

Dear Chairman Grassley,

I write to express my deep appreciation for your leadership and the work of the Senate Judiciary Committee in convening the upcoming hearing, “The Truth Revealed: Hidden Facts Regarding Nazis and Swiss Banks.” Your sustained efforts to uncover and document historical truth represent an act of moral clarity that transcends politics and generations.

As a rabbi, educator, and community leader, I have dedicated much of my life to ensuring that historical truth is not treated as a closed chapter, but as a living guidebook. The deliberate concealment of facts surrounding the Holocaust and its enablers did not merely obscure history—it compounded the suffering of victims and their families and undermined trust across generations.

Bringing these facts into the public record through a congressional hearing is therefore not only historic; it is corrective. It ensures that future generations can access documented truth, free from distortion or denial, and it affirms that institutions—no matter how powerful—are not beyond accountability when deception has occurred.

In my work with Jewish communal safety today, I see firsthand how historical denial and distortion continue to manifest in modern forms of antisemitism. These patterns are not abstract. They affect how communities experience safety, dignity, and belonging in the present. Truth, when defended consistently and publicly, remains one of the most effective safeguards against the normalization of hatred.

Your leadership sends a clear message: that the United States will not allow history to be rewritten, minimized, or buried for the sake of convenience or reputation. At a time when antisemitism is once again rising globally, and when extremists seek to rehabilitate or obscure the crimes of the Third Reich, this commitment matters profoundly.

Thank you for your principled leadership and for ensuring that truth, accountability, and justice remain enduring American values.

Respectfully,

Rabbi Yossi Eilfort

Founder and President

Magen Am USA, Inc

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

Email: [REDACTED]

Office: [REDACTED]

MagenAm.com

Magen Am USA, Inc is a registered 501(c)3 non-profit and a licensed PPO# 120715