requested for the OHS information technology contract support for the White House website effort.

QUESTION 67: You are requesting additional funding for victim rescue units, which would be distributed to all White House staff (p. 82). What are these units, and what is the unit cost?

RESPONSE: Victim Rescue Units (VRUs) provide a 20-45 minute supply of pure oxygen to the wearer. This would be critical to the survival of EOP staff in the event of an incident which would require an evacuation to a safe area. VRUs were selected because they can be easily operated by a novice, while it takes a significant amount of training to teach staff to properly operate a gas mask. VRUs have a ten-year shelf life, which is significantly longer than gas mask filters. They provide protection from the entire threat spectrum from fire and smoke to chemical and biological agents. The VRUs are portable and small, and their expected cost is $375 each.

QUESTION 68: How is the requirement for additional safes and emergency evacuation chairs documented?

RESPONSE: The EOP Security Office conducted a review of security containers (safes) at the White House Complex and found that most of them were 1950's-vintage mechanical locks. During the aftermath of 9/11, it was deemed important that the White House adhere to the latest Federal regulations promulgated by the General Services Administration (FFL-2740A) for the protection of classified materials. Thus, the EOP recommends acquiring new security containers which are fully compliant with GSA standard which governs all changeable combination locks for the protection of national security information.

After 9/11, we reviewed all emergency evacuation procedures for the White House Complex. As we updated evacuation plans and reviewed procedures it was determined that evacuation chairs were needed in various buildings and on various floors to assist individuals who may need assistance or have special needs during an evacuation. This was an internal study performed by staff of the EOP security office.

Financial Audits (POC – Al Muhlbauer)

QUESTION 69: Last year, you advised us that EOP would plan to address the findings of the recent auditability assessment no later than FY 2003. What is the status of that effort today?

RESPONSE: EOP has initiated five major efforts to address the auditability assessment. They are:

- Development and publication of the EOP entity and reporting structure, which was completed and is and presented in the FY 2004 Budget Submission.
- Development and publication of the EOP financial management structure, which has been developed in draft and is currently being circulated for comment within EOP. Approval and issuance of the financial management structure is expected to occur within 30 days.
- Provide financial management policy and guidance to the EOP, and put in place consistent EOP-wide business practices and procedures. This effort is underway and is expected to be completed this fiscal year.
- Select a replacement for the current non-compliant financial accounting system. The Office of the Chief Financial Officer has reviewed various alternatives and has made a determination to be cross-serviced by another Federal agency that has implemented a compliant system, is currently receiving "clean" audit opinions, and has cross-servicing as an agency mission. Two such organizations were identified, a requirements document was provided, their proposals are currently being evaluated, and a decision is expected within the next two weeks.

- Accomplish a detailed review of the EOP general ledger and supporting documents for account balances, correct the data as necessary, and prepare the information for conversion to the replacement accounting system. A "clean-up" and conversion plan is in process and will be coordinated with the selected cross-servicing agency.

QUESTION 70: When will you be able to produce an auditable financial statement?

RESPONSE: The Chief Financial Officer completed an exercise that resulted in EOP-wide financial statements, that exercise identified various data problems that confirmed the auditability assessment. The "clean-up" exercise which is required prior to the conversion to the cross-servicing agency's system is addressing these problems and it is anticipated that the FY 2004 financial statements will be audited.

QUESTION 71: Last year, you stated that you had identified best practices for documented policies and procedures based upon one federal agency which has been recognized as one of the best in the Federal Government (p. 136). Which agency are you using as a model, and what are some examples of the specific best practices you intend to use?

RESPONSE: We were referring to the Department of Education and we conducted a pilot of their approach for developing policies and procedures within the Office of the CFO. While that pilot was helpful, we determined that three other tasks (identify reporting entity, develop financial management structure, and identifying our financial accounting system cross servicing provider) needed to be completed before our policies and procedures could be developed. Since those are near completion we anticipate again focusing on developing policies and procedures during the remainder of this fiscal year.

White House Office (POC – Eric Lanman)

QUESTION 72: Please provide a breakdown of the FY 2004 budget request for the White House Office by office or activity, as itemized on pages 137 and 138 of last year's hearing record. Please compare those amounts to corresponding amounts for FY 2002 (actual) and FY 2003 (estimated), similar in format to that shown on pages 246 and 247 of last year's hearing record.

RESPONSE: As noted last year, a single budget is prepared for the WHO. This single budget is prepared based on a number of criteria such as: prior spending patterns, estimated requirements, OMB provided inflation factors, and the priorities of the President. During a given execution year, personnel costs are allocated based upon that year's sometimes unique staffing decisions. The remainder of the budget is allocated initially to two WHO offices. The travel budget is allocated in its entirety to the Office of Advance and obligated against this office if the travel is done in support of the President. Any travel undertaken that is not in support of a Presidential trip is charged to the office of the staff member in question. The remaining portion of the non-personnel, non-travel budget, including expenses for rent, supplies, equipment and other services is considered overhead and in most years is charged as such to the White House Office of Management and Administration. In FY 2003 as part of a pilot program authorized by Congress, costs related to many of these "overhead" items were consolidated under the EOP Office of Administration. Obligations (actual and estimated) are provided by individual White House office for FY 2002 thru FY 2004 in the table below.

(dollars in thousands)
as of 9 May 2003
White House Office	FY02 act.	FY03 est.	FY04 est.
Office of Chief of Staff	1,239	1,474	1,507

USA Freedom Corps Office [1]	426	1,070	929
Total WHO Obligations [2]	54,191	50,385	61,937

Notes:

(1) $911K of the FY03 USA Freedom Corps estimate and $1,351K of the FY04 USA Freedom Corps estimate is included above within the Office of Management and Administration numbers as are similar funds for all other White House Offices.

(2) Because Congress has chosen to appropriate funds for the Office of Homeland Security (OHS)/ Homeland Security Council (HSC) separately from the WHO appropriation, numbers related to OHS/ HSC are not included above. FY03 and FY04 estimates for OHS/ HSC are addressed independently in response to other committee questions.

QUESTION 73: Please provide a corresponding breakdown for FTE staff years and OGE, similar in format to that shown on pages 152 through 154 of last year's hearing record.

RESPONSE: As noted last year, the major units within the White House Office are simply a creature of administrative convenience. The number of employees within each unit and the work of each unit vary over time and as circumstances and needs change. With this kept in mind, a detailed breakout of FTEs and OGEs by unit, is provided below. This breakout is based on current estimates and planning and will differ during the actual execution year. In addition to these major units, certain individuals – including certain individuals who work with the National Security Council, the Domestic Policy Council, and the National Economic Council – are also White House Office employees, although the units within which they principally work are not themselves part of the White House Office. These individuals are included under the Other category.

Other Services (POC – Chuck Sigman)

QUESTION 75: Similar to the information on page 236 et seq. of last year's hearing record, please provide a detailed description of each project, program, or initiative proposed to be funded in FY 2004 under object class 25.2 ("other services").

RESPONSE: Capital Investment Plan (CIP) - $5,220,000

The overall FY 2004 CIP requirement supports nine areas, as described below. The following "services" costs are included in the FY 2004 CIP request:

- $690,000 for Customer Service and Desktop Systems. This funding will be used to perform desktop software integration support.
- $450,000 for New Technologies and Systems. This includes "services" funding of $150,000 for server technology integration testing, and $300,000 for voice and data integration.

REV_00169228

- $230,000 for EOP Systems and Support, including "services" funding of $150,000 to develop external Local Area Networks, and $80,000 for production test lab development.
- $700,000 for Information Security for enterprise identity projects to allow the introduction of new authentication and identification mechanisms into the EOP IT infrastructure.
- $650,000 for Web-Based Services for web services application environment.
- $2,500,000 for the Offsite Data Center for services necessary to transition the offsite data center to full operational status
- There are no services funds allocated to Campus Wiring, Networks and Data Communications Infrastructure, or Messaging and Scheduling.

Salaries and Expenses - $2,150,000

There are three initiatives in the FY 2004 OA salaries/expense budget which comprise $2,150,000 in new programs under object class 25.2 ("other services"):

- $1,800,000 for Technology and Systems Support Contract . The Chief Information Officer (CIO) provides a wide range of computer services support to the EOP. These tasks are performed in large measure through an outsourcing contract that delivers IT services from PC deployment, to help desk and data center operations. During FY 2003, this IT systems support contract was competed with an increase in base labor rates due to the need for more advanced skills in IT disciplines such as XML and web services software development, Oracle database development and administration, and implementation of a new Enterprise Resources Planning (ERP) application covering finance, asset management and human resources. The CIO outsource contract is the vehicle used to maintain a 24 hour-a-day operation for mainframes, servers, help desk, local area networks, personal computers, applications; installation of end-user hardware and software; training; software application development and maintenance services. Altogether, this contract supports customers throughout the White House 18 acre complex, at remote and mobile locations, and at the planned Offsite Data Center. Key components driving the cost upward include: (1) higher labor rates for the DC area, which have risen since the previous IT 1997 facility contract; (2) the impact of the new data center operations in 2003 and thereafter; (3) an expanded EOP customer base which has more advanced, sophisticated, and security-conscious users.

- $300,000 for Information Assurance Support. The CIO has established the Information Assurance (IA) program to serve as a central location for information security serving all of EOP. FY 2002 and FY 2003 funds attended to the most critical concern with significant vulnerabilities in the perimeter and began the process of securing the internal systems. The IA program created real-time monitoring of perimeter network devices; it established the first formal documentation of IA program policy to bring the EOP in conformance with Federal guidelines and directives. However, the cyber threat facing EOP is dynamic because our systems are constantly assailed with a wide and unexpected range of attacks. The new state of defense must be active vigilance, to include the following components: (1) Perimeter Security, (2) Advanced Security Concepts, (3) Contingency Planning Support, (4) Network Monitor/Response Systems, and (5) Security Awareness, Assessments, and Education.

- $50,000 for Security Enhancements: Videos. There is a frequent and ongoing need for a security video – specific to the EOP and White House – which can be used in security briefings and new employee orientation meetings. This video will contain a brief overview of security responsibilities and procedures which must be understood by all personnel working in the EOP.

Salaries and Expenses (POC – Dilworth)

QUESTION 76: Please provide a detailed description of any expenses in the FY 2004 budget under "salaries and expenses" which are not directly related to personnel compensation and benefits.

RESPONSE: The following is an object class breakdown highlighting the major costs in each of the non pay related expense categories and a description of the unique aspects of some of these expenses found within the Executive Office of the President.

For reference, below are two tables that roll up all EOP component salaries and expenses funding information including the components not funded under the Subcommittee on Transportation, Treasury and Independent Agencies Appropriations.

Travel and transportation of persons – The largest portion of this funding (41%) is for international staff travel in support of trade negotiations as coordinated by the U.S. Trade Representative (USTR). The next largest portion of this funding (21%) is for White House Office (WHO) staff travel including "Presidential travel", which is the term used to delineate those trips where staff members actually travel with or ahead of the President. Those traveling ahead, referred to as advance staff, are responsible for producing Presidential events, as well as establishing an on-site infrastructure similar to the support that is provided within the White House. In addition, EOP travel costs related to Presidential travel is tracked by the principals (President, First Lady, Vice President and Mrs. Cheney) and by location. The remaining EOP travel funds are used for staff travel in support of the various EOP offices and their missions.

Transportation of things – The EOP spends funds in this area for the costs of express delivery/shipping of items such as Freedom of Information Act documents and personnel documents for accountability, as well as other miscellaneous items. Vehicle fleet costs are also included in this category.

Rental payments to GSA – Funds paid to GSA are used to provide the EOP offices with space in the government-owned and leased buildings that comprise the White House complex. Although the General Services Administration manages the EOP buildings, including the East and West Wings of the White House, they cannot rent them out to other Federal departments or agencies.

Communications, utilities and miscellaneous services – The bulk of these costs are used for the EOP switchboard. Funding in this category is also used for the networking and telecommunications projects of the Offsite Data Center. These projects include funds for the primary and backup telecommunications lines connecting the remote data center with the EOP office campus, two additional DS-3 data paths, two T-1 lines, and backup to support required communications bandwidth, and availability requirements.

Printing and reproduction – The largest expense in this area is for Presidential stationery and greetings. Also included are the costs for printing in the Code of Federal Regulation and the Federal Register as well as the costs to print the President's Budget, the Economic Report of the President, the National Drug Control Strategy, free trade agreement documents and other publications, studies and reports.

Other services –The primary cost driver in this category is the information technology support contract that provides IT sustainment services, system development services, and system engineering services for the entire EOP. IT support for the EOP as supported by this contract is largely an outsourced activity that includes a broad range of services such as the Help Desk, network and data center operations.

Supplies and materials – Most of the EOP expenses in this category are for general office and IT supplies, as well as the costs for subscriptions to newspapers and magazines.

Equipment – The largest portion of the EOP equipment costs is for IT desktop replacement program and for investments in software and hardware infrastructure to support the EOP IT projects.

Unanticipated Needs – Expenditures from this fund may be authorized only by the President. The Director of OMB provides the necessary controls to ensure that only unforeseen priorities are financed and that funding from other sources is not available.

ONDCP Policy Research – This is an ONDCP expense and funding is used to support the continuing policy research to better inform drug policy.

Security Guard Services for OSTP (POC – Chuck Sigman)

QUESTION 77: In FY 2003, you budgeted $1,798,000 for security guard services for the Office of Science and Technology Policy. Are similar funds requested in FY 2004? If so, how much?

RESPONSE: The FY 2004 OA budget proposes that the cost of the security guard service (estimated at $702,000) for OSTP be transferred to the OSTP appropriation. Thus, the proposed FY04 OA budget would contain the balance of the funds (approximately $1.1 million).

Since the FY 2003 budget was proposed, there have been additional reviews of the physical security of the White House complex by the US Secret Service, the Federal Protective Service, and the OA Security Office. As a result, the OA Security Office has been assigned the responsibility of correcting deficiencies in EOP physical security. There are some locations which do not currently have Secret Service protection (such as the Jackson Place White House Conference Center). Another location which does not have firm long-term security plans is the office at 1800 G Street. Thus, the Office of Administration has ongoing needs for the $1.1 million which remains in the OA budget. During FY03, these funds are being used for consolidation of information technology maintenance ($200,000), centralization of database services ($200,000), and common building service costs ($400,000). The remaining $300,000 of these savings will be used for an FY03 OA personnel shortfall.

QUESTION 78: Why aren't such funds in the OSTP budget?

RESPONSE: The estimated FY04 cost of 24-hour security guard services for OSTP is included in the FY04 OSTP budget request. This estimate is $702,000 for a full year.

Political Appointees (POC – Jon Laurich)

QUESTION 79: Please update the information on political appointees within EOP as shown on page 268 of last year's hearing record, using the same criteria and assumptions as last year.

RESPONSE: The term "political appointees" is somewhat of a misnomer because it narrowly defines the type of employees authorized under Chapter 2 of Title 3 of the U.S. Code, for the White House Office, the Executive Residence, the Official Residence of the Vice President and the Office of Administration. These offices can hire personnel in various excepted service positions that are not subject to the rules of regular government employees. Many of these excepted service positions fall under the category of serving at the pleasure of the President while others do not. Using the term in the broadest possible sense, including all employees hired as Presidential Appointees, Administratively Determined, Non Career SES, or Schedule C's, the Executive Office of the President has the following number of political appointees directly hired within the EOP and serving in the EOP on detailed assignments from other agencies as of May 5, 2003.

Detailees (POC – Jon Laurich)

QUESTION 80: Please update the information on reimbursable and non-reimbursable detailees with EOP as shown on pages 268 and 269 of last year's hearing record.

RESPONSE: There are currently 251 detailees staffed within the Executive Office of the President. There are 41 reimbursable detailees and 210 non-reimbursable detailees as shown in the chart below, as of May 5, 2003:

Office of the Vice President (POC – Kristen Savercool)

QUESTION 81: You are requesting an additional $70,000 (+1.7 percent) for the Vice President's travel, due to increased travel to undisclosed locations after the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001. Weren't these type of increases baselined in FY 2002 and FY 2003, and if so, why are further increases needed in FY 2004?

RESPONSE: The FY 2003 budget was submitted in February 2002, prior to it becoming evident that the Vice President's travel requirements had increased more than originally estimated. Following the events of 9-11, the Vice President has been required to be outside the Washington, DC vicinity for significant periods of time. This travel has been 100 percent official, and operational in nature (i.e. the Vice President performs his regular duties in an off-site location). This travel has required the accompaniment of staff, who also perform operational duties.

Because the budget impact of these additional travel requirements was not fully realized until after the FY 2003 budget request was submitted, they were not included in the FY 2003 baseline. Continued security concerns related to the Vice President and the ensuing impact on the Vice President's travel costs necessitate the increase to the FY 2004 OVP travel budget. This increase will allow the Vice President the flexibility needed to adequately execute his official travel requirements.

Unanticipated Needs (POC – Eric Lanman)

QUESTION 82: Please provide a listing of the uses of Unanticipated Needs funds in FY 2002.

REV_00169235

RESPONSE: $757,000 of the $1,000,000 appropriated to the Unanticipated Needs account in FY 2002 was provided to OMB for Office of Homeland Security Transition Planning Office. The remaining appropriation was not utilized.

Questions for the Record
Ranking Member, John Olver
Hearing on the Executive Office of the President
April 30, 2003

Account Consolidation and Transfer Proposals (POC – Al Muhlbauer/Jim Daniel)

When we centralized the funds within the Office of Administration, Congress intended that each agency would continue to receive a similar share of support and assistance under the consolidation.

QUESTION 83: Are any agencies going to receive diminished services or resources under the consolidation?

RESPONSE: No, currently the funding in the pilot has been allocated to be consistent with the FY 03 budget request. The service levels will be equal to or greater than pre-pilot levels; however, we are hopeful that the cost to procure the same level of service will decrease. Also, the Office of Administration is preparing service standards. For example, if the service standard for PC's would be one PC per desktop that is less than four years old and if one EOP component is currently at that standard for 95 % of its employees and another is currently at that standard for 50% of its employees, based on need, the second component would get a larger share of the services to bring it closer to the EOP standard. This allows EOP to consistently upgrade software and services across the entire organization as the total infrastructure permits.

QUESTION 84: Are any agencies to receive extra services above and beyond the amount of funds they contributed as part of the consolidation?

RESPONSE: Yes, based on need and to bring organizations that are lagging behind the approved standards up to a consistent standard, some organizations may receive extra services above and beyond the amount of funds they contributed to the consolidation. We anticipate some of those services will be funded from savings in the program.

QUESTION 85: Under the procurement consolidation pilot approved in the FY03 Omnibus, are IT or database services for any EOP agency going to be paid for by funds contributed by other EOP agencies?

RESPONSE: Yes, in addition to generating procurement savings and efficiencies, a major goal of the consolidation pilot is to bring all of the EOP components up to a standard of service which will allow us to implement technology evenly across the organization and to realize efficiencies and benefits from a consistent and even infrastructure. In reaching this goal, the funds may be applied in a manner which is not in the same ratio in which they were contributed.

QUESTION 86: In general, are the funds appropriated for this centralized procurement program going to be used to supplement the appropriation made to individual agencies?

RESPONSE: Yes, the individual entities will be the recipients of the services funded by the centralized procurement program without reimbursement in accordance with the Congressional appropriation provided to OA.

QUESTION 87: If so, which agencies will benefit and which agencies will receive less than their share of contributions?

RESPONSE: OA is currently establishing the allocation standards for the commodities included in the centralized procurement program. OA is also requesting that the entities assist us in developing a baseline against which we will measure the allocation standards. That will determine which, if any, entities will benefit and which entities will receive less than their share of contributions.

QUESTION 88: You recently submitted a very cursory report on the procurement pilot. When will you provide us with specific details on the progress of the pilot program?

RESPONSE: As mentioned above, progress is being made on the plan to implement the Common Services Program. We expect to be able to brief the Subcommittee in greater detail this summer.

Your budget also proposes a change that would permit EOP agencies to transfer up to 10% into or out of any agency's budget. Coupled with your account consolidation proposal, that would allow you to transfer in up to $18 million more into (or out of) the White House's budget.

QUESTION 89: Under the procurement consolidation program that we approved in the FY03 bill, don't you have a similar type of flexibility already? What other flexibility is needed?

RESPONSE: The flexibility of the procurement consolidation program is directed to certain defined common commodities. The 10% transfer authority provides flexibility for unexpected requirements and to address needs that may be outside the program.

QUESTION 90: What protection is there for smaller EOP agencies under this proposal? Don't they stand to lose critical resources if the White House or Vice President's Office decide to take 10% of their resources?

RESPONSE: It is more likely that the smaller entities will benefit from the proposal, because their appropriations are small they are less likely to be able to adjust to unforeseen circumstances, this program will allow the EOP to address those circumstances without requesting supplemental funding. Also, as a practical matter, the issue of "protection" is immaterial as all the entities (setting the Office of the Vice President aside) work directly for the President.

Office of Homeland Security Questions (POC – Paul Ehrhardt)

We recently received a reprogramming request to transfer $2m of the funds provided to the Office of Homeland Security to the Remote Delivery Site cleanup efforts. The source of these funds would come from the Office of Homeland Security.

The Office of Homeland Security has gone from an initial $25m stated need when the initial FY03 bills passed the House and Senate to $11m when the FY03 Omnibus was passed to what will be $9m if the reprogramming is approved.

QUESTION 91: What exactly does the Office of Homeland Security do now that the Department of Homeland Security is in place?

RESPONSE: HSC advises and assists the President on homeland security matters and coordinates policy development and the interagency process regarding Administration policy on homeland security, including the development and coordination of implementation of the National Strategy for Homeland Security to secure the United States from terrorist threats and attacks.

QUESTION 92: Does OHS still have a presence at Nebraska Avenue?

RESPONSE: No.

QUESTION 93: Does the Office of Administration provide any support to agencies at Nebraska Avenue? If so, please describe the specific types of support provided. Is this support on a reimbursable basis?

RESPONSE: Since the transfer of the Nebraska Avenue facility to the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) on January 1, 2003, OA has not provided any support to entities at the Nebraska Avenue Complex (NAC). Pursuant to a Determination by the OMB Director, funds in the amount of $3,746,000 were transferred from the OHS Emergency Fund within OA to the Department of Homeland Security in March 2003 to support NAC activities.

QUESTION 94: How many personnel and detailees now work for OHS?

REV_00169239

RESPONSE: The Homeland Security Council currently consists of 66 staff positions which can be filled by either Direct Hire FTE or Other Government Employee (detailee and assignee) personnel. HSC is requesting resources to support up to 40 Direct Hire FTE and 26 OGE FTE on its staff for FY 2004. See table below for a comparison with fiscal years 2003 and 2002.

Office of Homeland Security / Homeland Security Council Personnel

	FY 2002 Actual	FY 2003 Estimate	FY 2004 Request
Direct Hire FTE	31	40	40
Other Government Employee (EOY headcount)	89	26	26
Total Personnel	120	66	66

QUESTION 95: What is the actual operational budget need for OHS in FY03?

RESPONSE: The Homeland Security Council budget requirement from the FY 2003 appropriation is estimated to be approximately $4.32 million. Please note that the FY 2003 estimate covers only costs incurred after the enactment of the FY 2003 appropriation on February 20, 2003. Unlike other EOP entities which operated under continuing resolutions between October 1, 2003 and February 20, 2003, the Office of Homeland Security was not permitted to utilize the CR funding mechanism but instead continued to charge FY 2003 expenses against the no-year emergency funding (provided in FY2002) until the FY 2003 appropriation was enacted. Therefore the FY 2003 estimate reflects only seven months of activity, whereas the FY 2004 Request needs to cover HSC expenses for the full 12 months next fiscal year.

QUESTION 96: For the record, please provide us a breakout by object class of the Office of Homeland Security's FY03 remaining budget.

RESPONSE: The breakout below reflects HSC's budget for the last seven months of FY 2003, from the enactment of the FY 2003 Appropriation on February 20, 2003 through September 30, 2003.

REV_00169240

(Dollars in Thousands)

Object Class	FY 2003 est.
Personnel	$2,800
Travel	$60
Transportation of Things	$24
Communications, Utilities, and Miscelaneous	$50
Printing and Reproduction	$69
Other Services	$1,267
Equipment	$50
Total,	$4,320

QUESTION 97: Any likelihood that these estimates will be revised downward again?

RESPONSE: The FY 2003 estimate provided above reflects the best assessment of HSC requirements from the OHS FY 2003 appropriation, and actual obligations against this appropriation will likely be close to this current estimate.

QUESTION 98: I understand that the President named General Gordon as his new Homeland Security Adviser. Does he support the latest $2 million cut to his office's resources?

RESPONSE: To begin with we should note that, General Gordon has not yet reported to Homeland Security Council. Secondly, in any event, the EOP budget proposal provides the necessary resources for HSC to advise and assist the President. Third, we should also note that the reference to a $2 million cut is incorrect. In fact, the resources of the Homeland Security Council have not been cut by $2 million. The FY 2003 appropriations for the Homeland Security Council included $2 million for decontamination of the Remote Delivery Site (RDS) as agreed to by the Congress and the Administration. Subsequent to the passage of the FY 2003 appropriations, that $2 million was allocated to decontamination of the RDS per agreement. This planned use of that appropriation is not a cut to HSC resources.

QUESTION 99: Have you validated the FY04 request recently to ensure it is an accurate figure?

RESPONSE: Yes, HSC reevaluated its FY 2004 requirements prior to submitting the final FY 2004 Request. Given the creation of the Department of Homeland Security, HSC's FY 2004 budget requirements are estimated at $8,331,000; as requested.

REV_00169241

Budget Questions:

After the FY03 enacted levels are adjusted to reflect the transfer of $9 million to the Office of Homeland Security, the Executive Office of the President's FY04 budget request reflects an 8% increase over FY03 levels. Your agency, the Office of Administration requests a 10% increase between FY03 and FY04.

When the budget was introduced, Mitch Daniels said that the overall growth of Federal programs would be pegged to the expected 4% growth in inflation. The administration also said the President wanted to "match government's growth with the growth of American family income."

QUESTION 100: When the rest of the government is forced to live with 4% growth, how can you justify an almost 10% increase in your office and an overall Executive Office of the President increase of 8%? (POC – Chuck Sigman)

RESPONSE: The Office of Administration's 10% budget increase amounts to approximately $7 million. This increase is necessitated by additional costs stemming from the enhanced security activities in the post-September 11 environment:

- The Capital Investment Plan has a net increase of $3.8 million required for the relocation of the EOP data center to an offsite location. The offsite data center has been determined to be a critical project in any contingency plan, and the communications requirements for the data center will be significantly higher in the new facility.
- $2.5 million is needed for the new information technology contract, driven by the information technology service labor increases, the relocation of the data center as well as by the increased security concerns for EOP systems.
- $0.5 million is required for the EOP information assurance program.
- $0.2 million for physical security improvements to the White House complex in providing resources for security education and evacuation resources.

The 8% growth in the overall EOP budget amounts to approximately $24.6 million. Primary components of this increase are mission-specific needs proposed by the different EOP entities:

- $6.3 million in OA programs described in the prior paragraph ($3.8 million for the capital investment plan, $2.5 million for the information technology contract, $0.5 million for information assurance, and $0.2 million for physical security).
- $2.5 million in EOP-wide space rental increases to conform with GSA's market-based rental rates.
- $3.0 million for USTR's additional staff for intensified trade negotiations.

REV_00169242

- $3.0 million in the Executive Residence's multiyear East and West Wing restoration projects.
- $2.7 million for OMB personnel needs.
- $1.5 million for OMB's budget system updates.
- $0.7 million for OMB's E-Government staff and the Office of Information Technology.
- $0.8 million for additional staff for ONDCP.
- $0.6 million in the NSC's funding for reimbursable detailees and President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board's request for additional staff.
- $0.5 million for OSTP's continuity of operations plan.

The White House Office's increase of 3.6% looks smaller because of a realignment of $1.85m in rent to the Office of Administration's account. Without the realignment, the White House Office's increase would be around 6.6%.

QUESTION 101: What is the justification for this realignment? (POC – Eric Lanman)

RESPONSE: The realignment of $1.85M in rent was made to the WHO from the Office of Administration. Without this and other realignments made as part of the FY 2004 WHO budget request, The White House Office's increase would have only been 1.7 percent.

QUESTION 102: How could the White House have been paying the bill for space that wasn't theirs? (POC – Eric Lanman)

RESPONSE: The WHO has not been paying rent on the 1800 G Street office spaces that this realignment involves. These office spaces were necessitated by the movement of certain White House staff offices following the events of September 11. In FY 2003 funds for these spaces were budgeted by the Office of Administration and are being paid for as part of a pilot program authorized by law.

QUESTION 103: Which EOP agencies occupied this space on which the White House Office has been paying rent? (POC – Eric Lanman)

RESPONSE: As indicated in the previous answers, White House staff have been occupying this space. Rent is being paid by the Office of Administration as part of the pilot program authorized by law.

QUESTION 104: Are these costs that had historically been paid by the White House Office? (POC – Eric Lanman)

REV_00169243

RESPONSE: No. The 1800 G Street Office spaces were not occupied by EOP staff until after the events of 9-11.

QUESTION 105: If so, why make the change this year? (POC – Eric Lanman)

RESPONSE: The realignment of these costs under the WHO is done to reflect the costs under the office whose staff occupies them.

Travel

The White House Office's request includes a decrease of $400,000 in Presidential Travel.

QUESTION 106: Was the FY03 estimate too high? (POC – Eric Lanman)

RESPONSE: As part of the FY 2003 WHO budget submission, $600,000 was requested to support the travel requirements of the new USA Freedom Corps Office. Actual experience subsequently determined this amount to be in excess of need. As a result, the FY 2003 WHO travel line was reduced $329,647 by the statutory recission, and the FY 2004 WHO budget submission requested $400,000 less in the travel line than the original FY 2003 estimate.

QUESTION 107: If so, how do you intend to use the surplus funds? (POC – Eric Lanman)

RESPONSE: The $400,000 reduction to the FY 2004 WHO budget request for travel requirements does not result in surplus funds. It instead results in an overall reduction to the FY 2004 WHO budget estimate.

QUESTION 108: Are you planning less travel in FY04 or will more of the travel just be paid for by political entities? (POC – Eric Lanman)

RESPONSE: Except as noted above, the amount of official travel conducted by the White House staff is expected to remain consistent with the FY 2003 estimate.

QUESTION 109: Please provide a list of all White House Office, Office of Homeland Security and Office of Vice President official staff travel for FY02 and FY03 (to date). Include a brief description of the official purpose of the trip. For FY04 estimates, provide estimated number of trips and trip purpose. (POC – Rothley Howard)

RESPONSE: The following tables provide the FY 2002 and FY 2003 (to date) staff travel information, where a staff member received government reimbursement, for the

REV_00169244

White House Office and the Office of the Vice President. No FY 2004 estimates are available at this time.

QUESTION 111: How much did OMB reimburse the White House Office for use of White House motorpool vehicles in FY02? How much is OMB projecting to reimburse in FY03 and FY04? (POC – Brian Gillis)

RESPONSE: For FY 2002, OMB reimbursed the Department of Defense $99,000 for the use of the White House motorpool. OMB is projecting a similar amount for FY 2003 and FY 2004.

In the hearing, Mr. Daniel mentioned that the FY03 vehicle lease and IT support contracts came in significantly below the original budget estimates.

QUESTION 112: Do you intend to return the unused funds to the Treasury at the end of the fiscal year? (POC – Chuck Sigman)

RESPONSE: The EOP plans to use the funds to implement other critical EOP priorities. The programs which were described by Mr. Daniel at the hearing were the FY 2003 vehicle lease and the guard services contract for guard services at 1801 Pennsylvania Avenue. He did not refer to the IT support contract.

QUESTION 113: For these areas in which savings were realized, what are your plans for the funds? (POC – Chuck Sigman)

RESPONSE: For FY 2003, these funds are being applied to fund other priorities for the OA as well as common services for EOP entities. These other priorities include consolidation of information technology maintenance ($200,000), centralization of database services ($200,000), and common building service costs ($400,000). The remaining $300,000 of these savings will be used for an FY03 OA personnel shortfall.

Political Travel

QUESTION 114: Please explain the reimbursement procedures the White House intends to follow during the Presidential election season. (POC – Andy Kalnins)

RESPONSE: Travel by senior Administration officials is governed by relevant statutes and regulations that have been followed for many years.

QUESTION 115: Exactly when will the presidential-campaign procedures take effect? (POC – Andy Kalnins)

REV_00169270

RESPONSE: The presidential-campaign procedures take effect when a President is a candidate for re-election.

QUESTION 116: How do you determine who the official travelers are on a campaign or political trip? Does the list of positions vary from trip to trip? (POC – Andy Kalnins)

RESPONSE: Consistent with governing statutes and regulations, and traditional practice, a list of positions has been developed which are deemed to always be official.

QUESTION 117: On trips with political and official components, what is the procedure for determining which events are paid for using official funds and which events are reimbursed by the political entity? (POC – Andy Kalnins)

RESPONSE: The guidelines are based on legal principles embodied in 5 CFR §734.503, policies established over a period of years by previous Administrations, and guidance from Federal Election Commission opinions.

QUESTION 118: If the President gives virtually the same speech at a political event that he gave at an official event in that same city, what criteria is used to determine whether an event is "political" or "official"? (POC – Andy Kalnins)

RESPONSE: Appearing at party functions, fundraising, and campaigning for specific candidates are principal examples of travel which ordinarily is considered political.

QUESTION 119: If the President gives virtually the same speech at a political event that he gave at an official event in that same city, does the political entity reimburse the White House for the Speechwriters time? (POC – WHO M&A)

RESPONSE: Ordinarily not. See 5 CFR §734.503(b)(1).

QUESTION 120: Have events been classified as "official" even if only members of the President's political party are invited to share the stage with the President? (POC – WHO M&A)

RESPONSE: The classification of an event as official or political depends on many factors. However, Presidents routinely have official events that may include members of only one party, for example, a speech or meeting about legislative activities or issues.

QUESTION 121: If so, what justification is used to argue that these events were not political events? (POC – WHO M&A)

REV_00169271

RESPONSE: The classification of an event as official or political depends on many factors. However, Presidents routinely have official events that may include members of only one party, for example, a speech or meeting about legislative activities or issues.

QUESTION 122: Please provide information about reimbursement to the White House Office or other government agencies associated with local staff travel to political events attended by the President in FY02 or FY03. For each reimbursement made, please provide the date the bill was generated, the number of events reflected on the bill, the date payment was received, the political entity paying the charges and the total amount paid on each bill. (POC – WHO M&A)

RESPONSE: The White House took steps to ensure appropriate reimbursements from the relevant political entities for political trips.

Photographic Services (POC – Eric Lanman)

QUESTION 123: For FY02, FY03 and FY04, what was (or is projected to be) the total cost of photographic equipment purchased for use by the White House photographers?

RESPONSE: The total cost (actual and projected) of photographic equipment procured for use by White House photographers in FY 2002, FY 2003 and FY 2004 are displayed in the table below.

	FY 2002	FY 2003	FY 2004
	Actual	Estimate	Estimate
Photographic Equipment	$137,057	$35,700	$36,300

FY 2002 actual costs are higher than the estimates for FY 2003 and FY 2004 due to the necessary life cycle replacement of photographic equipment.

QUESTION 124: For FY02, FY03 and FY04, what was (or is projected to be) the total cost of photo lab equipment purchased for use by the WHCA photo lab?

	FY 2002	FY 2003	FY 2004
Photo Lab Equipment	$492,720	$473,775	$375,000

QUESTION 125: For FY02, FY03 and FY04, what was (or is projected to be) the total travel cost associated with travel of White House Photographers?

REV_00169272

RESPONSE: The FY 2002 travel costs of White House Photographers was $46,721. The estimated FY 2003 cost is $50,000 and the projected cost for FY 2004 is $55,000.

QUESTION 126: For FY02, FY03 and FY04, what was (or is projected to be) the total rent cost associated with the WHCA photo lab?

RESPONSE: There is no rent cost associated with the WHCA photo lab. However, there are utility and facility maintenance costs associated with the WHCA photo lab. Those costs were $73,600 for FY 2002, $76,650 estimated for FY 2003 and a projected $79,000 for FY 2004.

QUESTION 127: Please explain the procedures for determining when and how the government is to be reimbursed for photos released for non-official purposes. If these procedures have changed from those followed by the previous administration, please explain any changes that have been made.

RESPONSE: The procedures for obtaining reimbursements for photographs changed on October 1, 2000. The procedures now in place are designed to ensure that the government receives appropriate reimbursement for photographs sought for non-official purposes. Records are kept of all such requests, and appropriate reimbursement is then sought.

QUESTION 128: For FY02 and the first seven months of FY03, please provide the following information about each payment made to the White House, OA, WHCA, DISA (or other DoD organization) to reimburse for the release of photos or photo lab services that were provided:

- date reimbursement was made
- name of reimbursing organization
- amount of payment
- number of photos purchased by reimbursing organization
- size of photos purchased by reimbursing organization

RESPONSE: The requested information about each payment made to the White House, OA, WHCA, DISA (or other DoD organization) to reimburse for the release of photos is provided below.

Remote Delivery Site Reprogramming Request (POC – Paul Ehrhardt)

We recently received a reprogramming request to transfer $2m of the funds provided to the Office of Homeland Security to the Remote Delivery Site cleanup efforts.

QUESTION 129: What is the status of remediation efforts?

RESPONSE: We are in the process of Confirmatory Sampling. The sampling plan is intended to present a technical approach for (1) completing air and surface sampling for culturable Bacillus anthracis spores to verify the efficacy of the decontamination process: (2) providing for qualified laboratory analysis of the collected samples: and (3) presenting a protocol for data collection and reporting such that the results of the sampling effort are valid and defensible. In addition, the Plan provides for the site and personnel security, safety, health, and personal protection, equipment and collection methods, and sample handling.

QUESTION 130: Please provide the total budget estimate for this project.

RESPONSE: As the contractor responsible for returning the building to an environmentally safe workplace, Versar to date has not been able to develop or provide accurate cost estimates or time lines to EOP. Budget and schedule estimates for this project are especially difficult due to critical path activities taking place in a high-risk environment relying on the utilization of untested speculative technologies. However to date $2.422 million has been spent on the effort and we are currently requesting an additional $2 million, which is Versar's best estimate of what it will cost to complete the project. The total budget estimate for the project then comes to $4.422 million.

QUESTION 131: Please provide the anticipated schedule for this effort.

RESPONSE: Given many variables, including weather, our best current estimate of time to required complete the RDS project is 4 months. The confirmatory testing phase is estimated to take eight weeks from start up. The next phase would be for the ECC committee to ratify the confirmation process; we estimate this to be one month. After this is completed, our best estimate is thirty days to perform PM on the HVAC equipment, build out the office areas, and re-establish the building operation.

QUESTION 132: What caused this $2 million overrun?

RESPONSE: There is not a $2 million overrun. The request for $2 million is a result of anticipated costs and those unforeseen conditions as result of the environmental cleanup process, that OA, GSA or its contractors had available at the time of fumigation. The Environmental Clearance Committee has placed additional requirements that resulted in the additional costs. The proposed sampling plan utilizes the barrier divisions already in Building 410 (which provides discrete work areas) and presents proposed sampling location, quantity, and types of samples to be collected . Sampling will be carried out using a phased approach for each work area as follows:

Phase 1, Surface Sampling; Phase 2 Air Sampling: Phase 3, "Dynamic Sampling", Phase 4, Start Up of the Heating, Ventilation , and Air Conditioning (HVAC) Units; and Phase 5, Final Sampling with the Barriers Down.

QUESTION 133: Why have you stopped providing the monthly reports on the remediation efforts?

RESPONSE: Due to the process of establishing the Environmental Clearance Committee, it was an administrative error that the reports were inadvertently not forwarded.

Previously the Remote Delivery Site was used to screen incoming mail. It also used to serve as an off-site supply depot. With the Department of Homeland Security now assuming the mail processing function and with supply operations now established on the White House Complex, I'm curious about future plans for the RDS.

QUESTION 134: What will the facility be used for when remediation is finished?

RESPONSE: Prior to September 11, 2001 the Remote Delivery Site (RDS) was used as a centralized receiving facility for the White House Complex. All postage flat mail and packages, including UPS and FedEx deliveries, and all equipment and local deliveries were delivered to the RDS. All incoming deliveries, regardless of size, were screened by the U.S. Secret Service (USSS) via large X ray machines, and if any equipment was too large to fit on the X-ray conveyer belt, then the USSS used dogs to sniff for explosives. After initial USSS clearance, all of the items were sorted and delivered to their intended destination to the White House Complex. Supplies, equipment and furniture which were purchased for inventory for use at later time were housed at the RDS.

In addition to the screening of WHO Complex deliveries, the USSS Administrative Operations Division used RDS space to screen all of its incoming mail and packages that were intended for USSS personnel.

The EOP Supply store was operated within the confines of the RDS. Supplies were purchased and inventoried at the RDS and office supplies and copier paper were purchased in volume to take advantage of discounts. The WHO/EOP customers faxed supply requisitions to the RDS staff who then pulled and boxed office supplies for delivery to the WHO Complex. OA property supply staff made supply deliveries to the WHO complex at least twice a day, and more if needed.

The EOP/OA Personal Property Program (excess, transfer, donation, and destruction of furniture and equipment) had its operations housed at the RDS. Excessed equipment and furniture were corralled at the RDS until enough equipment and furniture were gathered to make it economical to excess all at once. In addition, schools and nonprofit organizations were allowed to review equipment for donation under Executive Order 12999.

After September 11, as a precautionary move, the White House United States Postal Service was relocated from the Eisenhower Executive Office Building to the RDS. A separate room was built for the USPS's operation of opening and screening all White House mail. The RDS operations continued working around the new USPS area. These USPS operations continued until the RDS was closed due to the discovery of Anthrax. Since then the USPS operations have relocated to 1800 G. St. NW.

Once the remediation is finished, the RDS will resume its former function of screening all bulk deliveries (including equipment, furniture, boxes of supplies) sent to the EOP Complex. In addition the facility will be used to store supplies and an inventory of equipment and furniture. The RDS will also be used as a staging area for efficient loading and delivery of bulk items for all EOP entities.

QUESTION 135: Will the DHS use the facility to screen the White House's mail?

REV_00169277

RESPONSE: No.

QUESTION 136: Will you close the on-site supply stores and revert back to running the supply operation out of the Remote Delivery Site?

RESPONSE: When the RDS reopens after the remediation of the building, the RDS staff will resume the same functions prior to the Anthrax. However, there are major changes in the way the OA Supply Store operates and manages its supply inventory. The Office of Administration has entered into a new business relationship with GSA. The OA Supply operation will purchase its supplies from GSA who will provide a wide array of office supplies and maintain the level of supply inventory that is needed to support the WHO Complex. The GSA inventory will be housed at the RDS after relocation from Franconia, VA, the current, temporary RDS location. OA supply staff will pull supply orders based on customer's requisitions, and then box and deliver the supplies from the RDS to WHO complex. GSA will only charge for the supplies that EOP customers use at point of sale, otherwise the unsold inventory will still belong to GSA. GSA promises to maintain the supplies that the EOP customers may need. Inventories will be reviewed and adjusted to realize the kind and quantities of supplies the EOP customers expect. This business relationship will promote a more flexible inventory that allows the supply inventory to have the quantity or variety of supplies to meet our customer needs in a more proactive, real-time fashion.

White House Access (POC – WHO M&A)

QUESTION 137: For the record, please provide the total number of visitors who passed through the White House as part of tours in 2000, 2001, 2002 and 2003 (to date).

RESPONSE: Listed below are total numbers of visitors that passed through the White House from 2000 to year to date FY 2003, as reported in National Park Service (NPS) statistical abstract:

2000: 1,175,714
2002: 178,092
2003: 43,434 (as of May 14)

Please note that the NPS records garden tours and egg roll events in their annual numbers for visitors to the White House even though the people attending these events do not go through the house. Since the numbers for the visitors that actually go through the house are not exclusively available, we have included the egg roll event in the numbers for 2003 for consistency. There was no a spring garden tour in 2003.

QUESTION 138: Why are White House tours currently not open to the general public?

REV_00169278

RESPONSE: White House special group tours were reopened for certain group tours on May 6, 2003. Over the past many months, the White House has operated a successful program, in partnership with Congressional offices, allowing special group tours to visit. We will continue to book groups using existing procedures unless circumstances dictate otherwise.

The White House is mindful of the request to fully resume public tours. We continue to consult with law enforcement and intelligence services on how to ensure the safety of the residents, staff and the general public while at the White House.

QUESTION 139: What is the status of the report on the status of White House Tours that was due to the Subcommittee by March 22nd?

RESPONSE: This question was answered and sent to the Subcommittee by the March 22nd deadline.

QUESTION 140: Who has the lead on the efforts to decide whether public tours can be resumed?

RESPONSE: The United States Secret Service constantly monitors and evaluates existing conditions to determine the level of security required at the White House complex including when and if tours can be resumed on a full schedule. Their recommendations, along with input from other law enforcement and intelligence services who monitor changing world events, are reviewed with White House management staff to schedule and structure tours in such a manner that will provide an appropriate level of security for general public taking the tours, in addition to the staff who work in and around the Complex, and the residents. This is an ongoing effort.

QUESTION 141: Does the USSS do a background check on all individuals attending events and meetings at the White House Complex before access can be granted?

RESPONSE: For security reasons, it is not appropriate to provide information about the specific nature of background checks and related security procedures in this context.

QUESTION 142: During this administration, have White House aides ever overruled a building-access recommendation made by the USSS?

RESPONSE: The USSS and EOP Staff collaborate in making decisions on access to the complex.

Off-site EOP Support

QUESTION 143: How many EOP employees are based in Crawford, TX? (POC – Stacia Cropper)

RESPONSE: One.

QUESTION 144: How much space does the EOP pay rent for in Crawford, TX? (POC James Daniel/Stacia Cropper)

RESPONSE: There is one double-wide trailer. The cost of the trailer itself and all operating costs will be paid to GSA in a monthly rent payment of $8,496.83 for two years.

QUESTION 145: How many trailers were acquired for Crawford, TX? (POC James Daniel/Stacia Cropper)

RESPONSE: One trailer was acquired for the EOP.

QUESTION 146: What was the cost to purchase and renovate these trailers? (POC James Daniel/Stacia Cropper)

RESPONSE: The cost of the trailer shell was $72,745.28. The cost to apply finishes to the trailer interior was $20,976.62.

QUESTION 147: What are the expected FY04 operating costs of facilities and staff permanently deployed to Crawford, TX? (POC James Daniel/Stacia Cropper)

RESPONSE: The following are the estimated operating costs for one year: Pest Control ($1,440), cleaning ($4,200), electricity ($4,211.75), and water ($2,286.38).

Rent (POC – Steve Beattie)

QUESTION 148: Please provide an accounting of all space on which the EOP currently pays rent. The list should include the number of staff in each building, the agencies which occupy space in each facility, the total square footage by agency in each facility, the total square footage of vacant space on which the EOP is currently paying rent in each facility and the GSA rent rates for each facility.

RESPONSE: The following charts provide the information on EOP facilities and GSA rental rates as they stood during the formulation of the FY 2004 budget request. Since then, several offices have moved from the New Executive Office Building (NEOB) into the space in 1800 G. Street. In addition, several offices from the Eisenhower Executive Office building will be moving into the newly vacated space at the NEOB. Once all moves have been accomplished, the EOP will provide the Subcommittee with an update on the space utilization of the buildings on the White House complex.

Travel Office (POC – Mayra Segovia)

QUESTION 151: Please describe the current role the White House Travel Office plays in managing and arranging the financial aspects of White House Press Corps travel. Does the White House Travel Office operate as a "dollar-for-dollar" operation?

RESPONSE: The White House Travel Office provides the White House Press Corps with a range of travel services when they accompany the President, Vice President and First Lady. Services include air and ground transportation, hotel accommodations, and convention-type services associated with the Filing Center.

The White House Press Travel Fund operates as a dollar-for-dollar operation.

QUESTION 152: How many EOP staff work in the White House Travel Office?

RESPONSE: Eight EOP staff work in the White House Travel Office.

QUESTION 153: How many contractor travel agents support the White House Travel Office?

RESPONSE: Six contractor travel agents support the White House Travel Office.

QUESTION 154: Please include the most recent independent financial statement audit of the White House Travel Office's accounts for the record.

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS REPORT

To the Management of
White House Travel Office Press Fund

We have audited the accompanying statement of financial position of the White House Travel Office Press Fund as of December 31, 2001, and the related statements of activities and cash flows for the year then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the White House Travel Office Press Fund's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the White House Travel Office Press Fund as of December 31, 2001, and the changes in its net assets and its cash flows for the nine months then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

WHITE HOUSE TRAVEL OFFICE PRESS FUND
NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
DECEMBER 31, 2001

NOTE 1 – ORGANIZATION

The White House Travel Office Press Fund ('WHTO") was established to manage expenses associated with travel for members of the press who accompany the President, Vice President, First Lady, and Second Lady on domestic and foreign trips. In May 1993, a new management team was hired to manage WHTO. Consequently, for accounting and reporting purposes, a new WHTO was established as of January 1, 1994.

NOTE 2- SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Revenue and expenditures are recognized using the accrual basis of accounting. The WHTO invoices the press organizations for their prorated share of the expenses associated with each trip. The WHTO then remits payment directly to the vendors whose services were used for the particular trip. The total amount invoiced to the press members equals the total of the amounts paid to the vendors. The WHTO does not own any fixed assets. Al! fixed assets are purchased through the White House's general fund and designated for the WHTO use. Similarly, all operating expenses of the WHTO, including salaries and office supplies, are paid directly by the White House's general fund.

NOTE 3- CASH

Gash is maintained in two non-interest checking accounts at the Riggs National Bank of Washington, D.C. The RCA 2000 cash account is explained in Note 4.

The total cash held by WHTO at December 31, 2001 includes $512,821 that is not covered by insurance provided by the federal government. It is the opinion of WHTO's management that the solvency of the referenced financial institution is not of particular concern at this time.

REV_00169292

NOTE 4 - RESTRICTED CASH ACCOUNT

Effective April 1, 2000, the management of the White House Travel Office implemented a Restricted Cash Account (RCA). RCA funds are encumbered for specific purposes set forth in written policies and procedures, most notably for payment of late arriving vendor invoices, bank charges and accounts receivable written off as uncollectible.

The RCA is funded through an RCA funding amount applied to every customer invoice, except those for government employees. Presently, that funding amount is two percent of the invoice amount

RCA funding amounts are not considered revenue for accounting purposes.

Under current policies and procedures, a separate RCA is established for each calendar year. The RCA 2000 account on the Statement of Financial Position reflects the total amount of cash in that account at December 31, 2001. The RCA liability accounts for 2000 and 2001 reflect the total RCA funding amount applied to all customer invoices during the respective calendar year, less any disbursements. RCA funding amounts that have been invoiced but not yet collected are included in the accounts receivable amount.

The RCA for each year will be terminated at a designated point in time after the conclusion of the applicable calendar year. At the time of dissolution, any excess funds will be refunded to the Press Fund's customers subject to the RCA funding amount in accordance with a formula based on the percentage of the total travel costs consumed during the year corresponding to the RCA. For example, if a customer were responsible for ten percent of all travel costs for the calendar year 2001, they would be entitled to ten percent of the remaining RCA 2001 funds at the time of dissolution.

NOTE 5 – ACCOUNTS RECEIVABLE

Currently, the WHTO writes off accounts receivable using the direct write-off method. Therefore, there is no allowance for uncollectible accounts.

REV_00169293

NOTE 6 - OTHER RECEIVABLES

As per note 2, the WHTO utilizes a system of dollar for dollar accounting. Under the current accounting process, vendor invoices for trip expenses are entered into accounts payable as they are received. Accordingly, there is an accumulation of unbilled trip expenses in accounts payable until such time that trip accounting is finalized and members of the press are invoiced for their pro rata share of trip expenses. This timing difference creates the need for an Other Receivables category. Other Receivables represents the obligations for normal trip expenses that have been entered into accounts payable, but not yet billed to the press.

QUESTION 155: Please explain the formula you use to determine the rate of reimbursement for Press Corps travelers on the Press Charter?

RESPONSE: Each leg of the itinerary is assigned a proportionate cost, which is divided equally among all press passengers. The following formula is used to compute the proportionate cost for each leg of the trip: (Leg flight time / Total flight time) * Total Air Transportation Expense

QUESTION 156: Please explain the formula you use to determine the rate of reimbursement for Press Pool travelers on Air Force One?

RESPONSE: The cost of the fourteen members of the pool traveling on AF1 is added to the total air transportation expense and the total costs are spread on a pro-rata share among all of the press travelling on the trip. The following formula is used to compute the proportionate cost for each leg of the trip: (Leg flight time / Total flight time) * Total Air Transportation Expense

QUESTION 157: Please explain the formula used to identify the reimbursement rate that the Travel Office billed Press Corps travelers accompanying the President's travel to the USS Abraham Lincoln. In your response, please include the actual rate billed to individual press corps travelers on this trip.

RESPONSE: The cost of transporting press corps travelers from the North Island Naval Air Station to the USS Abraham Lincoln and back to the North Island Naval Air Station totaled $7,440.26. This cost will be added to the total air transportation expense and spread on a pro-rata share among all the press traveling on the trip. The formula for military aircraft reimbursement for the trip to the USS Abraham Lincoln is as follows: $X per hour per aircraft, divided by 60 minutes to get a per minute rate, multiplied by the flight time, divided by the total number of passengers, and then 7.5% excise tax plus $3.00 dollars per person was added.

Bonuses

QUESTION 158: Why did this administration reinstate the payments of bonuses to political appointees? (POC – WHO M&A)

RESPONSE: The relevant statutes and regulations make clear that all Federal employees are eligible for bonuses. Therefore, like other Federal employees, Schedule C and non-career Senior Executive Service (SES) employees may receive bonuses. Consistent with law, this and past Administrations have made bonuses available to Schedule C and SES employees in appropriate circumstances.

REV_00169295

QUESTION 159: Have any EOP political staff been given bonuses since the policy was reinstated in March of 2002? (POC – Jon Laurich)

RESPONSE: Bonuses have been awarded to EOP political staff.

QUESTION 160: Have any EOP political staff been given pay increases for a single pay period in FY02 or FY03 (to date) that would have the same effect as a bonus? (POC – Jon Laurich)

RESPONSE: No.

Eisenhower Executive Office Building

QUESTION 161: Since 1/20/01, have any non-Federal funds been used for renovations and/or furnishings in the GSA facilities occupied by the Executive Office of the President? [this question does not apply to the White House residence.] (POC –WHO M&A)

RESPONSE: We understand this question to refer to buildings within the White House complex that are managed by GSA, including the EEOB, and the East and West Wings. As the Committee is aware, two federal agencies – the GSA, and the National Park Service -- have authority to accept gifts donated to the United States for use in various buildings in the White House complex.

Historically these agencies have on occasion accepted gifts to the United States donated for use in these facilities. For example, in the past, furnishings have been donated to renovate the Oval Office, located in the West Wing. That has also occurred in this Administration. To illustrate: in 2002 a donation was made of three sofas, including sofa fabric, and fabric for two chairs, all for use in the Oval Office. This donation was accepted by the National Park Service under its gift acceptance authority, on behalf of the United States. The donated items became part of the White House collection and will be cared for by the White House Curator.

QUESTION 162: Which Federal agency (i.e., GSA, OA/Facilitles) coordinated the work that was paid for using non-Federal funds? (POC –WHO M&A)

RESPONSE: I understand this question to refer to buildings within the White House complex that are managed by GSA, including the EEOB, and the East and West Wings. As the Committee is aware, two federal agencies – the GSA, and the National Park been relocated to locations outside the EEOB. For each agency that relocated, please identify the agency that paid the move-related costs. (POC – Steve Beattie)

RESPONSE: There was no movement of EOP offices from the EEOB prior to September 11, 2001. After September 11, the Office of Administration, using Emergency Supplemental funding, paid for the moves of the following offices outside of the EEOB.

EOP Offices Previously in the EEOB	New Location
WHO Presidential Personnel	1800 G. Street
WHO Presidential Correspondence	1800 G. Street
Council on Environmental Quality	Jackson Place Townhouses
Office of Science and Technology Policy	1801 Pennsylvania Avenue

QUESTION 168: What is the status of the vacant space on the 17th Street side of the Eisenhower Executive Office Building? (POC – Steve Beattie)

RESPONSE: The vacant space along 17th street is under construction as part of the Fire and Life Safety Improvements project.

I had some follow up discussions on this and it's not as tight as I was first told. While the system would be used in the November to December timeframe, implementation issues require a policy decision as to how it will be set up by August 1. OMB will be briefing the Staff Secretary's Office on what they propose to do before then, and I suggested that both of us be included so we can all focus on this at the same time. Accordingly, unless you prefer to review at this point, this will not require your action at this time as I had originally thought. Adam

Brett--This came to OA through OMB, so I am sending to you to advise us if approved from the White House Office end. The big change here is in how they do the work--the WHO and OMB reviewers would be reviewing the document on the same system rather than giving OMB all the mark ups at one time. I think this is really a work flow question--does White House want to resolve its comments within WHO and then give to OMB or do so in OMB's view? I presume that you would want to discuss with Staff Secretary directly; let me know if otherwise or if I can assist in any way. Adam, 5-1268

Thank you for the edits and comments you provided. The attached document, &QFR Responses 28 reflects all edits, except where there are still issues to be resolved. (All outstanding issues will be dealt with in separate emails to the affected parties.) We need you to once again review the document for accuracy and consistency. Your edits and comments on the new document, &QFR Responses 28 are due by 3:00 p.m., Friday, May 30th. We received a short extention from the Subcommittee and must provide the final document to Congress by COB Monday, June 2nd. To assist in this effort, I have included listings below that may help while navigating through the document.

HOW TO USE THIS DOCUMENT

Several of the FY 2004 questions for the record refer to pages from last year's (FY 2003) hearing record. Below is the FY 2003 hearing record information.

Note that the Question # refers to this year's (FY 2004) question and the information that follows is what was in last year's (FY 2003) hearing record.

Hearing Record Reference for Question 6:

Issue: Executive Office of the President

Question: By EOP agency, provide FTE and OGE. Itemize OGE by category (e.g. reimbursable detailee, PSC, etc). Include FY 2001 (actual) and FY 2002-2003 (estimates).

Answer: The following tables provide the total FY 2001 actual, FY 2002 and FY 2003 estimates for full time equivalents (FTE) and other government employees (OGE) for each EOP and other entity as of April 5, 2002. The OGE numbers are itemized by category on the following page. The FY 2001 actual numbers should be viewed in the context of a Presidential transition year and may vary greatly from the FY 2002 figures. The FY 2002 and FY 2003 numbers are estimates only and therefore subject to change for a number of reasons.

Hearing Record Reference for Question 7:

Question: For the Office of Administration provide FTE and OGE by organizational unit for FY 2001 (actual) and FY 2002-2003 (estimates).

Answer: The chart below displays the FTE and OGE distribution in the previous OA organizational structure for FY 2001. For FY 2002 and FY 2003, the FTE and OGE are displayed in the new streamlined OA organizational structure which reduced the number of operating units reporting to the Director from 10 to 4. All data is as of April 5, 2002.

Hearing Record Reference for Question 16:

Question: Provide an organizational chart for the OHS.

REV_00169334

Hearing Record Reference for question 17:

Question: The President's request includes $1,337,000 for travel and transportation of persons, an increase of $976,000 from the estimated level of $361,000 in FY 2002. For FY 2002 and 2003 (estimates), provide a list of trips by location and purpose, including the number of staff traveling and staff position.

Answer: The FY 2002 travel and transportation of persons estimate and FY 2003 budget request provides funding for the Assistant to the President for Homeland Security and staff travel, Critical Infrastructure Protection Board (CIPB) activities and advisory board activities. Specific locations for FY 2003 are currently unavailable due to the fact that they are determined as requirements are finalized. FY 2002 and FY 2003 anticipated travel activities are in furtherance of the OHS mission promulgated in the Executive Orders.

Examples of FY 2003 estimated travel requirements include: per diem and travel for two-thirds of Advisory Board members to attend approximately 40 various meetings and activities; approximately 50 domestic trips for the Assistant to the President for Homeland Security and 3 staff members to fulfill outreach requirements; approximately 100 domestic trips for Homeland Security staff to fulfill mission functions as outlined in Executive Order 13228; approximately 24 domestic and 3 overseas trips for the Chair, Vice Chair and one staff member of the CIPB to fulfill outreach requirements as stated in Executive Order 13231; and approximately 12 CIPB staff (director level) trips to outreach the private sector. Of course, these are estimates only and are therefore subject to change for a variety of reasons.

FY 2002 travel expenses incurred to date include trips to Mexico and Canada for border discussions and various locations in the United States to visit first response, bioterrorism research facilities and other initiatives related to homeland security. The following table lists current (as of April 10, 2002) FY 2002 travel expenses as reflected in the accounting system.

Trip Cost Note: Estimated costs of trips will vary greatly from trip to trip to the same city and from one city to another city for four significant reasons; mode of transportation used/authorized, number of days TDY, number of personnel on trip, and whether costs recorded are actual or estimated expenses.

Hearing Record Reference for Question 19:

Question: What Memorandums of Understanding have been signed by the Office of Homeland Security, or by any other EOP entity on behalf of the Office of Homeland Security and with whom? Describe the purpose of each MOU.

Answer: As of April 12, 2002, there is one signed Memorandum of Understanding (MOU), which is an agreement between OHS and the Office of Science and Technology Policy (OSTP). OSTP provides technical and personnel support for research and development and policy issues. There is no financial component to this MOU.

Hearing Record Reference for question 24:

Question: Is there a distinct organizational unit within the OHS for this function? If so, how many FTE are associated with this function? How many detailees? Where are these people located? Is this a permanent location? What is the total amount of space being used by the Cyber Security Office? What is the total cost of the Cyberspace Security office, including rent, office supplies, communications, etc.

Answer: The Special Advisor reports to both the Assistant to the President for Homeland Security and the Assistant to the President for National Security Affairs. The permanent location and amount of space allocated to the Board has not been determined, but they are currently located at the G Street office location. The total staff associated with this function is yet to be determined. The total estimated cost, for FY 2003, of the CIPB, including rent, office supplies, communications, etc., is approximately $2.85 million.

Hearing Record Reference for Question 39:

Question: To date, provide the total amount obligated from the FY 2002 appropriation "White House Repair and Restoration" by project.

Answer: Listed below is the status of each of the projects and the amounts obligated. No funds have been obligated to date in excess of the $100,000 project prospectus ceiling.

Pool Shelter Roof Reconstruction and Pool Deck Renovation - The preliminary architectural survey and design are completed, and structural engineering analysis and design is in progress. The two primary contractors required have committed to the project and an on-site meeting is scheduled. Construction is expected to begin in April. There have been no funds obligated. All work to date has been accomplished with National Park Service and Executive Residence staff.

Communication System Repairs / Phase 2 - Design work continues under Phase I (FY 2001 – $441,000 obligated) and Construction (Phase II) is expected to begin in August.

East and West Wing Exterior Restoration - Scaffolding installation for one elevation of the East and West Wing is nearly complete. Paint removal will begin shortly as outdoor temperatures permit. $84,500 has been obligated to date.

Insulated Windows Replacement - Preliminary discussions are ongoing with manufacturers and fabrication should begin in May. Installation and related restoration requirements have been discussed with the prospective contractor, and the proposal should be received in April 2002. Work is expected to begin in July. No funds have been obligated for this project.

Kitchen Floor Replacement - The survey of existing conditions including utilities has been completed. An onsite meeting with the flooring installation contractor was completed and installation began in mid-March 2002. No funds have been obligated for this project.

North Portico Curtain Wall - The contractor began onsite work at the end of February 2002 and installation is 95% complete. Only the "punch" list and in house items remain. $83,000 has been obligated to date.

Stone Pavers Restoration - The contractor proposal has been received and is under review. Material ordering is expected in April 2002 and onsite work is expected to begin in May. No funds have been obligated for this project.

West Colonnade Restoration - There is continuing restoration of the first three columns and historically accurate replacement stone has been ordered for all columns. The newly discovered deteriorated structural steel has been evaluated. The recommended corrective actions will be accomplished this summer and no additional funds will be required. To date, $49,040 has been obligated for this project.

Hearing Record Reference for Question 53:

Question: For FY 2001, 2002 (estimate) and FY 2003 request, provide the total amount for outside consulting services, by appropriations account. Provide the specific definition of "consulting services" being used in response to this question as well as a description of the consulting service itself (dollar amount, purpose, deliverables, timeframe). If applicable, group the consulting services by category of service.

Answer: "Consulting services" or "Advisory and Assistance Services" as defined by OMB Circular A-11, Section 83, are services acquired by contract from non-Federal sources (that is, the private sector, foreign governments, State and local governments, tribes), as well as from other units within the Federal Government and consists of three types of services: 1) Management and professional support services; 2) Studies, analyses and evaluation; and 3) Engineering and technical services. Listed below are the EOP and other entities with Advisory and Assistance contracts.

Hearing Record Reference for Question 56:

Question: For Object Class 25.2 for the White House Office, provide a detailed description of each project, program or initiative to be funded in support of the USA Freedom Corps Office.

Answer: The additional funds requested in Object Class 25.2 for the White House Office's USA Freedom Corps Office are primarily required to fund two program initiatives.

- Information Dissemination: The cost of this program initiative is estimated at $900,000 and will primarily consist of contracted services in partnership with other Freedom Corps coordinating council agencies. These contracted services will include both interactive website portals and telecommunication services such as information phone banks. These services will provide links and information concerning volunteer opportunities, Freedom Corps activities and other pertinent data.

- Recognition Materials: The cost of this program initiative is estimated at $275,000 and will primarily consist of contracted services to develop, provide and disseminate materials that will be used to recognize volunteer activities and accomplishments.

In addition, approximately $25,000 is required to fund increased general support Other Service costs within the White House that will occur as the result of the operations of this new office. These funds will be used for such things as office equipment maintenance contracts and GSA work requests.

Hearing Record Reference for Question 63:

Issue: White House Communications Agency

Question: For FY 2001 and 2002 (estimates) itemize the reimbursements made to the WH Communications Agency.

Question: For FY 2003, what are the estimated reimbursements to the WH Communications Agency?

Answers to previous two questions: Reimbursements made to WHCA, for the non-telecommunications support they provide to the WHO, is broken down into two categories: personnel and audio visual support. The amount of planned reimbursement is initially set and agreed to via an inter-agency agreement (IAG). This IAG is then adjusted if needed as a result of actual execution. Reimbursement actuals and estimates follow:

	FY01 (actual)	FY02 (est.)	FY03 (est.)
Military Personnel	$3,946,779	$4,564,085	$4,754,346
Audiovisual Support	$3,514,528	$3,589.242	$3,953,848
Total	$7,461,307	$8,153,327	$8,708,194

Hearing Record Reference for Question 64:

Issue: Office of Administration

Question: Provide an organization chart for the Office of Administration, including the numbers of FTE in each office.

Answer: The Office of Administration organization chart provided below reflects the current streamlined organizational structure where the number of operating units reporting to the Director was reduced from 10 to 4. The FY 2003 FTE request includes an increase of 20 FTE over FY 2002 authorized levels. All additional FTEs support the ongoing requirements stemming from the events of September 11 including IT and facility support for dispersed offices, additional logistics responsibilities for the receipt and delivery of mail, and financial management support for the Office of Homeland Security (+7 Chief Operating Officer, +10 Chief Information Officer, +1 Chief Projects Officer, +2 Chief Financial Officer).

Hearing Record Reference for Question 72:

Issue: White House Office

Question: Provide a brief description of the duties and responsibilities of each office (e.g. Chief of Staff, Oval Office Operations, Office of the Press Secretary, Office of Homeland Security, etc.) within the appropriations account "White House Office". By office, provide obligations, FTE and OGE for FY 2001(actual) and FY 2002-2003 (estimated). Itemize OGE by category (e.g. reimbursable detailee, PSC, etc.).

Answer: The purpose of the White House Office is to provide advice and assistance to the President of the United States. This requires a range of professional and support staff. The White House Office is currently divided into the following major units:

Office of the Chief of Staff – Provides advice and assistance to the President and directs the activities of the White House staff.

Oval Office Operations – Provides assistance to the President by, among other things, managing the operations of the Oval Office.

REV_00169350

Advance – Provides advice and assistance to the President, principally by taking responsibility for the organization and implementation of the President and the First Lady's visits outside of the White House complex.

Cabinet Affairs – Provides advice and assistance to the President by, among other things, serving as the liaison between the White House and the President's Cabinet and agency heads.

Communications, Speechwriting, and Media Affairs – Provides advice and assistance to the President by, among other things, coordinating and supporting efforts to communicate and explain the President's views and decisions.

Office of Counsel to the President – Provides advice and assistance to the President and White House staff, principally on matters of law.

Faith-Based and Community Initiatives – Provides advice and assistance to the President by, among other things, coordinating and implementing the President's initiative to empower community and faith-based organizations to better confront poverty and social decay.

Office of the First Lady – Provides advice and assistance to Mrs. Bush in carrying out her official responsibilities as the First Lady.

Homeland Security – Provides advice and assistance to the President, principally by developing, coordinating, and advising the President on a comprehensive national strategy to secure the United States from terrorist threats or attacks and, in particular, by coordinating the Executive Branch's efforts to detect, prepare for, prevent, protect against, respond to, and recover from terrorist attacks within the United States. It has no operational role.

Intergovernmental Affairs – Provides advice and assistance to the President, principally by monitoring the views of State and local elected officials and serving as a liaison between the White House and the Executive Branch, on the one hand, and State and local governments, on the other.

Legislative Affairs – Provides advice and assistance to the President by, among other things, serving as the liaison between the White House and the Congress and developing the strategy used to promote and defend the President's legislative agenda.

Management and Administration – Provides advice and assistance to the President, principally by providing day-to-day administrative support to the White House staff.

Presidential Personnel – Provides advice and assistance to the President, principally by recruiting, screening, and recommending to the President qualified candidates for Presidential appointments to Federal departments and agencies.

Office of the Press Secretary – Provides advice and assistance to the President, principally by providing information to the national and international press and by handling all national press inquiries such as interview requests, requests for transcripts or releases, and travel and scheduling information.

Scheduling – Provides advice and assistance to the President, principally by coordinating the planning, organization, and implementation of the President's daily and long-range schedules.

Office of the Staff Secretary – Provides advice and assistance to the President by, among other things, managing documents or other items addressed to the President, including correspondence and gifts.

Strategic Initiatives – Provides advice and assistance to the President by, among other things, coordinating the planning and development of a long-range strategy for achieving Presidential priorities; conducting research; and assisting in message development and other communications activities in conjunction with the Office of Public Liaison and the Office of Political Affairs.

USA Freedom Corps – Provides advice and assistance to the President on matters relating to enlisting Americans in public service at home and abroad; in particular, it provides advice and support on the work of, and recognizes participants in, three service efforts – the newly created Citizen Corps, AmeriCorps and Senior Corps, and the Peace Corps.

In addition to these major units, certain individuals – including certain individuals who work with the National Security Council, the Domestic Policy Council, and the National Economic Council – are also White House Office officers or employees, although the units within which they principally work are not themselves part of the White House Office.

The major units within the White House Office are administratively designated by the President's Chief of Staff and the number of employees within each unit and the work of each unit vary over time and as circumstances and needs change. Therefore, a detailed breakout of FTEs and OGEs by unit is not particularly meaningful. White House Office obligations, FTE and OGE are summarized below. The Office of Homeland Security is funded under the emergency supplemental this fiscal year, and therefore, the FY 2002 numbers below do not include OHS personnel or funding. FY 2002 estimates for the OHS are addressed separately in response to other committee questions.

The FY 2002 OGEs for the Office of Homeland Security are funded out of the emergency supplemental funding.
FY 2003 includes the 95 OGEs for the Office of Homeland Security requested in the FY 2003 Budget Request.

* FY 2002 obligations for the Office of Homeland Security are funded under the Emergency Supplemental Appropriation

It should be noted that a single budget is prepared for the WHO. This single budget is prepared based on a number of criteria such as: prior spending patterns, estimated requirements, OMB provided inflation factors, and the priorities of the President. During a given execution year, personnel costs are allocated based upon that year's sometimes unique staffing decisions. The remainder of the budget is allocated initially to two WHO offices. The travel budget is allocated in its entirety to Scheduling and Advance and obligated against this office if the travel is done in support of the President. Any travel undertaken that is not in support of a Presidential trip is charged to the office of the staff member in question. The remaining portion of the non-personnel, non-travel budget, including expenses for rent, supplies, equipment and other services is considered overhead and charged as such to the White House Office of Management and Administration.

The only exceptions are the Office of Homeland Security and the USA Freedom Corps Office. Since these are new offices requiring new budget authority, all new obligations (including travel and overhead) anticipated as a result of these offices are reflected in the FY 2003 estimates for these offices.

Hearing Record Reference for question 73:

Question: Referencing the FTE/OGE tables that break-out personnel classifications by type of OGE, please explain why the number of "historically provided" employees decreased so significantly (from 25 to 1) for the Vice President's office between FY2001 and FY2002. Please provide the Subcommittee your definition of each OGE category listed on the table (agency reps, assignees, detailees, HP services, others, student volunteers, WH fellows, PMI). Please also provide a listing of the 15 "historically provided" White House Office positions identified on the FY2002 chart, the White House Office to which these positions are assigned, and the agency that pays the salary of each of the 15 positions.

Answer: The difference in the number of "Historically Provided" employees in the Vice President's Office from FY 2001 to FY 2002 is due to the redesignation of U.S. Senate employees. In FY 2001, the previous administration designated U.S. Senate employees in the Vice President's office as "Historically Provided". This was done in error and it has since been corrected. For FY 2002 and FY 2003, U. S. Senate employees are more accurately designated as "Other" since they do not fit into any other OGE category.

The following chart shows the 15 "Historically Provided" White House Office positions, the associated office and the agency that pays their salaries.

Hearing Record Reference for Question 79:

Question: How many political appointees are currently employed within the Executive Office of the President?

Answer: The term "political appointees" is somewhat of a misnomer because it narrowly defines the type of employees authorized under Chapter 2 of Title 3 of the U.S. Code, for the White House Office, the Executive Residence, the Official Residence of the Vice President and the Office of Administration. These offices can hire personnel in various excepted service positions that are not subject to the rules of regular government employees. Many of these excepted service positions fall under the category of serving at the pleasure of the President while others do not. Using the term in the broadest possible sense, including all employees hired as Presidential Appointees, Administratively Determined, Non Career SES, or Schedule C's, the Executive Office of the President has the following number of political appointees directly hired

Chairman Ernest J. Istook, Jr.
Hearing on the Executive Office of the President
April 30, 2003

Unobligated Balances (POC - Veronica Kitchen)

QUESTION 1: Please provide a listing of all unobligated balances, by fiscal year, appropriation and PPA, for all accounts within the Executive Office of the President. Please also show the original appropriation levels for these accounts.

Consolidation of Accounts (POC- Al Muhlbauer)

QUESTION 2: Sections 105 and 106 of title 3 U. S. Code describe expenses that may be accounted for solely on the certificate of the President and Vice President, respectively. Most of these expenses correspond to particular accounts. The Comptroller General may inspect documents related to these expenditures, but solely to verify that the expenditures were made for allowed purposes. When we asked last year how certified expenses would be identified for audit within a consolidated appropriation, the response was that the certification requirements would continue to be observed (p. 41). This does not answer the question of how the account structure will be maintained to provide an identifiable and auditable crosswalk between title 3-certifiable expenses and other expenses within the consolidated appropriation.

RESPONSE: As presented in the Congressional Budget Submission pages 4, 5, and 6, the Executive Office of the President (EOP) has established a Budget Activity structure that is consistent, beginning with the budget submission and extending through the accounting and reporting phases. The EOP accounting system will track and report obligations and expenditures consistent with this structure through the use of budget activity, program, sub-program, and line item codes assigned to each transaction. EOP has the ability to provide an identifiable and auditable crosswalk to the individual transactions authorized under sections 105 and 106 of Title 3 of the United States Code.

QUESTION 3: Please provide a listing of all appropriations language enacted in Public Law 108-7 which would be dropped in the proposed account consolidation, and provide a brief explanation of why that language is not necessary.

RESPONSE: The following appropriations in Public Law 108-7: Compensation of the President, White House Office Salaries and Expenses, Office of Homeland Security, Executive Residence at the White House, White House Repair and Restoration, Council of Economic Advisers, Office of Policy Development, National Security Council, Office of Administration would be combined into one appropriation entitled "The White House". The individual language in Public Law 108-7 for each of those appropriations would be removed. However, suggested language for the combined appropriation is provided in the Appendix to the FY 2004 Budget (page 881) and states: "For the Compensation of the President and White House Office (including the Office of Homeland Security), Executive Residence, White House Repair and Restoration, Office of Policy and Development, Office of Administration, Council of Economic Advisers and the National Security Council, (hereinafter, and solely for the purposes of Title VI of this Act, "the White House"), $183,770,000, of which $24,803,000 shall remain available until expended, including compensation for the President, including an expense allowance of $50,000 as authorized by U.S.C. 102; for travel expense of $100,000 as authorized by 3 U.S.C. 103; for necessary expenses for the White House as authorized by 5 U.S.C. 3109 and 3 U.S.C. 105; for the necessary expenses of the Executive Residence at the White House as authorized by 3 U.S.C. 105,109,110, and 112-114; for the necessary expenses of the Offices and Councils in the White House account as authorized by 5 U.S.C. 3109, 15 U.S.C. 1021, and 3 U.S.C. 105 and 107 (including not to exceed $19,000 for official reception and representation expenses); and for the hire of passenger motor vehicles: Provided, That none of the funds made available to the President for official expenses shall be expended for any other purpose and any unused portion of such funds shall revert to the Treasury pursuant to 31 U.S.C. 1552: Provided further, That no such funds shall be considered as taxable to the President: Provided further, That advances or repayments or transfers from this appropriation may be made to any department or agency for expenses of carrying out such activities."

The suggested language, with the exception of a consolidated appropriation amount incorporates the same restrictions and clarifications as contained the language contained in the Public Law 108-7 for the appropriations being consolidated. The appropriations for Vice President's Salaries and Expense, Vice President's Residence Operating Expenses, Office of Management and Budget, Office of National Drug Control Policy, Unanticipated Needs will remain separate appropriations and will therefore not require any language changes as a result of the combination.

The White House (Consolidated Account) (POC – Chuck Sigman)

QUESTION 4: You are requesting $12,302,000 for object class 23.3 (communications, utilities, and miscellaneous services) in FY 2004. This is a large increase over the estimated $7,010,000 for FY 2003. What accounts for the increase?

RESPONSE: The FY 2004 White House (WH) consolidated budget net increase of $5,292,000 for communications is required in three major areas:

- Most of the increase ($4,420,000) is needed in the OA Capital Investment Plan for offsite data center communications. This facility will transition into full operation during FY 2004. The telecommunications between the offsite data center and the EOP complex are necessary to provide expanded, survivable and redundant connectivity, continuity of operations, disaster recovery and system support. These costs include funds for telecommunications lines, two additional

DS-3 data paths, two T-1 lines, and backups to provide the communications bandwidth necessary for servicing the EOP complex.

- $482,000 in the White House Office budget to provide a custom communications package which will enable the Homeland Security Council to establish a presence for its staff within the White House Situation Room.

- $100,000 for information assurance in the OA salaries/expenses budget. In addition to the Offsite Data Center project, the OA FY 2004 budget also includes a request for an additional $100,000 for the information assurance program in the FY 2004 salaries/expenses account. This program will enable the CIO office to correct vulnerabilities in the EOP information security perimeter to secure internal systems, to perform real-time monitoring of perimeter network devices.

- $151,000 in transfers of Lexis-Nexis database costs from nonconsolidated entities to the consolidated White House appropriation. The FY 2004 budget envisions that $72,000 will be transferred from USTR, $56,000 from ONDCP, $15,000 from OMB, and $8,000 from CEQ so that the EOP can have a single funding source for EOP-wide Lexis-Nexis service.

- $139,000 for adjustments to maintain the same level of services for the base funding during FY 2004. This is calculated on the basis of the $7,010,000 in FY 2003 funding.

Rental Pricing (POC – Chuck Sigman)

QUESTION 5: The FY 2004 justifications state that, over the past year, EOP, GSA, and OMB have undertaken an assessment of space rental costs for all EOP entities. The result of this analysis is that the FY 2004 request includes additional funding to accommodate an "EOP average" rental rate. Please provide details of how this analysis was conducted, and specify the estimated rental rates for the various EOP entities, as determined by this analysis.

RESPONSE: The EOP space rental project began during the summer of 2002 at the request of OMB's budget examiners, who were working to ensure that EOP entities moved to the same market-based rent methodology used to determine space rental rates for GSA's other Federal properties. OMB requested that GSA and EOP review the space rental costs for each EOP property and each EOP entity so that the most up-to-date costs available were included in the FY 2004 budget proposal. Another significant concern in this project is to ensure that GSA will work with the EOP to ensure that the critical needs of the EOP are funded and executed.

As a result of the initial project, OA and GSA began a series of meetings which culminated in the space estimates which were included in the budget. GSA staff prepared a comprehensive listing of EOP properties, which itemized the space occupied by each

EOP entity. This listing included commercial and government-owned space, current estimates of rentable square footage, and the annual rental rate per square foot. EOP staff provided updated estimates of the rentable square footage.

During this process, GSA blended the fair-market rates for the permanent EOP buildings into a single blended rate. This was done to simplify the administrative work when EOP staff are relocated. This is especially needed in the post-9/11 environment's unusually high number of large-scale EOP entity relocations driven by security considerations as well as the result of the legislation creating the Department of Homeland Security. The EOP average rental rate for Federally-owned properties (New Executive Office Building (NEOB), Eisenhower Executive Office Building (OEOB), White House, Winder Building, Jackson Place) is $29.60 annually per square foot. GSA adds an additional building security charge for buildings which are not protected by the US Secret Service. The average rental rates used to determine each entity's budget estimate for office space are as follows:

Entity	Locations	Owned or Leased	Average Rental Rate
OMB	EEOB, NEOB	owned	$29.60/sf
CEQ	EEOB	owned	$29.60

QUESTION 6: By EOP office, please provide FTE and OGE, similar in format to the tables found on pages 111 and 112 of last year's hearing record. Please provide data for FY 2002 through 2004.

RESPONSE: The following tables provide the total FY 2002 actual, FY 2003 and FY 2004, estimates for full time equivalents (FTE) and other government employees (OGE) for each EOP and other entity as of May 5, 2003. The OGE numbers are itemized by category on the following page. The FY 2003 numbers have the Office of Homeland Security in a separate category, which accordingly decreased the White House numbers. The FY 2003 and FY 2004 numbers are estimates only and are therefore subject to change.

Office of Homeland Security (POC – Paul Ehrhardt)

QUESTION 9: Your FY 2004 budget requests $8,331,000 for the Office of Homeland Security. Please provide an object class breakdown of those costs and compare them to FY 2003 estimated levels.

RESPONSE: The Office of Homeland Security was created by the President on October 8, 2001, via Executive Order 13228 and serves as and is synonymous with the staff of the Homeland Security Council (HSC). An object class breakdown of estimated HSC costs in FY 2003 and FY 2004 is provided in the table below. Please note that the FY 2003 estimate covers only costs incurred after the enactment of the FY 2003 appropriation on February 20, 2003. Unlike other EOP offices which operated under continuing resolutions between October 1, 2003 and February 20, 2003, the Office of Homeland Security was not permitted to utilize the CR funding mechanism but instead continued to charge FY 2003 expenses against the no-year emergency funding (provided in FY2002) until the FY 2003 appropriation was enacted. Therefore the FY 2003 estimate reflects only seven months of activity, whereas the FY 2004 Request needs to cover HSC expenses for the full 12 months next fiscal year.

(Dollars in Thousands)	FY 2003 Appropriation	FY 2003 Estimate*	FY 2004 Request	2004 Request - 2003 Estimate
Homeland Security Council:
Personnel	$4,403	$2,800	$5,550	$2,750
Travel	$300	$60	$588	$528
Transportation of Things	$24	$24	$10	-$14
Rent	$0	$0	$200	$200
Communications, Utilities, and Misc.	$209	$50	$1,080	$1,030
Printing and Reproduction	$69	$69	$50	-$19
Other Services	$3,267	$1,267	$528	-$739
Supplies and Materials	$0		$175	$175
Equipment	$0	$50	$150	$100
Subtotal	$8,272	$4,320	$8,331	$4,011

* FY 2003 Estimate covers only seven months vs. FY 2004 Request covering full 12 months

Rent was included in the Office of Administration budget in FY 2003, and is moved back to the Homeland Security Council in FY 2004. The Communications object class in FY 2004 includes funding to provide a custom communications package to establish an interface for the Homeland Security Council within the White House Situation Room. Supplies and Materials and Equipment object classes both were funded out of the Office of Administration Pilot Program in FY 2003 but show budgets in HSC for FY 2004.

QUESTION 10: In particular, how much are you requesting in FY 2004 for professional contracts, and how does that compare to the estimated FY 2003 level?

REV_00169373

RESPONSE: In FY 2004 HSC is requesting $528,000 for Other Services compared with $3,267,000 appropriated for the same category in FY 2003. The decrease is due to the creation of the Department of Homeland Security as the President's Security as the President's advisors and as the staff of HSC. Anticipated contractual needs in FY 2004 include maintenance, upgrades, and technical support for the classified computer network that will be extended to include HSC staff in FY 2003.

QUESTION 11: How many FTE and FTP are you requesting for this office in FY 2004, and how do these figures compare to current FY 2003 estimates and actuals for FY 2002?

RESPONSE: HSC is requesting resources to support 40 direct hire FTE and 26 Other Government Employees on its staff to fill the 66 positions HSC is projecting for FY 2004.

Office of Homeland Security / Homeland Security Council Personnel

	FY 2002 Actual	FY 2003 Estimate	FY 2004 Request
Direct Hire FTE	31	40	40
Other Government Employees (EOY headcount)	89	26	26
Total Personnel	120	66	66

QUESTION 12: How many positions in the office are filled today, and how many are vacant?

RESPONSE: As of May 15, 2003, 51 positions are filled and 15 are vacant.

QUESTION 13: Please provide a table comparing the number of detailees to OHS, by federal agency, for each of the fiscal years 2002 through 2004 (estimated).

RESPONSE: The table below provides the number other government employees assigned to the Homeland Security Council.

QUESTION 14: How many detailees are on board today?

RESPONSE: As of May 15, 2003, there are 18 detailees on board at the Homeland Security Council.

QUESTION 15: Please provide a list of all positions in OHS, showing the incumbent's name, rate of annual salary, and position title. Please annotate any positions which are currently vacant.

RESPONSE: The President is authorized to appoint and fix pay of any member of the White House Staff without regard to any provision of law related to employees of the federal government. The individuals employed by the President represent a broad spectrum of experience and expertise and have been engaged to perform tasks ranging from clerical/support to complex, technical, scientific, medical, legal and other missions

QUESTION 16: Please update the OHS organizational chart found on page 50 of last year's hearing record.

RESPONSE: The chart below shows the current Homeland Security Council's organization.

REV_00169378

REV_00169379

QUESTION 17: Please update the information shown on pages 44 through 47 of last year's hearing record concerning Office of Homeland Security travel. In addition to the information provided last year, please provide a brief descriptor of the travel purpose.

RESPONSE: All travel was conducted as part of the duties of the Office of Homeland Security and as such is considered official travel. The President and the Assistant to the President for Homeland Security have regularly stated that the homeland will not be secure unless the Federal government works closely with state and local officials. Official trips were approved for various purposes including the attendance of various conferences, to holding of meetings with state and local officials and the holding of town hall meetings. The HSC considers travel to different states and cities as a vital part of its mission.

The table below is an update to the travel information provided to Congress last year.

QUESTION 18: Currently, OHS costs are included in both the WHO and OA appropriations. Is that also the case in the FY 2004 request? If so, please provide a table, by appropriation, showing total OHS budgeted costs, for each of the fiscal years 2002 through 2004.

RESPONSE: For FY 2003, although funds were requested as part of the WHO budget activity, the Office of Homeland Security received for the first time its own appropriation, separate from the WHO appropriation. Funds supporting OHS / HSC requirements in FY 2003 were provided also to OA as part of the OA Pilot program. The FY 2004 Request identifies all requirements for OHS / HSC in the WHO Budget Activity, since the OA Pilot program is not certain to continue after FY 2003. See table below:

(Dollars in Thousands)

	Congressional Appropriations
	FY 2002 Enacted*	FY 2003 Enacted	FY 2004 Request
OHS / HSC	$30,800	$8,272	$8,331
OA		$778
	$30,800	$9,050	$8,331

*FY 2002 budget for OHS was based on the OHS mission and funding profile prior to the establishment of DHS and was provided by 3 sources of emergency appropriated funds: P.L. 107-38 for $25,000,000; P.L.107-117 for $2,000,000; and P.L. 107-206 for $3,800,000.

QUESTION 19: Last year, it was stated that one MOU existed between OHS and other EOP entities (p. 51). Please provide a copy of the MOU between MOU and the Office of Science and Technology Policy.

RESPONSE: The MOU between OHS and OSTP expired with the creation of the Department of Homeland Security as relevant responsibilities transferred from OHS to DHS, pursuant to the Homeland Security Act of November, 2002.

QUESTION 20: Have any other MOUs been signed since that time?

RESPONSE: A MOU between the Homeland Security Council and the National Security Council/White House Situation Support Staff was signed in May, 2003 providing for the expansion of NSC's classified computer network to include approved HSC staff with necessary security clearances.

In addition standard interagency agreements were signed between OHS/HSC and the Office of Administration (OA) and OMB to pay for detailees from these EOP entities to OHS/HSC and separately between OHS/HSC and OA to pay for miscellaneous supplies and materials.

QUESTION 21: At this time last year, OHS planned to establish a coordination center which would function 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, using a communications room and two incident management rooms. At the same time, the Administration made clear that the role of OHS was to establish and coordinate policy, and not to conduct operational activities. With the establishment of the Department of Homeland Security, have these specific activities been descoped or eliminated?

RESPONSE: The role of the Homeland Security Council is to advise and assist the President, develop and coordinate the implementation of the National Strategy for Homeland Security to secure the United States from terrorist threats and attacks, and to help coordinate policy across the departments and agencies of the executive branch. The Homeland Security Council does not conduct operational activities. The Homeland Security Council does not operate a coordination center. With the establishment of the Department of Homeland Security, DHS is the lead federal agency for incident management. As such, DHS operates a Homeland Security Center with 24 hour/7 days per week coordination and communications capabilities. Those functions do not reside in the Homeland Security Council.

QUESTION 22: How many positions support these activities in the FY 2004 request, and what is the total budgeted amount?

RESPONSE: The FY 2004 budget will not fund any personnel or activities related to the DHS coordination center. However, virtually every member of the HSC staff has responsibilities to support and advise the President regarding incident response efforts, continuity of government and related coordination roles on behalf of the President.

QUESTION 23: How are such activities appropriate for a policymaking body, when DHS now exists to coordinate and execute operational activities related to specific homeland security incidents and activities?

RESPONSE: Just as the NSC was created by Congress in 1947 in the same act which created the Department of Defense and the CIA, Congress established the HSC within the EOP by statute at the same time as it created the Department of Homeland Security. The role of the Homeland Security Council is to advise and assist the President, develop and coordinate the implementation of the National Strategy for Homeland Security to secure the United States from terrorist threats and attacks, and to help coordinate policy across the departments and agencies of the executive branch. The Homeland Security Council does not conduct operational activities. The Homeland Security Council does not operate a coordination center. With the establishment of the Department of Homeland Security, DHS is the lead federal agency for incident management. As such, DHS operates a Homeland Security Center with 24 hour/7 days per week coordination and communications capabilities. Those functions do not reside in the Homeland Security Council.

QUESTION 24: At the time of last year's hearing, the permanent location and amount of space for the President's Critical Infrastructure Protection Board had not been determined (p. 77). Have these requirements been determined today?

REV_00169397

RESPONSE: The President's Critical Infrastructure Protection Board (PCIPB) no longer exists at the White House. Executive Order 13228, which created the PCIPB, was amended. Congress through the Homeland Security Act created within Department of Homeland Security the Directorate for Information Analysis and Infrastructure Protection (IAIP). One of the responsibilities of the IAIP directorate is the important issue of critical infrastructure protection. This is a robust directorate led by an under secretary.

QUESTION 25: Likewise, total CIPB staffing had not been determined. Do you have an estimate today? What staffing assumptions were made in the FY 2004 budget submission?

RESPONSE: The President's Critical Infrastructure Protection Board (PCIPB) no longer exists at the White House. Executive Order 13228, which created the PCIPB, was amended. Congress through the Homeland Security Act created within Department of Homeland Security the Directorate for Information Analysis and Infrastructure Protection (IAIP). One of the responsibilities of the IAIP directorate is the important issue of critical infrastructure protection. This is a robust directorate led by an under secretary.

QUESTION 26: How much funding is included in the FY 2004 request for CIPB, and how does that compare to the current estimate for FY 2003?

RESPONSE: The President's Critical Infrastructure Protection Board (PCIPB) no longer exists at the White House. Executive Order 13228, which created the PCIPB, was amended. Congress through the Homeland Security Act created within Department of Homeland Security the Directorate for Information Analysis and Infrastructure Protection (IAIP). One of the responsibilities of the IAIP directorate is the important issue of critical infrastructure protection. This is a robust directorate led by an under secretary.

QUESTION 27: Please provide a breakdown showing how those funds would be used.

RESPONSE: The President's Critical Infrastructure Protection Board (PCIPB) no longer exists at the White House. Executive Order 13228, which created the PCIPB, was amended. Congress through the Homeland Security Act created within Department of Homeland Security the Directorate for Information Analysis and Infrastructure Protection (IAIP). QUESTION 28: Please provide details on any government-industry partnerships that have been created in support of cyber security initiatives coordinated by, or carried out, through EOP or the CIPB.

RESPONSE: In 2002, the President's Critical Infrastructure Protection Board developed a National Strategy to Secure Cyberspace. To encourage broader participation and input into the development process, a draft strategy was released for public comment in September 2002. In addition, the PCIPB requested the National Infrastructure Assurance Council and the National Security Telecommunications Advisory Committee both provide comments on the draft strategy. Furthermore, there were 10 town hall meetings held in various portions of the country which brought industry, academia and private citizens together to focus on the complex issues related to cyber security. The final strategy thus integrated extensive public and industry comments and was released in February 2003.

The National Strategy to Secure Cyberspace emphasizes that government-industry partnerships will be a cornerstone to success. As the primary implementer of the Strategy, DHS will be a partner with industry and academia to accomplish the objectives identified by the President's strategy.

National Security Council (POC – Katherine Fertakis)

QUESTION 29: Your request includes a 10.8 percent increase to cover reimbursable detailee costs and additional support staff for the President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board. Please explain the need for these increases in detail.

RESPONSE: The requested increase covers reimbursable detailee costs of personnel from the Department of State. The National Security Council (NSC) may request detailed personnel performing at a high level in high priority positions to remain beyond their initial tour of duty because of their unique qualifications. The NSC is required to reimburse the Department of State for details to NSC that exceed the cap of 13 detailed into their second year and for all staff detailed longer than two years per Public Law 93-126. The FY 2003 increase in this category estimates for details becoming reimbursable during the Spring and the Summer. The FY 2004 increase represents an annualization of the expenses, minus the cost for the details that will not be renewed.

Since the events of September 11, 2001, the PFIAB support staff workload has been significantly increased and consumed by the homeland security effort. Thus far about 95% of the Board's current advisory work for the President has been directly related to homeland security and counter-terrorism. (Intelligence performance thereon, and support to the new department of homeland security) With only 4 staff members and an already overflowing Board work schedule, work on other important PFIAB priorities has been deferred—such as declassification review of PFIAB archived records. At least three additional staff members, including a GS-14 administrative manager, will be needed to adequately meet support requirements as the Board expands its review of intelligence support to homeland security beyond the more immediate structural and organizational issues, and also re-engages the more general intelligence performance issues across the full spectrum of pressing issues. The FY 2004 request includes $250,000 which will fund two reimbursable detailed staff members and one permanent, Schedule A, Excepted Service, GS-14 administrative management position.

QUESTION 30: What are the dollar and percentage increases for each of the above items, compared to the FY 2003 estimated levels?

RESPONSE: The FY 2004 request for NSC reimbursable detailees represents an increase of $356,000, or 64%, over the FY 2003 estimated levels. The PFIAB increase of $250,000 will be 100% above the FY 2003 request since this is a new requirement for FY 2004.

QUESTION 31: The justifications indicate that 11 additional positions are being added to this office in FY 2003, raising the estimated from 60 in FY 2002 to an estimated 71 in FY 2003. What specific positions are being created?

RESPONSE: The 11 additional positions, which raise NSC's FTE from 60 to 71, are not new positions. In FY 2003, the Office for Combating Terrorism (OCT) was combined with the NSC budget request. The increased FTE request correlates with the continued funding for and operation of the OCT as a part of the NSC submission.

QUESTION 32: The FY 2004 request includes funds for a new GS-14 administrative manager for the PFIAB. Why is this new position needed at this time?

RESPONSE: PFIAB requires a permanent administrative position for continuity as well as efficiency reasons. The administrative staff constitutes the lifeblood of the Board: it fulfills all of the support responsibilities, including human resource management, budget, travel, procurement, research, publishing, protocol, and special assistance to the Executive Director, Chair and Vice Chair. With only two administrative people on staff, it is absolutely critical that both individuals be fully knowledgeable about and highly experienced at White House administrative policies, procedures and guidelines; equally important, both must possess highly honed administrative skills and be extremely efficient, effective and professionally dedicated.

The Board simply cannot attain this level of experience and competence by relying on detailees from other agencies, particularly non-reimbursed detailees. More often than not, we must accept whomever an agency can make available. Therefore, the Board will use this one permanent administrative billet to create a PFIAB office manager position. This individual not only will provide continuity of expertise and experience, but also will ensure that the other administrative person obtains the proper professional mentoring and supervision. We plan to make this a GS-14 position, but may start the individual we select at the GS-13 level to allow for personal advancement...and thereby also ensuring, hopefully, a fairly long term of service to the Board.

Office of National Drug Control Policy (POC – Michelle Marx)

QUESTION 33: You are requesting 10 additional FTE in FY 2004 to replace 10 non-reimbursable detailees who are no longer available. Why are these positions no longer available, and what are the specific positions?

RESPONSE: ONDCP's FY 2004 request includes resources to support 125 FTEs, an increase of 10 FTEs over the FY 2003 request. This FTE increase is requested to offset the loss of approximately 20 - 25 of the 30 non-reimbursable military detailee positions the Department of Defense has supported at ONDCP since 1996. (The Department of Defense, as outlined in a December 28, 2001 memorandum, has adopted a general policy that approves of requests for details only on a reimbursable basis, with limited exceptions.)

This 10 FTE increase, along with distributing additional responsibilities among existing staff, will allow ONDCP to absorb the detailee staffing loss and meet its statutory responsibilities. The specific positions would be appointed within the following offices: Planning and Budget; State and Local Affairs; Intelligence; and Supply Reduction.

Renovation of the Eisenhower Executive Office Building (POC – Steve Beattie)

QUESTION 34: What is the status of funding provided in FY 2002 and 2003? Please provide a breakdown of funding by the type of activity or renovation performed.

RESPONSE: 34: The General Service Administration has used FY 2002 Emergency Response Funds in the amount of $1,674,000 for starting the Architects' and Engineers' design contract for the 17th Street Wing Security Modernization Project. GSA is currently in the process of reprogramming $7,500,000 for FY 2003 for design, management and inspection. The FY 2003 reprogramming is required to complete the Design/Build/Bridging documents and assist in managing the Design/Build/Bridging efforts.

QUESTION 35: How much remains unobligated, by appropriation?

RESPONSE: 35: The General Services Administration (GSA) awarded a portion of the design cost in the amount of $1,537,173 utilizing the FY 2002 Emergency Response Fund. $136,827 remains unobligated. GSA has not obligated any FY 2003 funding.

QUESTION 36: Please provide a detailed breakdown showing how funds requested in the GSA budget for FY 2004 would be used.

RESPONSE: 36: The following is a break down on how the funds will be used in FY 2004:

REV_00169401

Major Work Items:
Electrical System	$ 10,244,000
Air conditioning system, chillers and piping	$ 12,530,000
Interior Construction	$ 13,163,000
Utility Vault (includes foundation construction)	$ 22,107,000
Window Blast Mitigation	$ 4,685,000
Mansard Roof Hardening	$ 802,000
Estimated Construction Cost (ECC)	$ 63,531,000
Management and Inspection	$ 2,226,000
Authorization Requested (ECC, M&I)	$ 65,757,000

QUESTION 37: Please provide a detailed schedule for activities planned in FY 2004.

RESPONSE: 37: The design/build/bridging contract is scheduled to be awarded in March 2004. The current schedule for the project is as follows:

Design Award:	04/03
Design/Build/Bridging Procurement Start:	09/03
A/E Bridging Documents Complete:	10/03
Design/Build/Bridging Contract Award:	03/04
Construction Complete:	06/06

QUESTION 38: How much are you currently paying GSA for the unoccupied space along the 17th Street side of EEOB, and how much rental cost are you incurring for the new locations where relocated employees are working?

RESPONSE: We are not paying for the unoccupied space along the 17th Street side of the EEOB in FY2003. Employees were relocated to 1800 G. Street where FY 2004 rental costs are estimated at $4,978,000 and to 1801 Pennsylvania Avenue where the FY 2004 rental costs are estimated at $792,000. Both rental cost estimates exclude parking space costs.

Executive Residence (POC – Worthington White)

QUESTION 39: Please provide a table, corresponding to the projects on page 81 of last year's hearing record, showing the original appropriation for each project, the amount obligated to date, and the project status. This involves projects funded in fiscal year 2002.

RESPONSE: The following table provides funding information on the FY 2002 projects.

REV_00169402

Executive Residence at the White House
FY2002 White House Repair and Restoration

Project	Original Appropriation	Obligated To Date	Status of Project
Pool Shelter Roof Reconstruction and Pool Deck Renovation	$430,000	$412,926	This project is completed, with only minor punch list items and related recurring maintenance items to be funded from the remaining funds.
Communication System Repairs/Phase 2*	$456,667 $4,544,000	$155,872	Modifications to the original design under Phase I (FY2001) are completed. The pre-bid meeting with prospective contractors is scheduled for mid-May, with contract award by late June, and construction commending by late July.
East and West Wing Exterior Restoration	$2,500,000	$2,398,433	The restoration is underway, all Phase I funds will be utilized this year.
Insulated Windows Replacement	$160,000	$162	The prototype utilizing historically accurate reproduction glass is in production, with manufacturing of actual replacement units expected to begin in June. Installation to be begin in August.
Kitchen Floor Replacement	$75,000	$60,815	This project is nearing completion with the remaining funds to be utilized for utility work.
North Portico Curtain Wall	$120,000	$106,751	The project is completed with remaining funds required to purchase spare parts inventory.
Stone Pavers Restoration	$277,000	$220,082	The project is currently underway and is scheduled for completion by September 2003.
West Colonnade Restoration	$275,000	$0	Planning has recently been completed; work will be accomplished in August and early September 2003.

*For the Comunication System Repairs/Phase 2 project, $456,667 was funded in FY 2001 for Architect and Engineering. The remaining $4,544,000 was for construction.

QUESTION 40: Please provide a listing of the 95 FTE positions at the Executive Residence requested for funding in FY 2004, showing the position title and the annual salary level.

QUESTION 41: The justifications (p. 67) indicate an estimated unobligated balance of $7,023,000 in this appropriation at the beginning of FY 2003. Please explain the sources of this balance, and provide a schedule for obligation of increments of those funds.

RESPONSE: The majority ($4,388,127) of the unobligated funds are associated with the Communication System Repairs/Phase 2 which was delayed to unanticipated design requirements. The schedule for completion and obligation of all FY2002 projects is detailed in the table below.

Executive Residence at the White House
FY2002 White House Repair and Restoration

Project	Original Appropriation	Obligated To Date	Status of Project
Pool Shelter Roof Reconstruction and Pool Deck Renovation	$430,000	$412,926	This project is completed, with only minor punch list items and related recurring maintenance items to be funded from the remaining funds.
Communication System Repairs/Phase 2*	$456,667 $4,544,000	$155,872	Modifications to the original design under Phase I (FY2001) are completed. The pre-bid meeting with prospective contractors is scheduled for mid-May, with contract award by late June, and construction commending by late July.
East and West Wing Exterior Restoration	$2,500,000	$2,398,433	The restoration is underway, all Phase I funds will be utilized this year.
Insulated Windows Replacement	$160,000	$162	The prototype utilizing historically accurate reproduction glass is in production, with manufacturing of actual replacement units expected to begin in June. Installation to be begin in August.
Kitchen Floor Replacement	$75,000	$60,815	This project is nearing completion with the remaining funds to be utilized for utility work.
North Portico Curtain Wall	$120,000	$106,751	The project is completed with remaining funds required to purchase spare parts inventory.
Stone Pavers Restoration	$277,000	$220,082	The project is currently underway and is scheduled for completion by September 2003.
West Colonnade Restoration	$275,000	$0	Planning has recently been completed; work will be accomplished in August and early September 2003.

*For the Comunication System Repairs/Phase 2 project, $456,667 was funded in FY 2001 for Architect and Engineering. The remaining $4,544,000 was for construction.

As of this date, there are also 5 projects which have balances prior to FY 2002. They are as follows:

FY1996 – Roof Repair – balance of $9,227. These funds will be expended as needed for ongoing maintenance and corrective measures.

FY1998 – Repair/restoration of the Laundry Room – balance of $26,616. Purchase of replacement equipment and maintenance of equipment to be expended in FY2003.

REV_00169405

FY2000 – Purchase and Install Two Ironers – balance of $5,754. These funds will be expended to replace the drive belts in FY2003.

FY2000 – Renovation of Paint Shop – balance of $38,271. Funds will be used to purchase and update equipment to meet EPA and OSHA requirements in FY2003.

FY2000 – Third Floor Promenade – balance of $11,392. Funds will be expended to rehab and replace drainage system in late FY2003 or early FY2004.

White House Repair and Restoration (POC – Dennis Freemyer)

QUESTION 42: You are requesting $4,225,000 for repairs and restoration of the White House. Is there additional funding in the National Park Service budget or elsewhere in the President's budget request for FY 2004 for similar activities at the White House?

RESPONSE: There are no other budget requests for the same activities at the White House.

QUESTION 43: Of this request, $3,500,000 is for restoration of the east and west wing exterior. Please provide a detailed discussion and breakdown of this request.

RESPONSE: The funding requested is for the continuation (2nd phase) of the East and West Wing Restoration project, the first being funded in FY'02. This is consistent with the original planning for the execution of this project based on the experience of the completed Executive Residence Exterior Restoration completed in 1996. A breakdown of major work items follows:

Estimated Construction Costs:

Mobilization, scaffolding, rental equipment	150,000
Stone, stucco, wood restoration, insulated glass	1,580,000
Paint removal	1,660,000
Effluent/hazardous material disposal	150,000
Specialized window film including installation	400,000
Specialized stucco coating including installation	550,000
Painting	500,000
Site Restoration	260,000
Design, project management, project supervision, testing	350,000
Contingency	400,000
Estimated Total Cost	$6,000,000
FY 2002 Funding	$2,500,000
FY 2004 Funding Request	$3,500,000

Pennsylvania Avenue Improvements (POC – Steve Beattie)

QUESTION 44: What is the total estimated cost of security and street improvements on Pennsylvania Avenue in front of the White House, for which funds were provided in FY 2003?

RESPONSE: This project is to be funded by the Federal Highway Administration (FHWA). The total estimated cost of security and street improvements on Pennsylvania Avenue in front of the White House is currently $26.1 million. The information below breaks out the estimated FY 2003 costs for the project.

Project Activity	Projected FY 2003 Obligations
Preliminary Activities
Verification and Concept Studies	$ 605,150
Design Activities
Ground Survey and Mapping	$ 57,524
Subsurface Utility Survey	$ 149,682
Environmental Documentation	$ 75,000
Final Design (Consultant)	$ 1,300,000
Crash Testing	$ 350,000
FHWA Contract Administration	$ 100,000
Design Contingency	$ 262,644
Construction Activities
Construction Contract	$ 18,500,000
Utility Construction	$ 1,500,000
FHWA Contract Administration	$ 1,700,000
MVVA Construction Assistance	$ 500,000
Construction Contingency	$ 1,000,000
Grand Totals	$26,100,000

QUESTION 45: What is the status of that project? When will FY 2003 funds be obligated?

RESPONSE: 45: The status of the security and street improvements on Pennsylvania Avenue is as follows -

- Project's status is an ongoing iterative process as the Design team receives comments from the public and the various stakeholders on surrounding sites.
- Under the National Environmental Policy Act, the final public information meeting for the Environmental Impact Assessment was held on May 5, 2003, which is the last step before the final report is issued the week of May 27, 2003. It is expected that the report's concluding statement will find no significant impact.

- The design team is in the pre-design stage.
- The engineers are currently in the design stage for utility relocation in the project's vicinity.
- The Section 106 review as required by the Secretary of the Interior under the Historic Preservation Act is underway and will develop a Memorandum of Agreement in June 2003, which will address issues regarding the design details. The Section 106 review occurs when a project utilizing federal funds may have an effect upon natural, environmental, or cultural resources and looks at mitigation of any adverse effects to those resources.
- $1.5 million is expected to be obligated at the end of August or early September 2003 to start the utility relocation on Pennsylvania Avenue and at the north ends of Jackson and Madison Places.
- Arrangements have already been made for procurement of the trees to be used on the Avenue since it will require root and limb pruning over two calendar years prior to installation on the Avenue. The trees will be installed after inaugural events in the spring of 2005.
- Approximately, $2,675,000 has been obligated to date (under contract). The remaining $3,685,000 will be obligated within the next six months to have the construction contract awarded by the end of September or early October 2003.

QUESTION 46: How much funding is requested for this project in FY 2004, and where is it located in the budget?

RESPONSE: $15 million has been set aside under the Department of the Interior bill for FY 2004. However, discussions have been held between the Federal Highway Administration and EOP staff to make the money available for contract award this fiscal year. Discussions have included placing FY 2004 monies into the FY 2003 supplemental appropriation. With the highway legislation pending, there could be a delay in getting the funding moved into the supplemental appropriation to allow the project to get underway.

QUESTION 47: What is the schedule for studies of traffic congestion mitigation alternatives in the vicinity of the White House, as funded in FY 2003?

RESPONSE: The project administrators met with EOP staff on May 8, 2003 to begin outlining the scope of the study and a plan to involve the District of Columbia government and neighborhood stakeholders. A schedule for the study has not been developed, but will be prepared in the next three months.

REV_00169408

Remote Data Center (POC – Carlos Solari)

QUESTION 48: What is the status of establishment today of the remote data center?

RESPONSE: The remote data center project is on schedule and on budget. The project began last summer by conducting a systems development lifecycle analysis to determine and recommend the location for the facility. From this analysis, EOP decided on building the data center at a hardened FEMA facility located in Maryland. The project is being co-managed with FEMA and was established with three phases: (1) infrastructure build-out of the hardened facility (power, air handlers, etc), (2) construction of the data center itself (cabling, raised flooring, etc), and (3) the transition of EOP data systems (telecommunications, servers, etc). The project is approximately halfway through completion for the first two phases with a scheduled opening (initial operational capability) date of September 2003. The transition phase is on schedule preparing the systems and will proceed to begin the transfer September 2003 – with a planned transition of 12 months for all systems. The following chart shows the funding of the remote data center from FY 2002 thru FY 2004.

	FY 2002	FY 2003	FY 2004
CIP	$15,000,000	$5,000,000	$8,403,000
Total	$15,000,000	$5,000,000	$8,403,000

QUESTION 49: Last year, you estimated annual operating costs of this facility to be $7,500,000 (p. 88). Is that your current estimate?

RESPONSE: Last year OA provided a rough estimate of $7,500,000 for the future annual operating cost of the new data center facility. This was based upon the following estimated costs:

- $1,500,000 in communications to maintain connectivity for the EOP,
- $600,000 in space rental,
- $450,000 for hardware maintenance,
- $1,300,000 for software maintenance,
- $2,600,000 for contractor services,
- $300,000 for supplies/components,
- $75,000 for equipment, and
- $675,000 in salaries/benefits.

While most of these estimates remain valid, OA must revise the estimate for space rental to $1,258,000, bringing the revised estimated annual operating costs for the facility to $8,158,000.

REV_00169409

QUESTION 50: Your FY 2004 request includes $8,403,000 to transition the remote data center to full operational status (p. 75). What specific activities are required in FY 2004 to accomplish this? Can you provide a breakdown of the FY 2004 request consistent with these activities?

RESPONSE: The following table lists the FY2004 CIP funds requested for the completion of the remote data center construction and initial year operating costs.

Object Class	Object Class Title	Requested Funding ($ in 000)	Description
23.0	Space Rental Payments	$1,258	This estimate reflects $1,258,000 in rental for the offsite data center and will be the initial rent to be paid for the offsite data center. This cost was previously funded from emergency funds.
23.3	Communications, utilities, and miscellaneous charges	$4,420	$4,420,000 is for CIP networking/ telecommunications projects at the offsite data center. These projects include funds for a tap off of telecommunications lines, two additional DS-3 data paths, two T-1 lines, and backup to support required communications bandwidth, and availability requirements.
25.2	Other Services	$2,700	This estimate reflects Priority System Disaster Recovery costs, Secondary Systems Disaster Recovery costs, Hardware and Software for the Disaster Recovery Site, and Hardware and Software upgrades to support the data center move.
26.0	Supplies and materials	$25	The estimate reflects $25,000 in additional supplies necessary for start-up operations at the offsite data center. This will include start up costs for office equipment used for the new office spaces.
Total FY2004 Data Center CIP Request		$8,403

President's Travel (POC - Rothley Howard)

QUESTION 51: Please update the information on pages 89 through 94 of last year's hearing record concerning travel by the President and the First Lady by continuing data from the final entry of last year's record to the present time.

RESPONSE: The following charts summarize Presidential, First Lady and Vice Presidential travel for Fiscal Years 2002 and 2003 (to date). They also reflect costs currently in the accounting system. Several of the trips listed below are awaiting additional costs, therefore, final costs may vary.

Freedom Corps (POC – Eric Lanman)

QUESTION 54: Please provide EOP budgeted funding for the Freedom Corps for fiscal years 2002 through 2004.

RESPONSE: The funding profile for the USA Freedom Corps from its inception through FY 2004 is as follows:

(Dollars in thousands) Category	FY02 Actual	FY03 Request	OA Pilot	FY03 Recission	FY03 Enacted	FY04 Estimate
Personnel	420	800	0	0	800	827
Travel	6	600	0	-330	270	102
Printing & Reproduction	0	0	0	0	0	225
Other Services	0	1,200	-289	0	911	926
Supplies & Materials	0	0	0	0	0	9
Equipment	0	0	0	0	0	9
Total	525	2,600	-289	-330	1,981	2,280

Note: As part of a pilot program authorized by Congress in fiscal year 2003, general support costs such as rent, supplies, printing, information technology, etc., are centrally managed and charged against the Office of Administration.

QUESTION 55: Please provide a breakdown of the FY 2004 request for the Freedom Corps, and a brief description of the work to be accomplished under each item.

RESPONSE: The FY 2004 WHO request includes funding for the following USA Freedom Corps requirements.

Personnel: This category provides funding for the cost of the salaries and benefits for the staff of the USA Freedom Corps. The FY 2004 WHO request included $827,000 for this category.

Travel: The USA Freedom Corps office staff members are frequent travelers and often work at the national, state and local levels with organizations.~~, especially in organizing the Citizen Corps across the country~~ In addition, the Director of the USA Freedom Corps or the appropriate staff is required to address gatherings at national conferences, and of state and local officials in order to disseminate information about the President's Call to Service and the activities coordinated by the USA Freedom Corps.~~ and answer questions relating to the organization of USA Freedom Corps activities at the local level.~~ The FY 2004 WHO request included $102,000 for this category.

Rent: This category funds the costs of the GSA office space utilized by the USA Freedom Corps. The FY 2004 WHO request included $157,000 for this category.

Printing: This category includes the costs of the creation and printing of documents regarding the USA Freedom Corps mission and policies and initiatives~~specific programs~~ coordinated by its Council. The FY 2004 WHO request included $225,000 for this category.

Other services: This category includes funds for the hiring of contractors to measure the nationwide effects of the USA Freedom Corps efforts through surveys and other measurement tools, and funds for information dissemination and the creation and production of materials used in the furtherance of the USA Freedom Corps mission and ~~specific programs,~~initiatives coordinated by its Council. The FY 2004 WHO request included $926,000 for this category.~~ and other activities that will further the mission of the USA Freedom Corps.~~

Communications and Misc.,~~;~~ Supplies and Materials, Equipment: These general categories are managed centrally by the White House Office of Management and Administration. Funds in these categories support the normal costs associated with day to day office operations. The FY 2004 WHO request included $43,000 for this category.

QUESTION 56: Last year, funds were requested for Freedom Corps information dissemination and recognition materials (p. 239). Are similar activities funded in FY 2004? If so, how much?

RESPONSE: The FY 2004 WHO request includes requirements for similar activities to those funded in FY 2003 and included are funds for information dissemination and recognition materials. Funds for these activities are included in the Other Services category of the WHO request. An estimated $926,000 of this portion of the request is for USA Freedom Corps requirements.

QUESTION 57: Are additional funds requested in FY 2004 outside the EOP?

RESPONSE: As a White House office and a coordinating council, the USA Freedom Corps does not run, fund, or administer programs. Instead, the USA Freedom Corps coordinates the development of policies and initiatives with various offices/entities in the Executive Branch in support of the President's goal to strengthen the American culture of service while helping all Americans find meaningful service opportunities. This role does not require outside funding and none have been requested by the WHO.

QUESTION 58: Please provide a listing of the staff in the USA Freedom Corps Office, showing the incumbent name and position. Please designate any detailees.

REV_00169446

RESPONSE: A listing of the current USA Freedom Corps Office staff is provided below.

John Bridgeland: Assistant to the President and Director, USA Freedom Corps
Ron Christie: Special Assistant to the President and Deputy Director, USAFC
Lindsey Kozberg: Special Assistant to the President for Policy/Public Affairs
Therese Lyons: Director of Public Liasion
Ian Rowe: Director of Management and Strategy
Kathleen Mynster: Deputy Press Secretary
Britt Grant: Special Assistant to the Director
Cornell Teague: Associate Director
Nique Fajors: Agency Liaison – Detailee
Ken Lanza: Agency Liaison - Detailee

Sensitive Compartmented Information Facilities (POC – Jeff Thompson)

QUESTION 59: Are any funds requested in any EOP office in the FY 2004 President's request for the construction of sensitive compartmented information facilities (SCIFs)?

RESPONSE: No funds are requested for SCIFs in FY 2004.

QUESTION 60: How many such facilities have been built within EOP offices since the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001?

RESPONSE: Sixteen SCIFS have been built.

Data Center Relocation (POC – Carlos Solari)

QUESTION 61: What is the status of efforts to relocate the existing EOP data center, and what are plans for the coming year?

RESPONSE: The remote data center project is on track to achieve completion on budget and on schedule. The project began last summer by conducting a systems development lifecycle analysis to determine and recommend the location for the facility. From this analysis, EOP decided on building the data center at a hardened FEMA facility located in Maryland. The project is being co-managed with FEMA and was established with three phases: (1) infrastructure build-out of the hardened facility (power, air handlers, etc), (2) construction of the data center itself (cabling, raised flooring, etc), and (3) the transition of EOP data systems (telecommunications, servers, etc). The project is approximately halfway through completion for the first two phases with a scheduled opening (initial operational capability) date of September 2003. The transition phase is on schedule preparing the systems and will proceed to begin the transfer September 2003 – with a planned transition of 12 months for all systems.

REV_00169447

QUESTION 62: Are funds requested in the FY 2004 budget for this project?

RESPONSE: The following table displays the funds requested for this project in FY 2004.

Object Class	Object Class Title	Requested Funding (in $1000s)	Description
23.0	Space Rental Payments	$1,258	This estimate reflects $1,258 in rental for the offsite data center and will be the initial rent to be paid for the offsite data center. This cost was previously funded from emergency funds.
23.3	Communications, utilities, and miscellaneous charges	$4,420	$4,420 is for CIP networking/telecommunications projects at the offsite data center. These projects include funds for a tap off of telecommunications lines, two additional DS-3 data paths, two T-1 lines, and backup to support required communications bandwidth, and availability requirements.
25.2	Other Services	$2,700	This estimate reflects Priority System Disaster Recovery costs, Secondary Systems Disaster Recovery costs, Hardware and Software for the Disaster Recovery Site, and Hardware and Software upgrades to support the data center move.
26.0	Supplies and materials	$25	The estimate reflects $25 in additional supplies necessary for start-up operations at the offsite data center. This will include start up costs for office equipment used for the new office spaces.
Total FY2004 Data Center CIP Request		$8,403

White House Communications Agency (POC – Eric Lanman)

QUESTION 63: Updating the information on page 133 of last year's hearing record, please provide estimated reimbursements for the White House Communications Agency for each of the fiscal years 2002 through 2004.

RESPONSE: Reimbursements made to the White House Communications Agency, for the non-telecommunications support they provide to the WHO, is broken down into two categories: military personnel and audiovisual support. The amount of planned reimbursement is initially set and agreed to via an inter-agency agreement (IAG). This IAG is then adjusted if needed as a result of actual execution. Reimbursement actuals and estimates follow:

	FY02 (actual)	FY03 (est.)	FY04 (est.)
Military Personnel	$4,376,085	$4,754,346	$4,858,942
Audiovisual Support	$4,543,643	$3,953,848	$2,743,915

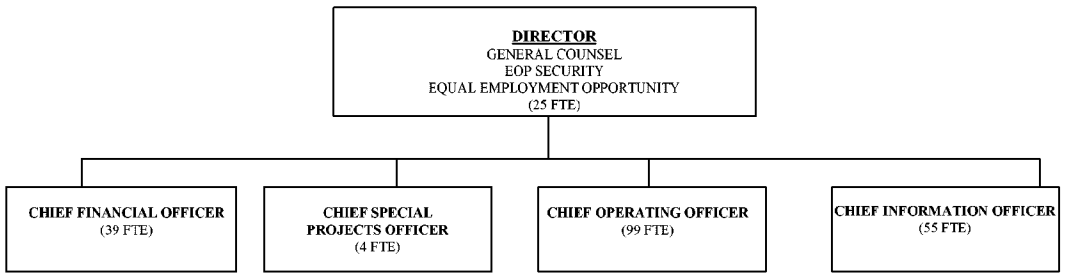
Total	$8,919,738	$8,708,194	$7,602,857

The FY04 estimate for audiovisual support shows a decrease from the FY 2003 estimate due to the move of audiovisual supplies and equipment from IAG reimbursed items to direct procurement through normal WHO channels.

Office of Administration (POC – Chuck Sigman)

QUESTION 64: Updating the information on page 134 of last year's hearing record, please provide a current organizational chart for the Office of Administration, including the associated numbers of FTEs requested for each office in the FY 2004 President's budget.



RESPONSE: The Office of Administration organization chart provided below reflects the current organizational structure. The FY 2004 FTE request remains constant with FY 2003 levels (222 FTE).

Executive Office of the President

Office of Administration

Organization Chart

Total 222 FTE

QUESTION 65: Last year, it was estimated that 4 FTE were needed to provide administrative services to the Office of Homeland Security. Since that office is substantially smaller due to establishment of the DHS, is there a lesser requirement for OA support? If so, is that reflected in FY 2004 staffing figures?

REV_00169449

RESPONSE: The FY 2003 budget proposal included the statement that there was "2 CFO staff to support Homeland Security" rather than the 4 FTE referred to in the question. These two Chief Financial Officer (CFO) staff were requested during FY 2003 because last year's OA budget request was a 49% increase over the previous year's spending – and security-related enhancements accounted for nearly all of that increase. The FY 2004 budget proposal included additional security-related enhancements beyond the FY 2003 level. Furthermore, even though the funding level of the Homeland Security Council is not as great as was originally envisioned, it is still a separate account for which the staff must perform the same number of administrative tasks in setting up and monitoring the status of the account. Therefore, the additional two FTE in the CFO office remain necessary to assist EOP offices in executing their new responsibilities.

QUESTION 66: Your salary and expenses request includes a transfer of $1,500 from Homeland Security for information technology services. What are these services?

RESPONSE: The part of OHS that remained with EOP (now called the Homeland Security Council) does not need the information technology contractor support that was previously planned. There is, however, an urgent need to expand the funding needed to support the White House website. The system security put in place to protect the whitehouse.gov website from cyber attack includes a web content distribution designed to make it highly resistant to denial of service type attacks. The cost of this service has increased dramatically, and is directly proportional to the volume of activity. The volume of activity, in turn, is a combination of the website hits and the level of cyber-attack activity directed against the site. The importance of the White House web site cannot be overstated. Along with the DHS website, the whitehouse.gov website is one of the primary government sites with a mission to communicate threat level information to the public.

Due to increased traffic on the White House website, the monthly cost of web caching service to maintain the website has risen from $30,000 per month to more than $75,000 per month. The estimated FY 2004 cost to maintain the website is $1,500,000. No funds were requested for this increased requirement in the FY 2004 budget. OA wishes to use the funds originally requested for the OHS information technology contract support for the White House website effort.

QUESTION 67: You are requesting additional funding for victim rescue units, which would be distributed to all White House staff (p. 82). What are these units, and what is the unit cost?

RESPONSE: Victim Rescue Units (VRUs) provide a 20-45 minute supply of pure oxygen to the wearer. This would be critical to the survival of EOP staff in the event of an incident which would require an evacuation to a safe area. VRUs were selected because they can be easily operated by a novice, while it takes a significant amount of training to teach staff to properly operate a gas mask. VRUs have a ten-year shelf life, which is significantly longer than gas mask filters. They provide protection from the entire threat spectrum from fire and smoke to chemical and biological agents. The VRUs are portable and small, and their expected cost is $375 each.

REV_00169450

QUESTION 68: How is the requirement for additional safes and emergency evacuation chairs documented?

RESPONSE: The EOP Security Office conducted a review of security containers (safes) at the White House Complex and found that most of them were 1950's-vintage mechanical locks. During the aftermath of 9/11, it was deemed important that the White House adhere to the latest Federal regulations promulgated by the General Services Administration (FFL-2740A) for the protection of classified materials. Thus, the EOP recommends acquiring new security containers which are fully compliant with GSA standard which governs all changeable combination locks for the protection of national security information.

After 9/11, we reviewed all emergency evacuation procedures for the White House Complex. As we updated evacuation plans and reviewed procedures it was determined that evacuation chairs were needed in various buildings and on various floors to assist individuals who may need assistance or have special needs during an evacuation. This was an internal study performed by staff of the EOP security office.

Financial Audits (POC – Al Muhlbauer)

QUESTION 69: Last year, you advised us that EOP would plan to address the findings of the recent auditability assessment no later than FY 2003. What is the status of that effort today?

RESPONSE: EOP has initiated five major efforts to address the auditability assessment. They are:

- Development and publication of the EOP entity and reporting structure, which was completed and is and presented in the FY 2004 Budget Submission.
- Development and publication of the EOP financial management structure, which has been developed in draft and is currently being circulated for comment within EOP. Approval and issuance of the financial management structure is expected to occur within 30 days.
- Provide financial management policy and guidance to the EOP, and put in place consistent EOP-wide business practices and procedures. This effort is underway and is expected to be completed this fiscal year.
- Select a replacement for the current non-compliant financial accounting system. The Office of the Chief Financial Officer has reviewed various alternatives and has made a determination to be cross-serviced by another Federal agency that has implemented a compliant system, is currently receiving "clean" audit opinions, and has cross-servicing as an agency mission. Two such organizations were identified, a requirements document was provided, their proposals are currently being evaluated, and a decision is expected within the next two weeks.

- Accomplish a detailed review of the EOP general ledger and supporting documents for account balances, correct the data as necessary, and prepare the information for conversion to the replacement accounting system. A "clean-up" and conversion plan is in process and will be coordinated with the selected cross-servicing agency.

QUESTION 70: When will you be able to produce an auditable financial statement?

RESPONSE: The Chief Financial Officer completed an exercise that resulted in EOP-wide financial statements, that exercise identified various data problems that confirmed the auditability assessment. The "clean-up" exercise which is required prior to the conversion to the cross-servicing agency's system is addressing these problems and it is anticipated that the FY 2004 financial statements will be audited.

QUESTION 71: Last year, you stated that you had identified best practices for documented policies and procedures based upon one federal agency which has been recognized as one of the best in the Federal Government (p. 136). Which agency are you using as a model, and what are some examples of the specific best practices you intend to use?

RESPONSE: We were referring to the Department of Education and we conducted a pilot of their approach for developing policies and procedures within the Office of the CFO. While that pilot was helpful, we determined that three other tasks (identify reporting entity, develop financial management structure, and identifying our financial accounting system cross servicing provider) needed to be completed before our policies and procedures could be developed. Since those are near completion we anticipate again focusing on developing policies and procedures during the remainder of this fiscal year.

White House Office (POC – Eric Lanman)

QUESTION 72: Please provide a breakdown of the FY 2004 budget request for the White House Office by office or activity, as itemized on pages 137 and 138 of last year's hearing record. Please compare those amounts to corresponding amounts for FY 2002 (actual) and FY 2003 (estimated), similar in format to that shown on pages 246 and 247 of last year's hearing record.

RESPONSE: As noted last year, a single budget is prepared for the WHO. This single budget is prepared based on a number of criteria such as: prior spending patterns, estimated requirements, OMB provided inflation factors, and the priorities of the President. During a given execution year, personnel costs are allocated based upon that year's sometimes unique staffing decisions. The remainder of the budget is allocated initially to two WHO offices. The travel budget is allocated in its entirety to the Office of Advance and obligated against this office if the travel is done in support of the President. Any travel undertaken that is not in support of a Presidential trip is charged to the office of the staff member in question. The remaining portion of the non-personnel, non-travel budget, including expenses for rent, supplies, equipment and other services is considered overhead and in most years is charged as such to the White House Office of Management and Administration. In FY 2003 as part of a pilot program authorized by Congress, costs related to many of these "overhead" items were consolidated under the EOP Office of Administration. Obligations (actual and estimated) are provided by individual White House office for FY 2002 thru FY 2004 in the table below.

(1) $911K of the FY03 USA Freedom Corps estimate and $1,351K of the FY04 USA Freedom Corps estimate is included above within the Office of Management and Administration numbers as are similar funds for all other White House Offices.

(2) Because Congress has chosen to appropriate funds for the Office of Homeland Security (OHS)/ Homeland Security Council (HSC) separately from the WHO appropriation, numbers related to OHS/ HSC are not included above. FY03 and FY04 estimates for OHS/ HSC are addressed independently in response to other committee questions.

QUESTION 73: Please provide a corresponding breakdown for FTE staff years and OGE, similar in format to that shown on pages 152 through 154 of last year's hearing record.

REV_00169453

RESPONSE: As noted last year, the major units within the White House Office are simply a creature of administrative convenience. The number of employees within each unit and the work of each unit vary over time and as circumstances and needs change. With this kept in mind, a detailed breakout of FTEs and OGEs by unit, is provided below. This breakout is based on current estimates and planning and will differ during the actual execution year. In addition to these major units, certain individuals – including certain individuals who work with the National Security Council, the Domestic Policy Council, and the National Economic Council – are also White House Office employees, although the units within which they principally work are not themselves part of the White House Office. These individuals are included under the Other category.

Other Services (POC – Chuck Sigman)

QUESTION 75: Similar to the information on page 236 et seq. of last year's hearing record, please provide a detailed description of each project, program, or initiative proposed to be funded in FY 2004 under object class 25.2 ("other services").

RESPONSE: Capital Investment Plan (CIP) - $5,220,000

The overall FY 2004 CIP requirement supports nine areas, as described below. The following "services" costs are included in the FY 2004 CIP request:

- $690,000 for Customer Service and Desktop Systems. This funding will be used to perform desktop software integration support.
- $450,000 for New Technologies and Systems. This includes "services" funding of $150,000 for server technology integration testing, and $300,000 for voice and data integration.

REV_00169456

- $230,000 for EOP Systems and Support, including "services" funding of $150,000 to develop external Local Area Networks, and $80,000 for production test lab development.
- $700,000 for Information Security for enterprise identity projects to allow the introduction of new authentication and identification mechanisms into the EOP IT infrastructure.
- $650,000 for Web-Based Services for web services application environment.
- $2,500,000 for the Offsite Data Center for services necessary to transition the offsite data center to full operational status
- There are no services funds allocated to Campus Wiring, Networks and Data Communications Infrastructure, or Messaging and Scheduling.

Salaries and Expenses - $2,150,000

There are three initiatives in the FY 2004 OA salaries/expense budget which comprise $2,150,000 in new programs under object class 25.2 ("other services"):

- $1,800,000 for Technology and Systems Support Contract . The Chief Information Officer (CIO) provides a wide range of computer services support to the EOP. These tasks are performed in large measure through an outsourcing contract that delivers IT services from PC deployment, to help desk and data center operations. During FY 2003, this IT systems support contract was competed with an increase in base labor rates due to the need for more advanced skills in IT disciplines such as XML and web services software development, Oracle database development and administration, and implementation of a new Enterprise Resources Planning (ERP) application covering finance, asset management and human resources. The CIO outsource contract is the vehicle used to maintain a 24 hour-a-day operation for mainframes, servers, help desk, local area networks, personal computers, applications; installation of end-user hardware and software; training; software application development and maintenance services. Altogether, this contract supports customers throughout the White House 18 acre complex, at remote and mobile locations, and at the planned Offsite Data Center. Key components driving the cost upward include: (1) higher labor rates for the DC area, which have risen since the previous IT 1997 facility contract; (2) the impact of the new data center operations in 2003 and thereafter; (3) an expanded EOP customer base which has more advanced, sophisticated, and security-conscious users.

- $300,000 for Information Assurance Support. The CIO has established the Information Assurance (IA) program to serve as a central location for information security serving all of EOP. FY 2002 and FY 2003 funds attended to the most critical concern with significant vulnerabilities in the perimeter and began the process of securing the internal systems. The IA program created real-time monitoring of perimeter network devices; it established the first formal documentation of IA program policy to bring the EOP in conformance with Federal guidelines and directives. However, the cyber threat facing EOP is dynamic because our systems are constantly assailed with a wide and unexpected range of attacks. The new state of defense must be active vigilance, to include the following components: (1) Perimeter Security, (2) Advanced Security Concepts, (3) Contingency Planning Support, (4) Network Monitor/Response Systems, and (5) Security Awareness, Assessments, and Education.

- $50,000 for Security Enhancements: Videos. There is a frequent and ongoing need for a security video – specific to the EOP and White House – which can be used in security briefings and new employee orientation meetings. This video will contain a brief overview of security responsibilities and procedures which must be understood by all personnel working in the EOP.

Salaries and Expenses (POC – Dilworth)

QUESTION 76: Please provide a detailed description of any expenses in the FY 2004 budget under "salaries and expenses" which are not directly related to personnel compensation and benefits.

RESPONSE: The following is an object class breakdown highlighting the major costs in each of the non pay related expense categories and a description of the unique aspects of some of these expenses found within the Executive Office of the President.

For reference, below are two tables that roll up all EOP component salaries and expenses funding information including the components not funded under the Subcommittee on Transportation, Treasury and Independent Agencies Appropriations.

Travel and transportation of persons – The largest portion of this funding (41%) is for international staff travel in support of trade negotiations as coordinated by the U.S. Trade Representative (USTR). The next largest portion of this funding (21%) is for White House Office (WHO) staff travel including "Presidential travel", which is the term used to delineate those trips where staff members actually travel with or ahead of the President. Those traveling ahead, referred to as advance staff, are responsible for producing Presidential events, as well as establishing an on-site infrastructure similar to the support that is provided within the White House. In addition, EOP travel costs related to Presidential travel is tracked by the principals (President, First Lady, Vice President and Mrs. Cheney) and by location. The remaining EOP travel funds are used for staff travel in support of the various EOP offices and their missions.

Transportation of things – The EOP spends funds in this area for the costs of express delivery/shipping of items such as Freedom of Information Act documents and personnel documents for accountability, as well as other miscellaneous items. Vehicle fleet costs are also included in this category.

Rental payments to GSA – Funds paid to GSA are used to provide the EOP offices with space in the government-owned and leased buildings that comprise the White House complex. Although the General Services Administration manages the EOP buildings, including the East and West Wings of the White House, they cannot rent them out to other Federal departments or agencies.

Communications, utilities and miscellaneous services – The bulk of these costs are used for the EOP switchboard. Funding in this category is also used for the networking and telecommunications projects of the Offsite Data Center. These projects include funds for the primary and backup telecommunications lines connecting the remote data center with the EOP office campus, two additional DS-3 data paths, two T-1 lines, and backup to support required communications bandwidth, and availability requirements.

Printing and reproduction – The largest expense in this area is for Presidential stationery and greetings. Also included are the costs for printing in the Code of Federal Regulation and the Federal Register as well as the costs to print the President's Budget, the Economic Report of the President, the National Drug Control Strategy, free trade agreement documents and other publications, studies and reports.

Other services –The primary cost driver in this category is the information technology support contract that provides IT sustainment services, system development services, and system engineering services for the entire EOP. IT support for the EOP as supported by this contract is largely an outsourced activity that includes a broad range of services such as the Help Desk, network and data center operations.

Supplies and materials – Most of the EOP expenses in this category are for general office and IT supplies, as well as the costs for subscriptions to newspapers and magazines.

Equipment – The largest portion of the EOP equipment costs is for IT desktop replacement program and for investments in software and hardware infrastructure to support the EOP IT projects.

Unanticipated Needs – Expenditures from this fund may be authorized only by the President. The Director of OMB provides the necessary controls to ensure that only unforeseen priorities are financed and that funding from other sources is not available.

REV_00169460

ONDCP Policy Research – This is an ONDCP expense and funding is used to support the continuing policy research to better inform drug policy.

Security Guard Services for OSTP (POC – Chuck Sigman)

QUESTION 77: In FY 2003, you budgeted $1,798,000 for security guard services for the Office of Science and Technology Policy. Are similar funds requested in FY 2004? If so, how much?

RESPONSE: The FY 2004 OA budget proposes that the cost of the security guard service (estimated at $702,000) for OSTP be transferred to the OSTP appropriation. Thus, the proposed FY04 OA budget would contain the balance of the funds (approximately $1.1 million).

Since the FY 2003 budget was proposed, there have been additional reviews of the physical security of the White House complex by the US Secret Service, the Federal Protective Service, and the OA Security Office. As a result, the OA Security Office has been assigned the responsibility of correcting deficiencies in EOP physical security. There are some locations which do not currently have Secret Service protection (such as the Jackson Place White House Conference Center). Another location which does not have firm long-term security plans is the office at 1800 G Street. Thus, the Office of Administration has ongoing needs for the $1.1 million which remains in the OA budget. During FY03, these funds are being used for consolidation of information technology maintenance ($200,000), centralization of database services ($200,000), and common building service costs ($400,000). The remaining $300,000 of these savings will be used for an FY03 OA personnel shortfall.

QUESTION 78: Why aren't such funds in the OSTP budget?

RESPONSE: The estimated FY04 cost of 24-hour security guard services for OSTP is included in the FY04 OSTP budget request. This estimate is $702,000 for a full year.

Political Appointees (POC – Jon Laurich)

QUESTION 79: Please update the information on political appointees within EOP as shown on page 268 of last year's hearing record, using the same criteria and assumptions as last year.

RESPONSE: The term "political appointees" is somewhat of a misnomer because it narrowly defines the type of employees authorized under Chapter 2 of Title 3 of the U.S. Code, for the White House Office, the Executive Residence, the Official Residence of the Vice President and the Office of Administration. These offices can hire personnel in various excepted service positions that are not subject to the rules of regular government employees. Many of these excepted service positions fall under the category of serving at the pleasure of the President while others do not. Using the term in the broadest possible sense, including all employees hired as Presidential Appointees, Administratively Determined, Non Career SES, or Schedule C's, the Executive Office of the President has the following number of political appointees directly hired within the EOP and serving in the EOP on detailed assignments from other agencies as of May 5, 2003.

Detailees (POC – Jon Laurich)

QUESTION 80: Please update the information on reimbursable and non-reimbursable detailees with EOP as shown on pages 268 and 269 of last year's hearing record.

RESPONSE: There are currently 251 detailees staffed within the Executive Office of the President. There are 41 reimbursable detailees and 210 non-reimbursable detailees as shown in the chart below, as of May 5, 2003:

Office of the Vice President (POC – Kristen Savercool)

QUESTION 81: You are requesting an additional $70,000 (+1.7 percent) for the Vice President's travel, due to increased travel to undisclosed locations after the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001. Weren't these type of increases baselined in FY 2002 and FY 2003, and if so, why are further increases needed in FY 2004?

RESPONSE: The FY 2003 budget was submitted in February 2002, prior to it becoming evident that the Vice President's travel requirements had increased more than originally estimated. Following the events of 9-11, the Vice President has been required to be outside the Washington, DC vicinity for significant periods of time. This travel has been 100 percent official, and operational in nature (i.e. the Vice President performs his regular duties in an off-site location). This travel has required the accompaniment of staff, who also perform operational duties.

Because the budget impact of these additional travel requirements was not fully realized until after the FY 2003 budget request was submitted, they were not included in the FY 2003 baseline. Continued security concerns related to the Vice President and the ensuing impact on the Vice President's travel costs necessitate the increase to the FY 2004 OVP travel budget. This increase will allow the Vice President the flexibility needed to adequately execute his official travel requirements.

Unanticipated Needs (POC – Eric Lanman)

QUESTION 82: Please provide a listing of the uses of Unanticipated Needs funds in FY 2002.

REV_00169463

RESPONSE: $757,000 of the $1,000,000 appropriated to the Unanticipated Needs account in FY 2002 was provided to OMB for Office of Homeland Security Transition Planning Office. The remaining appropriation was not utilized.

Questions for the Record
Ranking Member, John Olver
Hearing on the Executive Office of the President
April 30, 2003

Account Consolidation and Transfer Proposals (POC – Al Muhlbauer/Jim Daniel)

When we centralized the funds within the Office of Administration, Congress intended that each agency would continue to receive a similar share of support and assistance under the consolidation.

QUESTION 83: Are any agencies going to receive diminished services or resources under the consolidation?

RESPONSE: No, currently the funding in the pilot has been allocated to be consistent with the FY 03 budget request. The service levels will be equal to or greater than pre-pilot levels; however, we are hopeful that the cost to procure the same level of service will decrease. Also, the Office of Administration is preparing service standards. For example, if the service standard for PC's would be one PC per desktop that is less than four years old and if one EOP component is currently at that standard for 95 % of its employees and another is currently at that standard for 50% of its employees, based on need, the second component would get a larger share of the services to bring it closer to the EOP standard. This allows EOP to consistently upgrade software and services across the entire organization as the total infrastructure permits.

QUESTION 84: Are any agencies to receive extra services above and beyond the amount of funds they contributed as part of the consolidation?

RESPONSE: Yes, based on need and to bring organizations that are lagging behind the approved standards up to a consistent standard, some organizations may receive extra services above and beyond the amount of funds they contributed to the consolidation. We anticipate some of those services will be funded from savings in the program.

QUESTION 85: Under the procurement consolidation pilot approved in the FY03 Omnibus, are IT or database services for any EOP agency going to be paid for by funds contributed by other EOP agencies?

RESPONSE: Yes, in addition to generating procurement savings and efficiencies, a major goal of the consolidation pilot is to bring all of the EOP components up to a standard of service which will allow us to implement technology evenly across the organization and to realize efficiencies and benefits from a consistent and even infrastructure. In reaching this goal, the funds may be applied in a manner which is not in the same ratio in which they were contributed.

QUESTION 86: In general, are the funds appropriated for this centralized procurement program going to be used to supplement the appropriation made to individual agencies?

RESPONSE: Yes, the individual entities will be the recipients of the services funded by the centralized procurement program without reimbursement in accordance with the Congressional appropriation provided to OA.

QUESTION 87: If so, which agencies will benefit and which agencies will receive less than their share of contributions?

RESPONSE: OA is currently establishing the allocation standards for the commodities included in the centralized procurement program. OA is also requesting that the entities assist us in developing a baseline against which we will measure the allocation standards. That will determine which, if any, entities will benefit and which entities will receive less than their share of contributions.

QUESTION 88: You recently submitted a very cursory report on the procurement pilot. When will you provide us with specific details on the progress of the pilot program?

RESPONSE: As mentioned above, progress is being made on the plan to implement the Common Services Program. We expect to be able to brief the Subcommittee in greater detail this summer.

Your budget also proposes a change that would permit EOP agencies to transfer up to 10% into or out of any agency's budget. Coupled with your account consolidation proposal, that would allow you to transfer in up to $18 million more into (or out of) the White House's budget.

QUESTION 89: Under the procurement consolidation program that we approved in the FY03 bill, don't you have a similar type of flexibility already? What other flexibility is needed?

RESPONSE: The flexibility of the procurement consolidation program is directed to certain defined common commodities. The 10% transfer authority provides flexibility for unexpected requirements and to address needs that may be outside the program.

QUESTION 90: What protection is there for smaller EOP agencies under this proposal? Don't they stand to lose critical resources if the White House or Vice President's Office decide to take 10% of their resources?

REV_00169466

RESPONSE: It is more likely that the smaller entities will benefit from the proposal, because their appropriations are small they are less likely to be able to adjust to unforeseen circumstances, this program will allow the EOP to address those circumstances without requesting supplemental funding. Also, as a practical matter, the issue of "protection" is immaterial as all the entities (setting the Office of the Vice President aside) work directly for the President.

Office of Homeland Security Questions (POC – Paul Ehrhardt)

We recently received a reprogramming request to transfer $2m of the funds provided to the Office of Homeland Security to the Remote Delivery Site cleanup efforts. The source of these funds would come from the Office of Homeland Security.

The Office of Homeland Security has gone from an initial $25m stated need when the initial FY03 bills passed the House and Senate to $11m when the FY03 Omnibus was passed to what will be $9m if the reprogramming is approved.

QUESTION 91: What exactly does the Office of Homeland Security do now that the Department of Homeland Security is in place?

RESPONSE: HSC advises and assists the President on homeland security matters and coordinates policy development and the interagency process regarding Administration policy on homeland security, including the development and coordination of implementation of the National Strategy for Homeland Security to secure the United States from terrorist threats and attacks.

QUESTION 92: Does OHS still have a presence at Nebraska Avenue?

RESPONSE: No.

QUESTION 93: Does the Office of Administration provide any support to agencies at Nebraska Avenue? If so, please describe the specific types of support provided. Is this support on a reimbursable basis?

RESPONSE: Since the transfer of the Nebraska Avenue facility to the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) on January 1, 2003, OA has not provided any support to entities at the Nebraska Avenue Complex (NAC). Pursuant to a Determination by the OMB Director, funds in the amount of $3,746,000 were transferred from the OHS Emergency Fund within OA to the Department of Homeland Security in March 2003 to support NAC activities.

QUESTION 94: How many personnel and detailees now work for OHS?

REV_00169467

RESPONSE: The Homeland Security Council currently consists of 66 staff positions which can be filled by either Direct Hire FTE or Other Government Employee (detailee and assignee) personnel. HSC is requesting resources to support up to 40 Direct Hire FTE and 26 OGE FTE on its staff for FY 2004. See table below for a comparison with fiscal years 2003 and 2002.

Office of Homeland Security / Homeland Security Council Personnel

	FY 2002 Actual	FY 2003 Estimate	FY 2004 Request
Direct Hire FTE	31	40	40
Other Government Employee (EOY headcount)	89	26	26
Total Personnel	120	66	66

QUESTION 95: What is the actual operational budget need for OHS in FY03?

RESPONSE: The Homeland Security Council budget requirement from the FY 2003 appropriation is estimated to be approximately $4.32 million. Please note that the FY 2003 estimate covers only costs incurred after the enactment of the FY 2003 appropriation on February 20, 2003. Unlike other EOP entities which operated under continuing resolutions between October 1, 2003 and February 20, 2003, the Office of Homeland Security was not permitted to utilize the CR funding mechanism but instead continued to charge FY 2003 expenses against the no-year emergency funding (provided in FY2002) until the FY 2003 appropriation was enacted. Therefore the FY 2003 estimate reflects only seven months of activity, whereas the FY 2004 Request needs to cover HSC expenses for the full 12 months next fiscal year.

QUESTION 96: For the record, please provide us a breakout by object class of the Office of Homeland Security's FY03 remaining budget.

RESPONSE: The breakout below reflects HSC's budget for the last seven months of FY 2003, from the enactment of the FY 2003 Appropriation on February 20, 2003 through September 30, 2003.

REV_00169468

(Dollars in Thousands)

Object Class	FY 2003 est.
Personnel	$2,800
Travel	$60
Transportation of Things	$24
Communications, Utilities, and Miscelaneous	$50
Printing and Reproduction	$69
Other Services	$1,267
Equipment	$50
Total,	$4,320

QUESTION 97: Any likelihood that these estimates will be revised downward again?

RESPONSE: The FY 2003 estimate provided above reflects the best assessment of HSC requirements from the OHS FY 2003 appropriation, and actual obligations against this appropriation will likely be close to this current estimate.

QUESTION 98: I understand that the President named General Gordon as his new Homeland Security Adviser. Does he support the latest $2 million cut to his office's resources?

RESPONSE: To begin with we should note that, General Gordon has not yet reported to Homeland Security Council. Secondly, in any event, the EOP budget proposal provides the necessary resources for HSC to advise and assist the President. Third, we should also note that the reference to a $2 million cut is incorrect. In fact, the resources of the Homeland Security Council have not been cut by $2 million. The FY 2003 appropriations for the Homeland Security Council included $2 million for decontamination of the Remote Delivery Site (RDS) as agreed to by the Congress and the Administration. Subsequent to the passage of the FY 2003 appropriations, that $2 million was allocated to decontamination of the RDS per agreement. This planned use of that appropriation is not a cut to HSC resources.

QUESTION 99: Have you validated the FY04 request recently to ensure it is an accurate figure?

RESPONSE: Yes, HSC reevaluated its FY 2004 requirements prior to submitting the final FY 2004 Request. Given the creation of the Department of Homeland Security, HSC's FY 2004 budget requirements are estimated at $8,331,000; as requested.

REV_00169469

Budget Questions:

After the FY03 enacted levels are adjusted to reflect the transfer of $9 million to the Office of Homeland Security, the Executive Office of the President's FY04 budget request reflects an 8% increase over FY03 levels. Your agency, the Office of Administration requests a 10% increase between FY03 and FY04.

When the budget was introduced, Mitch Daniels said that the overall growth of Federal programs would be pegged to the expected 4% growth in inflation. The administration also said the President wanted to "match government's growth with the growth of American family income."

QUESTION 100: When the rest of the government is forced to live with 4% growth, how can you justify an almost 10% increase in your office and an overall Executive Office of the President increase of 8%? (POC – Chuck Sigman)

RESPONSE: The Office of Administration's 10% budget increase amounts to approximately $7 million. This increase is necessitated by additional costs stemming from the enhanced security activities in the post-September 11 environment:

- The Capital Investment Plan has a net increase of $3.8 million required for the relocation of the EOP data center to an offsite location. The offsite data center has been determined to be a critical project in any contingency plan, and the communications requirements for the data center will be significantly higher in the new facility.
- $2.5 million is needed for the new information technology contract, driven by the information technology service labor increases, the relocation of the data center as well as by the increased security concerns for EOP systems.
- $0.5 million is required for the EOP information assurance program.
- $0.2 million for physical security improvements to the White House complex in providing resources for security education and evacuation resources.

The 8% growth in the overall EOP budget amounts to approximately $24.6 million. Primary components of this increase are mission-specific needs proposed by the different EOP entities:

- $6.3 million in OA programs described in the prior paragraph ($3.8 million for the capital investment plan, $2.5 million for the information technology contract, $0.5 million for information assurance, and $0.2 million for physical security).
- $2.5 million in EOP-wide space rental increases to conform with GSA's market-based rental rates.
- $3.0 million for USTR's additional staff for intensified trade negotiations.

REV_00169470

- $3.0 million in the Executive Residence's multiyear East and West Wing restoration projects.
- $2.7 million for OMB personnel needs.
- $1.5 million for OMB's budget system updates.
- $0.7 million for OMB's E-Government staff and the Office of Information Technology.
- $0.8 million for additional staff for ONDCP.
- $0.6 million in the NSC's funding for reimbursable detailees and President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board's request for additional staff.
- $0.5 million for OSTP's continuity of operations plan.

The White House Office's increase of 3.6% looks smaller because of a realignment of $1.85m in rent to the Office of Administration's account. Without the realignment, the White House Office's increase would be around 6.6%.

QUESTION 101: What is the justification for this realignment? (POC – Eric Lanman)

RESPONSE: The realignment of $1.85M in rent was made to the WHO from the Office of Administration. Without this and other realignments made as part of the FY 2004 WHO budget request, The White House Office's increase would have only been 1.7 percent.

QUESTION 102: How could the White House have been paying the bill for space that wasn't theirs? (POC – Eric Lanman)

RESPONSE: The WHO has not been paying rent on the 1800 G Street office spaces that this realignment involves. These office spaces were necessitated by the movement of certain White House staff offices following the events of September 11. In FY 2003 funds for these spaces were budgeted by the Office of Administration and are being paid for as part of a pilot program authorized by law.

QUESTION 103: Which EOP agencies occupied this space on which the White House Office has been paying rent? (POC – Eric Lanman)

RESPONSE: As indicated in the previous answers, White House staff have been occupying this space. Rent is being paid by the Office of Administration as part of the pilot program authorized by law.

QUESTION 104: Are these costs that had historically been paid by the White House Office? (POC – Eric Lanman)

REV_00169471

RESPONSE: No. The 1800 G Street Office spaces were not occupied by EOP staff until after the events of 9-11.

QUESTION 105: If so, why make the change this year? (POC – Eric Lanman)

RESPONSE: The realignment of these costs under the WHO is done to reflect the costs under the office whose staff occupies them.

Travel

The White House Office's request includes a decrease of $400,000 in Presidential Travel.

QUESTION 106: Was the FY03 estimate too high? (POC – Eric Lanman)

RESPONSE: As part of the FY 2003 WHO budget submission, $600,000 was requested to support the travel requirements of the new USA Freedom Corps Office. Actual experience subsequently determined this amount to be in excess of need. As a result, the FY 2003 WHO travel line was reduced $329,647 by the statutory recission, and the FY 2004 WHO budget submission requested $400,000 less in the travel line than the original FY 2003 estimate.

QUESTION 107: If so, how do you intend to use the surplus funds? (POC – Eric Lanman)

RESPONSE: The $400,000 reduction to the FY 2004 WHO budget request for travel requirements does not result in surplus funds. It instead results in an overall reduction to the FY 2004 WHO budget estimate.

QUESTION 108: Are you planning less travel in FY04 or will more of the travel just be paid for by political entities? (POC – Eric Lanman)

RESPONSE: Except as noted above, the amount of official travel conducted by the White House staff is expected to remain consistent with the FY 2003 estimate.

QUESTION 109: Please provide a list of all White House Office, Office of Homeland Security and Office of Vice President official staff travel for FY02 and FY03 (to date). Include a brief description of the official purpose of the trip. For FY04 estimates, provide estimated number of trips and trip purpose. (POC – Rothley Howard)

RESPONSE: The following tables provide the FY 2002 and FY 2003 (to date) staff travel information, where a staff member received government reimbursement, for the

REV_00169472

White House Office and the Office of the Vice President. No FY 2004 estimates are available at this time.

QUESTION 111: How much did OMB reimburse the White House Office for use of White House motorpool vehicles in FY02? How much is OMB projecting to reimburse in FY03 and FY04? (POC – Brian Gillis)

RESPONSE: For FY 2002, OMB reimbursed the Department of Defense $99,000 for the use of the White House motorpool. OMB is projecting a similar amount for FY 2003 and FY 2004.

In the hearing, Mr. Daniel mentioned that the FY03 vehicle lease and IT support contracts came in significantly below the original budget estimates.

QUESTION 112: Do you intend to return the unused funds to the Treasury at the end of the fiscal year? (POC – Chuck Sigman)

RESPONSE: The EOP plans to use the funds to implement other critical EOP priorities. The programs which were described by Mr. Daniel at the hearing were the FY 2003 vehicle lease and the guard services contract for guard services at 1801 Pennsylvania Avenue. He did not refer to the IT support contract.

QUESTION 113: For these areas in which savings were realized, what are your plans for the funds? (POC – Chuck Sigman)

RESPONSE: For FY 2003, these funds are being applied to fund other priorities for the OA as well as common services for EOP entities. These other priorities include consolidation of information technology maintenance ($200,000), centralization of database services ($200,000), and common building service costs ($400,000). The remaining $300,000 of these savings will be used for an FY03 OA personnel shortfall.

Political Travel

QUESTION 114: Please explain the reimbursement procedures the White House intends to follow during the Presidential election season. (POC – Andy Kalnins)

RESPONSE: Travel by senior Administration officials is governed by relevant statutes and regulations that have been followed for many years.

QUESTION 115: Exactly when will the presidential-campaign procedures take effect? (POC – Andy Kalnins)

REV_00169498

RESPONSE: The presidential-campaign procedures take effect when a President is a candidate for re-election.

QUESTION 116: How do you determine who the official travelers are on a campaign or political trip? Does the list of positions vary from trip to trip? (POC – Andy Kalnins)

RESPONSE: Consistent with governing statutes and regulations, and traditional practice, a list of positions has been developed which are deemed to always be official.

QUESTION 117: On trips with political and official components, what is the procedure for determining which events are paid for using official funds and which events are reimbursed by the political entity? (POC – Andy Kalnins)

RESPONSE: The guidelines are based on legal principles embodied in 5 CFR §734.503, policies established over a period of years by previous Administrations, and guidance from Federal Election Commission opinions.

QUESTION 118: If the President gives virtually the same speech at a political event that he gave at an official event in that same city, what criteria is used to determine whether an event is "political" or "official"? (POC – Andy Kalnins)

RESPONSE: Appearing at party functions, fundraising, and campaigning for specific candidates are principal examples of travel which ordinarily is considered political.

QUESTION 119: If the President gives virtually the same speech at a political event that he gave at an official event in that same city, does the political entity reimburse the White House for the Speechwriters time? (POC – WHO M&A)

RESPONSE: Ordinarily not. See 5 CFR §734.503(b)(1).

QUESTION 120: Have events been classified as "official" even if only members of the President's political party are invited to share the stage with the President? (POC – WHO M&A)

RESPONSE: The classification of an event as official or political depends on many factors. However, Presidents routinely have official events that may include members of only one party, for example, a speech or meeting about legislative activities or issues.

QUESTION 121: If so, what justification is used to argue that these events were not political events? (POC – WHO M&A)

REV_00169499

RESPONSE: The classification of an event as official or political depends on many factors. However, Presidents routinely have official events that may include members of only one party, for example, a speech or meeting about legislative activities or issues.

QUESTION 122: Please provide information about reimbursement to the White House Office or other government agencies associated with local staff travel to political events attended by the President in FY02 or FY03. For each reimbursement made, please provide the date the bill was generated, the number of events reflected on the bill, the date payment was received, the political entity paying the charges and the total amount paid on each bill. (POC – WHO M&A)

RESPONSE: The White House took steps to ensure appropriate reimbursements from the relevant political entities for political trips.

Photographic Services (POC – Eric Lanman)

QUESTION 123: For FY02, FY03 and FY04, what was (or is projected to be) the total cost of photographic equipment purchased for use by the White House photographers?

RESPONSE: The total cost (actual and projected) of photographic equipment procured for use by White House photographers in FY 2002, FY 2003 and FY 2004 are displayed in the table below.

	FY 2002	FY 2003	FY 2004
	Actual	Estimate	Estimate
Photographic Equipment	$137,057	$35,700	$36,300

FY 2002 actual costs are higher than the estimates for FY 2003 and FY 2004 due to the necessary life cycle replacement of photographic equipment.

QUESTION 124: For FY02, FY03 and FY04, what was (or is projected to be) the total cost of photo lab equipment purchased for use by the WHCA photo lab?

	FY 2002	FY 2003	FY 2004

QUESTION 125: For FY02, FY03 and FY04, what was (or is projected to be) the total travel cost associated with travel of White House Photographers?

REV_00169500

RESPONSE: The FY 2002 travel costs of White House Photographers was $46,721. The estimated FY 2003 cost is $50,000 and the projected cost for FY 2004 is $55,000.

QUESTION 126: For FY02, FY03 and FY04, what was (or is projected to be) the total rent cost associated with the WHCA photo lab?

RESPONSE: There is no rent cost associated with the WHCA photo lab. However, there are utility and facility maintenance costs associated with the WHCA photo lab. Those costs were $73,600 for FY 2002, $76,650 estimated for FY 2003 and a projected $79,000 for FY 2004.

QUESTION 127: Please explain the procedures for determining when and how the government is to be reimbursed for photos released for non-official purposes. If these procedures have changed from those followed by the previous administration, please explain any changes that have been made.

RESPONSE: The procedures for obtaining reimbursements for photographs changed on October 1, 2000. The procedures now in place are designed to ensure that the government receives appropriate reimbursement for photographs sought for non-official purposes. Records are kept of all such requests, and appropriate reimbursement is then sought.

QUESTION 128: For FY02 and the first seven months of FY03, please provide the following information about each payment made to the White House, OA, WHCA, DISA (or other DoD organization) to reimburse for the release of photos or photo lab services that were provided:

- date reimbursement was made
- name of reimbursing organization
- amount of payment
- number of photos purchased by reimbursing organization
- size of photos purchased by reimbursing organization

RESPONSE: The requested information about each payment made to the White House, OA, WHCA, DISA (or other DoD organization) to reimburse for the release of photos is provided below.

Remote Delivery Site Reprogramming Request (POC – Paul Ehrhardt)

We recently received a reprogramming request to transfer $2m of the funds provided to the Office of Homeland Security to the Remote Delivery Site cleanup efforts.

QUESTION 129: What is the status of remediation efforts?

RESPONSE: We are in the process of Confirmatory Sampling. The sampling plan is intended to present a technical approach for (1) completing air and surface sampling for culturable Bacillus anthracis spores to verify the efficacy of the decontamination process: (2) providing for qualified laboratory analysis of the collected samples: and (3) presenting a protocol for data collection and reporting such that the results of the sampling effort are valid and defensible. In addition, the Plan provides for the site and personnel security, safety, health, and personal protection, equipment and collection methods, and sample handling.

QUESTION 130: Please provide the total budget estimate for this project.

RESPONSE: As the contractor responsible for returning the building to an environmentally safe workplace, Versar to date has not been able to develop or provide accurate cost estimates or time lines to EOP. Budget and schedule estimates for this project are especially difficult due to critical path activities taking place in a high-risk environment relying on the utilization of untested speculative technologies. However to date $2.422 million has been spent on the effort and we are currently requesting an additional $2 million, which is Versar's best estimate of what it will cost to complete the project. The total budget estimate for the project then comes to $4.422 million.

QUESTION 131: Please provide the anticipated schedule for this effort.

RESPONSE: Given many variables, including weather, our best current estimate of time to required complete the RDS project is 4 months. The confirmatory testing phase is estimated to take eight weeks from start up. The next phase would be for the ECC committee to ratify the confirmation process; we estimate this to be one month. After this is completed, our best estimate is thirty days to perform PM on the HVAC equipment, build out the office areas, and re-establish the building operation.

QUESTION 132: What caused this $2 million overrun?

RESPONSE: There is not a $2 million overrun. The request for $2 million is a result of anticipated costs and those unforeseen conditions as result of the environmental cleanup process, that OA, GSA or its contractors had available at the time of fumigation. The Environmental Clearance Committee has placed additional requirements that resulted in the additional costs. The proposed sampling plan utilizes the barrier divisions already in Building 410 (which provides discrete work areas) and presents proposed sampling location, quantity, and types of samples to be collected . Sampling will be carried out using a phased approach for each work area as follows:

Phase 1, Surface Sampling; Phase 2 Air Sampling: Phase 3, "Dynamic Sampling", Phase 4, Start Up of the Heating, Ventilation , and Air Conditioning (HVAC) Units; and Phase 5, Final Sampling with the Barriers Down.

QUESTION 133: Why have you stopped providing the monthly reports on the remediation efforts?

RESPONSE: Due to the process of establishing the Environmental Clearance Committee, it was an administrative error that the reports were inadvertently not forwarded.

Previously the Remote Delivery Site was used to screen incoming mail. It also used to serve as an off-site supply depot. With the Department of Homeland Security now assuming the mail processing function and with supply operations now established on the White House Complex, I'm curious about future plans for the RDS.

REV_00169504

QUESTION 134: What will the facility be used for when remediation is finished?

RESPONSE: Prior to September 11, 2001 the Remote Delivery Site (RDS) was used as a centralized receiving facility for the White House Complex. All postage flat mail and packages, including UPS and FedEx deliveries, and all equipment and local deliveries were delivered to the RDS. All incoming deliveries, regardless of size, were screened by the U.S. Secret Service (USSS) via large X ray machines, and if any equipment was too large to fit on the X-ray conveyer belt, then the USSS used dogs to sniff for explosives. After initial USSS clearance, all of the items were sorted and delivered to their intended destination to the White House Complex. Supplies, equipment and furniture which were purchased for inventory for use at later time were housed at the RDS.

In addition to the screening of WHO Complex deliveries, the USSS Administrative Operations Division used RDS space to screen all of its incoming mail and packages that were intended for USSS personnel.

The EOP Supply store was operated within the confines of the RDS. Supplies were purchased and inventoried at the RDS and office supplies and copier paper were purchased in volume to take advantage of discounts. The WHO/EOP customers faxed supply requisitions to the RDS staff who then pulled and boxed office supplies for delivery to the WHO Complex. OA property supply staff made supply deliveries to the WHO complex at least twice a day, and more if needed.

The EOP/OA Personal Property Program (excess, transfer, donation, and destruction of furniture and equipment) had its operations housed at the RDS. Excessed equipment and furniture were corralled at the RDS until enough equipment and furniture were gathered to make it economical to excess all at once. In addition, schools and nonprofit organizations were allowed to review equipment for donation under Executive Order 12999.

After September 11, as a precautionary move, the White House United States Postal Service was relocated from the Eisenhower Executive Office Building to the RDS. A separate room was built for the USPS's operation of opening and screening all White House mail. The RDS operations continued working around the new USPS area. These USPS operations continued until the RDS was closed due to the discovery of Anthrax. Since then the USPS operations have relocated to 1800 G. St. NW.

Once the remediation is finished, the RDS will resume its former function of screening all bulk deliveries (including equipment, furniture, boxes of supplies) sent to the EOP Complex. In addition the facility will be used to store supplies and an inventory of equipment and furniture. The RDS will also be used as a staging area for efficient loading and delivery of bulk items for all EOP entities.

QUESTION 135: Will the DHS use the facility to screen the White House's mail?

REV_00169505

RESPONSE: No.

QUESTION 136: Will you close the on-site supply stores and revert back to running the supply operation out of the Remote Delivery Site?

RESPONSE: When the RDS reopens after the remediation of the building, the RDS staff will resume the same functions prior to the Anthrax. However, there are major changes in the way the OA Supply Store operates and manages its supply inventory. The Office of Administration has entered into a new business relationship with GSA. The OA Supply operation will purchase its supplies from GSA who will provide a wide array of office supplies and maintain the level of supply inventory that is needed to support the WHO Complex. The GSA inventory will be housed at the RDS after relocation from Franconia, VA, the current, temporary RDS location. OA supply staff will pull supply orders based on customer's requisitions, and then box and deliver the supplies from the RDS to WHO complex. GSA will only charge for the supplies that EOP customers use at point of sale, otherwise the unsold inventory will still belong to GSA. GSA promises to maintain the supplies that the EOP customers may need. Inventories will be reviewed and adjusted to realize the kind and quantities of supplies the EOP customers expect. This business relationship will promote a more flexible inventory that allows the supply inventory to have the quantity or variety of supplies to meet our customer needs in a more proactive, real-time fashion.

White House Access (POC – WHO M&A)

QUESTION 137: For the record, please provide the total number of visitors who passed through the White House as part of tours in 2000, 2001, 2002 and 2003 (to date).

RESPONSE: Listed below are total numbers of visitors that passed through the White House from 2000 to year to date FY 2003, as reported in National Park Service (NPS) statistical abstract:

2000: 1,175,714
2001: 856,042
2002: 178,092
2003: 43,434 (as of May 14)

Please note that the NPS records garden tours and egg roll events in their annual numbers for visitors to the White House even though the people attending these events do not go through the house. Since the numbers for the visitors that actually go through the house are not exclusively available, we have included the egg roll event in the numbers for 2003 for consistency. There was no a spring garden tour in 2003.

QUESTION 138: Why are White House tours currently not open to the general public?

REV_00169506

RESPONSE: White House special group tours were reopened for certain group tours on May 6, 2003. Over the past many months, the White House has operated a successful program, in partnership with Congressional offices, allowing special group tours to visit. We will continue to book groups using existing procedures unless circumstances dictate otherwise.

The White House is mindful of the request to fully resume public tours. We continue to consult with law enforcement and intelligence services on how to ensure the safety of the residents, staff and the general public while at the White House.

QUESTION 139: What is the status of the report on the status of White House Tours that was due to the Subcommittee by March 22nd?

RESPONSE: This question was answered and sent to the Subcommittee by the March 22nd deadline.

QUESTION 140: Who has the lead on the efforts to decide whether public tours can be resumed?

RESPONSE: The United States Secret Service constantly monitors and evaluates existing conditions to determine the level of security required at the White House complex including when and if tours can be resumed on a full schedule. Their recommendations, along with input from other law enforcement and intelligence services who monitor changing world events, are reviewed with White House management staff to schedule and structure tours in such a manner that will provide an appropriate level of security for general public taking the tours, in addition to the staff who work in and around the Complex, and the residents. This is an ongoing effort.

QUESTION 141: Does the USSS do a background check on all individuals attending events and meetings at the White House Complex before access can be granted?

RESPONSE: For security reasons, it is not appropriate to provide information about the specific nature of background checks and related security procedures in this context.

QUESTION 142: During this administration, have White House aides ever overruled a building-access recommendation made by the USSS?

RESPONSE: The USSS and EOP Staff collaborate in making decisions on access to the complex.

Off-site EOP Support

QUESTION 143: How many EOP employees are based in Crawford, TX? (POC – Stacia Cropper)

RESPONSE: One.

QUESTION 144: How much space does the EOP pay rent for in Crawford, TX? (POC James Daniel/Stacia Cropper)

RESPONSE: There is one double-wide trailer. The cost of the trailer itself and all operating costs will be paid to GSA in a monthly rent payment of $8,496.83 for two years.

QUESTION 145: How many trailers were acquired for Crawford, TX? (POC James Daniel/Stacia Cropper)

RESPONSE: One trailer was acquired for the EOP.

QUESTION 146: What was the cost to purchase and renovate these trailers? (POC James Daniel/Stacia Cropper)

RESPONSE: The cost of the trailer shell was $72,745.28. The cost to apply finishes to the trailer interior was $20,976.62.

QUESTION 147: What are the expected FY04 operating costs of facilities and staff permanently deployed to Crawford, TX? (POC James Daniel/Stacia Cropper)

RESPONSE: The following are the estimated operating costs for one year: Pest Control ($1,440), cleaning ($4,200), electricity ($4,211.75), and water ($2,286.38).

Rent (POC – Steve Beattie)

QUESTION 148: Please provide an accounting of all space on which the EOP currently pays rent. The list should include the number of staff in each building, the agencies which occupy space in each facility, the total square footage by agency in each facility, the total square footage of vacant space on which the EOP is currently paying rent in each facility and the GSA rent rates for each facility.

RESPONSE: The following charts provide the information on EOP facilities and GSA rental rates as they stood during the formulation of the FY 2004 budget request. Since then, several offices have moved from the New Executive Office Building (NEOB) into the space in 1800 G. Street. In addition, several offices from the Eisenhower Executive Office building will be moving into the newly vacated space at the NEOB. Once all moves have been accomplished, the EOP will provide the Subcommittee with an update on the space utilization of the buildings on the White House complex.

Travel Office (POC – Mayra Segovia)

QUESTION 151: Please describe the current role the White House Travel Office plays in managing and arranging the financial aspects of White House Press Corps travel. Does the White House Travel Office operate as a "dollar-for-dollar" operation?

RESPONSE: The White House Travel Office provides the White House Press Corps with a range of travel services when they accompany the President, Vice President and First Lady. Services include air and ground transportation, hotel accommodations, and convention-type services associated with the Filing Center.

The White House Press Travel Fund operates as a dollar-for-dollar operation.

QUESTION 152: How many EOP staff work in the White House Travel Office?

RESPONSE: Eight EOP staff work in the White House Travel Office.

QUESTION 153: How many contractor travel agents support the White House Travel Office?

RESPONSE: Six contractor travel agents support the White House Travel Office.

QUESTION 154: Please include the most recent independent financial statement audit of the White House Travel Office's accounts for the record.

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS REPORT

To the Management of
White House Travel Office Press Fund

We have audited the accompanying statement of financial position of the White House Travel Office Press Fund as of December 31, 2001, and the related statements of activities and cash flows for the year then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the White House Travel Office Press Fund's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the White House Travel Office Press Fund as of December 31, 2001, and the changes in its net assets and its cash flows for the nine months then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

WHITE HOUSE TRAVEL OFFICE PRESS FUND
NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
DECEMBER 31, 2001

NOTE 1 – ORGANIZATION

The White House Travel Office Press Fund ('WHTO") was established to manage expenses associated with travel for members of the press who accompany the President, Vice President, First Lady, and Second Lady on domestic and foreign trips. In May 1993, a new management team was hired to manage WHTO. Consequently, for accounting and reporting purposes, a new WHTO was established as of January 1, 1994.

NOTE 2- SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Revenue and expenditures are recognized using the accrual basis of accounting. The WHTO invoices the press organizations for their prorated share of the expenses associated with each trip. The WHTO then remits payment directly to the vendors whose services were used for the particular trip. The total amount invoiced to the press members equals the total of the amounts paid to the vendors. The WHTO does not own any fixed assets. Al! fixed assets are purchased through the White House's general fund and designated for the WHTO use. Similarly, all operating expenses of the WHTO, including salaries and office supplies, are paid directly by the White House's general fund.

NOTE 3- CASH

Gash is maintained in two non-interest checking accounts at the Riggs National Bank of Washington, D.C. The RCA 2000 cash account is explained in Note 4.

The total cash held by WHTO at December 31, 2001 includes $512,821 that is not covered by insurance provided by the federal government. It is the opinion of WHTO's management that the solvency of the referenced financial institution is not of particular concern at this time.

REV_00169520

NOTE 4 - RESTRICTED CASH ACCOUNT

Effective April 1, 2000, the management of the White House Travel Office implemented a Restricted Cash Account (RCA). RCA funds are encumbered for specific purposes set forth in written policies and procedures, most notably for payment of late arriving vendor invoices, bank charges and accounts receivable written off as uncollectible.

The RCA is funded through an RCA funding amount applied to every customer invoice, except those for government employees. Presently, that funding amount is two percent of the invoice amount

RCA funding amounts are not considered revenue for accounting purposes.

Under current policies and procedures, a separate RCA is established for each calendar year. The RCA 2000 account on the Statement of Financial Position reflects the total amount of cash in that account at December 31, 2001. The RCA liability accounts for 2000 and 2001 reflect the total RCA funding amount applied to all customer invoices during the respective calendar year, less any disbursements. RCA funding amounts that have been invoiced but not yet collected are included in the accounts receivable amount.

The RCA for each year will be terminated at a designated point in time after the conclusion of the applicable calendar year. At the time of dissolution, any excess funds will be refunded to the Press Fund's customers subject to the RCA funding amount in accordance with a formula based on the percentage of the total travel costs consumed during the year corresponding to the RCA. For example, if a customer were responsible for ten percent of all travel costs for the calendar year 2001, they would be entitled to ten percent of the remaining RCA 2001 funds at the time of dissolution.

NOTE 5 – ACCOUNTS RECEIVABLE

Currently, the WHTO writes off accounts receivable using the direct write-off method. Therefore, there is no allowance for uncollectible accounts.

REV_00169521

NOTE 6 - OTHER RECEIVABLES

As per note 2, the WHTO utilizes a system of dollar for dollar accounting. Under the current accounting process, vendor invoices for trip expenses are entered into accounts payable as they are received. Accordingly, there is an accumulation of unbilled trip expenses in accounts payable until such time that trip accounting is finalized and members of the press are invoiced for their pro rata share of trip expenses. This timing difference creates the need for an Other Receivables category. Other Receivables represents the obligations for normal trip expenses that have been entered into accounts payable, but not yet billed to the press.

REV_00169522

QUESTION 155: Please explain the formula you use to determine the rate of reimbursement for Press Corps travelers on the Press Charter?

RESPONSE: Each leg of the itinerary is assigned a proportionate cost, which is divided equally among all press passengers. The following formula is used to compute the proportionate cost for each leg of the trip: (Leg flight time / Total flight time) * Total Air Transportation Expense

QUESTION 156: Please explain the formula you use to determine the rate of reimbursement for Press Pool travelers on Air Force One?

RESPONSE: The cost of the fourteen members of the pool traveling on AF1 is added to the total air transportation expense and the total costs are spread on a pro-rata share among all of the press travelling on the trip. The following formula is used to compute the proportionate cost for each leg of the trip: (Leg flight time / Total flight time) * Total Air Transportation Expense

QUESTION 157: Please explain the formula used to identify the reimbursement rate that the Travel Office billed Press Corps travelers accompanying the President's travel to the USS Abraham Lincoln. In your response, please include the actual rate billed to individual press corps travelers on this trip.

RESPONSE: The cost of transporting press corps travelers from the North Island Naval Air Station to the USS Abraham Lincoln and back to the North Island Naval Air Station totaled $7,440.26. This cost will be added to the total air transportation expense and spread on a pro-rata share among all the press traveling on the trip. The formula for military aircraft reimbursement for the trip to the USS Abraham Lincoln is as follows: $X per hour per aircraft, divided by 60 minutes to get a per minute rate, multiplied by the flight time, divided by the total number of passengers, and then 7.5% excise tax plus $3.00 dollars per person was added.

Bonuses

QUESTION 158: Why did this administration reinstate the payments of bonuses to political appointees? (POC – WHO M&A)

RESPONSE: The relevant statutes and regulations make clear that all Federal employees are eligible for bonuses. Therefore, like other Federal employees, Schedule C and non-career Senior Executive Service (SES) employees may receive bonuses. Consistent with law, this and past Administrations have made bonuses available to Schedule C and SES employees in appropriate circumstances.

REV_00169523

QUESTION 159: Have any EOP political staff been given bonuses since the policy was reinstated in March of 2002? (POC – Jon Laurich)

RESPONSE: Bonuses have been awarded to EOP political staff.

QUESTION 160: Have any EOP political staff been given pay increases for a single pay period in FY02 or FY03 (to date) that would have the same effect as a bonus? (POC – Jon Laurich)

RESPONSE: No.

Eisenhower Executive Office Building

QUESTION 161: Since 1/20/01, have any non-Federal funds been used for renovations and/or furnishings in the GSA facilities occupied by the Executive Office of the President? [this question does not apply to the White House residence.] (POC –WHO M&A)

RESPONSE: We understand this question to refer to buildings within the White House complex that are managed by GSA, including the EEOB, and the East and West Wings. As the Committee is aware, two federal agencies – the GSA, and the National Park Service -- have authority to accept gifts donated to the United States for use in various buildings in the White House complex.

Historically these agencies have on occasion accepted gifts to the United States donated for use in these facilities. For example, in the past, furnishings have been donated to renovate the Oval Office, located in the West Wing. That has also occurred in this Administration. To illustrate: in 2002 a donation was made of three sofas, including sofa fabric, and fabric for two chairs, all for use in the Oval Office. This donation was accepted by the National Park Service under its gift acceptance authority, on behalf of the United States. The donated items became part of the White House collection and will be cared for by the White House Curator.

QUESTION 162: Which Federal agency (i.e., GSA, OA/Facilitles) coordinated the work that was paid for using non-Federal funds? (POC –WHO M&A)

RESPONSE: I understand this question to refer to buildings within the White House complex that are managed by GSA, including the EEOB, and the East and West Wings. As the Committee is aware, two federal agencies – the GSA, and the National Park

been relocated to locations outside the EEOB. For each agency that relocated, please identify the agency that paid the move-related costs. (POC – Steve Beattie)

RESPONSE: There was no movement of EOP offices from the EEOB prior to September 11, 2001. After September 11, the Office of Administration, using Emergency Supplemental funding, paid for the moves of the following offices outside of the EEOB.

EOP Offices Previously in the EEOB	New Location
WHO Presidential Personnel	1800 G. Street
WHO Presidential Correspondence	1800 G. Street
Council on Environmental Quality	Jackson Place Townhouses
Office of Science and Technology Policy	1801 Pennsylvania Avenue

QUESTION 168: What is the status of the vacant space on the 17th Street side of the Eisenhower Executive Office Building? (POC – Steve Beattie)

RESPONSE: The vacant space along 17th street is under construction as part of the Fire and Life Safety Improvements project.

Thank you for the edits and comments you provided. The attached document, &QFR Responses 28 reflects all edits, except where there are still issues to be resolved. (All outstanding issues will be dealt with in separate emails to the affected parties.) We need you to once again review the document for accuracy and consistency. Your edits and comments on the new document, &QFR Responses 28 are due by 3:00 p.m., Friday, May 30th. We received a short extention from the Subcommittee and must provide the final document to Congress by COB Monday, June 2nd. To assist in this effort, I have included listings below that may help while navigating through the document.

HOW TO USE THIS DOCUMENT

Several of the FY 2004 questions for the record refer to pages from last year's (FY 2003) hearing record. Below is the FY 2003 hearing record information.

Note that the Question # refers to this year's (FY 2004) question and the information that follows is what was in last year's (FY 2003) hearing record.

Hearing Record Reference for Question 6:

Issue: Executive Office of the President

Question: By EOP agency, provide FTE and OGE. Itemize OGE by category (e.g. reimbursable detailee, PSC, etc). Include FY 2001 (actual) and FY 2002-2003 (estimates).

Answer: The following tables provide the total FY 2001 actual, FY 2002 and FY 2003 estimates for full time equivalents (FTE) and other government employees (OGE) for each EOP and other entity as of April 5, 2002. The OGE numbers are itemized by category on the following page. The FY 2001 actual numbers should be viewed in the context of a Presidential transition year and may vary greatly from the FY 2002 figures. The FY 2002 and FY 2003 numbers are estimates only and therefore subject to change for a number of reasons.

Hearing Record Reference for Question 7:

Question: For the Office of Administration provide FTE and OGE by organizational unit for FY 2001 (actual) and FY 2002-2003 (estimates).

Answer: The chart below displays the FTE and OGE distribution in the previous OA organizational structure for FY 2001. For FY 2002 and FY 2003, the FTE and OGE are displayed in the new streamlined OA organizational structure which reduced the number of operating units reporting to the Director from 10 to 4. All data is as of April 5, 2002.

Hearing Record Reference for Question 16:

Question: Provide an organizational chart for the OHS.

Answer: See chart below.

REV_00169538

REV_00169539

Hearing Record Reference for question 17:

Question: The President's request includes $1,337,000 for travel and transportation of persons, an increase of $976,000 from the estimated level of $361,000 in FY 2002. For FY 2002 and 2003 (estimates), provide a list of trips by location and purpose, including the number of staff traveling and staff position.

Answer: The FY 2002 travel and transportation of persons estimate and FY 2003 budget request provides funding for the Assistant to the President for Homeland Security and staff travel, Critical Infrastructure Protection Board (CIPB) activities and advisory board activities. Specific locations for FY 2003 are currently unavailable due to the fact that they are determined as requirements are finalized. FY 2002 and FY 2003 anticipated travel activities are in furtherance of the OHS mission promulgated in the Executive Orders.

Examples of FY 2003 estimated travel requirements include: per diem and travel for two-thirds of Advisory Board members to attend approximately 40 various meetings and activities; approximately 50 domestic trips for the Assistant to the President for Homeland Security and 3 staff members to fulfill outreach requirements; approximately 100 domestic trips for Homeland Security staff to fulfill mission functions as outlined in Executive Order 13228; approximately 24 domestic and 3 overseas trips for the Chair, Vice Chair and one staff member of the CIPB to fulfill outreach requirements as stated in Executive Order 13231; and approximately 12 CIPB staff (director level) trips to outreach the private sector. Of course, these are estimates only and are therefore subject to change for a variety of reasons.

FY 2002 travel expenses incurred to date include trips to Mexico and Canada for border discussions and various locations in the United States to visit first response, bioterrorism research facilities and other initiatives related to homeland security. The following table lists current (as of April 10, 2002) FY 2002 travel expenses as reflected in the accounting system.

Trip Cost Note: Estimated costs of trips will vary greatly from trip to trip to the same city and from one city to another city for four significant reasons; mode of transportation used/authorized, number of days TDY, number of personnel on trip, and whether costs recorded are actual or estimated expenses.

Hearing Record Reference for Question 19:

Question: What Memorandums of Understanding have been signed by the Office of Homeland Security, or by any other EOP entity on behalf of the Office of Homeland Security and with whom? Describe the purpose of each MOU.

Answer: As of April 12, 2002, there is one signed Memorandum of Understanding (MOU), which is an agreement between OHS and the Office of Science and Technology Policy (OSTP). OSTP provides technical and personnel support for research and development and policy issues. There is no financial component to this MOU.

Hearing Record Reference for question 24:

Question: Is there a distinct organizational unit within the OHS for this function? If so, how many FTE are associated with this function? How many detailees? Where are these people located? Is this a permanent location? What is the total amount of space being used by the Cyber Security Office? What is the total cost of the Cyberspace Security office, including rent, office supplies, communications, etc.

Answer: The Special Advisor reports to both the Assistant to the President for Homeland Security and the Assistant to the President for National Security Affairs. The permanent location and amount of space allocated to the Board has not been determined, but they are currently located at the G Street office location. The total staff associated with this function is yet to be determined. The total estimated cost, for FY 2003, of the CIPB, including rent, office supplies, communications, etc., is approximately $2.85 million.

Hearing Record Reference for Question 39:

Question: To date, provide the total amount obligated from the FY 2002 appropriation "White House Repair and Restoration" by project.

Answer: Listed below is the status of each of the projects and the amounts obligated. No funds have been obligated to date in excess of the $100,000 project prospectus ceiling.

Pool Shelter Roof Reconstruction and Pool Deck Renovation - The preliminary architectural survey and design are completed, and structural engineering analysis and design is in progress. The two primary contractors required have committed to the project and an on-site meeting is scheduled. Construction is expected to begin in April. There have been no funds obligated. All work to date has been accomplished with National Park Service and Executive Residence staff.

Communication System Repairs / Phase 2 - Design work continues under Phase I (FY 2001 – $441,000 obligated) and Construction (Phase II) is expected to begin in August.

East and West Wing Exterior Restoration - Scaffolding installation for one elevation of the East and West Wing is nearly complete. Paint removal will begin shortly as outdoor temperatures permit. $84,500 has been obligated to date.

REV_00169544

Insulated Windows Replacement - Preliminary discussions are ongoing with manufacturers and fabrication should begin in May. Installation and related restoration requirements have been discussed with the prospective contractor, and the proposal should be received in April 2002. Work is expected to begin in July. No funds have been obligated for this project.

Kitchen Floor Replacement - The survey of existing conditions including utilities has been completed. An onsite meeting with the flooring installation contractor was completed and installation began in mid-March 2002. No funds have been obligated for this project.

North Portico Curtain Wall - The contractor began onsite work at the end of February 2002 and installation is 95% complete. Only the "punch" list and in house items remain. $83,000 has been obligated to date.

Stone Pavers Restoration - The contractor proposal has been received and is under review. Material ordering is expected in April 2002 and onsite work is expected to begin in May. No funds have been obligated for this project.

West Colonnade Restoration - There is continuing restoration of the first three columns and historically accurate replacement stone has been ordered for all columns. The newly discovered deteriorated structural steel has been evaluated. The recommended corrective actions will be accomplished this summer and no additional funds will be required. To date, $49,040 has been obligated for this project.

Hearing Record Reference for Question 56:

Question: For Object Class 25.2 for the White House Office, provide a detailed description of each project, program or initiative to be funded in support of the USA Freedom Corps Office.

Answer: The additional funds requested in Object Class 25.2 for the White House Office's USA Freedom Corps Office are primarily required to fund two program initiatives.

- Information Dissemination: The cost of this program initiative is estimated at $900,000 and will primarily consist of contracted services in partnership with other Freedom Corps coordinating council agencies. These contracted services will include both interactive website portals and telecommunication services such as information phone banks. These services will provide links and information concerning volunteer opportunities, Freedom Corps activities and other pertinent data.

- Recognition Materials: The cost of this program initiative is estimated at $275,000 and will primarily consist of contracted services to develop, provide and disseminate materials that will be used to recognize volunteer activities and accomplishments.

In addition, approximately $25,000 is required to fund increased general support Other Service costs within the White House that will occur as the result of the operations of this new office. These funds will be used for such things as office equipment maintenance contracts and GSA work requests.

Hearing Record Reference for Question 63:

Issue: White House Communications Agency

Question: For FY 2001 and 2002 (estimates) itemize the reimbursements made to the WH Communications Agency.

Question: For FY 2003, what are the estimated reimbursements to the WH Communications Agency?

Answers to previous two questions: Reimbursements made to WHCA, for the non-telecommunications support they provide to the WHO, is broken down into two categories: personnel and audio visual support. The amount of planned reimbursement is initially set and agreed to via an inter-agency agreement (IAG). This IAG is then adjusted if needed as a result of actual execution. Reimbursement actuals and estimates follow:

	FY01 (actual)	FY02 (est.)	FY03 (est.)
Military Personnel	$3,946,779	$4,564,085	$4,754,346
Audiovisual Support	$3,514,528	$3,589.242	$3,953,848
Total	$7,461,307	$8,153,327	$8,708,194

Hearing Record Reference for Question 64:

Issue: Office of Administration

Question: Provide an organization chart for the Office of Administration, including the numbers of FTE in each office.

Answer: The Office of Administration organization chart provided below reflects the current streamlined organizational structure where the number of operating units reporting to the Director was reduced from 10 to 4. The FY 2003 FTE request includes an increase of 20 FTE over FY 2002 authorized levels. All additional FTEs support the ongoing requirements stemming from the events of September 11 including IT and facility support for dispersed offices, additional logistics responsibilities for the receipt and delivery of mail, and financial management support for the Office of Homeland Security (+7 Chief Operating Officer, +10 Chief Information Officer, +1 Chief Projects Officer, +2 Chief Financial Officer).

Hearing Record Reference for Question 72:

Issue: White House Office

Question: Provide a brief description of the duties and responsibilities of each office (e.g. Chief of Staff, Oval Office Operations, Office of the Press Secretary, Office of Homeland Security, etc.) within the appropriations account "White House Office". By office, provide obligations, FTE and OGE for FY 2001(actual) and FY 2002-2003 (estimated). Itemize OGE by category (e.g. reimbursable detailee, PSC, etc.).

Answer: The purpose of the White House Office is to provide advice and assistance to the President of the United States. This requires a range of professional and support staff. The White House Office is currently divided into the following major units:

Office of the Chief of Staff – Provides advice and assistance to the President and directs the activities of the White House staff.

Oval Office Operations – Provides assistance to the President by, among other things, managing the operations of the Oval Office.

REV_00169555

Advance – Provides advice and assistance to the President, principally by taking responsibility for the organization and implementation of the President and the First Lady's visits outside of the White House complex.

Cabinet Affairs – Provides advice and assistance to the President by, among other things, serving as the liaison between the White House and the President's Cabinet and agency heads.

Communications, Speechwriting, and Media Affairs – Provides advice and assistance to the President by, among other things, coordinating and supporting efforts to communicate and explain the President's views and decisions.

Office of Counsel to the President – Provides advice and assistance to the President and White House staff, principally on matters of law.

Faith-Based and Community Initiatives – Provides advice and assistance to the President by, among other things, coordinating and implementing the President's initiative to empower community and faith-based organizations to better confront poverty and social decay.

Office of the First Lady – Provides advice and assistance to Mrs. Bush in carrying out her official responsibilities as the First Lady.

Homeland Security – Provides advice and assistance to the President, principally by developing, coordinating, and advising the President on a comprehensive national strategy to secure the United States from terrorist threats or attacks and, in particular, by coordinating the Executive Branch's efforts to detect, prepare for, prevent, protect against, respond to, and recover from terrorist attacks within the United States. It has no operational role.

Intergovernmental Affairs – Provides advice and assistance to the President, principally by monitoring the views of State and local elected officials and serving as a liaison between the White House and the Executive Branch, on the one hand, and State and local governments, on the other.

Legislative Affairs – Provides advice and assistance to the President by, among other things, serving as the liaison between the White House and the Congress and developing the strategy used to promote and defend the President's legislative agenda.

Management and Administration – Provides advice and assistance to the President, principally by providing day-to-day administrative support to the White House staff.

Presidential Personnel – Provides advice and assistance to the President, principally by recruiting, screening, and recommending to the President qualified candidates for Presidential appointments to Federal departments and agencies.

REV_00169556

Office of the Press Secretary – Provides advice and assistance to the President, principally by providing information to the national and international press and by handling all national press inquiries such as interview requests, requests for transcripts or releases, and travel and scheduling information.

Scheduling – Provides advice and assistance to the President, principally by coordinating the planning, organization, and implementation of the President's daily and long-range schedules.

Office of the Staff Secretary – Provides advice and assistance to the President by, among other things, managing documents or other items addressed to the President, including correspondence and gifts.

Strategic Initiatives – Provides advice and assistance to the President by, among other things, coordinating the planning and development of a long-range strategy for achieving Presidential priorities; conducting research; and assisting in message development and other communications activities in conjunction with the Office of Public Liaison and the Office of Political Affairs.

USA Freedom Corps – Provides advice and assistance to the President on matters relating to enlisting Americans in public service at home and abroad; in particular, it provides advice and support on the work of, and recognizes participants in, three service efforts – the newly created Citizen Corps, AmeriCorps and Senior Corps, and the Peace Corps.

In addition to these major units, certain individuals – including certain individuals who work with the National Security Council, the Domestic Policy Council, and the National Economic Council – are also White House Office officers or employees, although the units within which they principally work are not themselves part of the White House Office.

The major units within the White House Office are administratively designated by the President's Chief of Staff and the number of employees within each unit and the work of each unit vary over time and as circumstances and needs change. Therefore, a detailed breakout of FTEs and OGEs by unit is not particularly meaningful. White House Office obligations, FTE and OGE are summarized below. The Office of Homeland Security is funded under the emergency supplemental this fiscal year, and therefore, the FY 2002 numbers below do not include OHS personnel or funding. FY 2002 estimates for the OHS are addressed separately in response to other committee questions.

FY 2003 includes the 95 OGEs for the Office of Homeland Security requested in the FY 2003 Budget Request.

* FY 2002 obligations for the Office of Homeland Security are funded under the Emergency Supplemental Appropriation

It should be noted that a single budget is prepared for the WHO. This single budget is prepared based on a number of criteria such as: prior spending patterns, estimated requirements, OMB provided inflation factors, and the priorities of the President. During a given execution year, personnel costs are allocated based upon that year's sometimes unique staffing decisions. The remainder of the budget is allocated initially to two WHO offices. The travel budget is allocated in its entirety to Scheduling and Advance and obligated against this office if the travel is done in support of the President. Any travel undertaken that is not in support of a Presidential trip is charged to the office of the staff member in question. The remaining portion of the non-personnel, non-travel budget, including expenses for rent, supplies, equipment and other services is considered overhead and charged as such to the White House Office of Management and Administration.

The only exceptions are the Office of Homeland Security and the USA Freedom Corps Office. Since these are new offices requiring new budget authority, all new obligations (including travel and overhead) anticipated as a result of these offices are reflected in the FY 2003 estimates for these offices.

Hearing Record Reference for question 73:

Question: Referencing the FTE/OGE tables that break-out personnel classifications by type of OGE, please explain why the number of "historically provided" employees decreased so significantly (from 25 to 1) for the Vice President's office between FY2001 and FY2002. Please provide the Subcommittee your definition of each OGE category listed on the table (agency reps, assignees, detailees, HP services, others, student volunteers, WH fellows, PMI). Please also provide a listing of the 15 "historically provided" White House Office positions identified on the FY2002 chart, the White House Office to which these positions are assigned, and the agency that pays the salary of each of the 15 positions.

Answer: The difference in the number of "Historically Provided" employees in the Vice President's Office from FY 2001 to FY 2002 is due to the redesignation of U.S. Senate employees. In FY 2001, the previous administration designated U.S. Senate employees in the Vice President's office as "Historically Provided". This was done in error and it has since been corrected. For FY 2002 and FY 2003, U. S. Senate employees are more accurately designated as "Other" since they do not fit into any other OGE category.

The following chart shows the 15 "Historically Provided" White House Office positions, the associated office and the agency that pays their salaries.

Hearing Record Reference for Question 79:

Question: How many political appointees are currently employed within the Executive Office of the President?

Answer: The term "political appointees" is somewhat of a misnomer because it narrowly defines the type of employees authorized under Chapter 2 of Title 3 of the U.S. Code, for the White House Office, the Executive Residence, the Official Residence of the Vice President and the Office of Administration. These offices can hire personnel in various excepted service positions that are not subject to the rules of regular government employees. Many of these excepted service positions fall under the category of serving at the pleasure of the President while others do not. Using the term in the broadest possible sense, including all employees hired as Presidential Appointees, Administratively Determined, Non Career SES, or Schedule C's, the Executive Office of the President has the following number of political appointees directly hired

Chairman Ernest J. Istook, Jr.
Hearing on the Executive Office of the President
April 30, 2003

Unobligated Balances (POC - Veronica Kitchen)

QUESTION 1: Please provide a listing of all unobligated balances, by fiscal year, appropriation and PPA, for all accounts within the Executive Office of the President. Please also show the original appropriation levels for these accounts.

Consolidation of Accounts (POC- Al Muhlbauer)

QUESTION 2: Sections 105 and 106 of title 3 U. S. Code describe expenses that may be accounted for solely on the certificate of the President and Vice President, respectively. Most of these expenses correspond to particular accounts. The Comptroller General may inspect documents related to these expenditures, but solely to verify that the expenditures were made for allowed purposes. When we asked last year how certified expenses would be identified for audit within a consolidated appropriation, the response was that the certification requirements would continue to be observed (p. 41). This does not answer the question of how the account structure will be maintained to provide an identifiable and auditable crosswalk between title 3-certifiable expenses and other expenses within the consolidated appropriation.

RESPONSE: As presented in the Congressional Budget Submission pages 4, 5, and 6, the Executive Office of the President (EOP) has established a Budget Activity structure that is consistent, beginning with the budget submission and extending through the accounting and reporting phases. The EOP accounting system will track and report obligations and expenditures consistent with this structure through the use of budget activity, program, sub-program, and line item codes assigned to each transaction. EOP has the ability to provide an identifiable and auditable crosswalk to the individual transactions authorized under sections 105 and 106 of Title 3 of the United States Code.

QUESTION 3: Please provide a listing of all appropriations language enacted in Public Law 108-7 which would be dropped in the proposed account consolidation, and provide a brief explanation of why that language is not necessary.

RESPONSE: The following appropriations in Public Law 108-7: Compensation of the President, White House Office Salaries and Expenses, Office of Homeland Security, Executive Residence at the White House, White House Repair and Restoration, Council of Economic Advisers, Office of Policy Development, National Security Council, Office of Administration would be combined into one appropriation entitled "The White House". The individual language in Public Law 108-7 for each of those appropriations would be removed. However, suggested language for the combined appropriation is provided in the Appendix to the FY 2004 Budget (page 881) and states: "For the Compensation of the President and White House Office (including the Office of Homeland Security), Executive Residence, White House Repair and Restoration, Office of Policy and Development, Office of Administration, Council of Economic Advisers and the National Security Council, (hereinafter, and solely for the purposes of Title VI of this Act, "the White House"), $183,770,000, of which $24,803,000 shall remain available until expended, including compensation for the President, including an expense allowance of $50,000 as authorized by U.S.C. 102; for travel expense of $100,000 as authorized by 3 U.S.C. 103; for necessary expenses for the White House as authorized by 5 U.S.C. 3109 and 3 U.S.C. 105; for the necessary expenses of the Executive Residence at the White House as authorized by 3 U.S.C. 105,109,110, and 112-114; for the necessary expenses of the Offices and Councils in the White House account as authorized by 5 U.S.C. 3109, 15 U.S.C. 1021, and 3 U.S.C. 105 and 107 (including not to exceed $19,000 for official reception and representation expenses); and for the hire of passenger motor vehicles: Provided, That none of the funds made available to the President for official expenses shall be expended for any other purpose and any unused portion of such funds shall revert to the Treasury pursuant to 31 U.S.C. 1552: Provided further, That no such funds shall be considered as taxable to the President: Provided further, That advances or repayments or transfers from this appropriation may be made to any department or agency for expenses of carrying out such activities."

The suggested language, with the exception of a consolidated appropriation amount incorporates the same restrictions and clarifications as contained the language contained in the Public Law 108-7 for the appropriations being consolidated. The appropriations for Vice President's Salaries and Expense, Vice President's Residence Operating Expenses, Office of Management and Budget, Office of National Drug Control Policy, Unanticipated Needs will remain separate appropriations and will therefore not require any language changes as a result of the combination.

The White House (Consolidated Account) (POC – Chuck Sigman)

QUESTION 4: You are requesting $12,302,000 for object class 23.3 (communications, utilities, and miscellaneous services) in FY 2004. This is a large increase over the estimated $7,010,000 for FY 2003. What accounts for the increase?

RESPONSE: The FY 2004 White House (WH) consolidated budget net increase of $5,292,000 for communications is required in three major areas:

- Most of the increase ($4,420,000) is needed in the OA Capital Investment Plan for offsite data center communications. This facility will transition into full operation during FY 2004. The telecommunications between the offsite data center and the EOP complex are necessary to provide expanded, survivable and redundant connectivity, continuity of operations, disaster recovery and system support. These costs include funds for telecommunications lines, two additional

DS-3 data paths, two T-1 lines, and backups to provide the communications bandwidth necessary for servicing the EOP complex.

- $482,000 in the White House Office budget to provide a custom communications package which will enable the Homeland Security Council to establish a presence for its staff within the White House Situation Room.

- $100,000 for information assurance in the OA salaries/expenses budget. In addition to the Offsite Data Center project, the OA FY 2004 budget also includes a request for an additional $100,000 for the information assurance program in the FY 2004 salaries/expenses account. This program will enable the CIO office to correct vulnerabilities in the EOP information security perimeter to secure internal systems, to perform real-time monitoring of perimeter network devices.

- $151,000 in transfers of Lexis-Nexis database costs from nonconsolidated entities to the consolidated White House appropriation. The FY 2004 budget envisions that $72,000 will be transferred from USTR, $56,000 from ONDCP, $15,000 from OMB, and $8,000 from CEQ so that the EOP can have a single funding source for EOP-wide Lexis-Nexis service.

- $139,000 for adjustments to maintain the same level of services for the base funding during FY 2004. This is calculated on the basis of the $7,010,000 in FY 2003 funding.

Rental Pricing (POC – Chuck Sigman)

QUESTION 5: The FY 2004 justifications state that, over the past year, EOP, GSA, and OMB have undertaken an assessment of space rental costs for all EOP entities. The result of this analysis is that the FY 2004 request includes additional funding to accommodate an "EOP average" rental rate. Please provide details of how this analysis was conducted, and specify the estimated rental rates for the various EOP entities, as determined by this analysis.

RESPONSE: The EOP space rental project began during the summer of 2002 at the request of OMB's budget examiners, who were working to ensure that EOP entities moved to the same market-based rent methodology used to determine space rental rates for GSA's other Federal properties. OMB requested that GSA and EOP review the space rental costs for each EOP property and each EOP entity so that the most up-to-date costs available were included in the FY 2004 budget proposal. Another significant concern in this project is to ensure that GSA will work with the EOP to ensure that the critical needs of the EOP are funded and executed.

As a result of the initial project, OA and GSA began a series of meetings which culminated in the space estimates which were included in the budget. GSA staff prepared a comprehensive listing of EOP properties, which itemized the space occupied by each

EOP entity. This listing included commercial and government-owned space, current estimates of rentable square footage, and the annual rental rate per square foot. EOP staff provided updated estimates of the rentable square footage.

During this process, GSA blended the fair-market rates for the permanent EOP buildings into a single blended rate. This was done to simplify the administrative work when EOP staff are relocated. This is especially needed in the post-9/11 environment's unusually high number of large-scale EOP entity relocations driven by security considerations as well as the result of the legislation creating the Department of Homeland Security. The EOP average rental rate for Federally-owned properties (New Executive Office Building (NEOB), Eisenhower Executive Office Building (OEOB), White House, Winder Building, Jackson Place) is $29.60 annually per square foot. GSA adds an additional building security charge for buildings which are not protected by the US Secret Service. The average rental rates used to determine each entity's budget estimate for office space are as follows:

Entity	Locations	Owned or Leased	Average Rental Rate
OMB	EEOB, NEOB	owned	$29.60/sf
CEQ	EEOB	owned	$29.60

EOP Staffing (POC – Jon Laurich)

QUESTION 6: By EOP office, please provide FTE and OGE, similar in format to the tables found on pages 111 and 112 of last year's hearing record. Please provide data for FY 2002 through 2004.

RESPONSE: The following tables provide the total FY 2002 actual, FY 2003 and FY 2004, estimates for full time equivalents (FTE) and other government employees (OGE) for each EOP and other entity as of May 5, 2003. The OGE numbers are itemized by category on the following page. The FY 2003 numbers have the Office of Homeland Security in a separate category, which accordingly decreased the White House numbers. The FY 2003 and FY 2004 numbers are estimates only and are therefore subject to change.

Office of Homeland Security (POC – Paul Ehrhardt)

QUESTION 9: Your FY 2004 budget requests $8,331,000 for the Office of Homeland Security. Please provide an object class breakdown of those costs and compare them to FY 2003 estimated levels.

RESPONSE: The Office of Homeland Security was created by the President on October 8, 2001, via Executive Order 13228 and serves as and is synonymous with the staff of the Homeland Security Council (HSC). An object class breakdown of estimated HSC costs in FY 2003 and FY 2004 is provided in the table below. Please note that the FY 2003 estimate covers only costs incurred after the enactment of the FY 2003 appropriation on February 20, 2003. Unlike other EOP offices which operated under continuing resolutions between October 1, 2003 and February 20, 2003, the Office of Homeland Security was not permitted to utilize the CR funding mechanism but instead continued to charge FY 2003 expenses against the no-year emergency funding (provided in FY2002) until the FY 2003 appropriation was enacted. Therefore the FY 2003 estimate reflects only seven months of activity, whereas the FY 2004 Request needs to cover HSC expenses for the full 12 months next fiscal year.

(Dollars in Thousands)	FY 2003 Appropriation	FY 2003 Estimate*	FY 2004 Request	2004 Request - 2003 Estimate
Homeland Security Council:
Personnel	$4,403	$2,800	$5,550	$2,750
Travel	$300	$60	$588	$528
Transportation of Things	$24	$24	$10	-$14
Rent	$0	$0	$200	$200
Communications, Utilities, and Misc.	$209	$50	$1,080	$1,030
Printing and Reproduction	$69	$69	$50	-$19
Other Services	$3,267	$1,267	$528	-$739
Supplies and Materials	$0		$175	$175
Equipment	$0	$50	$150	$100
Subtotal	$8,272	$4,320	$8,331	$4,011

* FY 2003 Estimate covers only seven months vs. FY 2004 Request covering full 12 months

Rent was included in the Office of Administration budget in FY 2003, and is moved back to the Homeland Security Council in FY 2004. The Communications object class in FY 2004 includes funding to provide a custom communications package to establish an interface for the Homeland Security Council within the White House Situation Room. Supplies and Materials and Equipment object classes both were funded out of the Office of Administration Pilot Program in FY 2003 but show budgets in HSC for FY 2004.

QUESTION 10: In particular, how much are you requesting in FY 2004 for professional contracts, and how does that compare to the estimated FY 2003 level?

REV_00169578

RESPONSE: In FY 2004 HSC is requesting $528,000 for Other Services compared with $3,267,000 appropriated for the same category in FY 2003. The decrease is due to the creation of the Department of Homeland Security as the President's Security as the President's advisors and as the staff of HSC. Anticipated contractual needs in FY 2004 include maintenance, upgrades, and technical support for the classified computer network that will be extended to include HSC staff in FY 2003.

QUESTION 11: How many FTE and FTP are you requesting for this office in FY 2004, and how do these figures compare to current FY 2003 estimates and actuals for FY 2002?

RESPONSE: HSC is requesting resources to support 40 direct hire FTE and 26 Other Government Employees on its staff to fill the 66 positions HSC is projecting for FY 2004.

Office of Homeland Security / Homeland Security Council Personnel

	FY 2002 Actual	FY 2003 Estimate	FY 2004 Request
Direct Hire FTE	31	40	40
Other Government Employees (EOY headcount)	89	26	26
Total Personnel	120	66	66

QUESTION 12: How many positions in the office are filled today, and how many are vacant?

RESPONSE: As of May 15, 2003, 51 positions are filled and 15 are vacant.

QUESTION 13: Please provide a table comparing the number of detailees to OHS, by federal agency, for each of the fiscal years 2002 through 2004 (estimated).

RESPONSE: The table below provides the number other government employees assigned to the Homeland Security Council.

QUESTION 14: How many detailees are on board today?

RESPONSE: As of May 15, 2003, there are 18 detailees on board at the Homeland Security Council.

QUESTION 15: Please provide a list of all positions in OHS, showing the incumbent's name, rate of annual salary, and position title. Please annotate any positions which are currently vacant.

RESPONSE: The President is authorized to appoint and fix pay of any member of the White House Staff without regard to any provision of law related to employees of the federal government. The individuals employed by the President represent a broad spectrum of experience and expertise and have been engaged to perform tasks ranging from clerical/support to complex, technical, scientific, medical, legal and other missions

QUESTION 16: Please update the OHS organizational chart found on page 50 of last year's hearing record.

RESPONSE: The chart below shows the current Homeland Security Council's organization.

REV_00169584

QUESTION 17: Please update the information shown on pages 44 through 47 of last year's hearing record concerning Office of Homeland Security travel. In addition to the information provided last year, please provide a brief descriptor of the travel purpose.

RESPONSE: All travel was conducted as part of the duties of the Office of Homeland Security and as such is considered official travel. The President and the Assistant to the President for Homeland Security have regularly stated that the homeland will not be secure unless the Federal government works closely with state and local officials. Official trips were approved for various purposes including the attendance of various conferences, to holding of meetings with state and local officials and the holding of town hall meetings. The HSC considers travel to different states and cities as a vital part of its mission.

The table below is an update to the travel information provided to Congress last year.

QUESTION 18: Currently, OHS costs are included in both the WHO and OA appropriations. Is that also the case in the FY 2004 request? If so, please provide a table, by appropriation, showing total OHS budgeted costs, for each of the fiscal years 2002 through 2004.

RESPONSE: For FY 2003, although funds were requested as part of the WHO budget activity, the Office of Homeland Security received for the first time its own appropriation, separate from the WHO appropriation. Funds supporting OHS / HSC requirements in FY 2003 were provided also to OA as part of the OA Pilot program. The FY 2004 Request identifies all requirements for OHS / HSC in the WHO Budget Activity, since the OA Pilot program is not certain to continue after FY 2003. See table below:

(Dollars in Thousands)

	Congressional Appropriations
	FY 2002 Enacted*	FY 2003 Enacted	FY 2004 Request
OHS / HSC	$30,800	$8,272	$8,331
OA		$778
	$30,800	$9,050	$8,331

*FY 2002 budget for OHS was based on the OHS mission and funding profile prior to the establishment of DHS and was provided by 3 sources of emergency appropriated funds: P.L. 107-38 for $25,000,000; P.L.107-117 for $2,000,000; and P.L. 107-206 for $3,800,000.

QUESTION 19: Last year, it was stated that one MOU existed between OHS and other EOP entities (p. 51). Please provide a copy of the MOU between MOU and the Office of Science and Technology Policy.

RESPONSE: The MOU between OHS and OSTP expired with the creation of the Department of Homeland Security as relevant responsibilities transferred from OHS to DHS, pursuant to the Homeland Security Act of November, 2002.

QUESTION 20: Have any other MOUs been signed since that time?

RESPONSE: A MOU between the Homeland Security Council and the National Security Council/White House Situation Support Staff was signed in May, 2003 providing for the expansion of NSC's classified computer network to include approved HSC staff with necessary security clearances.

In addition standard interagency agreements were signed between OHS/HSC and the Office of Administration (OA) and OMB to pay for detailees from these EOP entities to OHS/HSC and separately between OHS/HSC and OA to pay for miscellaneous supplies and materials.

QUESTION 21: At this time last year, OHS planned to establish a coordination center which would function 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, using a communications room and two incident management rooms. At the same time, the Administration made clear that the role of OHS was to establish and coordinate policy, and not to conduct operational activities. With the establishment of the Department of Homeland Security, have these specific activities been descoped or eliminated?

REV_00169601

RESPONSE: The role of the Homeland Security Council is to advise and assist the President, develop and coordinate the implementation of the National Strategy for Homeland Security to secure the United States from terrorist threats and attacks, and to help coordinate policy across the departments and agencies of the executive branch. The Homeland Security Council does not conduct operational activities. The Homeland Security Council does not operate a coordination center. With the establishment of the Department of Homeland Security, DHS is the lead federal agency for incident management. As such, DHS operates a Homeland Security Center with 24 hour/7 days per week coordination and communications capabilities. Those functions do not reside in the Homeland Security Council.

QUESTION 22: How many positions support these activities in the FY 2004 request, and what is the total budgeted amount?

RESPONSE: The FY 2004 budget will not fund any personnel or activities related to the DHS coordination center. However, virtually every member of the HSC staff has responsibilities to support and advise the President regarding incident response efforts, continuity of government and related coordination roles on behalf of the President.

QUESTION 23: How are such activities appropriate for a policymaking body, when DHS now exists to coordinate and execute operational activities related to specific homeland security incidents and activities?

RESPONSE: Just as the NSC was created by Congress in 1947 in the same act which created the Department of Defense and the CIA, Congress established the HSC within the EOP by statute at the same time as it created the Department of Homeland Security. The role of the Homeland Security Council is to advise and assist the President, develop and coordinate the implementation of the National Strategy for Homeland Security to secure the United States from terrorist threats and attacks, and to help coordinate policy across the departments and agencies of the executive branch. The Homeland Security Council does not conduct operational activities. The Homeland Security Council does not operate a coordination center. With the establishment of the Department of Homeland Security, DHS is the lead federal agency for incident management. As such, DHS operates a Homeland Security Center with 24 hour/7 days per week coordination and communications capabilities. Those functions do not reside in the Homeland Security Council.

QUESTION 24: At the time of last year's hearing, the permanent location and amount of space for the President's Critical Infrastructure Protection Board had not been determined (p. 77). Have these requirements been determined today?

REV_00169602

RESPONSE: The President's Critical Infrastructure Protection Board (PCIPB) no longer exists at the White House. Executive Order 13228, which created the PCIPB, was amended. Congress through the Homeland Security Act created within Department of Homeland Security the Directorate for Information Analysis and Infrastructure Protection (IAIP). One of the responsibilities of the IAIP directorate is the important issue of critical infrastructure protection. This is a robust directorate led by an under secretary.

QUESTION 25: Likewise, total CIPB staffing had not been determined. Do you have an estimate today? What staffing assumptions were made in the FY 2004 budget submission?

RESPONSE: The President's Critical Infrastructure Protection Board (PCIPB) no longer exists at the White House. Executive Order 13228, which created the PCIPB, was amended. Congress through the Homeland Security Act created within Department of Homeland Security the Directorate for Information Analysis and Infrastructure Protection (IAIP). One of the responsibilities of the IAIP directorate is the important issue of critical infrastructure protection. This is a robust directorate led by an under secretary.

QUESTION 26: How much funding is included in the FY 2004 request for CIPB, and how does that compare to the current estimate for FY 2003?

RESPONSE: The President's Critical Infrastructure Protection Board (PCIPB) no longer exists at the White House. Executive Order 13228, which created the PCIPB, was amended. Congress through the Homeland Security Act created within Department of Homeland Security the Directorate for Information Analysis and Infrastructure Protection (IAIP). One of the responsibilities of the IAIP directorate is the important issue of critical infrastructure protection. This is a robust directorate led by an under secretary.

QUESTION 27: Please provide a breakdown showing how those funds would be used.

RESPONSE: The President's Critical Infrastructure Protection Board (PCIPB) no longer exists at the White House. Executive Order 13228, which created the PCIPB, was amended. Congress through the Homeland Security Act created within Department of Homeland Security the Directorate for Information Analysis and Infrastructure Protection (IAIP). QUESTION 28: Please provide details on any government-industry partnerships that have been created in support of cyber security initiatives coordinated by, or carried out, through EOP or the CIPB.

RESPONSE: In 2002, the President's Critical Infrastructure Protection Board developed a National Strategy to Secure Cyberspace. To encourage broader participation and input into the development process, a draft strategy was released for public comment in September 2002. In addition, the PCIPB requested the National Infrastructure Assurance Council and the National Security Telecommunications Advisory Committee both provide comments on the draft strategy. Furthermore, there were 10 town hall meetings held in various portions of the country which brought industry, academia and private citizens together to focus on the complex issues related to cyber security. The final strategy thus integrated extensive public and industry comments and was released in February 2003.

The National Strategy to Secure Cyberspace emphasizes that government-industry partnerships will be a cornerstone to success. As the primary implementer of the Strategy, DHS will be a partner with industry and academia to accomplish the objectives identified by the President's strategy.

National Security Council (POC – Katherine Fertakis)

QUESTION 29: Your request includes a 10.8 percent increase to cover reimbursable detailee costs and additional support staff for the President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board. Please explain the need for these increases in detail.

RESPONSE: The requested increase covers reimbursable detailee costs of personnel from the Department of State. The National Security Council (NSC) may request detailed personnel performing at a high level in high priority positions to remain beyond their initial tour of duty because of their unique qualifications. The NSC is required to reimburse the Department of State for details to NSC that exceed the cap of 13 detailed into their second year and for all staff detailed longer than two years per Public Law 93-126. The FY 2003 increase in this category estimates for details becoming reimbursable during the Spring and the Summer. The FY 2004 increase represents an annualization of the expenses, minus the cost for the details that will not be renewed.

Since the events of September 11, 2001, the PFIAB support staff workload has been significantly increased and consumed by the homeland security effort. Thus far about 95% of the Board's current advisory work for the President has been directly related to homeland security and counter-terrorism. (Intelligence performance thereon, and support to the new department of homeland security) With only 4 staff members and an already overflowing Board work schedule, work on other important PFIAB priorities has been deferred—such as declassification review of PFIAB archived records. At least three additional staff members, including a GS-14 administrative manager, will be needed to adequately meet support requirements as the Board expands its review of intelligence support to homeland security beyond the more immediate structural and organizational issues, and also re-engages the more general intelligence performance issues across the full spectrum of pressing issues. The FY 2004 request includes $250,000 which will fund two reimbursable detailed staff members and one permanent, Schedule A, Excepted Service, GS-14 administrative management position.

QUESTION 30: What are the dollar and percentage increases for each of the above items, compared to the FY 2003 estimated levels?

RESPONSE: The FY 2004 request for NSC reimbursable detailees represents an increase of $356,000, or 64%, over the FY 2003 estimated levels. The PFIAB increase of $250,000 will be 100% above the FY 2003 request since this is a new requirement for FY 2004.

QUESTION 31: The justifications indicate that 11 additional positions are being added to this office in FY 2003, raising the estimated from 60 in FY 2002 to an estimated 71 in FY 2003. What specific positions are being created?

RESPONSE: The 11 additional positions, which raise NSC's FTE from 60 to 71, are not new positions. In FY 2003, the Office for Combating Terrorism (OCT) was combined with the NSC budget request. The increased FTE request correlates with the continued funding for and operation of the OCT as a part of the NSC submission.

QUESTION 32: The FY 2004 request includes funds for a new GS-14 administrative manager for the PFIAB. Why is this new position needed at this time?

RESPONSE: PFIAB requires a permanent administrative position for continuity as well as efficiency reasons. The administrative staff constitutes the lifeblood of the Board: it fulfills all of the support responsibilities, including human resource management, budget, travel, procurement, research, publishing, protocol, and special assistance to the Executive Director, Chair and Vice Chair. With only two administrative people on staff, it is absolutely critical that both individuals be fully knowledgeable about and highly experienced at White House administrative policies, procedures and guidelines; equally important, both must possess highly honed administrative skills and be extremely efficient, effective and professionally dedicated.

The Board simply cannot attain this level of experience and competence by relying on detailees from other agencies, particularly non-reimbursed detailees. More often than not, we must accept whomever an agency can make available. Therefore, the Board will use this one permanent administrative billet to create a PFIAB office manager position. This individual not only will provide continuity of expertise and experience, but also will ensure that the other administrative person obtains the proper professional mentoring and supervision. We plan to make this a GS-14 position, but may start the individual we select at the GS-13 level to allow for personal advancement...and thereby also ensuring, hopefully, a fairly long term of service to the Board.

Office of National Drug Control Policy (POC – Michelle Marx)

QUESTION 33: You are requesting 10 additional FTE in FY 2004 to replace 10 non-reimbursable detailees who are no longer available. Why are these positions no longer available, and what are the specific positions?

RESPONSE: ONDCP's FY 2004 request includes resources to support 125 FTEs, an increase of 10 FTEs over the FY 2003 request. This FTE increase is requested to offset the loss of approximately 20 - 25 of the 30 non-reimbursable military detailee positions the Department of Defense has supported at ONDCP since 1996. (The Department of Defense, as outlined in a December 28, 2001 memorandum, has adopted a general policy that approves of requests for details only on a reimbursable basis, with limited exceptions.)

This 10 FTE increase, along with distributing additional responsibilities among existing staff, will allow ONDCP to absorb the detailee staffing loss and meet its statutory responsibilities. The specific positions would be appointed within the following offices: Planning and Budget; State and Local Affairs; Intelligence; and Supply Reduction.

Renovation of the Eisenhower Executive Office Building (POC – Steve Beattie)

QUESTION 34: What is the status of funding provided in FY 2002 and 2003? Please provide a breakdown of funding by the type of activity or renovation performed.

RESPONSE: 34: The General Service Administration has used FY 2002 Emergency Response Funds in the amount of $1,674,000 for starting the Architects' and Engineers' design contract for the 17th Street Wing Security Modernization Project. GSA is currently in the process of reprogramming $7,500,000 for FY 2003 for design, management and inspection. The FY 2003 reprogramming is required to complete the Design/Build/Bridging documents and assist in managing the Design/Build/Bridging efforts.

QUESTION 35: How much remains unobligated, by appropriation?

RESPONSE: 35: The General Services Administration (GSA) awarded a portion of the design cost in the amount of $1,537,173 utilizing the FY 2002 Emergency Response Fund. $136,827 remains unobligated. GSA has not obligated any FY 2003 funding.

QUESTION 36: Please provide a detailed breakdown showing how funds requested in the GSA budget for FY 2004 would be used.

RESPONSE: 36: The following is a break down on how the funds will be used in FY 2004:

REV_00169606

Major Work Items:
Electrical System	$ 10,244,000
Air conditioning system, chillers and piping	$ 12,530,000
Interior Construction	$ 13,163,000
Utility Vault (includes foundation construction)	$ 22,107,000
Window Blast Mitigation	$ 4,685,000
Mansard Roof Hardening	$ 802,000
Estimated Construction Cost (ECC)	$ 63,531,000
Management and Inspection	$ 2,226,000
Authorization Requested (ECC, M&I)	$ 65,757,000

QUESTION 37: Please provide a detailed schedule for activities planned in FY 2004.

RESPONSE: 37: The design/build/bridging contract is scheduled to be awarded in March 2004. The current schedule for the project is as follows:

Design Award:	04/03
Design/Build/Bridging Procurement Start:	09/03
A/E Bridging Documents Complete:	10/03
Design/Build/Bridging Contract Award:	03/04
Construction Complete:	06/06

QUESTION 38: How much are you currently paying GSA for the unoccupied space along the 17th Street side of EEOB, and how much rental cost are you incurring for the new locations where relocated employees are working?

RESPONSE: We are not paying for the unoccupied space along the 17th Street side of the EEOB in FY2003. Employees were relocated to 1800 G. Street where FY 2004 rental costs are estimated at $4,978,000 and to 1801 Pennsylvania Avenue where the FY 2004 rental costs are estimated at $792,000. Both rental cost estimates exclude parking space costs.

Executive Residence (POC – Worthington White)

QUESTION 39: Please provide a table, corresponding to the projects on page 81 of last year's hearing record, showing the original appropriation for each project, the amount obligated to date, and the project status. This involves projects funded in fiscal year 2002.

RESPONSE: The following table provides funding information on the FY 2002 projects.

REV_00169607

Executive Residence at the White House
FY2002 White House Repair and Restoration

Project	Original Appropriation	Obligated To Date	Status of Project
Pool Shelter Roof Reconstruction and Pool Deck Renovation	$430,000	$412,926	This project is completed, with only minor punch list items and related recurring maintenance items to be funded from the remaining funds.
Communication System Repairs/Phase 2*	$456,667 $4,544,000	$155,872	Modifications to the original design under Phase I (FY2001) are completed. The pre-bid meeting with prospective contractors is scheduled for mid-May, with contract award by late June, and construction commending by late July.
East and West Wing Exterior Restoration	$2,500,000	$2,398,433	The restoration is underway, all Phase I funds will be utilized this year.
Insulated Windows Replacement	$160,000	$162	The prototype utilizing historically accurate reproduction glass is in production, with manufacturing of actual replacement units expected to begin in June. Installation to be begin in August.
Kitchen Floor Replacement	$75,000	$60,815	This project is nearing completion with the remaining funds to be utilized for utility work.
North Portico Curtain Wall	$120,000	$106,751	The project is completed with remaining funds required to purchase spare parts inventory.
Stone Pavers Restoration	$277,000	$220,082	The project is currently underway and is scheduled for completion by September 2003.
West Colonnade Restoration	$275,000	$0	Planning has recently been completed; work will be accomplished in August and early September 2003.

*For the Comunication System Repairs/Phase 2 project, $456,667 was funded in FY 2001 for Architect and Engineering. The remaining $4,544,000 was for construction.

QUESTION 41: The justifications (p. 67) indicate an estimated unobligated balance of $7,023,000 in this appropriation at the beginning of FY 2003. Please explain the sources of this balance, and provide a schedule for obligation of increments of those funds.

RESPONSE: The majority ($4,388,127) of the unobligated funds are associated with the Communication System Repairs/Phase 2 which was delayed to unanticipated design requirements. The schedule for completion and obligation of all FY2002 projects is detailed in the table below.

Executive Residence at the White House
FY2002 White House Repair and Restoration

Project	Original Appropriation	Obligated To Date	Status of Project
Pool Shelter Roof Reconstruction and Pool Deck Renovation	$430,000	$412,926	This project is completed, with only minor punch list items and related recurring maintenance items to be funded from the remaining funds.
Communication System Repairs/Phase 2*	$456,667 $4,544,000	$155,872	Modifications to the original design under Phase I (FY2001) are completed. The pre-bid meeting with prospective contractors is scheduled for mid-May, with contract award by late June, and construction commending by late July.
East and West Wing Exterior Restoration	$2,500,000	$2,398,433	The restoration is underway, all Phase I funds will be utilized this year.
Insulated Windows Replacement	$160,000	$162	The prototype utilizing historically accurate reproduction glass is in production, with manufacturing of actual replacement units expected to begin in June. Installation to be begin in August.
Kitchen Floor Replacement	$75,000	$60,815	This project is nearing completion with the remaining funds to be utilized for utility work.
North Portico Curtain Wall	$120,000	$106,751	The project is completed with remaining funds required to purchase spare parts inventory.
Stone Pavers Restoration	$277,000	$220,082	The project is currently underway and is scheduled for completion by September 2003.
West Colonnade Restoration	$275,000	$0	Planning has recently been completed; work will be accomplished in August and early September 2003.

*For the Comunication System Repairs/Phase 2 project, $456,667 was funded in FY 2001 for Architect and Engineering. The remaining $4,544,000 was for construction.

As of this date, there are also 5 projects which have balances prior to FY 2002. They are as follows:

FY1996 – Roof Repair – balance of $9,227. These funds will be expended as needed for ongoing maintenance and corrective measures.

FY1998 – Repair/restoration of the Laundry Room – balance of $26,616. Purchase of replacement equipment and maintenance of equipment to be expended in FY2003.

REV_00169610

FY2000 – Purchase and Install Two Ironers – balance of $5,754. These funds will be expended to replace the drive belts in FY2003.

FY2000 – Renovation of Paint Shop – balance of $38,271. Funds will be used to purchase and update equipment to meet EPA and OSHA requirements in FY2003.

FY2000 – Third Floor Promenade – balance of $11,392. Funds will be expended to rehab and replace drainage system in late FY2003 or early FY2004.

White House Repair and Restoration (POC – Dennis Freemyer)

QUESTION 42: You are requesting $4,225,000 for repairs and restoration of the White House. Is there additional funding in the National Park Service budget or elsewhere in the President's budget request for FY 2004 for similar activities at the White House?

RESPONSE: There are no other budget requests for the same activities at the White House.

QUESTION 43: Of this request, $3,500,000 is for restoration of the east and west wing exterior. Please provide a detailed discussion and breakdown of this request.

RESPONSE: The funding requested is for the continuation (2nd phase) of the East and West Wing Restoration project, the first being funded in FY'02. This is consistent with the original planning for the execution of this project based on the experience of the completed Executive Residence Exterior Restoration completed in 1996. A breakdown of major work items follows:

Estimated Construction Costs:

Mobilization, scaffolding, rental equipment	150,000
Stone, stucco, wood restoration, insulated glass	1,580,000
Paint removal	1,660,000
Effluent/hazardous material disposal	150,000
Specialized window film including installation	400,000
Specialized stucco coating including installation	550,000
Painting	500,000
Site Restoration	260,000
Design, project management, project supervision, testing	350,000
Contingency	400,000
Estimated Total Cost	$6,000,000
FY 2002 Funding	$2,500,000
FY 2004 Funding Request	$3,500,000

Pennsylvania Avenue Improvements (POC – Steve Beattie)

QUESTION 44: What is the total estimated cost of security and street improvements on Pennsylvania Avenue in front of the White House, for which funds were provided in FY 2003?

RESPONSE: This project is to be funded by the Federal Highway Administration (FHWA). The total estimated cost of security and street improvements on Pennsylvania Avenue in front of the White House is currently $26.1 million. The information below breaks out the estimated FY 2003 costs for the project.

Project Activity	Projected FY 2003 Obligations
Preliminary Activities
Verification and Concept Studies	$ 605,150
Design Activities
Ground Survey and Mapping	$ 57,524
Subsurface Utility Survey	$ 149,682
Environmental Documentation	$ 75,000
Final Design (Consultant)	$ 1,300,000
Crash Testing	$ 350,000
FHWA Contract Administration	$ 100,000
Design Contingency	$ 262,644
Construction Activities
Construction Contract	$ 18,500,000
Utility Construction	$ 1,500,000
FHWA Contract Administration	$ 1,700,000
MVVA Construction Assistance	$ 500,000
Construction Contingency	$ 1,000,000
Grand Totals	$26,100,000

QUESTION 45: What is the status of that project? When will FY 2003 funds be obligated?

RESPONSE: 45: The status of the security and street improvements on Pennsylvania Avenue is as follows -

- Project's status is an ongoing iterative process as the Design team receives comments from the public and the various stakeholders on surrounding sites.
- Under the National Environmental Policy Act, the final public information meeting for the Environmental Impact Assessment was held on May 5, 2003, which is the last step before the final report is issued the week of May 27, 2003. It is expected that the report's concluding statement will find no significant impact.

- The design team is in the pre-design stage.
- The engineers are currently in the design stage for utility relocation in the project's vicinity.
- The Section 106 review as required by the Secretary of the Interior under the Historic Preservation Act is underway and will develop a Memorandum of Agreement in June 2003, which will address issues regarding the design details. The Section 106 review occurs when a project utilizing federal funds may have an effect upon natural, environmental, or cultural resources and looks at mitigation of any adverse effects to those resources.
- $1.5 million is expected to be obligated at the end of August or early September 2003 to start the utility relocation on Pennsylvania Avenue and at the north ends of Jackson and Madison Places.
- Arrangements have already been made for procurement of the trees to be used on the Avenue since it will require root and limb pruning over two calendar years prior to installation on the Avenue. The trees will be installed after inaugural events in the spring of 2005.
- Approximately, $2,675,000 has been obligated to date (under contract). The remaining $3,685,000 will be obligated within the next six months to have the construction contract awarded by the end of September or early October 2003.

QUESTION 46: How much funding is requested for this project in FY 2004, and where is it located in the budget?

RESPONSE: $15 million has been set aside under the Department of the Interior bill for FY 2004. However, discussions have been held between the Federal Highway Administration and EOP staff to make the money available for contract award this fiscal year. Discussions have included placing FY 2004 monies into the FY 2003 supplemental appropriation. With the highway legislation pending, there could be a delay in getting the funding moved into the supplemental appropriation to allow the project to get underway.

QUESTION 47: What is the schedule for studies of traffic congestion mitigation alternatives in the vicinity of the White House, as funded in FY 2003?

RESPONSE: The project administrators met with EOP staff on May 8, 2003 to begin outlining the scope of the study and a plan to involve the District of Columbia government and neighborhood stakeholders. A schedule for the study has not been developed, but will be prepared in the next three months.

REV_00169613

Remote Data Center (POC – Carlos Solari)

QUESTION 48: What is the status of establishment today of the remote data center?

RESPONSE: The remote data center project is on schedule and on budget. The project began last summer by conducting a systems development lifecycle analysis to determine and recommend the location for the facility. From this analysis, EOP decided on building the data center at a hardened FEMA facility located in Maryland. The project is being co-managed with FEMA and was established with three phases: (1) infrastructure build-out of the hardened facility (power, air handlers, etc), (2) construction of the data center itself (cabling, raised flooring, etc), and (3) the transition of EOP data systems (telecommunications, servers, etc). The project is approximately halfway through completion for the first two phases with a scheduled opening (initial operational capability) date of September 2003. The transition phase is on schedule preparing the systems and will proceed to begin the transfer September 2003 – with a planned transition of 12 months for all systems. The following chart shows the funding of the remote data center from FY 2002 thru FY 2004.

	FY 2002	FY 2003	FY 2004
CIP	$15,000,000	$5,000,000	$8,403,000
Total	$15,000,000	$5,000,000	$8,403,000

QUESTION 49: Last year, you estimated annual operating costs of this facility to be $7,500,000 (p. 88). Is that your current estimate?

RESPONSE: Last year OA provided a rough estimate of $7,500,000 for the future annual operating cost of the new data center facility. This was based upon the following estimated costs:

- $1,500,000 in communications to maintain connectivity for the EOP,
- $600,000 in space rental,
- $450,000 for hardware maintenance,
- $1,300,000 for software maintenance,
- $2,600,000 for contractor services,
- $300,000 for supplies/components,
- $75,000 for equipment, and
- $675,000 in salaries/benefits.

While most of these estimates remain valid, OA must revise the estimate for space rental to $1,258,000, bringing the revised estimated annual operating costs for the facility to $8,158,000.

REV_00169614

QUESTION 50: Your FY 2004 request includes $8,403,000 to transition the remote data center to full operational status (p. 75). What specific activities are required in FY 2004 to accomplish this? Can you provide a breakdown of the FY 2004 request consistent with these activities?

RESPONSE: The following table lists the FY2004 CIP funds requested for the completion of the remote data center construction and initial year operating costs.

Object Class	Object Class Title	Requested Funding ($ in 000)	Description
23.0	Space Rental Payments	$1,258	This estimate reflects $1,258,000 in rental for the offsite data center and will be the initial rent to be paid for the offsite data center. This cost was previously funded from emergency funds.
23.3	Communications, utilities, and miscellaneous charges	$4,420	$4,420,000 is for CIP networking/ telecommunications projects at the offsite data center. These projects include funds for a tap off of telecommunications lines, two additional DS-3 data paths, two T-1 lines, and backup to support required communications bandwidth, and availability requirements.
25.2	Other Services	$2,700	This estimate reflects Priority System Disaster Recovery costs, Secondary Systems Disaster Recovery costs, Hardware and Software for the Disaster Recovery Site, and Hardware and Software upgrades to support the data center move.
26.0	Supplies and materials	$25	The estimate reflects $25,000 in additional supplies necessary for start-up operations at the offsite data center. This will include start up costs for office equipment used for the new office spaces.
Total FY2004 Data Center CIP Request		$8,403

President's Travel (POC - Rothley Howard)

QUESTION 51: Please update the information on pages 89 through 94 of last year's hearing record concerning travel by the President and the First Lady by continuing data from the final entry of last year's record to the present time.

RESPONSE: The following charts summarize Presidential, First Lady and Vice Presidential travel for Fiscal Years 2002 and 2003 (to date). They also reflect costs currently in the accounting system. Several of the trips listed below are awaiting additional costs, therefore, final costs may vary.

Freedom Corps (POC – Eric Lanman)

QUESTION 54: Please provide EOP budgeted funding for the Freedom Corps for fiscal years 2002 through 2004.

RESPONSE: The funding profile for the USA Freedom Corps from its inception through FY 2004 is as follows:

(Dollars in thousands) Category	FY02 Actual	FY03 Request	OA Pilot	FY03 Recission	FY03 Enacted	FY04 Estimate
Personnel	420	800	0	0	800	827
Travel	6	600	0	-330	270	102
Printing & Reproduction	0	0	0	0	0	225
Other Services	0	1,200	-289	0	911	926
Supplies & Materials	0	0	0	0	0	9
Equipment	0	0	0	0	0	9
Total	525	2,600	-289	-330	1,981	2,280

Note: As part of a pilot program authorized by Congress in fiscal year 2003, general support costs such as rent, supplies, printing, information technology, etc., are centrally managed and charged against the Office of Administration.

QUESTION 55: Please provide a breakdown of the FY 2004 request for the Freedom Corps, and a brief description of the work to be accomplished under each item.

RESPONSE: The FY 2004 WHO request includes funding for the following USA Freedom Corps requirements.

Personnel: This category provides funding for the cost of the salaries and benefits for the staff of the USA Freedom Corps. The FY 2004 WHO request included $827,000 for this category.

Travel: The USA Freedom Corps office staff members are frequent travelers and often work at the national, state and local levels with organizations.~~, especially in organizing the Citizen Corps across the country~~ In addition, the Director of the USA Freedom Corps or the appropriate staff is required to address gatherings at national conferences, and of state and local officials in order to disseminate information about the President's Call to Service and the activities coordinated by the USA Freedom Corps.~~ and answer questions relating to the organization of USA Freedom Corps activities at the local level.~~ The FY 2004 WHO request included $102,000 for this category.

REV_00169650

Rent: This category funds the costs of the GSA office space utilized by the USA Freedom Corps. The FY 2004 WHO request included $157,000 for this category.

Printing: This category includes the costs of the creation and printing of documents regarding the USA Freedom Corps mission and policies and initiatives~~specific programs~~ coordinated by its Council. The FY 2004 WHO request included $225,000 for this category.

Other services: This category includes funds for the hiring of contractors to measure the nationwide effects of the USA Freedom Corps efforts through surveys and other measurement tools, and funds for information dissemination and the creation and production of materials used in the furtherance of the USA Freedom Corps mission and ~~specific programs,~~initiatives coordinated by its Council. The FY 2004 WHO request included $926,000 for this category.~~ and other activities that will further the mission of the USA Freedom Corps.~~

Communications and Misc.,~~;~~ Supplies and Materials, Equipment: These general categories are managed centrally by the White House Office of Management and Administration. Funds in these categories support the normal costs associated with day to day office operations. The FY 2004 WHO request included $43,000 for this category.

QUESTION 56: Last year, funds were requested for Freedom Corps information dissemination and recognition materials (p. 239). Are similar activities funded in FY 2004? If so, how much?

RESPONSE: The FY 2004 WHO request includes requirements for similar activities to those funded in FY 2003 and included are funds for information dissemination and recognition materials. Funds for these activities are included in the Other Services category of the WHO request. An estimated $926,000 of this portion of the request is for USA Freedom Corps requirements.

QUESTION 57: Are additional funds requested in FY 2004 outside the EOP?

RESPONSE: As a White House office and a coordinating council, the USA Freedom Corps does not run, fund, or administer programs. Instead, the USA Freedom Corps coordinates the development of policies and initiatives with various offices/entities in the Executive Branch in support of the President's goal to strengthen the American culture of service while helping all Americans find meaningful service opportunities. This role does not require outside funding and none have been requested by the WHO.

QUESTION 58: Please provide a listing of the staff in the USA Freedom Corps Office, showing the incumbent name and position. Please designate any detailees.

REV_00169651

RESPONSE: A listing of the current USA Freedom Corps Office staff is provided below.

John Bridgeland: Assistant to the President and Director, USA Freedom Corps
Ron Christie: Special Assistant to the President and Deputy Director, USAFC
Lindsey Kozberg: Special Assistant to the President for Policy/Public Affairs
Therese Lyons: Director of Public Liasion
Ian Rowe: Director of Management and Strategy
Kathleen Mynster: Deputy Press Secretary
Britt Grant: Special Assistant to the Director
Cornell Teague: Associate Director
Nique Fajors: Agency Liaison – Detailee
Ken Lanza: Agency Liaison - Detailee

Sensitive Compartmented Information Facilities (POC – Jeff Thompson)

QUESTION 59: Are any funds requested in any EOP office in the FY 2004 President's request for the construction of sensitive compartmented information facilities (SCIFs)?

RESPONSE: No funds are requested for SCIFs in FY 2004.

QUESTION 60: How many such facilities have been built within EOP offices since the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001?

RESPONSE: Sixteen SCIFS have been built.

Data Center Relocation (POC – Carlos Solari)

QUESTION 61: What is the status of efforts to relocate the existing EOP data center, and what are plans for the coming year?

RESPONSE: The remote data center project is on track to achieve completion on budget and on schedule. The project began last summer by conducting a systems development lifecycle analysis to determine and recommend the location for the facility. From this analysis, EOP decided on building the data center at a hardened FEMA facility located in Maryland. The project is being co-managed with FEMA and was established with three phases: (1) infrastructure build-out of the hardened facility (power, air handlers, etc), (2) construction of the data center itself (cabling, raised flooring, etc), and (3) the transition of EOP data systems (telecommunications, servers, etc). The project is approximately halfway through completion for the first two phases with a scheduled opening (initial operational capability) date of September 2003. The transition phase is on schedule preparing the systems and will proceed to begin the transfer September 2003 – with a planned transition of 12 months for all systems.

REV_00169652

QUESTION 62: Are funds requested in the FY 2004 budget for this project?

RESPONSE: The following table displays the funds requested for this project in FY 2004.

Object Class	Object Class Title	Requested Funding (in $1000s)	Description
23.0	Space Rental Payments	$1,258	This estimate reflects $1,258 in rental for the offsite data center and will be the initial rent to be paid for the offsite data center. This cost was previously funded from emergency funds.
23.3	Communications, utilities, and miscellaneous charges	$4,420	$4,420 is for CIP networking/telecommunications projects at the offsite data center. These projects include funds for a tap off of telecommunications lines, two additional DS-3 data paths, two T-1 lines, and backup to support required communications bandwidth, and availability requirements.
25.2	Other Services	$2,700	This estimate reflects Priority System Disaster Recovery costs, Secondary Systems Disaster Recovery costs, Hardware and Software for the Disaster Recovery Site, and Hardware and Software upgrades to support the data center move.
26.0	Supplies and materials	$25	The estimate reflects $25 in additional supplies necessary for start-up operations at the offsite data center. This will include start up costs for office equipment used for the new office spaces.
Total FY2004 Data Center CIP Request		$8,403

White House Communications Agency (POC – Eric Lanman)

QUESTION 63: Updating the information on page 133 of last year's hearing record, please provide estimated reimbursements for the White House Communications Agency for each of the fiscal years 2002 through 2004.

RESPONSE: Reimbursements made to the White House Communications Agency, for the non-telecommunications support they provide to the WHO, is broken down into two categories: military personnel and audiovisual support. The amount of planned reimbursement is initially set and agreed to via an inter-agency agreement (IAG). This IAG is then adjusted if needed as a result of actual execution. Reimbursement actuals and estimates follow:

	FY02 (actual)	FY03 (est.)	FY04 (est.)
Military Personnel	$4,376,085	$4,754,346	$4,858,942
Audiovisual Support	$4,543,643	$3,953,848	$2,743,915

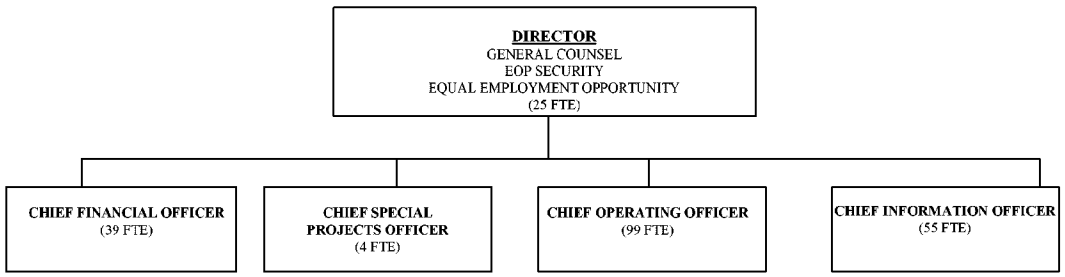
REV_00169653

Total	$8,919,738	$8,708,194	$7,602,857

The FY04 estimate for audiovisual support shows a decrease from the FY 2003 estimate due to the move of audiovisual supplies and equipment from IAG reimbursed items to direct procurement through normal WHO channels.

Office of Administration (POC – Chuck Sigman)

QUESTION 64: Updating the information on page 134 of last year's hearing record, please provide a current organizational chart for the Office of Administration, including the associated numbers of FTEs requested for each office in the FY 2004 President's budget.



RESPONSE: The Office of Administration organization chart provided below reflects the current organizational structure. The FY 2004 FTE request remains constant with FY 2003 levels (222 FTE).

Executive Office of the President

Office of Administration

Organization Chart

FY 2004

Total 222 FTE

QUESTION 65: Last year, it was estimated that 4 FTE were needed to provide administrative services to the Office of Homeland Security. Since that office is substantially smaller due to establishment of the DHS, is there a lesser requirement for OA support? If so, is that reflected in FY 2004 staffing figures?

REV_00169654

RESPONSE: The FY 2003 budget proposal included the statement that there was "2 CFO staff to support Homeland Security" rather than the 4 FTE referred to in the question. These two Chief Financial Officer (CFO) staff were requested during FY 2003 because last year's OA budget request was a 49% increase over the previous year's spending – and security-related enhancements accounted for nearly all of that increase. The FY 2004 budget proposal included additional security-related enhancements beyond the FY 2003 level. Furthermore, even though the funding level of the Homeland Security Council is not as great as was originally envisioned, it is still a separate account for which the staff must perform the same number of administrative tasks in setting up and monitoring the status of the account. Therefore, the additional two FTE in the CFO office remain necessary to assist EOP offices in executing their new responsibilities.

QUESTION 66: Your salary and expenses request includes a transfer of $1,500 from Homeland Security for information technology services. What are these services?

RESPONSE: The part of OHS that remained with EOP (now called the Homeland Security Council) does not need the information technology contractor support that was previously planned. There is, however, an urgent need to expand the funding needed to support the White House website. The system security put in place to protect the whitehouse.gov website from cyber attack includes a web content distribution designed to make it highly resistant to denial of service type attacks. The cost of this service has increased dramatically, and is directly proportional to the volume of activity. The volume of activity, in turn, is a combination of the website hits and the level of cyber-attack activity directed against the site. The importance of the White House web site cannot be overstated. Along with the DHS website, the whitehouse.gov website is one of the primary government sites with a mission to communicate threat level information to the public.

Due to increased traffic on the White House website, the monthly cost of web caching service to maintain the website has risen from $30,000 per month to more than $75,000 per month. The estimated FY 2004 cost to maintain the website is $1,500,000. No funds were requested for this increased requirement in the FY 2004 budget. OA wishes to use the funds originally requested for the OHS information technology contract support for the White House website effort.

QUESTION 67: You are requesting additional funding for victim rescue units, which would be distributed to all White House staff (p. 82). What are these units, and what is the unit cost?

RESPONSE: Victim Rescue Units (VRUs) provide a 20-45 minute supply of pure oxygen to the wearer. This would be critical to the survival of EOP staff in the event of an incident which would require an evacuation to a safe area. VRUs were selected because they can be easily operated by a novice, while it takes a significant amount of training to teach staff to properly operate a gas mask. VRUs have a ten-year shelf life, which is significantly longer than gas mask filters. They provide protection from the entire threat spectrum from fire and smoke to chemical and biological agents. The VRUs are portable and small, and their expected cost is $375 each.

REV_00169655

QUESTION 68: How is the requirement for additional safes and emergency evacuation chairs documented?

RESPONSE: The EOP Security Office conducted a review of security containers (safes) at the White House Complex and found that most of them were 1950's-vintage mechanical locks. During the aftermath of 9/11, it was deemed important that the White House adhere to the latest Federal regulations promulgated by the General Services Administration (FFL-2740A) for the protection of classified materials. Thus, the EOP recommends acquiring new security containers which are fully compliant with GSA standard which governs all changeable combination locks for the protection of national security information.

After 9/11, we reviewed all emergency evacuation procedures for the White House Complex. As we updated evacuation plans and reviewed procedures it was determined that evacuation chairs were needed in various buildings and on various floors to assist individuals who may need assistance or have special needs during an evacuation. This was an internal study performed by staff of the EOP security office.

Financial Audits (POC – Al Muhlbauer)

QUESTION 69: Last year, you advised us that EOP would plan to address the findings of the recent auditability assessment no later than FY 2003. What is the status of that effort today?

RESPONSE: EOP has initiated five major efforts to address the auditability assessment. They are:

- Development and publication of the EOP entity and reporting structure, which was completed and is and presented in the FY 2004 Budget Submission.
- Development and publication of the EOP financial management structure, which has been developed in draft and is currently being circulated for comment within EOP. Approval and issuance of the financial management structure is expected to occur within 30 days.
- Provide financial management policy and guidance to the EOP, and put in place consistent EOP-wide business practices and procedures. This effort is underway and is expected to be completed this fiscal year.
- Select a replacement for the current non-compliant financial accounting system. The Office of the Chief Financial Officer has reviewed various alternatives and has made a determination to be cross-serviced by another Federal agency that has implemented a compliant system, is currently receiving "clean" audit opinions, and has cross-servicing as an agency mission. Two such organizations were identified, a requirements document was provided, their proposals are currently being evaluated, and a decision is expected within the next two weeks.

- Accomplish a detailed review of the EOP general ledger and supporting documents for account balances, correct the data as necessary, and prepare the information for conversion to the replacement accounting system. A "clean-up" and conversion plan is in process and will be coordinated with the selected cross-servicing agency.

QUESTION 70: When will you be able to produce an auditable financial statement?

RESPONSE: The Chief Financial Officer completed an exercise that resulted in EOP-wide financial statements, that exercise identified various data problems that confirmed the auditability assessment. The "clean-up" exercise which is required prior to the conversion to the cross-servicing agency's system is addressing these problems and it is anticipated that the FY 2004 financial statements will be audited.

QUESTION 71: Last year, you stated that you had identified best practices for documented policies and procedures based upon one federal agency which has been recognized as one of the best in the Federal Government (p. 136). Which agency are you using as a model, and what are some examples of the specific best practices you intend to use?

RESPONSE: We were referring to the Department of Education and we conducted a pilot of their approach for developing policies and procedures within the Office of the CFO. While that pilot was helpful, we determined that three other tasks (identify reporting entity, develop financial management structure, and identifying our financial accounting system cross servicing provider) needed to be completed before our policies and procedures could be developed. Since those are near completion we anticipate again focusing on developing policies and procedures during the remainder of this fiscal year.

White House Office (POC – Eric Lanman)

QUESTION 72: Please provide a breakdown of the FY 2004 budget request for the White House Office by office or activity, as itemized on pages 137 and 138 of last year's hearing record. Please compare those amounts to corresponding amounts for FY 2002 (actual) and FY 2003 (estimated), similar in format to that shown on pages 246 and 247 of last year's hearing record.

RESPONSE: As noted last year, a single budget is prepared for the WHO. This single budget is prepared based on a number of criteria such as: prior spending patterns, estimated requirements, OMB provided inflation factors, and the priorities of the President. During a given execution year, personnel costs are allocated based upon that year's sometimes unique staffing decisions. The remainder of the budget is allocated initially to two WHO offices. The travel budget is allocated in its entirety to the Office of Advance and obligated against this office if the travel is done in support of the President. Any travel undertaken that is not in support of a Presidential trip is charged to the office of the staff member in question. The remaining portion of the non-personnel, non-travel budget, including expenses for rent, supplies, equipment and other services is considered overhead and in most years is charged as such to the White House Office of Management and Administration. In FY 2003 as part of a pilot program authorized by Congress, costs related to many of these "overhead" items were consolidated under the EOP Office of Administration. Obligations (actual and estimated) are provided by individual White House office for FY 2002 thru FY 2004 in the table below.

(dollars in thousands)
as of 9 May 2003

USA Freedom Corps Office [1]	426	1,070	929
Total WHO Obligations [2]	54,191	50,385	61,937

Notes:

(1) $911K of the FY03 USA Freedom Corps estimate and $1,351K of the FY04 USA Freedom Corps estimate is included above within the Office of Management and Administration numbers as are similar funds for all other White House Offices.

(2) Because Congress has chosen to appropriate funds for the Office of Homeland Security (OHS)/ Homeland Security Council (HSC) separately from the WHO appropriation, numbers related to OHS/ HSC are not included above. FY03 and FY04 estimates for OHS/ HSC are addressed independently in response to other committee questions.

QUESTION 73: Please provide a corresponding breakdown for FTE staff years and OGE, similar in format to that shown on pages 152 through 154 of last year's hearing record.

REV_00169658

RESPONSE: As noted last year, the major units within the White House Office are simply a creature of administrative convenience. The number of employees within each unit and the work of each unit vary over time and as circumstances and needs change. With this kept in mind, a detailed breakout of FTEs and OGEs by unit, is provided below. This breakout is based on current estimates and planning and will differ during the actual execution year. In addition to these major units, certain individuals – including certain individuals who work with the National Security Council, the Domestic Policy Council, and the National Economic Council – are also White House Office employees, although the units within which they principally work are not themselves part of the White House Office. These individuals are included under the Other category.

Other Services (POC – Chuck Sigman)

QUESTION 75: Similar to the information on page 236 et seq. of last year's hearing record, please provide a detailed description of each project, program, or initiative proposed to be funded in FY 2004 under object class 25.2 ("other services").

RESPONSE: Capital Investment Plan (CIP) - $5,220,000

The overall FY 2004 CIP requirement supports nine areas, as described below. The following "services" costs are included in the FY 2004 CIP request:

- $690,000 for Customer Service and Desktop Systems. This funding will be used to perform desktop software integration support.
- $450,000 for New Technologies and Systems. This includes "services" funding of $150,000 for server technology integration testing, and $300,000 for voice and data integration.

REV_00169661

- $230,000 for EOP Systems and Support, including "services" funding of $150,000 to develop external Local Area Networks, and $80,000 for production test lab development.
- $700,000 for Information Security for enterprise identity projects to allow the introduction of new authentication and identification mechanisms into the EOP IT infrastructure.
- $650,000 for Web-Based Services for web services application environment.
- $2,500,000 for the Offsite Data Center for services necessary to transition the offsite data center to full operational status
- There are no services funds allocated to Campus Wiring, Networks and Data Communications Infrastructure, or Messaging and Scheduling.

Salaries and Expenses - $2,150,000

There are three initiatives in the FY 2004 OA salaries/expense budget which comprise $2,150,000 in new programs under object class 25.2 ("other services"):

- $1,800,000 for Technology and Systems Support Contract . The Chief Information Officer (CIO) provides a wide range of computer services support to the EOP. These tasks are performed in large measure through an outsourcing contract that delivers IT services from PC deployment, to help desk and data center operations. During FY 2003, this IT systems support contract was competed with an increase in base labor rates due to the need for more advanced skills in IT disciplines such as XML and web services software development, Oracle database development and administration, and implementation of a new Enterprise Resources Planning (ERP) application covering finance, asset management and human resources. The CIO outsource contract is the vehicle used to maintain a 24 hour-a-day operation for mainframes, servers, help desk, local area networks, personal computers, applications; installation of end-user hardware and software; training; software application development and maintenance services. Altogether, this contract supports customers throughout the White House 18 acre complex, at remote and mobile locations, and at the planned Offsite Data Center. Key components driving the cost upward include: (1) higher labor rates for the DC area, which have risen since the previous IT 1997 facility contract; (2) the impact of the new data center operations in 2003 and thereafter; (3) an expanded EOP customer base which has more advanced, sophisticated, and security-conscious users.

- $300,000 for Information Assurance Support. The CIO has established the Information Assurance (IA) program to serve as a central location for information security serving all of EOP. FY 2002 and FY 2003 funds attended to the most critical concern with significant vulnerabilities in the perimeter and began the process of securing the internal systems. The IA program created real-time monitoring of perimeter network devices; it established the first formal documentation of IA program policy to bring the EOP in conformance with Federal guidelines and directives. However, the cyber threat facing EOP is dynamic because our systems are constantly assailed with a wide and unexpected range of attacks. The new state of defense must be active vigilance, to include the following components: (1) Perimeter Security, (2) Advanced Security Concepts, (3) Contingency Planning Support, (4) Network Monitor/Response Systems, and (5) Security Awareness, Assessments, and Education.

- $50,000 for Security Enhancements: Videos. There is a frequent and ongoing need for a security video – specific to the EOP and White House – which can be used in security briefings and new employee orientation meetings. This video will contain a brief overview of security responsibilities and procedures which must be understood by all personnel working in the EOP.

Salaries and Expenses (POC – Dilworth)

QUESTION 76: Please provide a detailed description of any expenses in the FY 2004 budget under "salaries and expenses" which are not directly related to personnel compensation and benefits.

RESPONSE: The following is an object class breakdown highlighting the major costs in each of the non pay related expense categories and a description of the unique aspects of some of these expenses found within the Executive Office of the President.

For reference, below are two tables that roll up all EOP component salaries and expenses funding information including the components not funded under the Subcommittee on Transportation, Treasury and Independent Agencies Appropriations.

Travel and transportation of persons – The largest portion of this funding (41%) is for international staff travel in support of trade negotiations as coordinated by the U.S. Trade Representative (USTR). The next largest portion of this funding (21%) is for White House Office (WHO) staff travel including "Presidential travel", which is the term used to delineate those trips where staff members actually travel with or ahead of the President. Those traveling ahead, referred to as advance staff, are responsible for producing Presidential events, as well as establishing an on-site infrastructure similar to the support that is provided within the White House. In addition, EOP travel costs related to Presidential travel is tracked by the principals (President, First Lady, Vice President and Mrs. Cheney) and by location. The remaining EOP travel funds are used for staff travel in support of the various EOP offices and their missions.

Transportation of things – The EOP spends funds in this area for the costs of express delivery/shipping of items such as Freedom of Information Act documents and personnel documents for accountability, as well as other miscellaneous items. Vehicle fleet costs are also included in this category.

Rental payments to GSA – Funds paid to GSA are used to provide the EOP offices with space in the government-owned and leased buildings that comprise the White House complex. Although the General Services Administration manages the EOP buildings, including the East and West Wings of the White House, they cannot rent them out to other Federal departments or agencies.

Communications, utilities and miscellaneous services – The bulk of these costs are used for the EOP switchboard. Funding in this category is also used for the networking and telecommunications projects of the Offsite Data Center. These projects include funds for the primary and backup telecommunications lines connecting the remote data center with the EOP office campus, two additional DS-3 data paths, two T-1 lines, and backup to support required communications bandwidth, and availability requirements.

Printing and reproduction – The largest expense in this area is for Presidential stationery and greetings. Also included are the costs for printing in the Code of Federal Regulation and the Federal Register as well as the costs to print the President's Budget, the Economic Report of the President, the National Drug Control Strategy, free trade agreement documents and other publications, studies and reports.

Other services –The primary cost driver in this category is the information technology support contract that provides IT sustainment services, system development services, and system engineering services for the entire EOP. IT support for the EOP as supported by this contract is largely an outsourced activity that includes a broad range of services such as the Help Desk, network and data center operations.

Supplies and materials – Most of the EOP expenses in this category are for general office and IT supplies, as well as the costs for subscriptions to newspapers and magazines.

Equipment – The largest portion of the EOP equipment costs is for IT desktop replacement program and for investments in software and hardware infrastructure to support the EOP IT projects.

Unanticipated Needs – Expenditures from this fund may be authorized only by the President. The Director of OMB provides the necessary controls to ensure that only unforeseen priorities are financed and that funding from other sources is not available.

REV_00169665

ONDCP Policy Research – This is an ONDCP expense and funding is used to support the continuing policy research to better inform drug policy.

Security Guard Services for OSTP (POC – Chuck Sigman)

QUESTION 77: In FY 2003, you budgeted $1,798,000 for security guard services for the Office of Science and Technology Policy. Are similar funds requested in FY 2004? If so, how much?

RESPONSE: The FY 2004 OA budget proposes that the cost of the security guard service (estimated at $702,000) for OSTP be transferred to the OSTP appropriation. Thus, the proposed FY04 OA budget would contain the balance of the funds (approximately $1.1 million).

Since the FY 2003 budget was proposed, there have been additional reviews of the physical security of the White House complex by the US Secret Service, the Federal Protective Service, and the OA Security Office. As a result, the OA Security Office has been assigned the responsibility of correcting deficiencies in EOP physical security. There are some locations which do not currently have Secret Service protection (such as the Jackson Place White House Conference Center). Another location which does not have firm long-term security plans is the office at 1800 G Street. Thus, the Office of Administration has ongoing needs for the $1.1 million which remains in the OA budget. During FY03, these funds are being used for consolidation of information technology maintenance ($200,000), centralization of database services ($200,000), and common building service costs ($400,000). The remaining $300,000 of these savings will be used for an FY03 OA personnel shortfall.

QUESTION 78: Why aren't such funds in the OSTP budget?

RESPONSE: The estimated FY04 cost of 24-hour security guard services for OSTP is included in the FY04 OSTP budget request. This estimate is $702,000 for a full year.

Political Appointees (POC – Jon Laurich)

QUESTION 79: Please update the information on political appointees within EOP as shown on page 268 of last year's hearing record, using the same criteria and assumptions as last year.

RESPONSE: The term "political appointees" is somewhat of a misnomer because it narrowly defines the type of employees authorized under Chapter 2 of Title 3 of the U.S. Code, for the White House Office, the Executive Residence, the Official Residence of the Vice President and the Office of Administration. These offices can hire personnel in various excepted service positions that are not subject to the rules of regular government employees. Many of these excepted service positions fall under the category of serving at the pleasure of the President while others do not. Using the term in the broadest possible sense, including all employees hired as Presidential Appointees, Administratively Determined, Non Career SES, or Schedule C's, the Executive Office of the President has the following number of political appointees directly hired within the EOP and serving in the EOP on detailed assignments from other agencies as of May 5, 2003.

Detailees (POC – Jon Laurich)

QUESTION 80: Please update the information on reimbursable and non-reimbursable detailees with EOP as shown on pages 268 and 269 of last year's hearing record.

RESPONSE: There are currently 251 detailees staffed within the Executive Office of the President. There are 41 reimbursable detailees and 210 non-reimbursable detailees as shown in the chart below, as of May 5, 2003:

Office of the Vice President (POC – Kristen Savercool)

QUESTION 81: You are requesting an additional $70,000 (+1.7 percent) for the Vice President's travel, due to increased travel to undisclosed locations after the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001. Weren't these type of increases baselined in FY 2002 and FY 2003, and if so, why are further increases needed in FY 2004?

RESPONSE: The FY 2003 budget was submitted in February 2002, prior to it becoming evident that the Vice President's travel requirements had increased more than originally estimated. Following the events of 9-11, the Vice President has been required to be outside the Washington, DC vicinity for significant periods of time. This travel has been 100 percent official, and operational in nature (i.e. the Vice President performs his regular duties in an off-site location). This travel has required the accompaniment of staff, who also perform operational duties.

Because the budget impact of these additional travel requirements was not fully realized until after the FY 2003 budget request was submitted, they were not included in the FY 2003 baseline. Continued security concerns related to the Vice President and the ensuing impact on the Vice President's travel costs necessitate the increase to the FY 2004 OVP travel budget. This increase will allow the Vice President the flexibility needed to adequately execute his official travel requirements.

Unanticipated Needs (POC – Eric Lanman)

QUESTION 82: Please provide a listing of the uses of Unanticipated Needs funds in FY 2002.

REV_00169668

RESPONSE: $757,000 of the $1,000,000 appropriated to the Unanticipated Needs account in FY 2002 was provided to OMB for Office of Homeland Security Transition Planning Office. The remaining appropriation was not utilized.

Questions for the Record
Ranking Member, John Olver
Hearing on the Executive Office of the President
April 30, 2003

Account Consolidation and Transfer Proposals (POC – Al Muhlbauer/Jim Daniel)

When we centralized the funds within the Office of Administration, Congress intended that each agency would continue to receive a similar share of support and assistance under the consolidation.

QUESTION 83: Are any agencies going to receive diminished services or resources under the consolidation?

RESPONSE: No, currently the funding in the pilot has been allocated to be consistent with the FY 03 budget request. The service levels will be equal to or greater than pre-pilot levels; however, we are hopeful that the cost to procure the same level of service will decrease. Also, the Office of Administration is preparing service standards. For example, if the service standard for PC's would be one PC per desktop that is less than four years old and if one EOP component is currently at that standard for 95 % of its employees and another is currently at that standard for 50% of its employees, based on need, the second component would get a larger share of the services to bring it closer to the EOP standard. This allows EOP to consistently upgrade software and services across the entire organization as the total infrastructure permits.

QUESTION 84: Are any agencies to receive extra services above and beyond the amount of funds they contributed as part of the consolidation?

RESPONSE: Yes, based on need and to bring organizations that are lagging behind the approved standards up to a consistent standard, some organizations may receive extra services above and beyond the amount of funds they contributed to the consolidation. We anticipate some of those services will be funded from savings in the program.

QUESTION 85: Under the procurement consolidation pilot approved in the FY03 Omnibus, are IT or database services for any EOP agency going to be paid for by funds contributed by other EOP agencies?

RESPONSE: Yes, in addition to generating procurement savings and efficiencies, a major goal of the consolidation pilot is to bring all of the EOP components up to a standard of service which will allow us to implement technology evenly across the organization and to realize efficiencies and benefits from a consistent and even infrastructure. In reaching this goal, the funds may be applied in a manner which is not in the same ratio in which they were contributed.

QUESTION 86: In general, are the funds appropriated for this centralized procurement program going to be used to supplement the appropriation made to individual agencies?

RESPONSE: Yes, the individual entities will be the recipients of the services funded by the centralized procurement program without reimbursement in accordance with the Congressional appropriation provided to OA.

QUESTION 87: If so, which agencies will benefit and which agencies will receive less than their share of contributions?

RESPONSE: OA is currently establishing the allocation standards for the commodities included in the centralized procurement program. OA is also requesting that the entities assist us in developing a baseline against which we will measure the allocation standards. That will determine which, if any, entities will benefit and which entities will receive less than their share of contributions.

QUESTION 88: You recently submitted a very cursory report on the procurement pilot. When will you provide us with specific details on the progress of the pilot program?

RESPONSE: As mentioned above, progress is being made on the plan to implement the Common Services Program. We expect to be able to brief the Subcommittee in greater detail this summer.

Your budget also proposes a change that would permit EOP agencies to transfer up to 10% into or out of any agency's budget. Coupled with your account consolidation proposal, that would allow you to transfer in up to $18 million more into (or out of) the White House's budget.

QUESTION 89: Under the procurement consolidation program that we approved in the FY03 bill, don't you have a similar type of flexibility already? What other flexibility is needed?

RESPONSE: The flexibility of the procurement consolidation program is directed to certain defined common commodities. The 10% transfer authority provides flexibility for unexpected requirements and to address needs that may be outside the program.

QUESTION 90: What protection is there for smaller EOP agencies under this proposal? Don't they stand to lose critical resources if the White House or Vice President's Office decide to take 10% of their resources?

REV_00169671

RESPONSE: It is more likely that the smaller entities will benefit from the proposal, because their appropriations are small they are less likely to be able to adjust to unforeseen circumstances, this program will allow the EOP to address those circumstances without requesting supplemental funding. Also, as a practical matter, the issue of "protection" is immaterial as all the entities (setting the Office of the Vice President aside) work directly for the President.

Office of Homeland Security Questions (POC – Paul Ehrhardt)

We recently received a reprogramming request to transfer $2m of the funds provided to the Office of Homeland Security to the Remote Delivery Site cleanup efforts. The source of these funds would come from the Office of Homeland Security.

The Office of Homeland Security has gone from an initial $25m stated need when the initial FY03 bills passed the House and Senate to $11m when the FY03 Omnibus was passed to what will be $9m if the reprogramming is approved.

QUESTION 91: What exactly does the Office of Homeland Security do now that the Department of Homeland Security is in place?

RESPONSE: HSC advises and assists the President on homeland security matters and coordinates policy development and the interagency process regarding Administration policy on homeland security, including the development and coordination of implementation of the National Strategy for Homeland Security to secure the United States from terrorist threats and attacks.

QUESTION 92: Does OHS still have a presence at Nebraska Avenue?

RESPONSE: No.

QUESTION 93: Does the Office of Administration provide any support to agencies at Nebraska Avenue? If so, please describe the specific types of support provided. Is this support on a reimbursable basis?

RESPONSE: Since the transfer of the Nebraska Avenue facility to the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) on January 1, 2003, OA has not provided any support to entities at the Nebraska Avenue Complex (NAC). Pursuant to a Determination by the OMB Director, funds in the amount of $3,746,000 were transferred from the OHS Emergency Fund within OA to the Department of Homeland Security in March 2003 to support NAC activities.

QUESTION 94: How many personnel and detailees now work for OHS?

REV_00169672

RESPONSE: The Homeland Security Council currently consists of 66 staff positions which can be filled by either Direct Hire FTE or Other Government Employee (detailee and assignee) personnel. HSC is requesting resources to support up to 40 Direct Hire FTE and 26 OGE FTE on its staff for FY 2004. See table below for a comparison with fiscal years 2003 and 2002.

Office of Homeland Security / Homeland Security Council Personnel

	FY 2002 Actual	FY 2003 Estimate	FY 2004 Request
Direct Hire FTE	31	40	40
Other Government Employee (EOY headcount)	89	26	26
Total Personnel	120	66	66

QUESTION 95: What is the actual operational budget need for OHS in FY03?

RESPONSE: The Homeland Security Council budget requirement from the FY 2003 appropriation is estimated to be approximately $4.32 million. Please note that the FY 2003 estimate covers only costs incurred after the enactment of the FY 2003 appropriation on February 20, 2003. Unlike other EOP entities which operated under continuing resolutions between October 1, 2003 and February 20, 2003, the Office of Homeland Security was not permitted to utilize the CR funding mechanism but instead continued to charge FY 2003 expenses against the no-year emergency funding (provided in FY2002) until the FY 2003 appropriation was enacted. Therefore the FY 2003 estimate reflects only seven months of activity, whereas the FY 2004 Request needs to cover HSC expenses for the full 12 months next fiscal year.

QUESTION 96: For the record, please provide us a breakout by object class of the Office of Homeland Security's FY03 remaining budget.

RESPONSE: The breakout below reflects HSC's budget for the last seven months of FY 2003, from the enactment of the FY 2003 Appropriation on February 20, 2003 through September 30, 2003.

REV_00169673

(Dollars in Thousands)

Object Class	FY 2003 est.
Personnel	$2,800
Travel	$60
Transportation of Things	$24
Communications, Utilities, and Miscelaneous	$50
Printing and Reproduction	$69
Other Services	$1,267
Equipment	$50
Total,	$4,320

QUESTION 97: Any likelihood that these estimates will be revised downward again?

RESPONSE: The FY 2003 estimate provided above reflects the best assessment of HSC requirements from the OHS FY 2003 appropriation, and actual obligations against this appropriation will likely be close to this current estimate.

QUESTION 98: I understand that the President named General Gordon as his new Homeland Security Adviser. Does he support the latest $2 million cut to his office's resources?

RESPONSE: To begin with we should note that, General Gordon has not yet reported to Homeland Security Council. Secondly, in any event, the EOP budget proposal provides the necessary resources for HSC to advise and assist the President. Third, we should also note that the reference to a $2 million cut is incorrect. In fact, the resources of the Homeland Security Council have not been cut by $2 million. The FY 2003 appropriations for the Homeland Security Council included $2 million for decontamination of the Remote Delivery Site (RDS) as agreed to by the Congress and the Administration. Subsequent to the passage of the FY 2003 appropriations, that $2 million was allocated to decontamination of the RDS per agreement. This planned use of that appropriation is not a cut to HSC resources.

QUESTION 99: Have you validated the FY04 request recently to ensure it is an accurate figure?

RESPONSE: Yes, HSC reevaluated its FY 2004 requirements prior to submitting the final FY 2004 Request. Given the creation of the Department of Homeland Security, HSC's FY 2004 budget requirements are estimated at $8,331,000; as requested.

REV_00169674

Budget Questions:

After the FY03 enacted levels are adjusted to reflect the transfer of $9 million to the Office of Homeland Security, the Executive Office of the President's FY04 budget request reflects an 8% increase over FY03 levels. Your agency, the Office of Administration requests a 10% increase between FY03 and FY04.

When the budget was introduced, Mitch Daniels said that the overall growth of Federal programs would be pegged to the expected 4% growth in inflation. The administration also said the President wanted to "match government's growth with the growth of American family income."

QUESTION 100: When the rest of the government is forced to live with 4% growth, how can you justify an almost 10% increase in your office and an overall Executive Office of the President increase of 8%? (POC – Chuck Sigman)

RESPONSE: The Office of Administration's 10% budget increase amounts to approximately $7 million. This increase is necessitated by additional costs stemming from the enhanced security activities in the post-September 11 environment:

- The Capital Investment Plan has a net increase of $3.8 million required for the relocation of the EOP data center to an offsite location. The offsite data center has been determined to be a critical project in any contingency plan, and the communications requirements for the data center will be significantly higher in the new facility.
- $2.5 million is needed for the new information technology contract, driven by the information technology service labor increases, the relocation of the data center as well as by the increased security concerns for EOP systems.
- $0.5 million is required for the EOP information assurance program.
- $0.2 million for physical security improvements to the White House complex in providing resources for security education and evacuation resources.

The 8% growth in the overall EOP budget amounts to approximately $24.6 million. Primary components of this increase are mission-specific needs proposed by the different EOP entities:

- $6.3 million in OA programs described in the prior paragraph ($3.8 million for the capital investment plan, $2.5 million for the information technology contract, $0.5 million for information assurance, and $0.2 million for physical security).
- $2.5 million in EOP-wide space rental increases to conform with GSA's market-based rental rates.
- $3.0 million for USTR's additional staff for intensified trade negotiations.

REV_00169675

- $3.0 million in the Executive Residence's multiyear East and West Wing restoration projects.
- $2.7 million for OMB personnel needs.
- $1.5 million for OMB's budget system updates.
- $0.7 million for OMB's E-Government staff and the Office of Information Technology.
- $0.8 million for additional staff for ONDCP.
- $0.6 million in the NSC's funding for reimbursable detailees and President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board's request for additional staff.
- $0.5 million for OSTP's continuity of operations plan.

The White House Office's increase of 3.6% looks smaller because of a realignment of $1.85m in rent to the Office of Administration's account. Without the realignment, the White House Office's increase would be around 6.6%.

QUESTION 101: What is the justification for this realignment? (POC – Eric Lanman)

RESPONSE: The realignment of $1.85M in rent was made to the WHO from the Office of Administration. Without this and other realignments made as part of the FY 2004 WHO budget request, The White House Office's increase would have only been 1.7 percent.

QUESTION 102: How could the White House have been paying the bill for space that wasn't theirs? (POC – Eric Lanman)

RESPONSE: The WHO has not been paying rent on the 1800 G Street office spaces that this realignment involves. These office spaces were necessitated by the movement of certain White House staff offices following the events of September 11. In FY 2003 funds for these spaces were budgeted by the Office of Administration and are being paid for as part of a pilot program authorized by law.

QUESTION 103: Which EOP agencies occupied this space on which the White House Office has been paying rent? (POC – Eric Lanman)

RESPONSE: As indicated in the previous answers, White House staff have been occupying this space. Rent is being paid by the Office of Administration as part of the pilot program authorized by law.

QUESTION 104: Are these costs that had historically been paid by the White House Office? (POC – Eric Lanman)

REV_00169676

RESPONSE: No. The 1800 G Street Office spaces were not occupied by EOP staff until after the events of 9-11.

QUESTION 105: If so, why make the change this year? (POC – Eric Lanman)

RESPONSE: The realignment of these costs under the WHO is done to reflect the costs under the office whose staff occupies them.

Travel

The White House Office's request includes a decrease of $400,000 in Presidential Travel.

QUESTION 106: Was the FY03 estimate too high? (POC – Eric Lanman)

RESPONSE: As part of the FY 2003 WHO budget submission, $600,000 was requested to support the travel requirements of the new USA Freedom Corps Office. Actual experience subsequently determined this amount to be in excess of need. As a result, the FY 2003 WHO travel line was reduced $329,647 by the statutory recission, and the FY 2004 WHO budget submission requested $400,000 less in the travel line than the original FY 2003 estimate.

QUESTION 107: If so, how do you intend to use the surplus funds? (POC – Eric Lanman)

RESPONSE: The $400,000 reduction to the FY 2004 WHO budget request for travel requirements does not result in surplus funds. It instead results in an overall reduction to the FY 2004 WHO budget estimate.

QUESTION 108: Are you planning less travel in FY04 or will more of the travel just be paid for by political entities? (POC – Eric Lanman)

RESPONSE: Except as noted above, the amount of official travel conducted by the White House staff is expected to remain consistent with the FY 2003 estimate.

QUESTION 109: Please provide a list of all White House Office, Office of Homeland Security and Office of Vice President official staff travel for FY02 and FY03 (to date). Include a brief description of the official purpose of the trip. For FY04 estimates, provide estimated number of trips and trip purpose. (POC – Rothley Howard)

RESPONSE: The following tables provide the FY 2002 and FY 2003 (to date) staff travel information, where a staff member received government reimbursement, for the

REV_00169677

White House Office and the Office of the Vice President. No FY 2004 estimates are available at this time.

QUESTION 111: How much did OMB reimburse the White House Office for use of White House motorpool vehicles in FY02? How much is OMB projecting to reimburse in FY03 and FY04? (POC – Brian Gillis)

RESPONSE: For FY 2002, OMB reimbursed the Department of Defense $99,000 for the use of the White House motorpool. OMB is projecting a similar amount for FY 2003 and FY 2004.

In the hearing, Mr. Daniel mentioned that the FY03 vehicle lease and IT support contracts came in significantly below the original budget estimates.

QUESTION 112: Do you intend to return the unused funds to the Treasury at the end of the fiscal year? (POC – Chuck Sigman)

RESPONSE: The EOP plans to use the funds to implement other critical EOP priorities. The programs which were described by Mr. Daniel at the hearing were the FY 2003 vehicle lease and the guard services contract for guard services at 1801 Pennsylvania Avenue. He did not refer to the IT support contract.

QUESTION 113: For these areas in which savings were realized, what are your plans for the funds? (POC – Chuck Sigman)

RESPONSE: For FY 2003, these funds are being applied to fund other priorities for the OA as well as common services for EOP entities. These other priorities include consolidation of information technology maintenance ($200,000), centralization of database services ($200,000), and common building service costs ($400,000). The remaining $300,000 of these savings will be used for an FY03 OA personnel shortfall.

Political Travel

QUESTION 114: Please explain the reimbursement procedures the White House intends to follow during the Presidential election season. (POC – Andy Kalnins)

RESPONSE: Travel by senior Administration officials is governed by relevant statutes and regulations that have been followed for many years.

QUESTION 115: Exactly when will the presidential-campaign procedures take effect? (POC – Andy Kalnins)

REV_00169703

RESPONSE: The presidential-campaign procedures take effect when a President is a candidate for re-election.

QUESTION 116: How do you determine who the official travelers are on a campaign or political trip? Does the list of positions vary from trip to trip? (POC – Andy Kalnins)

RESPONSE: Consistent with governing statutes and regulations, and traditional practice, a list of positions has been developed which are deemed to always be official.

QUESTION 117: On trips with political and official components, what is the procedure for determining which events are paid for using official funds and which events are reimbursed by the political entity? (POC – Andy Kalnins)

RESPONSE: The guidelines are based on legal principles embodied in 5 CFR §734.503, policies established over a period of years by previous Administrations, and guidance from Federal Election Commission opinions.

QUESTION 118: If the President gives virtually the same speech at a political event that he gave at an official event in that same city, what criteria is used to determine whether an event is "political" or "official"? (POC – Andy Kalnins)

RESPONSE: Appearing at party functions, fundraising, and campaigning for specific candidates are principal examples of travel which ordinarily is considered political.

QUESTION 119: If the President gives virtually the same speech at a political event that he gave at an official event in that same city, does the political entity reimburse the White House for the Speechwriters time? (POC – WHO M&A)

RESPONSE: Ordinarily not. See 5 CFR §734.503(b)(1).

QUESTION 120: Have events been classified as "official" even if only members of the President's political party are invited to share the stage with the President? (POC – WHO M&A)

RESPONSE: The classification of an event as official or political depends on many factors. However, Presidents routinely have official events that may include members of only one party, for example, a speech or meeting about legislative activities or issues.

QUESTION 121: If so, what justification is used to argue that these events were not political events? (POC – WHO M&A)

REV_00169704

RESPONSE: The classification of an event as official or political depends on many factors. However, Presidents routinely have official events that may include members of only one party, for example, a speech or meeting about legislative activities or issues.

QUESTION 122: Please provide information about reimbursement to the White House Office or other government agencies associated with local staff travel to political events attended by the President in FY02 or FY03. For each reimbursement made, please provide the date the bill was generated, the number of events reflected on the bill, the date payment was received, the political entity paying the charges and the total amount paid on each bill. (POC – WHO M&A)

RESPONSE: The White House took steps to ensure appropriate reimbursements from the relevant political entities for political trips.

Photographic Services (POC – Eric Lanman)

QUESTION 123: For FY02, FY03 and FY04, what was (or is projected to be) the total cost of photographic equipment purchased for use by the White House photographers?

RESPONSE: The total cost (actual and projected) of photographic equipment procured for use by White House photographers in FY 2002, FY 2003 and FY 2004 are displayed in the table below.

	FY 2002	FY 2003	FY 2004
	Actual	Estimate	Estimate
Photographic Equipment	$137,057	$35,700	$36,300

FY 2002 actual costs are higher than the estimates for FY 2003 and FY 2004 due to the necessary life cycle replacement of photographic equipment.

QUESTION 124: For FY02, FY03 and FY04, what was (or is projected to be) the total cost of photo lab equipment purchased for use by the WHCA photo lab?

	FY 2002	FY 2003	FY 2004

QUESTION 125: For FY02, FY03 and FY04, what was (or is projected to be) the total travel cost associated with travel of White House Photographers?

REV_00169705

RESPONSE: The FY 2002 travel costs of White House Photographers was $46,721. The estimated FY 2003 cost is $50,000 and the projected cost for FY 2004 is $55,000.

QUESTION 126: For FY02, FY03 and FY04, what was (or is projected to be) the total rent cost associated with the WHCA photo lab?

RESPONSE: There is no rent cost associated with the WHCA photo lab. However, there are utility and facility maintenance costs associated with the WHCA photo lab. Those costs were $73,600 for FY 2002, $76,650 estimated for FY 2003 and a projected $79,000 for FY 2004.

QUESTION 127: Please explain the procedures for determining when and how the government is to be reimbursed for photos released for non-official purposes. If these procedures have changed from those followed by the previous administration, please explain any changes that have been made.

RESPONSE: The procedures for obtaining reimbursements for photographs changed on October 1, 2000. The procedures now in place are designed to ensure that the government receives appropriate reimbursement for photographs sought for non-official purposes. Records are kept of all such requests, and appropriate reimbursement is then sought.

QUESTION 128: For FY02 and the first seven months of FY03, please provide the following information about each payment made to the White House, OA, WHCA, DISA (or other DoD organization) to reimburse for the release of photos or photo lab services that were provided:

- date reimbursement was made
- name of reimbursing organization
- amount of payment
- number of photos purchased by reimbursing organization
- size of photos purchased by reimbursing organization

RESPONSE: The requested information about each payment made to the White House, OA, WHCA, DISA (or other DoD organization) to reimburse for the release of photos is provided below.

Remote Delivery Site Reprogramming Request (POC – Paul Ehrhardt)

We recently received a reprogramming request to transfer $2m of the funds provided to the Office of Homeland Security to the Remote Delivery Site cleanup efforts.

QUESTION 129: What is the status of remediation efforts?

RESPONSE: We are in the process of Confirmatory Sampling. The sampling plan is intended to present a technical approach for (1) completing air and surface sampling for culturable Bacillus anthracis spores to verify the efficacy of the decontamination process: (2) providing for qualified laboratory analysis of the collected samples: and (3) presenting a protocol for data collection and reporting such that the results of the sampling effort are valid and defensible. In addition, the Plan provides for the site and personnel security, safety, health, and personal protection, equipment and collection methods, and sample handling.

QUESTION 130: Please provide the total budget estimate for this project.

RESPONSE: As the contractor responsible for returning the building to an environmentally safe workplace, Versar to date has not been able to develop or provide accurate cost estimates or time lines to EOP. Budget and schedule estimates for this project are especially difficult due to critical path activities taking place in a high-risk environment relying on the utilization of untested speculative technologies. However to date $2.422 million has been spent on the effort and we are currently requesting an additional $2 million, which is Versar's best estimate of what it will cost to complete the project. The total budget estimate for the project then comes to $4.422 million.

QUESTION 131: Please provide the anticipated schedule for this effort.

RESPONSE: Given many variables, including weather, our best current estimate of time to required complete the RDS project is 4 months. The confirmatory testing phase is estimated to take eight weeks from start up. The next phase would be for the ECC committee to ratify the confirmation process; we estimate this to be one month. After this is completed, our best estimate is thirty days to perform PM on the HVAC equipment, build out the office areas, and re-establish the building operation.

QUESTION 132: What caused this $2 million overrun?

RESPONSE: There is not a $2 million overrun. The request for $2 million is a result of anticipated costs and those unforeseen conditions as result of the environmental cleanup process, that OA, GSA or its contractors had available at the time of fumigation. The Environmental Clearance Committee has placed additional requirements that resulted in the additional costs. The proposed sampling plan utilizes the barrier divisions already in Building 410 (which provides discrete work areas) and presents proposed sampling location, quantity, and types of samples to be collected . Sampling will be carried out using a phased approach for each work area as follows:

Phase 1, Surface Sampling; Phase 2 Air Sampling: Phase 3, "Dynamic Sampling", Phase 4, Start Up of the Heating, Ventilation , and Air Conditioning (HVAC) Units; and Phase 5, Final Sampling with the Barriers Down.

QUESTION 133: Why have you stopped providing the monthly reports on the remediation efforts?

RESPONSE: Due to the process of establishing the Environmental Clearance Committee, it was an administrative error that the reports were inadvertently not forwarded.

Previously the Remote Delivery Site was used to screen incoming mail. It also used to serve as an off-site supply depot. With the Department of Homeland Security now assuming the mail processing function and with supply operations now established on the White House Complex, I'm curious about future plans for the RDS.

REV_00169709

QUESTION 134: What will the facility be used for when remediation is finished?

RESPONSE: Prior to September 11, 2001 the Remote Delivery Site (RDS) was used as a centralized receiving facility for the White House Complex. All postage flat mail and packages, including UPS and FedEx deliveries, and all equipment and local deliveries were delivered to the RDS. All incoming deliveries, regardless of size, were screened by the U.S. Secret Service (USSS) via large X ray machines, and if any equipment was too large to fit on the X-ray conveyer belt, then the USSS used dogs to sniff for explosives. After initial USSS clearance, all of the items were sorted and delivered to their intended destination to the White House Complex. Supplies, equipment and furniture which were purchased for inventory for use at later time were housed at the RDS.

In addition to the screening of WHO Complex deliveries, the USSS Administrative Operations Division used RDS space to screen all of its incoming mail and packages that were intended for USSS personnel.

The EOP Supply store was operated within the confines of the RDS. Supplies were purchased and inventoried at the RDS and office supplies and copier paper were purchased in volume to take advantage of discounts. The WHO/EOP customers faxed supply requisitions to the RDS staff who then pulled and boxed office supplies for delivery to the WHO Complex. OA property supply staff made supply deliveries to the WHO complex at least twice a day, and more if needed.

The EOP/OA Personal Property Program (excess, transfer, donation, and destruction of furniture and equipment) had its operations housed at the RDS. Excessed equipment and furniture were corralled at the RDS until enough equipment and furniture were gathered to make it economical to excess all at once. In addition, schools and nonprofit organizations were allowed to review equipment for donation under Executive Order 12999.

After September 11, as a precautionary move, the White House United States Postal Service was relocated from the Eisenhower Executive Office Building to the RDS. A separate room was built for the USPS's operation of opening and screening all White House mail. The RDS operations continued working around the new USPS area. These USPS operations continued until the RDS was closed due to the discovery of Anthrax. Since then the USPS operations have relocated to 1800 G. St. NW.

Once the remediation is finished, the RDS will resume its former function of screening all bulk deliveries (including equipment, furniture, boxes of supplies) sent to the EOP Complex. In addition the facility will be used to store supplies and an inventory of equipment and furniture. The RDS will also be used as a staging area for efficient loading and delivery of bulk items for all EOP entities.

QUESTION 135: Will the DHS use the facility to screen the White House's mail?

REV_00169710

RESPONSE: No.

QUESTION 136: Will you close the on-site supply stores and revert back to running the supply operation out of the Remote Delivery Site?

RESPONSE: When the RDS reopens after the remediation of the building, the RDS staff will resume the same functions prior to the Anthrax. However, there are major changes in the way the OA Supply Store operates and manages its supply inventory. The Office of Administration has entered into a new business relationship with GSA. The OA Supply operation will purchase its supplies from GSA who will provide a wide array of office supplies and maintain the level of supply inventory that is needed to support the WHO Complex. The GSA inventory will be housed at the RDS after relocation from Franconia, VA, the current, temporary RDS location. OA supply staff will pull supply orders based on customer's requisitions, and then box and deliver the supplies from the RDS to WHO complex. GSA will only charge for the supplies that EOP customers use at point of sale, otherwise the unsold inventory will still belong to GSA. GSA promises to maintain the supplies that the EOP customers may need. Inventories will be reviewed and adjusted to realize the kind and quantities of supplies the EOP customers expect. This business relationship will promote a more flexible inventory that allows the supply inventory to have the quantity or variety of supplies to meet our customer needs in a more proactive, real-time fashion.

White House Access (POC – WHO M&A)

QUESTION 137: For the record, please provide the total number of visitors who passed through the White House as part of tours in 2000, 2001, 2002 and 2003 (to date).

RESPONSE: Listed below are total numbers of visitors that passed through the White House from 2000 to year to date FY 2003, as reported in National Park Service (NPS) statistical abstract:

2000: 1,175,714
2001: 856,042
2002: 178,092
2003: 43,434 (as of May 14)

Please note that the NPS records garden tours and egg roll events in their annual numbers for visitors to the White House even though the people attending these events do not go through the house. Since the numbers for the visitors that actually go through the house are not exclusively available, we have included the egg roll event in the numbers for 2003 for consistency. There was no a spring garden tour in 2003.

QUESTION 138: Why are White House tours currently not open to the general public?

REV_00169711

RESPONSE: White House special group tours were reopened for certain group tours on May 6, 2003. Over the past many months, the White House has operated a successful program, in partnership with Congressional offices, allowing special group tours to visit. We will continue to book groups using existing procedures unless circumstances dictate otherwise.

The White House is mindful of the request to fully resume public tours. We continue to consult with law enforcement and intelligence services on how to ensure the safety of the residents, staff and the general public while at the White House.

QUESTION 139: What is the status of the report on the status of White House Tours that was due to the Subcommittee by March 22nd?

RESPONSE: This question was answered and sent to the Subcommittee by the March 22nd deadline.

QUESTION 140: Who has the lead on the efforts to decide whether public tours can be resumed?

RESPONSE: The United States Secret Service constantly monitors and evaluates existing conditions to determine the level of security required at the White House complex including when and if tours can be resumed on a full schedule. Their recommendations, along with input from other law enforcement and intelligence services who monitor changing world events, are reviewed with White House management staff to schedule and structure tours in such a manner that will provide an appropriate level of security for general public taking the tours, in addition to the staff who work in and around the Complex, and the residents. This is an ongoing effort.

QUESTION 141: Does the USSS do a background check on all individuals attending events and meetings at the White House Complex before access can be granted?

RESPONSE: For security reasons, it is not appropriate to provide information about the specific nature of background checks and related security procedures in this context.

QUESTION 142: During this administration, have White House aides ever overruled a building-access recommendation made by the USSS?

RESPONSE: The USSS and EOP Staff collaborate in making decisions on access to the complex.

Off-site EOP Support

QUESTION 143: How many EOP employees are based in Crawford, TX? (POC – Stacia Cropper)

RESPONSE: One.

QUESTION 144: How much space does the EOP pay rent for in Crawford, TX? (POC James Daniel/Stacia Cropper)

RESPONSE: There is one double-wide trailer. The cost of the trailer itself and all operating costs will be paid to GSA in a monthly rent payment of $8,496.83 for two years.

QUESTION 145: How many trailers were acquired for Crawford, TX? (POC James Daniel/Stacia Cropper)

RESPONSE: One trailer was acquired for the EOP.

QUESTION 146: What was the cost to purchase and renovate these trailers? (POC James Daniel/Stacia Cropper)

RESPONSE: The cost of the trailer shell was $72,745.28. The cost to apply finishes to the trailer interior was $20,976.62.

QUESTION 147: What are the expected FY04 operating costs of facilities and staff permanently deployed to Crawford, TX? (POC James Daniel/Stacia Cropper)

RESPONSE: The following are the estimated operating costs for one year: Pest Control ($1,440), cleaning ($4,200), electricity ($4,211.75), and water ($2,286.38).

Rent (POC – Steve Beattie)

QUESTION 148: Please provide an accounting of all space on which the EOP currently pays rent. The list should include the number of staff in each building, the agencies which occupy space in each facility, the total square footage by agency in each facility, the total square footage of vacant space on which the EOP is currently paying rent in each facility and the GSA rent rates for each facility.

RESPONSE: The following charts provide the information on EOP facilities and GSA rental rates as they stood during the formulation of the FY 2004 budget request. Since then, several offices have moved from the New Executive Office Building (NEOB) into the space in 1800 G. Street. In addition, several offices from the Eisenhower Executive Office building will be moving into the newly vacated space at the NEOB. Once all moves have been accomplished, the EOP will provide the Subcommittee with an update on the space utilization of the buildings on the White House complex.

Travel Office (POC – Mayra Segovia)

QUESTION 151: Please describe the current role the White House Travel Office plays in managing and arranging the financial aspects of White House Press Corps travel. Does the White House Travel Office operate as a "dollar-for-dollar" operation?

RESPONSE: The White House Travel Office provides the White House Press Corps with a range of travel services when they accompany the President, Vice President and First Lady. Services include air and ground transportation, hotel accommodations, and convention-type services associated with the Filing Center.

The White House Press Travel Fund operates as a dollar-for-dollar operation.

QUESTION 152: How many EOP staff work in the White House Travel Office?

RESPONSE: Eight EOP staff work in the White House Travel Office.

QUESTION 153: How many contractor travel agents support the White House Travel Office?

RESPONSE: Six contractor travel agents support the White House Travel Office.

QUESTION 154: Please include the most recent independent financial statement audit of the White House Travel Office's accounts for the record.

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS REPORT

To the Management of
White House Travel Office Press Fund

We have audited the accompanying statement of financial position of the White House Travel Office Press Fund as of December 31, 2001, and the related statements of activities and cash flows for the year then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the White House Travel Office Press Fund's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the White House Travel Office Press Fund as of December 31, 2001, and the changes in its net assets and its cash flows for the nine months then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

WHITE HOUSE TRAVEL OFFICE PRESS FUND
NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
DECEMBER 31, 2001

NOTE 1 – ORGANIZATION

The White House Travel Office Press Fund ('WHTO") was established to manage expenses associated with travel for members of the press who accompany the President, Vice President, First Lady, and Second Lady on domestic and foreign trips. In May 1993, a new management team was hired to manage WHTO. Consequently, for accounting and reporting purposes, a new WHTO was established as of January 1, 1994.

NOTE 2- SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Revenue and expenditures are recognized using the accrual basis of accounting. The WHTO invoices the press organizations for their prorated share of the expenses associated with each trip. The WHTO then remits payment directly to the vendors whose services were used for the particular trip. The total amount invoiced to the press members equals the total of the amounts paid to the vendors. The WHTO does not own any fixed assets. Al! fixed assets are purchased through the White House's general fund and designated for the WHTO use. Similarly, all operating expenses of the WHTO, including salaries and office supplies, are paid directly by the White House's general fund.

NOTE 3- CASH

Gash is maintained in two non-interest checking accounts at the Riggs National Bank of Washington, D.C. The RCA 2000 cash account is explained in Note 4.

The total cash held by WHTO at December 31, 2001 includes $512,821 that is not covered by insurance provided by the federal government. It is the opinion of WHTO's management that the solvency of the referenced financial institution is not of particular concern at this time.

REV_00169725

NOTE 4 - RESTRICTED CASH ACCOUNT

Effective April 1, 2000, the management of the White House Travel Office implemented a Restricted Cash Account (RCA). RCA funds are encumbered for specific purposes set forth in written policies and procedures, most notably for payment of late arriving vendor invoices, bank charges and accounts receivable written off as uncollectible.

The RCA is funded through an RCA funding amount applied to every customer invoice, except those for government employees. Presently, that funding amount is two percent of the invoice amount

RCA funding amounts are not considered revenue for accounting purposes.

Under current policies and procedures, a separate RCA is established for each calendar year. The RCA 2000 account on the Statement of Financial Position reflects the total amount of cash in that account at December 31, 2001. The RCA liability accounts for 2000 and 2001 reflect the total RCA funding amount applied to all customer invoices during the respective calendar year, less any disbursements. RCA funding amounts that have been invoiced but not yet collected are included in the accounts receivable amount.

The RCA for each year will be terminated at a designated point in time after the conclusion of the applicable calendar year. At the time of dissolution, any excess funds will be refunded to the Press Fund's customers subject to the RCA funding amount in accordance with a formula based on the percentage of the total travel costs consumed during the year corresponding to the RCA. For example, if a customer were responsible for ten percent of all travel costs for the calendar year 2001, they would be entitled to ten percent of the remaining RCA 2001 funds at the time of dissolution.

NOTE 5 – ACCOUNTS RECEIVABLE

Currently, the WHTO writes off accounts receivable using the direct write-off method. Therefore, there is no allowance for uncollectible accounts.

REV_00169726

NOTE 6 - OTHER RECEIVABLES

As per note 2, the WHTO utilizes a system of dollar for dollar accounting. Under the current accounting process, vendor invoices for trip expenses are entered into accounts payable as they are received. Accordingly, there is an accumulation of unbilled trip expenses in accounts payable until such time that trip accounting is finalized and members of the press are invoiced for their pro rata share of trip expenses. This timing difference creates the need for an Other Receivables category. Other Receivables represents the obligations for normal trip expenses that have been entered into accounts payable, but not yet billed to the press.

REV_00169727

QUESTION 155: Please explain the formula you use to determine the rate of reimbursement for Press Corps travelers on the Press Charter?

RESPONSE: Each leg of the itinerary is assigned a proportionate cost, which is divided equally among all press passengers. The following formula is used to compute the proportionate cost for each leg of the trip: (Leg flight time / Total flight time) * Total Air Transportation Expense

QUESTION 156: Please explain the formula you use to determine the rate of reimbursement for Press Pool travelers on Air Force One?

RESPONSE: The cost of the fourteen members of the pool traveling on AF1 is added to the total air transportation expense and the total costs are spread on a pro-rata share among all of the press travelling on the trip. The following formula is used to compute the proportionate cost for each leg of the trip: (Leg flight time / Total flight time) * Total Air Transportation Expense

QUESTION 157: Please explain the formula used to identify the reimbursement rate that the Travel Office billed Press Corps travelers accompanying the President's travel to the USS Abraham Lincoln. In your response, please include the actual rate billed to individual press corps travelers on this trip.

RESPONSE: The cost of transporting press corps travelers from the North Island Naval Air Station to the USS Abraham Lincoln and back to the North Island Naval Air Station totaled $7,440.26. This cost will be added to the total air transportation expense and spread on a pro-rata share among all the press traveling on the trip. The formula for military aircraft reimbursement for the trip to the USS Abraham Lincoln is as follows: $X per hour per aircraft, divided by 60 minutes to get a per minute rate, multiplied by the flight time, divided by the total number of passengers, and then 7.5% excise tax plus $3.00 dollars per person was added.

Bonuses

QUESTION 158: Why did this administration reinstate the payments of bonuses to political appointees? (POC – WHO M&A)

RESPONSE: The relevant statutes and regulations make clear that all Federal employees are eligible for bonuses. Therefore, like other Federal employees, Schedule C and non-career Senior Executive Service (SES) employees may receive bonuses. Consistent with law, this and past Administrations have made bonuses available to Schedule C and SES employees in appropriate circumstances.

REV_00169728

QUESTION 159: Have any EOP political staff been given bonuses since the policy was reinstated in March of 2002? (POC – Jon Laurich)

RESPONSE: Bonuses have been awarded to EOP political staff.

QUESTION 160: Have any EOP political staff been given pay increases for a single pay period in FY02 or FY03 (to date) that would have the same effect as a bonus? (POC – Jon Laurich)

RESPONSE: No.

Eisenhower Executive Office Building

QUESTION 161: Since 1/20/01, have any non-Federal funds been used for renovations and/or furnishings in the GSA facilities occupied by the Executive Office of the President? [this question does not apply to the White House residence.] (POC –WHO M&A)

RESPONSE: We understand this question to refer to buildings within the White House complex that are managed by GSA, including the EEOB, and the East and West Wings. As the Committee is aware, two federal agencies – the GSA, and the National Park Service -- have authority to accept gifts donated to the United States for use in various buildings in the White House complex.

Historically these agencies have on occasion accepted gifts to the United States donated for use in these facilities. For example, in the past, furnishings have been donated to renovate the Oval Office, located in the West Wing. That has also occurred in this Administration. To illustrate: in 2002 a donation was made of three sofas, including sofa fabric, and fabric for two chairs, all for use in the Oval Office. This donation was accepted by the National Park Service under its gift acceptance authority, on behalf of the United States. The donated items became part of the White House collection and will be cared for by the White House Curator.

QUESTION 162: Which Federal agency (i.e., GSA, OA/Facilitles) coordinated the work that was paid for using non-Federal funds? (POC –WHO M&A)

RESPONSE: I understand this question to refer to buildings within the White House complex that are managed by GSA, including the EEOB, and the East and West Wings. As the Committee is aware, two federal agencies – the GSA, and the National Park been relocated to locations outside the EEOB. For each agency that relocated, please identify the agency that paid the move-related costs. (POC – Steve Beattie)

RESPONSE: There was no movement of EOP offices from the EEOB prior to September 11, 2001. After September 11, the Office of Administration, using Emergency Supplemental funding, paid for the moves of the following offices outside of the EEOB.

EOP Offices Previously in the EEOB	New Location
WHO Presidential Personnel	1800 G. Street
WHO Presidential Correspondence	1800 G. Street
Council on Environmental Quality	Jackson Place Townhouses
Office of Science and Technology Policy	1801 Pennsylvania Avenue

QUESTION 168: What is the status of the vacant space on the 17th Street side of the Eisenhower Executive Office Building? (POC – Steve Beattie)

RESPONSE: The vacant space along 17th street is under construction as part of the Fire and Life Safety Improvements project.

EOP Staffing Levels:

QUESTION 169: By EOP agency, provide FTE and OGE. Itemize OGE by category (e.g. reimbursable detailee, PSC, etc). Include FY 2002 (actual) and FY03-FY04 (estimates). Please provide a list of the "historically provided" White House Office positions, the office to which these positions are assigned and the agency that pays the salary for each of these positions. (POC – Jon Laurich)

RESPONSE: The following chart provides the FTE and OGE information for FY 2002 to FY 2004 in addition to a listing of "historically provided" White House Office positions.

Thank you for the edits and comments you provided. The attached document, &QFR Responses 28 reflects all edits, except where there are still issues to be resolved. (All outstanding issues will be dealt with in separate emails to the affected parties.) We need you to once again review the document for accuracy and consistency. Your edits and comments on the new document, &QFR Responses 28 are due by 3:00 p.m., Friday, May 30th. We received a short extention from the Subcommittee and must provide the final document to Congress by COB Monday, June 2nd. To assist in this effort, I have included listings below that may help while navigating through the document.

HOW TO USE THIS DOCUMENT

Several of the FY 2004 questions for the record refer to pages from last year's (FY 2003) hearing record. Below is the FY 2003 hearing record information.

Note that the Question # refers to this year's (FY 2004) question and the information that follows is what was in last year's (FY 2003) hearing record.

Hearing Record Reference for Question 6:

Issue: Executive Office of the President

Question: By EOP agency, provide FTE and OGE. Itemize OGE by category (e.g. reimbursable detailee, PSC, etc). Include FY 2001 (actual) and FY 2002-2003 (estimates).

Answer: The following tables provide the total FY 2001 actual, FY 2002 and FY 2003 estimates for full time equivalents (FTE) and other government employees (OGE) for each EOP and other entity as of April 5, 2002. The OGE numbers are itemized by category on the following page. The FY 2001 actual numbers should be viewed in the context of a Presidential transition year and may vary greatly from the FY 2002 figures. The FY 2002 and FY 2003 numbers are estimates only and therefore subject to change for a number of reasons.

Hearing Record Reference for Question 7:

Question: For the Office of Administration provide FTE and OGE by organizational unit for FY 2001 (actual) and FY 2002-2003 (estimates).

Answer: The chart below displays the FTE and OGE distribution in the previous OA organizational structure for FY 2001. For FY 2002 and FY 2003, the FTE and OGE are displayed in the new streamlined OA organizational structure which reduced the number of operating units reporting to the Director from 10 to 4. All data is as of April 5, 2002.

Hearing Record Reference for Question 16:

Question: Provide an organizational chart for the OHS.

Answer: See chart below.

REV_00169743

REV_00169744

Hearing Record Reference for question 17:

Question: The President's request includes $1,337,000 for travel and transportation of persons, an increase of $976,000 from the estimated level of $361,000 in FY 2002. For FY 2002 and 2003 (estimates), provide a list of trips by location and purpose, including the number of staff traveling and staff position.

Answer: The FY 2002 travel and transportation of persons estimate and FY 2003 budget request provides funding for the Assistant to the President for Homeland Security and staff travel, Critical Infrastructure Protection Board (CIPB) activities and advisory board activities. Specific locations for FY 2003 are currently unavailable due to the fact that they are determined as requirements are finalized. FY 2002 and FY 2003 anticipated travel activities are in furtherance of the OHS mission promulgated in the Executive Orders.

Examples of FY 2003 estimated travel requirements include: per diem and travel for two-thirds of Advisory Board members to attend approximately 40 various meetings and activities; approximately 50 domestic trips for the Assistant to the President for Homeland Security and 3 staff members to fulfill outreach requirements; approximately 100 domestic trips for Homeland Security staff to fulfill mission functions as outlined in Executive Order 13228; approximately 24 domestic and 3 overseas trips for the Chair, Vice Chair and one staff member of the CIPB to fulfill outreach requirements as stated in Executive Order 13231; and approximately 12 CIPB staff (director level) trips to outreach the private sector. Of course, these are estimates only and are therefore subject to change for a variety of reasons.

FY 2002 travel expenses incurred to date include trips to Mexico and Canada for border discussions and various locations in the United States to visit first response, bioterrorism research facilities and other initiatives related to homeland security. The following table lists current (as of April 10, 2002) FY 2002 travel expenses as reflected in the accounting system.

Trip Cost Note: Estimated costs of trips will vary greatly from trip to trip to the same city and from one city to another city for four significant reasons; mode of transportation used/authorized, number of days TDY, number of personnel on trip, and whether costs recorded are actual or estimated expenses.

Hearing Record Reference for Question 19:

Question: What Memorandums of Understanding have been signed by the Office of Homeland Security, or by any other EOP entity on behalf of the Office of Homeland Security and with whom? Describe the purpose of each MOU.

Answer: As of April 12, 2002, there is one signed Memorandum of Understanding (MOU), which is an agreement between OHS and the Office of Science and Technology Policy (OSTP). OSTP provides technical and personnel support for research and development and policy issues. There is no financial component to this MOU.

Hearing Record Reference for question 24:

Question: Is there a distinct organizational unit within the OHS for this function? If so, how many FTE are associated with this function? How many detailees? Where are these people located? Is this a permanent location? What is the total amount of space being used by the Cyber Security Office? What is the total cost of the Cyberspace Security office, including rent, office supplies, communications, etc.

Answer: The Special Advisor reports to both the Assistant to the President for Homeland Security and the Assistant to the President for National Security Affairs. The permanent location and amount of space allocated to the Board has not been determined, but they are currently located at the G Street office location. The total staff associated with this function is yet to be determined. The total estimated cost, for FY 2003, of the CIPB, including rent, office supplies, communications, etc., is approximately $2.85 million.

Hearing Record Reference for Question 39:

Question: To date, provide the total amount obligated from the FY 2002 appropriation "White House Repair and Restoration" by project.

Answer: Listed below is the status of each of the projects and the amounts obligated. No funds have been obligated to date in excess of the $100,000 project prospectus ceiling.

Pool Shelter Roof Reconstruction and Pool Deck Renovation - The preliminary architectural survey and design are completed, and structural engineering analysis and design is in progress. The two primary contractors required have committed to the project and an on-site meeting is scheduled. Construction is expected to begin in April. There have been no funds obligated. All work to date has been accomplished with National Park Service and Executive Residence staff.

Communication System Repairs / Phase 2 - Design work continues under Phase I (FY 2001 – $441,000 obligated) and Construction (Phase II) is expected to begin in August.

East and West Wing Exterior Restoration - Scaffolding installation for one elevation of the East and West Wing is nearly complete. Paint removal will begin shortly as outdoor temperatures permit. $84,500 has been obligated to date.

REV_00169749

Insulated Windows Replacement - Preliminary discussions are ongoing with manufacturers and fabrication should begin in May. Installation and related restoration requirements have been discussed with the prospective contractor, and the proposal should be received in April 2002. Work is expected to begin in July. No funds have been obligated for this project.

Kitchen Floor Replacement - The survey of existing conditions including utilities has been completed. An onsite meeting with the flooring installation contractor was completed and installation began in mid-March 2002. No funds have been obligated for this project.

North Portico Curtain Wall - The contractor began onsite work at the end of February 2002 and installation is 95% complete. Only the "punch" list and in house items remain. $83,000 has been obligated to date.

Stone Pavers Restoration - The contractor proposal has been received and is under review. Material ordering is expected in April 2002 and onsite work is expected to begin in May. No funds have been obligated for this project.

West Colonnade Restoration - There is continuing restoration of the first three columns and historically accurate replacement stone has been ordered for all columns. The newly discovered deteriorated structural steel has been evaluated. The recommended corrective actions will be accomplished this summer and no additional funds will be required. To date, $49,040 has been obligated for this project.

Hearing Record Reference for Question 56:

Question: For Object Class 25.2 for the White House Office, provide a detailed description of each project, program or initiative to be funded in support of the USA Freedom Corps Office.

Answer: The additional funds requested in Object Class 25.2 for the White House Office's USA Freedom Corps Office are primarily required to fund two program initiatives.

- Information Dissemination: The cost of this program initiative is estimated at $900,000 and will primarily consist of contracted services in partnership with other Freedom Corps coordinating council agencies. These contracted services will include both interactive website portals and telecommunication services such as information phone banks. These services will provide links and information concerning volunteer opportunities, Freedom Corps activities and other pertinent data.

- Recognition Materials: The cost of this program initiative is estimated at $275,000 and will primarily consist of contracted services to develop, provide and disseminate materials that will be used to recognize volunteer activities and accomplishments.

In addition, approximately $25,000 is required to fund increased general support Other Service costs within the White House that will occur as the result of the operations of this new office. These funds will be used for such things as office equipment maintenance contracts and GSA work requests.

Hearing Record Reference for Question 63:

Issue: White House Communications Agency

Question: For FY 2001 and 2002 (estimates) itemize the reimbursements made to the WH Communications Agency.

Question: For FY 2003, what are the estimated reimbursements to the WH Communications Agency?

Answers to previous two questions: Reimbursements made to WHCA, for the non-telecommunications support they provide to the WHO, is broken down into two categories: personnel and audio visual support. The amount of planned reimbursement is initially set and agreed to via an inter-agency agreement (IAG). This IAG is then adjusted if needed as a result of actual execution. Reimbursement actuals and estimates follow:

	FY01 (actual)	FY02 (est.)	FY03 (est.)
Military Personnel	$3,946,779	$4,564,085	$4,754,346
Audiovisual Support	$3,514,528	$3,589.242	$3,953,848
Total	$7,461,307	$8,153,327	$8,708,194

Hearing Record Reference for Question 64:

Issue: Office of Administration

Question: Provide an organization chart for the Office of Administration, including the numbers of FTE in each office.

Answer: The Office of Administration organization chart provided below reflects the current streamlined organizational structure where the number of operating units reporting to the Director was reduced from 10 to 4. The FY 2003 FTE request includes an increase of 20 FTE over FY 2002 authorized levels. All additional FTEs support the ongoing requirements stemming from the events of September 11 including IT and facility support for dispersed offices, additional logistics responsibilities for the receipt and delivery of mail, and financial management support for the Office of Homeland Security (+7 Chief Operating Officer, +10 Chief Information Officer, +1 Chief Projects Officer, +2 Chief Financial Officer).

Hearing Record Reference for Question 72:

Issue: White House Office

Question: Provide a brief description of the duties and responsibilities of each office (e.g. Chief of Staff, Oval Office Operations, Office of the Press Secretary, Office of Homeland Security, etc.) within the appropriations account "White House Office". By office, provide obligations, FTE and OGE for FY 2001(actual) and FY 2002-2003 (estimated). Itemize OGE by category (e.g. reimbursable detailee, PSC, etc.).

Answer: The purpose of the White House Office is to provide advice and assistance to the President of the United States. This requires a range of professional and support staff. The White House Office is currently divided into the following major units:

Office of the Chief of Staff – Provides advice and assistance to the President and directs the activities of the White House staff.

Oval Office Operations – Provides assistance to the President by, among other things, managing the operations of the Oval Office.

REV_00169760

Advance – Provides advice and assistance to the President, principally by taking responsibility for the organization and implementation of the President and the First Lady's visits outside of the White House complex.

Cabinet Affairs – Provides advice and assistance to the President by, among other things, serving as the liaison between the White House and the President's Cabinet and agency heads.

Communications, Speechwriting, and Media Affairs – Provides advice and assistance to the President by, among other things, coordinating and supporting efforts to communicate and explain the President's views and decisions.

Office of Counsel to the President – Provides advice and assistance to the President and White House staff, principally on matters of law.

Faith-Based and Community Initiatives – Provides advice and assistance to the President by, among other things, coordinating and implementing the President's initiative to empower community and faith-based organizations to better confront poverty and social decay.

Office of the First Lady – Provides advice and assistance to Mrs. Bush in carrying out her official responsibilities as the First Lady.

Homeland Security – Provides advice and assistance to the President, principally by developing, coordinating, and advising the President on a comprehensive national strategy to secure the United States from terrorist threats or attacks and, in particular, by coordinating the Executive Branch's efforts to detect, prepare for, prevent, protect against, respond to, and recover from terrorist attacks within the United States. It has no operational role.

Intergovernmental Affairs – Provides advice and assistance to the President, principally by monitoring the views of State and local elected officials and serving as a liaison between the White House and the Executive Branch, on the one hand, and State and local governments, on the other.

Legislative Affairs – Provides advice and assistance to the President by, among other things, serving as the liaison between the White House and the Congress and developing the strategy used to promote and defend the President's legislative agenda.

Management and Administration – Provides advice and assistance to the President, principally by providing day-to-day administrative support to the White House staff.

Presidential Personnel – Provides advice and assistance to the President, principally by recruiting, screening, and recommending to the President qualified candidates for Presidential appointments to Federal departments and agencies.

REV_00169761

Office of the Press Secretary – Provides advice and assistance to the President, principally by providing information to the national and international press and by handling all national press inquiries such as interview requests, requests for transcripts or releases, and travel and scheduling information.

Scheduling – Provides advice and assistance to the President, principally by coordinating the planning, organization, and implementation of the President's daily and long-range schedules.

Office of the Staff Secretary – Provides advice and assistance to the President by, among other things, managing documents or other items addressed to the President, including correspondence and gifts.

Strategic Initiatives – Provides advice and assistance to the President by, among other things, coordinating the planning and development of a long-range strategy for achieving Presidential priorities; conducting research; and assisting in message development and other communications activities in conjunction with the Office of Public Liaison and the Office of Political Affairs.

USA Freedom Corps – Provides advice and assistance to the President on matters relating to enlisting Americans in public service at home and abroad; in particular, it provides advice and support on the work of, and recognizes participants in, three service efforts – the newly created Citizen Corps, AmeriCorps and Senior Corps, and the Peace Corps.

In addition to these major units, certain individuals – including certain individuals who work with the National Security Council, the Domestic Policy Council, and the National Economic Council – are also White House Office officers or employees, although the units within which they principally work are not themselves part of the White House Office.

The major units within the White House Office are administratively designated by the President's Chief of Staff and the number of employees within each unit and the work of each unit vary over time and as circumstances and needs change. Therefore, a detailed breakout of FTEs and OGEs by unit is not particularly meaningful. White House Office obligations, FTE and OGE are summarized below. The Office of Homeland Security is funded under the emergency supplemental this fiscal year, and therefore, the FY 2002 numbers below do not include OHS personnel or funding. FY 2002 estimates for the OHS are addressed separately in response to other committee questions.

FY 2003 includes the 95 OGEs for the Office of Homeland Security requested in the FY 2003 Budget Request.

* FY 2002 obligations for the Office of Homeland Security are funded under the Emergency Supplemental Appropriation

It should be noted that a single budget is prepared for the WHO. This single budget is prepared based on a number of criteria such as: prior spending patterns, estimated requirements, OMB provided inflation factors, and the priorities of the President. During a given execution year, personnel costs are allocated based upon that year's sometimes unique staffing decisions. The remainder of the budget is allocated initially to two WHO offices. The travel budget is allocated in its entirety to Scheduling and Advance and obligated against this office if the travel is done in support of the President. Any travel undertaken that is not in support of a Presidential trip is charged to the office of the staff member in question. The remaining portion of the non-personnel, non-travel budget, including expenses for rent, supplies, equipment and other services is considered overhead and charged as such to the White House Office of Management and Administration.

The only exceptions are the Office of Homeland Security and the USA Freedom Corps Office. Since these are new offices requiring new budget authority, all new obligations (including travel and overhead) anticipated as a result of these offices are reflected in the FY 2003 estimates for these offices.

Hearing Record Reference for question 73:

Question: Referencing the FTE/OGE tables that break-out personnel classifications by type of OGE, please explain why the number of "historically provided" employees decreased so significantly (from 25 to 1) for the Vice President's office between FY2001 and FY2002. Please provide the Subcommittee your definition of each OGE category listed on the table (agency reps, assignees, detailees, HP services, others, student volunteers, WH fellows, PMI). Please also provide a listing of the 15 "historically provided" White House Office positions identified on the FY2002 chart, the White House Office to which these positions are assigned, and the agency that pays the salary of each of the 15 positions.

Answer: The difference in the number of "Historically Provided" employees in the Vice President's Office from FY 2001 to FY 2002 is due to the redesignation of U.S. Senate employees. In FY 2001, the previous administration designated U.S. Senate employees in the Vice President's office as "Historically Provided". This was done in error and it has since been corrected. For FY 2002 and FY 2003, U. S. Senate employees are more accurately designated as "Other" since they do not fit into any other OGE category.

The following chart shows the 15 "Historically Provided" White House Office positions, the associated office and the agency that pays their salaries.

Hearing Record Reference for Question 79:

Question: How many political appointees are currently employed within the Executive Office of the President?

Answer: The term "political appointees" is somewhat of a misnomer because it narrowly defines the type of employees authorized under Chapter 2 of Title 3 of the U.S. Code, for the White House Office, the Executive Residence, the Official Residence of the Vice President and the Office of Administration. These offices can hire personnel in various excepted service positions that are not subject to the rules of regular government employees. Many of these excepted service positions fall under the category of serving at the pleasure of the President while others do not. Using the term in the broadest possible sense, including all employees hired as Presidential Appointees, Administratively Determined, Non Career SES, or Schedule C's, the Executive Office of the President has the following number of political appointees directly hired

Hearing on the Executive Office of the President
April 30, 2003

Unobligated Balances (POC - Veronica Kitchen)

QUESTION 1: Please provide a listing of all unobligated balances, by fiscal year, appropriation and PPA, for all accounts within the Executive Office of the President. Please also show the original appropriation levels for these accounts.

Consolidation of Accounts (POC- Al Muhlbauer)

QUESTION 2: Sections 105 and 106 of title 3 U. S. Code describe expenses that may be accounted for solely on the certificate of the President and Vice President, respectively. Most of these expenses correspond to particular accounts. The Comptroller General may inspect documents related to these expenditures, but solely to verify that the expenditures were made for allowed purposes. When we asked last year how certified expenses would be identified for audit within a consolidated appropriation, the response was that the certification requirements would continue to be observed (p. 41). This does not answer the question of how the account structure will be maintained to provide an identifiable and auditable crosswalk between title 3-certifiable expenses and other expenses within the consolidated appropriation.

RESPONSE: As presented in the Congressional Budget Submission pages 4, 5, and 6, the Executive Office of the President (EOP) has established a Budget Activity structure that is consistent, beginning with the budget submission and extending through the accounting and reporting phases. The EOP accounting system will track and report obligations and expenditures consistent with this structure through the use of budget activity, program, sub-program, and line item codes assigned to each transaction. EOP has the ability to provide an identifiable and auditable crosswalk to the individual transactions authorized under sections 105 and 106 of Title 3 of the United States Code.

QUESTION 3: Please provide a listing of all appropriations language enacted in Public Law 108-7 which would be dropped in the proposed account consolidation, and provide a brief explanation of why that language is not necessary.

RESPONSE: The following appropriations in Public Law 108-7: Compensation of the President, White House Office Salaries and Expenses, Office of Homeland Security, Executive Residence at the White House, White House Repair and Restoration, Council of Economic Advisers, Office of Policy Development, National Security Council, Office of Administration would be combined into one appropriation entitled "The White House". The individual language in Public Law 108-7 for each of those appropriations would be removed. However, suggested language for the combined appropriation is provided in the Appendix to the FY 2004 Budget (page 881) and states: "For the Compensation of the President and White House Office (including the Office of Homeland Security), Executive Residence, White House Repair and Restoration, Office of Policy and Development, Office of Administration, Council of Economic Advisers and the National Security Council, (hereinafter, and solely for the purposes of Title VI of this Act, "the White House"), $183,770,000, of which $24,803,000 shall remain available until expended, including compensation for the President, including an expense allowance of $50,000 as authorized by U.S.C. 102; for travel expense of $100,000 as authorized by 3 U.S.C. 103; for necessary expenses for the White House as authorized by 5 U.S.C. 3109 and 3 U.S.C. 105; for the necessary expenses of the Executive Residence at the White House as authorized by 3 U.S.C. 105,109,110, and 112-114; for the necessary expenses of the Offices and Councils in the White House account as authorized by 5 U.S.C. 3109, 15 U.S.C. 1021, and 3 U.S.C. 105 and 107 (including not to exceed $19,000 for official reception and representation expenses); and for the hire of passenger motor vehicles: Provided, That none of the funds made available to the President for official expenses shall be expended for any other purpose and any unused portion of such funds shall revert to the Treasury pursuant to 31 U.S.C. 1552: Provided further, That no such funds shall be considered as taxable to the President: Provided further, That advances or repayments or transfers from this appropriation may be made to any department or agency for expenses of carrying out such activities."

The suggested language, with the exception of a consolidated appropriation amount incorporates the same restrictions and clarifications as contained the language contained in the Public Law 108-7 for the appropriations being consolidated. The appropriations for Vice President's Salaries and Expense, Vice President's Residence Operating Expenses, Office of Management and Budget, Office of National Drug Control Policy, Unanticipated Needs will remain separate appropriations and will therefore not require any language changes as a result of the combination.

The White House (Consolidated Account) (POC – Chuck Sigman)

QUESTION 4: You are requesting $12,302,000 for object class 23.3 (communications, utilities, and miscellaneous services) in FY 2004. This is a large increase over the estimated $7,010,000 for FY 2003. What accounts for the increase?

RESPONSE: The FY 2004 White House (WH) consolidated budget net increase of $5,292,000 for communications is required in three major areas:

- Most of the increase ($4,420,000) is needed in the OA Capital Investment Plan for offsite data center communications. This facility will transition into full operation during FY 2004. The telecommunications between the offsite data center and the EOP complex are necessary to provide expanded, survivable and redundant connectivity, continuity of operations, disaster recovery and system support. These costs include funds for telecommunications lines, two additional

DS-3 data paths, two T-1 lines, and backups to provide the communications bandwidth necessary for servicing the EOP complex.

- $482,000 in the White House Office budget to provide a custom communications package which will enable the Homeland Security Council to establish a presence for its staff within the White House Situation Room.

- $100,000 for information assurance in the OA salaries/expenses budget. In addition to the Offsite Data Center project, the OA FY 2004 budget also includes a request for an additional $100,000 for the information assurance program in the FY 2004 salaries/expenses account. This program will enable the CIO office to correct vulnerabilities in the EOP information security perimeter to secure internal systems, to perform real-time monitoring of perimeter network devices.

- $151,000 in transfers of Lexis-Nexis database costs from nonconsolidated entities to the consolidated White House appropriation. The FY 2004 budget envisions that $72,000 will be transferred from USTR, $56,000 from ONDCP, $15,000 from OMB, and $8,000 from CEQ so that the EOP can have a single funding source for EOP-wide Lexis-Nexis service.

- $139,000 for adjustments to maintain the same level of services for the base funding during FY 2004. This is calculated on the basis of the $7,010,000 in FY 2003 funding.

Rental Pricing (POC – Chuck Sigman)

QUESTION 5: The FY 2004 justifications state that, over the past year, EOP, GSA, and OMB have undertaken an assessment of space rental costs for all EOP entities. The result of this analysis is that the FY 2004 request includes additional funding to accommodate an "EOP average" rental rate. Please provide details of how this analysis was conducted, and specify the estimated rental rates for the various EOP entities, as determined by this analysis.

RESPONSE: The EOP space rental project began during the summer of 2002 at the request of OMB's budget examiners, who were working to ensure that EOP entities moved to the same market-based rent methodology used to determine space rental rates for GSA's other Federal properties. OMB requested that GSA and EOP review the space rental costs for each EOP property and each EOP entity so that the most up-to-date costs available were included in the FY 2004 budget proposal. Another significant concern in this project is to ensure that GSA will work with the EOP to ensure that the critical needs of the EOP are funded and executed.

As a result of the initial project, OA and GSA began a series of meetings which culminated in the space estimates which were included in the budget. GSA staff prepared a comprehensive listing of EOP properties, which itemized the space occupied by each

EOP entity. This listing included commercial and government-owned space, current estimates of rentable square footage, and the annual rental rate per square foot. EOP staff provided updated estimates of the rentable square footage.

During this process, GSA blended the fair-market rates for the permanent EOP buildings into a single blended rate. This was done to simplify the administrative work when EOP staff are relocated. This is especially needed in the post-9/11 environment's unusually high number of large-scale EOP entity relocations driven by security considerations as well as the result of the legislation creating the Department of Homeland Security. The EOP average rental rate for Federally-owned properties (New Executive Office Building (NEOB), Eisenhower Executive Office Building (OEOB), White House, Winder Building, Jackson Place) is $29.60 annually per square foot. GSA adds an additional building security charge for buildings which are not protected by the US Secret Service. The average rental rates used to determine each entity's budget estimate for office space are as follows:

Entity	Locations	Owned or Leased	Average Rental Rate
OMB	EEOB, NEOB	owned	$29.60/sf
CEQ	EEOB	owned	$29.60

EOP Staffing (POC – Jon Laurich)

QUESTION 6: By EOP office, please provide FTE and OGE, similar in format to the tables found on pages 111 and 112 of last year's hearing record. Please provide data for FY 2002 through 2004.

RESPONSE: The following tables provide the total FY 2002 actual, FY 2003 and FY 2004, estimates for full time equivalents (FTE) and other government employees (OGE) for each EOP and other entity as of May 5, 2003. The OGE numbers are itemized by category on the following page. The FY 2003 numbers have the Office of Homeland Security in a separate category, which accordingly decreased the White House numbers. The FY 2003 and FY 2004 numbers are estimates only and are therefore subject to change.

Office of Homeland Security (POC – Paul Ehrhardt)

QUESTION 9: Your FY 2004 budget requests $8,331,000 for the Office of Homeland Security. Please provide an object class breakdown of those costs and compare them to FY 2003 estimated levels.

RESPONSE: The Office of Homeland Security was created by the President on October 8, 2001, via Executive Order 13228 and serves as and is synonymous with the staff of the Homeland Security Council (HSC). An object class breakdown of estimated HSC costs in FY 2003 and FY 2004 is provided in the table below. Please note that the FY 2003 estimate covers only costs incurred after the enactment of the FY 2003 appropriation on February 20, 2003. Unlike other EOP offices which operated under continuing resolutions between October 1, 2003 and February 20, 2003, the Office of Homeland Security was not permitted to utilize the CR funding mechanism but instead continued to charge FY 2003 expenses against the no-year emergency funding (provided in FY2002) until the FY 2003 appropriation was enacted. Therefore the FY 2003 estimate reflects only seven months of activity, whereas the FY 2004 Request needs to cover HSC expenses for the full 12 months next fiscal year.

* FY 2003 Estimate covers only seven months vs. FY 2004 Request covering full 12 months

Rent was included in the Office of Administration budget in FY 2003, and is moved back to the Homeland Security Council in FY 2004. The Communications object class in FY 2004 includes funding to provide a custom communications package to establish an interface for the Homeland Security Council within the White House Situation Room. Supplies and Materials and Equipment object classes both were funded out of the Office of Administration Pilot Program in FY 2003 but show budgets in HSC for FY 2004.

QUESTION 10: In particular, how much are you requesting in FY 2004 for professional contracts, and how does that compare to the estimated FY 2003 level?

REV_00169783

RESPONSE: In FY 2004 HSC is requesting $528,000 for Other Services compared with $3,267,000 appropriated for the same category in FY 2003. The decrease is due to the creation of the Department of Homeland Security as the President's Security as the President's advisors and as the staff of HSC. Anticipated contractual needs in FY 2004 include maintenance, upgrades, and technical support for the classified computer network that will be extended to include HSC staff in FY 2003.

QUESTION 11: How many FTE and FTP are you requesting for this office in FY 2004, and how do these figures compare to current FY 2003 estimates and actuals for FY 2002?

RESPONSE: HSC is requesting resources to support 40 direct hire FTE and 26 Other Government Employees on its staff to fill the 66 positions HSC is projecting for FY 2004.

Office of Homeland Security / Homeland Security Council Personnel

	FY 2002 Actual	FY 2003 Estimate	FY 2004 Request
Direct Hire FTE	31	40	40
Other Government Employees (EOY headcount)	89	26	26
Total Personnel	120	66	66

QUESTION 12: How many positions in the office are filled today, and how many are vacant?

RESPONSE: As of May 15, 2003, 51 positions are filled and 15 are vacant.

QUESTION 13: Please provide a table comparing the number of detailees to OHS, by federal agency, for each of the fiscal years 2002 through 2004 (estimated).

RESPONSE: The table below provides the number other government employees assigned to the Homeland Security Council.

QUESTION 16: Please update the OHS organizational chart found on page 50 of last year's hearing record.

RESPONSE: The chart below shows the current Homeland Security Council's organization.

REV_00169788

REV_00169789

QUESTION 17: Please update the information shown on pages 44 through 47 of last year's hearing record concerning Office of Homeland Security travel. In addition to the information provided last year, please provide a brief descriptor of the travel purpose.

RESPONSE: All travel was conducted as part of the duties of the Office of Homeland Security and as such is considered official travel. The President and the Assistant to the President for Homeland Security have regularly stated that the homeland will not be secure unless the Federal government works closely with state and local officials. Official trips were approved for various purposes including the attendance of various conferences, to holding of meetings with state and local officials and the holding of town hall meetings. The HSC considers travel to different states and cities as a vital part of its mission.

The table below is an update to the travel information provided to Congress last year.

QUESTION 18: Currently, OHS costs are included in both the WHO and OA appropriations. Is that also the case in the FY 2004 request? If so, please provide a table, by appropriation, showing total OHS budgeted costs, for each of the fiscal years 2002 through 2004.

RESPONSE: For FY 2003, although funds were requested as part of the WHO budget activity, the Office of Homeland Security received for the first time its own appropriation, separate from the WHO appropriation. Funds supporting OHS / HSC requirements in FY 2003 were provided also to OA as part of the OA Pilot program. The FY 2004 Request identifies all requirements for OHS / HSC in the WHO Budget Activity, since the OA Pilot program is not certain to continue after FY 2003. See table below:

(Dollars in Thousands)

	Congressional Appropriations
	FY 2002 Enacted*	FY 2003 Enacted	FY 2004 Request
OHS / HSC	$30,800	$8,272	$8,331
OA		$778
	$30,800	$9,050	$8,331

*FY 2002 budget for OHS was based on the OHS mission and funding profile prior to the establishment of DHS and was provided by 3 sources of emergency appropriated funds: P.L. 107-38 for $25,000,000; P.L.107-117 for $2,000,000; and P.L. 107-206 for $3,800,000.

QUESTION 19: Last year, it was stated that one MOU existed between OHS and other EOP entities (p. 51). Please provide a copy of the MOU between MOU and the Office of Science and Technology Policy.

RESPONSE: The MOU between OHS and OSTP expired with the creation of the Department of Homeland Security as relevant responsibilities transferred from OHS to DHS, pursuant to the Homeland Security Act of November, 2002.

QUESTION 20: Have any other MOUs been signed since that time?

RESPONSE: A MOU between the Homeland Security Council and the National Security Council/White House Situation Support Staff was signed in May, 2003 providing for the expansion of NSC's classified computer network to include approved HSC staff with necessary security clearances.

In addition standard interagency agreements were signed between OHS/HSC and the Office of Administration (OA) and OMB to pay for detailees from these EOP entities to OHS/HSC and separately between OHS/HSC and OA to pay for miscellaneous supplies and materials.

QUESTION 21: At this time last year, OHS planned to establish a coordination center which would function 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, using a communications room and two incident management rooms. At the same time, the Administration made clear that the role of OHS was to establish and coordinate policy, and not to conduct operational activities. With the establishment of the Department of Homeland Security, have these specific activities been descoped or eliminated?

REV_00169806

RESPONSE: The role of the Homeland Security Council is to advise and assist the President, develop and coordinate the implementation of the National Strategy for Homeland Security to secure the United States from terrorist threats and attacks, and to help coordinate policy across the departments and agencies of the executive branch. The Homeland Security Council does not conduct operational activities. The Homeland Security Council does not operate a coordination center. With the establishment of the Department of Homeland Security, DHS is the lead federal agency for incident management. As such, DHS operates a Homeland Security Center with 24 hour/7 days per week coordination and communications capabilities. Those functions do not reside in the Homeland Security Council.

QUESTION 22: How many positions support these activities in the FY 2004 request, and what is the total budgeted amount?

RESPONSE: The FY 2004 budget will not fund any personnel or activities related to the DHS coordination center. However, virtually every member of the HSC staff has responsibilities to support and advise the President regarding incident response efforts, continuity of government and related coordination roles on behalf of the President.

QUESTION 23: How are such activities appropriate for a policymaking body, when DHS now exists to coordinate and execute operational activities related to specific homeland security incidents and activities?

RESPONSE: Just as the NSC was created by Congress in 1947 in the same act which created the Department of Defense and the CIA, Congress established the HSC within the EOP by statute at the same time as it created the Department of Homeland Security. The role of the Homeland Security Council is to advise and assist the President, develop and coordinate the implementation of the National Strategy for Homeland Security to secure the United States from terrorist threats and attacks, and to help coordinate policy across the departments and agencies of the executive branch. The Homeland Security Council does not conduct operational activities. The Homeland Security Council does not operate a coordination center. With the establishment of the Department of Homeland Security, DHS is the lead federal agency for incident management. As such, DHS operates a Homeland Security Center with 24 hour/7 days per week coordination and communications capabilities. Those functions do not reside in the Homeland Security Council.

QUESTION 24: At the time of last year's hearing, the permanent location and amount of space for the President's Critical Infrastructure Protection Board had not been determined (p. 77). Have these requirements been determined today?

REV_00169807

RESPONSE: The President's Critical Infrastructure Protection Board (PCIPB) no longer exists at the White House. Executive Order 13228, which created the PCIPB, was amended. Congress through the Homeland Security Act created within Department of Homeland Security the Directorate for Information Analysis and Infrastructure Protection (IAIP). One of the responsibilities of the IAIP directorate is the important issue of critical infrastructure protection. This is a robust directorate led by an under secretary.

QUESTION 25: Likewise, total CIPB staffing had not been determined. Do you have an estimate today? What staffing assumptions were made in the FY 2004 budget submission?

RESPONSE: The President's Critical Infrastructure Protection Board (PCIPB) no longer exists at the White House. Executive Order 13228, which created the PCIPB, was amended. Congress through the Homeland Security Act created within Department of Homeland Security the Directorate for Information Analysis and Infrastructure Protection (IAIP). One of the responsibilities of the IAIP directorate is the important issue of critical infrastructure protection. This is a robust directorate led by an under secretary.

QUESTION 26: How much funding is included in the FY 2004 request for CIPB, and how does that compare to the current estimate for FY 2003?

RESPONSE: The President's Critical Infrastructure Protection Board (PCIPB) no longer exists at the White House. Executive Order 13228, which created the PCIPB, was amended. Congress through the Homeland Security Act created within Department of Homeland Security the Directorate for Information Analysis and Infrastructure Protection (IAIP). One of the responsibilities of the IAIP directorate is the important issue of critical infrastructure protection. This is a robust directorate led by an under secretary.

QUESTION 27: Please provide a breakdown showing how those funds would be used.

RESPONSE: The President's Critical Infrastructure Protection Board (PCIPB) no longer exists at the White House. Executive Order 13228, which created the PCIPB, was amended. Congress through the Homeland Security Act created within Department of Homeland Security the Directorate for Information Analysis and Infrastructure Protection (IAIP). One of the responsibilities of the IAIP directorate is the important issue of critical infrastructure protection. This is a robust directorate led by an under secretary.

QUESTION 28: Please provide details on any government-industry partnerships that have been created in support of cyber security initiatives coordinated by, or carried out, through EOP or the CIPB.

RESPONSE: In 2002, the President's Critical Infrastructure Protection Board developed a National Strategy to Secure Cyberspace. To encourage broader participation and input into the development process, a draft strategy was released for public comment in September 2002. In addition, the PCIPB requested the National Infrastructure Assurance Council and the National Security Telecommunications Advisory Committee both provide comments on the draft strategy. Furthermore, there were 10 town hall meetings held in various portions of the country which brought industry, academia and private citizens together to focus on the complex issues related to cyber security. The final strategy thus integrated extensive public and industry comments and was released in February 2003.

REV_00169808

The National Strategy to Secure Cyberspace emphasizes that government-industry partnerships will be a cornerstone to success. As the primary implementer of the Strategy, DHS will be a partner with industry and academia to accomplish the objectives identified by the President's strategy.

National Security Council (POC – Katherine Fertakis)

QUESTION 29: Your request includes a 10.8 percent increase to cover reimbursable detailee costs and additional support staff for the President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board. Please explain the need for these increases in detail.

RESPONSE: The requested increase covers reimbursable detailee costs of personnel from the Department of State. The National Security Council (NSC) may request detailed personnel performing at a high level in high priority positions to remain beyond their initial tour of duty because of their unique qualifications. The NSC is required to reimburse the Department of State for details to NSC that exceed the cap of 13 detailed into their second year and for all staff detailed longer than two years per Public Law 93-126. The FY 2003 increase in this category estimates for details becoming reimbursable during the Spring and the Summer. The FY 2004 increase represents an annualization of the expenses, minus the cost for the details that will not be renewed.

Since the events of September 11, 2001, the PFIAB support staff workload has been significantly increased and consumed by the homeland security effort. Thus far about 95% of the Board's current advisory work for the President has been directly related to homeland security and counter-terrorism. (Intelligence performance thereon, and support to the new department of homeland security) With only 4 staff members and an already overflowing Board work schedule, work on other important PFIAB priorities has been deferred—such as declassification review of PFIAB archived records. At least three additional staff members, including a GS-14 administrative manager, will be needed to adequately meet support requirements as the Board expands its review of intelligence support to homeland security beyond the more immediate structural and organizational issues, and also re-engages the more general intelligence performance issues across the full spectrum of pressing issues. The FY 2004 request includes $250,000 which will fund two reimbursable detailed staff members and one permanent, Schedule A, Excepted Service, GS-14 administrative management position.

QUESTION 30: What are the dollar and percentage increases for each of the above items, compared to the FY 2003 estimated levels?

RESPONSE: The FY 2004 request for NSC reimbursable detailees represents an increase of $356,000, or 64%, over the FY 2003 estimated levels. The PFIAB increase of $250,000 will be 100% above the FY 2003 request since this is a new requirement for FY 2004.

QUESTION 31: The justifications indicate that 11 additional positions are being added to this office in FY 2003, raising the estimated from 60 in FY 2002 to an estimated 71 in FY 2003. What specific positions are being created?

RESPONSE: The 11 additional positions, which raise NSC's FTE from 60 to 71, are not new positions. In FY 2003, the Office for Combating Terrorism (OCT) was combined with the NSC budget request. The increased FTE request correlates with the continued funding for and operation of the OCT as a part of the NSC submission.

QUESTION 32: The FY 2004 request includes funds for a new GS-14 administrative manager for the PFIAB. Why is this new position needed at this time?

RESPONSE: PFIAB requires a permanent administrative position for continuity as well as efficiency reasons. The administrative staff constitutes the lifeblood of the Board: it fulfills all of the support responsibilities, including human resource management, budget, travel, procurement, research, publishing, protocol, and special assistance to the Executive Director, Chair and Vice Chair. With only two administrative people on staff, it is absolutely critical that both individuals be fully knowledgeable about and highly experienced at White House administrative policies, procedures and guidelines; equally important, both must possess highly honed administrative skills and be extremely efficient, effective and professionally dedicated.

The Board simply cannot attain this level of experience and competence by relying on detailees from other agencies, particularly non-reimbursed detailees. More often than not, we must accept whomever an agency can make available. Therefore, the Board will use this one permanent administrative billet to create a PFIAB office manager position. This individual not only will provide continuity of expertise and experience, but also will ensure that the other administrative person obtains the proper professional mentoring and supervision. We plan to make this a GS-14 position, but may start the individual we select at the GS-13 level to allow for personal advancement...and thereby also ensuring, hopefully, a fairly long term of service to the Board.

Office of National Drug Control Policy (POC – Michelle Marx)

QUESTION 33: You are requesting 10 additional FTE in FY 2004 to replace 10 non-reimbursable detailees who are no longer available. Why are these positions no longer available, and what are the specific positions?

RESPONSE: ONDCP's FY 2004 request includes resources to support 125 FTEs, an increase of 10 FTEs over the FY 2003 request. This FTE increase is requested to offset the loss of approximately 20 - 25 of the 30 non-reimbursable military detailee positions the Department of Defense has supported at ONDCP since 1996. (The Department of Defense, as outlined in a December 28, 2001 memorandum, has adopted a general policy that approves of requests for details only on a reimbursable basis, with limited exceptions.)

This 10 FTE increase, along with distributing additional responsibilities among existing staff, will allow ONDCP to absorb the detailee staffing loss and meet its statutory responsibilities. The specific positions would be appointed within the following offices: Planning and Budget; State and Local Affairs; Intelligence; and Supply Reduction.

Renovation of the Eisenhower Executive Office Building (POC – Steve Beattie)

QUESTION 34: What is the status of funding provided in FY 2002 and 2003? Please provide a breakdown of funding by the type of activity or renovation performed.

RESPONSE: 34: The General Service Administration has used FY 2002 Emergency Response Funds in the amount of $1,674,000 for starting the Architects' and Engineers' design contract for the 17th Street Wing Security Modernization Project. GSA is currently in the process of reprogramming $7,500,000 for FY 2003 for design, management and inspection. The FY 2003 reprogramming is required to complete the Design/Build/Bridging documents and assist in managing the Design/Build/Bridging efforts.

QUESTION 35: How much remains unobligated, by appropriation?

RESPONSE: 35: The General Services Administration (GSA) awarded a portion of the design cost in the amount of $1,537,173 utilizing the FY 2002 Emergency Response Fund. $136,827 remains unobligated. GSA has not obligated any FY 2003 funding.

QUESTION 36: Please provide a detailed breakdown showing how funds requested in the GSA budget for FY 2004 would be used.

RESPONSE: 36: The following is a break down on how the funds will be used in FY 2004:

REV_00169811

Major Work Items:
Electrical System	$ 10,244,000
Air conditioning system, chillers and piping	$ 12,530,000
Interior Construction	$ 13,163,000
Utility Vault (includes foundation construction)	$ 22,107,000
Window Blast Mitigation	$ 4,685,000

Estimated Construction Cost (ECC)	$ 63,531,000
Management and Inspection	$ 2,226,000
Authorization Requested (ECC, M&I)	$ 65,757,000

QUESTION 37: Please provide a detailed schedule for activities planned in FY 2004.

RESPONSE: 37: The design/build/bridging contract is scheduled to be awarded in March 2004. The current schedule for the project is as follows:

Design Award:	04/03
Design/Build/Bridging Procurement Start:	09/03
A/E Bridging Documents Complete:	10/03
Design/Build/Bridging Contract Award:	03/04
Construction Complete:	06/06

QUESTION 38: How much are you currently paying GSA for the unoccupied space along the 17th Street side of EEOB, and how much rental cost are you incurring for the new locations where relocated employees are working?

RESPONSE: We are not paying for the unoccupied space along the 17th Street side of the EEOB in FY2003. Employees were relocated to 1800 G. Street where FY 2004 rental costs are estimated at $4,978,000 and to 1801 Pennsylvania Avenue where the FY 2004 rental costs are estimated at $792,000. Both rental cost estimates exclude parking space costs.

Executive Residence (POC – Worthington White)

QUESTION 39: Please provide a table, corresponding to the projects on page 81 of last year's hearing record, showing the original appropriation for each project, the amount obligated to date, and the project status. This involves projects funded in fiscal year 2002.

RESPONSE: The following table provides funding information on the FY 2002 projects.

REV_00169812

Executive Residence at the White House
FY2002 White House Repair and Restoration

Project	Original Appropriation	Obligated To Date	Status of Project
Pool Shelter Roof Reconstruction and Pool Deck Renovation	$430,000	$412,926	This project is completed, with only minor punch list items and related recurring maintenance items to be funded from the remaining funds.
Communication System Repairs/Phase 2*	$456,667 $4,544,000	$155,872	Modifications to the original design under Phase I (FY2001) are completed. The pre-bid meeting with prospective contractors is scheduled for mid-May, with contract award by late June, and construction commending by late July.
East and West Wing Exterior Restoration	$2,500,000	$2,398,433	The restoration is underway, all Phase I funds will be utilized this year.
Insulated Windows Replacement	$160,000	$162	The prototype utilizing historically accurate reproduction glass is in production, with manufacturing of actual replacement units expected to begin in June. Installation to be begin in August.
Kitchen Floor Replacement	$75,000	$60,815	This project is nearing completion with the remaining funds to be utilized for utility work.
North Portico Curtain Wall	$120,000	$106,751	The project is completed with remaining funds required to purchase spare parts inventory.
Stone Pavers Restoration	$277,000	$220,082	The project is currently underway and is scheduled for completion by September 2003.
West Colonnade Restoration	$275,000	$0	Planning has recently been completed; work will be accomplished in August and early September 2003.

*For the Comunication System Repairs/Phase 2 project, $456,667 was funded in FY 2001 for Architect and Engineering. The remaining $4,544,000 was for construction.

QUESTION 40: Please provide a listing of the 95 FTE positions at the Executive Residence requested for funding in FY 2004, showing the position title and the annual salary level.

QUESTION 41: The justifications (p. 67) indicate an estimated unobligated balance of $7,023,000 in this appropriation at the beginning of FY 2003. Please explain the sources of this balance, and provide a schedule for obligation of increments of those funds.

RESPONSE: The majority ($4,388,127) of the unobligated funds are associated with the Communication System Repairs/Phase 2 which was delayed to unanticipated design requirements. The schedule for completion and obligation of all FY2002 projects is detailed in the table below.

Executive Residence at the White House
FY2002 White House Repair and Restoration

Project	Original Appropriation	Obligated To Date	Status of Project
Pool Shelter Roof Reconstruction and Pool Deck Renovation	$430,000	$412,926	This project is completed, with only minor punch list items and related recurring maintenance items to be funded from the remaining funds.
Communication System Repairs/Phase 2*	$456,667 $4,544,000	$155,872	Modifications to the original design under Phase I (FY2001) are completed. The pre-bid meeting with prospective contractors is scheduled for mid-May, with contract award by late June, and construction commending by late July.
East and West Wing Exterior Restoration	$2,500,000	$2,398,433	The restoration is underway, all Phase I funds will be utilized this year.
Insulated Windows Replacement	$160,000	$162	The prototype utilizing historically accurate reproduction glass is in production, with manufacturing of actual replacement units expected to begin in June. Installation to be begin in August.
Kitchen Floor Replacement	$75,000	$60,815	This project is nearing completion with the remaining funds to be utilized for utility work.
North Portico Curtain Wall	$120,000	$106,751	The project is completed with remaining funds required to purchase spare parts inventory.
Stone Pavers Restoration	$277,000	$220,082	The project is currently underway and is scheduled for completion by September 2003.
West Colonnade Restoration	$275,000	$0	Planning has recently been completed; work will be accomplished in August and early September 2003.

*For the Comunication System Repairs/Phase 2 project, $456,667 was funded in FY 2001 for Architect and Engineering. The remaining $4,544,000 was for construction.

As of this date, there are also 5 projects which have balances prior to FY 2002. They are as follows:

FY1996 – Roof Repair – balance of $9,227. These funds will be expended as needed for ongoing maintenance and corrective measures.

FY1998 – Repair/restoration of the Laundry Room – balance of $26,616. Purchase of replacement equipment and maintenance of equipment to be expended in FY2003.

REV_00169815

FY2000 – Purchase and Install Two Ironers – balance of $5,754. These funds will be expended to replace the drive belts in FY2003.

FY2000 – Renovation of Paint Shop – balance of $38,271. Funds will be used to purchase and update equipment to meet EPA and OSHA requirements in FY2003.

FY2000 – Third Floor Promenade – balance of $11,392. Funds will be expended to rehab and replace drainage system in late FY2003 or early FY2004.

White House Repair and Restoration (POC – Dennis Freemyer)

QUESTION 42: You are requesting $4,225,000 for repairs and restoration of the White House. Is there additional funding in the National Park Service budget or elsewhere in the President's budget request for FY 2004 for similar activities at the White House?

RESPONSE: There are no other budget requests for the same activities at the White House.

QUESTION 43: Of this request, $3,500,000 is for restoration of the east and west wing exterior. Please provide a detailed discussion and breakdown of this request.

RESPONSE: The funding requested is for the continuation (2nd phase) of the East and West Wing Restoration project, the first being funded in FY'02. This is consistent with the original planning for the execution of this project based on the experience of the completed Executive Residence Exterior Restoration completed in 1996. A breakdown of major work items follows:

Estimated Construction Costs:

Mobilization, scaffolding, rental equipment	150,000
Stone, stucco, wood restoration, insulated glass	1,580,000
Paint removal	1,660,000
Effluent/hazardous material disposal	150,000
Specialized window film including installation	400,000
Specialized stucco coating including installation	550,000
Painting	500,000
Site Restoration	260,000
Design, project management, project supervision, testing	350,000
Contingency	400,000
Estimated Total Cost	$6,000,000
FY 2002 Funding	$2,500,000
FY 2004 Funding Request	$3,500,000

Pennsylvania Avenue Improvements (POC – Steve Beattie)

QUESTION 44: What is the total estimated cost of security and street improvements on Pennsylvania Avenue in front of the White House, for which funds were provided in FY 2003?

RESPONSE: This project is to be funded by the Federal Highway Administration (FHWA). The total estimated cost of security and street improvements on Pennsylvania Avenue in front of the White House is currently $26.1 million. The information below breaks out the estimated FY 2003 costs for the project.

Project Activity	Projected FY 2003 Obligations
Preliminary Activities
Verification and Concept Studies	$ 605,150
Design Activities
Ground Survey and Mapping	$ 57,524
Subsurface Utility Survey	$ 149,682
Environmental Documentation	$ 75,000
Final Design (Consultant)	$ 1,300,000
Crash Testing	$ 350,000
FHWA Contract Administration	$ 100,000
Design Contingency	$ 262,644
Construction Activities
Construction Contract	$ 18,500,000
Utility Construction	$ 1,500,000
FHWA Contract Administration	$ 1,700,000
MVVA Construction Assistance	$ 500,000
Construction Contingency	$ 1,000,000
Grand Totals	$26,100,000

QUESTION 45: What is the status of that project? When will FY 2003 funds be obligated?

RESPONSE: 45: The status of the security and street improvements on Pennsylvania Avenue is as follows -

- Project's status is an ongoing iterative process as the Design team receives comments from the public and the various stakeholders on surrounding sites.
- Under the National Environmental Policy Act, the final public information meeting for the Environmental Impact Assessment was held on May 5, 2003, which is the last step before the final report is issued the week of May 27, 2003. It is expected that the report's concluding statement will find no significant impact.

- The design team is in the pre-design stage.
- The engineers are currently in the design stage for utility relocation in the project's vicinity.
- The Section 106 review as required by the Secretary of the Interior under the Historic Preservation Act is underway and will develop a Memorandum of Agreement in June 2003, which will address issues regarding the design details. The Section 106 review occurs when a project utilizing federal funds may have an effect upon natural, environmental, or cultural resources and looks at mitigation of any adverse effects to those resources.
- $1.5 million is expected to be obligated at the end of August or early September 2003 to start the utility relocation on Pennsylvania Avenue and at the north ends of Jackson and Madison Places.
- Arrangements have already been made for procurement of the trees to be used on the Avenue since it will require root and limb pruning over two calendar years prior to installation on the Avenue. The trees will be installed after inaugural events in the spring of 2005.
- Approximately, $2,675,000 has been obligated to date (under contract). The remaining $3,685,000 will be obligated within the next six months to have the construction contract awarded by the end of September or early October 2003.

QUESTION 46: How much funding is requested for this project in FY 2004, and where is it located in the budget?

RESPONSE: $15 million has been set aside under the Department of the Interior bill for FY 2004. However, discussions have been held between the Federal Highway Administration and EOP staff to make the money available for contract award this fiscal year. Discussions have included placing FY 2004 monies into the FY 2003 supplemental appropriation. With the highway legislation pending, there could be a delay in getting the funding moved into the supplemental appropriation to allow the project to get underway.

QUESTION 47: What is the schedule for studies of traffic congestion mitigation alternatives in the vicinity of the White House, as funded in FY 2003?

RESPONSE: The project administrators met with EOP staff on May 8, 2003 to begin outlining the scope of the study and a plan to involve the District of Columbia government and neighborhood stakeholders. A schedule for the study has not been developed, but will be prepared in the next three months.

REV_00169818

Remote Data Center (POC – Carlos Solari)

QUESTION 48: What is the status of establishment today of the remote data center?

RESPONSE: The remote data center project is on schedule and on budget. The project began last summer by conducting a systems development lifecycle analysis to determine and recommend the location for the facility. From this analysis, EOP decided on building the data center at a hardened FEMA facility located in Maryland. The project is being co-managed with FEMA and was established with three phases: (1) infrastructure build-out of the hardened facility (power, air handlers, etc), (2) construction of the data center itself (cabling, raised flooring, etc), and (3) the transition of EOP data systems (telecommunications, servers, etc). The project is approximately halfway through completion for the first two phases with a scheduled opening (initial operational capability) date of September 2003. The transition phase is on schedule preparing the systems and will proceed to begin the transfer September 2003 – with a planned transition of 12 months for all systems. The following chart shows the funding of the remote data center from FY 2002 thru FY 2004.

	FY 2002	FY 2003	FY 2004
CIP	$15,000,000	$5,000,000	$8,403,000
Total	$15,000,000	$5,000,000	$8,403,000

QUESTION 49: Last year, you estimated annual operating costs of this facility to be $7,500,000 (p. 88). Is that your current estimate?

RESPONSE: Last year OA provided a rough estimate of $7,500,000 for the future annual operating cost of the new data center facility. This was based upon the following estimated costs:

- $1,500,000 in communications to maintain connectivity for the EOP,
- $600,000 in space rental,
- $450,000 for hardware maintenance,
- $1,300,000 for software maintenance,
- $2,600,000 for contractor services,
- $300,000 for supplies/components,
- $75,000 for equipment, and
- $675,000 in salaries/benefits.

While most of these estimates remain valid, OA must revise the estimate for space rental to $1,258,000, bringing the revised estimated annual operating costs for the facility to $8,158,000.

REV_00169819

QUESTION 50: Your FY 2004 request includes $8,403,000 to transition the remote data center to full operational status (p. 75). What specific activities are required in FY 2004 to accomplish this? Can you provide a breakdown of the FY 2004 request consistent with these activities?

RESPONSE: The following table lists the FY2004 CIP funds requested for the completion of the remote data center construction and initial year operating costs.

Object Class	Object Class Title	Requested Funding ($ in 000)	Description
23.0	Space Rental Payments	$1,258	This estimate reflects $1,258,000 in rental for the offsite data center and will be the initial rent to be paid for the offsite data center. This cost was previously funded from emergency funds.
23.3	Communications, utilities, and miscellaneous charges	$4,420	$4,420,000 is for CIP networking/ telecommunications projects at the offsite data center. These projects include funds for a tap off of telecommunications lines, two additional DS-3 data paths, two T-1 lines, and backup to support required communications bandwidth, and availability requirements.
25.2	Other Services	$2,700	This estimate reflects Priority System Disaster Recovery costs, Secondary Systems Disaster Recovery costs, Hardware and Software for the Disaster Recovery Site, and Hardware and Software upgrades to support the data center move.
26.0	Supplies and materials	$25	The estimate reflects $25,000 in additional supplies necessary for start-up operations at the offsite data center. This will include start up costs for office equipment used for the new office spaces.
Total FY2004 Data Center CIP Request		$8,403

President's Travel (POC - Rothley Howard)

QUESTION 51: Please update the information on pages 89 through 94 of last year's hearing record concerning travel by the President and the First Lady by continuing data from the final entry of last year's record to the present time.

RESPONSE: The following charts summarize Presidential, First Lady and Vice Presidential travel for Fiscal Years 2002 and 2003 (to date). They also reflect costs currently in the accounting system. Several of the trips listed below are awaiting additional costs, therefore, final costs may vary.

Freedom Corps (POC – Eric Lanman)

QUESTION 54: Please provide EOP budgeted funding for the Freedom Corps for fiscal years 2002 through 2004.

RESPONSE: The funding profile for the USA Freedom Corps from its inception through FY 2004 is as follows:

(Dollars in thousands) Category	FY02 Actual	FY03 Request	OA Pilot	FY03 Recission	FY03 Enacted	FY04 Estimate
Personnel	420	800	0	0	800	827
Travel	6	600	0	-330	270	102

Printing & Reproduction	0	0	0	0	0	225
Other Services	0	1,200	-289	0	911	926
Supplies & Materials	0	0	0	0	0	9
Equipment	0	0	0	0	0	9
Total	525	2,600	-289	-330	1,981	2,280

Note: As part of a pilot program authorized by Congress in fiscal year 2003, general support costs such as rent, supplies, printing, information technology, etc., are centrally managed and charged against the Office of Administration.

QUESTION 55: Please provide a breakdown of the FY 2004 request for the Freedom Corps, and a brief description of the work to be accomplished under each item.

RESPONSE: The FY 2004 WHO request includes funding for the following USA Freedom Corps requirements.

Personnel: This category provides funding for the cost of the salaries and benefits for the staff of the USA Freedom Corps. The FY 2004 WHO request included $827,000 for this category.

Travel: The USA Freedom Corps office staff members are frequent travelers and often work at the national, state and local levels with organizations.~~, especially in organizing the Citizen Corps across the country~~ In addition, the Director of the USA Freedom Corps or the appropriate staff is required to address gatherings at national conferences, and of state and local officials in order to disseminate information about the President's Call to Service and the activities coordinated by the USA Freedom Corps.~~ and answer questions relating to the organization of USA Freedom Corps activities at the local level.~~ The FY 2004 WHO request included $102,000 for this category.

REV_00169855

Rent: This category funds the costs of the GSA office space utilized by the USA Freedom Corps. The FY 2004 WHO request included $157,000 for this category.

Printing: This category includes the costs of the creation and printing of documents regarding the USA Freedom Corps mission and policies and initiatives~~specific programs~~ coordinated by its Council. The FY 2004 WHO request included $225,000 for this category.

Other services: This category includes funds for the hiring of contractors to measure the nationwide effects of the USA Freedom Corps efforts through surveys and other measurement tools, and funds for information dissemination and the creation and production of materials used in the furtherance of the USA Freedom Corps mission and ~~specific programs,~~initiatives coordinated by its Council. The FY 2004 WHO request included $926,000 for this category.~~ and other activities that will further the mission of the USA Freedom Corps.~~

Communications and Misc.,~~;~~ Supplies and Materials, Equipment: These general categories are managed centrally by the White House Office of Management and Administration. Funds in these categories support the normal costs associated with day to day office operations. The FY 2004 WHO request included $43,000 for this category.

QUESTION 56: Last year, funds were requested for Freedom Corps information dissemination and recognition materials (p. 239). Are similar activities funded in FY 2004? If so, how much?

RESPONSE: The FY 2004 WHO request includes requirements for similar activities to those funded in FY 2003 and included are funds for information dissemination and recognition materials. Funds for these activities are included in the Other Services category of the WHO request. An estimated $926,000 of this portion of the request is for USA Freedom Corps requirements.

QUESTION 57: Are additional funds requested in FY 2004 outside the EOP?

RESPONSE: As a White House office and a coordinating council, the USA Freedom Corps does not run, fund, or administer programs. Instead, the USA Freedom Corps coordinates the development of policies and initiatives with various offices/entities in the Executive Branch in support of the President's goal to strengthen the American culture of service while helping all Americans find meaningful service opportunities. This role does not require outside funding and none have been requested by the WHO.

QUESTION 58: Please provide a listing of the staff in the USA Freedom Corps Office, showing the incumbent name and position. Please designate any detailees.

REV_00169856

RESPONSE: A listing of the current USA Freedom Corps Office staff is provided below.

John Bridgeland: Assistant to the President and Director, USA Freedom Corps
Ron Christie: Special Assistant to the President and Deputy Director, USAFC
Lindsey Kozberg: Special Assistant to the President for Policy/Public Affairs
Therese Lyons: Director of Public Liasion
Ian Rowe: Director of Management and Strategy
Kathleen Mynster: Deputy Press Secretary
Britt Grant: Special Assistant to the Director
Cornell Teague: Associate Director
Nique Fajors: Agency Liaison – Detailee
Ken Lanza: Agency Liaison - Detailee

Sensitive Compartmented Information Facilities (POC – Jeff Thompson)

QUESTION 59: Are any funds requested in any EOP office in the FY 2004 President's request for the construction of sensitive compartmented information facilities (SCIFs)?

RESPONSE: No funds are requested for SCIFs in FY 2004.

QUESTION 60: How many such facilities have been built within EOP offices since the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001?

RESPONSE: Sixteen SCIFS have been built.

Data Center Relocation (POC – Carlos Solari)

QUESTION 61: What is the status of efforts to relocate the existing EOP data center, and what are plans for the coming year?

RESPONSE: The remote data center project is on track to achieve completion on budget and on schedule. The project began last summer by conducting a systems development lifecycle analysis to determine and recommend the location for the facility. From this analysis, EOP decided on building the data center at a hardened FEMA facility located in Maryland. The project is being co-managed with FEMA and was established with three phases: (1) infrastructure build-out of the hardened facility (power, air handlers, etc), (2) construction of the data center itself (cabling, raised flooring, etc), and (3) the transition of EOP data systems (telecommunications, servers, etc). The project is approximately halfway through completion for the first two phases with a scheduled opening (initial operational capability) date of September 2003. The transition phase is on schedule preparing the systems and will proceed to begin the transfer September 2003 – with a planned transition of 12 months for all systems.

REV_00169857

QUESTION 62: Are funds requested in the FY 2004 budget for this project?

RESPONSE: The following table displays the funds requested for this project in FY 2004.

Object Class	Object Class Title	Requested Funding (in $1000s)	Description
23.0	Space Rental Payments	$1,258	This estimate reflects $1,258 in rental for the offsite data center and will be the initial rent to be paid for the offsite data center. This cost was previously funded from emergency funds.
23.3	Communications, utilities, and miscellaneous charges	$4,420	$4,420 is for CIP networking/telecommunications projects at the offsite data center. These projects include funds for a tap off of telecommunications lines, two additional DS-3 data paths, two T-1 lines, and backup to support required communications bandwidth, and availability requirements.
25.2	Other Services	$2,700	This estimate reflects Priority System Disaster Recovery costs, Secondary Systems Disaster Recovery costs, Hardware and Software for the Disaster Recovery Site, and Hardware and Software upgrades to support the data center move.
26.0	Supplies and materials	$25	The estimate reflects $25 in additional supplies necessary for start-up operations at the offsite data center. This will include start up costs for office equipment used for the new office spaces.
Total FY2004 Data Center CIP Request		$8,403

White House Communications Agency (POC – Eric Lanman)

QUESTION 63: Updating the information on page 133 of last year's hearing record, please provide estimated reimbursements for the White House Communications Agency for each of the fiscal years 2002 through 2004.

RESPONSE: Reimbursements made to the White House Communications Agency, for the non-telecommunications support they provide to the WHO, is broken down into two categories: military personnel and audiovisual support. The amount of planned reimbursement is initially set and agreed to via an inter-agency agreement (IAG). This IAG is then adjusted if needed as a result of actual execution. Reimbursement actuals and estimates follow:

	FY02 (actual)	FY03 (est.)	FY04 (est.)
Military Personnel	$4,376,085	$4,754,346	$4,858,942
Audiovisual Support	$4,543,643	$3,953,848	$2,743,915

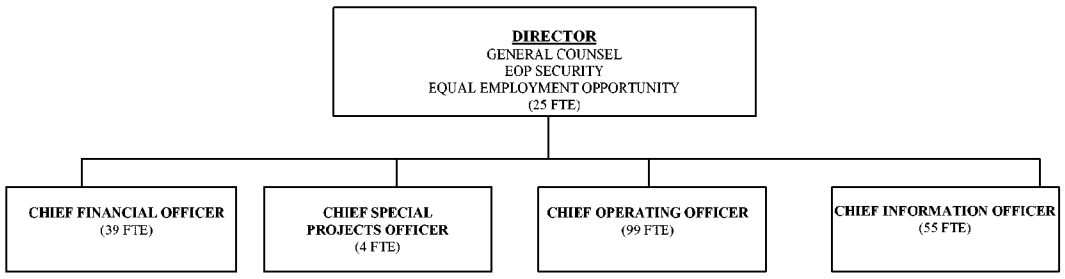
REV_00169858

Total	$8,919,738	$8,708,194	$7,602,857

The FY04 estimate for audiovisual support shows a decrease from the FY 2003 estimate due to the move of audiovisual supplies and equipment from IAG reimbursed items to direct procurement through normal WHO channels.

Office of Administration (POC – Chuck Sigman)

QUESTION 64: Updating the information on page 134 of last year's hearing record, please provide a current organizational chart for the Office of Administration, including the associated numbers of FTEs requested for each office in the FY 2004 President's budget.



RESPONSE: The Office of Administration organization chart provided below reflects the current organizational structure. The FY 2004 FTE request remains constant with FY 2003 levels (222 FTE).

Executive Office of the President

Office of Administration

Organization Chart

FY 2004

Total 222 FTE

QUESTION 65: Last year, it was estimated that 4 FTE were needed to provide administrative services to the Office of Homeland Security. Since that office is substantially smaller due to establishment of the DHS, is there a lesser requirement for OA support? If so, is that reflected in FY 2004 staffing figures?

REV_00169859

RESPONSE: The FY 2003 budget proposal included the statement that there was "2 CFO staff to support Homeland Security" rather than the 4 FTE referred to in the question. These two Chief Financial Officer (CFO) staff were requested during FY 2003 because last year's OA budget request was a 49% increase over the previous year's spending – and security-related enhancements accounted for nearly all of that increase. The FY 2004 budget proposal included additional security-related enhancements beyond the FY 2003 level. Furthermore, even though the funding level of the Homeland Security Council is not as great as was originally envisioned, it is still a separate account for which the staff must perform the same number of administrative tasks in setting up and monitoring the status of the account. Therefore, the additional two FTE in the CFO office remain necessary to assist EOP offices in executing their new responsibilities.

QUESTION 66: Your salary and expenses request includes a transfer of $1,500 from Homeland Security for information technology services. What are these services?

RESPONSE: The part of OHS that remained with EOP (now called the Homeland Security Council) does not need the information technology contractor support that was previously planned. There is, however, an urgent need to expand the funding needed to support the White House website. The system security put in place to protect the whitehouse.gov website from cyber attack includes a web content distribution designed to make it highly resistant to denial of service type attacks. The cost of this service has increased dramatically, and is directly proportional to the volume of activity. The volume of activity, in turn, is a combination of the website hits and the level of cyber-attack activity directed against the site. The importance of the White House web site cannot be overstated. Along with the DHS website, the whitehouse.gov website is one of the primary government sites with a mission to communicate threat level information to the public.

Due to increased traffic on the White House website, the monthly cost of web caching service to maintain the website has risen from $30,000 per month to more than $75,000 per month. The estimated FY 2004 cost to maintain the website is $1,500,000. No funds were requested for this increased requirement in the FY 2004 budget. OA wishes to use the funds originally requested for the OHS information technology contract support for the White House website effort.

QUESTION 67: You are requesting additional funding for victim rescue units, which would be distributed to all White House staff (p. 82). What are these units, and what is the unit cost?

RESPONSE: Victim Rescue Units (VRUs) provide a 20-45 minute supply of pure oxygen to the wearer. This would be critical to the survival of EOP staff in the event of an incident which would require an evacuation to a safe area. VRUs were selected because they can be easily operated by a novice, while it takes a significant amount of training to teach staff to properly operate a gas mask. VRUs have a ten-year shelf life, which is significantly longer than gas mask filters. They provide protection from the entire threat spectrum from fire and smoke to chemical and biological agents. The VRUs are portable and small, and their expected cost is $375 each.

REV_00169860

QUESTION 68: How is the requirement for additional safes and emergency evacuation chairs documented?

RESPONSE: The EOP Security Office conducted a review of security containers (safes) at the White House Complex and found that most of them were 1950's-vintage mechanical locks. During the aftermath of 9/11, it was deemed important that the White House adhere to the latest Federal regulations promulgated by the General Services Administration (FFL-2740A) for the protection of classified materials. Thus, the EOP recommends acquiring new security containers which are fully compliant with GSA standard which governs all changeable combination locks for the protection of national security information.

After 9/11, we reviewed all emergency evacuation procedures for the White House Complex. As we updated evacuation plans and reviewed procedures it was determined that evacuation chairs were needed in various buildings and on various floors to assist individuals who may need assistance or have special needs during an evacuation. This was an internal study performed by staff of the EOP security office.

Financial Audits (POC – Al Muhlbauer)

QUESTION 69: Last year, you advised us that EOP would plan to address the findings of the recent auditability assessment no later than FY 2003. What is the status of that effort today?

RESPONSE: EOP has initiated five major efforts to address the auditability assessment. They are:

- Development and publication of the EOP entity and reporting structure, which was completed and is and presented in the FY 2004 Budget Submission.
- Development and publication of the EOP financial management structure, which has been developed in draft and is currently being circulated for comment within EOP. Approval and issuance of the financial management structure is expected to occur within 30 days.
- Provide financial management policy and guidance to the EOP, and put in place consistent EOP-wide business practices and procedures. This effort is underway and is expected to be completed this fiscal year.
- Select a replacement for the current non-compliant financial accounting system. The Office of the Chief Financial Officer has reviewed various alternatives and has made a determination to be cross-serviced by another Federal agency that has implemented a compliant system, is currently receiving "clean" audit opinions, and has cross-servicing as an agency mission. Two such organizations were identified, a requirements document was provided, their proposals are currently being evaluated, and a decision is expected within the next two weeks.

- Accomplish a detailed review of the EOP general ledger and supporting documents for account balances, correct the data as necessary, and prepare the information for conversion to the replacement accounting system. A "clean-up" and conversion plan is in process and will be coordinated with the selected cross-servicing agency.

QUESTION 70: When will you be able to produce an auditable financial statement?

RESPONSE: The Chief Financial Officer completed an exercise that resulted in EOP-wide financial statements, that exercise identified various data problems that confirmed the auditability assessment. The "clean-up" exercise which is required prior to the conversion to the cross-servicing agency's system is addressing these problems and it is anticipated that the FY 2004 financial statements will be audited.

QUESTION 71: Last year, you stated that you had identified best practices for documented policies and procedures based upon one federal agency which has been recognized as one of the best in the Federal Government (p. 136). Which agency are you using as a model, and what are some examples of the specific best practices you intend to use?

RESPONSE: We were referring to the Department of Education and we conducted a pilot of their approach for developing policies and procedures within the Office of the CFO. While that pilot was helpful, we determined that three other tasks (identify reporting entity, develop financial management structure, and identifying our financial accounting system cross servicing provider) needed to be completed before our policies and procedures could be developed. Since those are near completion we anticipate again focusing on developing policies and procedures during the remainder of this fiscal year.

White House Office (POC – Eric Lanman)

QUESTION 72: Please provide a breakdown of the FY 2004 budget request for the White House Office by office or activity, as itemized on pages 137 and 138 of last year's hearing record. Please compare those amounts to corresponding amounts for FY 2002 (actual) and FY 2003 (estimated), similar in format to that shown on pages 246 and 247 of last year's hearing record.

RESPONSE: As noted last year, a single budget is prepared for the WHO. This single budget is prepared based on a number of criteria such as: prior spending patterns, estimated requirements, OMB provided inflation factors, and the priorities of the President. During a given execution year, personnel costs are allocated based upon that year's sometimes unique staffing decisions. The remainder of the budget is allocated initially to two WHO offices. The travel budget is allocated in its entirety to the Office of Advance and obligated against this office if the travel is done in support of the President. Any travel undertaken that is not in support of a Presidential trip is charged to the office of the staff member in question. The remaining portion of the non-personnel, non-travel budget, including expenses for rent, supplies, equipment and other services is considered overhead and in most years is charged as such to the White House Office of Management and Administration. In FY 2003 as part of a pilot program authorized by Congress, costs related to many of these "overhead" items were consolidated under the EOP Office of Administration. Obligations (actual and estimated) are provided by individual White House office for FY 2002 thru FY 2004 in the table below.

Notes:

(1) $911K of the FY03 USA Freedom Corps estimate and $1,351K of the FY04 USA Freedom Corps estimate is included above within the Office of Management and Administration numbers as are similar funds for all other White House Offices.

(2) Because Congress has chosen to appropriate funds for the Office of Homeland Security (OHS)/ Homeland Security Council (HSC) separately from the WHO appropriation, numbers related to OHS/ HSC are not included above. FY03 and FY04 estimates for OHS/ HSC are addressed independently in response to other committee questions.

QUESTION 73: Please provide a corresponding breakdown for FTE staff years and OGE, similar in format to that shown on pages 152 through 154 of last year's hearing record.

REV_00169863

RESPONSE: As noted last year, the major units within the White House Office are simply a creature of administrative convenience. The number of employees within each unit and the work of each unit vary over time and as circumstances and needs change. With this kept in mind, a detailed breakout of FTEs and OGEs by unit, is provided below. This breakout is based on current estimates and planning and will differ during the actual execution year. In addition to these major units, certain individuals – including certain individuals who work with the National Security Council, the Domestic Policy Council, and the National Economic Council – are also White House Office employees, although the units within which they principally work are not themselves part of the White House Office. These individuals are included under the Other category.

Other Services (POC – Chuck Sigman)

QUESTION 75: Similar to the information on page 236 et seq. of last year's hearing record, please provide a detailed description of each project, program, or initiative proposed to be funded in FY 2004 under object class 25.2 ("other services").

RESPONSE: Capital Investment Plan (CIP) - $5,220,000

The overall FY 2004 CIP requirement supports nine areas, as described below. The following "services" costs are included in the FY 2004 CIP request:

- $690,000 for Customer Service and Desktop Systems. This funding will be used to perform desktop software integration support.
- $450,000 for New Technologies and Systems. This includes "services" funding of $150,000 for server technology integration testing, and $300,000 for voice and data integration.

REV_00169866

- $230,000 for EOP Systems and Support, including "services" funding of $150,000 to develop external Local Area Networks, and $80,000 for production test lab development.
- $700,000 for Information Security for enterprise identity projects to allow the introduction of new authentication and identification mechanisms into the EOP IT infrastructure.
- $650,000 for Web-Based Services for web services application environment.
- $2,500,000 for the Offsite Data Center for services necessary to transition the offsite data center to full operational status
- There are no services funds allocated to Campus Wiring, Networks and Data Communications Infrastructure, or Messaging and Scheduling.

Salaries and Expenses - $2,150,000

There are three initiatives in the FY 2004 OA salaries/expense budget which comprise $2,150,000 in new programs under object class 25.2 ("other services"):

- $1,800,000 for Technology and Systems Support Contract . The Chief Information Officer (CIO) provides a wide range of computer services support to the EOP. These tasks are performed in large measure through an outsourcing contract that delivers IT services from PC deployment, to help desk and data center operations. During FY 2003, this IT systems support contract was competed with an increase in base labor rates due to the need for more advanced skills in IT disciplines such as XML and web services software development, Oracle database development and administration, and implementation of a new Enterprise Resources Planning (ERP) application covering finance, asset management and human resources. The CIO outsource contract is the vehicle used to maintain a 24 hour-a-day operation for mainframes, servers, help desk, local area networks, personal computers, applications; installation of end-user hardware and software; training; software application development and maintenance services. Altogether, this contract supports customers throughout the White House 18 acre complex, at remote and mobile locations, and at the planned Offsite Data Center. Key components driving the cost upward include: (1) higher labor rates for the DC area, which have risen since the previous IT 1997 facility contract; (2) the impact of the new data center operations in 2003 and thereafter; (3) an expanded EOP customer base which has more advanced, sophisticated, and security-conscious users.

- $300,000 for Information Assurance Support. The CIO has established the Information Assurance (IA) program to serve as a central location for information security serving all of EOP. FY 2002 and FY 2003 funds attended to the most critical concern with significant vulnerabilities in the perimeter and began the process of securing the internal systems. The IA program created real-time monitoring of perimeter network devices; it established the first formal documentation of IA program policy to bring the EOP in conformance with Federal guidelines and directives. However, the cyber threat facing EOP is dynamic because our systems are constantly assailed with a wide and unexpected range of attacks. The new state of defense must be active vigilance, to include the following components: (1) Perimeter Security, (2) Advanced Security Concepts, (3) Contingency Planning Support, (4) Network Monitor/Response Systems, and (5) Security Awareness, Assessments, and Education.

- $50,000 for Security Enhancements: Videos. There is a frequent and ongoing need for a security video – specific to the EOP and White House – which can be used in security briefings and new employee orientation meetings. This video will contain a brief overview of security responsibilities and procedures which must be understood by all personnel working in the EOP.

Salaries and Expenses (POC – Dilworth)

QUESTION 76: Please provide a detailed description of any expenses in the FY 2004 budget under "salaries and expenses" which are not directly related to personnel compensation and benefits.

RESPONSE: The following is an object class breakdown highlighting the major costs in each of the non pay related expense categories and a description of the unique aspects of some of these expenses found within the Executive Office of the President.

For reference, below are two tables that roll up all EOP component salaries and expenses funding information including the components not funded under the Subcommittee on Transportation, Treasury and Independent Agencies Appropriations.

Travel and transportation of persons – The largest portion of this funding (41%) is for international staff travel in support of trade negotiations as coordinated by the U.S. Trade Representative (USTR). The next largest portion of this funding (21%) is for White House Office (WHO) staff travel including "Presidential travel", which is the term used to delineate those trips where staff members actually travel with or ahead of the President. Those traveling ahead, referred to as advance staff, are responsible for producing Presidential events, as well as establishing an on-site infrastructure similar to the support that is provided within the White House. In addition, EOP travel costs related to Presidential travel is tracked by the principals (President, First Lady, Vice President and Mrs. Cheney) and by location. The remaining EOP travel funds are used for staff travel in support of the various EOP offices and their missions.

Transportation of things – The EOP spends funds in this area for the costs of express delivery/shipping of items such as Freedom of Information Act documents and personnel documents for accountability, as well as other miscellaneous items. Vehicle fleet costs are also included in this category.

Rental payments to GSA – Funds paid to GSA are used to provide the EOP offices with space in the government-owned and leased buildings that comprise the White House complex. Although the General Services Administration manages the EOP buildings, including the East and West Wings of the White House, they cannot rent them out to other Federal departments or agencies.

Communications, utilities and miscellaneous services – The bulk of these costs are used for the EOP switchboard. Funding in this category is also used for the networking and telecommunications projects of the Offsite Data Center. These projects include funds for the primary and backup telecommunications lines connecting the remote data center with the EOP office campus, two additional DS-3 data paths, two T-1 lines, and backup to support required communications bandwidth, and availability requirements.

Printing and reproduction – The largest expense in this area is for Presidential stationery and greetings. Also included are the costs for printing in the Code of Federal Regulation and the Federal Register as well as the costs to print the President's Budget, the Economic Report of the President, the National Drug Control Strategy, free trade agreement documents and other publications, studies and reports.

Other services –The primary cost driver in this category is the information technology support contract that provides IT sustainment services, system development services, and system engineering services for the entire EOP. IT support for the EOP as supported by this contract is largely an outsourced activity that includes a broad range of services such as the Help Desk, network and data center operations.

Supplies and materials – Most of the EOP expenses in this category are for general office and IT supplies, as well as the costs for subscriptions to newspapers and magazines.

Equipment – The largest portion of the EOP equipment costs is for IT desktop replacement program and for investments in software and hardware infrastructure to support the EOP IT projects.

Unanticipated Needs – Expenditures from this fund may be authorized only by the President. The Director of OMB provides the necessary controls to ensure that only unforeseen priorities are financed and that funding from other sources is not available.

REV_00169870

ONDCP Policy Research – This is an ONDCP expense and funding is used to support the continuing policy research to better inform drug policy.

Security Guard Services for OSTP (POC – Chuck Sigman)

QUESTION 77: In FY 2003, you budgeted $1,798,000 for security guard services for the Office of Science and Technology Policy. Are similar funds requested in FY 2004? If so, how much?

RESPONSE: The FY 2004 OA budget proposes that the cost of the security guard service (estimated at $702,000) for OSTP be transferred to the OSTP appropriation. Thus, the proposed FY04 OA budget would contain the balance of the funds (approximately $1.1 million).

Since the FY 2003 budget was proposed, there have been additional reviews of the physical security of the White House complex by the US Secret Service, the Federal Protective Service, and the OA Security Office. As a result, the OA Security Office has been assigned the responsibility of correcting deficiencies in EOP physical security. There are some locations which do not currently have Secret Service protection (such as the Jackson Place White House Conference Center). Another location which does not have firm long-term security plans is the office at 1800 G Street. Thus, the Office of Administration has ongoing needs for the $1.1 million which remains in the OA budget. During FY03, these funds are being used for consolidation of information technology maintenance ($200,000), centralization of database services ($200,000), and common building service costs ($400,000). The remaining $300,000 of these savings will be used for an FY03 OA personnel shortfall.

QUESTION 78: Why aren't such funds in the OSTP budget?

RESPONSE: The estimated FY04 cost of 24-hour security guard services for OSTP is included in the FY04 OSTP budget request. This estimate is $702,000 for a full year.

Political Appointees (POC – Jon Laurich)

QUESTION 79: Please update the information on political appointees within EOP as shown on page 268 of last year's hearing record, using the same criteria and assumptions as last year.

RESPONSE: The term "political appointees" is somewhat of a misnomer because it narrowly defines the type of employees authorized under Chapter 2 of Title 3 of the U.S. Code, for the White House Office, the Executive Residence, the Official Residence of the Vice President and the Office of Administration. These offices can hire personnel in various excepted service positions that are not subject to the rules of regular government employees. Many of these excepted service positions fall under the category of serving at the pleasure of the President while others do not. Using the term in the broadest possible sense, including all employees hired as Presidential Appointees, Administratively Determined, Non Career SES, or Schedule C's, the Executive Office of the President has the following number of political appointees directly hired within the EOP and serving in the EOP on detailed assignments from other agencies as of May 5, 2003.

Detailees (POC – Jon Laurich)

QUESTION 80: Please update the information on reimbursable and non-reimbursable detailees with EOP as shown on pages 268 and 269 of last year's hearing record.

RESPONSE: There are currently 251 detailees staffed within the Executive Office of the President. There are 41 reimbursable detailees and 210 non-reimbursable detailees as shown in the chart below, as of May 5, 2003:

Office of the Vice President (POC – Kristen Savercool)

QUESTION 81: You are requesting an additional $70,000 (+1.7 percent) for the Vice President's travel, due to increased travel to undisclosed locations after the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001. Weren't these type of increases baselined in FY 2002 and FY 2003, and if so, why are further increases needed in FY 2004?

RESPONSE: The FY 2003 budget was submitted in February 2002, prior to it becoming evident that the Vice President's travel requirements had increased more than originally estimated. Following the events of 9-11, the Vice President has been required to be outside the Washington, DC vicinity for significant periods of time. This travel has been 100 percent official, and operational in nature (i.e. the Vice President performs his regular duties in an off-site location). This travel has required the accompaniment of staff, who also perform operational duties.

Because the budget impact of these additional travel requirements was not fully realized until after the FY 2003 budget request was submitted, they were not included in the FY 2003 baseline. Continued security concerns related to the Vice President and the ensuing impact on the Vice President's travel costs necessitate the increase to the FY 2004 OVP travel budget. This increase will allow the Vice President the flexibility needed to adequately execute his official travel requirements.

Unanticipated Needs (POC – Eric Lanman)

QUESTION 82: Please provide a listing of the uses of Unanticipated Needs funds in FY 2002.

REV_00169873

RESPONSE: $757,000 of the $1,000,000 appropriated to the Unanticipated Needs account in FY 2002 was provided to OMB for Office of Homeland Security Transition Planning Office. The remaining appropriation was not utilized.

Questions for the Record
Ranking Member, John Olver
Hearing on the Executive Office of the President
April 30, 2003

Account Consolidation and Transfer Proposals (POC – Al Muhlbauer/Jim Daniel)

When we centralized the funds within the Office of Administration, Congress intended that each agency would continue to receive a similar share of support and assistance under the consolidation.

QUESTION 83: Are any agencies going to receive diminished services or resources under the consolidation?

RESPONSE: No, currently the funding in the pilot has been allocated to be consistent with the FY 03 budget request. The service levels will be equal to or greater than pre-pilot levels; however, we are hopeful that the cost to procure the same level of service will decrease. Also, the Office of Administration is preparing service standards. For example, if the service standard for PC's would be one PC per desktop that is less than four years old and if one EOP component is currently at that standard for 95 % of its employees and another is currently at that standard for 50% of its employees, based on need, the second component would get a larger share of the services to bring it closer to the EOP standard. This allows EOP to consistently upgrade software and services across the entire organization as the total infrastructure permits.

QUESTION 84: Are any agencies to receive extra services above and beyond the amount of funds they contributed as part of the consolidation?

RESPONSE: Yes, based on need and to bring organizations that are lagging behind the approved standards up to a consistent standard, some organizations may receive extra services above and beyond the amount of funds they contributed to the consolidation. We anticipate some of those services will be funded from savings in the program.

QUESTION 85: Under the procurement consolidation pilot approved in the FY03 Omnibus, are IT or database services for any EOP agency going to be paid for by funds contributed by other EOP agencies?

RESPONSE: Yes, in addition to generating procurement savings and efficiencies, a major goal of the consolidation pilot is to bring all of the EOP components up to a standard of service which will allow us to implement technology evenly across the organization and to realize efficiencies and benefits from a consistent and even infrastructure. In reaching this goal, the funds may be applied in a manner which is not in the same ratio in which they were contributed.

QUESTION 86: In general, are the funds appropriated for this centralized procurement program going to be used to supplement the appropriation made to individual agencies?

RESPONSE: Yes, the individual entities will be the recipients of the services funded by the centralized procurement program without reimbursement in accordance with the Congressional appropriation provided to OA.

QUESTION 87: If so, which agencies will benefit and which agencies will receive less than their share of contributions?

RESPONSE: OA is currently establishing the allocation standards for the commodities included in the centralized procurement program. OA is also requesting that the entities assist us in developing a baseline against which we will measure the allocation standards. That will determine which, if any, entities will benefit and which entities will receive less than their share of contributions.

QUESTION 88: You recently submitted a very cursory report on the procurement pilot. When will you provide us with specific details on the progress of the pilot program?

RESPONSE: As mentioned above, progress is being made on the plan to implement the Common Services Program. We expect to be able to brief the Subcommittee in greater detail this summer.

Your budget also proposes a change that would permit EOP agencies to transfer up to 10% into or out of any agency's budget. Coupled with your account consolidation proposal, that would allow you to transfer in up to $18 million more into (or out of) the White House's budget.

QUESTION 89: Under the procurement consolidation program that we approved in the FY03 bill, don't you have a similar type of flexibility already? What other flexibility is needed?

RESPONSE: The flexibility of the procurement consolidation program is directed to certain defined common commodities. The 10% transfer authority provides flexibility for unexpected requirements and to address needs that may be outside the program.

QUESTION 90: What protection is there for smaller EOP agencies under this proposal? Don't they stand to lose critical resources if the White House or Vice President's Office decide to take 10% of their resources?

REV_00169876

RESPONSE: It is more likely that the smaller entities will benefit from the proposal, because their appropriations are small they are less likely to be able to adjust to unforeseen circumstances, this program will allow the EOP to address those circumstances without requesting supplemental funding. Also, as a practical matter, the issue of "protection" is immaterial as all the entities (setting the Office of the Vice President aside) work directly for the President.

Office of Homeland Security Questions (POC – Paul Ehrhardt)

We recently received a reprogramming request to transfer $2m of the funds provided to the Office of Homeland Security to the Remote Delivery Site cleanup efforts. The source of these funds would come from the Office of Homeland Security.

The Office of Homeland Security has gone from an initial $25m stated need when the initial FY03 bills passed the House and Senate to $11m when the FY03 Omnibus was passed to what will be $9m if the reprogramming is approved.

QUESTION 91: What exactly does the Office of Homeland Security do now that the Department of Homeland Security is in place?

RESPONSE: HSC advises and assists the President on homeland security matters and coordinates policy development and the interagency process regarding Administration policy on homeland security, including the development and coordination of implementation of the National Strategy for Homeland Security to secure the United States from terrorist threats and attacks.

QUESTION 92: Does OHS still have a presence at Nebraska Avenue?

RESPONSE: No.

QUESTION 93: Does the Office of Administration provide any support to agencies at Nebraska Avenue? If so, please describe the specific types of support provided. Is this support on a reimbursable basis?

RESPONSE: Since the transfer of the Nebraska Avenue facility to the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) on January 1, 2003, OA has not provided any support to entities at the Nebraska Avenue Complex (NAC). Pursuant to a Determination by the OMB Director, funds in the amount of $3,746,000 were transferred from the OHS Emergency Fund within OA to the Department of Homeland Security in March 2003 to support NAC activities.

QUESTION 94: How many personnel and detailees now work for OHS?

REV_00169877

RESPONSE: The Homeland Security Council currently consists of 66 staff positions which can be filled by either Direct Hire FTE or Other Government Employee (detailee and assignee) personnel. HSC is requesting resources to support up to 40 Direct Hire FTE and 26 OGE FTE on its staff for FY 2004. See table below for a comparison with fiscal years 2003 and 2002.

Office of Homeland Security / Homeland Security Council Personnel

	FY 2002 Actual	FY 2003 Estimate	FY 2004 Request
Direct Hire FTE	31	40	40
Other Government Employee (EOY headcount)	89	26	26
Total Personnel	120	66	66

QUESTION 95: What is the actual operational budget need for OHS in FY03?

RESPONSE: The Homeland Security Council budget requirement from the FY 2003 appropriation is estimated to be approximately $4.32 million. Please note that the FY 2003 estimate covers only costs incurred after the enactment of the FY 2003 appropriation on February 20, 2003. Unlike other EOP entities which operated under continuing resolutions between October 1, 2003 and February 20, 2003, the Office of Homeland Security was not permitted to utilize the CR funding mechanism but instead continued to charge FY 2003 expenses against the no-year emergency funding (provided in FY2002) until the FY 2003 appropriation was enacted. Therefore the FY 2003 estimate reflects only seven months of activity, whereas the FY 2004 Request needs to cover HSC expenses for the full 12 months next fiscal year.

QUESTION 96: For the record, please provide us a breakout by object class of the Office of Homeland Security's FY03 remaining budget.

RESPONSE: The breakout below reflects HSC's budget for the last seven months of FY 2003, from the enactment of the FY 2003 Appropriation on February 20, 2003 through September 30, 2003.

REV_00169878

(Dollars in Thousands)

Object Class	FY 2003 est.
Personnel	$2,800
Travel	$60
Transportation of Things	$24
Communications, Utilities, and Miscelaneous	$50
Printing and Reproduction	$69
Other Services	$1,267
Equipment	$50
Total,	$4,320

QUESTION 97: Any likelihood that these estimates will be revised downward again?

RESPONSE: The FY 2003 estimate provided above reflects the best assessment of HSC requirements from the OHS FY 2003 appropriation, and actual obligations against this appropriation will likely be close to this current estimate.

QUESTION 98: I understand that the President named General Gordon as his new Homeland Security Adviser. Does he support the latest $2 million cut to his office's resources?

RESPONSE: To begin with we should note that, General Gordon has not yet reported to Homeland Security Council. Secondly, in any event, the EOP budget proposal provides the necessary resources for HSC to advise and assist the President. Third, we should also note that the reference to a $2 million cut is incorrect. In fact, the resources of the Homeland Security Council have not been cut by $2 million. The FY 2003 appropriations for the Homeland Security Council included $2 million for decontamination of the Remote Delivery Site (RDS) as agreed to by the Congress and the Administration. Subsequent to the passage of the FY 2003 appropriations, that $2 million was allocated to decontamination of the RDS per agreement. This planned use of that appropriation is not a cut to HSC resources.

QUESTION 99: Have you validated the FY04 request recently to ensure it is an accurate figure?

RESPONSE: Yes, HSC reevaluated its FY 2004 requirements prior to submitting the final FY 2004 Request. Given the creation of the Department of Homeland Security, HSC's FY 2004 budget requirements are estimated at $8,331,000; as requested.

REV_00169879

Budget Questions:

After the FY03 enacted levels are adjusted to reflect the transfer of $9 million to the Office of Homeland Security, the Executive Office of the President's FY04 budget request reflects an 8% increase over FY03 levels. Your agency, the Office of Administration requests a 10% increase between FY03 and FY04.

When the budget was introduced, Mitch Daniels said that the overall growth of Federal programs would be pegged to the expected 4% growth in inflation. The administration also said the President wanted to "match government's growth with the growth of American family income."

QUESTION 100: When the rest of the government is forced to live with 4% growth, how can you justify an almost 10% increase in your office and an overall Executive Office of the President increase of 8%? (POC – Chuck Sigman)

RESPONSE: The Office of Administration's 10% budget increase amounts to approximately $7 million. This increase is necessitated by additional costs stemming from the enhanced security activities in the post-September 11 environment:

- The Capital Investment Plan has a net increase of $3.8 million required for the relocation of the EOP data center to an offsite location. The offsite data center has been determined to be a critical project in any contingency plan, and the communications requirements for the data center will be significantly higher in the new facility.
- $2.5 million is needed for the new information technology contract, driven by the information technology service labor increases, the relocation of the data center as well as by the increased security concerns for EOP systems.
- $0.5 million is required for the EOP information assurance program.
- $0.2 million for physical security improvements to the White House complex in providing resources for security education and evacuation resources.

The 8% growth in the overall EOP budget amounts to approximately $24.6 million. Primary components of this increase are mission-specific needs proposed by the different EOP entities:

- $6.3 million in OA programs described in the prior paragraph ($3.8 million for the capital investment plan, $2.5 million for the information technology contract, $0.5 million for information assurance, and $0.2 million for physical security).
- $2.5 million in EOP-wide space rental increases to conform with GSA's market-based rental rates.
- $3.0 million for USTR's additional staff for intensified trade negotiations.

REV_00169880

- $3.0 million in the Executive Residence's multiyear East and West Wing restoration projects.
- $2.7 million for OMB personnel needs.
- $1.5 million for OMB's budget system updates.
- $0.7 million for OMB's E-Government staff and the Office of Information Technology.
- $0.8 million for additional staff for ONDCP.
- $0.6 million in the NSC's funding for reimbursable detailees and President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board's request for additional staff.
- $0.5 million for OSTP's continuity of operations plan.

The White House Office's increase of 3.6% looks smaller because of a realignment of $1.85m in rent to the Office of Administration's account. Without the realignment, the White House Office's increase would be around 6.6%.

QUESTION 101: What is the justification for this realignment? (POC – Eric Lanman)

RESPONSE: The realignment of $1.85M in rent was made to the WHO from the Office of Administration. Without this and other realignments made as part of the FY 2004 WHO budget request, The White House Office's increase would have only been 1.7 percent.

QUESTION 102: How could the White House have been paying the bill for space that wasn't theirs? (POC – Eric Lanman)

RESPONSE: The WHO has not been paying rent on the 1800 G Street office spaces that this realignment involves. These office spaces were necessitated by the movement of certain White House staff offices following the events of September 11. In FY 2003 funds for these spaces were budgeted by the Office of Administration and are being paid for as part of a pilot program authorized by law.

QUESTION 103: Which EOP agencies occupied this space on which the White House Office has been paying rent? (POC – Eric Lanman)

RESPONSE: As indicated in the previous answers, White House staff have been occupying this space. Rent is being paid by the Office of Administration as part of the pilot program authorized by law.

QUESTION 104: Are these costs that had historically been paid by the White House Office? (POC – Eric Lanman)

REV_00169881

RESPONSE: No. The 1800 G Street Office spaces were not occupied by EOP staff until after the events of 9-11.

QUESTION 105: If so, why make the change this year? (POC – Eric Lanman)

RESPONSE: The realignment of these costs under the WHO is done to reflect the costs under the office whose staff occupies them.

Travel

The White House Office's request includes a decrease of $400,000 in Presidential Travel.

QUESTION 106: Was the FY03 estimate too high? (POC – Eric Lanman)

RESPONSE: As part of the FY 2003 WHO budget submission, $600,000 was requested to support the travel requirements of the new USA Freedom Corps Office. Actual experience subsequently determined this amount to be in excess of need. As a result, the FY 2003 WHO travel line was reduced $329,647 by the statutory recission, and the FY 2004 WHO budget submission requested $400,000 less in the travel line than the original FY 2003 estimate.

QUESTION 107: If so, how do you intend to use the surplus funds? (POC – Eric Lanman)

RESPONSE: The $400,000 reduction to the FY 2004 WHO budget request for travel requirements does not result in surplus funds. It instead results in an overall reduction to the FY 2004 WHO budget estimate.

QUESTION 108: Are you planning less travel in FY04 or will more of the travel just be paid for by political entities? (POC – Eric Lanman)

RESPONSE: Except as noted above, the amount of official travel conducted by the White House staff is expected to remain consistent with the FY 2003 estimate.

QUESTION 109: Please provide a list of all White House Office, Office of Homeland Security and Office of Vice President official staff travel for FY02 and FY03 (to date). Include a brief description of the official purpose of the trip. For FY04 estimates, provide estimated number of trips and trip purpose. (POC – Rothley Howard)

RESPONSE: The following tables provide the FY 2002 and FY 2003 (to date) staff travel information, where a staff member received government reimbursement, for the

REV_00169882

White House Office and the Office of the Vice President. No FY 2004 estimates are available at this time.

QUESTION 111: How much did OMB reimburse the White House Office for use of White House motorpool vehicles in FY02? How much is OMB projecting to reimburse in FY03 and FY04? (POC – Brian Gillis)

RESPONSE: For FY 2002, OMB reimbursed the Department of Defense $99,000 for the use of the White House motorpool. OMB is projecting a similar amount for FY 2003 and FY 2004.

In the hearing, Mr. Daniel mentioned that the FY03 vehicle lease and IT support contracts came in significantly below the original budget estimates.

QUESTION 112: Do you intend to return the unused funds to the Treasury at the end of the fiscal year? (POC – Chuck Sigman)

RESPONSE: The EOP plans to use the funds to implement other critical EOP priorities. The programs which were described by Mr. Daniel at the hearing were the FY 2003 vehicle lease and the guard services contract for guard services at 1801 Pennsylvania Avenue. He did not refer to the IT support contract.

QUESTION 113: For these areas in which savings were realized, what are your plans for the funds? (POC – Chuck Sigman)

RESPONSE: For FY 2003, these funds are being applied to fund other priorities for the OA as well as common services for EOP entities. These other priorities include consolidation of information technology maintenance ($200,000), centralization of database services ($200,000), and common building service costs ($400,000). The remaining $300,000 of these savings will be used for an FY03 OA personnel shortfall.

Political Travel

QUESTION 114: Please explain the reimbursement procedures the White House intends to follow during the Presidential election season. (POC – Andy Kalnins)

RESPONSE: Travel by senior Administration officials is governed by relevant statutes and regulations that have been followed for many years.

QUESTION 115: Exactly when will the presidential-campaign procedures take effect? (POC – Andy Kalnins)

REV_00169908

RESPONSE: The presidential-campaign procedures take effect when a President is a candidate for re-election.

QUESTION 116: How do you determine who the official travelers are on a campaign or political trip? Does the list of positions vary from trip to trip? (POC – Andy Kalnins)

RESPONSE: Consistent with governing statutes and regulations, and traditional practice, a list of positions has been developed which are deemed to always be official.

QUESTION 117: On trips with political and official components, what is the procedure for determining which events are paid for using official funds and which events are reimbursed by the political entity? (POC – Andy Kalnins)

RESPONSE: The guidelines are based on legal principles embodied in 5 CFR §734.503, policies established over a period of years by previous Administrations, and guidance from Federal Election Commission opinions.

QUESTION 118: If the President gives virtually the same speech at a political event that he gave at an official event in that same city, what criteria is used to determine whether an event is "political" or "official"? (POC – Andy Kalnins)

RESPONSE: Appearing at party functions, fundraising, and campaigning for specific candidates are principal examples of travel which ordinarily is considered political.

QUESTION 119: If the President gives virtually the same speech at a political event that he gave at an official event in that same city, does the political entity reimburse the White House for the Speechwriters time? (POC – WHO M&A)

RESPONSE: Ordinarily not. See 5 CFR §734.503(b)(1).

QUESTION 120: Have events been classified as "official" even if only members of the President's political party are invited to share the stage with the President? (POC – WHO M&A)

RESPONSE: The classification of an event as official or political depends on many factors. However, Presidents routinely have official events that may include members of only one party, for example, a speech or meeting about legislative activities or issues.

QUESTION 121: If so, what justification is used to argue that these events were not political events? (POC – WHO M&A)

REV_00169909

RESPONSE: The classification of an event as official or political depends on many factors. However, Presidents routinely have official events that may include members of only one party, for example, a speech or meeting about legislative activities or issues.

QUESTION 122: Please provide information about reimbursement to the White House Office or other government agencies associated with local staff travel to political events attended by the President in FY02 or FY03. For each reimbursement made, please provide the date the bill was generated, the number of events reflected on the bill, the date payment was received, the political entity paying the charges and the total amount paid on each bill. (POC – WHO M&A)

RESPONSE: The White House took steps to ensure appropriate reimbursements from the relevant political entities for political trips.

Photographic Services (POC – Eric Lanman)

QUESTION 123: For FY02, FY03 and FY04, what was (or is projected to be) the total cost of photographic equipment purchased for use by the White House photographers?

RESPONSE: The total cost (actual and projected) of photographic equipment procured for use by White House photographers in FY 2002, FY 2003 and FY 2004 are displayed in the table below.

	FY 2002	FY 2003	FY 2004
	Actual	Estimate	Estimate
Photographic Equipment	$137,057	$35,700	$36,300

FY 2002 actual costs are higher than the estimates for FY 2003 and FY 2004 due to the necessary life cycle replacement of photographic equipment.

QUESTION 124: For FY02, FY03 and FY04, what was (or is projected to be) the total cost of photo lab equipment purchased for use by the WHCA photo lab?

	FY 2002	FY 2003	FY 2004

QUESTION 125: For FY02, FY03 and FY04, what was (or is projected to be) the total travel cost associated with travel of White House Photographers?

REV_00169910

RESPONSE: The FY 2002 travel costs of White House Photographers was $46,721. The estimated FY 2003 cost is $50,000 and the projected cost for FY 2004 is $55,000.

QUESTION 126: For FY02, FY03 and FY04, what was (or is projected to be) the total rent cost associated with the WHCA photo lab?

RESPONSE: There is no rent cost associated with the WHCA photo lab. However, there are utility and facility maintenance costs associated with the WHCA photo lab. Those costs were $73,600 for FY 2002, $76,650 estimated for FY 2003 and a projected $79,000 for FY 2004.

QUESTION 127: Please explain the procedures for determining when and how the government is to be reimbursed for photos released for non-official purposes. If these procedures have changed from those followed by the previous administration, please explain any changes that have been made.

RESPONSE: The procedures for obtaining reimbursements for photographs changed on October 1, 2000. The procedures now in place are designed to ensure that the government receives appropriate reimbursement for photographs sought for non-official purposes. Records are kept of all such requests, and appropriate reimbursement is then sought.

QUESTION 128: For FY02 and the first seven months of FY03, please provide the following information about each payment made to the White House, OA, WHCA, DISA (or other DoD organization) to reimburse for the release of photos or photo lab services that were provided:

- date reimbursement was made
- name of reimbursing organization
- amount of payment
- number of photos purchased by reimbursing organization
- size of photos purchased by reimbursing organization

RESPONSE: The requested information about each payment made to the White House, OA, WHCA, DISA (or other DoD organization) to reimburse for the release of photos is provided below.

Remote Delivery Site Reprogramming Request (POC – Paul Ehrhardt)

We recently received a reprogramming request to transfer $2m of the funds provided to the Office of Homeland Security to the Remote Delivery Site cleanup efforts.

QUESTION 129: What is the status of remediation efforts?

RESPONSE: We are in the process of Confirmatory Sampling. The sampling plan is intended to present a technical approach for (1) completing air and surface sampling for culturable Bacillus anthracis spores to verify the efficacy of the decontamination process: (2) providing for qualified laboratory analysis of the collected samples: and (3) presenting a protocol for data collection and reporting such that the results of the sampling effort are valid and defensible. In addition, the Plan provides for the site and personnel security, safety, health, and personal protection, equipment and collection methods, and sample handling.

QUESTION 130: Please provide the total budget estimate for this project.

RESPONSE: As the contractor responsible for returning the building to an environmentally safe workplace, Versar to date has not been able to develop or provide accurate cost estimates or time lines to EOP. Budget and schedule estimates for this project are especially difficult due to critical path activities taking place in a high-risk environment relying on the utilization of untested speculative technologies. However to date $2.422 million has been spent on the effort and we are currently requesting an additional $2 million, which is Versar's best estimate of what it will cost to complete the project. The total budget estimate for the project then comes to $4.422 million.

QUESTION 131: Please provide the anticipated schedule for this effort.

RESPONSE: Given many variables, including weather, our best current estimate of time to required complete the RDS project is 4 months. The confirmatory testing phase is estimated to take eight weeks from start up. The next phase would be for the ECC committee to ratify the confirmation process; we estimate this to be one month. After this is completed, our best estimate is thirty days to perform PM on the HVAC equipment, build out the office areas, and re-establish the building operation.

QUESTION 132: What caused this $2 million overrun?

RESPONSE: There is not a $2 million overrun. The request for $2 million is a result of anticipated costs and those unforeseen conditions as result of the environmental cleanup process, that OA, GSA or its contractors had available at the time of fumigation. The Environmental Clearance Committee has placed additional requirements that resulted in the additional costs. The proposed sampling plan utilizes the barrier divisions already in Building 410 (which provides discrete work areas) and presents proposed sampling location, quantity, and types of samples to be collected . Sampling will be carried out using a phased approach for each work area as follows:

Phase 1, Surface Sampling; Phase 2 Air Sampling: Phase 3, "Dynamic Sampling", Phase 4, Start Up of the Heating, Ventilation , and Air Conditioning (HVAC) Units; and Phase 5, Final Sampling with the Barriers Down.

QUESTION 133: Why have you stopped providing the monthly reports on the remediation efforts?

RESPONSE: Due to the process of establishing the Environmental Clearance Committee, it was an administrative error that the reports were inadvertently not forwarded.

Previously the Remote Delivery Site was used to screen incoming mail. It also used to serve as an off-site supply depot. With the Department of Homeland Security now assuming the mail processing function and with supply operations now established on the White House Complex, I'm curious about future plans for the RDS.

REV_00169914

QUESTION 134: What will the facility be used for when remediation is finished?

RESPONSE: Prior to September 11, 2001 the Remote Delivery Site (RDS) was used as a centralized receiving facility for the White House Complex. All postage flat mail and packages, including UPS and FedEx deliveries, and all equipment and local deliveries were delivered to the RDS. All incoming deliveries, regardless of size, were screened by the U.S. Secret Service (USSS) via large X ray machines, and if any equipment was too large to fit on the X-ray conveyer belt, then the USSS used dogs to sniff for explosives. After initial USSS clearance, all of the items were sorted and delivered to their intended destination to the White House Complex. Supplies, equipment and furniture which were purchased for inventory for use at later time were housed at the RDS.

In addition to the screening of WHO Complex deliveries, the USSS Administrative Operations Division used RDS space to screen all of its incoming mail and packages that were intended for USSS personnel.

The EOP Supply store was operated within the confines of the RDS. Supplies were purchased and inventoried at the RDS and office supplies and copier paper were purchased in volume to take advantage of discounts. The WHO/EOP customers faxed supply requisitions to the RDS staff who then pulled and boxed office supplies for delivery to the WHO Complex. OA property supply staff made supply deliveries to the WHO complex at least twice a day, and more if needed.

The EOP/OA Personal Property Program (excess, transfer, donation, and destruction of furniture and equipment) had its operations housed at the RDS. Excessed equipment and furniture were corralled at the RDS until enough equipment and furniture were gathered to make it economical to excess all at once. In addition, schools and nonprofit organizations were allowed to review equipment for donation under Executive Order 12999.

After September 11, as a precautionary move, the White House United States Postal Service was relocated from the Eisenhower Executive Office Building to the RDS. A separate room was built for the USPS's operation of opening and screening all White House mail. The RDS operations continued working around the new USPS area. These USPS operations continued until the RDS was closed due to the discovery of Anthrax. Since then the USPS operations have relocated to 1800 G. St. NW.

Once the remediation is finished, the RDS will resume its former function of screening all bulk deliveries (including equipment, furniture, boxes of supplies) sent to the EOP Complex. In addition the facility will be used to store supplies and an inventory of equipment and furniture. The RDS will also be used as a staging area for efficient loading and delivery of bulk items for all EOP entities.

QUESTION 135: Will the DHS use the facility to screen the White House's mail?

REV_00169915

RESPONSE: No.

QUESTION 136: Will you close the on-site supply stores and revert back to running the supply operation out of the Remote Delivery Site?

RESPONSE: When the RDS reopens after the remediation of the building, the RDS staff will resume the same functions prior to the Anthrax. However, there are major changes in the way the OA Supply Store operates and manages its supply inventory. The Office of Administration has entered into a new business relationship with GSA. The OA Supply operation will purchase its supplies from GSA who will provide a wide array of office supplies and maintain the level of supply inventory that is needed to support the WHO Complex. The GSA inventory will be housed at the RDS after relocation from Franconia, VA, the current, temporary RDS location. OA supply staff will pull supply orders based on customer's requisitions, and then box and deliver the supplies from the RDS to WHO complex. GSA will only charge for the supplies that EOP customers use at point of sale, otherwise the unsold inventory will still belong to GSA. GSA promises to maintain the supplies that the EOP customers may need. Inventories will be reviewed and adjusted to realize the kind and quantities of supplies the EOP customers expect. This business relationship will promote a more flexible inventory that allows the supply inventory to have the quantity or variety of supplies to meet our customer needs in a more proactive, real-time fashion.

White House Access (POC – WHO M&A)

QUESTION 137: For the record, please provide the total number of visitors who passed through the White House as part of tours in 2000, 2001, 2002 and 2003 (to date).

RESPONSE: Listed below are total numbers of visitors that passed through the White House from 2000 to year to date FY 2003, as reported in National Park Service (NPS) statistical abstract:

2000: 1,175,714
2001: 856,042
2002: 178,092
2003: 43,434 (as of May 14)

Please note that the NPS records garden tours and egg roll events in their annual numbers for visitors to the White House even though the people attending these events do not go through the house. Since the numbers for the visitors that actually go through the house are not exclusively available, we have included the egg roll event in the numbers for 2003 for consistency. There was no a spring garden tour in 2003.

QUESTION 138: Why are White House tours currently not open to the general public?

REV_00169916

RESPONSE: White House special group tours were reopened for certain group tours on May 6, 2003. Over the past many months, the White House has operated a successful program, in partnership with Congressional offices, allowing special group tours to visit. We will continue to book groups using existing procedures unless circumstances dictate otherwise.

The White House is mindful of the request to fully resume public tours. We continue to consult with law enforcement and intelligence services on how to ensure the safety of the residents, staff and the general public while at the White House.

QUESTION 139: What is the status of the report on the status of White House Tours that was due to the Subcommittee by March 22nd?

RESPONSE: This question was answered and sent to the Subcommittee by the March 22nd deadline.

QUESTION 140: Who has the lead on the efforts to decide whether public tours can be resumed?

RESPONSE: The United States Secret Service constantly monitors and evaluates existing conditions to determine the level of security required at the White House complex including when and if tours can be resumed on a full schedule. Their recommendations, along with input from other law enforcement and intelligence services who monitor changing world events, are reviewed with White House management staff to schedule and structure tours in such a manner that will provide an appropriate level of security for general public taking the tours, in addition to the staff who work in and around the Complex, and the residents. This is an ongoing effort.

QUESTION 141: Does the USSS do a background check on all individuals attending events and meetings at the White House Complex before access can be granted?

RESPONSE: For security reasons, it is not appropriate to provide information about the specific nature of background checks and related security procedures in this context.

QUESTION 142: During this administration, have White House aides ever overruled a building-access recommendation made by the USSS?

RESPONSE: The USSS and EOP Staff collaborate in making decisions on access to the complex.

Off-site EOP Support

QUESTION 143: How many EOP employees are based in Crawford, TX? (POC – Stacia Cropper)

RESPONSE: One.

QUESTION 144: How much space does the EOP pay rent for in Crawford, TX? (POC James Daniel/Stacia Cropper)

RESPONSE: There is one double-wide trailer. The cost of the trailer itself and all operating costs will be paid to GSA in a monthly rent payment of $8,496.83 for two years.

QUESTION 145: How many trailers were acquired for Crawford, TX? (POC James Daniel/Stacia Cropper)

RESPONSE: One trailer was acquired for the EOP.

QUESTION 146: What was the cost to purchase and renovate these trailers? (POC James Daniel/Stacia Cropper)

RESPONSE: The cost of the trailer shell was $72,745.28. The cost to apply finishes to the trailer interior was $20,976.62.

QUESTION 147: What are the expected FY04 operating costs of facilities and staff permanently deployed to Crawford, TX? (POC James Daniel/Stacia Cropper)

RESPONSE: The following are the estimated operating costs for one year: Pest Control ($1,440), cleaning ($4,200), electricity ($4,211.75), and water ($2,286.38).

Rent (POC – Steve Beattie)

QUESTION 148: Please provide an accounting of all space on which the EOP currently pays rent. The list should include the number of staff in each building, the agencies which occupy space in each facility, the total square footage by agency in each facility, the total square footage of vacant space on which the EOP is currently paying rent in each facility and the GSA rent rates for each facility.

RESPONSE: The following charts provide the information on EOP facilities and GSA rental rates as they stood during the formulation of the FY 2004 budget request. Since then, several offices have moved from the New Executive Office Building (NEOB) into the space in 1800 G. Street. In addition, several offices from the Eisenhower Executive Office building will be moving into the newly vacated space at the NEOB. Once all moves have been accomplished, the EOP will provide the Subcommittee with an update on the space utilization of the buildings on the White House complex.

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS REPORT

To the Management of
White House Travel Office Press Fund

We have audited the accompanying statement of financial position of the White House Travel Office Press Fund as of December 31, 2001, and the related statements of activities and cash flows for the year then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the White House Travel Office Press Fund's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the White House Travel Office Press Fund as of December 31, 2001, and the changes in its net assets and its cash flows for the nine months then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

WHITE HOUSE TRAVEL OFFICE PRESS FUND
NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
DECEMBER 31, 2001

NOTE 1 – ORGANIZATION

The White House Travel Office Press Fund ('WHTO") was established to manage expenses associated with travel for members of the press who accompany the President, Vice President, First Lady, and Second Lady on domestic and foreign trips. In May 1993, a new management team was hired to manage WHTO. Consequently, for accounting and reporting purposes, a new WHTO was established as of January 1, 1994.

NOTE 2- SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Revenue and expenditures are recognized using the accrual basis of accounting. The WHTO invoices the press organizations for their prorated share of the expenses associated with each trip. The WHTO then remits payment directly to the vendors whose services were used for the particular trip. The total amount invoiced to the press members equals the total of the amounts paid to the vendors. The WHTO does not own any fixed assets. Al! fixed assets are purchased through the White House's general fund and designated for the WHTO use. Similarly, all operating expenses of the WHTO, including salaries and office supplies, are paid directly by the White House's general fund.

NOTE 3- CASH

Gash is maintained in two non-interest checking accounts at the Riggs National Bank of Washington, D.C. The RCA 2000 cash account is explained in Note 4.

The total cash held by WHTO at December 31, 2001 includes $512,821 that is not covered by insurance provided by the federal government. It is the opinion of WHTO's management that the solvency of the referenced financial institution is not of particular concern at this time.

REV_00169930

NOTE 4 - RESTRICTED CASH ACCOUNT

Effective April 1, 2000, the management of the White House Travel Office implemented a Restricted Cash Account (RCA). RCA funds are encumbered for specific purposes set forth in written policies and procedures, most notably for payment of late arriving vendor invoices, bank charges and accounts receivable written off as uncollectible.

The RCA is funded through an RCA funding amount applied to every customer invoice, except those for government employees. Presently, that funding amount is two percent of the invoice amount

RCA funding amounts are not considered revenue for accounting purposes.

Under current policies and procedures, a separate RCA is established for each calendar year. The RCA 2000 account on the Statement of Financial Position reflects the total amount of cash in that account at December 31, 2001. The RCA liability accounts for 2000 and 2001 reflect the total RCA funding amount applied to all customer invoices during the respective calendar year, less any disbursements. RCA funding amounts that have been invoiced but not yet collected are included in the accounts receivable amount.

The RCA for each year will be terminated at a designated point in time after the conclusion of the applicable calendar year. At the time of dissolution, any excess funds will be refunded to the Press Fund's customers subject to the RCA funding amount in accordance with a formula based on the percentage of the total travel costs consumed during the year corresponding to the RCA. For example, if a customer were responsible for ten percent of all travel costs for the calendar year 2001, they would be entitled to ten percent of the remaining RCA 2001 funds at the time of dissolution.

NOTE 5 – ACCOUNTS RECEIVABLE

Currently, the WHTO writes off accounts receivable using the direct write-off method. Therefore, there is no allowance for uncollectible accounts.

REV_00169931

NOTE 6 - OTHER RECEIVABLES

As per note 2, the WHTO utilizes a system of dollar for dollar accounting. Under the current accounting process, vendor invoices for trip expenses are entered into accounts payable as they are received. Accordingly, there is an accumulation of unbilled trip expenses in accounts payable until such time that trip accounting is finalized and members of the press are invoiced for their pro rata share of trip expenses. This timing difference creates the need for an Other Receivables category. Other Receivables represents the obligations for normal trip expenses that have been entered into accounts payable, but not yet billed to the press.

QUESTION 155: Please explain the formula you use to determine the rate of reimbursement for Press Corps travelers on the Press Charter?

RESPONSE: Each leg of the itinerary is assigned a proportionate cost, which is divided equally among all press passengers. The following formula is used to compute the proportionate cost for each leg of the trip: (Leg flight time / Total flight time) * Total Air Transportation Expense

QUESTION 156: Please explain the formula you use to determine the rate of reimbursement for Press Pool travelers on Air Force One?

RESPONSE: The cost of the fourteen members of the pool traveling on AF1 is added to the total air transportation expense and the total costs are spread on a pro-rata share among all of the press travelling on the trip. The following formula is used to compute the proportionate cost for each leg of the trip: (Leg flight time / Total flight time) * Total Air Transportation Expense

QUESTION 157: Please explain the formula used to identify the reimbursement rate that the Travel Office billed Press Corps travelers accompanying the President's travel to the USS Abraham Lincoln. In your response, please include the actual rate billed to individual press corps travelers on this trip.

RESPONSE: The cost of transporting press corps travelers from the North Island Naval Air Station to the USS Abraham Lincoln and back to the North Island Naval Air Station totaled $7,440.26. This cost will be added to the total air transportation expense and spread on a pro-rata share among all the press traveling on the trip. The formula for military aircraft reimbursement for the trip to the USS Abraham Lincoln is as follows: $X per hour per aircraft, divided by 60 minutes to get a per minute rate, multiplied by the flight time, divided by the total number of passengers, and then 7.5% excise tax plus $3.00 dollars per person was added.

Bonuses

QUESTION 158: Why did this administration reinstate the payments of bonuses to political appointees? (POC – WHO M&A)

RESPONSE: The relevant statutes and regulations make clear that all Federal employees are eligible for bonuses. Therefore, like other Federal employees, Schedule C and non-career Senior Executive Service (SES) employees may receive bonuses. Consistent with law, this and past Administrations have made bonuses available to Schedule C and SES employees in appropriate circumstances.

REV_00169933

QUESTION 159: Have any EOP political staff been given bonuses since the policy was reinstated in March of 2002? (POC – Jon Laurich)

RESPONSE: Bonuses have been awarded to EOP political staff.

QUESTION 160: Have any EOP political staff been given pay increases for a single pay period in FY02 or FY03 (to date) that would have the same effect as a bonus? (POC – Jon Laurich)

RESPONSE: No.

Eisenhower Executive Office Building

QUESTION 161: Since 1/20/01, have any non-Federal funds been used for renovations and/or furnishings in the GSA facilities occupied by the Executive Office of the President? [this question does not apply to the White House residence.] (POC –WHO M&A)

RESPONSE: We understand this question to refer to buildings within the White House complex that are managed by GSA, including the EEOB, and the East and West Wings. As the Committee is aware, two federal agencies – the GSA, and the National Park Service -- have authority to accept gifts donated to the United States for use in various buildings in the White House complex.

Historically these agencies have on occasion accepted gifts to the United States donated for use in these facilities. For example, in the past, furnishings have been donated to renovate the Oval Office, located in the West Wing. That has also occurred in this Administration. To illustrate: in 2002 a donation was made of three sofas, including sofa fabric, and fabric for two chairs, all for use in the Oval Office. This donation was accepted by the National Park Service under its gift acceptance authority, on behalf of the United States. The donated items became part of the White House collection and will be cared for by the White House Curator.

QUESTION 162: Which Federal agency (i.e., GSA, OA/Facilitles) coordinated the work that was paid for using non-Federal funds? (POC –WHO M&A)

RESPONSE: I understand this question to refer to buildings within the White House complex that are managed by GSA, including the EEOB, and the East and West Wings. As the Committee is aware, two federal agencies – the GSA, and the National Park

QUESTION 167: Please provide a list of all EOP and EOP-support-related agencies that occupied space in the Eisenhower Executive Office Building on 1/20/01 that have since been relocated to locations outside the EEOB. For each agency that relocated, please identify the agency that paid the move-related costs. (POC – Steve Beattie)

RESPONSE: There was no movement of EOP offices from the EEOB prior to September 11, 2001. After September 11, the Office of Administration, using Emergency Supplemental funding, paid for the moves of the following offices outside of the EEOB.

EOP Offices Previously in the EEOB	New Location
WHO Presidential Personnel	1800 G. Street
WHO Presidential Correspondence	1800 G. Street
Council on Environmental Quality	Jackson Place Townhouses
Office of Science and Technology Policy	1801 Pennsylvania Avenue

QUESTION 168: What is the status of the vacant space on the 17th Street side of the Eisenhower Executive Office Building? (POC – Steve Beattie)

RESPONSE: The vacant space along 17th street is under construction as part of the Fire and Life Safety Improvements project.

EOP Staffing Levels:

QUESTION 169: By EOP agency, provide FTE and OGE. Itemize OGE by category (e.g. reimbursable detailee, PSC, etc). Include FY 2002 (actual) and FY03-FY04 (estimates). Please provide a list of the "historically provided" White House Office positions, the office to which these positions are assigned and the agency that pays the salary for each of these positions. (POC – Jon Laurich)

RESPONSE: The following chart provides the FTE and OGE information for FY 2002 to FY 2004 in addition to a listing of "historically provided" White House Office positions.

Patrick and Jennifer,
I wanted to forward you all the final draft 2. They extended the deadline to Monday COB, so if your staff has any additional comments from their edits, again please send them to Monique Dilworth. I will be out of the office tomorrow, but if you need anything, Monique or Colleen will be available. Again, many, many thanks to all of you!

Questions for the Record
Chairman Ernest J. Istook, Jr.
Hearing on the Executive Office of the President
April 30, 2003

Unobligated Balances (POC - Veronica Kitchen)

QUESTION 1: Please provide a listing of all unobligated balances, by fiscal year, appropriation and PPA, for all accounts within the Executive Office of the President. Please also show the original appropriation levels for these accounts.

Consolidation of Accounts (POC- Al Muhlbauer)

QUESTION 2: Sections 105 and 106 of title 3 U. S. Code describe expenses that may be accounted for solely on the certificate of the President and Vice President, respectively. Most of these expenses correspond to particular accounts. The Comptroller General may inspect documents related to these expenditures, but solely to verify that the expenditures were made for allowed purposes. When we asked last year how certified expenses would be identified for audit within a consolidated appropriation, the response was that the certification requirements would continue to be observed (p. 41). This does not answer the question of how the account structure will be maintained to provide an identifiable and auditable crosswalk between title 3-certifiable expenses and other expenses within the consolidated appropriation.

RESPONSE: As presented in the Congressional Budget Submission pages 4, 5, and 6, the Executive Office of the President (EOP) has established a Budget Activity structure that is consistent, beginning with the budget submission and extending through the accounting and reporting phases. The EOP accounting system will track and report obligations and expenditures consistent with this structure through the use of budget activity, program, sub-program, and line item codes assigned to each transaction. EOP has the ability to provide an identifiable and auditable crosswalk to the individual transactions authorized under sections 105 and 106 of Title 3 of the United States Code.

QUESTION 3: Please provide a listing of all appropriations language enacted in Public Law 108-7 which would be dropped in the proposed account consolidation, and provide a brief explanation of why that language is not necessary.

RESPONSE: The following appropriations in Public Law 108-7: Compensation of the President, White House Office Salaries and Expenses, Office of Homeland Security, Executive Residence at the White House, White House Repair and Restoration, Council of Economic Advisers, Office of Policy Development, National Security Council, Office of Administration would be combined into one appropriation entitled "The White House". The individual language in Public Law 108-7 for each of those appropriations would be removed. However, suggested language for the combined appropriation is provided in the Appendix to the FY 2004 Budget (page 881) and states: "For the Compensation of the President and White House Office (including the Office of Homeland Security), Executive Residence, White House Repair and Restoration, Office of Policy and Development, Office of Administration, Council of Economic Advisers and the National Security Council, (hereinafter, and solely for the purposes of Title VI of this Act, "the White House"), $183,770,000, of which $24,803,000 shall remain available until expended, including compensation for the President, including an expense allowance of $50,000 as authorized by U.S.C. 102; for travel expense of $100,000 as authorized by 3 U.S.C. 103; for necessary expenses for the White House as authorized by 5 U.S.C. 3109 and 3 U.S.C. 105; for the necessary expenses of the Executive Residence at the White House as authorized by 3 U.S.C. 105,109,110, and 112-114; for the necessary expenses of the Offices and Councils in the White House account as authorized by 5 U.S.C. 3109, 15 U.S.C. 1021, and 3 U.S.C. 105 and 107 (including not to exceed $19,000 for official reception and representation expenses); and for the hire of passenger motor vehicles: Provided, That none of the funds made available to the President for official expenses shall be expended for any other purpose and any unused portion of such funds shall revert to the Treasury pursuant to 31 U.S.C. 1552: Provided further, That no such funds shall be considered as taxable to the President: Provided further, That advances or repayments or transfers from this appropriation may be made to any department or agency for expenses of carrying out such activities."

The suggested language, with the exception of a consolidated appropriation amount incorporates the same restrictions and clarifications as contained the language contained in the Public Law 108-7 for the appropriations being consolidated. The appropriations for Vice President's Salaries and Expense, Vice President's Residence Operating Expenses, Office of Management and Budget, Office of National Drug Control Policy, Unanticipated Needs will remain separate appropriations and will therefore not require any language changes as a result of the combination.

The White House (Consolidated Account) (POC – Chuck Sigman)

QUESTION 4: You are requesting $12,302,000 for object class 23.3 (communications, utilities, and miscellaneous services) in FY 2004. This is a large increase over the estimated $7,010,000 for FY 2003. What accounts for the increase?

RESPONSE: The FY 2004 White House (WH) consolidated budget net increase of $5,292,000 for communications is required in three major areas:

- Most of the increase ($4,420,000) is needed in the OA Capital Investment Plan for offsite data center communications. This facility will transition into full operation during FY 2004. The telecommunications between the offsite data center and the EOP complex are necessary to provide expanded, survivable and redundant connectivity, continuity of operations, disaster recovery and system support. These costs include funds for telecommunications lines, two additional

DS-3 data paths, two T-1 lines, and backups to provide the communications bandwidth necessary for servicing the EOP complex.

- $482,000 in the White House Office budget to provide a custom communications package which will enable the Homeland Security Council to establish a presence for its staff within the White House Situation Room.

- $100,000 for information assurance in the OA salaries/expenses budget. In addition to the Offsite Data Center project, the OA FY 2004 budget also includes a request for an additional $100,000 for the information assurance program in the FY 2004 salaries/expenses account. This program will enable the CIO office to correct vulnerabilities in the EOP information security perimeter to secure internal systems, to perform real-time monitoring of perimeter network devices.

- $151,000 in transfers of Lexis-Nexis database costs from nonconsolidated entities to the consolidated White House appropriation. The FY 2004 budget envisions that $72,000 will be transferred from USTR, $56,000 from ONDCP, $15,000 from OMB, and $8,000 from CEQ so that the EOP can have a single funding source for EOP-wide Lexis-Nexis service.

- $139,000 for adjustments to maintain the same level of services for the base funding during FY 2004. This is calculated on the basis of the $7,010,000 in FY 2003 funding.

Rental Pricing (POC – Chuck Sigman)

QUESTION 5: The FY 2004 justifications state that, over the past year, EOP, GSA, and OMB have undertaken an assessment of space rental costs for all EOP entities. The result of this analysis is that the FY 2004 request includes additional funding to accommodate an "EOP average" rental rate. Please provide details of how this analysis was conducted, and specify the estimated rental rates for the various EOP entities, as determined by this analysis.

RESPONSE: The EOP space rental project began during the summer of 2002 at the request of OMB's budget examiners, who were working to ensure that EOP entities moved to the same market-based rent methodology used to determine space rental rates for GSA's other Federal properties. OMB requested that GSA and EOP review the space rental costs for each EOP property and each EOP entity so that the most up-to-date costs available were included in the FY 2004 budget proposal. Another significant concern in this project is to ensure that GSA will work with the EOP to ensure that the critical needs of the EOP are funded and executed.

As a result of the initial project, OA and GSA began a series of meetings which culminated in the space estimates which were included in the budget. GSA staff prepared a comprehensive listing of EOP properties, which itemized the space occupied by each

EOP entity. This listing included commercial and government-owned space, current estimates of rentable square footage, and the annual rental rate per square foot. EOP staff provided updated estimates of the rentable square footage.

During this process, GSA blended the fair-market rates for the permanent EOP buildings into a single blended rate. This was done to simplify the administrative work when EOP staff are relocated. This is especially needed in the post-9/11 environment's unusually high number of large-scale EOP entity relocations driven by security considerations as well as the result of the legislation creating the Department of Homeland Security. The EOP average rental rate for Federally-owned properties (New Executive Office Building (NEOB), Eisenhower Executive Office Building (OEOB), White House, Winder Building, Jackson Place) is $29.60 annually per square foot. GSA adds an additional building security charge for buildings which are not protected by the US Secret Service. The average rental rates used to determine each entity's budget estimate for office space are as follows:

Entity	Locations	Owned or Leased	Average Rental Rate
OMB	EEOB, NEOB	owned	$29.60/sf

QUESTION 6: By EOP office, please provide FTE and OGE, similar in format to the tables found on pages 111 and 112 of last year's hearing record. Please provide data for FY 2002 through 2004.

RESPONSE: The following tables provide the total FY 2002 actual, FY 2003 and FY 2004, estimates for full time equivalents (FTE) and other government employees (OGE) for each EOP and other entity as of May 5, 2003. The OGE numbers are itemized by category on the following page. The FY 2003 numbers have the Office of Homeland Security in a separate category, which accordingly decreased the White House numbers. The FY 2003 and FY 2004 numbers are estimates only and are therefore subject to change.

Office of Homeland Security (POC – Paul Ehrhardt)

QUESTION 9: Your FY 2004 budget requests $8,331,000 for the Office of Homeland Security. Please provide an object class breakdown of those costs and compare them to FY 2003 estimated levels.

RESPONSE: The Office of Homeland Security was created by the President on October 8, 2001, via Executive Order 13228 and serves as and is synonymous with the staff of the Homeland Security Council (HSC). An object class breakdown of estimated HSC costs in FY 2003 and FY 2004 is provided in the table below. Please note that the FY 2003 estimate covers only costs incurred after the enactment of the FY 2003 appropriation on February 20, 2003. Unlike other EOP offices which operated under continuing resolutions between October 1, 2003 and February 20, 2003, the Office of Homeland Security was not permitted to utilize the CR funding mechanism but instead continued to charge FY 2003 expenses against the no-year emergency funding (provided in FY2002) until the FY 2003 appropriation was enacted. Therefore the FY 2003 estimate reflects only seven months of activity, whereas the FY 2004 Request needs to cover HSC expenses for the full 12 months next fiscal year.

(Dollars in Thousands)	FY 2003 Appropriation	FY 2003 Estimate*	FY 2004 Request	2004 Request - 2003 Estimate
Homeland Security Council:
Personnel	$4,403	$2,800	$5,550	$2,750
Travel	$300	$60	$588	$528
Transportation of Things	$24	$24	$10	-$14
Rent	$0	$0	$200	$200
Communications, Utilities, and Misc.	$209	$50	$1,080	$1,030
Printing and Reproduction	$69	$69	$50	-$19
Other Services	$3,267	$1,267	$528	-$739
Supplies and Materials	$0		$175	$175
Equipment	$0	$50	$150	$100
Subtotal	$8,272	$4,320	$8,331	$4,011

* FY 2003 Estimate covers only seven months vs. FY 2004 Request covering full 12 months

Rent was included in the Office of Administration budget in FY 2003, and is moved back to the Homeland Security Council in FY 2004. The Communications object class in FY 2004 includes funding to provide a custom communications package to establish an interface for the Homeland Security Council within the White House Situation Room. Supplies and Materials and Equipment object classes both were funded out of the Office of Administration Pilot Program in FY 2003 but show budgets in HSC for FY 2004.

QUESTION 10: In particular, how much are you requesting in FY 2004 for professional contracts, and how does that compare to the estimated FY 2003 level?

REV_00169952

RESPONSE: In FY 2004 HSC is requesting $528,000 for Other Services compared with $3,267,000 appropriated for the same category in FY 2003. The decrease is due to the creation of the Department of Homeland Security as the President's Security as the President's advisors and as the staff of HSC. Anticipated contractual needs in FY 2004 include maintenance, upgrades, and technical support for the classified computer network that will be extended to include HSC staff in FY 2003.

QUESTION 11: How many FTE and FTP are you requesting for this office in FY 2004, and how do these figures compare to current FY 2003 estimates and actuals for FY 2002?

RESPONSE: HSC is requesting resources to support 40 direct hire FTE and 26 Other Government Employees on its staff to fill the 66 positions HSC is projecting for FY 2004.

Office of Homeland Security / Homeland Security Council Personnel

	FY 2002 Actual	FY 2003 Estimate	FY 2004 Request
Direct Hire FTE	31	40	40

RESPONSE: The chart below shows the current Homeland Security Council's organization.

REV_00169957

QUESTION 17: Please update the information shown on pages 44 through 47 of last year's hearing record concerning Office of Homeland Security travel. In addition to the information provided last year, please provide a brief descriptor of the travel purpose.

RESPONSE: All travel was conducted as part of the duties of the Office of Homeland Security and as such is considered official travel. The President and the Assistant to the President for Homeland Security have regularly stated that the homeland will not be secure unless the Federal government works closely with state and local officials. Official trips were approved for various purposes including the attendance of various conferences, to holding of meetings with state and local officials and the holding of town hall meetings. The HSC considers travel to different states and cities as a vital part of its mission.

The table below is an update to the travel information provided to Congress last year.

QUESTION 18: Currently, OHS costs are included in both the WHO and OA appropriations. Is that also the case in the FY 2004 request? If so, please provide a table, by appropriation, showing total OHS budgeted costs, for each of the fiscal years 2002 through 2004.

RESPONSE: For FY 2003, although funds were requested as part of the WHO budget activity, the Office of Homeland Security received for the first time its own appropriation, separate from the WHO appropriation. Funds supporting OHS / HSC requirements in FY 2003 were provided also to OA as part of the OA Pilot program. The FY 2004 Request identifies all requirements for OHS / HSC in the WHO Budget Activity, since the OA Pilot program is not certain to continue after FY 2003. See table below:

(Dollars in Thousands)

	Congressional Appropriations
	FY 2002 Enacted*	FY 2003 Enacted	FY 2004 Request
OHS / HSC	$30,800	$8,272	$8,331
OA		$778
	$30,800	$9,050	$8,331

*FY 2002 budget for OHS was based on the OHS mission and funding profile prior to the establishment of DHS and was provided by 3 sources of emergency appropriated funds: P.L. 107-38 for $25,000,000; P.L.107-117 for $2,000,000; and P.L. 107-206 for $3,800,000.

QUESTION 19: Last year, it was stated that one MOU existed between OHS and other EOP entities (p. 51). Please provide a copy of the MOU between MOU and the Office of Science and Technology Policy.

RESPONSE: The MOU between OHS and OSTP expired with the creation of the Department of Homeland Security as relevant responsibilities transferred from OHS to DHS, pursuant to the Homeland Security Act of November, 2002.

QUESTION 20: Have any other MOUs been signed since that time?

RESPONSE: A MOU between the Homeland Security Council and the National Security Council/White House Situation Support Staff was signed in May, 2003 providing for the expansion of NSC's classified computer network to include approved HSC staff with necessary security clearances.

In addition standard interagency agreements were signed between OHS/HSC and the Office of Administration (OA) and OMB to pay for detailees from these EOP entities to OHS/HSC and separately between OHS/HSC and OA to pay for miscellaneous supplies and materials.

QUESTION 21: At this time last year, OHS planned to establish a coordination center which would function 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, using a communications room and two incident management rooms. At the same time, the Administration made clear that the role of OHS was to establish and coordinate policy, and not to conduct operational activities. With the establishment of the Department of Homeland Security, have these specific activities been descoped or eliminated?

REV_00169975

RESPONSE: The role of the Homeland Security Council is to advise and assist the President, develop and coordinate the implementation of the National Strategy for Homeland Security to secure the United States from terrorist threats and attacks, and to help coordinate policy across the departments and agencies of the executive branch. The Homeland Security Council does not conduct operational activities. The Homeland Security Council does not operate a coordination center. With the establishment of the Department of Homeland Security, DHS is the lead federal agency for incident management. As such, DHS operates a Homeland Security Center with 24 hour/7 days per week coordination and communications capabilities. Those functions do not reside in the Homeland Security Council.

QUESTION 22: How many positions support these activities in the FY 2004 request, and what is the total budgeted amount?

RESPONSE: The FY 2004 budget will not fund any personnel or activities related to the DHS coordination center. However, virtually every member of the HSC staff has responsibilities to support and advise the President regarding incident response efforts, continuity of government and related coordination roles on behalf of the President.

QUESTION 23: How are such activities appropriate for a policymaking body, when DHS now exists to coordinate and execute operational activities related to specific homeland security incidents and activities?

RESPONSE: Just as the NSC was created by Congress in 1947 in the same act which created the Department of Defense and the CIA, Congress established the HSC within the EOP by statute at the same time as it created the Department of Homeland Security. The role of the Homeland Security Council is to advise and assist the President, develop and coordinate the implementation of the National Strategy for Homeland Security to secure the United States from terrorist threats and attacks, and to help coordinate policy across the departments and agencies of the executive branch. The Homeland Security Council does not conduct operational activities. The Homeland Security Council does not operate a coordination center. With the establishment of the Department of Homeland Security, DHS is the lead federal agency for incident management. As such, DHS operates a Homeland Security Center with 24 hour/7 days per week coordination and communications capabilities. Those functions do not reside in the Homeland Security Council.

QUESTION 24: At the time of last year's hearing, the permanent location and amount of space for the President's Critical Infrastructure Protection Board had not been determined (p. 77). Have these requirements been determined today?

REV_00169976

RESPONSE: The President's Critical Infrastructure Protection Board (PCIPB) no longer exists at the White House. Executive Order 13228, which created the PCIPB, was amended. Congress through the Homeland Security Act created within Department of Homeland Security the Directorate for Information Analysis and Infrastructure Protection (IAIP). One of the responsibilities of the IAIP directorate is the important issue of critical infrastructure protection. This is a robust directorate led by an under secretary.

QUESTION 25: Likewise, total CIPB staffing had not been determined. Do you have an estimate today? What staffing assumptions were made in the FY 2004 budget submission?

RESPONSE: The President's Critical Infrastructure Protection Board (PCIPB) no longer exists at the White House. Executive Order 13228, which created the PCIPB, was amended. Congress through the Homeland Security Act created within Department of Homeland Security the Directorate for Information Analysis and Infrastructure Protection (IAIP). One of the responsibilities of the IAIP directorate is the important issue of critical infrastructure protection. This is a robust directorate led by an under secretary.

QUESTION 26: How much funding is included in the FY 2004 request for CIPB, and how does that compare to the current estimate for FY 2003?

RESPONSE: The President's Critical Infrastructure Protection Board (PCIPB) no longer exists at the White House. Executive Order 13228, which created the PCIPB, was amended. Congress through the Homeland Security Act created within Department of Homeland Security the Directorate for Information Analysis and Infrastructure Protection (IAIP). One of the responsibilities of the IAIP directorate is the important issue of critical infrastructure protection. This is a robust directorate led by an under secretary.

QUESTION 27: Please provide a breakdown showing how those funds would be used.

RESPONSE: The President's Critical Infrastructure Protection Board (PCIPB) no longer exists at the White House. Executive Order 13228, which created the PCIPB, was amended. Congress through the Homeland Security Act created within Department of Homeland Security the Directorate for Information Analysis and Infrastructure Protection (IAIP). One of the responsibilities of the IAIP directorate is the important issue of critical infrastructure protection. This is a robust directorate led by an under secretary.

QUESTION 28: Please provide details on any government-industry partnerships that have been created in support of cyber security initiatives coordinated by, or carried out, through EOP or the CIPB.

RESPONSE: In 2002, the President's Critical Infrastructure Protection Board developed a National Strategy to Secure Cyberspace. To encourage broader participation and input into the development process, a draft strategy was released for public comment in September 2002. In addition, the PCIPB requested the National Infrastructure Assurance Council and the National Security Telecommunications Advisory Committee both provide comments on the draft strategy. Furthermore, there were 10 town hall meetings held in various portions of the country which brought industry, academia and private citizens together to focus on the complex issues related to cyber security. The final strategy thus integrated extensive public and industry comments and was released in February 2003.

REV_00169977

The National Strategy to Secure Cyberspace emphasizes that government-industry partnerships will be a cornerstone to success. As the primary implementer of the Strategy, DHS will be a partner with industry and academia to accomplish the objectives identified by the President's strategy.

National Security Council (POC – Katherine Fertakis)

QUESTION 29: Your request includes a 10.8 percent increase to cover reimbursable detailee costs and additional support staff for the President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board. Please explain the need for these increases in detail.

RESPONSE: The requested increase covers reimbursable detailee costs of personnel from the Department of State. The National Security Council (NSC) may request detailed personnel performing at a high level in high priority positions to remain beyond their initial tour of duty because of their unique qualifications. The NSC is required to reimburse the Department of State for details to NSC that exceed the cap of 13 detailed into their second year and for all staff detailed longer than two years per Public Law 93-126. The FY 2003 increase in this category estimates for details becoming reimbursable during the Spring and the Summer. The FY 2004 increase represents an annualization of the expenses, minus the cost for the details that will not be renewed.

Since the events of September 11, 2001, the PFIAB support staff workload has been significantly increased and consumed by the homeland security effort. Thus far about 95% of the Board's current advisory work for the President has been directly related to homeland security and counter-terrorism. (Intelligence performance thereon, and support to the new department of homeland security) With only 4 staff members and an already overflowing Board work schedule, work on other important PFIAB priorities has been deferred—such as declassification review of PFIAB archived records. At least three additional staff members, including a GS-14 administrative manager, will be needed to adequately meet support requirements as the Board expands its review of intelligence support to homeland security beyond the more immediate structural and organizational issues, and also re-engages the more general intelligence performance issues across the full spectrum of pressing issues. The FY 2004 request includes $250,000 which will fund two reimbursable detailed staff members and one permanent, Schedule A, Excepted Service, GS-14 administrative management position.

QUESTION 30: What are the dollar and percentage increases for each of the above items, compared to the FY 2003 estimated levels?

RESPONSE: The FY 2004 request for NSC reimbursable detailees represents an increase of $356,000, or 64%, over the FY 2003 estimated levels. The PFIAB increase of $250,000 will be 100% above the FY 2003 request since this is a new requirement for FY 2004.

QUESTION 31: The justifications indicate that 11 additional positions are being added to this office in FY 2003, raising the estimated from 60 in FY 2002 to an estimated 71 in FY 2003. What specific positions are being created?

RESPONSE: The 11 additional positions, which raise NSC's FTE from 60 to 71, are not new positions. In FY 2003, the Office for Combating Terrorism (OCT) was combined with the NSC budget request. The increased FTE request correlates with the continued funding for and operation of the OCT as a part of the NSC submission.

QUESTION 32: The FY 2004 request includes funds for a new GS-14 administrative manager for the PFIAB. Why is this new position needed at this time?

RESPONSE: PFIAB requires a permanent administrative position for continuity as well as efficiency reasons. The administrative staff constitutes the lifeblood of the Board: it fulfills all of the support responsibilities, including human resource management, budget, travel, procurement, research, publishing, protocol, and special assistance to the Executive Director, Chair and Vice Chair. With only two administrative people on staff, it is absolutely critical that both individuals be fully knowledgeable about and highly experienced at White House administrative policies, procedures and guidelines; equally important, both must possess highly honed administrative skills and be extremely efficient, effective and professionally dedicated.

The Board simply cannot attain this level of experience and competence by relying on detailees from other agencies, particularly non-reimbursed detailees. More often than not, we must accept whomever an agency can make available. Therefore, the Board will use this one permanent administrative billet to create a PFIAB office manager position. This individual not only will provide continuity of expertise and experience, but also will ensure that the other administrative person obtains the proper professional mentoring and supervision. We plan to make this a GS-14 position, but may start the individual we select at the GS-13 level to allow for personal advancement...and thereby also ensuring, hopefully, a fairly long term of service to the Board.

Office of National Drug Control Policy (POC – Michelle Marx)

QUESTION 33: You are requesting 10 additional FTE in FY 2004 to replace 10 non-reimbursable detailees who are no longer available. Why are these positions no longer available, and what are the specific positions?

RESPONSE: ONDCP's FY 2004 request includes resources to support 125 FTEs, an increase of 10 FTEs over the FY 2003 request. This FTE increase is requested to offset the loss of approximately 20 - 25 of the 30 non-reimbursable military detailee positions the Department of Defense has supported at ONDCP since 1996. (The Department of Defense, as outlined in a December 28, 2001 memorandum, has adopted a general policy that approves of requests for details only on a reimbursable basis, with limited exceptions.)

This 10 FTE increase, along with distributing additional responsibilities among existing staff, will allow ONDCP to absorb the detailee staffing loss and meet its statutory responsibilities. The specific positions would be appointed within the following offices: Planning and Budget; State and Local Affairs; Intelligence; and Supply Reduction.

Renovation of the Eisenhower Executive Office Building (POC – Steve Beattie)

QUESTION 34: What is the status of funding provided in FY 2002 and 2003? Please provide a breakdown of funding by the type of activity or renovation performed.

RESPONSE: 34: The General Service Administration has used FY 2002 Emergency Response Funds in the amount of $1,674,000 for starting the Architects' and Engineers' design contract for the 17th Street Wing Security Modernization Project. GSA is currently in the process of reprogramming $7,500,000 for FY 2003 for design, management and inspection. The FY 2003 reprogramming is required to complete the Design/Build/Bridging documents and assist in managing the Design/Build/Bridging efforts.

QUESTION 35: How much remains unobligated, by appropriation?

RESPONSE: 35: The General Services Administration (GSA) awarded a portion of the design cost in the amount of $1,537,173 utilizing the FY 2002 Emergency Response Fund. $136,827 remains unobligated. GSA has not obligated any FY 2003 funding.

QUESTION 36: Please provide a detailed breakdown showing how funds requested in the GSA budget for FY 2004 would be used.

RESPONSE: 36: The following is a break down on how the funds will be used in FY 2004:

REV_00169980

Major Work Items:
Electrical System	$ 10,244,000
Air conditioning system, chillers and piping	$ 12,530,000
Interior Construction	$ 13,163,000
Utility Vault (includes foundation construction)	$ 22,107,000
Window Blast Mitigation	$ 4,685,000

Estimated Construction Cost (ECC)	$ 63,531,000
Management and Inspection	$ 2,226,000
Authorization Requested (ECC, M&I)	$ 65,757,000

QUESTION 37: Please provide a detailed schedule for activities planned in FY 2004.

RESPONSE: 37: The design/build/bridging contract is scheduled to be awarded in March 2004. The current schedule for the project is as follows:

Design Award:	04/03
Design/Build/Bridging Procurement Start:	09/03
A/E Bridging Documents Complete:	10/03
Design/Build/Bridging Contract Award:	03/04
Construction Complete:	06/06

QUESTION 38: How much are you currently paying GSA for the unoccupied space along the 17th Street side of EEOB, and how much rental cost are you incurring for the new locations where relocated employees are working?

RESPONSE: We are not paying for the unoccupied space along the 17th Street side of the EEOB in FY2003. Employees were relocated to 1800 G. Street where FY 2004 rental costs are estimated at $4,978,000 and to 1801 Pennsylvania Avenue where the FY 2004 rental costs are estimated at $792,000. Both rental cost estimates exclude parking space costs.

QUESTION 39: Please provide a table, corresponding to the projects on page 81 of last year's hearing record, showing the original appropriation for each project, the amount obligated to date, and the project status. This involves projects funded in fiscal year 2002.

RESPONSE: The following table provides funding information on the FY 2002 projects.

REV_00169981

Executive Residence at the White House
FY2002 White House Repair and Restoration

Project	Original Appropriation	Obligated To Date	Status of Project
Pool Shelter Roof Reconstruction and Pool Deck Renovation	$430,000	$412,926	This project is completed, with only minor punch list items and related recurring maintenance items to be funded from the remaining funds.
Communication System Repairs/Phase 2*	$456,667 $4,544,000	$155,872	Modifications to the original design under Phase I (FY2001) are completed. The pre-bid meeting with prospective contractors is scheduled for mid-May, with contract award by late June, and construction commending by late July.
East and West Wing Exterior Restoration	$2,500,000	$2,398,433	The restoration is underway, all Phase I funds will be utilized this year.
Insulated Windows Replacement	$160,000	$162	The prototype utilizing historically accurate reproduction glass is in production, with manufacturing of actual replacement units expected to begin in June. Installation to be begin in August.
Kitchen Floor Replacement	$75,000	$60,815	This project is nearing completion with the remaining funds to be utilized for utility work.
North Portico Curtain Wall	$120,000	$106,751	The project is completed with remaining funds required to purchase spare parts inventory.
Stone Pavers Restoration	$277,000	$220,082	The project is currently underway and is scheduled for completion by September 2003.
West Colonnade Restoration	$275,000	$0	Planning has recently been completed; work will be accomplished in August and early September 2003.

*For the Comunication System Repairs/Phase 2 project, $456,667 was funded in FY 2001 for Architect and Engineering. The remaining $4,544,000 was for construction.

Communication System Repairs/Phase 2*	$456,667 $4,544,000	$155,872	Modifications to the original design under Phase I (FY2001) are completed. The pre-bid meeting with prospective contractors is scheduled for mid-May, with contract award by late June, and construction commending by late July.
East and West Wing Exterior Restoration	$2,500,000	$2,398,433	The restoration is underway, all Phase I funds will be utilized this year.
Insulated Windows Replacement	$160,000	$162	The prototype utilizing historically accurate reproduction glass is in production, with manufacturing of actual replacement units expected to begin in June. Installation to be begin in August.
Kitchen Floor Replacement	$75,000	$60,815	This project is nearing completion with the remaining funds to be utilized for utility work.
North Portico Curtain Wall	$120,000	$106,751	The project is completed with remaining funds required to purchase spare parts inventory.
Stone Pavers Restoration	$277,000	$220,082	The project is currently underway and is scheduled for completion by September 2003.
West Colonnade Restoration	$275,000	$0	Planning has recently been completed; work will be accomplished in August and early September 2003.

*For the Comunication System Repairs/Phase 2 project, $456,667 was funded in FY 2001 for Architect and Engineering. The remaining $4,544,000 was for construction.

As of this date, there are also 5 projects which have balances prior to FY 2002. They are as follows:

FY1996 – Roof Repair – balance of $9,227. These funds will be expended as needed for ongoing maintenance and corrective measures.

FY1998 – Repair/restoration of the Laundry Room – balance of $26,616. Purchase of replacement equipment and maintenance of equipment to be expended in FY2003.

REV_00169984

FY2000 – Purchase and Install Two Ironers – balance of $5,754. These funds will be expended to replace the drive belts in FY2003.

FY2000 – Renovation of Paint Shop – balance of $38,271. Funds will be used to purchase and update equipment to meet EPA and OSHA requirements in FY2003.

FY2000 – Third Floor Promenade – balance of $11,392. Funds will be expended to rehab and replace drainage system in late FY2003 or early FY2004.

White House Repair and Restoration (POC – Dennis Freemyer)

QUESTION 42: You are requesting $4,225,000 for repairs and restoration of the White House. Is there additional funding in the National Park Service budget or elsewhere in the President's budget request for FY 2004 for similar activities at the White House?

RESPONSE: There are no other budget requests for the same activities at the White House.

QUESTION 43: Of this request, $3,500,000 is for restoration of the east and west wing exterior. Please provide a detailed discussion and breakdown of this request.

RESPONSE: The funding requested is for the continuation (2nd phase) of the East and West Wing Restoration project, the first being funded in FY'02. This is consistent with the original planning for the execution of this project based on the experience of the completed Executive Residence Exterior Restoration completed in 1996. A breakdown of major work items follows:

Estimated Construction Costs:

Mobilization, scaffolding, rental equipment	150,000
Stone, stucco, wood restoration, insulated glass	1,580,000
Paint removal	1,660,000
Effluent/hazardous material disposal	150,000
Specialized window film including installation	400,000
Specialized stucco coating including installation	550,000
Painting	500,000
Site Restoration	260,000
Design, project management, project supervision, testing	350,000
Contingency	400,000
Estimated Total Cost	$6,000,000
FY 2002 Funding	$2,500,000
FY 2004 Funding Request	$3,500,000

Pennsylvania Avenue Improvements (POC – Steve Beattie)

QUESTION 44: What is the total estimated cost of security and street improvements on Pennsylvania Avenue in front of the White House, for which funds were provided in FY 2003?

RESPONSE: This project is to be funded by the Federal Highway Administration (FHWA). The total estimated cost of security and street improvements on Pennsylvania Avenue in front of the White House is currently $26.1 million. The information below breaks out the estimated FY 2003 costs for the project.

Project Activity	Projected FY 2003 Obligations
Preliminary Activities
Verification and Concept Studies	$ 605,150
Design Activities
Ground Survey and Mapping	$ 57,524
Subsurface Utility Survey	$ 149,682
Environmental Documentation	$ 75,000
Final Design (Consultant)	$ 1,300,000
Crash Testing	$ 350,000
FHWA Contract Administration	$ 100,000
Design Contingency	$ 262,644
Construction Activities
Construction Contract	$ 18,500,000
Utility Construction	$ 1,500,000
FHWA Contract Administration	$ 1,700,000
MVVA Construction Assistance	$ 500,000
Construction Contingency	$ 1,000,000
Grand Totals	$26,100,000

QUESTION 45: What is the status of that project? When will FY 2003 funds be obligated?

RESPONSE: 45: The status of the security and street improvements on Pennsylvania Avenue is as follows -

- Project's status is an ongoing iterative process as the Design team receives comments from the public and the various stakeholders on surrounding sites.
- Under the National Environmental Policy Act, the final public information meeting for the Environmental Impact Assessment was held on May 5, 2003, which is the last step before the final report is issued the week of May 27, 2003. It is expected that the report's concluding statement will find no significant impact.

- The design team is in the pre-design stage.
- The engineers are currently in the design stage for utility relocation in the project's vicinity.
- The Section 106 review as required by the Secretary of the Interior under the Historic Preservation Act is underway and will develop a Memorandum of Agreement in June 2003, which will address issues regarding the design details. The Section 106 review occurs when a project utilizing federal funds may have an effect upon natural, environmental, or cultural resources and looks at mitigation of any adverse effects to those resources.
- $1.5 million is expected to be obligated at the end of August or early September 2003 to start the utility relocation on Pennsylvania Avenue and at the north ends of Jackson and Madison Places.
- Arrangements have already been made for procurement of the trees to be used on the Avenue since it will require root and limb pruning over two calendar years prior to installation on the Avenue. The trees will be installed after inaugural events in the spring of 2005.
- Approximately, $2,675,000 has been obligated to date (under contract). The remaining $3,685,000 will be obligated within the next six months to have the construction contract awarded by the end of September or early October 2003.

QUESTION 46: How much funding is requested for this project in FY 2004, and where is it located in the budget?

RESPONSE: $15 million has been set aside under the Department of the Interior bill for FY 2004. However, discussions have been held between the Federal Highway Administration and EOP staff to make the money available for contract award this fiscal year. Discussions have included placing FY 2004 monies into the FY 2003 supplemental appropriation. With the highway legislation pending, there could be a delay in getting the funding moved into the supplemental appropriation to allow the project to get underway.

QUESTION 47: What is the schedule for studies of traffic congestion mitigation alternatives in the vicinity of the White House, as funded in FY 2003?

RESPONSE: The project administrators met with EOP staff on May 8, 2003 to begin outlining the scope of the study and a plan to involve the District of Columbia government and neighborhood stakeholders. A schedule for the study has not been developed, but will be prepared in the next three months.

REV_00169987

Remote Data Center (POC – Carlos Solari)

QUESTION 48: What is the status of establishment today of the remote data center?

RESPONSE: The remote data center project is on schedule and on budget. The project began last summer by conducting a systems development lifecycle analysis to determine and recommend the location for the facility. From this analysis, EOP decided on building the data center at a hardened FEMA facility located in Maryland. The project is being co-managed with FEMA and was established with three phases: (1) infrastructure build-out of the hardened facility (power, air handlers, etc), (2) construction of the data center itself (cabling, raised flooring, etc), and (3) the transition of EOP data systems (telecommunications, servers, etc). The project is approximately halfway through completion for the first two phases with a scheduled opening (initial operational capability) date of September 2003. The transition phase is on schedule preparing the systems and will proceed to begin the transfer September 2003 – with a planned transition of 12 months for all systems. The following chart shows the funding of the remote data center from FY 2002 thru FY 2004.

	FY 2002	FY 2003	FY 2004
CIP	$15,000,000	$5,000,000	$8,403,000
Total	$15,000,000	$5,000,000	$8,403,000

QUESTION 49: Last year, you estimated annual operating costs of this facility to be $7,500,000 (p. 88). Is that your current estimate?

RESPONSE: Last year OA provided a rough estimate of $7,500,000 for the future annual operating cost of the new data center facility. This was based upon the following estimated costs:

- $1,500,000 in communications to maintain connectivity for the EOP,
- $600,000 in space rental,
- $450,000 for hardware maintenance,
- $1,300,000 for software maintenance,
- $2,600,000 for contractor services,
- $300,000 for supplies/components,
- $75,000 for equipment, and
- $675,000 in salaries/benefits.

While most of these estimates remain valid, OA must revise the estimate for space rental to $1,258,000, bringing the revised estimated annual operating costs for the facility to $8,158,000.

REV_00169988

QUESTION 50: Your FY 2004 request includes $8,403,000 to transition the remote data center to full operational status (p. 75). What specific activities are required in FY 2004 to accomplish this? Can you provide a breakdown of the FY 2004 request consistent with these activities?

RESPONSE: The following table lists the FY2004 CIP funds requested for the completion of the remote data center construction and initial year operating costs.

Object Class	Object Class Title	Requested Funding ($ in 000)	Description
23.0	Space Rental Payments	$1,258	This estimate reflects $1,258,000 in rental for the offsite data center and will be the initial rent to be paid for the offsite data center. This cost was previously funded from emergency funds.
23.3	Communications, utilities, and miscellaneous charges	$4,420	$4,420,000 is for CIP networking/ telecommunications projects at the offsite data center. These projects include funds for a tap off of telecommunications lines, two additional DS-3 data paths, two T-1 lines, and backup to support required communications bandwidth, and availability requirements.
25.2	Other Services	$2,700	This estimate reflects Priority System Disaster Recovery costs, Secondary Systems Disaster Recovery costs, Hardware and Software for the Disaster Recovery Site, and Hardware and Software upgrades to support the data center move.
26.0	Supplies and materials	$25	The estimate reflects $25,000 in additional supplies necessary for start-up operations at the offsite data center. This will include start up costs for office equipment used for the new office spaces.
Total FY2004 Data Center CIP Request		$8,403

President's Travel (POC - Rothley Howard)

QUESTION 51: Please update the information on pages 89 through 94 of last year's hearing record concerning travel by the President and the First Lady by continuing data from the final entry of last year's record to the present time.

RESPONSE: The following charts summarize Presidential, First Lady and Vice Presidential travel for Fiscal Years 2002 and 2003 (to date). They also reflect costs currently in the accounting system. Several of the trips listed below are awaiting additional costs, therefore, final costs may vary.

Freedom Corps (POC – Eric Lanman)

QUESTION 54: Please provide EOP budgeted funding for the Freedom Corps for fiscal years 2002 through 2004.

RESPONSE: The funding profile for the USA Freedom Corps from its inception through FY 2004 is as follows:

(Dollars in thousands) Category	FY02 Actual	FY03 Request	OA Pilot	FY03 Recission	FY03 Enacted	FY04 Estimate
Personnel	420	800	0	0	800	827
Travel	6	600	0	-330	270	102
Rent	99	0	0	0	0	157

Printing & Reproduction	0	0	0	0	0	225
Other Services	0	1,200	-289	0	911	926
Supplies & Materials	0	0	0	0	0	9
Equipment	0	0	0	0	0	9
Total	525	2,600	-289	-330	1,981	2,280

Note: As part of a pilot program authorized by Congress in fiscal year 2003, general support costs such as rent, supplies, printing, information technology, etc., are centrally managed and charged against the Office of Administration.

QUESTION 55: Please provide a breakdown of the FY 2004 request for the Freedom Corps, and a brief description of the work to be accomplished under each item.

RESPONSE: The FY 2004 WHO request includes funding for the following USA Freedom Corps requirements.

Personnel: This category provides funding for the cost of the salaries and benefits for the staff of the USA Freedom Corps. The FY 2004 WHO request included $827,000 for this category.

Travel: The USA Freedom Corps office staff members are frequent travelers and often work at the national, state and local levels with organizations.~~, especially in organizing the Citizen Corps across the country~~ In addition, the Director of the USA Freedom Corps or the appropriate staff is required to address gatherings at national conferences, and of state and local officials in order to disseminate information about the President's Call to Service and the activities coordinated by the USA Freedom Corps.~~ and answer questions relating to the organization of USA Freedom Corps activities at the local level.~~ The FY 2004 WHO request included $102,000 for this category.

REV_00170024

Rent: This category funds the costs of the GSA office space utilized by the USA Freedom Corps. The FY 2004 WHO request included $157,000 for this category.

Printing: This category includes the costs of the creation and printing of documents regarding the USA Freedom Corps mission and policies and initiatives~~specific programs~~ coordinated by its Council. The FY 2004 WHO request included $225,000 for this category.

Other services: This category includes funds for the hiring of contractors to measure the nationwide effects of the USA Freedom Corps efforts through surveys and other measurement tools, and funds for information dissemination and the creation and production of materials used in the furtherance of the USA Freedom Corps mission and ~~specific programs,~~initiatives coordinated by its Council. The FY 2004 WHO request included $926,000 for this category.~~ and other activities that will further the mission of the USA Freedom Corps.~~

Communications and Misc.,~~;~~ Supplies and Materials, Equipment: These general categories are managed centrally by the White House Office of Management and Administration. Funds in these categories support the normal costs associated with day to day office operations. The FY 2004 WHO request included $43,000 for this category.

QUESTION 56: Last year, funds were requested for Freedom Corps information dissemination and recognition materials (p. 239). Are similar activities funded in FY 2004? If so, how much?

RESPONSE: The FY 2004 WHO request includes requirements for similar activities to those funded in FY 2003 and included are funds for information dissemination and recognition materials. Funds for these activities are included in the Other Services category of the WHO request. An estimated $926,000 of this portion of the request is for USA Freedom Corps requirements.

QUESTION 57: Are additional funds requested in FY 2004 outside the EOP?

RESPONSE: As a White House office and a coordinating council, the USA Freedom Corps does not run, fund, or administer programs. Instead, the USA Freedom Corps coordinates the development of policies and initiatives with various offices/entities in the Executive Branch in support of the President's goal to strengthen the American culture of service while helping all Americans find meaningful service opportunities. This role does not require outside funding and none have been requested by the WHO.

QUESTION 58: Please provide a listing of the staff in the USA Freedom Corps Office, showing the incumbent name and position. Please designate any detailees.

REV_00170025

RESPONSE: A listing of the current USA Freedom Corps Office staff is provided below.

John Bridgeland: Assistant to the President and Director, USA Freedom Corps
Ron Christie: Special Assistant to the President and Deputy Director, USAFC
Lindsey Kozberg: Special Assistant to the President for Policy/Public Affairs
Therese Lyons: Director of Public Liasion
Ian Rowe: Director of Management and Strategy
Kathleen Mynster: Deputy Press Secretary
Britt Grant: Special Assistant to the Director
Cornell Teague: Associate Director
Nique Fajors: Agency Liaison – Detailee
Ken Lanza: Agency Liaison - Detailee

Sensitive Compartmented Information Facilities (POC – Jeff Thompson)

QUESTION 59: Are any funds requested in any EOP office in the FY 2004 President's request for the construction of sensitive compartmented information facilities (SCIFs)?

RESPONSE: No funds are requested for SCIFs in FY 2004.

QUESTION 60: How many such facilities have been built within EOP offices since the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001?

RESPONSE: Sixteen SCIFS have been built.

Data Center Relocation (POC – Carlos Solari)

QUESTION 61: What is the status of efforts to relocate the existing EOP data center, and what are plans for the coming year?

RESPONSE: The remote data center project is on track to achieve completion on budget and on schedule. The project began last summer by conducting a systems development lifecycle analysis to determine and recommend the location for the facility. From this analysis, EOP decided on building the data center at a hardened FEMA facility located in Maryland. The project is being co-managed with FEMA and was established with three phases: (1) infrastructure build-out of the hardened facility (power, air handlers, etc), (2) construction of the data center itself (cabling, raised flooring, etc), and (3) the transition of EOP data systems (telecommunications, servers, etc). The project is approximately halfway through completion for the first two phases with a scheduled opening (initial operational capability) date of September 2003. The transition phase is on schedule preparing the systems and will proceed to begin the transfer September 2003 – with a planned transition of 12 months for all systems.

REV_00170026

QUESTION 62: Are funds requested in the FY 2004 budget for this project?

RESPONSE: The following table displays the funds requested for this project in FY 2004.

Object Class	Object Class Title	Requested Funding (in $1000s)	Description
23.0	Space Rental Payments	$1,258	This estimate reflects $1,258 in rental for the offsite data center and will be the initial rent to be paid for the offsite data center. This cost was previously funded from emergency funds.
23.3	Communications, utilities, and miscellaneous charges	$4,420	$4,420 is for CIP networking/telecommunications projects at the offsite data center. These projects include funds for a tap off of telecommunications lines, two additional DS-3 data paths, two T-1 lines, and backup to support required communications bandwidth, and availability requirements.
25.2	Other Services	$2,700	This estimate reflects Priority System Disaster Recovery costs, Secondary Systems Disaster Recovery costs, Hardware and Software for the Disaster Recovery Site, and Hardware and Software upgrades to support the data center move.
26.0	Supplies and materials	$25	The estimate reflects $25 in additional supplies necessary for start-up operations at the offsite data center. This will include start up costs for office equipment used for the new office spaces.
Total FY2004 Data Center CIP Request		$8,403

White House Communications Agency (POC – Eric Lanman)

QUESTION 63: Updating the information on page 133 of last year's hearing record, please provide estimated reimbursements for the White House Communications Agency for each of the fiscal years 2002 through 2004.

RESPONSE: Reimbursements made to the White House Communications Agency, for the non-telecommunications support they provide to the WHO, is broken down into two categories: military personnel and audiovisual support. The amount of planned reimbursement is initially set and agreed to via an inter-agency agreement (IAG). This IAG is then adjusted if needed as a result of actual execution. Reimbursement actuals and estimates follow:

	FY02 (actual)	FY03 (est.)	FY04 (est.)
Military Personnel	$4,376,085	$4,754,346	$4,858,942
Audiovisual Support	$4,543,643	$3,953,848	$2,743,915

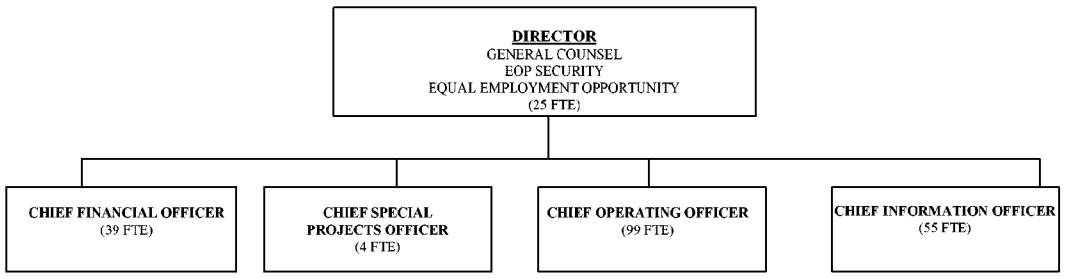
REV_00170027

Total	$8,919,738	$8,708,194	$7,602,857

The FY04 estimate for audiovisual support shows a decrease from the FY 2003 estimate due to the move of audiovisual supplies and equipment from IAG reimbursed items to direct procurement through normal WHO channels.

Office of Administration (POC – Chuck Sigman)

QUESTION 64: Updating the information on page 134 of last year's hearing record, please provide a current organizational chart for the Office of Administration, including the associated numbers of FTEs requested for each office in the FY 2004 President's budget.



RESPONSE: The Office of Administration organization chart provided below reflects the current organizational structure. The FY 2004 FTE request remains constant with FY 2003 levels (222 FTE).

Executive Office of the President

Office of Administration

Organization Chart

FY 2004

Total 222 FTE

QUESTION 65: Last year, it was estimated that 4 FTE were needed to provide administrative services to the Office of Homeland Security. Since that office is substantially smaller due to establishment of the DHS, is there a lesser requirement for OA support? If so, is that reflected in FY 2004 staffing figures?

REV_00170028

RESPONSE: The FY 2003 budget proposal included the statement that there was "2 CFO staff to support Homeland Security" rather than the 4 FTE referred to in the question. These two Chief Financial Officer (CFO) staff were requested during FY 2003 because last year's OA budget request was a 49% increase over the previous year's spending – and security-related enhancements accounted for nearly all of that increase. The FY 2004 budget proposal included additional security-related enhancements beyond the FY 2003 level. Furthermore, even though the funding level of the Homeland Security Council is not as great as was originally envisioned, it is still a separate account for which the staff must perform the same number of administrative tasks in setting up and monitoring the status of the account. Therefore, the additional two FTE in the CFO office remain necessary to assist EOP offices in executing their new responsibilities.

QUESTION 66: Your salary and expenses request includes a transfer of $1,500 from Homeland Security for information technology services. What are these services?

RESPONSE: The part of OHS that remained with EOP (now called the Homeland Security Council) does not need the information technology contractor support that was previously planned. There is, however, an urgent need to expand the funding needed to support the White House website. The system security put in place to protect the whitehouse.gov website from cyber attack includes a web content distribution designed to make it highly resistant to denial of service type attacks. The cost of this service has increased dramatically, and is directly proportional to the volume of activity. The volume of activity, in turn, is a combination of the website hits and the level of cyber-attack activity directed against the site. The importance of the White House web site cannot be overstated. Along with the DHS website, the whitehouse.gov website is one of the primary government sites with a mission to communicate threat level information to the public.

Due to increased traffic on the White House website, the monthly cost of web caching service to maintain the website has risen from $30,000 per month to more than $75,000 per month. The estimated FY 2004 cost to maintain the website is $1,500,000. No funds were requested for this increased requirement in the FY 2004 budget. OA wishes to use the funds originally requested for the OHS information technology contract support for the White House website effort.

QUESTION 67: You are requesting additional funding for victim rescue units, which would be distributed to all White House staff (p. 82). What are these units, and what is the unit cost?

RESPONSE: Victim Rescue Units (VRUs) provide a 20-45 minute supply of pure oxygen to the wearer. This would be critical to the survival of EOP staff in the event of an incident which would require an evacuation to a safe area. VRUs were selected because they can be easily operated by a novice, while it takes a significant amount of training to teach staff to properly operate a gas mask. VRUs have a ten-year shelf life, which is significantly longer than gas mask filters. They provide protection from the entire threat spectrum from fire and smoke to chemical and biological agents. The VRUs are portable and small, and their expected cost is $375 each.

REV_00170029

QUESTION 68: How is the requirement for additional safes and emergency evacuation chairs documented?

RESPONSE: The EOP Security Office conducted a review of security containers (safes) at the White House Complex and found that most of them were 1950's-vintage mechanical locks. During the aftermath of 9/11, it was deemed important that the White House adhere to the latest Federal regulations promulgated by the General Services Administration (FFL-2740A) for the protection of classified materials. Thus, the EOP recommends acquiring new security containers which are fully compliant with GSA standard which governs all changeable combination locks for the protection of national security information.

After 9/11, we reviewed all emergency evacuation procedures for the White House Complex. As we updated evacuation plans and reviewed procedures it was determined that evacuation chairs were needed in various buildings and on various floors to assist individuals who may need assistance or have special needs during an evacuation. This was an internal study performed by staff of the EOP security office.

Financial Audits (POC – Al Muhlbauer)

QUESTION 69: Last year, you advised us that EOP would plan to address the findings of the recent auditability assessment no later than FY 2003. What is the status of that effort today?

RESPONSE: EOP has initiated five major efforts to address the auditability assessment. They are:

- Development and publication of the EOP entity and reporting structure, which was completed and is and presented in the FY 2004 Budget Submission.
- Development and publication of the EOP financial management structure, which has been developed in draft and is currently being circulated for comment within EOP. Approval and issuance of the financial management structure is expected to occur within 30 days.
- Provide financial management policy and guidance to the EOP, and put in place consistent EOP-wide business practices and procedures. This effort is underway and is expected to be completed this fiscal year.
- Select a replacement for the current non-compliant financial accounting system. The Office of the Chief Financial Officer has reviewed various alternatives and has made a determination to be cross-serviced by another Federal agency that has implemented a compliant system, is currently receiving "clean" audit opinions, and has cross-servicing as an agency mission. Two such organizations were identified, a requirements document was provided, their proposals are currently being evaluated, and a decision is expected within the next two weeks.

- Accomplish a detailed review of the EOP general ledger and supporting documents for account balances, correct the data as necessary, and prepare the information for conversion to the replacement accounting system. A "clean-up" and conversion plan is in process and will be coordinated with the selected cross-servicing agency.

QUESTION 70: When will you be able to produce an auditable financial statement?

RESPONSE: The Chief Financial Officer completed an exercise that resulted in EOP-wide financial statements, that exercise identified various data problems that confirmed the auditability assessment. The "clean-up" exercise which is required prior to the conversion to the cross-servicing agency's system is addressing these problems and it is anticipated that the FY 2004 financial statements will be audited.

QUESTION 71: Last year, you stated that you had identified best practices for documented policies and procedures based upon one federal agency which has been recognized as one of the best in the Federal Government (p. 136). Which agency are you using as a model, and what are some examples of the specific best practices you intend to use?

RESPONSE: We were referring to the Department of Education and we conducted a pilot of their approach for developing policies and procedures within the Office of the CFO. While that pilot was helpful, we determined that three other tasks (identify reporting entity, develop financial management structure, and identifying our financial accounting system cross servicing provider) needed to be completed before our policies and procedures could be developed. Since those are near completion we anticipate again focusing on developing policies and procedures during the remainder of this fiscal year.

White House Office (POC – Eric Lanman)

QUESTION 72: Please provide a breakdown of the FY 2004 budget request for the White House Office by office or activity, as itemized on pages 137 and 138 of last year's hearing record. Please compare those amounts to corresponding amounts for FY 2002 (actual) and FY 2003 (estimated), similar in format to that shown on pages 246 and 247 of last year's hearing record.

RESPONSE: As noted last year, a single budget is prepared for the WHO. This single budget is prepared based on a number of criteria such as: prior spending patterns, estimated requirements, OMB provided inflation factors, and the priorities of the President. During a given execution year, personnel costs are allocated based upon that year's sometimes unique staffing decisions. The remainder of the budget is allocated initially to two WHO offices. The travel budget is allocated in its entirety to the Office of Advance and obligated against this office if the travel is done in support of the President. Any travel undertaken that is not in support of a Presidential trip is charged to the office of the staff member in question. The remaining portion of the non-personnel, non-travel budget, including expenses for rent, supplies, equipment and other services is considered overhead and in most years is charged as such to the White House Office of Management and Administration. In FY 2003 as part of a pilot program authorized by Congress, costs related to many of these "overhead" items were consolidated under the EOP Office of Administration. Obligations (actual and estimated) are provided by individual White House office for FY 2002 thru FY 2004 in the table below.

Notes:

(1) $911K of the FY03 USA Freedom Corps estimate and $1,351K of the FY04 USA Freedom Corps estimate is included above within the Office of Management and Administration numbers as are similar funds for all other White House Offices.

(2) Because Congress has chosen to appropriate funds for the Office of Homeland Security (OHS)/ Homeland Security Council (HSC) separately from the WHO appropriation, numbers related to OHS/ HSC are not included above. FY03 and FY04 estimates for OHS/ HSC are addressed independently in response to other committee questions.

QUESTION 73: Please provide a corresponding breakdown for FTE staff years and OGE, similar in format to that shown on pages 152 through 154 of last year's hearing record.

REV_00170032

RESPONSE: As noted last year, the major units within the White House Office are simply a creature of administrative convenience. The number of employees within each unit and the work of each unit vary over time and as circumstances and needs change. With this kept in mind, a detailed breakout of FTEs and OGEs by unit, is provided below. This breakout is based on current estimates and planning and will differ during the actual execution year. In addition to these major units, certain individuals – including certain individuals who work with the National Security Council, the Domestic Policy Council, and the National Economic Council – are also White House Office employees, although the units within which they principally work are not themselves part of the White House Office. These individuals are included under the Other category.

Other Services (POC – Chuck Sigman)

QUESTION 75: Similar to the information on page 236 et seq. of last year's hearing record, please provide a detailed description of each project, program, or initiative proposed to be funded in FY 2004 under object class 25.2 ("other services").

RESPONSE: Capital Investment Plan (CIP) - $5,220,000

The overall FY 2004 CIP requirement supports nine areas, as described below. The following "services" costs are included in the FY 2004 CIP request:

- $690,000 for Customer Service and Desktop Systems. This funding will be used to perform desktop software integration support.
- $450,000 for New Technologies and Systems. This includes "services" funding of $150,000 for server technology integration testing, and $300,000 for voice and data integration.

REV_00170035

- $230,000 for EOP Systems and Support, including "services" funding of $150,000 to develop external Local Area Networks, and $80,000 for production test lab development.
- $700,000 for Information Security for enterprise identity projects to allow the introduction of new authentication and identification mechanisms into the EOP IT infrastructure.
- $650,000 for Web-Based Services for web services application environment.
- $2,500,000 for the Offsite Data Center for services necessary to transition the offsite data center to full operational status
- There are no services funds allocated to Campus Wiring, Networks and Data Communications Infrastructure, or Messaging and Scheduling.

Salaries and Expenses - $2,150,000

There are three initiatives in the FY 2004 OA salaries/expense budget which comprise $2,150,000 in new programs under object class 25.2 ("other services"):

- $1,800,000 for Technology and Systems Support Contract . The Chief Information Officer (CIO) provides a wide range of computer services support to the EOP. These tasks are performed in large measure through an outsourcing contract that delivers IT services from PC deployment, to help desk and data center operations. During FY 2003, this IT systems support contract was competed with an increase in base labor rates due to the need for more advanced skills in IT disciplines such as XML and web services software development, Oracle database development and administration, and implementation of a new Enterprise Resources Planning (ERP) application covering finance, asset management and human resources. The CIO outsource contract is the vehicle used to maintain a 24 hour-a-day operation for mainframes, servers, help desk, local area networks, personal computers, applications; installation of end-user hardware and software; training; software application development and maintenance services. Altogether, this contract supports customers throughout the White House 18 acre complex, at remote and mobile locations, and at the planned Offsite Data Center. Key components driving the cost upward include: (1) higher labor rates for the DC area, which have risen since the previous IT 1997 facility contract; (2) the impact of the new data center operations in 2003 and thereafter; (3) an expanded EOP customer base which has more advanced, sophisticated, and security-conscious users.

- $300,000 for Information Assurance Support. The CIO has established the Information Assurance (IA) program to serve as a central location for information security serving all of EOP. FY 2002 and FY 2003 funds attended to the most critical concern with significant vulnerabilities in the perimeter and began the process of securing the internal systems. The IA program created real-time monitoring of perimeter network devices; it established the first formal documentation of IA program policy to bring the EOP in conformance with Federal guidelines and directives. However, the cyber threat facing EOP is dynamic because our systems are constantly assailed with a wide and unexpected range of attacks. The new state of defense must be active vigilance, to include the following components: (1) Perimeter Security, (2) Advanced Security Concepts, (3) Contingency Planning Support, (4) Network Monitor/Response Systems, and (5) Security Awareness, Assessments, and Education.

- $50,000 for Security Enhancements: Videos. There is a frequent and ongoing need for a security video – specific to the EOP and White House – which can be used in security briefings and new employee orientation meetings. This video will contain a brief overview of security responsibilities and procedures which must be understood by all personnel working in the EOP.

Salaries and Expenses (POC – Dilworth)

QUESTION 76: Please provide a detailed description of any expenses in the FY 2004 budget under "salaries and expenses" which are not directly related to personnel compensation and benefits.

RESPONSE: The following is an object class breakdown highlighting the major costs in each of the non pay related expense categories and a description of the unique aspects of some of these expenses found within the Executive Office of the President.

For reference, below are two tables that roll up all EOP component salaries and expenses funding information including the components not funded under the Subcommittee on Transportation, Treasury and Independent Agencies Appropriations.

Travel and transportation of persons – The largest portion of this funding (41%) is for international staff travel in support of trade negotiations as coordinated by the U.S. Trade Representative (USTR). The next largest portion of this funding (21%) is for White House Office (WHO) staff travel including "Presidential travel", which is the term used to delineate those trips where staff members actually travel with or ahead of the President. Those traveling ahead, referred to as advance staff, are responsible for producing Presidential events, as well as establishing an on-site infrastructure similar to the support that is provided within the White House. In addition, EOP travel costs related to Presidential travel is tracked by the principals (President, First Lady, Vice President and Mrs. Cheney) and by location. The remaining EOP travel funds are used for staff travel in support of the various EOP offices and their missions.

Transportation of things – The EOP spends funds in this area for the costs of express delivery/shipping of items such as Freedom of Information Act documents and personnel documents for accountability, as well as other miscellaneous items. Vehicle fleet costs are also included in this category.

Rental payments to GSA – Funds paid to GSA are used to provide the EOP offices with space in the government-owned and leased buildings that comprise the White House complex. Although the General Services Administration manages the EOP buildings, including the East and West Wings of the White House, they cannot rent them out to other Federal departments or agencies.

Communications, utilities and miscellaneous services – The bulk of these costs are used for the EOP switchboard. Funding in this category is also used for the networking and telecommunications projects of the Offsite Data Center. These projects include funds for the primary and backup telecommunications lines connecting the remote data center with the EOP office campus, two additional DS-3 data paths, two T-1 lines, and backup to support required communications bandwidth, and availability requirements.

Printing and reproduction – The largest expense in this area is for Presidential stationery and greetings. Also included are the costs for printing in the Code of Federal Regulation and the Federal Register as well as the costs to print the President's Budget, the Economic Report of the President, the National Drug Control Strategy, free trade agreement documents and other publications, studies and reports.

Other services –The primary cost driver in this category is the information technology support contract that provides IT sustainment services, system development services, and system engineering services for the entire EOP. IT support for the EOP as supported by this contract is largely an outsourced activity that includes a broad range of services such as the Help Desk, network and data center operations.

Supplies and materials – Most of the EOP expenses in this category are for general office and IT supplies, as well as the costs for subscriptions to newspapers and magazines.

Equipment – The largest portion of the EOP equipment costs is for IT desktop replacement program and for investments in software and hardware infrastructure to support the EOP IT projects.

Unanticipated Needs – Expenditures from this fund may be authorized only by the President. The Director of OMB provides the necessary controls to ensure that only unforeseen priorities are financed and that funding from other sources is not available.

REV_00170039

ONDCP Policy Research – This is an ONDCP expense and funding is used to support the continuing policy research to better inform drug policy.

Security Guard Services for OSTP (POC – Chuck Sigman)

QUESTION 77: In FY 2003, you budgeted $1,798,000 for security guard services for the Office of Science and Technology Policy. Are similar funds requested in FY 2004? If so, how much?

RESPONSE: The FY 2004 OA budget proposes that the cost of the security guard service (estimated at $702,000) for OSTP be transferred to the OSTP appropriation. Thus, the proposed FY04 OA budget would contain the balance of the funds (approximately $1.1 million).

Since the FY 2003 budget was proposed, there have been additional reviews of the physical security of the White House complex by the US Secret Service, the Federal Protective Service, and the OA Security Office. As a result, the OA Security Office has been assigned the responsibility of correcting deficiencies in EOP physical security. There are some locations which do not currently have Secret Service protection (such as the Jackson Place White House Conference Center). Another location which does not have firm long-term security plans is the office at 1800 G Street. Thus, the Office of Administration has ongoing needs for the $1.1 million which remains in the OA budget. During FY03, these funds are being used for consolidation of information technology maintenance ($200,000), centralization of database services ($200,000), and common building service costs ($400,000). The remaining $300,000 of these savings will be used for an FY03 OA personnel shortfall.

QUESTION 78: Why aren't such funds in the OSTP budget?

RESPONSE: The estimated FY04 cost of 24-hour security guard services for OSTP is included in the FY04 OSTP budget request. This estimate is $702,000 for a full year.

Political Appointees (POC – Jon Laurich)

QUESTION 79: Please update the information on political appointees within EOP as shown on page 268 of last year's hearing record, using the same criteria and assumptions as last year.

RESPONSE: The term "political appointees" is somewhat of a misnomer because it narrowly defines the type of employees authorized under Chapter 2 of Title 3 of the U.S. Code, for the White House Office, the Executive Residence, the Official Residence of the Vice President and the Office of Administration. These offices can hire personnel in various excepted service positions that are not subject to the rules of regular government employees. Many of these excepted service positions fall under the category of serving at the pleasure of the President while others do not. Using the term in the broadest possible sense, including all employees hired as Presidential Appointees, Administratively Determined, Non Career SES, or Schedule C's, the Executive Office of the President has the following number of political appointees directly hired within the EOP and serving in the EOP on detailed assignments from other agencies as of May 5, 2003.

Detailees (POC – Jon Laurich)

QUESTION 80: Please update the information on reimbursable and non-reimbursable detailees with EOP as shown on pages 268 and 269 of last year's hearing record.

RESPONSE: There are currently 251 detailees staffed within the Executive Office of the President. There are 41 reimbursable detailees and 210 non-reimbursable detailees as shown in the chart below, as of May 5, 2003:

Office of the Vice President (POC – Kristen Savercool)

QUESTION 81: You are requesting an additional $70,000 (+1.7 percent) for the Vice President's travel, due to increased travel to undisclosed locations after the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001. Weren't these type of increases baselined in FY 2002 and FY 2003, and if so, why are further increases needed in FY 2004?

RESPONSE: The FY 2003 budget was submitted in February 2002, prior to it becoming evident that the Vice President's travel requirements had increased more than originally estimated. Following the events of 9-11, the Vice President has been required to be outside the Washington, DC vicinity for significant periods of time. This travel has been 100 percent official, and operational in nature (i.e. the Vice President performs his regular duties in an off-site location). This travel has required the accompaniment of staff, who also perform operational duties.

Because the budget impact of these additional travel requirements was not fully realized until after the FY 2003 budget request was submitted, they were not included in the FY 2003 baseline. Continued security concerns related to the Vice President and the ensuing impact on the Vice President's travel costs necessitate the increase to the FY 2004 OVP travel budget. This increase will allow the Vice President the flexibility needed to adequately execute his official travel requirements.

Unanticipated Needs (POC – Eric Lanman)

QUESTION 82: Please provide a listing of the uses of Unanticipated Needs funds in FY 2002.

REV_00170042

RESPONSE: $757,000 of the $1,000,000 appropriated to the Unanticipated Needs account in FY 2002 was provided to OMB for Office of Homeland Security Transition Planning Office. The remaining appropriation was not utilized.

Questions for the Record
Ranking Member, John Olver
Hearing on the Executive Office of the President
April 30, 2003

Account Consolidation and Transfer Proposals (POC – Al Muhlbauer/Jim Daniel)

When we centralized the funds within the Office of Administration, Congress intended that each agency would continue to receive a similar share of support and assistance under the consolidation.

QUESTION 83: Are any agencies going to receive diminished services or resources under the consolidation?

RESPONSE: No, currently the funding in the pilot has been allocated to be consistent with the FY 03 budget request. The service levels will be equal to or greater than pre-pilot levels; however, we are hopeful that the cost to procure the same level of service will decrease. Also, the Office of Administration is preparing service standards. For example, if the service standard for PC's would be one PC per desktop that is less than four years old and if one EOP component is currently at that standard for 95 % of its employees and another is currently at that standard for 50% of its employees, based on need, the second component would get a larger share of the services to bring it closer to the EOP standard. This allows EOP to consistently upgrade software and services across the entire organization as the total infrastructure permits.

QUESTION 84: Are any agencies to receive extra services above and beyond the amount of funds they contributed as part of the consolidation?

RESPONSE: Yes, based on need and to bring organizations that are lagging behind the approved standards up to a consistent standard, some organizations may receive extra services above and beyond the amount of funds they contributed to the consolidation. We anticipate some of those services will be funded from savings in the program.

QUESTION 85: Under the procurement consolidation pilot approved in the FY03 Omnibus, are IT or database services for any EOP agency going to be paid for by funds contributed by other EOP agencies?

RESPONSE: Yes, in addition to generating procurement savings and efficiencies, a major goal of the consolidation pilot is to bring all of the EOP components up to a standard of service which will allow us to implement technology evenly across the organization and to realize efficiencies and benefits from a consistent and even infrastructure. In reaching this goal, the funds may be applied in a manner which is not in the same ratio in which they were contributed.

QUESTION 86: In general, are the funds appropriated for this centralized procurement program going to be used to supplement the appropriation made to individual agencies?

RESPONSE: Yes, the individual entities will be the recipients of the services funded by the centralized procurement program without reimbursement in accordance with the Congressional appropriation provided to OA.

QUESTION 87: If so, which agencies will benefit and which agencies will receive less than their share of contributions?

RESPONSE: OA is currently establishing the allocation standards for the commodities included in the centralized procurement program. OA is also requesting that the entities assist us in developing a baseline against which we will measure the allocation standards. That will determine which, if any, entities will benefit and which entities will receive less than their share of contributions.

QUESTION 88: You recently submitted a very cursory report on the procurement pilot. When will you provide us with specific details on the progress of the pilot program?

RESPONSE: As mentioned above, progress is being made on the plan to implement the Common Services Program. We expect to be able to brief the Subcommittee in greater detail this summer.

Your budget also proposes a change that would permit EOP agencies to transfer up to 10% into or out of any agency's budget. Coupled with your account consolidation proposal, that would allow you to transfer in up to $18 million more into (or out of) the White House's budget.

QUESTION 89: Under the procurement consolidation program that we approved in the FY03 bill, don't you have a similar type of flexibility already? What other flexibility is needed?

RESPONSE: The flexibility of the procurement consolidation program is directed to certain defined common commodities. The 10% transfer authority provides flexibility for unexpected requirements and to address needs that may be outside the program.

QUESTION 90: What protection is there for smaller EOP agencies under this proposal? Don't they stand to lose critical resources if the White House or Vice President's Office decide to take 10% of their resources?

REV_00170045

RESPONSE: It is more likely that the smaller entities will benefit from the proposal, because their appropriations are small they are less likely to be able to adjust to unforeseen circumstances, this program will allow the EOP to address those circumstances without requesting supplemental funding. Also, as a practical matter, the issue of "protection" is immaterial as all the entities (setting the Office of the Vice President aside) work directly for the President.

Office of Homeland Security Questions (POC – Paul Ehrhardt)

We recently received a reprogramming request to transfer $2m of the funds provided to the Office of Homeland Security to the Remote Delivery Site cleanup efforts. The source of these funds would come from the Office of Homeland Security.

The Office of Homeland Security has gone from an initial $25m stated need when the initial FY03 bills passed the House and Senate to $11m when the FY03 Omnibus was passed to what will be $9m if the reprogramming is approved.

QUESTION 91: What exactly does the Office of Homeland Security do now that the Department of Homeland Security is in place?

RESPONSE: HSC advises and assists the President on homeland security matters and coordinates policy development and the interagency process regarding Administration policy on homeland security, including the development and coordination of implementation of the National Strategy for Homeland Security to secure the United States from terrorist threats and attacks.

QUESTION 92: Does OHS still have a presence at Nebraska Avenue?

RESPONSE: No.

QUESTION 93: Does the Office of Administration provide any support to agencies at Nebraska Avenue? If so, please describe the specific types of support provided. Is this support on a reimbursable basis?

RESPONSE: Since the transfer of the Nebraska Avenue facility to the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) on January 1, 2003, OA has not provided any support to entities at the Nebraska Avenue Complex (NAC). Pursuant to a Determination by the OMB Director, funds in the amount of $3,746,000 were transferred from the OHS Emergency Fund within OA to the Department of Homeland Security in March 2003 to support NAC activities.

QUESTION 94: How many personnel and detailees now work for OHS?

REV_00170046

RESPONSE: The Homeland Security Council currently consists of 66 staff positions which can be filled by either Direct Hire FTE or Other Government Employee (detailee and assignee) personnel. HSC is requesting resources to support up to 40 Direct Hire FTE and 26 OGE FTE on its staff for FY 2004. See table below for a comparison with fiscal years 2003 and 2002.

Office of Homeland Security / Homeland Security Council Personnel

	FY 2002 Actual	FY 2003 Estimate	FY 2004 Request
Direct Hire FTE	31	40	40
Other Government Employee (EOY headcount)	89	26	26
Total Personnel	120	66	66

QUESTION 95: What is the actual operational budget need for OHS in FY03?

RESPONSE: The Homeland Security Council budget requirement from the FY 2003 appropriation is estimated to be approximately $4.32 million. Please note that the FY 2003 estimate covers only costs incurred after the enactment of the FY 2003 appropriation on February 20, 2003. Unlike other EOP entities which operated under continuing resolutions between October 1, 2003 and February 20, 2003, the Office of Homeland Security was not permitted to utilize the CR funding mechanism but instead continued to charge FY 2003 expenses against the no-year emergency funding (provided in FY2002) until the FY 2003 appropriation was enacted. Therefore the FY 2003 estimate reflects only seven months of activity, whereas the FY 2004 Request needs to cover HSC expenses for the full 12 months next fiscal year.

QUESTION 96: For the record, please provide us a breakout by object class of the Office of Homeland Security's FY03 remaining budget.

RESPONSE: The breakout below reflects HSC's budget for the last seven months of FY 2003, from the enactment of the FY 2003 Appropriation on February 20, 2003 through September 30, 2003.

QUESTION 97: Any likelihood that these estimates will be revised downward again?

RESPONSE: The FY 2003 estimate provided above reflects the best assessment of HSC requirements from the OHS FY 2003 appropriation, and actual obligations against this appropriation will likely be close to this current estimate.

QUESTION 98: I understand that the President named General Gordon as his new Homeland Security Adviser. Does he support the latest $2 million cut to his office's resources?

RESPONSE: To begin with we should note that, General Gordon has not yet reported to Homeland Security Council. Secondly, in any event, the EOP budget proposal provides the necessary resources for HSC to advise and assist the President. Third, we should also note that the reference to a $2 million cut is incorrect. In fact, the resources of the Homeland Security Council have not been cut by $2 million. The FY 2003 appropriations for the Homeland Security Council included $2 million for decontamination of the Remote Delivery Site (RDS) as agreed to by the Congress and the Administration. Subsequent to the passage of the FY 2003 appropriations, that $2 million was allocated to decontamination of the RDS per agreement. This planned use of that appropriation is not a cut to HSC resources.

QUESTION 99: Have you validated the FY04 request recently to ensure it is an accurate figure?

RESPONSE: Yes, HSC reevaluated its FY 2004 requirements prior to submitting the final FY 2004 Request. Given the creation of the Department of Homeland Security, HSC's FY 2004 budget requirements are estimated at $8,331,000; as requested.

Budget Questions:

After the FY03 enacted levels are adjusted to reflect the transfer of $9 million to the Office of Homeland Security, the Executive Office of the President's FY04 budget request reflects an 8% increase over FY03 levels. Your agency, the Office of Administration requests a 10% increase between FY03 and FY04.

When the budget was introduced, Mitch Daniels said that the overall growth of Federal programs would be pegged to the expected 4% growth in inflation. The administration also said the President wanted to "match government's growth with the growth of American family income."

QUESTION 100: When the rest of the government is forced to live with 4% growth, how can you justify an almost 10% increase in your office and an overall Executive Office of the President increase of 8%? (POC – Chuck Sigman)

RESPONSE: The Office of Administration's 10% budget increase amounts to approximately $7 million. This increase is necessitated by additional costs stemming from the enhanced security activities in the post-September 11 environment:

- The Capital Investment Plan has a net increase of $3.8 million required for the relocation of the EOP data center to an offsite location. The offsite data center has been determined to be a critical project in any contingency plan, and the communications requirements for the data center will be significantly higher in the new facility.
- $2.5 million is needed for the new information technology contract, driven by the information technology service labor increases, the relocation of the data center as well as by the increased security concerns for EOP systems.
- $0.5 million is required for the EOP information assurance program.
- $0.2 million for physical security improvements to the White House complex in providing resources for security education and evacuation resources.

The 8% growth in the overall EOP budget amounts to approximately $24.6 million. Primary components of this increase are mission-specific needs proposed by the different EOP entities:

- $6.3 million in OA programs described in the prior paragraph ($3.8 million for the capital investment plan, $2.5 million for the information technology contract, $0.5 million for information assurance, and $0.2 million for physical security).
- $2.5 million in EOP-wide space rental increases to conform with GSA's market-based rental rates.
- $3.0 million for USTR's additional staff for intensified trade negotiations.

REV_00170049

- $3.0 million in the Executive Residence's multiyear East and West Wing restoration projects.
- $2.7 million for OMB personnel needs.
- $1.5 million for OMB's budget system updates.
- $0.7 million for OMB's E-Government staff and the Office of Information Technology.
- $0.8 million for additional staff for ONDCP.
- $0.6 million in the NSC's funding for reimbursable detailees and President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board's request for additional staff.
- $0.5 million for OSTP's continuity of operations plan.

The White House Office's increase of 3.6% looks smaller because of a realignment of $1.85m in rent to the Office of Administration's account. Without the realignment, the White House Office's increase would be around 6.6%.

QUESTION 101: What is the justification for this realignment? (POC – Eric Lanman)

RESPONSE: The realignment of $1.85M in rent was made to the WHO from the Office of Administration. Without this and other realignments made as part of the FY 2004 WHO budget request, The White House Office's increase would have only been 1.7 percent.

QUESTION 102: How could the White House have been paying the bill for space that wasn't theirs? (POC – Eric Lanman)

RESPONSE: The WHO has not been paying rent on the 1800 G Street office spaces that this realignment involves. These office spaces were necessitated by the movement of certain White House staff offices following the events of September 11. In FY 2003 funds for these spaces were budgeted by the Office of Administration and are being paid for as part of a pilot program authorized by law.

QUESTION 103: Which EOP agencies occupied this space on which the White House Office has been paying rent? (POC – Eric Lanman)

RESPONSE: As indicated in the previous answers, White House staff have been occupying this space. Rent is being paid by the Office of Administration as part of the pilot program authorized by law.

QUESTION 104: Are these costs that had historically been paid by the White House Office? (POC – Eric Lanman)

REV_00170050

RESPONSE: No. The 1800 G Street Office spaces were not occupied by EOP staff until after the events of 9-11.

QUESTION 105: If so, why make the change this year? (POC – Eric Lanman)

RESPONSE: The realignment of these costs under the WHO is done to reflect the costs under the office whose staff occupies them.

Travel

The White House Office's request includes a decrease of $400,000 in Presidential Travel.

QUESTION 106: Was the FY03 estimate too high? (POC – Eric Lanman)

RESPONSE: As part of the FY 2003 WHO budget submission, $600,000 was requested to support the travel requirements of the new USA Freedom Corps Office. Actual experience subsequently determined this amount to be in excess of need. As a result, the FY 2003 WHO travel line was reduced $329,647 by the statutory recission, and the FY 2004 WHO budget submission requested $400,000 less in the travel line than the original FY 2003 estimate.

QUESTION 107: If so, how do you intend to use the surplus funds? (POC – Eric Lanman)

RESPONSE: The $400,000 reduction to the FY 2004 WHO budget request for travel requirements does not result in surplus funds. It instead results in an overall reduction to the FY 2004 WHO budget estimate.

QUESTION 108: Are you planning less travel in FY04 or will more of the travel just be paid for by political entities? (POC – Eric Lanman)

RESPONSE: Except as noted above, the amount of official travel conducted by the White House staff is expected to remain consistent with the FY 2003 estimate.

QUESTION 109: Please provide a list of all White House Office, Office of Homeland Security and Office of Vice President official staff travel for FY02 and FY03 (to date). Include a brief description of the official purpose of the trip. For FY04 estimates, provide estimated number of trips and trip purpose. (POC – Rothley Howard)

RESPONSE: The following tables provide the FY 2002 and FY 2003 (to date) staff travel information, where a staff member received government reimbursement, for the

REV_00170051

White House Office and the Office of the Vice President. No FY 2004 estimates are available at this time.

QUESTION 111: How much did OMB reimburse the White House Office for use of White House motorpool vehicles in FY02? How much is OMB projecting to reimburse in FY03 and FY04? (POC – Brian Gillis)

RESPONSE: For FY 2002, OMB reimbursed the Department of Defense $99,000 for the use of the White House motorpool. OMB is projecting a similar amount for FY 2003 and FY 2004.

In the hearing, Mr. Daniel mentioned that the FY03 vehicle lease and IT support contracts came in significantly below the original budget estimates.

QUESTION 112: Do you intend to return the unused funds to the Treasury at the end of the fiscal year? (POC – Chuck Sigman)

RESPONSE: The EOP plans to use the funds to implement other critical EOP priorities. The programs which were described by Mr. Daniel at the hearing were the FY 2003 vehicle lease and the guard services contract for guard services at 1801 Pennsylvania Avenue. He did not refer to the IT support contract.

QUESTION 113: For these areas in which savings were realized, what are your plans for the funds? (POC – Chuck Sigman)

RESPONSE: For FY 2003, these funds are being applied to fund other priorities for the OA as well as common services for EOP entities. These other priorities include consolidation of information technology maintenance ($200,000), centralization of database services ($200,000), and common building service costs ($400,000). The remaining $300,000 of these savings will be used for an FY03 OA personnel shortfall.

Political Travel

QUESTION 114: Please explain the reimbursement procedures the White House intends to follow during the Presidential election season. (POC – Andy Kalnins)

RESPONSE: Travel by senior Administration officials is governed by relevant statutes and regulations that have been followed for many years.

QUESTION 115: Exactly when will the presidential-campaign procedures take effect? (POC – Andy Kalnins)

REV_00170077

RESPONSE: The presidential-campaign procedures take effect when a President is a candidate for re-election.

QUESTION 116: How do you determine who the official travelers are on a campaign or political trip? Does the list of positions vary from trip to trip? (POC – Andy Kalnins)

RESPONSE: Consistent with governing statutes and regulations, and traditional practice, a list of positions has been developed which are deemed to always be official.

QUESTION 117: On trips with political and official components, what is the procedure for determining which events are paid for using official funds and which events are reimbursed by the political entity? (POC – Andy Kalnins)

RESPONSE: The guidelines are based on legal principles embodied in 5 CFR §734.503, policies established over a period of years by previous Administrations, and guidance from Federal Election Commission opinions.

QUESTION 118: If the President gives virtually the same speech at a political event that he gave at an official event in that same city, what criteria is used to determine whether an event is "political" or "official"? (POC – Andy Kalnins)

RESPONSE: Appearing at party functions, fundraising, and campaigning for specific candidates are principal examples of travel which ordinarily is considered political.

QUESTION 119: If the President gives virtually the same speech at a political event that he gave at an official event in that same city, does the political entity reimburse the White House for the Speechwriters time? (POC – WHO M&A)

RESPONSE: Ordinarily not. See 5 CFR §734.503(b)(1).

QUESTION 120: Have events been classified as "official" even if only members of the President's political party are invited to share the stage with the President? (POC – WHO M&A)

RESPONSE: The classification of an event as official or political depends on many factors. However, Presidents routinely have official events that may include members of only one party, for example, a speech or meeting about legislative activities or issues.

QUESTION 121: If so, what justification is used to argue that these events were not political events? (POC – WHO M&A)

REV_00170078

RESPONSE: The classification of an event as official or political depends on many factors. However, Presidents routinely have official events that may include members of only one party, for example, a speech or meeting about legislative activities or issues.

QUESTION 122: Please provide information about reimbursement to the White House Office or other government agencies associated with local staff travel to political events attended by the President in FY02 or FY03. For each reimbursement made, please provide the date the bill was generated, the number of events reflected on the bill, the date payment was received, the political entity paying the charges and the total amount paid on each bill. (POC – WHO M&A)

RESPONSE: The White House took steps to ensure appropriate reimbursements from the relevant political entities for political trips.

Photographic Services (POC – Eric Lanman)

QUESTION 123: For FY02, FY03 and FY04, what was (or is projected to be) the total cost of photographic equipment purchased for use by the White House photographers?

RESPONSE: The total cost (actual and projected) of photographic equipment procured for use by White House photographers in FY 2002, FY 2003 and FY 2004 are displayed in the table below.

	FY 2002	FY 2003	FY 2004
	Actual	Estimate	Estimate
Photographic Equipment	$137,057	$35,700	$36,300

FY 2002 actual costs are higher than the estimates for FY 2003 and FY 2004 due to the necessary life cycle replacement of photographic equipment.

QUESTION 124: For FY02, FY03 and FY04, what was (or is projected to be) the total cost of photo lab equipment purchased for use by the WHCA photo lab?

RESPONSE: The total cost (actual and projected) of photo lab equipment purchased for use by the WHCA photo lab is itemized in the following chart:

	FY 2002	FY 2003	FY 2004
Photo Lab Equipment	$492,720	$473,775	$375,000

QUESTION 125: For FY02, FY03 and FY04, what was (or is projected to be) the total travel cost associated with travel of White House Photographers?

REV_00170079

RESPONSE: The FY 2002 travel costs of White House Photographers was $46,721. The estimated FY 2003 cost is $50,000 and the projected cost for FY 2004 is $55,000.

QUESTION 126: For FY02, FY03 and FY04, what was (or is projected to be) the total rent cost associated with the WHCA photo lab?

RESPONSE: There is no rent cost associated with the WHCA photo lab. However, there are utility and facility maintenance costs associated with the WHCA photo lab. Those costs were $73,600 for FY 2002, $76,650 estimated for FY 2003 and a projected $79,000 for FY 2004.

QUESTION 127: Please explain the procedures for determining when and how the government is to be reimbursed for photos released for non-official purposes. If these procedures have changed from those followed by the previous administration, please explain any changes that have been made.

RESPONSE: The procedures for obtaining reimbursements for photographs changed on October 1, 2000. The procedures now in place are designed to ensure that the government receives appropriate reimbursement for photographs sought for non-official purposes. Records are kept of all such requests, and appropriate reimbursement is then sought.

QUESTION 128: For FY02 and the first seven months of FY03, please provide the following information about each payment made to the White House, OA, WHCA, DISA (or other DoD organization) to reimburse for the release of photos or photo lab services that were provided:

- date reimbursement was made
- name of reimbursing organization
- amount of payment
- number of photos purchased by reimbursing organization
- size of photos purchased by reimbursing organization

RESPONSE: The requested information about each payment made to the White House, OA, WHCA, DISA (or other DoD organization) to reimburse for the release of photos is provided below.

Remote Delivery Site Reprogramming Request (POC – Paul Ehrhardt)

We recently received a reprogramming request to transfer $2m of the funds provided to the Office of Homeland Security to the Remote Delivery Site cleanup efforts.

QUESTION 129: What is the status of remediation efforts?

RESPONSE: We are in the process of Confirmatory Sampling. The sampling plan is intended to present a technical approach for (1) completing air and surface sampling for culturable Bacillus anthracis spores to verify the efficacy of the decontamination process: (2) providing for qualified laboratory analysis of the collected samples: and (3) presenting a protocol for data collection and reporting such that the results of the sampling effort are valid and defensible. In addition, the Plan provides for the site and personnel security, safety, health, and personal protection, equipment and collection methods, and sample handling.

QUESTION 130: Please provide the total budget estimate for this project.

RESPONSE: As the contractor responsible for returning the building to an environmentally safe workplace, Versar to date has not been able to develop or provide accurate cost estimates or time lines to EOP. Budget and schedule estimates for this project are especially difficult due to critical path activities taking place in a high-risk environment relying on the utilization of untested speculative technologies. However to date $2.422 million has been spent on the effort and we are currently requesting an additional $2 million, which is Versar's best estimate of what it will cost to complete the project. The total budget estimate for the project then comes to $4.422 million.

QUESTION 131: Please provide the anticipated schedule for this effort.

RESPONSE: Given many variables, including weather, our best current estimate of time to required complete the RDS project is 4 months. The confirmatory testing phase is estimated to take eight weeks from start up. The next phase would be for the ECC committee to ratify the confirmation process; we estimate this to be one month. After this is completed, our best estimate is thirty days to perform PM on the HVAC equipment, build out the office areas, and re-establish the building operation.

QUESTION 132: What caused this $2 million overrun?

RESPONSE: There is not a $2 million overrun. The request for $2 million is a result of anticipated costs and those unforeseen conditions as result of the environmental cleanup process, that OA, GSA or its contractors had available at the time of fumigation. The Environmental Clearance Committee has placed additional requirements that resulted in the additional costs. The proposed sampling plan utilizes the barrier divisions already in Building 410 (which provides discrete work areas) and presents proposed sampling location, quantity, and types of samples to be collected . Sampling will be carried out using a phased approach for each work area as follows:

Phase 1, Surface Sampling; Phase 2 Air Sampling: Phase 3, "Dynamic Sampling", Phase 4, Start Up of the Heating, Ventilation , and Air Conditioning (HVAC) Units; and Phase 5, Final Sampling with the Barriers Down.

QUESTION 133: Why have you stopped providing the monthly reports on the remediation efforts?

RESPONSE: Due to the process of establishing the Environmental Clearance Committee, it was an administrative error that the reports were inadvertently not forwarded.

Previously the Remote Delivery Site was used to screen incoming mail. It also used to serve as an off-site supply depot. With the Department of Homeland Security now assuming the mail processing function and with supply operations now established on the White House Complex, I'm curious about future plans for the RDS.

REV_00170083

QUESTION 134: What will the facility be used for when remediation is finished?

RESPONSE: Prior to September 11, 2001 the Remote Delivery Site (RDS) was used as a centralized receiving facility for the White House Complex. All postage flat mail and packages, including UPS and FedEx deliveries, and all equipment and local deliveries were delivered to the RDS. All incoming deliveries, regardless of size, were screened by the U.S. Secret Service (USSS) via large X ray machines, and if any equipment was too large to fit on the X-ray conveyer belt, then the USSS used dogs to sniff for explosives. After initial USSS clearance, all of the items were sorted and delivered to their intended destination to the White House Complex. Supplies, equipment and furniture which were purchased for inventory for use at later time were housed at the RDS.

In addition to the screening of WHO Complex deliveries, the USSS Administrative Operations Division used RDS space to screen all of its incoming mail and packages that were intended for USSS personnel.

The EOP Supply store was operated within the confines of the RDS. Supplies were purchased and inventoried at the RDS and office supplies and copier paper were purchased in volume to take advantage of discounts. The WHO/EOP customers faxed supply requisitions to the RDS staff who then pulled and boxed office supplies for delivery to the WHO Complex. OA property supply staff made supply deliveries to the WHO complex at least twice a day, and more if needed.

The EOP/OA Personal Property Program (excess, transfer, donation, and destruction of furniture and equipment) had its operations housed at the RDS. Excessed equipment and furniture were corralled at the RDS until enough equipment and furniture were gathered to make it economical to excess all at once. In addition, schools and nonprofit organizations were allowed to review equipment for donation under Executive Order 12999.

After September 11, as a precautionary move, the White House United States Postal Service was relocated from the Eisenhower Executive Office Building to the RDS. A separate room was built for the USPS's operation of opening and screening all White House mail. The RDS operations continued working around the new USPS area. These USPS operations continued until the RDS was closed due to the discovery of Anthrax. Since then the USPS operations have relocated to 1800 G. St. NW.

Once the remediation is finished, the RDS will resume its former function of screening all bulk deliveries (including equipment, furniture, boxes of supplies) sent to the EOP Complex. In addition the facility will be used to store supplies and an inventory of equipment and furniture. The RDS will also be used as a staging area for efficient loading and delivery of bulk items for all EOP entities.

QUESTION 135: Will the DHS use the facility to screen the White House's mail?

REV_00170084

RESPONSE: No.

QUESTION 136: Will you close the on-site supply stores and revert back to running the supply operation out of the Remote Delivery Site?

RESPONSE: When the RDS reopens after the remediation of the building, the RDS staff will resume the same functions prior to the Anthrax. However, there are major changes in the way the OA Supply Store operates and manages its supply inventory. The Office of Administration has entered into a new business relationship with GSA. The OA Supply operation will purchase its supplies from GSA who will provide a wide array of office supplies and maintain the level of supply inventory that is needed to support the WHO Complex. The GSA inventory will be housed at the RDS after relocation from Franconia, VA, the current, temporary RDS location. OA supply staff will pull supply orders based on customer's requisitions, and then box and deliver the supplies from the RDS to WHO complex. GSA will only charge for the supplies that EOP customers use at point of sale, otherwise the unsold inventory will still belong to GSA. GSA promises to maintain the supplies that the EOP customers may need. Inventories will be reviewed and adjusted to realize the kind and quantities of supplies the EOP customers expect. This business relationship will promote a more flexible inventory that allows the supply inventory to have the quantity or variety of supplies to meet our customer needs in a more proactive, real-time fashion.

White House Access (POC – WHO M&A)

QUESTION 137: For the record, please provide the total number of visitors who passed through the White House as part of tours in 2000, 2001, 2002 and 2003 (to date).

RESPONSE: Listed below are total numbers of visitors that passed through the White House from 2000 to year to date FY 2003, as reported in National Park Service (NPS) statistical abstract:

2000: 1,175,714
2001: 856,042
2002: 178,092
2003: 43,434 (as of May 14)

Please note that the NPS records garden tours and egg roll events in their annual numbers for visitors to the White House even though the people attending these events do not go through the house. Since the numbers for the visitors that actually go through the house are not exclusively available, we have included the egg roll event in the numbers for 2003 for consistency. There was no a spring garden tour in 2003.

QUESTION 138: Why are White House tours currently not open to the general public?

REV_00170085

RESPONSE: White House special group tours were reopened for certain group tours on May 6, 2003. Over the past many months, the White House has operated a successful program, in partnership with Congressional offices, allowing special group tours to visit. We will continue to book groups using existing procedures unless circumstances dictate otherwise.

The White House is mindful of the request to fully resume public tours. We continue to consult with law enforcement and intelligence services on how to ensure the safety of the residents, staff and the general public while at the White House.

QUESTION 139: What is the status of the report on the status of White House Tours that was due to the Subcommittee by March 22nd?

RESPONSE: This question was answered and sent to the Subcommittee by the March 22nd deadline.

QUESTION 140: Who has the lead on the efforts to decide whether public tours can be resumed?

RESPONSE: The United States Secret Service constantly monitors and evaluates existing conditions to determine the level of security required at the White House complex including when and if tours can be resumed on a full schedule. Their recommendations, along with input from other law enforcement and intelligence services who monitor changing world events, are reviewed with White House management staff to schedule and structure tours in such a manner that will provide an appropriate level of security for general public taking the tours, in addition to the staff who work in and around the Complex, and the residents. This is an ongoing effort.

QUESTION 141: Does the USSS do a background check on all individuals attending events and meetings at the White House Complex before access can be granted?

RESPONSE: For security reasons, it is not appropriate to provide information about the specific nature of background checks and related security procedures in this context.

QUESTION 142: During this administration, have White House aides ever overruled a building-access recommendation made by the USSS?

RESPONSE: The USSS and EOP Staff collaborate in making decisions on access to the complex.

Off-site EOP Support

QUESTION 143: How many EOP employees are based in Crawford, TX? (POC – Stacia Cropper)

RESPONSE: One.

QUESTION 144: How much space does the EOP pay rent for in Crawford, TX? (POC James Daniel/Stacia Cropper)

RESPONSE: There is one double-wide trailer. The cost of the trailer itself and all operating costs will be paid to GSA in a monthly rent payment of $8,496.83 for two years.

QUESTION 145: How many trailers were acquired for Crawford, TX? (POC James Daniel/Stacia Cropper)

RESPONSE: One trailer was acquired for the EOP.

QUESTION 146: What was the cost to purchase and renovate these trailers? (POC James Daniel/Stacia Cropper)

RESPONSE: The cost of the trailer shell was $72,745.28. The cost to apply finishes to the trailer interior was $20,976.62.

QUESTION 147: What are the expected FY04 operating costs of facilities and staff permanently deployed to Crawford, TX? (POC James Daniel/Stacia Cropper)

RESPONSE: The following are the estimated operating costs for one year: Pest Control ($1,440), cleaning ($4,200), electricity ($4,211.75), and water ($2,286.38).

Rent (POC – Steve Beattie)

QUESTION 148: Please provide an accounting of all space on which the EOP currently pays rent. The list should include the number of staff in each building, the agencies which occupy space in each facility, the total square footage by agency in each facility, the total square footage of vacant space on which the EOP is currently paying rent in each facility and the GSA rent rates for each facility.

RESPONSE: The following charts provide the information on EOP facilities and GSA rental rates as they stood during the formulation of the FY 2004 budget request. Since then, several offices have moved from the New Executive Office Building (NEOB) into the space in 1800 G. Street. In addition, several offices from the Eisenhower Executive Office building will be moving into the newly vacated space at the NEOB. Once all moves have been accomplished, the EOP will provide the Subcommittee with an update on the space utilization of the buildings on the White House complex.

REV_00170087

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS REPORT

To the Management of
White House Travel Office Press Fund

We have audited the accompanying statement of financial position of the White House Travel Office Press Fund as of December 31, 2001, and the related statements of activities and cash flows for the year then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the White House Travel Office Press Fund's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the White House Travel Office Press Fund as of December 31, 2001, and the changes in its net assets and its cash flows for the nine months then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

WHITE HOUSE TRAVEL OFFICE PRESS FUND
NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
DECEMBER 31, 2001

NOTE 1 – ORGANIZATION

The White House Travel Office Press Fund ('WHTO") was established to manage expenses associated with travel for members of the press who accompany the President, Vice President, First Lady, and Second Lady on domestic and foreign trips. In May 1993, a new management team was hired to manage WHTO. Consequently, for accounting and reporting purposes, a new WHTO was established as of January 1, 1994.

NOTE 2- SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Revenue and expenditures are recognized using the accrual basis of accounting. The WHTO invoices the press organizations for their prorated share of the expenses associated with each trip. The WHTO then remits payment directly to the vendors whose services were used for the particular trip. The total amount invoiced to the press members equals the total of the amounts paid to the vendors. The WHTO does not own any fixed assets. Al! fixed assets are purchased through the White House's general fund and designated for the WHTO use. Similarly, all operating expenses of the WHTO, including salaries and office supplies, are paid directly by the White House's general fund.

NOTE 3- CASH

Gash is maintained in two non-interest checking accounts at the Riggs National Bank of Washington, D.C. The RCA 2000 cash account is explained in Note 4.

The total cash held by WHTO at December 31, 2001 includes $512,821 that is not covered by insurance provided by the federal government. It is the opinion of WHTO's management that the solvency of the referenced financial institution is not of particular concern at this time.

REV_00170099

NOTE 4 - RESTRICTED CASH ACCOUNT

Effective April 1, 2000, the management of the White House Travel Office implemented a Restricted Cash Account (RCA). RCA funds are encumbered for specific purposes set forth in written policies and procedures, most notably for payment of late arriving vendor invoices, bank charges and accounts receivable written off as uncollectible.

The RCA is funded through an RCA funding amount applied to every customer invoice, except those for government employees. Presently, that funding amount is two percent of the invoice amount

RCA funding amounts are not considered revenue for accounting purposes.

Under current policies and procedures, a separate RCA is established for each calendar year. The RCA 2000 account on the Statement of Financial Position reflects the total amount of cash in that account at December 31, 2001. The RCA liability accounts for 2000 and 2001 reflect the total RCA funding amount applied to all customer invoices during the respective calendar year, less any disbursements. RCA funding amounts that have been invoiced but not yet collected are included in the accounts receivable amount.

The RCA for each year will be terminated at a designated point in time after the conclusion of the applicable calendar year. At the time of dissolution, any excess funds will be refunded to the Press Fund's customers subject to the RCA funding amount in accordance with a formula based on the percentage of the total travel costs consumed during the year corresponding to the RCA. For example, if a customer were responsible for ten percent of all travel costs for the calendar year 2001, they would be entitled to ten percent of the remaining RCA 2001 funds at the time of dissolution.

NOTE 5 – ACCOUNTS RECEIVABLE

Currently, the WHTO writes off accounts receivable using the direct write-off method. Therefore, there is no allowance for uncollectible accounts.

REV_00170100

NOTE 6 - OTHER RECEIVABLES

As per note 2, the WHTO utilizes a system of dollar for dollar accounting. Under the current accounting process, vendor invoices for trip expenses are entered into accounts payable as they are received. Accordingly, there is an accumulation of unbilled trip expenses in accounts payable until such time that trip accounting is finalized and members of the press are invoiced for their pro rata share of trip expenses. This timing difference creates the need for an Other Receivables category. Other Receivables represents the obligations for normal trip expenses that have been entered into accounts payable, but not yet billed to the press.

QUESTION 155: Please explain the formula you use to determine the rate of reimbursement for Press Corps travelers on the Press Charter?

RESPONSE: Each leg of the itinerary is assigned a proportionate cost, which is divided equally among all press passengers. The following formula is used to compute the proportionate cost for each leg of the trip: (Leg flight time / Total flight time) * Total Air Transportation Expense

QUESTION 156: Please explain the formula you use to determine the rate of reimbursement for Press Pool travelers on Air Force One?

RESPONSE: The cost of the fourteen members of the pool traveling on AF1 is added to the total air transportation expense and the total costs are spread on a pro-rata share among all of the press travelling on the trip. The following formula is used to compute the proportionate cost for each leg of the trip: (Leg flight time / Total flight time) * Total Air Transportation Expense

QUESTION 157: Please explain the formula used to identify the reimbursement rate that the Travel Office billed Press Corps travelers accompanying the President's travel to the USS Abraham Lincoln. In your response, please include the actual rate billed to individual press corps travelers on this trip.

RESPONSE: The cost of transporting press corps travelers from the North Island Naval Air Station to the USS Abraham Lincoln and back to the North Island Naval Air Station totaled $7,440.26. This cost will be added to the total air transportation expense and spread on a pro-rata share among all the press traveling on the trip. The formula for military aircraft reimbursement for the trip to the USS Abraham Lincoln is as follows: $X per hour per aircraft, divided by 60 minutes to get a per minute rate, multiplied by the flight time, divided by the total number of passengers, and then 7.5% excise tax plus $3.00 dollars per person was added.

Bonuses

QUESTION 158: Why did this administration reinstate the payments of bonuses to political appointees? (POC – WHO M&A)

RESPONSE: The relevant statutes and regulations make clear that all Federal employees are eligible for bonuses. Therefore, like other Federal employees, Schedule C and non-career Senior Executive Service (SES) employees may receive bonuses. Consistent with law, this and past Administrations have made bonuses available to Schedule C and SES employees in appropriate circumstances.

REV_00170102

QUESTION 159: Have any EOP political staff been given bonuses since the policy was reinstated in March of 2002? (POC – Jon Laurich)

RESPONSE: Bonuses have been awarded to EOP political staff.

QUESTION 160: Have any EOP political staff been given pay increases for a single pay period in FY02 or FY03 (to date) that would have the same effect as a bonus? (POC – Jon Laurich)

RESPONSE: No.

Eisenhower Executive Office Building

QUESTION 161: Since 1/20/01, have any non-Federal funds been used for renovations and/or furnishings in the GSA facilities occupied by the Executive Office of the President? [this question does not apply to the White House residence.] (POC –WHO M&A)

RESPONSE: We understand this question to refer to buildings within the White House complex that are managed by GSA, including the EEOB, and the East and West Wings. As the Committee is aware, two federal agencies – the GSA, and the National Park Service -- have authority to accept gifts donated to the United States for use in various buildings in the White House complex.

Historically these agencies have on occasion accepted gifts to the United States donated for use in these facilities. For example, in the past, furnishings have been donated to renovate the Oval Office, located in the West Wing. That has also occurred in this Administration. To illustrate: in 2002 a donation was made of three sofas, including sofa fabric, and fabric for two chairs, all for use in the Oval Office. This donation was accepted by the National Park Service under its gift acceptance authority, on behalf of the United States. The donated items became part of the White House collection and will be cared for by the White House Curator.

QUESTION 162: Which Federal agency (i.e., GSA, OA/Facilitles) coordinated the work that was paid for using non-Federal funds? (POC –WHO M&A)

RESPONSE: I understand this question to refer to buildings within the White House complex that are managed by GSA, including the EEOB, and the East and West Wings. As the Committee is aware, two federal agencies – the GSA, and the National Park

ARKANSAS DEMOCRAT GAZETTE

EDITORIALS : Name on a list
In a field of seven, one stands out

THAT WAS quite an impressive list of possibles for the next opening on the federal bench in Arkansas. Tim Hutchinson, an outgoing U.S. senator in more ways than one, must have run through the names of every outstanding Republican lawyer he knew and, instead of backing just one and disappointing the rest, he passed the whole list on to the White House. No sense offending anybody on his way out.

Or as the legendary Spider Rowland might have said when he was churning out his must-read column for the old Arkansas Gazette between sessions at the track, the senator didn't just bet across the board but on every filly, mare, colt and stallion in the race. That way, he couldn't lose-even if he couldn't win much, either. And he certainly wasn't going to make his decision before the election, when he needed all the support he could get. (As one sage politician once put it, every time he recommended someone for a coveted appointment, he created a hundred enemies and one ingrate.)

Naturally a spokesman in Washington, more fluent in polspeak than we ever were or wanted to be, explained the senator's decision in much more elevated tones: "All seven Arkansans will be given full consideration.. The senator views his role as submitting recommendations to the White House. They've got the infrastructure to then fully vet the potential nominees and, of course, it's their constitutional prerogative to make the nomination."

Goodness. We haven't seen so many terms of the poli-techno-juridicial lingo packed into so tight a space since the last time we filled out a government form. Full Consideration. Vet. Infrastructure. Constitutional Prerogative. The only piece of jargon missing was The Process. On the whole, or even in any part, we much prefer Spider's simple Oaklawntested vocabulary. It offers more traction. Like a hard, fast track. Besides, once you get beyond Win, Show and Place, you lose us. Why didn't the senator just settle for three possibles, give one of 'em the secret handshake, and at least leave the other two feeling like contenders?

WE RAN an eye down this field of seven, and had a familiar sensation. It had been a while since we experienced it, so it took a moment to conjure it up again. It's the feeling we get whenever sitting in on a legal seminar, or a ceremonial swearing-in or mustering-out of a distinguished judge, or attending one of those banquets that attracts local luminaries, and spot the honorable Richard S. Arnold in the crowd, which fades away around him.

Judge Arnold has now stepped down as chief judge of the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals-and has been a grey eminence since he was, oh, in his 30s. It's not that others do not shine, but that his is the kind of light that illuminates, not just glares. It isn't agreeing or disagreeing with where Judge Arnold has come out on a legal question that educates, but seeing how he got there. Great judges are like that.

One of the (we would say many) disappointments of the Clinton administration was that, given more than one opportunity to put The Hon. Richard Sheppard Arnold on the Supreme Court of the United States, it never did. And so the uniformly pedestrian quality of the high court's jurisprudence remains unbroken except for the regular opinions of Antonin Scalia, which come and go in its law like momentary spasms of lucidity.

Bill Clinton twice passed over his fellow Arkansan in favor of one politically correct mediocrity after another, which was a shame but no surprise. There was always something about Arkansas' prodigal president that attracted popularity but repelled excellence. Indeed, we bet a friend a good dinner at the best restaurant in town that Bill Clinton would never pick Richard Arnold for the court, but we've never had the heart to collect. We would love to have lost that bet. The dinner would've been a celebration.

And so Richard S. Arnold remains the most incisive jurist, with the exception of Learned Hand, never to have served on the Supreme Court of the United States. For him it is doubtless another wry fact of life, and Judge Arnold has always been one to appreciate the wry in life.

But for the country, Judge Arnold's not having been named to the high court was a tragedy we'll never know the extent of. Though we think about it now and then, always with a sigh. American law is still in need of the clarity and concision he has always lent it. We still feel a great regret and a great happiness in his presence, or just when reading one of his decisions. It's like being in the light.

THE SAME light settled on one name when we read the story out of Washington that listed the field of seven up for federal district judge as The Hon. Stephen M. Reasoner takes senior status. The name might as well have been in italics: Leon Holmes.

It wasn't just the long list of academic distinctions that drew our eye to his name-from being first in his law school class at Fayetteville to his various scholarly honors. (Counselor Holmes has had a career teaching political philosophy as well as in the law.) What distinguishes Mr. Holmes is the rare blend of qualities he brings to the law-intellect, scholarship, conviction, and detachment. A reverence not just for the law but for ideas, for the life of the mind. All of that would shine through the clutter of argument that awaits any judge.

We hasten to add that Counselor Holmes has in the past represented the Democrat-Gazette, and while that fact might understandably prejudice us in his favor, it also gave us an opportunity to spend some time in his pleasant but challenging company, to rest in his competence, to examine our own motives under his penetrating gaze, and to regularly discover his strengths. Always a little grave, he also seems always about to smile. Not a simple man, Mr. Holmes, but he simply appeals. We're not sure we've ever met anyone quite like him, which is the same feeling we get around Richard Arnold.

Learned Hand once said that a great judge must know more than the law, that he must have "at least a bowing acquaintance" with great ideas, and Leon Holmes has more than that. He has a sophisticated interest in ideas, yet a simplicity in their pursuit. He would not only bring distinction to the bench but promise. Which is why his inclusion in this list is not just a seven-shared honor for him, but a test of the Bush administration's own judgment. The appointment it makes in this instance will say something about the legacy this president leaves the American judiciary. In choosing Leon Holmes, he could bequeath a promise of greatness.

Their politics and their approach to many aspects of the law may be different, yet Richard Arnold and Leon Holmes cast the same, illuminating light. In passing over Judge Arnold, the Clinton administration missed a great opportunity for American jurisprudence. Let's hope this president seizes this one.

Bill Clinton twice passed over his fellow Arkansan in fa vor of one politically correct mediocrity after another, which was a shame but no surprise. There was always somethi ng about Arkansas prodigal president that attracted popularity but repelled exc ellence. Indeed, we bet a friend a good dinner at the best restaurant in town t hat Bill Clinton would never pick Richard Arnold for the court, but weve never had the heart to collect. We would love to have lost that bet. The dinner would ve been a celebration.

And so Richard S. Arnold remains the mo st incisive jurist, with the exception of Learned Hand, never to have served on the Supreme Court of the United States. For him it is doubtless another wry fact of life, and Judge Arnold has always been one to appreciate the wry in life.

But for the country, Judge Arnolds not having been named to the high court was a tragedy well never know the exte nt of. Though we think about it now and then, always with a sigh. American law is still in need of the clarity and concision he has always lent it. We still f eel a great regret and a great happi ness in his presence, or just when reading one of his decisions. Its like being in the light.

THE SAME light settled on one name when we read the story out of Washington that listed the field of seven up for federal dist rict judge as The Hon. Stephen M. Reasoner takes senior status. The name might as well have been in italics: Leon Holmes.

It wasnt just the long list of acade mic distinctions that drew our eye t o his namefrom being first in his law school class at Fayetteville to his vario us scholarly honors. (Counselor Holmes has had a career teaching political philosophy as well as in the law.) What distinguishe s Mr. Holmes is the rare blend of qualities he b rings to the lawintellect, scholarship, conviction, and detachment. A reverence not just for the law but for ideas, for the life of the mind. All of that woul d shine through the clutter of argum ent that awaits any judge.

We hasten to add that Counselor Holmes has in the past represented the Democrat-Gaz ette, and while that fact might understandably prejudice us in his favor, it al so gave us an opportunity to spend some time in his pleasant but challenging co mpany, to rest in his competence, to examine our own motives under his penetrat ing gaze, and to regularly discover his strengths. Always a little grave, he al so seems always about to smile. Not a simple man, Mr. Holmes, but he simply appeals. W ere not sure weve ever met anyone quite like him, which is the same feeling we get around Richard Arnold.

Learned Hand once said that a great judge must know more than the law, that he must have "at least a bowing acquaintance" with grea t ideas, and Leon Holmes has more than that. He has a sophisticated interest in ideas, yet a simplicity in their pursuit. He would n ot only bring distinction to the bench but promise. Which is why his inclusion in this list is not just a seven-shared honor for him, but a test of the Bush a dministrations own judgment. The appointment it makes in this instance will say something about the legacy this president leaves the American judiciary. In ch oosing Leon Holmes, he could bequeath a promise of gre atness.

Their politics and their approach to many aspects of t he law may be different, yet Richard Arnold and Leon Holmes cast the same, illuminating light. I n passing over Judge Arnold, the Clinton administration missed a great opportun ity for American jurisprudence. Lets hope this president seizes this one.

Subject: State transmittal of Compensation for Victims of International Terrorism legislation

On May 21st, we provided State the final approved version of the Victims of International Terrorism legislation for their informal transmittal to the appropriators (Rep. Wolf in particular). We advised State that it was not to be formally transmitted.

State now requests clearance of the following letter (by COB today) to which State will attach the draft approved Victims of Terrorism legislation. State advises that their Committees of jurisdiction (authorizers and appropriators) have asked for a formal transmittal before they will consider the legislation. State further indicates that its authorization bill is likely to be on the Senate floor in the next two weeks, and the SFRC may be willing to consider a floor "Victims of Terrorism" amendment after receiving the Administration's bill.

Please provide your comments/clearance on the attached letter.

Dear Mr. Chairman:

On May 21, 2003, the Office of Management and Budget approved the attached draft legislative language to establish a comprehensive program to provide benefits for United States victims of international terrorism. We are providing it to you with the request that it be considered for inclusion as either a floor amendment to the FY 04 Foreign Relations Authorization Act when the full Senate considers the bill in June or, as stand-alone legislation.

We recognize the congressional interest in this matter, as reflected in section 626 of the FY02 Commerce-Justice-State Appropriations Bill, (P. L. 107-77 (2001)). Section 626 called upon the President to submit a legislative proposal to establish "a comprehensive program to ensure fair, equitable, and prompt compensation for all United States victims of international terrorism" that occurred on or after November 1, 1979.

The proposed legislation is based on the following three principles:

(1) The program should provide the same benefits to those with low incomes as those with greater means;
(2) Victims should receive compensation as quickly as possible;
(3) The amount of compensation should be on par with that provided to families of public safety officers killed in the line of duty (currently $262,000) Thus, the government program should not be designed as the primary means of

The Honorable
Richard G. Lugar, Chairman,
Committee on Foreign Relations,
United States Senate.

compensating victims and victims' families for their losses, but rather should complement life insurance, savings, and other private financial measures.

In contrast to a mechanism that uses blocked assets and rewards those that can secure judgements before such assets are exhausted, a fund based on the above principles would provide compensation for all victims fairly and equitably. It also preserves the President's prerogatives in the area of foreign affairs.

The proposed fund would be administered within the Department of State. Authorization for appropriations necessary to compensate victims will be required. In addition to these costs, a benefits adjudication unit will need to be established within the Department soon after enactment and we will take steps in the current budget planning cycle to ensure that adequate resources are available for this purpose.

We urge your support for passage of this important legislation which provides compensation for U.S. victims of international terrorism in a comprehensive, fair and rational way.

Sincerely,

Paul V. Kelly
Assistant Secretary
Legislative Affairs

UNDER THE DOME Edwards weighs in on FCC

Raleigh News & Observer

May 30, 2003

U.S. Sen. John Edwards has added his voice to the chorus of those seeking to stop the Federal Communications Commission from relaxing rules on media ownership.

The FCC is expected to vote Monday on a package of rule changes, including one that would raise the cap on the number of local TV stations that can be owned by large media companies.

"Diversity in the media is enormously important to our democracy," Edwards said in a letter to FCC Chairman Michael Powell and the four other panel members. "Americans should have choices in the music they can hear and the television programs they can watch."

Edwards, who has emphasized his rural roots in his White House run, argued that increased network ownership could jeopardize local programming.

U.S. Rep. Richard Burr, a Winston-Salem Republican, and U.S. Rep. David Price, a Chapel Hill Democrat, are pushing legislation to overturn the expected FCC decision. Elizabeth Dole is a co-sponsor of a similar bill in the Senate.

Jones assails ruling

U.S. Rep. Walter Jones, a Farmville Republican, is trying to protect pre-supper prayer in the nation's military schools.

In a letter this week to President Bush, Jones says he was "disappointed and outraged" upon learning of a court ruling last month that saying grace at the Virginia Military Institute violated First Amendment protections. Jones is urging Bush to sign an executive order to allow nondenominational activity to continue.

"By virtue of educations rooted in the principles of our Founding Fathers and steeped in the traditions of our great military services, our future officers gained respect for God and country," Jones wrote. "Now one of those traditions, the act of community prayer before meals ... , is under serious attack from groups like the ACLU."

Dole, Duncan lunch

U.S. Sen. Elizabeth Dole had lunch Thursday in Raleigh with Allyson Duncan, a lawyer with Kilpatrick Stockton and one of President Bush's two North Carolina nominees to the U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals.

Duncan's nomination, made last month, has become intertwined with that of U.S. District Court Judge Terrence Boyle, whom Bush first nominated in May 2001 but whose fortunes have stalled because Edwards has not yet returned the "blue slip" that home senators must sign before hearings will proceed.

Edwards has urged the nomination of Duncan to move ahead, which could lead to her appointment sooner than Boyle's.

Dole spokeswoman Mary Brown Brewer said Thursday that the senator's lunch with Duncan on Thursday was in no way a sign that Dole wants Duncan appointed first. Dole supports both nominees, Brewer said.

Still, Dole and Duncan have something in common, Brewer said: Dole was the first woman elected to the Senate from North Carolina, and Duncan would be the first black woman appointed to the 4th Circuit.

UNFAIR TREATMENT?
Kuhl Epitomizes 'Mainstream' of Appropriate Conduct for Judiciary

Forum Column

By John C. Eastman

Stellar credentials and a "well-qualified" rating from the American Bar Association, its highest, following her nomination to the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals should have made the road to confirmation an easy one for Judge Carolyn Kuhl.
But the path since Kuhl's nomination June 22, 2001 - two years ago - has been anything but easy. Indeed, for 21 months, she was not even given the courtesy of a hearing by the Senate Judiciary Committee, and a month after she finally did receive a hearing April 1, 2003, her nomination was "reported out" to the Senate floor on only the barest, 10-9 vote, with not single Democrat siding with what Sen. Patrick Leahy, D-Vt., once called the "gold standard" of the ABA's well-qualified rating.

Her credentials are impeccable. Bachelor's degree in chemistry from Princeton, graduated cum laude. Law degree from Duke, graduated with distinction, inducted into the prestigious Order of the Coif, served as an editor of the Duke Law Journal. Law clerk in California on the 9th Circuit with then judge, now Supreme Court justice, Anthony Kennedy. High-ranking official at the U.S. Department of Justice, served as deputy solicitor general, deputy assistant attorney general and special assistant to the attorney general. Partner in one of Los Angeles' most prestigious firms, Munger, Tolles & Olson. Eight years of service as a judge on the Los Angeles
Superior Court, in both the criminal and civil divisions.
And she's a woman, which means she accomplished all this at a time when women were just beginning to break through the glass ceiling that had for far too long limited opportunities for women in the legal profession.
So why all the opposition? Some self-proclaimed "women's groups" have apparently decided that this impeccably well-qualified woman is ... anti-woman! She might even, they fear, have conservative leanings.
There are three key pieces of "evidence" in this frontal assault on Kuhl. First, while a young, 29-year-old attorney at the Department of Justice with no policy-making authority, Kuhl helped urge the attorney general to reverse an Internal Revenue Service policy denying tax-exempt status to Bob Jones University.
She did so on two grounds, neither of which had anything to do with defending the university's racial policies. She believed that Congress, not an administrative agency like the IRS, ought to be making such determinations. She also was concerned lest the IRS use its power to define "public policy" to deprive tax-exempt status to all-girls schools (such as the high school Kuhl herself had attended) or all-women colleges.
Harvard Law professor Laurence Tribe, in a 1984 letter to Attorney General William French Smith, praised the quality of the brief submitted by the Department of Justice in the case.
Tribe noted that he "thought it was a powerful and, in most respects, entirely compelling legal document."
Second, while serving on the Los Angeles Superior Court, Kuhl dismissed one of several counts in a case brought by a woman alleging the tort of intrusion after her doctor, while conducting a breast exam, had invited into the examining room a pharmaceutical company representative who was observing the doctor's work as part of his participation in an oncology mentorship program designed to improve care for breast-cancer patients.
Kuhl ruled that the remaining counts could proceed to trial, and the case ultimately settled with the plaintiff receiving an undisclosed sum.
Her ruling dismissing the intrusion count was well-grounded in existing precedent of the state Supreme Court, which had held that the tort of intrusion encompassed only unconsented-to physical intrusion.
Although her decision dismissing the intrusion count was reversed on appeal, state Court of Appeal Justice Paul Turner, who wrote the appellate opinion in the case, has acknowledged that "a strong argument can be made that [Kuhl] correctly assessed the competing societal interests the California Supreme Court requires all jurists in this state to weigh in determining whether the tort of intrusion has occurred."
Finally, Kuhl had a limited role in the drafting of the brief filed by acting Solicitor General Charles Fried in Thornburgh v. American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, 476 U.S. 747 (1986), in which Fried, acting on behalf of President Reagan, urged the Supreme Court to overturn Roe v. Wade. Her name appears third on the brief, though, so abortion rights groups have attributed the position to her.
Most troubling about this attack on Kuhl is the disparity of treatment it represents. Charles Fried, whose name appears first on the brief, has acknowledged that he wrote the "overrule-Roe part of the brief" himself. Yet Fried's nomination as solicitor general later that year was approved unanimously by the Senate Judiciary Committee. He was confirmed by the full Senate by a voice vote, without debate, by several of the same Democrats opposing Kuhl, including Sens. Joseph Biden, D-Del., Edward Kennedy, D-Mass. and Leahy.

Moreover, the initial draft of the brief was written by John Rogers, whose name appears second on the brief, yet Rogers is sitting as judge on the 6th Circuit. Rogers was not even questioned about his role in the case during his confirmation hearing. He was approved by the Judiciary Committee and confirmed by the full Senate on a voice vote.
What are we to make of this opposition to Kuhl? For some reason, the confirmation bar seems higher for her than for other, equally qualified male nominees. Perhaps it is no surprise that a woman jurist who is not lock step in line with the abortion-on-demand policies of the National Abortion Rights Action League would not get its support - although Kuhl has vowed that she is "fully committed to following the precedent established by [Roe v. Wade] and would do so fairly and properly."
But it is somewhat surprising that Sen. Dianne Feinstein, D.-Calif., would go along - the same Feinstein who first was elected in the 1992 "year of the woman" with a campaign message of sending more women to the men's club of the U.S. Senate.
Or that Sen. Barbara Boxer, D.-Calif., elected that same year with a similar campaign message, would not at least support a vote on this extremely well-qualified woman nominee.
Is this the same Boxer who just nine months before Kuhl was nominated held a press conference decrying the "shameful way that women nominees to the federal judiciary were being treated" by the Senate and who had vigorously contended for years that every judicial nominee should receive an up or down vote?
"Whether the delays are on the Republican side or the Democrat side," she said in 1998, "let these names come up, let us have debate, let us vote."
Boxer finds Kuhl to be "outside the mainstream." Yet the overwhelming consensus among people who actually know her is just the opposite.
Two years ago, Vilma Martinez, former director of the Mexican American Legal Defense and Educational Fund and lifelong Democrat, wrote of Kuhl, "I consider her mainstream. ... She's careful and she's thoughtful. She's been an excellent Superior Court judge, and I think she will be an excellent 9th Circuit judge."
A year ago, a bipartisan group of 23 women judges who work with Kuhl at the Los Angeles Superior Court, in a letter to the Senate Judiciary Committee, wrote in support of her nomination: "As sitting judges, we more than anyone appreciate the importance of an independent, fair-minded and principled judiciary. We believe that Carolyn Kuhl represents the best values of such a judiciary."
Leo James Terrell, who has litigated before Kuhl, informed Boxer in May, 2001 that he "vigorously" recommended Kuhl's appointment to the 9th Circuit.
Terrell, an attorney for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, found that "Judge Kuhl was fair, impartial, competent and at all times extremely professional."
With such impeccable credentials and widespread testament to a demonstrably stellar judicial temperament by litigators of every political persuasion, including leading environmental, trial and civil rights attorneys - traditional Democrat allies all - Kuhl epitomizes the "mainstream" of appropriate judicial conduct.
The real question for Boxer and Feinstein is whether they will listen to such longtime allies and permit a vote on this well-qualified nominee from their home state or whether they will heed the slanders being propounded by the National Abortion Rights Action League and erect a new glass ceiling against any woman nominee who does not fully support the most extreme of the group's positions.

UNFAIR TREATMENT?
Kuhl Epitomizes 'Mainstream' of Appropriate Conduct for Judiciary

Forum Column

& nbsp; By John C. Eastman

&nbs p; Stellar credentials and a "well-qualified" rating from the American Bar Association, its highest, following her nomination to the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeal s should have made the road to confirmation an easy one for Judge Carolyn Kuhl.

But the path since Kuhl's nomination June 22, 2001 - two years ago - has been anything but easy. Indeed, for 21 months, she was not even given the courtesy of a hearing by th e Senate Judiciary Committee, and a month after she finally did receive a hearing April 1, 2003, her nomination was "reported out" to the Senate floor on only the barest, 10-9 vote, with not a single Democrat siding with what Sen. Patrick Leahy, D-Vt., once called the "gold standard" of the ABA's well-qualified rating.

Her credentials are impeccable. Bachelor's degree in chemistry from Princeton, graduated cum laude. Law degree from Duke, graduated with distinction, inducted into the prestigious Order of the Coif, served as an editor of the Duke Law Journal. Law clerk in California on the 9th Circuit with then judge, now Supreme Court justice, Anthony Kennedy. High-ranking official at the U.S. Department of Justice, served as deputy solicitor general, deputy assistant attorney general and special assistant to the attorney general. Partner in on e of Los Angeles' most prestigious firms, Munger, Tolles & Olson. Eight years of service as a judge on the Los Angeles Superior Court, in both the criminal and civil divisions.

And she's a woman, which means she accomplished all this at a time when women were just beginning to break through the glass ceiling that had for far too long limite d opportunities for women in the legal profession.

So why all the opposition? Some self-proclaimed "women's groups" have apparently decided tha t this impeccably well-qualified woman is ... anti-woman! She might even, they fear, have conservative leanings.

There are three key pieces of "evidence" in this frontal assault on Kuhl. First, while a young, 29-year-old attorney at the Department of Justice with no policy-makin g authority, Kuhl helped urge the attorney general to reverse an Internal Revenue Service policy denying tax-exempt status to Bob Jones University.

She did so on two grounds, neither of which had anything to do with defending the university's racial policies. She believed that Congress, not an administrative agency like the IRS, ought to be making such determinations. She also was concerned lest the IRS use its power to define "public policy" t o deprive tax-exempt status to all-girls schools (such as the high school Kuhl herself had attended) or all-women colleges.

Harvard Law professor Laurence Tribe, in a 1984 letter to Attorney General William French Smith, praised the quality of the brief submitted by the Department of Justic e in the case.

Tribe noted that he "thought it was a powerful and, in most respects, entirely compelling legal document."

Second, while serving on the Los Angeles Superior Court, Kuhl dismissed one of severa l counts in a case brought by a woman alleging the tort of intrusion after her doctor, while conducting a breast exam, had invited into the examining room a pharmaceutical company representative who was observing the doctor's work as part of his participation in an oncology mentorship program designed to improve care for breast-cancer patients.

Kuhl ruled that the remaining counts could proceed to trial, and the case ultimately settled with the plaintiff receiving an undisclosed sum.

Her ruling dismissing the intrusion count was well-grounded in existing precedent of the state Supreme Court, which had held that the tort of intrusion encompassed only unconsented-to physical intrusion.

Although her decision dismissing the intrusion count was reversed on appeal, state Court o f Appeal Justice Paul Turner, who wrote the appellate opinion in the case, has acknowledged that "a strong argument can be made that [Kuhl] correctly assessed the competing societal interests the California Supreme Court requires all jurists in this state to weigh in determining whether the tort o f intrusion has occurred."

Finally, Kuhl had a limited role in the drafting of the brief filed by acting Solicitor General Charles Fried in Thornburgh v. American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, 476 U.S. 747 (1986), in which Fried, acting on behalf of President Reagan, urged the Supreme Court to overturn Roe v. Wade. Her name appears third on the brief, though, so abortion rights groups have attributed the position to her.

Most troubling about this attack on Kuhl is the disparity of treatment it represents. Charles Fried, whose name appears first on the brief, has acknowledged that he wrote the "overrule-Roe part of the brief" himself. Yet Fried's nomination a s solicitor general later that year was approved unanimously by the Senate Judiciary Committee. He was confirmed by the full Senate by a voice vote, without debate, by several of the same Democrats opposing Kuhl, including Sens. Joseph Biden, D-Del., Edward Kennedy, D-Mass. and Leahy.

Moreover, the initial draft of the brief was written by John Rogers, whose name appears second on the brief, yet Rogers is sitting as judge on the 6th Circuit. Roger s was not even questioned about his role in the case during his confirmation hearing. He was approved by the Judiciary Committee and confirmed by the full Senate on a voice vote.

What are we to make of this opposition to Kuhl? For some reason, the confirmation bar seems highe r for her than for other, equally qualified male nominees. Perhaps it is no surprise that a woman jurist who is not lock step in line with the abortion-on-demand policies of the National Abortion Rights Action League would not get its support - although Kuhl has vowed that she is "fully committed to following the precedent established by [Roe v. Wade] and would do so fairly and properly."

But it is somewhat surprising that Sen. Dianne Feinstein, D.-Calif., would go along - the same Feinstein who first was elected in the 1992 "year of the woman" with a campaign message of sending more women to the men's club of the U.S. Senate.

Or that Sen. Barbara Boxer, D.-Calif., elected that same year with a similar campaign message, would not at least support a vote on this extremely well-qualified woman nominee.

Is this th e same Boxer who just nine months before Kuhl was nominated held a press conference decrying the "shameful way that women nominees to the federal judiciary were being treated" by the Senate and who had vigorously contended for years that every judicial nominee should receive an up or down vote?

"Whether the delays are on the Republican side or the Democrat side," she said in 1998, "let thes e names come up, let us have debate, let us vote."

Boxer finds Kuhl to be "outside the mainstream." Yet the overwhelming consensus among people who actually know her is just the opposite.

Two years ago, Vilma Martinez, former director of the Mexican American Legal Defense and Educational Fund and lifelong Democrat, wrote of Kuhl, "I consider her mainstream. ... She's careful and she's thoughtful. She's been an excellent Superior Court judge, and I think she will be an excellent 9th Circuit judge."

A year ago, a bipartisan group of 23 women judges who work with Kuhl at the Los Angeles Superior Court, in a letter to the Senate Judiciary Committee, wrote in support of her nomination: "As sitting judges, we more than anyone appreciate the importance of an independent, fair-minded and principled judiciary. We believe that Carolyn Kuhl represents the best values of such a judiciary."

Leo James Terrell, who has litigated before Kuhl, informed Boxer in May, 2001 that he "vigorously" recommended Kuhl's appointment to the 9th Circuit.

Terrell, an attorney for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, found that "Judge Kuhl was fair, impartial, competent and at all times extremely professional."

With such impeccable credentials and widespread testament to a demonstrably stellar judicial temperament by litigators of every political persuasion, including leading environmental, trial and civil rights attorneys - traditional Democra t allies all - Kuhl epitomizes the "mainstream" of appropriate judicial conduct.

The real questio n for Boxer and Feinstein is whether they will listen to such longtime allies and permit a vote on this well-qualified nominee from their home state or whether they will heed the slanders being propounded by the National Abortion Rights Action League and erect a new glass ceiling against any woman nominee who does not fully support the most extreme of the group's positions.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT
FY 2004 PRESIDENT'S BUDGET
QUESTIONS FOR THE RECORD FROM CHAIRMAN ERNEST J. ISTOOK, JR.

UNOBLIGATED BALANCES

QUESTION 1: Please provide a listing of all unobligated balances, by fiscal year, appropriation and PPA, for all accounts within the Executive Office of the President. Please also show the original appropriation levels for these accounts.

RESPONSE: The following tables list the EOP unobligated balances in two different formats. The first format shows the FY 2003 information in the new financial structure as presented in the EOP FY 2004 Congressional budget submission. The remaining fiscal years are shown in a format that summarizes the information at the appropriation level only.

CONSOLIDATION OF ACCOUNTS

QUESTION 2: Sections 105 and 106 of title 3 U. S. Code describe expenses that may be accounted for solely on the certificate of the President and Vice President, respectively. Most of these expenses correspond to particular accounts. The Comptroller General may inspect documents related to these expenditures, but solely to verify that the expenditures were made for allowed purposes. When we asked last year how certified expenses would be identified for audit within a consolidated appropriation, the response was that the certification requirements would continue to be observed (p. 41). This does not answer the question of how the account structure will be maintained to provide an identifiable and auditable crosswalk between title 3-certifiable expenses and other expenses within the consolidated appropriation.

RESPONSE: As presented in the Congressional Budget Submission (pages 4, 5, and 6,) the Executive Office of the President (EOP) has established a Budget Activity structure that is consistent, beginning with the budget submission and extending through the accounting and reporting phases. The EOP accounting system will track and report obligations and expenditures consistent with this structure through the use of budget activity, program, sub-program, and line item codes assigned to each transaction. EOP has the ability to provide an identifiable and auditable crosswalk to the individual transactions authorized under sections 105 and 106 of Title 3 of the United States Code.

QUESTION 3: Please provide a listing of all appropriations language enacted in Public Law 108-7 which would be dropped in the proposed account consolidation, and provide a brief explanation of why that language is not necessary.

RESPONSE: The following appropriations in Public Law 108-7: Compensation of the President, White House Office Salaries and Expenses, Office of Homeland Security, Executive Residence, White House Repair and Restoration, Council of Economic Advisers, Office of Policy Development, National Security Council, and the Office of Administration would be combined into one appropriation entitled "The White House." The individual language in Public Law 108-7 for each of those appropriations would be removed. However, suggested language for the combined appropriation is provided in the Appendix to the FY 2004 Budget (page 881) and states: "For the Compensation of the President and White House Office (including the Office of Homeland Security), Executive Residence, White House Repair and Restoration, Office of Policy and Development, Office of Administration, Council of Economic Advisers and the National Security Council, (hereinafter, and solely for the purposes of Title VI of this Act, "the White House"), $183,770,000, of which $24,803,000 shall remain available until expended, including compensation for the President, including an expense allowance of $50,000 as authorized by U.S.C. 102; for travel expense of $100,000 as authorized by 3 U.S.C. 103; for necessary expenses for the White House as authorized by 5 U.S.C. 3109 and 3 U.S.C. 105; for the necessary expenses of the Executive Residence at the White House as authorized by 3 U.S.C. 105,109,110, and 112-114; for the necessary expenses of the Offices and Councils in the White House account as authorized by 5 U.S.C. 3109, 15 U.S.C. 1021, and 3 U.S.C. 105 and 107 (including not to exceed $19,000 for official reception and representation expenses); and for the hire of passenger motor vehicles: Provided, That none of the funds made available to the President for official expenses shall be expended for any other purpose and any unused portion of such funds shall revert to the Treasury pursuant to 31 U.S.C. 1552: Provided further, That no such funds shall be considered as taxable to the President: Provided further, That advances or repayments or transfers from this appropriation may be made to any department or agency for expenses of carrying out such activities."

REV_00170650

The suggested language, with the exception of a consolidated appropriation amount incorporates the same restrictions and clarifications as contained in the language contained in the Public Law 108-7 for the appropriations being consolidated. The appropriations for Vice President's Salaries and Expense, Vice President's Residence Operating Expenses, Office of Management and Budget, Office of National Drug Control Policy, and Unanticipated Needs will remain separate appropriations and will therefore not require any language changes as a result of the combination.

THE WHITE HOUSE (CONSOLIDATED ACCOUNT)

QUESTION 4: You are requesting $12,302,000 for object class 23.3 (communications, utilities, and miscellaneous services) in FY 2004. This is a large increase over the estimated $7,010,000 for FY 2003. What accounts for the increase?

RESPONSE: The FY 2004 White House (WH) consolidated budget net increase of $5,292,000 for communications is required in three major areas:

- Most of the increase ($4,420,000) is needed in the OA Capital Investment Plan for offsite data center communications. This facility will transition into full operation during FY 2004. The telecommunications between the offsite data center and the EOP complex are necessary to provide expanded, survivable and redundant connectivity, continuity of operations, disaster recovery and system support. These costs include funds for telecommunications lines, two additional DS-3 data paths, two T-1 lines, and backups to provide the communications bandwidth necessary for servicing the EOP complex.

- $482,000 in the White House Office budget to provide a custom communications package which will enable the Homeland Security Council to establish a presence for its staff within the White House Situation Room.

- $100,000 for information assurance in the OA salaries/expenses budget. In addition to the Offsite Data Center project, the OA FY 2004 budget also includes a request for an additional $100,000 for the information assurance program in the FY 2004 salaries/expenses account. This program will enable the CIO office to correct vulnerabilities in the EOP information security perimeter to secure internal systems, and to perform real-time monitoring of perimeter network devices.

REV_00170651

- $151,000 in transfers of Lexis-Nexis database costs from nonconsolidated entities to the consolidated White House appropriation. The FY 2004 budget envisions that $72,000 will be transferred from USTR, $56,000 from ONDCP, $15,000 from OMB, and $8,000 from CEQ so that the EOP can have a single funding source for EOP-wide Lexis-Nexis service.

- $139,000 for adjustments to maintain the same level of services for the base funding during FY 2004. This is calculated on the basis of the $7,010,000 in FY 2003 funding.

RENTAL PRICING

QUESTION 5: The FY 2004 justifications state that over the past year, EOP, GSA, and OMB have undertaken an assessment of space rental costs for all EOP entities. The result of this analysis is that the FY 2004 request includes additional funding to accommodate an "EOP average" rental rate. Please provide details of how this analysis was conducted, and specify the estimated rental rates for the various EOP entities, as determined by this analysis.

RESPONSE: The EOP space rental project began during the summer of 2002 at the request of OMB's budget examiners, who were working to ensure that EOP entities moved to the same market-based rent methodology used to determine space rental rates for GSA's other Federal properties. OMB requested that GSA and EOP review the space rental costs for each EOP property and each EOP entity so that the most up-to-date costs available were included in the FY 2004 budget proposal. Another significant concern in this project is to ensure that GSA will work with the EOP to ensure that the critical needs of the EOP are funded and executed.

As a result of the initial project, OA and GSA began a series of meetings which culminated in the space estimates which were included in the budget. GSA staff prepared a comprehensive listing of EOP properties, which itemized the space occupied by each EOP entity. This listing included commercial and government-owned space, current estimates of rentable square footage, and the annual rental rate per square foot. EOP staff provided updated estimates of the rentable square footage.

During this process, GSA blended the fair-market rates for the permanent EOP buildings into a single blended rate. This was done to simplify the administrative work when EOP staff are relocated. This is especially needed in the post-9/11 environment's unusually high number of large-scale EOP entity relocations driven by security considerations, as well as the result of the legislation creating the Department of Homeland Security. The EOP average rental rate for Federally-owned properties (New Executive Office Building (NEOB), Eisenhower Executive Office Building (EEOB), White House, Winder Building, Jackson Place) is $29.60 annually per square foot. GSA adds an additional building security charge for buildings which are not protected by the US Secret Service.

EOP STAFFING

QUESTION 6: By EOP office, please provide FTE and OGE, similar in format to the tables found on pages 111 and 112 of last year's hearing record. Please provide data for FY 2002 through 2004.

RESPONSE: The following tables provide the total FY 2002 actual, FY 2003 and FY 2004 estimates for full time equivalents (FTE) and other government employees (OGE) for each EOP and other entity as of May 5, 2003. The OGE numbers are itemized by category on the following page. The FY 2003 numbers have the Office of Homeland Security in a separate category, which accordingly decreased the White House numbers. The FY 2003 and FY 2004 numbers are estimates only and are therefore subject to change.

OFFICE OF HOMELAND SECURITY

QUESTION 9: Your FY 2004 budget requests $8,331,000 for the Office of Homeland Security. Please provide an object class breakdown of those costs and compare them to FY 2003 estimated levels.

RESPONSE: The Office of Homeland Security was created by the President on October 8, 2001, via Executive Order 13228 and is synonymous with the staff of the Homeland Security Council (HSC). An object class breakdown of estimated HSC costs in FY 2003 and FY 2004 is provided in the table below. Please note that the FY 2003 estimate covers only costs incurred after the enactment of the FY 2003 appropriation on February 20, 2003. Unlike other EOP offices which operated under continuing resolutions between October 1, 2003 and February 20, 2003, the Office of Homeland Security was not permitted to utilize the CR funding mechanism but instead continued to charge FY 2003 expenses against the no-year emergency funding (provided in FY2002) until the FY 2003 appropriation was enacted. Therefore the FY 2003 estimate reflects only seven months of activity, whereas the FY 2004 Request needs to cover HSC expenses for the full 12 months next fiscal year.

(Dollars in Thousands)	FY 2003 Appropriation	FY 2003 Estimate*	FY 2004 Request	2004 Request - 2003 Estimate
Homeland Security Council:
Personnel	$4,403	$2,800	$5,550	$2,750
Travel	$300	$60	$588	$528
Transportation of Things	$24	$24	$10	-$14
Rent	$0	$0	$200	$200
Communications, Utilities, and Misc.	$209	$50	$1,080	$1,030
Printing and Reproduction	$69	$69	$50	-$19
Other Services	$3,267	$1,267	$528	-$739
Supplies and Materials	$0		$175	$175
Equipment	$0	$50	$150	$100
Subtotal	$8,272	$4,320	$8,331	$4,011

* FY 2003 Estimate covers only seven months vs. FY 2004 Request covering full 12 months

Rent was included in the Office of Administration budget in FY 2003, and is moved back to the Homeland Security Council in FY 2004. The Communications object class in FY 2004 includes funding to provide a custom communications package to establish an interface for the Homeland Security Council within the White House Situation Room. Supplies and Materials and Equipment object classes both were funded out of the Office of Administration Pilot Program in FY 2003 but show budgets in HSC for FY 2004.

QUESTION 10: In particular, how much are you requesting in FY 2004 for professional contracts, and how does that compare to the estimated FY 2003 level?

REV_00170660

RESPONSE: In FY 2004 HSC is requesting $528,000 for Other Services compared with $3,267,000 appropriated for the same category in FY 2003. The decrease is due to the reduction in the size of the staff of HSC. Anticipated contractual needs in FY 2004 include maintenance, upgrades, and technical support for the classified computer network that will be extended to include HSC staff in FY 2003.

QUESTION 11: How many FTE and FTP are you requesting for this office in FY 2004, and how do these figures compare to current FY 2003 estimates and actuals for FY 2002?

RESPONSE: HSC is requesting resources to support 40 direct hire FTE and 26 Other Government Employees on its staff to fill the 66 positions HSC is projecting for FY 2004.

Office of Homeland Security / Homeland Security Council Personnel

	FY 2002 Actual	FY 2003 Estimate	FY 2004 Request
Direct Hire FTE	31	40	40
Other Government Employees (EOY headcount)	89	26	26
Total Personnel	120	66	66

QUESTION 12: How many positions in the office are filled today, and how many are vacant?

RESPONSE: As of June 2, 2003, 51 positions are filled and 16 are vacant.

QUESTION 13: Please provide a table comparing the number of detailees to OHS, by Federal agency, for each of the fiscal years 2002 through 2004 (estimated).

RESPONSE: The table below provides the number of Other Government Employees assigned to the Homeland Security Council.

QUESTION 14: How many detailees are on board today?

RESPONSE: As of May 15, 2003, there are 18 detailees on board at the Homeland Security Council.

QUESTION 15: Please provide a list of all positions in OHS, showing the incumbent's name, rate of annual salary, and position title. Please annotate any positions which are currently vacant.

RESPONSE: The President is authorized to appoint and fix pay of any member of the White House Staff without regard to any provision of law related to employees of the federal government. The individuals employed by the President represent a broad spectrum of experience and expertise and have been engaged to perform tasks ranging from clerical/support to complex, technical, scientific, medical, legal and other missions

QUESTION 16: Please update to the OHS organizational chart found on page 50 of last year's hearing record.

RESPONSE: The Homeland Security Council currently consists of the Homeland Security Advisor, the Deputy Homeland Security Advisor and their support staff. Within the Homeland Security Council there are offices and staff for Intergovernmental Affairs, Public Liaison, Legislative Affairs, Military Programs, the Executive Secretary, and the General Counsel's office. In addition, there are five policy coordinating directorates each headed by a Senior Director with director level and support staff within each directorate. The policy directorates include; 1) Border & Transportation Security, 2) Response and Recovery, 3) Domestic Counterterrorism, 4) Biodefense, and 5) Critical Infrastructure Protection.

QUESTION 17: Please update the information shown on pages 44 through 47 of last year's hearing record concerning Office of Homeland Security travel. In addition to the information provided last year, please provide a brief descriptor of the travel purpose.

RESPONSE: All travel was conducted as part of the duties of the Office of Homeland Security and as such is considered official travel. The President and the Assistant to the President for Homeland Security have regularly stated that the homeland will not be secure unless the Federal government works closely with state and local officials. Official trips were approved for various purposes including the attendance of various conferences, holding of meetings with state and local officials and the holding of town hall meetings. The HSC considers travel to different states and cities as a vital part of its mission.

The table below is an update to the travel information provided to Congress last year.

	FY 2003 Total		$82,039

QUESTION 18: Currently, OHS costs are included in both the WHO and OA appropriations. Is that also the case in the FY 2004 request? If so, please provide a table, by appropriation, showing total OHS budgeted costs, for each of the fiscal years 2002 through 2004.

RESPONSE: For FY 2003, although funds were requested as part of the WHO budget activity, the Office of Homeland Security received for the first time its own appropriation, separate from the WHO appropriation. Funds supporting OHS / HSC requirements in FY 2003 were provided also to OA as part of the OA Pilot program. The FY 2004 Request identifies all requirements for OHS / HSC in the WHO Budget Activity, since the OA Pilot program is not certain to continue after FY 2003. See table below:

(Dollars in Thousands)

	Congressional Appropriations
	FY 2002 Enacted*	FY 2003 Enacted	FY 2004 Request
OHS / HSC	$30,800	$8,272	$8,331
OA		$778
	$30,800	$9,050	$8,331

*FY 2002 budget for OHS was based on the OHS mission and funding profile prior to the establishment of DHS and was provided by 3 sources of emergency appropriated funds: P.L. 107-38 for $25,000,000; P.L. 107-117 for $2,000,000; and P.L. 107-206 for $3,800,000.

QUESTION 19: Last year, it was stated that one MOU existed between OHS and other EOP entities (p. 51). Please provide a copy of the MOU between OHS and the Office of Science and Technology Policy.

REV_00170679

RESPONSE: The MOU between OHS and OSTP expired with the creation of the Department of Homeland Security as relevant responsibilities transferred from OHS to DHS, pursuant to the Homeland Security Act of November 2002.

QUESTION 20: Have any other MOUs been signed since that time?

RESPONSE: An MOU between the Homeland Security Council and the National Security Council/White House Situation Support Staff was signed in May 2003 providing for the expansion of NSC's classified computer network to include approved HSC staff with necessary security clearances.

In addition standard agreements were signed between OHS/HSC and the Office of Administration (OA) and OMB to pay for detailees from these EOP entities to OHS/HSC, and separately between OHS/HSC and OA to pay for miscellaneous supplies and materials.

QUESTION 21: At this time last year, OHS planned to establish a coordination center which would function 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, using a communications room and two incident management rooms. At the same time, the Administration made clear that the role of OHS was to establish and coordinate policy, and not to conduct operational activities. With the establishment of the Department of Homeland Security, have these specific activities been descoped or eliminated?

RESPONSE: The role of the Homeland Security Council is to advise and assist the President, develop and coordinate the implementation of the National Strategy for Homeland Security to secure the United States from terrorist threats and attacks, and to help coordinate policy across the departments and agencies of the Executive Branch. The Homeland Security Council does not conduct operational activities. The Homeland Security Council does not operate a coordination center. With the establishment of the Department of Homeland Security (DHS), DHS is the lead federal agency for incident management. As such, DHS operates a Homeland Security Center with 24 hour/7 days per week coordination and communications capabilities. Those functions do not reside in the Homeland Security Council.

QUESTION 22: How many positions support these activities in the FY 2004 request, and what is the total budgeted amount?

RESPONSE: The FY 2004 budget will not fund any personnel or activities related to the DHS coordination center. However, every member of the HSC staff has responsibilities to support and advise the President regarding incident response efforts, continuity of government and related coordination roles on behalf of the President.

REV_00170680

QUESTION 23: How are such activities appropriate for a policymaking body, when DHS now exists to coordinate and execute operational activities related to specific homeland security incidents and activities?

RESPONSE: Just as the NSC was created by Congress in 1947 in the same act which created the Department of Defense and the CIA, Congress established the HSC within the EOP by statute at the same time as it created the Department of Homeland Security. The role of the Homeland Security Council is to advise and assist the President, develop and coordinate the implementation of the National Strategy for Homeland Security to secure the United States from terrorist threats and attacks, and to help coordinate policy across the departments and agencies of the Executive Branch. The Homeland Security Council does not conduct operational activities. The Homeland Security Council does not operate a coordination center. With the establishment of the Department of Homeland Security, DHS is the lead federal agency for incident management. As such, DHS operates a Homeland Security Center with 24 hour/7 days per week coordination and communications capabilities. Those functions do not reside in the Homeland Security Council.

QUESTION 24: At the time of last year's hearing, the permanent location and amount of space for the President's Critical Infrastructure Protection Board had not been determined (p. 77). Have these requirements been determined today?

RESPONSE: The President's Critical Infrastructure Protection Board (PCIPB) no longer exists at the White House. Executive Order 13228, which created the PCIPB, was amended. Congress, through the Homeland Security Act, created within Department of Homeland Security the Directorate for Information Analysis and Infrastructure Protection (IAIP). One of the responsibilities of the IAIP directorate is the important issue of critical infrastructure protection. This is a robust directorate led by an under secretary.

QUESTION 25: Likewise, total CIPB staffing had not been determined. Do you have an estimate today? What staffing assumptions were made in the FY 2004 budget submission?

RESPONSE: See above.

QUESTION 26: How much funding is included in the FY 2004 request for CIPB, and how does that compare to the current estimate for FY 2003?

RESPONSE: See above.

QUESTION 27: Please provide a breakdown showing how those funds would be used.

RESPONSE: See above.

REV_00170681

QUESTION 28: Please provide details on any government-industry partnerships that have been created in support of cyber security initiatives coordinated by, or carried out, through EOP or the CIPB.

RESPONSE: In 2002, the President's Critical Infrastructure Protection Board developed a National Strategy to Secure Cyberspace. To encourage broader participation and input into the development process, a draft strategy was released for public comment in September 2002. In addition, the PCIPB requested the National Infrastructure Assurance Council and the National Security Telecommunications Advisory Committee both provide comments on the draft strategy. Furthermore, there were ten town hall meetings held in various portions of the country which brought industry, academia and private citizens together to focus on the complex issues related to cyber security. The final strategy thus integrated extensive public and industry comments and was released in February 2003.

The National Strategy to Secure Cyberspace emphasizes that government-industry partnerships will be a cornerstone to success. As the primary implementer of the Strategy, DHS will be a partner with industry and academia to accomplish the objectives identified by the President's strategy.

NATIONAL SECURITY COUNCIL

QUESTION 29: Your request includes a 10.8 percent increase to cover reimbursable detailee costs and additional support staff for the President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board. Please explain the need for these increases in detail.

RESPONSE: The requested increase covers reimbursable detailee costs of personnel from the Department of State. The National Security Council (NSC) may request detailed personnel performing at a high level in high priority positions to remain beyond their initial tour of duty because of their unique qualifications. The NSC reimburses the Department of State for details to the NSC that exceed a cap of 13 detailed into their second year and for all staff detailed longer than two years. The FY 2003 increase in this category is an estimate for details becoming reimbursable during the Spring and the Summer. The FY 2004 increase represents an annualization of the expenses, minus the cost for the details that will not be renewed.

Since the events of September 11, 2001, the President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board (PFIAB) support staff workload has been significantly increased and consumed by the homeland security effort. Thus far, about 95% of the Board's current advisory work for the President has been directly related to homeland security and counter-terrorism; intelligence performance thereon, and support to the new Department of Homeland Security. With only 4 staff members and an already overflowing Board work schedule, continuing work on important PFIAB priorities requires additional resources. At least three additional staff members, including a GS-14 administrative manager, will be needed to adequately meet support requirements as the Board expands its review of intelligence support to homeland security beyond the more immediate structural and organizational issues, and also re-engages the more general intelligence performance issues across the full spectrum of pressing issues. The FY 2004 request includes $250,000 which will fund two reimbursable detailed staff members and one permanent, Schedule A, Excepted Service, GS-14 administrative management position.

QUESTION 30: What are the dollar and percentage increases for each of the above items, compared to the FY 2003 estimated levels?

RESPONSE: The FY 2004 request for NSC reimbursable detailees represents an increase of $356,000, or 64 percent, over the FY 2003 estimated levels. The PFIAB increase of $250,000 will be 100 percent above the FY 2003 request since this is a new requirement for FY 2004.

QUESTION 31: The justifications indicate that 11 additional positions are being added to this office in FY 2003, raising the estimated from 60 in FY 2002 to an estimated 71 in FY 2003. What specific positions are being created?

RESPONSE: The 11 additional positions, which raise NSC's FTE from 60 to 71, are not new positions. In FY 2003, the Office for Combating Terrorism (OCT) was combined with the NSC budget request. The increased FTE request correlates with the continued funding for, and operation of, the OCT as a part of the NSC submission.

QUESTION 32: The FY 2004 request includes funds for a new GS-14 administrative manager for the PFIAB. Why is this new position needed at this time?

RESPONSE: PFIAB requires a permanent administrative position for continuity as well as efficiency reasons. The administrative staff constitutes the lifeblood of the Board: it fulfills all of the support responsibilities, including human resource management, budget, travel, procurement, research, publishing, protocol, and special assistance to the Executive Director, Chair and Vice Chair. With only two administrative people on staff, it is absolutely critical that both individuals be fully knowledgeable about, and highly experienced with White House administrative policies, procedures and guidelines; equally important, both must possess highly honed administrative skills and be extremely efficient, effective and professionally dedicated.

The Board simply cannot attain this level of experience and competence by relying on detailees from other agencies, particularly non-reimbursed detailees. More often than not, we must accept whomever an agency can make available. Therefore, the Board will use this one permanent administrative billet to create a PFIAB office manager position. This individual not only will provide continuity of expertise and experience but also will ensure that the other administrative person obtains the proper professional mentoring and supervision. We plan to make this a GS-14 position but may start the individual we select at the GS-13 level to allow for personal advancement, thereby also ensuring, a long term of service to the Board.

OFFICE OF NATIONAL DRUG CONTROL POLICY

QUESTION 33: You are requesting 10 additional FTE in FY 2004 to replace 10 non-reimbursable detailees who are no longer available. Why are these positions no longer available, and what are the specific positions?

RESPONSE: ONDCP's FY 2004 request includes resources to support 125 FTEs, an increase of 10 FTEs over the FY 2003 request. This FTE increase is requested to offset the loss of approximately 20 - 25 of the 30 non-reimbursable military detailee positions the Department of Defense has supported at ONDCP since 1996. (The Department of Defense, as outlined in a December 28, 2001 memorandum, has adopted a general policy that approves of requests for details only on a reimbursable basis, with limited exceptions.)

This 10 FTE increase, along with distributing additional responsibilities among existing staff, will allow ONDCP to absorb the detailee staffing loss and meet its statutory responsibilities. The specific positions would be appointed within the following offices: Planning and Budget; State and Local Affairs; Intelligence; and Supply Reduction.

RENOVATION OF THE EISENHOWER EXECUTIVE OFFICE BUILDING

QUESTION 34: What is the status of funding provided in FY 2002 and 2003? Please provide a breakdown of funding by the type of activity or renovation performed.

RESPONSE: The General Service Administration (GSA) has used FY 2002 Emergency Response Funds in the amount of $1,674,000 for starting the Architects' and Engineers' design contract for the 17th Street Wing Security Modernization Project. GSA is currently in the process of reprogramming $7,500,000 for FY 2003 for design, management and inspection. The FY 2003 reprogramming is required to complete the Design/Build/Bridging documents and assist in managing the Design/Build/Bridging efforts.

QUESTION 35: How much remains unobligated, by appropriation?

RESPONSE: The General Services Administration (GSA) awarded a portion of the design cost in the amount of $1,537,173 utilizing the FY 2002 Emergency Response Fund. $136,827 remains unobligated. GSA has not obligated any FY 2003 funding.

REV_00170684

QUESTION 36: Please provide a detailed breakdown showing how funds requested in the GSA budget for FY 2004 would be used.

RESPONSE: The following is a break down on how the funds will be used in FY 2004:

Major Work Items:
Electrical System	$ 10,244,000
Air conditioning system, chillers and piping	$ 12,530,000
Interior Construction	$ 13,163,000
Utility Vault (includes foundation construction)	$ 22,107,000
Window Blast Mitigation	$ 4,685,000
Mansard Roof Hardening	$ 802,000
Estimated Construction Cost (ECC)	$ 63,531,000
Management and Inspection	$ 2,226,000
Authorization Requested (ECC, M&I)	$ 65,757,000

QUESTION 37: Please provide a detailed schedule for activities planned in FY 2004.

RESPONSE: The design/build/bridging contract is scheduled to be awarded in March 2004. The current schedule for the project is as follows:

Design Award:	04/03
Design/Build/Bridging Procurement Start:	09/03
A/E Bridging Documents Complete:	10/03
Design/Build/Bridging Contract Award:	03/04
Construction Complete:	06/06

QUESTION 38: How much are you currently paying GSA for the unoccupied space along the 17th Street side of EEOB, and how much rental cost are you incurring for the new locations where relocated employees are working?

RESPONSE: We are not paying for the unoccupied space along the 17th Street side of the EEOB in FY2003. Employees were relocated to 1800 G Street where FY 2004 rental costs are estimated at $4,978,000 and to 1801 Pennsylvania Avenue where the FY 2004 rental costs are estimated at $792,000. Both rental cost estimates exclude parking space costs.

EXECUTIVE RESIDENCE

QUESTION 39: Please provide a table, corresponding to the projects on page 81 of last year's hearing record, showing the original appropriation for each project, the amount obligated to date, and the project status. This involves projects funded in fiscal year 2002.

REV_00170685

RESPONSE: The following table provides funding information on the FY 2002 projects.

Executive Residence at the White House
FY2002 White House Repair and Restoration

Project	Original Appropriation	Obligated To Date	Status of Project
Pool Shelter Roof Reconstruction and Pool Deck Renovation	$430,000	$412,926	This project is completed, with only minor punch list items and related recurring maintenance items to be funded from the remaining funds.
Communication System Repairs/Phase 2*	$456,667 $4,544,000	$155,872	Modifications to the original design under Phase I (FY2001) are completed. The pre-bid meeting with prospective contractors is scheduled for mid-May, with contract award by late June, and construction commencing by late July.
East and West Wing Exterior Restoration	$2,500,000	$2,398,433	The restoration is underway and all Phase I funds will be utilized this year.
Insulated Windows Replacement	$160,000	$162	The prototype utilizing historically accurate reproduction glass is in production, with manufacturing of actual replacement units expected to begin in June. Installation to begin in August.
Kitchen Floor Replacement	$75,000	$60,815	This project is nearing completion with the remaining funds to be utilized for utility work.
North Portico Curtain Wall	$120,000	$106,751	The project is completed with remaining funds required to purchase spare parts inventory.
Stone Pavers Restoration	$277,000	$220,082	The project is currently underway and is scheduled for completion by September 2003.
West Colonnade Restoration	$275,000	$0	Planning has recently been completed; work will be accomplished in August and early September 2003.

*For the Comunication System Repairs/Phase 2 project, $456,667 was funded in FY 2001 for Architect and Engineering. The remaining $4,544,000 was for construction.

QUESTION 40: Please provide a listing of the 95 FTE positions at the Executive Residence requested for funding in FY 2004, showing the position title and the annual salary level.

Communication System Repairs/Phase 2*	$456,667 $4,544,000	$155,872	Modifications to the original design under Phase I (FY2001) are completed. The pre-bid meeting with prospective contractors is scheduled for mid-May, with contract award by late June, and construction commencing by late July.
East and West Wing Exterior Restoration	$2,500,000	$2,398,433	The restoration is underway and all Phase I funds will be utilized this year.
Insulated Windows Replacement	$160,000	$162	The prototype utilizing historically accurate reproduction glass is in production, with manufacturing of actual replacement units expected to begin in June. Installation to begin in August.
Kitchen Floor Replacement	$75,000	$60,815	This project is nearing completion with the remaining funds to be utilized for utility work.
North Portico Curtain Wall	$120,000	$106,751	The project is completed with remaining funds required to purchase spare parts inventory.
Stone Pavers Restoration	$277,000	$220,082	The project is currently underway and is scheduled for completion by September 2003.
West Colonnade Restoration	$275,000	$0	Planning has recently been completed; work will be accomplished in August and early September 2003.

*For the Comunication System Repairs/Phase 2 project, $456,667 was funded in FY 2001 for Architect and Engineering. The remaining $4,544,000 was for construction.

As of this date, there are also 5 projects which have balances prior to FY 2002. They are as follows:

FY1996 – Roof Repair – balance of $9,227. These funds will be expended as needed for ongoing maintenance and corrective measures.

FY1998 – Repair/restoration of the Laundry Room – balance of $26,616. Purchase of replacement equipment and maintenance of equipment to be expended in FY2003.

REV_00170688

FY2000 – Purchase and Install Two Ironers – balance of $5,754. These funds will be expended to replace the drive belts in FY2003.

FY2000 – Renovation of Paint Shop – balance of $38,271. Funds will be used to purchase and update equipment to meet EPA and OSHA requirements in FY2003.

FY2000 – Third Floor Promenade – balance of $11,392. Funds will be expended to rehab and replace drainage system in late FY2003 or early FY2004.

WHITE HOUSE REPAIR AND RESTORATION

QUESTION 42: You are requesting $4,225,000 for repairs and restoration of the White House. Is there additional funding in the National Park Service budget or elsewhere in the President's budget request for FY 2004 for similar activities at the White House?

RESPONSE: There are no other budget requests for the same activities at the White House.

QUESTION 43: Of this request, $3,500,000 is for restoration of the East and West Wing exterior. Please provide a detailed discussion and breakdown of this request.

RESPONSE: The funding requested is for the continuation (2nd phase) of the East and West Wing Restoration project, the first being funded in FY 2002. This is consistent with the original planning for the execution of this project based on the experience of the completed Executive Residence Exterior Restoration completed in 1996. A breakdown of major work items follows:

Estimated Construction Costs:

Mobilization, scaffolding, rental equipment	150,000
Stone, stucco, wood restoration, insulated glass	1,580,000
Paint removal	1,660,000
Effluent/hazardous material disposal	150,000
Specialized window film including installation	400,000
Specialized stucco coating including installation	550,000
Painting	500,000
Site Restoration	260,000
Design, project management, project supervision, testing	350,000
Contingency	400,000
Estimated Total Cost	$6,000,000
FY 2002 Funding	$2,500,000
FY 2004 Funding Request	$3,500,000

PENNSYLVANIA AVENUE IMPROVEMENTS

QUESTION 44: What is the total estimated cost of security and street improvements on Pennsylvania Avenue in front of the White House, for which funds were provided in FY 2003?

RESPONSE: This project is not funded with EOP resources. Please refer all questions on this project to the Department of Transportation/Federal Highway Administration.

QUESTION 45: What is the status of that project? When will FY 2003 funds be obligated?

RESPONSE: See above.

QUESTION 46: How much funding is requested for this project in FY 2004, and where is it located in the budget?

RESPONSE: See above

QUESTION 47: What is the schedule for studies of traffic congestion mitigation alternatives in the vicinity of the White House, as funded in FY 2003?

RESPONSE: See above.

REMOTE DATA CENTER

QUESTION 48: What is the status of establishment today of the remote data center?

RESPONSE: The remote data center project is on schedule and on budget. The project is approximately halfway through completion for the first two phases with a scheduled opening (initial operational capability) date of September 2003. The following chart shows the funding of the remote data center from FY 2002 thru FY 2004.

	FY 2002	FY 2003	FY 2004
CIP	$15,000,000	$5,000,000	$8,403,000
Total	$15,000,000	$5,000,000	$8,403,000

QUESTION 49: Last year, you estimated annual operating costs of this facility to be $7,500,000 (p. 88). Is that your current estimate?

REV_00170690

RESPONSE: Last year OA provided a rough estimate of $7,500,000 for the future annual operating cost of the new data center facility. This was based upon the following estimated costs:

- $1,500,000 in communications to maintain connectivity for the EOP,
- $600,000 in space rental,
- $450,000 for hardware maintenance,
- $1,300,000 for software maintenance,
- $2,600,000 for contractor services,
- $300,000 for supplies/components,
- $75,000 for equipment, and
- $675,000 in salaries/benefits.

While most of these estimates remain valid, OA must revise the estimate for space rental to $1,258,000, bringing the revised estimated annual operating costs for the facility to $8,158,000.

QUESTION 50: Your FY 2004 request includes $8,403,000 to transition the remote data center to full operational status (p. 75). What specific activities are required in FY 2004 to accomplish this? Can you provide a breakdown of the FY 2004 request consistent with these activities?

RESPONSE: The following table lists the FY2004 CIP funds requested for the completion of the remote data center construction and initial year operating costs.

Object Class	Object Class Title	Requested Funding ($ in 000)	Description
23.0	Space Rental Payments	$1,258	This estimate reflects $1,258,000 in rental for the offsite data center and will be the initial rent to be paid for the offsite data center. This cost was previously funded from emergency funds.
23.3	Communications, utilities, and miscellaneous charges	$4,420	$4,420,000 is for CIP networking/ telecommunications projects at the offsite data center. These projects include funds for a tap off of telecommunications lines, two additional DS-3 data paths, two T-1 lines, and backup to support required communications bandwidth, and availability requirements.
25.2	Other Services	$2,700	This estimate reflects Priority System Disaster Recovery costs, Secondary Systems Disaster Recovery costs, Hardware and Software for the Disaster Recovery Site, and Hardware and Software upgrades to support the data center move.

REV_00170691

Object Class	Object Class Title	Requested Funding ($ in 000)	Description
26.0	Supplies and materials	$25	The estimate reflects $25,000 in additional supplies necessary for start-up operations at the offsite data center. This will include start up costs for office equipment used for the new office spaces.
Total FY 2004 Data Center CIP Request		$8,403

PRESIDENT'S TRAVEL

QUESTION 51: Please update the information on pages 89 through 94 of last year's hearing record concerning travel by the President and the First Lady by continuing data from the final entry of last year's record to the present time.

RESPONSE: The following charts summarize Presidential and First Lady travel for Fiscal Years 2002 and 2003 (to date). They also reflect costs currently in the accounting system. We are waiting for additional cost information on several trips, therefore, final costs may vary.

USA FREEDOM CORPS

QUESTION 54: Please provide EOP budgeted funding for the Freedom Corps for fiscal years 2002 through 2004.

RESPONSE: The funding profile for the USA Freedom Corps from its inception through FY 2004 is as follows:

REV_00170714

(Dollars in thousands) Category	FY02 Actual	FY03 Request	OA Pilot	FY03 Recission	FY03 Enacted	FY04 Estimate

Total	525	2,600	-289	-330	1,981	2,280

Note: As part of a pilot program authorized by Congress in fiscal year 2003, general support costs such as rent, supplies, printing, information technology, etc., are centrally managed and charged against the Office of Administration.

QUESTION 55: Please provide a breakdown of the FY 2004 request for the Freedom Corps, and a brief description of the work to be accomplished under each item.

RESPONSE: The FY 2004 WHO request includes funding for the following USA Freedom Corps requirements.

Personnel: This category provides funding for the cost of the salaries and benefits for the staff of the USA Freedom Corps. The FY 2004 WHO request included $827,000 for this category.

Travel: The USA Freedom Corps office staff members are frequent travelers and often work at the national, state and local levels with organizations.~~, especially in organizing the Citizen Corps across the country~~ In addition, the Director of the USA Freedom Corps or the appropriate staff is required to address gatherings at national conferences, and gatherings of state and local officials in order to disseminate information about the President's Call to Service and the activities coordinated by the USA Freedom Corps.~~ and answer questions relating to the organization of USA Freedom Corps activities at the local level.~~ The FY 2004 WHO request included $102,000 for this category.

Rent: This category funds the costs of the GSA office space utilized by the USA Freedom Corps. The FY 2004 WHO request included $157,000 for this category.

Printing: This category includes the costs of the creation and printing of documents regarding the USA Freedom Corps mission and policies and initiatives~~specific programs~~ coordinated by its Council. The FY 2004 WHO request included $225,000 for this category.

REV_00170715

Other services: This category includes funds for the hiring of contractors to measure the nationwide effects of the USA Freedom Corps efforts through surveys and other measurement tools, and funds for information dissemination and the creation and production of materials used in the furtherance of the USA Freedom Corps mission and ~~specific programs,~~initiatives coordinated by its Council. The FY 2004 WHO request included $926,000 for this category. ~~and other activities that will further the mission of the USA Freedom Corps.~~

Communications and Misc.,; Supplies and Materials, Equipment: These general categories are managed centrally by the White House Office of Management and Administration. Funds in these categories support the normal costs associated with day to day office operations. The FY 2004 WHO request included $43,000 for this category.

QUESTION 56: Last year, funds were requested for Freedom Corps information dissemination and recognition materials (p. 239). Are similar activities funded in FY 2004? If so, how much?

RESPONSE: The FY 2004 WHO request includes requirements for similar activities to those funded in FY 2003 and included are funds for information dissemination and recognition materials. Funds for these activities are included in the Other Services category of the WHO request. An estimated $926,000 of this portion of the request is for USA Freedom Corps requirements.

QUESTION 57: Are additional funds requested in FY 2004 outside the EOP?

RESPONSE: As a White House office and a coordinating council, the USA Freedom Corps does not run, fund, or administer programs. Instead, the USA Freedom Corps coordinates the development of policies and initiatives with various offices/entities in the Executive Branch in support of the President's goal to strengthen the American culture of service while helping all Americans find meaningful service opportunities. This role does not require outside funding and none have been requested by the WHO.

QUESTION 58: Please provide a listing of the staff in the USA Freedom Corps Office, showing the incumbent name and position. Please designate any detailees.

RESPONSE: A listing of the current USA Freedom Corps Office staff is provided below.

John Bridgeland: Assistant to the President and Director, USA Freedom Corps
Ron Christie: Special Assistant to the President and Deputy Director, USAFC
Lindsey Kozberg: Special Assistant to the President for Policy/Public Affairs
Therese Lyons: Director of Public Liasion
Ian Rowe: Director of Management and Strategy

REV_00170716

Kathleen Mynster: Deputy Press Secretary
Britt Grant: Special Assistant to the Director
Cornell Teague: Associate Director
Nique Fajors: Agency Liaison – Detailee
Ken Lanza: Agency Liaison - Detailee

SENSITIVE COMPARTMENTED INFORMATION FACILITIES

QUESTION 59: Are any funds requested in any EOP office in the FY 2004 President's request for the construction of sensitive compartmented information facilities (SCIFs)?

RESPONSE: No funds are requested for SCIFs in FY 2004.

QUESTION 60: How many such facilities have been built within EOP offices since the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001?

RESPONSE: Sixteen SCIFS have been built.

DATA CENTER RELOCATION

QUESTION 61: What is the status of efforts to relocate the existing EOP data center, and what are plans for the coming year?

RESPONSE: The remote data center project is on schedule and on budget. The project is approximately halfway through completion for the first two phases with a scheduled opening (initial operational capability) date of September 2003. The following chart shows the funding of the remote data center from FY 2002 thru FY 2004.

	FY 2002	FY 2003	FY 2004
CIP	$15,000,000	$5,000,000	$8,403,000
Total	$15,000,000	$5,000,000	$8,403,000

QUESTION 62: Are funds requested in the FY 2004 budget for this project?

RESPONSE: The following table displays the funds requested for this project in FY 2004.

Object Class	Object Class Title	Requested Funding (in $1000s)	Description

REV_00170717

Object Class	Object Class Title	Requested Funding (in $1000s)	Description
23.0	Space Rental Payments	$1,258	This estimate reflects $1,258 in rental for the offsite data center and will be the initial rent to be paid for the offsite data center. This cost was previously funded from emergency funds.
23.3	Communications, utilities, and miscellaneous charges	$4,420	$4,420 is for CIP networking/telecommunications projects at the offsite data center. These projects include funds for a tap-off of telecommunications lines, two additional DS-3 data paths, two T-1 lines, and backup to support required communications bandwidth, and availability requirements.
25.2	Other Services	$2,700	This estimate reflects Priority System Disaster Recovery costs, Secondary Systems Disaster Recovery costs, Hardware and Software for the Disaster Recovery Site, and Hardware and Software upgrades to support the data center move.
26.0	Supplies and materials	$25	The estimate reflects $25 in additional supplies necessary for start-up operations at the offsite data center. This will include start-up costs for office equipment used for the new office spaces.
Total FY2004 Data Center CIP Request		$8,403

WHITE HOUSE COMMUNICATIONS AGENCY

QUESTION 63: Updating the information on page 133 of last year's hearing record, please provide estimated reimbursements for the White House Communications Agency for each of the fiscal years 2002 through 2004.

RESPONSE: Reimbursements made to the White House Communications Agency, for the non-telecommunications support they provide to the WHO, is broken down into two categories: military personnel and audiovisual support. The amount of planned reimbursement is initially set and agreed to via an inter-agency agreement (IAG). This IAG is then adjusted if needed as a result of actual execution. Reimbursement actuals and estimates follow:

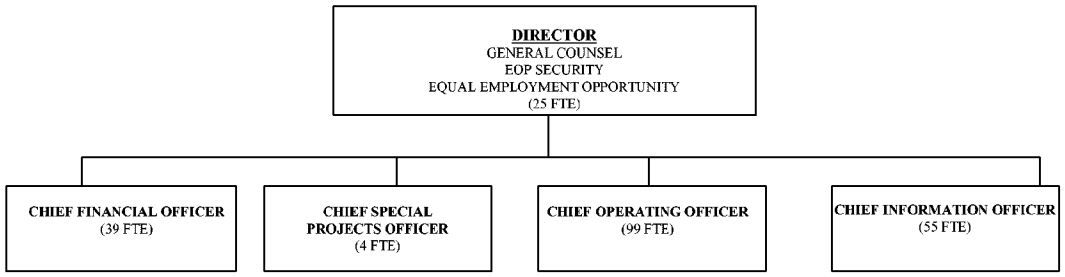
	FY02 (actual)	FY03 (est.)	FY04 (est.)
Military Personnel	$4,376,085	$4,754,346	$4,858,942
Audiovisual Support	$4,543,643	$3,953,848	$2,743,915
Total	$8,919,738	$8,708,194	$7,602,857

REV_00170718

The FY04 estimate for audiovisual support shows a decrease from the FY 2003 estimate due to the move of audiovisual supplies and equipment from IAG reimbursed items to direct procurement through normal WHO channels.

OFFICE OF ADMINISTRATION

QUESTION 64: Updating the information on page 134 of last year's hearing record, please provide a current organizational chart for the Office of Administration, including the associated numbers of FTEs requested for each office in the FY 2004 President's budget.



RESPONSE: The Office of Administration organization chart provided below reflects the current organizational structure. The FY 2004 FTE request remains constant with FY 2003 levels (222 FTE).

Executive Office of the President

Office of Administration

Organization Chart

FY 2004

Total 222 FTE

QUESTION 65: Last year, it was estimated that 4 FTE were needed to provide administrative services to the Office of Homeland Security. Since that office is substantially smaller due to establishment of the DHS, is there a lesser requirement for OA support? If so, is that reflected in FY 2004 staffing figures?

RESPONSE: The FY 2003 budget proposal included the statement that there was "2 CFO staff to support Homeland Security" rather than the 4 FTEs referred to in the question. These two Chief Financial Officer (CFO) staff were requested during FY 2003 because last year's OA budget request was a 49% increase over the previous year's spending – and security-related enhancements accounted for nearly all of that increase. The FY 2004 budget proposal included additional security-related enhancements beyond the FY 2003 level. Furthermore, even though the funding level of the Homeland Security Council is not as great as was originally envisioned, it is still a separate account for which the staff must perform the same number of administrative tasks in setting up and monitoring the status of the account. Therefore, the additional two FTE in the CFO office remain necessary to assist EOP offices in executing their new responsibilities.

QUESTION 66: Your salary and expenses request includes a transfer of $1,500,000 from Homeland Security for information technology services. What are these services?

RESPONSE: The part of OHS that remained with EOP (now called the Homeland Security Council) does not need the information technology contractor support that was previously planned. There is, however, an urgent need to expand the funding needed to support the White House website. The system security put in place to protect the whitehouse.gov website from cyber attack includes a web content distribution designed to make it highly resistant to denial of service type attacks. The cost of this service has increased dramatically, and is directly proportional to the volume of activity. The volume of activity, in turn, is a combination of the website hits and the level of cyber-attack activity directed against the site. The importance of the White House web site cannot be overstated. Along with the DHS website, the whitehouse.gov website is one of the primary government sites with a mission to communicate threat level information to the public.

Due to increased traffic on the White House website, the monthly cost of web caching service to maintain the website has risen from $30,000 per month to more than $75,000 per month. The estimated FY 2004 cost to maintain the website is $1,500,000. No funds were requested for this increased requirement in the FY 2004 budget. OA wishes to use the funds originally requested for the OHS information technology contract support for the White House website effort.

QUESTION 67: You are requesting additional funding for victim rescue units, which would be distributed to all White House staff (p. 82). What are these units, and what is the unit cost?

RESPONSE: The unit cost is $375. We are available to brief the Subcommittee about these units.

QUESTION 68: How is the requirement for additional safes and emergency evacuation chairs documented?

REV_00170720

RESPONSE: The EOP Security Office conducted a review of security containers (safes) at the White House complex and found that most of them were 1950's-vintage mechanical locks. During the aftermath of 9/11, it was deemed important that the White House adhere to the latest Federal regulations promulgated by the General Services Administration (FFL-2740A) for the protection of classified materials. Thus, the EOP recommends acquiring new security containers which are fully compliant with GSA standard which governs all changeable combination locks for the protection of national security information.

After 9/11 we reviewed all emergency evacuation procedures for the White House complex. As we updated evacuation plans and reviewed procedures, it was determined that evacuation chairs were needed in various buildings and on various floors to assist individuals who may need assistance or have special needs during an evacuation. This was an internal study performed by staff of the EOP Security Office.

FINANCIAL AUDITS

QUESTION 69: Last year, you advised us that EOP would plan to address the findings of the recent auditability assessment no later than FY 2003. What is the status of that effort today?

RESPONSE: The EOP has initiated five major efforts to address the auditability assessment. They are:

- Development and publication of the EOP entity and reporting structure, which was completed and is presented in the FY 2004 Budget Submission.
- Development and publication of the EOP financial management structure, which has been developed in draft and is currently being circulated for comment within EOP. Approval and issuance of the financial management structure is expected to occur within 30 days.
- Provide financial management policy and guidance to the EOP and put in place consistent EOP-wide business practices and procedures. This effort is underway and is expected to be completed this fiscal year.
- Select a replacement for the current non-compliant financial accounting system. The Office of the Chief Financial Officer has reviewed various alternatives and has made a determination to be cross-serviced by another Federal agency that has implemented a compliant system, is currently receiving "clean" audit opinions, and has cross-servicing as an agency mission. Two such organizations were identified, a requirements document was provided, (their proposals are currently being evaluated), and a decision is expected within the next two weeks.
- Accomplish a detailed review of the EOP general ledger and supporting documents for account balances, correct the data as necessary, and prepare the information for conversion to the replacement accounting system. A "clean-up" and conversion plan is in process and will be coordinated with the selected cross-servicing agency.

REV_00170721

QUESTION 70: When will you be able to produce an auditable financial statement?

RESPONSE: The Chief Financial Officer completed an exercise that resulted in EOP-wide financial statements. That exercise identified various data problems that confirmed the auditability assessment. The "clean-up" exercise which is required prior to the conversion to the cross-servicing agency's system is addressing these problems and it is anticipated that the FY 2004 financial statements will be audited.

QUESTION 71: Last year, you stated that you had identified best practices for documented policies and procedures based upon one federal agency which has been recognized as one of the best in the Federal government (p. 136). Which agency are you using as a model, and what are some examples of the specific best practices you intend to use?

RESPONSE: We were referring to the Department of Education and we conducted a pilot of their approach for developing policies and procedures within the Office of the CFO. While that pilot was helpful, we determined that three other tasks (identify reporting entity, develop financial management structure, and identifying our financial accounting system cross servicing provider) needed to be completed before our policies and procedures could be developed. Since those are near completion, we anticipate again focusing on developing policies and procedures during the remainder of this fiscal year.

WHITE HOUSE OFFICE

QUESTION 72: Please provide a breakdown of the FY 2004 budget request for the White House Office by office or activity, as itemized on pages 137 and 138 of last year's hearing record. Please compare those amounts to corresponding amounts for FY 2002 (actual) and FY 2003 (estimated), similar in format to that shown on pages 246 and 247 of last year's hearing record.

RESPONSE: As noted last year, a single budget is prepared for the WHO. This single budget is prepared based on a number of criteria such as: prior spending patterns, estimated requirements, OMB provided inflation factors, and the priorities of the President. During a given execution year, personnel costs are allocated based upon that year's unique staffing decisions. The remainder of the budget is allocated initially to two WHO offices. The travel budget is allocated in its entirety to the Office of Advance and obligated against this office if the travel is done in support of the President. Any travel undertaken that is not in support of a Presidential trip is charged to the office of the staff member in question. The remaining portion of the non-personnel, non-travel budget, including expenses for rent, supplies, equipment and other services is considered overhead and in most years is charged as such to the White House Office of Management and Administration. In FY 2003 as part of a pilot program authorized by Congress, costs related to many of these "overhead" items were consolidated under the EOP Office of Administration. Obligations (actual and estimated) are provided by individual White House office for FY 2002 thru FY 2004 in the table below.

Notes:

(1) $911K of the FY03 USA Freedom Corps estimate and $1,351K of the FY04 USA Freedom Corps estimate is included above within the Office of Management and Administration numbers as are similar funds for all other White House offices.

(2) Because Congress has chosen to appropriate funds for the Office of Homeland Security (OHS)/ Homeland Security Council (HSC) separately from the WHO appropriation, numbers related to OHS/ HSC are not included above. FY03 and FY04 estimates for OHS/ HSC are addressed independently in response to other committee questions.

QUESTION 73: Please provide a corresponding breakdown for FTE staff years and OGE, similar in format to that shown on pages 152 through 154 of last year's hearing record.

RESPONSE: As noted last year, the major units within the White House Office are simply a creature of administrative convenience. The number of employees within each unit and the work of each unit vary over time and as circumstances and needs change. With this kept in mind, a detailed breakout of FTEs and OGEs by unit is provided below. This breakout is based on current estimates and planning and will differ during the actual execution year. In addition to these major units, certain individuals – including certain individuals who work with the National Security Council, the Domestic Policy Council, and the National Economic Council – are also White House Office employees, although the units within which they principally work are not themselves part of the White House Office. Notes: Because Congress has chosen to appropriate funds for the Office of Homeland Security (OHS)/ Homeland Security Council (HSC) separately from the WHO appropriation, numbers related to OHS/ HSC are not included above. FY03 and FY04 estimates for OHS/ HSC are addressed independently in response to other committee questions.

HISTORICALLY PROVIDED WHITE HOUSE OFFICE POSITIONS

QUESTION 74: Updating the information on page 235 of last year's hearing record, please provide a listing of historically provided White House Office positions.

RESPONSE: The following chart shows the 18 "Historically Provided" White House Office positions, the associated office and the agency that pays their salaries.

OTHER SERVICES

QUESTION 75: Similar to the information on page 236 et seq. of last year's hearing record, please provide a detailed description of each project, program, or initiative proposed to be funded in FY 2004 under object class 25.2 ("other services").

RESPONSE: Capital Investment Plan (CIP) - $5,220,000

The overall FY 2004 CIP requirement supports nine areas, as described below. The following "services" costs are included in the FY 2004 CIP request:

- $690,000 for Customer Service and Desktop Systems. This funding will be used to perform desktop software integration support.
- $450,000 for New Technologies and Systems. This includes "services" funding of $150,000 for server technology integration testing and $300,000 for voice and data integration.
- $230,000 for EOP Systems and Support. This includes "services" funding of $150,000 to develop external Local Area Networks, and $80,000 for production test lab development.
- $700,000 for Information Security. This is for enterprise identity projects to allow the introduction of new authentication and identification mechanisms into the EOP IT infrastructure.

REV_00170726

- $650,000 for Web-Based Services. This is for web services application environment.
- $2,500,000 for the Offsite Data Center. This is for services necessary to transition the offsite data center to full operational status
- There are no services funds allocated to Campus Wiring, Networks and Data Communications Infrastructure, or Messaging and Scheduling.

Salaries and Expenses - $2,150,000

There are three initiatives in the FY 2004 OA salaries/expense budget which comprise $2,150,000 in new programs under object class 25.2 ("other services"):

- $1,800,000 for Technology and Systems Support Contract. The Chief Information Officer (CIO) provides a wide range of computer services support to the EOP. These tasks are performed in large measure through an outsourcing contract that delivers IT services from PC deployment to help desk and data center operations. During FY 2003, this IT systems support contract was competed with an increase in base labor rates due to the need for more advanced skills in IT disciplines such as XML and web services software development, Oracle database development and administration, and implementation of a new Enterprise Resources Planning (ERP) application covering finance, asset management and human resources. The CIO outsource contract is the vehicle used to maintain a 24 hour-a-day operation for mainframes, servers, help desk, local area networks, personal computers, applications; installation of end-user hardware and software; training; software application development and maintenance services. Altogether, this contract supports customers throughout the White House 18-acre complex, at remote and mobile locations, and at the planned Offsite Data Center. Key components driving the cost upward include: (1) higher labor rates for the DC area, which have risen since the previous IT 1997 facility contract; (2) the impact of the new data center operations in 2003 and thereafter; (3) an expanded EOP customer base which has more advanced, sophisticated, and security-conscious users.

- $300,000 for Information Assurance Support. The CIO has established the Information Assurance (IA) program to serve as a central location for information security serving all of EOP. FY 2002 and FY 2003 funds attended to the most critical concern with significant vulnerabilities in the perimeter and began the process of securing the internal systems. The IA program created real-time monitoring of perimeter network devices; it established the first formal documentation of IA program policy to bring the EOP in conformance with Federal guidelines and directives. However, the cyber threat facing EOP is dynamic because our systems are constantly assailed with a wide and unexpected range of attacks. The new state of defense must be active vigilance, to include the following components: (1) Perimeter Security, (2) Advanced Security Concepts, (3) Contingency Planning Support, (4) Network Monitor/Response Systems, and (5) Security Awareness, Assessments, and Education.

REV_00170727

- $50,000 for Security Enhancements: Videos. There is a frequent and ongoing need for a security video – specific to the EOP and White House – which can be used in security briefings and new employee orientation meetings. This video will contain a brief overview of security responsibilities and procedures which must be understood by all personnel working in the EOP.

SALARIES AND EXPENSES

QUESTION 76: Please provide a detailed description of any expenses in the FY 2004 budget under "salaries and expenses" which are not directly related to personnel compensation and benefits.

RESPONSE: The following is an object class breakdown highlighting the major costs in each of the non-pay-related expense categories and a description of the unique aspects of some of these expenses found within the Executive Office of the President.

For reference, below are two tables that roll up all EOP component salaries and expenses funding information including the components not funded under the Subcommittee on Transportation, Treasury and Independent Agencies Appropriations.

Travel and transportation of persons – The largest portion of this funding (41%) is for international staff travel in support of trade negotiations as coordinated by the U.S. Trade Representative (USTR). The next largest portion of this funding (21%) is for White House Office (WHO) staff travel including "Presidential travel," which is the term used to delineate those trips where staff members actually travel with or ahead of the President. Those traveling ahead, referred to as advance staff, are responsible for producing Presidential events, as well as establishing an on-site infrastructure similar to the support that is provided within the White House. The remaining EOP travel funds are used for staff travel in support of the various EOP offices and their missions.

Transportation of things – The EOP spends funds in this area for the costs of express delivery/shipping of items such as Freedom of Information Act documents and personnel documents for accountability, as well as other miscellaneous items. Vehicle fleet costs are also included in this category.

Rental payments to GSA – Funds paid to GSA are used to provide the EOP offices with space in the government-owned and leased buildings that comprise the White House complex. Although the General Services Administration manages the EOP buildings, including the East and West Wings of the White House, they cannot rent them out to other Federal departments or agencies.

Communications, utilities and miscellaneous services – The bulk of these costs are used for the EOP switchboard. Funding in this category is also used for the networking and telecommunications projects of the Offsite Data Center. These projects include funds for the primary and backup telecommunications lines connecting the remote data center with the EOP office campus, two additional DS-3 data paths, two T-1 lines, and backup to support required communications bandwidth, and availability requirements.

Printing and reproduction – The largest expense in this area is for Presidential stationery and greetings. Also included are the costs for printing in the Code of Federal Regulation and the Federal Register as well as the costs to print the President's Budget, the Economic Report of the President, the National Drug Control Strategy, free trade agreement documents and other publications, studies and reports.

Other services –The primary cost driver in this category is the information technology support contract that provides IT sustainment services, system development services, and system engineering services for the entire EOP. IT support for the EOP as supported by this contract is largely an outsourced activity that includes a broad range of services such as the Help Desk, network and data center operations.

Supplies and materials – Most of the EOP expenses in this category are for general office and IT supplies, as well as the costs for subscriptions to newspapers and magazines.

Equipment – The largest portion of the EOP equipment costs is for IT desktop replacement program and for investments in software and hardware infrastructure to support the EOP IT projects.

Unanticipated Needs – Expenditures from this fund may be authorized only by the President. The Director of OMB provides the necessary controls to ensure that only unforeseen priorities are financed and that funding from other sources is not available.

ONDCP Policy Research – This is an ONDCP expense and funding is used to support the continuing policy research to better inform drug policy.

SECURITY GUARD SERVICES FOR OSTP

QUESTION 77: In FY 2003, you budgeted $1,798,000 for security guard services for the Office of Science and Technology Policy. Are similar funds requested in FY 2004? If so, how much?

RESPONSE: The FY 2004 OA budget proposes that the cost of the security guard service (now estimated at only $702,000) for OSTP be transferred to the OSTP appropriation. Thus, the proposed FY04 OA budget would contain the balance of the funds (approximately $1.1 million).

Since the FY 2003 budget was proposed, there have been additional reviews of the physical security of the White House complex by the US Secret Service, the Federal Protective Service, and the OA Security Office. As a result, the OA Security Office has been assigned the responsibility of correcting deficiencies in EOP physical security. There are some locations which do not currently have Secret Service protection (such as the Jackson Place White House Conference Center). Another location which does not have firm long-term security plans is the office at 1800 G Street. Thus, the Office of Administration has ongoing needs for the $1.1 million which remains in the OA budget. During FY03, these funds are being used for consolidation of information technology maintenance ($200,000), centralization of database services ($200,000), and common building service costs ($400,000). The remaining $300,000 of these savings will be used for an FY03 OA personnel shortfall.

REV_00170730

QUESTION 78: Why aren't such funds in the OSTP budget?

RESPONSE: The estimated FY04 cost of 24-hour security guard services for OSTP is included in the FY04 OSTP budget request. This estimate is $702,000 for a full year.

POLITICAL APPOINTEES

QUESTION 79: Please update the information on political appointees within EOP as shown on page 268 of last year's hearing record, using the same criteria and assumptions as last year.

RESPONSE: The term "political appointees" is somewhat of a misnomer because it narrowly defines the type of employees authorized under Chapter 2 of Title 3 of the U.S. Code, for the White House Office, the Executive Residence, the Official Residence of the Vice President and the Office of Administration. These offices can hire personnel in various excepted service positions that are not subject to the rules of regular government employees. Many of these excepted service positions fall under the category of serving at the pleasure of the President while others do not. Using the term in the broadest possible sense, including all employees hired as Presidential Appointees, Administratively Determined, Non Career SES, or Schedule C's, the Executive Office of the President has the following number of political appointees directly hired within the EOP and serving in the EOP on detailed assignments from other agencies as of May 5, 2003.

DETAILEES

QUESTION 80: Please update the information on reimbursable and non-reimbursable detailees with EOP as shown on pages 268 and 269 of last year's hearing record.

RESPONSE: There are currently 244 detailees staffed within the Executive Office of the President. There are 34 reimbursable detailees and 210 non-reimbursable detailees as shown in the chart below, as of May 5, 2003:

OFFICE OF THE VICE PRESIDENT

QUESTION 81: You are requesting an additional $70,000 (+1.7 percent) for the Vice President's travel, due to increased travel to undisclosed locations after the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001. Weren't these type of increases baselined in FY 2002 and FY 2003, and if so, why are further increases needed in FY 2004?

RESPONSE: The FY 2003 budget was submitted in February 2002, prior to it becoming evident that the Vice President's travel requirements had increased more than originally estimated. Following the events of 9-11, the Vice President has been required to be outside the Washington, DC vicinity for significant periods of time. This travel has been 100 percent official, and operational in nature (i.e. the Vice President performs his regular duties in an off-site location). This travel has required the accompaniment of staff, who also perform operational duties.

REV_00170732

Because the budget impact of these additional travel requirements was not fully realized until after the FY 2003 budget request was submitted, they were not included in the FY 2003 baseline. Continued security concerns related to the Vice President and the ensuing impact on the Vice President's travel costs necessitate the increase to the FY 2004 OVP travel budget. This increase will allow the Vice President the flexibility needed to adequately execute his official travel requirements.

UNANTICIPATED NEEDS

QUESTION 82: Please provide a listing of the uses of Unanticipated Needs funds in FY 2002.

RESPONSE: $757,000 of the $1,000,000 appropriated to the Unanticipated Needs account in FY 2002 was provided to OMB for the Department of Homeland Security Transition Planning Office. The remaining appropriation was not utilized.

TRANSPORTATION, TREASURY, AND INDEPENDENT AGENCIES
EXECUTIVE OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT
FY 2004 PRESIDENT'S BUDGET
QUESTIONS FOR THE RECORD FROM CONGRESSMAN JOHN W. OLVER

ACCOUNT CONSOLIDATION AND TRANSFER PROPOSALS

When we centralized the funds within the Office of Administration, Congress intended that each agency would continue to receive a similar share of support and assistance under the consolidation.

QUESTION 83: Are any agencies going to receive diminished services or resources under the consolidation?

RESPONSE: No, currently the funding in the pilot has been allocated to be consistent with the FY 03 budget request. The service levels will be equal to or greater than pre-pilot levels; however, we are hopeful that the cost to procure the same level of service will decrease. Also, the Office of Administration is preparing service standards. For example, if the service standard for PC's would be one PC per desktop that is less than four years old, and if one EOP component is currently at that standard for 95 % of its employees and another is currently at that standard for 50% of its employees, based on need, the second component would get a larger share of the services to bring it closer to the EOP standard. This allows EOP to consistently upgrade software and services across the entire organization as the total infrastructure permits.

QUESTION 84: Are any agencies to receive extra services above and beyond the amount of funds they contributed as part of the consolidation?

RESPONSE: Yes, based on need and to bring organizations that are lagging behind the approved standards up to a consistent standard, some organizations may receive extra services above and beyond the amount of funds they contributed to the consolidation. We anticipate some of those services will be funded from savings in the program.

QUESTION 85: Under the procurement consolidation pilot approved in the FY03 Omnibus, are IT or database services for any EOP agency going to be paid for by funds contributed by other EOP agencies?

RESPONSE: Yes, in addition to generating procurement savings and efficiencies, a major goal of the consolidation pilot is to bring all of the EOP components up to a standard of service which will allow us to implement technology evenly across the organization and to realize efficiencies and benefits from a consistent and even infrastructure. In reaching this goal, the funds may be applied in a manner which is not in the same ratio in which they were contributed.

QUESTION 86: In general, are the funds appropriated for this centralized procurement program going to be used to supplement the appropriation made to individual agencies?

RESPONSE: Yes, the individual entities will be the recipients of the services funded by the centralized procurement program without reimbursement in accordance with the Congressional appropriation provided to OA.

QUESTION 87: If so, which agencies will benefit and which agencies will receive less than their share of contributions?

RESPONSE: OA is currently establishing the allocation standards for the commodities included in the centralized procurement program. OA is also requesting that the entities assist us in developing a baseline against which we will measure the allocation standards. That will determine which, if any, entities will benefit and which entities will receive less than their share of contributions.

QUESTION 88: You recently submitted a very cursory report on the procurement pilot. When will you provide us with specific details on the progress of the pilot program?

RESPONSE: As mentioned above, progress is being made on the plan to implement the Common Services Program. We expect to be able to brief the Subcommittee in greater detail this summer.

Your budget also proposes a change that would permit EOP agencies to transfer up to 10% into or out of any agency's budget. Coupled with your account consolidation proposal, that would allow you to transfer in up to $18 million more into (or out of) the White House's budget.

QUESTION 89: Under the procurement consolidation program that we approved in the FY03 bill, don't you have a similar type of flexibility already? What other flexibility is needed?

RESPONSE: The flexibility of the procurement consolidation program is directed to certain defined common commodities. The 10% transfer authority provides flexibility for unexpected requirements and to address needs that may be outside the program.

QUESTION 90: What protection is there for smaller EOP agencies under this proposal? Don't they stand to lose critical resources if the White House or Vice President's Office decide to take 10% of their resources?

REV_00170735

RESPONSE: It is more likely that the smaller entities will benefit from the proposal. Because their appropriations are small, they are less able to adjust to unforeseen circumstances such as unexpected retirements requiring large lump sum payments. This program will allow the EOP to address these unforeseen circumstances without requesting supplemental funding. Also, as a practical matter, the issue of "protection" is immaterial as all the entities (setting the Office of the Vice President aside) work directly for the President.

OFFICE OF HOMELAND SECURITY QUESTIONS

We recently received a reprogramming request to transfer $2M of the funds provided to the Office of Homeland Security to the Remote Delivery Site cleanup efforts. The source of these funds would come from the Office of Homeland Security.

The Office of Homeland Security has gone from an initial $25M stated need when the initial FY03 bills passed the House and Senate, to $11M when the FY03 Omnibus was passed to what will be $9M if the reprogramming is approved.

QUESTION 91: What exactly does the Office of Homeland Security do now that the Department of Homeland Security is in place?

RESPONSE: HSC advises and assists the President on homeland security matters and coordinates policy development and the interagency process regarding Administration policy on homeland security, including the development and coordination of implementation of the National Strategy for Homeland Security to secure the United States from terrorist threats and attacks.

QUESTION 92: Does OHS still have a presence at Nebraska Avenue?

RESPONSE: No.

QUESTION 93: Does the Office of Administration provide any support to agencies at Nebraska Avenue? If so, please describe the specific types of support provided. Is this support on a reimbursable basis?

RESPONSE: Since the transfer of the Nebraska Avenue facility to the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) on January 1, 2003, OA has not provided any support to entities at the Nebraska Avenue Complex (NAC). Pursuant to a Determination by the OMB Director, funds in the amount of $3,746,000 were transferred from the OHS Emergency Fund within OA to the Department of Homeland Security in March 2003 to support NAC activities.

REV_00170736

QUESTION 94: How many personnel and detailees now work for OHS?

RESPONSE: The Homeland Security Council currently consists of 66 staff positions which can be filled by either Direct Hire FTE or Other Government Employee (detailee and assignee) personnel. HSC is requesting resources to support up to 40 Direct Hire FTE and 26 OGE FTE on its staff for FY 2004. See table below for a comparison with fiscal years 2003 and 2002.

Office of Homeland Security / Homeland Security Council Personnel

	FY 2002 Actual	FY 2003 Estimate	FY 2004 Request
Direct Hire FTE	31	40	40
Other Government Employee (EOY headcount)	89	26	26
Total Personnel	120	66	66

QUESTION 95: What is the actual operational budget need for OHS in FY03?

RESPONSE: The Homeland Security Council budget requirement from the FY 2003 appropriation is estimated to be approximately $4.32 million. Please note that the FY 2003 estimate covers only costs incurred after the enactment of the FY 2003 appropriation on February 20, 2003. Unlike other EOP entities which operated under continuing resolutions between October 1, 2002 and February 20, 2003, the Office of Homeland Security was not permitted to utilize the CR funding mechanism but instead continued to charge FY 2003 expenses against the no-year emergency funding (provided in FY2002) until the FY 2003 appropriation was enacted. Therefore the FY 2003 estimate reflects only seven months of activity, whereas the FY 2004 Request needs to cover HSC expenses for the full 12 months of the next fiscal year.

QUESTION 96: For the record, please provide us a breakout by object class of the Office of Homeland Security's FY03 remaining budget.

RESPONSE: The breakout below reflects HSC's budget for the last seven months of FY 2003; from the enactment of the FY 2003 Appropriation on February 20, 2003, through September 30, 2003.

(Dollars in Thousands)

Object Class	FY 2003 est.
Personnel	$2,800
Travel	$60
Transportation of things	$24
Communications, utilities, and miscelaneous	$50
Printing and reproduction	$69
Other Services	$1,267
Equipment	$50
Total	$4,320

REV_00170737

QUESTION 97: Any likelihood that these estimates will be revised downward again?

RESPONSE: The FY 2003 estimate provided above reflects the best assessment of HSC requirements from the OHS FY 2003 appropriation, and actual obligations against this appropriation will likely be close to this current estimate.

QUESTION 98: I understand that the President named General Gordon as his new Homeland Security Adviser. Does he support the latest $2 million cut to his office's resources?

RESPONSE: The EOP budget proposal provides the necessary resources for HSC to advise and assist the President. The reference to a $2 million cut is incorrect. In fact, the resources of the Homeland Security Council have not been cut by $2 million. The FY 2003 appropriations for the Homeland Security Council included $2 million for decontamination of the Remote Delivery Site (RDS) as agreed to by the Congress and the Administration. Subsequent to the passage of the FY 2003 appropriations, that $2 million was allocated to decontamination of the RDS per agreement. This planned use of that appropriation is not a cut to HSC resources.

QUESTION 99: Have you validated the FY04 request recently to ensure it is an accurate figure?

RESPONSE: Yes, HSC reevaluated its FY 2004 requirements prior to submitting the final FY 2004 Request. Given the creation of the Department of Homeland Security, HSC's FY 2004 budget requirements are estimated at $8,331,000, as requested.

BUDGET QUESTIONS

After the FY03 enacted levels are adjusted to reflect the transfer of $9 million to the Office of Homeland Security, the Executive Office of the President's FY04 budget request reflects an 8% increase over FY03 levels. Your agency, the Office of Administration requests a 10% increase between FY03 and FY04.

When the budget was introduced, Mitch Daniels said that the overall growth of Federal programs would be pegged to the expected 4% growth in inflation. The Administration also said the President wanted to "match government's growth with the growth of American family income."

REV_00170738

QUESTION 100: When the rest of the government is forced to live with 4% growth, how can you justify an almost 10% increase in your office and an overall Executive Office of the President increase of 8%?

RESPONSE: The Office of Administration's 10% budget increase amounts to approximately $7 million. This increase is necessitated by additional costs stemming from the enhanced security activities in the post-September 11 environment:

- The Capital Investment Plan has a net increase of $3.8 million required for the relocation of the EOP data center to an offsite location. The offsite data center has been determined to be a critical project in any contingency plan, and the communications requirements for the data center will be significantly higher in the new facility.
- $2.5 million is needed for the new information technology contract, driven by the information technology service labor increases, the relocation of the data center as well as by the increased security concerns for EOP systems.
- $0.5 million is required for the EOP information assurance program.
- $0.2 million for physical security improvements to the White House complex in providing resources for security education and evacuation resources.

The 8% growth in the overall EOP budget amounts to approximately $24.6 million. Primary components of this increase are mission-specific needs proposed by the different EOP entities:

- $6.3 million in OA programs described in the prior paragraph ($3.8 million for the capital investment plan, $2.5 million for the information technology contract, $0.5 million for information assurance, and $0.2 million for physical security).
- $2.5 million in EOP-wide space rental increases to conform with GSA's market-based rental rates.
- $3.0 million for USTR's additional staff for intensified trade negotiations.
- $3.0 million in the Executive Residence's multiyear East and West Wing restoration projects.
- $4.3 million for OMB personnel needs.
- $1.5 million for OMB's budget system updates.
- $0.7 million for OMB's E-Government staff and the Office of Information Technology.
- $0.8 million for additional staff for ONDCP.
- $0.6 million in the NSC's funding for reimbursable detailees and President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board's request for additional staff.
- $0.5 million for OSTP's continuity of operations plan.

The White House Office's increase of 3.6% looks smaller because of a realignment of $1.85M in rent to the Office of Administration's account. Without the realignment, the White House Office's increase would be around 6.6%.

REV_00170739

QUESTION 101: What is the justification for this realignment?

RESPONSE: The realignment of $1.85M in rent was made to the WHO from the Office of Administration. Without this and other realignments made as part of the FY 2004 WHO budget request, the WHO's increase would have only been 1.7 percent.

QUESTION 102: How could the White House have been paying the bill for space that wasn't theirs?

RESPONSE: The WHO has not been paying rent on the 1800 G Street office spaces that this realignment involves. These office spaces were necessitated by the movement of certain White House staff offices following the events of September 11. In FY 2003, funds for these spaces were budgeted by the Office of Administration and are being paid for as part of a pilot program authorized by law.

QUESTION 103: Which EOP agencies occupied this space on which the White House Office has been paying rent?

RESPONSE: As indicated in the previous answers, White House staff have been occupying this space. Rent is being paid by the Office of Administration as part of the pilot program authorized by law.

QUESTION 104: Are these costs that had historically been paid by the White House Office?

RESPONSE: No. The 1800 G Street Office spaces were not occupied by EOP staff until after the events of 9-11.

QUESTION 105: If so, why make the change this year?

RESPONSE: The realignment of these costs under the WHO is done to reflect the costs under the office whose staff occupies them.

TRAVEL

The White House Office's request includes a decrease of $400,000 in Presidential Travel.

QUESTION 106: Was the FY03 estimate too high?

REV_00170740

RESPONSE: As part of the FY 2003 WHO budget submission, $600,000 was requested to support the travel requirements of the new USA Freedom Corps Office. Actual experience subsequently determined this amount to be in excess of need. As a result, the FY 2003 WHO travel line was reduced $329,647 by the statutory recission, and the FY 2004 WHO budget submission requested $400,000 less in the travel line than the original FY 2003 estimate.

QUESTION 107: If so, how do you intend to use the surplus funds?

RESPONSE: The $400,000 reduction to the FY 2004 WHO budget request for travel requirements does not result in surplus funds. It instead results in an overall reduction to the FY 2004 WHO budget estimate.

QUESTION 108: Are you planning less travel in FY04 or will more of the travel just be paid for by political entities?

RESPONSE: Except as noted above, the amount of official travel conducted by the White House staff is expected to remain consistent with the FY 2003 estimate.

QUESTION 109: Please provide a list of all White House Office, Office of Homeland Security and Office of Vice President official staff travel for FY02 and FY03 (to date). Include a brief description of the official purpose of the trip. For FY04 estimates, provide estimated number of trips and trip purpose.

RESPONSE: The following tables provide the FY 2002 and FY 2003 (to date) staff travel as reflected in the accounting system for the White House Office, the Office of Homeland Security, and the Office of the Vice President. FY 2004 estimates are not available at this time.
