- b. The American Bar Association's Commentary to its Code of Judicial Conduct states that it is inappropriate for a judge to hold membership in any organization that invidiously discriminates on the basis of race, sex, or religion, or national origin. Indicate whether any of these organizations listed in response to 11a above currently discriminate or formerly discriminated on the basis of race, sex, religion or national origin either through formal membership requirements or the practical implementation of membership policies. If so, describe any action you have taken to change these policies and practices.

Attorneys Serving the Community (“ASC”) is a volunteer organization of women lawyers and law students from the Dallas-Fort Worth area with a mission to bring together women lawyers to serve the non-profit community. ASC also is committed to providing its members with leadership and networking opportunities as it carries out its primary mission of serving the community. Dallas Women’s Foundation is the largest regional women’s fund in the world with a mission to invest in women and girls and empower women’s philanthropy to build a better world. I believe both of these organizations restrict their membership to women.

From approximately June of 1999 through March of 2000, I ran for judge of the 95th Judicial District Court of Dallas County, Texas, in the Republican primary against the incumbent who previously held that position. In the process of campaigning for election, I gave countless stump speeches before law firms, civic organizations, Asian American and other minority organizations and clubs, women's organizations and clubs, local bar associations, and all of the Republican organizations and clubs throughout Dallas County to discuss my candidacy and raise funds. I would speak nearly every day and often several times in one day, and I participated in countless candidates' forums. My remarks at these events were extemporaneous and brief. After searching my files and the Internet, I have identified below the specific dates (and corresponding sponsoring organization, if any) of particular speaking opportunities, though there may have been speaking engagements that I have been unable to recall or identify. In my remarks, I would have discussed my qualifications, asked for support and thanked contributors. I

13. Judicial Office: State (chronologically) any judicial offices you have held, including positions as an administrative law judge, whether such position was elected or appointed, and a description of the jurisdiction of each such court.

I was elected presiding judge of the 95th Judicial District Court in Dallas County, Texas, in November 2000 for a four-year term that began January 1, 2001. I was reelected unopposed in November 2004 for a second term beginning January 1, 2005. I served all eight years of the two terms. The 95th Judicial District Court has been designated as a court of original jurisdiction only for civil matters, including cases involving contract, tort, declaratory judgments and injunctive relief. In 2007, I was elected by my fellow civil district judges to serve as the presiding judge of the Civil District Judges of Dallas County, Texas. In 2013, I was appointed to serve on the Tenth Court of Appeals panel by commission signed by the Governor of the State of Texas in Case No. 10-13-00009-CV; however, I did not author the opinions for that case.

- a. Approximately how many cases have you presided over that have gone to verdict or judgment?

I have presided over many thousands of cases spanning an eight-year period that have gone to verdict, judgment, settled (with a later signed judgment), nonsuited and/or have been dismissed. Of those cases, I estimate I have tried over 100 jury cases and hundreds of bench trials (including prove-up default judgments and name changes). I have answered below based on my best estimate of jury and bench trials (not including default judgments and name changes).

- i. Of these, approximately what percent were:

jury trials:	75%
bench trials:	25%
civil proceedings:	100%
criminal proceedings:	0%

- b. Provide citations for all opinions you have written, including concurrences and dissents.

As a Texas state trial court judge, I did not author opinions. My rulings on various matters were entered via orders or judgments that nearly always were supplied by the party being afforded the relief being granted in the order or judgment.

- c. For each of the 10 most significant cases over which you presided, provide: (1) a capsule summary of the nature the case; (2) the outcome of the case; (3) the name and contact information for counsel who had a significant role in the trial of the case; and (3) the citation of the case (if reported) or the docket number and a copy of the opinion or judgment (if not reported).

1. Mansour v. Outback Steakhouse et al., Cause No. 98-3878

This was a complex and highly contentious breach of contract and business tort case involving the dissolution of a business partnership between an individual and multiple corporate entities. I presided over a summary jury trial by agreement of all parties which did not result in a settlement. Thereafter, a jury was empaneled, and the case was tried for three weeks from May 14 through June 8, 2001. The charge was extensive. After deliberations, the jury returned a defense verdict.

3. Trebold v. Fowler, M.D., Cause No. 00-06073

This was a medical malpractice case involving allegations of negligence and gross negligence against a doctor for an improperly performed abdominoplasty. The defendant cosmetic surgeon who performed the surgery had previously had his hospital privileges taken away. The plaintiff alleged that the surgeon excessively removed fat and skin that caused separation of her sutures and serious infection after her surgery. The plaintiff also alleged that the defendant did not provide proper post-surgical care. A jury was empaneled, and the case was tried from March 11 through March 15, 2002. After deliberations, the jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff and awarded her $94,000 in past damages, $97,000 in future damages and $100,000 in punitive damages.

This motor vehicle accident lawsuit arose out of a big collision involving multiple vehicles on a rural road. There were logistical and practical challenges in trying this case, with all parties asserting negligence claims and counterclaims against each other. A jury was empaneled, and the case was tried from January 14 to January 17, 2002. After deliberations, the jury returned a plaintiff's verdict finding negligence but awarding no damages.

This insurance subrogation property damages case involved a tropical fish tank that allegedly malfunctioned, causing the plaintiff Mr. Smith's house to burn down to the ground. Unlike many multi-day cases, nearly all members of the jury panel were extremely eager to be selected to serve on the jury due to the high profile plaintiff, a former Dallas Cowboys star running back. The case was tried for three days from February 11 through February 13, 2012. After deliberations, the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff and awarded $930,000 in damages.

7. Mainwaring et ux. v. USAA, Cause No. 01-03833

This was an insurance bad faith case involving the denial of full payment of a claim for a roof leak by the defendant under the plaintiffs' homeowner's policy. The animosity toward insurance carriers at that time, as reflected in the jury panel during the first voir dire of this case, resulted in the disqualification of the first jury panel and thereafter required calling up from the central jury room an extraordinary large jury panel for the second voir dire. A jury was ultimately empaneled, and the case was tried from February 21 through February 24, 2003. After deliberations, the jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiffs, finding that only 5% of the damage to plaintiffs' home was not covered by the homeowner's policy. The jury awarded the plaintiffs $275,900 in damages and $600,000 in punitive damages.

This was an asbestos lawsuit against numerous entities brought by a plaintiff diagnosed with mesothelioma and his family. The plaintiffs settled with all of the parties but defendant General Electric. A jury was empaneled after the jurors completed a jury questionnaire and extensive voir dire. Trial began on February 8, 2005, and was in its fourth day when the defendant moved for mistrial based on motion in limine violations. After a hearing and reviewing the parties' briefs, I granted a mistrial and ordered the case to begin a new trial the next day, whereupon the case immediately settled. 9. John Doe et al. v. Brookhaven Country Club and Club Corp. USA, Inc., Cause No. 04-10591

This emotionally charged lawsuit arose out of the sexual molestation of a young girl by her swim coach. Her parents sued their country club and the operating company of the country club for the negligent hiring and supervision of the employee involved. The parents sought millions of dollars in damages and punitive damages. A jury was empaneled, and the case was tried for over three weeks from February 1 to February 23, 2006. After deliberations, the jury returned a defense verdict.

10. Dell et al. v. Brothers, M.D. et al., Cause No. 05-07072

This was a medical malpractice case wherein plaintiffs alleged misdiagnosis and negligence by the doctors, and defendants alleged noncompliance with a doctor's instructions, as well as the existence of an undiagnosed and serious underlying condition which led to a bacterial endocarditis and psoas abscess. A jury was empaneled, and the case was tried from June 4 through June 13, 2007. After deliberations, the jury returned a defense verdict.

- d. For each of the 10 most significant opinions you have written, provide: (1) citations for those decisions that were published; (2) a copy of those decisions that were not published; and (3) the names and contact information for the attorneys who played a significant role in the case.

As a Texas state trial court judge, I did not author opinions. My rulings on various matters were entered via orders or judgments that nearly always were supplied by the party being afforded the relief being granted in the order or judgment.

- e. Provide a list of all cases in which certiorari was requested or granted.

To the best of my knowledge, there have not been any cases that I have been involved with as a judge in which certiorari was requested or granted.

- f. Provide a brief summary of and citations for all of your opinions where your decisions were reversed by a reviewing court or where your judgment was affirmed with significant criticism of your substantive or procedural rulings. If any of the opinions listed were not officially reported, provide copies of the opinions.

Shih v. Tamisiea, 306 S.W.3d 939 (Tex. App.—Dallas 2010, no pet.). I granted summary judgment for plaintiff's former attorneys in this professional negligence suit. The appellate court affirmed my summary judgment in favor of appellees on the client's claims for violation of the Texas Deceptive Trade Practices Act and breach of fiduciary duty. The court reversed my summary judgment ruling that attorney's fees paid in a prior lawsuit are not recoverable damages, because the Texas Supreme Court overturned the Dallas Court of Appeals on that issue in Akin, Gump, Strauss, Hauer & Feld, L.L.P. v. Nat'l Dev. & Research Corp., 299 S.W.3d 106, 118-19 (Tex. 2009), after my decision was entered. Based on the decision in Akin, the court reversed and remanded this issue.

Nautilus Ins. Co. v. Steinberg, 316 S.W.3d 752 (Tex. App.—Dallas 2010, pet. denied). This appeal arose from a bench trial in which I concluded that the insurer failed to show that the theft exclusion in the policy's vandalism coverage provision applied to bar coverage. The Dallas Court of Appeals reversed and remanded, finding that I erred in my construction of the policy and application of the law to the facts of this case. The court further concluded that, because of this mistaken construction, I failed to make a necessary finding of fact.

Zenith Insurance Co. v. Ayala, 325 S.W.3d 176 (Tex. 2010). In this case I affirmed the decision of the Division of Workers' Compensation, which awarded benefits to the appellee due to the insurance carrier's failure to dispute compensability within 60 days after it received notice of claimant's initial injury. The Court of Appeals affirmed. The Supreme Court of Texas reversed, holding that the statutory deadline did not apply and the carrier's preauthorization of treatment did not preclude the carrier from disputing the extent of injury.

Centex/Vestal v. Friendship West Baptist Church, 314 S.W.3d 677 (Tex. App.—Dallas 2010, pet. denied). In this case I vacated the arbitration award and the contractor appealed. The Dallas Court of Appeals reversed, finding that the arbitrator did not exceed his authority, under the arbitration agreement between the church and general contractor, to consider the validity of pass-through claims for subcontractors.

Proctor v. Buell, 293 S.W.3d 924 (Tex. App.—Dallas 2009, no pet.). In this case I denied appellant's special appearance disputing personal jurisdiction. The appellate court reversed and rendered judgment, dismissing the appellant from the case for lack of personal jurisdiction. The court found that the appellant met his burden to negate the appellee's allegation that appellant was subject to specific jurisdiction.

Dallas Central Appraisal Dist. v. Mission Aire IV, L.P., 279 S.W.3d 471 (Tex. App.—Dallas 2009, pet. denied). I entered summary judgment for tenants, concluding that the evidence established conclusively that the town owned certain improvements. The appraisal district appealed, and the court reversed and rendered, finding that the evidence established conclusively that the tenants owned the improvements for the duration of their leases.

State, Texas Dept. of Transp. v. Allodial Ltd. Partnership, 280 S.W.3d 922 (Tex. App.—Dallas 2009, no pet.). I denied the Texas Department of Transportation's (TxDOT's) plea to the jurisdiction on the grounds that there were fact issues "inextricably intertwined with both the issue of jurisdiction and the merits of the case." TxDOT appealed, arguing sovereign immunity barred Allodial's claims, Allodial lacked standing to bring the claims, and there was no affirmative act by TxDOT giving rise to the claims. The Dallas Court of Appeals affirmed as to my denial of the plea to the jurisdiction on Allodial's takings claims, and remanded for further proceedings. The Court found that I erred in denying TxDOT's plea to the jurisdiction on Allodial's breach of deed covenants claims. The Court overruled TxDOT's issue as to Allodial's takings claim, but sustained TxDOT's issues as to all other claims asserted by Allodial.

Ferguson v. Building Materials Corp. of America, 295 S.W.3d 642 (Tex. 2009). I granted summary judgment in favor of defendants, asserting that the personal injury suit was barred by judicial estoppel because plaintiffs failed to identify their claims as assets in their bankruptcy schedules. The plaintiffs appealed and the El Paso Court of Appeals affirmed. The Texas Supreme Court reversed and remanded, holding that failure to include a personal injury suit on a schedule of personal property and in the bankruptcy plan did not judicially estop plaintiffs from pursuing the suit.

Town of Addison v. Thielsch Eng'g, 05-08-01723, 2009 WL 1579214, at *1 (Tex. App.—Dallas June 8, 2009, no pet.). In this case, the appellate court had before it the parties' agreed motion to set aside my judgment and remand for rendition of judgment pursuant to the parties' settlement. The appellate court granted the motion, and set aside my judgment without regard to the merits, and remanded the case for rendition of judgment in accordance with the settlement agreement. Unpublished opinion supplied.

Burney v. Citigroup Global Markets Realty Corp., 244 S.W.3d 900 (Tex. App.—Dallas 2008, no pet.). In this case I entered summary judgment in favor of the holder of a note to foreclose on petitioner's property. Petitioner appealed, arguing that the grant of summary judgment was in error because the statute of limitations for such foreclosure action had run. On rehearing, the Court of Appeals held that the holder's cause of action for foreclosure accrued when the maker received the notice of the prior holder's filing of an application for expedited foreclosure, and thus the foreclosure was outside of the limitations period. The court accordingly reversed and rendered judgment for Burney.

French v. Henson, No. 05-06-01036-CV, 2008 WL 2266119 (Tex. App.—June 4, 2008, no pet.) On cross-motions for summary judgment on the settlement issue in a motor vehicle collision case, I granted summary judgment in favor of Henson and denied French's motion. On appeal French contended I erred because the evidence did raise a fact issue regarding the existence of an agreement, as there was no meeting of the minds on whether to include French as a payee. The appellate court agreed and reversed and remanded for further proceedings.

Aboud v. Citicorp Vendor Fin., Inc., 05-07-00338-CV, 2008 WL 345448, at *1 (Tex. App.—Dallas Feb. 8, 2008, no pet.). The parties jointly filed a motion to vacate my judgment and dismiss the appeal pursuant to their settlement agreement. The court granted the motion and vacated the judgment without regard to the merits. Unpublished opinion supplied.

City of Dallas v. VRC, LLC, 260 S.W.3d 60 (Tex. App.—Dallas 2008 no pet.). I denied the city's plea to the jurisdiction and the city appealed. On appeal, the Court of Appeals held that VRC could not plead a valid regulatory takings claim, and thus did not overcome the city's governmental immunity, and the trial court lacked jurisdiction over the takings claims. The court accordingly reversed my order denying the city's plea to the jurisdiction and rendered judgment dismissing VRC's takings claims.

County of Dallas v. Wiland, 216 S.W.3d 344 (Tex. 2007). I entered partial summary judgment against the county as to liability, entered judgment on the jury's damages award, awarded attorney's fees to the deputies, and denied the county's motion for a new trial. The county appealed, and the Dallas Court of Appeals affirmed. The Texas Supreme Court reversed and remanded, holding that the deputy constables did have a procedural due process property interest in continued employment, that interest did not terminate automatically, remand was required as to damages, and the deputy constables had no substantive due process right in continued employment.

Parsons v. County of Dallas, 197 S.W.3d 915 (Tex. App.—Dallas 2006, no pet.). I granted the county's motion to dismiss the lawsuit as frivolous under Chapter 14 of the Texas Civil Practice and Remedies Code. On appeal the Dallas Court of Appeals reversed and remanded, holding that I erroneously based the dismissal upon a failure to comply with the procedural requirements of Chapter 14 and further concluded that I erroneously determined the inmates' argument for immunity was frivolous as a matter of law.

In re Lejia, 05-03-01693-CV, 2004 WL 260570, at *1 (Tex. App.—Dallas Feb. 13, 2004, no pet.). I granted a motion for new trial setting aside a default judgment taken after service was effected on the wrong individual. The Dallas Court of Appeals ordered that I vacate my order granting new trial and setting aside the default judgment, and enter an order denying the motion for new trial.

Dallas County Democratic Executive Committee v. County of Dallas, No. 05-02-01686, 2002 WL 31439451 (Tex. App.—Dallas Nov. 1, 2002, no pet.). I granted appellees' plea to the jurisdiction and dismissed appellant's cause of action after finding that procedural bars had not been met to vest the court with jurisdiction to enjoin violations of the Texas Election Code. The Dallas Court of Appeals reversed and remanded finding that an ongoing election does not deprive the district court of jurisdiction to enjoin violations of the election code, as long as the relief awarded does not delay, cancel, interfere with, or inquire into the validity of the election. Unpublished opinion supplied.

Forte v. AmeriPlan Corp., No. 05-01-00921-CV, 2002 WL 576608, at *1 (Tex. App.—Dallas Apr. 18, 2002, no pet.). I denied petitioner's motion to compel arbitration against AmeriPlan Corporation. The two documents at issue were the Manual and Agreement. The Manual required arbitration, but the Agreement also contained a provision requiring mediation and then court remedies, rather than arbitration. Based on the foregoing, a divided appellate court held that the Agreement was ambiguous, and reversed my order denying the motion to compel finding that the contract was unambiguous, and remanded the case for further proceedings. The case settled thereafter and was dismissed. Unpublished opinion supplied.

Russell v. Murphy, 86 S.W.3d 745 (Tex. App.—Dallas 2002), rev'd 167 S.W.3d 835 (Tex. 2005) (per curiam). I dismissed a patient's Deceptive Trade Practices Act, breach of contract, and battery suit for failure to comply with requirements of the Medical Liability and Insurance Improvement Act governing health care liability claims. The patient appealed, and the Court of Appeals reversed and remanded. On petition for review, the Texas Supreme Court held that the battery claims required an expert report and the DTPA claims were health care liability claims for which the patient was required to provide an expert report, and thus reversed the Court of Appeals and dismissed.

- g. Provide a description of the number and percentage of your decisions in which you issued an unpublished opinion and the manner in which those unpublished opinions are filed and/or stored.

As a Texas state trial court judge, I did not author opinions. My rulings on various matters were entered via orders or judgments that nearly always were supplied by the party being afforded the relief being granted in the order or judgment. All of those documents should be stored in court files maintained by the District Clerk of Dallas County.

- h. Provide citations for significant opinions on federal or state constitutional issues, together with the citation to appellate court rulings on such opinions. If any of the opinions listed were not officially reported, provide copies of the opinions.

I have not had any significant opinions on federal or state constitutional issues.

- i. Provide citations to all cases in which you sat by designation on a federal court of appeals, including a brief summary of any opinions you authored, whether majority, dissenting, or concurring, and any dissenting opinions you joined.

I have not sat by designation on a federal court of appeals.

14. Recusal: If you are or have been a judge, identify the basis by which you have assessed the necessity or propriety of recusal (If your court employs an "automatic" recusal system by which you may be recused without your knowledge, please include a general description of that system.) Provide a list of any cases, motions or matters that have come before you in which a litigant or party has requested that you recuse yourself due to an asserted conflict of interest or in which you have recused yourself sua sponte. Identify each such case, and for each provide the following information:

- a. whether your recusal was requested by a motion or other suggestion by a litigant or a party to the proceeding or by any other person or interested party; or if you recused yourself sua sponte;
- b. a brief description of the asserted conflict of interest or other ground for recusal;
- c. the procedure you followed in determining whether or not to recuse yourself;
- d. your reason for recusing or declining to recuse yourself, including any action taken to remove the real, apparent or asserted conflict of interest or to cure any other ground for recusal.

In every case before me as judge of the 95th Judicial District Court, I complied with the Texas Rules of Civil Procedure governing recusal of judges, as well as the applicable disciplinary and ethical rules of the State of Texas. While judge, I was highly attentive to the issue of conflicts at all stages of a case.

During 2001 and 2002, my first two years in office, my staff was required to review every case upon filing in my court to identify any cases involving Andrews & Kurth, LLP, where I was a partner immediately preceding my election to the bench. In 2008, my last year in office, my staff would also identify any cases involving Jones Day, where I was interviewing for and ultimately accepted an offer to be a partner in their Dallas office. Also, for all my years on the bench, 2001 through 2008, my staff would identify any cases involving the Winstead law firm, where my former husband was a partner. On all cases involving those law firms during those time periods, I would automatically recuse myself.

In addition, my practice during all the years I was a judge would be to personally review each file before any ruling or hearing. If there was a reason to recuse, I would recuse sua sponte. I believed in erring on the side of caution in disclosing any potential conflict to parties and their counsel, in particular relating to Texas Rule of Civil Procedure 18b(b)(1) on matters in which “the judge’s impartiality might reasonably be questioned.” If any party expressed any concern regarding my impartiality after disclosing a potential conflict, I would recuse immediately and voluntarily. Nearly always, however, the parties would urge that I stay on as the presiding judge. In those cases, I would state the potential ground for recusal on the record and then all counsel would have to waive the potential ground on the record or in writing after consulting with their clients, before I would continue to preside.

I have not kept copies of my recusal orders. All records generated prior to 2011 by the office of the Presiding Judge of the First Administration Region (where all motions to recuse were referred from my court) have been destroyed. Without manually going through the records of every one of the thousands of cases I presided over as judge of the 95th Judicial District Court, I am unable to provide the information requested above on every recusal order I signed. I can, however, attest that I strictly adhered to the grounds set forth in Texas Rules of Civil Procedure 18a and 18b for disqualification and recusal, as well as the guidelines I established for myself and my staff in handling recusals as set forth above.

I can recall only two motions to recuse filed against me in cases I declined to recuse. I referred both motions to the Presiding Judge of the First Administrative Judicial Region for hearing:

McInnis v. Wells, M.D., Cause No. 98-03340, wherein the asserted ground in the motion for recusal filed by the plaintiff post-trial was that my former husband, a transactional lawyer, and his law firm represented medical practitioners which allegedly created an appearance of impropriety or bias in favor of the medical profession. The motion to recuse was denied. The case settled thereafter.

Lanvera Ltd. v. USFI, Inc. and Sage Telecom, Inc., Cause No. 06-04346, wherein the ground asserted in plaintiff's motion for recusal was that one of my sons had previously held a part-time summer job in the records department at Locke Lord years before, thus allegedly creating an appearance of impropriety because one of the defendants was represented in the case by Locke Lord. The motion was filed just weeks before a firm trial setting and well over a year after the parties waived the potential conflict on the record after I disclosed it. The motion to recuse was denied. The case proceeded to trial as scheduled, and the jury found in favor of the plaintiff/movant, awarding a substantial damage award.

15. Public Office, Political Activities and Affiliations:

- a. List chronologically any public offices you have held, other than judicial offices, including the terms of service and whether such positions were elected or appointed. If appointed, please include the name of the individual who appointed you. Also, state chronologically any unsuccessful candidacies you have had for elective office or unsuccessful nominations for appointed office.

I have not held public office other than judicial office.

- b. List all memberships and offices held in and services rendered, whether compensated or not, to any political party or election committee. If you have ever held a position or played a role in a political campaign, identify the particulars of the campaign, including the candidate, dates of the campaign, your title and responsibilities.

After reviewing my records and searching the Internet, below is all of the information that I can recall regarding my political memberships and activities in addition to my own campaigns, though there may be some that I inadvertently missed.

In 1994, I endorsed George W. Bush for Governor. I offered to be a volunteer and was assigned as an attorney focus group member for the George W. Bush for Texas Governor campaign, but I do not recall doing any active volunteering for the campaign.

In 2000, I was a member of the Texas Finance Committee for the George W. Bush Exploratory Committee, Inc. and solicited contributions. In November of 2010, I traveled to New Orleans, Louisiana, as a member of the Mighty Bush Strike Force to generate support for the George W. Bush Presidential Campaign.

I have been a member of the Park Cities Republican Women's Club and the Texas

Federation of Republican Women since approximately 1999. In approximately 2002, I was legislative committee chair and in 2015, I was by-laws chair of the Park Cities Republican Women's Club. I was a member of the now defunct Dallas Republican Career Women's Club and may have joined other local Republican clubs while running for office in 2000; however, I do not specifically recall which ones.

I have on occasion attended meetings and volunteered, without titles, at the Dallas County Republican headquarters during the years 1999 through 2010. I have been a member of the Texas Asian Republican Assembly since approximately 2014.

I was listed on the steering committee for the campaign of Susan Hawk for District Attorney in 2014, but was not otherwise active in her campaign. I endorsed Dan Branch for Attorney General in 2014 and possibly for state representative during the years 2002 to 2014.

I was treasurer of the nonpartisan Jones Day Texas PAC from 2012 through 2014.

Over the past 32 years, and in my capacity as treasurer for the Jones Day PAC and as named partner of my current law firm, I have volunteered and/or assisted in the collection of contributions for a number of local judicial candidates in connection with their campaigns. To the best of my knowledge, these included efforts for the judicial campaigns of Judge Carlos Cortez, Justice Robert Fillmore, Justice Molly Francis, Judge Mark Greenberg, Justice Doug Lang, Justice Elizabeth Lang-Miers, Judge Marty Lowy, Judge Ken Molberg, Judge Eric Moye, Justice Lana Myers, Judge Will Pryor, Judge Lorraine Raggio, Justice Martin Richter, Justice David Schenck, Judge Gena Slaughter, Judge James Stanton, Judge Dale Tillery, Judge Emily Tobolowsky, Justice Bill Whitehill, and Judge Staci Williams.

16. Legal Career: Answer each part separately.

- a. Describe chronologically your law practice and legal experience after graduation from law school including:
 - i. whether you served as clerk to a judge, and if so, the name of the judge, the court and the dates of the period you were a clerk;

I have never served as a clerk to a judge.
 - ii. whether you practiced alone, and if so, the addresses and dates;

I have never practiced alone.
 - iii. the dates, names and addresses of law firms or offices, companies or governmental agencies with which you have been affiliated, and the nature of your affiliation with each.

Arbitrator & Mediator

- iv. whether you served as a mediator or arbitrator in alternative dispute resolution proceedings and, if so, a description of the 10 most significant matters with which you were involved in that capacity.

I have served as a mediator in private practice only after joining my current law firm in January 2014 and as an arbitrator since completing my training with the American Arbitration Association in April 2014. I have served as a mediator or arbitrator in the following matters:

1. Frena, et al. v. Janney Montgomery Scott, LLC et al., No. 4:13-cv-455 in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Texas, Sherman Division

This case was brought by the pro se intended death benefit beneficiaries of a deceased relative's annuity against the decedent's financial advisors. Allegations included professional negligence, fraud and breach of fiduciary duties. I mediated this case in 2014, and it settled.

2. Dallas Area Rapid Transit et al. v. Amalgamated Transit Union Local No. 1338, No. 05-04-00208-CV in the Court of Appeals, Fifth District of Texas at Dallas

This was an appeal from the trial court's order denying the defendants' plea to the trial court's jurisdiction. The underlying case was an alleged breach of contract and declaratory judgment action arising from a 2000 settlement agreement between a governmental rapid transit authority and the local transit union. The disputed issues related to the existence and waiver of governmental immunity. I mediated this case in 2014, and it did not settle.

3. WLS Surgical Associates, PA v. Globalcomm, Inc. et al., Cause No. 11-13101 in the 68th District Court of Dallas County, Texas

This was a contentious business dispute between a medical provider specializing in bariatric surgical procedures and a company providing consulting services for communications and information technology systems. The causes of action included claims for injunctive relief, breach of contract and violation of the Texas Harmful Access by Computer Act. I mediated this case in 2014 over several days, and it settled.

4. Helo v. Mock et al., Cause No. 13-14810 in the 116th Judicial District Court of Dallas County, Texas

This was a contract case between the owner of a tire store and former employees. The allegations between the parties included breach of contract, tortious interference with contract and conversion. The parties sought injunctive relief, damages and attorney's fees. I mediated this case in 2014, and it settled.

5. Vickery et al. v. Careington International Corporation et al., AAA Case No. 01-14-0001-2539

This arbitration involved a business dispute arising out of a contractual relationship relating to the solicitation of prospective clients by the claimants for the respondent's dental care programs and plans. The allegations among the parties included breach of contract, fraud and breach of fiduciary duties. I was a member of a three-judge panel. The case settled in 2015 after our panel issued rulings on multiple motions for summary judgment filed by all parties prior to the final hearing.

6. United Commerce Centers, Inc. et al. v. The Travelers Lloyds Insurance Company, Cause No. 14-04967 in the 95th Judicial District Court, Dallas County, Texas

This was a breach of contract and insurance bad faith case arising out of the handling by the defendant insurance company of a hail damage claim filed by the plaintiffs. The plaintiffs' allegations against the defendant included violations under the Texas Insurance Code, breach of contract, breach of duties of good faith and fair dealing, fraud and bad faith. I mediated this case in 2015, and it settled.

7. Henry v. Agius, et al., AAA Case No. 01-14-0002-0684

This arbitration arose out of an agreement executed between the parties for the sale and purchase of the claimant's mystery shopping company and a resulting agreement for the consulting services of the claimant to respondents. The parties alleged breach of contract against each other and sought damages and attorney's fees. At my suggestion and the parties' agreement, this case was mediated before the arbitration hearing was to begin on the first day. The case settled in 2015.

8. Morrison & Morrison, Inc. et al. v. United Commerce Centers, Cause No. 15-CV-0757, in the 122nd Judicial District Court, Galveston County, Texas

This was a mediation of multiple lawsuits regarding disputes that arose from the distribution of the proceeds received in a mediated settlement between the defendants and their insurance company. The parties who asserted breach of contract claims against the defendants included a roof construction and restoration company, their former lawyer and a public insurance adjuster. I mediated these cases in 2015, and they did not settle.

9. Vasquez v. Builders FirstSource, AAA Case No. 01-14-0001-6281

This was a non-subscriber workers' compensation case arising out of an on-the-job injury. Several windows fell on the claimant during the course of his employment with the respondent. The claimant's allegations included negligence for failing to maintain a safe work environment. Although I was appointed as the arbitrator for this case, all parties agreed to mediate before me prior to the final arbitration hearing. I mediated the case in 2015, and it settled.

10. Needham et al. v. Federal National Mortgage Association, No. 4:13cv557 in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Texas, Sherman Division

This case involved allegations of wrongful eviction and negligent repairs against the Federal National Mortgage Association. The plaintiffs alleged that as a result of the wrongful eviction, they had to file for bankruptcy and live in a motel. I mediated this case in 2016, and it has settled pending final approval by the bankruptcy court.

b. Describe:

- i. the general character of your law practice and indicate by date when its character has changed over the years.

Generally, I have had more than 30 years of civil trial experience, including eight years as a two-term Dallas County civil district judge. Starting in 1982 as an associate through 1988 as a partner at Strasburger & Price, LLP, I primarily handled personal injury insurance defense cases and business tort cases. As I progressed as an associate, my practice became increasingly more specialized in the product liability area. By the time I left to join Andrews & Kurth LLP in 1996, I estimate that well over 50% of my work was in connection with defending manufacturers in serious product liability litigation. Thereafter, I continued to handle product liability cases on a first chair basis, but my work expanded to include more commercial litigation matters until I took the bench in 2001.

After I stepped down from the bench and returned to private practice in 2009, I joined Jones Day as a partner in its complex tort and product liability section. There, my time was split between working as a member of a national coordination team defending a product manufacturer in a large multi-district litigation based in Kentucky, and representing a variety of clients as their lead counsel in the Dallas area on significant commercial litigation matters.

In 2014, I joined Carter Scholer Arnett Hamada & Mockler, PLLC as a named partner. Since then my law practice has covered a wide variety of litigation matters, representing clients in business tort disputes and some personal injury cases on both sides of the docket. I also have accepted many appointments from the state and federal courts to serve as a mediator and umpire. Additionally, I serve as an arbitrator on matters referred to me from the American Arbitration Association.

- ii. your typical clients and the areas at each period of your legal career, if any, in which you have specialized.

My primary areas of focus have been business litigation and complex tort litigation. The cases I have handled span a multitude of different industries including accounting, banking, corporate, energy, food, health care, housing, insurance, labor, real estate, transportation and more. I have litigated and arbitrated first chair numerous commercial matters ranging from multi-million-dollar business disputes to multi-plaintiff business fraud cases, as well as complex personal injury cases involving catastrophic injury and major property damage on behalf of national and international product liability, transportation and insurance companies. I have been hired to coordinate discovery for clients on a local, state and nationwide basis for individual cases with common claims and multi-district litigation.

While at Strasburger & Price, LLP, Andrews & Kurth, LLP, and Jones Day, I typically represented large corporate clients. Since joining my current law firm in 2014, my clients have been more broad-based and diverse, now representing individuals and corporations, as well as plaintiffs and defendants. I also serve as a mediator and umpire in state and federal court litigation, as well as an arbitrator in American Arbitration Association cases.

- c. Describe the percentage of your practice that has been in litigation and whether you appeared in court frequently, occasionally, or not at all. If the frequency of your appearances in court varied, describe such variance, providing dates.

My legal practice has been devoted to civil litigation. In private practice, I have appeared in court occasionally over the course of my career, depending on what I was working on at the time. - d. State the number of cases in courts of record, including cases before administrative law judges, you tried to verdict, judgment or final decision (rather than settled), indicating whether you were sole counsel, chief counsel, or associate counsel.

2. Tarrantino et al. v. General Motors Corporation et al., Cause No. 86-12794, 14th District Court of Dallas County, Texas; Judge John Marshall; 1986 – 1989

I was the regional co-counsel defending General Motors in one of the nation's first product liability lawsuits alleging that an automobile was defective for the lack of rear three-point seatbelts. The plaintiffs were young men traveling in a car at a very high rate of speed down a residential street in the middle of the night. Alcohol was involved, and the driver crashed his car into the back of a wide-load house being moved on a trailer. The plaintiffs were the rear seat occupants wearing two-point lap belts. They sustained severe injuries from their lap belts to their abdominal and intestinal areas. I shared responsibility with the national counsel for General Motors preparing the case for trial, including court appearances and substantial discovery of fact and expert witnesses. Plaintiffs were represented by a nationally renowned plaintiffs' lawyer. The case settled the week before trial.

3. Garman et al. v. Mazda Motor Corporation, Cause No. 85-13839, 116th Judicial District Court of Dallas County, Texas; Judge Frank Andrews; 1985 –1989

I served as co-counsel defending Mazda Motor Corporation in this wrongful death product liability lawsuit alleging that an automobile was defective for the lack of air bags. The plaintiffs were the parents of a young woman who was driving a Mazda RX7 killed in a single car accident when she collided into an electrical light pole. Plaintiffs also sued the power company alleging the light pole was defective. I assisted in all aspects of the case preparation, including court appearances and discovery of fact and expert witnesses. The case settled after significant discovery took place.

4. Cato v. Nissan Motor Co., Ltd, et al., Cause No. D-5-CV-91-1546, Fifth Judicial District of Bowie County (Texarkana), Texas; Judge Jack Carter; 1991 – 1995

I was lead co-counsel representing the Nissan defendants. This was a significant personal injury product liability case – the first ever post-collision fuel fed fire case tried by Nissan in the country. The plaintiff was severely burned after his car caught on fire following a motor vehicle accident. The plaintiff alleged that the subject vehicle's fuel system was defectively designed and caused his burns. I was involved in all aspects of the case preparation, strategy and trial. The case was tried in 1995 in Texarkana for approximately a week to a jury. Final disposition was a complete defense verdict.

5. Watson v. Isuzu Motors Ltd., et al., Cause No. 40406, 43rd Judicial District Court of Parker County, Texas; Judge James O. Mullin; Approximately 1991 – 1995

This was a high damage exposure product liability case involving a single car rollover accident. The plaintiff, the only son of the mayor of the town where the case was pending, was a passenger in a sport utility vehicle operated by a driver under the influence of alcohol. The plaintiff incurred serious injuries as a result of the accident and was rendered a paraplegic. The plaintiff sued the Isuzu defendants alleging design defects under the theories of negligence and strict liability. We were unable to locate any local attorneys who would agree to serve as local counsel in this case involving the mayor's son. I was co-counsel defending the Isuzu defendants and took the lead in all aspects of fully preparing the case for trial. I attended all of the hearings and took most, if not all, of the depositions – fact and expert. After one of the expert depositions, opposing counsel advised that he had to find a new expert because the expert's usefulness to the plaintiff's case was destroyed during cross examination. The case settled shortly thereafter in a second mediation right before trial.

6. Rochon v. Mary Kay Inc., Cause No. 09-2554, 298th Judicial District Court of Dallas County, Texas; Judge Emily Tobolosky; 2009 – 2011

I was lead counsel representing defendant Mary Kay, Inc. in this multimillion dollar complex business dispute between Mary Kay, Inc. and a former CEO of the company. The claims and counterclaims included allegations of breach of contract and tortious interference with contract. The parties sought damages, attorneys' fees, injunctive relief and a declaratory judgment. It settled after two mediations and many contested hearings.

7. Buirkle et al. v. Argosy Education Group, Inc. et al., Cause No. 09-10467, 14th District Court of Dallas County, Texas; Judge Eric Moyé; and Charles Cavett et al. v. Argosy Education Group, Inc. et al., JAMS Ref. Nos. 1310018851, 1310019074, 1310019075; Justice Mark Whittington; 2009 – 2013

I was the lead lawyer for all defendants on these matters, consolidating over 20 separate individual disputes in state district court and in arbitration, depending on whether an arbitration clause was contained in the contract each plaintiff signed with defendant Argosy. The plaintiffs were all students that had been enrolled in the doctoral program of clinical psychology at Argosy University in Dallas. Their allegations of fraud and misrepresentation primarily related to alleged representations made by employees of the defendants on the expected timing of receiving national accreditation for the doctoral program and the sufficiency of efforts undertaken by the defendants to achieve accreditation. After a first multi-day mediation took place in an attempt to reach a global settlement, discovery and depositions of each of the plaintiffs moved forward. Individual mediations followed, and all cases eventually settled.

While at Jones Day, I was a partner assisting on the national coordination team defending the Yamaha defendants in this massive product liability Multi-District Litigation. The MDL involved over 250 lawsuits filed around the country alleging that the Yamaha Rhino off road vehicle was defectively designed. These cases were vigorously and successfully defended by the Yamaha trial teams. My involvement was to assist with the complex national coordination of this case on many aspects of trial preparation, working with local counsel around the country. 9. Bearden v. Half Price Books, Cause No. 14-1168, 134th Judicial District Court of Dallas County, Texas; Judge Dale Tillery; 2014 – 2015

This was a trip-and-fall premises liability case, and I served as lead counsel for the plaintiff. The plaintiff, a lawyer, broke her leg in three places after tripping over a stepstool supplied by Half Price Books when she was browsing through its bookstore. The plaintiff initially sought personal injury damages and then punitive damages after discovery revealed a large number of similar accidents. There were hearings on discovery and a motion for summary judgment filed against my client, and we prevailed each time. The case settled at a second mediation after significant factual discovery was developed through depositions and document production.

I was the lead lawyer defending A Tooth Doctor for Kids Dallas, PLLC. This was a complex business dispute arising out of a service agreement for the operation of pediatric Medicaid dental practices in Texas executed between a dental service organization and a licensed dentist and his professional corporation that employed other dentists. The allegations among the parties included claims for material breaches of the service agreement. The plaintiffs also asserted separate legal malpractice claims against a national law firm and some of its lawyers alleging violations of professional duties, which were vigorously denied. I represented defendant, A Tooth Doctor for Kids Dallas, PLLC, in the many hearings held, which included hearings relating to discovery disputes and the dissolution of an ex parte temporary restraining order. There were many complex mediations which I attended on behalf of my client and assisted the mediator in facilitating the settlement among the other parties. The case settled after four mediations.

If confirmed, I will comply with the Code of Conduct for United States Judges, all applicable policies and procedures of the United States Courts and other relevant canons and statutory provisions. I will review, on a case-by-case basis, the existence of a potential conflict of interest arising from any personal or former client relationships or financial interests, and will apply generally applicable principles and rules concerning ethics and conflicts of interests in conducting such an inquiry and assessing whether a recusal is warranted.

25. Pro Bono Work: An ethical consideration under Canon 2 of the American Bar Association's Code of Professional Responsibility calls for "every lawyer, regardless of professional prominence or professional workload, to find some time to participate in serving the disadvantaged." Describe what you have done to fulfill these responsibilities, listing specific instances and the amount of time devoted to each.

I have devoted myself to community service to help the disadvantaged throughout my career. While I have not maintained specific records of time spent, I estimate that I have spent in excess of 100 hours a year most years (and in many years in excess of 200 hours) volunteering my time and resources to help others.

From 1992 to 1994, I co-chaired Attorneys Serving the Community (“ASC”), a group of women lawyers who combine their resources and talents to raise money and awareness for non-profit organizations whose programs benefit women, children or families. During those years, this group of women named themselves ASC and went from raising approximately $40,000 each year to more than $100,000 for the selected non-profit beneficiary. While active in leadership roles in ASC, I estimate that I spent well over 300 hours every year raising public awareness and money for non-profits Bryan’s House (1992), Victims Outreach (1993), Camp John Marc (1994), Dallas CASA (1995), Literacy Instruction for Texas (“LIFT”) (1996), Nexus (1998) and The Housing Crisis Center (1999). Each of those non-profit organizations exist to benefit the disadvantaged.

I have also actively served on multiple non-profit boards of directors and committees serving the disadvantaged. For instance, I served on the executive board of Camp John Marc for approximately 14 years from 1996 through 2009. This organization is dedicated to serving kids faced with chronic medical and physical challenges with conditions such as cancer, spina bifida, AIDS, and sickle cell anemia. It provides them with medically supervised, high quality, often life impacting camping programs without charge. All of the children are disadvantaged physically and many are disadvantaged economically. For Camp John Marc, I chaired many committees, raised substantial money and went to the the camp location to lay bricks, paint, clean and help however I could. I also served on the board of directors for LIFT from 1995 to 1997. LIFT is a non-profit organization that offers free and easily accessible classes so that functionally illiterate adults can learn to read and write English. Since its founding, over 45,000 low-literate adults have learned to read at LIFT. While on the board at LIFT, I successfully worked to get it to be the 1996 ASC beneficiary, which ultimately raised over $100,000 for the organization.

I have spent countless hours on many other fundraising efforts and campaigns to assist the disadvantaged. Examples of this would include my service on the board of directors of the Dallas Women’s Foundation and as chair of the Dallas Bar Foundation Fellows.

I served for several years as the coach for high school students at the Health Professions High School, which draws many of its students from low income areas, in the annual Dallas Bar Association’s mock trial competition. Additionally, I have served multiple times as a judge in mock trial and moot court competitions for Southern Methodist University, the University of Texas and the National Asian Pacific American Bar Association.

If so, please include that process in your description, as well as whether the commission recommended your nomination. List the dates of all interviews or communications you had with the White House staff or the Justice Department regarding this nomination.
