9. Bar Associations: List all bar associations or legal or judicial-related committees, selection panels or conferences of which you are or have been a member, and give the titles and dates of any offices which you have held in such groups.

Alaska Bar Association, Law Related Education Committee (2024 – present)

Ninth Circuit Jury Instructions Committee (2025 – present)

Ninth Circuit Magistrate Judges Education Committee (2025 – present)

Ninth Circuit Magistrate Judges Executive Board (2025 – present)

Ninth Circuit Wellness Committee (2024 – present)

10. Bar and Court Admission:

a. List the date(s) you were admitted to the bar of any state and any lapses in membership. Please explain the reason for any lapse in membership.

Colorado, 1999

California, 2007

In 2007, I placed my membership in the California Bar in inactive status because I was already licensed in Colorado and did not practice in California state courts.

There have been no other lapses in membership.

b. List all courts in which you have been admitted to practice, including dates of admission and any lapses in membership. Please explain the reason for any lapse in membership. Give the same information for administrative bodies that require special admission to practice.

United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit, 2007
United States District Court for the District of Alaska, 2014
United States District Court for the Eastern District of California, 2007
United States District Court, Western District of Texas, 2000
Colorado Supreme Court, 1999
California Supreme Court, 2007

In 2002, I allowed my membership in the United States District Court for the Western District of Texas to lapse because membership was only needed to serve as a Special Assistant United States Attorney while I was serving as a Judge Advocate at Fort Bliss, Texas. After I changed duty stations from Fort Bliss to Wuerzburg, Germany, in 2002, I no longer appeared in the Western District of Texas.

In 2007, I placed my membership in the California Bar in inactive status because I was already licensed in Colorado and did not practice in California state courts.

There have been no other lapses in membership.

11. Memberships:

a. List all professional, business, fraternal, scholarly, civic, charitable, or other organizations, other than those listed in response to Questions 9 or 10 to which you belong, or to which you have belonged, since graduation from law school. Provide dates of membership or participation, and indicate any office you held. Include clubs, working groups, advisory or editorial boards, panels, committees, conferences, or publications.

b. The American Bar Association's Commentary to its Code of Judicial Conduct states that it is inappropriate for a judge to hold membership in any organization that invidiously discriminates on the basis of race, sex, or religion, or national origin. Indicate whether any of these organizations listed in response to 11a above currently discriminate or formerly discriminated on the basis of race, sex, religion or national origin either through formal membership requirements or the practical implementation of membership policies. If so, describe any action you have taken to change these policies and practices.

Beta Theta Pi is a men's college fraternity, and alumni membership is limited to initiated members of Beta Theta Pi.

To the best of my knowledge, none of the other organizations listed above currently discriminates or formerly discriminated on the basis of race, sex, religion, or national origin, either through formal membership requirements or the practical implementation of membership policies.

12. Published Writings and Public Statements:

a. List the titles, publishers, and dates of books, articles, reports, letters to the editor, editorial pieces, or other published material you have written or edited, including material published only on the Internet. Supply copies of all published material to the Committee.

Kyle F. Reardon, U.S. District Court for the District of Alaska, Jan. 2023. Copy supplied.

I assisted in editing and updating Chapter 18, "Naturalization and Denaturalization," for the 2013 edition of Immigration Law. This guide is published by the Executive Office for United States Attorneys, Office of Legal Immigration. I do not have a copy of the guide and it is not available publicly. Access to the guide is available internally within the Department of Justice.

As a cite checker on the Virginia Environmental Law Journal, I edited certain articles published in that journal between 1996 and 1997. My editorial work almost exclusively consisted of cite checking, though I do not recall the specific articles I reviewed. The Virginia Environmental Law Journal is available here: <http://www.velj.org/>.

b. Supply copies of any reports, memoranda or policy statements you prepared or contributed in the preparation of on behalf of any bar association, committee, conference, or organization of which you were or are a member. If you do not have a copy of a report, memorandum or policy statement, give the name and address of the organization that issued it, the date of the document, and a summary of its subject matter.

I am a member of the Ninth Circuit Jury Instructions Committee, which has adopted certain edits to the Ninth Circuit Pattern Jury Instructions. Copies of the adopted revisions are supplied.

c. Supply copies of any testimony, official statements or other communications relating, in whole or in part, to matters of public policy or legal interpretation, that you have issued or provided or that others presented on your behalf to public bodies or public officials.

None.

d. Supply copies, transcripts or recordings of all speeches or talks delivered by you including commencement speeches, remarks, lectures, panel discussions, conferences, political speeches, and question-and-answer sessions. Include the date and place where they were delivered, and readily available press reports about the speech or talk. If you do not have a copy of the speech or a transcript or recording of your remarks, give the name and address of the group before whom the speech was given, the date of the speech, and a summary of its subject matter. If you did not speak from a prepared text, furnish a copy of any outline or notes from which you spoke.

1. Amanda C. v. Bisignano, No. 3:25-cv-00069-KFR (D. Alaska Apr. 13, 2026). Order supplied.

This was an appeal of an administrative law judge's denial of a claim for Social Security benefits. The parties consented to magistrate judge jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 636(c). Plaintiff alleged that the administrative law judge committed legal error by failing to comply with a prior remand order, by failing to provide adequate reasons for rejecting Plaintiff's medical opinion of impairment, and by failing to properly analyze the type of work Plaintiff could do given her impairments. I issued an order finding error and ordering remand to the Social Security Administration for further proceedings, including a new hearing and decision.

2. Salad v. Alaska, Dep't of Corr., No. 3:25-cv-00029-TMB-KFR (D. Alaska Feb. 25, 2025) (included with district judge's opinion), R. & R. adopted in part and modified in part, 769 F. Supp. 3d 913 (D. Alaska Mar. 7, 2025).

This was a habeas case brought by a detainee seeking his release from custody. Petitioner claimed that his detention was unlawful due to his pending application for status. The district court judge referred the petition to me. I held an evidentiary hearing and issued a report and recommendation. In my report and recommendation, I applied Zadvydas v. Davis, 533 U.S. 678 (2001). I ultimately recommended granting the petition because Respondents did not meet their burden to present evidence demonstrating that Petitioner was likely to be removed in the reasonably foreseeable future. The district court judge adopted the report but modified my recommendation that Petitioner's release be subject to "appropriate conditions" of supervision "to be determined by immigration authorities." The district court judge instead ordered that Petitioner's release be subject to the conditions of supervision that had been in place prior to Petitioner's detention.

3. United States v. Chocknok, No. 3:24-cr-00130-SLG-KFR, 2025 WL 2802413 (D. Alaska Aug. 29, 2025), R. & R. adopted, 2025 WL 2802985 (D. Alaska Oct. 1, 2025), appeal docketed, 26-5066 (9th Cir.).

This was a criminal case in which Defendant was charged with Felon in Possession in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 922(g)(1). While investigating the disappearance of a young woman, Alaska State Troopers questioned Defendant, a felon, on two separate occasions. During the second interview, Defendant admitted to possessing a firearm. Defendant sought suppression of his statements because they were given without Miranda warnings. I held an evidentiary hearing, heard argument, and authored a report and recommendation. I recommended denying the motion to suppress because Defendant was not in custody during either interview, and his statements were not involuntary. The district court judge adopted the recommendation.

4. United States v. Anfilofev, No. 3:24-mj-00183-KFR, 2025 WL 914514 (D. Alaska Mar. 26, 2025).

This was a criminal case in which Defendant was charged with a violation of 18 U.S.C. § 3184. Brazil alleged Defendant sexually abused a minor in violation of the Brazilian Penal Code and sought his extradition. Defendant challenged his extradition, arguing that the evidence was insufficient and inconsistent, and that the victim was not credible. Following an evidentiary hearing, and consistent with the limited scope of review required from a magistrate judge in an extradition hearing, I certified Defendant's extradition because the crime charged fell within the plain terms of an extradition treaty and there was probable cause to believe that Defendant committed that crime. Although I found that the evidence of Defendant's guilt was not overwhelming, I emphasized that my role as the adjudicator of the extradition proceeding was simply to determine whether the government presented enough competent evidence to meet the relatively low probable cause threshold. A district court judge denied a subsequent habeas petition seeking Defendant's release.

5. United States v. Frantz, No. 3:24-cr-00057-SLG-KFR (D. Alaska Dec. 2, 2025).
Judgment supplied.

This was a misdemeanor criminal case in which Defendant was initially charged with Assault and Interference with a Flight Crew, in violation of 49 U.S.C. § 46504. The charge stemmed from Defendant's conduct while intoxicated on a flight from Anchorage to Minneapolis. Before the plane departed, Defendant unlawfully touched a woman's breast and became belligerent, forcing the flight attendants to reopen the aircraft's doors and remove Defendant from the plane. Defendant eventually pled to Simple Assault, in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 113(a)(5). After taking Defendant's guilty plea to this misdemeanor offense, I heard evidence on the appropriate sentence in this case. I sentenced Defendant to 60 days' imprisonment.

6. AK Indus. Hemp Ass'n, Inc. v. Alaska Dep't of Nat. Res., 803 F. Supp. 3d 862 (D. Alaska May 23, 2025).

This was a case brought by various corporations that participate in the hemp industry and individuals that use hemp products, challenging amendments to the State of Alaska's hemp regulations and seeking injunctive and declaratory relief. I granted Defendant's motion for summary judgment, affirming Alaska's sovereign authority to establish hemp production standards that were more stringent than those provided by federal law. I first determined that the amended hemp regulations did not violate the Supremacy Clause because they were not preempted by the 2018 Farm Act, making them a proper exercise of Alaska's historic police powers. I then determined that the regulations did not violate the dormant Commerce Clause because they were non-discriminatory and consistent with a legitimate state interest, requiring that I defer to Alaska's policy decisions underlying the amendments. Finally, I determined that the regulations did not constitute a regulatory taking in violation of the Fifth Amendment and were not void for vagueness.

This was a criminal case in which Defendant was charged with Possession of Controlled Substances with Intent to Distribute, in violation of 21 U.S.C. § 841(a)(1), (b)(1)(C). Defendant moved to suppress evidence seized from her at the Anchorage airport following her arrival from Los Angeles. I held an evidentiary hearing, heard argument, and authored a report and recommendation for the district court judge. Applying the Fourth Amendment's requirements as articulated by the United States Supreme Court and the Ninth Circuit, I determined that law enforcement did not have probable cause to prolong its initial stop of Defendant, which rendered unlawful its subsequent seizure and search of Defendant's luggage. I therefore recommended granting the motion to suppress. The district court judge adopted the recommendation.

8. Kanaway Seafoods Inc. v. Pac. Predator, No. 3:22-cv-00027-SLG-KFR (D. Alaska).

This was an admiralty case brought against the owner of a fishing vessel and the vessel in rem for breach of loan agreement. Plaintiffs alleged that Defendants failed to properly register their vessel as required under the loan, and failed to make timely repayment of loans—either in funds or fishing credits—that were provided for expenses associated with Defendant's operations. The district court judge referred the case to me. I held evidentiary hearings when necessary to determine factual issues, and I issued reports and recommendations on multiple motions, including motions for replevin, 2022 WL 17361252 (D. Alaska Sep. 23, 2022), R. & R. adopted in part and modified in part, 2022 WL 17551474 (D. 9. Hernandez v. Lord, No. 3:19-cv-00151-KFR (D. Alaska Aug. 25, 2025). Order supplied.

This was a civil rights case brought by a self-represented litigant who alleged various claims in connection with injuries he sustained while incarcerated at an Alaska prison. The parties consented to magistrate judge jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 636(c). After denying Defendants' late-filed motion for summary judgment, I issued a trial scheduling order and set the matter for an evidentiary hearing on Plaintiff's compliance with the Prison Litigation Reform Act's exhaustion requirement, as informed by Perttu v. Richards, 605 U.S. 460 (2025). Plaintiff failed to appear at the evidentiary hearing, arrived late for a hearing on an order to show cause, and failed to file briefing as ordered. I then analyzed the factors at Hernandez v. City of El Monte, 138 F.3d 393, 399 (9th Cir. 1998), and granted Defendants' motion to dismiss pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 41(b) due to Plaintiff's failure to prosecute and comply with court orders.

This was a case brought by the United States to permanently enjoin Defendants from paying wages to employees without paying the associated federal employment taxes. Following Defendants' failure to comply with a stipulated injunction, Plaintiff filed a motion to dissolve the Defendant business and enjoin future operations. I held a multi-day evidentiary hearing and prepared a report and recommendation for the district court judge. I recommended granting the motion and issuing the injunction, finding that the Defendant business owner's blatant and repeated violations of court orders and the absence of any lesser remedies warranted the requested relief. The district court judge adopted the report and all aspects of the recommendation except the requirement that Defendant post multiple notices of the injunction at his place of business.

If any of the opinions listed were not officially reported, provide copies of the opinions.

To date I have not had any opinions reversed, nor have I had any judgment affirmed but with significant criticism of the substantive or procedural rulings.

I have had three reports and recommendations rejected in part by the district court judge.

In United States v. Haynes, No. 3:25-cr-00057-SLG-KFR (D. Alaska Apr. 27, 2026) (copy supplied), R. & R. adopted in part and rejected in part, 2026 WL 1954304 (D. Alaska July 6, 2026), I recommended that a motion to suppress be denied, finding that law enforcement had a valid reason to initiate a traffic stop that led to the discovery of an unlawfully possessed firearm by a felon. Specifically, I found that law enforcement reasonably suspected that Defendant had both failed to stop and failed to yield. The district court judge adopted the recommendation that the motion be denied but limited the lawful basis for the stop to only Defendant's failure to yield.

In Chow v. United States, No. 3:22-cv-00258-SLG-KFR, 2023 WL 11918160 (D. Alaska Aug. 29, 2023), R. & R. adopted in part and rejected in part, 2023 WL 11918163 (D. Alaska Oct. 2, 2023), the district court judge adopted my recommendation "nearly in its entirety" that Plaintiff's Amended Complaint be dismissed with prejudice for multiple reasons, including the failure to meet the pleading standards of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 8. The district court judge did not adopt my conclusion that dismissal was appropriate pursuant to Heck v. Humphrey, 512 U.S. 477 (1994).

In Kanaway Seafoods Inc. v. Pacific Predator, No. 3:22-cv-00027-SLG-KFR, 2023 WL 3034544 (D. Alaska Jan. 25, 2023), R. & R. adopted in part and rejected in part, 2023 WL 3720975 (D. Alaska May 30, 2023), I prepared a report and recommendation that the district court judge deny Defendant's motion to dismiss. The district court judge adopted in part and rejected in part this recommendation, disagreeing with me that Plaintiffs had adequately established jurisdiction pursuant to Supplemental Admiralty Rule D or the Preferred Ship Mortgage Act.

In Lane v. Chelsea Gorup, No. 3:22-cv-00132-SLG-KFR, 2022 WL 18587676 (D. Alaska Dec. 14, 2022), R. & R. adopted in part and rejected in part, 2023 WL 241479 (D. Alaska Jan. 18, 2023), the district court judge adopted my recommendation to dismiss Plaintiff's Second Amended Complaint, but rejected my application of the Rooker-Feldman doctrine.

Three other reports and recommendations have been modified by the district court judge.

In Salad v. State of Alaska, Department of Corrections, No. 3:25-cv-00029-TMB-KFR (D. Alaska Feb. 25, 2025) (included with district judge's opinion), R. & R. adopted in part and modified in part, 769 F. Supp. 3d 913 (D. Alaska Mar. 7, 2025), the district court judge adopted my recommendation that Petitioner be released from custody but modified my recommendation that Petitioner's release be subject to "appropriate conditions" of supervision "to be determined by immigration authorities." The district court judge instead ordered that Petitioner's release be subject to the conditions of supervision that had been in place prior to Petitioner's detention.

In Alaska Wildlife Alliance v. U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service, No. 3:21-cv-00209-SLG-

KFR, 2023 WL 2986365 (D. Alaska Feb. 6, 2023), R. & R. adopted in part and modified in part, 2023 WL 2674760 (D. Alaska Mar. 29, 2023), aff'd in part, rev'd in part, No. 23-35299, 2024 WL 1169411 (9th Cir. Mar. 19, 2024), the district court judge “in large part adopted [my report and recommendation], with modifications and additional rulings[.]” The Ninth Circuit later reversed and remanded in part the district court judge’s order.

In United States v. Action Security, No. 3:19-cv-00134-JMK-KFR (D. Alaska Jan. 10, 2024), R. & R. adopted (D. Alaska Mar. 20, 2024), as modified (D. Alaska Apr. 17, 2024), the district court judge initially adopted my recommendation. After a motion for reconsideration, the district court judge modified the injunction to reduce the numbers of signs Defendant was required to post at his place of business informing the public of the injunction. Copy of report and recommendation and district court judge’s orders supplied.

g. Provide a description of the number and percentage of your decisions in which you issued an unpublished opinion and the manner in which those unpublished opinions are filed and/or stored.

As a United States Magistrate Judge, many of my orders and opinions are not selected for publication. In nearly five years as a Magistrate Judge, I have issued more than 8,000 orders. All reported and unreported opinions I have issued are filed and stored in CM/ECF, the federal court Case Management/Electronic Case Files system. I have provided citations, where available, to Lexis, Westlaw, and the Federal Supplement, in response to Question 13(b); these citations represent a small fraction of the orders and opinions issued.

h. Provide citations for significant opinions on federal or state constitutional issues, together with the citation to appellate court rulings on such opinions. If any of the opinions listed were not officially reported, provide copies of the opinions.

United States v. Anastasiou, No. 3:24-cr-00099-SLG-KFR, 2025 WL 1527856 (D. Alaska Apr. 29, 2025), R. & R. adopted, 2025 WL 1513660 (D. Alaska May 28, 2025).

United States v. Greeno, No. 3:24-cr-00095-SLG-KFR, 2025 WL 1068232 (D. Alaska Feb. 5, 2025), R. & R. adopted, 2025 WL 842272 (D. Alaska Mar. 18, 2025).

United States v. Watts, No. 3:24-cr-00036-SLG-KFR, 2024 WL 4819488 (D. Alaska Sep. 23, 2024), R. & R. adopted, 2024 WL 4818690 (D. Alaska Nov. 18, 2024).

United States v. Harris, No. 3:24-cr-00031-SLG-KFR, 2024 WL 5047737 (D. Alaska Nov. 1, 2024), R. & R. adopted, 2024 WL 5040717 (D. Alaska Dec. 9, 2024).

AK Indus. Hemp Ass’n v. Alaska Dep’t of Nat. Res., 803 F. Supp. 3d 862 (D. Alaska 2025).

United States v. Lonewolf, No. 3:23-cr-00111-SLG-KFR, 2024 WL 4539679 (D. Alaska Sep. 23, 2024), R. & R. adopted, 2024 WL 4534265 (D. Alaska Oct. 21, 2024).

United States v. Costigan, No. 3:23-cr-00069-TMB-KFR, 2024 WL 625335 (D. Alaska Jan. 11, 2024), R. & R. adopted, 2024 WL 623942 (D. Alaska Feb. 14, 2024).

United States v. Padgett, No. 1:23-cr-00006-TMB-KFR, 2023 WL 3483929 (D. Alaska Jan. 4, 2023), R. & R. adopted, 2023 WL 2986935 (D. Alaska Apr. 18, 2023), aff'd sub nom. United States v. Martinez, 169 F.4th 1147 (9th Cir. Mar. 18, 2026).

i. Provide citations to all cases in which you sat by designation on a federal court of appeals, including a brief summary of any opinions you authored, whether majority, dissenting, or concurring, and any dissenting opinions you joined.

I have never sat by designation on a federal court of appeals.

14. Recusal: If you are or have been a judge, identify the basis by which you have assessed the necessity or propriety of recusal (If your court employs an "automatic" recusal system by which you may be recused without your knowledge, please include a general description of that system.) Provide a list of any cases, motions or matters that have come before you in which a litigant or party has requested that you recuse yourself due to an asserted conflict of interest or in which you have recused yourself sua sponte. Identify each such case, and for each provide the following information:

- a. whether your recusal was requested by a motion or other suggestion by a litigant or a party to the proceeding or by any other person or interested party; or if you recused yourself sua sponte;
- b. a brief description of the asserted conflict of interest or other ground for recusal;
- c. the procedure you followed in determining whether or not to recuse yourself;
- d. your reason for recusing or declining to recuse yourself, including any action taken to remove the real, apparent or asserted conflict of interest or to cure any other ground for recusal.

The District of Alaska employs a recusal system based on identified conflicts, like cases I was previously assigned or played a significant supervisory role in as an Assistant United States Attorney, my wife's place of work, and financial interests or holdings. I am required to maintain a conflict list that I must review and update. This system is managed by the Deputy Clerk of Court. I and my chambers staff also monitor my assigned cases for any conflicts.

I have recused myself in multiple cases involving convicted defendants who have returned to federal court for violating their conditions of supervised release. These recusals occurred when I learned that I had appeared as an Assistant United States Attorney in that defendant's original prosecution. These matters were not flagged at the time of assignment because I was not an official attorney of record that had filed a notice of appearance. Rather, in these cases I appeared only for a single hearing while covering for a colleague. I have also recused myself in cases where I did not appear as an Assistant United States Attorney, but was nonetheless familiar with the defendant through prior investigative work that did not lead to a prosecution, or because the defendant had been a witness or interested party in an earlier case of mine.

I also recused myself in Native Village of Unalakleet v. U.S. Department of Agriculture's Rural Utilities Service, No. 3:24-cv-00100-SLG (D. Alaska). This case involved a dispute over funding provided by the United States Department of Agriculture to entities in rural Alaska for the purpose of installing broadband internet. My wife works for a government organization that has worked with Plaintiffs in their efforts to obtain this government funding. My wife was not directly involved in this work; however, in an abundance of caution, I recused myself from this matter.

In United States v. Smith, No. 3:24-cr-00040-ACP-KFR (D. Alaska), a self-represented criminal defendant filed a motion for my recusal, claiming that my handling of his complaints about his conditions of confinement and access to discovery created an appearance of partiality and demonstrated bias. In reviewing this claim I analyzed the relevant recusal statute at 28 U.S.C. § 455 and the relevant case law that requires the court to ask "[w]hether a reasonable person with knowledge of all the facts would conclude that the judge's impartiality might reasonably be questioned." United States v. Holland, 519 F.3d 909, 913 (9th Cir. 2008). I declined to recuse myself because the defendant's motion was based on purely judicial disagreements with prior orders in this case, and there were no facts that would lead a reasonable person to conclude that my impartiality in the case might reasonably be questioned.

15. Public Office, Political Activities and Affiliations:

a. List chronologically any public offices you have held, other than judicial offices, including the terms of service and whether such positions were elected or appointed. If appointed, please include the name of the individual who appointed you. Also, state chronologically any unsuccessful candidacies you have had for elective office or unsuccessful nominations for appointed office.

None.

b. List all memberships and offices held in and services rendered, whether compensated or not, to any political party or election committee. If you have ever held a position or played a role in a political campaign, identify the particulars of the campaign, including the candidate, dates of the campaign, your title and responsibilities.

I have not held any memberships or offices in any political party or election committee. I have not been involved in any political campaigns.

16. Legal Career: Answer each part separately.

a. Describe chronologically your law practice and legal experience after graduation from law school including:

- i. whether you served as clerk to a judge, and if so, the name of the judge, the court and the dates of the period you were a clerk;

From 2005 to 2006, I served as a law clerk to United States Magistrate Judge Gregory G. Hollows of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of California.

From 2006 to 2007, I served as a law clerk to United States Magistrate Judge John H. Moulds of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of California.

- ii. whether you practiced alone, and if so, the addresses and dates;

I have not practiced alone.

- iii. the dates, names and addresses of law firms or offices, companies or governmental agencies with which you have been affiliated, and the nature of your affiliation with each;

- iv. whether you served as a mediator or arbitrator in alternative dispute resolution proceedings and, if so, a description of the 10 most significant matters with which you were involved in that capacity.

I have not served as a mediator or arbitrator.

b. Describe:

- i. the general character of your law practice and indicate by date when its character has changed over the years.

I began my career in 1999 as a United States Army Judge Advocate stationed at Fort Bliss, Texas. For the first six months, I worked in the administrative law section of the Staff Judge Advocate's office, advising commanders on fiscal and environmental law, personnel matters, and administrative investigations involving property loss and minor misconduct.

Following a deployment to Saudi Arabia in support of Operation Southern Watch, I returned to Fort Bliss as Trial Counsel for the 31st Air Defense Artillery Brigade. In this capacity, I advised the command staff and managed all felony and misdemeanor criminal matters from investigation through court-martial, including a homicide investigation, major drug prosecutions, violent crimes, and sex offenses.

In 2002, I became Senior Trial Counsel for the 1st Infantry Division Headquarters at Leighton Barracks in Würzburg, Germany. I supervised eight officers and led military prosecutions in what was then the Army's largest court-martial jurisdiction. The following year, I was selected as Command Judge Advocate for Special Operations Command Europe. Transitioning away from military justice, my practice focused on advising command staff on the law of armed conflict, operational and fiscal law, regulatory matters, and personnel issues.

In 2007, I joined the United States Attorney's Office for the Eastern District of California, initially prosecuting criminal immigration cases involving defendants who illegally re-entered the country after felony convictions. By 2009, my caseload shifted to child exploitation, including child sexual abuse material and child sex trafficking. In 2012, I became the office's Project Safe Childhood Coordinator and regularly presented at Department of Justice training programs on investigating and prosecuting online child exploitation.

I maintained this focus upon joining the United States Attorney's Office for the District of Alaska. I again served as the Project Safe Childhood Coordinator before being promoted to Senior Litigation Counsel in 2018 and Deputy Criminal Chief in 2021. In these management roles, I helped develop and implement office priorities—including outreach in rural Alaska to assist with child sex offense investigations—while mentoring new attorneys and advising line prosecutors.

- ii. your typical clients and the areas at each period of your legal career, if any, in which you have specialized.

My entire career has been spent in public service. As a result, my clients have been the people of the United States.

- c. Describe the percentage of your practice that has been in litigation and whether you appeared in court frequently, occasionally, or not at all. If the frequency of your appearances in court varied, describe such variance, providing dates.

I spent more than half of my legal career as an advocate in litigation. In my role as a military prosecutor, I prosecuted violations of the Uniform Code of Military Justice. In my role as an Assistant United States Attorney, I prosecuted violations of the federal criminal laws. In both roles, I appeared in court frequently.

- i. Indicate the percentage of your practice in:

- | | | |
|----|--------------------------|------|
| 1. | federal courts: | 100% |
| 2. | state courts of record: | 0% |
| 3. | other courts: | 0% |
| 4. | administrative agencies: | 0% |

- ii. Indicate the percentage of your practice in:

- | | | |
|----|-----------------------|------|
| 1. | civil proceedings: | 0% |
| 2. | criminal proceedings: | 100% |

- d. State the number of cases in courts of record, including cases before administrative law judges, you tried to verdict, judgment or final decision (rather than settled), indicating whether you were sole counsel, chief counsel, or associate counsel.

I have tried 26 cases to verdict. In 21 of these cases, I was first chair or sole counsel. In four of these cases, I was second chair. In one case, I was third chair.

i. What percentage of these trials were:

- | | | |
|----|-----------|-----|
| 1. | jury: | 92% |
| 2. | non-jury: | 8% |

e. Describe your practice, if any, before the Supreme Court of the United States. Supply copies of any briefs, amicus or otherwise, and, if applicable, any oral argument transcripts before the Supreme Court in connection with your practice.

I have never practiced before the Supreme Court of the United States.

17. Litigation: Describe the ten (10) most significant litigated matters which you personally handled, whether or not you were the attorney of record. Give the citations, if the cases were reported, and the docket number and date if unreported. Give a capsule summary of the substance of each case. Identify the party or parties whom you represented; describe in detail the nature of your participation in the litigation and the final disposition of the case. Also state as to each case:

- a. the date of representation;
- b. the name of the court and the name of the judge or judges before whom the case was litigated; and
- c. the individual name, addresses, and telephone numbers of co-counsel and of principal counsel for each of the other parties.

- 1. United States v. Schillmiller, No. 3:19-cr-00058-RRB (D. Alaska) (Beistline, J.), Dkt. No. 209 (judgment). Representation: 2019 – 2021.

I initiated this investigation and was the sole prosecutor before becoming a United States Magistrate Judge. This investigation started after a 16-year-old girl was murdered at a popular Anchorage hiking location. During the investigation, law enforcement learned that Schillmiller, who lived in Indiana, had been communicating with a local woman online. During these communications, Schillmiller promised money to the woman in exchange for the murder. Schillmiller also conspired with the woman to coerce a minor victim to produce sexually explicit images, which the woman took and sent to Schillmiller. Working with State of Alaska investigators and prosecutors, I led a team that quickly obtained a criminal complaint and arrest warrant for Schillmiller, and a search warrant in Indiana for the search of Schillmiller's residence and seizure of his computer. Law enforcement arrested Schillmiller at the time of the search and he was ordered to be transported to Alaska. While Schillmiller was in federal custody, local prosecutors worked to gather sufficient evidence to charge and prosecute him in state court, which they were ultimately able to do based in part on the federally seized computer evidence. The district court judge sentenced Schillmiller to 30 years in prison for his role in the production of child sexual abuse material. Schillmiller also received a 99-year sentence in state court for his role in the murder.

I was the lead prosecutor in this prosecution of a previously federally convicted, validated Anchorage gang member charged with sex trafficking of a minor; sex trafficking by force, fraud, and coercion; and production of child pornography. The joint federal and local investigation and prosecution of this case targeted Grant, a dangerous individual suspected of multiple gang related shootings in the Anchorage area during a time of increasing violence. At trial, my co-counsel and I presented testimony from multiple victims and law enforcement agents, as well as digital evidence that corroborated the victims' claims and established Grant's culpability. Due to delays caused by the COVID-19 pandemic, sentencing was continued until after my departure from the United States Attorney's Office. The court sentenced Grant to 420 months' imprisonment followed by a lifetime term of supervised release.

3. United States v. Karjala, No. 3:17-cr-00063-TMB (D. Alaska) (Burgess, J.), Dkt. Nos. 638 (Karjala judgment) and 640 (Miller judgment). Representation: 2018 – 2021.

I assumed the role of lead prosecutor in this case involving an Anchorage defense attorney accused of smuggling controlled substances into the local jail. Karjala coordinated with her client and co-defendant Miller to obtain packaged drugs from individuals in the Anchorage community. After receiving the drugs, Karjala abused her privileged access as a defense counsel to smuggle the drugs into the jail, passing them to Miller during meetings. This case involved extensive litigation, including multiple evidentiary motions, a motion by Miller to withdraw his guilty plea, and a motion to dismiss. These significant motions were all decided in the government's favor. Both defendants pled guilty. The court sentenced Karjala to approximately 38 months' imprisonment and Miller to approximately 50 months' imprisonment. This case was part of a larger investigation seeking to stem the flow of drugs and other contraband into the Anchorage Correctional Complex. In total, approximately 12 individuals were prosecuted as a result of that investigation.

In 2016, four young men walked an Alaska teenager into the woods and executed him. Following the murder, the men drove to Peterson's house, where Peterson took possession of the weapons used to murder the victim, and provided gas cans to the group that they used to burn the victim's vehicle in an attempt to destroy evidence. Alaska State Troopers subsequently obtained a warrant to search Peterson's phone. During this examination, Troopers located a 10-second video showing the sexual assault of an incapacitated 15-year-old girl at a local party. During the party, Peterson gave the girl marijuana, contributing to her extreme intoxication and subsequent assault. Working with state prosecutors, I brought this case to ensure Peterson was held sufficiently responsible for his role in the teenager's murder and the minor victim's sexual assault. Following the denial of his motion to suppress evidence seized from his cell phone, Peterson pled guilty. The court sentenced Peterson to three years in prison followed by four years of supervised release. This sentence was ordered to run consecutive to Peterson's state sentence of six years that was imposed for his role in obstructing justice.

I was the lead prosecutor in the case. Whitebread distributed files of child sexual abuse material through an online file-sharing network. Following the execution of a search warrant at Whitebread's home, law enforcement found hundreds of images of child sexual abuse material that Whitebread had downloaded over the course of six weeks. At trial, Whitebread claimed that the computer had been used during the time of the downloads by a houseguest. However, a review of millions of lines of computer code by two computer forensic experts demonstrated that the downloads occurred when text messages showed Whitebread was in the house. In addition, the computer did not show any activity at times Whitebread was away from the house. The investigation also showed that Whitebread had previously been accused of inappropriately touching a minor child, and of having been engaged in a sexual relationship with a 15-year-old when he was in his 20s. The court sentenced Whitebread to 15 years' imprisonment followed by a lifetime term of supervised release.

I was the lead prosecutor in this case involving an Alaska man accused of sex trafficking. During an investigation into Keehn's distribution of drugs, Alaska State Troopers identified several women Keehn had forced to work for him in the sex trade in and around Anchorage. Keehn targeted drug-addicted women and recruited them to work for him by promising safe shelter and help getting off drugs. In most instances, Keehn substituted methamphetamine for heroin to be able to better control his victims. In exchange for lodging, food, and drugs, the victims worked as prostitutes for Keehn, providing him with money and sexual favors. Following a guilty plea, the court sentenced Keehn to 166 months' imprisonment followed by a 10-year term of supervised release.

7. United States v. Landry, No. 4:14-cr-00021-RRB (D. Alaska) (Beistline, J.), Dkt. No. 53 (judgment). Representation: 2014 – 2015.

I was the lead prosecutor for the investigation and prosecution of a Fairbanks priest charged with coercion and enticement of a minor. Landry engaged in negotiations with at least eight individuals in the Philippines for the purpose of viewing online sex shows involving boys as young as 11 years old. Landry also negotiated with other minor boys online for sexually explicit images and paid them for those images. In addition to locating and examining volumes of digital evidence, the case involved reviewing financial records to coordinate payments with the videos received. Landry pled guilty prior to trial and was sentenced by the court to 120 months' imprisonment followed by a lifetime term of supervised release.

8. United States v. Salard, No. 1:14-cr-00012 (D. Alaska) (Burgess, J.), Dkt. No. 136

(judgment). Representation: 2014 – 2016.

I was the lead prosecutor in this case. During an FBI investigation concerning the online trading of child sexual abuse images, investigators discovered that Salard, a physician practicing in Wrangell, Alaska, was sharing images of child sexual abuse material. Law enforcement obtained a search warrant for Salard's house. Upon executing the warrant, Salard attempted to wipe his computer and destroy the digital evidence located on it. The trial lasted six days and included detailed evidence recovered by two computer forensic experts that described the incriminating data recovered from Salard's seized computer. The court sentenced Salard to 240 months in prison followed by a lifetime term of supervised release. Before the events in this case, Salard had been accused of but not prosecuted for committing a hands-on offense involving a minor in Louisiana. After Salard was convicted in Alaska, he was extradited to face charges in Louisiana. As a result of corroborating evidence recovered in the Alaska investigation, Salard was convicted of child rape and sentenced to life in prison.

9. United States v. Torlai, No. 2:08-cr-00329-JAM (E.D. Cal.) (Mendez, J.), Dkt. No. 128 (judgment). Representation: 2009 – 2011.

I was the lead prosecutor in the investigation and prosecution of a California farmer who filed multiple fraudulent crop insurance claims on property he owned in Central and Northern California. Between 2000 and 2005, Torlai filed claims for crop insurance benefits totaling approximately $340,000 and made false statements about the extent of his ownership interest in various farming operations and the types and number of crops planted. In support of his false claims, Torlai submitted falsified seed receipts in support of his insurance claims. During an 11-day trial, my co-counsel and I called more than a dozen witnesses, including an expert witness who used satellite data to rebut Torlai's claims. The jury found Torlai guilty. The court sentenced Torlai to 30 months' imprisonment and imposed a $10,000 fine.

10. United States v. Sekhon, No. 2:06-cr-00058-FCD (E.D. Cal.) (Damrell, J.), Dkt. Nos. 618 (Jagprit Sekhon judgment), 492 (Jagdip Sekhon judgment), 600 (Rai judgment), 608 (Caza judgment), and 430 (Harmath judgment). Representation: 2009 – 2010.

This case involved the investigation and prosecution of a Sacramento-area law firm that engaged in a long-running scheme to defraud the United States Citizenship and Immigration Service by filing hundreds of false asylum claims in the early 2000s. The evidence at trial showed that Defendants, three lawyers (Jagprit and Jagdip Sekhon, and Rai) and two investigators (Caza and Harmath), filed asylum applications with fictitious stories of persecution that their clients had supposedly suffered in their home countries. These applications were often supported by doctor's letters, medical certificates, affidavits, and other documents that were fraudulent or counterfeited. After filing claims, the lawyers or investigators conducted preparation sessions with their clients to familiarize them with the false claims of persecution and coach them on how to answer questions during their asylum interviews. I joined the prosecution team after indictment and served as the third member of the trial team. The trial lasted three and a half months and involved testimony from dozens of witnesses, including seven former clients of the law firm. The court sentenced Jagprit Sekhon to 108 months' imprisonment, Jagdip Sekhon to 60 months' imprisonment, Rai to 30 months' imprisonment, Caza to 90 months' imprisonment, and Harmath to four months' imprisonment.

14. Legal Activities: Describe the most significant legal activities you have pursued, including significant litigation which did not progress to trial or legal matters that did not involve litigation. Describe fully the nature of your participation in these activities. List any client(s) or organization(s) for whom you performed lobbying activities and describe the lobbying activities you performed on behalf of such client(s) or organizations(s). (Note: As to any facts requested in this question, please omit any information protected by the attorney-client privilege.)

From 2018 to 2021, I was involved in the United States Attorney's Office for the District of Alaska's Rural Alaska Anti-Violence Enforcement Network (RAAVEN). This initiative deployed Department of Justice resources to underserved areas in rural Alaska to combat violent crime, domestic violence, sex offenses, and drug distribution. My role in this program involved communicating with Assistant District Attorneys for the State of Alaska assigned to prosecute child exploitation cases and identifying those cases that might qualify for federal prosecution. In addition, I delivered training to rural law enforcement and social service providers on the identification and investigation of online child exploitation.

I have not performed lobbying activities for any clients or organizations.

15. Teaching: What courses have you taught? For each course, state the title, the institution at which you taught the course, the years in which you taught the course, and describe briefly the subject matter of the course and the major topics taught. If you have a syllabus of each course, provide copies to the committee.

I have not taught any courses.

16. Deferred Income/ Future Benefits: List the sources, amounts and dates of all anticipated receipts from deferred income arrangements, stock, options, uncompleted contracts and other future benefits which you expect to derive from previous business relationships, professional services, firm memberships, former employers, clients or customers. Describe the arrangements you have made to be compensated in the future for any financial or business interest.

As a result of my federal service, I will be entitled to receive a pension under the Federal Employees Retirement System (FERS). As a Magistrate Judge, I am eligible to receive my full salary after 14 years of service.

17. Outside Commitments During Court Service: Do you have any plans, commitments, or agreements to pursue outside employment, with or without compensation, during your service with the court? If so, explain.

If confirmed, I have no plans, commitments, or agreements to pursue outside employment, with or without compensation, during my service with the court.

18. Sources of Income: List sources and amounts of all income received during the calendar year preceding your nomination and for the current calendar year, including all salaries, fees, dividends, interest, gifts, rents, royalties, licensing fees, honoraria, and other items exceeding $500 or more (if you prefer to do so, copies of the financial disclosure report, required by the Ethics in Government Act of 1978, may be substituted here).

When my nomination is formally submitted to the Senate, I will file my Financial Disclosure Report and will supplement this Questionnaire with a copy of that Report.

19. Statement of Net Worth: Please complete the attached financial net worth statement in detail (add schedules as called for).

See attached Net Worth Statement.

20. Potential Conflicts of Interest:

a. Identify the family members or other persons, parties, categories of litigation, and financial arrangements that are likely to present potential conflicts-of-interest when you first assume the position to which you have been nominated. Explain how you would address any such conflict if it were to arise.

As a United States Magistrate Judge I maintain a list of potential conflicts that is regularly updated. I have included my wife's employment, financial holdings as reflected on my financial disclosure, and cases in which I was previously attorney of record. If confirmed, I will continue to evaluate any other real or potential conflicts of interest, or any other relationships that could give rise to the appearance of impropriety, on a case-by-case basis, and determine appropriate action with the advice of the parties and their counsel, including recusal, where necessary.

b. Explain how you will resolve any potential conflict of interest, including the procedure you will follow in determining these areas of concern.

The District of Alaska employs a recusal system that requires the court to examine assigned cases for potential conflicts. As part of this system, which is managed by the Deputy Clerk of Court, I am required to maintain a conflict list that I must review and update. I and my chambers staff also monitor my assigned cases for any potential conflicts. I will continue to maintain and update my conflict lists and abide by the conflict rules found at 28 U.S.C. § 455; Canon 3 of the Code of Conduct for United States Judges; and all other laws, rules, and practices governing such circumstances.

21. Pro Bono Work: An ethical consideration under Canon 2 of the American Bar Association's Code of Professional Responsibility calls for "every lawyer, regardless of professional prominence or professional workload, to find some time to participate in serving the disadvantaged." Describe what you have done to fulfill these responsibilities, listing specific instances and the amount of time devoted to each.

My entire legal career has been in public service representing the people of the United States. I spent the majority of my time as a prosecutor handling cases involving the exploitation of minors and vulnerable individuals, working to keep communities safe and bring justice to victims of violent crime.

As I advanced within the Department of Justice, I mentored younger attorneys and was selected as the Senior Litigation Counsel for the United States Attorney's Office for the District of Alaska. In this capacity, I trained new prosecutors and advised on all criminal trials. I also volunteered as faculty at the Department's National Advocacy Center.

During my final three years as a prosecutor, I led efforts to combat violent crime and child exploitation in rural Alaska's most disadvantaged communities. Working closely with law enforcement and community leaders, we built cases that secured multiple convictions and protected vulnerable victims.

Since joining the bench, I have established and expanded the United States District Court for the District of Alaska's civics education program. Through high school outreach, we bring students from all backgrounds into the courthouse to learn about the Constitution, federal law, and judicial careers. I also visit individual classrooms to teach civics directly to students.

Locally, I have served as a volunteer youth sports coach for several YMCA leagues and actively support my children's schools through classroom volunteering and the PTA to provide vital student enrichment programs.

22. Selection Process:

a. Please describe your experience in the entire judicial selection process, from beginning to end (including the circumstances which led to your nomination and the interviews in which you participated). Is there a selection commission in your jurisdiction to recommend candidates for nomination to the federal courts? If so, please include that process in your description, as well as whether the commission recommended your nomination. List the dates of all interviews or communications you had with the White House staff or the Justice Department regarding this nomination. Do not include any contacts with Federal Bureau of Investigation personnel concerning your nomination.

On January 31, 2025, I submitted my completed application, resume, and references to Senator Dan Sullivan's Alaska Federal Judiciary Council. I interviewed with the Council on March 19, 2025. On March 22, 2025, I met with Senator Sullivan at his office in Anchorage, Alaska.

On February 3, 2025, I submitted a letter of interest and resume in response to Senator Lisa Murkowski's solicitation. On April 14, 2025, after publication of the Alaska Bar Association bar poll results, I met with Senator Murkowski at her office in Anchorage, Alaska.

I have received periodic updates from both Senators' offices about the status of my applications.

On June 5, 2025, I interviewed with attorneys from the White House Counsel's Office at the Eisenhower Building in Washington, D.C. Since July 15, 2026, I have been in contact with officials from both the White House Counsel's Office and the Office of Legal Policy at the Department of Justice in preparation for a nomination.

On August 18, 2026, President Trump called me to inform me that he planned on nominating me for a position on the United States District Court for the District of Alaska.

b. Has anyone involved in the process of selecting you as a judicial nominee discussed with you any currently pending or specific case, legal issue or question in a manner that could reasonably be interpreted as seeking any express or implied assurances concerning your position on such case, issue, or question? If so, explain fully.

No.
