

FROM MOTHERS IN THE LEGAL PROFESSION

AN OPEN LETTER TO DR. BLASEY FORD

September 20, 2018

To: Dr. Christine Blasey Ford

Cc: U.S. Senate Judiciary Committee

Dear Dr. Blasey Ford,

The undersigned are all female attorneys who met through a non-partisan social network of mothers in the legal profession. We write to offer you our support and admiration for coming forward to tell your story during the nomination of Brett Kavanaugh to the United States Supreme Court.

The group from which we are drawn prides itself on its diversity -- of race, geography, religion, sexual orientation, socioeconomic status, legal practice, and political affiliation. Despite our differences, we share a few core attributes: we are women, we are (active and inactive) members of the legal bar across the United States, and we are mothers. Above all, we support other women. In particular, we support women who take a stand to call out and fight injustice in many forms, including all manner of personal and professional abuse that targets or disproportionately affects women.

We thank you as attorneys. As members of the legal community, we share a keen understanding of the impact that our nation's highest Court has on the lives of all Americans. We have watched these nomination hearings with great personal and professional interest. We have followed the heated debate over Judge Kavanaugh's judicial philosophy. We have watched with growing concern as questions mount regarding Judge Kavanaugh's truthfulness, judgment, and character. As practitioners who interact with the judiciary on a daily basis, we thank you for coming forward to make that bench stronger through critical examination of those nominated to serve as judges.

We thank you as women, and as abuse survivors and their allies. Many of us harbor our own painful memories of sexual assault, not to mention harassment and discrimination. If we were not personally victimized, we know women -- mothers, daughters, sisters, colleagues -- who were. We know all too well that these experiences, often hidden, can wreak havoc on a woman's self-esteem and other aspects of her personal and professional life. We hear your story of assault. We see your bravery and personal sacrifice. We thank you for giving this silent scourge a voice.

We thank you as mothers. We share the privilege of raising the next generation of Americans, and aim to help our children end the cycles of sexual abuse, misconduct, and discrimination that have run rampant for too long. Given this responsibility, we thank you for providing an example of someone brave enough to speak out despite risks to your privacy and security. We thank you for giving us a teachable moment with our sons and daughters about the importance of affirmative consent, bodily autonomy, and using power for good.

We thank you as Americans. We applaud your willingness to tell your important story in public, despite the personal cost, and to assist the Senate with this crucial vetting process. Lifetime appointments to our highest Court should be granted only to the most honorable public servants, who can be trusted to treat all litigants with fairness and respect. Transparency is at the heart of democracy, and our elected officials cannot do their jobs without hearing from people like you. The judicial confirmation process would be incomplete without your bravery.

We urge all Senators to react with concern and attention to the revelations you have made about Judge Kavanaugh. As their constituents, we demand that they listen to your story and treat you with respect. We also urge them to allot your testimony the time, investigation, and consideration it is due. Particularly because your story is directly relevant to Judge Kavanaugh's viewpoints on issues of female bodily autonomy, we believe that your disturbing account of his actions is worthy of serious consideration as the Senate selects a person who will influence our jurisprudence for decades to come.

As you face attacks from the press, the public, and in particular Judge Kavanaugh's supporters, take heart in knowing that we all stand in solidarity with you.

Thank you for your service to this country.

Sincerely and with deepest gratitude,

Mothers in the Legal Profession

ORGANIZATIONAL SIGNERS

Phenomenal Woman Action Campaign

Phenomenal Woman is leading a campaign for 1,600 male allies to take out a full-page ad in the NYT in support of Anita Hill and Christine Blasey Ford, reminiscent of how 1,600 black women did the same in 1991.

Civil Liberties and Public Policy Program

Civil Liberties and Public Policy Program (CLPP)

Combining activism, organizing, leadership training, and reproductive rights movement building, CLPP promotes an inclusive agenda that advances reproductive rights and health, and social and economic justice.

Lawyer Moms of America

Lawyer Moms of America is a nonpartisan, nonprofit organization advocating for the humane treatment of migrant families seeking asylum—all children should be with their families, and no child should languish in federal detention facilities or internment camps. We welcome anyone with a heart and conscience to join our advocacy efforts. Take the Pledge to Protect Migrant Families: <https://www.lawyermomsofamerica.org/take-the-pledge/>

If/When/How: Lawyering for Reproductive Justice

If/When/How: Lawyering for Reproductive Justice is a national nonprofit that trains, networks, and mobilizes law students and legal professionals to work within and beyond the legal system to champion reproductive justice. If/When/How believes that reproductive justice will exist when all people have the ability to decide if, when, and how to create and sustain families with dignity, free from discrimination, coercion, or violence. Achieving reproductive justice requires a critical transformation of the legal system, from an institution that often perpetuates oppression to one that realizes justice.

Who We Are

We are a social network of women attorneys. We are active and inactive members of the legal bar across the United States. We are mothers. We support women.

Open Letter to Senate Judiciary Committee from Yale Law Librarians and Library Staff

September 21, 2018 - 3:52pm by Teresa Miguel-Stearns

September 21, 2018

As the Senate Judiciary Committee debates Judge Brett Kavanaugh's nomination, we write as librarians of Yale Law School, from which Judge Kavanaugh graduated, to urge that the Senate conduct a fair and deliberate confirmation process. With so much at stake for the Supreme Court and the nation, we are concerned about a rush to judgment that threatens both the integrity of the process and the public's confidence in the Court.

Where, as here, a sexual assault has been alleged against an individual nominated for a lifetime appointment in a position of public trust, a partisan hearing alone cannot be the forum to determine the truth of the matter. Allegations of sexual assault require a neutral factfinder and an investigation that can ascertain facts fairly. Those at the FBI or others tasked with such an investigation must have adequate time to investigate facts. Fair process requires evidence from all parties with direct knowledge and consultation of experts when evaluating such evidence. In subsequent hearings, all of those who testify, and particularly women testifying about sexual assault, must be treated with respect.

The confirmation process must always be conducted, and appointments made, in a manner that gives

Americans reason to trust the Supreme Court. Some questions are so fundamental to judicial integrity that the Senate cannot rush past them without undermining the public's confidence in the Court. This is particularly so for an appointment that will yield a deciding vote on women's rights and myriad other questions of immense consequence in American lives.

Open Letter to Senate Judiciary Committee from Yale Law Faculty

As the Senate Judiciary Committee debates Judge Brett Kavanaugh's nomination, we write as faculty members of Yale Law School, from which Judge Kavanaugh graduated, to urge that the Senate conduct a fair and deliberate confirmation process. With so much at stake for the Supreme Court and the nation, we are concerned about a rush to judgment that threatens both the integrity of the process and the public's confidence in the Court.

Where, as here, a sexual assault has been alleged against an individual nominated for a lifetime appointment in a position of public trust, a partisan hearing alone cannot be the forum to determine the truth of the matter. Allegations of sexual assault require a neutral factfinder and an investigation that can ascertain facts fairly. Those at the FBI or others tasked with such an investigation must have adequate time to investigate facts. Fair process requires evidence from all parties with direct knowledge and consultation of experts when evaluating such evidence. In subsequent hearings, all of those who testify, and particularly women testifying about sexual assault, must be treated with respect.

The confirmation process must always be conducted, and appointments made, in a manner that gives Americans reason to trust the Supreme Court. Some questions are so fundamental to judicial integrity that the Senate cannot rush past them without undermining the public's confidence in the Court. This is particularly so for an appointment that will yield a deciding vote on women's rights and myriad other questions of immense consequence in American lives.
