- b. The American Bar Association's Commentary to its Code of Judicial Conduct states that it is inappropriate for a judge to hold membership in any organization that invidiously discriminates on the basis of race, sex, or religion, or national origin. Indicate whether any of these organizations listed in response to 11a above currently discriminate or formerly discriminated on the basis of race, sex, religion or national origin either through formal membership requirements or the practical implementation of membership policies. If so, describe any action you have taken to change these policies and practices.

The Boy Scouts of America at one time limited its membership to boys. In 1998, its programs were expanded to include girls. Omega Psi Phi is a college fraternity limited to young men. To the best of my knowledge, the remaining organizations listed in 11a do not currently discriminate and did not formerly discriminate on the basis of race, sex, religion or national origin.

In my last year of law school I published a short article in the Florida Bar Association's Real Estate Section's Newsletter. I searched my files and publicly available internet sources to create the most comprehensive response to this question possible, but there may be other published material I have been unable to recall or identify.

I have not maintained records of all of these events, but have tried to create as complete a list as possible by searching my personal records, public databases, and the internet. Despite these efforts, however, there may be other remarks or presentations that I have been unable to recall or identify.

13. Judicial Office: State (chronologically) any judicial offices you have held, including positions as an administrative law judge, whether such position was elected or appointed, and a description of the jurisdiction of each such court.

In February 1994, I was appointed as a Circuit Court Judge in the 4th Judicial Circuit by Governor Lawton Chiles. I have been re-elected twice without opposition. The Circuit Court is the highest trial level Court in Florida and has jurisdiction over all juvenile, family and probate proceedings, as well as felony criminal cases and civil cases involving disputes of over $15,000. The Circuit Court also has jurisdiction over the appeals from county court cases as well as certiorari review of local administrative decisions. I have been assigned to the civil, family, juvenile, probate, domestic violence, drug court and mental health court benches and have served in both Duval and Nassau counties.

- a. Approximately how many cases have you presided over that have gone to verdict or judgment? 625

- i. Of these, approximately what percent were:

jury trials:	5%
bench trials:	95%
civil proceedings:	80%
criminal proceedings:	20%

- b. Provide citations for all opinions you have written, including concurrences and dissents.

In connection with the Circuit Court's trial jurisdiction I have not written any published opinions. I have entered hundreds of written orders. All are maintained in case files by the Clerk of the Court. The vast majority are routine orders without findings of fact or legal analysis, or orders prepared for me by counsel following my oral rulings. I cannot compile a list of orders containing legal analysis and findings of fact, such as would appear in an opinion. Those orders too are on file with the Clerk of the Court. Because they are not published, I cannot provide citations for them without reviewing each and every case file.

In connection with the Circuit Court's jurisdiction regarding appeals from county court cases, I have authored the following unpublished opinions.

Mercer v. State of Florida, Case No. 06-1-AP
Boatright v. State of Florida, Case No. 09-2-AP
National Revenue Service, Inc. v. Smith, Case No. 08-2-AP
Petty v. State of Florida, Case No. 09-3-AP
Parr v. Butler, Case No. 10-1-AP
Richardson v. Somerset Apartments, Case No. 10-2-AP
Dehner v. State of Florida, Case No. 11-2-AP

- c. For each of the 10 most significant cases over which you presided, provide: (1) a capsule summary of the nature the case; (2) the outcome of the case; (3) the name and contact information for counsel who had a significant role in the trial of the case; and (3) the citation of the case (if reported) or the docket number and a copy of the opinion or judgment (if not reported).

1. The Florida Bar v. Gentry, Case No. 92,332

In September 1995 and October 1998, I served as a referee in two contested Florida Bar disciplinary actions against an attorney, which involved the filing of frivolous federal litigation in one case and the use of abusive and vulgar language toward a client in another. In the original case a guilty plea was accepted and cost and fees imposed. In the latter an admonishment for minor misconduct was issued, an apology required, and costs imposed. This was my only opportunity to serve as a referee in a disciplinary matter, and post-punishment proceedings raised interesting questions regarding the public dissemination of disciplinary actions.

Plaintiff's co-counsel, however, failed to disclose directly adverse interests to a former client, having obtained conditional consents to his representation, and thereby forfeited more than $300,000 in attorney's fees. Case No. 06-27-CA

In 2006, Carlton Dunes Condominium Association, Inc. brought this construction defect case regarding 7 condominium buildings located on Amelia Island in Nassau County. Breach of contract, breach of statutory warranty, and violation of building code causes of action were alleged against more than 20 defendants including contractors, architects and sub-contractors. The sheer number of claims, cross-claims and defendants qualified the litigation as complex. Through active case management the matter was ultimately settled at mediation for undisclosed sums. 6. Housing Assistance Corporation of Nassau County, Inc. v. Fernandina Beach, RRH Limited, et al., Case No. 05-556-CA

This case involved the alleged theft of a business opportunity to own and manage an affordable housing project for the benefit of Nassau County residents. The Housing Assistance Corporation (“HAC”) of Nassau County, Inc. had a contract to acquire the Countryside Apartments, an affordable housing apartment complex in Nassau County. Just prior to the closing, it was alleged that defendants conspired with a third party, enabling that party to buy the property from underneath HAC’s feet and take over HAC’s prearranged financing. The case was tried over the course of four days in 2009, and the jury returned a verdict in favor of HAC. Collection efforts continue.

7. Carter v. Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp., Case No. 95-00934-CA

In August 1996, in Duval County, I presided over the trial of a products liability case resulting in a $750,000 verdict and judgment against a cigarette manufacturer. It was the first time a cigarette company had been held liable for damages to an individual claiming injury from a cigarette-related disease. The case presented complex questions regarding statutes of limitations and first impression federal preemption claims. The defendants appealed the verdict. It was overturned by the 1st District Court of Appeals, but its decision was quashed by the Florida Supreme Court. *Carter v. 8. State v. Mummery, Case No. 10-1017-CF

The defendant in this case, an 18-year-old female, was arrested in 2010 for burglary of a home while she was intoxicated. A screening at the Nassau County jail revealed the existence of mental illness. The defendant was referred to the Mental Health Court over which I preside by periodically reviewing participants' treatment and behavioral progress, rewarding achievements and sanctioning failures. The defendant graduated from the Court's supervised program after 20 months, prevailing over chronic depression, a suicide attempt, hospitalization, joblessness and inpatient treatment to eventually excel in treatment, educational goals and self esteem.

9. In the Interest of A.C., Case No. 06-293-CJ

In October 2006, 15-year-old A.C. came to the Court's attention in connection with a charge of battery on a public or private education employee. A.C. had experienced behavioral and cognitive problems as early as preschool and suffered physical and sexual abuse at a young age. It was eventually determined that A.C. was developmentally delayed and suffered from post-traumatic stress disorder, oppositional defiant disorder, and attention deficit hyperactivity disorder. It was determined that she was incompetent to stand trial for the offenses for which she had been detained, and the Department of Children and Families, Department of Juvenile Justice, and Agency for Persons with Disabilities seemed unable to fashion a course of treatment or means of protecting or providing for the child. Repeated hearings and requirements that agencies charged with the child's care fashion a means of addressing her unique and severe problems ultimately resulted in an appropriate group home placement. Order supplied.

10. City of Fernandina Beach v. McGill Aviation Corporation, Case No. 04-394-CA

In 2005, the City of Fernandina Beach sought to evict its airport's fixed base operator, McGill Aviation, which claimed the city had breached its lease agreement by unilaterally taking portions of the premises leased to McGill Aviation. The litigation resulted in injunctive relief and a lengthy arbitration resulted in McGill Aviation maintaining its right to operate at the airport and an award of significant attorney's fees in its favor.

e. Provide a list of all cases in which certiorari was requested or granted.

To the best of my knowledge, certiorari has not been requested from the Supreme Court of the United States in any of my cases.

f. Provide a brief summary of and citations for all of your opinions where your decisions were reversed by a reviewing court or where your judgment was affirmed with significant criticism of your substantive or procedural rulings. If any of the opinions listed were not officially reported, provide copies of the opinions.

Power v. Boyle, 60 So. 3d 496 (Fla. 1st DCA 2011). I held the facts adduced sufficient to establish the requisite two incidents of violence necessary to the issuance of an injunction against violence under § 784.046 Fla. Stat. (2010). The 1st DCA found the incidents involving neighbors were immature and uncivil, but did not constitute violence or stalking for purposes of the statute.

Nassau County v. Titcomb, 41 So. 3d 270 (Fla. 1st DCA 2010). Nassau county residents sued to stop the development of areas designated as wetlands. They asserted that they had standing to challenge the county water management's ruling that the area was uplands, not wetlands, and the ordinance approving its development because they enjoyed the natural resources at issue by fishing, boating, hiking, etc. They argued that the county's action was inconsistent with its Comprehensive Plan. I agreed with plaintiffs and struck down the ordinance. The 1st DCA affirmed my conclusion that plaintiffs had standing but reversed my order quashing the development ordinance, finding that the ordinance was consistent with the Comprehensive Plan which contemplated re-categorization. Order supplied.

M.M. v. State, 36 So. 3d 797 (Fla. 1st DCA 2010). Pursuant to § 812.025 Fla. Stat. (2009) the 1st DCA reversed my final order of adjudication and disposition in adjudicating a juvenile delinquent of the offenses of grand theft and dealing in stolen property arising from the same course of conduct.

Hogan v. Gray Gable, 30 So. 3d 573 (Fla. 1st DCA 2010). I presided over a jury trial that resulted in a verdict for the defense in this personal injury suit alleging injuries sustained from a dunking booth. The 1st DCA remanded for a new jury trial, finding that I erred in failing to determine if a dunking booth, the instrumentality of injury, was in substantially similar condition to its previous use where the absence of previous injury was a feature of the trial. Order supplied.

T.F. v. State, 20 So. 3d 988 (Fla. 1st DCA 2009). The 1st DCA remanded for further proceedings my acceptance of a juvenile's plea of guilty, finding an insufficient record to determine its voluntariness.

Fashingbauer v. Fashingbauer, 19 So. 3d 401 (Fla. 1st DCA 2009). The 1st DCA affirmed in part and reversed in part the final judgment for dissolution of marriage I entered in this case. The DCA disagreed with the treatment of one beach lot as marital property, finding that the parties' use of marital funds to pay taxes on the lot did not convert it into a marital asset. Order supplied.

Haddock v. Carmody, 1 So. 3d 1133 (Fla. 1st DCA 2009). I found that Florida Statutes § 196.061 (2005) was unconstitutional as applied to plaintiffs because it deprived them of their homestead tax exemption, and that plaintiffs were entitled to exemption. The 1st DCA reversed both findings.

State v. D.A.G., 995 So. 2d 601 (Fla. 1st DCA 2008). My order vacating a juvenile's eight and a half year old adjudication as void was reversed by the 1st DCA because it held the motion to vacate was untimely.

J.W.J. v. State, 994 So. 2d 1223 (Fla. 1st DCA 2008). The 1st DCA affirmed my adjudication of delinquency for felony charges, and affirmed in part and reversed in part my imposition of certain special conditions of probation.

Strassner v. Strassner, 982 So. 2d 1224 (Fla. 1st DCA 2008). The 1st DCA reversed and remanded for further proceedings my decision to impute minimum wage to a former wife in calculating her child support obligation because of my failure to also find the actual ability to earn said sum and a deliberate refusal to work on the former wife's part. Order supplied.

Craig v. Craig, 982 So. 2d 724 (Fla. 1st DCA 2008). The 1st DCA reversed that portion of my final judgment for dissolution of marriage dealing with equitable distribution because it found that there was no evidence to support the finding that the subject land could be subdivided and sold for the prices assumed. Order supplied.

Jones v. Atkinson, 974 So. 2d 573 (Fla. 1st DCA 2008). I presided over a jury trial in this automobile injury case that resulted in a verdict apportioning liability evenly between the parties. I granted plaintiff's motion for new trial based on the compromise verdict. The 1st DCA reversed, finding that the issues at trial were "hotly contested" and disagreed with my finding that the record was "devoid of significant evidence" of the plaintiff's negligence. Order supplied.

M.S.G. III v. State, 971 So. 2d 273 (Fla. 1st DCA 2008). The 1st DCA upheld the Court's finding that a juvenile engaged in an affray, but reversed the Court's finding that the juvenile had deliberately disrupted a school function because there was no evidence that he acted with deliberate intent.

W.W. Plastering v. Chisholm Construction, Inc., 898 So. 2d 276 (Fla. 1st DCA 2005). The 1st DCA reversed my award of attorney's fees to defendants, finding that an initial motion for fees made in connection with an earlier action that was voluntarily dismissed could not carry forward to a new case filed by the same plaintiff seeking to foreclose a mechanic's lien. Order supplied.

State Dept. of Transportation v. Nassau Partners Limited, 878 So. 2d 1286 (Fla. 1st DCA 2004). I awarded costs to the landowner in an eminent domain case. The 1st DCA affirmed my order with respect to the landowner's entitlement to fees, but remanded for additional "specific findings" as a matter of first impression regarding the necessity of hours expended and reasonableness of rate. Order supplied.

Martin v. Wilcox, 876 So. 2d 695 (Fla. 1st DCA 2004). The 1st DCA required on remand that I consider the merits of a landowner's motion attacking a settlement agreement after the entry of an order approving the agreement where, pursuant to the agreement, the landowner had reserved the right to collaterally attack the agreement within 60 days. Order supplied.

K.S. v. State, 840 So. 2d 1116 (Fla. 1st DCA 2003). I adjudicated the juvenile guilty of trespassing in a park. The 1st DCA reversed, finding that no evidence of willfulness or notice had been presented.

Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp. v. Carter, 723 So. 2d 833 (Fla. 1st DCA 1998). The 1st DCA reversed the jury's verdict and remanded the case with instructions that it be dismissed because the claim was barred by the statute of limitations, trial evidence was preempted by the federal cigarette labeling and advertising act and plaintiffs were allowed to proceed on an unpleaded claim. The Florida Supreme Court quashed the 1st DCA's decision and sustained the jury's verdict. See Carter v. Brown and Williamson Tobacco Court, 778 So. 2d 932 (Fla. 2000). Order supplied in response to Question 13(c).

A.S. v. State, 763 So. 2d 1216 (Fla. 1st DCA 2000). I conducted a disposition hearing for a high risk juvenile. The juvenile's mother was not present for the hearing. The 1st DCA required a new disposition hearing because there was no evidence that the juvenile's mother had received proper notice of the hearing.

A.B. v. State, 763 So. 2d 1218 (Fla. 1st DCA 2000). The 1st DCA reversed my adjudication of delinquency and order of high-risk commitment and remanded for further proceedings, finding that I had erred in denying the child's motion to withdraw his guilty plea.

S.D.W. v. State, 746 So. 2d 1232 (Fla. 1st DCA 1999). I found the juvenile guilty of one count of battery on a school board official and one count of battery. The 1st DCA affirmed the conviction of battery on a school official but overturned the conviction for battery because it found there was no evidence that the juvenile had intended to kick anyone during the second incident. The court also remanded with instructions to conform the written order with my oral pronouncements at sentencing.

Keiser v. Old Line Ins. Co. of Am., 735 So. 2d 612 (Fla. 1st DCA 1999). My order awarding attorney's fees was reversed in the absence of a transcript and sufficient factual findings regarding the reasonableness of hours expended and rates charged.

Russ v. City of Jacksonville, 734 So. 2d 508 (Fla. 1st DCA 1998). I presided over a false arrest trial in which a verdict was returned for the defendant. The 1st DCA reversed and remanded for a new trial, holding that I had the authority to vacate or modify an interlocutory ruling of a predecessor judge and that certain impeachment evidence should have been admitted.

Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp. v. Carter, 728 So. 2d 344 (Fla. 1st DCA 1999). The 1st DCA found the question of attorney's fees to be moot in light of its decision on the merits in Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp. v. Carter, 723 So. 2d 833 (Fla. 1st DCA 1998). However, its ruling on the merits was reversed.

See Carter v. Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp., 778 So. 2d 932 (Fla. 2000). Order supplied.

Boone v. Mastroianni, 709 So. 2d 192 (Fla. 1st DCA 1998). The 1st DCA issued a per curiam reversal based on Smith v. Welton, 710 So. 2d 135 (Fla. 1st DCA 1998), which held that Florida's statute authorizing property appraisers to adjust assessment values violated protections afforded homestead properties by Florida's constitution. Smith and Boone were consolidated before the Florida Supreme Court, which held that the appraisers lacked authority under the statute to retroactively adjust the assessments, and thus affirmed only the result of the 1st DCA's opinion. Smith v. Welton, 729 So. 2d 371 (Fla. 1999). Order supplied.

Maersk Line Limited v. Weaver, 708 So. 2d 347 (Fla. 1st DCA 1998). The 1st DCA required the dismissal of a complaint for failing to state a cause of action for the tort of outrageous conduct causing severe emotional distress and found as a result that the Court did not have personal jurisdiction over the foreign defendant. Order supplied.

Boney v. Collier Custom Homes, Inc., 694 So. 2d 52 (Fla. 1st DCA 1997). The 1st DCA, per curiam, remanded for further proceedings following the reversal of my order to dismiss the case. Order supplied.

Wetzel v. Wetzel, 671 So. 2d 234 (Fla. 1st DCA 1996). The 1st DCA remanded the final judgment of dissolution of marriage and directed the parties to present additional evidence so that the Court could make factual findings supporting the award of rehabilitative alimony and equitable distribution. Order supplied.

Irwin v. Perryman, 666 So. 2d 959 (Fla. 1st DCA 1996). Upon confession of error, the 1st DCA reversed and remanded my order regarding the former husband's child support obligation so as to deduct from gross income state income tax paid, and required the Court to conform its order regarding the length of child support payment to Florida Statutes § 743.07 (1993). Order supplied.

- g. Provide a description of the number and percentage of your decisions in which you issued an unpublished opinion and the manner in which those unpublished opinions are filed and/or stored.

As a member of a trial level court, the decisions I issue result in unpublished orders and judgments. Those orders and judgments that I have personally written are stored in my computer in a directory for each type of case (civil, juvenile or family) and filed with the Clerk of Court. The orders and judgments that were not written by me, but which were submitted by the parties for my review and execution, are filed in the Court file which is maintained by the Clerk of Court.

- h. Provide citations for significant opinions on federal or state constitutional issues, together with the citation to appellate court rulings on such opinions. If any of the opinions listed were not officially reported, provide copies of the opinions.

I have authored no significant opinions on federal or state constitutional issues.

- i. Provide citations to all cases in which you sat by designation on a federal court of appeals, including a brief summary of any opinions you authored, whether majority, dissenting, or concurring, and any dissenting opinions you joined.

I have not sat by designation on a federal court of appeals.

14. Recusal: If you are or have been a judge, identify the basis by which you have assessed the necessity or propriety of recusal (If your court employs an "automatic" recusal system by which you may be recused without your knowledge, please include a general description of that system.) Provide a list of any cases, motions or matters that have come before you in which a litigant or party has requested that you recuse yourself due to an asserted conflict of interest or in which you have recused yourself sua sponte. Identify each such case, and for each provide the following information:

- a. whether your recusal was requested by a motion or other suggestion by a litigant or a party to the proceeding or by any other person or interested party; or if you recused yourself sua sponte;
- b. a brief description of the asserted conflict of interest or other ground for recusal;
- c. the procedure you followed in determining whether or not to recuse yourself;
- d. your reason for recusing or declining to recuse yourself, including any action taken to remove the real, apparent or asserted conflict of interest or to cure any other ground for recusal.

Our jurisdiction does not have an "automatic" recusal system. Florida Rule of Judicial Administration 2.160(e) provides that a motion to recuse must be filed within a reasonable time not to exceed 10 days after the discovery of the facts that would require disqualification. The motion must be served upon the judge and the judge must rule within 30 days of service. If the judge does not rule within 30 days, the motion is automatically granted. A judge may not dispute the allegations in a motion to recuse, but must accept the allegations in a motion to recuse as true and then determine whether those facts, if true, would warrant recusal.

I have been able to locate the following cases in which either I recused sua sponte or motions to recuse or disqualify me were filed:

Amelia Island Plantation Community Association, Inc. v. Pollock, Case No. 03-109-CA. A Motion to Disqualify was filed by the defendant alleging scheduling difficulties, a previous association with opposing counsel, a sua sponte ruling and a suggestion that the Court had predetermined the outcome of the case. In determining whether to recuse myself, I asked whether I could set aside the emotions raised by the aspersions cast and concluded in fairness to the defendant that I could not. The baselessness of the motion and the defendant's status as a former judicial officer compelled me to refer her conduct to the Florida Bar Association for investigation. The defendant was sanctioned by the Florida Bar Association.

Morgan v. Morgan and Morgan v. Nelson, Case Nos. 03-935-CA and 05-39-CA. I recused myself voluntarily on this matter because of my friendship with all of the parties.

Carswell v. Adams, Case No. 06-420-CA. I recused myself sua sponte in this matter because of my friendship with the decedent and his family.

TAMA Radio Licenses of Jacksonville v. D.B. Zwirn Special Opportunities Fund, Case No. 08-75-CA. I recused myself sua sponte from this matter in light of my friendship with plaintiff's counsel.

Dawkins v. Stiles, Case No. 09-616-CA. I initially denied a motion to recuse filed by the plaintiff in this matter as legally insufficient. After further reflection on the nature of the controversy and the fact of the Court's residency within the community from which the cause of action arose – a reason different from that alleged in the plaintiff's motion – I recused myself.

First Union National Bank v. McCormick, Case No. 04-4-AP. I recused myself from the appeal in this case because it was my order being appealed.

Lewis v. Green, Case No. 05-1-AP. I recused myself from this matter because it was my order that was the subject of the appeal.

Destrez v. Air France, Case No. 05-153-CC. I recused myself from this matter because it was my order that was the subject of the appeal.

BAC Home Loans Servicing v. Austin, Case No. 09-1154-CA. I recused myself from this cause of action because I was a personal friend and neighbor of the defendants.

Baker v. Futch, Case No. 06-728-DR, Wyche v. Futch, Case No. 06-729-DR, Doyle v. Futch, Case No. 06-733-DR, Futch v. Baker, Case No. 06-746-DR, and Futch v. Baker, Case No. 06-747-DR. I recused myself in this case upon the pro se movant's request because although untrue, movant's factual allegations (taken as true, as required by Florida rule) would have prompted a reasonable and prudent person to fear an inability to get a fair and impartial trial.

15. Public Office, Political Activities and Affiliations:

- a. List chronologically any public offices you have held, other than judicial offices, including the terms of service and whether such positions were elected or appointed. If appointed, please include the name of the individual who appointed you. Also, state chronologically any unsuccessful candidacies you have had for elective office or unsuccessful nominations for appointed office.

I served as an Assistant State Attorney from 1982 to 1988. I was appointed by State Attorney Ed Austin (deceased). I also served as Chief Assistant State Attorney from 1991 to 1994. I was appointed by State Attorney Harry Shorstein.

- b. List all memberships and offices held in and services rendered, whether compensated or not, to any political party or election committee. If you have ever held a position or played a role in a political campaign, identify the particulars of the campaign, including the candidate, dates of the campaign, your title and responsibilities.

I served as a volunteer in the 1986 campaign of Governor Bob Graham for the United States Senate. I was responsible for helping to get out the vote.

I served as a volunteer in the 1991 campaign of former State Attorney Ed Austin for Mayor of the City of Jacksonville. I was responsible for helping to get out the vote.

- iv. whether you served as a mediator or arbitrator in alternative dispute resolution proceedings and, if so, a description of the 10 most significant matters with which you were involved in that capacity.

I have never served as a mediator or arbitrator.

b. Describe:

- i. the general character of your law practice and indicate by date when its character has changed over the years.

I began my practice of law in September 1980 as an associate attorney at Mahoney, Hadlow and Adams, P.A. I was a member of the labor law division. My primary responsibility was research and litigation support for senior partners.

Beginning in March 1982, I practiced criminal law as a prosecutor in the State Attorney's Office. My responsibilities ranged from the decision to charge through the trial of defendants for misdemeanor and felony offenses.

In 1988, I became an associate attorney at Brown, Terrell, Hogan, Ellis, McClamma and Yegelwel, a 6-person civil litigation law firm. As an associate attorney I managed a caseload that included various tort actions at various stages of litigation. I was typically responsible for client intake, case investigation, witness development and preparation, discovery practice, motion practice, and both jury and non-jury trials. By May 1991, I was offered a partnership in the firm.

In July 1991, I accepted an appointment as Chief Assistant State Attorney and again practiced criminal law with the same, though diminished, individual case responsibility but enhanced supervisory responsibilities for approximately 60 attorneys.

- ii. your typical clients and the areas at each period of your legal career, if any, in which you have specialized.

At Mahoney, Hadlow and Adams, P.A., my labor law practice was primarily on behalf of management. Typical clients included business, banking and manufacturing interests.

During my first term of service in the State Attorney's Office, the State of Florida was my client and I typically worked closely with citizen victims of crime. During that time, I specialized in economic crime, consumer fraud, homicide, sexual battery and juvenile prosecutions.

As an associate attorney with Brown, Terrell, Hogan, Ellis, McClamma and Yegelwel, clients were typically plaintiffs seeking monetary damages for a variety of torts including personal injury, medical malpractice and wrongful death.

Finally, as Chief Assistant State Attorney I once again represented the State of Florida. I was involved in supervising the various prosecutorial and administrative responsibilities of the office. I also assisted the State Attorney in the development of office policy and procedures.

- c. Describe the percentage of your practice that has been in litigation and whether you appeared in court frequently, occasionally, or not at all. If the frequency of your appearances in court varied, describe such variance, providing dates.

I have regularly appeared in court for clients. As an associate attorney, early in my practice, such appearances were rare. As an Assistant State Attorney my appearances in court were almost daily. When I returned to private practice and as Chief Assistant State Attorney, the frequency of appearances decreased, but was still regular.

i. Indicate the percentage of your practice in:

- | | |
|-----------------------------|-----|
| 1. federal courts: | ≥1% |
| 2. state courts of record: | 99% |
| 3. other courts: | 0% |
| 4. administrative agencies: | 0% |

ii. Indicate the percentage of your practice in:

- | | |
|--------------------------|-----|
| 1. civil proceedings: | 50% |
| 2. criminal proceedings: | 50% |

d. State the number of cases in courts of record, including cases before administrative law judges, you tried to verdict, judgment or final decision (rather than settled), indicating whether you were sole counsel, chief counsel, or associate counsel.

As an attorney, I tried approximately 70 cases to verdict or judgment. In 75% of these I was either lead or sole counsel.

i. What percentage of these trials were:

- | | |
|--------------|-----|
| 1. jury: | 35% |
| 2. non-jury: | 65% |

e. Describe your practice, if any, before the Supreme Court of the United States. Supply four (4) copies of any briefs, amicus or otherwise, and, if applicable, any oral argument transcripts before the Supreme Court in connection with your practice.

I have not practiced before the Supreme Court of the United States.

17. Litigation: Describe the ten (10) most significant litigated matters which you personally handled, whether or not you were the attorney of record. Give the citations, if the cases were reported, and the docket number and date if unreported. Give a capsule summary of the substance of each case. Identify the party or parties whom you represented; describe in detail the nature of your participation in the litigation and the final disposition of the case. Also state as to each case:

- the date of representation;
- the name of the court and the name of the judge or judges before whom the case was litigated; and
- the individual name, addresses, and telephone numbers of co-counsel and of principal counsel for each of the other parties.

In September 1986, in Duval County, I was chief trial counsel for the State of Florida in this armed robbery prosecution before the Honorable Louis Safer, 4th Judicial Circuit Court. In August 1991, in Duval County, I was trial co-counsel for plaintiff in a premises liability trial against apartment owners before the Honorable Charles Mitchell, 4th Judicial Circuit Court. The case involved the provision of inadequate security for tenants and the plaintiff, who was raped by an intruder, despite knowledge of increasing neighborhood crime. I prepared the plaintiff and fact and expert witnesses for trial and assisted in the cross-examination of defense witnesses. The jury returned a verdict in excess of $1 million.

9. State of Florida v. Parker, Case No. 90-12598-CF

In March 1993, in Duval County, I was trial co-counsel for the State of Florida in this felony murder trial before the Honorable Alban E. Brooke, 4th Judicial Circuit Court. The case presented a difficult causation issue arising from the death of an elderly citizen during a purse snatching by a habitual offender. The jury had to decide whether death resulted from the minimal force and emotional trauma associated with the purse's snatching or natural causes. I prepared and presented the victim's testimony, expert witnesses and gave a closing argument. The defendant was found guilty.

In September 1993, in Duval County, I was chief trial counsel for the State of Florida in this attempted first degree murder prosecution before the Honorable Hudson Oliff, 4th Judicial Circuit Court. A co-defendant was simultaneously tried by a second jury and the crime involved the attempted killing of an 11-year-old in his mother's presence. 18. Legal Activities: Describe the most significant legal activities you have pursued, including significant litigation which did not progress to trial or legal matters that did not involve litigation. Describe fully the nature of your participation in these activities. List any client(s) or organization(s) for whom you performed lobbying activities and describe the lobbying activities you performed on behalf of such client(s) or organizations(s). (Note: As to any facts requested in this question, please omit any information protected by the attorney-client privilege.)

In re: The Death of Alexander

In September 1983, I was co-counsel to the Grand Jury, State of Florida, Duval County, investigating the police shooting death of Alexander. This was significant in that the investigation occurred in a highly charged context imbued with allegations of racial prejudice. The Grand Jury found the shooting justified as it occurred during a struggle over the officer's gun by a motorcyclist fleeing a traffic violation.

In re: Report of the Grand Jury

In June 1992, I was co-counsel to the Grand Jury, State of Florida, Duval County, investigating the death of U.S. Navy Petty Officer First Class Smith. Petty Officer Smith died when his vehicle careened into the St. Johns River from the open middle span of the Main Street Bridge, which carried no warning lights, sirens, traffic arms or safety barriers. A highly critical presentment resulted in the Department of Transportation remedying the defects, and reorganizing its structure and procedures regarding vehicular and pedestrian safety on the bridge.

In re the Death of Smith

In March 1993, I was counsel to the Grand Jury, State of Florida, Nassau County, investigating the police shooting death of a mentally ill United States Navy Seal. While the Grand Jury did not find criminal liability, its presentment severely criticized the Nassau County Sheriff's Office and recommended sweeping changes in its operation as it relates to crisis management.

Drug Court and Mental Health Court

As Chief Assistant State Attorney I was instrumental, with State Attorney, Harry Shorstein, in establishing the first drug court in the 4th Judicial Circuit in 1992. Later I had the privilege from the bench of presiding over the court in Duval County and establishing the Circuit's first Juvenile Drug Court in 1997. In 2007, I established the first Mental Health Court in the Circuit in Nassau County, over which I have continuously presided.

19. Teaching: What courses have you taught? For each course, state the title, the institution at which you taught the course, the years in which you taught the course, and describe briefly the subject matter of the course and the major topics taught. If you have a syllabus of each course, provide four (4) copies to the committee.

I have not taught any courses.

20. Deferred Income/ Future Benefits: List the sources, amounts and dates of all anticipated receipts from deferred income arrangements, stock, options, uncompleted contracts and other future benefits which you expect to derive from previous business relationships, professional services, firm memberships, former employers, clients or customers. Describe the arrangements you have made to be compensated in the future for any financial or business interest.

I have no financial or business interests from which I might expect to be compensated in the future. I do participate in the Florida Retirement System and maintain a vested benefit therein payable monthly upon attaining normal retirement age. I also anticipate receiving income through the State of Florida's Deferred Compensation Plan established under Internal Revenue Code 457.

21. Outside Commitments During Court Service: Do you have any plans, commitments, or agreements to pursue outside employment, with or without compensation, during your service with the court? If so, explain.

If I am confirmed, I have no plans, commitment, or agreements to pursue outside employment.

22. Sources of Income: List sources and amounts of all income received during the calendar year preceding your nomination and for the current calendar year, including all salaries, fees, dividends, interest, gifts, rents, royalties, licensing fees, honoraria, and other items exceeding $500 or more (if you prefer to do so, copies of the financial disclosure report, required by the Ethics in Government Act of 1978, may be substituted here).

See attached Financial Disclosure Report.

23. Statement of Net Worth: Please complete the attached financial net worth statement in detail (add schedules as called for).

See attached Net Worth Statement.

24. Potential Conflicts of Interest:

- a. Identify the family members or other persons, parties, categories of litigation, and financial arrangements that are likely to present potential conflicts-of-interest when you first assume the position to which you have been nominated. Explain how you would address any such conflict if it were to arise.

If confirmed, I will adhere to the Code of Conduct for United States Judges and other applicable authority regarding the conflicts of interest and recuse myself accordingly. I am not aware of any potential conflicts of interest presently.

- b. Explain how you will resolve any potential conflict of interest, including the procedure you will follow in determining these areas of concern.

If confirmed, I intend to be guided by the Code of Conduct for United States Judges in resolving any conflicts of interest that might arise.

25. Pro Bono Work: An ethical consideration under Canon 2 of the American Bar Association's Code of Professional Responsibility calls for "every lawyer, regardless of professional prominence or professional workload, to find some time to participate in serving the disadvantaged." Describe what you have done to fulfill these responsibilities, listing specific instances and the amount of time devoted to each.

Florida's Canons of Judicial Conduct prohibit judges from practicing law. Accordingly, during all of my judicial career I have chosen to serve the disadvantaged by serving in leadership roles with organizations whose missions were concerned with the varied needs of the disadvantaged. Similar ethical considerations prevented my representation of disadvantaged clients while serving as a prosecutor early on in my career.

In private practice I provided pro bono representation through the Jacksonville Legal Aid Association and offered legal advice to non-profit organizations serving the disadvantaged as a board member. I currently devote several hours each week to organizations whose agendas impact the disadvantaged of my community.

26. Selection Process:

- a. Please describe your experience in the entire judicial selection process, from beginning to end (including the circumstances which led to your nomination and the interviews in which you participated). Is there a selection commission in your jurisdiction to recommend candidates for nomination to the federal courts? If so, please include that process in your description, as well as whether the commission recommended your nomination. List the dates of all interviews or communications you had with the White House staff or the Justice Department regarding this nomination. Do not include any contacts with Federal Bureau of Investigation personnel concerning your nomination.

On June 4, 2009, I submitted an application to the Florida Federal Judicial Nominating Commission. On July 21, 2009, I interviewed with the Middle District Conference of the Judicial Nominating Commission in Orlando, Florida, and was notified by the Commission that my name, along with two others, was being submitted to Senators Nelson and Martinez. In August 2009, I interviewed with Senator Nelson and Senator Martinez at Senator Nelson's Orlando office. Subsequently, Senator Nelson notified me that he was submitting my name, along with two others, to the White House for consideration in connection with the nomination. I was not nominated at that time.

On June 14, 2011, I submitted an application to the Florida Federal Judicial Nominating Commission in connection with the current vacancy. On August 4, 2011, I interviewed with the Middle District Conference of the Judicial Nominating Commission in Orlando, and was notified by the Judicial Nominating Commission that my name, along with three others, was being submitted to Senators Nelson and Rubio. On October 12, 2011, I interviewed with Senator Nelson and Senator Rubio in their Washington, DC offices. Both Senators advised me they were submitting my name, along with three others, to the White House for consideration in connection with the nomination. Since November 2, 2011, I have been in contact with officials from the Office of Legal Policy at the Department of Justice. On December 7, 2011, I met with officials from the White House Counsel's Office and the Department of Justice in Washington, D.C. On February 29, 2012, the President submitted my nomination to the Senate.

- b. Has anyone involved in the process of selecting you as a judicial nominee discussed with you any currently pending or specific case, legal issue or question in a manner that could reasonably be interpreted as seeking any express or implied assurances concerning your position on such case, issue, or question? If so, explain fully. On November 10, 2011, I was contacted by Jeffrey Barber of the Department of Justice regarding my cooperation with FBI processes associated with the pre-nomination process.

Dear Mr. Chairman:

I have reviewed the Senate Questionnaire I previously filed in connection with my nomination on February 29, 2012, to be United States District Judge for the Middle District of Florida. Supreme Court of Florida.
In re IMPLEMENTATION OF JUDICIAL BRANCH
GOVERNANCE STUDY GROUP RECOMMEN-DATIONS—AMENDMENTS TO the FLORIDA RULES OF JUDICIAL ADMINISTRATION.

No. SC11-1374.
Feb. 9, 2012.

John F. Harkness, Jr., Executive Director, The Florida
Bar, Tallahassee, FL, and Keith H. Park, Chair, Judicial Administration Committee, West Palm Beach, FL, for Petitioner.

PER CURIAM.

*1 The Court, on its own motion, amends the Florida Rules of Judicial Administration in response to recommendations of the Judicial Branch Governance Study Group (Study Group).^{FN1} The amendments, most of which were suggested by the Study Group and some of which have been modified or added by the Court, are intended to strengthen the governance and policy development structures of the Florida judicial branch, improve the effective and efficient management of the branch, and enhance communication within the branch. These refinements will enable the judicial branch to better fulfill its mission to protect rights and liberties, uphold and interpret the law, and provide for peaceful resolution of disputes, and achieve its vision of accessible, fair, effective, responsive, and accountable courts, as stated in the branch's long-range strategic plan.^{FN2}

BACKGROUND

In October 2009, after the Court approved the current long-range strategic plan for the Florida judicial branch,^{FN3} then Chief Justice Peggy Quince established the Judicial Branch Governance Study Group.^{FN4} The Study Group^{FN5} was charged with undertaking an in-depth study of the current governance system of the Florida judicial branch.^{FN6} The Study Group was tasked with (1) examining the structure and functions and assessing the efficacy and efficiency of the current governance system, (2) making recommendations to improve the governance of the branch, and (3) suggesting changes to the present governance system that will improve the effective and efficient management of the branch.^{FN7} The National Center for State Courts assisted the Study Group with its work and provided the group with a report of research results,^{FN8} findings, and conclusions ^{FN9} that served as the foundation for many of the group's recommendations.

In January 2011, the Study Group submitted its comprehensive final report, with recommendations the group determined will advance improvements in the governance of the branch.^{FN10} The recommendations focus on such areas as (1) the role and responsibilities of this Court and the roles, responsibilities, terms, and selection of the Chief Justice and chief judges of the appellate and trial courts; (2) the role of the Office of the State Courts Administrator; (3) the role and structure of the Judicial Management Council; (4) the authority of the conferences of judges; (5) communication within the branch; and (6) legislative advocacy on behalf of the branch. The recommendations include a number of suggested changes to Part II (State Court Administration) of the Rules of Judicial Administration.^{FN11} After considering the Study Group's report and recommendations, we adopt many of the rule changes as suggested, adopt some suggested changes with modifications, and adopt other rule changes on our own motion. The more significant rule amendments are discussed below.

AMENDMENTS

Rule 2.205 (The Supreme Court):

First, we amend subdivision (a) (Internal Government) of rule 2.205 to clarify the leadership roles of this Court and the Chief Justice and to address the selection and term of the Chief Justice. Subdivision (a)(1) addresses the exercise of this Court's powers and jurisdiction. We amend subdivision (a)(1)(A), as suggested by the Study Group, to recognize that this Court establishes policy for the judicial branch. Consistent with the Court's policy-making authority, including recommending state budget and compensation priorities for the judicial branch, subdivision (a)(1)(B) is added to prohibit any judge or supreme court created body, or any conference of judges from recommending to the legislative or executive branch state budget priorities, including compensation and benefits, that have not been approved by the Court. The subdivision does not apply to judges expressing their personal views who affirmatively make it explicitly clear that they are not speaking on behalf of the judicial branch.

--- So.3d ---, 2012 WL 399878 (Fla.), 37 Fla. L. Weekly S82
(Cite as: 2012 WL 399878 (Fla.))

*2 We add new subdivision (a)(1)(C) to rule 2.205 to require that newly created judicial branch commissions, committees, task forces, work groups, and similar study or advisory groups be established by the Court, not solely by the Chief Justice. The new subdivision also clarifies that the Court will use existing committees or commissions to address long-term issues.^{FN12} When practicable, the Court will establish ad hoc committees or advisory groups to address specific problems under the umbrella of an existing committee or commission.

Subdivision (a)(2) of rule 2.205, which addresses the selection, term, and authority of the Chief Justice, is amended to strengthen the Chief Justice's leadership role and allow for needed continuity in leadership. We modify the suggested amendment to subdivision (a)(2)(A) to allow the Chief Justice to serve successive two-year terms, not to exceed a total of eight years. As suggested by the Study Group, we further amend that subdivision to provide that the Chief Justice should be selected based on managerial, administrative, and leadership abilities, without regard solely to seniority and that the Chief Justice may be removed by a vote of four justices. Subdivision (a)(2)(B) is amended to enhance the Chief Justice's authority. As modified by the Court, the amendment provides that the Chief Justice is the administrative officer of the judicial branch and of the Supreme Court and is responsible for the dispatch of the business of the branch and of the Court and for directing the implementation of policies and priorities, as determined by the Supreme Court for the operation of the branch and of the Court. As suggested by the Study Group, the following are added to the Chief Justice's enumerated powers and responsibilities: (1) the responsibility to serve as the primary spokesperson for the judicial branch regarding policies and practices that have statewide impact; (2) the authority to directly inform all judges on a regular basis on the state of the judiciary, the state of the budget, issues of importance, priorities and other matters of statewide interest, and the responsibility to routinely communicate with the chief judges and leaders of the district, circuit, and county court conferences; and (3) the responsibility to exercise reasonable efforts to promote and encourage diversity in the administration of justice.

To promote communication within the branch, new subdivision (a)(2)(E) is added, as suggested by the Study Group, to provide that the Chief Justice shall meet on a regular basis with the chief judges of the district courts and the circuit courts to discuss and provide feedback for implementation of policies and practices that have statewide impact. We add the requirement that where practicable the justices of this Court should be included in the meetings. To further enhance communication, subdivision (e)(2) of rule 2.205 is amended, as suggested by the Study Group, to add to the State Courts Administrator's duties the responsibility to inform the judiciary of the state courts system's final budget request and any proposed substantive law changes approved by the Supreme Court.

Rule 2.210 (District Courts of Appeal); Rule 2.215 (Trial Court Administration):

*3 The amendments to rules 2.210(a)(2) (District Courts of Appeal; Chief Judge) and 2.215(b) (Trial Court Administration; Chief Judge) strengthen the leadership role of the chief judges of the district courts and trial courts. The amendments are designed to provide the chief judges with clear authority to direct judges to adhere to court and judicial branch policies and administrative plans and to achieve greater administrative consistency.^{FN13}

Rules 2.210(a)(2) (district court chief judge) and 2.215(b)(1) (trial court chief judge) are amended, as suggested by the Study Group, to provide that the chief judge should be selected based on managerial, administrative, and leadership abilities, without regard solely to seniority. We add language to renumbered rule 2.210(a)(2)(F) to provide that a chief judge of a district court may serve successive two-year terms, but in no event shall the total term exceed eight years. As suggested by the Study Group, the renumbered rule is further amended to provide that this Court may remove a chief judge of a district court. Rule 2.215(c) already provides for successive two-year terms and removal by this Court. We amend that rule to provide that in no event shall a chief judge of a trial court serve for more than eight years. However, we clarify here that a district or trial court chief judge who will have served as chief judge for more than eight years before his or her current term expires may complete the current term.

Rule 2.210(a)(2) is amended, as suggested by the Study Group, to include a specific set of administrative responsibilities of district court chief judges similar to those contained in rule 2.215(b) for circuit court chief judges. We add a requirement to rule 2.215(b)(5) that to the extent practical, the chief judge shall assign only one administrative judge to supervise the family court.

Suggested new rules 2.210(a)(2)(G) and 2.215(b)(11) are added, with minor modification, to provide that the failure of any judge to comply with an order or directive of the chief judge shall be considered neglect of duty and may be reported by the chief judge to the Chief Justice who shall have the authority to take such corrective action as may be appropriate. The chief judge may report the neglect of duty to the Judicial Qualifications Commission or other appropriate person or body, or take such other corrective action as may be appropriate.

Consistent with new rule 2.205(a)(2)(E), rules 2.210(a)(2)(H) and 2.215(b)(12) are added, as suggested by the Study Group, to provide that at the call of the Chief Justice, the chief judges of the circuit courts and district courts of appeal shall meet with each other and the Chief Justice at least quarterly to discuss and provide feedback on policies and practices that have statewide impact.

Rule 2.220 (Conferences of Judges):

Based on a Study Group recommendation, we amend rule 2.220 (Conference of County Court Judges) to create a conference of active and senior judges for each level of court. Much of the current rule creating the Conference of County Court Judges is retained in new subdivision (a). New subdivision (b) is added to recreate by rule the Conference of Circuit Court Judges, which is currently created by section 26.55, Florida Statutes \(2011\). New subdivision (b) will become effective upon the repeal of the statute. New subdivision (c) is added to the rule to formally create the Conference of District Court of Appeal Judges. Among the other purposes for the conferences stated in the rule, each conference will provide input to the newly created Unified Committee on Judicial Compensation, discussed below, on judicial compensation and benefit issues and will assist the judicial branch in soliciting support and resources on those issues.

Rule 2.225 (Judicial Management Council):

*4 At the suggestion of the Study Group, the language of existing rule 2.225 is deleted and new language is added recreating the Judicial Management Council of Florida. The responsibilities of the Council are narrowed and its membership is limited. As envisioned by the Study Group, the reconstituted Council will serve as a focused advisory body to assist the Chief Justice and this Court in identifying trends, potential crisis situations, and the means to address them. The Council will become part of a loop that will assist the Court with forward-looking vision, while the Court gets feedback from the trial and district courts, the chief judges, and the conferences. ^{FN14}

Under subdivision (a), the Council will meet at least quarterly. The Council will be responsible for: (1) identifying potential crisis situations affecting the judicial branch and developing strategy to address them; (2) identifying and evaluating information that would assist in improving the performance and effectiveness of the judicial branch; (3) developing and monitoring progress relating to long-range planning for the judicial branch; (4) reviewing the charges of the various court and Florida Bar commissions and committees, recommending consolidation or revision of the commissions and committees, and recommending a method for the coordination of the work of those bodies; and (5) addressing issues brought to the Council by this Court. New subdivision (c) outlines the various actions the Court may take on the Council's recommendations.

We modify the suggested language for new subdivision (d) of rule 2.225 to limit the membership of the Council to fifteen voting members to be selected by this Court. The voting members will include the Chief Justice, who will serve as chair, an additional justice of this Court, representatives from each level of court, and public members. Each member, other than the Chief Justice, initially will be appointed for a two-year or four-year term, with the terms staggered to ensure continuity and experience on the Council and for four-year terms thereafter. The State Courts Administrator will be a nonvoting member, and the Council may request other nonvoting persons to participate on an as-needed temporary basis.

(Cite as: 2012 WL 399878 (Fla.))

Rule 2.230 (Trial Court Budget Commission):

To enhance communication on trial court budget and funding issues, we amend subdivision (b) (Responsibilities) of rule 2.230 to require the Trial Court Budget Commission to seek and consider input from the Commission on Trial Court Performance and Accountability. To facilitate the input requirement, we amend subdivision (e) (Membership and Organization) to add the chair of the Commission on Trial Court Performance and Accountability as an ex officio nonvoting member of the Trial Court Budget Commission. The rule already provides for the presidents of the Conference of Circuit Court Judges and the Conference of County Court Judges to serve as ex officio nonvoting members.

Rule 2.235 (District Court of Appeal Budget Commission):

*5 We also amend rule 2.235 to enhance communication and continuity of budgetary expertise on the District Court of Appeal Budget Commission. Subdivision (b) (Responsibilities) of rule 2.235 is amended to require the District Court of Appeal Budget Commission to seek and consider input from the Commission on District Court of Appeal Performance and Accountability on district court budget and funding issues. Consistent with existing rule 2.230(b)(10) ^{FN15} and the creation of the Unified Committee on Judicial Compensation, discussed below, we amend subdivision (b)(10) of rule 2.235 to provide that the District Court of Appeal Budget Commission shall not make recommendations as to pay or benefits for judges.

Subdivision (e) (Membership and Organization) of rule 2.235 is amended, as suggested by the Study Group, to provide for four-year staggered terms for voting members, effective July 1, 2013, and to add the chairs of the District Court of Appeal Performance and Accountability Commission and the Appellate Court Technology Committee, and the president of the District Court of Appeal Judges Conference as ex officio nonvoting members.

Rule 2.244 (Judicial Compensation):

We amend rule 2.244 (Judicial Compensation) to recognize the Court's current practice of providing a unified mechanism for advancing judicial compensation and benefits issues. The unified approach outlined in new subdivision (c) of the rule ensures that judges from each level of the courts have a voice in the process, with ultimate oversight by this Court. New subdivision (c) creates the Unified Committee on Judicial Compensation to develop and recommend to the Court judicial pay and benefits priorities and to advocate for judicial pay and benefits issues approved by the Court for inclusion in the annual judicial branch budget request.

Under subdivision (c)(3), the membership of the Unified Committee will include the Chief Justice of this Court, the presidents and presidents-elect of the Conference of District Court of Appeal Judges, the Conference of Circuit Court Judges, and the Conference of County Court Judges, and the chairs and vice-chairs of the District Court Budget Commission and the Trial Court Budget Commission. As part of the unified approach, new rule 2.205(a)(1)(B), discussed above, prohibits individual judges, supreme court created groups, and the conferences of judges from advocating judicial compensation and benefits issues that have not been approved by this Court to the legislative and executive branches. However, as explained above in connection with the amendments to rule 2.220, the conferences of county, circuit, and district court judges will provide input to the Unified Committee and will assist the Court in seeking support and resources on judicial compensation and benefit issues.

CONCLUSION

Accordingly, we amend the Florida Rules of Judicial Administration as reflected in the appendix to this opinion. New language is indicated by underlining and deletions are indicated by struck-through type. New rule 2.220(b) (Conference of Circuit Court Judges) shall become effective upon the repeal of section 26.55, Florida Statutes \(2011\). The remainder of the amendments shall become effective immediately upon release of this opinion. However, because the amendments were not published for comment prior to their adoption, interested persons shall have sixty days from the date of this opinion to file comments with the Court. I dissent from the adoption in rule 2.210(a)(2)(F) and rule 2.215(c) of term limits for the chief judges of the district and circuit courts. Although term limits for chief judges might be the right policy, this Court should not adopt such a policy without first receiving input from the trial courts and the district courts.

QUINCE, J., concurring in part and dissenting in part.

I agree with many of the changes included in the majority opinion concerning the governance structure of the judicial branch. For the most part I believe that most of the changes will result in a more efficient and effective branch of government—the judiciary. However, I cannot agree to two aspects of these changes.

First, I do not agree with the change to rule 2.205(a)(1)(C) that would require that all judicial branch “commissions, committees, task forces, work groups, and similar study or advisory groups be established by the Court.” In order to have an effective chief justice and to strengthen the chief’s position, the chief should have the authority to establish such commissions and other groups without the necessity of having it approved by the entire court. I am sure that the chief when feasible will bring the issue to the entire Court, but I would not tie her or his hands by having this as a requirement.

Secondly, I would not extend the chief justice’s term to a possible eight years under rule 2.205(a)(2)(A). While the possible term of the chief justice should be more than two years, I would cap the term at four years. The provision concerning the removal of a chief justice may seem to provide a safety valve to the eight years, but the likelihood of using that provision is probably remote. Instead of putting the justices through what could be a turbulent situation, I would simply have a two-year term with a possible successive two-year term and no more.

LEWIS, J., dissenting.

Under a proposal of “Governance,” the majority in many ways takes the Court system backward to re-create circumstances similar to those found by the citizens of Florida to be unworkable and abusive over 40 years ago. The changes of today in many instances are simply that, change for the purpose of change without regard to whether a significant problem exists. The process that generated the changes was significantly impacted by perceptions from other states that will only lead to the problems from those foreign states being transposed into Florida when the perceived problem which generated the proposed change did not previously exist here.

*7 The most significant alterations that will have a practical adverse impact are centered upon the Chief Justice and chief judges, changes that will not improve effective or efficient management but only become divisive measures that will polarize and politicize positions within the court system. The approach of change simply to make a change based on outside views is not well-considered nor one that should be adopted by this Court system.

MELINA BUNCOME

Website: www.buncomeforjudge.org [<http://www.buncomeforjudge.org/>]

What is your major accomplishment in public life?

As a single mother, raising two children to become responsible, caring, considerate, educated adults.

In my professional life, I am most proud of earning my law degree, becoming qualified to represent defendants in death penalty cases, and becoming the first African-American woman to hold a position in the capital crimes division of the Public Defender's Office in Duval County.

What endorsements have you received?

I have been endorsed by several members of the community.

Have you been arrested, sued or filed for bankruptcy?

No.

Which judges do you admire and explain the qualities that impress you.

I have practiced before several memorable and admirable judges during my 18 years career in public service. I admire and respect judge Henry Davis. He administers justice with consistency and fairness. I also admire judge Karen Cole. She is an activist for the children in the community and is always willing to educate others. I also admired Judge Peter Fryfield. He had a great sense of humor and was fair in his dealings with defendants.

What are the most important qualities of a judge? How does that relate to you?

A judge must be fair, impartial, dedicated, respectful, possess a strong knowledgeable of the law, must uphold the law (even if it is unpopular), be willing to guide/mentor young attorneys, while simultaneously being willing to listen and learn from others. As you look at my work experience as well as my involvement in variety of diverse community projects, you will note that I embrace the qualities that I admire in others.

Have there been any complaints filed against you with the Florida Bar and what was the outcome?

Yes, in 17 years of representing thousands of indigent criminal defendants, it is predictable that not everyone is pleased with the outcome of their case. Each complaint was deemed unfounded by the Bar.

Describe the general nature of your practice. Describe your typical clients and their problems.

For the past 14 years I have worked at the Public Defender's Office in Duval County representing indigent defendants charged with criminal offenses ranging from misdemeanor charges to premeditated capital murder. Currently, I am assigned to the Capital Crimes Division where I represent defendants charged with homicide and are facing several years in prison, life in prison without the possibility of parole, and/or the death penalty.

How often have you appeared in court per month?

I am in court every week. Depending on my motion and trial schedule, I can be in court as many as 20 times per month.

What percentage of practice has been civil and criminal?

100% of my practice is criminal. I have handled civil cases on a pro bono basis.

List and describe the three most significant cases that you personally litigated and the outcome.

1. State v. J. Washington: As lead counsel on the penalty phase, we obtained a jury recommendation for life.
2. State v. R. Hawkins: As lead counsel, Mr. Hawkins was found not guilty and his family was able to realize that the judicial system works.
3. State v. E. Rivera: As lead counsel a motion to dismiss the case was granted. Mr. Rivera was able to take care of his children and not be in fear.

What is your major accomplishment in public life?

I would like to believe that I have several major accomplishments in public life, so narrowing the answer to a single one is difficult. That said, the most important accomplishment has to be the opportunity to litigate death penalty cases. Regardless of one's opinion of the death penalty and those who are charged with the crimes that result in their facing it, the justice system demands that those individuals receive a competent defense. From my time as a journalist when I personally witnessed the execution of Ted Bundy in January 1989, I have a unique perspective of exactly what the ultimate punishment entails. Now as an attorney for the past 18 years I find myself as often the only individual that stands between my client and the imposition of that punishment. Naturally as Circuit Judge I will be sworn to uphold the law, and I will certainly do that. What my experience allows me to do however, is ensure that the system works and works in the manner it should.

What endorsements have you received?

I have many persons who have expressed their ardent support for my campaign. I have a strong presence in the downtown area, having lived in the heart of the city since 2003. Numerous business owners and fellow residents are solidly behind me, including Tony Allegretti and Marco Monroy -- co-owners of the Burrito Gallery (downtown), Uptown Market (Springfield) and Burrito Gallery Express (Jacksonville Beach). A significant number of attorneys from all over Clay, Duval and Nassau counties are behind me as well as courthouse bailiffs and law enforcement officers who have watched me during my more than 150 jury trials. I am currently working toward more "name" endorsements, but I am somewhat hesitant to officially garner the support of groups who might give the appearance of impropriety or favoritism once elected.

BRIEF RESUME

I attended the Providence Country Day School in Rhode Island, Tufts University in Medford, Massachusetts, the Franklin Pierce Law Center in Concord, New Hampshire, and then received my LLM (Master of Laws Degree with a Concentration in Criminal Law) from the University of San Diego School of Law. I then served as a law clerk for an Associate Rhode Island Supreme Court Justice, served as a Assistant Public Defender in the Fourth Judicial Circuit from 1998 to 2005, ran my own law practice from 2005-2009, and then have since returned to the P.D.s Office litigating exclusively homicide/death penalty cases. As previously mentioned I began my career as a journalist from 1987-1990 (including stints at the New York Times Newspaper Group-owned Lake City Reporter and Sarasota Herald-Tribune). I won several Florida Association of Newspapers awards and the Publisher's Award from the New York Times for a series on a religious sect in Lake City. I have lived in Jacksonville since April 1997, am divorced with no children and have not served in the military.

Have you been arrested, sued or filed for bankruptcy? If yes, please explain.

I was the subject of a lawsuit from my homeowners' association regarding a dispute of fees owed. A mutual resolution was reached between the parties.

Which judges do you admire and explain the qualities that impress you.

A bit of a touchy question, as I would hate to leave someone out. Judge Lance Day has been an inspiration to me for the manner in which he conducts his courtroom and the fair manner in which he treats the parties before him as well as the lawyers. I admire and respect Judge Mallory Cooper, Judge Adrian Soud and Judge Waddell Wallace for their patience, temperament and thoroughness. All qualities I hope to bring to the bench. I am particularly impressed with how quickly Judge Adrian Soud has taken to being a judge and I certainly expect to be able to hit the ground running as quickly as he has. My vast trial experience certainly will allow me to conduct jury trials the way they should be done.

What are the most important qualities of a judge? How does that relate to you?

Well, first, see above. But basically the most important quality is fairness. But beyond just paying lip service to that word, it requires three important qualities -- intelligence, experience and having the basic human qualities of sympathy, empathy and a commitment to allow everyone to be heard. I have the requisite education and intelligence, I have the experience both personally and professionally and I have, perhaps most importantly, an understanding of the human condition. By that I simply mean the ability to connect with people, to listen to them and to understand their motivations. I have lived in many different places, surrounded by a wide variety of persons with different social, economic and educational backgrounds. I have been able to relate to and get along with nearly all of them.

Have there been any complaints filed against you with the Florida Bar and what was the outcome?

I don't think there is a person on earth who has practiced criminal law and NOT received their share of bar complaints. It goes hand in hand with the business. However, I have never had a bar complaint result in any disciplinary action. All have been closed without any finding of wrongdoing whatsoever.

Describe the general nature of your practice. Describe your typical clients and their problems.

As explained above, a significant portion of my career has been as an Assistant Public Defender -- approximately a total of 11 years. So, of course that is primarily criminal, along with other such matters as Jimmy Ryce cases (civil commitment proceedings). While in private practice for about three-and-one-half years, I also primarily practiced criminal law with some civil matters as well. So my "typical" client is an individual accused of a crime. That is also their main "problem", although it is often their personal problems that have led to their criminal problem. Not to sound like a "bleeding heart" (I assure you I am not), because some persons accused of crimes are simply not very nice people. My job has always been to do my very best to ensure that there is as equal a playing field as possible and then we can only hope that the system works.

How often have you appeared in court per month?

At times in my career -- daily. Now that I exclusively litigate homicide/death penalty cases my courtroom appearances are not as frequent -- perhaps three times a week.

What percentage of practice has been civil and criminal?

As mentioned above -- over the course of 18 years I would estimate approximately 90 percent criminal and 10 percent civil. However, more importantly, it is the trial experience I possess that cures any perceived imbalance in the percentages.

List and describe the three most significant cases that you personally litigated and the outcome.

1. State v. Tiffany Cole -- the infamous "elderly couple buried alive" case. My first death penalty case in 2006. Since your paper reported on the matter extensively I won't belabor the facts. Very tough case and I was in charge of the penalty phase. The jury returned a recommendation, by a vote of 9-3, for death. At the time she was the only female on Florida's death row. My introduction to the world of death penalty litigation, and once you've argued for a person's very life nothing is every really ever the same again.

2. State v. Deangelo Thomas -- 2011. I delivered what we call the "life speech" -- the closing argument -- during the penalty phase. Once again covered in detail by the FTU. Thomas killed a Navy officer in his home in the presence of his girlfriend and his child. Jury voted 6-6, resulting in a life recommendation. State Attorney Angela Corey fought for the judge to override the jury, but after Judge Jeff Morrow dies about a week later, Judge Michael Weatherby ultimately upheld the jury's decision. The praise I received from Judge Morrow over a beer after the case was very gratifying. The praise and the beer.

3. State v. Merlin Williams. 2010. Also covered by FTU. Another life recommendation. Another 6-6 vote. Williams and his girlfriend beat an African immigrant to death with a hammer. Once again received praise from Judge Charles Arnold for my efforts. Of the six death penalty cases I have litigated to trial three have resulted in life recommendations

JUDGE BRIAN J. DAVIS

What is your major accomplishment in public life?

My major accomplishment in public life is serving as a Circuit Judge of the 4th Judicial Circuit of Florida for more than 18 years.

What endorsements have you received?

Informally, I have received the support of many elected officials and organizations serving the community. Because my campaign is in its early stages I have yet to formalize endorsements, but expect to receive broad and varied support from the communities I serve.

I am a native of Jacksonville and have live here 50 of my almost 60 years. I have not served in the military. I have not yet developed campaign materials.

Have you been arrested, sued or filed for bankruptcy? If yes, please explain.

I have never been arrested or filed for bankruptcy.

In May, 1998, I was sued by Lisa T. Webb individually and on behalf of her children after I collided with the rear of her vehicle at an entrance ramp to a highway in Jacksonville. There was no vehicular damage and the personal injury claims settled for $5,000 following mediation. Webb vs. Davis, 4th Judicial Circuit Court, Duval County, Case No. 98-195-CA-CV-G.

In October, 2007, I was sued by George M. Richardson in the United States Court, Middle District of Florida following state court eviction proceedings over which I presided claimed by Mr. Richardson to be biased against him. My Motion to Dismiss was granted with prejudice in March, 2008. Rtchardson vs. Morgan, Holley and Davis, Case No. 3:07-cv-940-J-32TEM

Which judges do you admire and explain the qualities that impress you?

I believe it would be inappropriate for me to comment on the qualities of living judges that impress me. Retrospectively, I admire the late United States Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall because of his dedication to community service. Locally, the late Honorable Louis Safer is admired by me because of his unwavering focus on treating all persons appearing in Court with dignity and thereby enhancing the respect necessary to the effective functioning of your judicial system. I have been inspired by both Justice Marshall and Judge Safer to work to improve my community and to enhance the respect afforded our judicial system through my work on and off the bench.

What are the most important qualities of a judge? How does that relate to you?

The most important attribute of a judge is impartiality. The absence of that quality absolutely erodes the respect necessary to the function of our courts to civilly resolve disputes. I am confident I have and will continue to remain impartial and unbiased in my decision making.

Have there been any complaints filed against you with the Florida Bar and what was the outcome?

I am not aware of any complaints being filed against me with the Florida Bar.

Describe the general nature of your practice. Describe your typical clients and their problems.

I began my practice of law in September, 1980 as an associate attorney in the labor law division of a law firm consisting of approximately 60 attorneys at the time. Beginning in March, 1982, I practiced criminal law as a prosecutor until May, 1988, at which time I became an associate attorney in a 6 person civil litigation law firm. By May, 1991, I was offered a partnership in the firm, but in July, 1991, accepted an appointment as Chief Assistant State Attorney and again practicing criminal law .

The labor law practice referenced above was primarily on behalf of management. Typical clients Included business, banking and manufacturing interests. My original term of service in the State Attorney's Office typically involved citizen victims of crime. During my term of service there, I had the opportunity to specialize in economic crime, consumer fraud, homicide, sexual battery and juvenile prosecutions. As an associate attorney with Brown, Terrell, et al clients were typically plaintiffs seeking monetary damages for a variety of torts including personal injury, medical malpractice and wrongful death. Finally, my term of service as Chief Assistant State Attorney involved supervising the various prosecutorial and administrative responsibilities of the office. I also assisted the State Attorney in the development of office policy and procedures.

As an attorney I regularly appeared in Court for clients. As an Associate Attorney, early in my practice, such appearances were rare. As an Assistant State Attorney my appearances in Court were almost daily. When I returned to private practice and as Chief Assistant State Attorney the frequency of appearances decreased, but was still regularly.

As a sitting judge, I have served in the Civil, Family, Juvenile, Probate, Drug Court and Mental Health Court divisions.

How often have you appeared in court per month?

As a sitting judge since 1994 I have appeared in Court approximately 20 days per month (5 days per week) and on occasion some Saturdays and Sundays in connection with weekend duty.

What percentage of your practice has been civil and criminal?

Less than 1 % of my practice as an attorney was in federal courts more than 99% was in state courts of record. Prior to taking the bench 50% of my practice was in civil proceedings and 50% was in criminal proceedings. As a judge 80% of my calendar has involved civil matters, 20% criminal matters.

List and describe the three most significant cases that you personally litigated and the outcome.

As an attorney I litigated the following significant cases:

State of Florida vs. Roberts, Case No. 87-2600-CF

In September, 1987 in Duval County, I was chief trial counsel for the State of Florida in the Murder prosecution of Don O. Roberts before the Honorable William Wilkes, 4th Judicial Circuit Court. The case involved a domestic violence decapitation. The Defendant was found guilty.

Edenfield vs. W W Gay Mechanical Contractors, Inc., Case No. 86-9574-CA

In April, 1990, in Duval County, I was chief trial counsel in a negligence action before the Honorable Lawrence D. Fay, 4th Judicial Circuit Court. The case was significant because of difficult engineering and immunity issues regarding a subcontractor and because of the disabling burns suffered by the Plaintiff. The jury returned a verdict of $225,000.00.

Powell vs. State of Florida, Case No. 85-2659

In July, 1990, in Hillsborough County, I was trial co-counsel in a negligence action before the Honorable I. Rogers Padgett, 13th Judicial Circuit Court. I examined prosecutors and made opening and closing arguments. The jury returned a $1.3 million verdict (reversed on appeal, Powell v. State, 586 So.2d 1180 (Fla. 2nd DCA 1991) against the Hillsborough County State Attorney's Office for failing to protect an estranged wife horribly burned by her husband against whom she was to testify for the State. The case also represents the only time I have tried a matter outside of the 4th Judicial Circuit of Florida.

As a judge I presided over the following significant cases:

Carter VS. Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp., Case No. 95-00934-CA

In August, 1996, in Duval County, FL, as a Circuit Court Judge I tried to verdict a product's liability case resulting in a $750,000.00 verdict and judgment (Carter v. Brown and Williamson, 848 So.2d 365 (Fla. 1st DCA 2003) rev. den. 894 So.2d 969 (Fla. 2005) against a cigarette manufacturer. It was the first time a cigarette company had been held liable for damages to an individual claiming injury from a cigarette related disease. The case presented complex questions regarding statutes of limitations and first impression federal preemption claims.

Huckleby vs. Masters, Case No. 06-118-CA

In March, 2011, in Nassau County, Florida as a Circuit Court Judge I presided over a two and one-half week personal injury claim resulting in a Jury verdict in excess of thirteen million dollars, the largest of record in Nassau County. The case was significant because of the severity and complexity of the Plaintiff's brain damage and the availability of punitive damages.

In the Interest of A. C., Case No. 06-293-CJ

In October, 2006, A.C. a 15 year old came to the Court's attention in connection with the charge of battery on a public or private education employee. Having experienced behavioral and cognitive problems as early as preschool and suffered physical and sexual abuse at a young age, it was eventually determined that A.S. was both developmentally delayed and suffered from post-traumatic stress disorder, oppositional defiant disorder, attention deficit hyperactivity disorder. It was also determined that she was incompetent to stand trial for the offenses for which she had been detained and the Department of Children and Families, Department of Juvenile Justice, and Agency for Persons with Disabilities seemed unable to fashion a course of treatment or means of protecting or providing for the child. Repeated hearings and requirements that agencies charged with the child's care fashion a means of addressing her unique and severe problems ultimately resulted in an appropriate group home placement.

What is your major accomplishment in public life?

Throughout my career, I had the privilege of being appointed by judges to provide representation to indigent clients. Due to my experience level, I have been appointed to some high-profile cases where the defendant was charged with the gravest of offenses. I accepted those appointments as part of my desire to aid the court in the administration of justice by providing effective representation, thereby assuring that persons accused of crimes are only convicted after being afforded the due process required by our state and federal constitutions.

In terms of my community involvement, I served on the Board of Beaches Habitat for five years (two of those years I served as President). I have also served on the vestry at my church and began an outreach ministry, Reconcile Jacksonville Beaches. The outreach ministry was initiated in 1997 and involved the pairing of church with primarily Caucasian members and a church of primarily African-American members. St. Paul's By-the-Sea Episcopal Church and St. Andrews AME were the two churches involved. Events included an annual Martin Luther King service (which continues to occur on an annual basis), pulpit exchange, combined Parish dinner, and building a Beaches Habitat house in 1999. Both Beaches Habitat and Reconcile Jacksonville Beaches are examples of my commitment to making my community a better place to live and work.

What endorsements have you received?

I have qualified to run in the Group 1 Circuit Court Judge race. Currently, this seat is held by the Honorable Brian Davis. However, there is good reason to believe that Judge Davis will be vacating the seat prior to the election, as Judge Davis has been nominated by President Obama to become a United States District Judge. Following the nomination, Judge Davis recently attended a confirmation hearing in Washington D.C. and is awaiting the vote of the Senate Committee before whom he appeared. Assuming the Committee votes in his favor, the final step will be a vote by the full Senate as to whether he should ascend to the federal bench. This background information is important as I have made it clear to Judge Davis, for whom I have great respect, that should he not be confirmed, it is not my intent to unseat him and I will withdraw from the race. Because of the respect that many people have for Judge Davis, their support for my candidacy is understandably conditional. I am very pleased and encouraged by the support I have been offered should Judge Davis be confirmed.

Have you been arrested, sued or filed for bankruptcy? If yes, please explain.

Yes, I have been sued on one occasion. The suit is a foreclosure action involving a home my father built, which became my property when my father passed in 2005. In 2011, I attempted to sell the home but was unable to do so because of a serious foundational issue discovered during the inspection of the home. Unable to sell the home and unable to continue the financial obligation, a foreclosure action was instituted. Still attempting to resolve the issue, I applied for an option whereby I agree to voluntarily relinquish the deed in lieu of foreclosure, and very recently learned that the lender has agreed to this option, meaning the foreclosure action will be dismissed.

Which judges do you admire and explain the qualities that impress you?

While there are many judges whom I admire, one judge that exhibits so many of the traits I intend to emulate is the Honorable Timothy Corrigan. First and foremost, he is fair. He is thoroughly prepared for each hearing, gives each party ample opportunity to be heard, and listens attentively. He is patient and respectful, yet efficient and decisive. Everyone who appears in front of Judge Corrigan, regardless of whether they obtain the result for which they hoped, leave having been treated fairly and having been fully heard.

What are the most important qualities of a judge? How does that relate to you?

Please see below as to what are the most important qualities of a judge. Throughout my 24-year legal career, I have developed the skills a trial lawyer needs to be successful: preparation, thoroughness, and attention to detail. These skills combined with my reputation in the legal community as possessing an even temperament and respectful demeanor, would assist me in serving as an effective judge. Lawyers whom I have practiced with and against would attest to my willingness to consider both sides of a controversy, even when acting as an advocate, and have expressed to me that they believe I would be a good judge. I can personally attest that I am prepared to serve the community and assume the responsibility of being a circuit court judge.

Have there been any complaints filed against you with the Florida Bar and what was the outcome?

During my 24 years practicing criminal defense law, I have had clients who have filed complaints against me with The Florida Bar. In each case, I filed a response, as required. In every case, no further action was taken by The Florida Bar. I have never been disciplined, either informally or formally, by the Florida Bar.

Describe the general nature of your practice. Describe your typical clients and their problems.

I am a sole practitioner who represents individuals under criminal investigation or charged with crimes in state and federal court. Issues which my clients commonly face include the desire for pretrial release, pretrial motions to have evidence suppressed or a motion dismissed, engaging in the discovery process and plea negotiations, and proceeding to trial in an attempt to prove their innocence. I am Board Certified in criminal trial practice and have tried over 40 jury trials. I have been Board Certified since 1996 and have renewed my certification every 5 years since 1996. To maintain board certification, I have continued representing individuals at trials, continued my legal education, and have been peer reviewed for each recertification period. I specialize in criminal trial work and am "AV Preeminent" rated by Martindale-Hubbell, the highest rating available by this professional peer rating organization.

How often have you appeared in court per month?

I appear in court four to five times per week, and on average, 20 to 25 times per month.

What percentage of practice has been civil and criminal?

95% criminal and 5% civil.

MAIRS RESUME

Honesty, work ethic, accountability, and compassion- these are some of the many character traits my parents instilled in me and that I work to achieve and master every day. I have had the privilege of helping people with law-related matters for 23 years.

In addition to being a lawyer, I am also a Christian and father of four children, Ben (14), Sarah (13), Ava (4), and Cole (1). In addition to these roles, I now aspire to become a Circuit Court Judge. An important lesson my father taught me was the importance of delayed gratification. While I aspired to be a judge as a young lawyer, I came to realize that the opportunity to serve as a judge must be earned, not just by obtaining a law degree but through experience. My life and legal experiences have groomed and prepared me such that I am now qualified to now serve the citizens of the Fourth Judicial Circuit as a judge.

I have lived in Duval County for almost 40 years. My father, Larry, was an electrical engineer and small business owner, and mother, Joan, taught elementary school, specializing in children with learning disabilities. I have a brother, Ian Mairs, a playwright and teacher who lives in Jacksonville, and a sister, Janet Reid, who lives in Australia with her husband and four children.

I attended public school in the Arlington area and graduated from Terry Park High School in 1981. While attending school, I also began working at the age of 14 (and never stopped). I had a paper route, worked at the Arlington Car Wash and Winn Dixie. Upon graduating from high school and prior to starting college, I worked at the North Florida Shipyards on the paint and labor crew. After finishing the summer on the docks, I enrolled in college at Florida State University and went on to obtain a degree in 1985. I then applied and was accepted into the Florida State University College of Law, which I attended for three years. After seven years of school, I was qualified to sit for the Florida Bar exam, which I passed, becoming a practicing lawyer in 1988.

Soon after graduating, I returned home and accepted a position with the Office of the Public Defender in Jacksonville, where over the next six years, I handled a wide variety of criminal law matters, gained extensive trial experience, and became Division Chief of a felony division in Circuit Court. I left the Office of the Public Defender in 1994 to work in private practice with Henry M. Coxe, III, former President of The Jacksonville and Florida Bar. Mr. Coxe and I then joined the law firm of Bedell, Dittmar, De Vault, Pillans, and Coxe, P.A., where I went on to become a partner. In 2007, based on my desire to start my own law practice, I founded the Mairs Law Firm located in the San Marco area of Jacksonville. The Mairs Law Firm has enjoyed great success, as I have been given the opportunity to represent numerous clients in both federal and state court.

I am very proud to state that I am a Board Certified Trial Lawyer, meaning I have achieved the highest level of recognition the Florida Bar offers for lawyers practicing in a specialized area of law. I achieved this certification in 1996. To become certified, a lawyer must have handled at least 20 jury trials to verdict, completed 45 hours of continuing legal education within three years, undergo a peer review evaluation as to character, ethics, and reputation for professionalism, and pass a written examination demonstrating knowledge, skills, and proficiency in the specialized area of law. Every five years, the lawyer must be recertified. I have continuously maintained my certification for 15 years.

In addition to practicing law and raising teenagers and little ones with my wife Rita Mairs, I am also an active member in several professional organizations. The organizations include The Florida Bar (member of Criminal Procedure Rules Committee from 2001-2007), The Jacksonville Bar Association, The Federal Bar Association for the Middle District of Florida, and The Florida Association of Criminal Defense Lawyers. I also recently taught a law course to members of the Jacksonville Sheriffs Office at the Northeast Criminal Justice Training and Education Center. A non-law-related activity I was involved in that was very important to me was my service on the board of Beaches Habitat for five years, two of which I served as president (2002-2007). This habitat affiliate, while relatively small, won several awards during my time on the board. We built 18 houses, offered afterschool tutoring, and helped to provide scholarships to the University of North Florida to several of the children who resided in the habitat homes. When not carrying out my duties as a lawyer or serving my community, I can be found on the water in my boat, a 1977 Mako, affectionately named "The Mud Duck."

I am excited to take on the challenge of earning the respect, trust, and support of the citizens of the Fourth Judicial Circuit and eventually serving those citizens in my capacity as a Circuit Court Judge.

CASES LITIGATED AND OUTCOME

1. State of Florida v. Ernest Glover, Case Numbers 2002-CF-008650 and 2002-CF-008029, Fourth Judicial Circuit Court, Division CR-A, Judge John H. Skinner, Prosecutor Bernardo H. De la Rionda, co-counsel O. David Barksdale. Date tried: August 2-6, 2004.

Ernest Glover was charged with First Degree Murder in two cases. Henry M. Coxe, III, was appointed to represent Mr. Glover, and I was enlisted to handle the case while working at The Bedell Firm with Mr. Coxe. David Barksdale (another attorney at The Bedell Firm) and I tried the case together.

While only one murder was tried at a time, the State introduced evidence of one murder as Williams Rule evidence in the trial of the other murder. Mr. Glover was accused of cutting the throat of one victim and strangling the other, and there was evidence Mr. Glover had engaged in sexual activity with both victims. There was extensive litigation surrounding the admissibility of this Williams Rule evidence, which I handled prior to the jury trial. There was also DNA evidence involved in the case, and I retained a DNA expert whom I called to testify at trial.

There was evidence to support the conclusion that Mr. Glover was retarded and, therefore, not eligible for the death penalty. The State believed that Mr. Glover was not retarded but instead, was exaggerating his mental state. There was a hearing conducted, and I retained an expert to present evidence at the hearing concerning the authenticity and severity of Mr. Glover's retardation. The Court found that Mr. Glover was mentally retarded, and could therefore, not be executed.

At trial, after deliberating for almost six hours, the jury found Mr. Glover guilty of the lesser included offense of Second Degree Murder. I consider this case to be a significant case due to its complexity (Williams Rule, DNA, etc.) as well as the finding by the jury, even after learning of both murders and the heinous nature of those murders, that Mr. Glover was guilty of a lesser offense.

2. State of Florida v. Kimothy Simmons, Case Number 2006-CF-004134, Fourth Judicial Circuit Court, Division CR-B, Judge Michael R. Weatherby, Prosecutor Bernardo H. De la Rionda. Date tried: March 3-6, 2008.

Mr. Simmons (a juvenile) was accused of First Degree Murder. He was accused of posing as a police officer to gain entry into a young woman's apartment in the Riverside area of Jacksonville. Once inside, he stabbed the young woman numerous times, killing her. Mr. Simmons was first determined to be a suspect in the murder when he was recognized by a detective with the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office as an individual who had shoplifted several items of police-type gear from an Army Navy Store. Surveillance cameras captured the theft, and items from the store were found near the scene of the murder. There was a lot of media attention related to the murder, as it remained unsolved for some time.

I was appointed to represent Mr. Simmons and handled the entire discovery in the case and was sole counsel at trial. Given the extent of police involvement in the investigation of the murder prior to Mr. Simmons arrest, there were extensive reports and records to review and prepare for trial. I also filed and argued a motion to suppress. Given the nature of the crime, the State was unwilling to negotiate with Mr. Simmons.

Due to the existence of DNA and fingerprint evidence, along with Mr.

Simmons' post-arrest statements, his trial strategy included conceding to Second Degree Murder. The defense argument was that the killing was not premeditated, but instead, a crime of passion. The sole issue became whether the verdict should be for First or Second Degree Murder. The jury deliberated for several hours and then returned a verdict of guilty on the First Degree Murder charge. The jury did not, however, find that the murder was premeditated, but found it was committed during the commission of a felony.

I consider this case to be significant due to the extensive media attention surrounding the case, as well as the jury's finding that the murder was not premeditated even after hearing that Mr. Simmons had posed as a police officer to gain entry into the victim's home and had stabbed the victim numerous times.

3. State of Florida v. Nathaniel Ryan, Case Number 2008-CF-000390, Eighth Judicial Circuit Court, Judge James P. Nilon, Prosecutor Ralph Yazdiya. Hearing held: April 6, 2009.

I was retained to represent Mr. Ryan regarding a charge of DUI Manslaughter that occurred in Baker County, Florida. Mr. Ryan was operating a Honda A.T.V. with a juvenile passenger on a dirt road in Baker County, Florida.

During the operation of the A.T.v. on a dirt grade, Mr. Ryan lost control of the A.T.V. causing the A.T.V. to strike a tree, ejecting both occupants. The juvenile passenger died as a result of the injuries sustained in the accident. Blood was drawn from Mr. Ryan, and the blood alcohol level was determined to be .121 grams of ethyl alcohol per 100ml of blood.

Mr. Ryan was married. The victim in his case was his sister-in-law's child.

The death of the child was tragic, and the child's mother wanted Mr. Ryan to receive ten to fifteen years in prison. The State would not agree to any sentence less than ten years and would not waive guidelines, which mandated that Mr. Ryan receive at least ten years in prison. In addition, there is a four year mandatory minimum sentence required for this charge. To argue for less than years, I decided to have a sentencing hearing focusing on whether the Court could deviate from the guidelines, and if so, what sentence would be appropriate.

I prepared a sentencing memorandum (attached as a writing sample) in support of a downward departure from the sentencing guidelines. I presented witness testimony at the sentencing hearing and offered written materials in support of Mr. Ryan's request for less than ten years. The Court had to first determine if I had established a legal basis for departure and if so, was a departure warranted in this case.

The Court ruled that I presented sufficient evidence to justify a downward departure and determined that a downward departure was warranted. The Court sentenced Mr. Ryan to six years in prison followed by nine years of probation. Mr. Ryan and his family thanked me for helping them through a very difficult time.

I consider this case to be significant due to the delicate nature with which I had to handle it due to the familial relationships involved, as well as the departure sentence obtained, which was appropriate based on the unique circumstances of this case that I was able to convey to the Court.

Personal Statement:

In 100 words or less, without discussing any particular issue which may come before you if you become a judge, explain why you believe you would be a good judge:

The most important attribute of a judge is impartiality. The absence of that quality absolutely erodes the respect necessary to the function of our courts to civilly resolve disputes. Judges must possess qualities of patience, attentiveness, studiousness and calmness. They must be good communicators, assure fairness and engender respect. I believe engendering respect for the institution of the court to be most important. I achieve that outcome by always remaining impartial consistently exhibiting all of the referenced attributes and by being invariably respectful to parties, counsel and participants.

Continuation of answer to primary areas in which you have specialized or have legal expertise, etc., on pg. 4

As an associate attorney with Brown, Terrell, Hogan, Ellis, McClamma and Yegelwel, clients were typically plaintiffs seeking monetary damages for a variety of torts including personal injury, medical malpractice and wrongful death.

Finally, as Chief Assistant State Attorney I once again represented the State of Florida. I was involved in supervising the various prosecutorial and administrative responsibilities of the office. I also assisted the State Attorney in the development of office policy and procedures.

Continuation of answer to Employment question on pg. 6

Beginning in March 1982, I practiced criminal law as a prosecutor in the State Attorney's Office. My responsibilities ranged from the decision to charge through the trial of defendants for misdemeanor and felony offenses.

In 1998, I became an associate attorney at Brown, Terrell, Hogan, Ellis, McClamma and Yegelwel, a 6-person civil litigation law firm. As an associate attorney I managed a caseload which included various tort actions at various stages of litigation. Client intake, case investigation, witness development and preparation, discovery practice, motion practice, jury trial and non-jury were typical. By May 1991, I was offered a partnership in the firm.

In July 1991, I accepted an appointment as Chief Assistant State Attorney and again practiced criminal law with the same, though diminished, individual case responsibility but enhanced supervisory responsibilities for approximately 60 attorneys.

2012 JUDICIAL SURVEY

The Clay Family Policy Forum is a group of professionals and other concerned citizens endeavoring to promote a pro-family culture in Clay County. To assist voters concerned with family issues, the Clay Family Policy Forum is conducting this survey of candidates' positions. The entire survey from each candidate will be posted on our website. Thank you for taking the time to consider thoughtfully each question and responding in a timely manner.

IMPORTANT INSTRUCTIONS:

Please mail your original, signed "2012 JUDICIAL SURVEY" hard copy in the enclosed stamped, self-addressed envelope to arrive no later than Monday, July 8th.

QUESTIONS:

1. What do you consider the three most important attributes of a judge? How did these influence your decision to pursue a judicial career?

Though I believe I have always possessed and enjoyed practicing these qualities, after 18 years on the bench I have learned to always be informed, impartial and respectful. The most important attribute of a judge is impartiality. The absence of that quality absolutely erodes the respect necessary to the function of our Courts to civilly resolve disputes. Judges must possess qualities of patience, attentiveness, studiousness and calmness. They must be good communicators, assure fairness and engender respect. I believe engendering respect for the institution of the Court to be most important. I achieve that outcome by always remaining impartial, consistently exhibiting all of the referenced attributes and by being invariably respectful to parties, counsel and participants.

2. Please list all of the organizations you have been affiliated within the last ten years?

Jacksonville Public Education Fund (2009 – present), One Jax (2006 – 2012), The Alliance for World Education, Inc. (2008 – 2009), Florida Partners in Crisis (2011; 2007 – 2009), National Conference for Community and Justice (formerly National Conference of Christians and Jews) (1993 – 2006), Jacksonville Bar Association (1982 – 2003), D.W. Perkins Bar Association (1985 – 2012), Omega Psi Phi Fraternity (1982 – 2012), Jacksonville Urban League (2003 – 2012), American Board of Trial Advocates (2002), Florida Bar Association (1981 – 2012), Nassau County Bar Association (2009 – 2012), Boy Scouts of America (1968; 1982 – 2012); , NAACP (1985 – 2012); Community Foundation's Quality Education Forum (2005 – 2012), Ebenezer United Methodist Church (1953 – 2012), Jacksonville Community Council (2002 – 2012), Jacksonville Jaguars Foundation (1995 – 2012), Leadership Jacksonville (1987 – 2012)

3. With which of the U. S. Supreme Court justices do you most align? Why?

As a sitting Circuit Court Judge I am bound legally and ethically by the decisions of the United States Supreme Court which are determined by a majority of the justices considering any matter presented to the Court.

Rasmussen (4600 Touchton Road, E., Jacksonville, FL 32246 – (904) 928-2947).

In October, 2007, I was sued by George M. Richardson in the United States Court, Middle District of Florida following state court eviction proceedings over which I presided claimed by Mr. Richardson to be biased against him. My Motion to Dismiss was granted with prejudice in March, 2008. Richardson vs. Morgan, Holley and Davis, Case No. 3:07-cv-940-J-32TEM Mr. Richardson appeared pro se (1927 S. 14th Street, Fernandina Beach, FL 32034). I was represented by Bill McCollum, Attorney General through George Waas, Special Counsel, Office of the Attorney General, PL-01 The Capitol, Tallahassee, FL 32399-1050, telephone number (850) 414-3662.

5. Which judges do you admire and explain the qualities that impress you?

Response: I believe it would be inappropriate for me to comment on the qualities of living judges that impress me. Retrospectively, I admire the late United States Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall because of his dedication to community service. Locally, the late Honorable Louis Safer is admired by me because of his unwavering focus on treating all persons appearing in Court with dignity and thereby enhancing the respect necessary to the effective functioning of your judicial system. I have been inspired by both Justice Marshall and Judge Safer to work to improve my community and to enhance the respect afforded our judicial system through my work on and off the bench.

6. What are the most important qualities of a judge? How does that relate to you?

Response: The most important attribute of a judge is impartiality. The absence of that quality absolutely erodes the respect necessary to the function of our courts to civilly resolve disputes. I am confident I have and will continue to remain impartial and unbiased in my decision making.

7. Have there been any complaints filed against you with the Florida Bar and what was the outcome?

Response: I am not aware of any complaints being filed against me with the Florida Bar.

8. Describe the general nature of your practice. Describe your typical clients and their problems.

Response: I began my practice of law in September, 1980 as an associate attorney in the labor law division of a law firm consisting of approximately 60 attorneys at the time. Beginning in March, 1982, I practiced criminal law as a prosecutor until May, 1988, at which time I became an associate attorney in a 6 person civil litigation law firm. By May, 1991, I was offered a partnership in the firm, but in July, 1991, accepted an appointment as Chief Assistant State Attorney and again practicing criminal law.

The labor law practice referenced above was primarily on behalf of management. Typical clients Included business, banking and manufacturing interests. My original term of service in the State Attorney's Office typically involved citizen victims of crime. During my term of service there, I had the opportunity to specialize in economic crime, consumer fraud, homicide, sexual battery and juvenile prosecutions. As an associate attorney with Brown, Terrell, et al clients were typically plaintiffs seeking monetary damages for a variety of torts including personal injury, medical malpractice and wrongful death. Finally, my term of service as Chief Assistant State Attorney involved supervising the various prosecutorial and administrative responsibilities of the office. I also assisted the State Attorney in the development of office policy and procedures.

I have regularly appeared in Court for clients. As an Associate Attorney, early in my practice, such appearances were rare. As an Assistant State Attorney my appearances in Court were almost daily. When I returned to private practice and as Chief Assistant State Attorney the frequency of appearances decreased, but was still regularly. As a sitting judge, of course, 80% of my time is spent in the Courtroom.

9. How often have you appeared in Court per month?

Response: As a sitting judge since 1994 I have appeared in Court approximately 20 days per month (5 days per week) and on occasion some Saturdays and Sundays in connection with weekend duty.

10. What percentage of your practice has been civil and criminal?

Response: Less than 1% of my practice as an attorney was in federal courts more than 99% was in state courts of record. Prior to taking the bench 50% of my practice was in civil proceedings and 50% was in criminal proceedings.

11. List and describe the three most significant cases that you personally litigated and the outcome.

Response: As an attorney I litigated the following significant cases:

State of Florida vs. Roberts, Case No. 87-2600-CF

In September, 1987 in Duval County, I was chief trial counsel for the State of Florida in the Murder prosecution of Don O. Roberts before the Honorable William Wilkes, 4th Judicial Circuit Court. The case involved a domestic violence decapitation. The Defendant was found guilty. The Defendant was represented by Alan Chipperfield, Office of the Public Defender, 35 N. Main Street, Gainesville, FL 32601; telephone (352) 338-7375).

Edenfield vs. W. W. Gay Mechanical Contractors, Inc., Case No. 86-9574-CA

In April, 1990, in Duval County, I was chief trial counsel in a negligence action before the Honorable Lawrence D. Fay, 4th Judicial Circuit Court. The case was significant because of difficult engineering and immunity issues regarding a subcontractor and because of the disabling burns suffered by the Plaintiff. The jury returned a verdict of $225,000.00. Jim Terrell, Esq. 233 E. Bay Street, 8th Floor, Jacksonville, FL 32202; telephone (904) 632-2424 was trial co-counsel. Defendant was represented by Bruce Bullock, Esq. 5515 Phillips Highway, Suite #2, Jacksonville, FL 32207-7966; telephone (904) 731-0535.

Powell vs. State of Florida, Case No. 85-2659

In July, 1990, in Hillsborough County, I was trial co-counsel in a negligence action before the Honorable J. Rogers Padgett, 13th Judicial Circuit Court. I examined prosecutors and made opening and closing arguments. The jury returned a $1.3 million verdict (reversed on appeal, Powell v. State, 586 So.2d 1180 (Fla. 2nd DCA 1991) against the Hillsborough County State Attorney's Office for failing to protect an estranged wife horribly burned by her husband against whom she was to testify for the State. The case also represents the only time I have tried a matter outside of the 4th Judicial Circuit of Florida. James D. Clark, Esq., 101 S. Franklin Street, Tampa, FL 33602; telephone (813) 250-0608 was trial co-counsel. David McClain, Esq., 320 W. Kennedy Boulevard, Suite #600, Tampa, FL 33606; telephone (813) 221-1331, and Pamela Lutton, Esq., Atty. General's Office, 400 S. Monroe Street, #PL-01, Tallahassee, FL 32399; telephone (850) 414-3300) were defense counsel.

As a judge I presided over the following significant cases:

Carter vs. Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp., Case No. 95-00934-CA

In August, 1996, in Duval County, FL, as a Circuit Court Judge I tried to verdict a product's liability case resulting in a $750,000.00 verdict and judgment (Carter v. Brown and Williamson, 848 So.2d 365 (Fla. 1st DCA 2003) rev. den. 894 So.2d 969 (Fla. 2005)) against a cigarette manufacturer. It was the first time a cigarette company had been held liable for damages to an individual claiming injury from a cigarette related disease. The case presented complex questions regarding statutes of limitations and first impression federal preemption claims.

Huckleby vs. Masters, Case No. 06-118-CA

In March, 2011, in Nassau County, Florida as a Circuit Court Judge I presided over a two and one-half week personal injury claim resulting in a Jury verdict in excess of thirteen million dollars, the largest of record in Nassau County. The case was significant because of the severity and complexity of the Plaintiff's brain damage and the availability of punitive damages.

In the Interest of A. C., Case No. 06-293-CJ

In October, 2006, A.C. a 15 year old came to the Court's attention in connection with the charge of battery on a public or private education employee. Having experienced behavioral and cognitive problems as early as preschool and suffered physical and sexual abuse at a young age, it was eventually determined that A.S. was both developmentally delayed and suffered from post-traumatic stress disorder, oppositional defiant disorder, attention deficit hyperactivity disorder. It was also determined that she was incompetent to stand trial for the offenses for which she had been detained and the Department of Children and Families, Department of Juvenile Justice, and Agency for Persons with Disabilities seemed unable to fashion a course of treatment or means of protecting or providing for the child. Repeated hearings and requirements that agencies charged with the child's care fashion a means of addressing her unique and severe problems ultimately resulted in an appropriate group home placement.

NORTH FLORIDA CENTRAL LABOR COUNCIL

2012 QUESTIONNAIRE

JUDICIAL CANDIDATES

Please do not feel limited in your answers by the spaces provided. Feel free to attach longer answers as a separate document and identify as such by placing "see attached" in the space provided.

1. What do you see as the strengths and weaknesses of the present Duval County court system?

The Duval County court system's greatest strength is its emphasis on professionalism and civility, among both the bench and the bar. Its reputation as one of the most learned, civil, respectful and ethical court systems in the state is well deserved. The Duval County court system's weaknesses until recently included an inadequate courthouse. Currently the court costs associated with maintaining actions to civilly resolve disputes remain one of the systems greatest weaknesses. An independent source of funding for the court system, a constitutionally co-equal branch of government, is called for.

2. What types of clients have you represented while you have been an attorney?

I began my practice of law in September, 1980 as an associate attorney in the labor law division of a law firm consisting of approximately 60 attorneys at the time. Beginning in March, 1982, I practiced criminal law as a prosecutor until May, 1988, at which time I became an associate attorney in a 6 person civil litigation law firm. By May, 1991, I was offered a partnership in the firm, but in July, 1991, accepted an appointment as Chief Assistant State Attorney again practicing criminal law.

The labor law practice referenced above was primarily on behalf of management. Typical clients included business, banking and manufacturing interests. My original term of service in the State Attorney's Office typically involved citizen victims of crime. During my term of service there, I had the opportunity to specialize in economic crime, consumer fraud, homicide, sexual battery and juvenile prosecutions. As an associate attorney with Brown, Terrell, et al clients were typically plaintiffs seeking monetary damages for a variety of torts including personal injury, medical malpractice and wrongful death. Finally, my term of service as Chief Assistant State Attorney involved supervising the various prosecutorial and administrative responsibilities of the office. I also assisted the State Attorney in the development of office policy and procedures.

As an attorney I regularly appeared in Court for clients. As an Associate Attorney, early in my practice, such appearances were rare. As an Assistant State Attorney my appearances in Court were almost daily. When I returned to private practice and as Chief Assistant State Attorney the frequency of appearances decreased, but was still regularly. As a sitting judge, of course, 80% of my time is spent in the Courtroom.

3. What elements in your training, background, and experience have prepared you to deal with each aspect of the court's jurisdiction (ie: criminal, family, civil, etc...)?

In addition to the experience described above, for the past 18 year as a Circuit Court judge I have presided over divisions of the court' jurisdiction which include matters involving criminal, family, civil, and probate law. I have managed juvenile and domestic violence dockets. I have not presided over a criminal division for adults though I prosecuted adults as an assistant State Attorney. I helped establish a drug court in Duval County for adults and juveniles and a mental health court in Nassau County.

4. What characteristics and qualities do you believe are important for a judge to possess?

The most important attribute of a judge is impartiality. The absence of that quality absolutely erodes the respect necessary to the function of our courts to civilly resolve disputes. I am confident I have and will continue to remain impartial and unbiased in my decision making. Judges must possess qualities of patience, attentiveness, studiousness and calmness. They must be good communicators, assure fairness and engender respect. I believe engendering respect for the institution of the court to be the most important. I achieve that outcome by consistently exhibiting all of the referenced attributes and by always being respectful to parties, counsel and participants.

5. To what extent should a judge consider political, economic, and social consequences of decisions?

A judge's role in the justice system, subordinate to none, is to determine facts and impartially apply law. Secondly, judges also maintain an ethical obligation as reflected in both state and federal canons and codes of conduct to work to improve the administration of justice. A state judge's obligation is to follow and apply the decisions of the Florida Supreme Court and the U. S. Supreme Court, when applicable, and to apply state and federal statutes when applicable. I have and will continue to follow and apply applicable law, regardless of my personal beliefs and regardless of the political, economic or social consequences of my decisions.

6. How would/do you deal with a pro se party appearing in your Court?

I regularly deal with pro se parties in court. Pro se parties are entitled to and receive the same respect and impartiality due to all litigants. My experience is that many pro se parties are unaware of the court's ethical inability to offer legal advice as established by applicable judicial codes of conduct and canons. My practice has been to patiently explain that restriction and to direct pro se litigants to pro bono legal assistance organizations or self-help resources.

7. If you observed a party in your Courtroom being poorly represented by an unprepared or ineffective attorney, how would you handle the situation?

I have observed attorneys engage in ineffective and unprofessional behavior in the representation of their clients. I have, consistent with applicable judicial canons and the code of professional responsibility governing lawyers duties, brought the conduct to the attention of the attorney, first off the record and out of the presence of the client. If that effort failed to correct the conduct I have created a record of the behavior, discharged the lawyer and referred him or her to the Florida Bar for discipline, and have given the client an opportunity to obtain additional counsel.

8. Would you favor or oppose a system in which all sentencing decisions were routinely reported in local newspapers, indexed by the name of the judge?

I am in favor of the sentencing decisions of all judges being publically available as is now required by law. I am not sure what is the best way to effect a more efficient dissemination of that information but generally support the idea of easier access to the courts and it decisions.

9. Why should this organization endorse your candidacy?

I am a well-qualified experienced jurist actively engaged in improving the administration of justice and the community in which I have lived most of my life. To wit: I am a former prosecutor and civil litigator and currently a Circuit Court judge serving on the civil, family, juvenile and probate benches in the Historic Courthouse on Amelia Island, Florida, previously serving on those benches for nine years in Duval County. I am a native of Jacksonville and a graduate of its public schools, Princeton University and the University of Florida law school. Over the years I have served on a number of Florida Supreme Court and local bar association commissions, committees, and task forces designed to improve the justice system. I have actively volunteered with Leadership Jacksonville, NCCJ, the Urban League, the NAACP, the Boy Scouts of America, Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, Jacksonville Community Council, Hubbard House, the Help Center, and the Pace Center for Girls and the Jaguars Foundation and am currently co-chairing "Project Breakthrough" a community leadership initiative against structural racism. I recently served on the Board of OneJax, and currently serve on the Community Foundation's Quality Education Forum and the Jacksonville Public Education Fund. I and my wife Tanya, worship at Ebenezer United Methodist Church. We are the grandparents of four, the offspring of two children, Brian and Cicely.

10. In your opinion, what is the greatest challenge working families face in our area?

The greatest challenge facing working families in our area is finding and maintaining meaningful and gainful employment and securing quality education for their children.

11. Have you or any close family member even been a union member? If so, when, where, and with which union was the affiliation?

Yes, both my mother and wife were members of the Duval Teachers Union, 1975 to 1985 and 1990 to 2011, respectively.

12. Do you value an individual's ability to return to work in cases where incarceration is a consideration in questionable situations, or where no prior record exists?

Yes, even in cases where incarceration is a possibility an accused's employment is appropriately considered by judges in determining conditions of release as is the absence of prior criminal history. Both are specifically identified as factors to be weighed by Florida Rules of Criminal Procedure.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF THE FOURTH
JUDICIAL CIRCUIT, IN AND FOR NASSAU COUNTY, FLORIDA.

CASE NO.: 10-505-DR

DIVISION: A

In RE: The Marriage of:

TROY THERRIAULT,

Husband

and

LISA THERRIAULT,

Wife.

000620

CLERK OF THE CIRCUIT COURT
NASSAU COUNTY, FLORIDA
HISTORIC COURT HOUSE

2011 JUL 15 P 4:21

FINAL JUDGMENT OF DISSOLUTION OF MARRIAGE

This matter came on to be heard May 26 and 27, 2011, after proper notice for Trial and on Rehearing ex parte. The parties appeared with counsel and the Court considered the record evidence, testimony of the parties and their various witnesses as well as the argument of counsel. Upon consideration, the Court finds the parties' marriage of almost 17 years is irretrievably broken largely in part to stresses surrounding failed financial expectations. Two (2) children were born to the parties' marriage, Dustin Tracy Therriault, date of birth March 23, 2005, and Avery James Therriault, date of birth July 27, 2006. The family moved to Florida from Connecticut in anticipation of the Husband's family business prospering sufficiently from an invention to make them wealthy. Unfortunately, the invention did not achieve that result and does not appear likely to ever do so. Moreover, the Husband's family business suffered extraordinary financial stresses resulting from incompetent accounting advice and significant tax liabilities.

The Wife's contention that the Husband and his family are secreting income for and to the Husband are not supported by the evidence. The Husband remains fully employed however, and earns gross weekly wages of $1,384.00. The Wife is currently unemployed, but caring full-time for the parties' minor children. She is actively seeking employment and consistent with the Husband's contention, is capable of self support.

The Court finds from the competing expert opinions regarding the Wife's employability that she is capable of earning minimally $45,000.00 per year. The Court's finding in this respect is supported by the Court's attachment of greater weight to the analysis and rationale offered by the Wife's vocational expert who valued differently the Wife's previous experience and market conditions which the Court finds more persuasive.

The length of the parties' marriage when considered in light of the physical and emotional condition of the Wife, the absence of financial and family support in Florida, the current responsibilities of the Wife regarding the parties' minor children and the fact of the parties' earning and having at their disposal practically equivalent incomes during the course of their marriage support the Court's finding that an award of permanent periodic alimony is appropriate. The evidence adduced establishes the Wife's reasonable need for said support and the Husband's ability to provide therefor.

The financial crises facing the parties have resulted in the loss of any equity in real marital property and the parties have equitably divided personal property so that each shall retain that currently in their possession. Liquid marital assets possessed by the parties at the time of their separation have been reasonably used by both either to reduce marital debt or to offset reasonable living expenses. From the date of the parties' marriage, June 25, 1994, to the date of filing of the Petition for Dissolution of Marriage, May 19, 2010, pension and retirement benefits accrued by the Husband are awardable to the Wife pursuant to Boyette v. Boyette, 703 So.2d 451 (Fla. 1997)

Until shortly before Trial the issue of timesharing did not arise. The parties wish to contest their current timesharing arrangements and the Court will reserve jurisdiction to permit them an opportunity to do so. In the interim the Court's temporary orders in that regard will remain in full force and effect. Accordingly, upon consideration, it is

ORDERED AND ADJUDGED:

1. The parties' marriage is hereby dissolved and each is returned to the status of single persons.

2. The Wife shall continue to enjoy majority timesharing with the parties' minor children and the Husband reasonable visitation as provided for in the Court's temporary orders. The Court reserves jurisdiction to adjudicate the parties permanent timesharing arrangement.

3. The Wife is hereby awarded permanent periodic alimony in an amount which equalizes the Husband and Wife's income based upon gross annual earnings of $71,968.00 and $45,000.00, respectively after due consideration to the income tax consequences of the Court's award including the Wife's entitlement to claim the parties' minor children as exemptions. Counsel for the parties shall calculate said sum and provide evidence to the Court thereof.

4. The Wife shall also receive from the Husband child support based upon the equalized earnings ordered herein crediting the Husband with payments for health insurance for the parties' minor children and the Wife with the sum of $270.00 per month childcare expense. Counsel for the parties shall calculate said sum and provide evidence thereof to the Court.

5. The Court's temporary order of undesignated support shall continue to remain in full force and effect until the above referenced calculations and submissions along with proposed orders effecting said results are submitted to the Court.

6. The parties shall equally share the expense of cord blood registry for each child.

7. The Husband shall maintain $500,000.00 in life insurance to secure his alimony and child support obligations naming the Wife as irrevocable beneficiary, and shall provide proof to the Wife of the coverage's existence annually.

8. The Husband and Wife shall remain in possession of personalty currently in their possession and shall be jointly responsible for any remaining marital indebtedness which shall be satisfied equally from sums required by the Court to be held in escrow from the sale of the parties' Connecticut home. The balance of such sums are hereby released by the Court to the parties equally and counsel retaining said funds in escrow shall tender such balances to the parties forthwith.

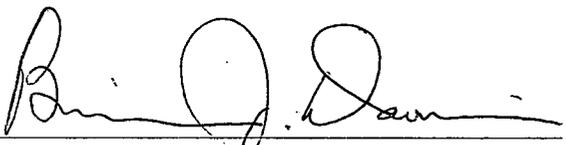

9. The Husband shall cause to be prepared within ninety (90) days hereof a QDRO pursuant to the Court's finding and award of pension benefits to the Wife.

10. The parties shall be responsible for their respective attorney's fees.

11. The Husband's Motion for Rehearing is otherwise DENIED.

12. Except as to paragraph 1 the Court retains jurisdiction to enter orders necessary to the administration of its Final Judgment.

DONE AND ORDERED in Chambers at Fernandina Beach, Nassau County, Florida, this 15th day of July, 2011.
