...What Mike Boggs Will Use to Cut Unwanted Property Taxes in the State House

A Small Businessman who Meets Payrolls and Balances Budgets

Mike owns a small-town law practice. So he knows a thing or two about making a payroll and balancing the books. And he knows Georgia families aren't taxed too little...they're taxed too much. That's why you can count on Mike to vote to cut the property tax at every opportunity. He'll fight to trim the state income tax, clip the unemployment tax on businesses down to size to create more jobs, and he'll come through for seniors by always voting to increase the exclusion amount on their retirement income.

Mike knows tax cuts aren't the only way to save families money. Holding people accountable is another. Mike will back tough welfare reforms that put time limits on welfare benefits and forces recipients to work for their checks.

Got Unwanted growth around the house?

Better get out the weed

whacker. Got high property taxes? Better

call in Mike Boggs.

Welcome

3rd Grade Class...

Mike Boogs Will Fight For Parental Involvement, and

Kindergarten to 3rd grade are critical years for young students. It's their best chance to master the basics of reading and math. Learning in overcrowded classrooms puts it all at risk.

Reducing Class Sizes

As a former Big Brother volunteer, current YMCA board member, and the husband and son-in-law of lifelong educators, I can tell you first hand how important it is to reduce the number of students per classroom -- especially in kindergarten through 3rd grade when children are learning the basics of math and reading. You have my word, in the General Assembly I'll never stop fighting to see that our children are taught in uncrowded classrooms.

More Parental Involvement

Smaller class sizes are just for starters. That's why I'll go to bat for schools that make it easier -- not harder -- for parents to get involved in the education of their own child. Because the best schools in Georgia never forget that learning starts at home.
