10. Bar and Court Admission:

- a. List the date(s) you were admitted to the bar of any state and any lapses in membership. Please explain the reason for any lapse in membership.

Texas, 1995

There has been no lapse in membership.

- b. List all courts in which you have been admitted to practice, including dates of admission and any lapses in membership. Please explain the reason for any lapse in membership. Give the same information for administrative bodies that require special admission to practice.

United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit, 1997
United States District Court for the Eastern District of Texas, 2001
United States District Court for the Southern District of Texas, 1996

My membership has lapsed in the Fifth Circuit and the Southern District because renewal is required every five years and there was no reason for me to renew while I was a sitting state judge. As I understand it, membership in the Eastern District does not require renewal, so there has been no lapse there.

11. Memberships:

- a. List all professional, business, fraternal, scholarly, civic, charitable, or other organizations, other than those listed in response to Questions 9 or 10 to which you belong, or to which you have belonged, since graduation from law school. - b. The American Bar Association's Commentary to its Code of Judicial Conduct states that it is inappropriate for a judge to hold membership in any organization that invidiously discriminates on the basis of race, sex, or religion, or national origin. Indicate whether any of these organizations listed in response to 11a above currently discriminate or formerly discriminated on the basis of race, sex, religion or national origin either through formal membership requirements or the practical implementation of membership policies. If so, describe any action you have taken to change these policies and practices.

The Sons of the Republic of Texas limits its membership to male direct lineal descendants of settlers of the Republic of Texas, although it is my understanding that there is an equivalent organization for women. The National Eagle Scout Association formerly limited membership to men who have been awarded the Eagle Scout rank by the Boy Scouts of America. It is also my understanding that many YMCA organizations, possibly including at least some parts of YMCA of Metropolitan Houston, previously discriminated on the basis of sex and race decades before I became involved in the organization. It is also possible that the Houston Livestock Show & Rodeo previously discriminated on the basis of sex and race decades before I became involved in the organization. Otherwise, to the best of my knowledge, none of the organizations listed above currently discriminates or formerly discriminated on the basis of race, sex, religion or national origin, either through formal membership requirements or the practical implementation of membership policies.

13. Judicial Office: State (chronologically) any judicial offices you have held, including positions as an administrative law judge, whether such position was elected or appointed, and a description of the jurisdiction of each such court.

2013 – Present
Supreme Court of Texas
Justice

Justices on the Supreme Court of Texas are elected in statewide partisan elections to six-year terms. Vacancies on the Court are filled through gubernatorial appointment. Governor Rick Perry appointed me to fill a vacancy on the Supreme Court in 2013. That appointment expired at the next general election, in 2014, at which time I was elected to the remainder of my predecessor's unexpired term. I was reelected to a full term in 2018. My current term expires on December 31, 2024. The Supreme Court of Texas is the highest court in Texas for all but criminal cases. For the most part, the Court's review is discretionary. The Court assembles its docket from petitions for review from final judgments of the state's intermediate courts of appeals.

STAR ("Success Through Addiction Recovery") Drug Court No. 1
Judge

I served on this court part-time and without compensation, by assignment by the chief justice of the Supreme Court of Texas, while also serving as a justice on the Fourteenth Court of Appeals. STAR is a treatment court for drug-addicted non-violent felony offenders.

2009 – 2013
Multi-District Litigation Panel (MDL Panel)
Panel Member

I served on this court part-time and without compensation, by assignment by the chief justice of the Supreme Court of Texas, while also serving as a justice on the Fourteenth Court of Appeals. The MDL Panel is the judicial panel on multi-district litigation designated pursuant to section 74.161 of the Texas Government Code.

2007 – 2013
Fourteenth Court of Appeals
Justice

Governor Rick Perry appointed me to fill a vacancy on the Fourteenth Court in 2007. That appointment expired at the next general election, in 2008, at which time I was elected to the remainder of my predecessor's unexpired term. In 2012, I was elected to full six-year term. The Fourteenth Court of Appeals is an intermediate appellate court hearing appeals of cases of all types from trial courts in a ten-county district. In 2013, I was selected by my colleagues on the court to serve as interim chief justice.

2001 – 2007
55th District Court
Judge

Governor Rick Perry appointed me to fill a vacancy on the 55th District Court in 2001. That appointment expired at the next general election, in 2002, at which time I was elected to a full term. I was reelected in 2006. The 55th District Court is a trial court of general jurisdiction, though by filing order it hears only civil cases (i.e., no criminal, juvenile, or family).

- a. Approximately how many cases have you presided over that have gone to verdict or judgment?

As presiding judge of the 55th District Court, I presided over 230 trials, jury and bench, that went to verdict or judgment.

- i. Of these, approximately what percent were:

jury trials:	44.3%
bench trials:	55.7% [total 100%]
civil proceedings:	100%
criminal proceedings:	0% [total 100%]

- b. Provide citations for all opinions you have written, including concurrences and dissents.

Citations for all opinions I have written, including concurrences and dissents, are provided at Appendix 13.b.

Appendix 13.b(1) consists of opinions I wrote at the Supreme Court of Texas.

Appendix 13.b(2) consists of opinions I wrote at the Fourteenth Court of Appeals.

Appendix 13.b(3) consists of opinions I wrote as a member of the Judicial Multidistrict Litigation Panel.

- c. For each of the 10 most significant cases over which you presided, provide: (1) a capsule summary of the nature the case; (2) the outcome of the case; (3) the name and contact information for counsel who had a significant role in the trial of the case; and (3) the citation of the case (if reported) or the docket number and a copy of the opinion or judgment (if not reported).

(1) Jack J. Terence v. Lee P. Brown, No. 2001-25380, 55th District Court, Harris County, Texas (Nov. 25, 2002). Copy supplied.

Jack J. Terence, a candidate in the 1999 Houston mayoral election, sued the winner of that election, Lee P. Brown, for technical violations of the Election Code. Following a trial to the bench, I rendered judgment against Mayor Brown in the amount of $54,260. I found that the plain language of the statute requires this result. My ruling was not appealed.

This criminal case presented a question of first impression in Texas: whether the Fifth Amendment prohibits the use as evidence of a defendant’s pre-arrest, pre-Miranda silence in cases in which the defendant does not testify. In my opinion affirming the trial court’s allowance of the evidence, I wrote that “[a] plain reading of the [Fifth Amendment] reveals that only government compulsion triggers its protections against self-incrimination.” The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals and the Supreme Court of the United States affirmed our judgment.

In this case, the operator of a concrete-crushing facility asserted that because a municipal ordinance was preempted by the Texas Clean Air Act, the enforcement of the ordinance violated the Texas Constitution. I was on a three-judge panel at the Fourteenth Court of Appeals that heard the case. Two members of the panel determined that the ordinance was not preempted. I dissented noting that the ordinance is unconstitutional because it accomplishes nothing that state law does not already accomplish except when it varies from state law. When it does that, it is preempted. The Supreme Court of Texas reversed and rendered judgment for Southern Crushed Concrete vindicating my dissent in its unanimous opinion.

This is a libel-by-implication case that synthesizes decades of Texas defamation law. The Dallas Morning News had been sued by a couple who alleged the News had defamed them by implication in a column concerning their son's death. The Court decided for the News, holding that though the column was "reasonably capable" of defaming the couple, it was an opinion and thus not actionable. I wrote the opinion for the Court.

(6) Nabors Well Services, Ltd. v. Romero, 456 S.W.3d 553 (Tex. 2015).

This was a wrongful-death and personal-injury case arising from a vehicular collision. The Court unanimously held that in car-wreck cases, relevant evidence of use or nonuse of a seat belt is admissible for the purpose of apportioning responsibility under the proportionate-responsibility statute, overruling a four-decade-old precedent. I wrote the opinion for the Court.

(7) Wasson Interests, Ltd. v. City of Jacksonville, 489 S.W.3d 427 (Tex. 2016).

In this case, the City of Jacksonville was sued for breach of contract arising from the leasing of real property. The Court held, as a matter of first impression, that in breach-of-contract cases, the common-law distinction between governmental and proprietary acts applies when determining the extent of a city's sovereign immunity. I wrote the opinion for a unanimous Court.

(9) Exxon Mobil Corp., et al. v. Rincones, 520 S.W.3d 572 (Tex. 2017).

This was a complex employment-discrimination case filed by a refinery technician who had failed an employer-mandated drug test. The Court resolved all claims against the plaintiff. Its most significant holding was that Texas does not recognize that the theory of compelled self-disclosure can satisfy the publication element of a defamation claim. I wrote the opinion of the Court.

- e. Provide a list of all cases in which certiorari was requested or granted.

I have authored four opinions in which certiorari was requested. It was denied in three and granted in one. They are listed below.

Dallas Morning News, Inc. v. Tatum, 466 S.W.3d 783 (Tex. 2018), cert. denied, 2019 WL 659885, (U.S. Feb. 19, 2019).

Americo Life, Inc. v. Myer, 440 S.W.3d 18 (Tex. 2014), cert. denied, 135 S. Ct. 2310 (2015).

Salinas v. State, 368 S.W.3d 550 (Tex. App.—Houston [14th Dist.] 2011), aff'd, 369 S.W.3d 176 (Tex. Crim. App. 2012), aff'd, 570 U.S. 178 (2013).

- f. Provide a brief summary of and citations for all of your opinions where your decisions were reversed by a reviewing court or where your judgment was affirmed with significant criticism of your substantive or procedural rulings. If any of the opinions listed were not officially reported, provide copies of the opinions.

As a trial judge, my decisions were reversed by a reviewing court ten times. On one occasion, my decision was affirmed but modified. Those cases are listed below:

Horizon Offshore Contractors, Inc. v. Aon Risk Services of Texas, Inc., 283 S.W.3d 53 (Tex. App.—Houston [14th Dist.] 2009, pet. denied).

Horizon, a marine contractor, sued Aon, an insurance broker, for breach of contract, negligence, negligent misrepresentation, and breach of fiduciary duty. I granted Aon's motion for summary judgment. The court of appeals affirmed the summary judgment as to Horizon's claim for breach of fiduciary duty. But it reversed on the other claims because Horizon had not conclusively proven its affirmative defenses of election of remedies and judicial estoppel.

Haye v. Elton Porter Marine Ins., 13-07-310-CV, 2009 WL 542486, (Tex. App.—Corpus Christi Mar. 5, 2009, no pet.).

Haye, a boat owner, sued Elton Porter Marine Insurance, an insurance agency he had hired to secure policies for his boat. After a boating accident, Haye had sued Elton Porter alleging that it negligently failed to procure or renew insurance on the boat. The court of appeals also overruled Elton Porter's cross-issue, in which it unsuccessfully argued I erroneously overruled its objections and motion to strike Haye's summary-judgment evidence.

Danos v. Rittger, 253 S.W.3d 215 (Tex. 2008) (per curiam).

This was a medical-malpractice case. As required by statute, the plaintiff served the defendant with the curricula vitae and expert reports of Drs. David and Baker within 120 days of filing suit. The defendant moved for dismissal on the ground that Dr. Baker's report was inadequate. I ruled the report was deficient and granted the plaintiff 30 days to cure the deficiency. Within 30 days, the plaintiff filed a new report from Dr. Baker and an additional report from a Dr. Meyer, who was not previously designated. The defendant again moved to dismiss. I granted that motion, finding Dr. Baker's report inadequate and ruling that the plaintiff could not file a report from a new expert. The court of appeals affirmed. In a per curiam opinion, the Supreme Court of Texas reversed, referring to a separate opinion it issued the same day, Lewis v. Funderburk, in which the court held that a claimant may cure a deficiency by serving a report from a separate expert.

MEMC Elec. Materials, Inc. v. Albermarle Corp., 241 S.W.3d 67, 68 (Tex. App.—Houston [1st Dist.] 2007, pet. denied).

This was an indemnification case. Albermarle indemnified Ethyl Corp. for claims paid by Ethyl to three people who were injured in a fire at a plant. Albermarle then sought indemnification from MEMC for Albermarle's payment to Ethyl. MEMC refused based on its reading of an Asset Purchase Agreement between MEMC and Albermarle. MEMC appealed my order granting partial summary judgment in Albermarle's favor and denying MEMC's cross-motion for partial summary judgment. At the court of appeals, MEMC argued the Agreement's indemnification provision was not triggered by the claims against Ethyl; that the Ethyl indemnity agreement was not an obligation that it assumed under the terms of the Agreement; and that Albermarle's indemnity claim is unenforceable. The court of appeals concluded the Agreement did not obligate MEMC to indemnify Albermarle for its payment to Ethyl for Ethyl's liability for injuries caused by the fire. It did not reach the enforceability issue. The court of appeals reversed and rendered judgment in MEMC's favor.

Meekey v. Rick's Cabaret Int'l, Inc., 171 S.W.3d 394, 396 (Tex. App.—Houston [14th Dist.] 2005, pet. denied).

Meekey appealed my order dismissing for want of jurisdiction on the basis that the Texas Finance Commission had exclusive or primary jurisdiction over a dispute concerning an alleged violation of the Texas Finance Code. The case arose out of alleged credit card overcharges at strip clubs, which Meekey claimed were illegal surcharges under the finance code. Rick's filed motions to dismiss and pleas in abatement alleging I lacked original jurisdiction over Meekey's suit. I concluded Meekey's claims were purely statutory, arose from a pervasive regulatory scheme, and fell within the Finance Commission's exclusive jurisdiction. I dismissed Meekey's claims with prejudice. The court of appeals reversed and remanded, concluding the finance code provisions at issue did not constitute a pervasive regulatory scheme and provide no remedy for enforcement.

Masonic Bldg. Ass'n of Houston, Inc. v. McWhorter, 177 S.W.3d 465, 468 (Tex. App.—Houston [1st Dist.] 2005, no pet.).

This case was an appeal from a jury trial. The Masons sued the McWhorters, seeking to enjoin them from encroaching on the Masons' property via a fence. The McWhorters counterclaimed, seeking to quiet title as to the boundary of the property, and alleged title by adverse possession. The jury found that the McWhorters adversely possessed the property and I rendered judgment on the jury's verdict. On appeal, the Masons argued insufficient evidence supported the adverse-possession finding and that I erred in charging the jury. The court of appeals affirmed in part and reversed in part, holding that sufficient evidence supported the jury's finding for only part of the property. For the portions in which the evidence was insufficient, the court of appeals reversed and rendered judgment in the Masons' favor. The court of appeals held I did not err in charging the jury.

Zurich Am. Ins. Co. v. Hunt Petroleum (AEC), Inc., 157 S.W.3d 462, 463 (Tex. App.—Houston [14th Dist.] 2004, no pet.).

This case involved liability for damage to an oil-drilling rig caused by its submersion in saltwater floods during a tropical storm. Both parties moved for summary judgment based on their respective readings of a relevant contract, arguing it was unambiguous and supported the interpretation that the other party was liable for damage to the rig. I granted Hunt's motion and denied Zurich's. The court of appeals reversed and remanded, holding a fact issue existed as to whether there is a common industry understanding as to the meaning of a phrase, and that the contract was subject to more than one reasonable interpretation.

City of Houston v. Boyle, 148 S.W.3d 171, 174 (Tex. App.—Houston [1st Dist.] 2004, no pet.)

This interlocutory appeal arose from my refusal to grant the City of Houston's pleas to the jurisdiction for Boyle's claims. Boyle sued the city for inverse condemnation and non-negligent nuisance and sought recovery authorized under the Texas Tort Claims Act. He argued the city's failure to maintain ditches and approval of a building permit for a shopping center caused his home to flood. The city filed special exceptions to the pleadings, which I overruled, and then filed a plea to the jurisdiction, which I also overruled. The court of appeals reversed and rendered judgment sustaining the city's pleas to the jurisdiction.

Robinson v. Crown Cork & Seal Co., 335 S.W.3d 126 (Tex. 2010).

At issue in this case was whether the statute that limits certain corporations' successor liability for personal-injury claims of asbestos exposure violated the Texas Constitution's prohibition against retroactive laws. After the passage of HB 4, Crown moved for summary judgment requesting that the prior order establishing its successor liability for the Robinsons be vacated and that their claims for asbestos exposure be dismissed. I granted that motion and severed the summary judgment to make it final and appealable. On appeal, the Robinsons argued the new law was retroactive. The court of appeals affirmed, holding the law was not unconstitutionally retroactive because it fell within the legislature's police power and was narrowly tailored to protect the most innocent corporations while leaving the potential pool of asbestos defendants as large as possible. The Supreme Court of Texas reversed and remanded, holding the law significantly impaired a substantial interest the Robinsons had in a well-recognized cause of action and the public interest served is slight, and therefore the statute was unconstitutional as applied to the Robinsons' claims.

Akinwamide v Transp. Ins. Co., No. 14-06-01054-CV, 2008 WL 660303 (Tex. App.—Houston [14th Dist.] 2008, pet. denied) (mem. op.).

This case stems from two unsuccessful lawsuits to recover on a workers' compensation claim. Akinwamide filed a bill of review in my court to set aside a final judgment rendered against him. I granted summary judgment in the defendants' favor. The court of appeals reversed.

Ganim v. Cotton USA, L.P., No. 14-07-00835-CV, 2008 WL 4379605 (Tex. App.—Houston [14th Dist.] 2008, no pet.) (mem. op.) (affirmed with modification).

In this opinion the court of appeals affirmed my judgment but included a modification to condition the award of appellate attorney's fees on Cotton's success on appeal.

As a justice on the Fourteenth Court of Appeals, I authored nearly 400 opinions. I was reversed six times by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, but never by the Supreme Court of Texas or the United States Supreme Court. The six cases in which I was reversed as a justice of the Fourteenth Court of Appeals are listed below:

Blackshear v. State, 342 S.W.3d 777 (Tex. App.—Houston [14th Dist.] May 24, 2011), rev'd, 385 S.W.3d 589 (Tex. Crim. App. 2012).

I wrote for a unanimous panel that the trial court erred by refusing to grant a continuance to allow the defendant time to procure a transcript of his first trial, which resulted in a guilty verdict but a mistrial on punishment. The Court of Criminal Appeals reversed, accepting the State's argument made for the first time that the defendant's oral motion for continuance failed to preserve error.

Johnson v. State, 359 S.W.3d 725 (Tex. App.—Houston [14th Dist.] Dec. 13, 2011), rev'd, 414 S.W.3d 184 (Tex. Crim. App. 2013).

I wrote for a majority that the trial court did not abuse its discretion in denying Johnson's motion to suppress evidence of an encounter between Johnson and his arresting officer. The encounter led to the officer discovering marijuana in plain view inside Johnson's car, for which he was arrested. A divided Court of Criminal Appeals reversed. The Court of Criminal Appeals remanded the case to the court of appeals for consideration of the trial court's determination that the officer had reasonable suspicion to detain Johnson and determine whether that detention was valid.

Wooten v. State, 378 S.W.3d 652 (Tex. App.—Houston [14th Dist.] Aug. 30, 2012), rev'd, 400 S.W.3d 601 (Tex. Crim. App. 2013).

In this opinion, I wrote for a unanimous panel affirming in part and reversing in part the trial court's judgment. Wooten argued the trial court erred in admitting irrelevant hearsay testimony about extraneous bad acts. My opinion found no error here. Wooten additionally argued the trial court erred during the punishment phase by refusing to instruct the jury on sudden passion. My opinion concluded this was harmful error and remanded the case for a new trial on punishment. The Court of Criminal Appeals reversed on this point.

Rogers v. State, 402 S.W.3d 410 (Tex. App.—Houston [14th Dist.] 2013), rev'd, 426 S.W.3d 105 (Tex. Crim. App. 2014); Romero v. State, 406 S.W.3d 695 (Tex. App.—Houston [14th Dist.] 2013), rev'd, 427 S.W.3d 398 (Tex. Crim. App. 2014); O'Bannon v. State, No. 14-12-00653-CR, 2013 WL 4806994 (Tex. App.—Houston [14th Dist.] 2013, no pet.), judgment vacated, No. PD-1346-13, 2014 WL 1512960 (Tex. Crim. App. 2014).

In all three of these cases, I wrote for a unanimous panel affirming the trial court on all but the defendant's argument that the specific amount in court costs the trial court ordered him to pay was unsupported by the record. In three per curiam opinions, the Court of Criminal Appeals vacated each of the opinions and remanded for reconsideration in light of Johnson v. State, 423 S.W.3d 385 (Tex. Crim. App. 2014). In Johnson, the Court of Criminal Appeals "set forth a roadmap for resolving questions regarding court costs." The Court of Criminal Appeals noted in each case that my court "did not have the benefit of our opinion in Johnson."

- g. Provide a description of the number and percentage of your decisions in which you issued an unpublished opinion and the manner in which those unpublished opinions are filed and/or stored.

All of the opinions I have written as a justice on the Supreme Court of Texas are published.

All of the "unpublished" opinions I wrote as a justice on the Fourteenth Court of Appeals are available on Westlaw or Lexis as well as on the court's website. The original opinions are maintained by the clerk of the Fourteenth Court of Appeals.

As a trial judge, I wrote only one opinion. (Texas state court trial judges do not typically prepare opinions.) The original signed opinion is maintained by the Harris County District Clerk as are all of the orders I signed as judge of the 55th District Court.

- h. Provide citations for significant opinions on federal or state constitutional issues, together with the citation to appellate court rulings on such opinions. If any of the opinions listed were not officially reported, provide copies of the opinions.

- i. Provide citations to all cases in which you sat by designation on a federal court of appeals, including a brief summary of any opinions you authored, whether majority, dissenting, or concurring, and any dissenting opinions you joined.

I have not sat by designation on a federal court of appeals.

14. Recusal: If you are or have been a judge, identify the basis by which you have assessed the necessity or propriety of recusal (If your court employs an "automatic" recusal system by which you may be recused without your knowledge, please include a general description of that system.) Provide a list of any cases, motions or matters that have come before you in which a litigant or party has requested that you recuse yourself due to an asserted conflict of interest or in which you have recused yourself sua sponte. Identify each such case, and for each provide the following information:

- a. whether your recusal was requested by a motion or other suggestion by a litigant or a party to the proceeding or by any other person or interested party; or if you recused yourself sua sponte;
- b. a brief description of the asserted conflict of interest or other ground for recusal;
- c. the procedure you followed in determining whether or not to recuse yourself;

- d. your reason for recusing or declining to recuse yourself, including any action taken to remove the real, apparent or asserted conflict of interest or to cure any other ground for recusal.

I personally review each new case that comes before me to determine whether I have a conflict of interest or whether my impartiality in the matter might reasonably be questioned. I cannot recall any occasion when an attorney or party has asked me to recuse myself for any reason. For the first year I was a judge, I preemptively recused myself from any litigation involving the firm where I practiced before assuming the bench. Since leaving the trial bench, I have recused myself from all appeals arising from cases that were pending at the 55th District Court while I was its presiding judge. Since leaving the Fourteenth Court of Appeals, I have followed the practice of the Supreme Court of Texas in recusing myself from any case appealed to the Supreme Court from the Fourteenth Court of Appeals in which I had been a member of the panel that decided the case or in which I had had any other involvement, such as the consideration of a motion for rehearing en banc.

Other than the above-described instances of preemptive automatic recusal, I have recused myself sua sponte from the following cases for the following reasons:

- (1) In re Pool, No. 14-004, Supreme Court of Texas. I recused myself sua sponte from this mandamus action to avoid a conflict of interest. The case concerned an attempt by an election opponent to have my name removed from the ballot in the 2014 Republican primary election.
- (2) Bell v. Republican Governors Ass'n, No. 14-0181, Supreme Court of Texas. I recused myself sua sponte from this election-related dispute, filed on March 11, 2014, to avoid the appearance of impropriety. The petitioner was represented by the same attorney who represented my opponent in the 2014 Republican primary in his attempt in In re Pool, No. 14-004, to have my name removed from the ballot.
- (3) In re Burnam, No. 14-0372, Supreme Court of Texas. I recused myself sua sponte from this election-related dispute, filed on May 14, 2014, to avoid the appearance of impropriety. The petitioner was represented by the same attorney who represented my opponent in the 2014 Republican primary in his attempt in In re Pool, No. 14-004, to have my name removed from the ballot.
- (4) Dallas Area Rapid Transit v. Armstrong, No. 15-0416, Supreme Court of Texas. I recused myself sua sponte from this matter. I have examined the case file, but I cannot recall why I recused myself.
- (5) Miller v. Dallas Area Rapid Transit, No. 15-0436, Supreme Court of Texas. I recused myself sua sponte from this matter. I have examined the case file, but I cannot recall why I recused myself.

- (6) JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A. v. Dorfman, No. 15-0814, Supreme Court of Texas. I am a close friend with one of the interested parties in this case, so out of an abundance of caution, I recused myself sua sponte from this matter to avoid the appearance of impropriety.
- (7) ORCA/ICI Development v. Dorfman, Cause No. 15-0816, Supreme Court of Texas. I am a close friend with one of the interested parties in this case, so out of an abundance of caution, I recused myself sua sponte from this matter to avoid the appearance of impropriety.
- (8) Eddington v. Dallas Police & Fire Pension Sys., No. 17-0058, Supreme Court of Texas. I recused myself sua sponte from this matter, a dispute between current and retired Dallas police officers and the Dallas Police & Fire Pension System, to avoid the appearance of impropriety. A family member of mine had an interest in the outcome of this case.
- (9) In re City of Dallas, No. 17-0186, Supreme Court of Texas. I recused myself sua sponte from this mandamus action to avoid the appearance of impropriety. The real parties in interest in this case, a suit against the City of Dallas for breach of contract and back-pay damages, are current and former Dallas firefighters. Amici curiae include current and former Dallas police officers seeking back-pay damages in City of Dallas v. Martin, Cause No. 17-0836. A family member of mine had an interest in the outcome of this case.
- (10) City of Dallas v. Martin, No. 17-0836, Supreme Court of Texas. I recused myself sua sponte from this mandamus action to avoid the appearance of impropriety. Respondents in this case, a suit against the City of Dallas for breach of contract and back-pay damages, include current and former Dallas police officers. A family member of mine had an interest in the outcome of this case.

15. Public Office, Political Activities and Affiliations:

- a. List chronologically any public offices you have held, other than judicial offices, including the terms of service and whether such positions were elected or appointed. If appointed, please include the name of the individual who appointed you. Also, state chronologically any unsuccessful candidacies you have had for elective office or unsuccessful nominations for appointed office.

None.

- b. List all memberships and offices held in and services rendered, whether compensated or not, to any political party or election committee. If you have ever held a position or played a role in a political campaign, identify the particulars of the campaign, including the candidate, dates of the campaign, your title and responsibilities.

- iv. whether you served as a mediator or arbitrator in alternative dispute resolution proceedings and, if so, a description of the 10 most significant matters with which you were involved in that capacity.

I have not served as a mediator or arbitrator.

b. Describe:

- i. the general character of your law practice and indicate by date when its character has changed over the years.

I spent my private-practice career as a civil trial attorney. My practice consisted of litigation and trial work at a full-service law firm of about 700 attorneys. My work ranged from small personal-injury and insurance-defense cases that I handled alone to large complex commercial and product-liability cases in which I was a member of a large team of lawyers. That general composition remained largely intact throughout my time in private practice.

- ii. your typical clients and the areas at each period of your legal career, if any, in which you have specialized.

In the small cases I handled myself, my clients were the insureds of the law firm's last-remaining insurance-defense client. In other cases, my clients included pharmaceutical manufacturers, utility companies, and other large commercial entities. I am certified as a specialist in civil trial law by the Texas Board of Legal Specialization.

- c. Describe the percentage of your practice that has been in litigation and whether you appeared in court frequently, occasionally, or not at all. If the frequency of your appearances in court varied, describe such variance, providing dates.

My practice was 100% litigation and I appeared in court frequently.

- i. Indicate the percentage of your practice in:
- | | |
|----------------------------|-----|
| 1. federal courts: | 10% |
| 2. state courts of record: | 87% |
| 3. other courts: | 2% |

4. administrative agencies: 1%

ii. Indicate the percentage of your practice in:

1. civil proceedings: 100%
2. criminal proceedings: 0%

d. State the number of cases in courts of record, including cases before administrative law judges, you tried to verdict, judgment or final decision (rather than settled), indicating whether you were sole counsel, chief counsel, or associate counsel.

In five years of practice, I tried 14 cases to verdict. I was sole counsel in four cases, chief counsel in five cases, and associate counsel in five cases.

i. What percentage of these trials were:

1. jury: 100%
2. non-jury: 0%

e. Describe your practice, if any, before the Supreme Court of the United States. Supply four (4) copies of any briefs, amicus or otherwise, and, if applicable, any oral argument transcripts before the Supreme Court in connection with your practice.

While I was an associate at Baker Botts, I assisted in the preparation of two petitions for certiorari. Both were denied. The citations are provided below and copies of the petitions are supplied as Appendix 16(e).

Tank Insulation Int'l, Inc. v. Insultherm, Inc., 104 F.3d 83 (5th Cir. 1997), cert. denied, 522 U.S. 907 (1997) (cert. petition can be found at 1997 WL 33616118).

Dodson v. Hillcrest Secs. Corp., 95 F.3d 52 (5th Cir. 1996), cert. denied, 519 U.S. 1111 (1997) (cert. petition can be found at 1997 WL 33556963).

17. Litigation: Describe the ten (10) most significant litigated matters which you personally handled, whether or not you were the attorney of record. Give the citations, if the cases were reported, and the docket number and date if unreported. Give a capsule summary of the substance of each case. Identify the party or parties whom you represented; describe in detail the nature of your participation in the litigation and the final disposition of the case. Also state as to each case:

- a. the date of representation;
- b. the name of the court and the name of the judge or judges before whom the case was litigated; and
- c. the individual name, addresses, and telephone numbers of co-counsel and of principal counsel for each of the other parties.

(1) Charles Lindsey Kroll v. CDB Software, Inc., No. 94-28624, 129th District Court, Harris County, Texas (tried in April 1997); appeal reported at 992 S.W.2d 31.

In this contract dispute, we represented CDB Software, which faced claims by its former president, Charles Kroll, alleging that it had failed to honor three separate compensation agreements. CDB contended the agreements had never become effective or had been waived. The case's significance arises from the amount in controversy (over $1 million) and the complicated issues briefed by the parties, including complex facets of contract law, breach of fiduciary duty, corporate governance, and bankruptcy law. After a trial of nearly two weeks and appeals to the First Court of Appeals and the Supreme Court of Texas, Kroll prevailed and collected a large judgment from CDB.

(3) Bonnie Allen v. Ed King and Charles King d/b/a Chuck's Water Well Service, No. 97-06-02278, 359th District Court, Montgomery County, Texas (tried October 1998).

I represented the defendant in this personal-injury case. The plaintiff alleged past medical expenses of about $5,000, the need for future surgery amount to about $20,000, and asked the jury for about $35,000. The plaintiff's complicated medical history dominated the evidence presented to the jury. At the end of the three-day trial, the jury found the plaintiff 100% responsible for the accident. My client, who had rear-ended the plaintiff, was absolved of all liability. The jury also determined that the plaintiff had suffered no damages.

(4) Esteban Velasco v. Irene Stern d/b/a Stella Ranch, No. C95-14, Waller County Court at Law No. 1, Waller County, Texas (tried October 1998).

I represented the defendant in this case. The plaintiff claimed he had been injured when his automobile struck and killed a cow on a farm-to-market road outside Brookshire, Texas. The plaintiff alleged the defendant owned the cow and that the animal was loose in the road because the defendant's fences were negligently maintained. The jury found no negligence by the defendant.

This was a personal-injury case arising out of an automobile accident on Galveston Island. The jury found 50% liability on each party. After alleging about $15,000 in medical expenses, a 5% physical-impairment rating, and about $5,000 in lost wages, the plaintiff asked the jury for $50,000 in damages. The jury awarded $25,000, which was reduced by 50% due to the plaintiff's contributory negligence.

(6) David Downs and Susan Dancer Downs v. Manuel Mejias and Milberger Turf Farms Co., No. 97-J-0402-C, 130th District Court, Matagorda County, Texas (tried January 1999).

In this automobile-accident case, I represented defendants Manuel Mejias and Milberger Turf Farms Company. Mejias and plaintiff David Downs were involved in a collision on Highway 35 in Matagorda County while Mejias was in the course and scope of his employment by Milberger Turf Farms. Downs, who underwent back surgery following the accident, brought suit along with his wife, Susan Dancer Downs. They sought nearly $2 million in damages from the jury. The four-day trial resulted in a verdict for the plaintiffs of about $90,000, which was less than the defendants' pretrial settlement offer and much less than the plaintiffs' lowest pretrial settlement demand of $350,000.

This case was brought by Arnold Oil Company, a former non-exclusive licensed distributor of Pennzoil oils and lubricants in an 18-county area of south Texas. After Pennzoil terminated the contract, Arnold sued Pennzoil and the replacement distributor in Duval County for tortious interference with contract, civil conspiracy, and tortious interference with prospective business relationships. This was a class action against Houston Lighting & Power Co. The class was composed of about 50 municipalities who sought a declaratory judgment and alleged breach of franchise agreements, fraud, and unjust enrichment. In 2000, the trial court ordered that it would conduct a separate trial of the claims of the cities of Wharton, Pasadena, and Galveston—the class representatives. The trial resulted in a judgment of just over $1 million in damages for breach of contract and over $13 million in attorney's fees. The court of appeals reversed the trial court and rendered judgment that the cities take nothing.

18. Legal Activities: Describe the most significant legal activities you have pursued, including significant litigation which did not progress to trial or legal matters that did not involve litigation. Describe fully the nature of your participation in these activities. List any client(s) or organization(s) for whom you performed lobbying activities and describe the lobbying activities you performed on behalf of such client(s) or organizations(s). (Note: As to any facts requested in this question, please omit any information protected by the attorney-client privilege.)

All of the significant legal activities I pursued in private practice involved litigation. Most of that litigation did not progress to trial. Significant litigation matters I worked on included product-liability cases against large commercial entities, commercial cases involving large utility companies, and a handful of toxic-tort cases against chemical manufacturers. I also worked on a small number of significant insurance-coverage disputes. I have never acted or registered as a lobbyist.

19. Teaching: What courses have you taught? For each course, state the title, the institution at which you taught the course, the years in which you taught the course, and describe briefly the subject matter of the course and the major topics taught. If you have a syllabus of each course, provide four (4) copies to the committee.

Judicial Philosophy & American Law, National Judicial College, 2009. This was a constitutional-law course I co-taught with Judge Grant Dorfman in Newport, Rhode Island. I do not have a syllabus of this course.

Trial Advocacy, University of Houston Law Center, 2004 – 2006. I do not have a syllabus of this course.

Legal Research & Writing, University of Houston Law Center, 1998 – 1999. I do not have a syllabus of this course.

20. Deferred Income/ Future Benefits: List the sources, amounts and dates of all anticipated receipts from deferred income arrangements, stock, options, uncompleted contracts and other future benefits which you expect to derive from previous business relationships, professional services, firm memberships, former employers, clients or customers. I expect to receive pensions from the Judicial Retirement System of Texas and the Texas County & District Retirement System.

21. Outside Commitments During Court Service: Do you have any plans, commitments, or agreements to pursue outside employment, with or without compensation, during your service with the court? If so, explain.

Yes. Since 2012, I have worked as an independent contractor to co-edit the annual updates of a legal treatise, Texas Rules of Evidence Handbook, for O'Connor's Publishing, a division of Thomson Reuters. I hope to continue this work for many years to come.

22. Sources of Income: List sources and amounts of all income received during the calendar year preceding your nomination and for the current calendar year, including all salaries, fees, dividends, interest, gifts, rents, royalties, licensing fees, honoraria, and other items exceeding $500 or more (if you prefer to do so, copies of the financial disclosure report, required by the Ethics in Government Act of 1978, may be substituted here).

See attached Financial Disclosure Report.

23. Statement of Net Worth: Please complete the attached financial net worth statement in detail (add schedules as called for).

See attached Statement of Net Worth.

24. Potential Conflicts of Interest:

- a. Identify the family members or other persons, parties, categories of litigation, and financial arrangements that are likely to present potential conflicts-of-interest when you first assume the position to which you have been nominated. Explain how you would address any such conflict if it were to arise.

I am aware of no potential conflicts of interest. If confirmed, I will recuse in any litigation where I have ever played a role. I would also recuse myself in matters involving my own financial interests. I will evaluate any other real or potential conflict, or relationship that could give rise to an appearance of conflict, on a case-by-case basis and determine appropriate action, with the advice of parties and their counsel, including recusal where necessary. To identify parties which present an actual or potential conflict of interest and to address any conflict were it to arise, I would consult the Code of Conduct for United States Judges, 28 U.S.C. § 455, and the relevant rules, practices, procedures, and personnel of the District Court, the Fifth Circuit, the Administrative Office of the United States Courts, and the Judicial Conference.

- b. Explain how you will resolve any potential conflict of interest, including the procedure you will follow in determining these areas of concern.

If confirmed, I will carefully review and address any real or potential conflicts by referring to 28 U.S.C. § 455, Canon 3 of the Code of Conduct for United States Judges, and any and all other laws, rules, and practices governing such circumstances.

25. Pro Bono Work: An ethical consideration under Canon 2 of the American Bar Association's Code of Professional Responsibility calls for "every lawyer, regardless of professional prominence or professional workload, to find some time to participate in serving the disadvantaged." Describe what you have done to fulfill these responsibilities, listing specific instances and the amount of time devoted to each.

From 1999 – 2001, I was a volunteer attorney in the Houston Volunteer Lawyers Program. In that capacity, I handled several uncontested divorce cases, devoting many hours to each.

I also volunteered periodically both at a veterans' pro bono legal clinic and for LegalLine. LegalLine is a weekly telephone hotline administered by the Houston Bar Association. It is designed to help the people of Houston receive simple legal advice, answers to legal questions, and referrals to helpful resources, at no cost to the caller.

I was also one of the founding members of the Baker Botts law firm's Pro Bono Committee. Among the firm's pro bono clients is DePelchin Children's Center. One of the more significant pro bono cases I handled was a lawsuit against DePelchin in state district court in Houston.

The only pro bono matter on which I worked that went to trial was the court-appointed representation of a Texas prison inmate in his civil lawsuit against several wardens and other officials of the Texas Department of Criminal Justice. In that case, I devoted many hours to pre-trial discovery (including travel from Houston to visit the client at his prison unit outside of Palestine, Texas, and to Austin to depose the defendants), preparation for trial, and the trial itself.

I also served as chairman of the Houston Young Lawyers Association's Non-Profit Law Committee from 1997 – 1999. In that capacity, I organized an annual non-profit law seminar for the benefit of both non-profit organizations and lawyers interested in doing pro bono work for non-profit organizations.

26. Selection Process:

- a. Please describe your experience in the entire judicial selection process, from beginning to end (including the circumstances which led to your nomination and the interviews in which you participated). Is there a selection commission in your jurisdiction to recommend candidates for nomination to the federal courts? If so, please include that process in your description, as well as whether the commission recommended your nomination. List the dates of all interviews or communications you had with the White House staff or the Justice Department regarding this nomination. Do not include any contacts with Federal Bureau of Investigation personnel concerning your nomination.

On February 9, 2018, Senators John Cornyn and Ted Cruz announced that the bipartisan Federal Judicial Evaluation Committee (FJEC) would be accepting applications for federal judicial vacancies in Texas. On February 27, 2018, I submitted my application. On April 6, 2018, I interviewed with the FJEC. I then interviewed with Senators Cornyn and Cruz on May 10, 2018. I interviewed with officials from the White House Counsel's Office and the Office of Legal Policy at the Department of Justice on August 2, 2018. Since that time, I have been in contact with officials from the White House Counsel's Office and the Office of Legal Policy.

- b. Has anyone involved in the process of selecting you as a judicial nominee discussed with you any currently pending or specific case, legal issue or question in a manner that could reasonably be interpreted as seeking any express or implied assurances concerning your position on such case, issue, or question? If so, explain fully.

No.
