

Geoffrey R. Stone is the Edward H. Levi Distinguished Service Professor at the University of Chicago. After receiving his J.D. in 1971 from the University of Chicago, where he served as editor-in-chief of the Law Review, Mr. Stone served as a law clerk to Justice William J. Brennan, Jr. He joined the faculty of the University of Chicago Law School in 1973 and has served as dean of the University of Chicago Law School (1987-1994) and Provost of the University of Chicago (1994-2002).

Mr. Stone is the author or co-author of many books on constitutional law, including Speaking Out: Reflections of Law, Liberty, and Justice (2010); Top Secret: When Our Government Keeps Us in the Dark (2007), War and Liberty: An American Dilemma (2007), Perilous Times: Free Speech in Wartime (2004), and Eternally Vigilant: Free Speech in the Modern Era (Chicago 2002). Perilous Times received eight national book awards, including the Robert F. Kennedy Memorial Book Award, the Los Angeles Times Book Prize for History, and the Harvard University annual book award for Public Affairs. Mr. Stone is currently chief editor of a twenty-volume series, Inalienable Rights, which is being published by the Oxford University Press. He is an editor of the Supreme Court Review, a former chair of the Board of the American Constitution Society, a Fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, and a Member of the American Philosophical Society, the American Law Institute, and the National Advisory Council of the American Civil Liberties Union. Mr. Stone's next major book, Sexing the Constitution, will explore the history of sex, religion, and constitutional law.