Provide a brief summary of and citations for all of your opinions where your decisions were reversed by a reviewing court or where your judgment was affirmed with significant criticism of your substantive or procedural rulings. If any of the opinions listed were not officially reported, provide copies of the opinions.

g. Provide a description of the number and percentage of your decisions in which you issued an unpublished opinion and the manner in which those unpublished opinions are filed and/or stored.

h. Provide citations for significant opinions on federal or state constitutional issues, together with the citation to appellate court rulings on such opinions. If any of the opinions listed were not officially reported, provide copies of the opinions.

i. Provide citations to all cases in which you sat by designation on a federal court of appeals, including a brief summary of any opinions you authored, whether majority, dissenting, or concurring, and any dissenting opinions you joined.

14. Recusal: If you are or have been a judge, identify the basis by which you have assessed the necessity or propriety of recusal (If your court employs an "automatic" recusal system by which you may be recused without your knowledge, please include a general description of that system.) Provide a list of any cases, motions or matters that have come before you in which a litigant or party has requested that you recuse yourself due to an asserted conflict of interest or in which you have recused yourself sua sponte. Identify each such case, and for each provide the following information:

a. whether your recusal was requested by a motion or other suggestion by a litigant or a party to the proceeding or by any other person or interested party; or if you recused yourself sua sponte;

b. a brief description of the asserted conflict of interest or other ground for recusal;

c. the procedure you followed in determining whether or not to recuse yourself;

d. your reason for recusing or declining to recuse yourself, including any action taken to remove the real, apparent or asserted conflict of interest or to cure any other ground for recusal.

I have not held judicial office.

15. Public Office, Political Activities and Affiliations:

a. List chronologically any public offices you have held, other than judicial offices, including the terms of service and whether such positions were elected or appointed. If appointed, please include the name of the individual who appointed you. Also, state chronologically any unsuccessful candidacies you have had for elective office or unsuccessful nominations for appointed office.

United States Attorney, District of Utah, 2011 – 2014. I was nominated by President Barack Obama on August 2, 2011 and confirmed by the United States Senate on September 26, 2011. I took the oath of office on October 5, 2011.

I have not been a candidate for elective office. In 2016, the Utah Appellate Court Nominating Commission nominated me and six others for the Utah Court of Appeals. I was not selected by the Governor.

b. List all memberships and offices held in and services rendered, whether compensated or not, to any political party or election committee. If you have ever held a position or played a role in a political campaign, identify the particulars of the campaign, including the candidate, dates of the campaign, your title and responsibilities.

I had occasional contact with Senator Mike Lee and others on his campaign team when he was running for the Senate and I supported his campaign, but I did not have a formal position.

16. Legal Career: Answer each part separately.

a. Describe chronologically your law practice and legal experience after graduation from law school including:

i. whether you served as clerk to a judge, and if so, the name of the judge, the court and the dates of the period you were a clerk;

I have not served as a judicial law clerk.

ii. whether you practiced alone, and if so, the addresses and dates;

I have not practiced alone.

iii. the dates, names and addresses of law firms or offices, companies or governmental agencies with which you have been affiliated, and the nature of your affiliation with each.

iv. whether you served as a mediator or arbitrator in alternative dispute resolution proceedings and, if so, a description of the 10 most significant matters with which you were involved in that capacity.

I have not served as a mediator or arbitrator.

b. Describe:

i. the general character of your law practice and indicate by date when its character has changed over the years.

From my graduation from law school in 1998 until the end of 2010, I was a litigator in private practice. I litigated a variety of different civil cases in state and federal court, including consumer and industrial product, contract, defamation, domestic violence, eminent domain, First Amendment, insurance, medical device, pharmaceutical, and Section 1983 claims.

During the first part of 2011, I served as General Counsel and Chief Counsel on the Senate Judiciary Committee for Senator Mike Lee. I reviewed numerous bills before the Judiciary Committee and the U.S. Senate, including bills addressing criminal law, national security, intellectual property, and civil liberties. I also reviewed judicial and executive branch nominations before the Judiciary Committee.

From 2011 to 2014, I served as the United States Attorney for the District of the Utah. I led the office; supervised the civil and criminal investigations and cases; participated in investigations, indictments, pre-trial motion practice and hearings, trials, sentencing, and post-trial motions; and participated in various DOJ committees. The investigations and cases included arson, asset forfeiture, aviation safety, bank fraud, bank robbery, bankruptcy fraud, child pornography, civil rights, commodities and securities fraud, conspiracy, consumer fraud, disability discrimination, hate crimes, embezzlement, employment discrimination, environmental litigation, false claims, gun crimes, health care fraud, immigration, insurance fraud, mining safety, money laundering, mortgage fraud, murder, narcotics trafficking, obstruction of justice, organized crime, national security, procurement fraud, public corruption, tax crimes, torts, violent crime, and welfare fraud.

From late 2014 to mid-2017, I rejoined the partnership at Sidley LLP, where I focused on government enforcement actions and investigations involving potential civil and criminal issues.

From late 2017 to mid-2018, I worked as a Vice President in Compliance for Walmart, where I led a team of compliance professionals in Walmart's Health and Wellness businesses.

From late 2018 to the present, I have been a partner at Dorsey LLP focusing on government enforcement actions and investigations involving potential civil and criminal issues.

ii. your typical clients and the areas at each period of your legal career, if any, in which you have specialized.

During my internships with the United States Attorney's Office and the United States District Court for the District of Connecticut, my client was the United States.

In my private practice work, my clients were usually companies, though I have represented individuals as well. In my pro bono work, I usually represented individuals.

During my service as United States Attorney, my client was the United States.

During my work at Walmart, my client was Walmart.

c. Describe the percentage of your practice that has been in litigation and whether you appeared in court frequently, occasionally, or not at all. If the frequency of your appearances in court varied, describe such variance, providing dates.

Prior to 2011, my practice was entirely litigation and I appeared in court frequently.

During my service as United States Attorney from 2011 – 2014, supervision of, and personal participation, in litigation was a significant part of my work and I appeared in court frequently.

During my work in the Senate and at Walmart, my work did not involve litigation and I did not appear in court.

In my private practice work from 2014 to the present, my practice has focused on government enforcement representations and investigations in anticipation of or in response to federal and state civil and criminal actions. These matters typically have not involved appearances in court, though they sometimes involve litigation and often involve the production and presentation to federal and state prosecutors or enforcement agencies documents and witnesses that may appear in court.

i. Indicate the percentage of your practice in:

1. federal courts; 50% (approximate)
2. state courts of record; 50% (approximate)
3. other courts; 0%
4. administrative agencies 0%

ii. Indicate the percentage of your practice in:

1. civil proceedings; 70% (approximate)
2. criminal proceedings. 30% (approximate)

d. State the number of cases in courts of record, including cases before administrative law judges, you tried to verdict, judgment or final decision (rather than settled), indicating whether you were sole counsel, chief counsel, or associate counsel.

I have had approximately 18 cases go to verdict, judgment, or final decision (not settled), including six criminal and civil jury verdicts and about a dozen other judgments or decisions after motion practice. I was chief counsel in a minority of the cases and co-counsel or associate counsel in the majority.

Additionally, as United States Attorney, I had supervisory responsibility for many other cases that were tried to verdict. My involvement varied from case to case, including: screening cases for prosecution or declination; seeking indictments before the grand jury; meeting with AUSAs, defense counsel, and agents from various federal investigative agencies; reviewing documentary evidence; interviewing witnesses; mooted cases pretrial; reviewing key pretrial motions; and appearing in court for detention proceedings, motion practice, evidentiary hearings, parts of trial, sentencing, and other post-trial proceedings.

In my previous private practice as national or regional counsel, I also have supervised or otherwise participated in other cases resulting in judgment or final decision, though I do not know how many cases that entailed out of the many hundreds for which I had responsibility.

i. What percentage of these trials were:

1. jury; 33%
2. non-jury. 67%

e. Describe your practice, if any, before the Supreme Court of the United States. Supply four (4) copies of any briefs, amicus or otherwise, and, if applicable, any oral argument transcripts before the Supreme Court in connection with your practice.

I have not practiced before the Supreme Court of the United States.

17. Litigation: Describe the ten (10) most significant litigated matters which you personally handled, whether or not you were the attorney of record. Give the citations, if the cases were reported, and the docket number and date if unreported. Give a capsule summary of the substance of each case. Identify the party or parties whom you represented; describe in detail the nature of your participation in the litigation and the final disposition of the case. Also state as to each case:

a. the date of representation;

b. the name of the court and the name of the judge or judges before whom the case was litigated; and

c. the individual name, addresses, and telephone numbers of co-counsel and of principal counsel for each of the other parties.

1. SEC v. Rust Rare Coin, Inc., No. 1:18-cv-00147 (D. Utah); CFTC v. Rust Rare Coin, Inc., No. 2:18cv-00892 (D. Utah).

These are parallel cases. In the SEC case, the government alleges that Rust Rare Coin and one or more individuals fraudulently solicited approximately $86 million from about 300 investors during 2017 and 2018. The government contends that the defendants' actions constituted a scheme to defraud, fraud in the offer or sale of securities, and the offer and sale of unregistered securities, in violation of the Securities Act and the Exchange Act.

In the CFTC/State of Utah Division of Securities case, the government alleges that defendants fraudulently solicited and received over $200 million from more than 400 investors from at least 17 states, including Utah. The government contends that the defendants' actions constituted fraud, misrepresentations and omissions in the sale of securities, business fraud, and the employing of an unlicensed agent or broker/dealer in the sale of unregistered securities, in violation of the federal Commodity Exchange Act and the Utah Uniform Securities Act.

In both cases, Mr. Steve Waterman and I represent Zions Bank, where the defendants banked. The CFTC/State of Utah Division of Securities case temporarily has been stayed pending a federal criminal investigation of Rust Rare Coin.

There also is a separate action pending against Zions Bank where we serve as Utah counsel, which is before Chief Judge Robert Shelby.

2. United States v. Kurbanov, 2:13cr327 (D. Utah)

The grand jury charged the defendant with teaching and demonstrating the making and use of improvised explosive devices ("IEDs") in Utah, including distributing information regarding the preparation of an explosive or weapon of mass destruction. These activities were alleged to have included conducting trips to determine where the necessary components could be purchased, providing written recipes for IEDs, giving verbal instructions regarding same, and showing certain internet videos.

Because the defendant was a resident of Idaho, he was tried and convicted there first on related charges of conspiring and attempting to provide material support to a foreign terrorist organization. At trial, evidence was presented that the defendant was in touch with a foreign terrorist organization, discussed possible U.S. targets, including military bases, and how he might provide software and money to the foreign terrorist organization.

I worked on all aspects of the Utah case, including coordination with the Idaho case, with another senior leader in the office, John Huber, from long before the indictment in 2013 until I left the office in 2014. After the Idaho conviction in 2015, the Utah case was terminated after the defendant agreed to dismiss the appeal of the Idaho conviction.

The defendant is serving a 45-year sentence, comprised of his original conviction and a subsequent attempt to kill a federal prison warden.

3. United States v. Roman, 2:13-CR-602 (D. Utah)

In this case, the grand jury alleged that the defendant used an AK-47 rifle to shoot and kill a deputy sheriff who had apprehended him after a drug deal. The indictment charged the defendant with illegal reentry, distributing controlled substances, possession of a firearm in furtherance of drug trafficking, use of a firearm during a crime of violence, and killing of a law enforcement officer to avoid apprehension.

The defendant already had been tried and convicted of certain state crimes, but was not convicted of the state crime of aggravated murder. Defense counsel moved to dismiss many of the federal charges on the grounds that the Fifth Amendment's Double Jeopardy Clause barred the counts due to the earlier state charges and trial. The District Court denied the motion to dismiss based on the dual sovereignty doctrine. The 10th Circuit Court of Appeals affirmed.

At trial, the federal jury convicted the defendant of all charges to which he had not already pled guilty, including the killing of a law enforcement officer. The District Court sentenced the defendant to life plus 80 years in federal prison. Defendant appealed his conviction and the United States Court of Appeals for the Tenth Circuit denied the appeal.

Together with the other members of the team, I worked on all aspects of the case from 2012 until my departure from the office in 2014. The team tried the case after I left.

4. United States v. Zander, 2-10-CR-1088 (D. Utah)

The defendant was the general counsel and trust resources director for the Paiute Indian Tribe of Utah and a former Marine Judge Advocate General. As part of his responsibilities, the defendant handled grant monies awarded to the Tribe to assist it in developing and executing Integrated Resource Management Plans (IRMPs), which are meant to support the Tribe in using tribal resources to further the economic and non-economic interests of members of the Tribe.

The grand jury indicted the defendant on counts of mail fraud, wire fraud, money laundering, and willful failure to file tax returns. Evidence was presented at trial that defendant converted the grants intended for the Tribe to his own personal use. Instead of hiring expert outside consultants to support the Tribe's resource management efforts, he created fictitious invoices, submitted them for payment by the Tribe, and then deposited the Tribe's checks into his personal accounts. He also prepared reports to the Bureau of Indian Affairs showing that the funds were being spent for consultants, though he actually was taking the funds himself.

Co-counsel and I tried the case. The defendant was convicted by the federal jury on all counts and subsequently was sentenced to 63 months in prison and to pay restitution.

The grand jury charged the defendant with possession of illicit drugs with intent to distribute, possession of a firearm in furtherance of a drug trafficking crime, and being a felon in possession of a firearm and ammunition. After extensive motion practice and a trial, the jury convicted the defendant of all counts. The United States Court of the Appeals for the Tenth Circuit later affirmed the convictions.

6. Baker v. AstraZeneca Pharms. LP, MIDL 1099 07 MT 274 (N.J. Super. Ct.)

This was the first case to go to trial involving Seroquel, an atypical antipsychotic. Over a period of many years, more than 10,000 state and federal cases were filed against AstraZeneca involving Seroquel, alleging that the medication caused diabetes or other illnesses.

The plaintiff in this case contended that he developed diabetes as a result of taking Seroquel and that the company had not provided an adequate warning about the risk of diabetes. After a four-week trial, the jury found for AstraZeneca, with seven of eight jurors determining that the company had not failed to warn.

I was on the trial team and supported the lead trial lawyers, Diane Sullivan and Mike Brock, at the trial, though I did not present evidence. On the Seroquel cases generally, over a period of about 7 years, I played a significant role in the overall defense of the litigation nationwide, including serving on the cross-firm leadership team, co-leading the Sidley Austin team, and working on expert and scientific issues, dispositive motions, other motion practice, pleadings, case management, and other aspects of the litigation in some of the state court cases, federal cases, and the MDL.

7. Meyers v. Ethicon, Inc., No. 03 L 004931 (Ill. Cir. Ct.)

This case arose from a surgery performed by co-defendant Dr. Charles Miller and the videobroadcast of that surgery to a symposium at the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists ("ACOG"). Plaintiff originally filed suit against Dr. Miller alone in 2003, alleging medical malpractice on the ground that Dr. Miller breached his duty of care in the surgery he performed.

In 2005, plaintiffs added Ethicon, Inc. to the suit, alleging that Ethicon's broadcast of the surgery to ACOG was a misappropriation of her identity for commercial purposes. Plaintiffs further contended that Ethicon was medically negligent by acting as a partner or joint venturer of Dr. Miller. This claim was based in part on the alleged presence of an Ethicon representative in the surgical suite.

For four years the case underwent extensive written discovery, fact witness depositions, expert depositions, motion practice, and trial preparation. Ethicon obtained summary judgment in 2008 just before trial. The remainder of the case was tried and the jury found for the defendant, Dr. Miller. Plaintiff appealed. In 2009, the appeal was dismissed.

8. In re Asbestos Litig., 77-C-ASB-2 (Del. Super. Ct.)

Over a period of about eight years, I had responsibility for hundreds of cases filed in several state and federal courts against the General Electric Company (“GE”) involving the alleged use of asbestos in products sold by GE. The cases alleged that plaintiffs had developed mesothelioma, lung cancer, asbestosis or other illnesses as a result of exposure to asbestos. The GE products at issue typically were marine or land steam turbines.

These cases were filed in state courts, the Northern District of Illinois, and the MDL. Together with state-specific counsel, I handled and supervised the pretrial work of pleadings, written discovery, depositions, dispositive motions, other motion practice, and settlement negotiations with plaintiffs’ counsel. The matter cited here involves the Delaware asbestos litigation.

This case, and a companion case, involved the death of one man and injury to another caused by a railcar divider door that collapsed on the men. Plaintiff sued the manufacturer of a roller system that failed on the railcar door in question, the installer of the system, and the lessor of the railcars (IMC Salt). As to IMC Salt, plaintiff alleged that the company negligently allowed the carriage system on the railcar door to be replaced with a defective roller system, failed to inspect the door after the replacement was made, and failed to warn about the dangerous condition that existed.

Over the next 1-1/2 years, the parties conducted significant fact and expert discovery. After I prepared a motion for summary judgment, the Court informally mediated the case. Settlement was reached and the case concluded. I led the representation of IMC Salt in all respects, together Tim Kapshandy.

18. Legal Activities: Describe the most significant legal activities you have pursued, including significant litigation which did not progress to trial or legal matters that did not involve litigation. Describe fully the nature of your participation in these activities. List any client(s) or organization(s) for whom you performed lobbying activities and describe the lobbying activities you performed on behalf of such client(s) or organizations(s). (Note: As to any facts requested in this question, please omit any information protected by the attorney-client privilege.)

Over the past five years, I have handled numerous government enforcement actions and internal investigations in the United States and internationally, including matters involving California, Florida, Illinois, Maine, Minnesota, New York, North Carolina, Texas, Utah, as well as Belgium, China, Czech Republic, India, Ireland, Japan, Singapore, Spain, Switzerland, and the United Kingdom. Some of these matters have involved civil or criminal litigation, while others have not. These matters have included responding to federal grand jury subpoenas, Civil Investigative Demands (CIDs), and state subpoenas; preparing witnesses for interviews by federal prosecutors, other federal attorneys, or for grand jury testimony; investigating and determining the facts of the matters in question; and analyzing potential issues under a variety of different federal and state civil and criminal laws. The matters have varied in size and scope, but typically have been large, multi-jurisdictional matters, with the last few involving an aggregate of $580 million at issue.

Earlier in my career, I handled a large number of domestic violence cases on a pro bono basis. The cases involved both women and men, included numerous clients who spoke other languages, and varied greatly in their nature and potential resolution. The work involved meeting with the potential clients, screening out potential clients who would not qualify for representation, referring those who did not qualify to other private services or public agencies that might be able to help, understanding and organizing each client's story and the supporting evidence, preparing the clients for court, and then representing each client in court, including the presentation of documentary and testamentary evidence.

I have not been a lobbyist.

19. Teaching: What courses have you taught? For each course, state the title, the institution at which you taught the course, the years in which you taught the course, and describe briefly the subject matter of the course and the major topics taught. If you have a syllabus of each course, provide four (4) copies to the committee.

None.

20. Deferred Income/ Future Benefits: List the sources, amounts and dates of all anticipated receipts from deferred income arrangements, stock, options, uncompleted contracts and other future benefits which you expect to derive from previous business relationships, professional services, firm memberships, former employers, clients or customers. Describe the arrangements you have made to be compensated in the future for any financial or business interest.

I have an ERISA-qualified cash balance retirement plan from Sidley Austin LLP, which I funded and which is fully vested.

21. Outside Commitments During Service: Do you have any plans, commitments, or agreements to pursue outside employment, with or without compensation, during your service with the court? If so, explain.

None.

22. Sources of Income: List sources and amounts of all income received during the calendar year preceding your nomination and for the current calendar year, including all salaries, fees, dividends, interest, gifts, rents, royalties, licensing fees, honoraria, and other items exceeding $500 or more (if you prefer to do so, copies of the financial disclosure report, required by the Ethics in Government Act of 1978, may be substituted here).

When my nomination is submitted to the Senate, I will file my mandated Financial Disclosure Report and provide a copy to this Committee.

23. Statement of Net Worth: Please complete the attached financial net worth statement in detail (add schedules as called for).

See attached Net Worth Statement.

24. Potential Conflicts of Interest:

a. Identify the family members or other persons, parties, affiliations, pending and categories of litigation, financial arrangements or other factors that are likely to present potential conflicts-of-interest when you first assume the position to which you have been nominated. Explain how you would address any such conflict if it were to arise.

The parties likely to present potential conflicts of interest during my initial service as a District Court Judge would include Dorsey & Whitney LLP and individuals and entities with whom I have a financial, familial, or personal relationship. To identify parties which present an actual or potential conflict of interest and to address any conflict were it to arise, I would consult the Code of Conduct for United States Judges, 28 U.S.C. § 455, and the relevant rules, practices, procedures, and personnel of the District Court, the Tenth Circuit, the Administrative Office of the United States Courts, and the Judicial Conference.

b. Explain how you will resolve any potential conflict of interest, including the procedure you will follow in determining these areas of concern.

I would carefully review and address any real or potential conflict by applying 28 U.S.C. § 455, Canon 3 of the Code of Conduct for United States Judges, and any all other laws, rules, and practices governing such circumstances.

25. Pro Bono Work: An ethical consideration under Canon 2 of the American Bar Association's Code of Professional Responsibility calls for "every lawyer, regardless of professional prominence or professional workload, to find some time to participate in serving the disadvantaged." Describe what you have done to fulfill these responsibilities, listing specific instances and the amount of time devoted to each. If you are not an attorney, please use this opportunity to report significant charitable and volunteer work you may have done.

I spent a few hundred hours handling a large number of domestic violence cases on a pro bono basis. The work involved meeting with the potential clients, understanding and organizing each client's story, preparing the clients and the evidence for evidentiary hearings in court, and then representing each client in court and presenting the evidence in order to obtain orders of protection. I received Pro Bono Advocates' Lawyer of the Year award for this work.

I estimate that I spent one to two hundred hours in the pro bono representation of a prisoner asserting civil rights and due process claims in federal court. The work involved asserting the claims, conducting discovery, reviewing the evidence, and motion practice.

I also have spent many dozens of hours reviewing briefs and participating in moot court sessions for pro bono criminal defenses cases being handled by others. Additionally, I have assisted in a variety of other pro bono matters at the request of others.

I have had other opportunities to participate in pro bono and other charitable work over the years, including assisting with child custody, immigration, housing, and other issues. I also have given hundreds of hours of service to religious and non-religious charitable efforts to provide food, clothing, shelter, and other necessities and aid to those in need.

Finally, I was appointed by the Utah Supreme Court to serve on the Diversion Committee. Together with the Utah State Bar's Office of Professional Conduct, the Diversion Committee considers certain cases of alleged attorney misconduct.

26. Selection Process:

a. Please describe your experience in the entire judicial selection process, from beginning to end (including the circumstances which led to your nomination and the interviews in which you participated). Is there a selection commission in your jurisdiction to recommend candidates for nomination to the federal courts? If so, please include that process in your description, as well as whether the commission recommended your nomination. List the dates of all interviews or communications you had with the White House staff or the Justice Department regarding this nomination. Do not include any contacts with Federal Bureau of Investigation personnel concerning your nomination.

The District of Utah does not have a selection commission to recommend candidates for federal district court nomination. In late January 2019, Senator Mike Lee informed me that a current federal district court judge was taking senior status and that I was invited to be a candidate for the position. Soon after, the Office of White Counsel contacted me to arrange an interview. In February 2019, I was interviewed by a panel of attorneys from the Office of White House Counsel and the Department of Justice. In May 2019, the White House announced the intent of the President to nominate me. I have been in periodic contact with personnel from the Department of Justice and the White House throughout this time.

b. Has anyone involved in the process of selecting you as a judicial nominee discussed with you any currently pending or specific case, legal issue or question in a manner that could reasonably be interpreted as seeking any express or implied assurances concerning your position on such case, issue, or question? If so, explain fully.

No.
